Activities lure SHS exes home

The bonfire is over. The parade and pep rallies are complete. Now it's time to line up and play football.

Snyder High School celebrates its annual homecoming at 7:30 tonight in Tiger Stadium by hosting the Kermit Yellow Jackets. The Tigers, 2-2 for the season, are favored over the Class 3A Yellow Jackets. The Kermit tilt is the final non-conference outing this season as District 5-4A action starts next week.

The halftime show will feature introduction of Homecoming Queen candidates and the crowning of the queen as well as a special performance by the Pride of the West Marching Band. The SHS band is under the direction of Walter Reneau.

Homecoming queen nominees, all seniors, are Karrah Griswold, Paige Bell, Kelly Hart, Trisha McGrew and Brooke Cozart. Queen candidates will be escorted by their fathers.

A dance will follow the game in the student center for SHS students and exes. Admission is $3 per person or $5 per couple.

THE SDN COLUMN

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Most people aren't asking for advice. They just want someplace to deposit their worries."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

O.G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, wrote about the importance of a "community newspaper."

"The only constant is change, and the newspaper industry has seen plenty of that — from technological explosions to the ups and downs of the economy.

"But the one constant, according to industry experts, is the readers' appetite for local news. Despite format changes, many newspapers continue to lose market share and circulation. But some newspapers are gaining, in spite of a drifting economy.

"Those still doing well have one common, but key ingredient. They are chocked full of solid, bread and butter local news. Many small dailies and weekly newspapers remain the single source of information which is available nowhere else.

"The community papers stress the strengths of the past - school activities, scouting, 4-H, church, features about neighbors, honor rolls, hospital and new arrival reports, engagements, marriages. Even obituaries are not taken lightly.

"Special events, parades, anniversaries, sporting events and the like are the fabric of community life. Newspapers are the opportunity of the moment, the local merchant's best and most economical way to reach people closest to his market.

"Community newspapers are the unofficial scrapbook fillers of families, the carrier of glad tidings to grandparents and friends.

"If that's not enough, these same community newspapers help create a sense of community, where good things happen and people know their efforts will be recognized and rewarded."

Thanks for letting us be your community newspaper.

White Buffalo Festival has event for everyone

Floats, music, storytelling, a play, plane rides — the list goes on and on for this year's White Buffalo Days Festival, centered around the courthouse square here Saturday.

The festival officially gets underway this evening with a chuck wagon dinner at the ranch home of S.D. and Judy Hays. The ranch rests on land where Mrs. Hays' grandfather, J. Wright Mooar, shot and killed a rare white buffalo on Oct. 7, 1876.

Festival-goers can get an early start Saturday morning, by land or air. The 10K White Buffalo Stampede starts at 8 a.m. At the same time, members of the Scurry County Pilots Association will be giving plane rides at Winston Field. There is a charge of $5 per person, which the association is donating to Scurry County United Way. Local banks are picking up the cost of gasoline for the seven available planes. Flights will continue until 10 o'clock.

Folks who want to keep their feet on the ground may begin visiting booths on the square as early as 9 a.m. A reenactment gunfight is promised on the north side of the square at that time.

One of the highlights of the festival, the Parade of History, will get underway at 10 o'clock, moving north from Varsity Square on College Avenue and around the courthouse square. The parade stresses the history of Scurry County from the days of the buffalo until modern times.

Featured performer Red Stegall is to give a brief welcome at the white buffalo statue as the parade ends. He will then move to the tent on the west side of the courthouse grounds to get the day's entertainment. underway.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be Larry Scott, known nationwide for his work with KWKH in Shreveport, La., and the Cowboy Hour he hosts there.

More than a dozen acts are scheduled to perform in the tent. There is no charge and festival-goers are welcome to come and go as they wish. Some seating will be available but people are also invited to bring lawn chairs and spend the day.

Also opening at 10 a.m. will be a quilt show at 2509 College, hosted by the Senior Center and Scurry County Historical Commission. Elmer Kelton, prize-winning Western author, will be there to sign books for fans from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2-4 p.m.

The Hays County Gals & Pals will stage children's shows at noon and 5 p.m. near the bandstand.

The Ritz Community Theatre will present a melodrama in the Ritz Theatre at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Bosnia cease-fire hailed by Clinton

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a cease-fire in Bosnia, President Clinton tried today to polish his foreign policy credentials and reassert America's influence around the world. "If the United States does not lead," he said. "The job will not be done."

In a broad-brush speech billed by aides as a major foreign policy address, Clinton offered his standard defense of policies in Bosnia, Mexico, Haiti, and the Middle East — and he urged Congress once again to pass anti-terrorism legislation.

Clinton said the United States must "beat back the forces of isolationism" in Congress and elsewhere.

Acknowledging that Americans are more concerned about social troubles and governmental reform than perils abroad, the president said, "We cannot do any of these things in isolation from the world which we have done so much to make and which we must continue to lead."

Cowboy Corner host is here

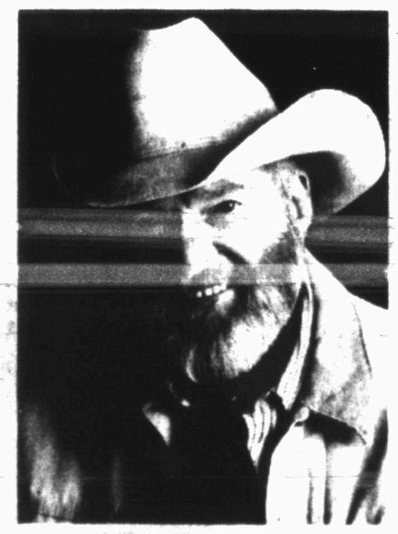

Red Stegall has performed an average of 200 days per year over the past 25 years, but he'll be performing in Snyder for the first time on Saturday as part of the second annual White Buffalo Festival.

Stegall will be a special guest for the Parade of History starting at 10 a.m. and at 11 will take the speaker's stand near the white buffalo to extend the official welcome. Larry Scott, radio personality from KWKH in Shreveport, La., will also be there. Stegall will then move to the tent on the west side of the courthouse where a day of entertainment is scheduled.

More than a dozen cowboy poets and musicians are to perform throughout the day.

During his career, Stegall has had more than 200 of his compositions recorded by himself and other artists. He teamed with the Coleman County Cowboys to record what is considered to be the classic rodeo cassette, "For All Our Cowboy Friends." It includes the salute to Freckles Brown and old and new songs such as "My Adobe Hacienda" and "Rodeo." He wrote the title song for the National Finals Rodeo telecast and songs for five movies, and produced the movie "Big Bad John" which starred Jimmy Dean.

In April of 1994, Red launched a one-hour syndicated radio show, Cowboy Corner, heard on 140 stations in 43 states. KSNY carries the show at 1 p.m. on Saturdays. It has featured guest artists such as Reba McEntire, Charlie Daniels, Michael Martin Murphy, Baxter Black and Buck Ramsey.

RED STEGALL

Red's first book, Ride for the Brand, a collection of poetry and songs embracing the western lifestyle that he loves, was published in 1993 by TCU Press. "His poems and songs reflect a tradition that began in open range days when cowboys with time on their hands and a night herd to sing to made up new lyrics to go along with old melodies," Elmer Kelton, western novelist, said.

Some of Stegall's tapes and CDs are to be available at the Buffalo Festival booth on the east side of the courthouse on Saturday. Stegall is to give his second performance under the tent at 2:45 p.m.

Probation revoked for another DWI

A 32-year-old Snyder man, serving a five-year probated sentence for felony driving while intoxicated, saw his probation revoked this morning in 132nd District Court.

Orlando Balbuena Aviles of 1413 22nd St. was convicted in 1990 of DWI. A subsequent offense last month resulted in the probation revocation.

Senior District Judge Gene Dulaney ordered Aviles to serve the five-year sentence in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice and pay a fine of $750.

Milkman wins; stays on job

AUSTIN (AP) — Some people might go into work a little late after winning a $9.36 million jackpot.

Not Julio Barrazo of Corpus Christi.

He reported to his Hygeia Dairy job at 3:30 a.m. the day after discovering he had the winning ticket for Saturday's $9.36 million Lotto Texas prize.

Thursday, he said he plans to keep collecting milk from Coastal Bend dairy farms for at least two months, until a replacement can be hired and trained.

"My first thought was if I did quit, my co-workers ... would be the ones that would end up working more doubles (shifts) than usual," said Barrazo, 29, who has worked for Hygeia for just over three months.

"Right now, we're shorthanded as it is. We only get one day off, and one guy has to work straight for the whole week."

Barrazo spoke at a news conference after being presented with a check for the first installment of his winnings — $472,950.32. He'll get annual payments of $468,000 for the next 19 years.

Among his first purchases?

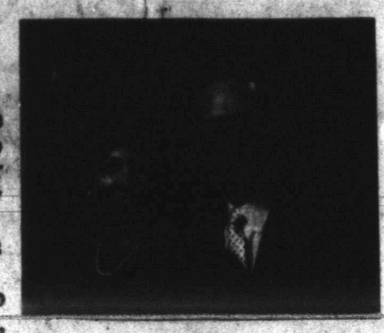

"I'll be buying my new car that I always wanted. It's going to be a Grand Am," he said.

Barrazo and his two sons, ages 9 and 7, live with his mother, uncle and brother. He said he plans to build them a new home and after that, "I'll move out and build my dream home."

He also plans to invest for his children's future.

Barrazo began playing Lotto Texas only a few months ago, because some store cashiers encouraged him to try his luck. Barrazo, who selected his winning numbers (5, 15, 18, 26, 43, 49), said he was thrilled with his good fortune.

"I couldn't believe that it was me. I've never won nothing in my whole life," he said.

JOHN & BEVERLY BOLGER

Former resident set to conduct revival meetings

The Rev. John Malcolm Bolger, a 1963 Snyder High School graduate, will be conducting revival services at Snyder Church of the Nazarene beginning Sunday morning and continuing through Tuesday.

Sunday services will start with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. and morning worship at 10:50 a.m.

Services will continue through Sunday night at 6 and then Monday and Tuesday at 7 p.m. A full nursery will be provided during all services.

Bolger is the son of the late Ed and Ian Bolger who owned and operated Bolger Funeral Home in Snyder before selling the business to Bill Seale in 1972.

Bolger has one brother, Perry, who resides in Midland.

Bolger is married to Beverly Moore, former Lubbock resident, who will accompany him. They have three daughters, Elizabeth Cabello of San Antonio; Angie Fleming of Manilla in the Philippines; and Roxanne Walker of Gainesville. They also have five grandchildren.

Bolger currently serves as the senior pastor of Florence Church of the Nazarene in Florence, Colo. and is a graduate of Nazarene Bible College in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Rev. Shawn M. Fouts is the pastor of Snyder Church of the Nazarene, located on the Colorado City Highway — just south of the traffic circle.

Systemwide blackout affected West Texas

EL PASO (AP) — A 40-minute blackout cut off power to most of El Paso Electric Co.'s 263,000 customers in West Texas and southern New Mexico, frightening people but apparently causing no serious problems, authorities said.

Memorial Medical Center in Las Cruces automatically went on emergency generator power when the lights went out at 10:18 p.m. Thursday. Most came back on between 10:40 and 11 p.m.

"Some of our monitors had to be readjusted, but that was about the only thing," said Maria Blea on the hospital switchboard.

El Paso Electric spokesman Alan Bunnell said the blackout caused several local power plants to automatically shut down. Those plants came back up within about 40 minutes.

The Rio Grande Power Plant on El Paso's west side discharged substantial amounts of steam, frightening people in the immediate area. But plant manager John Rust said it was just part of the precautionary shutdown.

It was the second such failure in just over two weeks. Like the first one, Sept. 19, Bunnell said the Thursday blackout was systemwide — extending from Van Horn, Texas, east of El Paso, to Hatch, N.M., north of Las Cruces.

He said it was possibly related to transmission problems between Arizona and New Mexico. The previous problem was traced to an El Paso Electric transmission line between Springerville, Ariz., and Deming, N.M.

"Our initial investigation continues to be in the same area as the problem of September 19th," Bunnell said. "We have not yet been able to make a determination."

Rick Brinneman, spokesman for Public Service Company of New Mexico, said in Albuquerque late Thursday that an initial report shows the line going out again between Springerville and Deming.

"It was very similar to what occurred September 19th," Brinneman said.

Ironically, he said, a small power outage in Albuquerque's Northeast Heights was apparently unrelated to the El Paso blackout.

Arizona Public Service officials denied any involvement in the problem.

"There's nothing in our system that would cause them a problem," said Jim McDonald, spokesman for the Palo Verde Nuclear Generating Station in Arizona.

The blackout did cause a minor problem for Erik Ness, director of communications for the New Mexico Farm Bureau.

Selena receives 'Rock' tribute

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mayor Bill Thornton joined the husband of slain Tejano singer Selena in the unveiling of a star emblazoned with her name in front of the city's Hard Rock Cafe on Thursday.

The restaurant chain's chief executive officer, Art Levitt, took part in a ceremony with Chris Perez, Selena's husband. Inside, an exhibit of memorabilia from the singer, including the evening gown she wore to the Grammy Awards, was displayed.

"During the short time that Selena was with us, she had an enormous impact on this community and the music industry," said Levitt, who announced that Hard Rock would donate $5,000 to the Selena Scholarship Fund.

Another part of the display is a commemorative Coca-Cola bottle Selena autographed for the restaurant two weeks before she was shot to death in a Corpus Christi motel parking lot on March 31.

Dr. Gott

Monitor drug therapy with blood test

DEAR DR. GOTT: I find the only medicine that really controls my rheumatoid arthritis without outward symptoms is weekly injections of methotrexate. Is a urine and blood test enough to determine if this medication is harming me?

DEAR READER: Methotrexate, an anti-metabolite, is a relatively new treatment for rheumatoid arthritis — and it is effective in many cases.

However, because it is a powerful drug that affects the immune system, it has the potential for causing serious side effects, such as nausea, low white blood cell count, lung inflammation, renal failure, liver damage, and others.

Because most of these complications are correctable if detected early, patients taking methotrexate must be closely monitored with blood tests and urinalyses. The type and frequency of these tests should be left to the discretion of the prescribing physician.

But, unquestionably, they should be performed at regular intervals. With such supervision, the tests will indicate any harm the medicine may cause, and allow the doctor to reduce the dose or stop the drug entirely.

In such cases, less powerful (but equally effective) drugs, such as Prednisone, may be used.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10150. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has a large bump on his upper left shoulder that drains like a pimple. It's dark red and very painful and drains green and white stuff. Six months go by and it drains again. We use hot rags and poultice of hot bread and milk to assist the draining and we think it's a boil. Is this the proper treatment for such a lesion?

DEAR READER: From your vivid description, I'd conclude that your husband does, indeed, have a chronic abscess on his shoulder.

Because such an infection usually contains a hard core of infected material (that causes continuing inflammation), the abscess probably requires incision and drainage. During this office procedure, the surgeon enlarges the opening and expels the core. Finally, the wound is packed with gauze to promote drainage. Healing ordinarily follows in two to three weeks.

I do not believe that your home remedies will solve your husband's problem. Rather, he should be examined by a surgeon and, possibly, have the treatment I described. If the abscess is very large, antibiotics by mouth may be necessary, in addition to the drainage procedure.

Attorneys face possible sanctions

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A judge has scheduled a Nov. 10 hearing into possible sanctions against two attorneys who filed the same lawsuit 17 times in an effort to get it heard by a particular judge.

"My gut reaction was one of great concern. In 21 years here, this is unprecedented," State District Judge Max Bennett said Thursday.

"My concern is that there may have been an attempt to get the cases before a particular judge contrary to our local rules," he told the San Antonio Express-News in a telephone interview.

In the hearing next month, lawyers Robert C. Hilliard of Corpus Christi and Andrew Schirrmeister III of Houston will be asked to prove they did not intentionally violate local rules.

Dear Abby

Doctor Offers Multiple Options For Man Resigned to Impotence

DEAR ABBY: Recently, a 70-year-old widower wrote to you saying that he was dating a half-dozen women with whom he had platonic relationships. He says that he avoids giving them the impression that he has a romantic interest in them because he is impotent and is somewhat embarrassed by his condition.

You replied that many women in that age group would consider a non-sexual status a plus — and that holding, caressing and doing "everything but" can be sufficiently satisfying to some women.

Your response implies that he should just accept his condition without even considering medical treatment to correct it.

Abby, I want to point out that sexual dysfunction is treatable, and help is available to allow for a satisfying sex life.

It is possible that this man's impotence is related to a medication that could be adjusted or changed.

If this is not the case, there are treatments that include counseling, injection therapy, vacuum devices and prosthetic surgery.

N.H. COLEBURN, M.D.,
ST. LUKE'S-ROOSEVELT
HOSPITAL, NEW YORK

DEAR DR. COLEBURN: Thank you for a letter that should be helpful and encouraging to many. (It is estimated that 10 million men in the United States suffer from impotence or some form of sexual disorder.) Readers, the doctor to consult is a urologist.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: "Feeling Foolish in New Hampshire" wrote about a friend who found a $5 bill in a pair of jeans she had purchased for $1 at a yard sale. She immediately telephoned the original owner and gloated over the windfall.

Abby, that story could have come directly out of Jewish folklore.

Once, a rabbi purchased a camel from a trader at the bazaar. When he arrived home, he discovered a valuable diamond in the camel's saddlebag. He immediately returned the diamond to its rightful owner and said, "Sir, I purchased a camel, not a diamond; the diamond is still rightfully yours."

The moral of that story is clear. We have an obligation to be honorable in all transactions.

By the way, I used this story as an illustration to my Sunday school children this very day.

With affection and best wishes ...
RABBI ARNOLD STIEBEL,
RENO, NEV.

DEAR RABBI STIEBEL: Thank you for writing to share that wonderful fable with my readers.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am hoping you can clear up some confusion that has been going on for some time. Many years ago, my parents divorced and my father married my mom's sister, "Nancy." They had a daughter together and named her "Kirsten."

Everyone in the family is on friendly terms, and my relationship with Kirsten is super.

Technically, what is my relationship to Kirsten?

BAFFLED BARBARA,
HOLBROOK, N.Y.

DEAR BAFFLED: Kirsten is your half-sister/first cousin. I am pleased that you get along so well — relatively speaking.

P.S. To complicate things further; your Aunt Nancy is also your stepmother — which reminds me of the old song, "I'm My Own Grandpaw."

Group asks for hearings on behalf of choice for parents

AUSTIN (AP) — Parents who have been rebuffed in an attempt to transfer their children from low-performing campuses are asking for school board hearings to debate the matter.

In an effort to show the dire circumstances students at low-performing schools are facing, advocates for school choice have sent a letter alleging that an English class at one school was disrupted by noise from a pupil's head being hit against the wall in an adjoining bathroom.

That letter, to the Hurst-Euless-Bedford Independent School District superintendent, was one of three sent on behalf of parents by the Texas Justice Foundation. The others went to Eagle Mountain-Saginaw ISD in Fort Worth and Katy ISD.

Allan Parker of the Justice Foundation, a group that supports educational choice, has urged people to take advantage of a new program that was meant to allow students to flee low-rated schools.

The public education grant program allows students to transfer if they are at a campus that has been identified as low-performing by the state at any time in the preceding three years; or if at least 50 percent of students didn't perform satisfactorily on the statewide Texas Assessment of Academic Skills.

But the law allows school districts to reject transfers, as long as they don't discriminate on such criteria as race, academic achievement, athletic ability or income.

After a lengthy pause, South conceded one down.

"Sorry partner, but how was I to expect West to have four clubs with his heart length?"

"You weren't," replied North, "but why commit yourself so early?"

North went on to explain that South should have cashed all his spade, heart and diamond tricks before turning to clubs. South would learn that West started with two spades, five hearts, two diamonds and, therefore, four clubs. This makes it easy for South to cash the ace and queen of clubs before finessing dummy's nine.

Discern before deciding

Frenchman Joseph Marie de Maistre wrote, "The concept of number is the obvious distinction between the beast and man. Thanks to number, the cry becomes song, noise acquires rhythm, the spring is transformed into a dance, force becomes dynamic, and outlines figures."

Numbers are important in bridge, of course. You must watch the number of spots on each card. You must count the points and suit distributions. Declarer played particularly poorly in today's deal.

After South opened two no-trump, showing 20-22 points, North asked, "Was that one no-trump or two?" Holding 18 points himself, North wanted to double-check before jumping to seven no-trump.

After West led the heart 10, North confidently displayed his dummy, expecting partner to claim immediately.

There was no claim, but South played immediately. He won the first trick in hand, cashed the club ace and played a club to dummy's king. East's diamond discard was a shattering blow.

SPIRIT LEADERS—Homecoming activities are underway at Snyder High School. The main attraction will be tonight when the Snyder Tigers take on the Kermit Yellow Jackets at 7:30 in Tiger stadium. Thursday afternoon, the parade and pep-a-rally took place on the courthouse lawn. Leading cheers were (L to R) Karomy Drum, Cara Stansell, Keri Temp and Kelly Hart. Snyder hosts Kermit in homecoming tilt

By Brent Taylor
Sports Editor

For once this year, the Snyder Tigers will play a football team they outweigh. "This will probably be the only team we play all year we are bigger than," said Snyder High School coach David Baugh.

Baugh was referring the Snyder's homecoming opponent, the Kermit Yellow Jackets. According to their roster, the Yellow Jackets have only five players listed at 200-pounds plus. By comparison, Big Spring had nine players topping 200 while Snyder has seven.

The Yellow Jackets will come to Snyder looking for its first win. They have be beaten by Seminole, 14-6; Seagraves, 14-7; Alpine, 28-0 and Denver City, 14-0.

Kermit, coached by first year head man Brad McCoy, runs from the I formation on offense and a 4-3 look on defense. According to the scouting report, the Yellow Jackets' quarterback, Daniel Lowe, is a good scrambler, but has had problems with his receivers hanging on to the ball. Lowe is a 6-0, 170-pound senior.

Kermit will feature a tailback that is kind of a mystery player. "He has only played one game thus far and we don't know that much about him," commented Baugh. Arnold Navarro, a 5-5, 150-pound junior is listed as a starter at tailback.

Baugh added, "Kermit is a weaker team then what we faced last year. They do not have the size or speed."

Snyder will try to get its running game going this week. "When I wrote down my objectives this week, I put the running game first and the short pass second," continued Baugh. L.S. McClain will get the start at tailback, but Marlowe Riggins will see more action on the offensive side. "I want to see Marlowe run 15-20 times."

With Riggins in the backfield, Wayne Braziel will move to split end.

On the injury front, Matthew Fambro, who was assisted off the field last week with a neck sprain, has been cleared to play, but will probably not see any action according to Baugh. "If we have to have him, then we will use him, but I don't plan on it." James Wesley will get the starting nod for Fambro in the secondary.

Kyle Beck, who went down with a dislocated shoulder in the Andrews' game, has been working out this week, but has not been cleared to play in a game situation.

Seth Knox will be back in the starting lineup for the Tigers. Knox played last week after having knee surgery at the first of the year.

This will be the final tune-up for the Tigers before starting District 5-4A action next week against Levelland. "We have spent a lot of time working on our basics and fundamentals. We have worked harder this week than we have in several weeks," stated Baugh.

Probable starting line-up for Snyder on offense includes Matt Parker, quarterback; Kevin Lacik, fullback; L.S. McClain, tailback; Marlowe Riggins, split end; Wayne Braziel, flanker; Jeff Hobbs, tight-end; Heath Porter, center; Chris Post, guard; Joey Medley, guard; Chris Dension, tackle; and Donny Durst, tackle.

On defense; David Wagner, nose guard; Post and Durst, tackles; Hobbs and McClain, ends; Knox and Chris Fuentez, linebackers; Jeremiah Johnson, Wayne Braziel, Scott Sanders and Wesley in the secondary.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 tonight in Tiger Stadium.

JV defeats Yellow Jackets

The Snyder JV picked up its first win of the season on the road at Kermit Thursday, 20-6.

"Our kids have worked hard to get to this first win," said Coach Tommy Doyle. "Our defense stayed on the field a long time and kept them our of the end zone."

D.J. Garcia got Snyder on the scoreboard first with a 4-yard run. Garcia also converted the extra point. The Tigers came back and scored again on a 28-yard run by Ben Boyd. The extra point failed.

With the Tigers in front of the Yellow Jackets, 13-6, Snyder's Scott Squires picked up a fumble and returned it 78-yards for the touchdown. Garcia was good on the extra point.

"Our offense did the best job of the year blocking," added Doyle.

Next for the JV will be Levelland as they open district play. The game is set for 5 p.m. Thursday in Levelland.

No pass, no play rule hits county teams

No pass, no play has made its effects felt on Scurry County schools.

The Ira Bulldogs have been hit the hardest, leaving only five players eligible to participate at the varsity level. As a result, tonight's Ira-Grady football game has been canceled.

According to assistant coach Joee Gainer, there is an outside chance Ira will pickup enough players for next week's District 6, six-man opener against Westbrook.

The Hermleigh Cardinals were also hit, but still have eight players eligible to play. Snyder lost one varsity player.

Under new changes, passed by the Texas legislature, schools like Ira and Hermleigh will only be without the services of players for three-weeks instead of six- weeks, as long as they are passing.

Hermleigh (2-2) takes on Wilson tonight, in Wilson, after the Cardinals knocked off Trent last Friday, 35-18. Wilson (1-3) was totally destroyed by number one ranked Amherst a week ago, 53-6. Wilson allowed Amherst 33 first quarter points in the game that was called by the 45-point rule in the third quarter.

To the West, Borden County (3-1) takes to the road to play Union. The Coyotes are coming off a 56-52 win over Loop. Union (3-1) also had a one-sided win last week. They defeated Midland Trinity, 79-34.

In other District 6 action, Highland is at Paint Creek while Dawson is at Westbrook. Saturday, Milford is at Loraine.

Jayton defeated Highland (1-3), 40-14, a week ago and Klondike downed Westbrook (1-3), 66-38. Loraine evened its season record (2-2) with a win over Grady, 48-36

Drug bust lands star player in jail

TYLER (AP) — At least 19 East Texans have been arrested in a Smith County drug sweep that culminated a 10-month joint investigation by sheriff's deputies and Tyler police.

Among those arrested Thursday on a variety of drug-related charges were a Tyler John Tyler football star, a longtime elementary school teacher and an ex-policeman. They were named on some of the 48 sealed indictments handed up last month by a grand jury.

In all, 29 people were indicted. Authorities began making arrests early Thursday.

The sweep was to continue today until all suspects are in custody, Tyler police Chief William Young said. He also expressed hope that the county-wide operation would send a message to dealers.

"If you're gonna do it, you better be looking over your shoulder because our guys are going to be out there making cases on you," Young said.

Brian Andre Dillard, the star noseguard-fullback of the John Tyler Lions, the defending Class 5A, Division II football champions, faces two charges of cocaine delivery.

"I need to talk to his mother and people around him and find out what's going on," John Tyler coach Allen Wilson said. "We're looking into the situation."

The undefeated Lions, ranked No. 1 all season in The Associated Press high school football poll, host Dallas Skyline tonight.

Rodeo team at Sul Ross

The WTC rodeo team got off to a slow start Thursday in the Sul Ross State University rodeo in Alpine.

According to Coach Todd Danley, most of the WTC participants will compete tonight and Saturday. Those who did compete Thursday include Jeff Decker with a 78 in saddle bronc. He is in first place. Justin Terral is in third place in calf roping with a time of 13.1.

On the ladies' side, Kaycee Plugge is in third in breakaway roping with a time of 4.8.

Tonights performance is at 6 with Saturday's action starting at 8 a.m. The finals or short go will be Saturday evening at 6. Slack will be run following the rodeo tonight and Saturday morning.

Aggies, Raiders set for annual battle

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Tech must put together a cohesive offense and stop getting outmuscled on the line of scrimmage, football coach Spike Dykes said Monday.

The Red Raiders, reeling from a 9-7 loss to Baylor, Saturday face eighth-ranked Texas A&M — a team Tech hasn't beaten since 1989.

Baylor held the Red Raiders scoreless until the game's final five seconds. The loss knocked Tech off its No. 24 perch.

"Certainly our quarterback has got to play better, just like our guards and tackles and centers and tight ends and wide receivers and running backs — they've all got to play better," Dykes said.

"We're a long way from where we'd like to be. We're a long way from where we will be."

Tech (1-2, 0-1 in the Southwest Conference) opens a three-week home stand with the game Saturday against the Aggies (2-1). Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m. in front of an expected sellout crowd of 50,500.

Texas A&M was idle last week after losing 29-21 to No. 4 Colorado.

"They had aspirations of a national championship and aspirations of grandeur," Dykes said. "When you do that and you come up a little bit shorthanded, well, it just makes it a little bit tougher on the next guy. And we happen to be the next guy."

The Red Raiders will devote practice time this week to offensive execution and running an error-free kicking game, he said. Dykes expects trouble from what he called the Aggies' main strength: Leeland McElroy.

One toddler dies in day-care accident

Ten children injured, two critically, when pickup lands in playground

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — One minute they were at play in the sunny playground of their neighborhood day-care center. The next they were crushed beneath the wheels of an out-of-control pickup.

When it was over Thursday, a 2-year-old boy was dead and 10 other children were injured, two critically.

"I heard the bang, when I got there the kids were under the truck," said 17-year-old Ricardo Navarro, who ran to his home nearby to get a jack to help pry out four bleeding children.

"One of them was moving. His skull, you could see his skull and his hands were all torn up," he said. "We were telling them not to panic."

The 18-year-old woman driving the truck that smashed into the playground of the Lossieland PreSchool told police she was trying to avoid another car when her truck careened out of control.

Police would say only that the investigation was continuing. The driver, Gabriela Gomez, was questioned, but no charges were filed. Police were looking early today for the driver of the other vehicle.

The crash sent distraught parents rushing to the center, some nearly hysterical with grief and fear.

"Oh, my God, what happened to him?" one woman wailed as she ran, sobbing, down the street.

Another woman, who said her 4-year-old nephew was among the injured, pressed her lips together as she paced back and forth across the street from the center, which is in a one-story house.

When it hit, the shiny black, late-model Chevrolet truck plowed through a redwood fence and into a wood chip-filled play area, coming to a stop against a plastic climbing gym.

Israeli parliament approves proposal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Accepting Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's plea to "give peace a chance," Israel's parliament voted early Friday to ratify an accord that grants the PLO control over West Bank cities and signals an end to 28 years of Israeli occupation.

The accord was approved 61-59 after a tumultuous 15-hour debate.

Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, speaking last, defended the agreement against charges that it gives away too much to the Palestinians and endangers the safety of Israelis.

"We did not concede anything," he said. "The agreement did not create the reality. The reality created the agreement."

Earlier, more than 20,000 Israelis holding candles and chanting "Rabin is a traitor" marched from downtown Jerusalem to parliament to protest the Israel-PLO agreement.

The accord, signed last week in Washington, calls for an Israeli troop withdrawal from Palestinian towns by the end of the year, the deployment of 12,000 armed Palestinian police in the West Bank, and Palestinian general elections by spring.

Rabin told the parliament that bloodshed would continue unless Israel ended its rule over the Palestinians.
