Cowboys Sign Up For Annual Rodeo

Rodeo headquarters in city hall is buzzing with activity today as cowgirls and cowboys in riding clothes scurry in to make the deadline for entry in the big Top o' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show.

The line moves to the right past tables where Iris Ragsdale, Jerry Carruth, Clayton Knapp and Dorothy Nelson are taking the names of the cowhands, the events they are entering, and, in some cases, the names of their favorite mounts.

All indications so far show that the big event will be one long-remembered in the minds of Panhandle residents, W. D. Price, president of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association, declares.

Scheduled for show week, August 8 through 12, will be some old fashioned bronc busting and all the rough and tumble competition associated with rodeo contests.

For those who like dancing, there will be plenty of dance music available.

Beginning Wednesday at 9:30 p.m., a modern dance will be held daily, through Saturday, in the Junior High Gymnasium, featuring the music of Emmett Allen and his Sunset Ramblers. These dances will be under the direction of Ray Salmon and Arthur Rankin.

Square dances will be held each night on the slab in the city park on S. Hobart, with music by the Range Riders and Lee Sprague and his Ragtime Ramblers. The square dances will be under the direction of A. L. Mills, chairman of the square dance committee of the Rodeo Association.

Admission to both dances will $1 per person.

Lovers of good horse flesh will get a thrill in the quarter horse shows, officials declared.

The whole Pampa area is falling into a western feeling, which will not subside until after Saturday night.

Regarding the quarter horse show Price said: "It looks like the barns are all just about full, there being already fifty entries so far."

Deadline for entry in the quarter horse competition is 1 p.m. Wednesday.

And for entering regular rodeo events, the deadline is 11 a.m. the same day.

Goat Mayo, arena director, and the man who furnishes the stock for the big show, hit Pampa yesterday. He said that most of the animals have already arrived for the event. The few remaining ones not yet here will get into town by tonight, he assures patrons.

First scheduled event of the week of festivities will be the kid pony show parade starting at 4 p.m. this afternoon. The formation will assemble in front of the Sunshine Dairy plant and move out Foster toward Cuyler promptly at 4 p.m.

Over sixty entries have been recorded for the kid pony show which begins at 8 p.m. today at Recreation Park. The show will consist of several events, and will actually be a miniature rodeo with pint-sized contestants competing against each other in such events as bull riding and barrel racing.

Rodeo visitors who attend the kid pony show will be given a ballot as they enter the gate, with the names of girls entered in the cowgirl sponsor contest printed on them. Each person is requested to follow the directions on the ballot and vote for the girl they think should be queen of the Top o' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show. The winner will be presented with a Triple-X Stet-

House Pushes Controls Plan

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House went into a third round today on the question of automatic wage - price - rationing controls, pegged to the cost of living.

It returned to the big home front problem after the Senate Banking committee voted late last night to give virtually full discretion to President Truman as to when or whether to impose such controls.

The Senate committee approved substantially the kind of a controls bill — discretionary, not automatic — Mr. Truman has said he would accept.

Meanwhile, Capitol Hill heard that the president has made up his mind to ask Congress for an excess profits tax on corporations — an anti-inflation step that he has not considered up to now as necessary. While such a request remained subject to developments, close associates said he plans as of now to go ahead with it.

Last week the House approved —and later reversed the action — a plan to invoke wage and price controls automatically when living costs rise 5 percent. It backtracked after Mr. Truman objected that this would amount to an invitation to raise prices to 5 percent.

The original proposal was up again today, however, in the form of an amendment by Rep. McKinnon (D-Calif.) to the administration's economic controls bill. McKinnon's proposal would require wage and price controls to be slapped on if the cost of living increases 5 percent above what it was on June 15. The controls would be based on the June 10-25 levels.

McKinnon's amendment, which has strong House support, would let the president impose controls sooner if he wishes, but would require him to do it if the cost of living as reflected in the Labor Department's monthly index hikes as much as 5 percent.

Administration leaders in the House were hopeful that by final voting time, set for tomorrow, they will be able to pass a bill giving

Dewey Decision Not To Run Definite, Senator Concludes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Ives (R-NY) said today he has given up attempts to convince Thomas E. Dewey that Dewey ought to run for a third term as governor of New York.

"I think the governor has made up his mind to retire to private life and I'm afraid nobody can change his decision," Ives told a reporter.

Ives said he thinks Joseph Hanley, 74-year-old lieutenant governor, is almost certain to be the Republican nominee for governor. The New York senator added that the senatorial race seems to be "completely up in the air."

Dewey's action in turning over his August speaking engagements to Hanley and in lending the lieutenant governor the services of his secretary and campaign publicity director, James Hagerty, has been interpreted as an endorsement of Hanley.

A reported scramble among eligible Republicans for the lieutenant governor nomination, to run on the ticket with Hanley, apparently will delay any decision on the senatorial race until shortly before the GOP state convention in September.

New York is one of the states singled out by Republicans in their drive to pick up the seven seats they need to wrest control of the Senate from the Democrats in the November election.

Republicans gave some signs, meanwhile, of adding Oklahoma to the list of states where they will put on big scale efforts to knock off Democratic senators.

GOP leaders have announced they will bring Rev. Bill Alexander, their senatorial nominee, to Washington later this month for conferences with party officials.

Alexander, pastor of an Oklahoma City church, quit the campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination to switch to the Republican race and win it.

The last Republican senator elected from Oklahoma, Ed Moore, made the same sort of party switch before he won in 1942.

Alexander will be opposing Rep. Mike Monroney, who whipped Senator Elmer Thomas in two primary battles to win the Democratic nomination.

Absentee Vote In Good Start

Absentee voting, and potential absentee voting, got off to a good start yesterday and this morning when a total of five ballots were cast in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut.

In addition to the five votes cast in person, eight others were mailed to voters out of town.

In the last primary more than 200 absentee ballots were cast, of which 40 were mailed to the county clerk's office.

Gray County's run-off ballot will look like this:

For lieutenant governor — Ben Ramsey, San Augustine County; Pierce P. Brooks, Dallas County.

For associate justice, Supreme Court, Place 1 — Fagan Dickson, Bexar County; Will Wilson, Dallas County.

For associate justice, Supreme Court, Place 3 — Meade F. Griffin, Hale County; George W. Harwood, Dallas County.

For judge of Court of Criminal Appeals — Robert L. Lattimore, Dallas County; W. A. Morrison, Milam County.

For commissioner of agriculture — J. E. McDonald, Travis County; John C. White, Wichita County.

For representative in Congress — Altavene Clark, Potter County; Walter Rogers, Gray County.

For county commissioner, Pct. 1 — Arlie Carpenter and Joe K. Clarke.

For county commissioner, Pct. 4 — Wm. Earnest Beck and Clyde Brown.

For justice of peace, Pct. 2, Place 2 — G. L. Lunsford and John V. Andrews.

Atom Energy Body Manager Quits Post

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Carroll L. Wilson resigned today as general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission.

President Truman accepted the resignation, effective August 1. The commission designated Carleton Shugg, present deputy general manager, acting general manager.

Wilson's letter of resignation did not disclose the "compelling" reasons for his resignation which he had discussed personally with Mr. Truman.

California Woman Sets Channel Mark

DOVER, England — (AP) — Florence Chadwick, San Diego swimmer, conquered the English Channel today in record time but Shirley May France was forced to give up eight miles off shore.

Miss Chadwick, 31 and a professional swimmer, cut the women's record set by Gertrude Ederle in 1926. She made it in 13 hours 28 minutes, one hour and three minutes under the Ederle mark.

She swam to Dover from Cap Gris Nez, France, on a course of at least 22 miles and scrambled ashore through sea weed.

Thousands of persons lined the white cliffs of Dover. Reporters asked Miss Chadwick if she was all right. "Yes," she said, "but these slippery, jagged rocks are not so good to scramble over after a long swim."

She actually did not touch dry land, at the end.

"A few feet from the shore line, under the 250-foot cliffs, she clambered into one of her rowboats. But no one doubted that she had finished her swim and made it one of the greatest in the history of channel attempts.

She was not far short — by channel swim standards — of the recognized men's record of 11:05 set by France's Georges Michel in 1926.

Miss Chadwick was the third American woman to make this crossing.

The others were Miss Ederle and Mrs. Mille Gade Carson, who crossed in 1926.

Shirley May, the 17-year-old girl from Somerset, Mass., had been swimming 13 hours 46 minutes when she gave up. She was sobbing as she was pulled from the water, within sight of the white cliffs.

Local Draft Board Receives Call for 60 Additional Men

Draft Board 52 Monday received orders to send 60 additional men to Amarillo for physical examinations August 24, bringing the quota for the month to 120.

On the heels of the Korean crisis, selective service officials asked for around 20,000 men, about 1,000 of whom were to be drawn from Texas. Shortly afterward, the local draft board was instructed to send 24 for examination on August 9, and 36 more a week from that date.

Draft officials again emphasize that persons who are being carried on the delinquent list can be inducted ahead of other registrants.

A delinquent is described as one who has moved without notifying his board of his new mailing address.

Girl, 3, Struck By Automobile; Injuries Minor

A three-year-old Pampa girl was treated for minor injuries at a local hospital Monday after being struck by a car in the 900 block of East Frederic.

Mary June Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Burns, 408 Pitts, was hit just after 7 by a car driven by Fred L. Patterson, Wellington.

Police said Patterson stopped immediately at the scene of the accident.

The child was removed to the hospital in a Blackburn - Shaw-Sims ambulance.

Hardin-Simmons Band Due Here

The Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band from Abilene, official rodeo band, is scheduled to arrive in Pampa at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, and members will be guests of the Pampa Rotary Club at a noon luncheon. The band will present a 30-minute concert program.

Thursday, the band will be the guest of the Lions Club and Friday, the Kiwanis. It will present a half hour program at each club meeting.

The band is headed by Marion McClure, director, and Sheriff Will Watson, who has been with the band since its organization in 1926.

China Reds Fire On Freight Ship

HONG KONG — (AP) — Red China shore batteries early today fired on but missed a Norwegian freighter carrying cargo to Japan, main allied base for the Korean war.

It was the third straight day ships have been shelled in the sea approaches to Hong Kong harbor. The others were American and British.

Five shells were fired at the 4,951-ton Norwegian freighter Pleasantville. The American freighter Steel Rover was fired upon Sunday and Red artillery scored two hits yesterday on the British freighter Hangsang.

9,000 Reds Cross River as Fierce Battles Cover Front

TOKYO, Wednesday—(AP)—North Korean troops poured across the allied Naktong River defense barrier in Korea and bulged out two miles eastward on a 2,000-yard front Tuesday, but General MacArthur's war summary said the "possible threat from the small bridgeheads" across the river "has neither increased nor decreased."

Upwards of 9,000 Reds were reported over in two river crossings.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said the two Communist bridgeheads were of "primary concern at present."

The two-day-old American Marine and infantry offensive in the extreme south made small and bloody gains in day-long attacks. Earlier it was bogged by Communist flanking that pocketed one Army unit for a while. U. S. Marines broke that up and freed Army men from the trap.

The offensive had gained 10 miles and was 10 or 12 miles east of Chinju, Red-held rubbled city in the south.

The Red bridgeheads posed threats to Allied forces at two places.

One was five miles north of Waegwan, 15 miles northwest of Taegu, the provisional South Korean capital. The other was six miles south of Changnyong, which is southwest of Taegu.

At least three Red regiments — 9,000 men with probably more shipping across behind them in darkness — were over the river in two spots. Frontline reports said one of eight tanks sighted had been ferried across the river by the Communists.

General MacArthur is sending words of confidence to President Truman.

"Tell the president not to worry. We are confident about the situation over here," he told W. Averell Harriman, the president's special assistant and adviser on foreign affairs, as Harriman left for Washington after a three-day visit that took him to the war front.

The front had exploded into three major battles.

The big one was northwest of Taegu.

Another flamed in the extreme south.

The third was at a Red bridgehead across the Naktong near Changnyong where fresh U. S. troops were ordered to destroy the river-crossers by Tuesday nightfall.

But after fighting part of the way up a ridge, the fresh counter-attacking U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops were stopped by stiff Red resistance.

At 8:45 p.m. Tuesday Maj. Gen. John E. Church told O. H. P. King of the AP the bridgehead could not be cleaned out that night. The general insisted the North Koreans there would be wiped out Wednesday.

He said close watch would be kept on the Changnyong area to prevent further Communist crossings of the river.

In the area northwest of Taegu the Communists flung their lines two or more miles beyond the river line. Seven Red tanks, waiting

Anti-Sabotage Message Due

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Speaker Rayburn said this morning President Truman may send an anti-sabotage message to Congress later today.

Rayburn made his announcement shortly after he and Vice President Barkley conferred with Presiden' Truman along with Senate Majority Leader Lucas and House Majority Leader McCormack.

Rayburn would not discuss details of the president's message.

"It deals with security, sabotage and Communists," the speaker told reporters.

He said the president probably will ask for additional legislation.

"Will it look like the Mundt-Nixon Bill?" a reporter asked.

"I wouldn't think so," Rayburn replied, adding: "Not in its entirety."

The Mundt-Nixon Bill, among other things, would require Communists and Communist fronts to register with the Justice Department. Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a member of the un-American Activities committee, is sponsoring it in the House.

The measure is similar to the Mundt - Ferguson - Johnston bill pending in the Senate.

The Truman message apparently was to follow through on steps already taken to guard against sabotage.

The president on July 24 asked the American public to turn over to the FBI any information on spying, sabotage or other subversive activities.

Four days later, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover listed ways the people could help. The first thing, he said, was to call the FBI quickly with any facts — not just gossip or rumor.

In addition, the Coast Guard now is checking foreign vessels well offshore to make sure they are bringing no atom bombs or other explosives into American harbors.

City Commission Has Light Agenda

Barring unforeseen developments, a light agenda faced the city commission at its weekly meeting this afternoon.

City Manager Dick Pepin said this morning the only definite subject was to be presentation of monthly bills.

Last week the commission mulled over a rough sketch of part of next year's budget, but Pepin said even the rough draft of the budget would not be ready for presentation today.

Uncertainty of programs needed materials such as vitrified tile and cast iron pipe for major gas expansion hasn't been of much help in laying out estimates for 1951 operations, Pepin added.

Appeal for Blood Termed Success

Monday's appeal in The Pampa Daily News for Type B blood needed for a Worley Hospital patient was successful, the hospital reported.

A spokesman in the laboratory said that calls were still coming in offering donations up to 10 p.m. Monday.

As a result, they now have a list of persons with Type B blood, said to be rare.

The patient received two transfusions last night.

France to Get Two Warships

WASHINGTON — (AP) — France will get its first two U. S. warships under the foreign military aid program August 12 at Philadelphia.

The two vessels are the 1,240-ton destroyer escorts Samuel F. Mills and Riddle, both in service in World War II.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet will accept the ships from Rear Admiral R. E. Schuirmann, commandant of the fourth naval district.

In announcing the transfer today the Defense Department said the ships will be renamed the Arabe and Kabyle.

France is the second country to get warships from the United States under the assistance program. Two destroyer escorts were transferred to the Netherlands on June 1. Eight more ships of the same class are now being readied in American shipyards for early delivery to Western European allies.

Indochina has received six support landing ships and eight C-47 transport airplanes from this country.

Turkey will take delivery of a submarine rescue ship on August 15. Two submarines now being refitted by the Navy also are expected to go to Turkey.

Burma is expected to get a number of small patrol craft in the near future.

The tempo of arms aid to the smaller nations of Southeast Asia is likely to be stepped up soon, defense headquarters indicated, following receipt of the preliminary report of the U. S. survey mission now in Southeast Asia.

No immediate information was available here as to the specific recommendations in the report, but defense officials said that the Vietnam army of Indochina needs small arms, light artillery and some heavier weapons. Needs of the former French colonial state are being considered in addition to requirements of the French army now opposing Communist-led rebels in Indochina.

France has already received about 100 U. S. Navy airplanes. They were ferried across the Atlantic by the French escort carrier Dixmude. This ship is expected to make at least one more ferrying trip before the end of the summer.

Great Britain has taken delivery of a substantial number of B-29 superfortresses in the last few months. The total number of these bombers to be given the United Kingdom has not been

Highway Projects On U.S. 66, State 70 Showing Progress

Despite weather hold-ups construction crews along Highways 66 and 70 have shown some progress, state highway department engineers said this morning.

Along the Gray County stretch of the coast to coast U. S. 66, workmen have completed virtually all of the concrete structures and roughly 60 percent of the 17 miles of excavation and grading. Work there is scheduled for completion sometime in October. The contract takes in only installation of structures, excavation and grading. No topping is included in the contract.

North of Pampa, on State Highway 70 known as the Pampa to Perryton road — workmen have 7,000 square yards of basing to finish before they can start topping out the 4.4 miles of paving. Resident Engineer G. K. Reading said this morning the contractor should start paving next week — if it doesn't rain.

Reading added that the intermittant rains during the past weeks have singled out one spot along the highway to deluge the heaviest every time a cloud comes up. However, workmen have covered 20,000 yards of basing along the to-be-paved stretch despite the rains. Beyond the paving area, eight miles of excavation and grading have been completed along with all of the metal pipe structures designated for the graded area. Concrete workmen were setting forms today in the graded area for concrete structures.

The overall contract for Highway 70 carries the work from the Gray County line to the south bank of the Canadian River, a distance of 25.29 miles.

Only the topping of the 4.4 mile stretch at the county line is in the present contract. A contract for topping the remainder will have to be let by the state highway commission at a later date—the same as in the 17 mile stretch of U. S. Highway 66 through Gray County.

Young Sweethearts Will Marry at 78

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Sweethearts 60 years ago but separated by a quirk of fate, Homer C. Banta and Mrs. Anna Ross are to be married tonight.

Both gave their age as 78 when they obtained their marriage license yesterday.

They first planned matrimony in 1890 when they were teenagers together in Fresno, Calif. But Banta was injured fighting a fire and went to Indiana to recuperate. Each found another mate. Mrs. Ross' husband died 12 years ago, Banta's wife last April.

to cross the stream, were under attack by Allied planes.

One of General MacArthur's intelligence officers estimated North Korean losses in six weeks were 44,500 men — an average of more than 1,000 a day in the six-weeks-old war.

When the fresh Army troops were thrown at the remnants of two regiments near Changnyong two American Mustangs joined the attack and strafed the U. S. doughboys, hitting 19 of them.

Col. Charles E. Beauchamp, commanding the 34th infantry regiment, ordered the Reds cleaned out and said their destruction would mean the "end of the fourth division as an enemy force."

The Changnyong move had been against the weakened U. S. 25th infantry division. Its 24th regiment of Negro troops had been diverted to support the southern thrust by Marines and the U. S. fifth regimental combat team. This forced the U. S. first calvary division to extend its line southward 4 1-2 miles along the Naktong.

In the extreme south the Marines scaled valley walls and fought over rugged hilltops to rescue the fifth regimental unit from the flanking attack.

The offensive fighting was intense. American field vehicles rolled over a Red roadblock that had stalled 45-ton General Pershing tanks after one had been knocked out.

Pilots over Seoul's Kimpo airfield reported new anti-aircraft guns, expertly manned, were encountered at the long abandoned South Korean capital.

Navy pilots from two 27,000-ton carriers flew 203 sorties in their third consecutive attack day while land based planes hit a near record peak of 550 sorties.

Ochoa's Citizenship Proof Mailed to State Department

LAREDO — (AP) — The State Department has been offered seven documents to prove that George W. Ochoa, charged with killing two men here, is a U. S. citizen.

Ochoa, who is held in Mexico City, claims he is a Mexican citizen, born in Matamoros. He is fighting extradition to Texas to face charges of murder.

The documents mailed to Washington yesterday by District Attorney E. James Kazer included:

A photostatic copy of an application for a custom house broker's license in which Ochoa swore he was a U. S. citizen.

A photostatic copy of a U. S. citizen's identification card issued to Ochoa.

A certificate of baptism of Jorge Guillermo (George William) Ochoa showing he was born in Laredo July 3, 1913, and baptized there Sept. 28, 1913.

A certificate of baptism of George Ochoa's father, Alfonso, showing the father was a U. S. citizen born in Laredo.

A certificate showing Ochoa's father and mother were married in Laredo.

An affidavit that poll tax certif- showing that the father was a U. S. citizen.

A birth certificate of Jorge Ochoa, son of George W. Ochoa, shrowing that the father was a U. S. citizen.

Crash Landing Injures Pilot

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — An Air Force pilot crash landed his transport plane near the North Philadelphia airport last night after telling his lone passenger to parachute to safety.

The twin-engine C-45 narrowly missed the rooftops of a veterans' housing project as the pilot, Lt. Col. Robert C. Brown, of New York, brought the plane down.

Brown was taken to Nazareth Hospital with head injuries. His passenger, Tech. Sgt. Joseph Reidy, 30, of Pittsburgh, bailed out on Brown's instruction about five miles from the airfield. He was shaken up but uninjured.

Brown reported the plane's engines failed at 7,000 feet on a return trip from Grenier Field, N.H., to Bolling Field, Washington.

the president standby powers over prices, wages, credit extension, priorities and allocations in addition to authority to grant production loans and impose rationing. The president has indicated he would accept such a bill if it isn't made too restrictive.

House sentiment is largely in favor of that kind of a bill, but there is a difference of opinion on how far the credit curbs should go. Many Republicans and Southern Democrats want commodity market speculation and real estate financing exempted from the credit curbs. The administration wants them included.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) called a meeting of the House Banking committee in advance of today's House session. The plan was to work out a compromise on which most of the opposing House group could agree.

A large number of amendments, many described as technical and minor, were written into the control bill by the Senate Banking committee in its eight hours of work yesterday and last night.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said that the job of wrapping these amendments into shape and preparing a committee report probably would delay Senate debate on the controls bill until Thursday.

son hat and will reign over all events during the rodeo.

The adult part of the program will be launched officially Wednesday afternoon at 4 when a long parade of horses, floats, rodeo contestants and civic organizations move out behind the smart stepping Harden - Simmons Cowboy Band.

The parade unit will move down Foster to Russell, then back around the Junior High School to Browning. Then, according to parade Marshal Paul Crouch, the units will head down Cuyler southward, ending up finally at Starkweather, where the parade will disband.

A good rodeo atmosphere should prevail with about 1,000 horses moving in the parade, Crouch added.

The first rodeo performance will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Patrons at the show will be assured of hearing all the announcements going on through the Gulf Oil Company's sound system, "F. O. Wedgeworth, one of the announcers for the rodeo events, declared.

He will be joined at the mike by H. B. Taylor, Jr.

Reserved seats for any or all rodeo performances may be obtained at the chamber of commerce up to 5 p. m. any day till the show ends, officials announced. After that time of day tickets will be available at the rodeo grounds.

U.S. Ship Aids Distressed Craft

NEW YORK — (AP) — A U. S. army transport today reached a stricken Norwegian freighter which is in danger of breaking up in a North Atlantic gale.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the transport General J. H. McRae would stand by the sea swept S. S. Belfri until the Coast Guard cutter Dexter arrives later today.

Her crew, estimated at 20, attempted emergency repairs with wire and concrete. But the pumps of the vessel, a former American Liberty ship loaded with a cargo of heavy china clay—were at a disadvantage because the clay kept clogging her pump strainers.

Sauce Improves Charcoal Steak

CHARCOAL BROILER, steak, tabasco barbecue sauce, bowl of salad—here's an outdoor party de luxe!

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For the outdoor steak broiling, there's nothing like a man. Men seem to shine at broiling steak over charcoal and with many handy and inexpensive barbecue grills on the market this summer, a lot of men are going to be very happy.

Most amateur chefs pride themselves on their sauce. Here's a variation of barbecue sauce not so heavy as to kill the flavor of good meat but zesty enough to bring out all its goodness. Its chief ingredient is Tabasco.

TABASCO STEAK SAUCE
(Yield: 2-3 cup sauce)

One clove garlic, 1-2 cup salad oil, 3 tablespoons lime juice, 1-2 teaspoon Tabasco, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

If desired, put garlic to soak in the oil the day before the barbecue. Combine all ingredients in small saucepan, and mix well. Brush over steak and broil over hot coals.

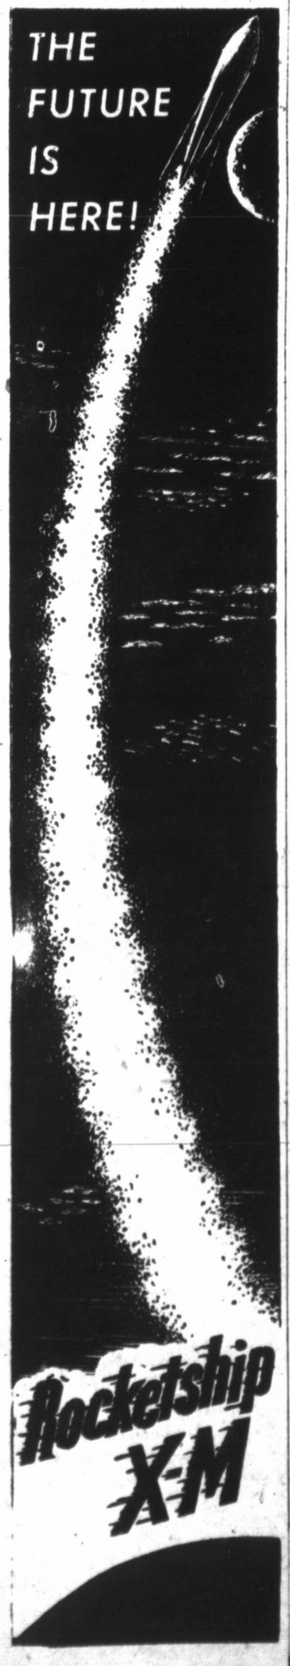

Here's another good receipe for the amateur chef:

TABASCO HAMBURGER
(6 servings)

One and one-half pounds ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons water, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon Tabasco, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

Form meat into individual patties or one large cake. Pan fry or broil meat. When meat is desired degree of doneness, transfer to hot platter. Combine remaining ingredients; mix until smooth. Turn into saucepan or skillet and stir until butter or margarine is melted. Pour over meat.

Policeman Can Be The Children's Best Friend

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Education Writer

A policeman can be one of your child's best friends. It all depends on the attitude of the parent, says the National Kindergarten Association.

One of the first lessons to teach a child, says the association, is to consider a policeman a real friend and one in whom he can place confidence.

Here's what happened to one lad of five who had been taught this way:

His mother took him to a fair and somehow he became separated from her. People began to notice the child when they saw him walk up one aisle and down someone. He appeared to be perfectly calm and composed.

When he came near the door where one of the observers stood, he was asked: "Looking for someone?"

He turned his face toward his questioner with an expression of complete trust and answered, "Yes'm, I'm looking for a policeman."

"A policeman?" he was asked.

"A policeman?" he was asked.

"Yes'm," he nodded his curly head. "I lost Mommy, so I'm looking for a policeman to find my Mommy for me."

The inquiring lady took over from there. With his small hand in hers they made their way to the first aid station, which was located in a large tent.

The woman did not expect to find his "Mommy" at the station, but there she was; and the little fellow took it as a matter of course. What surprised the observer most was to see the mother so perfectly calm and confident. She told the observer and several interested policemen and others, she knew her child was safe, because he

She had taught her child to have confidence in the police and, because she knew that when they became separated, her child would instinctively do the thing he had been taught he should do in just such a situation — look for his friend, the policeman—she had remained calm and confident he would be found.

When he heard the mother's explanation, one old policeman said: "Lady, my years on the police force would have been much easier ones had there been more mothers like you. Many youngsters are taught to fear or hate a 'cop' and that makes it difficult for us to help them sometimes."

The child called a cheery "Bye!" to all as he left the first aid tent with his mother.

One of the child's first lessons in human relationships had been to look upon law-enforcing officers as friends of the people and to express gratitude for them. Fortunate is the child who learns, early, lessons like this which will help him to become a good citizen.

Volumes once were sold according to their weighe in Russian bookstores.

15 YEAR OLD WANTS WORK

Dear Miss Friend:

I am a 15 year old girl and a sophomore in high school and this is my problem.

I would like to get a job so I can buy my school clothes. But I have found out that they want 18 year olds for almost any kind of work.

I have tried baby sitting, but there aren't enough children that I can take care of in our neighborhood.

I have a work permit and social security card which would help me if I did get a job.

Can you suggest anything?

Yours truly
L. H.

Dear L. H.:

It is pretty hard for a girl your age to get a job, I know.

I wonder if you have thought of going to the YWCA and checking with them. Often times women who want girls to help with the children or with light housework call there and they may have something that you can do.

In the meantime keep on with the baby sitting and perhaps your reputation will spread if you are very good with children and you can find work farther away from home.

TYPING AT HOME

Dear Mrs. Friend:

Several months ago, I believe that you had something in your column about getting typing to do at home.

Where would you apply?

W.

Dear W.:

Why not try the public stenographers? They often have envelopes that must be addressed.

Sometimes Business colleges know of home typing. You might ask there also.

Dear Grace Friend:

Could you answer a couple of questions for me?

The first question is, when you receive an engagement announcement what are you supposed to do about it? When they are married it will be a very small wedding.

The second question is, can you tell me where I can send for booklets on "Planned Parenthood" and "Childbirth Control." We have one darling boy, three months old, but are not financially able to have another child right away. We hope to have a child in a few years, but right now we are living with my parents.

It would simplify things if you could put the addresses in the paper as my mother doesn't think that "sex" should be discussed at all. My husband and I think it would be better to find out now rather than after we have had several children. Both our doctor and minister are not the kind of persons one can talk to, and we have no close friends who we feel we can ask. In fact two have asked me.

We always read your column and have received good advice more than once on something that was bothering us.

Thank you ever so much,
R. L. K.

Dear R. L. K.:

You don't need to do a thing when you receive an engagement announcement.

It isn't very good taste to send them out in the first place.

The correct way to announce an engagement is in the newspaper or at a party.

If a close friend wants you to know the happy news, of course she can write you about it, but it doesn't mean that you must send a gift or do more than write her that you are glad to hear the news.

When the couple marries, send a wedding gift if you wish.

Rather than send away for pamphlets on birth control, visit your county health officer and talk to him about your problem. You will get the best possible advice this way and will be able to ask questions. His number is in the telephone book. Call him and make an appointment.

Trend Toward Short, Narrow Skirts for Fall

Sophisticated, youthful clothes for the career girl are the hallmark of designer Emily Wilkens. Cotton velvet in beaver brown (left) fashions an afternoon dress touched with black braid. Beige corduroy is used (center) for a suit with box jacket and straight skirt which is teamed with black linen blouse. A daytime dress in moss green wool (right) has black leather contour belt.

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Fresh silhouettes in fall clothes for the youthful sophisticate are marked by the straight, narrow look and by shorter skirts. Boxy jackets, middy jackets and shirttail jackets are done in corduroy, velveteen, wool jersey or yarn-dye flannels and worn with slim skirts.

Velvet, braid and ribbing touches provide texture contrast in trimming for straight, slim dresses. Charcoal gray is a strong color, as are the warm, tawny shades and the sharp shades — tangerine, gold and pumpkin.

Emily Wilkens, who once designed for teen-agers, is now doing clothes for the young sophisticate. Typical of her fall collection is a beige corduroy suit with boxy jacket and straight skirt. She teams this suit with a black linen blouse for color contrast. The bouse has a tucked bib front.

A daytime dress from her collection is in moss green sheer wool. Simple and straight, it has a black leather contour belt, high neck, tiny collar, and tight sleeves.

A third dress from this designer is in beaver brown cotton velveteen, touched with black braid, for afternoon wear. The moulded bodice is coupled with a slightly lower waistline. Neckline is high, with small collar, and sleeves are three - quarter length.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Hoarding is widespread again as people rush out to stock up on all the items they suspect may soon be rationed, hard to get, or higher-priced.

Yet the funny thing is you probably don't know a single hoarder.

There's Mrs. C., who, in one day, went down and bought more sheets than she would ordinarily use in three years. But she had a ready explanation for that. It seems the laundry has been terribly hard on her sheets and they all started to wear out at once.

The folk with the new tires and the new cars aren't being greedy, either. They were going to get a new car, anyhow, in a few months and just thought they'd better not put it off. Or the old tires were worn slick and they had been meaning to get new ones for months but just kept putting it off.

As for the grocery hoarders — they always buy in big quantities.

NOBODY HOARDS . . .
ONLY PEOPLE

And so it goes. Nobody is a hoarder — in his own mind. He is just using a little foresight, or buying what he planned to buy, anyhow, or trying to out-smart the fellows who are boosting prices.

That's why it is so difficult to stop people from hoarding. It's not hoarding when you do it yourself.

It can always be rationalized into something else again. Maybe what we ought to do is to consider the purchases we make today in the light of this question:

If not, then that purchase can be classed as hoarding no matter what logical explanation we think up to make it sound like something else.

OES Gavel Club Has Meeting and Covered Dish Meal

A covered dish dinner was served to members of the Eastern Star Past Matrons Gavel Club when they met recently in the home of Mrs. Crystal Hankhouse, 1300 Mary Ellen. Mrs. Wilson Hatcher was co-hostess.

Let's Talk Things Over With Gabby Garrison

I'll admit that this torrid summer weather is hot enough to drive a person to drastic measures, even to the extent of bathing excessively and temporarily abandoning the old Texas custom of only a weekly Saturday night washing. But, I can hardly feature the weather reaching such a stage of torment to drive the horde of would-be Channel swimmers to the shores of France. At any rate, the fad has become such an obsession that the dip into the channel has now reached a routine stage and Englishmen are contemplating placing stoplights or traffic officers along their shores to regulate the passage of potential head-liners. Even Alley Oop is trying it!

As for the incentive of such paddlers, the possibilities are varied. Financially speaking, about the only pocket gain would probably be the payments received for indorsements of products and possible offers from movie companies, radio and television. But surely there are easier ways to get rich.

And then there's the scant possibility of just the plain love of swimming. If so, I hardly imagine that the swimmers prefer the choppy, icy channel waters to the cool, calm expanses of American lakes and swimming pools. I doubt if one could even receive a worthwhile sun tan in the English fog, and certainly that can be acquired without ever dampening a foot right here in Pampa.

The search for world - wide fame through headlines of newspapers is probably the most logical viewpoint. Should one of the swimmers succeed, his name would be plastered in every paper in the country for one or two days, and then be forgotten in the ever-revolving world of sports. The tribute paid Gertrude Ederle when she succeeded years ago was due to the fact that the stunt was a rare one. Today it's plain routine.

The point concerning the weather can hardly be considered. Despite the fact that the temperature has caused numerous drops of perspiration these past few weeks, probably wouldn't cause anyone to go traipsing off to England to attempt a successful one-man trip across the Channel.

I can't seem to grasp the primary idea of the undertaking. Why not spend the training period in more worthwhile actions, and then be satisfied with daily plunges into smaller streams? The efforts aren't half so tiring.

BLOWN UP FISH STORY: C. E. Weatherby, high school coach in Waynesville, N.C., has come up with the most king-sized fishing story we've heard in a long time; and he swears it's the truth. He always carries along a bunch of small balloons on bass fishing expeditions.

He uses the balloons after the first catch, inflating one and tieing it to the tail of the captive fish by an eight-inch string. He then tosses the fish back into the water, the bass wiggles off to join the school, and Weatherby follows the balloon.

Proof of the pudding: He usually comes home with his bag limit of bass.

One of the more sweat evoking summer sports is that of tennis, and the fever apparently is reaching a new high in Pampa. Dick Pepin, city manager, certainly deserves a vote of thanks from the numerous city netters for his co-operation in improving the park courts.

At the beginning of the summer, the park nets were ragged and the fences were so full of holes that a great deal of time had to be spent chasing the balls. When reminded of the sad shape of the city facilities, Pepin went to work, had two new nets put up, the weeds chopped and the fences repaired to perfection.

Talk has been centering around a possible city tournament. It's a little late this year, since only five weeks remain until school bells will once again ring. And a new thing like this requires lots of planning, because in its first attempt, a failure would probably mean certain disaster for future plans.

After baseball commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler issued word last week that baseball would co-operate whole-heartedly with the nation's defense program, President Truman commented that organized baseball should continue through the Korean conflict.

Eddie Sawyer, Phillie pilot, is probably wondering what team he's rooting for since one of his ace hurlers, Curt Simmons, was called to active duty just before the president's message. I guess even Missourians stick together in politics as well as baseball . . . the Cardinals still aren't in first place though.

Giants Still Climb By Beating Braves

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember the date — July 20, 1950. It may go down in baseball history as the day the New York Giants began their amazing uphill climb that brought them a pennant.

A fantastic pipe dream? Maybe. Stranger things have happened, though. Remember the Boston Braves of 1914. They dug themselves out of a deeper rut to win the flag and the world series.

Win or lose, the Giants' sensational run of 16 victories in 17 games since that momentous day is one of the nigh spots of the season.

How and why the streak got under way is one of the top sports stories of the year. It developed from a brainchild of Manager Leo Durocher.

On July 19, the Giants had absorbed a couple of unmerciful drubbings at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals. After taking an 18-4 thumping in the afternoon, they came back to suffer a 10-3 loss at night to sink deeper into sixth place. That made it 13 defeats in their last 14 games.

The weary and groggy Giants dragged their feet into the clubhouse fully prepared for a typical Durocher tongue-lashing. It never came.

"Go out," he said, "and have fun. I don't care what you do or when you get back. The curfew is lifted. Just make sure you show up at the ball park tomorrow."

The result? Sixteen victories in the next 17 games.

It looked like the Giants might drop one last night. They spotted the Braves a 3-1 lead in the first inning but roared back with a 14-hit attack to whip Boston, 9-3.

The triumph boosted the high-flying Giants to within two and a half games of the fourth place Cards, who were buried under a 9-0 score by the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils. They were the only games played in the majors yesterday.

The results left the National League pennant picture looking like this: the Phils lead the field by four games. The Braves are in second place, a half game in front of the Dodgers. The Cards are five and a half games out. The Giants, a new contender, trail by eight games.

Monte Kennedy started for the Giants but it was Jack Kramer who picked up the victory. The veteran righthander did a splendid relief job, holding the Braves scoreless after relieving Kennedy in the first.

Ken Johnson, a Cardinal discard, hung the shutout over his former mates. Making his first start since July 4, the lefthander throttled the Redbirds with two hits. He walked six and fanned the same number. It was the fourth victory for the fast but erratic Kansan. He hasn't been beaten yet.

Amarillo Is Beaten By Duke Defense in Series Opener, 9-5

AMARILLO —(AP)— The Albuquerque Dukes combined errorless ball with a five hit pitching chore by Walt Stenborg and Fred Besana to rack up a 9-5 decision over the Amarillo Gold Sox here Monday night in the first game of a three game series.

Stenborg shackled the Sox with but three hits until he was relieved by Besana in the eighth. At that point, the Sox had one run across and the sacks jammed. Besana gave up two more hits before he retired the side — accounting for four more runs and Amarillo's scoring total for the evening.

Meanwhile, the Dukes jumped on Metz LaFollette for a quartet of markers in the fourth, featuring Jerry Folkman's two run circuit clout, then combed the Sox hurler for three more runs in the seventh and two in the eighth, before he retired in favor of Bob Zolliecoffer.

A ground rule accounted for Albuquerque's final two run outburst in the ninth, the result of a wild throw by Catcher Vince Castino which hit the Amarillo dugout with three Dukes on the base paths.

Greenville Bids For Top Spot by Slugging Austin

(By The Associated Press)

The Greenville Majors, making a bid for first division honors, have pulled into a fourth-place tie with the faltering Temple Eagles in the Big State League.

The Majors whipped cellar dwelling Austin, 11-1, last night as the Eagles were blanked by Sherman-Denison, 5-0. Gainesville rounded out a 13-9 decision over Waco, and Wichita Falls whipped league leading Texarkana 7-4 in 10 innings.

Greenville and Temple are knotted 12 and one-half games out of first place.

Southpaw Bill Henry gave up only five hits as the Majors won. Henry, who struck out 10, had shut out Austin until the ninth when Al Lawrence homered. Lawrence had three of the Pioneers' hits, a homer and two doubles.

Julio Ramos let Temple down with five hits as his mates collected five also, but made them count. Lyn Attyd hit two doubles. Jack Bradsher and Dean Stafford also rapped doubles.

George Corona's grand - slam homer paved the way for the Gainesville win. Bob Hyatt also homered for the Owls. John Moore slammed a three-run homer for the losers. Umpire Jack Plantz thumbed Waco Manager Buddy Hancken and catcher Troy Mitchell from the game in the seventh for arguing over a called strike. Vic Stryska received credit for the mound win.

Wichita Falls scored six times in the ninth and tenth innings to defeat Texarkana. Howard Wooster hit a homer with two on to send the game into overtime. A four-run rally insured the Spudders the victory in the 10th frame.

New York State residents, who comprise 9.9 percent of the national population, own about 16 percent of the life insurance in force throughout the country.

Twin Bill Slated Tonight As Pampa Lead Is Sliced

LAMESA—The Pampa Oilers saw their coveted West Texas-New Mexico League lead slip another notch last night when the troublesome Lamesa Lobos pounded out a 12-2 victory over the Pampans before 1,338 fans here. It was the fourth consecutive Pampa humiliation.

The Oilers will get a chance to go one ahead in the four-game series when they clash with the Lobos in a doubleheader tonight sending George Payte and Mel Kramer to the mound opposing Ed Arthur and Jim Reynolds. They will wind up the stand Wednesday.

Last night, Manager Grover Seitz watched the action from the grandstand after receiving a three-day suspension from League President Milton E. Price for his uncouth antics during Sunday's Lubbock-Pampa game. What he saw, he probably didn't like.

His ace southpaw, Roy Parker, was charged with his ninth loss of the campaign, falling victim to the 10-hit Lobo attack. Eulis Rosson, Lobo ace righthander, registered his 18th triumph of the season, limiting the Oilers to seven well-spaced bingles, striking out nine and walking only three. He elbowed all the way for the victory, while Parker called for aid and received it from newcomer Ken Faulkner in the seventh inning.

Manager Jodie Beeler, who returned to the lineup in leftfield, Glenn Selbo and Bo Dempsey accounted for 11 of Lamesa's tallies. Beeler led the Lobo attack with a perfect four for four, including two singles, a double and his 20th homer, a three run wallop in the fifth.

Selbo doubled three runs home in the sixth and singled Lamesa's final marker across in the eighth. Dempsey's tenth homer with two aboard in the first gave the Lobos all the runs they needed.

The Oilers markers came on Deck Woldt's circuit blow in the third and on a pair of singles by Joe Fortin and Virgil Richardson plus a passed ball, in the sixth.

The start of the game was delayed 35 minutes by rain, and the contest was played on a muddy field, the third night in a row for Pampa to play under such conditions.

Plate umpire Bob Fisher ejected Parker from the Oiler dugout in the last of the eighth for uncomplimentary remarks.

Q: Does the Korean language have an alphabet?

A: The written Korean language, which in structure and grammar is similar to Japanese, employs a simplified 25-character alphabet (11 vowels and 14 consonants). But the spoken language differs from the book form and cannot be exactly recorded.

Home Owner Takes First Things First

EARLVILLE, N. Y. — (AP) — When fire broke out in his home, Donald Russel rescued his wife and six children, drove five miles to sound the alarm at a volunteer firehouse, then drove a fire truck back to the house.

Other volunteer firemen helped Russel extinguish the flames.

Fire Chief Frank Morgan estimated the lass at $2,500.

After One-Hitter

Ed Furgol Maintaining Lead In All-American Links Meet

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO — (AP) — Ed Furgol today was on the track of his first major title in six years of matching shots on the tournament circuit.

He led the field by two strokes with 211—five under par—into the final round of the $15,000 All - American meet at Tam O'Shanter.

First prize is $2,500 — a jackpot which would boost 1950 earnings for the lame-armed player from Royal Oak, Mich., nearly twofold if he wins.

Five others far down the financial list also are contending in the "poor man's showdown."

At 213 are Skip Alexander, the Knoxville, Tenn., belter who has spent one year nursing his game back to health, and Dave Douglas, the human one - iron from Newark, Del.

At 214 is young Fred Hawkins, the comer from El Paso, included in the 215 bracket is Skee Riegel of Tulsa, who turned pro last winter and is still seeking his first win.

Also at 215 are two high-ranking cash collectors who are capable of mighty stretch drives—Bobby Locke and Lloyd Mangrum. Only one stroke behind them is Sam Snead, the top money winner who has bagged most of his greenbacks with sensational final round finishes.

Mangrum, the defending All-American champion, sped into contention yesterday with a 68 while Furgol, Alexander and Locke posted 69's. In all, 13 pros broke 70 in the field of 76 after the greens had been watered and the pins placed in more orthodox spots.

Furgol is the sentimental favorite. He has overcome a handicap that would have forced a lot of fellows to play croquet instead of undertaking a career of golf against the nation's best.

"I'm just a 33-year-old guy with a lot of mileage and a crooked arm," says the personable gent who has averaged 71.41 strokes through 78 competitive rounds this season.

He has had to groove a swing with tremendous body action to compensate for his shriveled left arm, the result of a fall from a playground climbing bar when he was 12.

Furgol won the All - American amateur title at Tam O'Shanter in 1944 and soon afterward turned pro. He finished third in the 1947 All-American pro and collected $3,300, his biggest single money win.

Costly Borger Errors End Winning Streak As Clovis Wins 10-7

BORGER — The Borger Gassers handed the lowly Clovis Pioneers a 10-7 victory here last night as they committed six errors in ending a four game win streak.

Borger outhit the Pioneers 14 to 11, but continuous bobbles helped the Pioneer cause. Jim Cain hurled nice ball for seven innings, allowing but one earned run, while the Pioneers were touching him for five unearned ones. Shortstop Rene Vega committed three of the six Gasser errors, two of them on successive plays in the seventh.

Umpire Steve Sadowski was in rare form, as he ejected Max Stiner from the Clovis dugout in the fifth and then tossed Ted Clawitter out of the fracas in the eighth.

Cats Open Beaumont Series After Both Triumph in TL

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas League leading Fort Worth Cats moved into Beaumont tonight for an important two game series with the Roughnecks. The Cats hold a three and one-half game bulge over the second place Ruffs.

Last night they both won — the Cats edged Oklahoma City, 4-3, and Beaumont whipped Shreveport, 5-2.

The Dallas Eagles pulled into a third-place deadlock with Tulsa as they defeated the Oilers, 3-2. Last place Houston stopped San Antonio, 3-1.

Wayne McLeland notched his 18th triumph of the season as Dallas squeezed by Tulsa. Ben Guinn smacked a two-run homer in the eighth to give the victory to the Eagles.

Dee Ebady singled in the ninth to drive home Frank Brown from second and give Fort Worth its win. Clarence Podbielan, who gave up nine hits, was the winning hurler.

Beaumont rallied for three counters in the tenth to take a second straight win over Shreveport. Rex Jones went the distance for the Roughnecks. Hugh Sooter was charged with the loss.

Joe Presko scattered seven San Antonio hits and contributed a bases-empty homer for the Houston win. Charlie Kress also homered for Houston with none on. Angelo Nardella, who allowed but six hits, was the loser.

Penn State's new football aide, Joe Paterno, played at Brown University for four years under 1950.

Odessa Back in Victory Column, Downs Ballinger

(By The Associated Press)

The Longhorn League leading Odessa Oilers got back into the win column last night with a 6-2 victory over cellar-mired Ballinger.

San Angelo edged third place Vernon, 6-5 in 11 innings. Big Spring blanked second place Roswell, 3-0, and Midland squeezed by Sweetwater, 3-2.

Al Sokolowski received credit for the Odessa victory as he gave up six hits. Les Palmer homered for the Oilers with one on.

Relief Pitcher Jimmy McClure singled home Wayne Wallace in the 11th inning to give San Angelo its win. San Angelo tied the count at five-all on a hit and three walks in the ninth.

Lou Gonzalez allowed Roswell only four hits in his whitewash job for the Big Spring Broncs. The Broncs scored all three of their runs in the fourth on five singles and an error.

Leon Hays cut down a ninth inning rally to give Midland a victory. Sweetwater had scored two runs in the ninth before Hays put the handcuffs on them.

Penn State's baseball team had six .300 or better hitters last year, of whom four are back for 1950.

Early Blue Sox Lead Melts Under Attack By Hubbers, 12 to 11

ABILENE — (AP) — Blue Sox pitching wilted like a morning glory in mid-afternoon, and the beautiful nine-run lead the home club erected in the first seven innings faded into a dismal 11-12 defeat at the hands of Lubbock's Hubbers here last night.

Abilene was ahead 11-2 going into the eighth, then rookie Lon Dunn lost his control. Six Hubbers walked and one got a single to produce four runs in that inning. Against the remaining Blue Sox pitchers, Lubbock used five hits, two walks and a wild pitch to score six times in the ninth.

Let's Not Foregt Former Red Deals

It ought not to be necessary to warn: Watch out for deals with the Russians. Certainly all our experience has shown the futility and the danger of accords with the Soviets.

Egen so, a wave of hope is stirred by dispatches from London and from Moscow that British diplomats are trying to reach some settlement on Korea with Stalin's men.

If, by some miracle, the Russians would agree to persuade the North Koreans to go back above the 38th parallel that would be welcome news indeed. That is, it would be welcome if the withdrawal took place.

But what we want to stress here is that when the Russians say they'll do something it doesn't mean they will do it. What has happened in Korea since the end of War II illustrates what we mean.

In December, 1945, the Russians agreed with United States that "there shall be set up a provisional Korean democratic government." Then for two years Soviet representatives on a joint commission to accomplish this balked every move the United States representatives made. At that point, the United States urged a four power conference on the problem, adding Great Britain and China to the negotiations. Russia rejected the proposal. Then the U. S. asked the United Nations general assembly to take over the problem. Russia objected.

The result of all this, of course, was a divided Korea, with a South Korean government established under the sponsorship of the United Nations and United States. What happened in North Korea our officials aren't too clear on even today — except that obviously the Soviets were long preparing that part of Korea to take over all Korea by force.

Let's keep our eyes and ears and minds wide open. Let us have no repetition of Yalta.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Time and again in years past, clients of these dispatches asked me to change the subject from unions, racketeers, the Roosevelts and their grafting and demoralizing conduct and the Communists. But I knew that the unions were a subterfuge, a trick organization comparable to the Nazi party in Germany or the People's fronts in the Communist satellite countries and were being used by Roosevelt to establish a control of the people which the Constitution knowingly withheld from government. I spelled it all out by quoting from the union constitutions and laws and revealing the atrocious practices of union jurisprudence under gangster and Communist judges and trial boards.

Now you are going to be sorry that you ever listened to those who persuaded you that such abrogations of your constitutional rights as a citizen were necessary and reasonable when you became a union member. You are going to be sorry that you ever gave a vote to a paltry hack from an underworld political machine that did not spurn the profits of prostitution in Kansas City, who went among you snarling that the act of Congress which tried to curb the powers of these Brown Shirts and Reds was a "slave labor law." I am afraid the fight to loosen the grip of these despotic people on the throats of Americans will not be won. Some are just ignorant, rock - fisted thugs, but there are Bela Kuns among them, too. We are going into a war economy as sure as you are born and in this terrible hour we find even Governor Dewey, who knows even more than I do about the brutal, predatory character and practises of the goons, breaking bread with some of the worst and using the occasion to cry up the alarm that our danger is "immediate and perhaps desperate." I don't much blame him now. They are the strongest power we have and the sudden job of muscling up and making discipline is desperately urgent. In New York the goons are even trying to absorb the cops.

The record of the unions in the second world war was an appalling exploitation of the blood, anguish and sacrifice of the people and of the country's peril, to fleece loyal war-workers of billions of dollars, all of which eventually came out of the whole population as taxes. Unioneers were princes of privilege.

John L. Lewis drove from Washington to Springfield, Ill., to visit his old mother while you were coasting down icy hills at risk of your life to save a few drops of gas and sneaks were jolting down license numbers on the parking lots in the evening to report that you were wasting gas going to the movies. James B. Carey, a professional unioneer so little qualified that he got shoved out of his own union, became a sort of dethroned king on the bounty of the C.I.O. and the White House. He was given a limousine with a government driver and gas and tires because his endearing way with the Roosevelts made him indispensible in the "war effort."

But these were not the worst. Though their privileges were shocking, these were mere opportunists out for the ride as dead-heads on a hack headed for Hell. Lewis never was a Communist and Carey's devotion to Carey left nothing to spare for Stalin. There were literally thousands of privileged unioneers reading their own words of wisdom in their own groveling little Hitlerian papers, collecting laudatory certificates from Morgenthau for investing their subjects' money in war bonds and taking bows from the War and Navy Departments as obscure brigadiers and buck admirals babbled laudations prepared by New Deal press agents at the ceremonial breaking-out of phoney "E" pennants.

When it was over, still concerned only in their own selfish empires and baronies, they set up a hullabaloo for demobilization right away and there we got the practical beginning of the present disorganized and demoralized condition of our fighting services. The "brass" were a lot of vain, selfish, predatory, glory-hunters. The West Pointers were a gang of cowards called the West Point Protective Association. On performance; we had been able to call up at one time a wonderful corps of planners, executives and fighters. The American Army, Navy and Air Force had not only stood off Japan with less than one hand until Hitler was out of the way, but had crossed the Atlantic and Mediterranean in colossal force to dispose of him. Then, they had demolished the fearsome Japanese empire, a political mistake to be sure, for that feat of arms turned Stalin loose against Americans in Korea, but a grand professional performance. Nevertheless the "brass" now became a cult of panoplied bums. The unioneers said so.

After all these years of sacrifice, tension, struggle and fomented hatred in our midst, surely ours must be a better world than Herbert Hoover left us. Yes, we had some male Apple Marys on some few corners in New York and shacktowns by the tracks, but suppressed history has been revealed since then which shows that both were exaggerated and exploited outwards of an economic slump much less due to Hoover than to the fanatic Wilson, who had to have his war. But even if Hoover couldn't have cured the depression would he have contrived a whole series of war emergencies to bail him out of his crises? Would he have turned our sixteen million Americans over to a gang of licentious, rioting criminals, subject to unlimited taxes and ferocious persecutions by kangaroo courts all outside the written forbiddance of the Constitution and the public laws? Was there anything in the modest story of his gentle wife to indicate that she ever could have brought herself to butt into bureaucratic affairs, foreign policy and legislative functions always in favor of crummy misanthropes and spies or to revel in graft on the by-product of the election returns? Did any Hoover son ever take a dirty dollar or even a doubtful one?

Mary Pickford wrote a naive book a few years back called "Why Not Try God?" I find many a one thinking that way now. God knows we gave the devil a long turn at bat.

The cold war and domestic pressures have put America's economy under its most terrific strain.
—W. Walter Williams, member of U. S. Economic Development Committee.

Seeking a scapegoat, some of our leadership has employed the tactics of suppression of civil liberties.
—President Thomas Emerson of the National Lawyers' Guild.

The taxpayers are working me too hard.

Romanism And Education

(By David Baxter)

PART I

One reader of this column suggests that my notions about education are "precariously close" to those of the Roman Catholic heirarchy, while, on the other hand, a Catholic priest friend wants a little government aid in transporting Catholic children to parochial schools. The latter is the same position Cardinal Spellman took regarding the Barden bill.

One religion being on a level with another in this country, I'm not bigoted about what the other fellow believes—except that he doesn't try to force it on others. Just to make myself clear to certain readers who think I'm "precariously close" to Rome, I'm a Protestant and, God grant, a real one who has some idea what he's protesting against, an "earnest contender (or protest-ant) for the faith once delivered unto the saints." (Jude 3). I am for the liberty of every man to think his own thought, speak his own mind and read anything he wants to, which is what the original Protestant Revolution led by Martin Luther was all about. I am for the Republic of the United States principle—and NOT for a democracy, whereby a majority, because it's a majority, may do anything it pleases, whether right or wrong, and run rough-shod over human rights. I am for absolute separation of church and state. The Catholic himself can be mighty thankful for the Protestant principle that grants him freedom of worship—a RIGHT— in a nation with a preponderant Protestant majority. If that majority ever went completely democratic (which we are well on the way to) it could democratically, by majority force, vote away the privilege of Catholics to conduct public worship, run their own schools, or conduct legal marriages, plus making the government an adjunct of a Protestant religious machine—which, vice versa, is exactly what the Roman Catholic heirarchy does in nations such as Italy and Spain today, where there is a democratic Catholic majority.

When I protest against Protestant church machines such as the Federal Council, attempting to meddle with government, or local church groups trying to be their brother's keeper by force of law, etc. it is because I really am a Protestant and regard such goings-on as a betrayal of Protestant principles and the practice, by so-called Protestants, of the very methods they accuse the Catholic church of practicing. In other words a thing is right or wrong, moral or immoral, and a true, decent government should be based on those rights and individual independence which no hell-bent majority or president or king or congress should have any power whatsoever to set astde or abrogate. Plainly speaking, that's the idea of an INDEPENDENT REPUBLIC. Free speech, like free worship, is a case in point. Under a democracy the majority can do the immoral thing of voting what I can say, think, hear or see. That's majority RULE (as though independent people wanted to be RULED in all that they do either by a dictatorial man or a dictatorial majority of men). But in an independent REPUBLIC I have the RIGHT—a written guarantee—to think, say, hear or see whatever I please, though I be a minority of one out of 175 million people. Thus, if I call myself a REPUBLICAN I know exactly what I mean by the word and for the same reason, as a Protestant, I am not going to be bound by any party which changes its PRINCIPLES every four years like medicine in a bottle, while keeping the same party label. I am a Republican whose principles NEVER change because they're unchangeable.

Therefore, armed with Protestant and Republican truth—backed by the Bill of Rights of the U. S. Constitution, I am on safe ground in protesting any mixture of church and state or the intrusion of "free compulsory" (?) educational notions by either organized "Protestant" religion or organized Catholic religion.

AS LONG AS YOU HAVE TAX SUPPORTED FORCIBLE PUBLIC EDUCATION YOU ARE GOING TO HAVE INJUSTICE AND A CONTINUAL RASH OF CONTROVERSY BREAKING OUT, exactly as is happening now in state after state, ranging from employment of nuns as school teachers in the Dakotas and New Mexico to the issue of free bus transportation for parochial school children and the Barden bill.

The Catholic, Lutheran, Seventh-Day Adventist, or anyone with children in schools of their own CHOICE, which they support, naturally resent having money forcibly extracted from them to pay for schools NOT of their choice and from which they receive no service in return for their tax dollar. The fact is, no one, majority or otherwise, has a RIGHT to force anyone to pay for something he doesn't want. It's a violation of INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN ideals, and the United States was intended to be such a Republic. Any of these citizens would be morally right and thoroughly American in refusing to pay one cent for schools they are not using. And that is where another wrong enters—the perfidy of the rest of the democrats in confiscating their property if they WON'T pay.

The Catholics, most powerful of the minorities, naturally feel that, since they are paying for bus transportation to schools, they should, in fairness, get something for their money, so they put on the pressure for free transportation of their children to their schools. Whereupon non-Catholics rise up-in-arms to denounce public aid for private religion—church and state. Then along come the Adventists and other Protestant private-schoolers and beg the government NOT to finance them—even though they do pay unfair taxes for public schools they do not use—for fear government will (as it always does) follow its money with its control. They figure it's bad enough to pay for schools they don't want without having government invade and dominate the private schools they do have. In fact, that's the very reason they have their own schools—to escape the immorality of democracy or public or government control.

We'll probe a bit more into this subject in our next column.

General Gremlin, Of The Kremlin

National Whirligig

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — George Kennan, the "Mr. X" who serves as the State Department's policy-maker and expert on Russia, is the principal exponent here of the theory that Stalin will not precipitate global war within at least five years, despite his preliminary triumph over the Western powers, and especially the United States, in Korea.

Strange as it may seem, the Kennan belief is that Moscow's Korean successes will incline him to defer the day of all-out war instead of hastening it.

His sally in that barren and remote peninsula, where he has succeeded in committing American and western forces to a hard and drawn-out struggle, although it is relatively unimportant, convinces the Kremlin that it can duplicate this strategy in many other places.

INFILTRATION — The Kremlin, according to Mr. Kennan's confidential advice to the White House and State Department, will hoard and build up its internal resources while it (1) wages guerilla warfare against us in distant places and (2) weakens its prospective foes through Communist infiltration in governments, parliaments and such key labor groups as munitions, dockside and railroad workers.

If this program can be pursued effectively, Stalin believes that the western world will be weaker in five years than it is now, despite the billions which the United States may pour out for national defense and rearmament of its allies in Western Europe.

OBJECTIVE — Moscow's immediate objective, according to this viewpoint, is to embroil the United States in a war with Communist China. The Korean aggression was designed deliberately to force us to take hostile action against the Mao Tse-Tung regime on the mainland, and Stalin's plans have worked far better than he had anticipated.

Despite his previous desertion of Chiang Kai-shek, who has been repudiated completely by the Chinese people, President Truman has given protection to Formosa, Chiang's last toehold.

The Seventh Fleet is now patrolling the waters between the island and the mainland. General Douglas MacArthur has conferred with Chiang over possibilities for fending off a Communist attack by air and water.

NEUTRAL — Thus, although open hostilities have not begun, the United States has been jockeyed into the position of preparing to fight Communist China. In that event the Korean conflict would become a mere sideshow.

Foreign statesmen have been quick to realize these implications. It explains why Britain, France, the Netherlands and India, which have recognized Mao Tse-Tung's government, have disassociated themselves from our Formosan venture.

If we are forced into a war with China, these nations may remain neutral, although they have far more at stake in the Orient than has the United States.

GRIP — Britain wants to maintain a foothold at Hongkong, Singapore, Burma and Malaya, which are threatened directly by the Kremlin's Far Eastern aggression, for reasons of trade.

France has sent more than 100,000 troops and spends half of her military budget to retain control over Indo-China. The Netherlands has not losed her commercial grip on Indonesia. Prime Minister Nehru of India cannot afford to break with China or Russia.

Thus, barring a miracle, the United States may find itself at war sooner or later with 400 million people with whom we have had an historic friendship for more than a century.

BEWILDERED — The most unhappy development reported by the diplomatic grapevine is that our sincere friends among Oriental and Asiatic circles are completely bewildered by American foreign policy in this area, including our defense of South Korea against invasion from the North. Their attitude may be difficult for us to understand, but it is explainable.

In the first place, the Truman Administration had seemed to wash its hands of the Far East, while it concentrated on strengthening Western Europe. Mr. Truman himself declared that the United States would not support Chiang Kai-shek, and declared that Formosa was of no strategic importance. Secretary Acheson excluded both Korea and Formosa from the Pacific area which we held vital to our own interests.

Finally, we withdrew our troops from the "land of the morning calm." Despite reports from Central Intelligence that North Korean Communists would overrun the land if we withdrew our occupation units, we pulled out.

ROLE — How, in a complete reversal of this program of indifference, Washington has made Korea the Lexington, the Fort Sumter and the Pearl Harbor of a possible World War III in which the billion inhabitants of China, India and adjacent lands are not interested.

To make it worse from our standpoint, we have been forced into backing three men generally looked upon as "absentee landlords," who represent imperialistic interests — Syngman Rhee in Korea, Chiang Kai-shek in China and Bao Dai in Indo-China.

Unpleasant as it may be to our pride, this is how our role in the Far East is viewed by the people who must live and die there.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

I am indebted to Jesse R. Williams of the Williams Printing Company, Atlanta, Georgia, whose profession is printing and whose hobby is writing cracker-barrel philosophy for the following observations about living—

Don't hurry — there are always twenty-four hours in a day, mostly sunshine, with time for work, for golf, and time to think great thoughts.

Don't worry—Keep your insurance paid up, see that your brakes and motor are OK; always provide for every emergency — remember semper paratus and you will have nothing to worry about.

Don't quarrel—with your boss, your customers or your family, it is not good for your high blood pressure and maybe they know their viewpoint better than you know yours.

Don't resent—Maybe Mr. X has done you wrong, but the law of compensation will adjust it. Put him out of your life and be happy.

Don't grab—By right you cannot hold what does not belong to you. Honest endeavor is the only road to happy possession. If you don't like your present surroundings, prepare yourself for something better and grow toward your ideal.

Don't post-mortem — This includes lost orders, ball games and social delights. Nobody is interested in what didn't happen. Talk realities and be popular.

Volcanoes that erupt frequently usually do so with comparatively little violence.

The Nation's Press

EVERYBODY HAPPY BUT THE VICTIM

(The Chicago Daily Tribune)

The United Mine Workers, thru its local at Canton, Ill., obligingly agreed to the demand of the national labor relations board last week that the local and its members stop threatening Lolyd H. Sidener. Sidener was president of the local until he was thrown out last March, denied work at the coal mine which formerly employed him, fined $50,000 by the union, and fined an additional $4 a day over the $21 he could earn if he should ever mine coal again.

These penalties were visited upon Sidener because he accepted in good faith two public calls issued by John L. Lewis, the miners' boss, ordering striking miners to return to work. The UMW had been enjoined under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law from continuing the strike. The union faced civil and criminal penalties for contempt in the event of a violation; so Lewis, for the record, ordered work resumed.

After Sidener's ouster, he disclosed that a secret signal passed by Lewis down the union chain of command directed UMW members to disregard the ostensible back-to-work order. Sidener's squawk attracted the notice of the NLBR and the house labor committee. To avoid embarrassment to Lewis and the Truman administration, which had connived with him in a plan to discredit the Taft-Hartley act, the Canton local hurriedly agreed to rescind the penalties against Sidener.

This was intended to choke off any further inquiry into the good faith of Lewis and the administration, but some overzealous members of the Canton local couldn't leave well enough alone. When Sidener returned to work a month ago, he received five threats of death within 24 hours. This led the ULRB to renew its interest in the case. This time it demanded hard and fast commitments from the union.

The union was quite willing to make these concessions, for, while it was in session with the NLRB, Sidener was on his way to Florida with his family to establish a new home. It is well known that no coal is mined in Florida. The union was getting rid of him in return for a purely technical promise not to interfere with his work in the pits. Lewis and the Truman administration were getting out from under the threat that it would be proved against them that compliance with the Taft-Hartley law had been a fake, in which the government had been the accomplice of the mine union boss.

Everybody except Sidener thought this would dispose of matters for good. That rebel, however, has protested the new settlement and demanded that the NLRB proceed with the full dress investigation orginally scheduled. He feels that Lewis and his Illinois deputy should be held liable for their actions. The public interest demands that the facts be brought into the open. If Lewis and the Truman department of justice made a mockery of the law and the courts, they should not be allowed to get away with it.

This is a time for very steady and sober talk and action.

The Doctor Says

WRITTEN FOR NEA

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

Amebic dysentery is a world-wide problem. This is an unfavorable reflection on our use of modern knowledge since we know how this disease is spread and how to prevent it. The parasite responsible for this form of dysentery travels from the intestines of one person to those of another.

Amebic infections are spread by pollution and are usually taken into the body by swallowing in the drinking water or in the food, and by flies and direct contact. These must first have been contaminated by human waste containing the parasite.

The nature and severity of symptoms vary a great deal. The disease often develops suddenly with pain and tenderness in the abdomen. Diarrhea with bloody stools is common. Those who are attacked in this way are extremely ill and prostrated.

Death can come during this stage though most people recover from their worst symptoms. Even after the symptoms have disappeared, however, they may carry the parasites in their intestinal tract or they may develop a chronic stage of the disease in which the symptoms are far less severe.

Other victims may become infected but never develop an acute illness. Alternating periods of constipation and diarrhea with mild symptoms or even none at all are frequent. Those who do not have any symptoms but harbor the parasites are considered carriers and are, of course, just as dangerous as those who are acutely ill.

When carriers or those with mild chronic symptoms handle food in public eating places or homes, they are a source of danger to others. Most city public health departments, therefore, have adopted regulations regarding the health inspection of food handlers in res taurants and hotels with the aim of eliminating carriers of amebae from this type of work.

Since the symptoms of amebic dysentery may be just like those of other conditions the only way of making a sure diagnosis is by identifying the parasites under the microscope.

There are several fairly good treatments for this disease. Several injections of a substance called emetine hydrochloride is a time-honored method. Recently there have been favorable reports concerning aureomycin and some other new drugs.

Prevention is the most important line of attack. Since the disease is spread by water, food, and flies which have come in contact with ameba containing human waste, every effort must be made to eat or drink pure food and water only and to make it impossible for flies to come in contact with infected material. This disease can and should be wiped out from every civilized society.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Considerable politics is being played by all concerned in the new defense planning program.

President Truman is being severely criticized for proposing what his critics consider only half-way measures to deal with the Korean war. They say that he isn't proposing a big enough tax increase, that he isn't asking enough for defense money, and that the economic controls he wants Congress to enact aren't nearly tough enough to deal with the present situation.

This is an entirely new line for administration opponents. Hertofore, they have claimed that he wanted to tax too much, spend too much and control too much.

As a matter of fact, the administration's new defense program now before Congress looks like a complete change in the president's political strategy. The president is now consulting more with congressional leaders, asking their advice instead of just telling them. His defense program is therefore based on what he feels he can get passed now, in a hurry and with minimum difficulty.

In the past, the president has always been way ahead of Congress. He has been the leader of the Democratic Party. He has wanted more civil liberties, more social welfare, bigger government programs than Congress has been willing to enact.

LEADERSHIP

Political justification for this has been that it was this program for things like a federal FEPC, health insurance, and low-income housing that got the president re-elected in 1948. If he had compromised and been willing to take only what the more conservative Congress had been willing to give him, he would have had a program even less progressive than Governor Dewey's. From a political standpoint, this might have led to a Democratic defeat.

The president apparently wants to stick to this "way-out-in-front leadership, as a long-range proposition. He would probably never admit for a second that he had abandoned any of his Fair Deal. In dealing with the Korean war situation, however, the president is up against another problem in practical politics.

The election is not too far away. Congressional and senatorial candidates are jittery about what the war may do to them, in all but the traditionally solid southern Democratic or northern Republican districts.

The president naturally feels that he must have Democratic majorities in both houses of the next Congress. So he proposes a safe, middle-of-the-road program.

Actually, the president is being attacked from both sides of this road. Republican House leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts and Senator Taft of Ohio feel that the president's defense program is too tough. Followers of Bernard Baruch, who wants stand-by price control and rationing legislation enacted now, feel that the president's program is too soft.

LONG MEMORIES

There are other good, practical political arguments for not advocating price and rationing controls at this time. In the first place, there is no machinery set up to administer and enforce them. In the second place, Democrats may well remember that one of the principal reasons they lost control of Congress in 1946 was the unpopularity of OPA.

In the president's midyear economic report sent to Congress last week, still another line of reasoning is advanced. It is based on a fear that overexpansion of defense production now would lead to a war boom. This war boom would lead to inflation. And too much inflation would inevitably be followed by collapse.

The remembrance of even the slight economic decline of the past 12 months, when unemployment rose to 4,000,000, still seems to haunt some Washington economic and political planners.

What the president therefore proposes is a program that will take up the reported 5 percent slack in industrial production, further build up productive capacity for a greater defense effort at a later time, and absorb the surplus manpower now available so as to cut down unemployment to one million.

In other words, this looks something like a defense effort to produce full employment and not much more — till after election. It is obviously only a stop-gap mobilization program.

The president himself says that he will ask for further tax increases after the election. A fair bet would be that he will ask for bigger defense appropriations and tougher economic controls, too.

Flood-Bound Fellow Spurns Rescue, Remains With Bottle

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

The lighter side of Texas news:

During the flood at Wichita Falls, Red Cross volunteer workers spotted a barefoot man marooned atop a house and quickly boated out to rescue him. As they approached the house, however, he waved a bottle at them and shouted: "I'm going to ride it out right here." The rescue team tried to argue but finally gave up and left him — and the bottle — in peace.

Robert Lee Fain, 21, of Houston, got out of the Marines — and then back in again, so he could get into the Korean fight. Fain was stationed at Corpus Christi as a paymaster sergeant. When his enlistment ran out the other day, he decided not to reenlist at Corpus Christi, feeling he would go on being a paymaster sergeant there. So he cannily took a discharge, went home to Houston, and reenlisted for six years. Now he's headed for a California camp, and — he hopes — points west.

A Denison merchant, Six Maples, went out to a man's home to see him about a forged check the fellow had passed at the merchant's store. Even as Maples rang the doorbell, the culprit was down at the store, trying to cash another forged check. A deputy sheriff jailed him. And at Wichita Falls City Detective O. B. Mullins was taking a deeply personal interest in a case. He was after a guy who slammed him with a chair at a wrestling match — inflicting scalp lacerations.

Post officer workers at Sunny Uvalde announced that they like for post officer box holders to come get their mail these hot days. Opening of the boxes creates a cooling draft between the outer lobby of the post office and the rear of the building, where the postal clerks labor.

At Waco, William Kirks of Brownwood was hit by a car as he ran to catch a bus. Despite a leg injury, he went on and caught the bus.

In the city clink at Denton, a prisoner named Eugene Manasco tore out the plumbing in his cell on the second floor of the city hall. In 30 minutes water was an inch deep on the second floor and was cascading down to the first floor. The mayor's office, directly below the jail, was badly damaged. City officials, firemen and policemen battled water for two and one-half hours. After the cleanup, Manasco was placed in another cell. Promptly, he tore out the plumbing.

Cattleman Blames Retailers for Hike In Price of Meats

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A spokesman for Western cattlemen today blamed retail handlers for soaring meat prices.

Joe Montague of Fort Worth, general counsel for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, told a reporter the price of choice beef cattle on the hoof has dropped 7 cents per pound since June 1.

"In the same period the average price of meat over the counter to the consumer has increased 12 cents per pound," he added. "The increase has been at the retail level, because packers aren't charging more for wholesale."

Montague also represents the join livestock committee, 134 livestock associations. He said he is here to find out how the Korean war situation will affect the meat industry.

Montague said the industry would not oppose imposition of controls if the public demands it, but declared there is ample meat available.

FUNNY FACE

By James Gunn

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Lanning and Ellie Lane, theatrical friends of mine, were married more than 22 years ago and made a hit as a vaudeville comedy dance team. Their success was due to Ellie's natural instinct for comedy and Jack's handsomeness, which served as a back-drop for her capers. But Ellie seemed always to shudder every time Jack called her his pet name "Funny Face," and soon I observed a strange tenseness between them. I knew the reason. Ellie had told me once that she believed she was the plain looking —even ugly—wife of a very handsome man. I couldn't convince her otherwise. "Someday," she told me, "Jack will realize what he's stuck with."

III

LATER, when Ellie and I were alone, she was nervous and silent. We talked about the act, and she said harshly, "I made up my mind that if they were going to laugh at me, they might as well think I wanted them to. If I'm stuck with this face I might as well get some good out of it at least."

She was intensely bitter. I had never heard her talk like that before. She went on: "It's no joke thinking up the kind of stuff we do. And of course Jack's as much help as a hole in the head. Give him a party and a pretty girl and he's the wit of the world, but on the stage he has as much sense of comedy as the Little Match Girl.

"But there's still no reason I should take it out on Jack. It's not his fault that he's good looking and the girls go after him. It's not his fault that he's popular with people and I sit in a corner. None of it's his fault. I just wish he understood a little more. He thinks I love making an ass of myself on stage; he thinks I'm happy as a clam. I asked him once not to joke about my looks in front of other people. I've never seen anybody so surprised. He was so hurt I couldn't be too hard on him. He still calls me 'Funny Face,' and every time I hear it I want to kill him and shoot myself."

She was taking the situation much too seriously and I told her so. She gave me a short hard laugh and that was the best I could get out of her. The next day I asked Jack to lunch.

IT was difficult to get around to what I wanted to say. He loved Ellie very much, and really believed she was happy.

"Of course I call her Funny Face, I always have. She isn't pretty, nobody said she was. Who cares?"

"Ellie cares."

"You're crazy. There are thousands of beautiful girls, but there's only one Ellie."

I said: "Well, you always have plenty of pretty girls around you."

"Well, of course there are always girls with the show—" Suddenly he looked at me in consternation. "Look, Ellie doesn't think I've been cheating on her, does she? I go out without her a lot, she always wants to stay home, but I wouldn't do a thing like that."

I said hastily, "No, she doesn't think so. That isn't it at all."

He looked relieved. "Well, I hope not. She knows I wouldn't do anything to hurt her. Honestly, she's really happy. She must have been tired last night."

I heard from them about a year later. They had taken time out for Ellie to have a child, a girl, whom they named Janet. They went back to work; Jack's income disappeared in 1929, but they were doing well enough so that the loss did not matter.

• • •

AND then one day Jack came to my office. I had not even known he was in town. The moment I saw him I knew something was very wrong. He looked desperate and lost. "Where's Ellie?" I asked.

"In Reno, getting a divorce."

I was shocked. He had obviously taken it very hard. He was completely bewildered. "I don't know what happened. Everything was going along fine. She was sort of moody now and then, and she'd hardly go out at all. But she seemed to be all right most of the time. We hadn't quarreled or anything. And then one day she just said she was leaving. She said she had to, and that was all."

"Couldn't you make her talk to you?"

"I tried. She said she still loved me, it wasn't that. And she knows I love her. I can't understand it. I haven't been carrying on, and I know there isn't another man for her. I told her I wouldn't go out so much, if that upset her. She just said it wouldn't make any difference.

"I persuaded her to wait a month before she left for Reno. She wouldn't stay with me, but a couple of times I saw her. She was perfectly nice, the same as always, but she wouldn't unbend. When the month was up she still wanted the divorce. Well, I couldn't make it tough for her after that. I asked her what grounds she wanted to use, and she said 'ugliness.' I guess that was a joke—the legal grounds are mental cruelty or something, the usual thing."

I could guess what had happened, but there was no point in giving Jack my opinion. He was miserable enough, and he would never be able to understand Ellie's feelings about being called "Funny Face."

Polio-Ravaged Area Emergency Eased

WYTHEVILLE, Va. — (AP) — A weekend respite gave residents of this polio-ravaged area new hope that the nation's worst outbreak of the disease might be easing up.

Only three new cases were reported yesterday in Wythe County, scene of an epidemic which has seen 123 of its 23,000 inhabitants contract polio since July 1. The state health department has reported 14 deaths.

When grown side by side, true squashes and pumpkins will not cross.

Dallas Bandits Get $15,000 In Jewelry

DALLAS — (AP) — Masked gunmen raided a North Dallas home late last night and escaped with $15,000 in jewels and cash after a gun battle with officers.

One of the men was wounded and later surrendered as city and county officers combed a field of Johnson grass several blocks away. A second, and possibly a third, man escaped.

The loot is still missing.

Two masked men appeared about 10:20 p. m. at the home of E. R. Brann, an independent oilman. He and his wife and Mrs. Brann's mother, Mrs. John Stalling, were resting in a den at the back of the house.

The two men tied the hands of Brann and Mrs. Stalling after they made them lie on the floor, then began a systematic search of the house.

A neighbor became suspicious and called police. One patrolman went to the Brann's door and rang the bell.

Another stood in the yard.

"Come on in," a man's voice called out cordially to Police Officer William C. Grinnell. As Grinnell stepped inside his arms were pionioned behind him and his revolver jerked from the holster.

The bandits noticed another policeman in the yard of the house. They fired several shots at him through a big picture window, then released Grinnell and ran out the back door.

Grinnell sprinted to his patrol car and grabbed a shotgun. He raced down the street after two.

As the bandits reached their car, one turned and fired several shots at Grinnell from a rifle. Grinnell wived into a ditch, then fired at the bandits' car three times. The buckshot wounded one of the men and punctured both rear tires on the car.

Brann said the loot included nine diamond rings, one of them with a fivecarat stone. He said only $75 was in cash.

Heroin Seized In Gun Battle

BROWNSVILLE — (AP) — After a river-bank gun battle customs agents seized $9,000 worth of heroin but the smugglers escaped.

"About 20 shots were fired back and forth, but we don't know whether we hit anybody," a customs agent said yesterday.

The seizure occurred Sunday on the U. S. side of the Rio Grande near here.

Late yesterday a Mexican youth was reported dying of a bullet wound in a hospital in Martomoros, across the river from Brownsville. He was found Sunday at El Gomeno on the Mexican side of the river and roughly opposite the scene of the battle. Matamoros authorities said the youth was not able to make a statement.

Customs agents said that as soon as the shooting started a man who had crossed the river dropped his gun and the jar of heroin and ran into the brush. Officers had spotted a big red convertible parked in a field near the river, but it disapepared during the shooting.

Israelis Stage Hunger Strike

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Thousands of Israelis went hungry or ate only sandwiches today as strikes protesting new ration restrictions spread to restaurants and cafes.

The eating house walkout, in sympathy with striking shopkeepers, was called for today only but many merchants may keep their shops closed. The shutdown was not completely effective, however, as a number of shops remained open, serving meals for at least a past of the day.

The strikers are protesting the recently instituted rationing of clothing and footwear, which the government said was neded to save foreign currency.

Israel's parliament meanwhile convened to discuss the new distribution restrictions.

Dallas Girl Named 1950 'Miss Texas'

NEW BRAUNFELS — (AP) — Texas' official delegate of beauty and talent is a pretty blonde from Dallas.

Margaret Sue Sommers, 19-year-old University of Texas student, was awarded the title of "Miss Texas" here in a beauty contest that had the judges undecided until the wee hours yesterday morning.

She entered the contest as "Miss Austin," with the following vital statistics listed on her entry blank: five feet two; 106 pounds, bust 33 inches; waist 23 inches, hips 34 inches.

Gwyn Wilson of Cameron was second, and Anne Catherine Davidson of Kerrville, third.

Military Post Walls Brought Up to Date

CAMP COOKE, Calif. — (AP) — Veterans of the reserve 13th armored division settled down in their old Camp Cooke barracks today and found the walls still adorned with wartime government posters praising Soviet Russia.

"One of the United Nations," one poster proclaimed.

The GI's, here for two weks' training, tore the posters down and cleaned up the premises. The barracks haven't been used since 1946.

Wichita Falls Starts Anti-Typhoid Drive

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — City sanitation crews begin a drive here today in flood-stricken areas to get rid of mosquitoes which might cause typhoid.

Late yesterday an estimated 75 percent of the 545 families forced from their homes by flood waters of Holliday Creek had returned to their residences.

Strikes Hurt Glass Output

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (AP) — A federal mediator reports that strikes at soda ash plants here and in three other cities are having a "serious" effect on the nation's glass production.

James J. Carroll of the U. S. conciliation service says negotiations here between the Solvay Process Division of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp. and the United Mine Workers, Ind., appear to be "the big bottleneck" in settlement of the wage and pension disputes.

A Solvay Process official estimated that 25 percent of the nation's glass furnaces had shut down because of a shortage of soda ash, used in the manufacture of glass.

The 55-day-old strike has idled 3,000 workers at Solvay's Syracuse plant. Another 1,500 are out as the result of strikes at the firm's plant in Baton Rouge, La., and Detroit.

At Painesville, Ohio, the UMW struck July 21 against the Diamond Alkalai Company, which employs about 3,000.

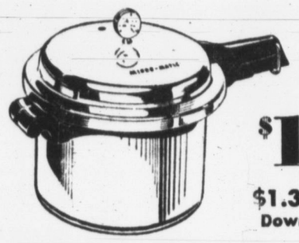

The union has not disclosed its demands and wage scales have not been made public.

During a terrific surge in June, Ted Kluszewski hit .370 for Cincinnati. The big Red first baseman had a streak during which he made 30 hits in 81 trips to the plate.

Why 'Wise Folks' Now DRINK These Needed Vitamins and Minerals

More Easily and Quickly Absorbed by The Blood This Way!

Most people today realize how important Vitamins and Minerals are to help maintain good health. Millions are wisely taking Vitamins and Minerals. But few people realize that Vitamins and Minerals, to be more quickly absorbed and assimilated by the blood, must be in soluble or emulsion form. . . .

That's why this great new HADACOL now comes to you in special liquid form.

HADACOL not only supplies weak, run-down, deficient systems with extra quantities of important Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin but also helpful amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese. And these important Vitamins and Minerals of HADACOL have been scientifically compounded in specially pleasant liquid form to make them easier to digest, quicker to assimilate than when the same essentials are offered in many types of pills or tablets.

Just ask your own doctor. Ask him if this skillful blending of HADACOL's Vitamins and Minerals doesn't make it easier for your system to absorb these precious elements—doesn't make them more available — ready to go to work at once. Their balanced inter-relationship intensifies HADACOL's outstanding effectiveness.

Relieve the REAL CAUSE of These Ailments Due to Such Deficiencies

The lack of only a small amount of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in your system can cause many ailments such as neuritis pains, stomach disturbances, constipation, insomnia, certain nervous disorders and a general run-down condition. So you see how important it is to start taking HADACOL at once if you are so deficient.

A remarkable improvement is often noticed within a few days.

And continued use of this great HADACOL nutritional formula helps prevent such painful ailments from coming back!

Start drinking HADACOL's great Vitamins and Minerals today. Know what it means to have that wonderful HADACOL feeling everyone is talking about. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.

Bette Davis, Mate Begin Honeymoon

GLOUCESTER, Mass. — (AP) — Screen Star Bette Davis and her fourth husband, Actor Gary Merrill, are honeymooning here and planning "a real New England holiday."

They were married July 28 in Juarez, Mexico, and then drove here. They have taken a house for the summer.

The new Mrs. Merrill refused to kiss her husband for cameraman at Juarez after telling them "we don't do that in New England."

But yesterday she posed for a photographer and asked for copies. "These will be my only honeymoon photographs," she said.

Mexico Sends Millions In Citrus to Canada

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— Mexican growers estimate they have shipped to Canada this year about 30,000,000 Canadian dollars worth of Mexico citrus fruits, vegetables, and peanuts.

Officials of the growers' association reported yesterday that this year's orange and lemon shipments to Canada totaled approximately a million crates. Most of Mexico's citrus exports go to Canada, since they are barred from Texas because of the black fly in Mexico.

Gems Taken From American's Villa

NICE, France — (AP) — The Riviera villa of American manufacturer Norman Winston was robbed of $60,000 in jewels Saturday night while his guests played bridge to the music of gypsy violins.

The jewels were taken from second floor bedrooms while the guests — members of the international set — were being entertained downstairs. The theft was discovered by Mrs. E. E. Gates, wife of a conservative member of the British Parliament, who had gone upstairs and found her purse missing.

Police said a checkup disclosed that Mrs. Rodman De Heren of New York City, lost rings, brooches and earings worth about $45,000. French designer Elsa Schiaparelli missed jewels, including a $3,500 brooch.

Police are questioning both guests and servants at the Winstons' Villa Le Roc, which is near the Chateau De L'Horizon, home of Prince Aly Khan and movie actress Rita Hayworth.

Among the guests at the party were Elsa Maxwell, noted party giver; the Duchess of Leinster, Lord Tavistock and the Prince and Princess Faucigny-Lucinge.

Demos Awaiting Word on New District Judge

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Tarrant County Democrats are awaiting word from Gov. Allan Shivers on a successor to Judge Walter L. Morris of the 67th District Court, who died here Saturday.

The county Democratic committee was advised yesterday it could not name a candidate to run for the court because Morris had not been a candidate in the July primary election. Morris had served only two years of his four-year term.

Shivers said yesterday he would take no action on appointing a successor until he talked "things over with parties in Fort Worth" and found out "what the law says."

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Vivien Leigh is back in Hollywood for the first time in 10 years.

The British actress, wife of Sir Laurence Olivier, returned to play the lead in the film version of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Korea Countryside Becomes Scene of Hopeless Misery

By HAL BOYLE

WITH U.S. TROOPS IN KOREA—(AP)— War has no box seat for the innocent bystander.

And the tides of combat have turned the roads of South Korea into dust choked lanes of human misery and death.

As you travel up to the front you see such things as these:

A slender middle-aged woman plods along bent almost double by the weight of her mother, a toothless crone who clings to her like a small child playing piggy back. . .a young lad leads by the hand a blind old man with a white beard thinned by time. . .a naked wailing little boy trots through the line of refugees looking for his parents. . .

Many have no homes to go back to. Their villages have been burned by artillery fire, strafing plane attacks, or razed by withdrawing American troops to keep them from becoming hiding places for enemy vehicles. The Reds have a habit of driving their tanks through the clay walls of village huts and using the thatched roof as camouflage.

The refugees neither weep nor complain. Nor does one family ask or expect help from another. Their expression is as stolid and blank as that often worn by infantrymen too long in the line — a dumb acceptance of suffering and an indifference to it because their world has no horizon beyond pain.

Only as you near the front yourself do you see fear. Here is panic in the eyes of women and children who flee peaceful homes under the thunder of strange guns. Some wander aimlessly toward the battlelines. To keep these lines clear, South Korean police order the refugees to follow the stream beds back or take paths through the hills.

After days and days of driving back and forth through its shifting, restless, endless sea of human suffering your mind becomes numb to the flight of thousands of individual atoms that compose it. So much distressdulls the eye. You feel sorry for them all but there are so many that only a few cases leave a sore spot in your heart.

I remember two. Crossing a bridge I saw a man in tattered soiled white rags crawling on hands and knees across the dry, stone-studded creek bed below. He held up a pleading arm to a group of refugees but they turned their eyes away and walked on. And I guess that is what I did too.

Coming home at twilight, our jeep passed a solitary bearded old native guiding his way down a mountain path by tapping the ditch edge with his cane. He turned his sightless eyes toward us for a moment and then his cane began tap tapping again. We turned a bend and, he was gone.

But all the rest of the way I had a feeling that the blind old man was all humanity himself — a lone refugee fumbling downhill in darkness, stone by stone through a world whose real brightness was shut forever from his eyes.

Hiroshima Mayor Hints A-Bombing

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — On the fifth anniversary of the atom bombing of his city, Hiroshima's Mayor hinso Hamai warned:

"Every sane person hopes with all his heart that the atom bomb will not have to be used in Korea, but conditions being as they are no one can predict the future."

Mayor Hamai, returning from the international moral re-armament conference in Switzerland, said the people of Hiroshima hold no bitterness, but that everybody must be made aware of what happened there.

13th Air Force Head Opens Formosa Office

TAIPEI, Formosa — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Howard Turner, commander of the U. S. 13th Air Force, has set up a liaison office in the Chinese Nationalist air force headquarters building here.

Turner flew here several days ago from Clark Field in the Philippines.

Need Seen for Intelligence Agency Shift

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two senators who cited evidence of what they called faulty military intelligence said yesterday there may be a need for some broad changes in the intelligence setup.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) told a reporter he thinks all the available information shows that this country was caught napping by the Communist invasion of South Korea. He said he will suggest that a Senate armed services investigating subcommittee of which he is a member look into intelligence operations with a view to suggesting changes.

Senator Byrd (D-Va), like Bridges a member of the full armed services committee, said events of the last few weeks have indicated to him that some drastic revisions in military espionage operations ought to be undertaken.

"The whole intelligence setup probably ought to be reorganized on a war basis," he said in a separate interview.

Bridges said he hopes intelligence reports from other parts of the world are evaluated more effectively than were those from Korea.

The Senate appropriations committee inquired briefly into the nature of intelligence reports from Korea a few days after the Communist invasion. Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoetter, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, said then his agency has reports dating back a full year to show that North Korea was massing troops and equipment along the border.

But Hillenkoetter said his agency merely passed these reports on to other government departments without evaluating them.

Byrd said he is particularly disturbed because American military leaders apparently thought the North Koreans had committed most of their troops to the fighting 10 days ago but now find that additional Communist reserves have been poured into the battle.

Ballplayers Didn't Steal Home Plate

VINELAND, N.J. —(AP)— Someone stole home at Vineland's Municipal Baseball field. But the feat didn't get into any baseball score book — police put it instead on their blotter.

Someone backed a car onto the baseball diamond last Thursday night and ripped out the 18-inch pegs which held the $18 plate to the ground.

WE'VE "HOWDIED" . . . but WE AIN'T "SHOOK"!

Si and Hank met in the village grocery store. "Hi, Hank!" said Si. "Howdie, Boy! You know Hiram here, don't you, Si? "Well," said Si, "we've howdied but we an't shook."

And so it is with us at B & G. We've "howdied" a great many of you folks through our opening event but as yet we "ain't shook."

Even if you have no need for our merchandise at the moment, why not drop in and become personally acquainted with our staff. Perhaps you were unable to attend our opening event but still desire to see a modern merchandising operation in action.

We wish the public to feel B & G is the community's store; everyone is welcome. Stop by and see us again soon.

COME IN AND LET'S "SHAKE"!
