Blizzards And Floods Leave Trail Of Death Over Nation

Six Lives Are Claimed While Hundreds Are Homeless; Zero Weather Grips Several Areas

Snowslides Block Transportation In Northwest While Most Of Eastern Seaboard Is Covered; Mercury Is Expected To Drop Even Lower In Some Parts Of Country Today

(By The Associated Press)

BLIZZARDS, floods and zero weather left a trail of death and destruction across the nation yesterday.

Last night the loss of life stood at:

Six persons dead, one missing, hundreds homeless and property damage of more than a million dollars in the Pacific northwest.

Four dead at Bellefonte, Pa., after a train and an automobile crashed in a snow storm.

Three burned to death in a dance hall fire at Hampden, Me., which raged at the height of a blizzard.

Two dead from cold in Philadelphia; one in Delaware, another in Baltimore.

Snow blanketed most of the eastern seaboard, snowslides blocked transportation in northwest, and the mercury touched 24 degrees below zero in Owls Head, New York, western Wisconsin reported a temperature of 16 below; North Dakota, 14; Minnesota, 23 below.

In the Alleghanies in western Pennsylvania, two transcontinental and western mail planes crashed to earth, their wings burdened with

Pampa And Angelo Will Battle In City Saturday

Tech Field Selected As Site For Game; Others Make Bid

PAMPA and San Angelo High school football teams will play their quarter-final game in the Texas Interscholastic league race at the Texas Tech field here, Saturday, December 16.

This was announced by faculty representatives and coaches here last night after a four-hour session during which invitations from Wichita Falls, Abilene, Breckenridge and Lubbock were considered. San Angelo representatives offered an attractive cash guarantee for the game on the Bobcat field, but Pampa, choosing to play on neutral territory or at home, turned it down.

Coach Favors Lubbock

Coach Odus Mitchell of the District 1 pennant winners declared himself early as in favor of playing at Lubbock. Coach Taylor of San Angelo was not present, but school representatives, after much discussion, agreed to accept Lubbock's offer. There followed a long distance conversation between the San Angelo delegates present and members of the San Angelo school board, culminating in a decision to play at Lubbock. Pampa officials earlier had agreed to play the game here.

Pampa, District 1 champion, defeated Abilene king in District 2, at Amarillo Saturday, 27 to 7. At the same time, San Angelo, the District 3 titleholder, was beating Bowie High of El Paso, winner in District 4, 27 to 7 on the El Paso field.

Go To Semi-Final

The winner here Saturday will meet the winner of the Dallas Tech-Highland Park game, also scheduled for this week-end, in the state semi-final round-up one week from Saturday.

It was largely through the efforts of Lubbock business men and Texas Tech college that the game was brought here. The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and board of city development, through A. B. Davis and S. A. Wells, promoted the invitation Saturday when it was learned that Pampa had beaten Abilene. Lubbock is geographically situated almost halfway between Pampa and San Angelo, and was the "logical choice" if "you choose to play the game on neutral grounds."

Littlefield Boosting

Early yesterday The Morning Avalanche received copy of a telegram sent to Pampa and San Angelo school officials from Littlefield, as follows:

"Littlefield hopes your game will be played at Lubbock. Can assure several hundred fans. (Signed) Littlefield Business Men."

Post citizens, also, wanted the game played here. George Samson, secretary of the Post Chamber of Commerce, telephoned The Morning Avalanche that a good delegation of

Radical Seeking Governor's Post

HOUSTON, Dec. 11. (AP) — Franklin P. Davis, self-styled "radical" today tossed his hat into the gubernatorial sweepstakes.

The avowed candidate has sought unsuccessfully from time to time numerous state and county offices. He opened his written platform with the blast "I will declare martial law the day I am inaugurated."

"It will so continue until every man in the state has a job at constructive enterprise, if he has any desire to work and will have for himself the necessities and the luxuries of life," Davis stated.

Agreement On Liquor Taxes Being Sought

Roosevelt Feels It Is More Important To Put A Stop To Bootlegging Than To Boost Federal Revenue

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President Roosevelt was described by Senator Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, tonight, as feeling that "it is more important to put a stop to bootlegging" than to boost the federal revenue from a liquor levy.

This description of the president's attitude was given by Harrison as he emerged from a conference between Mr. Roosevelt and the members of the two congressional tax drafting committees, now in the course of deciding how high the liquor tax shall be.

Minimum Sought

"So anxious is the president and congress that the tax be not so high as to give the bootlegger security," said Harrison as he left the meeting, "that we want to put it down to a minimum."

This remark came as new opposition was expressed to the $2.60 a gallon levy proposed by Mr. Roosevelt's inter-departmental committee. Mr. Roosevelt himself has refrained from naming any particular figure for a liquor tax.

Harrison said "someone has suggested $2.20" as a desirable liquor tax and he indicated that this or some other figure below the $2.60 proposed by the inter-departmental committee would be favored.

Mr. Roosevelt left with the congressional committees the determination of the tax. He designated Joseph H. Choate, jr., federal alcohol administrator, and Edward G. Lowry, special assistant to the secretary of the treasury, to present the administration's views to the congressional committee tomorrow.

The Capitol Hill leaders also received at the White House parley a suggestion for a resolution granting HOUSTON, Dec. 11. (AP)—Tom Anderson, 50, a cook, was shot to death here tonight in a shed in the rear of his home by a negro hunter. The shooting occurred after an altercation in which Anderson remonstrated with the negro for hunting in the sparsely settled Buffalo bayou district where he lived.

FDR Holding Optimism For Farm Future

Staunch Support For Policies Of President Is Offered By Farm Bureau Federation At Chicago Session

More Time Needed

Edward A. O'Neal Calls Upon All Farmers To Lend Their Cooperation; Progress Over Last Few Months Cited

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—The American farm bureau federation today received a message of agricultural optimism from President Roosevelt, and responded with expressions of staunch support from its leaders for the president's program of farm recovery.

Although declaring that "we seem to be on our way," the president's message admonished that full support and complete cooperation from the farmers were essential to final success.

Support Accorded

Even before the presidential message was read to the assemblage of 1,000 farmers by their leader, Edward A. O'Neal, Alabama cotton farmer and head of the federation, the convention was reported as firmly in support of Roosevelt and his policies.

The resolutions committee was reported to have drafted a resolution expressing such sentiment, and calling upon the president to continue his program without deviation. Another resolution was reported to ask that congress consider seriously the possibility of remonetization of silver, which O'Neal advocated in his opening address.

More Time Needed

President Roosevelt's message said that the administration's farm program under the agricultural adjustment act already had done some good for farmers, but said that more time was needed.

"The members of the farm bureau know, as I do," he said, "that the maladjustment between supply and demand has been years in the making, and that it can not be corrected overnight. Nevertheless, in a few short months the whole complexion of the agricultural outlook has been changed."

The president recounted the steps already taken to aid the cotton, wheat, and corn and hogs farmers by planned production, and said that those activities, combined with the NRA, had brought improve-

Seven Trapped By Fire Under River

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 11. (AP) — Seven men, pier workers in a bridge building caisson, lay imprisoned by fire on the bottom of the Missouri river today while deadly smoke rolled within 12 inches of them before they were saved.

The "sandhogs," gasping for the scant fresh air remained in the tank 101 feet beneath the surface of the river, had thought death inevitable as belching flames sent even thicker rolls of gaseous smoke down to them. One hour and 30 minutes after the fire, of unknown origin, broke out 70 feet above them, two barrels of water were dumped from a crane, extinguished the blaze.

"We thought we were goners," one of the soot-faced men said. "If we had stayed down there 10 minutes more we would have all been dead."

Ten Top-Ranking Charmers Of World Are Chosen; Roosevelt Heads List; Reasons Offered

Ed Wynn, Lady Astor, Mrs. Roosevelt, The Prince Of Wales, Mrs. Emily Post, Albert Einstein, Mrs. Grace Coolidge, Queen Of Siam And Benito Mussolini Also Chosen

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The most charming person in the world, in the opinion of Margery Wilson, who studies such matters, is President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Miss Wilson, in announcing her selections tonight of the world's ten top-ranking charmers, said she named the president first because "he has shown 120,000,000 frightened children that there isn't any bogie-man under the bed. We think of him first as a wise, wholesome man —afterward as president."

Mrs. Roosevelt also appears on the list—in fourth place—thus making the White House residents the most charming family in the world. The complete list:

President Roosevelt, Ed Wynn, Lady Astor, Mrs. Roosevelt, the Prince of Wales, Mrs. Emily Post, Albert Einstein, Mrs. Grace Coolidge, the queen of Siam, and Benito Mussolini.

Miss Wilson, who is scheduled next month to address a group of society women on "What is Charm," in the interests of charity, tonight defined charming people as "those who leave their impress upon us—those we can't ignore or forget, to whom our memory clings vigorously or with a gentle nuance of delight."

The reasons for her other selections:

Killing Described

Jack Wisdom States He Feared Prosecution From Victim On Worthless Check; Defendant Under Heavy Guard

(By The Associated Press)

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Dec. 11.—Jack Wisdom, 26, a cowboy, signed a statement this afternoon, Assistant County Attorney Eli Eubanks announced, that he kidnaped and killed Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pritchard of Wichita, Kas.

The statement, obtained at the Kansas state reformatory where Wisdom is held for safe keeping, did not mention "Buck Smith" who Wisdom had stated earlier killed the couple while he looked on.

Feared Prosecution.

Wisdom, according to the statement, shot the couple to death and hid the bodies in Oklahoma because he feared prosecution on a worthless check for $21.40 which he had given the Wichita merchant.

The statement as made public by Eubanks, read:

Q.—"Just relate the events leading up to the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard on Thursday, Nov. 23, 1933."

A.—"Well, I met up with Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard there in the Pan-American cafe and he got onto me for this here check, and wanted the money right then and insisted on having it at the time or me going to jail, and I got out and tried to get the money for him but failed, and I couldn't get it. The only way I could think of to keep from going to jail was to make away with them, which I did on the road south of Wichita."

Formed Intention

Q.—"So you did form the intention of doing away with, or killing Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard in Sedgwick county, Kansas?"

A.—"Yes."

Q.—"And you carried out your designs or plans in Sumner county, Kansas, two or three miles north of Wellington?"

A.—"Yes. I, Jack Wisdom, make the above statement knowing full well the contents of the same and knowing that it may be used against me in case of trial. So help me God."

The statement was made public

Texan Kills Self To Achieve Fame

Crisler shot himself to death in his apartment here yesterday. He was 37 years old. His paintings had been placed at many exhibitions but few were sold.

Several of those who supported Peek in his differences with Secretary Wallace, Assistant Secretary Tugwell and others will follow him out of the farm administration, among them several who hold high places.

Victims Enticed By Promises Of Big Money-Making

ARREST of two men yesterday at Southland was believed to have broken a confidence game, involving counterfeiting, which was being operated on the South Plains.

Prospective victims were said to have been enticed by "big money-making" possibilities of counterfeiting equipment the suspects had. Legitimate currency, necessary in the scheme, was to be furnished by the victims.

Post Man Fleeced

Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county said a Post resident was fleeced of $900 less than a month ago by two men believed to be confederates of the pair arrested.

The suspects were held in county jail. Whether prosecution would be in state or federal courts had not been determined, said Sheriff Tom Abel. Both Sheriff Abel and Sheriff Cato said they believed principal object of the scheme was swindling rather than counterfeiting.

Equipment Is Found

Pans in which chemicals could be mixed, chemicals, glass plates, paper cut the size of currency, and other equipment were seized when the arrests were made. Sheriffs Cato and Abel, and Jack Reaves, a state highway patrolman, set the trap at Southland. A Post farmer and his son, claiming they were interested in the scheme were responsible for the arrests.

The officers, in raiding a hotel room at Southland, found what was Rufus Perehouse, Navarro sheriff, and two parties of deputies trailed the men from Powell to a point in the Trinity river bottoms near Basette, and later the trail led to Malakoff.

H. H. Hanks, cashier, who was alone at the time of the robbery, said one of the men asked for change for $1 and then both held guns on him, scooped up the money in the till, leaving a quantity of silver, and forced him into the vault and slammed the door.

He was freed in time to see the men speeding away. A customer met the pair at the door, exchanged greetings and went on his way.

Farmers To Get Cash On Options

Four Cents Will Be Advanced; Cotton Pool Is Formed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — The farm administration today announced formation of a cotton pool to liquidate the 2,400,000 bales of government held cotton covered by options to producers.

The administration said it would advance holders of cotton options 4 cents a pound, or $20 per bale, on their option certificates, the project to be financed by borrowing from the Commodity Credit corporation.

Go To County Agents

Options to cotton farmers who participated in the 1933 adjustment campaign will be sent to county agents this week, together with the agreement whereby the option holders may obtain the 4 cents per pound initial advance on the options they hold calling for a full payment of 6 cents per pound.

Approximately 600,000 cotton farmers elected the "option with benefit" plan in the cotton acreage reduction campaign of the past summer.

Held Under Contract

The plan entails establishment of the cotton pool, which will be concerned with holding the cotton under contract. Under a document entitled "exercise of cotton option and pool agreement" the option holder authorizes the secretary of agriculture to sell the cotton covered by the option.

This authorization includes the right to sell the cotton in the pool at any time the cotton can be marketed on the basis of 15 cents per pound, middling seven-eighths inches. After July 31, 1934, the sec-

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THAT second call for mince meat recipes didn't go unheeded. Here are some contributions, enough that you should be able to make any kind of mince meat you wish and have plenty of good pies for the Christmas season.

USES BOWLS

MRS. HUBERT BURGESS sends in one that has been in her family for generations. Measurements are by bowls but, so that you may keep your seasoning right, she says that the bowl holds about three cups. You may divide or add to this recipe to make the amount you desire. This formula yields about eight or nine quarts. It is as follows:

Three bowls hogshead, five bowls mellow apples, one bowl syrup, two bowls sweet apple cider or sweet peach pickles, one bowl vinegar, one bowl butter, two bowls raisins and five bowls sugar.

Mix all of the ingredients except the meat and spices and cook until tender. Add meat and two tablespoons each of cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves, and one tablespoon each of salt and pepper. Cook slowly under tender.

Hogshead or backbone are best for the mince meat. It is prepared and boiled until tender and then ground with the other ingredients.

MEASURES IN PINTS

ANOTHER mince meat recipe was contributed by Mrs. V. P. Hadsell, 1906 Twenty-seventh street. Her formula is as follows:

Three pints beef pressed into measure; four pints chopped apples; two pints seeded raisins; two pints sugar; one-half pound butter; one-half pound fat from liquid meat was boiled in; one teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg, pepper; one pint molasses; one pint grape juice; one pint vinegar; three lemons (juice and rind). Melt shortening with liquids. Add solids thoroughly mixed and suitable amount of salt. Let boil until apples are partly cooked. Stir frequently.

ABOUT THREE QUARTS

ANOTHER recipe came from Mrs. A. C. Magee. This formula makes about three quarts, which can be packed in stone or glass jars. Her mince meat is made as follows:

One pound lean beef, one-half pound chopped suet, two pounds tart apples, three cups sugar, one and one-half pounds currants, one pound raisins, one teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon cinnamon, one orange, one lemon, one-fourth pound of citron, chopped, one-half teaspoon salt.

Cook the beef until tender. Using a coarse blade on the food chopper, run the beef, apples and suet through. Add the sugar and other ingredients, including the grated rinds and juice of the orange and lemon. Cook about one hour.

FOR ORANGE PEEL

HERE is a recipe, too, for the candied orange and lemon peels although the contributor has asked that her name be withheld. This is the method to use:

Put the peel from eight oranges or eight lemons in cold water. Heat to the boiling point. Cook gently until very tender. Drain. Put in cold water. When cold remove membrane and soft portions.

Boil one cup sugar in one-half cup of water until it spins a thread. Put in peel and cook gently until the syrup evaporates and the peel looks clear. Drain on a wire cake cooler or something similar and let dry.

THEY SPARKLE

HERE is an idea for your Christmas decorations. It comes from Mrs. A. B. Cunningham:

Select branches or spirea or some other shrub with many small limbs. Dip them in starch—the ordinary kind you use for your clothes—and then in this commercial snow that is sprinkled on trees and other Christmas articles.

The starch holds the snow on the branches and they sparkle beautifully.

Mary Pickford Says She Is Going East To Get Away From Hollywood

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Mary Pickford is east-bound to "get away from Hollywood for a while."

The petite actress was shy of any discussion, as she passed through Chicago today on her way to New York, of the estrangement from her actor husband, Douglas Fairbanks.

"That's all behind me," she said in her private car as it was switched from Santa Fe to Pennsylvania railroad yards. "I'd rather not talk about it."

But she did deviate from her rule to deny the published report that she had filed the divorce suit last Friday at Fairbanks' request.

"That's not true," she said with a shake of her blonde curls.

Miss Pickford said her purpose in going east was to find a stage play or a story for a motion picture to present.

"I want to get away from Hollywood for a while," she said. "I think I would like to return to the stage—just for a few months. If I can find the right kind of a play I would want to bring it to Chicago for about four weeks and then take it to Broadway for a couple of months."

Miss Pickford wore a tan traveling dress under a brown fur coat. She was accompanied by her secretary, Miss Elizabeth Lewis.

Examining Trial For Trio Delayed

HASKELL, Dec. 11 (AP)—Examining trial for Clarence Abston, Dick Skipworth and Sam Jay, charged with murder in connection with the death of Herschel Helton, Obrien farmer, was postponed indefinitely today when the case was called.

Melton's body, burned beyond recognition, was found in the ruins of his home in the outskirts of Obrien last Thursday. The burden charges were filed after officers found that Melton, Jay, Skipworth and Abston and four women had spent Thursday together.

Officers obtained statements concerning events that day from two of the men and two of the women. Another member of the party was arrested last night for investigation.

An examination of Melton's body showed that he had suffered a blow on the back of the head, crushing his skull.

Skipworth's statement to investigators said he was awakened by smoke and flames at the Melton home and barely managed to escape after an attempt to wake Melton and get him out of the burning house. He said other members of the party had left several hours earlier.

Officers learned that an automobile was seen leaving the vicinity of the house after the flames had been noticed by neighbors but were unable to trace the car or its occupants.

Action On Pro Law Case In Court Here Unknown

Judge Wilson States He Is To Follow Court Rulings

Federal Judge James C. Wilson has been meting out punishment in prohibition law violation cases since the 18th amendment was repealed Dec. 5, he said here last night.

Most sentences were suspended, however, he pointed out. The criminal docket will be called here Thursday.

A motion to quash a liquor indictment was filed in United States District Judge Edgar Vaught at Oklahoma City Saturday. Judge Vaught freed a man held in jail on a liquor charge by granting a writ of habeas corpus."

Follow Decisions

"I don't know anything about that," Judge Wilson said.

"I expect to follow what I think, and supreme court decisions if there are any."

The case in Judge Vaught's court was to be appealed to the supreme court.

The motion filed yesterday on behalf of Nancy Schaffer, set out that "said information does not charge this defendant with violation of any law over which the United States has cognisance." The motion further charged that the court was without jurisdiction to hear and determine the alleged offense as charged in the information.

The case against the woman is one of fifteen scheduled for trial before Judge Wilson Thursday. Included in the list are two other women. Charges are pending against Babe Adams, Thos. S. Blacknell, Claud Granberry, O. L. and Cora May Branam, Ray Caraway, Ray Cathey, B. F. alias Frank Hamlin, Frank Heidt, Wiley D. McCarty, Tucker Rogers, Isaac G. Weems and James Wilcox. The majority are charged with possession, one or two with sale.

Reports Of Bombings And Terrorism Being Received

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Reports of bombing and terroristic methods to force compliance with the minimum dry cleaning prices established under the trade's fair practice code in Philadelphia today marked the opening of NRA's mass hearing into charges of violations all over the country.

The first defendant summoned to explain why he was not abiding by the prices established under the code was Bernard Shatkin of Philadelphia, operator of the Virginia Snow Cleaners and Dyers, who charged that the Philadelphia Cleaners and Dyers association had employed gangsters to try to put him out of business.

Shatkin's argument, when advised by officials to discontinue oratory and give facts, was that he could make a profit in his cash and carry cleaning business charging 40 cents a suit instead of the 85-cent minimum for Philadelphia.

He claimed he made a net $20,000 or 8 per cent at an average price of 39 cents last year despite having had windows of his plant broken by bombing four times necessitating covering the entire front of his store with sheet iron.

Lubbock Negro Facing Charge

A charge of transportation of liquor was filed against David Wynn, 25, a Lubbock negro, and a charge of possession of whisky against Marie Vargus, a Mexican woman, in Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell's court Monday afternoon.

The Vargus woman waived examining trial and her bond was set at $300 pending grand jury action in the case.

Wynn was arrested Sunday night by G. G. Stringer, a traffic policeman, who found nine pints of whisky in Wynn's car after he was stopped for not stopping at a stop-sign at Sixteenth and Main streets.

Police arrested the Mexican woman, her husband, and another Mexican man early Saturday for possession of three quarts of whisky and 16 gallons of beer. Policemen John L. Croft, Joe Rieger, Eugene Smith, S. C. Rawlings and Stringer made the arrests.

Without diving suits, the best divers can remain under water about one and one-third minutes; with a diver's suit, the diver is able to work under water from five to six hours.

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. On the same dates, in the Center community, east of Abernathy, a hog killing demonstration is to be held at the Q. D. Hallmark farm. W. L. Brashear, Fred Keveton and Mr. Hallmark made the plans for meeting.

Monday and Tuesday, December 18 and 19, at the W. B. Trotter farm in the Canyon community a terracing demonstration will be held. Mr. Trotter, J. T. Goodnight and Truett Hides arranged the date.

Wednesday and Thursday at the Tucker farm in the Hurlwood community, a hog killing demonstration is scheduled. G. K. Horton, J. O. Perry and A. M. Lane arranged the program.

County Agent Tumlinson will handle the hog killing work and R. N. McClain, assistant, the terracing work.

Three Men Charged After Alleged Bribery Attempt

MARSHALL, Dec. 11. (AP)—An alleged attempt to bribe Sheriff John C. Sanders of Harrison county to allow liquor runners to transport contraband through the county from Louisiana to Gregg county resulted today in three men being charged.

Sheriff Sanders said he was tendered $200 while in his office yesterday by J. B. Selvidge, former deputy sheriff of Gregg county, now reputedly employed by a Henderson refinery. The sheriff said he took the money and arrested Selvidge on a bribery charge lodging him in the Harrison county jail.

Maury Hughes Has Returned To Dallas From Washington And Says Rural Children Are To Finish Year

DALLAS, Dec. 11. (AP) — Maury Hughes, chairman of the state recovery board, announced today that some 25,000 rural school children would be permitted to complete their full term's work this year and approximately 1,000 teachers now on relief rolls will be given employment under the government's agreement to furnish money for those purposes.

Hughes was in Washington last week for conferences with Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, and L. R. Alderman, emergency educational director.

He pointed out that Hopkins agreed to provide Texas enough money to set up night adult education classes which will provide employment for those teachers on relief rolls at the rate of 40 cents an hour.

He said that Hopkins agreed that all former arbitrary rules with reference to school relief from the federal government would be set aside in so far as those rural schools of Texas which operated under the scholastic years of 1930 and 1931 were concerned.

Hughes emphasized the fact that in agreeing to finance those two proposals, Hopkins agreed that the federal government would not attempt to dictate or say how the money was to be spent.

"That money is a gift from the federal government, given in order that our children may attend schools and our unemployed teachers put to work," he said.

Refusal Of New Mexico Department To Accept Suspension Is Discussed

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 11. (AP)—American Legion officials declared today the action of the executive committee of the New Mexico department in announcing a refusal to accept the recent suspension of its charter will have no effect on the controversy as the state committee functioned without authority.

The state committee, after a stormy all-day session, declared it would not "bow to the iron hand of the national executive commitee in illegally suspending the state charter."

The New Mexico department was suspended for allegedly engaging in political activity in violation of the legion's constitution.

Following the meeting, Ollie A. Davis of Indianapolis, legion coordinator who is in Santa Fe as head of the commission to survey the legion situation, issued a statement in which he said:

"This meeting is of no consequence, is unauthorized, is not binding and in no way affects the authority of this commission and the coordinator inasmuch as the charter was suspended by the national executive committee of the American Legion at its meeting held in Indianapolis, Ind., November 21, 1933."

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES FOR JAFFEE TO BE THE WORLD'S CHAMPION SKATER

IRVING JAFFEE

(At Right)—Again Jaffee makes a thrilling finish as he speeds to victory! Winner of 1,000 medals and trophies, including three Olympic Skating Championships, Jaffee has brought the highest skating honors to the U.S.A. Asked recently if he was a steady smoker, Jaffee said, "Yes—but that goes for Camels only. I have to keep my wind, you know, and healthy nerves."

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

You've often seen his name and picture in the papers—Jaffee, the city-bred boy from the U.S.A. who beat the best that Europe had to offer, and became the skating champion of the world! Speaking of speed skating and cigarettes, Jaffee says: "It takes healthy nerves and plenty of wind to be an Olympic skating champion. I find that Camels, because of their costlier tobaccos, are mild and likable in taste. And, what is even more important to a champion athlete, they never upset the nerves."

Change to Camels and note the difference in your nerves... in the pleasure you get from smoking! Camels are milder... have a better taste. They never upset your nerves. Begin today!

Battle Of Westerner Lines And Backfields Promised This Afternoon

Team Of 1934 To Meet Club Of Past Year

Texas Tech Field Scene Of Go Today Between Departing And Returning Westerners; Large Crowd Is Expected

The local pigskin goes into the moth balls for good after the Westerners get through scrapping among themselves in a regular game this evening.

Promising a great battle of lines and backfields, the contest bears all the earmarks of an official contest. Entire proceeds go to the band and football banquet to be held this week, and even coaches are buying tickets. Fans are urged to be on hand for this the last football clash of the year.

One squad, tutored by Burl Huffman, was polishing up some new "button, button, whose got the button" tricks yesterday to toss at the seniors, coached by Swede McMurry. Two ineligible stars of last year will be included in McMurry's lineup.

The kickoff is booked for 3:30 o'clock at Texas Tech field and the charges are only 25c for adults and 15c for students.

Joe Nelson Plays

The 1933 teams' stock has sagged considerably with the loss of Fullback Weymond Newton, who was in the hospital over the week-end, suffering from the after-effects of his impressive chores down at Cisco last Friday. Joe Nelson, fullback last year, can ably fill Newton's shoes if he's in shape.

From this corner it looks like the 1934 team has the edge on the line, while the 1933 aggregation is a little more versatile in the backfield.

James Hodges, scrapping little guard, has been shifted out to a wing, and Tommy Haley, reserve halfback, was running signals at the other end, yesterday in McMurry's set-up. Wayne Prather and Otis Speer, reformed tackles, are listed as starting guards.

Morris White, slip-footed back, who did so well in his first Class A game Friday, is expected to be the spark plug of Huffman's attack. He will be assisted by Othie Upton at full, Vergil Griner at the other half, and Eugene Alderson at quarter.

In the opposing secondary, Captain Rufus Ryan will head the bill, abetted by Sam Bradley, of last year's team, Nelson, and Quarterback Rayburn Hale.

Starting lineups:

1934 Team		1933 Team
Griggs	LE	Hodges
Dowell	LT	Doherty
Barnes	LG	Speer
Young	C	Jenkins
Aycock	RG	Prather
Phillips	RT	Wimberly

Future Of League Will Be Decided

By ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The future of the League of Nations as well as of the world disarmament conference probably will be decided in a series of diplomatic exchanges now in full swing in Europe.

Italy's demand that the league be reformed and final efforts to break the disarmament deadlock are the chief problems being attacked in a vigorous revival of pre-war diplomacy methods.

The conversations of Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the league, with British statesmen, beginning today; the visit of Fulvio Suvich, Italian under-secretary of state, to Berlin, and the imminent call of Dr. Eduard Benes, Czecho-Slovakian foreign minister, at Paris, mark the high points in the diplomatic exchanges.

Avenol's scheduled talks with British Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and other government leaders and his speech to be delivered before members of parliament tonight are viewed as highly important because of his recent conversations with French ministers and with Premier Mussolini in Rome.

Extending his meetings with prominent officials in London, Avenol will see Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald Wednesday.

Ronald Finney Goes To Trial On Charge Of Bond Selling

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 11 (AP)—Ronald Finney, 34-year-old bond broker, who, state investigators contend, was the principal figure in Kansas' million-dollar bogus bond swindle, went to trial today on charges of uttering and selling forged bonds.

Finney is alleged by the state to have forged and sold to the Citizens State Bank, Topeka, a $30,000 issue of Salina board of education bonds and a $20,000 issue of Hutchinson park bonds.

His father, W. W. Finney, bank president, was convicted at Emporia, Kan., of embezzlement and sentenced to serve 36 to 600 years in the state penitentiary.

Texas Tech And Lubbock Host Monday To Border Conference Winter Confab

Applications By Two Schools Moved To Spring Meeting

Faculty representatives, coaches and graduate managers met here yesterday in the annual mid-winter session of the Border Intercollegiate Athletic conference, read minutes, exchanged opinions about the weather, the schedules and eligibility rules, ate a hearty lunch—and went home.

Although it was announced before the meeting that five institutions were to apply for membership in the conference, Secretary C. Z. Lesher said afterwards that only two schools had applied for membership, and that these applications would be considered formerly at the spring meeting at Tempe, Arizona, in May. The conference track and field meet will be held there at the same time.

The faculty executive committee met in closed session, excluding coaches and the press. Applications by New Mexico Normal university of Las Vegas and West Texas Teachers college at Canyon were recognized but passed on to the spring meeting. It had been unofficially announced that Simmons university of Abilene, Sul Ross Tachers of Alpine and Texas College of Mines at El Paso would apply for membership. Sul Ross had two delegates at the meeting, but officials said that only two schools applied.

Coaches In Meeting

Following the executive session, visiting coaches met and drew up tentative schedules, at the same time appointing a committee to investigate the possibilities of declaring an official conference champion in sports. At present no championship is awarded by the conference. Texas Tech has been undefeated in conference games for the past two years and is considered by newspapers as the football champion.

Only one change was made in the eligibility rules. Hereafter, the conference decided freshmen athletes may not compete in varsity baseball and track.

Dr. Emil L. Larson, University of Arizona, commissioner of the Border Conference, was vested with power to name the all-Border conference football team for 1933. His selection, compiled from votes by conference coaches, will be released in about two weeks.

Visiting delegates were guests of the Texas Tech athletic council at a luncheon at non. The meeting and luncheon were held at Hotel Hilton.

First For Tech

It was Texas Tech's first opportunity to serve as host to the winter meeting since the Matador institution was admitted to membership in the conference two years ago. W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Texas Tech athletic council, was master of ceremonies at the luncheon. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, made the welcome address.

Official faculty representatives at the meeting yesterday were:

William D. Taylor, jr., of Tempe Teachers; Dr. W. A. Jackson of Texas Tech, vice-president; C. Zaner Lesher of the University of Arizona, Tucson, secretary-treasurer; Francis C. Osborn, Arizona State Teachers college at Flagstaff; G. R. Hamiel, New Mexico A. & M. college at Las Cruces; S. P. Nanninga, University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, and Emil L. Larson, University of Arizona, commissioner of athletics for the Border Intercollegiate Athletic conference.

Business Managers Here

Graduate athletic business managers here were Joe Selleh, Tempe teachers; Tom Popejoy, University of New Mexico; L. A. Slonaker, University of Arizona, and Hugh Williams, Texas Tech.

Deacon Arledge, sports editor of the Albuquerque Journal, represented his newspaper.

The University of Nebraska has placed a tackle on every all-star Missouri Valley or Big Six conference football team since 1923.

"Like Schmeling — Only Funnier"

Max Baer Tires Of Night Clubs And Crooning; Ready To Fight Mr. Carnera, "And This Right Hand Of Mine Will Do It"

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—A very large and debonair young man, Maxwell Adelbert Baer, is heading straight back to the fight business at a pace that startled even him — somthing he thought couldn't be done.

To his normal role of heavyweight challenger, and his recent success as a motion picture actor, Maxwell has added a brand new dodge. That of master of ceremonies in a night club. He starts tomorrow night. Right now he's rehearsing fifteen hours a day. And he says it's killing him.

"I've got to get back outdoors," he muttered as he raced around, fresh from the tailor, the barber and a manicurist, among piled up chairs and tables, carpenters, actors, dancing girls and howling directors. "I want to get back to fighting. I've got to get healthy again. This stuff's bothering me."

He sings and he dances—very fetching—but his mind is on prize fighting. In the picture he made he boxed ten rounds with Primo Carnera, the heavyweight champion. He took several knockdowns, and so did Carnera. But he's convinced of one thing. When he and Primo finally tangle—possibly in June—there's going to be a new champion.

"I learned all about him and I know this. I can hit him on the chin with a right hand, and that's all I need. He'll come down in more pieces than a church steeple hit by lightning. You saw what happened to Max Schmeling when I conked him, huh? Well Carnera'll go the same way but it'll be funnier. That's one that'll be so good I wish I was out in the audience watching it myself."

That's Baer's idea of what will happen. He mixed the monologue with large and portentious winks. But he does give Carnera some credit.

"He's very big and he's very strong. He also can fight a lot more than I thought. But—I can hit him with right hands and that's that. That's also that for any guy in the world I can hit with a right hand. They just naturally get sleepy when they taste those knuckles."

One of Baer's reasons for coming east was to prospect for a title match. Madison Square Garden wants to stage the bout in June, has Carnera signed. But Baer would rather Jack Dempsey staged the affair. Dempsey is expected east within a few weeks, and some compromise may be effected with the Garden.

"I'm glad," said Baer, "that the Garden has Carnera all signed, because he'd be a hard guy to find otherwise. He won't be anxious to fight me. He knows how I can hit him with right hands."

Major Leagues Are Out To Get Their Men; Meet Opens Today

Score Of Players On Block As Majors Meet Today In Annual Conclave; Cochrane May Go to Detroit As Manager

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Baseball's trade winds whipped into a veritable gale tonight as major league club owners and their pilots, all of them out to get their men, sailed into Chicago for their annual winter meeting and shopping tour.

No less than a score of players in both leagues were reported to be on the ivory block and the magnates, confronted with important problems in baseball such as the adoption of a uniform ball and what to do about radio broadcasts of games, admitted happily that they anticipated the biggest turnover of talent in many years. The various ploblems will be discussed in separate meetings tomorrow and Wednesday while the trades and sales will be completed in hotel lobbies, nooks and corners.

Cochrane Plans Trades

As the baseball writers searched for news and impending trades today, they spied one of the first arrivals and a central figure in one of the outstanding deals about to be completed. Mickey Cochrane, the Athletic catcher and reported already sold to Detroit as manager and catcher and was straining at the leash, waiting for Connie Mack and Frank Navin of the Tigers to announce it officially. Navin already has announced he was certain of getting Cochrane, and planned to clinch the deal after a short conference with the tall tactician of the Athletics. Cochrane was enthusiastic over the deal and was planning trades and sales in his mind and discussing Detroit's prospects for 1934.

So far as the league meetings were concerned, the leaders expected to adopt a uniform baseball for both circuits and offer Kenesaw Mountain Landis another contract as commissioner. The radio problem appeared to be unsettled and the best information was that those clubs that so desired could broadcast but that the league or clubs would ask for a cut in the profits accruing from the baseball broadcasts.

Going back to trades and sales, here are the needs and rumors, take 'em or leave 'em:

American League

Detroit—Cochrane to manage the Tigers, plugging up the weak spot of years—catching.

Philadelphia — Connie Mack is going to sell or trade George Earnshaw, Lefty Grove, Rube Walberg and Max Bishop to the highest bidders.

St. Louis—Manager Rogers Hornsby needs a power hitter and likes Earl Averill of Cleveland, but Cleveland wants him to swap Oscar Melillo for two other players.

Cleveland — The Indians want a second baseman that can hit.

Chicago—Rumors say the White Sox already have completed a cash deal for George Earnshaw.

New York—Rumor has Tony Lazzeri up as bait for the best deal. Manager Joe McCarthy out to rebuild infield.

Boston — Only three members of 1931 club left and club wide open for deals.

Washington—Joe Denin said he was pretty well satisfied but on the lookout for anything that looked good.

National League

New York—Manager Bill Terry says he's all set since the purchase of Joe Bowman, star right handed pitcher from Portland, but could use another good hitter.

Chicago—It was reported a hitch has developed in the rumored deal by which Pitcher Pat Malone and Outfielder Kiki Cuyler would go to Cincinnati for Outfielder, Chick Hafey, but that it would be overcome and the swap made.

Brooklyn—The Dodgers are hot after a southpaw pitcher.

St. Louis—All set but always ready for a deal.

Cincinnati—An apparently well founded report is going around that the Reds have given up hope of landing Catcher Jimmy Wilson from the Phillies and plan to name Jim Bottomley as manager. More punch and tighter fielding needed.

Pittsburgh—The Pirates, with lots of trading material, are after a star pitcher and second baseman of proven ability.

Boston—Looking for a good hitter.

Grid Race Is Narrowed To Eight Schools

Pampa-San Angelo Game Here Is West Texas Feature; 8 Teams Are Eliminated; West Texas Title At Stake Here

(By The Associated Press)

What started as a 16-team race for the 1933 Texas Interscholastic league football championship with the Corsicana Tigers as defending champions, narrowed down to eight teams Saturday night. The Corsicana Tigers are missing from the list of contenders because of their defeat Friday at the hands of the powerful smashing Brackenridge Eagles of San Antonio.

The Brownsville Buckaroos also fell by the wayside Friday by losing to a hard-running Corpus Christi team.

Saturday saw the elimination of six teams. Quarter-finals will be played next Friday and Saturday. Exact dates and sites for some have not been determined, but the teams will compete as follows:

Pampa vs. San Angelo, at Lubbock.

Dallas Highland Park vs. Dallas Tech.

Greenville vs. San Antonio Brackenridge.

Port Arthur vs. Corpus Christi.

Saturday battles saw the elimination of the Fort Worth Central Panthers by virtue of a 7 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Dallas Tech Wolves. Central was one of the favored teams for this year's championship.

Greenville In Race

The mighty Greenville Lions proved their class by drubbing the Tyler Trojans, 18 to 0. Greenville turned Tyler passes into yardage that eventually gained victory.

The Pampa Harvesters sounded a warning with an impressive 27 to 7 decision over the Abilene Eagles—one of the strongest aggregations in this season's race.

Dallas Highland Park furnished the biggest surprise by trekking to Wichita Falls and defeating the Coyotes, 6 to 0.

After a long journey, San Angelo was well repaid with a 27 to 7 verdict over the Bowie team, an all-Mexican aggregation at El Paso.

Port Arthur lived up to advance notices by smashing San Jacinto of Houston, 14 to 0.

Of the games to be played next week, the Dallas Highland Park and Dallas Tech game will be played at Dallas. It probably will be Saturday in the huge Fair Park stadium.

The Greenville and Brackenridge game will be played at Greenville next Friday afternoon.

Femme Baseball Teams Feature Scoring Ability

Two wild and woolly games were played by feminine baseballers last night at the Auditorium in the Lubbock Women's Indoor baseball league.

In the first, Southwestern Bell Telephone company's team scored heavily in the first four inning to beat the Myrick Building club, 23 to 4. Pitcher Polly Glover and her staunch supporters held the Myrick building to two runs in the second and two in the third.

The second game was even wilder, the Five-Cent Magazine store team beating the All-Stars, 37 to 16, setting a record for scoring.

The Magazine team was off to a fast start, scoring a dozen times in the first inning.

The next games are scheduled for Friday night when the All-Stars meet the Telephone team in the first game, and Myrick Building plays the Magazine team in the second.

Lineups last night:

Telephone—Cooper, 3b; P. Glover, p; Lee, 1b; Snodgrass, ss; Hatmaker, ss; D. Glover, c; Hefner, 2b; Holman ss; Harrington, rf; I. Glover, lf; May, cf; Harkey, cf.

Myrick—Allen, c; Herzet, p; Burge, 1b; Catlett, 2b; Windener, 3b; Holden, ss; Bain, ss; Donowho, lf; McIver, rf; Pugh, cf.

Magazine—I. Fulford, 3b; Blagg, p; Williamson, rss; M. Taylor, ss; Davis, 2b; Heard, rf; Allcorn, lf; D. Fulford, cf; Felty, c; Oliver, 1b.

The Missouri game and fish department plans to plant 12,000 quail in "shot-out" areas and produce 10,000 wild turkeys annually.

Two Main Events Scheduled On Tomorrow's Wrestling Program

Sailor Moran To Meet Santone Toughy, Charlie Heard, And Tommy Heinz Mixes With New Face Here, Jim Cushing

A brace of headline brawls will furnish the grappling fare for Lubbock fans this week at Promoter Sled Allen's Wednesday night wrestling opera.

Sailor Moran, bull-necked former champion of the Pacific and Atlantic fleets, collides with a mauling, brawling youngster, Charles Heard, middleweight from San Antonio. Moran, who had weathered some 16 months of Texas wrestling up to last week without meeting defeat, will be out for blood tomorrow night.

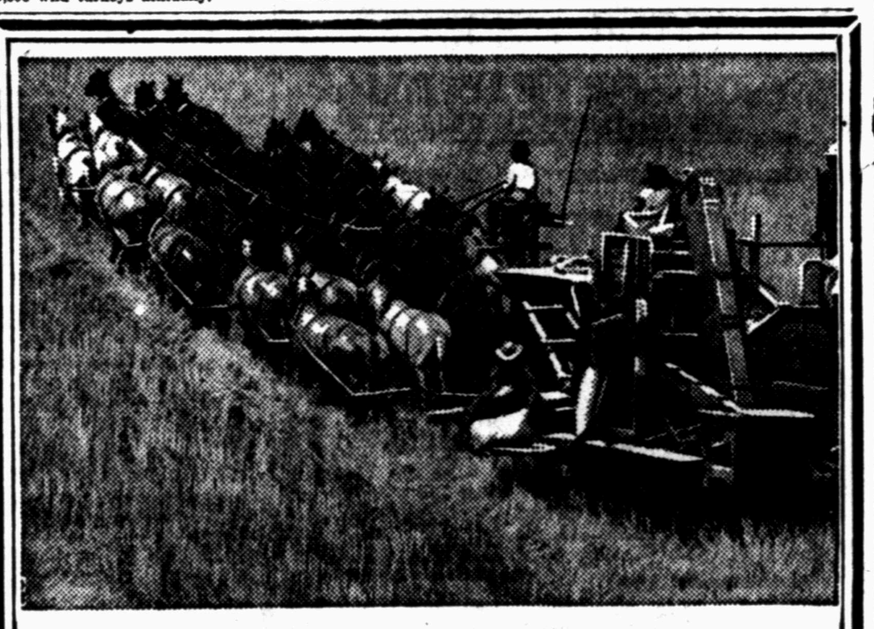

Heard last week gave Art Belcher the razzle dazzle, mixing a lot of roughness into the procedure, in 10 minutes of a scheduled 15 minutes distance. He will be a "natural" opponent for Moran who also subscribes to the rowdy school of thought.

Tommy Heinz, who has yet to be pinned on a Lubbock mat, will be turned loose with another "strong man" this week, meeting Jim Cushing, a powerful and scientific, if somewhat short tempered mat specialist from Seattle, Wash. Cushing, gesticulating, grimacing grappler, is exceedingly box-office with fans on the Western seaboard. In many ways he resembled Professor Dick "King Kong" Kanthe, who was Heinz opponent last week.

Both of the matches are scheduled to go the two out of three falls distance.

Brother-In-Law Of Woolley Is On Stand; Says Calls Made By Defendant Were Known By His Wife

DALLAS, Dec. 11. (AP)—J. F. Godfrey, brother-in-law of Toy G. Woolley, testified for the defense at Woolley's murder trial today in an effort to show that Mrs. Dorothy Woolley, slain Nov. 5, knew of telephone calls by her husband to his first wife, May Cantrell, in Austin.

Currie McCutcheon, defense attorney, produced telephone bills for October and November, had Godfrey identify them and sought to show that at least three long distance calls to Austin were charged to the Woolley number.

Godfrey said he was with Woolley all day Monday after Dorothy was shot and that Woolley made no calls then. The Austin landlady of Miss Cantrell had testified earlier that several attempts were made to get Miss Cantrell by telephone from Dallas the day after the shooting.

Godfrey said he married a half-sister of Woolley 13 years ago. He said Woolley first met Miss Cantrell in 1930 when she was a student at Southern Methodist university and said he brought her to his home often.

"When did you first learn they had started living together?" McCutcheon asked.

"It was in the fall of 1931. Miss Cantrell was teaching at Winnetka school at the time."

The witness said Toy had moved from his house at the time and he and Miss Cantrell were living at the home of a Mrs. Tucker. Mina Woolley, the defendant's sister and the only eye-witness to the slaying, lived with them.

Godfrey said Toy and Miss Cantrell ceased to live together later but on March 11, 1933, were married at Durant, Okla.

"Did you persuade Miss Cantrell to marry Toy?" the defense attorney asked.

"Yes, sir."

"For what reason?"

"Well, I told Mae that Toy had gotten himself into a big mess and couldn't explain it to his folks. I explained to her that they had been living together without being married and they had allowed Mina to live there with them. I told her Toy was tremendously worried about what his folks would think when they found it out. I promised I would keep it secret if she would marry him and that nobody would know but what they had been married all the time Mina lived with them."

He said, under questioning of McCutcheon, that Toy and Dorothy "loved each other and were very considerate toward each other."

McCutcheon then sought to prove by Godfrey that Woolley often went hunting and was an expert shot with a shotgun.

The state's contention has been that Woolley went to Austin to see Miss Cantrell just before Dorothy was shot instead of going hunting, as Woolley had said he had done.

Hooded Men And Police Attend Meeting At Negro Church As $15 Is Collected For Help In Scottsboro Case

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 11. (AP) — Hooded men and police were present last night at Holsey temple, a negro church, when $15 was raised for the defense of the seven negroes in the "Scottsboro case."

The meeting was called to raise funds for the negroes with addresses scheduled by representatives of the international labor defense but simmered to a group gathering that heard the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, a negro preacher, make a brief appeal for money.

The "Scottsboro case" has attracted national attention. The negroes were charged with attacking two white women during a railroad hobo trip more than two years ago near Scottsboro, Ala. The cases have have been in court since that time. Recently one of the seven was sentenced to death for the third time and another for the second time.

Robed men distributed handbills printed in bold type "the Ku Klux Klan rides again" and "communism will not be tolerated". The distribution was quiet.

The police went to the church when a telephone call was received urging officers to be present as trouble was feared. They sent many of those assembled away including Mrs. Mary Leonard and Parker Q. Wilson of Cincinnati, scheduled to speak to the meeting.

Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, said today he knew nothing of the gathering until he read of it in the papers this morning but that it was "just another sporadic outbreak," which could be "expected frequently" in view of outside interference" with southern affairs.

A New Educational Plan

OF interest to educators and those seeking education in Lubbock, as well as everywhere else, is an innovation in the federal government's ever-expanding program to cope with depression.

In Middlesex county, N. J., a junior college has been established, financed with Public Works funds, to accomodate high school graduates who are unemployed and tired of wasting their time. There are two branches of this college, housed in vocational school buildings, one at New Brunswick and the other at Perth Amboy. Instruction is free. There was an immediate enrollment of 350 students.

This sort of school, a half-way institution between high school and the ordinary college, serves so great a need that, if the government can provide the funds and wants to go ahead with it, similar schools might spring up almost over night throughout the country. Many will question whether the government can, or should, start such an enterprise, from which it might never be able to extricate itself. But the need is great. There are thousands of boys and girls everywhere now dangling helplessly between high school and college, with no work and no money of their own to pay for further education.

If the New Jersey plan proves practicable, Public Works administration may find it further practicable to designate certain state institutions where such branches may be added, operated under federal appropriations. The same administrative organizations could administer to the new branch housed in buildings already erected and the only cost to Uncle Sam would be for the employing of instructors and in taking care of whatever incidental expenses that might crop out.

Texas Tech, for instance, might be designated for the section of West Texas and New Mexico adjacent to Lubbock and some Public Works project instituted here to furnish expense-paying employment to students accepted in the new branch of learning.

The idea, while perhaps far-fetched, is at least worth thinking about.

LAVISH ENTERTAINING

Both ascribing their decision to the depression, Washington officialdom and its wife will entertain simply and inexpensively this season while New York's 400 proposes to revive the elegance of pre-prohibition dinners.

Mrs. Roosevelt's design for official living takes into consideration the taxpayers who must pay the bills and the less fortunate who might go hungry while their public servants wined and dined. It is a proper attitude for the first lady of the land and yet it is not in accord with the NRA "Buy Now" movement and deals a severe blow to that by no means small industry in the national capital which serves its social life.

Elaborate post-prohibition receptions, dinners and balls, among New York's elite will arouse bitterness in the poor, and yet those very social functions will be the source of much business and considerable employment. No matter how money is spent it fills dinner pails and heats homes.

So Washington will seek to steer a middle course and unofficial society will try to enjoy itself in the old-fashioned ways and the common people will criticize those who do and those who do not.

May the public be not as foolish as the workman on the rich man's estate who complained of the vast income which made his job possible.

Most of us think we could do much better if we only had the opportunities which we don't realize we have.

A depression is like a bad cold. When you get tired of doctoring and forget it it wears off.

A gold-money country is one where you never see anything but paper, silver, nickel and copper.

The fellow who is content with little usually gets less.

Maybe money still talks, but it's getting so it talks only in foreign languages.

Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am.

Behold, thou hast made my days as a handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily, every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.

Surely every man walketh in a vain shew: surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches and knoweth not who shall gather them.

And now, Lord, what wait I for? My hope is in Thee.—Psalms, XXXIX, 4 to 7 inclusive.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

THIS year's delay in the opening of Congress is going to give opponents of the new tax revision program a peculiar advantage.

Preliminary schedules drafted by the House Ways & Means sub-committee are apt to make gentlemen in the higher brackets rather bilious, so don't be surprised at any extraordinary tactics of parliamentary delay.

If final action can be held off long enough the Treasury department will be in a tough spot getting income forms out to the taxpayers for return by March 15.

It is even conceivable that a status quo could be forced on income rates for another year although those guiding the bill refuse to admit it publicly.

The point is the idea of delay has already been thought up.

Those destined to be in opposition expect at least to force some material compromises from the administration.

Strategy would be based on this premise. By convening in January Congress loses a full month for debate of revenue legislation.

The Bureau of Internal revenue will have to print new forms this year to encompass all the expected changes. Ordinarily they start mailing out the blanks late in January and early in February. It takes time to prepare new forms and they can be printed only after the bill is law.

Thus filibustering tactics of one sort or another at the coming session would press the administration close to a bad hole.

Simple, isn't it?

BARLEYCORN: In some quarters the suggestion has even been advanced that liquor revenue be made part of a separate bill also contemplating control so that the controversial whiskey-tax problems wouldn't slow things down too much.

So far there doesn't seem to be much disposition to adopt this idea.

Write it down, though, there will be hot fighting on the subject of liquor.

CANADIAN: Canadian officials here are hopeful for special treatment in the matter of liquor quotas for three reasons:

The Dominion sacrificed some $25,000,000 annual revenue by passing legislation prohibiting manufacture of whiskey obviously intended for the United States during its dry period;

She buys so much American goods, and,

She has the only large stock of rye and bourbon in the world adaptable for blending with green American spirits.

GLASS: Despite his 72 years, Senator Carter Glass got out of a sick bed the other day when he thought his beloved bank bill was being belittled.

As he was leaving the Senate Office building he stopped to explain his absence from the public eye as follows:

"I have been in a dentist's chair trying to get well and in the hands of a sculptor who is preparing for my death."

NOTES: During the recent liquor code hearings several gentlemen from Canada were attentive spectators. . . . A Canadian newspaper man identified them as big Dominion racketeers who had made fortunes running whiskey across the border. . . . They probably were waiting to ascertain their quota under the New Deal. . . . Rep. Dickstein of New York is still chasing the Nazis. . . . Not very far though. . . . Wonder what they're going to do about the poisoning of industrial alcohol now the country's wet again?

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

LOCAL Republicans have high hopes of results from the latest bulletin issued by the national committee which quotes Democratic criticism of the New Deal at length. They claim to have evidence from all over the country—particularly from the Middle West—that the President's personal popularity doesn't extend to his advisers or his measures.

They expect him to swing farther to the left as time goes on and they plan to rehabilitate their fortunes in '34 by concentrating fire on whatever part of his program has produced the most antagonism in a given key district.

One of their problems is to keep Ogden Mills from shooting the works too soon. Mills is burned up by various aspects of the Roosevelt program and has several times felt the urge to express himself publicly. So far he has been dissuaded—but it's hard to hold in a war horse champing at the bit.

PUBLIC WORKS: Criticisms of the PWA becomes more and more vehement hereabouts. Extreme caution to prevent private capital from benefitting is blamed for slowing up the program to the point of absurdity.

Critics admit that some progress has been made in the last few weeks but insist that bureaucratic inefficiency and political motives have checked the hiring of at least half a million men who might be at work by now. This aspect of the situation will get a thorough airing under Republican auspices when Congress meets.

NRA: Local insiders note that a quiet but definite shift is taking place in NRA policy. They predict that efforts to enforce codes on small local businesses will gradually be abandoned without saying anything about it and that future attention will be 90 per cent focussed on a few large industries.

That's why New York failed to get excited about Judge Akerman's anti-NRA decision in Florida. They figure it fits in with what is coming anyway.

The new policy will simplify administration problems by not trying to enforce the unenforceable. The blanket code idea is on the way to the nearest exit—having served its purpose of mobilizing public opinion. Most of the big industries like their codes pretty well—so relations should be more amicable from now on. Of course there will be further efforts to transfer code control back to private hands.

TELEPHONE: General Johnson's announcement that he would impose a wage and hour code on American Telephone and Telegraph was a surprise to Wall Street. It was understood in high quarters that the corporation had taken care to cultivate the friendliest relations with Washington. But disgruntled employes entered complaints and there were too many of them to be ignored. The company is expected to acquiesce gracefully in General Johnson's ideas.

New York leaders pay high tribute to American Telephone for the progress it has been making behind the scenes in building new business to replace the removal of instruments for depression reasons.

THE COCOANUT CRACKER

Tom Topham was a famous English strong man who kept the Red Lion Inn in London and died in 1749 at the age of 39.

Topham was celebrated for his herculean feats. He could roll up a seven pound pewter dish like a sheet of paper. He could bend iron bars by striking them against his bare forearm. Once he threw a horse over a low wall. In an exhibition in Ireland he cracked a large cocoanut by squeezing it between thumb and forefinger.

A COLD WAVE

Lord Paulston's bizarre wager was the result of an argument over the value of the theory of Pastor Kneipp the advocate of walking barefoot over the dewy grass in the morning.

On a cold November night in 1897. Lord Paulston ensconced himself between the gargoyles of the Tower of Notre Dame and spent the night completely disrobed in the open, in an icy wind and with the thermometer 27 below zero. He was found half dead in the morning, spent a few months in the hospital where doctors despaired of his life. Both his legs had to be immediately amputated, but he recovered and won $5,000.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a rest. He is trying to forget ADELE ALLEN, film actress, who has jilted him.

Bannister goes to dinner with his old friend, JIM PAXTON, now editor of the Tremont Post. Later he takes a cab home. The cab is halted in front of the Shelby Arms apartment hotel, by a traffic light. A girl comes out of the hotel and rushes to the cab. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed but agrees to ride with him to her destination. In the cab she drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver. A few minutes later she leaves.

Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment at the Shelby Arms. Police are looking for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before.

Bannister, remembering the girl in the cab, is puzzled. Downtown later that morning he meets her again.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

The girl paused, chin lifted a trifle defiantly. "Well," she said steadily, "why don't you take me to the police? That's what you've come for, isn't it?"

Somehow Bannister couldn't find the words he wanted. "But—" he stammered, "I mean—"

"I'd rather get it over with," the girl assured him. "Right away. What are you waiting for?"

She was dressed exactly as she had been the night before, in the green suit with the bit of fur at the throat and the close-fitting green hat. A little of the bright, honey-colored hair showed below the hat at each side of her face. It gave her an air of innocence, Bannister thought.

Suddenly he was moved to action. He might be making a mistake but he couldn't help it.

"Listen," he said, "you can't stay here! And you shouldn't be wearing those clothes. Don't you know that? You're taking a terrible risk—"

The defiance dropped from the girl's face. She stared at him. Then in an unbelieving tone, she asked, "You mean—you aren't going to arrest me?"

It was so silly that Bannister laughed. "I'm not a policeman," he said. "Did you think I was? I don't know any reason why I should take you to the police but I warn you that if you keep on wearing that green outfit you're likely to find yourself at headquarters."

The girl's eyes sought his. "I know!" she said. "But I haven't anything else to wear. I'm afraid to go out to buy anything. I'm afraid someone will see me. Oh, I don't know what to do. I can't even seem to think!"

Suddenly despair and pleading came into the gray eyes. "Will you help me?" she begged. "Oh, will you?"

David Bannister hadn't expected anything of the sort. A few moments before she had seemed a thoroughly poised young woman, amply sure of herself. She had been sure of herself the night before, too—except for that one instant as she turned to go into the hotel. Bannister had made up his mind to keep the affair of the night before strictly to himself. Helping her evade the police was another matter.

"Why, I don't know—" he began.

"Oh, please! You must!"

"Listen," Bannister said soberly, "maybe you'd better tell me a few things. We ought to go somewhere where we can talk."

"There's a room right here," said the girl eagerly. "Nobody was in it when I left a minute ago. I'll—I'll tell you all about everything—but promise youll help me!"

"I'll do what I can he assured her, and was amazed at himself.

She led the way to the writing room—a small, irregularly shaped retreat with a few desks shaded by green lamps. The room was furnished rather like a small hotel parlor, and, in fact, was used chiefly for that purpose.

There was no one else there. At the far end of the room two large club chairs had been turned so that they faced the street. Only the backs of the chairs were visible from the doorway. Bannister saw them and strode forward. "Here," he said, "let's sit here."

They settled themselves and Bannister, crewing his neck about uncomfortably, concluded they were safe from observance for the time being.

"Take off your hat," he suggested to the girl. "It will make you look different."

She drew off the cap-like bit of felt and ribbon and automatically raised one hand to smooth her hair. Very attractive hair, with gleaming golden high lights and darker, richer tones in the shadow. It lay in smooth, soft waves about the girl's face.

For the first time Bannister inspected that face closely, and registered approval. She was pretty—but by no means the prettiest girl he had seen. Hundreds of perfectly featured Hollywood faces routed that claim. This girl had something else—character and distinction. He liked the rather high forehead, the tilt of the nose, the lips drawn generously and, though undoubtedly covered by rouge, of a shade approaching naturalness.

And this girl was wanted for murder.

"Well," he said uneasily, "you

Cosmic Rays Are Caused By Fire From Exploding Stars, Swiss Expert Says

BY WALTER B. CLAUSEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 11 (AP)—Exploding stars that burn with a fire equal to a hundred million suns for six days and then are reduced from a diameter of half a million miles to a little sphere 14 miles thick are the cause of cosmic rays says Prof. Fritz Zwicky.

This spectacular picture was presented last night by the distinguished Swiss physicist at the California Institute of Technology.

Puzzle For 15 Years

The continuous rain of tiny bullets of light that bore right through human bodies with an incredible speed has been a puzzle to physicists for more than 15 years.

Stratosphere flights, measurements at the highest mountains and deepest lakes have been made to ferret out his secret.

One thing hitherto was disclosed, that they did not originate in the milky way galaxy, our own island universe. Two other theories were advanced. One was that they marked the creation of matter in space. The other, advanced by Abe Lamaitre was that they were birth cries of the universe, coming from the bursting of the promordial atom from which he thinks all things in space were formed.

Each of these theories, said Prof. Zwicky, made it necessary to assume fantastic conditions.

His ne wtheory is taken from astronomical observations and fitted into actual recordings of cosmic radiation.

Mystery Rays Traced

He traces the mystery rays to great exploding stars. Such explosions last from six to 20 days. Two such exploding stars super novae the astronomers call them, are well known. The most recent was in 1885 in the island universe of Andromeda, about a million times six million miles from the earth. The other was in the milky way in 1572 when a bright star was observed at noon day by a Danish astronomer.

Figured on the basis of one such star explosion every thousand years in each of the island universes, the radiation would reach the earth equivalent to that recorded in the electroscopes today says Zwicky.

The temperatures of such exploding stars is more than two million degrees. Their radiated light is more than that of a hundred million suns.

BURGLAR FREES PROSECUTOR

BUDAPEST (AP) — Paul Barote, state's attorney, had to call the warden to send a burglar to free him from his office in a prison building here. Working on a holiday, Barote forgot he had no key, and told his office boy to lock the door and go home.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 44

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Jane knew that even if she were compelled to kill Rokoff, she would be no better off. The shot would bring his men and her fate would be even worse. The memory of the two brutes who stood and laughed as Rokoff struck her was still vivid. Suddenly the Russian lunged toward her, but she was quicker. Swinging the heavy revolver high above his evil face, she dealt him a terrific blow between the eyes.

Without a sound he sank, limp and unconscious, to the floor. A moment later the girl stood beside him—for that moment at least—free from the menace of his attack. She extinguished the smudgy lamp, and in the darkness paused to collect her wits and plan the next step in her venture for freedom. Outside she heard again the noise that had distracted Rokoff's attention.

With stealthy step and every sense alert Jane groped her way to the back of the tent, determined upon the first stage of her adventure. Bending over the form of the unconscious Russian, her fingers came upon the hilt of his long hunting knife. With this she cut an opening in the tent wall. Silently she stepped without, straining her ears to listen. The camp was apparently asleep.

The midnight jungle was alive with countless, nameless noises. She hesitated, trembling. The jungle terrors appalled her. But behind her lay a fate worse than death, at the hands of human beings. Before her lay an almost certain fate—but it was only death—sudden, merciful, and honorable death. Without a tremor and without regret she darted from the camp, and the mysterious jungle closed about her.

Cattle Buying Opens In City

Purchase Of 38 Lubbock County Cows Is Authorized Monday; Choice Cutters Are Wanted By Government

Purchasing of cutter cows for the federal meat canning plant at 1312 Avenue G was begun yesterday, as the boiler for the plant was being installed.

Purchase of 38 Lubbock county cows was authorized yesterday, and County Agent O. G. Tumlinson drew this number of animals from 105 cows listed for sale. H. C. Harding, veteran cattleman, who is purchasing the animals, said he had purchased one cow and had turned down another as not meeting government requirements.

"I am not permitted to buy canners, or lean cows," Harding said. "The government wants choice cutters, carrying good flesh."

The plant may be in operation by Wednesday, according to W. E. Inmon, administrator of relief for Lubbock county.

Animals from 24 counties in this territory are expected to begin arriving this morning. The animals will be killed at McDonald Packing company plant and chilled over night before being delivered to the canning plant. Mrs. Reynolds Wilson is supervisor of the plant.

The cold snap swept suddenly away the mild weather which Colorado, Montana, and Wyoming had enjoyed. In all the mercury last night was bound for zero, with snow predicted today.

WALL STREET REPORT

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—Profit-taking tempered today's stock market but recent leanings toward cheerfulness still seemed to predominate and the close represented a small gain for the averages. Turnover jumped to 2,453,860 shares.

With dollar rates higher in foreign exchange dealings as the official gold price tarried at $34.01, bonds again had the benefit of a rally. U. S. governments, after some early hesitation, contributed their share of the investment market's upturn, aided, no doubt, by impending budget conferences and what investors took to be increasing evidence that official currency depreciation was being modified. Leading commodities closed steady.

There were recurring reports that overtures had been or were to be made to Great Britain for an understanding on monetary matters, but these went unverified; a state department official denied that conversations had taken place. Wall Street recalled that similar rumors had been heard a couple of weeks ago and perhaps thought that where there was smoke there must be fire, especially since the gold level had gone unchanged since December 1. Sterling here took an extreme drop of around 6 cents, while French francs gave the dollar an indicated gold value of approximately 64 cents as compared with $0.77 as measured by the R. F. C. yardstick.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11. (AP)—Cotton edged forward moderately today in a session marked by an active early upturn followed by a subsequent quiet recession. Prices after getting up 10 points closed four points higher on the day.

The opening was firmer as Liverpool cables were better than due, sterling was steady and gold unchanged. First trades here showed gains of seven points and prices continued to improve after the start on an advance in stocks and some trade buying. Before the end of the first half hour, March advanced to 10.20 and May to 10.35, up 10 points compared with Saturday's close.

Later in the morning the market was quieter and prices eased off on some recession in stocks and a drop in sterling andby early afternoon in very limited trading, March had dropped to 10.13 and May to 10.28, or seven points under the highs of the morning but still three points above the previous close. There was a recovery of one point at the end, March closing at 10.14 and May at 10.29, both four points net higher.

Port receipts 27,187, for week 54,343, for season 5,098,147, last season 4,320,049. Exports 38,355, for week 60,816, for season 3,694,601, last season 3,346,674. Port stock 4,100,393, last year 4,791,730. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 152,606, last year 192,015. Spot sales at southern markets 17,841, last year 20,994.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—Cotton was slightly higher today on trade and commission house buying influenced by firm cables and reports of improving business conditions. Partial mid-afternoon reactions under southern selling and declines from the best in wheat and stocks were followed by a steadier tone later. March which had sold off from 10.22 to 10.16 closed at 10.18, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 3 to 6 points.

Trading was moderately active but an early advance of 5 to 11 points appeared to bring in a little southern selling as well as local realizing and prices worked off a few points from the best.

The market ruled relatively steady within a narrow range during the greater part of the morning. Firmness of the dollar in relation to foreign exchanges in the early afternoon brought in a little liquidation which was probably most pronounced in the January position.

January eased from 10.06 to 9.98 or a point under Saturday's closing basis, while later positions at the lows were still 1 to 4 points net higher. Renewed commission house buying and covered by early sellers caused rallies of about 1 to 4 points from the lowest in the later trading.

Exports today 38,355, making 3,704,493 so far this season. Port receipts 27,187. U. S. port stocks 4,080,570.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (AP)—Stimulated by a sudden cold wave arousing crop damage fears, wheat rose today to 5 1-4c above last week's low, but profit taking virtually cancelled gains.

Almost total absence of snow protection, combined with 40 degrees drop in temperature, gave ground for uneasiness regarding the domestic wheat crop outlook, especially in the southwest. Notice was also taken of 3,788,000 bushels decrease of the United States wheat visible supply, with total stocks the smallest since 1927.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to 3-8c higher, corn unchanged to 3-8c lower, oats 1-4@3-4c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Confession Of Murder Given

Kansas Governor Determined To Thwart Any Attempt Made To Establish Lynch Law By Calling Out Troops

several hours after Detective Captain W. O. Lyle of Wichita announced Wisdom had reported the two were shot to death by "Buck Smith," apparently a fictitious character.

The cowboy was under heavy guard.

Pritchard's body was found today beneath a culvert near El Reno, Okla., soon after Wisdom was rushed from Kingfisher, Okla., to Kansas for safekeeping. His wife's body was discovered yesterday in a culvert near Bison, Okla.

Wisdom was quoted as confessing he had a dual motive—robbery and retaliation for a threat by Pritchard to prosecute unless he made good a check given at Pritchard's store in Wichita which was returned marked "no funds."

Guards Are Called

Mindful of recent lynchings in San Jose, Calif., and St. Joseph, Mo., Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma called out national guardsmen last night.

Wisdom was brought here secretly, and Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas expressed determination today to thwart any attempt to establish "lynch law" by calling out the Kansas guard if necessary.

Captain Lyle said Wisdom told him he did not kill Emery Large, the elderly cowboy with whom he worked on a ranch in Meade county, Kansas. Large's bullet pierced body was found in a well November 30, about two months after he had disappeared and Wisdom has told their rancher-employer, "the old man has quit."

Captured Sunday

Relatives of the couple established their identity before a coroner's jury at El Reno, which found that a gunshot wound through the right cheek had caused Pritchard's death and that Mrs. Pritchard died from a wound in the right breast. The bodies were removed to Kansas this afternoon after Wisdom had said the slayings took place north of Wellington, Kas.

The coroners jury did not name their assailant.

Lyle said Wisdom described the shooting and said the bodies were blanketed and placed in the back of Pritchard's car for the trip into Oklahoma.

ments to both city and farm.

Not Out Of Woods

"But in all candor," he continued, "I think a brief moment of gratification is enough; we seem to be on our way, but we are not yet out of the woods, and it is of the utmost importance that we guard against letting a rise in farm income tempt us to forget the realities of supply and demand."

Said O'Neal in calling for united support of the AAA, the NRA, and the president's monetary views:

"Look back to the place we started from last February, when the whole nation was tottering on the brink of ruin, and despair and misery seized the people everywhere.

Renewed Courage

"Since then hope and confidence have been revived and there is renewed courage to forge ahead. The wave of foreclosures of homes and farms has been checked, although not altogether stopped.

"Farm prices have increased from an index of 49 to 71; farm buying power has increased about 24 per cent. These prices are not satisfactory, but they are a lot better than we would have had if we had not gone ahead with the program. We have made a good start. Let us go ahead and finish the job."

After praising the agricultural and monetary politics of President Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, and Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, O'Neal said:

"The AAA is the Magna Charta of American agriculture, its charter of freedom from the domination of predatory business interests, its guarantee of economic equality with other groups, its promise of a new day for American agriculture."

Our country imports three billion pounds of bananas annually.

Man Given Three Months By Judge

Carl Crockett, who pleaded guilty of four charges of cotton theft, was sentenced to three months and fined $1 and costs in each of three cases and $5 and costs in the fourth case by County Judge E. L. Pitts yesterday.

The complaints, prepared by County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, were signed by Sheriff Tom Abel. The sentences will run concurrently. Costs approximated $22 in each case, it was said.

A man who has not been arrested also is charged in each of the cases.

Complaints were filed after theft of 300 pounds from the Sherrill farm, 800 pounds from the C. W. Liner farm, 1,500 pounds from the Weaver farm, and 900 pounds from the W. Grabber farm.

Pleading guilty of drunkenness, Emmett Scott was fined $50 and costs by Judge Pitts yesterday. Scott was charged with being drunk Oct. 30. He was in a car which struck and seriously injured J. A. Byerly, 52, near Becton. Scott paid the fine and was released.

Choate, jr., head of the alcohol control administration, Acting Secretary Phillips of the state department and other high officials participated.

Both Speak Today

Both he and Wallace hurried from the White House to a train bound for Chicago where they are to speak tomorrow at a meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Shortly after their departure, the White House issued a formal statement that said Peek would head the export organization.

For the time being it will be a "temporary committee to recommend permanent machinery to coordinate all governmental relations to American foreign trade."

This committee is to make its report in about two weeks and then the permanent organization which Peek will direct is to be formed.

Post residents would be in Lubbock if Tech field was the selected site.

Lubbock business men and fans banded together Saturday afternoon and composed the invitation extended San Angelo and Pampa.

Everything Is Free

Free use of the Texas Tech gridiron for the game, free hotel accommodations and advertising of the contest was offered by Lubbock.

Abilene citizens also invited San Angelo and Pampa to play the game there. Last night it was announced that Breckenridge business men and fans were seeking the game.

Hearing that officials of the schools would meet at Lubbock yesterday, Wichita Falls sent four delegates to the meeting via airplane, who announced that Wichita Falls would welcome the game. Upon learning that Lubbock had invited the schools here, the Wichita Falls delegates withdrew their invitation, pending the acceptance of Lubbock's bid. Wilburn Page, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce; Ted Jeffries, high school football coach; Earl Dayvault, fan and football official, and Jack Overstreet, airplane pilot, comprised Wichita Falls' representatives.

Pampa Delegation

From Pampa were Head Coach Odus Mitchell, Line Coach Angus Fox, and C. T. Hungapillar, president of the Pampa school board.

San Angelo was represented by Chester H. Kenley, principal of the high school; W. E. Blanton, member of the San Angelo school board, and John B. Brewer of the San Angelo Standard-Times, member of the San Angelo board of city development.

Lubbock men attending the meeting and extending the invitation were S. A. Wells, merchant; A. B. Davis, BCD manager; C. A. Sheffield and Don Burger, hotel managers; W. L. Stangel, chairman of Texas Tech athletic council; Pete Cawthon, Texas Tech head coach; Dutchy Smith, Texas Tech line coach; M. H. Duncan, superintendent of public schools; Weldon Chapman, Lubbock High coach; C. B. Akers, theater manager; Lee Jones, sporting goods dealer, and Charles A. Guy, newspaper representative.

Tickets On Sale Today

Officials of the schools said last night that tickets for the game would go on sale Tuesday, and announced the price of ducats for the contest. Student tickets, obtainable only at the high schools of each town, will be priced at 25 cents. Class A football players of either district will be admitted for 25 cents when accompanied by coaches. Special sections will be reserved for students and the bands and pep squads of each school.

General admission will be 75 cents for adults, or one dollar for grandstand seats, or $1.25 for box seats. Sections in the grandstand between the 35 and 47-yard lines on each end will be reserved for San Angelo and Pampa delegations.

Tickets go on sale in Lubbock Tuesday at the J. & J. Sporting Goods company store, and at Lubbock High school.

Agreement On Big Problems Of Southern Pacific Found

HOUSTON, Dec. 11. (AP)—An agreement on the major problems involved in the difference between the big four brotherhoods and the management of the Southern Pacific lines had been reached tonight, F. P. Douglass, chairman of the president's fact finding body, reported after an executive session.

"All the terminal questions have been settled," Douglass said. "Both groups said they would go into an executive session in an attempt to iron out the other nine questions which the railroad contends are non-arbitratable. We have not been present at the discussions and consequently cannot say what agreements have been reached, if any, of the many questions settled. That will probably be announced tomorrow when we hear the report of the two groups on the night meeting."

"It may be necessary," Harrison said in this connection, "to give the president power, if he already does not have it, to enter into reciprocal agreements."

Harrison said the present $5 a gallon tariff on liquor was discussed as in a general way, was the tariff on wines.

Things To Give "HIM"..

We Happen To Know Men Prefer Gifts Of This Type Rather Than The Knick-Knacks You May Be Tempted To Choose

Yes, men are hard to "choose for"—that is if you attempt to give them some unusual "what not" like you would choose for ladies. They are creatures of habit, "set in their ways" if you like—we know them—they would, oh so much prefer that your gifts be things they have already learned to use, things they can enjoy without changing their habits. These listings are just such items—gifts that are practical and useful, still gifts, that are unusual, because of their high quality.

Budget Plans Being Talked

Problem Of Gauging Expenditures For Next Fiscal Year Considered; Douglas Offers Recommendation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (AP)—The problem of gauging expenditures for te next fiscal year—what outlays are to be continued, what new moves undertaken—came to the front today as President Roosevelt and his fiscal advisors went to work on the government's 1935 budget.

Lewis Douglas, director of the budget bureau, who favors a "pay as you go policy" took to the White House tentative figures calling for disbursements of $2,600,000,000 between July 1, 1934, and June 30, 1935, with receipts loosely estimated at $3,550,000,000 leaving a margin of nearly a billion for unexpected needs and reduction of the nation's debt.

Joined By Morgenthau

The two were joined by Henry Morgenthau, jr., acting secretary of the treasury, who is new to the problem of federal finances but has made a close study of budgetary needs since assuming command of the department three weeks ago.

A short while before, Morgenthau had announced another continuation of the domestic newly mined gold price at $34.01. It has been unchanged since December 1, with new and unrevealed safeguards in effect to prevent the figure from becoming known in financial centers before its official publication here. Meanwhile, officials silently continued their investigation of a report that the gold price had gotten out ahead of time.

Silver To Be Up

While the week-end brought assurances from several quarters, including Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, an exponent of inflation, that no move for mandatory inflation was planned for the coming session of congress, Senator Pittman of Nevada, champion of silver, today asserted remonetization of the white metal would be ordered by congress unless the president acted in the meanwhile.

Douglas' disposition has been to throw his influence against huge emergency expenditures and work toward a more normal budget.

The president has shown a desire to put government money to work wherever there is promise that such action will help the unemployed. How deeply this apparent rift runs was not disclosed in the opening conferences on the 1935 budget.

Need RFC Funds

Of great importance and vagueness among the emergency expenditures is the amount that the Reconstruction Corporation will need. Its life officially expires in January, but Mr. Roosevelt has said that congress would be asked to extend it and there have been indications that its powers might be somewhat broadened. So far this fiscal year, now nearly half gone, the treasury has advanced the corporation $449,020,000.

A second big item is the public works administration. Congress originally authorized it to spend $3,300,000,000 and its officials predict that that will nearly all have been disbursed by the end of the fiscal year. They expect to ask for probably two billions more.

A white rose bush planted in Mission San Gabriel, Cal., 127 years ago still blooms. It was originally brought from Madrid, Spain.

Where East Texas Mob Burned Negro Slayer

Above is shown the smoldering embers of the funeral pyre of David Gregory, 26-year-old negro of Kountze, Texas, whose body was mutilated and burned after he had been shot to death by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Chance, who was seeking him for the assault and murder of Mrs. Mellie Williams Brockman, two miles from Kountze, on Saturday, December 2.

Spain Facing Strike Threat

Nation Already Is Clouded By Three Days Of Revolt With Bloodshed In 12 Provinces; Garrison Captured

MADRID, Dec. 11. (AP)—The menace of a general strike today occupied Spain, already clouded by three days of revolt and bloodshed in 12 of its 50 provinces.

As acts of violence diminished following the capture by government troops of a rebel garrison in the Villanueva military barracks, the government turned its attention toward the strike threats.

Order Restored

At nightfall, a nation-wide official report said order was restored in practically all troubled areas and that the strike was decreasing in importance as socialists ordered intimidated workers to return to their posts. Commerce and industry functioned almost as normal.

The cruiser squadron at Ferrol, a naval base, received orders to be ready to sail at a moment's notice in the event force was necessary in any port.

A dispatch from Gibraltar said it was rumored there a detachment of Spanish foreign legion would be brought to Spain tonight. British tourists planning excursions into Spain abandoned them for the time being.

Efforts Are Made

Syndicalists (whose aim is general recognition of union labor) and anarchists, charged with stirring the insurrection because of dissatisfaction with the recent congressional election which swept the rightist or conservatives into a dominant position in congress, made active efforts to extend the strikes.

But the socialist party, by far Spain's largest numerically, condemned the strike, the government said, and refused with a few exceptions to affiliate with the movement.

Bakeries and food shops will remain open, government spokesmen said, as lines formed in Madrid today to purchase bread, fearing a shutdown. All rightist organizations, including socialists, fascists and monarchists, were marshalled by the administration in an effort to crush the movement.

Extensive Business Survey Is Being Launched Soon By Government Leaders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (AP)—The government is launching an extensive business inventory.

Supplied with $5,415,120 by the civil works administration, the bureau of the census and bureau of foreign and domestic commerce announced today they would immediately begin studies to obtain virtually every important statistical fact on commerce and industry for the period from 1929 to 1933.

The project, they said, will employ 28,577 men, 27,000 outside of Washington. All field work is to be completed by next February 15.

There are five separate surveys:

A census to find out what has happened to business during the depression, this to serve as a basis for planning and adjustments by individual business houses.

were going to tell me about it—"

She nodded. "I'll tell you everything," she agreed, "if only you'll help me. I—I must tell someone. I can't stand it any longer!"

"Maybe we'd better begin with names," he suggested. "Mine is Bannister, by the way—David Bannister."

"Oh!" She eyed him inquiringly. "I've heard that name somewhere. You're not—?"

"No one of the slightest importance, I assure you. I'm — well, just now I'm out of a job."

He thought for a moment there was sympathy in the gray eyes. Then they turned away. "Out of a job," the girl repeated. "That's why I came to Tremont. I thought I could get a job here—"

"But you haven't told me who you are?"

"My name," she said, "is Juliet France. I don't live in Tremont. I've never been here before, but I had to have a job. That's why I came."

She was reciting the words slowly, intently. "I sing a little," the girl went on. "Not professionally, but I've often sung in public."

"You knew Tracy King?" Bannister asked.

Her face, that had seemed pale before, whitened. "I'd never seen him before in all my life!" she exclaimed. "Never—before last night. And I didn't kill him! I swear I didn't. Oh, please believe me when I tell you that!"

* * *

Bannister leaned forward. "Then you were there!" he said "You were in King's apartment. You're the girl the police are looking for!"

"But I told you I didn't kill him! I didn't!"

"The gun—?"

"It wasn't loaded. I told you that last night! My father gave it to me years ago. It's—one of the few valuable things I own. I thought that if I needed money I could sell it—!"

An extremely unlikely story, Bannister very well knew, but he must hear the rest of it.

"And so you went to King's apartment," he prompted.

The girl hesitated, eyeing him as though uncertain whether or not to continue. Then the words came with a rush.

"Yes. I saw his name outside a theater — Tracy King. I've sung in benefits in theaters and I thought maybe he could give me a job or help me get one. I was afraid they wouldn't let me talk to him if I went to the theater, so I looked up his address in the telephone book.

"Last night I went there. It took me a long time to find the place but I finally did. The clerk told me Mr. King's apartment number and over the telephone he said I could come up. I mean Mr. King said so. He let me in and I asked about getting a chance to sing in the theater. He wasn't very encouraging but he told me that if I would come there—to the theater — this morning about 11 o'clock he'd hear my voice.

"Then I thanked him and said good night and came away. When I got outside I saw that it was raining. There was a cab out in front and I ran for it. You—you know the rest—"

"There wasn't anyone else there with King?" Bannister asked. "You didn't see anything in the least suspicious, anything to explain—what happened afterward?"

"No, there wasn't anyone else there. Just Mr. King. He didn't seem worried or anything. I don't know anything about what happened after that. I didn't know until this morning—"

"Well, then," said Bannister easily. "I don't see that you have much to be frightened about. The best thing for you to do is to tell the police this whole story, just as you've told it to me. Oh, there'll be some routine questioning, of course—"

"Oh, but I can't!"

"Why not?"

"I cant!" Juliet France repeated fervently. "And—there's something else. I've got to go back there again. I've got to get back in that room!"
