Mystery Shrouds Position Of Naval Plane And Seven Men

All-Night Hunt At Sea Brings No Solution

Long-Range Patrol Bomber Last Heard Of Approximately 200 Miles From San Diego

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 6.—One of the navy's long-range patrol bombing planes vanished at sea last night with seven men aboard.

Warships and fighting aircraft began a search for the plane shortly after it ceased to communicate with other craft by radio.

The hunt was pressed with greater vigor today after an all-night search failed to produce results. At the same time Captain Alva D. Bernhard, chief of staff for the aircraft scouting force, gave out the word the craft was missing.

Secrecy Attempted

Secrecy enveloped details of the plane's disappearance as well as phases of the hunt. Bernhard refused to say where the plane was bound, or where it was when it last communicated with other craft.

Bernhard likewise declined to name the seven aboard, but the navy department in Washington said the craft was piloted by Lieutenant Truman Ernest Carpenter, with aviation cadet Philip O. Browning as co-pilot. Carpenter is from El Paso, Texas, and Passumpsic, Vt.

The department said the enlisted men aboard were Edgar Anglin, 37, aviation chief machinist mate, of Norfolk, Va.; G. A. Mills, radioman 3rd class, Caruthersville, Mo.; C. C. Creech, 22, aviation machinist mate 3rd class, Richland, N. Y.; William Erbe, 52, aviation chief machinist mate, of San Diego, and Joe D. Adair, 21, radioman 3rd class, Caruthersville, Mo.

Bernhard said the plane was "capable of landing in any kind of a sea" and expressed belief it would be found.

Presumably the plane's last known position was about 200 miles northwest of here. It was said the search had begun in that area.

The plane is a twin-motored patrol craft such as the navy has been flying over great distances. Recently squadrons of 12 to 14 have flown non-stop to Coco Solo, Canal Zone, 3,080 miles from here, and Honolulu, more than 2,500 miles.

A group of 18 such planes is tentatively scheduled to leave here Jan. 1 for Honolulu to reinforce the large concentration of fighting aircraft already stationed in the islands.

Sumners Favored For High Court

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Representative Sumners of Texas, an outspoken critic of President Roosevelt's defeated court reorganization bill, received the backing of the house judiciary committee today for appointment to the supreme court.

The committee decided to ask President Roosevelt to consider Sumners as a successor to Justice Sutherland, who will retire January 18.

Suggestion Written

The decision was made in the absence of Sumners, who is chairman of the committee. Within an hour afterward 15 members had signed a letter to the president, saying:

"With unbounded confidence in Judge Sumners, we wholeheartedly commend him to your favorable consideration, and certify our own conviction that your appointment of him would rebound to the lasting honor of your administration, and of the supreme bench."

Sumners, a Democrat who came to congress in 1913, became chairman of the judiciary committee six years ago.

He helped obtain house approval last spring of the supreme court retirement bill, under which Justices Van Devanter and Sutherland decided to leave active duty, but made a speech against the court reorganization message.

A suggestion that the president nominate Senator George (D-Ga) to succeed Sutherland came from Senator Copeland (D-NY), a frequent critic of administration policies.

HATTON W. SUMNERS

Senators Minton of Indiana, Schwellenbach of Washington, and Logan of Kentucky, Democratic supporters of the president's court reorganization bill also were mentioned as possible nominees.

Others included Robert H. Jack-

Anti-Lynching Bill Sets Off Verbal Blast

Southerners Flare Up, Try To Delay Procedure; Filibuster Is Considered Possible

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)— The controversial anti-lynching bill came up for senate debate today and drew a blast of old-fashioned southern oratory. A prolonged filibuster seemed in prospect.

Leaders expressed concern lest delay on the measure tie up the heavy administration legislative program and push farther into the future the scheduled May adjournment of congress.

A band of southerners resorted to tactics of delay from the very beginning of today's session. They demanded numerous quorum calls.

Connally Effort Fails

Senator Connally (D-Tex), leading the southern speechmakers, sought to force a senate adjournment in mid-afternoon, but failed by a vote of 52 to 18. Adjournment would have given southern talkers a rest.

After preliminary jabs at the bill by half a dozen southerners, Senator Reynolds (D-NC) took the floor. He launched a long discussion of world problems, including the economic development of China and Japan, the war between the states in this country, evidences of "communistic" influences in Spain, likelihood of war between Japan and Russia and cotton production in India.

Earlier, Senator Lewis (D-Ill) said he would seek approval of his amendment to the anti-lynching bill to make it apply to gang wars and labor violence. At the request of Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), however, he agreed to revise the amendment so the bill would have no effect on labor.

The anti-lynching measure, sponsored by Senators Wagner (D-NY) and van Nuys (D-Ind), would provide for fining sheriffs and other peace officers who failed to protect prisoners and would make counties in which lynchings occurred liable to payments to the lynching victim's family.

Lewis told the senate he had talked with persons interested in the measure and they had approved his amendment.

This drew a quick blast from Connally, who demanded that Lewis "tell the senate who these 'strange, secret influences are."

"I think the senator from Illinois ought to unmask himself and tell us who it is that can pull a string in some dark chamber and have the senate hop," the Texan continued. "I would like to know what goes in in these telephone booths."

Lewis laughingly responded he knew of the existence of none of the influences mentioned by Connally and added he had discussed his amendment with Wagner and van Nuys.

In a statement, Connally asserted the anti-lynching bill was "purely a political gesture" and "an insult" to the southern states.

Japanese Grind Grimly Onward Into New Chinese Territory

Slowly but steadily encroaching upon more and more of China's territory, Japan's relentless advance is characterized by the ruthless, clanking drive of this tank corps into fallen Nanking. The tanks carried "mop-up" squads to clear out snipers, and followed the destructive artillery barrage turned upon the capital. Smoke from shelled and burning buildings hangs darkly over the road.

Japs Converging On China's 'Jugular Vein'; 'Increasing Evidence' Of Peace Claimed

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7, (Friday) — Japanese forces, estimated at 60,000 well-equipped men were reported today to be thrusting from the north and south at the Lunghai railroad—China's "jugular vein." Control of that main east-west trunkline would open the way for a Japanese drive into the interior and against China's provisional capital, Hankow.

Thirty planes yesterday bombed airfields at Hankow and Wuchang. Fifty Chinese noncombatants were killed or wounded.

Other developments included reopening of the United States embassy at Nanking and issuance of a statement by the Japanese government that China had shown "increasing evidence" of an intention to seek peace.

Decisive Battle Impending

Two United States consuls and a code clerk took charge of the embassy, which was closed before Nanking fell to the Japanese Dec. 13.

Japanese authorities were silent on military developments in central China but Chinese and foreign reports agreed the opposing armies were massing for a decisive battle in northern Kaingsu and eastern Honan provinces.

There the Japanese hoped to seize the eastern section of the strategic Lunghai railway as a route to the interior.

Opposing the Japanese, according to Chinese reports, were 100,000 of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's soldiers along the railway between Suchow, in Kiangsu, and Kweiteh, in Honan, a stretch of 90 miles.

In control of the Lunghai the Japanese would be ready to push westwad to the Peiping-Hankow railway and thence southward some 300 miles to Hankow.

Driving north from Pukow and south through Shantung province, the two wings of the Japanese army were aimed at Suchow, junction of the Tientsin-Pukow and Lunghai lines.

Opposition May Be Renewed On Chamber Floor

Independent Offices Total Is Slashed; CCC Fight Center; Some Figures Raised

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Administration efforts to cut $114,806,780 from the appropriations requested by independent government agencies ran into immediate opposition in the house today.

The house appropriations committee trimmed the independent offices appropriation bill to $1,414,818,515, approving the reductions urged by the budget bureau, but it did this only after a bitter controversy behind closed doors.

The opposition, renewed later on the house floor, centered on a $123,669,000 slash in funds for the Civilian Conservation corps.

Allotment Almost Stricken

Committee critics of the National Labor Relations board almost succeeded in striking that agency's $2,955,000 allotment from the bill just before the measure was sent to the house.

Members said Representative Dockweiler (D-Calif.) offered an amendment to eliminate the appropriation, and served notice he would press the fight in the house unless the board changed its attitude toward the American Federation of Labor. Charges the board has favored the C. I. O. have been made by the A. F. of L.

The committee made good on the pledge of Chairman Taylor (D-Colo.) to cut all appropriation bills below the budget bureau's estimates. It reduced the bills total $3,732,020 below the figure recommended by the bureau.

Reductions Almost Nullified

In addition to the CCC curtailment, the budget bureau recommended — and the committee approved — reductions of $37,914,500 for the veterans' administration and $23,845,077 for the railroad retirement board.

These economies were offset largely, however, by increases of $70,559,322 for the social security board, $1,852,000 for the civil service retirement fund and $1,036,500 for the interstate commerce commission.

Some of the major items in the bill include $77,504,000 for the civil service commission, mostly for the

Noted Educator Dies Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. — Death today removed from the ranks of Texas educators Dr. Jeremiah Rhodes, 77, first assistant state superintendent of schools.

Funeral services were planned for Saturday afternoon in San Antonio where he formerly was superintendent of education and originator of that city's junior school system.

Dr. Rhodes, regarded by many as the outstanding educational philosopher of the South, was born in Ohio but his activities touched many states.

He received degrees from Indiana, Harvard and Columbia universities and prior to coming to Texas had served as head of a state normal school in Kansas and superintendent of Pasadena, Calif., public schools. He was in charge of the American school in Mexico City, Mex., for a year.

Known as the "Father of Junior Schools in Texas," he instituted that type of education in San Antonio, and success of the venture, designed to broaden the educational opportunities of pre-high school age pupils, led to its adoption elsewhere in the state.

He served six years as director of junior schools for the state department before he was made assistant superintendent Jan. 1, 1937. In the state department, he codified laws pertaining to education.

The veteran educator became ill last week and Sunday underwent an operation.

He is survived by his widow and a son, Jeremiah, jr., a law student in Harvard university.

Missing Man Is Sought In Wilds

(By The Associated Press)

MOUNTAINAIR, N. M., Jan. 6.—Posses combed the rough, snow-covered Chupadera mountain country today in search of Woodrow Locke, 33-year-old whistling woodcutter, who Saturday left his clothing under a pinon tree and disappeared.

CCC men, local residents and sheriff's officers joined in the hunt, while Sheriff Frank Stephens expressed fear Locke may have died of exposure.

A farmer told officers today he had heard shouts west of his home in the Chupadera mesa country late last week.

Plainview Brother Arrives

Guy Spear, a fence rider, reported he saw Locke sitting under a pinon tree last Thursday, whistling "Listen to the Mocking Bird."

"Thousands of people make big money from whistling, and I'm taking a day off to practice up," Spear said Locke told him.

Saturday evening, Spear said he found only Locke's clothing at the same spot.

Locke, unmarried, had lived here seven years and had a reputation as a sober, hardworking man.

Locke's brother, Charles Locke, arrived last night from Plainview, Tex., to aid in the search.

More Confidence Business' Need

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—William Knudsen: president of General Motors corporation, testified today that in his opinion the present business recession would be short-lived and that his company was making plans accordingly.

But, he said, in response to repeated questions from Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of the senate unemployment committee, the company's surplus of $450,000,000 could not be used to keep men at work and avoid the recent layoff of 30,000 men.

For, he added, in times such as these it is "better" to work off accumulations of unsold stocks by curtailing production, than by adjusting prices downward in accordance with reduced demand.

Opposed To FDR's Idea

In addition, he made it evident he thought little good could come from President Roosevelt's proposal that industry and government get together periodically to gauge the future and plan production.

"I don't think anyone in God's world could have told me that sales were going to drop 50 per cent in two weeks," he said.

What is needed to end the depression, he emphasized again and again, is confidence. In answer to questions he said he thought if General Motors would re-employ the 30,000 it laid off, that would do much to increase confidence.

But that 'would not be business," he testified; employment must

Old West Breathes Again At Ogden

OGDEN, Utah, Jan. 6. (AP)—Time turned back 50 years here today as the yipee-yells of bandy-legged cowboys dressed in chaps and ten-gallon hats rang through the streets of Utah's second largest city.

The glamour of the Old West, making downtown streets look like sets for a "wild west" movie, came back to Ogden—one an important stop-over spot for Pacific coast bound pioneer caravans and lone prospectors.

The occasion was the 1938 convention of the Rodeo Association of America which attracted approximately 2,000 bronc riders, steer doggers, trick riders and fancy shooting gunmen.

Townspeople joined the bowlegged sons of the plains in wearing bright shirts, heavy boots, studded chaps and in totin' guns.

HEART AILMENT IS FATAL

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6. (AP)—Harry A. Raynes, 57, New York and Hollywood artist found dead in his apartment last night with a head injury, died of a heart ailment, the county autopsy surgeon found today.

Officers Are Mystified Over Disappearance Of East Texan

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 6. (AP) — Officers here today expressed themselves as mystified over the disappearance of G. D. Capps, 46, Henderson oil field worker, missing since last Friday.

Capps, a switcher for the Hunt Oil company, has not been seen, officers said, since the day he was en route home from the Anderson county oil field to spend the week end. An abandoned automobile was found near Mud creek, east of here.

"Flying Fortress" Makes New Trans-Continental Record

MARCH FIELD, Calif., Jan. 6. (AP) A new east-west record for military aircraft was set today when a giant four-motored army bombing plane, known as a "Flying Fortress," landed here 13 hours and 27 minutes after take-off from Langley field, Va., March field officers announced.

The route taken on the non-stop flight is 2,317 miles in length.

None Injured Seriously When Vehicles Collide At Ropes

No persons were seriously injured in an automobile-truck collision two miles northeast of Ropesville on highway 137 at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night, according to M. H. Kennedy, constable there.

Vehicles involved in the crash were: A light pick-up driven by S. W. Johnson, about 50, of Meadow and a heavy truck driven by W. B. Tinsley, about 50, of Plainview, according to Kennedy.

Both machines were "almost demolished," it was reported.

Two other men, W. A. Whisenot of Meadow and M. H. Whisenot of Durant, were in the pickup, Kennedy said.

Highway patrolmen were summoned.

Sheriff Says He's Victim Of Thief; Charge To Be Filed

Sheriff Tom Abel described it the "height of something or other" when Thursday he said he discovered a negro woman employed at his residence had stolen a watch from him. He committed her to the Lubbock county jail.

Charges probably will be filed against her today, he said.

The sheriff said the woman had taken several other articles but most of them had been recovered. The watch, however, late last night had not been found.

Investigation Of Conditions In State Institution Is Demanded

CORPUS CHRISTI, Jan. 6. (AP) — Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi today addressed a letter to Claude Teer, chairman of the state board of control, demanding a searching inquiry into conditions allegedly existing at the State Hospital for the Insane at San Antonio.

"If certain charges brought to my attention by local people are true and can be substantiated, a careful and thorough investigation is mandatory," the representative said.

Rayburn Spends Fifty-Sixth Birthday Quietly With Friends

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex) spent his fifty-sixth birthday quietly at the capitol today, and had dinner tonight at the home of a couple with whom he has celebrated the occasion for more than 20 years.

The friends are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Aston, formerly of Sherman, Tex., who came to Washington during the Wilson administration, shortly after Rayburn took his seat in congress, March 4, 1913.

Glenn Frank Takes GOP Chairmanship

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Glenn Frank accepted the chairmanship of the Republic party's program committee tonight and promised to conduct an "open-minded" search for policies that "will keep America a going concern."

The aim, he said, will be to determine lines of national action which will "insure a way of life congenial to the American spirit." The "full resources of intelligence," he said, are needed to cope with "extraordinarily grave social and economic difficulties."

Mercury Skidding Here; Today Expected To Be Fair, Colder

Dropping at the rate of approximately three degrees an hour, the mercury at the main line station of the West Texas Gas company at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night had sunk to 31 degrees. High for the day was 46 degrees at 3 and 4 in the afternoon. A low of 27 had been recorded at 8 in the morning.

The forecast there was for fair weather today with a predicted minimum of 24 degrees. At midnight skies were partially clouded.

Snow had been reported at Borger Thursday aiternoon: A brisk north wind swept the South Plains, having struck in the early night.

Ruth Etting Claims Threat Telephoned Against Life

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. — A death threat which Ruth Etting, "blues" singer, complained she received caused no end of confusion in the district attorney's office today.

Miss Etting told District Attorney Buron Fitts a man telephoned her from New York and announced he would fly here and kill her.

"I distinctly recognized the voice," she said.

Fitts at once said he would place Miss Etting under constant guard, but he did not.

"I changed my mind when I realized that the man under suspicion could not possibly get here until some time today," he said.

"I have asked New York police for more information as to the whereabouts of the suspect, and have decided not to guard Miss Etting until I know the suspect is near enough to Los Angeles to carry out the threat."

Lively Battle In Fay Wray Home; Drunk Cook Charged

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6. — Thirty exciting minutes today in the home of actress Fay Wray, when the cook allegedly ran amok and attacked her employer, ended when police arrested Mrs. Raymonde Duval and booked her on drunk charges.

The trouble began, officers said they learned, when Miss Wray handed the cook a check. The cook, who had announced she was quitting, is said to have grabbed Miss Wray, who broke away and ran upstairs to the room of her child's nurse, Ethel Jackson.

Miss Wray told police that Mrs. Duval broke into the room and attacked both her and the nurse and threatened them as well as Miss Wray's daughter, Susan, 18 months. Miss Jackson told officers she escaped from the room and ran into the yard to rescue the baby. She said

ON PRONUNCIATIONS

IN Thursday's papers was a story suggesting if your pronunciation is bad, perhaps you're conceited. We maintain many people who speak with a distorted accent are lazy. Try this: Open your mouth slightly—and now, hardly moving your jaw or tongue, speak a few sentences. You've heard people talk in just about that way, and probably had trouble in understanding them. They're suffering from stiff jaws, lazy lips and sleepy tongues! No wonder their words sound mumbled, shut in or "swallowed."

Speaking of pronunciations, a recent Winchell's column states northerners resent southerners referring to their parents as "pants." Now that's very well, but if we spoke with the staccato tones of Mr. Winchell we'd hestitate before criticizing anyone's accents.

AND, ANOTHER THING!

There has been an epidemic in several wide-read magazines the past few months of running down the dress, speech and actions of southerners. One newspaper woman includes a chapter, "I've Got the South in My Mouth," in her handbook. In that she explains that every southern girl thinks of herself as a Scarlett O'Hara and says "you-all" and "sho-nuf" and when on a date sits admiring her escort and murmuring "Aren't you just wonderful?"

An article written by a New Yorker in a current magazine devotes several pages to a sarcastic impression of the south and its people. Judging standards set by his article the majority of us are living in ante-bellum days.

We get burned up when we read writings like those and are looking forward to a retaliation by a clever southerner. It's satirical writings such as we referred to that help keep alive the idea that there is friction between certain sections of the United States. If there are things that cause resentment quicker than unjust criticism of your speech and dress name them please. Yes Suh!

Dr. Jackson Talks To Carter Group

Ninety-five persons attended a monthly meeting of the K. Carter Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon at the school. The program, continuation of the year's study of "Guidance of the Child in the World," was featured by a talk on "Perseverance" by Dr. Doyle Jackson, associate professor of education at Texas Technological college.

A children's program was presented by pupils of Mrs. Iris Bergholm and Miss Lottie Croslin. Gene Malone played a piano solo and the Rix ensemble sang.

Business discussion was concerning the state P.-T. A. convention to be held here this year.

Attendance prizes went to Miss Josephine Davies' and Mrs. Bergholm's rooms.

Two Hundred Books Are Bought By Hunt Unit

Two hundred books, bought with proceeds from a Halloween carnival sponsored by the George M. Hunt Parent-Teacher association, are being placed in the school library, the P.-T. A. executive board which met Thursday afternoon has announced.

The meeting was held in the office of the school principal, Miss Mary Meador. The group planned to entertain teachers of the school at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Curtis Crawford.

A general P.-T. A. meeting will be held the following day at 3 p. m. at Central Baptist church. A fun program will follow a business discussion.

Attending the executive meeting were Mesdames Virgil Williams, Clay Ross, Crawford, Frank Smith, H. L. Burgess, George Etz, O. L. Peterman, C. M. Guess and Miss Meador.

Programs Of Arts Scheduled Here

Several hundred Lubbock and South Plains residents will be interested in fine arts programs to be sponsored this week-end by the Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women and the Lubbock Music club.

A lecture and demonstration on "The Ballet" will feature the meeting of the A. A. U. W. in room 107 of the home economics building on Texas Technological college campus at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mrs. George Langford and Miss Zella Riegel, professors of physical education for women at Tech college, will present the program.

To Describe Ballet

Mrs. Langford will give the origin of the ballet and tell of contributions of various countries to this form of the dance. She will describe the Joose ballet which is to appear in Lubbock this spring as a number of the Tech artists course.

Miss Riegel will tell of the drastic training necessary for the ballet and describe the type of exercises necessary before one can fit herself for ballet work.

Demonstration of the technique and a ballet number will be given by Miss Ann Sproule of the Sproule School of the Dance which specializes in ballet.

Forty To Attend Tea

The Music club is sponsoring a "neighbor" tea Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, 2201 Broadway. Forty women from music clubs at Brownfield, Levelland, Slaton and Littlefield are expected. Each club will furnish a musical number.

Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock the club is sponsoring a public musical at the First Methodist church. There will be no admission charge.

Mrs. Raymond Marshall, club president, will give a brief welcome address and the program will be announced by Mrs. A. W. Evans. The program includes numbers by the club chorus, "He Shall Feed His Flock" (Handel) with Mrs. Mamie I. Neal at the organ and Mrs. C. E. Hereford at the piano; "Where E'er You Walk" (Handel), Mrs. Hereford at the piano and "Lullabye" (Brahms) with organ and piano accompaniment and Miss Beulah Dunn, cello and Miss Ruth Graydon, violin obligatos. Mrs. P. H. Laverty will direct.

Other Selections

Mesdames Elois Elliott and Marlin R. Smith are to play a piano and organ duet; Mrs. Carl Scoggin will sing; Miss Christia Cowan is to sing "Voi, che sapete" (Mozart); Mrs. David S. Martin will play a piano solo; Prelude and Fugue (Bach) p Mrs. Neal will play an organ number and Miss Dunn will direc a stringed ensemble in "Minuet in E Flat" (Mozart). In addition to the musical numbers, Mrs. E. L. Robertson is to talk on the life and works of Bach.

"Food Patterns," Mrs. C. Shaw; "Meat Grades At Your Service," Mrs. E. E. Wilson; "Comparison With Other Countries," Mrs. S. A. Cash, and "Consumers' Alphabet," roundtable.

Mrs. Long served old-fashioned pound cake, cream cheese, sandwiches, olives and coffee.

Others attending were Mesdames J. J. Allen, A. R. Keys, C. E. Lillie, Vergie Lillie and four new members, Mesdames W. Sanders, H. Tunnel, Annie Reed and J. McEver.

Britain's "First Lady" Tries Workers' Game

Though Queen of England, Queen Elizabeth is a good sport in her contacts with her subjects. Visiting a working men's social center at Slough, Buckinghamshire, she's pictured participating in a game of darts, known as "the poor man's game" because t is played in nearly every "pub." Steel pointed darts are thrown at bull's-eyes.

Fat Girl Laughs and Grows Slim

Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

Here's a way to get rid of ugly fat that works hand in hand with Nature. Millions of people are losing millions of pounds of flabby flesh and getting back slender figures, without the need of starvation diets or back-breaking exercises.

Medical science has discovered that one of the causes of too much fat lies in a little gland. Doctors correct this condition by feeding this little gland the substance it lacks—and Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on this same method. Millions are using them with success. They are prepared by a famous medical laboratory. Their formula is published in every package so you know what you are taking.

So don't waste time and money with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Go to your druggist today and get a box of Marmola. Try this simple, easy way to get rid of excess fat.

Once Not Enough

A Baptist minister should be immersed at least twice to be properly baptized, conservatives of the church told Mr. Henry Noble Sherwood, above, in threatening to dismiss him from presidency of Georgetown College, Ky. Although he baptized hundreds as pastor of three Baptist churches, Dr. Sherwood neglected to go through a second immersion himself, which the conservative element considers necessary to insure good faith in its misiters.

Royalty Frightened And Cold After Experience In Black Sea; None Is Injured

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 6. (AP) Crown Prince Mihai, safe but badly frightened, landed today at Constanza after transferring to the liner Dacia from a crippled Rumanian destroyer during a Black sea blizzard.

The 16-year-old prince, on his way to Athens as Rumania's representative at the wedding of Crown Price Paul of Greece and Princess Frederica Luise of Brunswick, had shivered in freezing darkness for 36 hours before changing ships in the storm.

The destroyer was towed in by the Dacia. None of the royal party and crew, about 80 in all, was injured.

German Bund Is Report Subject

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover reported to Attorney General Cummings the results of a five months investigation by G-men into nationwide activities of the German-American bund—an organization headed by Fritz Kuhn, of New York.

The director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation made no recommendations for legal action against the organization, Cummings told a press conference, leaving any conclusions of law to the justice department's criminal division.

"All Angles" Covered

Hoover's report covers "all angles" of the German-American organization, Cummings said, including divisions in the East, mid-West and West.

Photographs and charts as well as financial statements were included.

Cummings ordered Hoover to make the investigation last Aug. 18 at the request of Representative Citron (D-Conn). Citron told the attorney general he had received information indicating that 17 alleged Nazi training camps had been established in this country and asked that the department of justice determine whether the camps were operating in violation of any federal laws.

Kuhn came to the United States from Germany in 1924.

MELLON ESTATE ASSESSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The treasury filed a tax assessment of $1,438,627 today against the estate of Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh.

Carpenter Sounds Compensation Note

AUSTIN, Jan. 6.—Employers delinquent in paying their state payroll contributions for unemployment compensation on Jan. 31 will be liable for double taxation, Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director, said.

Under the law, the state collects payroll taxes monthly and the federal government collects them yearly. If an employer pays his state taxes before the federal taxes are due, then he is permitted to deduct the amount of tax paid the state of Texas from the federal tax. This deduction or credit is allowed, however, only where the state tax has been paid before Jan. 31. If the state tax is not paid before this date, then the employer must pay the full amount to both the state and the federal government.

Federal returns are due on Jan. 31 for the year 1937. The final 1937 state tax—that for December—is due on Jan. 25. Chairman Carpenter stressed the importance of employers including all salaries up to and including Dec. 31 and bonuses applicable for the year 1937 in this fiscal report.

Other Medicines As Nothing Compared With New Gly-Cas

Relieved Of Eleven Years Suffering With Bowel Trouble; Kidneys, Stomach Regulated; Dizzy Spells And Headaches Now In The Past

"During my years of suffering with stomach, kidney and bowel trouble, I came in contact with many highly recommended medicines but none of them can compare with this new Gly-Cas in any way," said Mr. C. E. Lockwood, 308 Pleasant St., Hot Springs, Arkansas. "For eleven years my bowels had given me trouble, had severe headaches and frequent dizzy spells. My entire system had become so filled with poisons that my stomach soon became disordered, gas formed in such abundance that it was difficult for me to get my breath. My kidneys refused to function in a normal manner and I was forced to get up many times at night. Medicine after medicine consistently failed in my case—until I began Gly-Cas."

MR. C. E. LOCKWOOD

"Gly-Cas made such a change in my condition that I feel like an entirely different person," continued Mr. Lockwood. "My bowels were regulated almost at once and those severe headaches and dizzy spells are now things of the past. I now eat the foods I wish and no longer have that awful fear of the ill after effects. My kidneys now function in a normal manner and I get full nights of strength giving sleep. Gly-Cas cannot be praised too highly for the wonderful change it made in my condition."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Whatever Else Happened, 1937 Was Noted In Texas For News Headlines; Blast Of London School Led Tragedies

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press State Editor

As the non-committal citizen in the barber's chair remarked, 1937 in Texas was a good year for some and a bad year for others.

Good or bad in other lines, it was "big" for news. At least there was plenty of it, more than the newspapers could print or their readers could remember.

Without attempting to list the usual "10 best" stories of the departing year, it is appropriate at least to recollect a few Texas headlines of 1937.

Vivid Tragedy Lingers

Any such discussion necessarily would begin and end with the explosion at the London consolidated school. Old and New London, East Texas, and all Texas would like best of all now to forget that horror.

Less spectacular but more persistent was the Blanton disappearance case. It bobbed in and out of the news with almost monotonous regularity, and it is still there. Farmers Luther and John Blanton went duck hunting in 1936 and disappeared. They were still missing all through 1937. State Ranger Ernest Best was given a life-time assignment by the state department of public safety to find out what became of them.

Many Texans were married in 1937, but it remained for one who did not marry to make page one. She was Janice Jarratt, San Antonio beauty and one-time New York photographer's model. Two days before the date of their announced wedding in San Antonio, Miss Jarratt left for a vacation on the Texas gulf coast, and former G-Man Melvin Purvis departed for California.

Development Was General

Dallas and Fort Worth plugged on for Trinity river canalization. Meanwhile, Dallas' first maritime venture —operation of a dredge in White Rock lake—became a hangover for city officials in 1938. The dredge went for a time to an inland Davey Jones' locker and a diver from Galveston found a big hole in the vessel's hull. Who was to blame for the hole was the big headache.

There was revelopment all over Texas in 1937.

Oil fields in East, South and West Texas areas expanded steadily. A startling new field, heralded as a possible rival of the big East Texas pool, was the K.M.A. near Wichita Falls.

Ports and cities grew. Stockmen prospered. Cotton was big news on the plains and over West Texas. It added millions of dollars to the section's already-potent buying power.

Dust Bowl Misnomer

Science and horse-sense made progress against destructive soil erosion on all types of Texas earth. The one-time dust bowl was definitely on the comeback trail.

There was development all over Texans in 1937, but the legislature set a new modern record when its sessions extended over 191 days. Principal action was repeal of the four-year-old law permitting parimutuel betting at horse race tracks.

Rulings Are Made By Social Security Board On Employes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Social secretaries can not be classed with chambermaids, the internal revenue bureau has ruled.

The bureau ruled that the social security tax exemption for domestic help does not apply to social secretaries.

Nor does it apply to librarians and museum experts employed in private homes, or carpenters hired on a full time basis for the upkeep of a home.

The exemption does apply, however, to "handymen" hired on a full time basis to do odd jobs about a home.

The bureau further explained that a physician who has a general practice is not a taxable employe of a company, even though he gets a monthly retainer for treating the company's employes.

Taxi-drivers, who buy their own cabs from a taxi association, also were declared not to be employes of the association.

Books printed before 1500 are known as incunabula.

Candidates for all sorts of state offices did not wait for 1938 to blow vigorously into trial balloons. Long before 1937 waned, the prospects for the gubernatorial race took on some of the characteristics of a mass movement.

Neither was there any slow-down of death on the highways. Well past 2,000, the figure had exceeded official forecasts a week before the old year was up.

Houston had a $2,000,000 oil show, and Fort Worth and Dallas their Frontier fiesta and Pan-American exposition.

As usual, the weather for the year was unusual.

Texas Fire Toll For 1937 May Reach Total Of 350 Persons, Figures Show

Carelessness Is Prime Factor

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP) — Torturing death in flames—usually the result of carelessness—probably will claim 350 Texans as its 1937 total, the insurance department fears.

Officials thumbed through records today, found 192 known deaths attributable to fire and estimated on the basis of past experience another 158 met a scorching demise.

Only after physicians' reports filter into the health department and all deaths of the year are classified will the full grisly story be told.

Slight Improvement Seen

That those already recorded indicate a toll of approximately 350 is not surprising, officials said. Last year comparatively few were known to the department in comparison with the actual 519 men, women and children who met fiery deaths as reflected in vital statistics later.

This year's record will show an improvement over last but at that it is an appalling penalty for carelessness, which has exacted high tolls in Texas — 5,059 human lives since 1922.

Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, said most fires can be prevented. He recommends organization of community fire prevention committees and persistent campaigning for public education.

There Is Only One Adjournment Day Ahead For Capitol Messenger; Starts 64th Year

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. Old Harry Parker trudged up Capitol Hill grade—a hitch in his loping gait and a smile on his shiny face.

There's been no public announcement but the negro messenger is beginning his 64th year of work beneath the capitol dome.

"I don't recollect," he beamed, "just what number they give this congress. I just know I'm glad to be at it."

Feet have played a great part in the public life of this grandson of one of George Washington's servants. Polishing boots for legislators got him his first job. His own aching feet got him a federal pension last year by a house vote of 340 to 0. Veteran attaches figured he would finish 1937 and then stop work.

Just Servant Of People

But when the third session of the 75th congress convened there was Harry at his old station, beside the doors of the house ways and means committee.

Senators greeted him as they filed over to the house chamber to hear President Roosevelt's annual message. Some waved their hands. Others shouted, "hello, Harry!"

"I ain't no Democrat," he says, "and I ain't no Republican. I'se just a servant of the people."

"Are you going to finish out this session, Harry?"

"The good Lord," he beamed, "be willing."

As far as Harry's concerned, there's but one adjournment day ahead, and legislators don't decide its date.

Old Age Rolls Show December Decrease

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—A reduction of 1,313 in state old age pension rolls during the past month has been announced by acting Director W. A. Little.

The director said 113,568 checks, totaling approximately $1,555,881, would be mailed the needy aged between Jan. 10 and 15.

"We recently received a social security quarterly grant of about $2,500,000," Little said, "and with state matching funds coming in regularly from liquor, beer, cigarette and other revenues, it seems there is no need for worry over money matters through the month of March."

January payments will increase the cost of pensions for 19 months to more than $21,000,000.

Insurance For Jobless Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—A Wisconsin relief official told senate investigators that unemployment insurance has a stabilizing effect on employment.

Paul Raushenbush, director of the Wisconsin unemployment compensation division, said benefit payments being made under the five-year-old Wisconsin law had given employers "the maximum possible encouragement to regularize their employment."

The employers wished to preserve the compensation funds they had built up with the state through tax payments and as a result tried to avoid laying off workers, the relief official said.

Both Raushenbush and A. J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, urged changes in the social security act.

The state relief official said congress should amend the act to require all states to select their social security personnel from civil service rolls.

Amendment Advocated

Altmeyer urged an amendment which would permit the states to begin payment of unemployment benefits more quickly.

Earlier in the day Virgil Jordan, president of the National Conference board, testified employment had reached a peak last November that was comparable with the highest recorded in 1929, but the business recession since then has reduced employment sharply.

Jordan said 5,000,000 persons had been added to the nation's "working force" by population gains since 1929. Not counting these, employment equalled the 1929 figure in November.

There were at that time about 2,500,000 persons out of jobs because of temporary factors, as in 1929. The addition of 5,000,000 workers, however, brought the total unemployment last November to approximately 7,600,000, he said.

Altmeyer told the committee that unemployment insurance was no "cure" for business depressions, that all it could do was "cushion" the shock to workers who lost their jobs.

He estimated that if the present amount of unemployment continues through 1938, approximately $225,000,000 will be paid out in benefits to the jobless in states which have funds in operation.

JULES BARMAT DIES

BRUSSELS, Jan. 6. (AP) — Jules Barmat, financier extradited from Amsterdam in connection with Belgium's national bank inquiry into bank practices, died in prison in suburban Brussels today, the ministry of justice announced. Barmat had been in jail since Dec. 30.

Six Times More For Crime Than Education, L. A. Woods Says

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP) — Texas is spending six times more money on crime than on education, L. A. Woods, state superintendent of education, told a statewide conference of school superintendents here today.

Woods urged that taxpayers be taken into the confidence of educators since they are expected to finance the right kind of public instruction.

"The time has come," he said, "when we must not concern ourselves alone with educating children of scholastic age. We must take in adults too. Education begins at birth and ends at death."

Main theme of the conference was the value of movies and radio in the school room—audio-visual instruction.

TEMPLE TO GET PROJECT

TEMPLE, Jan. 6. (AP)—Temple's long-desired concrete overpass on highway 2 over the Santa Fe tracks here seemed assured today. The state highway department said construction would start as soon as the city obtained right-of-way, and steps in that direction have been taken.

Marriage Laws Enacted In 1937

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. -- Nine more states in 1937 enacted or revised laws designed to prevent hasty marriages, the council of state governments reported.

Twenty-six states now have laws requiring waiting periods between marriage license applications and actual wedding ceremonies. Delaware has the shortest, 24 hours, and Wisconsin the longest, 10 days.

Waits Are Required

The council's survey showed two states require a two-day wait; eight states and the District of Columbia, three days; 14 states, five days.

The nine states which acted this year to thwart marriage ceremonies, often performed in the early morning hours with gin as a bridesmaid and divorce hovering in the background, were Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Minnesota, New oYrk, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The council said several of the nation's best known "Gretna Greens" were eliminated by new laws in Maryland, West Virginia and Illinois. But California, Mississippi, Ohio and other states which had rigid statutes learned that impatient couples found accomodations for quick weddings in neighboring states.

Art Claims Of Antioch Borne Out In Recovered Splendor

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6. (AP) — The splendor and glory that once was ancient Antioch's was reconstructed for the Archaeological Institute of America by Dr. Frederick O. Waage, member of the American expedition which unearthed parts of the one-time capital of Syria this year.

Mosaic floods of what were once palatial villas where peasants now till the soil, clay lamps from the reign of Augustus, first Roman emperor, and beautifully glazed fragments of pottery were found to prove Antioch's claim as the center of art in the first several centuries A. D.

Horticulture Society May Be Organized

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 6. (AP) —A new state horticultural society may be formed Jan. 14 at Houston during the meeting of the Texas Agricultural Workers association, Dr. S. H. Yarnell, horticulturist for the agricultural experiment station division of Texas A. and M. college, announces.

"There once was a state horticultural society," Dr. Yarnell said, "but we haven't had one in many years. What we have in mind is to set up a council, representing all horticutural interests, which would develop and maintain contact between individuals by means of a monthly magazine."

Dr. Yarnell outlined eight obectives of such a society, namely: dissemination of information on latest developments in cultural practices, stimulation of orchard planting, directing attention of commercial interests to promising new fields of activity, saving growers money by pointing out hazards that might be avoided, encouraging home planting and gardening as a hobby, providing means of mutual encouragement, promoting a feeling of unity among Texas horticulturalists, and bringing recognition to the efforts of groups to build up different phases of the industry.

According to the Chamberlain theory, a great nebular mass condensed to form the sun, from which, under the attraction of passing stars, the planets were heaved off in the form of knotted spiral nebulae.

New Chemical Compound, First Discovered In Atmosphere In Years, Announced

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 6. (AP) — The atmosphere surrounding the earth is a vast chemical laboratory producing, among other things, a chemical closely related to laughing gas, explosives and fertilizers, astronomers of the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., said.

Dr. Arthur Adel and Dr. C. O. Lampland told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that they had discovered a new chemical compound in the atmosphere called nitrogen pentoxide.

It is similar to nitrous oxide, used as an anesthetic in medical and dental operations, and the nitrates and nitrites used in making fertilizers and high explosives. All of them are gases, one, when combined with water, forms nitric acid, one of the most important solvents in chemical industries.

The Lowell astronomers found the new compound in measurements of the dry desert air of Arizona using the spectroscope, the rainbow instrument which records the elements by the dark bands they produce in the rainbow of light.

The location in the atmosphere of nitrogen pentoxide is in the layer of ozone, a form of oxygen, from 10 to 25 miles above the earth's surface, they declared. It is formed in this layer by the action of ultraviolet light from the sun on nitrogen and oxygen. It is the first constituent of the earth's atmosphere discovered in many years.

The log book is a ship's official record of its voyage.

MOTOR FIGURES RELEASED

DETROIT, Jan. 6. (AP)—The Ford Motor company announced today its 1937 world production totaled 1,314,369 units, of which 1,027,701 were produced and assembled in the United States.

The company's world production in 1935 was 1,194,800 cars and trucks, including 1,079,591 in the United States.

The Prohibition party was organized in 1869.

High Court Says Chain Tax Valid

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 6.—The supreme court has reaffirmed its decision that the Texas chain store tax was valid, and the comptroller immediately started preparations to collect within 90 days the approximately $4,000,000 due the state.

The chains' only remaining possible avenue of escape was the supreme court of the United States. The state's highest tribunal quoted freely from ruling of that body, however, in its unanimous opinion declaring the tax constitutional.

The low was supposed to have become effective in January, 1936, but the treasury so far has realized nothing from it due to litigation. Three-fourths of the estimated $4,000,000 will be applied on the deficit in the general fund while the remainder will go to the school fund.

Ruling Required

Officials of the comptroller's department said they could not require payments of the tax until the Dallas court of civil appeals issued a mandate.

The annual tax ranges from $1 on a single store to $750 on each store in excess of 50 in a chain. The brackets follow: Second store, $6; next three stores, $25 each, next five stores, up to 10, $50 each; next 10 stores, up to 20, $150 each; next 15 stores, up to 35, $250 each; next 15 stores, up to 50, $500 each; each additional store, $750.

Each store also must pay an annual filing fee of 50 cents to pay costs of collecting the tax.

Several Exemptions

Exempted from the levy were lumber and building material businesses, oil and gasoline supplies and equipment dealers, establishments engaged exclusively in storing, selling or distribution of petroleum products and servicing of motor vehicles, businesses now paying an occupation tax measured by gross receipts, establishments used as bona fide wholesale or retail distributing points by manufacturing concerns for distribution of products of their own manufacture only and places of business used by bona fide producers of dairy products for the exclusive sale at retail of such products.

The test case originated at Dallas, with District Judge Royall R. Watkins holding the levy unconstitutional. The court of civil appeals tentatively reversed his opinion, meanwhile certifying questions of law to the supreme court.

Du Pont De Nemours Libel Action Filed Against Lundberg

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Notice of a liberal action in behalf of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co., against Ferdinand Lundberg, author of the book "America's Sixty Families," and the Vanguard Press, publishers, was filed in federal court today.

The complaint in the action has not been filed, but it was learned at the office of William H. Button, attorney for the plaintiff, that the suit would ask damages of $150,000 for an alleged libel in the book.

The du Pont family was one of the 60 listed in the book as exerting control over American business and industry.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes mentioned the book in a recent speech.

ISLAND ASKS PLEBESCITE

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Jan. 6. (AP)—Puerto Rico today petitioned congress through two of her major political leaders to provide a plebescite so the island might decide finally between statehood and independence.

Back-To-Nature Existence Transformed Into Back-To-The-Wall Experience For Man

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. (AP)—Mark Silverman's back-to-nature experiment—108 days in a mountain canyon on a diet of fruit and raw vegetables—involved him in legal complications today.

Thirty pounds lighter, but still smiling, he waited in the county psychopathic ward for a hearing on the insanity complaint sworn out against him by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Silverman.

He and his young brother, Joe, a printer, and the latter's 19-year-old wife, Becky, were found yesterday in San Gabriel canyon, camped in a tent, dressed in warm clothes and breakfasting on potatoes, avocadoes and peanuts.

Sheriff's deputies, who arrived with shotguns, were told:

"We don't believe in nudism or wrong doing, but we do love nature and we have a right to live this way, so long as we break no laws."

The trio accompanied the deputies back to Los Angeles, but Joe and Becky, upon release, promptly returned to the canyon.

Mrs. Dorothy Silverman, in the complaint, charged Mark had forced his relatives to live like animals and believed himself to be a religious savior.

McCraw, Assistants To Leave For Inheritance Case Parley

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP) — Attorney General William McCraw will leave tomorrow for Washington to resume efforts to obtain for Texas a share in inheritance taxes on the estate of Col. E. H. R. Green.

Accompanied by Madden Hill and Llewellyn Duke, assistants, McCraw will go first to Washington, for a conference with Special Master John S. Flannery of the U. S. supreme court and representatives of other states seeking to collect the taxes, and then to New York and New Bedford, Mass., where further hearings will be held.

Temporary Lull In Fistic Case

EL PASO, Jan. 6. (AP)—At liberty on bond after a fistic clash with a justice of peace, E. M. Pooley, El Paso newspaper editor, said today "there was nothing else for me to do but hit him."

Pooley exchanged blows yesterday with Justice C. M. Wilchar, who, in the course of an investigation into purported vice conditions, asked Pooley how much an alleged gambler "paid you for covering him up."

"The man, taking advantage of his position as justice of the peace, insulted me in the vilest manner," declared Pooley. "There was nothing else for me to do but hit him."

The editor was ordered to jail for contempt and fined $100, which Pooley refused to pay. Later released on $200 bond, he filed a habeas corpus appeal which will be heard before District Judge C. R. Price Saturday.

Meanwhile, the vice inquiry was suspended until Tuesday.

The Herald-Post newspaper of which Pooley is editor, supported the investigation, but urged that it be conducted on a comprehensive basis and not directed soley at the administration of Mayor M. A. Harlan.

Harlan, Pooley and others were called to testify if there had been a "pay-off" in the operation of the restricted district, and also if there had been gambling in other parts of the city.

Rites For Mrs. Littrell Will Be Read Here This Morning

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at Avenue G Church of Christ for Mrs. H. H. Littrell, 18, of 1710 Avenue F, who died of pneumonia Wednesday soon after a daughter was born to her.

The baby, weighing 4 pounds 15 ounces, remained at West Texas hospital where attendants said Thursday she was "doing splendidly." The mother was admitted to the hospital late Tuesday.

Officiating at services for Mrs. Littrell will be Elder Albert Smith, pastor of the church. Burial will be under direction of Sanders Funeral home. Active pallbearers will be W. F. Jackson, Homer Branum, Pete Hill, Ray Majors, Will Reid and Richard Pike.

Surviving additional to the husband and baby are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pilkington; three sisters, Mrs. H. P. Davis, Mrs. L. V. Littrell and Miss Ruby Pilkington; and four brothers, Homer, Randall, Clyde and Odis Pilkington. All reside in Lubbock.

Negro Selected On Jury To Try Two On Rape Charge

MARION, Ark., Jan. 6. (AP)—Sectional precedent was shattered today when a negro was chosen as a juror to try two other negroes charged with raping an 18-year-old white girl. The juror was John Claybrook, 66-year-old planter and timber operator.

There were no disorders as the trial of Theo Thomas, 25, and Frank Carter, 26, opened before Judge Neil Killough but deputies guarded the entrances to the courthouse and state troopers mingled with the crowd.

Claybrook is virtual owner of the tiny hamlet of Topaz, which he founded.

Crew Rescued When Motor Ship Runs Aground Near Galveston

GALVESTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Striking the south jetty rocks last night while inbound with a cargo of about 3,000 pounds of fish, the 45-foot motor boat Albatross sank in 24-feet of water. Capt. Ira Scott, the owner, and his crew of two men reached the south jetty lighthouse in a small boat and were brought to Galveston today by coast guards.

Lower Bracket Would Be Aided

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Congressional tax bill drafters have decided to continue taking a virtually undiminished slice of the incorporated wealth of certain rich men, it was announced today.

Practically no relief should be given, the house sub-committee on taxes agreed, to certain "closely held" corporations, although the new revenue bill was described as easing the burden of others.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ky) explained some corporations whose ownership is centered in a few persons are used by these individuals to escape high individual income taxes.

Some 500 to 1,000 companies retaining profits instead of declaring out dividends on which surtaxes would be paid would be affected, Vinson said.

16 To 20 Per Cent

They would pay a proposed 16 to 20 per cent undistributed profits tax to which all comparatively large corporations would be subjected. But after deducting $40,000 or 30 per cent, whichever was the greater, from income remaining after paying that levy, they would pay another flat 20 per cent tax on the balance.

Vinson said their total tax rate would be only a fraction under that they pay now under corporate income taxes of 8 to 15 per cent and undistributed profits taxes of 7 to 27 per cent.

Otherwise, it was said, many corporations will find their tax problem easier. Demands from business interests for outright repeal of the taxes on capital gains and undistributed corporation profits went unanswered, but the subcommittee did agree to broad modifications, which members said should eliminate many of the complaints directed at them.

Approximately 199,000 of the 200,000 corporations which have taxable income would receive more favorable treatment under the revision program, Vinson said.

Normal 12 1-2 to 16 Per Cent

Those with income up to $25,000 would pay a normal income tax of 12 1-2 to 16 per cent—the highest effective rate being 14.1 per cent. Between them and the big corporations paying to 16 to 20 per cent undistributed profits tax would be sandwiched a group of firms whose taxes would range upward from the 14.1 effective rate to the 16 and 20 per cent levies.

Previously the subcommittee had decided to "smooth out" the capital gains tax so the greatest tax relief would be given after assets had been held five years, instead of 10 years, as under existing law. For the first time, a carryover of net capital losses suffered in one year would be permitted. They would offset net gains in the succeeding year.

Members have voted also to abolish some $23,000,000 of "nuisance" and excise taxes which are difficult to administer or whose collection costs eat up most or all of the yield. They apply to such items as furs, chewing gun, toothpaste and the toilet soap.

Parking Meter Test Is Not Exciting

General lack of interest has been shown in Lubbock's election on retention of parking meters set for Tuesday, observation shows.

No general trend of opinions as to desirability of meters has been observed here, although at least one neighboring town looks favorably on their being retained. Consensus in Post, taken by Mayor Ross Edwards on a recent visit there, showed all persons interviewed except one hoped the election would retain the meters.

"A prominent business man was the only dissenter," the mayor said. "His reason was that since people were able to find parking space in Lubbock it was hurting his business."

Oil Leases Total Raised To 96,538 Acres In County

Oil and gas leases affecting 754 acres of Lubbock county land boosted the total under lease to 96,538 acres when they were filed Thursday at the office of the county clerk.

Four assignments of oil and gas leases transferred rights on 800 acres of land from W. R. Chancellor to Humble Oil and Refining company.

Leases filed conveyed rights to Chancellor from Geo. H. Hutchings and wife on the south half of section 91, block C, abstract 19, certificate 110, and 434 acres of land in section 118, block C, abstract 726, certificate 295.

Assignments were: Chancellor to Humble Oil company, south half of section 128, block C, abstract 1157 and 1313, certificate 299, EL & RR RR company survey; and from W. M. Blevins to the Humble Oil company on the south half of section 59, block A, south half of southeast quarter of section 51, block A, and the north half of southeast quarter of section 51, block A.

Train Meets Bus; Bus Meets House; Nobody Meets Death

Another bus tragedy is what this picture looks like, but except for the driver, Francis Wise, who suffered lacerations of the face, the incident had a happy ending. Unable to stop on slippery pavement, the passengerless vehicle skidded onto the railroad tracks at Cohoes, N. Y., and was crashed into the adjacent brick building by a train. A baby was tossed from its crib in the house but was uninjured.

Eats Cake, Keeps It! X-Ray Determines Fetish Contents

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Dr. W. F. Drea of Colorado college has discovered a way to "eat his cake" and keep it, too.

He wanted to know what was inside an Indian fetish, kept by a southwestern Colorado tribe as a "good luck" charm for deer hunts, and yet he didn't want to destroy the relic.

The fetish, Dr. Drea was told by old-time Indians, was made of tissues from the heart of deer, tightly wrapped in layers. The Indians did not know what was inside this particular fetish.

So Dr. Drea x-rayed it and discovered that in the center was an ear of corn and other objects which appeared to be turquoise.

Rail Increase Hearing Held

EL PASO, Jan. 6. (AP) — Railroad officials and representatives of West Texas and New Mexico shippers appeared here today before an Interstate Commerce commission regional hearing on a proposed 15 per cent freight rate increase.

E. R. Tanner, spokesman for the shipping interests, declared he also would protest against what he termed "unfair rate differentials" hampering freight movement from this important rail center.

"We are here primarily to consider the rate increase, requested by the railroads," said Claude R. Porter, ICC member conducting the hearing, "but if arguments on differentials are presented by local shippers, they will be heard."

Tanner said he proposed to show that a rate increase, added to existing differentials, would be "ruinous" to shippers of the deep southwest.

Porter presided at the hearing jointly with Col. Ernest O. Thompson, of Amarillo, a member of the Texas Railroad commission.

Salt deposits found in the coastal section of Texas will last, at present consumption rates, for a century and a half.

Slot-Machine Boom On Chinese Front

SHANGHAI, Jan. 6. (AP)—There is at least one American in China who is accumulating a small fortune as a result of Sino-Japanese hostilities in the Shanghai area. He is John Riley, "slot-machine king" of the French concession, who claims Denver, Colo., as his home town.

Riley has more than 50 slot-machines installed in as many bars and cabarets in the French concession which are patronized by American, British, French and Italian soldiers, sailors and marines, who have been concentrated in Shanghai since the trouble started on August 13.

Riley estimates that his machines relieve these soldiers and sailors of more than $12,000 monthly.

Game Probe To Be Conducted

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—The state game department's unprecedented request for a legislative investigation will be granted by Jan. 18.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, chairman of the upper chamber's general investigating committee, said today the inquisitorial group would start grilling members of the commission and the department Jan. 17 or the next day.

The senate last October received the department's unusual petition and authorized the inquiry after charges of mismanagement were made by the Texas Game and Fish Protective association.

Laxity Charged

The association asserted the department was lax in handling its revenues, that its executive personnel had abused its authority, that coastal patrol boats were used for pleasure parties and that, with the aid of three governors of the state, the department had been built into a political machine.

A. E. Wood of Austin, chairman, and Will J. Tucker, secretary, of the game commission said the charges should be given a public airing and, if found true, members should be forced to resign.

At its regular quarterly meeting, Jan. 21, the commission will receive bids on construction of a dredge to be used in opening passes along the gulf coast for betterment of fishing conditions.

Wood said the dredge's first job would be opening of the Corpus Christi pass.

Future Heating May Be Derived From Solar Radiation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Congress learned today that pioneering in the field of solar radiation by Dr. C. G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, probably would make plenty of cheap power available after exhaustion of the nation's coal and oil resources.

In testimony on the independent offices appropriation bill, made public today by a house appropriations subcommittee, the scientist said he had developed a "small model solar flash boiler in which steam could be raised in from three to five minutes."

He said it was automatic in operation and that "steam development in that way would appear to cost about one-half cent per horsepower hour"—about the cost of generation from coal or hydro-electric power.

Seamen Who Killed Mad Slayer On Luxury Yacht Not Indicted By Grand Jury

Morgan's Wife Also Is Freed

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—A federal grand jury today freed Robert Horne, 27, and George Spernak, 19, of guilt in their confessed parts in ending the piratical career of "Mad Jack" Morgan, after five days of terror aboard the luxurious yacht Aafje.

Morgan, who had chartered the yacht Dec. 20 for an announced two-day pleasure trip to Catalina island, was declared by the survivors to have killed the owner, Dwight Faulding, Santa Barbara hotel man, the first night out.

Testimony Taken

Armed, he forced Horne and Spernak to lower Faulding's body, weighted with the ship's anchor, and continued on toward the unknown destination, which federal agents learned might have been a south seas island.

After five days of terror in which the seven remaining passengers said they were in constant fear of their lives, Horne said, he felled Morgan with a marlin spike and with Spernak's aid, tossed him overboard in west Mexican waters.

Horne and Spernak had been held on murder charges, but the grand jury, hearing evidence two days, declined to indict them today and the federal marshal ordered their release.

Mrs. Lillian Casanova Morgan, 18, common-law wife of Morgan, who had been held as a material witness, also was released.

Brownfield Resident "Out Of Work," Others Would Undertake Moving Pike's Peak

AUSTIN, Jan. 6.—Ten fearless "mountain movers" have applied for the job of carting Pike's Peak from Colorado to Texas.

Governor James V. Allred revealed yesterday he had received that many applications for contracts to move the famed peak he won from Governor Teller Ammons of Colorado when Rice institute vanquished the University of Colorado 28 to 14 in the Cotton bowl football classic.

"Wouldn't Governor Ammons be surprised," he remarked, "if we took him up on his proposition to 'come and get it any time'?"

A petition from Alpine urged the peak be placed in the Chisos range of the Big Bend country.

"If you put it anywhere else in Texas," said a letter accompanying the petition, "it would not have the proper playmates and would not be satisfied or happy." The communication also pointed out the project would relieve unemployment "for years to come."

A letter from Idaho said confidentially the job of moving the peak to the Lone Star state was not an impractical one and outlined a complicated plan for its accomplishment.

Another, from a Brownfield resident, applied for the contract with a plea he "was just married and out of work."

Bond Posted By Marie Marquart

Marie Marquart, about 30, charged with murder by poisoning in connection with the death Dec. 13 of J. T. Elliott, 75, Thursday afternoon was released from the county jail on approval by Sheriff Tom Abel of a $1,500 bond.

Bond of $5,000 first had been set for the woman, but was reduced by Walter Davies, justice of peace with whom the complaint was filed.

Investigation of the case will be made at a meeting of a 99th district court grand jury which will be impaneled Monday by Judge E. L. Pitts, according to Burton S. Burks, district attorney.

Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, has returned from Gatesville where he had transferred a juvenile to a state reform school. The 15-year-old Menahans boy was sentenced to serve four years in the school on a charge of burglary of five Lubbock residences.

Tony Self was fined $1 and costs by Davies on a charge of swindling with $1.50 worthless check.

Devised Flag Saves American Hospital

SHANGHAI, Jan. 6. (AP)—The ingenuity of an American nurse in devising the Stars and Stripes from her uniform and a bed sheet is believed to have saved an American missionary hospital just outside Shanghai from destruction by Japanese bombers.

The flag is the work of Miss Vincoe Mushrush, nurse of the Nangtungchow hospital on the Yangtze river, which is run by the United Christian missionary society. She was in one of the buildings when a squadron of Japanese bombers flew over the institution and released their projectiles.

When the main building was demolished, Miss Mushrush decided to display an American flag over what was left of the institution in the hope of saving the structure and the patients from further attacks by Japanese airmen.

Lacking suitable material with which to make the flag, Miss Mushrush tore bed sheets into long strips. Half of these she dyed with a mercuric solution to make the red stripes. The field for the stars she made by cutting up her blue flannel nurse's cape.

Correct in every detail and huge enough to be recognized a considerable distance from the air, Old Glory was mounted in a conspicuous place on the roof of the hospital.

Southwest Conference Opens Big Guns In 1938 Basketball Campaign Tonight

Arkansas Meets Aggies In No. One Cage Tilt

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stripped by new rules of some advantage it once held because of the loftiness of its basket bangers, Arkansas' Razorbacks start the Southwest conference season against Texas A. and M. in a pair of games at College Station Friday and Saturday night.

Elimination of the center tipoff, which once allowed the rangy Porkers to take possession from the start, was figured to damage their offense. Jammed with veterans, Arkansas' crew, once the undisputed rulers of the league, finished no better than third in the recent Oklahoma City collegiate tourney.

Benton Not Ready

Jim Benton, football end and a regular guard, will not be available for the opening series, having just finished his chores in the east-west grid game. However, Coach Glen Rose will be able to start a classy five in Capt. Don Lockard, the loop's leading scorer of the past season, and Harold Brady at the forwards; Ray Hamilton, another football end, at center; Jack Robbins and Lendon Chambers at guards.

Robbins rated as one of the league's better guards last year, flipping in 72 points besides attending to defensive duties.

Winners of half their four preseason games against stern independent opposition, the Aggies, a few weeks ago tagged the weaklings of the circuit, now appear to be gaining strength. Coach Hub McQuillan, admittedly weak on reserves, will start Capt. Virgil Harris, leading scorer to date with 42 points, and Everett Clark, who has roped 36 points, at forwards. Towering Louie Freiberger will open at center and Walter Robert and Sammy Dwyer will handle guarding.

Arkansas will return home after the Aggie series. A series scheduled in Houston against Rice the first of next week was postponed today and rescheduled for Fayetteville on Jan. 20 and 21.

Back in 1934 Texas Christian won the title chase, but in the three years since they have nestled in the basement, last year reaching a new low by winning only one game.

Christians Meet Steers

Saturday night at Austin Coach Mike Brumbelow sends out his Christians to start a season they vow will not find them on the bottom at the finish. However, ill luck has already started dogging the Frogs, Ben Abney, sensational soph forward and leading scorer in preseason games, going out with a hand injury.

Cowan will be shifted to Abney's post, pairing with Duckworth, another sophomore. Ed (Slim) Mabry, center, will start while Capt. Jay Smith, senior letterman and Brad Snodgrass, junior veteran, will be the guards.

Coach Jack Gray releases a speedy Texas team, sparked along by sophomores Nelms and Moers and aided by veterans Warren Osborne, Willie Tate and Capt. Don White.

Ex-Bellhop May Get Title Shot If He Is Good Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Tomorrow night's 12-round non-title fight in Madison Square Garden between Freddie Steele, middleweight champion and Fred Apostoli, San Francisco, his foremost challenger, may pave the way for an outdoor meeting between the pair next summer with Steele's jealously guarded title on the line.

Even though the championship is not involved and Apostoli would not be recognized here if he upsets huge buckets of dope and wins, the fight is shaping up as far and away the most important middleweight clash of the indoor season.

For one thing, the two are old rivals, for another, there is no love lost between the rival managers, and to top off the grudge angle, Steele has been severely criticized for his apparent willingness to give almost every middleweight a shot at his crown except the ex-San Francisco bell hop.

Indications tonight were the champion will go into the ring a 5 to 8 favorite.

Should Apostoli turn up with a surprise, the victory would just about force Steele to sign for a title match.

Attorney General Lashes At Chicago's Gambling Law

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Plans to legalize horse race betting establishments in Chicago were knocked toward a legal limbo today by Attorney General Otto Kerner.

He ruled the city council had no authority to sanction such a gambling system, held an ordinance empowering "pari-mutuel brokers" to handle wagers as null and void and warned:

"A broker who attempts to operate under a license issued in pursuance of this ordinance will violate the criminal law of this state and should be prosecuted and punished the same as any other person who commits a crime."

Golden Glovers To Move Fast, In Or Out Ring

There'll be no "rest periods" between "falls" and no tiresome pauses when Golden Glovers clash in the City and District tournaments at the Auditorium beginning Monday night.

From 7:30 o'clock until the last bout is over, with the exception of the customary pause between the first and second rounds, the fists will fly with little hesitation.

Sexton To Referee

While the judges and the referee are making up their minds about the last fight, the next one will be ready to go on. Boxers will move into and out of the ring as quickly as is humanly possible. Instructions, even, will be given before the boys enter the ring, and no time will be lost while the referee goes over the rules.

O. J. "Bo" Sexton, likeable Western Union skipper and most popular fight referee in these parts, will do the officiating Monday night, and through the remainder of the Golden Gloves tournament. He will keep the fighters moving at all times, will warn them if they fail to show the speed and fighting spirit essential to a good, fan-pleasing battle, and automatically eliminate them if they need a second warning. They must throw the leather while they're in the ring, and they must step lively getting into and out of the ring.

The fighters, as they take their corners, will be introduced via the Auditorium public address system, rather than from the ring. The microphone will be moved to the ringside and the announcer will introduce each boxer so that all may hear.

The "fast moving" schedule will be invoked for two reasons. The large number of entries necessitates fast handling, else the program would last too long, and such a plan is the most practical both for fighters and spectators.

More than fifty entries have been registered for membership in the Avalanche-Journal Amateur Athletic club, sponsor of the Golden Gloves tournaments here. All of them, it is hoped, will compete in the City tournament, Monday night, Jan. 10, with survivors coming back for the finals on Monday night, Jan. 17.

All fighters who "show up" good in the city event, regardless of whether they win or lose, will be eligible to compete in the district tournament Feb. 7 and 8.

Competent judges have been selected, and seconds will be provided for boxers who are unaccompanied by trained seconds. Four husky Texas Tech athletes have been nominated for "second" duty, and will divide time with the boxers in the corners.

Each fight will consist of three 2-minute rounds, with a minute's rest between rounds.

Tickets On Sale

Entries for the City tournament will be accepted up to noon Saturday. All entries are to meet at the Auditorium Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock for final instructions regarding ring rules, conduct, etc. They will meet again at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon for final weighing in. In the meantime, they are invited to work out at the Tech gymnasium each day.

Ticket sales jumped perceptibly yesterday at the three downtown agencies—the Hilton Hotel lobby, Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers and Hotel Lubbock drug. Tickets may be purchased up to noon Monday, after which they go on sale at the Auditorium box office.

Those desiring season tickets may reserve them by calling the telephone operator, or the sports editor, at the Avalanche-Journal offices. There is a 10 per cent saving, and the season ticket entitles holder to the same ringside chair for all four nights of Golden Gloves fighting.

Nov. 19 Southern Methodist at Waco.
Nov. 26 Rice institute at Houston.

Lubbock Seconds Motion About West Va. Coach

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Extra! . . . The Pirates have topped and passed the Cubs in the bidding for Van Mungo . . . The Giants definitely are out of the running . . . That snappy coaching job "Little Sleepy" Glenn is turning in down at West Virginia has the high school stars in that state looking toward Morgantown instead of flocking to Pitt and other big time Eastern schools . . . (for which Mr. Glenn rates a raise and a new contract in this book).

Bing! Bing! ! Bing! ! ! Bing! ! ! . . . Mrs. Bing Crosby has just presented the well known crooner and race hoss owner with his fourth son . . . Daniel Boone Savage, the bearded wrestler who says he is from Kentucky and who goes around to swank restaurants wearing boots and blue overalls, was barred from the Stork club the other night.

Schacht To Go West

Governor General Blanton Winship of Puerto Rico is due today to close for a Sixto Escobar-Harry Jeffa bantamweight title fight down there next month . . . Al Schacht, the baseball clown, is considering an offer to accompany the Pirates to California next spring to entertain the fans on the exhibition game tours.

Moe Berg, educated catcher of the Red Sox, is considered a bit screwy by a lot of major leaguers because he often eats breakfast backwards, starting with pie and finishing up with cantaloupe . . . Moe has the last laugh for he has an income of $500 per week from a paper factory of which he is half owner . . . New York baseball and boxing writers have passed resolutions of tribute to Eddie Neil and the boxing writers will take steps to set up a permanent memorial for the crack AP reporter who was killed in Spain.

Owens' Amateur Career Behind

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—(AP)— Jesse Owens, who showed excellent business judgment in running right off the amateur reservation after the 1936 Olympics, has about as much chance of regaining simon-pure status as he has intention of returning to get a degree at Ohio State . . . No stigma or criticism attaches to what the Buckeye bullet did after pacing the victorious U. S. track and field team at Berlin . . . His own coach advised him to seize the chance of "cashing in," which he did, but Jesse's amateur career is behind him now, so far as the A. A. U. is concerned.

Lou Little, who likes his football coaching job at Columbia but would like it better if he had a few more players, is strictly "mum" on the talk linking his name with other colleges, including his alma mater, Pennsylvania . . . It's a good bet he will stick to upper Broadway for his football . . . Some grid observers won't be surprised if Fielding H. Yost himself takes over the head coaching for Michigan again this year, despite all the gumshoeing for Harry Kipe's successor . . It wouldn't be the first time he's moved in from the sidelines to take charge.

Cy Sherman, the sage of Lincoln (Neb.), who featured the idea for our national football ranking poll several years ago, writes off the gridiron mortgage with this final "first ten:" Pittsburgh, California, Fordham, Santa Clara, Nebraska, Dartmouth, Villanova, Minnesota, Notre Dame and Rice . . .

Speaking of Rice, won't it be fun in the Southwest conference with the new, liberalized passing rules in force next season? . . . The "passingest league" should produce some new high scoring records for football . . . Somewhat overlooked in New Year's grid jamboree was West Virginia's Harry Clark, sophomore ball-carrying streak who helped annoy Texas Tech at El Paso in the Sun Bowl game and will be worth keeping an eye on for the next two seasons.

Eastern War Is Big Worry To Al Schacht

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. — Alexander Schacht, the gag man of baseball emerged from his winter haunts with worry and despair frozen on his exclamation mark face. Al is worried about all the publicity given to the undeclared war between China and Japan and is sure it will have a most serious effect on the Boston Red Sox.

"Maybe it's news to you and maybe it ain't," began Al, "but this shindig over in China threatens to push the Red Sox right into the Piedmont League. Of course, you all know Moe Berg, coach of the Red Sox. But you don't know Moe is the greatest student on international relations we have ever had in baseball. Moe is nuts about that stuff. What's more, he makes the Red Sox pitchers nuts about it, too."

To Russia And Back

"Moe has charge of the bull pen for the Red Sox. Every day he takes the pitchers, especially Jack Wilson, on a tour of the world. One day, Moe'll discuss Russia and the purge. The next, he'll talk convincingly on the Spanish civil war. And so it goes. In a week, he'll have the bull penners in every country of the world.

"Last season, it got pretty bad. One afternoon, Manager Joe Cronin sent in a hurried call to the bull pen for Wilson. I think Lefty Grove was pitching at the time and the Yankees were hammering him all over the lot. I was there and I wasn't surprised when Wilson didn't pop right out like he should have done. So I sidled up to Cronin and said: 'Joe, you can't get Wilson without a passport. Better call for Rube Walberg.' 'Passport?' Joe demanded. 'What are you talking about?' I couldn't help but laugh but I explained: 'Why, Moe has Wilson in Russia right now and those Russians are very touchy about passports.' And sure enough Moe did have Wilson in Russia—and almost ready to get shot. Joe had to call on Rube."

What will happen next season, with American oil tankers and gunboats getting bombed, Al hates to consider. He predicts Moe will have the Red Sox bull pen resembling an armed camp with rifle drill instead of warm-up exercises.

Aggies "Pay Off" For Putting Out Steer Band

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—Texas A. & M. college has paid the University of Texas $90 "reparations" and now an embarrassing band mixup at the schools' traditional Thanksgiving football fray is a closed incident.

When the University musicians marched into Kyle Field at College Station there were no stadium seats for them. It didn't help matters much that scalpers sold 40-yard line seats outside the stadium.

While Aggies rustled chairs and benches for the Longhorn band—its personnel enlarged especially for the game—A. & M. officials discovered they inadvertently had sold tickets reserved for the visitors.

Col. E. W. Hooker of the Farmer's band took full responsibility for the "inexcusable error" but the Steer tunesmiths still were not satisfied.

Now the athletic council has disclosed the A. & M. council has sent the university $90 to cover the cost of 40 Texas musicians who paid their own expenses on the College Station trip.

Now That Is Proselyting With Reverse English; Gilman Peddles "Gridsters"

By LOU BLACK

GILMAN, Conn., Jan. 6. (AP) — Marty Gilman sells "football players" for a living—and leading college coaches are his best customers.

He's ready to start another of his annual 40,000-mile treks through the country. He stops at most every campus for what he terms proselyting purposes.

Gilman, 30 and a bachelor, calls himself the father of "football dummies that pick themselves up" and do about everything an opposing lineman does on the gridiron except talk.

He features "Comeback" and "Goback," a couple of dummies whom he claims are as popular among coaches as is Edgar Bergen's Charlie McCarthy among radio fans.

Gilman, who played football for Connecticut State college in the late twenties, noticed time and effort were wasted in lifting and hooking up the dummies then used.

A Star Is Born

While wandering about his father's cotton mill he saw piles of waste. He did a little experimenting and fashioned a mushroom-shaped dummy made of cotton batting and woolen hair. About that time Papa issued an ultimatum ordering Marty to choose between his job as general manager of the mill and his "crazy ideas."

A sale here and there encouraged him to stick with dummies. Soon after he marketed "Comeback," which operates on the same principle as weighted dolls that can't be tipped over and kept down.

Then he announced the "birth" of "Goback," a 400-pound frightfully human-looking dummy:—

"Marty Gilman announces the birth of a fighting, bouncing, football back—Goback — brother and teammate of Comeback. Weight, 400 pounds; six feet tall, perfect pair of shoulders, head, neck and body. Adopt this back—a blessed event for coaches."

Welcoming Committee

When "Goback" is charged a set of rollers takes care of the push while the spring on which he is hooked supplies the upward lift (the secret of good line play is to get under your opponent and lift).

Today his dummies can be found, Gilman claims, on practice fields of 500 colleges and schools.

Scattered about his office are "Gobacks" who answer telephones, serve as stenographers and comprise a welcoming committee.

SHOVING OFF
With a car full of husky "football players," Marty Gilman starts for college campuses.

SIGNAL DRILL
Marty Gilman gives his football dummies a signal drill on gridiron plays.

La Verne Moore Is No More; Montague Is The Name Now

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. (AP)—John Montague, the former mystery man of golf, today legally dropped the name he was given at birth, La Vefe Moore.

"Why do you want to change your name?" asked Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson.

"Because of certain associations that I want to get away from," replied Montague.

In petitioning to have his name changed legally to Montague, he said this name had a value to him in business and sports circles.

Prima Donnas Of Pittsburgh On Trading Block

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6. (AP) — Bill Benswanger, president of Pittsburgh's baseball pirates, put his prima donnas on the trading block today with the calm remark he was ready to deal "star for star" with any club in the National League.

"We want new faces," the Pirate boss declared. "We are interested in a major trade of any kind—and if one is made this year, I'll betcha we'll be in on it."

"Mind you, we don't want to give away one of our stars like the Waners or Vaughan or Suhr for two or three secondary players. But we are ready and eager to make a deal with any club that will give us men of caliber equal to those we lose.

"As a matter of fact we don't care whether we strengthen our club or not, in such a trade, just so we don't weaken it. We feel the advantage of new faces would be sufficient inducement for trades."

Critics have accused the Pirates of lacking "hustle" and of placing their own interests above the welfare of the club. Recently Waite Hoyt, former Pittsburgh pitcher, criticized the Pirates for failure to keep training and said some of the stars gave more attention to golf than baseball.

"The only thing that needs to be said about Hoyt's remarks," countered Benswanger, "is that 'people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.' If Waite had acted properly he still would be playing for Pittsburgh."

Junior High Cagers Play Idalou Here

Coach Lovie Liston's Lubbock Junior High Cowboys will open their 1938 basketball season this afternoon with a game at the Junior High gymnasium against the Idalou juniors.

The contest is to start at 3:15 o'clock.

Tickets have been sold in advance, and the sale indicates a large turnout for the contest.

Idalou, it is believed, has one of the best junior teams in years, which portends a return to high school basketball heights by the Idalou forces.

Coach Liston boldly announces that the Cowboys are no slouches, either, when it comes to putting the ball through the iron hoop.

Liston has suggested that Snodgrass and Nabors will start at forwards for the Cowboys, with Harris at center, McKinnon and Moore at guards.

Egyptian Consulate's Association Deepens "Robinsons" Mystery

Key Man Found; Is Questioned

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The intriguing mystery of "Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson" and the fraudulently obtained passports they carried when they vanished in Moscow last month deepened today with assertion by federal agents a key man in the case was a clerk in the Egyptian consulate here.

He was identified by the agents as Aaron Sharfin, Russia-born resident of the Bronx, and as the mysterious "Mr. D." who helped obtain the passports of the Robinsons and of Adolph Arnold Rubens through the office of Tammany County Clerk Albert Marinelli April 3, 1936.

A. Dahab, vice consul in charge of the Egyptian consulate, said Sharfin was in his late 20's and a trusted worker. He described him as an "office boy" who stamped and delivered passports, carried money to the bank and sometimes operated the telephone switchboard. Sharfin himself declined to talk and he gave his name only after 16 hours of questioning.

Man Questioned 16 Hours

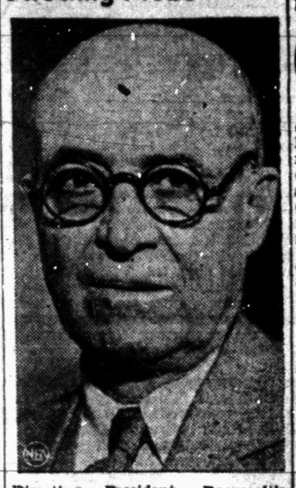

Dahab said Sharfin was born in the United States, not Russia, as the federal agents said.

Throughout the long grilling Sharfin apparently maintained a stubborn silence. The federal men were certain, however, they had the key man who could supply the major missing links in the puzzling international intrigue.

The investigation started when it was learned the passports had been procured through Marinelli's office. The "Robinsons" had used the names and birth certificates of Brooklyn children who had been dead over 20 years. Rubens had used a forged paper to authenticate his citizenship.

In Moscow yesterday "Mrs. Robinson" was identified as Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens, wife of the Rubens for whom a passport was fraudulently obtained. Mrs. Rubens herself got a valid passport through regular channels in Philadelphia. She is the former Ruth Marie Boerger of New York and presumably is now jailed in Moscow.

Directing Probe

Directing President Roosevelt's high cost of living investigation and the effect upon prices of "monopolistic practices and other unwholesome methods of competition," is the task of W. A. Ayers, above, chairman of the federal trade commission. Upon his report will depend future "big stick" actions of the administration against trusts.

Etex Oil Survey Orders Issued

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—Every oil operator in the East Texas field has received instructions from the railroad commission to furnish a detailed report before the next statewide proration hearing Jan. 17 on wells making water, pumping, using air-gas lift or incapable of making their allowables.

"It appears," the commission said, "that a general water survey and well status report would further the conservation of oil and natural gas in the East Texas field."

The commission also promulgated special rules for the Rotan pool in Fisher county. It divided the field into 20-acre proration units but authorized 10-acre spacing of wells.

Proration within the field will be based half on acreage and half on unit potential. The maximum gas-oil ratio was set at 2,000 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil.

Another commission order increased the daily allowable of the Sulphur Bluff field from 3,266 to 4,766 barrels, effective tomorrow. Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said the boost was allowed to fill a new contract and replace oil formerly obtained from Mexico.

He interpreted the need for the increase as "a further indication of a firming up of the crude oil market."

Biscuits Of Cotton Flour? Old Stuff, Says Tech Dietitian Who Ate 'Em Years Ago

Biscuits of flour made from cottonseed may be something new in Nashville, Tenn., but it is old stuff for some of the staff at Texas Technological college.

The statement by an engineer before a club in Nashville that he had eaten biscuits made of a mixture of cotton and wheat flour was considered so unusual that it "made" the national circuits of the Associated Press.

The item reminded Miss Jonnie McCrery, head professor of foods and nutrition at Tech, that she had eaten bread of that type so long ago that she had forgotten it.

She and several others who had eaten cottonseed bread and cake, in some instances as long as nearly 30 years ago, agreed that the food was palatable. They were equally in agreement, however, that the flavor was nothing to write home about.

New York Patrolman Fatally Wounded In Gun Battle

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Patrolman Frank Zaccor, 39, was shot to death today in a gun fight with three young bandits surprised during a restaurant holdup on West 31st street.

Before he fell the patrolman critically wounded one of the bandits who identified himself as Thomas Kerwin.

James Barton, star of "Tobacco Road," was born in Gloucester, N. J., and went on the stage at the age of two.

Applications Of Aged To Rise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The social security board has estimated for congress that the number of claims filed for old-age and death-benefit payments would increase from an average of 650 a day on last Nov. 30 to 1,000 a day at the end of this year.

In submitting the data for use of a house appropriations subcommittee in drafting the independent offices supply bill, made public today, the board reported that through Nov. 30, it had set up 36,000,000 employe records and expected to add 10,000,000 more in the next fiscal year.

A request for $214,000,000 for grants to states for old-age assistance was based on an expectation, the board said, that 21 per cent of the estimated 8,180,000 people 65 years old or over will receive benefits in the fiscal year starting July 1. Last Oct. 19.6 per cent were getting assistance.

Monthly payments also were shown to be on the increase from an average of $17.50 during 1937 to an estimated $21.50 for the 1939 fiscal year.

New Charge Filed While Jury Is Studying Evidence

When a county court jury was deliberating the theft case against Charles O. von dem Berg, charged with theft of a jacket from Corcorran tailors, a second charge, alleging embezzlement of $40 from the tailors, was filed.

A jury, unable to reach a verdict Thursday night, will return at 9 o'clock this morning, said Judge J. J. Dillard, to continue deliberations.

J. D. Corcorran, owner of the place, swore to the complaint.

Theft cases against Bill Pierce and Ira Pierce, scheduled for hearing Thursday, were passed to Tuesday. Cases of procuring against Luther Burns, Lubbock negro, and swindling with worthless check against S. C. Parnell were dismissed. A charge of liquor law violation against Harold Jones was continued because of illness of the defendant.

On today's docket in that court are charges of: Swindling with worthless check against J. W. Milner, drunkenness against Ed Lindsey, and liquor law violation against Nathan Pennington.

Defendants Shell Out $96 In Two Hours In City Court

According to a report from Lewis Kittrell, city recorder, $96 was collected in corporation court Thursday morning within two hours.

Thirty-eight persons were in the city jail during the night. There were five held for investigation, eight for being drunk, one for reckless driving and two on vagrancy charges.

A youth, charged with reckless driving, ran into a police car. Officers said he was "doing 70 miles an hour."

Tech Graduate Will Head Cooperative

Appointment of Charles C. Fagg of Lubbock superintendent of South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., has been made by the Rural Electrification, according to announcement Thursday.

Fagg is a graduate of Texas Technological college and former assistant secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings & Loan association here.

Fagg graduated from Eastland high school and entered Texas Technological college in 1925. He graduated in 1929 with a B. A. degree, majoring in economics. He was employed with the Texas Electric Service Co., at Abilene and other points for about six years, serving as operation-maintenance man and also chief clerk and accountant. He also conducted classes in safety and salesmanship for the company.

A year or two ago he was employed as accountant and assistant secretary-treasurer of the savings group, retiring last September.

South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., has been granted an allotment of $100,000 by REA. The project includes 201 miles of high line serving 568 customers in Lubbock county.

Formal approval of his appointment was made Monday by REA.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep, and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The Supreme Court Vacancy

THE retirement of Associate Justice George Sutherland will, in all probability, prove no more than a forerunner of several changes which now will follow each other speedily in the personnel of the nation's highest judicial body.

During the tempestuous years of the Roosevelt administration the court has been closely divided on most controversies pertaining to the New Deal. The vote of the Supreme court on many such matters submitted to it has been 5 to 4 against the New Deal contention. Without doubt the very fact of that narrow margin has caused several of the justices to continue at their post when they would have preferred the quiet of retirement.

Now that the majority has been broken, it will be surprising if some of the other members do not take advantage of the recent law which permits them to withdraw from active service on the bench while continuing at full salary. Justice Brandeis, at 81, is the oldest member of the court but has been consistently a New Dealer. His retirement would be neither gain nor loss for the New Deal so far as voting strength of the court would be concerned, because he would be replaced by successor with beliefs similar to his own. But Justices McReynolds, 75, Hughes, 75, and Butler, 71, have been classified by administration followers as anti-New Dealers because usually they have voted to outlaw much New Deal legislation put in question before the court. Resignations from among that group would not be surprising except in the case of Mr. Hughes, whose vigor at 75 is a constant amazement to official Washington.

MEANWHILE, chief interest of the national capital at the moment centers about speculation as to who will be named Mr. Sutherland's successor. Many names are mentioned, but the fact of the business is that no one, perhaps including the President himself, can say who will get the job.

We may be sure, however, of certain characteristics of the individual chosen. He will, of course, be a New Dealer—perhaps a rabid New Dealer. He will NOT be a Ku Kluxer of either present or past vintage. His record likely will be that of a man who has been amenable to the President's wishes. In making the appointment, Mr. Roosevelt may exercise his unusual flare for spectacular surprise—meaning the new justice may be a man now generally overlooked by the political gossips.

Likewise, it is safe to say he will NOT be a man of the quality of the retiring justice, who had the will to defy the administration and then displayed even greater moral courage by retiring. Tremendous pressure undoubtedly was brought to bear upon Justice Sutherland in an attempt to persuade him not to leave the bench and thus upset the scant majority which has been virtually the only check against excesses of the New Deal. Yet when he became convinced that he no longer could carry his share of the court's burden he exercised his right to step out of the way.

Even his most violent critics will concede that the great service he has rendered has earned him the rest he insists on taking. But at the same time, his decision will be regretted by a nation's business which already is threatened with paralysis because of the government-created uncertainties by which it is surrounded.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British financier, aboard CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE'S yacht, Detective Officer KETTERING runs into a maze of conflicting clews.

As the investigation progresses he charts the possible motives for each of the ship's passengers; MRS. REGINALD JOCELYN, none, so far as known; COUNT POSODINI, grudge motive against Blane; Rocksavage, strong motive of financial gain; BISHOP OF BUDE, strong motive since Blane knew of his unsavory past.

LADY WELTER, strong motive of financial gain; INOSUKE HAYASHI, strong motive of financial gain; REGINALD JOCELYN, strong motive of financial gain; MISS ROCKSAVAGE, none, apparently. Only the ship's crew and NICHOLAS STODART, Blane's secretary, are ruled out conclusively.

Then Rocksavage appears with his doctor and lounge steward, offering a sound alibi for his presence in his own cabin at the time of the crime. Next, Mrs. Jocelyn, under pressure, admits having been in Posodini's cabin at the time of the crime, explaining she deliberately courted the Count to counteract her husband's affair with Ferri Rocksavage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S FIFTH REPORT, CONTINUED.

The Hon. Mrs. Jocelyn had only just left when Lady Welter's maid, Mildred Short, appeared at the door of the writing room and asked if she might have a word with me. She was very nervous, but, after a little, I got her to tell me her trouble and, from a big work bag which she was carrying, she produced a pale blue knitted jumper. In the middle of the back of the jumper there was a large burn where it had been signed with a hot iron and, after some persuasion, Mildred Short made the following statement about it.

VOLUNTARY STATEMENT BY MILDRED SHORT, 9-1-37.

As previously stated, when I went to Lady Welter's cabin at about 7:10, this jumper still lacked one sleeve. When I returned to her ladyship's cabin to tidy it at 8:30, the jumper was lying on the table finished, and I knew that her ladyship had left it there for me to take below and press. Later that evening I proceeded to do so but I was called away and, most unfortunately, left the electric iron on it. This resulted in a large burn in the middle of the back which I could not possibly disguise, and I became most desperately worried in consequence.

Her ladyship is a good mistress, but hard. She has a terrible tongue when she's angry and I was scared out of my wits as to what she would say to me about ruining her jumper, seeing that she had knitted it herself.

In my fright I decided to say nothing and, if she asked me about it later on, pretend that it had got lost. With all the to do about the murder on the following day her ladyship never said anything about the jumper and I was beginning to hope that she had forgotten all about it, until she sent for me and questioned me this morning.

At first I protested that the jumper had got lost somewhere, but when her ladyship impressed upon me how important it was that its whereabouts should be discovered I broke down and told her the truth. She said I must tell you exactly what had happened and that is the truth as God is my witness.

Mildred Short.

Witnessed: Keys Kettering, Detective Officer, Florida Police. 1256 Palm Avenue.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S THIRD EXAMINATION OF MISS FERRI ROCKSAVAGE.

K.: Sorry to bother you again, Miss Rocksavage. Come and sit down, won't you?

F. R.: Well?

K.: Look here, help me out will you?

F. R.: I always help people out if I can.

K.: That's a good girl. You got a sunny nature, haven't you? You're always being nice to people, whether they deserve it or not.

F. R.: Oh, I don't know about that, but it's a short life and it's no good being miserable.

K.: You've said it, and that's why I'm hoping you're not going to blow up on what I'm going to say.

F. R.: Why should I?

K.: Well, I don't know, you're a young girl. Very well brought up and that sort of thing. Some girls like that might resent the sort of questions I'm going to ask, but you know I wouldn't do it if I didn't have to in the course of my duty. Now, I'm going to treat you just as though you weren't a young society girl at all. I'm going to talk to you as though you were a woman of the world.

F. R.: I suppose I am what you call a woman of the world. Most girls are these days.

K.: That's right. Now, I'm sure you don't want any sort of scandal attached to your name and believe me a scandal is the last thing that I want to involve you in, but there's one thing I've got to ask you. Who was the man who was in your cabin on the night that Blane met his death?

F. R.: I don't understand.

K.: Oh, yes you do, and you can take it from me that I have actual proof that a man was there. You can take your choice: come clean with me now or face it out against the evidence that I shall produce when you're in the witness box, with all the press photographers standing round to take shots of you at 40 different angles. Who was the man in your cabin the night that Blane met his death?

F. R.: You're bluffing. You haven't got any evidence.

K.: Yes I have. Take a look at this little bunch of hair. That came out of your comb. It was found in the wastepaper basket the night after Blane was murdered. The fair hair's yours but the short dark curly hairs are not. Somebody used this comb to tidy their hair after you had ruffled it, before leaving your cabin. Those strands of yours were probably already in it at the time. Anyhow, you'd have cleaned it before you used it to do your hair when you dressed for dinner. Shall I tell you who those dark hairs belong to?

F. R.: Who?

K.: Reggie Jocelyn.

F. R.: Very ingenious, Mr. Van Dine, but we had a swim off the yacht earlier in the afternoon. I lent my comb to Mr. Jocelyn then, after I'd used it and, being a lazy person, I suppose I never thought to clean it afterwards. Doesn't that rather upset your clever little story?

K.: It might, Miss Rocksavage, if it weren't for the fact that a man's life hangs in the balance.

F. R.: What d'you mean by that?

K.: Just this. Reggie Jocelyn had a very strong motive for wishing Bolitho Blane out of the way. He even brought Count Posodini on board, knowing the Count to be a criminal, with a grudge against Blane.

F. R.: What! Our handsome Count turns out to be a crook!

K.: That's so, and Jocelyn brought him on this trip in the hope that he'd do Blane in. He didn't, though. Posodini's proved an alibi and that makes the presumptive evidence even stronger against your boy friend. He swears that he was in his bath at 7:45, but his wife now admits that he wasn't. What's more, he was actually seen in the passage-way still unchanged at ten past eight.

Now, what was he doing between 7:45 and 8:10? If he was with you I think you'd better say so, because, if he wasn't, it looks to me very much as though Jocelyn is going to stand his trial for murder.

F. R.: In that case you win. Reggie was with me, from the time we came below, which was really about a quarter past seven, until he left me at ten after eight. I'm afraid that would hurt Mrs. Jocelyn a lot if she knew, and father wouldn't be too pleased, either. Will you try and keep that out of it if you can?

K.: I'll do my best, Miss Rocksavage. You're just paying the penalty of being over kind to a good looking young rascal, but I'm prepared to take a little risk on being kind to you.

Supreme Court Will Inspect Contract

AUSTIN, Jan. 6 (AP)—The supreme court will pass on legality of a contract between El Paso county and a group of tax ferrets for discovery of personal property which had been escaping taxation.

The court has agreed to review decisions of lower tribunals that the contract was valid. James C. White, a taxpayer, brought suit seeking to enjoin the county commissioners' court from carrying out terms of the agreement.

White contended the contract was invalid because it was for collection of delinquent taxes, provided for compensation greater than that allowed in delinquent tax collection contracts and had not been approved by the attorney general and comptroller.

The lower courts held, however, that the contract was not for collection of delinquent taxes but for the finding of property which never had been on the tax rolls. The ferrets were to be paid 25 per cent of the county taxes collected on the property which they discovered.

The supreme court dismissed for want of jurisdiction an appeal by members of the old civil service commission at El Paso from a holding of the El Paso civil appeals court that the mayor and city council acted legally in removing them from office.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

EVEN Finger Man Robert H. Jackson concedes privately that administration spokesmen blundered a bit in the attempt to sell the idea that Big Business had declared a "strike" against the New Deal. They oversold their goods by indicting a complete community instead of convicting a few political marplots.

The inside theory here is that a small clique of market manipulators and moneyed forces engineered the maneuver. According to the Washington view, when stocks slumped from causes unrelated to the supposed drive against F. D. R., the big operators ganged together to shove the market down. It was not until after the first sharp break, Jacksonians believe, that the sit-down became a definite and deliberate thrust at the White House.

Washington minibized the original slump as involving only "paper losses"—the Hoover battle cry of 1929. What both parties apparently forgot is that the repercussion shook business and industry to its foundations by frightening purchasers out of their pocketbooks. And the recriminations revolving around monopolies and prices sharpened the downward spiral because of their sweeping nature.

SHOCKED: The Biggers unemployment report has tossed a big apple of discord into the lap of a Congress which had already reassembled in a mean mood. Its revelations will return to plague the President.

His best friends—the LaFollettes and Mavericks—are citing it as human evidence that more generous funds must be appropriated for both 1938 and 1939 relief, budget balancers be damned. Mr. R.'s private experts—Messrs. Henderson, Lubin, Goldenweiser—brand it as unscientific because it did not show the 1936 income of those who registered as jobless; they suspect that there are also chiselers among the "forgotten men". New Deal foes—the Vandenbergs and Austins—remark offstage (they will soon spout it on the political boards) that the expenditure of 18 billion to produce the "more abundant life" has simply set us right back where we started from.

Cabinet members were shocked when the President told them the bad news Mr. Biggers had turned up. There were suggestions that the figures be withheld pending another checkup—and possible reemployment gains that would pretty up the picture. But then it was too late to ward off or even soften the Biggers blow.

BELATED: President Roosevelt has ordered his general staff of economists to find out whether his personal theory on the cause and length of the current recession holds water. Their findings will definitely influence future relief and relation policies.

The President subscribes to the doctrine that production fell off because of excessively heavy inventories built up in anticipation of labor wars and rising prices. He expects, however, that these advance supplies will be liquidated by April, and that new buying will promote production and furnish jobs. Otherwise, the summer and fall prospects are black. He was deeply disturbed by General Motors' layoff of 30,000 men and the Knudsen report that inventories had reached a peak far above White House assumption.

So F. D. R. has instructed his experts to survey the stocks of 200 corporations to ascertain when they will come back into the market for men and materials. He wants to know whether government or industry will man the pump-priming machinery.

INSPIRED: After his recent visit to the White House, where he sought to persuade the President to modify laws harassing business, Bernard M. Baruch remarked to a friend: "The other side has got to him," meaning that favorites like Corcoran, Cohen and Jackson had swung the head man to the left.

But even more important than the don't-give-up-the-ship plea uttered by eight Progressive Senators was a mysterious meeting of Congressional liberals at the Cosmos club. Present were a score of House and Senate New Dealers. Principal speaker was Leon Henderson, the W. P. A. economist who first put the monopoly bug in the presidential ear.

They demanded more money for relief, more spending through revival of P. W. A. and R. F. C. financing on a large scale, no compromise with conservatives inside or outside Congress, no surrender on any front. They also sired the theory that powerful enemies had hatched a conspiracy to discredit the New Deal. F. D. R., of course, heard of the caucus—he hears everything. Then a few days later St. Robert and St. Harold sallied forth to slay the dragon of concentrated wealth.

PROPHECY: Bearded, Bostonian George Tinkham draws a deadly parallel between the events of 1917 and 1937, and sees only one outcome for the United States—war. The Bay state Congressman's cloakroom remarks impress his colleagues, for he has personal contacts in almost every foreign office as a result of his globe-trotting proclivities.

"In 1917," he says, "the cry was 'democracy against autocracy.' Now it is 'democracy against dictatorship.' It is almost the same lineup. Then it was Germany, Austria, Bulgaria on the other side; now it is Germany, Italy and Japan against the old alike—Great Britain, France, Russia, the United States. Now, as then, millions are being spent here for propaganda by foreign nations. Again we hear that the Anglo-Saxon nations—England and the United States—must stand together. And now Mr. Roosevelt, a disciple of Woodrow Wilson, calls upon Congress for an army and navy designed to keep, not American peace, but world peace. The next move will be—must be—war!

Mr. Tinkham may demand a Congressional investigation of propaganda machinery set up by foreign countries, especially Japan, on the theory that they violate both the letter and spirit of the Neutrality act—a twist which even the authors of that law missed.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

DAVID DUBINSKY, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers union, will be a potent force for peace between the embattled factions of organized labor from now on.

Mr. Dubinsky affiliated his outfit with the C. I. O. when it was first formed because he believed in industrial unionism. But he thought from the beginning that it was silly for organized labor to dissipate its energies in a civil war, and he has been constantly working to patch up the quarrel. He has had several strenuous backstage arguments with John Lewis on the subject. That last straw, to him, was when recent peace negotiations broke down on what he regards as questions of detail after the A. F. of L. had accepted the principle of industrial unionization in the mass production industries. So now he is preparing to turn on the heat.

He has plenty of leverage to use on the C. I. O. His union is not only one of the most powerful members of that organization but one of the heaviest contributors to its treasury. It would be just too bad for the C. I. O. already hard hit by the violent slump in employment and dues, if the garment workers withdrew their financial support. And that's in the cards—unless other leaders climb off their high horses and reopen negotiations on a sensible and realistic basis.

WISE: Responsible financial men believe reflation of American prices, wages and dividends to a permanently lower level, in order to meet the competition of a world on a lower standard of living equipped with our machinery and methods, will not be an easy or a pleasant process. Naturally many arguments are advanced to show that it will not be necessary. Human nature instinctively seeks to find an out rather than face disagreeable facts.

It would be wiser—and no more painful—to make whatever adjustments are needed to cope successfully with new world economic conditions.

SACRIFICES: Key men know that it will take intelligent and unflinchingly courageous leadership to induce organized labor to swallow the unpalatable dose of lower wages. Too many present-day labor leaders fail to see beyond their own restricted horizon. They are out to see how much they can get for their followers, regardless of the effect on the national economy as a whole. Presumably they will resist bitterly the readjusting process mentioned above.

It would be a mistake to assume, however, that labor is the only group of which sacrifices will be demanded.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"Now, leave me alone—it was my wife's idea to hire a butler!"

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says it takes less time and effort to do a thing right than to explain why you did it wrong.

* * *

The reason so many bosses are cranks is because so many employes are not self-starters.

* * *

MANY a man who is indignant over New Deal laws which hamper business has never stopped to consider that the national administration is not by itself in attempting to regiment other people's affairs.

Neither is it by itself in attempting to force court rulings which may hamper the public in its efforts to get what it wants:

A case in point right here in Texas will come up in 73rd District court in San Antonio on Jan. 13, when Judge John F. Onion will hear pleas for a permanent injunction against enforcement of the state's new dental law.

The entire problem revolves about the question of whether or not a highly organized clique of Texas dentists—with a powerful legislative lobby—can lawfully tell every dentist in the state how he shall run his individual business.

THE new dental law, passed by the legislature some months ago, went into effect on January 1.

It has to do with so-called "ethics" of the dental business, but there is a decided difference of opinion between the organized clique and individual dentists about the "ethics," all of which were set forth by the clique and which hamper competition on the part of dentists who are not members of the tightly drawn organization.

One of the chief points of argument has to do with dentists advertising services and prices.

The highly organized clique is made up of dentists who are opposed to paid advertising, although their societies scattered over the state are frequently active in efforts to secure free advertising for the profession as a whole.

Individual dentists outside the clique claim that only by advertising can sufficient volume of business be secured to keep dental prices down to where the average man can afford to keep his teeth and those of his family in good repair.

* * *

WHILE The Plainsman admittedly has an axe to grind in any matter having to do with the curtailment of advertising, it seems to him that the free, American way of handling such a situation is to accord every man the privilege of using his own judgment—and acting according.y.

We do not think it would be right, just,—or constitutional—to force to advertise those dentists who do not want to advertise.

And by the same token, we think it neither right, just,—nor constitutional—for the clique to say to the dentists who do not subscribe to regimentation: "We don't want to pay for advertising; therefore, you can't."

* * *

Results of the San Antonio hearing will be important, in more ways than one.

Not only will there be reached a decision on whether a man has a right to run his own business as he sees fit.

In addition, it will be decided whether an organized group in any business or profession can dominate the policies of the whole field.

You can mark this down on your cuff:

If the organized dentists finally win their point, the way will be opened for similar movements in other businesses and professions and for setting up price structures to which John Public will adhere—or go without service.

Not only will the newspapers and the dentists be affected by results of this legal battle.

They will affect every man, woman and child in the state, one way or another.

AS everyone knows, European rulers in general — and dictators in particular — are greatly in favor of high birthrates.

The reason, of course, is that the more children there are born in their countries, the more fighting men they eventually will have.

And European rulers — particularly dictators — owe their positions to a continuance of big armies, navies and air corps.

The papers reported the other day that Meester Mussolini had called before him a number of Italian women who, according to the dictator, were worthy of public commendation for their ability to have offspring in a manner fast and furious.

The event drew from the Chicago American what The Plainsman considers a very interesting comment and we pass it along to you:

"From Rome comes a story of festival: Mussolini graciously distributes rewards for mothers.

"Ninety-five Italian mothers, winners of Mussolini's big family contest, have just received their prizes from Il Duce, in Rome. . .

"In ten years the 95 women have given birth to 738 children, an average of eight to each mother. The prize awarded to each mother by grateful Mr. Mussolini amounts to $260—$32.50 a child, on the average.

"Without wishing to impugn Mr. Mussolini's generosity unjustly, it does seem that $32.50 is an extremely moderate reward to offer a woman for creating a soldier. It costs $14,300, according to figures on the World war, to kill one."

That's not bad logic.

HERE AND THERE: The will of H. P. Hood, Massachusetts milk company president, leaves most of a million dollar estate for the purchase of milk for needy babies . . . For the past six years he has given employes a $50 bonus for each baby born to them and the total thus given is over the $50,000 mark. . . . Lord Nuffield, known as England's Santa Claus because of gifts to charity totaling $40,000,000 in the last 11 years, says he has given away his last dime. . . . He is disgusted, he says because of many thousands of begging letters, nearly all wholly lacking in merit . . . The letters average more than 200 a day, requiring the attention of six full-time employes. . . . A house-cleaning of New York City's official family is promised as the first result of Tammany's recent election rout.

Letters To The Editor

(Letters are accepted for publication when not over 300 words in length; not in violation of the libel laws or the rules of good taste, and when, in the case of criticism of an individual, group or corporation, signed by the true name of the writer. NO. 1-PLUS NATION

Editor, The Avalanche: Your editorial, "The No. 1 Nation," in The Avalanche of December 19th, was interesting, and designed to strengthen the pride of any American, but the story is far better than some of your statistics indicate.

Instead of 5,500,000 household washers, we have in use, according to Electrical Merchandising, more than 12,000,000. Instead of 6,500,000 vacuum cleaners, we have in use, according to latest statistics of Electrical Merchandising, more than 11,000,000.

The low price of these appliances, and the convenience, ease, and efficiency with which they perform their work gives them this immense distribution. Other countries attempt to imitate them but with poor success.

As you say, ordinary statistics make dry reading, but these are an appeal to the pride of everyone, and indeed make you, not the No. 1 nation, but the No. 1 Plus nation.

I believe you will want to make some additional references to these authoritative figures.

Yours sincerely,
William Shaw,
Chicago, Ill.

Possible Infantile Paralysis Remedy Tested On Monkeys

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — The enigma of zinc sulfate, the only nasal spray which gives monkeys several months' protection against infantile paralysis, was explained to the American Society of Bacteriologists

This spray has been tried on children. Whether it protects them, has not yet been decided.

At the Rockefeller institute in New York, the society was told, workers found that zinc mixed directly with the virus which causes infantile paralysis fails to protect monkeys.

Yet, when the same zinc was sprayed by itself into the monkeys' noses, even after those noses had been infected with the virus, it prevented the disease.

TARZAN'S QUEST. No. 155 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Kill her! Kill her!" Those words burned themselves into Tarzan's heart, for he knew that it might well be Jane who was the object of those murderous shouts. But also those shrill shrieks served to guide his racing feet to the gathering in the throne room.

With Brown not far behind, he quickly reached the doorway. There, rising on his toes to look over the heads of the warriors, he saw two guards seize Jane and drag her to the dais. Then the Kavuru king grabbed her by the hair and whipped out his long dagger.

Tarzan burst into the close-packed room and sought to aim his revolver, but the mob of tall warriors shielded his target from harm. Then some of the warriors saw Tarzan. They were seized with terrified confusion. Many tried to gain the doorway to flee.

Tarzan was caught in that milling, hysterical mass. Something struck his wrist. What it was he never knew, whether it was an accident or intentional, but it was powerful enough to make him drop the gun, which clattered to the floor and was swept away.

IF IN DOUBT
Ask The Master Psychologist
DR. LA ROSE, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear . . . than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Cattle and sheep. Sales start 1:00 p. m. prompt.

Sell your cattle now. Our sale last Friday was the best we have had since the decline of prices. The shippers in general think the bad breaks are over.

We have plenty of out-of-town buyers. It's a good time to bring your cattle to us, as we think we can make them net as much or more than any other market. We have the fastest growing market in West Texas.

Come to see us if possible, if not, write or call us. We can send trucks for your cattle at reasonable prices.

Big Land Deal In Hockley Reported

LEVELLAND, Jan. 6. (Special)—Approximately $45,000 was said to be involved in the largest Hockley county transaction in history between private individuals in the oil fields here.

Ray Watson, Levelland dry goods merchant traded 222 acres of irrigated land in the Quemado valley of Maverick county along the Rio Grande river to S. J. Taylor of Walla Walla, Wash., and former Levelland resident for 400 acres from two tracts of the Bob Slaughter tract in the Sundown community.

Titles to the land have been traded, although royalties were the larger parts of the transaction since the lands had been leased for oil development. One Hockley county tract is near Texas company's No. 1 Bob Slaughter producer and the other is near the Sid Richardson, now being drilled.

RAILS LIFT INTEREST
By FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—The long-dormant rails puffed the stock market into a rally today that lifted many leaders 1 to 4 points and a few much more.

Dealings were comparatively slow until the final hour when a brief buying rush put the ticker tape a minute behind. Profit realizing was in evidence at the finish and extreme advances were shaded in many cases on the final lap.

Touching off the recovery sprint, brokers said, was the friendly gesture of the administration in which the Reconstruction Finance Corp., with the later provisional approval of the I. C. C., agreed to lend the Baltimore and Ohio more than $8,000,000 to pull the road out of a hole.

Wall Street took this to mean the government intends to come to the assistance of shaky carriers pending final action on increased freight rates and a pick-up in traffic which will enable them to proceed under their own steam. Most B. and O. bonds did a quick come-back after their retreat yesterday and the road's stocks were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up 1.8 points at 45.8, the best day's showing since Nov. 27. Transfers totaled 1,209,840 shares compared with 1,150,840 Wednesday.

Prominent share gainers included Santa Fe at 38⅞, N. Y. Central 18, Southern Pacific 19¾, Baltimore and Ohio 9¾, U. S. Steel 59⅛, Bethlehem 63⅛, General Motors 33¾, Chrysler 53⅜, Anaconda 33⅞, Kennecott 40⅜, American Smelting 51¼, U. S. Rubber 26, J. I. Case 91¾, Montgomery Ward 34, Sears Roebuck 59½, Douglas Aircraft 42, Westinghouse 104⅞, du Pont 116½, Standard Oil of N. J., 50¼ and Coca-Cola 120.

The automotive group pushed forward despite the statement of President Knudsen of General Motors that the recent sales drop was the most severe in the company's history.

Copper shares were given a ride as the export price for the metal was again boosted.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Moderate local and outside purchasing and some price-fixing by the trade lifted cotton prices 50 cents or more a bale here today. The close was steady at net advances of 10 to 12 points.

Trading started at a quiet pace but gathered momentum after noon in response to rising stocks and wheat and was most active in the final half hour.

Foreign markets were disappointing but encouraging advices from Worth street served to offset the bearish factor in early dealings. The continued tight spot situation in the interior resulted in a shortage of contracts and light offerings.

Reports from the interior indicated that growers were continuing to put their product into the government loan program rather than into merchandising channels despite the rise in prices.

Private advices from Washington said the secretary of agriculture denied recent reports that he desired a "no agreement" on the bill in conference and quoted him as predicting that a favorable measure would be voted in the near future.

These advices together with the firmer outside markets tended to keep prices on the upgrade throughout the day and the market closed at the top.

Jan. closed at 8.48-bid, March at 8.60, May at 8.67@8.68, July at 8.74, Oct. at 8.77 and Dec. at 8.80.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.54 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 8.22 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Following early hesitancy, cotton advanced to further new high levels. March rallied from 8.39@8.49 and closed at 8.48, with final prices 8 to 10 points net higher. Early offerings were taken by trade buying. Local and New Orleans demand was attracted by firmness of stocks and when offerings proved to be light, other buying appeared through commission houses.

Better inquiry for forward deliveries of cotton goods at prevailing spot prices encountered mill resistance. Spot cotton markets were generally quiet. Exports today 33,841 making a total of 3,507,295 for the season thus far.

CHICAGO REPORT
By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Rushing up to above previous peak prices this season both at Winnipeg and Chicago, wheat today skyrocketed 5 cents in Canada and 3¼ cents here.

The record-breaking advance accompanied reports Canada may be forced to import United States wheat in quantity owing to scantiness of available supplies. Accelerating the upward flight was automatic execution of many stop-loss purchase orders from traders unable or unwilling to put up additional funds to protect commission house requirements.

Winnipeg dispatches emphasized that remaining supplies of wheat in Canada were extremely limited, and that exports and Canadian millers were competing actively for what was left. Not one carload of wheat arrived in Chicago today, a rare circumstance.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 2 cents to 3 cents above yesterday's finish, May 96¼@96⅜, July 89⅞@90, Sept. 88⅝, corn ¼ off to ⅜ up, May 62¼@62¼, July 61¾@61⅞, oats ⅜ to ¾ advanced, rye showing 2 cents bulge, and provisions 5 to 17 cents up.

Garner Attends FDR's Reception

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—"Turkey in the straw" had a place on the program at the White House tonight, sandwiched between Brahms and Tschaikovsky, just to please Vice President Garner.

The occasion was the president's annual dinner for the vice president. The vice president doesn't like evening parties, doesn't like white ties and long-tailed coats, and wouldn't swap any piece of Brahms for a good, American square dance number.

So Percy Grainger, the American pianist and composer, agreed to play the time-honored "Turkey."

Mrs. Roosevelt In Show

Some 70 guests were invited to the 8 o'clock dinner, and another 250 to her Grainger and Madame Elisabeth Schumann, the soprano, after dinner.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned from New York to be hostess, and then to go on at 11 P.M. to the annual velvet ball, shifted from New York to Washington this year, for which 1,200 socialites had gathered.

The ball's program included a velvet fashion show, in which the most noted model was Mrs. Roosevelt, wearing a new velvet gown. She agreed to rise in her box in the glare of a spot light. The ball was arranged for the fund which feeds poor children in the capital's public schools.

Plains Educators

superintendent at Whitharral.

The theme of the convention is "A Cooperative Educational Program in Audio-Visual Education." Griggs said. Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of education, is in charge.

Speakers today were Dr. Woods, Dr. Ellsworth C. Dent, director of educational department of a radio manufacturing company; and Dr. T. H. Shelby, director of the extension service at the University of Texas.

On this afternoon's program of entertainment were 30 negro singers from Prairie View college for negroes at Prairie View.

Approximately 1,500 educational executives are attending and 1,000 were at a banquet at the Driskill hotel here tonight. An honor guest was Mrs. James V. Allred, wife of the governor, who played a piano solo. Miss Nell Parmley of the state superintendent's staff and a former resident of Lubbock, was on the program.

The convention will close Friday.

she then took the baby to the next door of Frances Marion, scenario writer, where she called police.

Miss Wray, confined to her bed tonight, was said by members of the household to be suffering bruises on her head and neck.

John Monk Saunders, writer and husband of the actress, was absent on a motion picture location when the alleged attack occurred.

Suffering Relief Clients Are Rationed Food In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6. (AP)—Emergency action released food orders tonight to 65,000 relief clients here, many of whom have been suffering hunger and privation while the relief was held up six days.

City council demanded that county and city finance departments certify that funds will be available from $900,000 due on bonds March 1. This will match and supplement funds provided in relief bills last night by the state legislature.

U. S. Exports To Japan Off But More Shipped To China

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—United States merchandise exports to Japan fell off sharply in November, but shipments to China apparently increased, the commerce department reported today.

The department said shipments to Japan totaled $18,122,000 in November, compared with $24,100,000 in the same month in 1936. Shipments to China were shown as $2,895,000, compared with $3,227,000 a year ago.

The apparent decline in exports to China was more than offset by an increase from $543,000 in November, 1936, to $3,958,000 in November, 1937, in shipments to the British port of Hongkong, through which much Chinese trade has been routed since the Japanese captured Shanghai.

DALLAS BOY KILLED

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Bert Clark, 16, Sunset High school student, was killed today while playing football on the lawn of a friend's home. Playmates said he ran into the side of a parked automobile as he tried to reach the ball, and was knocked back onto the sidewalk, fracturing his skull.

retirement fund; $329,300,000 for the social security board, $31,652,000 for the rural electrification administration, and $547,917,500 for the veterans administration.

Hearings Disclose Texas Received Much Value

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The record of house appropriations subcommittee hearings on the independent offices supply bill disclosed today that:

The federal housing administration, through May 31, 1937, issued 43,760 notes in Texas for a total amount of $15,053,427.

The social security board granted the state between July 1 and Nov. 30, 1937 a total of $5,011,-319.37 for old age assistance, compared with $9,720,758 during the entire 1937 fiscal year which ended June 30. The estimated payments for the entire 1938 fiscal year to Texas total $10,139,919.

The federal home loan bank board employed on a fee basis during 1937 a total of 247 lawyers in Texas.

The public works administration made loans totaling $70,000 and grants totaling $78,654 on three completed Texas power projects—Marfa gas plant, $40,000 loan, $32,-530 grant; Houston gas distribution, $25,700 grant; Benavides gas plant, $30,000 loan, $20,454 grant.

be adjusted to production; "constant employment can not be assured unless there is work to do; if the men were re-employed there would be nothing for them to work on."

They're "Afraid Out There"

Knudsen, who worked his way from the status of a laborer in overalls to that of an industrial titan, was one of a series of big businessmen, economists and statisticians called to give the committee their views about the causes of unemployment and remedies for it.

Byrnes asked for suggestions.

"I have one hope," he replied, "that the people generally will feel a little more confident of the future. We need more assurance all the way down the line about this year and the year after.

"It is astonishing that people are afraid of something out there—" he waved his arm in a broad circle—"and they don't even know what it is."

"High Volume, Low Price Economy" Said Needed

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—A Roosevelt spokesman said tonight the country needed a "high volume, low price economy" supported by good wages; an industrialist answered that the government itself could cure sick business by ceasing "its attack on industry, big or little."

Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, the government's chief denouncer of monopoly, and the industrialist, Wendell L. Willkie, head of the vast Commonwealth and Southern Utilities corporation, put forward their sharply divergent views in a national forum—"America's Town Meeting of the Air."

Jackson, whose spectacular assaults of late upon sections of "big business" have made him one of Washington's most talked of figures, again thrust in that direction.

Big Business Blamed

"Small business," he said, "of course has its problems with government, . . . but it is chiefly big business that is at war on many fronts with government."

Willkie asserted that the theory that big and little business have "different and opposing interests" was "another myth," similar to the bedtime story that the men who hold office in Washington are, by their very positions, endowed with a special virtue, that they are men of far vision and exceptional mental capacity."

MAY ASK CONTINUANCE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. (AP)—A continuance may be asked in the Paul A. Wright "triangle" slaying case when it is called for trial next Thursday. Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler said today, if it seems then the public has been swayed against Wright by what Giesler called a "highly prejudicial" act of the district attorney's office.

SIMULTANEOUS ATTACK

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 6. (AP)—The insurgent and government armies attacked simultaneously today in the Teruel sector where both sides claimed advances, although the main outline of the 15 mile front remained unchanged.

Lubbock Held Up For Advantages

Lubbock's place as a business center and as a home town, was "sold" to the Kiwanis club yesterday noon by R. E. McDonald, Radford Grocery Co., manager for this district, in a talk on possibilities as a jobbing center.

O. W. English, chief officer, presided.

Lubbock's population growth from 4,000 in 1920 to 30,000 in 1937 was cited by McDonald, who pointed out the growth of bank deposits from $4,750,000 in January, 1934, to $6,750,000 in 1935, $8,400,000 in 1937 and $10,000,000 in 1938. Building permits last year were over $2,000,000; postal gains were 17 per cent for the year and 29 per cent for December, he added as evidence of attractions for forward looking people.

Tax Rate Low

The city's 75-cent tax rate, the 95 cent school rate and the state and county rate of 99 cents per $100 valuation, gave residents a $2.69 rate, lowest in Texas for a city of this size, he added. There are 250 jobbers and industries here, he said.

Educational facilities include the best high school building of any town of this size in the nation, and the 3,154 enrollment at Texas Technological college, is on a 2,008-acre campus. Hospital facilities here are second only in the South to Temple, with more beds than apy other city of this size in the South.

Lubbock county's agricultural income in 1937 was $9,000,000, he pointed out, for 2,700 farms. There are over 8,000,000 acres of tillable land on the South Plains with about half in cultivation. Railroad and truck transportation give the city unrivaled service for jobbers. Freight rates are low, and the natural resources and oil development will give the town opportunities for growth.

Some Sort Of Reputation Was Established On Mail Volume

The echoes continue from the airmail pickup test made in Lubbock several weeks ago.

The latest was a letter from W. H. Eaton, president of Eaton Paper company in Pittsfield, Mass., received at the chamber of commerce late Thursday. He was inspired to write he said, merely by the thought that Lubbock might like to know that Pittsfield had heard of the excellent record made by this city.

Lubbock was one of more than 50 cities selected for a pickup test in a recent week. Although this city was the last among all of them to be chosen for a test, and despite the fact that it was announced only two days in advance, Lubbock topped all the others in airmail volume.

Death Anniversary Of 26th President Observed By Fewer

COVE NECK, N. Y., Jan. 6. (AP)—At the quiet end of the pilgrimage of a modern "Mr. Greatheart," Theodore Roosevelt died in his sleep 19 years ago, and today men and women who never have forgotten him gather at his grave here, as they have done on this day these last 18 years.

The shrine of the little band of his friends—a band now less by two since the last trip to Cove Neck in the death of William Loeb, sr., long a Roosevelt secretary, and Father J. J. Curran—was the old fashioned iron-fenced burial ground where lies the body of the 26th president.

AFL Preferred, Says Labor Man

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — Chairman Madden of the National Labor Relations board told congress today some employers "who six months ago would not tolerate any union now select the American Federation of Labor as the lesser of two evils."

He denied, in testimony a house appropriations subcommittee made public today, that the board favors either the A. F. of L. or the Committee for Industrial Organization.

"We take our cases as they come to us," he said.

"As a matter of fact, the A. F. of L. being the older and more conservative organization, there may be a preference, in consequence, on the part of the employers."

Madden submitted statistics showing that there were more strikes in the first eight months of this year—3,314—than in any year since 1920. Of the 3,314 disputes, 56 per cent involved union organization, 32 per cent, wages and hours and 12 per cent, miscellaneous causes.

Kentucky Not To Block Effort To Return Suspected Killer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 6. (AP) — Commonwealth's Attorney Merit O'Neal said today Kentucky would not block return of Wendell F. Bowers, 19, to Pennsylvania to face a charge of murdering Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, 38-year-old widow, near Philadelphia, Dec. 13.

O'Neal announced he would move that two storehouse breaking indictments returned against the youth here yesterday be filed away and that he be released to the custody of Pennsylvania officers.

Generous Robbers Assist Victims

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP) — Modern conveniences and the solicitude of two gunmen eased the plight of 14 persons locked in a vault during a robbery yesterday.

The gunmen took $1,456 from the cash drawers at the Tower Finance company and forced eight men and six girl employes into the vault. Fearing their victims would suffocate, the robbers tipped a negro clerk $2 to call the police.

The tip was wasted. A ventilating system eliminated the danger of suffocation. A hidden telephone provided communication.
