The employment of six teachers was approved and the resignation of two teachers accepted. This completes the teaching staff for this school year. The District is still in need of two bus drivers.

Bicentennial Approval Near

Federal recognition of Rockport as an official Bicentennial community is expected in about a week, it was reported Tuesday by Dr. J. Martin Shaw, chairman of the local Bicentennial Commission.

Recognition of the community by the Texas Bicentennial Commission was granted about two weeks ago and the local organization was instructed to forward its application to the federal Bicentennial Commission at once. This was done and the state body has informed Dr. Shaw that favorable action from Washington could be expected about Aug. 22. The state Bicentennial Commission complimented the local Commission on the scope and significance of its program.

The federal application is very similar to the one approved at the state level. It includes more or less detailed but preliminary plans by local organizations for projects in celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

State and national representatives of this area have been notified of state approval and that federal application has been made. These officials also have been invited to the Rockport SeaFair, Oct. 11 and 12, the biggest but not the first Bicentennial event scheduled for this area.

Yard of The Month

The yard of the month award for August was presented to Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Underwood, 1903 Glass Ave. by Mrs. A.C. Hamon, chairman of the project for the Rockport Home and Garden Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Underwood share the work and credit for this beautiful, well-kept yard. The plant-decorated wrought iron mail box adjacent to the street reflects the ingenuity and planning of the yard.

The idea for the mail box came from the resort town of Rockport, Mass., where all the street lights are decorated in this manner. The Underwoods vacationed there during the summer. Mrs. Underwood used a pot of pink petunias on the mail box during the spring months, but changed to a sun-loving copper plant as summer set in.

The center of interest in the yard is the bird bath set in a square bed surrounded by river ferns and pink caladiums with a border of liriope. Japanese yew, river fern, caladiums and amaryllis line the walk to the entrance of the house. Beds of petunias, salvia, coleus, Joseph's coat and agapanthus surround the base of the oak trees in the front yard.

Potted croton, redbird, succulents, petunias and golddust acuba placed together at the base of a group of trees enhance the outdoor living area. A Turk's cap in bloom and a date palm form a screen in front of the vegetable garden area. Flower beds that surround the house contain Indian carnations, shrimp plant, chrysanthemum, ginger lily, fire cracker plant, night blooming jasmine, English love berry, poinsettias, strawberries, maiden hair fern, dracena, confederate jasmine, pampas grass, dieffenbachia and philodendron.

The Underwoods have a screened-in summer house that they use to house plants and start cuttings. New plants being started from cuttings are dieffenbachia, philodendron and angel wing begonia. Plantings in the area of the summer house are soft yucca and a large philodendron. A bed of roses line the driveway and numerous hanging baskets add to the beauty of the twenty live oak trees.

The Rockport Home and Garden Club gives the yard of the month award each month for a well-maintained yard. Anyone is eligible to win and nominations may be submitted to Mrs. A.C. Hamon, Box 1093, Rockport.

DIAL-A-CARE SERVICE AVAILABLE

There are many elderly persons married or living alone who have little contact with the outside world. They live in an isolated world and feel that no one really cares for them.

2. The name will be added to the membership automatically.

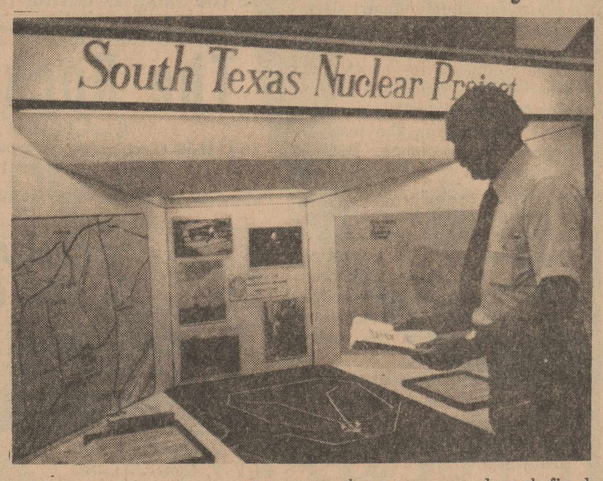

3. Each morning you call in between the hours of 9 and 11 a.m. by dialing 729-7722 to let the volunteer manning the telephone know that you are all right.

4. If you fail to call in, the volunteer will call you.

5. If you are called and do not answer, your neighbor will be called, or some person that you designate, so the Dial-A-Care can know you are all right.

This service is free of charge and any Senior Citizen can participate. For further information on this service, call your Senior Citizens program director, Neil Gage, 729-5352 or call the Concern Center who handles the Dial-A-Care program, 729-7722.

Nuclear Plant on Display In First National Bank Lobby

Bill Janecek, manager of the local Central Power and Light Co., is shown above arranging a descriptive display illustrating and explaining the billion-dollar nuclear power plant planned for Matagorda County midway between Bay City and Palacios near the Colorado river, which has been set up in the lobby of First National Bank and will remain on display during August.

The plant is a joint project of Central Power and Light Co., Houston Light and Power Co., City Public Service of San Antonio and the City of Austin. Dwindling supplies of natural gas and oil are cited as the reasons for planning the nuclear power plant. Present oil and gas generating plants will be phased out in favor of nuclear power and coal fired plants as dominant electric energy producers.

Extensive studies and surveys have been made and are continuing at the site to collect environmental and operating data on which to base formal application for contruction approval by the Atomic Energy Commission. The commission already has approved preliminary work at the site. It is expected that plant construction work can start next year with completion of the first unit scheduled for 1979. Under this schedule, Unit 1 would go into commercial operation in 1980 followed by Unit 2 two years later.

In addition to the plant itself, a 7,000 acre cooling lake will be

City Council Rejects Little Bay Improvements

At the City Council meeting held August 11 representatives of the Texas Highway Dept., District 16, Roger Q. Spencer, District Engineer, and B.E. McGuill, Jr., Supv. Traffic Engineer, appeared before City Council to discuss a traffic control light on Highway 35 North and Glass Avenue.

Based on a traffic survey made by the Texas Highway Dept. last school term, the City's request for a traffic control light was rejected.

Due to the importance of a light at this intersection the Council felt that the City invite the District Engineer to discuss the next steps to be taken. A new traffic count and request for a light will be requested by the City during the coming school term.

Based on request received from many citizens on Sorenson Drive in Little Bay Shores, the Council was considering the expansion of curb and gutter and paving improvements from the intersection of Glass Avenue and Bay Shores Drive to the intersection of Sorenson Drive and Bay Avenue.

After canvassing the property owners in this section, six were in favor of the project, five were against and one did not reply to the request.

Due to financing, this project was rejected by the Council. Aldermen Garrett and Zambrano voted against the project, Alderman Jackson voted for the project, and Alderman Steele abstained.

Sanitary sewer improvements were accepted by the City for maintenance for a sanitary sewer line constructed on Bahama Drive in Key Allegro which will serve twelve residents.

J.C. Gurley was appointed by City Council as Asst. Civil Defense Director.

A public hearing date was set for September 8, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. for the proposed budget for the fiscal year of 1975-1976.

LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS OFFERED SEAFAIR BOOTHS

A bumper sticker advertising the Rockport SeaFair is presented to Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., left, by Bill Christian, general chairman of the October community festival.

A concerted drive is underway to sign up organizations and individuals for exhibit and refreshment booths at Rockport's first annual SeaFair scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11 and 12 in Navigation Park adjacent to the ski basin and Aransas Bay, according to Bill Christian, chairman of the planning committee for the community celebration.

Peggy Block and Dusty Smith, co-chairmen with Bill Janecek for activities in the park, have been mailing letters of invitation, offering booth space in which seafood specialties may be sold, as well as booths for display and sale of marine-oriented handicraft items.

Food items will be limited to seafood and related products such as hush puppies and corn on the cob. Beer and soft drinks also will be sold. Normal booth rental will be $25 although sea food vendors will pay 20 per cent of their sales, to include the $25 minimum, to SeaFair management.

Christian pointed out that the SeaFair is not designed to make money but merely pay expenses. However, he said the sea food booths provide an opportunity for various local organizations to make money while contributing to the success of the community celebration.

He suggested that organizations or individuals who would like to have a booth but have not yet been contacted, get in touch with Mrs. Block at 729-

CPA Firm to be District Auditor

R.D. Mosier, Jr., who has been auditor of Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District for the past five years, resigned effective Sept. 30, the end of the District's fiscal year, at a meeting of the District's board of directors at the county courthouse Aug. 5.

Appointed to replace him was the Aransas Pass CPA firm of Porter and Frazier whose office happens to be located in the Aransas County section of the neighboring city. Porter and Frazier will take over District accounting responsibilities Oct. 1 at the same fee -- $100 a month -- which has been paid Mosier. Jim Porter, partner in the firm, attended last week's meeting of the boards.

Mosier said the press of other business responsibilities made it necessary for him to resign as auditor for the District. He has been associated with the District almost since its inception, first as a special consultant and later as auditor.

The District board accepted Mosier's resignation with regret and passed a resolution of commendation for his long service with the Aransas County organization.

The board accepted the bid of First National Bank of Rockport to serve as official depository for District funds for the next two years. A bid also was received from Live Oak State Bank.

All directors of the District were present at last week's meeting, including Willeen Schmidt, Thomas L. Morgan, J.H. von Pein, John P. Mitchell, Jr., David H. Crooks and Jack McDavid, president. end, as well as the third annual Summer Fun Mixed Doubles tennis tournament at the Rockport Racquet Club July 19 and 20 were named Bicentennial events.

When federal designation of Rockport as a Bicentennial Community is received it is planned to have a flag-raising ceremony at city hall for the official Bicentennial flag which will accompany the official designation, according to Dr. Shaw.

Tentative plans for this event include several brief talks on the significance of the Bicentennial observance and possibly a summary of community activities planned for the Rockport area during the anniversary year.

SeaFair Booths—

0861. Christian said 27 different kinds or combinations of seafood have been listed by the committee as possibilities for booths.

In addition to the food, drink and marine handicraft booths, there will be special exhibits of marine-related products and activities. Some of the possibilities include displays by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Power Squadron and possbibly the U.S. Coast Guard, as well as displays of mounted fish and antique outboard motors.

The Rockport Art Association is planning a mini art show with paintings and other art objects limited to marine subjects. Requests for booth and other exhibit space are beginning to come in and the number to be included in the festival depends on requests. Booths will be close to the water and facing it so visitors and workers in the booths will have an unobstructed view of activities on the water such as a casting contest, ski show and boat parade. There also is a possibility of an exhibition of retriever dogs working from the shoreline, Christian said.

A street adjacent to the festival grounds is being resurfaced to prepare it for the street dance scheduled for Saturday night. This event will be sponsored by the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association.

One of the SeaFair promotional projects is a September weekend gathering of editors -- hopefully travel and outdoors editors -- from newspapers throughout Texas including Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Corpus Christi and from cities in the Rio Grande Valley as well as smaller communities in the area. Television and radio program directors also would be invited.

The plan is to entertain these people and to acquaint them with plans for SeaFair with the expectation that they would spread the word through their media. They would be guests at local motels, taken on a fishing trip and supplied with background information on SeaFair.

Editorial

The other day a motorist parked on a downtown Rockport street was seen to hop out of her car, scoop up a discarded drink can lying in the street and dump it into a litter bag in her car.

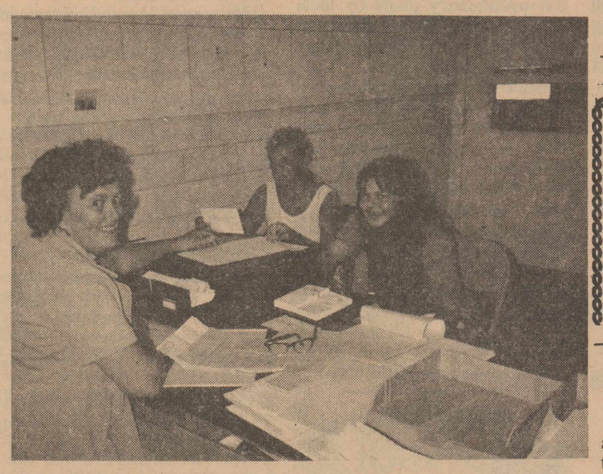

An impressed passerby stopped and congratulated the woman on her public spirited action. The motorist, obviously pleased, thanked the pedestrian and said she made it a practice never to litter herself and to dispose of litter left by others whenever possible.

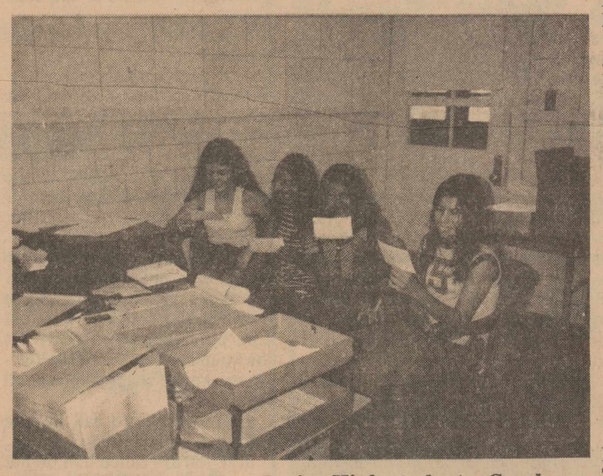

Probably there has been some improvement in littering in this area in the past couple of years but it has by no means been corrected.

Merchant-sponsored trash containers scattered about Rockport's downtown area have helped. State laws assessing fines of up to $400 for dumping garbage or trash of any kind on public or private lands or in private or public waters, together with enforcement efforts of county and city law officers have resulted in some reduction in littering. There have been a number of arrests convictions and fines, but it is impossible to apprehend all or even most offenders.

Probably the most effective, long-range way to cure our public littering disease is to follow the example of the Rockport motorist who is quietly conducting her own personal anti-littering campaign by not littering herself and trying to make up for the callous indifference of others.

report that persons using the rifle range at the Airport had shot out Central Power & Light lights and Airport lights. The Court delayed action pending further investigation of other available sites.

Came on for discussion a request by Ray Boone to lease airport radar site now under fence by him. A suggestion was made that 1 year lease be granted with 60 or 90 day option at consideration of $1.00 per year. Matter left pending until Mr. Boone could be contacted.

Motion was made by Commissioner Eller to rescind order giving the County Judge authority to sign Aransas County checks per the request made by John D. Wendell, County Judge.

Motion was seconded by Commissioner Longino and carried unanimously.

Letter was read from Sheriff Robert Hewes in regard to conditions of jail in regard to New Law H.B. #272. Reasonable variances may be included by law. The Sheriff suggested that the Court take no action until jail inspection is held and the variances are decided upon.

Rockport Man Dies in Crash

Port Lavaca -- A Rockport man was killed and his wife critically injured in a car-truck collision on Highway 35 approximately 500 feet from U.S. Highway 87 late Monday, August 4.

Carl V. Shaver, 65, Rockport, was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital at 5:12 p.m.

Faye Kraft Shaver, 58, was given emergency treatment for multiple head and chest injuries and transferred to Citizens Memorial Hospital in Victoria.

The accident was reported to the police at 5 p.m. Police Chief Gene Durrant, who directed the investigation, reported the truck was traveling east on Highway 35 by-pass. The driver lost control of the vehicle when the flatbed jack-knifed on the rain slick pavement onto the path of the oncoming small, compact car, traveling south toward Tivoli, he said.

Upon impact, the car, driven by Mrs. Shaver, struck the flatbed broadside and ran under it, he said.

Members of the Volunteer Fire Department used the hydraulic jaws to free the victims from the demolished car.

The truck, owned by Daily Truck Lines of Bay City, received damages to the flatbed.

The victims were brought to the hospital by Port Lavaca Funeral Home and Richardson's ambulances.

The body of Mr. Shaver was transferred to Marshall Funeral Home in Aransas Pass for funeral services and burial.

This marks the fourth car-truck collision on Highway 35 by-pass area within the past two week. -- Victoria News Service.

WHEN FLEAS COME TO CALL INSPECT FIDO'S BED

If an infestation of fleas suddenly turns up in your home chances are they were brought in by a pet, according to D.P. Pawlik, San Patricio & Aransas County Extension Agent.

The likeliest source of infestation and the best place to begin eliminating the reddish brown insect pest is in the animal's bedding.

Animal quarters and bedding should be cleaned frequently with 0.5 per cent diazinon or five per cent malathion sprays for effective control and to prevent reinfestation by fleas. Five per cent carbaryl (sevin) or four to five per cent malathion dusts are also effective either in disinfecting the area or when applied directly to the animal.

Animals should be dusted about every two weeks or as necessary. However, carbaryl should not be used on cats under four weeks, Pawlik cautioned. Commercial flea powders containing rotenone and other ingredients are also effective.

Infestations in homes can be eliminated by thoroughly vacuuming furniture, floor crevices, baseboards and similar areas where fleas may hide. The area should then be treated with commercial household sprays containing deodorized malathion, diazinon or chlordane. Be sure to follow all label precautions when using chemicals inside the home.

In addition to causing discomfort and annoyance, certain fleas are important in transmission of diseases. Some species serve as intermediate hosts for dog and cat tapeworms.

The dark, wingless, flat body of the flea is flattened and is ideally shaped for easy movement among the hairs on its host's body. Its long legs are adapted to jumping. Fleas have four developmental stages in their life cycle but only the adult stage is parasitic. Eggs are laid either on or off the host and hatch in two days. The tiny, white, worm-like larvae feed on dead animal and vegetable matter in cracks and crevices. The life cycle can range from 18 days to 20 months or longer. The adult flea must feed on blood to reproduce, however, adults can live long periods without feeding.

ROCKPORT VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPT. MEETS

The Rockport Volunteer Fire Department met Thursday night, August 7.

The meeting was called to order by Chief Edward Truelove with 20 men answering the roll call.

Roy Ward was voted in the department as a new member.

A committee reported that No. 3 truck was out of commission and will be repaired immediately.

The Chief warns young members of the department that no one under 18 years of age are allowed to drive the fire trucks to fires.

Cakes for refreshments were furnished by Teresa Howland and Judy Kelly.

HELP CHILDREN LEARN

College Station -- Parents and environment are the greatest influences on a child's mental development, Mrs. Ilene Miller, family life education specialist, said this week.

"A parent can make learning fun and challenging if he has some insight into how children grow and develop, and if he is willing to provide the help and encouragement a child needs."

This specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, pointed out that children expand and refine their mental skills through daily experiences.

"Learning to observe and to remember are some of the first mental skills a young child develops. Later he learns to compare objects and can distinguish between likenesses and differences.

"As a child matures, he learns to group items, ideas and information that have something in common--for example, bananas and lemons are both yellow fruits. Even more difficult mental skills to master are the abilities to solve problems and make choices," she explained.

It takes time and repeated experiences for a child to develop these mental skills. Children need opportunities to explore their environment and to seek their own solutions. They need some freedom to explore and learn how things work.

Parents can help by keeping the environment safe for children to explore, Mrs. Miller said.

"Remove dangerous household items, which could cause injury or death for young explorers. Put valuable breakable items out of a youngster's reach until he is old enough to leave them alone."

Being naturally curious, children ask endless questions. Parents who take time to answer questions simply and honestly help promote learning.

"Even questions that seem foolish to an adult are important to a child. Taking time to listen to and talk with children about their experiences, ideas and feeling helps a child to learn," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary Sunday, August 10 with a dinner at the home of their children, Romaine and Ceylon Ammons.

Those attending were Mrs. Smith's sisters, Mrs. Henry Faktor,, Tynan; Mrs. Ann Thiele, Skidmore; Mrs. J. R. Petrus, Odem; and Audrey Bennet, Rockport.

They were married in Corpus Christi August 10, 1913. They have been living in Rockport since 1936.

Veterans News

Q -- May the headstone for my husband's grave in a private cemetery be replaced? It was originally furnished by the government and has been badly damaged.

A -- Yes, but it must be at other than government expense. Stolen headstones or those illegible because of deterioration may be replaced at government expense. VA Form 40-1330, available at VA regional offices, should be completed with notation "replacement" and, accompanied with a cover letter giving reason for replacement, mailed to Director, National Cemetery System (42), VA Central Office, 810 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420.

Q -- Is a veteran entitled to an increase in his VA compensation when he is hospitalized in a private hospital for more than 21 days for treatment for a service-connected disability?

A -- Yes, if the Veterans Administration has been timely notified of his admission to the private hospital and medical evidence is received showing treatment for his service-connected condition.

Q -- I am a Vietnam veteran enrolled in a trade school. Would I be eligible for the nine additional months of education benefits included in the Vietnam-era Veterans Readjustment Act of 1974?

A -- No. The nine-month extension is intended principally for veterans or in-service students who have exhausted their 36 months' entitlement in pursuit of an undergraduate degree.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Summer vacations still have a few weeks to go, but many parents already are thinking about fall and getting their youngsters ready for entrance into school for the first time.

One thing they'll need, reminds the Texas Department of Health Resources, is a certified copy of a birth certificate.

To some parents, the start of school is old hat, but parents whose first-born are starting school the first time may be a bit bewildered by the excitement of it all.

That's why the Department of Health Resources (formerly the State Health Department) advises parents to get the birth certificate chore behind them--while there is time.

This fall there will be approximately 220,000 new first graders in the schools throughout Texas, and proof of age is necessary for the first-timers. Total public school enrollment is expected to reach some 2.8 million children as the school population continues to grow.

Anticipating the rush of birth certificate requests, the Records and Statistics Section of the Texas Department of Health Resources has been prepared for it. Requests already are pouring in.

It takes a sizeable staff just to open the thousands of letters received daily, let alone search out a requested certificate, remove it from the thick volume, make a certified copy, mail it out and then return the original certificate to its proper place.

Years of experience have eliminated nearly every bottleneck. The operation is smooth and fast. Usually the copy is mailed within 3 or 4 days after the request is received.

One bottleneck still remaining, however, is the individual who makes the last-minute request. Parents are requested to stop now and write for a certified copy of the birth certificate, or contact either the city registrar where the child was born or the county clerk in the county of birth.

In most cases it is an easy matter to make a trip to your county courthouse or registrar and personally request a certified copy of a birth certificate. The county clerk's office has birth records on file, as well as countless other documents.

If you write the Texas Department of Health Resources, Bureau of Vital Statistics, the address is 410 East Fifth St., Austin, Texas, 78701. Be sure to include the child's name, his place of birth, the date of birth, and names of the parents, including the mother's maiden name. The State Health Department fee for a certified copy of the birth certificate is $2.

Filing of birth certificates is just one function of the Records and Statistics Section of the Department of Health Resources. Records also are kept of deaths, diseases and other public health information.

There are approximately 13 ½ million birth certificates on file in the state office, and the tabulation of birth certificates is a never--ending process. Last year, for example, there were more than 221,000 live births recorded in Texas.

Largest number of live births for Texas in one year was recorded in 1957. That year 249,567 babies were born alive in Texas, and their births are recorded in the Records and Statistics Section.

Just maintaining records of current births and deaths is a mammoth task. In order to do this, the statewide system includes 1,000 local registration officials who collect these records. All of these must be carefully indexed to expedite the hundreds of thousands of searches that must be made each year to process applications for birth verifications and certification.

This sounds complicated, and it is. But to a person who needs a birth certificate for a passport or to prove the age of a child entering school, it is a vital service.

Not only are these records helpful to you and necessary for legal proof in many instances, but they furnish, as a group, information of great value to the state. To best use this wealth of statistics, data is transferred from records to magnetic tapes and a computer converts these into tabulations. From these charts and reports come information enabling staff statisticians to read and interpret the very pulse of the state's health.

GI GETS APOLOGY

HANAU, WEST GERMANY --Army Spec. 4 Ralph A. Miller has received a refund and an apology from the Internal Revenue Service for a tax bill of $128,494.33. The 25-year-old soldier had already paid $1,299 tax on his Army pay of $9,180.

Samford - Sanders Unite

Miss Brenda Kay Sanders and David L. Samford were united in marriage Saturday night, July 26 at the Church of Christ. Benny Horton, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Eva Brinkman and the late J.C. Sanders, Sr. The groom is the son of Geraldine Samford and late George Samford of San Antonio.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Jerry Sanders.

She chose a V-neck gown made of double knit with an overlay of embroidered organza with long see through sleeves. Her long floor length veil was trimmed in lace with a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations with a center corsage of white rosebuds trimmed with tiny purple flowers and long white ribbons.

Maid of honor was Bonnie Evans and the bridesmaids were Bettey Wood and Ruth Ann Kowalik, sisters of the bride. They wore floor length dresses of lavender and carried nosegays of white mums and trimmed in lavender.

The groom had as his best man, Kim Lee, of Kerrville.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen table cloth with the bridesmaids bouquets decorating the table. The cake was 3-tiered with each layer decorated with clusters of tiny pastel flowers with sugar bells between each cluster. A bride and groom sat on top of the cake.

Approximately 75 guests attended the wedding. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Alva Samford and Mrs. W.D. Samford of Kerrville, aunts of the groom. His brothers James and George, also of Kerrville, Mr. and Mrs. N.W. Horton of Cotulla, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Kelley and daughter of Port Lavaca.

The couple will be at home here at Rockport.

Wind, Solar Power

In Massachusetts a bill has been introduced in the state legislature to provide tax breaks for the infant wind and solar power industry. The idea is to make profits easy to come by in this new field—and thus spur growth.

The technology is said to be available to offer the public solar or wind energy systems which in some cases (the South) can heat or cool homes sufficiently and in others reduce conventional power bills by an estimated fifty per cent.

The idea is sound and both states and the federal government should provide incentives to the new industry. There is ample precedent; for years the oil industry was subsidized—by limiting foreign oil imports, holding up prices and through the depletion allowance.

Convenience Food With 'Eat-a-peel'

College Station -- Mother Nature's "convenience foods" have a peel you can eat.

Many fresh vegetables actually taste best raw -- try cucumbers, sweet peppers and onions this way, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, suggested this week.

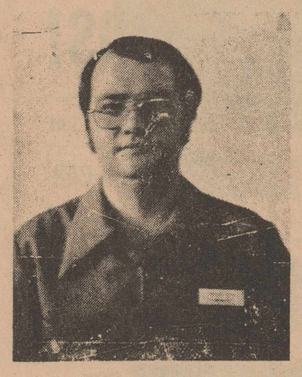

"Tasty young carrots can be eaten peel and all -- just rinse well, cut off the stem end and the tip of the root. Another vegetable in the 'eat-a-peel' category is summer squash. Just wash and slice," this specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

No cooking needed for cabbage and head lettuce either, when they're washed in cold water for a minute, then cut in wedges, chop or break coarsely and serve as a salad.

"Sweet corn is a quick cooker when dunked in a kettle of boiling water. And tomato halves, seasoned and buttered, will broil in two or three minutes.

EVERYONE WELCOME!!! This is at the recreational building at the airport. Fifty cents per person.

A community profile on Rockport was published in The Chamber Corner in our previous column. Continuing in this vein and quoting a serious social and economic analyst who has brought us factual statistics, we find pleasure in recommending the following for informative reading. We think you will like yourselves, Rockport and America better when you see yourselves as you really are!

"The Real America," written by Ben J. Wattenberg, reveals surprising statistics in a U.S. census, public opinion polls, market, industry and academic surveys. To quote excepts: Real family income, after inflation, has doubled in a generation. Fringe benefits - job equities that don't show up in pay envelopes - advanced from $23.4 billion in 1960 to $78.7 billion in 1972, and they're still growing. In 1959 a fifth of all Americans were living in poverty. Now the total is half of that. Between 1960 and 1970 people on the bottom rung gained 0.6 percent in their income, while those on the top rung lost 2.2 percent. In 1952 there were 202,000 households with incomes of $25,000 or more. Twenty years later there were 4,225,000. Progress other than material gains quoted by Wattenburg are: "College enrollment in 1960 - 3.6 million. 1973 - 8.6 million. Approximately 60 percent of today's college students are from families with head of household never completing one year of college. Among blacks, the figure is 80 percent.

"Americans start working later, work fewer hours and have earlier retirement." Author's conclusion: "The hand-wringers have been deploring the sad state of America while we have become 'the first massive majority middle class society in history.' What is this society doing with its hard-earned money? It is not frittered away," states Wattenberg. "The faster risers in family spending are on education, health, recreation and housing. Among the slower risers are cosmetics, alcohol and jewelry. Broad spending trends have been commonsencical and worthwhile, utilizing great amount of discretion with this vast increase of income over that last decade."

In digesting data of two decades, he sketches his heroes as resourceful, adaptable, independent -- and a chronic complainer. His prediction for the future: "Americans will continue to complain about their lot and go right on progressing."

With the progress Rockport alone is making - we think we might surprise the author and even quit complaining!!!

USE LEMONS FOR TASTE, DECORATION

College Station -- Next time you squeeze a lemon for juice, don't throw away the empty halves. Use them as a lemon boat or container for sauces, ice cream or jelly, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt suggests.

"The half can be frozen and used when needed. Store in a plastic bag in the freezer for future use," the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, said.

When using a strip of lemon peel in hot tea, be sure to twist it first. This releases a bit of lemon oil for a distinctive flavor.

Grated lemon peel is even more versatile. Store extra peel in plastic bags in the freezer. Use to garnish cakes, puddings, sauces. Or sprinkle it over a bowl of tossed salad for instant zip, the specialist suggested.

"An average lemon yields about three teaspoons of grated peel. Extra peel can be used to make lemon sugar.

"Grate four teaspoons of lemon peel. Add to one-half cup sugar. Use this lemon sugar to sprinkle into iced or hot tea, over crepes, pancakes and other sweets."

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By BILL HOBBY

Austin -- The last two articles of the proposed Constitution to be voted on November 4 concern general provisions and methods of amending the document.

Many of the general provisions are the same in the revised charter. However, there are some notable differences.

Protection of the environment is established as a state policy and the Legislature is directed to implement and enforce this policy.

The new Constitution also would require that the beaches on the seaward shore of the Gulf of Mexico and the coastal submerged lands be held in perpetual trust. It guarantees the use and benefit of the beaches to the public and requires that access to them be provided.

The general provisions article maintains the community property system, but defines separate and community property in terms of both spouses, not just the wife as the present Constitution does. It permits the spouses to change community property into separate property and to create a right of survivorship in community property.

The protection of homesteads from forced sale is continued in the new document. It would permit the Legislature to increase the value of urban homesteads and would allow liens on non-residential homesteads, neither of which is authorized by the present Constitution.

The new charter would prohibit foreign banks and branch banking in Texas just as the present Constitution. However, it would provide for the Legislature to regulate bank holding companies, which is not provided for in the present charter.

A new provision would prohibit discrimination against handicapped persons. Another new provision would establish adequate health care for every resident as a state policy.

Article XI contains two new provisions for modifying the Constitution.

One would allow the Legislature to submit to the people the question of whether to call a limited or unlimited constitutional convention upon a two-thirds vote of each house.

Another provision requires that the question of whether to call a constitutional convention be submitted to the voters at least once very 30 years.

In recent weeks, I have reported to you only on some of the high points of the proposed new Constitution. I hope every voter will take the time to study the document thoroughly before November 4.

Texas Offers Garden Spots

College Station -- Summer is vacation time, and Texas offers a wide variety of attractions, including many public gardens and landscaped areas.

"These gardens are not only refreshing and attractive to look at, but may also provide the homeowner with good ideas for use in his own home landscape development," points out Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"While in Houston many people find the landscaping at the city zoo of special interest as well as the city arboretum and extensive gardens at Bayou Bend.

"San Antonio also has a beautifully landscaped zoo that is attractive to people of all ages as is the exotic River Walk development along the San Antonio River.

"Plantings along the boulevard of Ocean Drive in Corpus Christi are beautiful and immaculately maintained.

"The Fort Worth Botanic Garden with its new Japanese Gardens is a popular site in that area.

"Six Flags has a great deal to interest those who appreciate good landscaping," notes Welch.

For gardeners interested in annual flowers, Texas A&M University maintains large plantings of many named annuals in their Floral Test Gardens on the main campus at College Station.

El Paso maintains an interesting city arboretum, and lovers of cactus and desert-type plants enjoy the collection maintained at Langtry near Judge Roy Bean's famous court.

At the other end of the state, Tyler has well maintained parks featuring their famous roses.

"Almost every area of the state has gardens and landscaped areas of interest," contends the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Take time to look them over and come home refreshed and full of new ideas on making your home landscape development more interesting and enjoyable for you and your family."

BE SURE HOME CANNING JARS SEAL

College Station -- If you preserved foods in "loud mouth" jars that keep "talking" all year on the pantry shelf, help is at hand to prevent it happening again.

Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, pointed out these "talking jars often spell spoilage.

She cited reasons jars don't seal and suggested some solutions.

--Small particles of food left on rim of jar.

--Sealing compound or lid doesn't seal.

Remedy: Lids may be old. Usually, they last five years. Some may have a year date on them, such as 1-75, to indicate the lid was manufactured in the first quarter of 1975 and should be used before the end of the first quarter of 1980. It's a good idea to mark date of purchase on the box of lids.

--Bent or rusty rings.

Remedy: Bent or rusty rings can cause the lids not to seal properly. Always remove rings when jars have cooled thoroughly and seals are tested.

Rings are necessary for the processing, but are not needed after the seal is made. Rings left on can rust and become difficult to remove--so store them in a dry place in a container that prevents them from being bent out of shape.

Examine rings before the start of each canning season and discard rusty or bent ones. Never use lids more than once, because they are designed for a one-time seal.

--Rings screwed on "too tight" or "too loose."

Remedy: Rings which are screwed too tightly on the jar do not allow space for venting (escape of air from the jar). This makes pressure build up in the jar, causing the lid--and sometimes even the top of the ring--to buckle.

Rings not screwed on tightly enough will not seal, because the compound is not pressed firmly enough against the top of the jar.

This specialist said that the main point to remember is to follow manufacturer's directions. Do not use lid tighteners recommended for zinc caps. Two-piece lids don't require tighteners, she said.

Consumer Food News

"Bananas are always in season--and cost about the same as they did 20 years ago," Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, said this week.

"If you consider the increase in wages during the last two decades, this means bananas really cost less than half as much today in terms of real income," she continued.

Mrs. Clyatt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, said bananas must be picked when green, because, if allowed to ripen on the plant, they split open and are tasteless.

"Smaller families may find it more convenient to buy bananas a bit on the green side and let them ripen gradually.

"Select those that are plump, unblemished and bright in appearance, as a dull-looking banana often won't ripen properly."

Other fruit choices this week include peaches, nectarines and plums. Also, cantaloupe, honeydew melons, watermelons, cherries, grapes and pineapples.

Fluid milk and dairy products are in adequate supply, with nonfat dry milk in heavy supply due to reduced cheese production.

NEW MEMBER OF AWSCPA

Mrs. Kay Sparks Kubelka, Houston, Texas, has been voted Membership in the American Woman's Society of Certified Public Accountants by its Board of Directors.

The AWSCPA, a national society, was formed in 1933 to advance the professional interest of women certified public accountants and encourages their participation in other technical accounting organizations.

Mrs. Kubelka obtained her B.B.A. degree at Texas A & I University. She is presently on the staff of Leo Womack & Company, Houston, Texas.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Wanda E. Sparks of this city.

Staying Young

We all grow older, inevitably; the process cannot be arrested.

And yet, in a sense, we can stay young. It takes will power and positive thinking, and perhaps luck as far as health is concerned. But most of us can do it. We CAN stay young.

There is a secret. And there are rules. The rules include watching one's diet, so one doesn't accumulate unnecessary fat.

Another is to exercise regularly. We must keep muscles in tone, keep our bodies and body movements graceful and attractive. Too many of us fail to heed the rule for exercise, which can be fun, and is all-important.

The secret is state of mind. We must constantly remind ourselves to remain young in thought and spirit.

HEAT, AGE AFFECT EGG QUALITY

College Station -- Texas summers are hot, and it's during these times that egg producers must keep a close check on their operations to protect egg quality.

"Excessive heat is the leading factor to reduced egg quality," points out Marshall Miller, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"During the summer months, eggs should be gathered more frequently, at least once more each day than during the remainder of the year. And they should be stored at temperatures ranging from 50 to 55 degrees F. Eggs should be marketed two to three times a week."

In hot weather, producers should give prime consideration to getting eggs from the nest to the consumer in the shortest amount of time, points out the Texas A & M University System specialist, since eggs age quickly in warm temperatures. Of course, rapid movement of eggs into market channels is always good policy, contends Miller.

"If it's necessary to hold eggs longer than normal before moving them into retail channels, lower the cooling temperature into the 30's or 40's," advises the specialist. "It's money well invested."

As far as relative humidity is concerned, Miller recommends that this be kept in the range of 70 to 80 per cent during the time the eggs are being held for shipment. Although relative humidity is not a great factor when eggs are marketed within a few days, it must be given some consideration in the more arid regions of the state.

ADULT PROBATION OFFICER SPEAKS AT ROTARY CLUB

If properly applied and operated, the system of probation for persons convicted of crime can be much more effective in rehabilitating the individual than if he is sent to a correctional institution, according to Don Cureton, Aransas County adult probation officer, who spoke at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club Aug. 6 at Sandollar restaurant. He added that probation is much less expensive than confinement to prison, pointing out that it costs $1,100 a year per convict in prison compared with $150 a year per probationer.

Cureton has been county adult probation officer since February, 1975, when the program was established in Live Oak, McMullen, San Patricio and Aransas Counties. Cureton explained the difference between probation and parole, the former being for certain convicted criminals who are not sent to prison but whose sentence is suspended and they are put under supervision of a county parole officer for a specified period with specific conditions established by the county or district court in which he has been convicted. On the other hand, parole is granted individuals who have served a part of their prison terms and are granted an early release under supervision of a parole officer. This program is administered at the state level, he added.

To be eligible for probation a person convicted of a crime must never have been convicted previously of a felony and the court must feel that probation will be more effective in his rehabilitation than a term in prison. At the time of probation the court sets some 14 conditions which must not be violated under threat of probation revocation. Common probation conditions include regular visits to the probation officer, remaining in the community, getting and keeping a job, supporting dependents, and staying away from places with an unsavory reputation, according to Cureton.

Some advantages of probation are remaining in a home environment, better supervision of probationer's conduct, financial support for family, fewer social repercussions for the probationer such as the stigma of an ex-convict, possible financial restitution for the victim of the crime and lesser costs for taxpayers, he asserted.

Cureton reported there are 79 persons convicted of felonies on probation in Aransas County at present, and 28 on misdedeanor probation. Seventy per cent of them are Anglos, 25 per cent Mexican-Americans and 5 per cent blacks. Ninety-nine per cent of them are males.

Average age of all probationers is 23 to 24. It is Cureton's opinion that 18 to 25 age bracket is the most difficult time for most young people with reference to crime.

Among felony probationers in this county, 79 have been convicted of either burglary or theft. Drug related offenses account for 10 offenders and forgery six. Of the 28 misdemeanor probationers, 13 were convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol, and nine for possession of marijuana. Probation has been revoked for four this year, he reported.

Cureton urged residents of the community to help make the Aransas County probation program a success doing what they can to help those on probation by encouraging them and offering them jobs whenever possible.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

We live in the country and have two children--both of whom are married and have homes and children of their own. They live in the city and love to come out to visit us.

Now, Louisa, my problem is this--we love to have the children come but my husband and I have lived very simply since the children left and we have enough to live comfortably on but I cannot afford help as it is so expensive these days.

The children never let us know when they are coming and it is sometimes quite a problem to get up a meal for six people on the spur of the moment. And then they never stay long enough to help clean up.

What can I do? If I say anything it may make for hard feelings and keep them from coming which I would hate. What would you do under these circumstances?

Granny--Ga.

Answer:

Children have a way for taking their parents for granted and it has probably never occurred to them that they should call before they come for a meal and offer to help afterwards.

Why not tell them that you would appreciate their calling you when they plan a visit so you can prepare things ahead of time. In this way you would have more time to enjoy their visit.

After the meal suggest that all of them give you a hand with the dishes etc., as many hands make light work.

You may not have as many visits after that but I am sure they will be more enjoyable ones.

Louisa.

SSI Benefits For Women

Local social security officials believe there may be hundreds of women in the Coastal Bend area who are eligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) but have not filed for these benefits.

Dora Fernandez Shelton, operations supervisor in the Corpus Christi social security office, says recent claims patterns indicate most new SSI claims are filed by women who did not know about the program until now. Mrs. Shelton is also Federal Women's Program Coordinator for the social security district.

Despite the wide publicity about SSI by the media, there apparently still are many elderly people who do not know about the program, she said.

Typical eligibles are widows who live in their own household and whose only income is social security or other monthly benefits in an amount less than $177.70. They also must not have resources of over $1500.00 (bank accounts, savings accounts, property - but not including a home and car of reasonable value -, etc.).

Entitlement to SSI also makes the recipient eligible for hospital and medical benefits under Medicaid, a State program administered by the State Department of Public Welfare. These benefits are often worth more than the SSI check, Mrs. Shelton said.

Potentially entitled women (over 65 or totally disabled) can obtain information by calling their nearest social security office. In Corpus Christi the number to call is 992-1201. Mrs. Shelton advises that family members, friends and neighbors of possible eligible SSI beneficiaries should ask them if they know about SSI.

NURSING HOME NEWS

Things at the Center in Aransas Pass got off to a very good beginning last week with our "Sing Along" on Monday afternoon.

Then several evenings last week the Jerry Ravels and Alfred Zabel played and they all sang the "oldies." This type of program is very much enjoyed by the residents.

Of course, we begin every day with our exercise and kickball program.

Tuesday afternoon the Ingleside Rebekahs were over for their game day.

Wednesday norning the ladies from Central Baptist Church of Ingleside as well as some of the ladies from Portland Baptist Church came over for the Flana-graph board program which they use to illustrate stories from the Bible. It is sort of like a show and tell program.

Wednesday afternoon Bonnie Fletcher was out for our paint class which our ladies sure look forward to doing.

Thursday morning the Pentecostal Church group let by Bro. Alton Pruitt were here for their weekly program.

Friday evening Bro. Wayne Jones of Aransas Pass Church of Christ came out to show films of the Bible.

The Catholic priest was out Saturday morning to give communion to all of our Catholic residents.

Sunday morning church services were held led by Rev. Al Bankert. We had a good turnout for this service.

Sunday afternoon First Assembly of God Church of Aransas Pass, led by Mrs. Bonnie Hall, were here with a very inspiring program. Special songs were sung by Bonnie's daughters along with Kathy Hahn at the piano. Kathy is from Portland and has become a good friend to all of us. Also Mrs. Velma Roberts was on hand to sing.

Our special guests for Bonnie's program were Bro. and Mrs. Jim Daniels. Bro. Jim is in charge of the "Youth Outreach" program in Corpus Christi.

Other guests were also present and we had a beautiful service.

We would like to thank Effie Northam, who represents the Ingleside Garden Club, for bringing us two more pot plants for our patio.

Also, Effie Northam and Myra Billingsley, from the Golden Age Club of Ingleside, brought us about forty pair of knit slippers.

We do love and appreciate these acts of kinkness you all do here for my "little people." A special thanks to Mary Crow for the nice robes and pajamas she gave to us.

Mrs. May Newberry brought us out some books and they are always welcome. Thank you, May.

In case we have overlooked anyone who does come out and make our home a more wonderful place to live, we say thanks to all. See you next week.

Bridal Shower

Miss Matye Beth Gilley was honored with a bridal shower Thursday, August 7, at the reception room of Rockport First Baptist Church. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Laithy Harris, Mrs. M.D. McNorton, Mrs. Seth Steele, Mrs. Elgin Diety, Mrs. Simon Sorenson and Mrs. Philip D. Baldwin.

Local Sailors Win Trophies

Four Rockport-owned sailboats won places in the annual sailing race from Corpus Christi to Rockport Saturday. The race was sponsored by the Corpus Christi Yacht Club and Rockport Sailing Club.

Three of the local winners were in the open cruising class. They were Geary Startzell sailing the "Karen-K" who took first place in the class with Travis Bailey's "Facynce" coming in second. Fourth place winner was Walt Foster's "Teal." Walter Black's "Blue Bonnet" was third in the Catalina 22 class.

Other Rockport boats competing were Mark Watson's "Quine Sabe," Dick Harington's "Tabasco," Scott Adler's "Schalzi," Jim Garrison's "Jubilation," Wells Morse's "Big Red," and Warren Gerdine's "Karama."

A total of 57 sailboats took part in the race, which started at 10:30 a.m. Saturday just outside the Corpus Christi harbor, proceeded out the ship channel to Port Aransas and then north to Rockport and Key Allegro by way of Lydia Ann channel. The last boats arrived at Rockport about sundown.

In addition to Open Cruising and Catalina 22, four other classes of boats competed in the race, including Ocean Racing Fleet, Midget Ocean Racing Fleet, Columbia 22 and Ranger 23.

Trophies for first, second and third place in each class were presented at a dinner Saturday night at Key Allegro Community Building with some 150 sailors and members of their families attending.

The Corpus Christi boats remained in Rockport overnight, returning home Sunday in a colorful marine parade Sunday morning, many of them by way of the Intracoastal Waterway. Competing boats from Rockport made the trip to Corpus Christi Friday for the start of the race the next day.

In recognition of the growing interest in sailing in the Rockport area the local sailing club is sponsoring an informal Sunfish class race for beginners every Saturday at 6 p.m. starting at the Key Allegro docks. It is reported that as many as 15 of the diminutive boats participate each week. It is estimated that there are at least 200 Sunfish sailboats in this area.

Just about anyone can tell you how the election is coming out in November.

PUBLIC NOTICES
"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

USDA Announces Time for Gov. Comments on Their Stamp Plans

State governors have 45 days to comment on plans and amendments that are submitted by states participating in the Food Stamp Program, according to a new regulation announced today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The new regulation provides a 45-day opportunity for each state governor or his delegated agency to review the relationship of food stamp plans and amendments to other state plans and programs. State agencies will then send the Governors' comments to USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), along with the state plans and amendments when they are submitted for approval.

The proposal is in line with requirements of Office of Management and Budget and is similar to regulations that have been adopted by other federal agencies.

FNS received seven comments on the regulation after it was published for a 30 day public comment period on March 6. Six of those comments were in favor of the regulation, and one was not in favor. The final regulation will be published in the Federal Register of August 7 and will be effective immediately upon publication.

Social Security Deposit Plan Is Popular with Retirees

Scores of local Social Security recipients have arranged during the past week to have their monthly checks deposited by the government directly to their checking or savings account at First National Bank, according to R.D. Mosier, Jr., executive vice president and comptroller.

"We were pleased with the response to a notice enclosed with July Social Security checks explaining the advantages of this plan. In addition, First National has been running a series of newspaper advertisements for the past several weeks describing the plan," Mosier said.

Monday, Aug. 3, after most Social Security checks arrived, three receptionists in the bank lobby were kept busy virtually full time explaining the plan and helping customers complete the simple form requesting direct deposits. Scores of authorizations were completed that day and requests have continued at a steady pace since then, Mosier added.

Both the federal government notice and the bank's advertisements explained that direct deposits were more convenient, saving time and effort required to make a trip to the bank to deposit or cash the check. Also it was pointed out that the plan eliminates possible loss of the check or having it stolen. Another advantage is that the money becomes immediately available when a recipient is away from home and the check goes directly into a bank account.

In its advertisements First National also pointed out that a Social Security check deposited directly in a First National Savings account starts earning interest from the first day. The bank mails a duplicate deposit slip to the owner the day the check is received.

Mosier explained that a direct deposit authorization form (SF-1199) may be completed at the bank at any time. It is not necessary to wait until the next check is received. While the form authorizes direct deposits, it does not authorize withdrawals of any kind. Further, it may be cancelled at any time.

In addition to the many direct deposit authorizations completed at the bank in the past few days, many other Social Security recipients previously had authorized the direct deposit of their checks. At that time it was required that the authorization be renewed each year. The new form eliminates this requirement, remaining in effect unti revoked.

First National is requesting that these customers come in at their convenience and sign the new form. The forms have been prepared for them in advance and require only signatures, Mosier said.
