Rains Flood Texas Areas

Eight Inches At Kerrville

By The Associated Press

Nearly eight inches of rain hit the Southwest Texas Hill Country during the night and flooding downpours persisted over much of the state today.

By this morning the deluges, spreading toward the east behind a slow-moving cool front, were filling some streets and low areas in the San Antonio, Fort Worth and Dallas areas.

Kerrville measured 7.75 inches of rain before it started tapering off and there was considerable street flooding, police dispatcher James T. Cassidy reported.

Two cars were swept into raging Quinlan Creek in Kerrville and "we had to rescue the two girls in them, but they weren't hurt," Cassidy said. The officers also escorted two occupants from a house in a low area as a precaution.

Flash flood warnings stayed in force most of the night for the Southwest Texas sector along and east of the Pecos River Valley, and for eight counties in the Hill Country where forecasters said persons living in the lowlands should seek shelter along the Guadalupe River from the headwaters above Kerrville downstream to Canyon Dam.

Reports of as much as 6 inches of rain on the headwaters of the Pedernales River caused official observers to issue a flood warning along that stream, where they said a big rise was due above Stonewall with a crest two feet above bank level. Lowland flooding was expected down to Johnson City.

Near dawn a flash flood watch remained in effect for much of the south central part of South Texas and the area was expanded to embrace much of the countryside east of the Nueces River and west of the Brazos River.

Light to heavy showers and occasional thunderstorms lingered in most other sections behind the cool front, which lay across South Central and Southeast Texas near dawn. Still more rain was expected in most parts of the state.

The SDN Column

The long dry spell here, which was dented by showers on April 21 and again the past Monday morning was particularly noticeable at Lake J.B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District's reservoir southwest of Snyder. Prior to the recent showers, the Lake Thomas elevation had sagged to 2226 feet above sea level. And it was beginning to take on that empty look. A few inches of new water Monday brightened hopes.

But Lake Thomas still was in excellent condition compared to its plight of three years ago. Although the countryside had fared much better, rain just didn't happen much on the lake's watershed for a couple of years, and its water level dropped to its lowest mark since the lake was formed nearly 20 years earlier. Would you believe an elevation of 2206, or 20 feet below the reading before the past Monday's rain? There wasn't much left but a mud puddle.

Anyway, there's still plenty of room in Lake Thomas. Its elevation at spillway level is 2258 feet above sea level.

With the primary elections coming up this Saturday, U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen has issued a timely reminder of the importance of a vote. You probably are familiar with most of these examples, but they are worth of repeating during political season:

In 1649, it was only one vote that cost King Charles I of England his head.

In 1845, by a single vote, the United States Senate annexed Texas to the Union.

In 1824, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams president over Andrew Jackson by a single vote.

In 1868, by margin of only one vote, the U.S. Senate twice failed to convict President Andrew Johnson in his impeachment trial.

Bentsen tells of another example of the importance of a single vote. A member of Congress was seeking re-election in California. He had one opponent. They wound up with exactly 10,429 votes each. In accordance with their state constitution, they drew lots and the incumbent congressman lost. He sank into political oblivion. His secretary had been too busy with her office work to cast her ballot on primary day.

There is another famous example of the importance of a single vote. Back in the fall of 1941, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas climbed down from the speaker's platform to break a tie vote and retain the Selective Service System, thereby continuing the authority of the military to draft young men into service. A few days later, the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and the country was in the middle of World War II.

ON TAPES SUBPOENA

Impeachment Inquiry To Weigh Decision Tonight

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the divided House impeachment inquiry campaigned today for bipartisan approval tonight of a simple statement stating President Nixon's edited Watergate transcripts do not comply with the subpoena for tapes.

Republicans made no commitments although several said it sounded like a reasonable approach.

"I may," Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., replied when asked if he might vote for it. "But I don't want to commit myself. I want to read the letter."

Democrats said the approach would be proposed by a senior Democratic committee member, Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., at a full House Judiciary Committee meeting tonight.

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., said after a caucus Tuesday night the simple statement should win Republican votes—and possibly lend weight to a noncompliance impeachment charge in the future.

Other Democrats said that was the clear consensus at the caucus on strategy for tonight's meeting—the inquiry's first night session—although no caucus vote was taken.

"We're going to discuss compliance or noncompliance," said Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said he was disappointed that the material the committee subpoenaed "has not been forthcoming.

"The subpoena speaks for itself," Rodino said. "The subpoena is for tapes."

Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo., indicated that the aim is to win a stand against the President's decision not to turn over tapes themselves without splitting the committee down party lines. Such a split could come, for instance, if a move were made to vote on enforcing the subpoena, such as through a contempt citation.

Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, a senior committee Republican who happened by the Democrats' caucus, agreed: "We don't want to take any votes that will divide us."

But House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes said a similar caucus with committee Republicans produced overwhelming agreement that "the President was substantially in compliance."

"The President is in compliance now and the committee should get to work with the material it has," Rhodes added later.

Transcripts Confirm, Contradict John Dean

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III's accounts of nearly two dozen conversations with President Nixon about Watergate are confirmed in some respects but contradicted in others by White House transcripts of the talks.

In some cases, the vagueness of comments by both parties leave the true meaning of remarks open to question.

And for some other Dean assertions, there is no transcript to verify or challenge him.

Dean's versions of meetings are taken from his testimony June 25, 1973, to the Senate Watergate committee. The White House transcripts were released Tuesday.

Here are comparisons of the highlights by date:

Sept. 17, 1972

This meeting came hours after the original seven Watergate defendants had been indicted. Dean said Nixon congratulated him on doing a good job "and the President was pleased that the case had stopped with (G. Gordon) Liddy."

Dean said he told Nixon "that all that I had been able to do was to contain the case and assist in keeping it out of the White House. I also told him that there was a long way to go before this matter would end

On Saturday, May 4, the Democrats will vote in 13 polling places over the county, while the Republicans will cast their votes in a single polling place at the West Elementary School in Snyder. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

The only changes in the lineup of voting boxes in the Democratic Primary since the 1972 primary send Camp Springs voters to the Loyd Mountain box and China Grove voters to the Dunn box.

More Rains Fall In Area

Showers resumed intermittently over the Snyder area late Tuesday and early today.

The official gauge in Snyder had measured .28 inch during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, and a few showers continued after that hour.

At Dunn, Mrs. L.A. Scott reported .90 inch of rain this morning, increasing the total for the week there to 2.20 inches.

The rainfall also had exceeded the 2-inch mark at Lake J.B. Thomas, where .40 inch fell overnight. The total at the lake Monday was 1.70 inches. However, the flow from the Colorado River into the lake had ended after increasing the lake's elevation by about four inches.

Overcast skies still were reported over most of the area and chances for additional rain were good, according to forecasters.

Arrest Six In Zebra Shootings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Six black men were arrested today in the Zebra street shootings in which 12 whites have been murdered and six others wounded in random attacks over a six-month period, police said.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca identified the men as J.C. Simon, 29; Larry Green, 22; Dwight Stallings, Thomas Manney, Manuel Moore and Edgar Burton, all of San Francisco.

He said Simon and Green were arrested first, in a 5 a.m. raid at an apartment. They were booked on charges of murder, conspiracy to commit murder and charges of assault with a deadly weapon, Barca said.

He gave no details on the other arrests, all made here, but said the other four men would be booked on conspiracy to commit murder.

Planning Panel To Be Appointed

Procedure for setting up a long-range planning committee to identify and seek solutions to community problems was mapped last night at a meeting of a steering committee assembled by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Sitting in on the session last night were representatives of city and county government, local schools, the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of County Development and news media.

Following a general discussion and a brief review of the procedure followed by a similar committee 10 years ago which led to achievement of a number of major goals, the group decided to ask the county judge, the mayor of Snyder and the president of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce to appoint five members each to a long-range planning committee. The committee will be charged with the responsibility of organizing itself and developing its own precedure for identifying problems, proposing possible solutions and establishing priorities.

Bobby McCormick presided over the steering committee meeting. He noted that the community faces a number of problems and that community proved 10 years ago that it is capable of moving forward and providing its own solutions.

The long-range planning committee which was appointed in 1964 outlined a list of major objectives that have now been achieved. The problems today, however, are different from those of 10 years ago, it was noted. A decade ago there was a decline in business activity and in population. Now, labor is being sought by industry here. Also, there was a surplus of housing a decade ago, but this has been wiped out.

Following the session last night, County Judge Preston Wilson, Mayor W.A. Vestal and Chamber President John Thomas indicated that they would confer within the next few days and make their appointments to the planning committee.

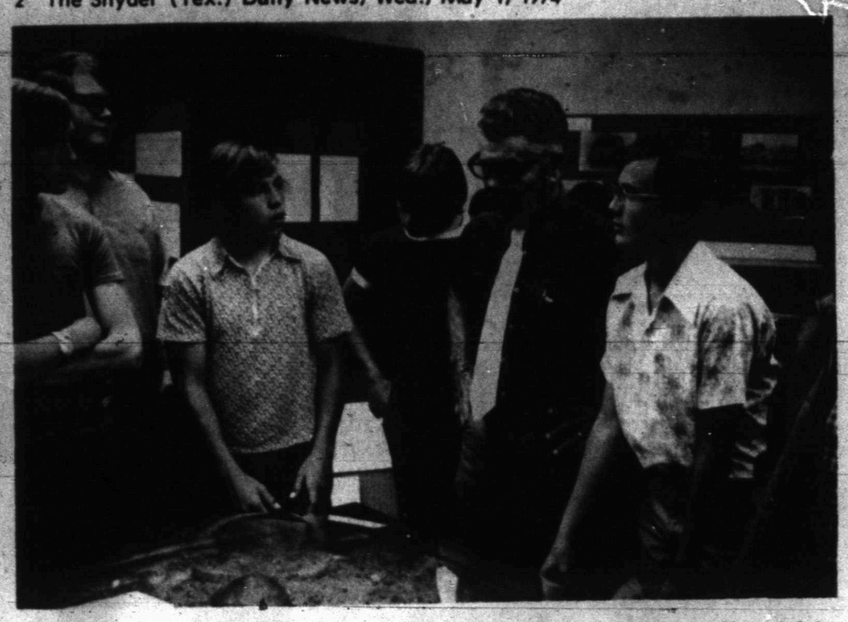

School Board Officers Are Re-Elected

Snyder Independent School District Trustees certified returns from the runoff election to fill two board posts last Saturday and re-elected board officers at a special session Tuesday.

Billy John Voss and Bill Clayton, who were elected to Places 3 and 5, respectively, took over their positions on the board.

Dillard Teal was re-elected president of the board and Bill Eiland was re-elected vice president.

The vote totals in last Saturday's runoff election showed 429 votes for Voss and 188 votes for Dalton Walton in the race for Place 3, and a total of 384 votes for Clayton and 225 for Ted Hanson for Place 5.

Two divorces catch her in the middle

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My brother left his wife and five children and got a divorce. My close friend subsequently divorced her husband. It soon came out that my brother and my friend had been seeing each other for a few years before their divorces. They are presently living together and plan to be married soon. I hope they will find the happiness together they lacked in their former marriages, but there is a problem:

I have always been very close to my brother's wife, and I adore the children. My brother says that his ex-wife is no longer a part of the family, and that if I want to see his children I should do so when he has them for visitation. Brother says that if his ex-wife is invited to any family gatherings, he and his wife-to-be will not come.

I don't want to have to choose whom to invite to my home for a family affair, but I am told that since my brother is closer to me than his ex-wife, he should not have to stay away. During the holidays, I invited everyone and left the decision up to those who wanted to come, but there was side-choosing and ill feelings, so I cancelled the party. My own children are being denied associating with their cousins, and remaining neutral is not easy. Please help.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your brother divorced his wife, you didn't, so don't let him dictate whom you shall have in your home. Ask everyone you want, and if Brother doesn't want to come, let him stay away.

DEAR ABBY: Several of us have a question to which we have been unable to find an answer.

When a married man is invited to be the guest speaker for a women's club [business or social], what about his wife?

The affair is usually held in the evening at a motel or hotel beginning with a dinner. What is the speaker's wife supposed to do? Sit home and eat alone while her husband is being fussed over by a bunch of women?

I feel that if a club can't afford two meals, they should get their speakers from the membership.

Also, what if the meeting is out of town over a weekend? Don't you think the speaker's wife should be invited too? Please set us straight on this. A CLUB DIVIDED

DEAR CLUB: It is customary when inviting a speaker to let him know that his wife is welcome, too. If this courtesy is omitted and the speaker wants his wife to be included, he should say so. Weekends? Absolutely—if the budget permits.

DEAR ABBY: To the lady who was 30 and recently divorced and wanted to know where to go to meet men. Here's what I did at age 36 and newly divorced:

I called around to all the churches [all denominations] and got information on all the religious and social gatherings the churches sponsored for singles in my age group. Then I made a list and took turns visiting all the churches. It took a lot of courage to go to so many strange groups alone, but it paid off because at the Unitarian church I met just the man for me. We have been happily married for 15 years. HAPPY IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAPPY: Some people go to church to pray. Others go to pray they meet someone. To each his own.

The last one occurred at Thirty-eighth Place and Galveston Avenue. Involved were a 1969 Model Plymouth driven by Ida Prescott Chitsey, Route 1, Hermleigh, and the 1965 Model Chevrolet pickup of William Wayne Brown, 3810 Galveston.

Methodist Men Meet

Representatives of Hermleigh, Fluvanna, Trinity, First in Snyder, Union, Latin American and Dunn United Methodist Churches were present at the meeting. The next meeting of the organization will be held July 22 at Union United Methodist Church.

Plea Is Heard

Nixon Speaks Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate hearings brought full public attention to the scandal, but only a month before they began, President Nixon told aides privately: "I don't think the committee hearings will ever go forward."

Later the same day, April 17, 1973, he said: "I don't want the damn Ervin committee to go forward."

SOUND ADVICE:

A new concept in helping the hard-of-hearing

By DARYL KING

Daryl King

Up until the past few years, a lot of hearing aid dealers sold only one brand of hearing aids. Not that it mattered. The differences between brands were small, the technology was relatively unsophisticated, and the aid you bought was probably as good as any.

Today, this has changed. We are specially trained and qualified hearing aid specialists—not just dealers. We carry a wide variety of hearing aids. From different manufacturers. And more importantly, we don't rest until we fit you with an aid that answers your problem.

If your hear sounds but can't always understand the words—a classic symptom of nerve deafness, you owe it to yourself and those most dear to you to come in for a free hearing test to see if we can help you. I will hold my regular monthly center at: Pal-O-Mar Motel, Snyder, Thursday, May 23rd. 2:30-3:30 p.m.

Perhaps I can help you HEAR YOUNG AGAIN. No obligation whatever.

Wage Hike In Effect Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new minimum wage law is in effect today, although it may be a few weeks before more money starts showing up in the pay of the 4.2 million workers who would be affected immediately.

Labor Department officials said the delay is because they are behind schedule in sending out the papers explaining the changes to employers.

The new law is the first increase in the minimum wage in six years. It raises the minimum in steps over the next two years to an ultimate floor of $2.30 an hour for 56 million workers.

The law brings under its limits for the first time some 1.2 million domestics. And it calls for immediate raises for about 3 million persons already covered.

The steps call for the minimum to rise to $2 an hour today, increasing to $2.10 Jan. 1, 1975, and $2.30 Jan. 1, 1976.

and that I certainly could make no assurances that the day would not come when this matter would start to unravel."

The transcript quotes Dean as saying: "I think I can say that 54 days from now nothing is going to come crashing down to our surprise." He added: "There will be no continued investigation prompted by the grand jury's inquiry."

Nixon expressed his congratulations this way: "The way you have handled all this seems to me has been very skillful, putting your fingers in the leaks that have sprung here and sprung there."

The transcript does not quote Dean as using the word "contain," a reference he cited in stating his opinion that the President knew of the cover-up. Dean also told of a discussion about other plans to use political muscle against a variety of opponents. The transcript contains a number of such passages.

Feb. 27, 1973

Dean said at this meeting Nixon directed him to report directly to the President on all Watergate matters. Dean said he told Nixon he was not sure the matter could be contained indefinitely.

There was no transcript submitted of this meeting.

Feb. 28

Dean said that after a discussion relating to the Senate Watergate hearings, he told Nixon "why I thought I had legal problems, in that I had been a conduit for many of the decisions that were made and, therefore, could be involved in an obstruction of justice."

He said Nixon "reassured me not to worry, that I had no legal problems."

The passage in the transcript at all resembling Dean's account is fleeting and at the end of the meeting. Nixon observed that the Watergate committee would like to get somebody at the White House such as Haldeman, Colson or Ehrlichman.

"Or possibly Dean," said Dean. "You know, I am a small fish."

"Anybody at the White House they would," said Nixon. "But in your case I think they realize you are the lawyer and they know you didn't have a (adjective deleted) thing to do with the campaign."

March 6, 7, 8, 10

Dean said meetings on the first three of these dates and a phone conversation on the fourth concerned Senate hearings on acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray III.

Brush Control Demonstration Is Scheduled

GAIL—Ranchers who may be considering spraying with Tordon 225 to control brush are being invited to evaluate the new chemical's performance for themselves at a field day near here Monday, May 6.

The tour will begin at 10 a.m. on the Frank Beaver Ranch, announced Mike D. Campbell, Lubbock, representative for Dow Chemical U.S.A., makers of Tordon and sponsors of the tour. He said anyone who is interested is welcome.

Entrance to the ranch is on the west side of FM Road 1054 (the Vealmoor Rd) approximately 7.3 miles south of its intersection with Hwy 180 at a point 19 miles east of Lamesa and 13 miles west of Gail.

After an inspection to compare brush sprayed with Tordon in 1972 with 2, 4, 5-T work, a free barbecue lunch will be served at the ranch. Campbell said the work was undertaken to control native mesquite, prickly pear, and certain other species. "We feel the Beaver Ranch has begun an impressive and progressive brush control program that should interest anyone who has a brush problem on his own land," Campbell added. "We think any rancher who looks at it should be able to better evaluate the benefits of brush control on his own ranch."

Marketbasket Total Declines

The family grocery bill dropped slightly during April, the second straight month of decline, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The pattern was the same as the one in March: Sales on meat and eggs offset steadily rising prices on items like sugar and milk.

The AP checked the price of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month, using standard brands and sizes or their nearest equivalents. Items not available on one of the check dates were not included in the marketbasket total.

The latest check showed the marketbasket total declined in eight cities during April, down an average of 3 per cent. It went up in the remaining five cities, generally about 1 per cent. The marketbasket total went down in nine cities during March.

Even with the decreases, grocery bills remained well above the levels of March 1973.

Creditors Apprehensive About Quality Of Loans

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As consumers find themselves caught in the pincers of rising prices and shrinking buying power, credit officers are growing a bit apprehensive about the quality of their loans.

Similar conditions in the past almost always have caused the number of "slow pay" accounts to rise automatically, and almost nobody expects this year to be an exception. Evidence of deterioration already is clear.

What makes this year's situation potentially critical is the likelihood that inflation will continue unabated or at a high level for many months more, possibly accompanied by a deteriorating economy.

The worst situation seems to exist in mobile home loans, where delinquencies for the January-February period rose sharply to 4.34 per cent, and repossessions averaged 7.21 per 1,000 loans.

The American Bankers Association, which made the report, considers a loan delinquent when a payment is more than 30 days overdue. However, some merchants and lenders also report deterioration of non-delinquent accounts.

William Ford, ABA chief economist, said the delinquency ratio for all installment loans rose to a record high of 2.69 per cent, breaking the previous high of 2.53 per cent set in the final two months of 1973.

The situation in the home mortgage area is less clear. While the Mortgage Bankers Association reported delinquencies for the final quarter of 1973 at a 20-year high, savings and loan associations found little or no increase.

The mortgage bankers said 4.7 per cent of its loans were a month or more past due in the final three months of the year, topping the previous high of 4.65 per cent in the comparable period of 1972.

The U.S. League of Savings Associations reported, however, that "The recent runaway inflation appears to have had no appreciable effect on the regularity with which the American family pays its mortgage payments."

It reported that loan delinquency for the first quarter of 1974 was only .82 per cent, or less than 1 per cent of all its loans outstanding. A year ago the rate was almost identical.

The savings associations use a much more liberal measure of what constitutes a delinquency, at least from the borrower's point of view. In its compilations a loan isn't delinquent until it is 60 days overdue.

These are the delinquency ratios compiled by the ABA for various types of installment loans:

Personal, 3.24 per cent of outstanding loans, up 6 per cent from the previous two-month period; mobile homes, 4.34 per cent, up 23 per cent; property improvement, 2.20 per cent, up 20 per cent; direct automobile loans, 1.66 per cent, no change; indirect auto loans (through auto dealer), 2.55 per cent, up 8 per cent.

Hearing Canceled

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Aeronautics Commission has cancelled a hearing set for today on Rio Airways-Metro Airlines competition for an East Texas commuter route.

The commission announced the postponement Tuesday, saying it lacked a quorum to conduct the hearing.

Metro sought suspension of the commission's rules to allow immediate service on a route linking Dallas, Tyler and Longview.

The commission had awarded the route to Metro in spite of a staff recommendation that it be given to Rio. Texas International opposed the applications by both Rio and Metro.

Both Rio and Texas International have until May 2 to file petitions asking that the matter be reconsidered.

Two Shows Get 10,000 Letters

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's rare for a major company to invite viewer comments on a show it sponsors. It's even rarer for the company's board chairman to go on TV to help out with the corporate invitations.

But in the case of E.M. deWindt and his firm, the Eaton Corp., it's resulted in what the company says is more than 10,000 viewer letters on just two hour-long programs.

The shows were the opening salvos in CBS' "The American Parade," a 13-part series of historical programs the network will air through 1976 to help celebrate the American bicentennial.

The first show, "We, the Women," narrated by Mary Tyler Moore, aired March 17. The second, "Power and the Presidency," narrated by George C. Scott, was broadcast last Wednesday.

At the end of each, deWindt appeared on camera, made a brief speech about the show and asked viewers to share their thoughts about the show with the series' sponsor, Eaton Corp.

Then an off-camera announcer gave the address of the Cleveland-based company, which manufactures truck, auto and industrial vehicle components.

The mail response to "We, the Women" was nearly 10,000 letters, according to an Eaton spokesman who said the second show drew more than 500 letters over the weekend "and the mail is still coming in."

DeWindt, who estimated that 50 per cent of the mail was addressed to him personally, said the idea of going on camera initially surprised him when it was brought up.

"I don't think I'd thought very much about it because this whole package was really tied to the bicentennial celebration," he said.

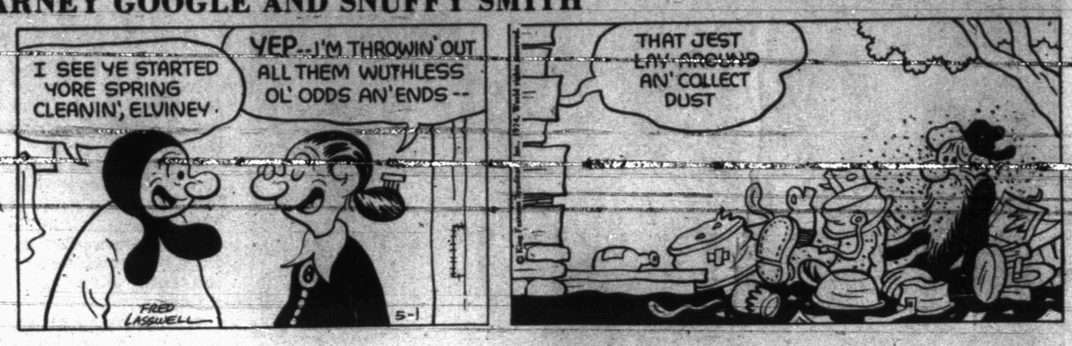

He got in the act, he added, because "I think we were trying to personalize it and get people involved in the spirit of the bicentennial. And I think we were particularly anxious to find out if we were hitting the mark."

Does he feel more top business executives should appear on television as spokesmen for shows their companies are sponsoring?

"Well, I don't advocate it but I'm not against it," deWindt said. "It depends on what the company may be trying to accomplish."

Moving from one home to another is never an easy task. To make the most of its excitement and anticipation, get organized and let it be a real adventure, says Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE FOXGLOVE

QUESTION: What is a foxglove?

ANSWER: A foxglove is an attractive flowering plant of the figwort family of plants, a group of cultivated and wild herbs and shrubs distributed widely throughout the world. Many have medicinal value. Foxglove, a contraction of Folk's-glove, gets its name from its flowers resembling the fingers of a glove. It is a stately plant, growing 3 to 5 feet high with long oval leaves and flowers tightly clustered on a spike. The flowers, purple, rose, yellow or white, are like an elongated bell and droop to the side of the plant. It is easily cultivated and prefers shade.

The scientific name for foxglove is digitalis, referring to the finger-like blossoms. Digitalis is the Latin word for finger. The purple foxglove of West Europe is economically important. Its leaves are used to produce the drug digitalis, a powerful heart stimulant. Wild foxgloves grow in open eastern woodlands of the United States. They are root parasites, gaining part of their nourishment from the roots of trees.

HAPPY FISHERMEN—The men of the First Baptist Church, Snyder, spent two days last week fishing at Lake Spence. The semi-annual men's fishing trip was attended by 18 of the First Baptist men. Among the fish caught was this 19 pound, 12 ounce yellow catfish. It was caught on a trotline Friday night. Pictured with the fish are Glenn McCathern and Tony Dunn. Pleased with the trip, the men of the church already are looking forward to the fall fishing trip.

Odessa Favored To Win Regional

Odessa College is favored heavily to win the Western Junior College Athletic Conference (WJCAC) and Region 5 title at the regional tournament at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell May 4 and 5.

The final conference golf tournament will correspond with the first round of the regional tournament starting at 9 a.m. Friday. An additional 18 holes will be played Friday as the second round of the regional tournament. The third round of the Region 5 championship tournament is set to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Odessa College has 4½ point lead over Western Texas College going into the final conference tournament. Odessa College won the conference championship last year by one point over WTC, 73½ to 72½ points.

New Mexico Junior College and Howard College will be battling for third place.

Conference standings through the seven conference tournaments are as follows:

Odessa College 51⅓ points; WTC 47; NMJC 40; Howard College 39; Amarillo College 30; South Plains 24⅓; Frank Phillips 10; NMMI 10.

Ten players will be chosen on the All-Conference Team on the basis of best averages. A player must compete in six conference tournaments to be eligible for all-conference honors. A total of 58 players have played in one or more tournaments this year.

REGIONAL

Odessa College is favored heavily to win the regional title. The Wranglers have four returning letterman from last year's team which finished second at the regional tournament and placed fifth at the national tournament.

WTC,NMJC, Howard College and McLellan Junior College could push Odessa for the regional championship. South Plains College, which won the regional title last year and placed sixth in the national tournament, lost four outstanding players by graduation. Amarillo College, Schreiner Junior College and SPC are considered dark horses and could also finish first or second.

Twelve teams will participate in the regional tournament. They are Odessa, WTC, NMJC, Howard College, Amarillo College, SPC, Frank Phillips College, NMMI, McLennan Community College, Schreiner Junior College, Hill County Junior College and Grayson Junior College.

Each college can enter a team of five players and two individuals for a total of seven players from each school. The four low scores of the five team players count each 18 holes, medal play. The team with the lowest team medal play score after the completion of 54 holes will be the regional champion and will participate in the national tournament at Ft. Myers, Fla., the first week in June.

The team placing second will also be able to compete in the national tournament. One individual medalist (not counting the players from the teams placing first and second) will be able to compete for medalist honors at the tournament. Region 5 representatives at the national tournament have always placed very high in the national standings, Bob O'Day, WTC golf coach, said.

Bucks Gun Down Celtics, 103-96

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Boston Celtics' pressure defense was all but impregnable for almost 52 minutes Tuesday night, but a crack finally appeared Cornell Warner was ready.

Warner drove the lane for a pair of dunk shots, adding a free throw after the first one, in the last 34 seconds of overtime. His second basket gave the Milwaukee Bucks a 103-96 lead en route to a 105-96 victory, squaring their National Basketball Association championship playoff series at 1-1.

The Celtics battled from a 16-point deficit early in the third quarter to tie at 90-90 on two free throws by John Havlicek with 58 seconds left in regulation, the final points until the five minute extra period.

The Celtics had two more chances to win in regulation and thus take a 2-0 lead in the best of seven series back to Boston. However, Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar blocked a shot by Dave Cowens with 10 seconds left, and a jump shot by Havlicek rolled off the rim as regulation time expired.

The next two games will be in Boston, starting with game three Friday night.

The Bucks, leading 98-96, called time with 39 seconds left in overtime. Oscar Robertson passed inbounds to Warner near midcourt when play resumed. Warner wheeled past Paul Silas, drove the lane and stuffed in the game's biggest basket. Cowens, who scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, fouled out on the play and Warner converted the free throw.

Bulldogs Win In 10th Inning, 5-3

The Plainview Bulldogs pushed across two runs in the 10th inning to score a 5-3 triumph over Snyder's Tigers here yesterday afternoon. The second game of the doubleheader was rained out. It will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday in Moffett Field.

Meanwhile, the Tigers host Lubbock High in a doubleheader beginning at 2:30 p.m. Friday. These contests also will be played on Moffett Field.

With the score tied 3-3 going into the top of the 10th yesterday, Plainview's Chris Sumners doubled to left center. Darrell Shaw was installed as a pinch runner, and he promptly scampered home on a single by Bert Wall. Harmon, running for Wall, went to second when Mike Henegar walked, took third on a fielder's choice, and scored when he tagged up after a fly to left field by Trent Gaither.

Snyder had gone ahead 1-0 in the 1st frame when Gressett singled, went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Kelly Ragland, and scored on a resounding triple to right centerfield by Ralph Lewis.

The visitors went ahead 2-1 in the 4th frame. With two away, Valente Chavez singled and Gaither walked. Both scored on a single by pitcher Steve Phillips.

Snyder went ahead, 3-2, in the 5th. Doak Witherspoon, Snyder's pitcher, singled and Ernie Simons singled. Doug Phipps was installed as a pinch runner for Witherspoon and Tres Falls was put in to run for Simons. Randy Gressett walked to load the bases. Kelly Ragland got on on a fielder's choice, but Phipps scored on the play. The next batter, Ralph Lewis, cracked a hot grounder to the shortstop, who threw him out at first, but Falls scored on the play.

Plainview tied it up in the top of the 7th. Mike Kerbo doubled, and after the next batter popped out, went to third on a passed ball. He tagged up and scored the third and tying run after a fly to deep centerfield by Darrell Holly. It looked like the ball was going to fall in for extra bases, but Tiger centerfielder V.T. Roberson made a great running catch.

After Plainview had gone ahead 5-3 in the top of the 10th, the Tigers threatened in the bottom half of the frame when Ragland, the leadoff man for the inning, doubled to left field. But Phillips bore fown and retired the next three men in order to claim the victory. He struck out five while Witherspoon, who also went the distance, was credited with nine strike outs. Phillips gave up nine hits, but Witherspoon yielded only seven.

Bibby, Rangers Beat Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Texas starter Jim Bibby weathered a four-run first inning Tuesday and stayed on the pitcher's mound long enough to savor his teammates' 12-10 conquest of the Milwaukee Brewers.

Rangers manager Billy Martin said the Brewers' first-inning outburst almost dismissed Bibby.

"I was very tempted to take him out. But I wanted to see how he went," Martin said.

Bibby (5-2) went eight innings and held off the Brewers, who persisted with two-run rallies in the sixth and eighth innings

"They are more of a fast ballhitting team than a lot of teams in the league," Bibby said with respect.

The Rangers came to his assistance in the seventh with a five-run explosion, and followed an inning later with six runs.

"We are capable of scoring a lot of runs," Bibby said. "With the hitters we have, I feel we can win any time. Billy went with me, and we broke it open."

Milwaukee opened the game against the American League's West Division lead team with Don Money's single, a walk, Johnny Briggs' one-run single, George Scott's two-run double and a run-scoring fielder's choice.

Dave Nelson's run-scoring double in the third off Brewers starter Jim Colborn made it 4-1.

In the sixth, a Scott single, a Rangers error, a pitch that hit a batter and Bobby Coluccio's two-run triple made it 6-1.

OUR STARS AND STRIPES FLAG SAYS . . .

"Do You Remember Me?"

Hello, remember me? Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Stars and Stripes; also I have been referred to as the Star Spangled Banner. But whatever they call me, I am your flag or, as I proudly state, the flag of the United States of America. There is something that has been bothering me, so I thought that I might talk it over with you. Because it is about you and me.

I remember some time ago—I think it was Memorial Day—people were lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade. The town's high school band was behind me and naturally I was leading the parade. When your daddy saw me coming along waving in the breeze, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his hand was directly over his heart. REMEMBER?

And you—I remember you. Standing there as straight as a soldier, you didn't have any hat but you were giving the right salute. They taught you in school to place your hand over your heart. Remember little sister—not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you. I was very proud as I came down your street. There were some soldiers home on leave and they were standing at attention giveing the military salute. Ladies as well as men all paying me the reverence that I deserve.

Now, I may sound as if I am a little conceited. Well, I am. I have a right to be. Because I represent the finest country in the world, the United States of America. More than one aggresive nation has tried to haul me down but they all felt the fury of this freedom-loving country. You know. You had to go overseas and defend me.

What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have a couple more stars added since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since the Memorial Day so long ago. Dad is gone now. The old home town has a new look. The last time I came down your street I saw that some of the old landmarks were gone, but in their place, shining majestically in the sun, were a number of new buildings and homes. Yes sir, the old town sure has changed.

But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and give me a small glance and then look away. When I think of all the place I have been, Anzio, Guadalcanal, Korea—and now Vietnam. Then I see the children running around and shouting. They don't seem to know who I am. I saw one man take his hat off and then look around. He didn't see anybody else with theirs off so he quickly put his back on.

Is it a sin to be patriotic any more? Have you forgotten what I stand for? Have you forgotten all the battlefields where men fought and died to keep this nation free? When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometime. Look at the names of those that never came back. Some of them were friends or relatives of yours. Probably went to the same school with some of them. That's what you are saluting. Not me.

Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So when you see me, stand straight, place your hand over your heart and you'll really see me waving back—my salute to you. AND I'LL KNOW THAT YOU REMEMBERED.

White House Mood Hectic

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and his closest advisers were flustered, confused, tormented, sometimes angry and sometimes bemused by the growth and persistence of the Watergate scandals.

They spent hours agonizing over their troubles, trying to decide on a course of action that would neutralize the Watergate mess. Considerations ranged from getting the whole truth out to paying hush money to cover up the truth.

They talked of protecting their friends and destroying their enemies. Their conversations were informal, free-wheeling, wide-ranging and frequently profane.

This is the portrait of a beseiged presidency that emerges from a 1,308-page volume of transcribed White House tape recordings turned over to the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday.

On several occasions Nixon expressed exasperation that his administration was under fire for political activities he considered common occurrences in political life and ordered that federal muscle be used to hurt anyone who tried to hurt him. Nixon also believed that the scandal wouldn't last long.

"This is a war," Nixon said in a Sept. 15, 1972, conversation with his chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman and his counsel, John W. Dean III. "We take a few shots and if will be over. We will give them a few shots and it will be over.

"I want the most comprehensive notes on all those who tried to do us in. They didn't have to do it .... They were doing this quite deliberately and they are asking for it and they are going to get it ....

"We have not used the Bureau (FBI) and we have not used the Justice Department, but things are going to change now."

The most intense discussions occurred in two meetings March 21, 1973, during which Nixon, Dean and Haldeman debated whether to cover up high administration involvement in the Watergate scandal or "let it all hang out."

Conversations about proposed cover-ups took several forms, one of which was a discussion of paying hush money to silence the original Watergate conspirators.

Nixon: How much money do you need?

Dean: I would say these people are going to cost a million dollars over the next two years.

Nixon: We could get that. On the money, if you need the money you could get that. You could get a million dollars. You could get it in cash. I know where it could be gotten. It is not easy, but it could be done. But the question is who the hell would handle it. Any ideas on that?

Dean: That's right. Well, I think that is something that (John) Mitchell ought to be charged with.

Nixon: I would think so too.

At another point, Dean told Nixon he wasn't at all confident of being able to maintain silence among the people involved at the various stages of the scandal. And Nixon proposed that full disclosure might be the only solution.

Suit Filed On 9 Steel Companies

HOUSTON (AP) — The Justice Department has filed a civil complaint in U.S. District Court here asking damages against nine steel companies for alleged antitrust violations in the sale of reinforced steel bars in Texas.

The complaint, the third government action against the steel companies, does not specify the amount of damages the government is seeking as a purchaser of the bars. It was filed Tuesday.

The bars, known as rebars, are used to reinforce concrete in a wide range of construction projects. About $20 million worth are sold each year in Texas.

Tuesday's suit was the third government action against the steel companies. It accused the companies of conspiring to restrain trade in the sale of rebars between 1969 and 1972.

Three of the nation's largest steelmakers, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Armco, are among the defendants.

Others named in the suit are Border Steel Rolling Mills Inc. of El Paso, the Ceco Corp. of Chicago, Laclede Steel Co. of St. Louis, Structural Metals, Inc. of San Antonio, Texas Steel Co. of Fort Worth and Schindler Brothers Steel of Sealy, Tex.

In Europe ferry service links almost every coastal country on the continent, the National Geographic Society says.

Six Words Trigger Nixon's Big Gamble

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I want it out. Get going."

With those six words, Richard M. Nixon relayed to his aides his decision to publicly release edited transcripts of dozens of his private Watergate conversations.

He was rolling the dice in one of the biggest gambles of his presidency and he was launching what could become one of the biggest public relations campaigns in American political history.

Unlike most gamblers, Nixon may have to wait months to learn whether he won or lost.

But his order, recalled Tuesday by an aide, set in motion an almost frantic effort to, as Nixon would later tell the nation, "provide all the additional evidence needed to get Watergate behind us."

According to sources inside and outside the White House, Nixon's six words:

—Caused dozens of government employes from presidential aides to journeyman printers to work non-stop for almost two days on the mechanics of producing for public consumption the 1,308 pages of edited transcripts;

—Sent two middle-level White House aides hurrying through the capital's deserted streets after midnight to a soot-stained red-brick, government building carrying the then-secret transcripts;

—Brought a long-time Nixon associate, Herb Klein, back to temporary duty at the White House as an unofficial media consultant;

—Prompted the President's men to devise a carefully choreographed set of moves designed to emphasize the massive nature of Nixon's disclosure.

Nixon aides say he decided during the weekend to respond to a House Judiciary Committee subpoena by supplying to the panel's impeachment inquiry, and then making public, edited transcripts of some of his Watergate conversations.

That resulted in his Monday night address to the nation, the Tuesday morning delivery of the transcripts to Capitol Hill and the subsequent release of a blue-bound book almost as thick as the Manhattan telephone book.

At 2:45 a.m. Monday, typewritten copies of the transcripts were handed to a pair of White House aides with orders to deliver them to the Government Printing Office's main plant—the printing office's deadline if it was to reproduce the transcripts for distribution to the news media Tuesday afternoon.

Propose Move To Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — In one of their conversations about the Watergate scandals, top aides to President Nixon proposed moving to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md. to avoid potential subpoenas from the Senate Watergate committee.

Transcripts of White House tape recordings disclose the following exchange at a meeting on March 22, 1973 among Nixon, White House Counsel John W. Dean III and Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman:

Dean: They can subpoena any of us. There is no doubt about that. If they don't serve it here (at the White House and Executive Office Building) because they can't get in, they can serve you at home somewhere. They can always find you.

Haldeman: We move to Camp David and hide. They can't get in there.

Nixon: Well, go ahead.

Young Named Acting Chief

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Navy Capt. John W. Young, who commanded the fifth trip to the moon, is the new acting chief of the astronaut office. Young, 43, takes over from Alan B. Shepard Jr., who will serve as a senior adviser. Sources said Shepard, 50, will retire in June.

2.3 Million Expected To Vote In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The head of the Texas Election Bureau, Robert Johnson, estimates that less than half the state's 5.3 million registered voters will go to the polls in Saturday's primary elections.

Johnson said Tuesday the vote could be 2.3 to 2.4 million, based on the 1972 primary vote and considering the increase in voter registration since 1972.

"But I just don't believe there will be that many unless interest picks up a lot," Johnson said.

He said 5.3 million persons are registered to vote but under Texas' present laws there is no way to determine how many have died or moved out of state.

The primary in 1972 brought out 2,188,840 Democrats and 104,832 Republicans.

The Texas Election Bureau is an unofficial vote gathering and tabulating agency.

Simon Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — William E. Simon was confirmed by the Senate Tuesday as secretary of the treasury. There was no debate nor dissent on the nomination of the former energy chief. He succeeds George P. Schultz, who resigned.

Scouts Planning A 60-Mile Hike

Three Snyder youths, Dennis Gary, David Webb and Gary Wilson, are planning to hike 60 miles in 12 days through some of the most beautiful country in New Mexico at Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimmarron this summer. In addition to the three boys from Snyder, the camping group will include Mark Nickel of Odessa, Linda Odom, Gay Woody and Jennifer Muire of Midland. The co-ed trek will be led by Mrs. and Mrs. Don Butler of Snyder. Butler is District Boy Scout Executive here.

The trip will begin on June 15 when the group plans to arrive at Philmont in time for lunch. They will hit the trail the next morning for their 12-day, 60-mile hike. Along the way, program camps will feature such activities as fly tying and fishing, earth science, Jicarilla Apache Indian lore, black powder rifle shooting, gold mining and panning, burro racing, rock climbing and others. At camps where there is no planned program, they will take side hikes, fish and participate in nature study.

The hikers will carry food for three days at a time, as well as tents, cooking utensils and personal gear. The average pack will weight between 30 and 40 pounds, with each person carrying his or her share. Horseback rides also will be scheduled as well as a camp fire session on New Mexico history and the history and lore of Philmont.

The group will return home June 26, with their schedule calling for arrival at Boy Scout Service Center in Midland that evening. All transportation to and from Midland is included in the Philmont camping fee, as well as all other expenses, except spending money.

The hiking expedition still has three places open to any young man or woman, age 14 to 18, who is in good physical condition and enjoys hiking. Anyone wishing to go should contact Butler at 573-7173.

Feared Dean Might Reveal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon feared in April 1973 that his counsel, John W. Dean III, might reveal a certain bugging.

Nixon said "I feel uneasy" that Dean might "go popping off about everything else that is done in the government, you know, the bugging of the ...."

But the transcript of a meeting among Nixon, John D. Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman doesn't identify the site of the eavesdropping effort.

ELECT
CONE J. MERRITT
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
PRECINCT I
SCURRY COUNTY FOR FAIR, COURTEOUS AND EFFICIENT SERVICE

The Justice of the Peace Court is a very important office. It's service is not just though this is included collecting fines. People are having more to do with the Justice of Peace Court because of the traffic laws. This is causing an enormous amount of service in the Court.

The Justice of the Peace should know something about the laws. It is not against the law for a non-lawyer to know some law. The way to know some law is to buy a $1.50 paperback "legal handbook" of law at some drug store and study it. How would one know the law had been violated if one did not know the specific law? No one is to substitute one's opinions or views for the specific language of the law in the statutes. Therefore, if I did not know the specific law I would ask those officials that are elected for this very purpose. If elected to this office, I will work with all the Elected Officials in the County, without losing any authority of the Justice Office.

The Justice of the Peace is authorized to try and adjudge all manner of debts and other matters involving controveries not to exceed $200.00. This is called the "Small Claims Court". This Court involves rent and rent houses all over the precinct. This is called "forceable detainer". Also, the issuance of warrants and citations that are served through other offices, such as the Sheriff and Constable, originate from this office.

The Justice of the Peace is authorized, and it is his duty, to hold an inquest when a person dies a natural or unnatural death unattended by a physician or without the presence of a sufficient number of witnesses. The Justice Office is to make and keep a permanent record of these inquests and deposit one with the District Clerk.

The Court sets most bail bonds for felony cases which is to hold one until one's case is presented to a grand jury. This also involves working with the District Court Officials without losing any of the Justice Court authority.

The Justice of the Peace is possessed with the authority to perform marriages. I think this is a very important service of this office to the people of Snyder and Scurry County.

Last but not least, there is the "right of the accused". In Civil Suits, there almost always are two sides in the cause and each side has an equal right in court. The Law says the side that has the "preponderance of evidence" is judged in their favor.

In Criminal Procedure, the accused has rights. One is "not guilty until proven so". One is "only accused". One has a right to confront the one who accused. One has the right to know what the charge is. One does not have to give evidence against one's self. One has a right to be heard by self or counsel or both. One has a right to have witnesses. One has a right in a li courts to have a trail by jury. In most of the cases, one has a right to a reasonable bail.

I have stated that the office is an important one. I think the one that is elected to this office should be mentally and physically qualified.

A little personal history: I have lived in Scurry County all my life. This is not a reflection on new-comers, because I hope people, business and new what-have-you keep coming, and new babies keep being born in Scurry County. I attended High School in Snyder and I have had 2 years of college and one year in the Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas. My wife attended and all four of our children finished high school in Snyder. I have served people in every part of the county.

I would like to have the Justice of the Peace job. If elected to the office, I will act on each service of the office with courtesy and fairness in regard to each cause that comes before the Court.

It is almost impossible not to overlook someone in a campaign. Therefore, I wish you would accept this article as a personal appeal to you that read it, for your vote in May 4th election.

Thank you very much,
Cone J. Merritt

Lions To Mark Anniversary

Plans for observing the 50th anniversary of Lions were discussed Tuesday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Snyder Lions Club at the First United Methodist Church.

John Jarrell, general chairman of the 50th anniversary celebration for the local club, and several of his committee chairmen gave progress reports. The local club's 50th anniversary celebration will be climaxed with a banquet on May 9.

The program for the luncheon meeting was a film on Hudspeth County history, arranged by Brud Boren. Howard Harrington, president of the club, presided at the session.

In 1905 the first lighted ball slid down the pole atop what was then the new Times Building and the area became known as Times Square.

Careers In Art Theraphy

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I would like to find out all I can about art therapy as a career. – R.S., Millington, Tenn.

Art therapists use the medium of art to reach verbally uncommunicative patients. This treatment method is used in private psychiatric facilities, community mental health centers, schools for emotionally disturbed and brain-damaged children, and special education facilities in public schools. Also, those who receive art therapy may be adults or children with varying degrees of illness; normal children and adults in schools and growth centers; drug addicts; the elderly and prisoners. For career material on art therapy, send your request on a postcard to me at this newspaper. Write "Art Therapy" in the corner of your outside envelope.

Dear Joyce: Would biology be a good major to become a medical librarian? – S.T., Santa Ana, Calif.

Sure would. Because medicine and its allied disciplines are so broad, the Medical Library Association says other possible majors are zoology, physiology, psychology, economics, anthropology, foreign languages, history, literature, chemistry, earth sciences, physics or math. For more career information, you can write to the Association at 919 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Joyce: Please explore the U.S. Public Health Service position of foreign quarantine inspection officer. – H.R., El Reno, Okla.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC), an agency of the U.S. Public Health Service, reports that their foreign quarantine program experienced a major reduction-in-force during 1973, which abolished a large number of quarantine inspector positions. CDC anticipates no recruitment need for them in the foreseeable future. For more information, you can check with a Federal job information center. If you can't make a local call to one of the centers, you can get the toll-free number in your state by dialing 800/555-1212.

Dear Joyce: I am 4'6", 85 pounds and almost 15 years old. I want to be a jockey, horse, that is. I have groomed and cared for a horse for 3 years and feel I would like the life. Where do I go for training? – P. McG., Philadelphia, Pa.

Whoa. To break from the post, a jockey must be at least 16 years old. An apprentice jockey generally begins with several months of hard stable work (regardless of previous experience) for licensed horse owners or trainers. (Check local stables or visit a race track during morning training.) The next job is that of exercising horses and then learning to break horses from the gate, rate them, etc. It takes about 2 years to become a race rider.

For an outline on the basic requirements for becoming a jockey, you can write to: Jockey's Guild, 555 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017; and The Jockey Club, 300 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. They will send you free literature.

Reception Here For Finnell

Charles Finnell, candidate for the State Senate, returned to Snyder Tuesday to make a last pitch for his candidacy prior to the May 4th Democratic Primary election.

He visited friends and well-wishers at a reception at the Snyder Savings and Loan Association Community room.

The Democratic candidate said that he was basing his campaign on two main themes: Experience and Conservatism.

He said that he has eight years experience in the state legislature and that his voting record is one of conservatism. He pointed out he has consistently supported a strong code of ethics, vocational-technical education, rights of local government, the Farm-to-Market road program and the Texas Water plan.

Finnell said he has worked with Rep. Renal Rosson of Snyder and other West Texans in the legislature. He said that he understands why Snyder is an All-America city.

"Snyder is on the move," he declared.

He has visited the city on at least two previous occasions during his campaign and recently toured the facilities at Western Texas College.

In the eight years he has been in the Texas Legislature, Finnell said he has the best attendance record. He has never been absent on a day when a recorded vote was taken, including both regular and special sessions.

Red Box, Woman Is Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his Sept. 15, 1972, conversation with aides H.R. Haldeman and John W. Dean III, President Nixon inquired about a mysterious "little red box."

"Have they found the box yet?" the President asked, according to his Watergate tapes transcripts.

Dean: "(Then Acting FBI Director L. Patrick) Gray has never had access to the box. He is now going to pursue the box ...."

Haldeman: "The latest public story was that she handed it over to Edward Bennett Williams."

Dean: "That is right."

Haldeman: "The Bureau ought to go into Edward Bennett Williams and start questioning him and have him tied up for a couple of days."

Nixon: "Yeah, I hope they do. The Bureau better get over pretty quick and get that little red box. We want it cleared up. We want to get to the bottom of it. If anybody is guilty over here we want to know."

Haldeman: "It will probably be in the news."

Edward Bennett Williams is the well-known attorney, but there is no hint to the identity of the woman involved—or as to what the "little red box" was all about.

Petersen, Nixon Discuss Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Observing that a trial of John N. Mitchell would take a long time but that the former attorney general would never plead guilty in the Watergate affair, President Nixon asked on April 17, 1973, "What would you do if you were Mitchell?"

"I think I would probably go to Saudi Arabia to tell you the truth," replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen.

"Poison," mused Nixon.

CAMPAIGNS HERE—State Rep. Charles Finnell, candidate for State Senator, returned to Snyder again Tuesday morning to make one last visit with local voters. He was welcomed at a reception in the Snyder Savings and Loan Association Community Room. Here, Finnell (second from right) visits with Rep. Renal Rosson and Mrs. John Cline (left), who is his local campaign chairman along with her husband; Finnell's wife, Merrill, stands beside her husband.

Top Aides Advised To Sue For Libel

WASHINGTON (AP) — As part of his Watergate strategy in mid-April 1973, President Nixon suggested to his two top aides that they "use the most vicious libel lawyer there is" and "sue right down the line."

It is not clear just who Nixon thought should be sued, since a transcript of an April 17, 1973, conversation says only: "I'd sue every (expletive deleted) (unintelligible)."

"There have been stories over this period of time," Nixon continued in his advice to aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman. "That will make—that also helps with public opinion."

"The important thing is the story's big and I think you ought to go out and sue people for libel," he said.

Haldeman then discussed the possibility of suing Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., for remarks in television and newspaper interviews about Haldeman's relationship to the Nixon re-election campaign.

"Good. Sue him," said Nixon.

To Ehrlichman the President said: "John, this libel thing. You may as well get at the libel thing and have yourself a little fun."

"Might make expenses," observed Ehrlichman.

Spotted elsewhere in the 1,308-page document of Nixon transcripts are other references to the news media and the White House view.

"You know where the Watergate story is in the Washington Post today?" asked Haldeman one day. "Page 19."

"I know, I know," replied Nixon. "And it'll be page 19 five months from now if we handle it right."

Discussing leaks to news media at another meeting, Nixon observed: "I don't want the Washington Post to break this case."

The word "taxicab" was coined in New York. "Taxi" came from a French company that made taxi meters for horse carriages; cab abbreviated the French word for cabriolet, a light, one-horse carriage.

Mrs. Ervin Has To Pay For Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even Sen. Sam J. Ervin's wife won't get a copy of his biography at a discount.

Ervin, North Carolina Democrat who headed the Senate Watergate committee, was at a National Press Club party Tuesday to plug the book, "Just a Country Lawyer." Representatives of the publisher tried to give Mrs. Ervin copies either free or at reduced rates.

"I would resent you selling such a fine book at a discount," Ervin interjected.

His wife paid for some copies with a $20 traveler's check. She had to borrow some money from Ervin for the rest.

The Ira School Board was contacted at a recent meeting and they expressed their desire that the office of County School Superintendent be retained and not be abolished. Contrary to recent statements, this office has performed a needed service to the rural schools and could be of far greater service in the future if the person elected so desired. It is for this reason that Mr. Myron Crawford is being endorsed and supported for this office.

RE: Parimutuel Wagering Referendum, which will appear on the Primary ballot, May 4, 1974.

May we use this means to make three very urgent requests of each of you:

1. Become thoroughly familiar with the material concerning the wagering referendum.
2. Share this information with others with whom you come in contact.
3. Stay with the FACTS concerning gambling and press hard on such data as the following:
   a. The rise in illegal gambling caused by legalized gambling
   b. An estimated ten million compulsive gamblers now in the United States, making this one of our most serious social and moral problems
   c. Most legalized gambling is done by poor people—those who can least afford to lose.
   d. The great danger of encouraging vices for the sake of taxing them is not only counter-productive, but a mean, deceptive, and dirty scheme.
   e. The gambling forces can be defeated ONLY if our Christian people vote.

Our prayers and concerns are with you.

Sincerely Yours,
