

Douglas Fund Started At Bank

A fund has been started at the City National Bank in Colorado City in the name of Margaret Douglas for her husband, Gene, who is suffering from a tumor or cancer in the liver.

Douglas is presently taking chemo-therapy treatments and will have to return to the Diagnostic Hospital in Houston by January 20 and will need $3,000 before this time.

Presently the Douglases are staying with a daughter in The Woodlands, Texas, 333 Holly Creek Court, Apartment 1113.

Mrs. Douglas was a pharmacist at Colorado Drug which they operated and Mr. Douglas was the D.E. (Distributive Education) supervisor at Colorado High School.

All donations may be made at the bank and will be appreciated, according to Virgil Fox, minister of First Christian Church. Rev. Fox stated that Douglas was being very optimistic about the whole thing.

I feel that in today's world, people should help other people with their needs. This world is very cruel to some people but to others it is a world of fun. I found an article in a booklet we get each week that really touched my heart. Here is the article as it read:

"More than four million people were real winners last year. Their lives were touched by Americans who want to help. Lives were saved through medical care in Somalian refugee camps. Lives of children were uplifted in Cambodian orphanages. Lives were revitalized in ongoing rehabilitation projects around the world.

"Many people would consider themselves losers if they couldn't be part of this effort. They consider the organization known as World Vision, a good vehicle for helping others. Its winning ways include moving into the community where people need help and assisting through the resources available there.

"Its child sponsor program makes winners of the child's whole family, and it does your good work in a Christian environment. For free booklet about such work, write for 'A Way Of Caring,' 919 West Huntington Drive, Monrovia, Calif. 91016."

Think about the article. I hope it will move you to help those who need your help.

Dickenson, Mayor Pro-tem Claud Woods, City Secretary Brenda Lee and City Superintendent D. C. Fowler, Jr., turned in their official resignations effective Friday.

Mayor Dickenson stated the reason for submitting his resignation was because he could no longer work with a group where the majority of the group questioned the honesty of the employees and questioned his honesty and integrity.

"Due to the atmosphere within the City Council, I feel I can render no further profitable service to the city," was the comment made by Woods regarding his resignation.

Mrs. Lee stated she was resigning with great sorrow, but because of non-compassion for her child's illness, mistrust, personal vendetta of some of the members of the council, Mrs. Lee stated she must resign. She said, "I have enjoyed working with Mayor Dickenson and Council members Woods and Tommy Green, because they are truly concerned with the welfare of the community."

Fowler stated he was resigning because of health reasons, adding that he regretted this decision but felt it was necessary under the circumstances.

Motion Passed By Council For Public Apology To City Secretary Brenda Lee

B. B. Hardee, manager of Texas Electric Service Company in Colorado City, addressed the Loraine City Council during a special called meeting Monday night.

He presented a method to figure the rate hike adjustment and he also explained the old way of figuring the adjustment. The Council voted to approve the PUC's (Public Utility Commission) decision of the better method.

Following Hardee's presentation, Mayor Vance Dickenson explained the position of David Smith with the city, as there was some question by the Council exactly what it was. Mayor Dickenson stated Smith worked on the streets and cemetery and the Council voted for him to continue these services.

Mayor Dickenson, then introduced Pete McKinney

as the city's attorney. McKinney announced he was resigning from the position because it was taking too much of his time and not giving him enough time for his private practice.

The final item on the agenda discussed was the hearing concerning three allegations made on City Secretary Brenda Lee by three Council members. Calvin Forbes, Eddie Galvan and Jack Brewer.

In each allegation, Gilford Jones, III, Mrs. Lee's attorney from Big Spring, presented her defense. The three councilmen making the allegations made no response on any of the charges.

Following the presentation, a motion was made and passed unanimously that the three men make a public apology to Mrs. Lee and she be cleared of all allegations due to the fact there was no proof of incompetence or malfeasance proven on her part.

Gibson Has Been Named Alumnus Of The Year

Dr. J. P. Gibson, Abilene pediatrician, has been named alumnus of the year for Abilene Christian University. Dr. William J. Teague, president of the university made the announcement at a media reception in the McGlothlin Campus Center.

Gibson graduated from ACU in 1925 and returned to his family home in Washington, D.C. to attend George Washington University. In 1927 he married his ACC sweetheart, Esther Stagner.

After graduating from medical school in 1929, Gibson entered four years of hospital training with the Kiowa Indian Hospital in Lawton, Okla. It was in Lawton that he began an involvement with evangelism that has permeated his entire life.

In 1933 Gibson began ten years at ACU's college physician before returning to private practice. Since 1947 he has limited his practice to pediatrics. Recently Dr. Gibson began serving as the physician for a family's third generation, having delivered his new charge's mother and grandmother.

Gibson has served as president of the Taylor-Jones Medical Society and as chief of staff for Hendrick Medical Center and St. Ann's Hospital.

He has served as an elder of the 16th and Vine Street Church of Christ in Abilene for 27 years before he resigned to spend more time in personal evangelism. He continues to conduct two or three home Bible studies on a weekly basis.

During his 27 years on the ACU Board of Trustees Gibson was active in helping to modify admission policies at the university in the 1960's so that all races could attend ACU.

While a student at ACU, Gibson pioneered the way for other students as Bible salesmen. He was the first ACU student to sell books for the Southwestern Company. About 2,000 ACU students have since participated in the company's summer employment program.

After 54 years of medical practice Gibson has no plans to retire and continues to enjoy a large practice.

Gibson and his wife have three children,

Mrs. Harvey Porter of Albuquerque, N.M., Mrs. Ray Beeson of Dothan, Ala., and David, who is a minister in Commerce.

The Gibsons also have 11 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Gibson will be honored at a reception and luncheon during ACU's annual Bible Lecture-ship. The reception will be Sunday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m., in the McGlothlin Campus Center. The luncheon will be at noon, Monday, Feb. 22 in the double gym of the Gibson Center. Tickets for the luncheon are available through the ACU Alumni Office.

Mengden Criticizes Opponents' Vote

State Senator Walter Mengden, a conservative Republican running for the U.S. Senate, has criticized a recent vote by his opponent, Congressman Jim Collins. On December 16, 1981, Representative Collins voted for a $7.495 billion Foreign Assistance Bill that was reported out of the Senate-House Conference Committee.

"The vote is very strange in light of Mr. Collins' frequent statements that he has made in the past in opposition to such large foreign aid appropriations," Mengden said.

Mengden referred to several newsletters that Collins sent to his district and to a June 21, 1978 interview of Collins in the conservative publication Reivew of the News in which he was very critical of the amount of foreign aid that out of foreign aid that the United States has given since 1946. He was especially opposed to the aid given to oil-rich Middle East countries, to countries hostile to the U.S., and to the U.N. Development Fund.

"The very things that Collins has widely criticized he has turned around and supported with his vote on December 16th," Mengden said. "Collins' vote is a good example of saying one thing and doing another."

Mengden expressed disappointment in Representative Collins' vote, saying that such inconsistency is bound to be discouraging to the voters who want a firm voice to represent their interests in Washington, D.C. Mengden emphasized that he does not oppose all foreign aid, but that he believes that it is inappropriate to be increasing aid to foreign countries in times of budget cuts at home.

"The truth is that we cannot buy friends abroad. As for helping the poor overseas, this should not be done at the expense of the needy in our own country."

☆☆☆☆☆ Food Stamps Now Computerized ☆☆☆☆☆

How do you automate the state's food stamp program when you have food stamp people who do not understand computer people who know very little about food stamps?

Secretary Lawrence B. Ingram, New Mexico Human Services Department, designated various members of the computer staff and the program staff to a Task Force to address the problem of handling increasing caseload with limited resources.

The Task Force was convinced that the state's increasing caseload could only be met in a timely and accurate manner, without a substantial increase in staff, by an automated system.

Once the solution had been agreed to and an appropriate system identified, it took less than one year to get all the state's counties on computer. The rapid transition from manpower to machine was not accomplished without a lot of overtime, including long days of travel away from home on the part of Task Force members.

Task Force first travelled to Louisiana to review their automated system and determine if it could be modified for New Mexico. Bill Dunbar, Task Force project manager, observed that Louisiana has "one of the simplest systems I have looked at so far." Alfred Powell, Data Processing manager, added "It (Louisiana system) appeared to be easy to work with. I have always been positive about it."

The transfer and modification of Louisiana's system was estimated to cost $2.75 million. Current operating costs without computers was projected at $9.4 million compared to $8.3 million if automated. This was a bargain, requiring only 17 months to recover the full cost of converting to computer.

Now, when a client enters the office to apply for food stamps, he must furnish his social security number. The computer checks his prior history and cross-checks all counties for duplicate participation. Ingram, claims this makes it impossible for the head of the household to be certified in more than one county.

Ingram says there are other ways of using the computer to decrease abuse of the program, such as a match against payroll lists. So far, over 50 cases have been identified as fraudulently participating. Some of these cases have been referred to the Attorney General for prosecution. Over $75,000 in overissuance have been filed against these cases.

In addition, a number of food stamps have been returned by those who either received them fraudulently and were apparently afraid of prosecution, or who received them in error.

What was the effect of computerization on the food stamp caseworkers? North Bernalillo County supervisor Clorinda Arias says, "At first it was hard. Now the workers feel more comfortable with it. We find that we have more accurate information and better statistics."

After the caseworkers received an extensive two-day training, they converted their cases to the computer. They did this by completing a client record form, a computer input document that is used to provide information for eligibility determination and to change case data.

The one page client record requires 19 typed pages to explain codes used to provide information for eligibility determination. It also takes 17 typed pages to explain what you want done with the information provided (transaction codes). Despite the number of pages to explain the codes, Ms. Arias says, "It is a very simple form to follow. The transactions are mastered after working with it for awhile."

The client record form is one of the most critical forms, according to Orlando Fernandez, forms management coordinator for the Task Force. He used forms from the State of Louisiana as a base and then made modifications. Fernandez had the forms printed with green rather than black ink which would tend to obscure the workers' black marks on the form. He also looks at postage costs on the forms that are printed by the computer for mailing. Giving attention to small details, such as the way a form is carbonized, he has been able to reduce postage costs on these forms.

The cost benefit of New Mexico's computer cannot be ignored when projections show the average cost per food stamp case per year will decrease from a level of almost $160 in 1979 to a little less than $100 in 1984.

New Mexico can be proud of the early achievements made possible by its new machine of speed, accuracy and un-failing memory. One has to believe that even George Orwell would be pleasantly surprised by the positive impact of automation on New Mexico when 1984 dawns on "the land of enchantment."

THEN and NOW

Few people realize how much today's new agricultural technology has affected the output of America's farms. How much our highly efficient and productive agricultural system has improved over the years.

THEN: In the past, farmers would have to wait for ideal weather conditions to begin planting. And, since many seeds were lost to decay and fungus, fields often had to be replanted.

For example, a large part of the potato crop never reached the American table due to spoilage in storage and insect blights.

NOW: Seeds are coated with decay-preventing fungicides. This permits earlier planting and greater crop yields. Now, farmers can produce three times as many potatoes as they used to per acre—largely due to crop protection chemicals. If you would like a speaker to talk about the role of chemicals in America's food production, write to Margaret Melady, Straight Talk About Chemicals, Public Affairs Department, Stauffer Chemical Company, Westport, CT 06881.

Wolves Begin District Play

Tuesday night, the Wolves will go into district competition when they will face Clyde here and up to their Ballinger game Friday night they were standing 8-8 after all other pre-season ball games.

The Wolves varsity girls had a somewhat slow start 0-4 and then won eight of the following 12 games starting them a good 8-8 start for district.

Wylie stands at 8-8, Merkel 7-9, Breckenridge 6-8, Clyde 4-11 and Stamford 0-10.

Presently the Wolves are averaging 49 points per game while their opponents are averaging 50, but Coach George Martin thinks it will be a pretty close race for the district title between C-City, Breckenridge, Merkel and Wylie.

Starters for the Wolves are Angi Neff with a 12 point average scoring and second in rebounds with 125. Karla Herm has an average of 11 points per game and 91 average in rebounds. Kim Feaster is the third leading scorer with 10 points per game. Laura Baum is close behind, with an average score of nine and 89 rebounds. Tomika Randle, the leading rebounder with 133 rebounds, has seven points scoring average. Darlene Mitchell has a record of five points per game and 75 rebounds per game.

Substitute Stacy Hamrick averages 49 rebounds per game and two points in scoring. Other substitutes are Kerry Spivey, Carolyn Green and Holly Taplin. The girls placed second in the Lone Wolf Tournament after defeating Midland High 58-52 and then falling to Eastland High 30-44. Leading scorers in the Midland game were Karla with 16 and Laura with 15. Leading in the Eastland game were Laura with 12 and Darlene with nine.

In the Sterling City game, where C-City came the victors of 49-29, Kim led the scoring with 13 and Karla was right behind her with nine.

Karla led the scoring when C-City defeated Stanton 74-60 with Karla having 25 points and Angi followed with 14 points.

In the Tahoka game, Angi led with 16 and Laura followed in the scoring with 11.

Drugs Kept To Minimum

The use of drugs on the job in the oilfield has long been a problem, but many companies are now stepping up their efforts to keep it to a minimum. According to an article in the Dallas Morning News, Parker Drilling, using private security personnel, recently conducted surprise searches of employees at OIME and Perry Gas in Odessa. Parker has told all employees and applicants that they will be subject to searches of their person, lockers and automobiles as a condition of employment.

An industry spokesman, Ed McGhee of the International Association of Drilling Contractors, said the concern is for safety, and is not a moral judgement on the part of the companies. The goal is to reduce the possibility of accidents caused by a person taking drugs. McGhee added that the companies have increased the searches because recent court ruling upholding the right of firms to search employees on company property in the interest of safety.

In other news, the state of Texas has stopped two companies from advertising Wyoming Oil Lease Lottery ads in Texas newspapers. The state said the ads were misleading. The two firms advertised a lottery fee of 15 dollars when it actually cost 40 dollars, according to the state.

Q. Is there a simple way of checking to see if a no-start problem is within the electronic ignition system? A. There is one simple test you can perform which will tell you if you have an electronic ignition system problem. Disconnect one of the sparkplug wires by grasping the rubber boot and twisting and pulling the wire from the plug. Never pull the wire itself. Hold the end of the disconnected sparkplug wire with a pair of insulated pliers. Move the wire to within about a quarter of an inch of some metallic part of the engine. Avoid areas of spilled oil, fuel or other petrochemicals. Have someone crank the engine. If there is a spark arcing from the disconnected wire to the engine while the engine is cranked, the electronic ignition is probably alright. If there is no spark, you've got a problem. Begin by looking for faulty spark plug wires.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

My name is John F. Rader, and I am writing you this letter, praying that you will see fit to publish it in your paper.

Recently I was arrested and indicted for transporting and delivering to one said person, marijuana. I am writing this letter so that the people of Mitchell County will, in their own minds, understand. I am no more guilty of transporting the said marijuana than any other person in Mitchell County.

In our Constitution and our laws set by and for the people of the United States, it says that I am innocent until proven guilty beyond the shadow of a doubt; so I ask why should our laws bring up things that have no bearing on said case? Also, since this has happened, I have lost a lot of friends, or at least I thought they were my friends; but it seems to me that they have me guilty for something that has not been proven, and I say with the utmost respect that I have not and will not, at any time, embarrass or incriminate any of my family or friends in Mitchell County.

I have the highest respect for law enforcement and it is good to know that we do have a good law enforcement in Colorado City (Mitchell County); but, I say to you and to whom it may concern, do things that need to be done, and do them in the way they should be done. Never assume this is what happened. Be sure that you see what you see, and be sure that what you have seen is true.

As I bring this letter to a close, I want to say once more to the people of Mitchell County, don't judge me for what they say I have done; judge me for what you, my friends have seen me do.

Sincerely yours,
John F. Rader

Volunteers Sought To Help With Projects At Center

Will you help? Do you have a few hours a week that you could spare for helping others? Volunteers are needed in many projects at Wallace Center for Community Education.

Meal delivery-homebound elderly persons would live to have a hot meal delivered to them on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Telephone re-assurance-a project reaching out to the isolated elderly, the lonely, or handicapped-a phone call from you at the same time three days a week could keep them in touch with someone who cares. Be a good neighbor and give only a few minutes a day to help us in this program.

Experienced unlimited-need yard work done? Want to work as a sitter? This is a referral system which will put people of any age who need work done, and are willing to pay, in touch with people who have the required skills and who have expressed an interest in doing the type of work requested.

We need two volunteers to help get this program started. (Set up card file)-if you need some work done or want to offer your services (paid basis) please list your need with Wallace Center. All requests will be posted at Wallace.

Tutoring-"Look, Jane, look," these are simple words, but for a youngster just learning to read, they may be very difficult. Slow readers need someone to listen to them read and give them encouragement. No training necessary-just a little love and patience.

Volunteer now to work in the After School Tutoring Program set to begin when volunteers are available.

Do you have a hobby or craft you would like to share with others? We are constantly seeking new instructors for daytime and evenings.

These are just a few of the opportunities open to volunteers in our community. For more information, please contact Barbara Gray at the Community Education Office at Wallace Center, 728-2392.

Course Slated

A course in defensive driving techniques will be offered at the Wallace Community Education Center in Colorado City January 19 and 20.

The classes are sponsored through the Western Texas College and taught by Barbara Gray. The classroom sessions offer pointers in preventing accidents in spite of the incorrect action of others and adverse driving conditions.

Each course will have two four-hour sessions each night from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Films and other visual aids will be used to demonstrate how to improve driving skills.

Persons completing this course will be eligible for a reduction in insurance premium rates, also for possible traffic ticket removal.

The fee for the course is $20. A special fee for persons 65 and older is $10.

You may register at the Wallace Center or for more information, phone 915-728-2392.

Merchants Need To Be Aware Of Taxes

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said that about 1,000 Texas merchants need to be aware of new sales tax requirements on credit sales which go into effect January 1.

The new law affects merchants who make installment sales of taxable items, include the amount of sales tax due in the outstanding balance and keep their books on the "cash" basis of accounting.

According to the new law, a part of the interest paid on the sales tax portion of credit sales will be taxable. This additional amount is to be reported and remitted when the regular sales tax return is filed.

If the interest on the sales tax and the unpaid balance are the same-and the rate is 18 percent or less-the state gets half the interest on the sales tax portion of the total amount being financed.

If the rate is more than 18 percent, the state gets all interest on the sales tax amount have nine percent. For example, a merchant charging 20 percent interest on credit sales will remit 11 percent interest on the sales tax amount to the state, assuming the rate for the sales tax portion is the same as for the rest of the unpaid balance.

If the interest charged on the sales tax portion of the bill is different from the rate charged on the rest of the unpaid balance, the merchant must remit all of the interest paid on the sales tax portion to the state.

Taxpayers with questions about their new responsibilities should contact the Comptroller's local office nearest them or the Comptroller's Sales Tax division at 1-800-252-5555, a toll-free call from anywhere in Texas.

COULD YOU USE AN EXTRA $540,585 WHEN YOU RETIRE?

THE NEW TAX-DEFERRED INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS-IRAs.

That's a ridiculous question, of course. Because everyone could use an extra $540,585 toward their retirement.

And now, with a tax-deferred Individual Retirement Account (IRA) from our FULL SERVICE BANK®, almost everyone can have an extra $540,585. Even if you're already covered by a company pension plan.

To build such an impressive nest egg, you'll need to save $2,000 a year-for 30 years-into your own high-yield retirement account.

Or, as demonstrated in the box at right, you can deposit less than $2,000 a year and still end up with a sizeable amount of cash.

You can even set up a convenient payment schedule. Making deposits by the week, by the month or whatever suits you best.

WHAT A TAX-DEFERRED IRA COULD MEAN TO YOU

(Based on 12% interest, compounded annually)

	$500 INVESTMENT at start of each year	$1,000 INVESTMENT at start of each year	$2,000 INVESTMENT at start of each year
Total Investment After 30 Years	$ 15,000	$ 30,000	$ 60,000
Total Value of Investment After 30 Years	$135,146	$270,292	$540,585

Note: This chart is intended to be an example of how regular deposits into an IRA can grow into a substantial sum. This is not a guarantee of interest rates or end financial results.

And because our retirement accounts are tax-deferred, you deduct your annual investment from your taxable income. So you'll pay no federal tax on an IRA until you start withdrawing funds. (Minimum age: 59½).

Then, when you retire, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket, paying lower taxes.

If you're intrigued with the thought of reducing your tax load while increasing your security, call or visit the professionals at our FULL SERVICE BANK for all the details.

They could help make your retirement much more enjoyable. About $540,585 more enjoyable.

WE'VE GOT THE ANSWERS.

Girls Take Win

ENERGY SAVING WAYS

With OVENS

Cooking complete oven meals is economical and energy-efficient. According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, a large percentage of the oven's energy is used just to heat up the interior to the temperature required to cook a food item. So it makes good energy sense to try to cook as many things as possible at one time in the oven.

The home economists advise that a little preplanning can go a long way toward helping to cut your oven's energy cost. For example, oven recipes with temperatures of plus or minus 25 degrees can be cooked together... baking in glass or ceramic pans whenever possible also allows you to reduce the oven setting by 25 degrees. Deadline Slated For Registering Brands

Joan Beach, Mitchell County Clerk, reminds all livestock owners that the deadline to re-register their brands is March 1 of this year and after this designated date, brands not re-registered in the County Clerk's Office, will be available for someone else to use. Cost of the re-registration is $5 per brand, per location on the animal.

The Texas brand law, which was passed in 1971 was the subject of a ruling by Texas Attorney General Mark White that says owners of marks and brands must re-register them during the same six-month period every 10 years, without regard to when they originally recorded them.

The law also notes that it is illegal to brand livestock without first properly recording the brand with the county clerk in the county in which the livestock are held.

JESUS

The Light Of The World

Rev. Hazel House
Pastor
St. Luke & Dorn United Methodist Church

Scripture: St. Mark 10:46-52; Matthew 18:11

Do you know who Christ Jesus is? What does Christ mean to you? Do you know Him as One who came to earth for no other purpose than to save that which was lost-you and me? While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us, that we might be forgiven of our sin and receive life through Him that shall never end. Do you know Jesus as Savior and Lord?

Then, Who are we? Who are you? Who am I? What is life? What am I here for? I saw myself in a bright light's beam—a beggar, unclean, uncared for, lost, and I prayed, "God, have mercy on me a sinner..." Then as if I suddenly stood alone, I saw myself, small was I, so small, yet in myself I know One so wonderfully wise abiding, and within myself I knew Him. Within myself—how could this be? I could not tell, and yet I knew He lived and gave me life and breathe, and moved me to witness—

He revealed Himself and made a reflector in me for His glorious Light to shine out into the darkness. This joy He gave, this hope, too much for me to contain within myself. The light of His own glory, of His love, of Eternal life, and reconciliation to God—for even me!

I saw myself, so very small, yet within this unit He abides, His Word abides and burns through me as a living fire, and I cannot stay...I saw myself, growing smaller yet He is living in me, so I live by Him. Because I am good? No! Because He is God. He is good, He is love, and He loves me.

And who am I? A sinner saved by God's grace, because He died for my sin, and because I believe Him and accepted and confess Jesus Christ as the Son of God sent to save us from our sin, and I can claim Him as my Savior and Lord. So now He gives me His light, His peace and His love and gives me faith to believe in Him, and guides me to be His witness, as I walk with Him each day. He loves me, and now I know it—all because I listened and saw myself, a sinner needing a Savior, needing a guide, needing love and peace, and hop for everlasting life.

Have you seen yourself, alone, needing forgiveness and the gift of love and the hope of Eternal life? God loves you now, so I pray you to be reconciled to God, and know who He is in Christ, who calls each and all of us to "Come, follow me." Remember Christ died for your sin, and offers you the gift of Life. He will save you from your sin and remember them against you no more. He will be your guide and your Friend, and will never leave you nor forsake you.

Jesus truly is the Light of The World, and has the Almighty Power to save us now and to Guide and lead us all the way, both now and forevermore.

Speech Class Now Swinging

The Speech Department of Westbrook Independent Schools has been in full swing since the 1981-82 school year opened.

In November, around Thanksgiving, the annual seventh and eighth grade plays were produced. The seventh grade staged "Asker, John, Asker" and eighth grade produced "The Return of the Pilgrims." In December, the girls of Westbrook High School gave an outstanding performance of James L. Bray's "To Burn a Witch," in which two women were tried for witchcraft in Salem.

On the other side of the coin, the boys of the high school diligently became involved in learning the "ropes" of making speeches, learning lines, producing skits, and learning all the pros and cons of the theatre.

Currently, the Speech Department of Westbrook High School is becoming involved in preparing for a University Interscholastic League competition to be held in late March and early April.

The U.I.L. system revolves around all of Texas' participating schools. Not only do the schools compete in the speech events and the one act play, but they also participate in other events such as Spelling, Typing, Shorthand, Math, Ready Writing, Slide Rule and Number Sense. The University Interscholastic League is an organization designed to develop the individual, to create a competitive spirit, and to strengthen the overall intellectual and emotional welfare of the student.

The Speech Events are divided into several categories. Each event is allowed three participants who will be given particular topics, etc., and they will be judged according to skill and ability. The student who relates the best will come out on top.

From Westbrook High School, the following are diligently preparing for the six events listed:

Poetry interpretation, Gabby Gaona, T. J. Parsons and Charles Rice.

Prose interpretation, James Boon, Jeff Boon and Pat Harris.

Informative speaking, Angela Lentz, Rosie Reyes and Christi Vanderpool.

Persuasive speaking, Matt Buckley, Gayla Cook and DeWayne Pierce.

Debate, Billy Sweet and Max Zant.

One Act Play, "John Doe" by Bernard Victor Dryer. The cast includes Jeff Boon, Wade Brune, Matt Buckley, Pat Harris, T. J. Parsons, Billy Sweet and Max Zant.

The crew is Gabby Gaona, Max Ragland and Doug Wilson. Alterpates are DeWayne Pierce and Christi Vanderpool.

Future plans call for a late spring play, a speech competition between the seventh and eighth grade, and various other activities. Coordinator and director of all the speech activities and the Speech-Communication Department at Westbrook Independent Schools is Leslie Anderson.

The PTL Class of the First Baptist Church held their new year class party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Audie Springfield New Year's Eve.

The class enjoyed the games of Dominoes, 42 and the game of aggravation.

Mrs. Springfield had numbers made and each person drew a number to see who would be their partner for the occasion for the evening.

At 11:30 p.m., the class enjoyed the traditional feast of black-eyed peas, cornbread and dry land trout for the ending of 1981 and to welcome in the new year of 1982.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conard, Mrs. Lucy Magill, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Audie Springfield.

4-H Club Holds Meeting

Adam Merket, president of the newly formed Loraine 4-H Club, presided at the club's first meeting Monday.

Serving with Merket are Kimberly Hartman, vice president; Sherri Webb, secretary; Shelia Hill, treasurer and Becky Woods, reporter.

Baptist Women's Night Circle Meets For Regular Meeting On January 4

The Baptist Women Night Circle met Jan. 4 at 7:30 p.m., in the home of Louree Upton's.

The chairman, Betsy Aycock, opened the meeting with business. Plans were made to contact a couple of missionaries and to find out any special needs and support them in whatever areas are needed. Next, prayer support was given for Southern Baptist Missionaries with birthdays on the fourth of January.

Billie Harrison, assisted by Joy Piland, then presented the program for the evening

"Make The Message Plain." A short skit depicted the communication problem sometimes existing for the evangelical Christian in sharing the message of God's love for all mankind.

Those attending were Billie Roenfeldt, Sue Keen, Earline Sellier, Doris Carter, Anna Staats, Frances Cooper, Catherine Morris, Joy Piland, Billie Harrison and Betsy Aycock.

CLARENCE MCDANIEL, JR., soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service checks wind erosion on field where cotton stalks have been cut. Cutting stalks too far in advance of plowing or chiseling leaves the soil in a critical erosion period. If the land is not to be mowed it is better to chisel and leave the cotton stalks standing. Cotton stalks offer some protection against wind erosion. The fine particles that blow away are the most fertile part of the soil.

SOIL CONSERVATIONIST Clarence McDaniel, Jr., left, and Ed Kemp discuss terrace maintenance on Ed's farm southeast of Colorado City. Ed plows his terraces up each year. Terraces need to be plowed up every year to maintain their effective height. Most of the damage done to terraces during heavy rains is due to lack of maintenance.

TREMENDOUS TRIUMPH

THE JEST THAT AIDED OUR LIBERTIES

The law of Habeas Corpus—one of the keystones of our present day liberties—was passed because of a joke about the great size of one of those voting for it.

Before the reign of Charles II in England, a man could be convicted of almost any crime on the calendar without being allowed to make his defense before the court or even to appear at his own trial.

Then the law of Habeas Corpus was passed. The Latin phrase said "Produce the Body." Produce the prisoner and bring him before the court which is trying him.

It was a tremendous victory for human rights—a great step in progress of civil liberty. It is regarded as one of the great achievements of the reign of Charles II, altho in fact, Charles II was not a great ruler, though because of the general unrest and public demand for it, he did not dare oppose it.

But what did a fat lord have to do with it? A fat lord had everything to do with it. The bill was passed because one very fat lord was counted as 10. Bishop Burnet recorded the story as follows:

"Lord Grey and Lord Norreys were named to be the tellers. Lord Norreys being a man subject to vapours, was not at all times attentive to what he was doing. So, a very fat lord coming in, Lord Grey counted him for ten, as a jest at first; but seeing Lord Norreys had not observed it, he went on with his mis-reckoning of ten. So it was reported to the house and declared that they, that were for the bill, were in the majority."

Altho the members of the Parliament who were for and against the bill were very nearly tied, the opponents of the bill did not expect the measure to pass. When the count was reported as 57 for the bill and 55 against it, they showed surprise. Lord Shaftesbury, who championed the bill and feared a mistake had been made, immediately rose and delivered a long speech, until several Peers had gone in and come out. When he sat down it was then impossible to recount the vote.

The Parliament Journal for that day shows only 107 members present during the entire day, five less than the recorded vote on this important bill.

So if the fat lord had not been very, very fat, Lord Grey would not have had his little jest, or as a consequence, his very important majority. The law of Habeas Corpus and the interest of civil justice would have received a great setback.
