CROWELL MAN IS MURDERED IN RAILWAY CAR

Burkett Admits $19,000 Loan From Accused Road Man

FORMER ROAD BOARD MEMBER IN DEPOSITION

Lender Is One of Defendants in Moody's Suit Against Hoffman Co.

TELLS OF ACTIVITIES

Recommended Appointment Of Ousted Highway Engineer to Burkett

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—(AP) Deposition of Joe Burkett of Abilene, resigned member of the state highway commission, taken for the Hoffman Construction company suit, shows that he borrowed $19,000 from George A. Davison of Eastland, president of the construction company through Frank Kirk of Gorman.

Davisson is one of the principal defendants in the $421,000 suit brought in behalf of the state against the Hoffman Construction company by Attorney General Dan Moody. Pleas of privilege are to be heard Jan. 18, in the fifty-third district court of Travis county.

Davisson Admits Loan.

Davisson admits in his deposition that he loaned money to Frank Kirk of Gorman for Burkett. He said that the note was endorsed by Kirk and was subsequently paid by Burkett who turned over his interests in oil holdings to Kirk. Burkett stated in his deposition that he borrowed in aggregate approximately $700 in cash from Ray Starnes of San Antonio, another defendant, to make trips to California, Washington and New York to inspect certain kinds of roads but said he paid it back.

Burkett explained that a bank's check for $19,000 not a personal one, was delivered to him July 10, and he gave it to the state banking department at Austin to cover some obligations he had made to state banks which had failed. He related a controversy with Frank V. Lanham, deposed chairman of the highway commission, over the letting of the surfacing contract granted to the Hoffman Construction company at 30 cent per square yards, saying he held out for 25 cents unite the highway engineer, R. J. Hanks, said 30 cents was a reasonable price.

Gave $6,000 to Campaign.

Davisson said in his deposition that he contributed $6,000 to campaign expenses of Governor Hannett of New Mexico and United States Senator Brutton during the last campaign, "out of friendship." He said he recommended L. R. Allison, assistant highway engineer, who quits tomorrow at request of the highway commission, to Burkett.

Allison has been with the New Mexico highway department.

He admitted that he recommended others who were given positions of responsibility and trust. He said that Starnes had told him that he had recommended appointment as state highway engineer of W. C. Davidson, formerly of the New Mexico highway department and after Davidson failed to get the job, he gave him one with the Atex Construction company.

Burkett said he knew nothing of persons trying to get him appointed to the highway commission.

Road Firm Aided Appointees?

In answer to the question "was there a gemeral scheme on the part of the Hoffman Construction company both in New Mexico and in Texas—by campaign contributions and by aid of one kind and another to people holding office—seeking office, to be able to place men on highway commission as employes of engineers, things of that kind, and also bring about the appointment of highway engineers in the hopes that it would result in the Hoffman Construction company being able to secure contracts and then being able to do their work under engineers who were at least friendly towards them and would not make extreme demands upon them," Davisson in part made the statement, "I am always willing and I think it is natural that I would help any friend or anybody that I know or that I figured would be fair at least to me, in a place like that. If you ever do any contracting work you will realize the necessity of having somebody who will at least be fair to you, because if you don't do it you will find a great many engineers who think they have to break a contractor in order to keep the job."

The depositions are voluminous as are those of Lanham and Starnes. Lanham's deposition deals mostly with technical road building. Starnes' deposition merely explains parts of that of Davisson.

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch
A Mule Named January.

We had a mule named January,
The reason I could never see.
For January was contrary,
And more like March it seemed to me.
Though January always snows
And blows and freezes till you're froze,
In March you have rambunctious weather
That thaws and freezes both together.
I think I would have named him March.
Because of ways he had of acting.
He'd hoist his heels, his back he'd arch.
He had a manner most distracting
The disposition that he had
Was always certain to be bad.
Just as in March it thaws and freezes
Until the whole creation sneezes
That's why my father liked that mule,
And why he named him January.
For January had a rule
That no one ever knew to vary.
"I'd rather have a foe fight out."
Dad said, "than have a friend I doubt.
Better than friends that you misspend on
Are enemies you can depend on."

BORAH FLAYS WORLD COURT

Says if His Party Is Right Now, it Has Erred 40 Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee resumed today in the senate his campaign against the Harding-Coolidge proposal for American adherence to the world court protocol.

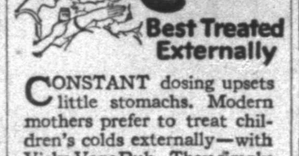

Declaring that much has been said about the responsibility of individual senators to their party, Senator Borah said he wanted to call attention to "the responsibility of the party to the people who have sustained it and made it what it is."

"In the policy we are about to adopt," he said, "we are overturning a policy of the Republican party that has existed for the past 40 years. If we are right now, then we have been wrong for 40 years."

Mr. Spoon Bitten By Bad Mr. Coon

CISCO, Jan. 14.—M. H. Spoon, caretaker of the Cisco park, has met with his third attack from the animals in the zoo. There are two coons in the zoo, one a pet and the other not so tame. In moving them, Spoon got hold of the wrong coon.

Spoon's first attack was from a bear. Later a buck deer gored him.

CONSTANT dosing upsets little stomachs. Modern mothers prefer to treat children's colds externally—with Vicks VapoRub. They simply rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Vicks acts two ways at once:

(1) Like the old-fashioned poultice in "drawing out" the soreness and pain; and, at the same time,

(2) Like a modern vapor lamp because the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of medicated vapors which are inhaled all night long. These loosen the phlegm and open the congested air passages.

Most colds yield by morning to this double direct action.

A WORD OF WARNING

"WE MUST get away from this one crop idea of planting only cotton, otherwise, our people will be ruined some year."

This is the warning sounded by President R. Q. Lee of the West Texas chamber of commerce, who has launched a campaign to stress the importance of intensive and diversified farming for his section of Texas.

President Lee is a successful farmer, successful oil producer, a successful banker and a successful man of affairs. favorable growing seasons throughout question of time when there will be

It is his contention that it is only a the entire cotton belt, and some 20,000 bales of cotton will be raised, more than can ever be sold in one year, and which he says will spell absolute ruin for those who are engaged in the farming industry.

He has a remedy. Texans must grow their own food and feed. They spend 55 per cent of their income for food and feed. His advice is that this high percentage should be greatly reduced if not wiped out entirely.

These west Texans produced a large crop of cotton last year. They may go in strong for cotton this year. President Lee is telling them to plant food stuffs and feed stuffs, to diversify all along the line, to fill their corn cribs and their smoke houses and to pay attention to the poultry industry.

This is advice that should be taken by all people in all sections of Texas as well as by the people of west Texas.

Why go to Missouri for bacon and Kansas for corn? Why spend $150,000,000 every year for food stuffs and feed stuffs, which should be produced under Texas skies?

A GROWING SYSTEM

CITIZENS and readers of this newspaper are reminded that the city manager plan of government is a growing plan, and that it has been a success wherever it has been given an honest test. On the first day of the year 1926, 362 American cities and towns had adopted the city manager plan of municipal government.

On the list given by the advocates of the city manager plan will be found some of the foremost and fastest growing cities of America. Detroit has to all intents and purposes the city manager plan, and Detroit is a city that has jumped in population from 300,000 to more than a million in a few short years.

Practical politicans everywhere are the enemies of the city manager paln. It is a plan that does not appeal to the inefficient, the mercenary, the selfish or to the little chaps who believe that all the offices should be doled out as reward to the henchmen of political bosses or their favorites.

It is a plan that may be adopted in the near future by one or two of the greater cities of America. Dr. Charles Merrian of the University of Chicago hit the nail on the head when he said, "the manager plan represents the most striking advance in government since the government was founded."

JACK WALTON ON THE ROAD AGAIN

FORMER Governor Jack Walton is on the road again in Oklahoma, but is giving all his leisure time to oil ventures in Texas and Arkansas. According to Jack's friends, he is going to play an important part in the politics of Oklahoma again this year.

They are mistaken. Jack will not play an important part. He may play a demoralizing part. Two years ago he was the democratic nominee for the United States senate, and was defeated by a republican majority of 120,000. This is a democratic state, always good for a 30,000 majority for the democrats until Jack butted into the game and wrecked the party of Thomas Jefferson in the Sooner state.

This is a conservative age. Conservative men are in the saddle. A majority of the voters are conservative. They do not take kindly to the leadership of political gadflies or political high-jackers who are of the opinion that the offices of the people are private snaps and not positions of public trust.

Jack Walton's leadership cost the democrats of Oklahoma two seats in the United States senate. He had his fling in politics. He was flattened out first, thrown out next and repudiated in his political adventure. Now why should he wish to come back, or rather why should he wish to stage a come-back, in a political sense, in a commonwealth where the voters repudiated him by a overwhelming majority?

A man who meets defeat for advocacy of a great principle can come back. Otherwise, Jack belongs in the otherwise column.

NEEDLESS ANXIETY

NOTHING is more foolish than the growing fear that the younger generation is being carried to destruction by its own folly.

The instinct of self preservation is just as strong in the younger generation as it is in the older generation.

The burnt child still fears the fire.

Sooner or later the boys and girls who now spend more time studying dance steps than they do studying the laws of health will discover that late hours and too much to drink are not getting them anywhere.

Then those who are intelligent, which is the majority, will mend their ways.

Nature has set up sign posts along the road of life.

Many do not heed the sign posts, it is true.

But after they have been hurt by tumbling off the cliff by the side of the road they pay more attention to them.

The human race has been growing in intelligence as the years have passed simply because when it went wrong it got hurt.

There is one school which knows how to enforce its rules, and that is the school of experience.

It may be that just now young people have become a little thoughtless, and a little too keen in the pursuit of what they call pleasure.

But when this pursuit begins to pall, as it surely will, the boys and girls will steady down, and think about the necessity of earning their livings, and getting into a position to get married and become regular useful citizens.

In every generation for a long time to come there will be people who will insist on going wrong, in spite of the warnings of their parents, and the hardest lessons experience can teach them.

Today there are thousands of wrecked lives which might have been saved by a little prudence and foresight.

But every wreck serves as a warning to the alert minded and intelligent who see it, and the alert minded and intelligent are numerous enough to impose their will on the majority.

In all ages there have been timid people who despaired of the race.

In a good many of these ages the race has suffered set backs because of over indulgence in folly.

But this is not one of those ages. Education is more widespread than ever before.

The rewards of earnest effort are greater than they have been and by contract the penalties of failure are more severe.

If the tendency to frivolity were in the elder generation it would be something to worry about, because, age is difficult to reform.

But as long as it is confined to youth there is no need of pessimism or anxiety.

Time and experience will mend it. The light minded boys and girls of today will be serious enough when they learn that folly only results in misery if too long continued.

COOLIDGE ON RUBBER

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has bowed his neck. He will not stand for government aid to the rubber buyers of America. That is, he will not permit the government to assist financially the heads of great auto companies in the proposals to plant and develop rubber groves in Liberia, the Phillipines, or elsewhere.

There is only one way for the rubber consumers of America to smash John Bull's rubber monoply. They should strike John where he lives, just below the belt. Engage in the raw rubber producing industry wherever the rubber tree will grow. It may require five or six years to accomplish this purpose and meanwhile John will take an additional $2,500,000,000 from the pockets of American rubber consumers.

Mr. Bull is a very sagacious individual an dthe best trader in the world. Mr. Herbert Hoover cannot bluff him.

ADVICE TO COTTON GROWERS

JOHN S. WANNAMAKER of South Carolina is the president of the American Cotton association, and the membership of the association is composed exclusively of farmers who are growers of the fleecy staple.

President Wannamaker and his association held a meeting and resolved that the cotton growers of the United States should cut acreage 25 per cent this year. According to the press report, delegates did not attend the Wannamaker conference from the states of Texas and Oklahoma, and the states of Texas and Oklahoma are capable of producing three-fourth of the cotton crop of America.

Now what will the cotton growers do about it? Will they cut the acreage 25 per cent or will they go it blindly and plant more acres to cotton than they did in 1925.

"Love Bound In Wichita Falls"

By the Author of 'The Flapper Wife'

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. They work for the Dexter Automobile company.

Mary Rose is secretary to JOHN MANNERS, the salesmanager, and is in love with him. But he's engaged to DORIS HINIG, an heiress. Because of her feeling for him, Mary Rose repeatedly refuses to marry DR. TOM FITZROY.

Flossie, a born vamp, does a very poor job of keeping the office files. Mary Rose discovers that she is carrying on a flirtation with the president of the company, HILARY DEXTER, although she's engaged to marry his secretary, SAM JESSUP. She accepts gifts from Dexter, a married man and goes joy-riding with him. The girls' mother, MRS. MIDDLETON, can do nothing with her.

John Manners falls in love with Mary Rose, and tells her he'll always care for her, whether or not he marries Doris. The sisters quarrel, and to get even with Mary Rose, Flossie tells Manners that she is "just stringing him along" and really loves Tom Fitzroy, and intends to marry him. Mary Rose wonders at Manners' sudden coldness toward her.

MRS. DEXTER finds Flossie's vanity case in her husband's car. When she comes to the office to tell Dexter she's going to divorce him, she mistakes Mary Rose for Flossie, and loudly accuses her of trying to steal her husband from her. The other stenographers hear the undeserved tongue lashing Mary Rose receives, and they snub her. Flossie, the real culprit, begs Mary Rose to take the blame, because if Sam finds out that it was really she who was with Dexter, he'll never marry her. Mary Rose, who prays that Sam will marry Flossie and get her away from Dexter, takes Flossie's blame. Then one night Dexter goes too far in his love making, and Flossie finds out how little respect he has for her. She quits her job and disappears the next day. In the morning, Mary Rose, who has spent a sleepless night, goes to Dexter to ask him if he knows anything about Flossie's disappearance.

(Now go on with the story)

"Hello, you big pill-and-plaster man!" she heard Alice greet him. "I thought you'd be dropping around to see me one of these days, if I waited long enough—"

Tom interrupted her gruffly. "I came to see if Flossie Middleton's here," he said, and Alice laughed shrilly.

"Well, I should say she isn't! She knows better than to show her face around here!" she declared in her thin little voice. "Got me fired down at Dexter's because I knew too much about her an' the boss! She's dumb, but not so dumb that she'd ever come around here! You better ask Dexter where she is—!"

And she slammed the door in Tom's face.

"I wonder if she could be with Dexter—" Mary Rose wondered, as they turned toward home.

At twelve o'clock when she telephoned Dexter's house, he was still out. But to her enormous relief, when she rang up again at one, the man servant informed her that he had come home and gone to bed.

Mrs. Middleton broke down then. "There's nothing to do but let the police know, and ask them to find her," she cried into her handkerchief. "I know my girl's been murdered—" She rocked to and fro in her little old rocking chair, the tears rolling down her small, wrinkled face.

"Don't be foolish, Mother!" Tom soothed her, patting her shoulders as he spoke. "Who'd murder Flossie?"

"How do we know?" Mrs. Middleton asked him wildly. "Here, she's been leading this double life of hers—with Sam Jessup on one side and this Dexter on the other! How do we know whom she knows, or what she does? We don't know anything about her! To think that a child of mine could lie to me the way Flossie has!"

It was too much for her. She cried and cried, and neither Tom nor Mary Rose could stop her. Finally Tom went out to his car for his bag and after a long argument, persuaded her to take a sleeping powder. Mary Rose put her to bed, and then went downstairs to say good night to Tom.

"Whatever you do, don't let her call up the police," were his last words to her, as he stood on the porch, with his hat in his hand. "There's no use in letting this story get into the papers. The thing to do is to sit pretty and say nothing. We'll hear from Flossie pretty soon."

But they heard nothing.

"Let's take Tom's advice and keep perfectly still about the whole thing for a while," Mary Rose said to her mother, as they sat at the breakfast table, unable to touch the toast and coffee they had made for themselves. "And whatever you do, don't let on to Aunt Henny Blair when she comes in for her daily gossip fest."

Mrs. Middleton promised that she wouldn't.

"I'll call you up as soon as I go down to the office and look around," Mary Rose added. "Maybe some of the girls down there know something about her."

But apparently no one did. Mary Rose went up into the files department before she took off her coat and hat, hoping against hope that she would find Flossie there, at her usual place behind the long table. However, Miss Minnick was there alone, looking over old clippings with angry, resentful eyes.

"I wish your sister had had more sense than to quit her job in the middle of the week like this!" she added to Mary Rose. "I hate doing her work, and if Dexter doesn't hire somebody else to do it pretty darned quick, I'm going to start reading the 'Help Wanted' ads, and get me a new little job of work!"

"Is Dexter down at the office, yet?" Mary Rose asked.

Miss Minnick nodded. "Sure, he's always here! He's so afraid he might lose a cent if he missed a day!" She threw her clippings into an envelope and slammed a steel drawer on them viciously.

"My stars, but you're in a sweet mood, Min!" Mary Rose remarked and went down to Dexter's office.

On the way she reflected that, somehow or other, the office had lost all its charm for her. It was not that Miss Minnick was cross, or that Flossie and Dexter had spoiled the place for her. The closed door of John Manners' office seemed to be the center of the dullness and the loneliness that had settled down over it. He never left it open any more, so that he could see Mary Rose as she bent over her desk in the outer office. He never greeted her cheerfully as he once had, or asked her to drive home with him to see his mother.

Something that Flossie had once said popped into Mary Rose's mind, as she looked at that closed door—"No girl enjoys her job or loves it unless she loves the man she works for!"

"She certainly had that right, anyhow!" thought Mary Rose, as she passed on to Mr. Dexter's private office.

She found him alone, sitting staring at the wall above his big glass-topped desk. He swung around in his chair when she came in and his eyes lighted up.

"Good morning, good morning!" he said, and stood. "What can I do for you today, Miss Middleton?"

Mary Rose looked at him for a full minute, studying him from under her level black brows. She saw that he shifted nervously from one foot to the other.

"Mr. Dexter," she asked, "do you know where my sister, Flossie, is?"

CHAPTER XLVIII

"Do I know where Flossie is?" Dexter repeated. "Why, certainly not, Miss Middleton."

He looked up at her, scowling darkly, and Mary Rose saw that he was telling the truth. But he seemed to her so calm, so careless, about it. Flossie's sudden dropping out of sight was no matter of life or death to him evidently.

"And to think that only a week or so ago he'd hardly let her out of his sight!" Mary Rose said resentfully to herself. It was seldom that she lost her temper, but she lost it completely now.

"I must say that you take it calmly, Mr. Dexter!" she said in a voice that shook. "Especially as it's your fault she's gone—"

"Mine?" he interrupted. "My fault?" He raised his brows, questioningly.

Mary Rose didn't answer for a moment. The sight of him, sitting there, sleek and well dressed and prosperous, in his comfortable chair, enraged her.

While his little love game with Flossie had been at its exciting height, there was nothing he wouldn't do for her! Now, that it was over and she was gone, he was supremely indifferent. Mary Rose quivered all over with righteous fury.

She opened her old leather handbag and took out the special delivery letter he had sent to Flossie yesterday and laid it down on the desk before him.

"Why, you admit yourself in that letter that it's your fault she's quit her job and you promise to behave yourself if only she'll come back!" she faced him with it.

She watched him while he picked up the letter, looked at it and then slowly tore it to little pieces. He laid them in a white heap on his desk before he spoke again.

"You've read this, you say. And I suppose you've known all along about Flossie and me," he said, his eyes fixed on the pile of white scraps. 'Let's see, you even brought the ring I gave her back to me, didn't you?"

Mary Rose nodded. "I wonder what he's driving at now?" she thought.

"Yes, I knew all about it and I did everything I could to stop it, but the one thing I should have done. I didn't tell my mother about it," she said harshly. "I thought that Flossie was clever enough to take care of herself. But no girl's smart enough to take care of herself when some man's after her! Especially when it's the man who holds her job in the palm of her hand! She has to be nice to him then or lose it!"

He shook his head. "That isn't true, and you know it," he answered.

Suddenly he stood up and walked across the room toward the windows that faced the east. He went on talking to her, with his back turned toward her.

"You say that Flossie wasn't able to take care of herself," he said. "But she was. She knew just what she was doing all of the time and better than anybody! She knew that I was losing my head, but she never lost hers. Not a single second."

He swung around then, his hands in his pockets, and faced her.

"You're a smart girl, Miss Middleton," he told her. "And if you'll look around this world of business, where men and girls meet each other every day, you'll notice something—that it isn't always the girl who's the victim of the man. Sometimes the man is the victim of the girl—"

He nodded at her solemnly and Mary Rose saw in a flash that what she had taken for indifference was really grief. He was terribly upset about Flossie and her going away. He sat down heavily at his desk, slouching in his chair. "Where in the devil do you think the darn kid's gone?" he asked dully.

He put out his hand and touched an electric button under the corner of his desk. "Sam doesn't answer," he said. "Just look in the outer office, and see if he's down yet. It's after nine."

"Anthony, I love you," breathed Cleopatra, through her nose.

Her lips were parted and so was Antony's hair, as she flung herself at her lover's solar plexis. Their lips met, and shook hands.

"What have you been doing today," asked Antony, as he drew up his balloon togas and sat down beside her.

"Posing for those tiresome old soap advertisements," murmured Cleopatra playfully throwing him a kiss and a rock. "I say, Tony, old bean, what did you bring me from Rome?"

"Guess," smiled Antony, with a quiet, noiseless grin.

"A gas chariot?" question Cleopatra.

"No, a pearl," said Antony, opening an oyster. "You're supposed to drink it, you know, dissolved in wine. It's the style now. Inside the neck, instead of outside."

"I know the very thing," Cleopatra clapped her hand delightedly against Antony's face. "Dad's just made some of that home brew of his. That stuff would dissolve anything. Tony, you're just the nicest man! Take me in your arms—seize me!"

Antony's breath came in short pants and long trousers, but he didn't Caesar.

WHEN DAWN CAME

Was there ever such an exciting tale! Black Bear thought not. He almost held his breath to listen as Polar Bear continued.

"Luck was with me, Gypsy. After all my fears I was not dumped into the sea. But drifting on my raft of ice I told myself more than once that I might as well freeze as be frightened to death. And hungry! Say, you don't know what hunger is until you have gone for days without a bite in your tummy. To be sure I did catch a fish or two, but—what were they—just mouthfuls! They did little to quiet that dreadful ache inside of me. I am a good fisherman, but if any one thinks it is easy to bring one of the finny folk out of the deep, just let him try it—that's all. Fishing near the shore? That's cub's sport—nothing to it. But it is a different matter when you are way out where you can't guess where bottom is. It seems only once in a whale's age that a fish comes to the surface, and even if you do catch sight of his gleaming scales he is gone again before you can make a grab for him—gone into the depths where he knows quite well you would never dare to follow."

"Dear, dear!" grunted Gypsy. "What a time you did have! I don't suppose you got much sleep either, did you?"

"Sleep! I should say not!" Polar was decided on that point. "Oh, I suppose I snatched a cat nap now and again, but I scarcely dared close my eyes for fear my raft might leave me when I was the least prepared for a dip.

"One morning I noticed it was not quite as cold as it had been. I was very unhappy. Warmer air, warmer water, and the sooner would my berg melt beneath me. Sure enough, drops began to trickle down into the sea thick and fast. All day I watched them and all night I heard them. Two black—black as pitch—and I was just ready to give up hope. Then dawn came and—well, what do you think I saw?" Polar paused and Gypsy, who hadn't missed a single word, growled:

"Land!"

"Right-o! Land ahead! Hurrah!" growled I and waved my paws, and then I remembered what I heard my great-grandfather say—that the darkest hour came just before the dawn."

Next: "A Thief in Spite of Himself."

Hughes Describes Washington As Champion Curser

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP) A speech by Rupert Hughes, the writer, describing George Washington as "profane, irreligious and pleasure-loving" has impelled members of some of the patriotic societies having headquarters here to dig into the files of the congressional library for ammunition with which to reply.

The remarks were made at a meeting of the District of Columbia chapter of the Sons of the Revolution and resulted in a rebuke from officials of the organization. Mr. Hughes said he merely was stating an "historical truth" when he characterized Washington as a great card player, a distiller of whiskey and a "champion curser" who consistently avoided participation in religious communion. "He had not meant, he said, to condemn the father of his country for these things or to charge him with immorality.

TILLMAN WHEAT IN FINE SHAPE

Snow Proves Highly Beneficial, Oklahoma Farmers Report

FREDERICK, Jan. 14.—The condition of wheat in Tillman county is good, according to the report of many farmers, after a good precipitation from snow which fell last week.

With a larger amount of acreage sown here than any time in the past three years, Tillman hopes to be able this year to attain a good record in grain production.

The need for still more moisture, however, has been voiced by the farmers. One more good rain would assist the crop greatly, according to their statements.

Spudders Purchase Lapan, Swap Ira and Al for DeFate

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

JINX BLUBBERS EARLY.

Doleful Jinx Tucker climbs up into the atmosphere with a few mournful chirps anent the Texas league of which he knows little. Hiram Henry probably is the best informed Lone Star scribe from a football standpoint, but baseballically speaking the eloquent and exceedingly voluble Waco typewriter punisher rates something slightly below a long string of zero marks.

* * *

Jinx's latest wail regards the vaunted strength of Fort Worth's Cats. Those Panthers this winter are quite powerful all right, all right, but Joyless Jinx isn't giving anybody else in the Texas circuit even so much as advantage of the doubt next summer.

* * *

It isn't out of the ordinary for a Fort Worth "expert" to win the pennant during the hot stove session, but for an enemy scribe, so to speak, to up and admit defeat with the season opener weeks and weeks hence is stretching conservation also pessimism a notch or so too far.

* * *

If one would'st listen to Jinx he immediately would come to the conclusion there will be no Texas league race this year—just another chase with seven clubs trailing far behind the Cowtown outfit. And Jinx doesn't even mention our noble Spudders when enunciating moortuary notes over the Texas league funeral casket. Evidently Jinx hasn't been following the moves of Texas league clubs other than Waco and Fort Worth.

* * *

So utters Mr. Tucker:

"The Texas league clubs will do well to begin scrambling around a bit for talent. The Fort Worth team, perennial champion, seems to be set for another pennant. The Cats seem to be stronger now than they have been in the last several years, and there will be no split season. Bird will help the pitching staff and will replace Pate, while the team will have more punch offensively than it has ever had before. The dog days of July and August are apt to find the Cats far out of reach of all contenders."

* * *

AFTER THE MATCH.

Attention, "experts," one and all;
Lift up your loud hozanna;
The birds who write the fighting dope
Will move your grand piano.

* * *

Tommy White was offered five bouts in Australia recently. We saw the promoter's letter. But Tommy is a homebody and family man, so he's not planning on invading the Kangaroo isle.

* * *

About that White-Owens mill at the legion gym Monday night: Trammel who has scrapped both of them declares Owens the harder of the two to fight. Don Wofford unlimbers the boast the Oklahoma boy will beat Tommy. Incidently, Duke still isn't satisfied—not after losing three times to White. He beleives yet he can beat the Texas City face frescoer.

* * *

NO MORE NOW?

(He's White Sox Coach.)

The good fans arise and shout
With great glee, one and all,
When crafty old Chief Bender up
And slyly bends the ball.

* * *

ANOTHER TEXAN CLIMBS?

And while on the subject of Sox: this Lee Alanis, the first Mexican to appear with a major league club and who is being groomed by Collins for the shortstop job, is another Texas ball player. He's a Texas Mexican. Played a short period with the Austin club in the Texas association, was a sweet and speedy outfielder, not infielder, but couldn't hit his weight. He saw service later with San Antonio for a short period. Last year with Okmulgee he came out of it and slapped the ball for a .353 average, poling 34 homers, too. But he's hardly ripe for big time yet. He may be developed into one of the prettiest fielders in the league, but it's doubtful he will find his eye against major pitching. That's to be seen.

* * *

About Mr. Tucker's "Texas league clubs had better scramble around a bit for talent"—if Jinx would keep his eye on the ball, so to speak, and remove the grandstand he would discover that Texas league clubs have been doing exactly that, and the Spudders quite much. Incidently, a man by name of Pete Lapan was obtained by the Wichita Falls team yesterday for the purpose of strengthening that catching staff. Mr. Tucker, take note.

15 Answer Cage Call on Lion Court

VERNON, Jan. 14.—Fifteen cagers answered the call of Coach Wilemon and turned out for the first basket ball practice following the holidays. Coach Wilemon and Baggett sent the men through a light workout Monday afternoon, consisting mostly of breathing and running exercises.

Coach Wilemon states that there is likelihood that the Lions will play a game this week, but he is planning for a game early next week. As yet no games have been matched for the basket ball squad.

JACK WOULD SIGN AGAIN BUT TO FIGHT ON COAST.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, today announced his willingness to sign for a fight with Harry Wills, ten rounds to a decision, Sept. 6, next, labor day, in Los Angeles, if, within ten days, Floyd Fitzsimmons, eastern promoter who has been dealing with him does not produce satisfactory guarantees for the proposed bout Fitzsimmons has been sponsoring.

NEW CATCHER DRIVES AGATE AT .302 CLIP

Former Pel Veteran Mask Performer—Shortstop Hits .312

Trade of Second Baseman Al White and Pitcher Ira Morgan to Omaha of the Western league for Shortstop Tony DeFate, and the outright purchasal of Pete Lapan, veteran maskman, from the New Orleans club of the Southern association were announced in dispatches Thursday afternoon from J. A. Gardner, Spudder president who is attending meeting of the National association of professional baseball league at Catalina Islands, Calif.

With the addition of Lapan the Spudder catching staff boasts three receivers with class A experience. The other two are Way Query and Cliff Knox, the latter obtained from Birmingham of the Southern.

Been Here Before.

Lapan's entry into Texas league baseball this summer will not be his first appearance in this circuit for he played with Galveston in 1922. He went from Galveston to Washington and remained a season in the majors. From there he went to Little Rock and from the Travelers to the Pelicans.

Lapan pounded the agate at a .302 clip during the 1925 Southern association race. He came to bat 351 times, scored 63 runs and drove out 106 hits for a total of 149 bases. Further records of his batting the past season were not available Thursday, but Prexy Gardner wired to effect Lapan is another one of those boys who smashes the horsehide over the fence. This catcher made 321 putouts last year, 82 assists and nine errors. His fielding average was .978.

He played with both Little Rock and New Orleans in 1924, participated in 92 games, registered 307 putouts, 76 assists, and made five fielding errors for an average of .987. He was quite a pinch hitter and came to bat 407 times in all. He scored 61 runs, poled 127 safeties for a total of 190 bases, slammed 21 doubles, six three-baggers and ten home runs, made 12 sacrifice hits, stole six bases, drew 44 bases on balls, was hit by pitched ball nine times, struck out 29 times, and realized a batting average of .312.

DeFate Hit .312.

DeFate participated in 146 games with Omaha last season. He was at bat 109 times and scored 42 runs. He connected for 53 base hits, a total of 78 bases, hit 13 doubles, three triples and two home runs, sacrificed six times, stole three bases and earned a batting average of .314. DeFate in 145 games made 101 putouts and 118 assists along with 33 errors for a fielding average of .869.

Sox Specialize In Box Trades During Winter

Old Roman Bolsters Staff With Addition Of Thomas

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox have been specializing in pitchers in this winter's trading season, both buying and selling with a couple of infielders picked up between deals for new boxmen.

In obtaining Alphonse Thomas from Baltimore the brightest star among the minor league twirlers, the Sox put over one of the shrewdest trades of the winter. Last year they gave Manager Dunn of Baltimore Outfielder Maurice Archdeacon in return for first pick on the Orioles squad at the end of the season. Originally the Sox had paid Dunn more than $50,000 for Archdeacon and Dunn figured that the Sox would want Joe Boley, shortstop, for whom many majors bid high last winter, but not high enough for Dunn.

Old Roman Fools Dunn.

Instead, Owner Comiskey picked Thomas, who won 30 games and lost 11 in the International league last year, putting one over on Dunn, who holds most of the records for high priced player sales to the major leagues. Dunn had figured on getting over $100,000 for Thomas.

With old Chief Bender as a pitching coach Manager Eddie Collins has high hopes of finding the material he needs, either from the five new hurlers drawn from the minors or the five recalled for further tests. Two of the new ones are also Indians, Earl McBee, a southpaw, and Bill Carney. Carney came from the Ardmore, Okla., Western Association club, while from the Muskogee team the Sox bought Big Jim Carroll, who struck out 238 batsmen last season.

First Mex in Major.

The first Mexican in the major leagues will be Lee Alanis, whom Collins hopes to develop into a regular shortstop. Playing with Okmulgee in the Western Association last year he hit .353 and bagged 34 home runs. Another infield prospect is Moe Berg, former captain of the Princeton university nine. The Sox obtained him from Reading, Pa. Ray Morehart, recalled from Wichita, is the third shortstop prospect.

The Sox need some one ready for that post if Ike Davis fails to recover from his injured knee. The first ball of the city series last fall split his knee cap. Collins himself may need some capable relieving, although his base stealing record of last year does not indicate he is slowing up.

Ray Schalk will open his fourteenth year behind the bat for the Sox while his major league game record is approaching 1600.

Willie Kamm, the $100,000 purchase of a few years ago, and Earl Sheely, will again be at the third and first corners with four veterans and three youngsters ready for outfield.

TRIO TIE FOR PRO HONOR IN OPEN STARTER

Hesler, Golden, Espinosa Grab First Money In Best Ball

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—First professional honors in the fifth annual Texas open golf tournament went today to four non-Texas players after a day of low scores and good golf.

Phil Hesler of Tulsa, John Golden of Paterson, N. J., and Al Espinosa of Chicago, tied at 68 in the amateur-pro best ball event and split the prize money at $75 each. John Rogers of Pittsburgh by his sterling tee shots carried off the $50 award in the driving contest by gathering 51 points against 48 for William Mehlhorn of Chicago and 40 for Abe Espinosa of San Francisco.

The surprise of the amateurs proved to be Ross Youngs, of San Antonio, hard hitting rightfielder of the New York National league baseball team. Besides shooting 35, one below par, on the home nine in the best ball event, he came in for one of the medals awarded to the amateurs.

Captain A. M. Post and F. M. Lewis of San Antonio, paired respectively, with Al Espinosa and John Golden, were the other two amateurs participating in the best ball tie. Bobby Cruickshank of Chicago and Reuben Albaugh of San Antonio and Mac Smith of New York and Ed Tarrant of San Antonio were the only other pairs to score under 70, each having 69. Harry Cooper of Dallas and his partner, Ed Hart of Austin, were in the finish list with 71.

Tom Hepburn, Mexico City, and Tom Cochran, Wichita Falls scored a 73. Bill Strachan, Wichita Falls, and T. J. Pomeroy, San Antonio, shot an 80. Willie Maguire, the Houston pro, paired with Jake Dold of Houston came through for a 73. Jack Burke, Houston, and O. A. Wilson, San Antonio, shot a 76.

Legion Gym's Quite Safe, Says Wofford

The 812½ Scott street gym is safe, sane and everything similar, declares Don Wofford, American legion matchmaker who this week had the gym inspected by architects. The architects said there isn't the slightest bit of danger of the floor giving way under the weight of crowds attending the weekly boxing bouts, decreed Wofford. "Nevertheless, we're going to bolster it a bit just to satisfy all concerned," he said.

Three firemen will be at all fights staged in the hall, with fire extinguishers, the promoter said, and the police department has agreed to send two police to each program. Temporary fire escapes are to be constructed in the rear of the gym, too, Wofford said.

Fear has been expressed by some fans that the gym is not safe.

REESE SOLVES TIGER DEFENSE

Electra Mentor Sends In Grisham as Mate To Cloninger

ELECTRA, Jan. 14.—Jim Reese's squad has been improving with rapid strides since the holidays. The defense has been the mentor's greatest problem since the first of the season and it is believed that by making Lonnie Grisham the running mate of Sylvan Cloninger at guard, this problem has been practically solved. Grisham has developed into a great defensive man since his return to the lineup and has been playing a bang-up game at guard. Sylvan Cloninger continues to improve at guard and promises to make the locals a valuable man before the season's curtain is drawn.

The Harrold forwards are going to find these men hard to go around Friday night.

Louis Kent, first string forward who was on the sick list Tuesday, was out for his regular practice Wednesday afternoon.

A light practice got the call for Thursday afternoon's workout.

Although no lineup has been announced, Reese probably will start Kent and Preston at forwards, Carnahan at center, and Cloninger and Grisham at guards Friday night.

Coyotes Hook With Tribe in Practice

The Coyotes were given several new plays and formations Thursday in their regular practice. They followed this with a scrimmage with the Junior College Indians. Flusche, Powell and Francis were the offensive stars of the game. George Brown flashed on the defense.

The Coyotes have no games yet in line for the next several days but plan to land something for the first of next week.

Daviscourt Beats Velcoff In Tough Canvas Struggle

Gorman Fights Gotch To Furious Two-Fall Draw

Well, they didn't get Dick Daviscourt beat after all.

But the Washington Irishman narrowly averted a good licking in the most exciting, the roughest, and the best wrestling match ever held under direction of the Wichita Falls wrestling association, an organization which has brought some of the world's leading grapplers to this city and has put on a series of great battles.

Thursday night's card in the 812 1-2 Scott Street gym eclipsed anything in the way of mat performances ever produced in this section.

Jack Gorman, the popular Plainview lightweight, fought Young Gotch of Dallas to a sensational draw.

Daviscourt put it on Nick Velcoff, the Bulgarian heavyweight, in two falls out of three, and was exceedingly fortunate in the way he did it.

Velcoff Just As Rough.

The Big Bulgar, just as rough and just as mean, gave Wanton Richard a terrific struggle and really had him beaten right in the final second, when he made the mistake of pulling Daviscourt, groggy and sick, down from behind and on top of him. The Washington wrestler, plainly in a very bad way after undergoing a number of head locks still was cunning enough to rally desperately and take advantage of the situation. He rolled over and pinned Velcoff flat with the full weight of his body resting on the Bulgarian's chest. The fall had knocked a bit of the wind out of the Bulgar but not enough ordinarily to put him away. It was the surprisingly quick work of Daviscourt, apparently beaten, that turned the trick almost before anybody realized just what it was all about.

The fall came in nine minutes and 15 seconds.

The victory thwarted the most fond desires of Wichita Falls mat followers almost to a man. Strange to say, however, Dick did have several friends in the crowd which on two other occasions and then again last night saw him display the ruthless and unfair tactics that possibly none other than a fierce gorilla at bay in its native jungle would use against an opponent.

Velcoff roughed Nick hilariously in the first 30 minutes of the encounter, a furious set-to with both men resorting to practically every trick in the wrestling category, both fair and foul. But the Bulgar fell prey to the brutal cunningness of the Pacific coast caveman who all but strangled him while forcing him over the ropes, and then after being broken by the referee launched into a speedy flying headlock that spelled disaster. The fall was registered in 30 minutes and 30 seconds.

Gorman Match Fast.

Still undaunted the Battling Bulgar came back ferociously after the intermission and fought his way to an even break, flattening Daviscourt in 19 minutes and 22 seconds with a doubit wrist lock and head scissors.

That Gorman-Gotch match was a wild affair. The little fellows tore at each other teeth and toenail, fighting for all the world like a pair of snarling yowling outangs. Gorman took the first fall with a series of headlocks in 39 minutes and 30 seconds. Gotch won the second with a reverse head lock in 30 minutes and 20 seconds. The boys fought viciously through 20 minutes more of grueling mat war and were halted at 9:30 o'clock to make way for the Daviscout-Velcoff affair.

DON MAY GIVE SHAY CHANCE HERE MONDAY

Talkative Coast Walloper On White-Owens Card

Arrangement of the legion's weekly cauliflower program slated Monday night in Don Wofford's punch parlor has not been completed other than the billing of Jimmy Owens, Oklahoma City welter, and Tommy White, Texas City flash, for the ten-round main event. That was announced the other day.

Matchmaker Wofford says he intends to use Mickey Shay, the talkative junior welter from the coast, who breezed into this section the other day and announced he would be prepared soon to whip the world and the southwest in particular. Now our Don isn't the type to put very much faith in a man who always appears blowing off excess steam, something this person Shay has been doing flagrantly so since his recent advent in Wichita Falls. But Donnicus is always willing, so he says, to give a man a chance—it may be added, no matter how slim that chance happens to be.

So Don plans to use either Buckshot Peoples or Jack Ercanbrack with Shay in a six or eight-round semifinal as a route by which to determine how much of Shay is hot air, if any, and, of course, how much isn't. In other words, Mick is to be given an introductory bout. If he does away with either Peoples or Ercanbrack with any show of gusto it may be barely possible to aver he packs the goods and deserves something better, namely a whack at some boy like White, Owens or Trammel who we have a sly suspicion could make short shift of the Californian. That is to be seen, of course.

As another crowd pleaser, Mr. Wofford bursts into vocal acclaim eloquently and at length on the fighting qualities of the two and then suddenly as if from a clear sky, as it were, confides he's listed the big black boys, Sam Mitchell and Six Second Smith, for a six-rounder. These emanators of the late Battling Siki right now are at a standoff. Each has conquered the other once. The rubber encounter looms in the offing. Each has been training diligently for the mill, says Don.

LONGHORN FIVE TAKES AFTER OWLS SATURDAY

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—(AP)—In preparation for Saturday's tilt at Houston against the Rice Institute Owls, the Texas University basketball squad went through a fast workout today. Coach Clyde Littlefield's speedy freshman team gave Stewart's varsity tossers hot competition in scrimmage.

Coach Stewart likely will start the following combination: forwards, Joe King and Stallter; center, Baldwin; guards, Captain Esquivel and Penney.

When you entertain at home—and the sumptuous feast has been greeted with royal praise by the laughing, pledging friends

—have a Camel!

WHEN invited guests come in for dinner. And the festive board resounds with joyous words of friendship. When the primest feast ever served is finished—then, how welcome are those words of hospitality—"Have a Camel!"

For no other cigarette was ever so fitly smoked and served to others as Camel. Camel goodness insures a fitting climax to every perfect spread, adds of its own fragrant welcome to every home's bright occasions. Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown in all the world. They never tire the taste, never leave a cigaretty after-taste. Fragrance and mellowness have made Camel the greatest word in all the history of smoking.

So this night, as you learn anew the joys of giving happiness to others. As after-dinner laughter rings out through all the house—know then the pleasures of smoking and serving the finest. You may be doubly sure that every good feature is rolled into Camels that anyone ever searched for in a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No finer cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

More Truth Than Poetry

When little Tommy plays "for keeps,"
His undeveloped soul he steeps
In greed for gain, and by and by
A wicked willow he will ply,
In the pursuit we call baseball,
And he'll be a professional,
And all because his simple mind
In youth was evilly inclined.

When little Willie starts to drag
Around the course a caddy bag,
And for this service takes a fee
From people twice as large as he;
Already has the child begun
To think that sport and gain are one,
And presently he'll sink so low
That he will finish as a "pro."

When little Cerdic bet's he'll win
The football game he's playing in
And makes a nickel, he will blur
His standing as an amateur.
And by and by he'll only play
The pastime for mere sordid pay,
And, without any sense of shame,
Drawn down ten thousand for a game.

All these three youngsters might some day
Be digging ditches, making hay,
Or toting bricks up ladders tall—
And not be called professional.
Then each could play his favorite game
Without a single blush of shame.
But in their youth they went astray,
Pure sport, alas, has had its day!

When the Bell Rings Prisoners May Take Seat

FREDERICK, Jan. 14.—Frederick is probably the "worst" town in the state at this time, from indications of local jail records.

The capacity of the local jail is 30 prisoners, and the inmates in the past six weeks have never numbered less than 50, running as high as 63 at times.

The negro section is so crowded that only half of the prisoners can sit down at one time, and Jailor Frank Barbee sounds a gong for the duskies to change positions.

FREDERICK, Jan. 14.—The water and light committee of the city council has been empowered to begin negotiations with the Southwestern Light and Power company for a permanent contract, or for granting a franchise for furnishing Frederick with electrical current.

Frederick has an option, by terms of the first contract, to sell its plant and distributing system here to the power concern for $107,000 and grant the Southwestern people a franchise, or to make another contract, for a longer period of time and continue to handle its own distribution.

Lions of Wichita Falls, Vernon and Burkburnett Guests of Electra Club

ELECTRA, Jan. 14.—Lions of Wichita Falls, Vernon, Burkburnett, and Electra roared with avidity here tonight at the annual banquet and stunt night of the Electra Lions club, which acted as host to a large number of visitors from the other points in this vicinity. Twenty-six were present from Wichita Falls, 16 from Vernon and 21 from Burkburnett, with the total attendance reaching about 125.

Fun was the key-note of the meeting, although the serious purposes for which Lions clubs are famous, the ideals they have set and the policies they pursue, were not overlooked.

The program opened with the singing of America by all present and the invocation was said by Rev. E. M. Francis of this city. A plate lunch was served in the basement of the First Methodist church, with the ladies of the church in charge.

The welcome address was delivered by G. E. McDavid of Electra and responses were made for Wichita Falls by Joe Hatchitt; for Vernon by Dr. W. N. Rhodes and for Burkburnett by Travis White.

Other numbers on the program included a vocal solo by Miss Irene Keller, accompanied by Miss Sallie Huffaker; an address by Rev. E. V. Cole of Electra; a series of readings by Miss Lucy Lee Young, expression teacher in the Electra public schools, and a number of stunts by all the delegations present. The Wichita Falls, Vernon and Burkburnett clubs each put on something fancy and then the Electra Lions wound it up with horrendous slams at everybody present.

Vernon invited the three clubs to meet with them some time in February and the invitation was accepted.

Musical Trio At Olympic Captur First Night Crowd

Three dainty misses, styling themselves the Harriette Ramsey Trio, lead a fast vaudeville bill at the Olympic theatre this week end. They have a varied offering—not too stilted for the low-brow that's in all of us, or too lowly for the high-brow. "Choice morsels from the best of the world's music," they have classified their feature number, "With just a choice bits for each of you," one of the three fair ones tells the audience. And one of them at the piano, one on a cello, and another playing a violin make it every bit as good as an ensemble has a right to be.

Murray and Alma Ferguson have a worthy skit in their "North and South." There is a clever song or two, and some dialogue, and too, Murray makes a good old man.

Will Kraemer, erstwhile "Majesty, the Fool," brings a clever patter act to an end with an exceptionally good number, "My Spanish Troubador." Kraemer is quite comical at times. There is a large wardrobe which he uses to a good advantge, too.

A dainty little danseuse whose name isn't even listed in the bill, is one of the principal attractions of Victoria and Frank's "Plastic Art." Besides the dancing there is some clever balancing done, in which the stage settings come within inches of being too low to permit the act.

The Four Belmonts, two boys and two girls, offer a unique performance with hoops and Diabolos. Brightly colored centerpieces to the hoops make pleasing kaleidoscopic effects.

Tom Mix plays the new role of an easterner in the west in his "The Best Bad Man," picture at the Olympic.

Varied Program At Rotary Club

Discussion and classification of fuel oil by L. I. Bennett, a short address by R. H. Hudgens, member of the Rotary club of Tampico, Mex., the keynote of which was declaration that through the Rotary club the United States and the southern republic will establish more amicable and better business relations, and an intimate discussion of "Our Opportunity for Foreign Trade Expansion" by H. W. Stanley, manager of the sales and advertising division of the Southwestern Retailer at Dallas, furnished the high spots in the program staged at the weekly Rotary club luncheon Thursday.

Hudgens declared the eight Rotary clubs in Mexico were composed of the most energetic business men in the nation. He explained, also, that Mexico is two-fifths as large in area as the United States and the presence of bandits in sections does not make the whole country unstable.

Members of the club voted to send Dr. Nat F. Grafton a telegram expressing best wishes to him while he is recovering from a recent illness at Mineral Wells.

Hubert Harrison announced the progress of the chamber of commerce budget campaign up to noon.

Leonard Albritton was in charge of the program.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market ruled rather dull all day and after a moderate early advance of seven to 13 points owing to the bullish December consumption report, the market eased off mainly on the rather liberal mill stocks shown by the census bureau's report losing all the early gain and a poin or two additional. The market closed barely steady with January one point net higher, March unchanged and other months one to four points net lower.

At the start Liverpool was better than due and spot sales there were again 10,000 bales for the fourth consecutive day. The consumption report for December was also made public right at the opening, showing a total of 575,271 bales of lint cotton consumed by domestic mills during that month against 543,098 in November and 533,789 in December 1924. As this was considered bullish, prices advanced in the early trading to 1,/48 for March, 19.05 for May and 18.63 for July or seven to 12 points above the close of yesterday. These figures remained the highs of the day.

As it was soon found that the mill stocks at the end of December were large or 1,717,972 bales, against 1,456,166 at the end of November, prices eased off to 19.35 for March, 18.93 for May and 18.53 for July or 10 to 13 points down from the highs. These remained the low points of the day except for July which month made a new low at 18.53 right at the end.

Exports for the day totaled 26,534 bales.

NEW YORK FUTURES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed steady at net 5 points up to 1 point down.

	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close

Dec.	18.04	17.96	17.98	17.99

Opening: March 19.99; May 19.48; July 18.91; October 18.22; December 18.04.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market was very quiet today with a slight early advance on cable news, followed by reactions under realizing. May sold up to 19.53 early. Ten points net higher, but reacted to 19.43 and closed at 19.45; or only two points net higher. The general market closed steady, net five points higher to one point lower, near months being relatively firm.

The opening was steady at an advance of four to five points and active positions showed net gains of five to 10 points in early trading. Relatively firm Liverpool cables were accompanied by reports that the Egyptian government had decided to buy 500,000 cantars in the Alexandria market, presumably to sustain prices. There were also continued reports of improving trade in cotton goods in Manchester, and more favorable advices from the domestic goods market.

Demand created by these features was comparatively limited, however, and was supplied on the early advance to 20.02 for March and 18.23 for October. Later trading was very quiet with fluctuations narrow and the little business reported seemed to consist largely of further switching from near to late months.

The early buying movement here probably was promoted to some extent by the report of the census bureau placing domestic consumption for December at 575,271 bales against 533,789 last year. These figures were above recent private forecasts but were in line with the daily news of the past several weeks, indicating increased mill activity following the improvement in the southern water power situation late last autumn.

Private cables reported that the continent and Alexandria were buying in Liverpool and Egyptian futures in the Liverpool market closed 77 to 82 English points higher.

Exports today 26,532, making 4,918,143 so far this season. Port receipts 32,106. U. S. port stocks 1,589,791 bales.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP)—An unexpected outbreak of selling turned the course of prices reactionary towards the close of today's stock market after an earlier period of irregularity which was featured by the espirited demand for the public utilities and a temporary outburst of strength inthe motors. The general list continued to fluctuate within a relatively narrow trading area although both the rail and industrial averages agreed to a new low level for the year.

There was a tendency in some quarters to attribute the recent decrease in public participation to the unusually large volume of new stock and bond issues put on during the elast fortnight on the theory that a large volume of surplus funds apparently had been invested in these anew securities.

In the stock market, motor shares were in supply soon after the opening on the Studebaker price cut. The selling apparently originated with bear traders who rushed to cover when strong buying support developed during the early afternoon. Hudson rising from 112 to 118⅝ and then sagging to 115⅝, up 1¾ on the day. General Motors closed nearly a point lower at 119¾ after selling as high as 122. Mack Trucks showed a net loss of ⅝ at 149¼ after having touched 150⅝.

U. S. Steel common was heavily sold in the final hour, showing a net loss of over a point at 134½ after having sold above 136 during the morning American Can broke 4½ points to 285 and General Electric, Sears Roebuck, American Safety Razor, California Packing, General Asphalt, Mathieson Alkali, May Department stores, Nash Motors, Remington Typewriter, Sloss Sheffield Steel and Woolworth closed two to five points net lower.

Rails lacked effective support and yielded readily to selling pressure Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson and Chesapeake and Ohio, each broke about three points and Atchison, New York Central, Southern railway, Chicago and Northwestern and several others fell back a point or more. Some of the liquidation probably was influenced by the fact that freight car loadings in the first week of January were below the corresponding week last year.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent with a plentiful supply of funds available. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanging.

Strength of sterling exchange, cables touching $4.86, the highest price since last May, featured the foreign exchange market. French francs were again heavy on selling inspired by the difficulties encountered by Finance Minister Doumer in trying to get his fiscal program adopted. Other European rates were firm. Japanese yen crossed 44 cents to the highest rate in nearly three years.

Market Gossip

Booth and Burmeister, brokers, Wagoner Bldg., today received the following from J. S. Bache and company of Chicago, New York and New Orleans:

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Wheat, active and higher on the development of an oversold condition here and in Liverpool. The upturn after the break of 13¼ cents from the recent top was not surprising, but it fails to change the general situation which remains bearish and continues to feel that the selling side should be taken on sharp upturns. A scarcity of soft red winter wheat has prevailed and greater part of the season, and at one time it was quoted at 20 cents or more over the December compared with the prevailing level of around 14 cents over May. As yet the spring wheat demand is slow, tending to create the belief that the call for flour is limited. World's supply and demand bushels new southern hemisphere surplus that will be available for importers needs in the immediate future as well as a large quantity of Canadian.

Corn and Oats—The corn market is feeling the effect of the bearish supply and demand situation, and showed a decidedly heavy undertone throughout the day. Indications are that the country movement is getting under way again and even with the present small arrivals stocks at terminals are increasing rapidly, owing to the almost utter absence of shipping demand. Regardless of political propaganda cannot but feel that in the end supply and demand will determine the price.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The market continues in a rut with no special feature coming out at all. The floor brokers are idle and business is almost nil. The talk is becoming general about new crops and we have a letter from Waco, Texas, today saying that the farmers have no feed stuff and will be forced to curtail severely next year as they are hauling corn from the city to the plantation to an extent never known before.

We still believe that about the only thing on the board is to buy the new crops.

"Marrying Squire" To Take Corn for Work

FORT MADISON, Iowa, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Justice Joseph Hayes, Fort Madison's "marrying squire," who has joined more than 600 couples in the past decade, has decided that corn is worth a dollar a bushel as far as he is concerned. He announced that any couple having more corn than money can promise to love, honor and cherish before him for two bushels of corn.

10-Year Court Fight For Fortune Looms

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Ten years of litigation may be necessary before the $1,000,000 estate of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan, will be of actual benefit to William D. Shepherd, his foster father and principal heir,or the eight cousins seeking to break the will.

And a decade of legal fighting with a score of attorneys involved and costs accumulating through the courts may make the $1,000,000 estate hardly worth struggling for, court attaches pointed out.

2 DIE FOR MURDERS.

VAN COUVER, B. C., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Owen B. Baker of Tacoma, Wash., and Harry F. Sowash of Seattle, Wash., were hanged today for killing William J. and William G. Gillis, farther and son, in a hijacking raid September 15, 1924.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Broad buying power became evident in the wheat market today, with big speculators taking an active part helping to advance prices. Improved export demand together with higher premiums at St. Louis, Omaha and Kansas City for immediate delivery of wheat was a bullish factor. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm at about the day's top figures, 1¾ to 3c net higher, new style, May $1.76⅛ to $1.76¾, and July $1.52⅝ to $1.52⅞, with corn ⅝ to ⅞c off. Oats varying from ¼c decline to ⅛c gain, and provisions 12 to 25c up.

Provisions were responsive to a rise in the value of hogs.

Frederick, although expelled from the Oklahoma athletic association, until March 21, has formed one of the fastest looping combinations in this part of the state and threatens to make neighboring Texas cities easy prey to their wily antics with the sphere.

"NO HANDSHAKING"

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A sign "no handshaking" has appeared on the office door of the head buyer of a Chicago department store. It is meant for traveling men and others on business missions, he said.

The hand clasp is "blah;" it wastes time and in business is a mock gesture "as silly as rubbing noses," he continues.

Facing Death, He Burns $4,000 Savings

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—No relatives of John Kelnar will quarrel over the $4,000 he had saved during his 63 years of life. He made sure of that before he slashed his wrists and throat and died.

He withdrew the entire amount from the bank, asking for it in new $10 bills. Then he made a bonfire of the currency. Police found charred remnants of the crisp money when a suicide note pinned to his body told of the disposal of the savings "because I didn't want anybody to fight over it."

Every Community is Known by its Utilities

WHEN A stranger comes to town all he has to do is to use his eyes and his intelligence to know what kind of a town it is. If he finds modern electric lights and abundant electric power, he knows that here is a wide-awake, prosperous, progressive community. If he doesn't find these things, no amount of verbal "boosting" is going to convince him that this town is a desirable place in which to live and work and invest his money. For he realizes that a prosperous, growing electric light and power system means a prosperous, growing community, made up of broad minded, progressive citizens.

American public services are the envy of the world, because it is here that the greatest progress has been made in their development. Electric light and power, electric transportation, the telephone and telegraph, in fact all of the utility services except gas, originated in the minds of inventive Americans. As general public servants they have become every-day necessities of modern life. They brighten and accelerate all social, commercial and industrial activity.

Your Electric Lighting system is an invaluable asset to your community, and as such it is regarded by every thoughtful citizen. You are a partner in it. Keep it prosperous and expanding as you would any other business in which you have an interest.

City Places Dr A. D. Patillo On Board of General Hospital

TAKES PLACE OF DR. JONES

Appointment to Become Effective Monday January 18

Dr. A. D. Patillo was appointed by the city council in a called session Thursday afternoon to fill the vacancy on the Wichita general hospital board caused by the resignation of Dr. Everett Jones. At the same time the resignation of Dr. Jones was formally accepted, both the appointment and resignation to take effect Monday, January 18. The council's vote was unanimous for Dr. Patillo.

The hospital board as it stands with the appointment of Dr. Patillo contains, Dr. John Fletcher, Hy Newsom of Electra, C. W. Snider, and Mrs. J. M. F. Gill of Burkburnett. The resignation of Dr. Jones from the board leaves the body without a president, and it is believed by some that rather than undergo reorganization, the city's appointee, Dr. Patillo, will be asked to take that post.

Here Since 1916.

Dr. Patillo has been a resident of Wichita Falls since 1916, coming here in that year after four years practice of medicine and surgery at Electra and two years at Petrolia. He is a native of Mount Vernon, Texas, and a graduate of the Baylor Medical school at Dallas in the class of 1911. He is a member of the Lions club and has become prominent in civic activities during his residence here. Until recently he has been a member of the North Texas Clinic, composed of Doctors Hargrave, Collard, Hall, and Patillo, and now, following the dissolution of that clinic, has associated himself with Dr. J. E. Whitworth, city physician.

Petition Ignored.

His appointment by the city to the hospital board was the forecast of many as soon as Dr. Jones' resignation became known. In making the appointment, however, the city council overrode a petition signed by 24 of the city's physicians, requesting the appointment of Dr. C. R. Hartsook to the place. Members of the council stated in appointing Dr. Patillo to fill the vacancy on the board it was in the belief that they were fulfilling the wishes of the majority of the city medical practitioners.

Holliday Creamery Sells to Oklahomans

Announcement of the purchase of the Holliday creamery of this city by the Colvert Ice Cream company of Oklahoma for a consideration of approximately $100,000 was made Thursday by Stamfli and Tanner, realtors, who were in charge of the deal. The purchasers expect to locate a $150,000 plant in Wichita Falls which they hope to make the leader of a string of similar factories in this section, it was stated last night.

According to present plans, work on the new plant here will be begun immediately.

Four Colvert brothers, Paul, W. L., R. G. and J. D. Colvert, were here yesterday in the interest of the new manufacturing concern. Paul Colvert and W. L. Colvert will move to this city soon in order to superintend the work on the plant.

Approximately 3,000 feet of 18-foot paving south of the Country club has already been completed, although not open for traffic for about four weeks yet, and work on the 30-foot paving east of the Municipal park has started.

The project is possibly the largest that is being undertaken by the county at present, involves the contsruction of about 51-2 miles of concrete paving, a considerable portion of which is 30 feet wide. Grading has been completed over most of the way now, and a sub-way beneath the tracks of the Wichita Falls and Southern railway near Lake Wichita has been completed. The work is being done by the L. E. Whitham company.

A total of 93 true bills of indictment have been returned to date by the grand jury of the thirtieth district court, which adjourned Thursday afternoon following the return of ten additional bills. It will reconvene Tuesday, Jan. 26, to clear up a small amount of unfinished business. The number is believed by local court attaches to be the largest ever returned by a grand jury in a Wichita Falls district court. The body was in session, with only a three-day recess, from Monday, Jan. 3, through Thursday afternoon.

The grand jury made two reports Thursday, one at noon covering nineteen bills of indictment, and another at 5 o'clock covering ten bills, all of which, it is understood, represented separate counts in a liquor charge against one man. A total of 64 indictments had already been returned up to Thursday in partial reports made by the body from time to time.

Those Thursday which were made public because the defendants named were already under arrest are: Charles Reed, two bills charging forgery, Ed Williams, two bills charging burglary; Tom Hardy, two bills charging burglary.

$$$$$ Form Neat Window Display

Forty or more $5.00 bills have been worked into an attractive window display and sale advertisement at the Cinderela Boot Shop on Indiana avenue, by J. G. Bertman of that concern. The firm, for the purposes of the sale, placed a blanket price of $5.00 on more than a thousand pairs of shoes in the house covering a compelte range of styles. Samples were placed in the window, with $5.00 green backs stuck inside, as a price mark.

The display attracted its share of attention on Indiana avenue Thursday. According to Mr. Bertman, at other places where he has carried out a similar idea in window display, the window has been knocked out in an attempt to get at the bills.

Contract Breach Is Charged In A Damage Suit

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Pruett, living near Iowa Park, filed a suit in the thirtieth district court Thursday morning asking damages to the extent of $2,450, which they allege was the loss resulting to them when W. H. Johnson, named as defendant, failed to comply with a contract regarding the cultivation of a forty-acre strip on their farm four miles east of Electra. Had Johnson complied with his contract in building irrigation ditches and properly cultivating the forty acres there would have been forty bales of cotton raised there, the petition states, citing that as he did not, only one bale was raised. The damage suit is based on the difference between the actual and potential crop and the share of the crop which should go to each party of the contract.

A suit was filed by J. T. Perry, naming the Wichita Electric company as defendant, asking damages in the sum of $10,000. Perry alleges in his petition that he received serious and permanent injuries as a result of contact with a telephone wire, which he alleges through the Wichita Electric company's negligence had become charged with high voltage electricity.

Westmoreland Lights Turned On Thursday

What was once a wide and rolling expanse of prairie land on the western rim of the city emerged from an age of darkness for a time Thursday night and was flooded with man-made illumination — brightened with a brighter glow than it had ever known before.

The area in question was the Westmoreland park addition, now in process of development, on which a large number of ornamental lights have been set. These were switched on for the first time Thursday evening and unsuspecting motorists inbound and outbound on the Seymour road blinked in amazement when, in place of a wall of darkness on each side of the road, they found the south side ablaze with a myriad blinking electrics. The lights lined the road for a way and stretched far back toward the fair grounds.

They burned for only a short time, but will be turned on again permanently each night when the addition becomes settled.
