Thieu Succeeds Himself Today For 2nd Term

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu takes the oath of office Sunday for a second four-year term, guarded by the most massive security force in Saigon's history.

The outdoor inaugural ceremony was held on an elaborate, flag-draped grandstand in downtown Lam Son Square, directly in front of the National Assembly.

Thieu took the oath of office along with Vice President Tran Van Huong, light a "Torch of Freedom," make his inaugural speech and review a color guard of troops from throughout South Vietnam.

On hand for the ceremony and guarded by the security force were visiting dignitaries from 30 countries, members of the diplomatic corps, government officials and top commanders of the South Vietnamese armed forces.

Among the foreign dignitaries were representatives of all the nations that have contributed troops to South Vietnam during the past six years of the war.

They included Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, President Nixon's personal emissary.

More than 40,000 South Vietnamese troops and police were mobilized as a security force in Saigon and its suburbs. Most were assigned to the downtown area surrounding Lam Son Square.

The inauguration of Thieu to a new term marks the beginning of a critical new era that will determine South Vietnam's ability to survive the accelerated U.S. disengagement.

France, Russia Sign Declaration On Cooperation

PARIS (AP) — France and Russia signed a joint declaration Saturday that promised to make French-Soviet cooperation a "permanent factor in international life."

In a separate communique, they called for a European security conference to be convened next year, urged U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to resume his Middle East peacemaking mission "without delay" and said the "dangerous situation" on the Indian subcontinent should be settled "rapidly."

Mutually praised as a "new step forward" in their relations, the declaration fell short of the friendship treaty Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev wanted when he arrived here last Monday for an official visit, his first to the West.

Nevertheless, the declaration firmly institutionalized the "active collaboration" of France and the Soviet Union and said consultations could be developed into "concerted action" within international bodies.

A French spokesman went to some effort to stress that France's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was not compromised and that the meeting of Brezhnev and President Georges Pompidou had not diminished French ties with West Germany.

Immediately after the signing ceremony in the presidential palace, Brezhnev flew to East Berlin for talks with East German party chief Trich Honecker and Premier Willi Stoph.

Overlobbying Blamed For Program Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House vowed Saturday to press Congress "in the strongest terms" for revival of the foreign-aid program. Sen. George D. Aiken said the administrator should use compromise and cooperation to that end.

And Sen. Edward M. Kennedy accused President Nixon of hypocrisy.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled a closed meeting Monday morning to try to figure out what to do about foreign aid, left in a shambles after the Senate voted 41 to 27 Friday night to kill the whole program.

Vermont's Aiken, senior Republican in the Senate, blamed an overdose of White House lobbying against an end-the-war provision for the defeat of the $2.9-billion authorization bill.

Aiken told reporters that for the sake of restoring the program the administration should now work with members of the Senate who have in the past faced its criticism.

He said a new bill worked out by the administration and Senate leaders of both parties probably could be passed.

Democrat Kennedy said he deplored the Senate vote, but considered it only symbolic, and forecast revival of the program.

"So many vital aid programs are involved that I think the Senate will act quickly to pick up the pieces and put together a decent bill that reflects the best long-run interests of the nation," the Massachusetts senator said in a statement.

Nixon asserted Friday night the Senate vote that killed the aid bill was "a highly irresponsible action."

Kennedy called that Nixon criticism "The most hypocritical of all.

"He appealed to the worst instincts in the Senate and the American people by the way he criticized the United Nations and the vote on China," Kennedy said.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the administration would seek to explain to the nation, and to impress on Congress "the serious ramifications of this action by the Senate.

Nixon conferred by telephone with Senate Republican leaders, and discussed the situation with his national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger.

Ziegler said the administration would accept as a settlement of the foreign aid dilemma a congressional resolution that would continue spending authority at current levels.

Hallowe'en Night Falls On Tonight

Tonight is Halloween and the night for the small fry to make their rounds on the trick-or-treat circuit.

There was some question as to whether it should be observed last night or tonight, which resulted in some confusion.

Police issued the usual warning to be careful in crossing streets and to refrain from vandalism of any type.

A news dispatch from Dondee, Mich., Saturday reported a housewife discovered that three bags of miniature candy bars she had bought for Halloween giveaway contained silver and gold needles stuck into the candy.

Which caused warnings to go out there for a close check on all goodies placed in treat-or-tricksters bags.

Residents were asked to examine all candy before handing it out to children.

At press time local authorities had no reports of vandalism or other incidents related to Halloween pranksters or the trick-or-treat-ers out a night early.

Due to the relative quiet it was felt most spooks and goblins would be out tomorrow night.

NEED $13,750 MORE

United Fund Reaches $80,250; Still Short

Pampa's United Fund reached the $80,500 mark Saturday, according to an official report from Verl Hagaman, general drive chairman.

That was still $13,750 short of the $94,250 goal.

Hagaman said the drive will continue and urged fund solicitors to complete calls on cards they have and file reports.

He also appealed to Pampans who have not been contacted to send in their contributions.

Checks should be made out to the Pampa United Fund and mailed to P.O Box 2076, Pampa, Texas.

Hagaman reported two instances of small, but important, contributions.

One, he said, came from a widow who brought in a $1-bill. She really couldn't afford it, he said, but she had the right spirit and wanted to help.

Another came in the form of a $2 donation from a woman whose husband is ill and the gift probably was a sacrifice on her part.

"I want to help," she said, because I know there are those worse off than we are."

For those who have not yet contributed their fair share to the United Fund, Hagaman said he thought that might give them something to think about.

Cold Front Hits Area; Mercury Dropping To 20's

The second cold front in two days moved into the Texas Panhandle Saturday night and was scheduled to send temperatures into the 20s by early this morning.

The weather forecasters prediction late last night was for fair and cold with Saturday night's temperature dipping into the middle 20s. The outlook was for fair and a little warmer today and Monday with the high today expected to be in the upper 50s. The low tonight should be in the middle 30s. The high Monday is expected in the 60s. Westerly winds 6-15 miles per hour should become light and variable today.

The first chill blast came into the area from the northwest Friday night accompanied by heavy fog and mist with occasional spurts of rain.

The extreme northern part of the Panhandle had some snow but it did not reach as far south as the Pampa area.

The thermometer did hit the freezing mark with 32 degrees for the first time this fall. That was early Saturday morning.

Tito And Wife Visit Houston Space Center

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Yugoslav President said during a tour of the Manned Space craft Center here Saturday he would like to try on a space suit sometime, "but I'll not go up."

The Yugoslav leader made the comment while astronaut Thomas Stafford and MSC Director Robert Gilruth guided him on a tour of Mission Control here. Tito later was to visit the Houston Medical Center and then attend a dinner party hosted by Houston Mayor Louis Welch.

The Houston visit was under extremely tight security with newsmen never allowed near the Yugoslav president. There were several pushing and shoving matches between newsmen and Secret Service agents who were guarding Tito and his wife.

Nixon's Tough Attitude Toward U.N. Not Punitive But Political

By KENNETH J. FREED

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's hardening attitude toward the United Nations appears part of an orchestrated effort to turn a defeat into long-term political and diplomatic gains, not an attempt to punish the world body for expelling Nationalist China.

Administration and diplomatic sources say that while Nixon is disappointed and frustrated over the failure to keep a U.N. seat for Nationalist China he also sees an opportunity for progress toward three goals:

Recovering and re-establishing political strength among the nation's more conservative voters, pushing the U.N. into economic reforms, and breaking the mold of international thinking about American foreign policy.

Ont he first point, the sources say Nationalist China's expulsion has touched off a reaction throughout the nation reflecting a deepfelt concern about the fate of the Taiwan government and suspicion of the United Nations.

Aware that some conservatives, already displeased with his overtures toward Communist China, are considering challenging his leadership, Nixon has moved to pre-empt their issue.

It was with this in mind, sources say, that the President set his strategy in motion, even as the debate was developing the United Nations over the China membership question.

When some members of Congress said early this month that the United States should cut back its aid to the U.N. if Tai-

Manhunt For Robber Spreads To Oklahoma

The Higgins bank bandit who said "it was a hulluva way to make a living" just may have retired from that occupation.

At least this was the opinion of Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan who, like all lawmen in the area, is keeping a wary eye out for the two-gun holdup man who fled Wednesday afternoon with some $15,000 from the First National Bank of Higgins.

Sheriff Jordan explained some of the difficulties facing Lipscomb County Sheriff Basil Duke, Oklahoma authorities assisting him and the FBI in their manhunt.

To date there is no confirmation that the red and white Dodge charger observed near the bank on the afternoon of the robbery was the get-a-way vehicle.

A number of roads in the area fan out like arteries in an inflamed leg. In addition, badmen have, in times past, fled across the open country of the northeast Panhandle corner.

The search has spread to Oklahoma but it is general with no specific area pinpointed as yet.

Plant Continues To Build FIII Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) —The office of Sen. John Tower, (D-Tex.), has been informed by the Air Force that at least 12 more of the controversial F-111F fighter planes will be built.

General Dynamics, which makes the plane in Fort Worth, has been told to go ahead and buy lead-time items for the 12, the senator's office said Thursday.

The construction of the extra 12 planes will keep General Dynamics' assembly lines open until 1973 instead of 1972, a company source said.

Originally, the President's budget planned for only 70 more F-111Fs because the administration stid others couldn't be afforded right now. Late in the summer, the White House asked Congress for $112 million more to provide for the extra planes.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Twin Cities Campus Assembly has approved a proposal for a department of Chicano studies at the University of Minnesota.

The Twin Cities Campus Assembly is made up of 60 students and 125 faculty members from the St. Paul and Minneapolis campuses of the university.

MARTHA MYATT
AT BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

Pampa Beauty Named Homecoming Royalty

A 21-year old Pampa woman was crowned one of three reigning beauties during halftime ceremonies at Baylor University's homecoming game against Texas Christian University.

Martha Myatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Myatt, 2121 Charles, was one of 36 candidates for Homecoming Queen. From that field she was named one of two "runners-up" royal princesses to the queen.

The 5 foot six inch, blue-eyed senior elementary education major rode the float sponsored by Phi Kappa Alpha, a men's social-service club. Theme of the float was a crocodile about to eat "Captain Hook" and the caption was "We'll Win By Hook or Croc."

Scoring of contestants was based on the formula of 65 per cent on the nominee representing the sponsoring organization and 35 per cent on the float design and construction. Three judges ruled on the girls and three on the floats without comparing notes. None of them were connected with Baylor University in any manner.

A part of the judging of nominees was based on poise, personality, appearance and scholarship. In addition, judges evaluated candidates on the basis of an interview at a reception Thursday and on their appearance at a Pigskin Revue performance Thursday and Friday evenings.

Miss Myatt was a 1968 graduate of Pampa High School. She was a Baylor beauty in 1969, has already been selected to represent Baylor at the Cotton Bowl, is a 1971 Festival Queen nominee and a nominee for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

She is a member of the Athenean Club, one of fiv women's social clubs at Baylor and a member of the entertainment committee of the student union program council.

The other princess was Carol Edgar, Dallas, representing Alpha Omega Club.

Homecoming Queen was Meme Drumwright, Fort Worth, representing the Athenean Club.

wan were tossed out, the administration called attention to the statement in the United Nations.

At first officials said they raised the matter publicly only to inform other nations there was such thinking by Americans. They declined to discuss whether the President would support a reduction.

This was followed by statements that the administration did indeed want U.S. finanrial aid to the U.N. to continue, but officials would not be specific when asked for details.

Then, after the vote to expell Taiwan last Monday, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the United Nations was not acting in a financially responsible manner and American economic support might be re-evaluated. He added that this was not an act of retaliation.

By taking this zigzag approach, say State and diplomatic sources, Nixon hopes he created a conservative-pleasing image that he won't abide nations or organizations accepting American aid while kicking the United States in the teeth.

More

None of Nixon's goals is independent of the others, and that is particularly true of the question of U.S. financial aid for the United Nations.

Besides trying to strengthen his political position, Nixon is said by American officials to be truly concerned over the U.N. financial situation.

By Secretary General U Thant's account the U.N. is near bankruptcy. In addition Thant is retiring and much of the top U.N. executive structure has been weakened by illness and vacancies.

"This concern about the U.N. isn't new," one official said. "Something has to be done, including financial reforms.

Disputes Over Way To Clean Up Galveston Bay Continue

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas Water quality Board, still feuding over the best way to clean up Galveston Bay and the Houston Ship Channel, square off in public again here Tuesday.

The EPA and the state agency will conduct a federal enforcement hearing based on four months of joint private study.

The joint study was ordered after a heated hearing on the same subject last June ended in a jumble of contradictions. The basis for that earlier hearing was a black-bound study of the effects of pollution on the Galveston Bay oysters.

Federal authorities claimed in the report that little or no progress was being made in cleaning up the bay or its chief source of pollution, the industry-choked Houston Ship Channel.

State officials, led by WQB Executive Director Hugh Yantis Jr., claimed much progress had been made under state guidance and that data use in the so-called federal "black paper" was outdated.

After six days of testimony, Murray Stein, the EPA conference chairman, called a halt and ordered federal and state technicians to get together and settle the differences in their data.

Recommendations released from that series of meetings indicate that the EPA and the state board found common ground on all but one major task — the plans for a 5,000-megawatt power plant.

The plant, being built in stages by the Houston Lighting and Power Co., was designed to use 3.2 billion gallons of water daily from a marshy inlet beside Galveston Bay.

Company officials said the water would be pumped through the plant to cool turbines, then channeled down a long canal and dumped into Trinity Bay, miles from where it was pumped into the plant.

Yantis and the WQB favor the power company plan, particularly since it calls for careful monitoring to detect any damage the cooling water might do to marine life in the bay.

The EPA, however, feels that the water, which would become very hot during its trip through the power plant, should not be dumped into the cooler waters of the bay.

Next Sunday 4,000 pounds of the succulent sausage will be served at White Deer sponsored by the Sacred Heart Parish Council. Proceeds from the festival will be applied to the debt on the new parish hall.

Serving will begin at 11:30 a.m. and continue until 2:30 p.m. It will resume at 5 p.m. and continue until 8 in the new parrish hall.

Feasting is not restricted to members of the parish but is open to all. Area residents will sit down with the Kotaras, Urbanczyks, Haiduks and others of proud Polish heritage savoring Polish sausage and rejoicing in the new facility where it will be served.

LBJ Memoirs Said Packed With Details That May Trigger Scores Of Arguments

Editor's Note: Frank Cormier, AP White House correspondent, covered Lyndon Baines Johnson during his entire presidency. Here he takes a look at Johnson's memoirs of his years as chief executive.

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's open season again on Lyndon B. Johnson!

For 34 months, the former president has kept out of the limelight at the cloister of his choice, the LBJ Ranch in the Central Texas hill country. He has emerged just occasionally for such events as University of Texas football games, an intimate Washington dinner with old friend Spiro Agnew, and a series of television interviews with Walter Cronkite of CBS.

But it's back to the limelight now for the 36th president. He has interrupted the quiet of his retirement to author 636 pages of memoirs—plus 72 pages of notable photographs—to be published Monday as "The Vantage Point."

LBJ's old friends and foes, not to mention the literary critics, already are choosing up sides. The first prominent dissenter is Arthur J. Goldberg who has accused his former boss of writing untrue statements about Goldberg's 1965 departure from the Supreme Court.

Johnson's book, published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, is packed with details enough to trigger scores of arguments.

It should be noted, however, that the former chief executive makes no claim to objectivity as he reviews his busy five years in office. He writes that his purpose is not to say, "This is how it was" but rather, "This is how I saw it from my vantage point."

Here, in summary, are the principal reactions of one newsman who covered the Johnson White House and, in the process, spent many hundreds of hours in the company of the man who was president:

—Johnson tells his story now like he told it to us when history was current events. He hasn't changed his account but he has rummaged through the still-secret archives of the LBJ Library at Austin, Tex., to lace his text with documented surprises.

—The "real Johnson" is rarely glimpsed in his many pages of reminiscences. With rare exceptions, his statesmanlike prose is devoid of the sparks and acid that made him the most volatile and colorful of recent presidents.

Many readers inevitably will regard "The Vantage Point" as Johnson's reply to "The Pentagon Papers." Surely his Vietnam chapters constitute an important part of the book and add rather significantly to the public history of that tragic war.

Whereas the Defense Department study was based on Pentagon and State Department records, Johnson has been able to turn to his own still-classified files to flesh out a picture of how Vietnam policy was fashioned and executed at the summit.

Of course, Johnson's account of Vietnam is self-serving. But it is equally obvious that no president can be expected to acknowledge error on any matter so vital. Indeed, there is every reason to believe that LBJ truly feels in his heart that he was right every step of the way.

For students of politics and domestic policy, the Johnson manuscript is equally detailed in offering LBJ's version of how he won enactment of his far-reaching "Great Society" legislation.

Any reading of the Johnson memoirs is apt to revive memories of "credibility gap." Some of his accounts verge on the unbelievable—yet may well be true in every respect.

An example: Johnson writes at length about agonizing over whether to be a candidate for election in 1964—at a time when almost no one else in Washington would have put the slightest credence in the possibility of an abdication.

Quoted in the memoirs is a lengthy, warm and very human memo to the President from wife Lady Bird, who musters all the arguments against withdrawal from the race, the final reason being that a retired LBJ might "drink too much—for lack of a higher calling."

Improbable as it may seem that Johnson gave serious thought to retirement the agonizing he describes does have a ring of truth to it.

After all, any man who could agonize over whether to make a weekend trip to Texas surely would have had second thoughts about running for President.

GOODBY PAMPA

After living here for twenty-six years, we regret that we must leave. We especially regret having to leave the many friends we have made here.

It has been our pleasure to know and be associated with many onderful people. Not being able to name them all, we would like to name the two most dedicated and outstanding men whom we have known and admired: The Reverend Martin Hager and The Reverand Monroe Woods Jr. Our lives are much richer and happier from having been associated with these men of God.

On November 7, 1971, we are moving to Safford, Arizona to go into the Consulting Engineering and Surveying business with a firm in Temple, Arizona. The name of our firm will probably be Herman Thompson and Stratford and Douglas.

We invite all our friends to come by and see us when you are in the area.

SMU Offers Course On Sex Films, Visit To Home Of Homosexualists

DALLAS (AP) — A 25-week course offering sex films and visits to such places as the city jail and the home of a homosexual couple is being offered at Southern Methodist University to familiarize budding pastors with the shadowy side of life they must encounter.

"If the students do not know the real people they are going to serve, with the real problems they're going to face, then all this Bible knowledge is beside the point," explained Dr. Joseph D. Quillian Jr., dean of the Perkins School of Theology of SMU.

The class, called Church and World, is going into its second year as a required course at Perkins.

The three sex films used depict heterosexual and homosexual acts.

While some churchmen have praised the course for instilling an "earthbound" theology among students, others have criticized it.

The dean himself considers it essential.

"We study all kinds of sin around here, but we don't advocate it," he said.

Dr. Harville Hendrix, instructor in pastoral theology, who coordinates the Church and World course, says the sex films "Are optional and not required. The students know of them in advance and do not have to attend."

Hendrix said the films are discussed in class before and after each showing. There is no narration while they are being screened.

Two of the films were produced by a West Coast educational distributing company while the third is a documentary on homosexuality produced by a local television station.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A $10 million auto pollution control laboratory will be dedicated today in Ann Arbor.

The new laboratory, according to Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus of the Environmental Protection Agency, will play a key role in making tests necessary before automobiles and other vehicles will be certified as meeting federal air pollution control emission standards.

How Much Do You Know About 'Children Of God' Movement?

DALLAS (AP) — The street door wasn't latched and the kids were going freely in and out. Only the unannounced visitor used the bell.

A youth at the top of the steep stairway unwound his legs from a tilting chair and bounded down with hand outstretched in welcome. "Praise the Lord," he said in greeting.

Upstairs in a series of big and barely furnished rooms the bustling atmosphere was like Grand Central Station. New arrivals, white and black, male and female, stretched on the wooden floor, their backpacks and sometimes guitars around them. The place buzzed with animated talk.

Here and there a Child of God sat with a huddle of other youngsters, reading from a black zippered pocket Bible, explaining and endlessly rapping about Jesus.

The talk is hard-sell evangelism but the language is hip. It sounds incongruous at times.

"Man, these verses are just right-on," someone says by way of introduction to an excerpt from the King James version of the Bible.

Among the elders, as leaders of the group are called, texts and their sources are batted to and fro like tennis balls over a net.

Bible classes are held for hours each day and great store is set on memorizing chapter by chapter.

"Right now I'm memorizing the Book of Jonah and my husband is memorizing Revelation," said Adria, from Shawnee, Okla., a one-time student at Oklahoma Baptist University. "It helps you to be able to give the right answer," she explained.

Children of God, like entrants into a monastic order, abandon their given names for that of a figure from the Bible.

Names are selected at random, offered to newcomers and mutually agreed upon. John Doe becomes John the Beloved, or Isaiah or Ezekiel.

What they bring with them, often pitifully little, is surrendered to the group. New arrivals are searched for drugs and so is their baggage. Any drugs found are confiscated.

"It's something like the Army," a youth explained. "The first two weeks are really hard. We even discourage people. We believe in quality, not quantity."

The commune provides what the Child of God needs—shelter, clothes, food, dental treatment and so on. If he gets a monthly check from home—and some do despite strained relations with their parents—the money goes into the common fund.

The Dallas headquarters of the Children of God is in a rundown section near the park of the State Fair of Texas.

The youths pay one dollar a month rent for the fire-damaged print shop building which they are fitting up as best they can.

Houses on the same block, supplied at similar nominal terms for couples and families.

Another building called Big Rock House about two miles away has sleeping accommodation for the men.

The daily scheduled, which is roughly the same in all the colonies, starts with a 30-minute clean-up period, followed by 30 minutes of singing and praying. The singing is mostly rock and folk music.

"Music is the language of our generation—it's music that will reach them," explained Shua, a doctor's daughter from Palm Springs, Calif. Shua was born in Aucland, New Zealand, and when her parents decided to return there she stayed and joined the Children of God.

A great deal of each day is spent in the Bible classes. There are four or five daily for the new converts, called "babes" —two for more senior Children and two night classes.

Other time is devoted to maintenance and repair on the house, preparing food, washing and general housekeeping.

Children of God indignantly deny the charge that they don't work. But they agree that their work is confined within the communes. And they won't serve two masters.

"But we're in an organization. We call it a family, just like I imagine IBM would like to call their organization a family, and we don't work outside it."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Rev. Andrew has a legitimate gripe against Uncle Sam. For politicians have now invaded the field of what used to be voluntary charity. But they use our coerced taxes boondoggle and re-elect themselves! Uncle Sam was not supposed to compete with his citizens!

CASE S-506: Rev. Andrew is troubled.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "isn't there a legal taboo on what is called 'double jeopardy?' As I recall, a man can't be tried twice for the same crime. Well, it appears to me that our faithful church folks are subjected to something very much like 'double jeopardy' as regards demands on their pocketbooks.

For Uncle Sam now levies a terrific tax on Americans to support thousands of indolent families, who should really be out working for their own food and shelter. Then the United Fund launches its annual drives to extract more money for relief and welfare, usually tapping our faithful church families again.

For the church people are the most generous and also asked to support their local church, as well as furnish the money for our own missionaries at and abroad. Since only about 65 percent of all Americans are even nominal members of the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant faiths, why should they suffer not only 'double jeopardy' but actually 'triple jeopardy?"

COMPETING REFEREE

Our Founding Fathers expected Uncle Sam to be an impartial referee or umpire on our national "gridiron."

He was to stay on the sidelines and merely make sure that the laws of fair play were obeyed by the taxpaying players.

Grocer could then compete with grocer, farmer with farmer, manufacturer with manufacturer, doctor with doctor and even church with church.

Remember, Uncle Sam was NEVER to invade the playing field itself and thus compete with the players over whom he was intended to serve solely as an impartial referee!

But progressively, in this century Uncle Sam has begun to assume an intolerable role, namely, that of a "playing referee!" Imagine!

For example, Uncle Sam now operates over 700 corporations (tax-exempt, of course) in open conflict with our tax-paying firms.

ADD TO WORRY CLINIC

Uncle Sam even plays "hog" with the coerced taxes of ordinary Americans, which then are wasted at Washington on boondoggling and unnecessary welfare.

Note, for example, that Connecticut citizens must pay $1.70 in taxes to Uncle Sam for every $1.00 that is returned for use by their own state.

	Paid	Got Back
Connecticut	$1.70	$1.00
Illinois	$1.65	$1.00
Ohio	$1.45	$1.00
Kenfucky	.58	$1.00
Alaska	.33	$1.00

Of our 50 states, 20 paid Uncle Sam more than they got back, which means their citizens are thus supporting their own, as well as the welfare recipients of the other 30 states!

Religion is being threatened because Uncle Sam has barged upon the field of private charity and philanthropy!

Such invasion is just as wrong as for Uncle Sam to compete with railroads, factories, farmers or barbers, butchers and doctors!

One reason why it is increasingly difficult to raise funds for private churches, the YMCA and Red Cross, is this unfair competition by Uncle Sam via our coerced taxes!

So send for my booklet "How to Save Our Republic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

CALICO CAPERS — In case you have forgotten, we have adult dances at the Center too. As you know, we have the teendances on Friday nights, but on Saturday nights we have square dancing for adults. From 8-11 p.m. the Calico Capers Square Dance Clubs meets and dances. They have a very fine club and would welcome visitors and persons interested in joining.

They always have a caller to run the show and most of the time he is a guest caller from out-of-town. The club will attend the P.S.D.A. Jamboree in Dumas on Nov. 6, but guest callers for Nov. are Woody Turley 13th, Roy Johnson 20th and Billy Foster on the 27th.

DOLPHIN SWIM CLUB — The Center has in operation a competitive swim club called the Dolphins. This is the second year of its reorganization and they are presently meeting each open day at 6:00 p.m. to workout and would invite any boy or girl who is interested and knows how to swim to join the club.

Swimmers are needed in all age groups to complete relay teams so that we can have relay representation at all of the winter meets. All interested swimmers are urged to contact Gorge Smith at the Youth Center or Jackie Marlar at 665-1965 and come out for practice. All that is required is the ability to swim and the desire to compete.

MEMBERSHIPS — For the information of those new in Pampa, the Center is a community building and is a non-profit organitation. Revenue to run the Center is derived from a membership dues and contributions plan from several clubs, organizations and individuals. Absolutely no tax money from our city, state or federal governments is used or has ever been used here.

Our participation is through a membership plan either limited or unlimited. Our regular membership is called the limited plan and this entitles you to full use of the gym, swimming pool and recreation hall. An individual membership is only $5 for six months or $8 per year. A family membership which includes all members of the immediate family is $12 for six months or $20 per year.

Our unlimited plan entitles the owner to the above accommodations and also use of the new health facility. The health facility includes an exercise room with all the latest exercise equipment such as barrell rollers, facial machines, jungle pulley machine, bicycles, weights, vibrator, belts, etc. along with 2 handball and racquet ball courts and a sauna room. Women our sauna room produces a dry heat and does not affect the hair in anyway. An individual membership here costs $65 for six months or $118 per year. A husband-wife combination plan costs only $90 for six months an $166 per year.

We do have a six months installment plan and if you are interested, you may call the health facility at 665-4381 and inquire in detail about this.

HOMECOMING TEEN DANCE — The Center will sponsor the annual homecoming dance here on Nov. 5 after the Palo Duro game. Resurrection, a tour band such as Baby, will play for the affair. Dance time will be from 9-12 p.m. and only high school and college age students ar allowed to attend. Teachers and parents will chaperone this affair.

WOMEN'S EXERCI E CLASS — The Center offers to the women a private exercise and swim class on Monday and friday mornings. The exercise classes meet in the gym at 9:30 and the instructor leads in a recorded session. At 10:10 a.m. you are invited to an informal swim time until 11:30. No swim lessons are given.

There is a baby sitting service available for mothers who have children at home. The charge per child for the full 2 hours is only 50 cents or only 25 cents for the exercise class. To participate you need only be a Center member which is $8 per year.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL

Word has been received from the National Red Cross that the high school Red Cross tape from the high school choir has been sent to a school in Australia.

Mrs. Betty Niccolls, Administrative Assistant, ARC, wrote that they hoped the Australian school would send a tape to Pampa High School in exchange.

Mrs. Eula Morris, Teacher Sponsor for the Austin School, brought Gary Free, President the Red Cross Council, with Lyssa Malone, vice-chairman, to the Red Cross office with the tray favors for the VA Hospital in Amarillo for Halloween. This is the first project for the council and the Tray Favors and Tray Mats were most unusual. The veterans in the hospital will be pleased with their Halloween tray favors. Mrs. Jess Beard, Red Cross volunteer, took the tray favors and mats to the VA Hospital for us.

Another Red Cross volunteen has joined in the work at Highland General Hospital—Miss Dawn Meyers. She worked on the 2nd and 4th Saturday mornings serving juice to the patiens at the hospital. Our thanks to one of the Candy Stripers for going with Dawn the first time at the Hospital.

Majuana Hills and Marcella Hudson 4H's have begun a Mother's Aid Class at St. Vincent's School at 7 p.m. Tuesday evenings, for a Girl Scout Troop. This course is continuously called the Red Cross Baby Sitting Class and the girls who take the course learn many important things to help them while they are baby sitting.

A Standard First Aid class is being taught by J.D Ray, First Aid Instructor, in the City Commission Room at the City Hall each Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The Girl Scout leaders are sponsoring these classes, but persons in the community are invited to attend.

The publication of the American Red Cross Youth Journal will be discontinued Journal will be discontinued Since 1967, chapter subscriptions of the JOURNAL have declined by 50 per cent. This shows that the publication could not be continued on a self-supporting basis for another year. The reasons given by chapters for this accelerating decline are (1) changing secondary school patterns; (2) the increasing involvement of students in volunteer activities outside the school; (3) fewer students read this type of material; and (4) decreased contributions to chapter service funds. The overpowering reason leading to the decision to discontinue the JOURNAL is the lack of chapter financial support. The publication of the American Red Cross YOUTH NEWS will continue.

Mrs. Ruth Carter completed a Beginners Swim Class Oct. 20 with the following passing: Terri Atherton, Mary Cole, Bryan Smith and Sara Gill.

Mrs. Carter has also passed the following in the Advanced Beginners Class: Sharon Willis,

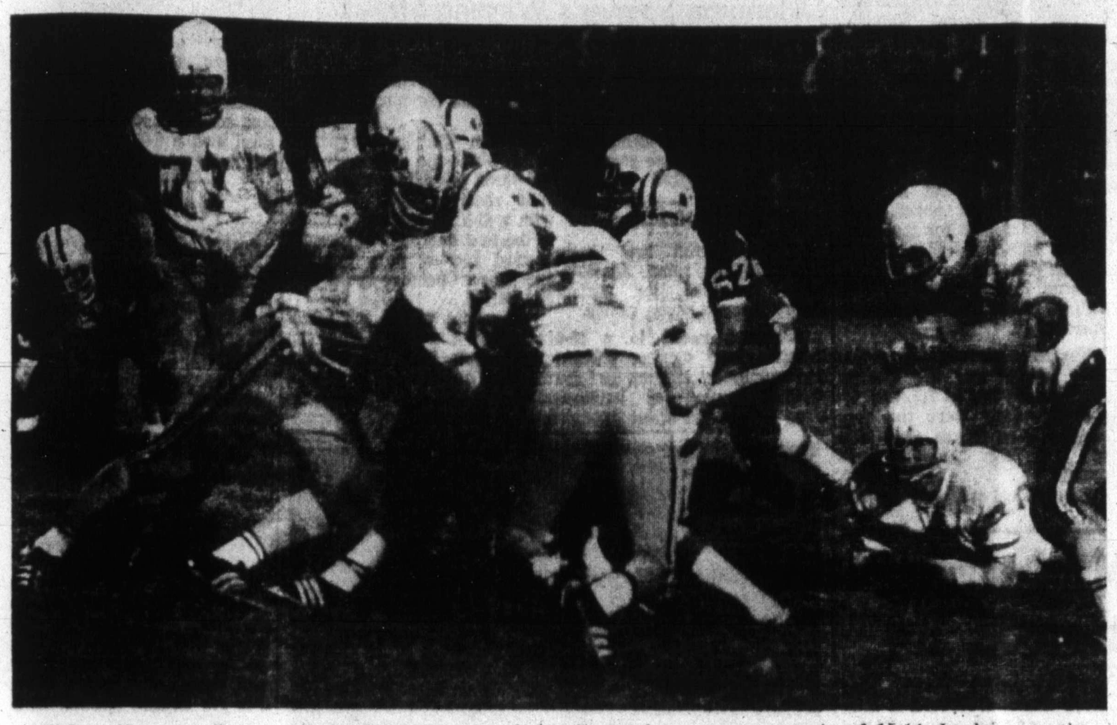
Harvesters Back On Win Road



KILL — Numerous Pampan jerseys are seen putting the stop to an unrecognizable Bulldog. The main idea to the team effort could be interpreted as KILL. The mighty Harvesters overcabe the Borger Bulldogs in their own kennel by a narrow margin of 15-14. In doing so, the Harvesters managed to shove Borger out of the immediate race for the district honors and kept them within reach for themselves.

T-he conquering Pampa Harvesters shot down another homecoming of the opposing team as they managed to squeeze by the Borger Bulldogs in the Bulldog dog pen in Borger with a frustratingly close 15-14 victory for Pampa.

One point kept the Harvesters in the district 3-AAAA race as Tascosa had to settle for a scoreless tie with Caprock.

It was definately Johnny Roth's night as he found himself the leading rusher of the game, with 10 carries for 102 yards.

Pampa was the first to see their name in lights as after a 52 yard drive in the middle of the first quarter, junior halfback Richard McCampbell scampered 29 yards for the TD. The conversion kick was made good by McCampbell to put the score at 7-0 for the Harvesters.

The dogs were not to be outdone as Borger's Jessie Crockett intercepted a Dale Ammons pass and returned it 40 yards to be tackled just 7 yards short of a Borger TD. Nelson Brooks took his turn at the rip-roaring Harvester defense. Brooks managed to slip through for the score. The conversion kick was good and the score was tied with only 47 seconds left in the first quarter period of play.

Pampa was not satisfied with the 7-7 tie as they harvested Nelson Brooks behind his goal line to give a two point safety. Pampa went into the fieldhouse at halftime with the lead of 9-7.

Pampa failed to score in the third quarter as the Bulldogs bristled the hair on their backs to put one over from 33 yards out in their second series of downs. Brooks was the corveyer of the ball from the 33, and Dean Morrison kicked the point after to give the animals the lead.

Borger's defense held the grim slickers scoreless in the third period of play, but there was no holding fullback Johnny Roth as he plowed through the middle for a 78 yard scamper for the pay dirt. The mighty Harvesters had a meager one point lead and Richard McCampbell attempted to make the lead two points. McCampbells kick was no good as the ball squarely clouted the goal post.

After that, it was a defensive game for both teams and both failed to score further.

When asked what he thought of the slim margined win, Swede Lee laughingly commented, "It was a terrific margin of victory. One point seemed to be enough."

As he became serious he said, "The defense was obviously responsible for the win, with the safety and containing the offense."

The Harvesters forced three Borger fumbles and recovered four.

Outstanding defensive players pointed out by Swede were: Alvin Ferguson having five tackles 22 assists and two recovered fumbles, Jessie Hunnicutt had 12 assists, caused one fumble and recovered one fumble, Jody Johnson had one tackle, 11 assists and caused one fumble. Tibby Rogers had 13 assists, "Which is a big night for a defensive end." Larry Johnson took one tackle and 10 assists. "Larry had a good game. He covered a lot of field and this alone is an accomplishment from the defensive tackle position. Jim McDowell had one tackle, seven assists, caused one fumble and tipped one pass. "Jim had a real good night since this was his first game at the end position." Johnny Roth and Bobby Owen had good defensive nights in the secondary where there is not that many tackles to be made. Owen had three tackles and 10 assists.

Offensive standouts pointed by the Swede were; Johnny Roth with 11 carries and 104 yards gained and an average of 9.5 yards per carry. Garvin McCarrell carried five times for 39 yards and a 7.8 yard average per carry.

"Borger's defense hurt the option," said Lee. "Borger played good defense and both teams were out there to do some hitting."

"We had a great punting game as Dale Ammons averaged 41 yards a kick," said Lee as he continued to say, "We had to punt eight times which is more than the past games put together."

Schoolboy Games Highlight Texas Football Action

Abilene Cooper hasn't been in The Associated Press Schoolboy football poll since the third week of the season but they've had something to say abtut the of the rankings.

Cooper was ranked No. 5 in the state when it was humiliated 47-6 by Wichita Falls. That put the Coyotes gunning for their 28th distict tile, in the limelight and they gained recognition in the class 10 top 10.

And last week Cooper was at it again, knocking off third ranked Odessa Permian 9-7 to drop the Panthers to eighth in this week's list.

McLean Buries Memphis

The McLean Tigers under the guidance of Tommy Dunivan at quarterback smashed the Memphis Cyclones 33 to 15 in Friday night high school action.

Dunivan crossed the goal line for three TD's before the night had finished and George Danner capped the evening's scoring by McLean.

McLean jumped into the lead early in the first quartef with Tommy Dunivan going into the end zone making the score 7-0.

Memphis couldn't seem to move the ball against the tough McLean defense as the Tigers took another six point trip with again Dunivan carrying. The extra point was made by David Haynes with 14 seconds left to play.

In the second quarter a hard battle developed between the two rivals as it was 1:57 remaining before Tommy Johnson, Jr. made a 60 yard scamper against the Tigers to place Memphis on the board. Memphis quarterback Mike Browning connected with Larry Don Johnson for the two point conversion making the score 14 to 8.

The Tigers didn't want to swallow crow as they turned the tables with a 56 yard run by Dunivan. Dunivan was in a punt formation when a bad snap forced the run. He cut around the right side breaking two tackles and then up the middle breaking two more tackles before picking up a wall of blockers to go into the end zone. At half time the Tigers led 20 to 8.

The second half saw a slow down of action on both teams as a see-saw battle developed in mid-field. With 6:25 remaining in the third quarter Tony Henley, a sophomore guard trapped the Memphis quarterback deep in Cyclone territory jarring the ball loose. Shaking away from Browning, Henley picked up the ball and went into the end zone for a defensive touchdown and a 27 to 8 lead for McLean.

The second and last Cyclone score of the game came with 10:39 remaining to play on a Louis Dacis run. Dacis, small in height but a hard, fast runner darted up the middle of the Tiger team to score.

Ronny Brown busted loose on the next series of McLean downs for a 40-yard gainer with 3:51 on the clock and George Danner iced the cake with his six point effort on a six yard carry.

Next week the McLean Tigers will be meeting Clarendon in Clarendon. The Tigers final game of the season will be played on home grounds against the Wheeler Mustangs.

Eagles Grounded By Tough Canadian Cats

The Canadian Wildcats are getting meaner according to fans from the northern Panhandle city and they have the facts to prove their statement after the Cats polished off the Sanford-Fritch Eagles 46 to nothing in Friday night's action.

The Cats have been rolling up an impressive string of wins as they march towards this Friday's encounter with the White Deer Bucks in what could well be the District 1-A decision for top honors.

The Cats played in rain and fog to defeat the Eagles. All of the Canadian team seemed to get into the scoring act as Archie Trimble opened the game with a three-yard run. The attempt for the extra point was blocked by the Eagle defense.

Keith Popham ran the second touchdown in from two yards out to make the score 11 to nothing at the half.

Steve Carter, perhaps one of the best backs in the Panhandle scored twice against San-Fritch once in the third quarter on a 35-yard field goal. He wears a big boot. His second scoring effort of the evening came in the fourth period with a 55-yard run.

Carter has the size and speed needed to move the ball well.

Sam Schaefer went in on a one-yard dive in the third period to add on six points to the Canadian tally. Doug Baggett ran for the two-point conversion and at the end of three periods of play, the Cats led 26 6o nothing.

The fourth period of play has been the Cat's best all season long and, as if to prove the point, they moved the ball over the goal line three times against the Eagles to cap the game 46 to nothing.

Carter had his second scoring effort of 55 yards. Glen Watson ran 18 yards for a TD and Popham passed to Tye Adcock for the two-point conversion.

Kelly Ward intercepted a lateral from the San-Fritch quarterback and broke loose for 55 yards and the game's final score. Jerry Davis kicked the extra point.

Warriors Knock Off Guthrie 38 To 8 In Eight Man Ball

The Miami Warriors defeated the highly touted Guthrie, Oklahoma team 38 to 8 Fridty night. The Warriors had been fighting a four year losing streak to the Oklahoma team and this year revenge was sweet as David Faulkner pounded out four scoring efforts.

According to head coach Harold McCreary, Faulkner is one of the finest quarterbacks in the state. He could be playing in 4-A ball or in any class for that matter and still be All-State material.

The win placed Miami on top of their eight-man district with Estelline being their next opponents. Last week Estelline dropped a close decision to Guthrie 16 to 8.

The Warriors came into the game with a bitter taste in their mouths after a tie with Turpin last week. Turpin ranked fifth in Oklahoma battled the Warriors to a 40-40 standstill.

Faulkner opened the scoring in the first period with an 8 yard touchdown and a two point lead.

Bailey broke loose from the trap in the second period for a 40 yard scramble and Faulkner tacked on another two points for the Warriors.

Faulkner added one more TD before the half on a three yard run and the two point conversion to give the Miami team a 24 to nothing lead.

In the third quarter John Ramsey carried for four yards to make the score 30 to nothing when the trap play worked for Craig Bailey who picked up another score on a 65 yard scramble. The conversion was good for two points after Faulkner hit Fatheree in the end zone.

According to McCreary, "We placed the second team in the game with just a few minutes left. Jimmy Green scored the only Guthrie points on his TD effort and the two point conversion. This is our best year and I believe we have a good chance to go all the way. Our 3-0 season had made up the difference in our being district leaders.

"Our outstandng player on offense was Faulkner who had a real fine night on the playing field in his running game and on defense top honors would have to go to Mike Dedman."

White Deer Stampedes Over Grayhounds, 62-0

The Gruver Grayhounds dropped their second district decision in a row before a fourth-ranked White Deer team Friday night in cold, foggy weather.

The Bucks opened the game wide with 21 points scored in the first quarter. Jerry Urbancyk started the scoreboard massacre with a 48 yard run to put the Bucks on the board with a 6-0 lead. The extra point atrempt failed.

Rick Hoskins played the keeper and took the ball five yards up the middle for the second White Deer score of the evening and then handed the ball off to Kim Slagle for the two point conversion and a 14-0 edge.

Slagle made another scoring run in the first period of play as he received the hand-off from Hoskins and plowed seven yards through the mud for a 20 to nothing lead. Hoskins capped the effort with the extra point and a first quarter lead of 21-nothing.

The undefeated Bucks have finally jelled into their famous hard-hitting team as they score in double figures in all four periods of play. The second period saw Jerry Urbanczyk making his second of five touchdown efforts on a four yard run. Urbanczyk added his third TD of the evening immediately following with a 32 yard pass play from Hoskins. Hoskins kicked the extra point and gave the Bucks a 35 to nothing margin at halftime.

The final two periods of play saw Urbanczyk pick up the pitchout and march 62 yards downfield to the paydirt.

Johnny Freeman caught a 30 yard pass in the fog from Terry Rhodes to give the Bucks yet another score against the graying Grayhounds.

Danny Sandlin on a handoff took the ball 5 yards for a 55 to nothing edge and Urbanczyk continued his fantastic running to carry the ball 42 yards on a put return for the final score of the game.

The Bucks will meet the Canadian Wildcats this coming Friday in Canadian. Both teams are undefeated and this promises to be one of the best games of the year . . . on any level.

Pirates Blow Out Texline Hopes With 52-0 Victory

The Lefors Pirates tamed a Tornado Friday night as they downed Texline 52 to nothing in Lefors.

The Pirates kept the Texline team on the defense practically all evening long as the Lefors team kept control of the ball.

Only two times did Texline provide the Pirates with a real threat but the home team kept the Tornadoes to only two firs downs the whole evening.

Mike Robbins crossed the goal line four times for the Pirates during the course of the game. He scored the opening two TD's on a 41 yard run and a 4 yard effort. Again in the second period of play with a two yard run and his last came on a 60 yard dash.

David White, the small but potent quarterback for the Pirates led the attack in the second period of play with a 30 yard dash and passed for a 55 yard scoring effort in the final period of play.

Raymond Sissel with a 45 yard run and Ken Prestidge Oklahoma team 38 to 8 Friday TD's.

Trevino Falters Out Of Sahara Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Long-shot Bob Dickson reeled off a string of three consecutive birdies, surged past faltering Lee Trevino and regained the lead Sasturday in the third round of the $135,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

Dickson, 103rd on the money list this season and lacking a finish in the top 10 in two years, fired a four under par 68 for a 54 hole total of 210 as he reclaimed the No. 1 position he held after the first round Thursday.

Trevino, the pre-tourney favorite who took the second round lead, dropped back with bogeys on the 11th and 12th holes and finished with a 73.

That one-over-par effort by the popular Trevino, winer of five titles this season but in a slump the last three months, gave him a 54-hole total of 214, four off the pace.

It dropped him back to fourth place going into the final round on the 7,143-yard Paradise Valley Country Club course.

Don January, a 42-year-old veteran and former National PGA champion, moved into second place with a 69 in the bright, warm sunshine. He scored an eagle three on the 13th hole en route to a three round total of 212.

"I didn't miss any greens," January said. "I hit a three wood second shot about three feet past the hole for the eagle on the 13th." He also birdied the par five 17th.

Kermit Zarley came on with a 70 for 213 and third place, one in front of Trevino.

Former Masters champion Gay Brewer and big George Archer were tied at 215, one under par. They were the only other players in the field able to beat par through three rounds.

Brewer had a 70 and Archer 71.

NFL's Annual Faceoff Stars Oakland-Chiefs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Football League's annual face-to-face meeting for ownership of the American Conference West gets underway Sunday in Oakland as the Raiders take on the Kansas City Chiefs.

The two powerhouses, who won't meet again until Dec. 12 in Kansas City, have each reeled off five successive victories following season setbacks and, as usual, have left the rest of the division in the dust.

The rest of the Sunday slate has Miami at Los Angele , Atlanta at Cleveland, Minnesota at the New York Giants, Pittsburgh at Baltimore, Dallas at Chicago, Cincinnati at Houston, St. Louis at Buffalo, New Orleans at Washington, New England at San Francisco, Denver at Philadelphia, the New York Jets at San Diego and, in Monday night's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game, Detroit at Green Bay.

The Raiders have history on their side, winning seven of the past 10 regular-season games, but the Chiefs have the AFC's No. 1 passer in Len Dawson and No. 2 receiver in Otis Taylor.

Since 1967, Oakland and Kansas City have finished 1-2 in the West—usually going down to the wire to decide the race—although in 1969 the Chiefs beat the Raiders in a playoff enroute to the Super Bowl. And this year's race will apparently be no different.

A tough ground game appears in store at Los Angeles as the Dolphins go with Larry Csonka and Jim Klick, who piled up 258 yards against the Jets a week ago, while the Rams counter with Willie Ellison and Les Josephson.

With Bob Berry still out with a hamstring pull, the Falcons again go with Dick Shiner, who quarterbacked them to victory over New Orleans.

Rough Tough A&M Agies Upset Battle Weary Razorbacks, 17-9

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Texas A&M turned three Arkansas errors into a 17-9 upset of the eighth ranked Razorbacks Saturday night.

The Aggies drove 38 and 47 yards for Mark Green's touchdowns and Pat McDermott kicked a 34-yard field goal following a fumble recovery at the Arkansas 47.

A&M's victory, coupled with Texas' 22-18 triumph over Southern Methodist, scrambled the Southwest Conference race. Arkansas, SMU, Texas and TCU have one conference loss each.

A&M played conservatively, determined not to give away a thing. The Aggies threw only four passes. Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson completed 31 of 51 passes for 345 yards.

The Aggies' swarming defenders shut down the Razorback ground game, allowing Arkansas less than 50 yards rushing.

Green's first touchdown, a two-yard burst, came after Steve Burks recovered a fumbled punt in the second quarter at the Arkansas 38 and gave A&M a 7-3 lead it never gave up.

McDermott, a shoeless kicker, booted his field goal early in the third period and less than three minutes later, Green broke three tackles and scored standing up from 20 yards out to make it 17-3.

Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson keyed a 74-yard third quarter march. He completed 5 of 6 passes for 59 yards in the drive and scored from 7 yards out.

Ferguson slipped to the artificial turf on his attempt for a 2-point conversion.

Arkansas' last good drive ended at the Aggie 26 when fullback John Jenkins missed a first down on fourth and one midway through the fourth period.

TCU Ices Win After Death Of Jim Pittman In Waco

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Coach Jim Pittman of Texas Christian University collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack Saturday night, and his squad, told at halftime, beat fired-up Baylor 34-27.

The score was 20-20 at halftime, and Baylor took a 27-20 lead. But the Horned Frogs won the Southwest Conference game on a six-yard run by quarterback Steve Judy and a 10-yard touchdown pass from Judy to Ronnie Peoples.

Pittman, a former Marine sergeant, who had the reputation of being a soft-spoken but firm taskmaster, crumpled on the sideline with about four and a half minutes gone in the first quarter.

He died at a nearby hospital.

This was Pittman's first year at TCU, which has not won a SWC title since 1959 when it tied Texas and Arkansas for the championship.

He guided Tulane to a Liberty Bowl victory last year.

Baylor, which has scored only 31 points in five previous games, ripped off 20 in an explosive first half, but TCU matched the Bears point for point. After Matthews Williams bolted 34 yards for a Baylor TD in the third quarter, TCU marched 75 yards to tie it on Judy's run.

The winning drive for TCU was 57 yards and was climaxed when, on third and 10, Judy hit Peoples falling across the goal line.

Rice Owls Gives New Coach A Victory Over Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Rice rode Mark Williams' three field goals and the running of Stahle Vincent to a 9-7 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Tech Saturday.

Linebacker Rodrigo Barnes skyjacked two Tech passes and Rice converted the second into the winning field goal as the Owls gave new Head Coach Bill Peterson his first SWC triumph.

Williams booted twin 32-yard field goals in the first and second periods and clouted a 21-yard effort with 6:11 remaining in the final period to give the Owls their second triumph in seven games and their first in three conference outings. The loss left Tech 3-5 for the season and 1-3 in SWC play.

A Tech homecoming crowd of 38,340 watched on a crisp, blustery afternoon as sophomore quarterback Jimmy Carmichael hurled Texas Tech from its 6-0 halftime deficit and into a 7-6 lead six minutes deep in third period.

He rifled passes of 7, 17, 15 and 12 yards to Johnny Odom and Miles Langehennig blasted the final two steps of a 72-yard Raider drive.

BUT, MOM

San Francisco 49er defensive back Bruce Taylor ran into his mother after a game last season and she said, "You played a fine game, son, but I want you to stop running into those big fellows. Some of them out-weigh you by 100 pounds." "But it's my job, mom," Taylor said, whereupon Mrs. Taylor ordered, "Tell the coach to turn it over to a bigger boy." The anecdote is part of "ProLog," a chronicle of the 1970 season by Bob Oates Jr.

Oklahoma Sooner's Winning Streak Extends To Seven After 43-12 Win

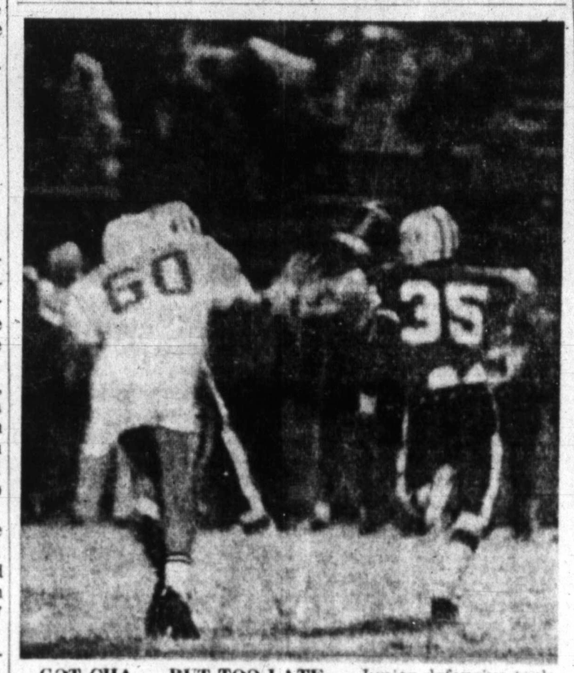
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback Jack Mildren fired two touchdown passes and shattered the all-time Oklahoma individual total offense record as the second-ranked Sooners hammered out a 43-12 victory over Iowa State Saturday.

Mildren scored two touchdowns in the romp as Oklahoma extended its perfect record through seven games.

Oklahoma raced to a 29-6 halftime lead on the passing and running of Mildren and the ground gaining of halfback Greg Pruitt. Keyed on through-out the game, Pruitt still managed to rush for more than 150 yards.

Mildren, who seldom passes since Oklahoma has averaged 487 yards per game rushing, hit split receiver John Harrison with a 41-yard touchdown bomb in the first quarter and tossed a 27-yard scoring pass to tight end Albert Chandler in the second period.

Iowa State got on the scoreboard on a 2-yard plunge by quarterback Dean Carlson in the first quarter and a 95-yard kickoff return by Willie Jones in the third quarter.



GOT CHA — BUT TOO LATE — Junior defensive tackle Larry Johnson grabs Borger quarterback Benny Hickman just as he laterals the ball to fullback Johnny Darden. Pampa shafted the dogs out of the district race with a slim margin of 15-14. Next week the mighty Harvesters will challenge the Palo Duro Dons on Pampa's Homecoming.

Texas Has Shaky 22-18 Win Over Southern Methodist

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Callison scratched one yard for a disputed touchdown early in the fourth qutrter Saturday to give embattled 14th ranked Texas a shaky 22-18 victory over Southern Methodist and keep its Southwest Conference title hopes alive.

The defending champion Longhorns are now 3-1 in SWC play as they tagged the scrappy Mustangs with their first loss in three league games.

After Texas' Allan Lowry returned an intercepted pass 31 yards for a touchdown with the game only 77 seconds old, the Mustangs gave the 22-point favored Longhorns all the fight they could handle.

SMU's Alvin Maxson scored on a 1-yard run and tied the game 7-7 as Chipper Johnson kicked field goals of 21 and 41 yards sandwiched between a safety against the Longhorns to give the Mustings a 15-7 edge in the second quarter.

Southern Calif. Downs California In Pacific 8

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Quarterback Jimmy Jones accounted for three touchdowns Saturday and Bruce Dyer intercepted two passes as Southern California beat California 28-0 and knocked the Bears out of their pseudo-lead in the Pacific-8 football race.

Jones, alternating at quarterback with Mike Rae, ran six yards for the game's first touchdown with one minute left in the first half.

He threw a four-yard touchdown pass to Lynn Swan, the first time the Trojans had the ball in the third period and added a 13-yard scoring toss to Charles Young later in the quarter.

Rae threw a 13-yard touchdown pass to Swann in the last quarter of the victory that made 20th-ranked USC 4-4 this season.

Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) Bob Minnix ran for two touchdowns and Ed Gulyas added one as Notre Dame shut out Navy 21-0 in an intersectional college football rivalry Saturday.

Notre Dame's powerful defense pinned the Midshipmen in their own territory for the entire first half, during which time the Irish did all their scoring.

Dartmouth

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Junior Ted Perry booted a final-minute field goal for the second week in a row Saturday as Dartmouth extended its winning streak to 15 games with a 17-15 Ivy League football victory over Yale.

Perry, whose 46-yard field goal as time ran out lifted Dartmouth to a 16-13 decision over Harvard, came through again, splitting the uprights with a 40-yard effort with 53 seconds remaining.

Washington St.

Oregon-Washington State

SPOVANE, Wash. (AP)—Two fourth quarter touchdowns by speedy tailback Bernard Jackson gave Washington State a 31-21 football victory over Oregon Saturday and edged the WSU Cougars a step closer in their race to the Rose Bowl.

It was the first time WSU has whipped the Ducks since 1965 and the first victory Cougar coach Jim Sweeney has managed over Oregon coach Jerry Frei.

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) —Eddie Siegler booted Clemson to a 10-9 football victory Saturday over Atlantic Coast Conference rival Wake Forest.

Seigler popped a 30-yard field goal with just 37 seconds left in the game, capping a come-from-behind victory with Clemson scoring all its points in the final stanza.

The visiting Wake Forest team had led by 6 points from early in the first quarter.

District Title Could Go Many Different Ways

The Tascosa Rebels and the Caprock Longhorns battled to a scoreless tie Friday night in 4-AAAA action before a Dick Bivens crowd of 2,5000.

The league leading Rebels held the Horns three times in the fourth stanza of play to salvage the game. The tie will result in Tascosa leading district 3-AAAA with a two win, and one-half loss record. Pampa having lost one game this season to the deadly Rebels trails the district lead by one-half game. If Tascosa should be knocked off by either Amarillo or Borger and Pampa should win it's last two outings the Harvesters will be district champs.

The district could end in a two way tie for top honors which would result in a play-off between the leading teams.

Let's support the fighting Harvesters and shoot for the starring role in district 3-AAAA.

DURABLE VETS

Seven original players from the American Football League were on rosters of National Football League teams when the 1971 season began. Dean of the veterans is 44-year-old George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders, and two of his Oakland teammates, Jimm Otto and Ron Nix, were also around for the year 1 in the AFL. Others still active are Ernie Wright of Cincinnati, Don Maynard and Larry Grantham of the New York Jets and John Robinson of Kansas City.

Nebraska Dumps Colorado Buffs By 24 Points

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Topranked Nebraska combined a stonewall defense with the cool quarterbacking and pinpoint passing of Jerry Tagge Saturday to rout Colorado's ninthrated Buffaloes 31-7 in a Big Eight football game televised nationally.

Turnovers generated by the defense set up Nebraska's first two scoring opportunities and still another scoring chance made good in the third period.

In the only major defensive lapse, Nebraska allowed Colorado to connect on a 34-yard scoring pass from sophomore Ken Johnson to speedy Cliff Branch in the second quarter.

The victory margin for the defending national champion Cornhuskers compared with a 45-17 decision by second-ranked Oklahoma two weeks ago in the only previous loss suffered by Colorado, now 6-2, and served further to set the stage for an Oklahoma-Nebraska Thanksgiving Day showdown.

The game was the 27th without a defeat Southern California tied early in 1970 for coach Bob Devaney's crew, ran the Husker win string to 18 and the season mark to 8-0.

Tagge's passes and the running of Jeff Kinney and Johnny Rodgers repeatedly provided key gains for Nebraska against the fired-up Buffaloes.

Tagge passed to Maury Damkroger for one Nebraska touchdown and sneaked for another.

Kinney, the workhorse rusher, scored touchdowns on runs of 11 and three yards.

A 30-yard pass from Tagge to Rodgers highlighted a 65-yard drive for Nebraska's second touchdown and established the speedy flanker as Nebraska's all-time leading pass receiver.

LONG HISTORY

Penn State has fielded a football team for 85 years. The Nittany Lions won their first game, 54-0 over Bucknell, in 1887, and they have compiled an over-all record of 459 wins, 232 losses and 39 ties.

Mustangs Outrun Mustangs As Wheeler Wins, 24-0

Mustangs pulling Mustangs — what about. Maybe the Claude Mustangs hadn't been eating their oats as regularly as Wheeler. The Wheeler squad hoofed Claude by a mounting talley of 24-0.

The galloping across the goal lines was confined to the first and last period of play in Claude's own corral.

Wheeler's Dale Stevens was the first horse to lope across to grazing land from 25 yards out. Jimmy Cole trotted across to join him on the extra point run.

Later Jimmy Cole charged across the line to score again in the first period of play. Cole's five yard run was followed by Stevens for the point after run.

In the fourth quarter Larry Rives intercepted a Claude pass and scampered 40 yards to the old feed bag. Gary Fisher was close behind with the extra point run. The ending score was 24-0 favor of the Wheeler Mustangs.

Claude made several scoring attempts within Wheeler territory, but Wheeler bucked each one.

Homecoming Fete Planned For The Pampa Harvesters

The band, the floats, the pretty girls! — You guessed it, it is a parade. Not just any parade though, it is the Pampa Harvester Homecoming parade.

Yes, the Harvester Booster Club is sponsoring a parade for the PHS student body and the public.

Floats will be entered and prizes will be given to the best decorated bicycle, car, and float.

The band will play and the Harvester fans will be able to see what kind of spirit the town has for the mighty Harvesters.

People entered are down town merchants, civic clubs, high school clubs, and just folks who want to show their enthusiasm.

The Homecoming game will be played against the Palo Duro Dons in Harvester Stadium next Friday night at 7:30

Junior High Football Action

The Pampa Junior High School football teams split their two games this week with the eighth graders winning and the ninth graders losing. The eighth graders won their 6th game without a loss. The ninth grade record now stands at 2 wins 4 losses and 1 tie.

The Reapers lost to Perryton by a 27 to 7 count. The Perryton Raiders are one of the district's finer teams and had control of the game from the start. Mike Taylor returned the opening kickoff past midfield and almost broke it all the way for the Reapers. A Gary Harper to Robert Young pass gained 20 yards and gave PJH good field position. A fifteen yard holding penalty stopped the drive and forced the Reapers to punt. Following an exchange of punts the Raiders took the ball on their own 42 yard line and marched in for the score. The scoring play came about when a Reaper safety man fell down in the end zone allowing the Perryton end to catch a long pass. The extra point kick was good to make the score 7 to 0.

Following the kickoff the Reapers were forced to punt from their own 40 yard line. Mike Taylor's punt was blocked and Perryton took over on Pampa's 14 yard line. The Reaper defense stiffened but Perryton punched the ball in taking 5 plays to score. The extra point was good making the score 14 to 0.

Perryton scored once again before the half on a 40 yard reverse play. The score at that point was 20 to 0. Just before the half Perryton drove to inside the Reaper 10 yard line. At this point the Reaper defense held and got the ball back.

The Reapers only score of the day came right after the start of the second half. Mark Baird kicked the ball deep in Perryton territory and defensive end Jimmy Schoonover nailed the Perryton ball carrier inside the ten yard line. On third down linebacker Mike Shouse intercepted a Perryton pass and ran 30 yards for the touchdown. Mark Baird's extra point was good to make the score 20 to 7.

Perryton scored late in the fourth quarter 48 yard touchdown drive. A 15 yard personal foul penalty aided their cause and set up good field position. The score came on a 3 yard run. The extra point was good to make the final score 27 to 7.

Reaper head coach Don Drinnon commented on the game: "We were playing a very good team and knew that we would have to play very well to have a chance of beating them. We simply made to many mistakes. Our offense didn't produce any points and our defense didn't get the ball from Perryton for us. We found some good things to talk about, though. Our kids hit good and gave an effort throughout the game. We feel like we will be ready for Borger next week."

The Reaper eighth grade team defeated Dumas 20 to 12. Early in the game Oral Morgan brought the crowd alive with an 80 yard run only to have a penalty nullify the score. Following a punt, Dumas drove in for the game's first score. Their try for two extra points was no good and the game was 6 to 0. Reaper fullback Frankie Lemons returned the Dumas kickoff for 70 yards and a touchdown. The try for the extra point was no good leaving the game in a 6 to 6 tie. Forcing a punt the Reapers again scored. Doug Lee scampered 32 yards and Oral Morgan went 21 yards. Then Frankie Lemons drove off guard for the last 2 yards and a touchdown. Dumas scored again just before the half to knot the game at 12 to 12.

The second half was more of a defensive battle than the first. Larry Petty recovered a Dumas fumble and Jerry Matney intercepted a pass to stop Dumas drives. On a Dumas punt Reaper safety Randy Harris returned the ball 25 yards to set up good field position. Mike Martin kept the ball on the option play for 34 yards and an apparent touchdown. A penalty nullified the score and moved the ball back five yards. On the next play Martin hit tight end Larry Petty with a 37 yard scoring strike.

Bears Go With Douglass In Attack Against Dallas

CHICAGO (AP) — Young Bobby Douglass will quarterback the Chicago Bears against Dallas while the Cowboys plan double-barrelled leadership in a clash of National Football Conference divisional runnersup today.

Coach Tom Landry will shuttle quarterbacks Craig Morton and Roger Staubach on alternate Cowboy plays as Dallas runnerup in the NFC's Eastern Division, and the Bears, deadlocked for second in the Central Division match 4-2 records.

Despite Chicago's 28-23 upset victory over the Lions in last Sunday's tragedy-marred game at Detroit, the Bears are tabbed three-point underdog as Dallas comes off a 44-21 romp over the New England Patriots.

The heart-attack-caused death of Detroit's Chuck Hughes overshadowed a great Bear performance by Douglass, an erstwhile neglected third-string quarterback used only because Jack Concannon and Knet Nix were sidelined by injury.

In only his second start in two seasons, the southpaw Douglass completed 15 of 21 passes for two touchdowns and

History Of Big Thicket Given At Civic Culture Club Meeting

"Our Natural Environment — The Big Thicket" was the program topic of Mrs. E.L. Anderson at the recent meeting of Civic Culture Club in the home of Mrs. A.D. Hills.

The Big Thicket - deep in East Texas - is an area unlike any other in the state, she told the women. Rare birds and plants make its value to science, to Texas and the nation immeasurable.

Recorded history of the Big Thicket extends down the corridors of centuries, she said. Diaries of Spanish Missionaries describe a vast woodland between their East Texas Missions and the sea, so dense they could not struggle through it.

Runaway slaves and other fugitives commonly escaped pursuit by melting into its trackless recesses, Mrs. Anderson pointed out. General Sam Houston planned to gain sanctuary in it for his army if they lost out in the battle of San Jacinto.

Today the sheriff's department maintains a pack of bloodhounds, principally to rescue ordinary citizens lost in the great wilderness, she stated.

Mrs. Anderson explained that this thicket they are working so hard to preserve as a National Park, lies some 57 miles from downtown Houston, has a vast area of virgin pine and hard wood. It's called the biological crossroads of North America with all the plants common to the deep south growing lushly here, along side many native to the Appalachin Highland. The only Western vegetation missing is sagebrush.

There are 67 species of trees and shrubs in the thicket, she said. Some of these are holly, cypress, magnolia, eastern red cedar, black hickory, red bay and yanpon, attaining record size, orchids and palmeto jungles.

The animal life consists of black bear, panthers, but fast disapearing as the passenger pigeon, white tail deer, mink, otter, and muskrat, she told the group. Small game are coon, possum, bobcats, foxes, wolves, armadilloes and the wild hog.

Around 300 species of birds, many varieties of snake, such as the cotton mouth moccasins, copperheads, cane rattlers and coral, are found in the Big Thicket she added.

Some of the original settlers came long before the civil war from the Old South, Mrs. Anderson related. Numerous creeks and rivers criss-cross the big thicket. It has an annual rainfall of 60 inches, with the climate fairly even, with freeze uncommon, and it has the only Indian reservation in the state of Texas.

The Forest Service finely studied the Big Thicket in 1938, hoping to make a state and national park of it, she said. Then World War II loomed up and all park plans were shelved for the duration.

In 1961 the national park service was prevailed upon to re-identify the Big Thicket as a desireable adjunct to the system, Mrs. Anderson related.

It seems the need of the big thicket has reached the hearts of industrial bishops, and the effort to save the thicket is supported by a wide range of groups, including the Texas Federation of Womens Clubs, Mrs. Anderson explained. Besides just preserving the wilderness, it will open a tremendious tourest area, one that will lead people toward Padre Island and on to the Big Bend Country, she concluded.

The business session was led by Mrs. Frank Grantham.

Members present were Mmes. E.L. Anderson, Irvin Cole, F.R. Grantham, A.D. Hills, J.J.; Rance, D. A. Rife, Carl Smith and Chester Williams.

Betty Gives Handy Guide For Work On Committees

By BETTY CANARY

For a didicated nonjoiner, I seem to be a member of a surprising number of committees and therefre am always receiving notes and post cards bearing mysterious messages and remihders.

I usually show up at the specified place, a practice of mine since the time I received a cryptic reminder and, not understanding it, tossed it into the wastebasket, only to discover it had been a notice to appear in traffic court. (The policeman, while polite, took a distinctly cool interest in my crowded calendar.)

If by chance you find yourself on a committee, the best way to save time and still be a contributing member is to skip the first three meetings and show up at the fourth — at which time some work may possibly be done. This is an especially good idea if notices for the first meeting have the words Planning or Selection in the message.

A Planning Committee meets in order to choose a committee to select a committee. The Selection Committee is always a long meeting where time is spent ironing out old problems. The gist of the conversation during such meetings is usually, "Don't you dare appoint Susan Shamfit to Costumes again! She always wants the second graders to be elves or angels!"

Once the real committees are formed, go to the meeting. Even there, of course, there are certain rules to follow in order to cut through to important issues and accomplish the work in a reasonable length of time.

For example, do not, I repeat, do not ask why carbon copies of membership lists must be sent to state and national headquarters.

If serving on a group deciding what to do with leftovers from your club rummage sale, do not ask why certain charitabl orgahization always resell your donations at outrageous prices.

If you want the reputation of being a troublemaker, always be sure to say, "I've been here an hour now — could somebody tell me what this meeting is all about?"

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"We won't stop war until women unite and their virtues of sensitivity and love are imposed on the public scene."—Dianne Feinstein, candidate for mayor of San Francisco.

"The widespread use of birth control devices had a lot to do with launching the women's liberation movement now. There's an equality in relationships that didn't exist before .... Now a woman is both master of body and destiny. She has a certain sense of self."—Rita Hauser, U.S. representative to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, in a talk at Cedar Crest College.

"I'm in a whirlwind of undisciplined behavior, so I'm trying very hard to keep her on a very definite schedule. I don't want the vibes of hysteria around her."—Singer Lainie Kazan, in an interview, speaking of her 4-month-old daughter.

Relationships Highlight Of District PTA Meet

Rev. J.R. Chisum of the Gardner Street Church of Christ, Borger, spoke on human relationships at the District 19 Parent - Teacher Association workshop, held recently in Wheeler.

Rev. Chisum stated that too much pressure is applied to the youth of today, with parents tending to use their childrens' achievements as conversation pieces.

He pointed out that the biggest mistake of parents is failing to set a good example for their children.

"Kids do not act like they are thirty because they simply are not," he stated.

He was introduced by Mrs. C.L. Farmer, of Pampa, workshop chairman.

Milton Kasch, curriculum director of Borger schools, introduced the student panel, composed of senior students from schools in the area.

Jimmy Cole of Wheeler was host panelist, assisted by Miss Brenda Scott of Pampa, Miss Patricia Schnell of Spearman and James Brown of Panhandle.

The panelists pointed out that parents sometimes refuse to accept their childrens' problems as problems. On drugs, they stated that they are a problem because parents and students don't know how to communicate and because too many parents don't want to get involved.

They voiced the opinion that organizations such as the student council and PTA units need total participation instead of one small group "doing it all."

When asked what students looked for in an adult, they replied "leadership and guidance, not dictatorship."

After lunch, a film was shown, followed by buzz groups.

Mrs. Ben Malone of Borger, president, led the business meeting. The flag presentation was made by Boy Scout Troop 72 of Wheeler, and Dorman Thomas, Wheeler superintendent of schools, gave the welcome. The roll was called by Mrs Bill Surrat of Panhandle, recording secretary.

The majority of Pampa School were represented with Lamar School sending the most delegates in the district.

Next district meeting will be held in the Spring in Pampa.

Moore-Van Dillow Vows Read In Military Chapel Ceremony

Miss Carletta Nell Moore became the bride of S-Sgt. Phillip Van Dillow recently in Las Vegas, at Nellis Air Force Chapel in Las Vegas, Nev.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bobbye Moore of Las Vegas, and Carl W. Moore of Pampa. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Dillow of Tamms, Ill.

THE CEREMONY

The couple was married before a large lighted cross, with Lt. Col. Newton Hardin, USAF chaplain, officiating for the double-ring ceremony.

Other decorations included gold candelabra with yellow and white spiral candles. Flanking the altar were two large white pedestal baskets with arrangements of yellow and gold mums and English ivy, with yellow satin ribbons.

David Ballew, organist, played the traditional wedding music and "He."

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her uncle, Bill Morse, the bride wore a Maurer original gown of peau-de-soie. The fitted bodice, accented with imported Spanish lace, embroidered with seed pearls, was styled with a scoop neckline and elbow-length, scalloped sleeves, also accented with lace and seed pearls. The A-line skirt, highlighted with the same lace and pearls and fashioned with a double row of lace and pearls at the hemline, ended in a chapel train.

Her four-tiered veil of illusion fell from a lace Camelot hat, embroidered with pearls and yellow sweetheart roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations and English ivy, centered with a large white orchid.

She wore a blue garter that was worn by her mother when she was married and a single-strand pearl necklace, a gift from her sister. She placed a lucky penny in her garter.

S-SGT. AND MRS. PHILLIP VAN DILLOW

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Gena Simpson of Pampa, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Paulette Moore of Las Vegas was maid of honor.

The matron of honor wore a formal-length dress of pale gold chiffon, styled with a scoop neckline and long sleeves. Her headpiece of pale gold satin ribbon held her two-tiered veil of illusion.

Both carried Colonial bouquets of yellow and tangerine carnations and English ivy, tied with long narrow satin streamers.

Floyd Harckmann served as best man, and Kenneth Beam was groomsman. Ushers were Steve Johnston and Ron Krivejo, who served also as candlelighters.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother wore a brown and tan knitted suit with gold accessories. Her corsage was a gardenia.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Hadda Moore of Pampa, wore a two-piece white knitted dress with white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the Non-Commissioned Officers' Club, the table was covered with a white satin cloth, edged with Spanish lace. Table decorations included two candelabra with spiral yellow and white candles.

The three-tiered wedding cake, with champagne glass between each layer, was decorated with sweetheart roses and topped with the traditional miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Linda Mowery of Las Vegas presided at the silver punch bowl, filled with champagne. Miss Jeanne Sellenger served the cake, and guests were registered by Mrs. Melody Griffith.

For the extended wedding trip, touring the country, the bride wore a light-blue knit dress with white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 4956 Vista Flora Way, Las Vegas, Nev.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride attended Pampa schools and was employed here by Zale's Jewelers. The bridegroom, a 1966 graduate of Egyptian High School, is serving with the US Air Force, stationed at Nellis AFB, Las Vegas.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with children's toys that have to be wound up by mama about 20 times in 20 minutes as the knobs are too stiff and hard for a toddler to operate.

Quotable Quotes

"When I started medical school, it was a disgrace for a woman to be a nurse. She had to see and do things around patients that a woman wasn't supposed to see or do. My family encouraged me to go to medical school. But it was hard. The boys in class would have been happy to throw me out."—Dr. Lena F. Schreier, a Utah "country doctor" for 60 years.

"It's honest work. It is much less of a hassle than working a bank or an office. It's something I can do, there are no problems with dress and it's certainly no more mindless than being a file clerk or something."—Carol Roberts, a former doctoral candidate in linguistics at Harvard, working as a cleaning lady.

Trauma Of Growing Up Scars Mother's Psyche

By BETTY CANARY

Having a teen-aged daughter has been compared to having an exposed nerve. The pain and throbbing is constant although it varies, from time to time, in degree.

I have disagreed with this theory. "A teenaged daughter is a tender, passionate, lovely thing," I have said, "who would never give her mother another scar to her psyche."

Those statements are now in my Famous Last Words file, of course, because, when I made them, I didn't have a teen-aged daughter.

A teen-aged daughter IS a tender, passionate being, but, as our scars thicken, we see she plays the game of growing up with serious intent.

She can look a mother straight in the eye and accuse you of forcing her to dress "properly" only because you want some reflected glory.

She can cry out over her algebra book that you want her to study hard only because you didn't get good grades in high school.

She can react to curfew rules with the accusation that because you weren't asked for many dates, you don't want her to have any fun.

She can glance with pity and explain that the only reason you want her to go to college is because it's a status symbol, another star for your personal crown.

Yes, it's the same darling daughter. The one you diapered and coddled. The one you pushed relentlessly through the park— rain or shine. The one you carried through museums, took to fairs, watched at swimming lessons.

But, before reacting only with fury and fear, we'll recognize that she has to strike out in order to grow up. We'll see we've done what we set out to do — bring up a free individual, not create a tame and docile pet.

By JUDY LOVE

An important word in fashion this season is the layered look. A shirt under a sweater, and on top of that a vest, then maybe a jacket or blazer — or best of all, a poncho.

This all-weather poncho is the perfect answer for warming up the season. You knit it on two circular needles one 29 inches and the other a 16-inch. You'll find it will work along quickly, once you've worked your test piece. This is simple: Using color A (dark gray), cast on 12 sts on the 16-inch circular needle. Work back and forth in stockinette st for 16 rows. Your test piece should measure 4 inches square. If it doesn't, then try different size needles. If the piece is too small, use larger needles; if it's bigger than 4 inches then you must work with smaller needles.

I continue to emphasize the proper gauge, because it's the basis for turning out garments that fit and look professional. When your gauge is right, then your finished poncho or sweater, will look the way you want it to, simply by following directions.

This particular poncho, with instructions available for sizes 8 right up to 18, is knit in Reynolds Icelandic Lopi yarn, in three shades of natural color gray.

The poncho is finished with a smart, easy-to-hook fringe, that you work around the bottom edge with a Size K hook.

So put a poncho on your knitting list. Directions are available by just sending 50 to Stitchin' Time, CO Pampa News, Radio City Station, Box 403, New York, N.Y. 10021. Ask for Stitchin' Time leaflet S327. Inlude your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Judy — I've been putting off knitting the cableknit sweater which I promised my daughter for a long time. Up until now I've only tackled ultra-simple garments and the cable-knits have always looked a bit difficult. Can you help me keep my overdue promise? Thank you.

Dtar V.M. — It's much easier than it looks. Don't worry, your daughter will be wearing that cable-knit sweater very soon.

When working cables, unless otherwise specifically directed in the instructions, start row count as follows: purled, or wrong side of work — row one. This will assure that every odd-numbered row will come on the wrong side of the work and every even-numbered row will come on the right side of the work. This method of counting rows should make the work less confusing when making the cable row itself, as it will automatically throw the cable onto the evennumbered row and on the right side of the work.

When making a cable, slip the desired number of sts onto the cable-stitch holder, keeping the curve in the holder down. When the sts are on, turn the needle-points of the holder down and very lightly stick the left-hand point of the holder into the knitting to keep it firmly in position. Work the next number of sts called for and then, instead of knitting the stw from the holder, which many knitters often find awkward, sli pthe sts from the holder back onto the lefthand needle and then knit them off from this.

To keep the holder readily available when working a number of cables in the row, stick the holder lightly into the work, taking care that it does not split the threads of the knitting.

As it is impossible these days to attend a meeting, go to a cocktail party or even drop into the corner supermarket without hearing about the male chauvinist, it is to a woman's advantage to recognize one when she hears him.

Male chauvinists are common birds, always whistling the same tune. Difficult to spot when silent, they come in many shapes and sizes and are found roosting at all social levels. A male chauvinist may be single or married, successful or not successful in his chosen career. They are given to flocking together and, at such times, give off fierce and raucous sounds.

The most common of the M.C. species are the indulgent and the outspoken.

The indulgent, gentle-type M.C. is likely to protest the definition of his species. He is quick to point out that he loves women, especially his "old lady" (mother) and particularly "tthe litte woman" (wife).

The outspoken M.C. is proud of his title and traits and usually prefaces his remarks with "The truth may hurt, but . . . ."

Whatever their superficial differences, male chauvinists are basically alike in their parrotlike Freudian statements about women. They also share the belief that women come in two categories—cute chicks or little red hens—both of which are placed here for the sole purpose of helping the M.C. play out his role of having something to crow about.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — I frequently buy teen-age magazines with folded colored posters that can be removed from the middle. How can I remove the creases from these posters without having white lines where they were? I enjoy the column and love the Pet Peeves and have one with the stores that will not let one return defective records.

SCOTT

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those awful bathroom commercials which are insulting to most intelligent people. We do not appreciate lessons in personal hygiene every few minutes.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the kind of man who can never be faithful to just one woman. I have left him several times because of this, but I always took him back because of the children. Tell me, Abby, is a woman a fool to stay married to a man for the sake of her children?

MEADOWDALE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A man's faithfulness (or the absence of it) is only a part of his total behavior. What kind of man is he otherwise? What kind of husband is he? What kind of father has he been? Has he been discreet? Do the children love and respect him? How much have his extra curricular affairs affected your family life? Many a woman has stayed married to a man for the sake of her children when she should have left him for the same reason.

DEAR ABBY: I love to cook, and my specialty is Hawaiian chicken. Last night we had company for dinner and everyone raved about my chicken, whereupon my husband launched into an assault on my mother's cooking. He stressed the point that, although my mother was a "farm girl," she never learned how to cook a chicken. Then he described with much exaggeration and ridicule the way my mother's chicken came out.

I was terribly hurt and embarrassed. I'll admit my mother was not a very good cook, but she tried. Besides, HIS mother was no better, but I wouldn't dream of ridiculing her cooking.

Later I let my husband know how I felt, and he said he thought it was "funny." Is there something wrong with my sense of humor? I don't like people laughing at my mother. I'd like your opinion.

PUZZLED IN VERMONT

DEAR PUZZLED: Some people don't care whom they ridicule as long as they get a laugh. Your husband sounds like that kind of person. You let him know you didn't like it. Good for you! In the future I think he'll be more careful.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful man. We have four children. The oldest is nine and the baby is two. My husband is in Korea in the service.

When he's home, he is the most loving and understanding man around, but when he's away, he never writes.

I have had only two letters from him in six weeks. I write to him every single night. I tell him about the children and myself and send him newspaper clippings, and I really try to make my letters newsy and cheerful. And I always tell him how much I love him and miss him.

I got in touch with the Red Cross to see if he was all right. That's how worried I was about him.

I have decided to quit writing to him until I hear from him, and see how he likes it. I love him very much, and deep down I know he loves me. So what shoul[illegible]

LONELY WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Keep writing to him. It is possible that he has been writing, but you're not getting his letters.

DEAR ABBY: How are you? Nobody ever asks you how YOU are, they just start right in by telling you their troubles.

I was taught that when one one writes a letter of a personal nature, it is only common courtesy to inquire about the health of the person to whom he is writing, and to omit this small formality is extremely rude.

So I would like to make up for all who have failed you in this regard and ask, how are, Abby?

RESPECTFUL IN MEN DOCINO

DEAR RESPECTFUL: I'm just great. And grateful, thank you.

PICK UP SLUGS--what's your problem, etc.

What's your problem? You'll felt better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

DEAR MARGART —Two of your Pet Peeves are out of the way. You have proved I do not write them myself. Also, you will be finding a Polly Dollar in your mail, so the last one is out of the way for one day at least.

CANARY's comments

By Betty Canary

Every so often we suffer from what was called in old novels, Malaise of the Spirit. Which, translated, means, there is nothing wrong with you except something is wrong with you. You aren't exactly tired, not really trapped, but the dust is settling on you while the ironing piles up.

There are innumerable suggested cures the specialists in cheer recommend to a woman who suffers such feelings. Buy a new dress, they say, or buy a bouquet, or dash down and acquire a new hair style. All patently ridiculous ideas, because, on a gloom-and-doom day, a new dress can leave you feeling seedier than ever, fresh flowers have a way of making streaks on the windows show up and getting a new hairdo will make you look absolutely tacky because afterwards you'll notice your eyebrows aren't the right shape at all.

Other suggestions include saving dirty work for such a dismal afternoon. This means, when gloom strikes you jump up and wax your refrigerator or clean the oven. I understand this theory but, privately, I can't believe anyone with this kind of iron willpower has ever truly suffered Malaise of the Spirit.

Jeffna Talley, Dale Welch Marry In Double-Ring Rite

MIAMI (Special) — Miss Jeffna Talley of Miami was united in marriage with Dale "Cowboy" Welch of Canadian in a double-ring service in the First Baptist Church at 3 p.m. October 10.

Rev. Roy Moody, pastor, performed the ceremony before a setting of two, fifteen-branched candelbra, with white tapers, decorated with two-toned yellow gladioli and greenery.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Sid Talley of Miami. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Welch of Canadian.

Mrs. Miles O'Loughlin, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Rhonda Hardin of Houston as she sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg, "More", and the Theme from "Mondo Cane" by Ortolani.

Rowdy Welch, brother of the bridegroom of Canadian served as candlelighter.

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father with the "Her mother and I" avowal, wore a floor-length gown of antique brocaded satin, styled with an empire waistline, jewel neckline and muttonleg sleeves. Her chapel-length veil of English illusion fell from a white satin Juliette cap. She carried a hand bouquet of white roses and English ivy.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Newell Rankin, cousin of the bried, and Miss Wanda Williams, both of Miami, attended the bride. They wore floor-length gowns of gold brocaded satin, styled with Empire waistlines, square necklines, and short puffed sleeves. They wore gold necklaces and their shoes were of metallic gold. Their headresses were gold braided bows, and they carried white hand bouquets with gold and white streamers.

Serving his brother as best-man was Hoyt Lee "Eullet" Welch of Canadian. Groomsman was Jim Martin of Canadian. Ushers were Joe Talley of Miami, brother of the bride, and Larry Martin of Canadian.

MOTHER

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Talley wore a blue sleeveless dress with beaded trim and matching blue shoes. The bridegroom's mother wore a multicolor doubleknit dress with short sleeves and black shoes. Both wore white glamelia corsages.

RECEPTION

For the reception, held in Fellowship Hall of the church, the table was covered with a white, lace-edged linen cloth centered with gold candles entwined with greenery. Misses Earletta and Mayola Alexander of White Deer, cousins of the bride, served the cake and presided at the crystal punch bowl.

The groom's table was covered with a gold linen cloth, centered with a miniature gold candelabra holding five votive candles. Miss Vicki Hopkins served the chocolate cake, and Miss Shanon Flowers presided at the gold coffee service.

Miss Melinda Stephenson of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, and Miss Fran Moore of Miami registered the guests.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a senior student in Miami High School. She was crowned Miss Miami at the National Cow Calling Contest in Miami in June 1970. She was one of the finalist for the title of Texas Pork Queen at the annual meeting of the Texas Pork Producers Association at College Station in April 1971. She plans to finish her senior year. She has attended the Pampa School of Hairdressing the last two summers.

The bridegroom graduated from Canadian High School and attended West Texas State University. He is now employed by Wheatheart Feedlots, north of Canadian. He is soon to go into the National Guard.

Approximately 250 attended the wedding.

Assisting in the houseparty for the reception were Mmes. Leslie Moore, Larry Kaul, Frank Heare, W.H. Moore, Donald Jenkins, R.A. Flowers, Jr., Loron Grantham, Melvin McCuistion, Wanda Talley, Lawrence Buice, and John Brogden.

Book Review Highlights Twentieth Century Meet

The Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. David McGahey, 1901 Evergreen, with Mrs. W.R. Campbell, president, in charge.

Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton was welcomed as a new member. Plans were discussed for the forthcoming style show, to be presented at the Pampa Country Club Saturday, Nov. 6, at 2:30 p.m., with proceeds going to a scholarship fund.

Mrs. Richard Stowers presented the program with a book review of "The Double Thread" by Waler Starcke. She urged everyone to read the book because of the importance of each page, which could not be totally captured in a review of it. In the book the author stresses the whole person is made of three parts; body, mind, and spirit. He shows how these parts can be balanced to attain the freedom of becoming a whole person.

True love is shown as the capacity to see through mere appearances to the whole person within, Mrs. Stowers reported. Prayer is discussed in the book, not as a thing, but as an experience with "listening" as the most important factor of prayer, she said.

There is a chapter on death, in which it is described as an illusion, Mrs. Stowers told the women. When a seed falls into the ground and breaks open, it appears to die, but that death is actually only the movement of life from one form into another.

Mr. Starcke says that only by experiencing all the misery and joy of being a human, and by the equisite moments of identifying with the infinite beyond do we live life fully, Mrs. Stowers stated.

Members present were Miss Elsie Cuningham; and Mmes. Lorene Lacke, W.R. Campbell, Charles Eagans, Joe Gordon, Raymond Harrah, V.J. Jamieson, David McGahey, Fred Neslage, Rex Rose, Richard Stowers, D.J. George, Bill West, Lloyd Hamilton, Kent Hicks, H.R. Thompson, and Bob Andis.

Panel Presents Wonders Of America For Meeting Of Varietas Study Club

Mrs. R.W. Lane was hostess to the Varietas Study Club Tuesday, with Mrs. J.E. Gibson presiding.

"Today's Vision" was the study topic presented by a panel, introduced by Mrs. Sherman White, who spoke o the topic "The Wonders of America." Panel members were Mrs. J.R. Spearman, Mrs. S.C. Evans and Mrs. Price Dosier.

"Seas, Mountains, Oceans and Hills" was Mrs Spearman's topic. She discussed the changing values in American life, the significance of present events and the hopes for the future.

In discussing U.S. resources, she said, "We Americans do not just own mountains; we boast a choice of mountains—any kind you want. We have lazy rivers or wild and leaping torrents. We have everything."

She stressed that Americans do not want, nor need, any land belonging to any other country.

"If we tidy up what we have, we can stretch it out for a long time," she said.

Sherman White, who spoke on "Forests, Trees, Lakes and Streams." She described many of the famous landmarks of the country, telling of the Redwood Forest, Lake Powell, Texarkana Lake and Lake Ponchatrain.

She stressed the recreation areas in the Texas Panhandle, discussing Lake Meredith, Lake Marvin, and Lake McClellan. Mrs. Evans spoke of the value of trees.

"One acre of trees will provide oxygen for eighteen people and will also yield wood when needed," she said. "Thus, every American should work toward the preservation of our forests and lakes."

Mrs. Dosier talked on "Cities, Towns and People." She spoke first about San Antonio's values and its hope of being host to the 1976 Bi-Centennial. She discussed Ferndale, Calif., the westernmost city in the U.S.; the Mescalero Reservation, where the Apaches have made great improvements; and Lake City, Colo., where crime is now at a minimum.

She closed with a brief sketch of outstanding Texas women.

"Among these women are Mrs. Walker of Austin, who is a sister of Mrs. Ed Williams of Pampa, and Wanda Jay Campbell, who writes a question-and-answer column and is a former Pampan, now living in Austin," she stated.

Mrs. W.H. Burden presented piano selections and accompanied the group in singing patriotic songs. The group recited the American Creed.

Present were Mmes. W.E. Abernathy, W.H. Burden, F.A Cary, Price Dosier, Clyde Ellis, S.C. Evans, J.T. Gibson, J.E. Kirchman, R.W. Lane, Otis Nace, J.R. Spearman, Sherman White; and Miss Anna Pierce.

Senator Ervin Says There Are Limits

By GREGG HERRNGTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., doesn't care if women are bartenders or wrestlers, but he doesn't want them drafted or using men's restrooms.

And, if an amendment to the U.S. Constitution guaranteeing equal rights for women becomes law, Ervin says, those things and more will have to be sanctioned by courts that are merely living up to the Consituation.

Supporters of the amendment say Ervin is wrong.

Ervin, third-ranking Democrat on the Senate Judiciary Committee and architect of moves that killed the measure a year ago, is plotting new tactics for the 1972 renewal of the battle.

Ervin has promised Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield he won't block action on the amendmen in Sen. Birch Bayh's constitutional amendments subcommittee. In return, Ervin has been guaranteed that the panel will no even bring it up for consideration until after Congress returns from a Christmas recess.

Meanwhile, Ervin will try to persuade others on Bayh's subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee, of the "shortcomings" and try to enlist their aid in adding a few so-called corrective amendments.

Brownie Revel Is Held At Campsite

Quivira Girl Scout Council, which covers 10 Panhandle counties, held a Brownie Revel recently at Camp Mel Davis, near Lefors.

Attending were 222 girls and 44 adults from Pampa, Miami, Canadian, Shamrock and Wellington.

The event was sponsored by Senior Troop 2 of Pampa, assisted by Cadette Troops 41 and 3. Senior troop advisors are Mrs. Richard Stowers, Mrs. J.B. Maguire and Mrs. J.P. Brumley, all of Pampa. Mrs. R.O. Linville of Pampa served as camp nurse.

During the day-long event, the Brownies learned new songs and games, toasted "doughboys" over charcoal fires, learned to tie knots and learned how to care for a knife.

The afternoon activities included films of last year's Brownie Revel, a hike to the river and the closing flag ceremony.

A Lovelier You

Fresh New Skin

By Mary Sue Miller

(Third in a series of five special columns: "Beauty Boutique: Shop Here.")

Has summer taken a toll of your complexion? With the return to fashion of clean-lined, classic clothes, the face wants for the freshness and glow of classic good looks.

Renewal begins with increased cleansing — sudsings with soap, gel foam, lathering cream or lotion suitable to your skin type from dry to normal and oily. When the skin is pristine clean, the application of a stimulating mask is in order several times weekly.

For oily skin, slightly alkaline masks are indicated. Dry, slack skins respond to astringent formulas. Some masks harden, some remain soft. Instructions come with the packages.

There are two very simple, but effective homemade masks. For oily skin, mix dry oatmeal and the beaten white of egg to a paste. Apply thickly to cleansed skin and let dry. Peel off with edge of spoon, rinse with warm and then cool water. For dry skin, mix teaspoon of almond meal with quarter cup of salad oil. Spread oil mixture, gently massage in, wait five minutes and then remove excess oil with tissue. Rinse with warm water. Finish by sponging on mild skin tonic or witch hazel.

In addition, check on the effectiveness of your nightcare product. And your makeup. Do you need the moisturized, medicated or hypo-allergenic kind? In the framework of personal flattery, are your makeup colors fashion-oriented? Right on, if your cosmetics impart natural color and glow.

Beauty Tip: Conditioning treatments and styling for your tresses and your wigs would not go amiss.

Tomorrow: Color Buy-Lines.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Pampan Recommends Double-Knit Ribbons

DEAR POLLY — My pointer is not strictly "household," but it surely made mine a happier one. My husband was remodeling our house, and his back and shoulders would get so tired and sore. He asked me to massage them, but I am not very good at it and even my best was not much help. Finally, I thought of using a rolling pin, and it worked beautifully. Just roll out those sore places as though you are making a pie. Works great! You can also tell friends you've used your rolling pin on your husband, and get a laugh. — —SHIRLEY

DEAR POLLY — I cleaned tar off of my plastic purse with alcohol, and then washed the purse with water. — MAUDE

DEAR POLLY — An old pipe rack makes a fine holder for pencils and scissors. — JEFF

DEAR POLLY — When I'm washing doillies and other clothes I starch the doillies and smooth them on top of the dryer. They are beautiful — and dry — by the time I am finished awith the other things.

—MRS. E.E.

DEAR POLLY — To make narrow windows appear wider, I use a curtain rod wider than the window so the lace panels are over the glass and the drapes at each side only come to the glass. This gives the effect of a nice, wide window. — KATE

DEAR POLLY — When making little girls' dresses, allow for a four-inch hem. Make a hem at two inches and press and stitch. Turn another hem up on this line and stitch. When the child grows taller, take out the stitches in the hem showing and there is another all ready to go. This saves re-hemming and the line left from the first hem seldom shows.

—J.A.Z.

DEAR POLLY —Empty candy boxes with dividers for individual pieces are great to use for holding buttons and keeping them sorted. One can even put "like" colors in a row and make matching colors easier. — MRS. J.R.A.

DEAR POLLY — When someone in our house has a birthday, I don't write the names on the envelopes for the cards. I rescue such envelopes, put them in a folder, and have envelopes to match in size most any card I might mail, should I spoil its own envelope. — —MRS. J.M.

DEAR POLLY — In our family each one uses a different color in towels, so they are never mixed up. Joey always has dark red, Sammy has pink and so on.

—SYLVIA

DEAR POLLY — One-inch strips of polyester double knit make good hair ribbons for little girls, and big ones, too. They don't slide as ribbon does, and the wider strips can even be made into bows to wear on the back of the head over a cluster of curls or a pony tail. Dog ears are also pretty tied this way and rubber bands are not usually needed with it. — —ZITTELLA

Some mascara applied to the lashes, and your make-up is done. Gil says a woman should be able to get her make-up time down to 10 or 15 minutes once she's found the proper products and the right technique to use.

Polly Prints Suggestion Of Mrs. Darrell Hogsett

By JANE KADINGO

Mrs. Darrell Hogsett, west of city, is a second-time winning contributor to "Polly's Pointers," a nationally syndicated column published in The Pampa Daily News.

This year's column, in which her suggestion is printed under the name of "Zittella" is being printed concurrently with this article. Her other winning suggestion was printed in January 1970.

Suggestions come easily to Mrs. Hogsett, who keeps occupied with a variety of "at-home" projects. She was formerly active in a number of women's groups, mainly the Woodrow Wilson, Robert E. Lee and City Council Parent-Teacher Associations.

"I'm retired," she stated. "I do grandmotherly things now."

One of her current "grandmotherly" projects is refinishing and decorating a chest of drawers for her granddaughter. And at the same time, she is painting her kitchen.

Quilting is another project, for which she often drafts her own patterns. About a year ago, The Pampa Daily News published an article on a quilt she had designed, resulting in 93 requests for the pattern. She called the design "Grandmother's Log Cabin Quilt."

Always equal to the occasion, Mrs. Hogsett promptly fashioned a bridal bouquet of plastic flowers, that "looked real," when she discovered her prospective son-in-law was a hayfever sufferer.

"I wanted him to say, 'I do,' " she laughed, "not 'a-choo'!"

Not one to stay idle, Mrs. Hogsett has tried her hand at writing, having two stories published. Born in Noel, Missouri, named after her great-great grandfather, she wrote a story about a train that "blew up" there, which was published in the Amarillo paper. She points out proudly, that the first movie about Jessie James was filmed at Noel.

Proud of her family lineage, she has researched her family tree, tracing it back to 1710, preparing a copy for each member of her family.

Her other published work was a short story, appearing in Hounds and Hunting, about her husband's dog.

Feeling the constant need to learn new things, she has found time, also, to attend Amarillo College, taking courses in English, Home Economics, American History and Art.

In her spare time, she sews clothes for herself and her granddaughter.

Mrs. Hogsett is the proud mother of three, all grown and gone from home. Her son, Danny, 24, is attending the University of Texas at Arlington, majoring in business and finance.

Her daughter, Cynthia, 22, (Mrs. Steven Price), lives in Fort Worth and is the mother of Mrs. Hogsett's granddaughter, Christine Elizabeth, of whom she is very proud.

Her foster son, Donnie Elmore, 21, is serving with the Air Force.

Mrs. Hogsett's suggestion first published in Polly's Pointers was to use lard cans, obtained from a bakery, in which to pack food for camping.

Her recent suggestion was to use strips of double-knit for children's hair ribbons.

Her next suggestion to be published?

DOUBLE-KNIT STRIPS — Mrs. Darrell Hogsett, west of city, is shown with the double-knit strips she recommends for children's hair ribbons. Her suggestion is printed in today's Polly's Pointers column, under the name Zittella. This is the second time Mrs. Hogsett has had a suggestion printed in the column. (Staff Photo)

Income Tax Seminar

Our annual Income Tax Seminar will be held in the Agricultural Building, east of Pampa, Tuesday, Nov. 2, starting at 10 a.m. and ending at 3:30 p.m.

The Seminar should be of keen interest to farmers and ranchers that depend on others to make out their returns. However, it will also have excellent information for income tax accountants as well.

One new feature has been added that you will not want to miss. Fred Thompson, local insurance broker, will talk on "Self-employed Retirement Income." Many farmers and ranchers are overlooking a real bet in this matter.

Mr. E.E. Simmons, CPA, will discuss the topic, "Helping Your Income Tax Accountant."

Frank Daugherty, IRS, will do his usual job of bringing us up-to-date on new rulings and regulations of the I.R.S.

Judge Don Cain will welcome the group to Pampa.

The Seminar is for all counties in the Southeastern Panhandle. Everyone is invited. All local farmers, ranchers, and income tax accountants are invited and urged to attend. Since it's too wet to cut milo, this should be an excellent time to brush up on the latest on income tax management.

Milo Harvest

Recent rains have further delayed milo harvest. Many fields would have done to harvest by the middle of last week if the ground would have held the equipment up. We might wind up harvesting this milo crop in early morning with the ground frozen to hold up the combines and trucks. If I remember, we had this situation in the fifties. Combine men would start as soon as the ground was frozen hard enough to hold up the combine. By 10:00 a.m. or 11:00 a.m., the ground would be thawed out enough and they would have to pull out of the field and wait for the temperature to drop and freeze the ground over again.

We might want to keep this in mind. With good cabs on these combines, this might be our answer. Instead of praying for a let-up in rain, maybe we should pray for a hard freeze. The smartest thing a fellow might do right now is to buy futures in the milo market. If there ever was a year it would pay to store milo, it could be this year. In a very current release entitled "Texas Stocks of Grain in All Positions" it had this to say, "Grain Sorghum stocks of old crop grain are estimated at fifty-two million bushels, fifty-one per cent below a year ago. Both off-farm and farm stocks showed a significant decrease. Off-farm stocks showed a reduction of fifty million bushels or fifty per cent of previous year. Disappearances during the July 1-Oct. 1 quarter at thirty-five million bushels compared with forty-three million for the same quarter a year ago and sixty-four million for the April 1 to July 1 quarter.

No doubt the slow down of exports accounted for much of the decline in disappearance. If the disappearance had been as much the third quarter of this year as it was the second quarter, there wouldn't be enough milo left in storage to feed the chickens.

Nationwide stocks of all feed grains are down twenty-one per cent from a year earlier. Nationwide stocks of grain sorghum were down sixty-three per cent below last year. This is the lowest since 1957. Much of the price drop is psychological. A big corn crop is being harvested and the harvest is well ahead of schedule, but there is thirty-three per cent less corn in storage nationwide than a year earlier.

I still say it's a good year to speculate on a price rise on Milo!

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

The International Center for Arid and Semi-arid Land Studies at the Water Resources Center and Department of Civil Engineering at Texas Tech University has just completed its ICASALS Special Report No. 49 under the direction of Michael J. Mocek. B.J. Claborn and Dan M. Wells. Dr. Dan M Wells is a very familiar name to all Water, Inc. members in West Texas.

Special Report No. 49 is titled "Conjunctive Use of Water in West Texas." Chapter II of the report is of particular interest and importance to landowners in the Panhandle area. Chapter II concerns Groundwater Law. We are carrying a portion of this chapter in today's column.

"The term groundwater commonly refers to all water below the surface of the ground. However, in legal terminology, the term requires a more rigorous definition. Groundwater, in this sense, is normaly taken to include all water in the ground capable of movement by gravity, vulnerable to removal through wells, and to which legal controls can be feasibly applied. A further classification to be made before a discussion of the legal aspects of groundwater is possible is the distinction between that water in definite underground streams and percolating water. If a groundwater supply has the basic characteristics of a surface watercourse (definite channel cross section with a definite water source), it is classified as an underground stream. Several states, including Texas, recognize legal differences between percolating water and underground streams. In this study, underground streams were not included in the analysis. Therefore, this legal discussion will be concerned only with percolating water and the term groundwater will henceforth be used in reference to percolating water.

"A water right can be defined as a legal right to capture water from a natural source and to put it to a beneficial use. Water rights in the United States, whether surface water or groundwater, are based on two general doctrines: the common law doctrine of riparian rights and the doctrine of prior appropriation. The common law doctrine for groundwater is based on ownership of land above an aquifier. The doctrine of prior appropriation claims the water as public property and makes provisions for allocation of this water for beneficial uses.

"The common law doctrine can be subdivided into a set of three distinguishable rules: (1) The English rule of absolute ownership, (2) The American rule of reasonable use, and (3) The rule of correlative rights.

"The English rule of absolute ownership originated in the first half of the nineteenth century. It recognizes unrestricted ownership of groundwater by the damage to adjacent landowners caused by heavy pumping was considered as damage without wrongdoing.

"The American rule of reasonable use evolved from a suit in New Hampshire in 1862 (Basset versus Salifbury Manufacturing Company) and restricts the use of water to beneficial uses by the overlying landowner. In most cases the water must be used on the land from which it was pumped and the amount of water withdrawn is restricted to protect other landowners from injury.

"The rule of correlative rights is very similar to the American rule of reasonable use and the two are often incorrectly described as being synonymous. This rule provides that all landowners in a common groundwater basin have co-equal rights to the overlying use of the water. Then, the surplus water can be appropriated for other beneficial uses.

"In contrast to most other western states and also to its own surface water doctrines, the State of Texas still follows the English rule of absolute ownership of groundwater. This doctrine has been upheld as a fundamental part of Texas water law since the earliest litigation.

"In 1949, the Texas Legislature authorized overlying landowners to voluntarily organize underground water conservation districts for the purpose of well regulation. The districts have the right to provide for the conservation and prevention of waste of groundwater."

GROWING A BETTER ENVIRONMENT — Frank H. Worsham, Miami, is pictured with a pasture of "Weeping Lovegrass" designed to improve the natural environment plains land. Worsham was assisted in the planting by members of the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Better Environment Conservation Bonus

The Great Plains Conservation Program has greatly assisted Texas landowners in applying conservation practices and improving the environment in which we live, says Phil Richey, SCS Range Conservationist at Pampa. The program started in 1958 has currently been extented till 1981.

Richey goes on to say that in Texas there have been 12,015 contracts signed involving 15,124,699 acres at an average cost share of $3,575 per contract. Broken down farther, this is $2.84 government cost share per acre under contract from 1958 through 1971. Figures show that neither large or small perators are fvored. An operators are favored. An average size of all contracts, big ranches, and small farms included, shows 1,259 acres per contract.

A Great Plains contract runs a minimum of 3 years and a maximum of 10 years. It is a legal contract entered into by the landowner and secretary of Agriculture. Since 1958 there have been 7,393 completed or expired contracts. A total of $23,423,830 nas been spent on these contracts involving 9,875,685 acres. This leaves 4,622 contracts in effect in Texas as of 1971.

During the dust bowl days of the 1930's, there was a remendous amount of wind erosion due to land unsuited for cropping being cropped. From 1958 through 1971 the Great Plains Program has helped convert 523,541 acres from cropland to grass. This is an average of 20.7 per cent of all cropland acres under Great Plain contract.

In Gray County, there have been 170 contracts since 1958. There are currently 35 active contracts. From 1958 through 1971 there have been 246,878 acres under contract or a little less than ½ of the total acres in the county. Figures on government payment per contract will compare with the figures already quoted for the rest of the state.

What are some of the things that Great Plains helps pay for? In 197 pasture and range seeding accounted for 30.4 percent of tetal funds, terraces 17.1 percent, reorganizing irsigation systems 9.8 percent, and brush control 19.7 percent to name a few. Fences, wells, water storage facilities, land leveling, and critical area shaping are a few more. Here in Gray County we are concerned mostly with pasture planting, fences, wells and irrigation systems.

"The SCS is taking applications for Great Plains contracts," continues Richey. The program is for farmers and ranchers regardless of how big or small their operation is. Anyone interested in more information should come by the SCS office in the Courthouse Annex or call 665-1751.

The Air Force flew the group to Vietnam for the two-week project. The Navy provided most of the material and a private group, "Operation Helping Hand," supplied food.

HERE'S WHERE YOU GET CLIPPED.

Right in the newspaper. Or magazine.

Men will clip you. Women will clip you. Kids, too. And if your dollar volume begins to swell, swell.

But first, you've got to set yourself up for it. Putting coupons in print media is the best way. Print lets people clip and save your message. Or file it. Or compare it. Or pass it to a friend. Or mail it back to you.

And that's not all. Print shows your product off to its very best advantage. It flashes its color. Struts its style. Displays its beauty. Shouts its uses.

Print can do lots of things for you. Even get you clipped.

By the sweetest little grandma in town.

Cities Service Gives Executives Promotion

Fred H. Ramseur, Jr. has been elected executive vice presinent of Cities Service Company, a member of the executive committee of the Service Oil Company, the company's North American petroleum subsidiary.

As president of Cities Servi Oil, Ramseur, 56, succeeds Kirby E. Crenshaw, who is retiring. Crenshaw will continue as a director of the parent Cities Service Company and of Cities Service Oil Company.

John E. Meyer, 45, was elected group vice president-international of Cities Service Company and president of Cities Service International, Inc., a subsidiary. He succeeds Ramseur in those positions.

Meyer has been vice president, natural gas liquids of the company's North American Petroleum group since 1969.

The changes are effective Nov. 1. Ramseur and Meyer will be located in the New York headquarters.

Ramseur, who was elected a director of Cities Service Company earlier this year, has headed international operations since 1969. Previously, he had been vice president and general manager, natural gas liquids of the North American Petroleum group. A native of Lincolnton, North Carolina, Ramseur joined Cities Service in 1936 following graduation from North Carolina State University where he received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering. He has held engineering, operating and managerial positions in several phases of petroleum operations.

Crenshaw has been president of Cities Service Oil Company since 1968 and, previously, had been president of Cities Service Gas Company for 10 years. He joined Cities Service in 1930 and was elected executive vice president of Cities Service Gas in 1956. He has been a director of Cities Service Company since 1968. He was born in Elberton, Georgia and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering from North Carolina State University.

Meyer, who joined Cities Service in 1950, has served in numerous phases of the comp pany's operations. Prior to becoming vice president, natural gas liquids, he was presinent of Cities Service Tankers Corporation in 1968 and 1969 having previously been vice president and general manager of that subsidiary from 1963 to 1966. LEBANON, Ore. (AP) — Amy Bressler has received a check for $390 from the Treasury Department—all but $20 of the cash she says she accidentally burned in the fireplace of her parents' home.

Miss Bresler earned $410 as lifeguard instructor last summer, and last August she said she mistakenly threw her savings into the fireplace along with trash. Later, she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bresler, discovered the remains of the currency.

They sent the ashes to Washington with an affidavit saying what happened. Treasury Department investigators were able to verify the remains of $390 and sent her a check for that amount, Miss Bresler said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly half of American men and women over 16 favor permitting abortions when parents have all the children they want, a federally sponsored Opinion Research Corp. survey says.

The survey released Thursday reported 49 per cent of those questioned are now in favor, 42 per cent opposed and 9 per cent have no opinion. Three years ago, 80 per cent opposed the proposal.

About 1,700 persons were polled.

Mrs. Hart was appointed by Dorothy Orr, the county judge. Other women elected to county offices are Polly Frazier, the trustee, and Judy Bedd, the Circuit Court clerk. Mrs. George Harrison is clerk and master, an appointive post.

Mexico To Buy Passenger Cars From America

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican National Railroad Co. may buy 500 to 600 used passenger cars from U.S. railways, Victor Manuel Villasenor, general manager of the government owned company, said Friday.

Villasenor said Mexico would like to pay $10,000 or $12,000 each for the cars, the price he said he understands was paid by Amtrack, the recently organized U.S. passenger train service, for 1,200 cars they purchased from the railways.

The cars under consideration were among 1,800 selected by Amtrack as the best of the 3,000 cars in the U.S. and are from 10 to 20 years old, Villasenor said.

Similar passenger cars normally sell for $30,000 to $40,000.

Stealing From Business

The Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," is being eroded and amended according to Eleanor M. Duffy, who spoke in Seattle recently for the Internal Investigation and Security Conference.

Mrs. Duffy, who heads the field-interviewing service department of Per Mar Security and Research Corp. in Davenport, Iowa, believes one thieving employe has an effect similar to one bad apple in a barrel. If one steals and is not caught, others follow.

Mrs. Duffy finds that employers are at fault in several ways. They rarely discharge the guilty employe and they rarely prosecute. She emphasized that the thieving employe is setting a bad example for others.

Some companies do not take the precaution of investigating a new employe, who may have a background of thievery. After hours shakedowns are a good prevention measure: "We open lunch boxes and purses. If the store people know it will happen — but not when — they don't resent it."

A store with enough clerks to watch the counters will lose less to shoplifters. Customers get impatient and often take things they meant to pay for. Or they leave money on the counter and a salesgirl may pocket it.

Most people who steal, according to Mrs. Duffy, justify themselves. "Everybody does." Or, "It was for a good cause." These attitudes reflect deterioration of moral values and a lack of moral training for the young. Many people do not believe they are stealing if it is from a store or a company, because these have no face. And that is the way to confuse moral values, according to Mrs. Duffy.

The security expert said: "In supermarkets, it is standard procedure to drop and damage a case of goods. Then the store sells it at reduced price to employes. So if a man's wife needs some soap powder, he drops and breaks the case, then takes the soap home for only a few pennies." Security agencies try to show what these losses can mean for both employer and employe: lower profits and lower wages. Morality makes sense for everyone.

Geography Lessons Needed

A recent Louis Harris Survey reveals that a 61 -to- 26 per cent majority of Americans feel that "the United States has achieved little by going to war and in the future we should let other countries defend themselves."

If the Communists invaded the U.S., 95 per cent felt that it would be worth going to war; however, if they invaded Western Europe only 47 per cent of the Americans polled would be willing to go to its defense. Obviously, half of those willing to defend the U.S. do not understand that in efendings not understand that in defending Western Europe they are defending America.

One seriously questions the knowledge of geography of those who cannot see the link between our national security and that of Western Europe and other nations. The globe has shrunk, thanks to air travel. We fly from New York to Rome in 5 hours; from Seattle to Tokyo in 9 hours. Secondly, Western Europe holds the balance of manpower and industrial power between the U.S. and the Communist world. Thirdly, Americans have more than one-hundred billion dollars invested in Western Europe. A Communist take-over of Western Europe would be tantamount to their conquest of the U.S. Americans would no longer be in control of their own fate.

The Louis Harris poll shows better than 2-1 sentiment against U.S. involvement in protecting the security of other nations. It reveals a growing mood of withdrawal from military commitments abroad and a trend toward an ostrich-like isolationism. This defeatist attitude finds no counterpart in the Communist world's total commitment to involvement in the affairs of other nations. Communism is irrevocably committed to the overthrow of every non-Communist regime.

The Louis Harris Poll's findings must have given Communists the assurance that they are winning; that the people of America will not fight to defend those countries without which America cannot defend itself. There is still time for us to catch up on our geography!

Ecology And Profit

All the news isn't bad on the ecology front. The American from Culp Creek, Ore., discloses that an all-time record crop of 100 tons of tree seed is now deing gathered by industrial tree farmers in Washington, Oregon and northern California. If that sounds inconsequential, ponder the fact that this year's crop will give the West Coast lumber industry a new backlog of eight billion seeds — enough to plant more than 35 trees for every man, woman and child in the United States. And it's all being done privately, using the tried and true incentive of profit. Pickers, for instance, receive between $4 and $6 for a sack of fir cones. Forty buying stations exist in the three states.

The result of all this, of course, is perpetual reforestration—and not at tax payer expense or due to any "protective" government program. In the final analysis, we believe it will be private enterprise—despite government—that will assure man's harmony with his environment.

No logger — indeed, no farmer, no cattleman or no man whose livelihood depends on his environment — can afford a dead leanscape. In this age of enlightenment none will permit it.

Quick Quiz

Q—Who was the only U.S. president to ever appear in the field?

A—James Madison, who assumed command of a battery at Blandensburg, Md.

Q—How did the dogwood tree receive its name?

A—The popular belief is that the name originated because the bark of the tree was once used in making a mange cure for dogs.

Q—What English sport is considered the direct ancestor of modern baseball?

A—The game of rounders. From it, in 1839, Abner Doubleday invented the game essentially as we know it.

CAPITOL EYE:

Voluntary But Club Is Visible

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) —The peril for President Nixon in Phase II of his new economic policy is this:

Imposing economic controls in peacetime is like fighting a limited war. Since survival is not clearly at stake, it is very difficult to get broad acceptance of the need for heavy personal sacrifice.

Fundamentally, the President is instituting a system of voluntary restraints on wages and prices, but with the club of government enforcement against violators standing visible in the corner.

The voluntary feature is the obvious price paid to organized labor for its cooperation. There is a fair consensus among economists that no control plan can work, anyway, without the general collaboration of all major elements of the economic community.

The big question is whether Phase II will work at all in the present economic and social climate pervading this country. The expressions of cooperation may be forthcoming, but the actuality may be substantially different.

In the first place, when the Vietnam war was at peak, no restraints and no stiff new taxes were imposed as so often is done in wartime. To lay on wage-price limits now that the war is winding down may seem less than plausible to businessmen and workers—notwithstanding the crises in inflation and unemployment.

Secondly, the heritage of that unrestrained period at war's peak may tend to sour if not poison the atmosphere of cooperative restraint today. Some prices soared unreasonably, and some wage agreements produced excessive benefits for workers.

Those maladjustments were frozen by the President in the 90-day freeze set in Phase I. But the clamor will be loud when the freeze ends Nov. 13, to permit increases matching the earlier excesses.

There will also be immense pressure from unions whose existing contracts contain systematic wage-escalation features which were rendered temporarily inoperative in Phase I.

And many businesses will be whooping for big price boosts on the ground that material and other costs have risen, even though wages have largely been held firm in recent months.

The new-born price commission and pay board will be functioning from guidelines fixed by them, to judge what post-Nov. 13 increases may be reasonable. But the circumstances here set forth make it plain their task will be monumental.

How To Grade A President

By PAUL HARVEY

President Nixon is "graded" every day, gets a report card every month. The several surveys which poll prospective voters have become increasingly reliable since they "disoriented" themselves from Manhattan Island.

And as party loyalty becomes less, we the people are increasingly obligated to evaluate Administrations and alternatives.

Impulsive evaluation can be as blind as party loyalty once was.

An enduring political axiom says, "Voters forget what you have done for them: They remember only what you promise to do."

Hopefully, with increasing enlightenment, this will be less true.

Yet the other evening at a social gathering I sat next to a woman of substance and conscience who wants "nothing more to do with Mr. Nixon if he crawls under a white flag to Red China."

Knowing her to be a Republican, I asked whom she would propose for President in his place.

She said, "Anybody else!"

It's interesting; I happen to know this woman does not agree with her own husband on everything, yet I'm sure it would never occur to her to divorce him—to trade him for just "anybody else"—because, on balance, all things considered he and she are compatible.

But she is ready to "divorce" President Nixon.

Im going to try to see that the rest of this does not constitute a carte-blanche endorsement of anybody, because the point that needs to be made is that politicians deserve to be graded fairly.

The Nixon foreign policy of negotiation rather than confrontation may sound to an arch-reactionary like surrender — unless and until one considers the alternatives.

Our 6 per cent of this planet's population had best avoid confrontation if it can.

As we approach final exam time for President Nixon, he deserves to be graded on whether he has subdued more fires than he has started:

On whether he has brought more or fewer ideological opponents — abroad and at home — to the bargaining table.

On whether he has defended the integrity of the dollar, abroad and at home.

On whether he has increased or reduced the gold drain, increased or reduced the domestic crime rate, increased or reduced the pollution menace, increased or reduced the moral degeneration of our nation.

Again, this is no endorsement. I'm not filling in the blanks for you. But what is true in our family relationships is no less true in our new partyless politics:

You compare both debits and credits to determine who deserves your allegiance.

OBITUARY ON LOOK

The forthcoming demise of LOOK magazine will bring, if it hasn't already, mixed emotions from its readers. The liberal element of the country undoubtedly will mourn the loss of an old friend. Those on the right of the political spectrum will not shed tears but they undoubtedly will miss the publication, for it gave them something to attack. Whatever one's personal feelings, the foldng of LOOK is rather sad for it may be signaling the end of an era, the era of pictorial journalism.

LOOK was created in the backwash of LIFE, the brainchild of the late Henry Luce. Both came in an era when still pictures on slick paper gave a new dimension to reporting and they made all of us feel closer to the subjects of straight news reporting or special features. The picture pages of LIFE and LOOK did indeed tell a story better than a thousand words. Now LOOK is leaving us and LIFE reportedly is in financial distress.

LOOK has something of an explanation in its death. Its views is that television has become THE medium of advertising and the conveying of a message. This has some merit but, it may not be the full story. The major newspapers around the country have also been hard hit by the television screen but some of them seem to get fatter. After all, the printed word is still a powerful instrument.

The late President John F. Kennedy said he didn't always agree with TIME-LIFE, the original darling of Henry Luce, but he conceeded that the weekly news magazine brought a new dimension to reporting. And so does LIFE. And so did LOOK. LOOK magazine in its last years of life never deserted the liberal cause. Maybe this was its trouble.

Reds Push Industrial Spy Effort

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What came out clearly in the British expulsion of 105 Soviet spies is the extent to which Moscow is engaged in industrial espionage.

Among the ousted men reportedly were 50 specialists or specialists groups, boring in on separate industries, particularly computer software, air frames and electronics systems.

In these highly techical fields, of course, the line between military and industrial use is thin.

A radar can be used for commercial airports or for monitoring enemy missile shots. Electronic systems are as useful in tanks as in industrial production processes.

But the evidence is that Soviet industry (along with the military) is lagging badly in current expansion programs because of grave weaknesses in sophisticated computer, electronic and petrochemical development.

Studies made here with National Science Foundation support detail how very far behind Russian industry is in these areas.

Soviet industrial espionage is not new.

Back in the 1930s the Russians made strong efforts in Germany and in Sweden to spy out new developments in metallurgy, especially in furnace design for the production of ferrous metals.

Soviet agents have been caught from time to time since while attempting to ferret out other industrial secrets. The most recent pre-London case was in January, when the first secretary of the Soviet embassy in West Germany was sent home for scientific and technical espionage.

Just the month before, a Russian official was ousted from Argentina for spying in industrial installations.

There is reason to believe the Soviet agents (along with some considerable bungling) are quite successful in this type of espionage worldwide.

Since Soviet agents specialize in gathering personal data about men who might be useful to them, they garner reports of scandal and human weakness with the diligence of a security officer or a bill collector. It is not difficult to find one key person in any company who has something in his past that he wants to hide. It may not be a kingpin scientist. But it could be his office boy, his secretary, wife, best friend, or the man who sweeps out his office.

This worldwide industrial espionage setup explains why the United states must spend considerably more on research than the Soviet Union in order to keep ahead industrially and militarily.

STRAIGHT TALK:

$100-Billion To Make World Safe For The Communists

By TOM ANDERSON

During the past 35 years we have poured $100 billion in "foreign aid" into the rat holes of the world — to make the world safe for Communism. Facing bankruptcy, our traitorous leaders continue to bleed us and to feed the enemy.

Aside from "humanitarian" reasons, it is argued by the bubbleheads, our foreign aid builds friends. What friends? We have given Egypt more than one-billion dollars worth of food, preventing mass starvation there. Egypt has kept that virtually a secret from her own people and from the rest of the world. The value of the food we've given to Egypt is almost twice the amount of money Russia contributed to the Aswan Dam, which "gift" has been praised around the world. Many nations do us a "favor" by taking our surplus food, thus enabling us to continue fraud of paying our rich farmers to produce food we can't use.

USDA has made huge grants to "moderate" murderer Tito, so that this Communist enemy nation can better control respiratory disease in young cattle. This treason was committed as our own cattlemen go broke in the drought and cost-price squeeze. We have and - or sold for "soft currency" one billion dollars in food to archenemy Yugoslavia under the "Food for Peace" program. The Arabs and Poland have so far gotten $1.4 billion in "Food for Peace" aid.

We've given Brazil more than $3 billion in food, economic aid, military aid. Brazil, in appreciation, recently shipped 8,000 tons of corn to Cuba. Greece and Canada, which some people describe as neutral, regularly sell to the Viet Cong, Russia, Bulgaria and Red China. We sell to all but the Viet Cong.

India doesn't give aid to the Viet Cong. She can't afford it. She just bleeds us and roots for our enemy. Russia gave India 1-60 as much grain in the past year as we did, and we have been denounced in the Indian parliament for not doing more.

The first gigantic famine will doubtless be in India. One-seventh of the world's people are Indians. One million additional Indians are born every month. Indian farmers plant approximately the same acreage as American farmers, get only 40 percent of the yield, over one-third of which is eaten by rats. It is against the people's religion to kill rats and the 200 million to 500 million sacred cows that roam the streets are "holy." (Evidently an accurate count is too sacred for the Indians to disclose.) Not only is no cow killed for meat, but the cows "shop" the food stands for their fill of free food while the people starve. The Indians will not use, in any quantities, synthetic foods, fertilizers, or birth control methods. The Indian government's "answer" to famine is more socialism and more demands on us, when we have already supplied, since 1951, more than 58 percent of the $10 billion in aid India has received.

India has an estimated 2.4 billion rats — not including the Communists — that's five rats for each of the nation's 480 million people. Most Indians will not kill any living thing. Indians turn more rats loose than even our Supreme Court does. Indians have "open housing" for rats, untouchable people and holy cows. The long-term solution for India, and other starving socialists nations, is self-help.

One-fourth of America's wheat production has been sent to India in the past year — 12 million tons — 600 ships ferrying a million tons a month. Indian rats eat more than that. But the Indian people expect us to feed them and the rats, too. We are hated, but the rats are holy. India is completely socialistic — and pro-Communist. The state owns and controls practically all the fertilizer plants and nearly everything else. Maybe Indians are not hungry enough. In India, prosperous southern provinces rarely and reluctantly help starving northern provinces. "Let Uncle Sucker do it," is their motto.

Even if we put all our productive land back into use and went "all-out," we could not produce more than 10 percent of the world's food deficit. Since the inception of our "PL 480" program of surplus food disposal to hungry nations, "Food for Peace," "Food for Freedom," etc., we have given $15.5 billion worth of food to 116 nations, friends and enemies, and world famine now looms larger than ever in history. We could give all we've got and we'd still be "spitting in the ocean."

If the world had our capitalistic system and our methods, there would be no world hunger problem. But instead of trying to sell our system to the world our leaders constantly undermine it and support the socialist-communist systems which produced the hunger.

In the final analysis, only a tremendous and immediate program of self-help within the needy nations, combined with mass birth control measures, can stem the tide of massive world starvation.

Idealists who haven't done their homework claim a well-fed world would be a world at peace. A well-fed world would be like the wolf in Little Red Riding Hood — a big mouth, the better to swallow you with, my dear!"

Our materialist do-gooders profess to believe that once we make Communist "haves" out of Communist "have-nots" (here and abroad) that we will have established "bridges of friendship" which will enable us to live together as brothers. Some "liberals" even claim to believe that once the Communists become "haves" they will renounce Communism. There's as much chance of that as there is of the Pope renouncing Catholicism and becoming a Baptist. He couldn't do it and the Baptists wouldn't have him. The United States of America, under both Republicans and Democrats, has done more to help Communism succeed than have all the combined non-Communist nations in the world.
