SEVERAL MEMBERS OF THE LHS CLASS OF 2007 display the school's historic school bell while preparing for graduation on June 1. The Class of 2007 is the 100th class to graduate from the Loraine Independent School District, which began in 1907. The bell was used in the old high school, originally built in 1907. Sitting with the bell are (left to right) Alejandro Lopez, Miguel Acevedo, Nancy Talamantes, Francisco Limones and Margarita Medina-McCleskey.

LORAINE -- The question has been asked for years: For whom does the bell toll?

On June 1, the bell will toll for the members of the Loraine High School Class of 2007 ... and the entire student body of the Mitchell County school. With the graduation of the class, the outgoing seniors will etch their names alongside the school's historic bell as a milestone in the Loraine Independent School District history.

The seniors are the 100th class of graduates to pass through the school's halls dating back to the district's founding in 1907 – a time when the historic cast-iron bell was first used daily to notify local parents and children classes were beginning.

"It's awesome just knowing the school has been here 100 years and that we are part of that," said senior Alejandro Lopez. "It's kind of special for us all to be a part of this."

Lopez, who along with classmate Margarita (Medina) McCleskey have attended the school throughout their school careers, is among 11 seniors slated to receive their diplomas from LISD Superintendent Eric Stoddard and LHS Principal Bivian Hermosillo on June 1.

"It's totally awesome," said Nancy Talamantes. "It's a very important time for the school with it being 100 years old, and it's cool for us to."

"No one is ever going to be the 100th class at Loraine again," said Medina. "It's kind of cool to be a part of that."

Joining Lopez, McCleskey and Talamantes in walking across the state of the LHS gymnasium will be fellow seniors Francisco Limones, Annette Davila, Bivian Hermosillo Jr., Zachary Gibson, Miguel Acevedo, Rebecca Bradley, Jimmy Grissam and Nathan Oliver.

Mitchell County residents made sure U.S. Armed Forces veterans weren't forgotten on May 19 as hundreds of local residents and veterans turned out to attend the annual Run For The Wall gala. In all, more than 350 motorcyclists and over 150 local veterans and residents participated in a banquet at the Railhead Building and held a memorial service at the Colorado Middle School "Real Heroes, Real History" veteran's site.

During the luncheon, CMS students presented the riders -- former military members and supporters -- with a short program on Mitchell County veterans.

CMS secretary Gayle Younger and Bonnie Lane and Meagan Merrell also performed at the event. Younger sang "In Your Life," while Lane and Merrell perfomed "King of Who I Am."

Highlights of the program included CMS and Loraine students honoring local veterans.

A subsidiary of Dallas-based TXU Corp., TXU Wholesale said it would purchase the electrical output from the 209-megawatt farm from Airtricity, a wind-power company based in Dublin, Ireland.

On Memorial Day ... May 28, 2007 ... our thoughts turn to those brave people of our armed forces who died while serving their country. In times of peace and in times of war, these courageous men and women stood ready to defend the very freedom that we cherish. On Memorial Day, we pay tribute to them all. C-City man awarded Department of Public Safety's top civilian honors

Eddie Vann was full of mixed emotions last Wednesday when he stepped to the podium to receive the Texas Department of Public Safety's "Director's Award."

On one hand, the 49-year-old oilfield worker was delighted to receive one of the state's civilian awards but, at the same time, he would have preferred much more to not have to have been needed in the first place.

A tool pusher, Vann was presented the award in front of a large crowd at the Colorado City Civic Center on May 16 for his efforts to save the life of a young girl involved in an accident on Interstate 20. Since the award was organized in 1982, only about 500 people have

Commissioners OK Mitchell County Public Library's new 'Two Strike' policy

The Mitchell County Library introduced a couple of stricter rules Monday, May 21, when several changes to its policy manual were approved by the Mitchell County Commissioner's Court.

Among the new rules is a "Two Strikes" policy that could see library patrons receive lifetime bans from the premises. According to Mitchell County Librarian Becky Dennison, the MC Library Board and Mitchell County Attorney Tom Rees, Sr. developed a policy in which patrons may be barred from using the facility for causing disruptions.

Under the policy, a person who causes a disruption at the library would be asked to leave the facility for the remainder of the day. Any subsequent problem by the person could result in library officials summoning law enforcement officers and seeking a restraining order barring the patron.

Dennison said no one had been a problem at the library since she took over approximately six months ago, but that the provision would give library officials a tool with which to work with.

Additionally, the library also instituted a policy requiring anyone wishing to check out a DVD or video be at least 18 years of age or accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

New law puts county in control of overtime

Members of the Mitchell County Commissioner's Court received a mixed bag of news Monday, May 21, when they were presented with information concerning county employees and the Texas Fair Labor and Wages Commission.

On one hand, the county learned recent legislation made it possible for county officials to manage their annual budgets by determining overtime wages, while also placing a heavy burden on the county to manage employee hours.

According to a new directive from the Fair Labor and Wages Commission, the county can now give employees of the county compensatory time equal to 1.5 times the time worked instead of wages. The move, commissioners said, would enable the county to manage its budget by eliminating overtime funding.

been recognized for going "above and beyond what would be expected of an ordinary citizens."

Vann earned the award for his efforts in the Aug. 1, 2006 accident that claimed the lives of two Colorado City residents. After arriving on the scene of the accident, Vann said he saw a woman and a child crawling away from a burning vehicle approximately three miles east of Westbrook. After stopping, he learned two children were still trapped inside the vehicle, which was engulfed in flames after being struck from behind by a 2005 International 18-wheeler.

"I appreciate it," said Vann, who was traveling to Abilene to turn in job-related paperwork when he happened upon the accident. "I wish I would have never had to get an award for something like that."

Vann, according to DPS officials, partially entered the SUV from the rear window and managed to free one of the children, 6-year-old Asia Lane. The other child, 1-year-old India Lane, was pronounced dead at the scene by Mitchell County Justice of the Peace Kay Richmond.

The two children, along with their mother, Bonnie, and siblings, Collin and August, were traveling west on Interstate 20 toward the airport in Midland when they began experiencing engine trouble. Bonnie Lane turned the vehicle around at a nearby exit and planned to return to Colorado City to get another vehicle. While returning, the car stalled on the interstate near Mile Marker 210, where it was struck by an 18-wheeler driven by Ozzie Paige, a 51-year-old truck driver from Memphis, Tenn.

After Vann pulled Asia Lane from the vehicle, she was flown to University Medical Center in Lubbock where she was treated for burns on more than 25 percent of her body. She later died from her injuries.

"It is believed if Mr. Vann had not acted as quickly and as deliberately as he did, Asia would not have survived at the scene," said DPS Maj. Morris Arnold in a prepared statement. "Mr. Vann's unselfish and heroic actions allowed doctors and medical personnel to have an opportunity to help Asia."

Volunteers sought to help preserve, restore city's historic Baker Hotel

Tommy Wells
Colorado City Record

Mary Crisp is on a mission: She would like to preserve and restore the Baker Hotel, as well as help bring a youth center to Colorado City.

All she needs to get the process started is a little help from a few of Mitchell County's best. As in, you.

Crisp, a former employee of the Colorado and Loraine school districts, announced recently she was seeking a few volunteers to work with her and the Dreamers board of directors to help raise matching funds for the restoration/preservation of the Baker Hotel and the creation of a youth center for area youngsters.

"I have all the fund-raisers and a board in place," she said. "What I need are a few people who can help us get things done. We have such a historic site that means so much to this area in need of some work. I just need some volunteers who can help me get things done."

According to Crisp, Dreamers has been contacting state organizations seeking grant funding to refurbish the Baker and establish a youth center. Those grants, she said, are often based on local match funds, meaning area residents will need to invest in the project as well.

DREAMERS' MARY CRISP is hoping to begin raising funds to be used to match possible grant funds for the restoration of Colorado City's historic Baker Hotel. Crisp also said the non-profit organization is also interested in building a youth center in Colorado City.

Crisp said she is also hoping to organize a community-wide booster organization for Loraine residents as a way helping the city and school.

For more information about the Baker Hotel restoration project, the youth center project or plans for a Loraine community booster group contact Crisp at (325) 728-9109 or (325) 436-0647.

will also be making history on June 1 – ushering out the first century of students and in the second.

Originally manufactured in 1907, the bell is the one thing that ties all past, present and future Loraine students together, said Loraine Texas History teacher Patrick Gainey.

"If you look around, we don't have anything left from the old school except for the bell," said Gainey, who discovered the bell was the one used in the bell tower of the "old red" school complex that was built in 1907 where the current LHS tennis courts are. "This bell is practically the most historic thing we have. We have had a lot of people come through the school here. Not all of them were in the same school building, but they all are tied to that bell. It's the one thing every Loraine student has in common."

Gainey, the son of former University of Texas star Hollis Gainey, said he first noticed the bell while looking at old photographs of the LISD campus at the high school and the Heart of West Texas Museum in Colorado City.

"I noticed it (the bell) was cast iron. There aren't too many of those around, so I turned it over and inside you can see it was stamped 1907," he said, noting he hoped some former LHS graduates could confirm the bell's history. "I was amazed. It's been 100 years and the whole time, it has been here."

The bell, which is painted bright yellow with a black script "L" and mounted on a small trailer, is currently used as a spirit symbol at LISD athletic events. The bell is rung at each Loraine home football game after the Bulldogs score a touchdown.

"It's kind of neat to know it is that old," said Talamantes, who moved into the LISD district as a second grader from Durango, Mexico.

The LHS seniors aren't the only ones impressed. All of his junior high students, are amazed at the age of the bell, he said.

"They think it's pretty neat," said Gainey. "Everyone is really interested in it when they find out it is 100 years old."

"It's pretty amazing, really," he added. "That bell has seen a lot of history in Loraine. We should probably put it a museum somewhere because there aren't many things like this left."

3M Palace Theater to hold all-nighter for CHS students

Beatrice and Marcus Monroe can remember what it was like to be seniors graduating Colorado High School ... and the desire to do something special once the diploma has exchanged hands.

The Monroes came up with the perfect idea to help seniors -- and students in all grades, for that matter -- celebrate the end of school. Spend it at the movies.

The 3M Palace will be hosting a free all-night movie marathon on Friday evening, beginning at 11 p.m. The theater will show two -- and maybe more -- movies back-to-back for graduating seniors.

"We just thought we could help them by giving them a safe, drug-free environment to hang out," said Beatrice Monroe. "This is something they can do that is positive. "

Monroe said the theater will open at 11 p.m. on May 25 and offer a free showing of "Stomp The Yard." At 1 a.m., the movie "Code Name: The Cleaner" starring Cedric The Entertainer will be shown.

Monroe said she and her husband would remain open later if students wanted to continue watching shows. The two have reserved several different films that could be shown.

On Saturday, the theater will show four free movies for area students -- and adults. Beginning at 3 p.m., the 3M Palace will air "Happily N'Ever After." That show will be followed at 5 p.m. by "The Sandlot: Heading Home," and at 7:30 p.m. with a second showing of "Stomp The Yard." The final movie, "Deja Vu" starring Denzel Washington will air at 9:45 p.m.

On Sunday, May 27, the theater will air "The Chronicles of Narnia: The Witch, The Lion and The Wardrobe" starting ay 7 p.m., and the recent Eddie Murphie-Beyonce Knowles hit "Dreamgirls" at 9 p.m.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH

The glory days of La Macarena

La Macarena is a popular restaurant and bar in Villa Acuna, just across the border from Del Rio. Jorge Ramon has the place now. His dad founded it in the late 30's and it has been in the family ever since.

"We've been fortunate to have had several US Presidents visit us here on the patio," says Jorge. "Lyndon Johnson used to come here after he was out of office. He loved cabrito. Presidents Eisenhower and Nixon also were here."

When the movie, THE ALAMO, was filmed at Brackettville, John Wayne and the whole crew used to visit La Macarena on a daily basis.

"I got to take John Wayne to the dentist one day," says Jorge. "He had a bad toothache and my brother-in-law was a dentist. His office was just half a block from here, so we walked down there. John Wayne was having lots of pain. I just couldn't help but admire how big the man was. I waited in the lobby there just outside the dentist office and I heard John Wayne cry and scream. I thought, what a sissy. He came out holding his jaw and we walked back to La Macarena. He drank a bottle of tequila and forgot all about his tooth."

La Macarena used to have a bullring. Bullfighting fans would sit on the patio, visit and drink, then go to the bullfights and return to the patio and drink some more. People from all over west Texas made special trips to see the bullfights in Villa Acuna. Jorge's dad, a Carta Blanca distributor, advertised the bullfights in a unique way.

"He would put the whole city band on the back of the truck and go to Del Rio before the bullfights and just go play down the streets of Del Rio, which was a small town then."

The bullfights took place the first Sunday of each month from April to November. Bullfighting went into decline in the seventies.

"That's when animal rights started getting very strong. People just wouldn't come because of that. People started losing interest and the crowd that used to come started getting a little older and the younger generation just didn't care for it. We took the bullring down in 1977."

Jorge is active in chambers of commerce in both Acuna and Del Rio. He helps stage the RUNNING OF THE COWS event in Acuna each April. People run in front of cows around a downtown square.

There is a parking lot where the bullring used to be. It sometimes is filled with cars because Jorge is keeping up with the times.

"We still have our patio and we have a little band on weekends. We keep our bar open daily. Next to the parking lot we have a little slot machine business and we're getting ready to start building an events facility so we can offer meetings and everything. We're going to put some rooms up on top."

CMS students deserve praise for RFTW efforts

OFF THE BEATEN PATH...

By TOMMY WELLS
EDITOR

If you take the time to look around, you probably know of someone who is a veteran. Maybe it's your grandfather, or dad or even a brother or sister.

Those people have taken of their time to serve their country in order to ensure you and I have the honor of living in a free country. They work in the schools ... the stores ... the radio stations ... the doctor's offices. Just about every where you go you can find a veteran.

And, for most of the year, these every day heroes remain nameless.

Then every May the Colorado Middle School students and staff make sure your friends and relatives get a minute in the sun. Through their efforts, the people who have served in the United States Marine Corps, the United States Navy, the United States Air Force, the United States Army and the U.S. Coast Guard get their due with a visit by riders from throughout the country to attend a ceremony honoring those who have served their country as part of the "Run For The Wall."

And for that, the students and staff at CMS deserve our appreciation and gratitude.

When I was a child, the fact that there were men and women fighting in foreign countries to help others was something I didn't grasp. Whether we agreed with the reason for the conflict or not, Americans – people just like you and I – were doing their duty to help others and protect our way of life.

The role of veterans really didn't hit home for me until the Vietnam Conflict began showing across the television screens in the 1970s. At the age of 5 or 6, I don't know if it seemed more of a movie or a game at that time. All I knew was my 17-year-old brother, Danny, was destined to spend two tours of duty "over there."

Unlike a lot of vets, Danny came home from Vietnam – along with some other things. A few years ago, the gout and other health-related problems he picked up while a member of the U.S. Marines caught up to him at the age of 47.

Despite the problems he brought back, he was proud of what he did for his country. He was proud of the Cross of Gallantry medal he won, and the fact he was "a Marine."

Later in life, I followed my brother into the service, enlisting in the U.S. Navy ... mainly because he was a Marine and I wanted no part of that walking through the jungle thing.

As for me, I didn't do anything in the Navy except learn how to paint things gray (every thing is gray in the Navy) and shine brass (Kool-Aid, baby). I did receive a piece of paper from the Captain once, though. He said my request to "drop me off in Cuba and I would find my own way home" had been denied.

I did, however, develop an appreciation of what veterans have – and will do -- for us. Through the eyes of my shipmates – such as Michael "Nellie" Nelson, Jorge "George" Castellano, Ronald "Richie" Cunningham and fellow Texan Jon "Dibby" Dibbens -- I gained the same respect my brother felt for his compatriots.

"Nellie" probably doesn't appreciate the fact I woke him up every 30 minutes on the mid-watch, though. I want you to know, I didn't want that Wisconsin boy to be late for his turn on watch – especially when it was cold.

Earlier this month, I learned "Richie" had just returned from a 9-month tour in Iraq with the Seabees.

To this day, I appreciate those guys and they things they did.

I also respect what the CMS staff and students do to recognize those guys.

In case some forget to tell you, all you do is appreciated. From one Navy vet (me) to everyone who helped with the program, I raise my hand in salute to you. I know if Lance Corporal Danny R. Wells had been able to attend "Run For The Wall" and "Real History, Real Heroes" event this past weekend, he would have been proud of what you have done.

I know he would have given you an "ooo-rah!"

several veterans. Among those honored was Robert (Tiger) Davis, who went into the Army during the Vietnam War and was later killed.

Robert Ramage spoke to the crowd of his recollections of his friend Tiger Davis. He told stories of their early days of childhood, playing ball, and about getting watermelons from Travis Turner's patch.

"Davis told us he wouldn't be coming back," Ramage said, choked with emotions.

Another highlight of the program was "The Little Brown Box."

Last year, Mike Burt found "The Little Brown Box" among his mother's possessions. The box was filled with file cards of veterans from Mitchell County.

Bonnie Burt -- Mike Burt's mother -- was an executive secretary for the Mitchell County Red Cross for 50 years.

Burt began keeping veteran's files in 1933. Each card included such information as the veteran's name, address, phone numbers and family member contacts. One of Burt's responsibilities was getting contact information to Washington D.C. when a family member needed to get in touch with their veteran.

CMS students thanked Burt for permitting them to add the vital information to their RH-RH program.

In all more than 500 people participated in the event, which was held at the Railhead Building. (Above) Damian Hebert of Louisiana hands out strings of beads to Colorado City children during the "Run For The Wall" luncheon.

Each year, RFTW riders collect money to help schools with worth while causes.

This year was no exception, and riders presented Colorado Middle School students with $1,500 for use at the Veteran Memorial at the Mitchell County Hospital. Last year, the riders gave CMS $1,800.

The 2007 "Run For The Wall" event ended with a ceremonial wreath-laying service at the memorial. "Run" participants rode past the memorial before returning to the highway for the next leg in their 10-day trek to the nation's capital.

as a labor of love.

Bob Atwell, who lives in Whitfield, Virginia, was on his seventh trip and has attended each of the five previous stops in Colorado City, said he participates in the cross-country ride so Americans will never forget the sacrifices that were made by veterans in order to ensure our freedom.

"My hope and prayer is that this generation will never forget the sacrifices made by our fallen comrades," said Atwell, a career Air Force veteran. "It was due to their ultimate sacrifices that we are still a free nation. This is truly a labor of love for me and I enjoy meeting all the great folks along the way. We appreciate all the support we have had on each of the runs. It's fantastic."

During Atwell's career in the USAF, he was fortunate to be a flight steward on Air Force 4 which carried former vice presidents Gerald Ford and Spiro Agnew.

"I enjoyed my Air Force career, both as a flight steward and later as a first sergeant," said Atwell. "Now I spend my time in support of veterans and veteran's rights."

Another veteran on the run was Rick "Boomer" Ford of Houston.

By the time Ford had arrived in Colorado City he had already ridden for approximately 3,000 miles. He said by the time he finishes the run he will have traveled about 7,000 miles.

Ford, who is serving as a road guard along the way on the trip, believes in what he is doing.

"Veterans of all branches have my utmost respect," said Ford who is on his fifth ride. "We need to let the families and friends of those that paid the ultimate price for our freedom know that they are not forgotten, and as long as I live they will not be."

A U.S. Navy veteran, Ford said he will make the run as long as he is physically able.

Ford told of a friend of his that was planning on making the ride, but had to forego the run this year due to being diagnosed with colon cancer.

"I have heard countless stories of veterans that had plans to make this run with us, but had to cancel out due to unfortunate things happening," said Ford. "That's the reason we do this while we are still healthy enough to do it."

Local teachers will attend NASA development program

NASA has selected Karen Riley, Anita Graham, Robyn Hammond, and Patty Pharis of Colorado City Middle School to be one of 80 Texas Middle School Aerospace Scholars (MAS) as a MAS educator. The Middle School teachers will participate in one of three one-week summer sessions in June and July at NASA's Johnson Space Center (JSC) in Houston . The four teachers will have access to NASA education specialists, flight directors, scientists and engineers who will talk about the latest technology being used in the space program.

MAS is a one-year professional development program for teachers and includes an opportunity for their students to participate in a series of distance learning events in their own schools. During the summer workshop, teachers develop an "action plan" outlining various ways to integrate NASA resources into the middle school curriculum throughout the school year.

As part of Texas Aerospace Scholars (TAS), MAS was created through a joint venture between JSC and the state of Texas to inspire students to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and mathematics. The students of these teachers are also encouraged to participate in future educational opportunities such as High School Aerospace Scholars. Additional funding for TAS is received in part by Rotary NASA and the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

This program continues the agency's tradition of investing in the nation's education programs and the educators who play a key role in preparing, inspiring, exciting, encouraging and nurturing today's young minds who will become the scientists and explorers helping to lead NASA in the future expeditions to the moon, Mars and beyond.

This summer a significant event for education will occur with NASA space shuttle flight STS-118. Mission Specialist and Educator Astronaut Barbara Morgan, a teacher and now full-time astronaut, will make her first trip into space aboard space shuttle Endeavour. This mission will continue assembly of the International Space Station.

Returning the space shuttle to flight and completing the space station are the first steps in the Vision for Space Exploration, a stepping-stone strategy toward new exploration goals. Using the station to study how the human body adapts to the weightless environment of space and to test new technologies and techniques, NASA will prepare for the longer journeys to the moon, Mars and beyond.

County 4-Hers tally big at major shows

By John R. Senter,
Mitchell CEA-Ag

At long last, we can just about close the book on the 2007 major stock show season, and, to say the least, it was one that we can long remember. In case you're wondering just why in the world this information is just now showing up and the last animal was exhibited way back in late March in Austin, let's just say things ain't like they used to be.

The business of entering, competing in, qualifying for the prestigious premium sale and finally receiving those coveted premium checks has grown to be big business, and you can bet the majors are gonna' hold on to their money until everything is spit polished before they release any sale proceeds to exhibitors. So, with that said, let's take a look at just exactly how county 4-H members did, show by show and take a look at the bottom line, as so many like to see.

Fort Worth Livestock Show – or for some of us who have been around a while – Fort Worth Fat Stock Show: (This is the only one that still uses the term "fat" stock show.) The 2007 version of Fort Worth came complete with ice, snow, rain, cold, freezing weather and everything else in the miserable weather department. When all the ice had melted, we were represented by 19 4-Hers and a total accumulated funds of $665.

San Antonio Livestock Show: Statistically speaking, this show has the lowest percentages and offers the least number of chances for an exhibitor to make the premium sale of all the majors in the state. However, when the dust settled from this one, the 24 members who competed had managed to herd up $7,844.50 and that's not chicken feed with the odds stacked against you.

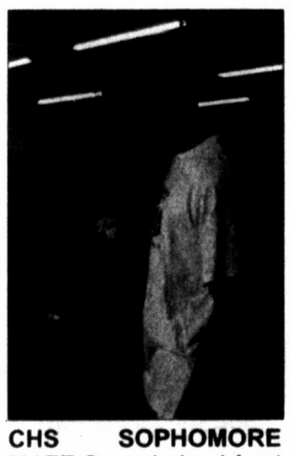

San Angelo Livestock Show: This was the first year for Angelo to hold the show in their brand new, much cleaner, much warmer facilities and if you were ever in the old buildings during a March norther, this facility is a real blessing. Seventeen county 4-H members represented our cause and amassed total winnings of just over $2,565, plus a scholarship in the Angora Goat Futurity.

Houston Livestock Show: As long as I can remember from the days when our family was representing Dawson County 4-H and Lamesa FFA in the 19??, never mind the years, Houston has been the jewel on the stock show crown. Until recent years and the inception of the sale cap placed upon exhibitors premium checks, Houston has been known to pay for entire college careers; years of bank notes and uncountable numbers of new vehicles. Even with all the new additions, limitations and changes, Houston is still what every exhibitor dreams of when it comes sale making time.

Our county 4-H program was represented by 21 exhibitors and before they were done, this group managed to leave a $36,223 withdrawal notice for this show. Keep in mind that this takes into account swine, sheep, goats and steers. Within this total the following details are important to remember: two of the six hogs made the sale (that's 33% and the barn average is 19%); six of the nine steers made the sale (that's 66.6% and the barn average is 24%).

What it all tallies up to is this: 4-H members accounted for $47,749.83 in premium sale money and one college scholarship. Now then, if you compare that to the monetary commitment the County Commissioners makes to allow our office to support these families at the shows, then for every dollar the commissioners allocated this show season, each and every dollar invested in our members returned $2.98! Where else can you get a 298% return on your dollar in 120 days?

Everyone has seen the winning photos from time to time in the paper, and although it would be a pleasure to list each and every name and winning list of accomplishments, there are far too many pit falls in that approach. Bottom line: we are so fortunate to have a committed group of 4-H parents and fiercely competitive 4-H members who represent our county 4-H program, and at least in 2007, made Mitchell County 4-H highly visible to those in the major stock show business.

CHS SOPHOMORE MATT Sowa helped feed approximately 500 people at the Run for the Wall event held last Saturday to recognize veterans.

Narrell to be enshrined in Loraine 'Wall' in October

Carl Graham
Colorado City Record

When former Loraine High School and TCU football standout Don Narrell played football during the 1950's it was a totally different game.

Back then football equipment did not have the protection the new modern equipment provides, and offensive and defensive linemen did not average more than 300 pounds either.

Just ask Narrell.

"When I played defensive tackle for Texas Christian I weighed 225 pounds," said Narrell. "I was considered pretty big back then, but I probably couldn't even make the team if I was playing in this era. I would be too small."

Narrell, who now resides on his farm north of Loraine, accounted for more than 100 tackles his senior year at Loraine during a period when running the ball was the way to put up yardage. It was the old "three yards and a cloud of dust" theory.

"We played both ways back then which is a lot different from the way they play now," said Narrell "Everyone plays a platooned system now days, and special teams for kick offs and punt returns. We did it all back then."

Narrell's size is what got him a scholarship to college and a chance to play professionally in the Canadian Football League with the Edmonton Eskimos.

"At 6-5 and weighing 225 pounds I was considered pretty big," said Narrell. "When I was at TCU, the coach was Dutch Meyer and he believed in the passing game so he wanted big lineman to

Also playing in the tournament was the 12 & under Lady Renegades who took fourth place, and the Lady Hurricanes, an 8-and-under team that came away with second place.

Hermosillo, Grissam share LHS honors

To tough to call!

That was the sentiments of Loraine High School head coach/ athletic director Jeffrey Stockton when it came to picking the top male and female senior athlete. This year, he opted to name co-winners in both categories.

Named top senior male athletes were Bivian Hermosillo Jr. and Jimmy Grissam.

Both individuals were active in the three main sports of football, basketball and baseball.

Grissam also participated in tennis and track. In football, Grissam was a force on defense as well as playing end on offense. In basketball, he held down the post position, often hitting in double figures in scoring and rebounding. He also was a three-year starter in baseball where he played first base.

Hermosillo participated in football, basketball, golf, baseball and track. Playing six-man football for the first time, Hermosillo learned the game very quickly and became a force to be dealt with on defense. In basketball, Hermosillo played a very important role with his rebounding skills. In golf, Hermosillo had a great season, coming very close to taking a medalist title in the district meet.

Sharing the female senior athlete award this year is Annette Davila and Nancy Talamantes.

Davila participated in basketball, softball and tennis. She was the starting pitcher for the Lady Bulldogs' softball team which defeated Westbrook after the Lady Wildcats had made the playoffs. Davila plans on becoming a Registered Nurse.

Talamantes participated in cross-country, basketball, softball and tennis during her four years of high school.

AREA YOUNGSTERS WILL get the opportunity to participate in summer track.

Registration for summer track program begins this weekend

Colorado High School head assistant football coach and head track coach Dan Gainey has announced the annual Summer Track program for individuals in the ages of 6 and up.

Registration will be held this weekend with the first one to be held at the Wolf Field House starting at 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. on Saturday with the second signup to be held from 10 a.m. until noon on Monday, May 28th.

Cost of the program will run $15 which will include the TAAF registration fee and a summer program T-Shirt.

The first meet will be held on June 1 with another three meets available during the summer for the kids to participate in.

CARL'S CORNER...
CARL GRAHAM
SPORTS EDITOR

Well, here it is another week has gone by!

For those who attended the Real History, Real Heroes "Run For The Wall" activities, I know you were blessed to see close to 500 motorcycle veterans roll into town for the lunch at the Railhead Building, and to see all of the entertainment last Saturday.

Being a veteran myself, I was elated to get to talk "shop" to others veterans, as well as swap stories about the old days.

Thanks to Mark Merrell and all of the CMS teachers who served the delicious barbecue lunch and provided entertainment to those gathered for the occasion.

Kudos goes to the members of the six-and-under softball team, the Firecrackers, and to the Titans for a job well done in tournament action last weekend.

As most of you know in the Loraine community there is the Loraine "Wall of Fame" started by the late R.L. "Sandy" McSpadden several years ago to honor a member of his last football team -- which was the last 11-man team at LHS. Ricky Bailey, an all-state linebacker, was the first person honored, and he was followed by the late Jeff Merket and last year by Michi Atkins.

Two former LHS athletes will be honored at homecoming this year, including Don Narrell and Clovis Hale, who coached many years in high school and college.

After these two are inducted this year, I am hoping that we can get a committee started from the many Loraine ex-students to come up with future members. The Loraine administrators I have talked to would like it not only to be members who played or excelled in sports, but also excelled in academics.

If you are an ex-student and have ideas on how to get this continued from year to year please contact me at mrsport48@hotmail.com or at 325-737-2651.

Have a great week, and remember, be a good sport in everything you do!

block. It was my job to protect the quarterback."

Narrell, who was coached in high school by the late Huron Polnack and by the late Vance Dickenson during his senior year, blocked well enough -- and tackled well enough -- to play at the next level after playing in the Delta Bowl in Mobile, Alabama, upon completion of his senior year of college ball at TCU.

"I was the co-captain and the team MVP during the 1950 season," said Narrell. "I guess I did okay because I was selected to play in the annual East-West Shrine football game at the end of our season. After that game I was approached by Edmonton about playing up in Canada for them. I played for a year up there before coming back home and joining the Air Force."

Narrell was stationed at Carswell Air Force Base in Ft. Worth and while there played on the base team for two years.

"While there I had the opportunity to play with several All-Americans such as the late Bud McSpadden from the University of Texas, Roy Smith and Vernon Glass, who played at Baylor before he went on to play professional ball," said Narrell. "After my enlistment was up, I came back to Loraine before going to work for Haliburton where I worked the next 38 years before retiring."

Narrell, who has lived six miles south of Loraine for the past nine years, got his start in the business in Snyder before being transferred to Abilene, Odessa and Monahans. He was the Division Manager at the Midland office at the time of his retirement.

Narrell is the son of the late W.H. and Kate Narrell who were lifelong Loraine residents.

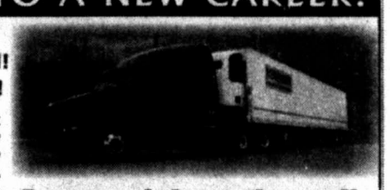

Narrell will be inducted along with Clovis Hale into the Loraine "Wall of Honor" during homecoming festivities in October.

LORAINE NEWS

By Bessie Ann Vaughn,
Loraine Correspondent

Greetings. We hope you had a good week and stayed well.

Speaking of Memorial Day... Even though our country is young, if we put all our fallen heroes' names on a wall somewhere, just imagine how long the wall would be. Our gratitude goes to all of our military folks not just the ones who are no longer with us. Know that we care and love you and thank you for your service.

Charlene Walker had all her children visit on Mother's Day. Coming to Loraine were Rickey and Donna and children Ashley and Brett from Lubbock and Austin; Jim and Kristie Kreier and Pat Kreier, all of Huntsville; Teresa Hughes of Dalhart; Clint and Bianca, Brayden and Gail of Snyder.

Charlene said they had a wonderful day.

A television program last week titled "Here on Earth" was urging a person from each household to plant a tree if space was available. Trees help absorb pollutants which cut down on air pollution, they are beautiful, they give us shade, they help with wind breaks and they help cut down on noise.

Trees can also help with warming in winter or cooling in summer. We get fruit and nuts and medical products from some trees. Wood products are important but, unless it's absolutely necessary, only cut and use wood from trees that grown back fast.

The name of Connie Rodriguez was inadvertently omitted from the school board election news last Friday. She worked along with Christine Britton and Doris Henderson.

Millie Rose was in Fort Worth over Mother's Day as well as several days before and after. She visited her daughter, Sherry, and three sons and other family members in Fort Worth, where they shopped, ate out a lot and just had fun.

One son took her to Eastland to visit another son. They toured around Eastland and visited there.

Her son from Eastland then brought her back to Loraine the week after Mother's Day. Millie said she had a wonderful time.

Dorothy Haltom said she enjoyed having her children fix a nice dinner for her Sunday. Calvin and Barbara Haltom of Abilene and Edgar and Glenda Haltom of Loraine worked together to honor their mother with a special meal.

Maria Armendariz is now working for Jeff Wooddell at his barbeque café. She's a great cook. Po Boys now serves breakfast and the burritos are great.

Prior to the morning message at First Baptist Church in Loraine Sunday, Ina Vay McAdams and Jennifer Zuniga provided special music. Jennifer also led the congregational singing as well.

Senior Center Manager Linda Kidd tells me that the refurbishing work in the kitchen is almost finished. They are open for business and pleased with the work being done there.

On June 24, at Sunday noon, a brisket dinner will be served for a fund-raiser. Brisket, potato salad, beans, other items and dessert will be served. Cost will be $6 for adults and $3 for children 10 and younger.

The center currently has tickets for sale for a chance to win a nice, new barbeque grill.

The 2007 Loraine School Exes Committee had a meeting concerning homecoming data and plans scheduled for Oct. 5, such as a big golf game. Oct. 6, there will be an assembly and programs, along with a catered lunch.

Part of the meeting concerned scholarships, fundraisers, newsletters, memberships and the web master. Three scholarships will be awarded this year.

Those attending the meeting were Joan Long, Helen Coldewey, Pat Hudgins, Barbara McGee, Georgia Griffith, Maurice Coldewey and Michael Hackfeld.

It was also mentioned that Wanda Montgomery had brochures on cruise options deemed for 2008.

Robert and Sue Smith from Freemont, California, are parents of Linda Kidd and visited at the center last week. It was nice to meet them.

Visitors at the center last week were Marguerite Bodine, Dora Sutton, Deenie Elliott and Ruth Cooper.

The center was closed last Wednesday while work was being done in the kitchen. It opened on Friday for a regular meal.

Monday, we enjoyed baked chicken, potatoes, a vegetable and dessert.

Special music at United Methodist last Sunday morning was provided by Bobby Richardson, Debby Mitchell and Charlene Hays. They sang "Two Hands" which was well received.

Helen Williams reports that Hershall is feeling some better after having a flu type illness.

They are playing with little dogs, Schnauzers, Westies and Pugs. They really love dogs.

Maz Webb said her children all came to be with her and Linton Ray on Mother's ay. She had children from Stephenville and also from Midland.

Five little grandchildren were the life of the party and she enjoyed having them all make a lovely Mother's Day visit.
