Amarillo Man Dies In Hale County Wreck

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

HALE CENTER, Nov. 19.—An Amarillo cattle broker was killed and two other persons injured, neither seriously, in a two-car collision at 11:19 a. m. today on the Lubbock-Amarillo highway 10 miles south of here.

Clyde Edgar Russell, 56, apparently was killed outright when thrown from his car against the bumper of the other car. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Hale county co-operative hospital.

Leonard Woman Hurt

Injured were Mrs. L. B. Withrow, 45, of Leonard, being held for observation in the county hospital here, and her nephew, James Harland Petty, 17, of Blueridge. Both received cuts and bruises. Petty was dismissed after emergency treatment.

Russell's death brought the South Plains traffic fatality toll to 23 in the past 21 days. Sixteen of these deaths came within the past two weeks. The toll for this year on the South Plains now stands at 80 dead and more than 640 injured.

Time of the mishap was fixed at 11:19 a. m. by a smashed watch worn by Russell.

Car Drivers Determined

Texas Highway patrolmen investigating the accident said Russell was the driver of a 1949 Cadillac sedan headed south, while Petty was driving a 1946 Chevrolet coach north with Mrs. Withrow as a passenger.

Patrolmen said it appeared that Russell's car, travelling at a high rate of speed, was attempting to pass a pickup truck when it met the car driven by Petty.

Russell's car skidded about 110 feet, turning completely around before colliding with the other car. Petty had pulled off the highway, heading for the ditch, but failed to clear the oncoming vehicle, patrolmen said.

Heavy Damage Noted

The right front and side of the Cadillac was heavily damaged, while the left front and side of the Chevrolet took the impact of the collision.

Russell apparently died from a

Lockney Woman Dies In Crash

BIG SPRING, Nov. 19. (Special)—Mrs. W. P. Cates, about 60, of Lockney, was fatally injured about 6:30 p. m. today in a highway accident about 12 miles west of Big Spring on U. S. Highway 80.

Her husband was injured in the mishap, but was not considered in critical condition by attendants at Big Spring hospital, where he was taken for treatment.

The accident occurred after the Cates automobile, in which Mr. and Mrs. Cates were sole passengers, collided with the rear of a vehicle directly in front. The impact caused the Cates automobile to careen broadside on the highway into the path of a car being driven by J. Boyce Lynn of Midland, who was traveling in the opposite direction.

Another Car Involved

It was understood here that the car directly in front of the Cates vehicle had struck the rear of the car in front of it, and that the Cates car was not able to stop before hitting the rear of the automobile directly ahead.

Lynn was treated at Stanton, a

But her companion, Amelia Pena, center, isn't so sure she likes it as much as the one she has just picked out. Both girls are 15, hail from Corpus Christi. Gerry O'Neal, right, one of the salesladies who worked overtime on a very busy Saturday indeed, looks on. The downstate girls were only two of thousands of persons who jammed Lubbock streets and stores to do their shopping Saturday, giving the city one of its busiest days of the fall season. City To Dress Up For Christmas Season

Yule Decorations To Go Up During Week

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

LUBBOCK will start dressing up for Christmas this week.

The erection of downtown street decorations will be started Monday with the expectation that the colored lights can be turned on Thanksgiving night, according to Ruel C. Martin and O. W. Ribble, co-chairmen of the chamber of commerce decorations committee.

Reports to them indicate the city's holiday attire will be the most colorful and brilliant in South Plains history.

To Decorate Business Section

Contributing largely to the total effect will be the ornamentations of most of the business establishments throughout the city and the third annual Christmas Home lighting contest sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal.

Few of the business house decorations, however, will be put up this week. Most of the merchants will wait until after Thanksgiving before they begin dressing their establishments, inside and out, for Christmas.

TO SPONSOR CONTEST AGAIN

Yes, The Avalanche-Journal again will sponsor a Christmas Home Lighting and Decorating contest this year. Numerous inquiries have been received as to whether this will be done.

As in the past, attractive prizes will be offered in this third annual event for the most beautifully decorated homes, windows, doorways and outdoor trees.

The prizes and the rules will be announced next Sunday.

But, as customary, the street decorations will go up first, to remain in place until after the New Year.

The decorated area will include 27 downtown blocks, as follows:

Main from G to L; Broadway from G to M; Thirteenth from H to L; G from Main to Broadway; Texas from Main to Fourteenth; and H, J, K, and L from Main to Thirteenth.

At regular intervals across these streets, spruce-entwined strands of colored electric bulbs will be strung. The heavy spruce roping, which is about six inches in diameter, also will be wrapped around the lamp posts.

The program will involve the Blind Man, Wife Die When Fire Sweeps Cameron Home

CAMERON, Nov. 19 (AP) — A blind man and his wife died in the flames which destroyed their little frame home here today.

Dead were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald.

Mrs. McDonald, 68, was outside the house when the blaze started. She ran to a neighbor's house to call the fire department, then went back into her home in an effort to rescue her 84-year-old blind and deaf husband.

Half an hour later the two charred bodies were removed from the ruins. The flames spread to three other homes in the neighborhood but the fire department prevented extensive damage to the other houses.

Ship Rescues Missing Fliers

By SEWARD TOGGINGS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 19.—Eighteen of 20 American airmen missing aboard the B-29 superfortress bomber which crashed into the Atlantic ocean Wednesday were rescued today by the Canadian destroyer Haida. They were picked up 385 miles northeast of Bermuda.

U. S. Air Force officials said that two of the plane's occupants whom they did not identify, "went down with the ship" when it crashed into the ocean.

Search Plane Sights Men

First rescuer to spot the 18 men clinging to two large rafts since Wednesday was Lt. Edward W. Lynch, of Hartford, Conn.; who was flying a B-17 search plane attached to the air rescue detachment at Kindley Air Force base in Bermuda.

Radioed reports from the scene said the survivors were "too weak to talk."

Because of their condition it was decided to leave them aboard the 2,745-ton destroyer and not transfer the mto the 18,000-ton Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent, which also took part in the vast air-sea search.

May Reach Bermuda Today

The Haida pulled away at full steam toward Bermuda. It is expected to reach the island some time before noon tomorrow.

Then it will be decided whether the men will be hospitalized in Bermuda or flown to the United States. No details were available about their condition, except that they had obviously suffered greatly in their three-day battle against stormy seas.

Lt. Lynch, participating in the biggest peacetime air-sea rescue operation, in history spotted the rafts of the men at 2:30 p. m. CST and immediately parachuted a lifeboat near them.

Lynch then called repeatedly for aid, and the Canadian destroyer Haida, which was about 15 miles away, was the first ship to reach the exhausted men.

Whether the men were injured, and to what extent, was not learned in the first reports.

Lynch kept circling the two rafts until the Haida arrived to pull the courageous men aboard.

Lewis Seeks Action On Welfare Funds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — John L. Lewis today was believed to be planning a move to start some welfare funds moving to his miners. He would have a fight on his hands.

The belief was based on his call for a meeting of trustees of the United Mine workers pension and welfare fund here Monday.

The issue over resuming payments is: In the absence of an agreement with the operators, can funds legally be used which they paid in to the welfare fund after the last contract expired July 1?

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said that he and the third trustee of the United Mine workers welfare fund, Charles I. Dawson, had been summoned by Lewis for the session. Dawson is the new representative of the coal operators on the fund. Bridges is a neutral member, and the third trustee is Lewis.

Lewis did not announce what he has in mind.

Whether his move may have some bearing on the threat to resume the soft coal strike on Dec. 1 was not indicated. Efforts to get Lewis and the coal operators together have fallen flat.

The trustees by a 2 to 1 vote cut off payments of the welfare and pension funds, except for emergencies, on Sept. 16 when funds were running low.

PRODUCTION RECORDS BROKEN

Nation's Industry Strives To Make Up Time Lost In Strikes

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—America's industrial wheels are humming again—a week after the end of the nation's first twin steel and coal strikes.

The industry-feeding mines and mills have whipped their output up to near capacity. Some production records have been broken.

Pittsburgh — staggered by the double-barreled walkout which virtually clotted its economic lifesblood—has bounded back to good retail business health.

John L. Lewis ordered his UMW soft coal miners back to work November 9. The U. S. Steel corporation and the CIO United Steel Workers signed a strike-ending contract two days later.

The coal walkout lasted 52 days. The steel strike was 42-days-old when the big steel pact unofficially signaled its end.

Of the 513,000 steelworkers who walked out October 1, only 28,950 employes of 28 comparatively small firms are still on strike for the pension-insurance package set-up in the pact setting Bethlehem Steel corporation settlement.

New Building Record Set In Lubbock

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

NOVEMBER was firmly established Saturday as the biggest building month in Lubbock's history, and the way was paved for 1949 to be the largest year in history both from the standpoint of dollar volume and the number of family dwelling units built.

Already several records have been smashed. At close of business Saturday, November was already far and away the largest building permit month in the history of Lubbock, with the month's total standing at $3,313,452.

This year, too, has seen an equally important record already broken: More dwelling units have been constructed than in any previous year.

By Saturday permits had been issued for 1,372 dwelling units, meaning that accomodations for that many families have been started or completed since Jan. 1.

In the entire year of 1948 only 1,138 dwelling units were constructed, and that was an all-time record for Lubbock.

1943 Is Low Year

By comparison, in 1947 only 885 dwelling units were built, and the preceding ten-year period saw construction of these numbers: 1946, 667 units; 1945, 451 units; 1944, 140 units; 1943, 49 units; 1942, 327 units; 1941, 617 units; 1940, 698 units; 1939, 694 units; and in 1938, 667 units.

Any family dwelling is considered one unit. For example, a duplex would be counted as two units, a 16-unit apartment house as 16 units.

Lubbock's 1949 building total of $13,825,732 rose to that figure at noon Saturday when City Building Inspector Lloyd Ross completed the process of issuing a $2,511,000 permit to Modern Manors, Inc., owner, and Robert E. Maxey, contractor, for 293 dwelling units between Forty-second and Fiftieth streets, Adams and Monroe avenues.

Also issued Saturday were two permits for construction of an extensive building program of Lubbock Auto Co., Inc., owner, at Ninth street and Texas avenue. One permit was in the amount of $85,000, the other $65,000, for a total of $150,000.

Three Die When Plane Hits House

DETROIT, Nov. 19. (AP)— A big freight plane delivered its load of Christmas gifts to Detroit today in a mass of flames and death.

Three persons were killed as the twin-engined DC-3 plunged into a house, unleashing a blazing torrent of gasoline.

The two crewmen, Arthur Dedee, 26, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the pilot, and O. L. (Gus) Morrow, 31, of Hackensack, N. J., the co-pilot, were trapped in the wreckage. Their bodies were not removed until two and a half hours later.

Harold Witzke, 36, died in Saratoga hospital. He was taken from the demolished house with both legs almost cut off.

Four Others Injured

Four other persons in the house were injured—one seriously.

J. E. Scott, research chief of Meteor Air Transport Co., owners of the ship, said engine failure was apparently the cause. The Civil Aeronautics board began an immediate investigation.

Hero of the crash was Raymond Perry, owner of the house.

"I saw it coming," he said. "Couldn't believe it at first. It just looked mighty low. Then there was a terrible noise. I saw it

SHERMAN SAYS 'CASE CLOSED'

Crommelin's Demand For Court Martial Refused By Navy Chief

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Adm. Forrest P. Sherman today rebuffed Capt. John C. Crommelin's demand for a court martial and the naval flier who detonated the flying hero who detonated the unification row declared he will stay in the Navy and continue his fight.

Sherman, chief of naval operations, slapped down Crommelin's court martial request and refused to withdraw a reprimand issued to the captain for releasing secret letters in the unification battle.

The naval operations chief declared the case closed. He pointed out that when he issued the reprimand he gave Crommelin the opportunity to file a reply. Sherman declared that the reply now has been made, and that "no further action is indicated."

Crommelin, informed of Sherman's action, charged that the defense department control is "totalitarian" and run on a system that "stems from the old Prussian general staff."

The captain touched off the reprimand he gave Crommelin the

Three Men Hold Eight Persons In Economy Store At Gunpoint In Bold Robbery; Archie Skibell Freed On Road Unharmed

By HANK McKEE
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THREE daring bandits, carrying out an apparently well-rehearsed plan of armed robbery, Saturday night seized between $1,000 and $1,500 in cash from the safe of the Economy Department store at 811-13 Broadway and fled in a car, taking with them an official of the firm as hostage. The holdup occurred about 9:15 p. m.

The hostage, Archie Skibell, 43, who holds an interest in the Economy store and who is owner of Skibell's, another downtown store here, was held prisoner at gunpoint until he was released unharmed seven miles east of the city on the Idalou highway. He was freed about 15 minutes after being taken from the store. From there he made his way back to Lubbock in the car of a passing motorist.

The three well-dressed gunmen, moving smoothly and efficiently, entered the department store, located on the south side of busy Broadway across the street from the post office, a few minutes after the 9 p. m. closing time. Hundreds of persons, including theatergoers, cotton laborers and other shoppers were in the vicinity at the time of the robbery, one of the boldest in recent years here.

Widespread Search Is Underway

Eight persons were in the store at the time of the holdup.

A widespread dragnet was immediately thrown up on all highways near Lubbock and a West Texas wide alert was broadcast for the men, believed to be traveling in a 1945 or 1946 two-door Chevrolet coach. No trace of the men or car had been reported at 2 a.m. today.

One of the three men pushed a gun into the stomach of a clerk, John B. Curtis of Levelland, who was leaving the building.

Curtis told investigating officers late last night that he had asked the manager of the store, Joe V. Turner, to unlock the door and he was preparing to leave the store when one of the holdup trio, standing outside, called in and asked if they might come in to buy a large quantity of work clothing.

The man then immediately stepped through the door, Curtis related, shoving a German-make pistol into his stomach.

Others Follow Leader In

His companions followed him into the store, flourishing guns. "Everybody get back," one of the gunmen shouted.

One of the men then dashed up a stairway to the second floor while a second took a position in the middle of the store, near the cashier's desk. The third holdup man remained at the door.

One of the men then ordered a clerk, J. T. Miller, to show them where the money was, but noticing the manager, Turner, he grabbed him and asked: "You're the manager, aren't you?" He then demanded the manager turn over the money to him.

At that point Skibell came down the stairs and one of the men noticed him and said:

"Aren't you Skibell? Where is the money?"

Skibell then turned to Turner and told him, "Open the safe. Let them have it. Let them have it all."

Witnesses said this indicated the gunman apparently knew Skibell, as he continued to call him by name as the robbery progressed.

The bandit near the cash register trailed Turner into a small room containing the safe and took the money, estimated at between $1,000 and $1,500.

Made Threat Of Harm

As the trio prepared to leave, with Skibell herded before them, one of the gunmen warned the frightened employes not to follow them or report the stickup to the police for 30 minutes or "the man we are taking with us," indicating Skibell with his gun, "won't be back."

Money Stuffed In Bag

The money, contained in two steel cash boxes, was stuffed into a brown leather folding bag, carried by the bandits.

Skibell was told to walk naturally as he left the store. One of the gunmen preceeded him to the sidewalk while the remaining pair followed the group from the store.

(The robbery scene is only a block from the Lubbock county jail, in which the sheriff's office is located, indication of the boldness of the men.)

Outside of the store, Skibell related, he was forced down an alley to the east of the department building where a car was parked about 20 feet from the Thirteenth street entrance.

The men pushed Skibell into the car and then sped out of town. The car was described by Skibell as being a 1945 or 1946 Chevrolet. The car maintained speeds of up to 85 miles an hour, Skibell said, as the men roared out the Idalou highway. The trio went out East Broadway under the underpass.

The hostage said he argued with his kidnapers, telling them they should release him before the police caught up with them. One of the gunmen said: "We'll let you know when we want to let you

"SCARED? Not very much, but I was afraid they might slug me in the head."

In the safety of his own home, Archie Skibell, 43, late last night told how he felt during his wild ride with three young gunmen who robbed the Economy Department store at 811-813 Broadway and forced him to accompany them in their escape car.

Skibell was released, unharmed, on the highway between Lubbock and Idalou "after I talked them into letting me out of the car."

Gunman Shook His Hand

He said one of the gunmen shook his hand as he got out of the car and said:

"Good night. Better luck next time."

To go back to the beginning, if there was any, Skibell said he had been helping in the Economy store because it was a busy day. He is owner of Skibell's at 1116 Broadway, and holds only a small interest in the Economy store owned by Sam Balk of Tyler, his brother in law, he said.

"The doors were closed and the last customers were being let out. I was upstairs and first learned it was a holdup when I walked down the stairs about 9:15 or 9:20."

"A man with a gun walked up to me and said:"

Saturday afternoon, Hall's father, Carl Hall of Lubbock Route 5, was at Broadway and Ave. G and saw the car. It was occupied by four negroes.

Hall dashed out into the street and jumped on the running board.

Three occupants got out quickly and disappeared.

Hall forced the driver to head for the police station.

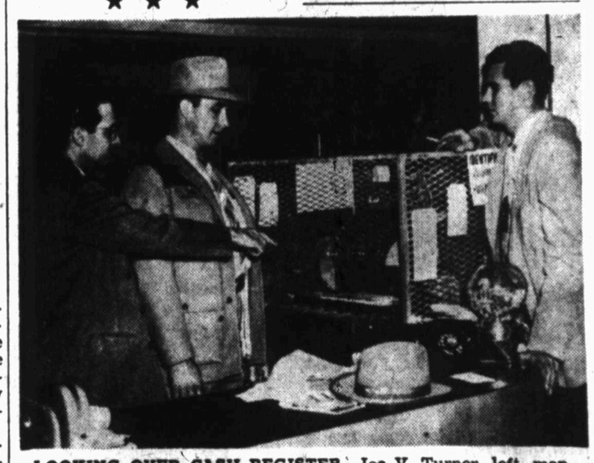

There the defendant was booked at Ennis Wilson, jr., 18.

U. S. Public Housing Program Getting Underway With Plans

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—The government's public housing program is slowly getting a start. At this point, though, it has only reached the beginning of the planning stage.

Because more than 25,000,000 low-income people live in slums and run-down city or farm homes, this program—passed by Congress and signed into law by President Truman last July 15—has three aims:

1. To wipe out slums, although this program won't wipe out all of them.

2. To build houses where low-income families who can afford only low rent can get decent homes.

3. Aid poor farmers in putting needed repairs on their homes or building new ones.

Long Terms Granted

The cost to the government is between $7 billion and $12 billion spread over 40 years in grants, or outright gifts of money; plus about $3 billion or so in loans, which the government will get back.

Most of the money will go to cities and communities. They'll hire private contractors to clear the slums and build public housing.

The government will help when the cities and communities can't pay the bill themselves.

The only individuals who'll get money are poor farmers, if they're approved by the government.

And they can't get it unless they can't get money any other way. They'll get two kinds of help: loans and grants.

The public, low-cost housing program calls for 810,000 units to be built in the next six years.

Plans Underway

Not a nail has been driven into a shingle yet under this program. The program is getting under way, but only to this extent:

The government this week approved loans of $20,375,400 to 108 cities to make surveys and plans for a total of 134,000 low-rent homes.

Since they're only at the start of the planning stage, no building of homes can start before next year.

When the plans and surveys are finished, the 108 cities and communities can come back and ask the government for help in building the homes.

The government can make loans to the communities up to 90 per cent of the total cost of the projects. The loans to be repaid in 40 years, at interest.

The other two parts of the program—help to poor farmers and slum-clearance—haven't started yet.

Reese AFB Band Will Present Program At Jaycee Meet Monday

The Reese Air Force Base Band will present a 30 minute program at the Jaycee luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel Monday.

Highlight of the program will be two soprano solos, "Romany Life" and "Service Songs," by Mrs. Edith Noel Luce, wife of the band director, Carmine Luce.

Mrs. Luce, a native Texan, started making public appearances when she was in kindergarten in San Antonio. Since then she has studied in New York City, where she made her debuts in concert and opera.

Appeared At Concerts

During the war, she was leading lady for the San Antonio Civic Opera company and sang many concerts at Army bases in her home state.

The band's program, which will be introduced by A. C. White, will include a march, "Insignia," followed by a symphonic paraphase, "The World Is Waiting for a Sunrise."

The third rendition will be "Espana Cani," a paso doble. Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" and Verdi's "Anvil Chorus" will conclude the program.

Cols. George W. Pardy and George H. Blase of RAFB will be special guests at the meeting.

Russell S. Wilkinson will preside and Jack Blankenship will be program chairman.

Plans For Christmas Seal Sale Revealed

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19 (Special)—The 1949 Christmas seal sale in Terry county will be conducted from Nov. 21 to Dec. 25 by the Terry County Tuberculosis association under the chairmanship of Frank Jordan, according to an announcement by Ruth Huckabee, executive secretary.

Seal sale proceeds will be used to finance the 1950 projects of the association, which plans an expanded tuberculosis prevention and control program for the year ahead.

From the proceeds of the seal sale, 82 per cent will remain in Terry county, with 18 per cent going to the state association.

The Terry county association has aided with a number of projects to help stamp out tuberculosis in the county. It has placed a number of local tuberculosis patients in hospitals and has obtained medical care for a number of others.

The association's new program includes an essay and poster contest in Terry county schools during the 1949-50 term.

RED DELEGATE DENIES CHARGE

Fear Of Red Intentions Blamed For Arms Shipments To Europe

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The United States startled the United Nations today by declaring that U. S. arms aid is being poured into Western Europe because the North Atlantic pact nations "fear the intentions of the Soviet government."

Assistant Secretary of State John D. Hickerson, who has been specifically charged by the U. S. government with discussion of atomic controls in UN made the declaration to the special political committee. He spoke in rebuttal to Russian claims that the western powers are preparing an atomic war against Russia.

Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik promptly refuted the Hickerson declaration and said that on the contrary the people of Europe have nothing to fear from Russia. The committee shortly after voted 42 to 5 with five abstentions tions for a "verified" global arms census and the continuation of disarmament talks among the major powers.

Red Proposal Rejected

A few minutes later the committee rejected Russia's proposal for linking atomic weapons with UN attempts to check up on global stockpiles of "conventional armaments." The vote was 6 in favor and 30 against, with 14 abstentions.

Brighter atmosphere prevailed in the assembly itself, however, with increasing indications that four-power agreement is nearing on the Austrian peace treaty. A recent appeal for co-operation by Britain's Hector McNeil to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky has had initial results in that a renewed exchange of negotiations is underway with Moscow over remaining disputed points.

The foreign ministers' deputies for Russia, the U. S., Britain and France met throughout the day in mid-Manhattan, with growing expectations that by the middle of next week concrete results will have been achieved.

Further encouraging evidence in the Assembly was President Romulo's announcement that conciliation efforts to settle the dispute between Greece and her northern neighbors are being resumed over the weekend.

This decision comes in the wake of Assembly approval of a resolution banning arms shipments to Albania and Bulgaria. The resolution also continues the UN Balkan "watch dog" commission on the Greek frontiers.

In agreement with Russia, the U. S. and Britain, Romulo postponed assembly action on a Vishinsky demand of the Greek government to halt the execution of Greek Communist guerillas sentenced to death. The assembly promptly proceeded to debate on the former Italian colonies, with U. S. Representative Philip C. Jessup calling for a unanimous approval of Lybia's independence by 1952.

Tech Students Crowd Housing In Lubbock

Partial light was shed Saturday on Lubbock's housing shortage with the announcement by Texas Tech officials that 2,399 men students are living in rooms or apartments in the city.

The huge overflow stems from the crowded dormitory conditions on the campus as well as the fact that nearly half are married men, many with children, according to Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college.

Figures compiled by Lewis N. Jones, assistant to the dean of men, show that 1,606 men are living in college dormitories, while 1,284 single men rent rooms or apartments in the city. A total of 1,115 male students are married, the survey showed.

Of the married students all but 21 rent apartments or homes in Greater Lubbock. Those 21 are housed on the second floor of Drane hall on the campus, a space reserved for married students without children.

Average rent paid by those living downtown will be compiled and announced later, Jones stated.

Reflecting the maturity of veterans and other students still in college, the survey showed that 57 per cent of all graduate men are married and that 37 per cent of the seniors are. From there the percentage drops to 24 per cent of the juniors and 18 per cent of the sophomores that are married while only eight out of every 100 freshmen males support a wife.

The survey showed that 428 men students live with their parents in Lubbock and vicinity, with 146 of those freshmen, 104 sophomores and 100 seniors. A total of 67 junior and 11 graduate men live at home.

New Boost In Construction Of Small Homes Is Reported

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—A new surge in small home building boosted Texas construction last week.

Awards in residential housing hit $18,324,665. That was close to double total contract awards in all classifications for the previous week. Included was 2,480 in small homes at Houston, the Texas Contractor reported today.

Grand total for the past week was $26,233,265. Public works projects accounted for $2,627,419 and non-residential building for $6,281,181.

Construction awards for the year thus far stand at $850,244,097 the trade publication said.

Uranium 'Discovered' Daily By Scientists In Research Laboratory Near White House

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Uranium—heart material of the atom bomb—has been discovered in Washington just three miles from the White House.

But there will be no rush of prospectors to the claim, which is on the grounds of the naval gun factory standing on the shore of a Potomac river branch.

Because the "discoveries" are made every day in a government laboratory.

Scientists Test Samples

There, for nearly a year, a small band of scientists have been quietly testing samples received from every corner of the country for the priceless material which may decide the fate of the world.

A lot of things contain a little uranium, hence the "discoveries." But 95 percent of the samples are "junk", according to John C. Rabbitt, head of the trace elements section of the geochemistry and petrology branch of the geological survey.

The other five percent have shown some promise, Rabbitt said today in opening the laboratory to inspection by International News Service.

New Deposit Possible

Only recently a number of samples from one state have indicated the possibility that there may be a new deposit in the uranium-poor United States.

But to date nobody has even come close to claiming the $10,000 bonus offered 19 months ago by the Atomic Energy commission to the first person to deliver 20 tons of ore containing at least one-fifth uranium.

To stimulate domestic prospecting AEC also has guaranteed a minimum price for 10 years at $3.50 per pound.

Program Boosts Prospecting

The AEC program has definitely stimulated prospecting, as attested by the 350 samples a month received by trace elements for testing.

These have included many varieties of dirt, several pieces of pipe, slag, and even a couple of ladies dresses. Rabbitt says the feminine apparel must have been a mistake but adds "they weren't radioactive anyway."

Many prospectors don't bother to ask trace elements whether their samples are uranium rich—they tell 'em flatly. A couple of letters gave specific instructions for delivery of the $10,000 bonus and the $28,000 that the $3.50 a pound would bring.

Every contributor gets an answer. If his sample is "hot" enough, permission is granted for an on-the-spot survey of the ore deposit.

Extortion Letters Threaten Safety Of Hollywood Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (INS) — The parents of Elizabeth Taylor announced today that the screen star has received three extortion letters mailed from the Brooklyn area which have been turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The star's mother, Mrs. Frances Taylor, said that the unsigned letters demanded money and threatened Elizabeth's safety.

The beautiful young actress was reported in a highly nervous condition, but still working at the studio in a forthcoming film. The studio placed "extra guards" about the set as a precautionary measure.

Cooper FFA Chapter Conducts Calf Show

COOPER, Nov. 19. (Spl.).—Cooper Future Farmers of America chapter held its annual fall feeder calf show here Friday.

Fifteen calves were exhibited and judged in front of the Cooper Vocational Agriculture building. N. J. Robnett, Lubbock vocational agriculture teacher, was the judge.

The calves were classed into three divisions; fancy, choice and good.

Fancy class winners were John B. Allen, two calves; George Rainey, Joe Lemon, Melba Thompson and Kay Coleman.

Boys placing calves in the choice class were Joe Lemon, Bobby Henderson, Don Patterson, Don Greene and Joe Bob Hoyle.

Good class winners were Melba Thompson, Bobby Henderson, Bobby Dodd and John B. Allen.

The calves will be shown at the Cooper FFA Livestock show, the Lubbock County Fat Stock show and the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show next spring.

A 40 by 80 foot barn to house the Cooper FFA Livestock show is now under construction.

LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY IN DOUBT

Legal Opinion Is Sought On New Soil Conservation Law

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (U.P.)—Texas5 attorney general today pondered a $5,000,000 jackpot problem.

The issue was laden with political overtones and charged with the threat of a heated fight in the coming special session of the legislature.

One man had been detailed to prepare the opinion on whether Texas' new soil conservation act, passed by the last session of the legislature, was legal or illegal.

The opinion was sought some weeks ago by State Auditor C. H. Cavness, State Comptroller R. S. Calvert and the state soil conservation board.

Several questions were asked. But the main issue centered around the legislature's authority to empower an administrative agency to determine the allocation of public funds without establishing any standards.

Basis Of Allocation

The law gave the $5,000,000 to the soil conservation districts of the state. However, it provided that a third party, the state soil conservation board, should make the allocation on the basis of "need and equity."

Some sources questioned whether "need and equity" constituted sufficient standards.

If the attorney general's department holds that the act is legal, no particular harm will have been done. Putting the act into operation will have been slightly delayed.

However, if the ruling should hold that the act is unconstitutional, both the state auditor and the state comptroller would probably follow the letter of the opinion.

That would mean a new act would be necessary, and heavy pressure to resurrect the law in legal form would be a virtual certainty.

Gov. Allan Shivers would be a target for persuasion.

Session For One Problem

With a special session scheduled for January, he would probably be urged to include the conservation issue in his call to the legislature.

It was believed he would find this rather difficult to do.

Shivers has established his policy on that point.

The state, he recently said, has one big job to do: provide funds for the eleemosynary improvement program. He said he intended to limit his call for the special session to that one subject.

However, the legislature could act on its own. The lawmakers have done it before at special sessions.

If both house and senate should pass a new soil bill, appropriating a multi-million dollar grant, the issue would then be tossed squarely to the governor.

Signing the measure would mean flaunting his own established policy of limiting action to one problem.

But, politically, the alternative might be even more unpleasant.

The governor has already said he will be a candidate for re-election next year.

Vetoing of the bill, once passed by the legislature, would almost certainly bring down the wrath of the farm-folks, an act understandably abhored in a general election year.

Girl To Face Manslaughter Charge In Shooting Of Man

BERRYVILLE, Va., Nov. 19 (AP) — A pretty Washington art student, 19-year-old Theresa Koenig is free on $1,000 bond for her appearance in court here Nov. 28 on a charge of manslaughter in connection withh the death yesterday of her boy friend.

The body of Charles Kenneth Ellyett, 22, was found slumped in his car in Huyett Woods, near the West Virginia border, yesterday after Miss Koenig called the sheriff's office shortly before dawn and reported that she had "just killed a man."

Miss Koening told officers Ellyett sought to force his attentions on her and then threatened to "blow us both up" with dynamite he had in the car. Authorities found two sticks of dynamite, wired to be set off, and two pistols.

In a struggle which ensued, Miss Koening told officers, she grabben a .38 pistol Ellyett was wearing in a holster and shot him in the abdomen. She then ran barefooted in the cold to a nearby farmhouse and called the authorities.

Lynn County Donates Cotton For Rural Overseas Relief Program

BY EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

WILSON, Nov. 19. — Two bales of cotton turned out by the Farmer Co-operative gin here have taken on special significance.

They are the first two complete bales of Lynn county cotton to be donated to the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP), and were made possible through the efforts of the members of St. John's Lutheran church here.

The program began in Lynn county last spring when County Agent Bill Griffin outlined the idea for setting up a county unit of CROP. The Rev. C. A. Holcomb, pastor of the First Methodist church in Tahoka, was elected chairman of the relief program, and steps were taken to organize county churches.

Cotton Agreed Upon

Cotton was the predominant crop, and it was agreed that the county's contributions to the program, which is designed to provide stricken areas of Europe with raw materials instead of money for the purchase of such commodities, should be cotton.

Shortly before the harvest began, the Rev. C. C. Ehler, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church received word from the Lutheran World Relief organization that he had been appointed to lead the drive among Lutheran churches in the county.

Beginning at home, the pastor presented the task to his congregation, and it responded. A CROP committee was set up to map the strategy for the campaign.

Special Bin Provided

The idea was for every member to give as much seed cotton as possible. A special bin was placed in the Co-operative gin so members could drop in cotton left in excess when a bale was completed.

The cotton began coming in with the donations of four church members, Arthur J. Wuensche, Roland Stegemoeller, B. L. Ernst, and Alfred Krause. It was enough for two bales, and gin Manager D. C. Newsom put out the finished product for the church.

Rev. Ehler said the church wasn't finished, and he expressed the hope that other churches in the area would be only just starting.

Invaluable Aid Given

He said he was encouraged in the project by the results of the CROP drive in South Texas. He acknowledged the invaluable aid of the church council and the CROP committee, as well as that of every member of the congregation, numbering about 200, for the initial success of the movement.

The church council, consisting of John Sander, Albert Krause, Roland Stegemoeller, and Ben O. Wilkie, and the CROP committee consisting of Arthur Hagens, Krause, and Ben Brieger, declined to take full praise for the achievement.

They pointed out that the Rev. Ehler has been doing plenty of footwork setting up the local CROP organization, and has done a splendid job co-ordinating the program.

Pastor Aids Church

The Rev. Ehler, just out of school, came to Wilson to become pastor only last June. Already he has helped to mold one of the finest churches in the community.

He is continually striving for the success of the CROP, not only in his own church, but in others as well. With a third bale from his church on the way, he has great hopes for a project well done.

"In my own mind. I had set a goal of two bales for our church, and that goal has been reached," he said. "Now my goal is considerably higher."

Just how much higher, he would not say, but it's certain that the drive in St. John's Lutheran church of Wilson has just begun, and if they possibly can, they will meet and exceed his hopes for the program.

Infant Daughter Of Lubbock County Couple Claimed Here

Graveside services will be conducted at 3 p.m. today at Abernathy for Martha Gladys Franklin, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Franklin, Route 5, Lubbock. The child died at birth late Saturday in Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Burial will be in Abernathy cemetery with Rev. Abe Hester, jr., of Lubbock officiating. Rix Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

The infant is survived by a sister, Ida Reaona; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Franklin, Petersburg; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hughes, Abernathy; and the parents.

Huge Hydroelectric Project Scheduled By Australians

ADAMINABY, Australia, Nov. 19 (AP) — Australia's Snowy river has been a waster. It has poured a half-million gallons of water each minute into the sea.

All this waste is to be stopped with the greatest engineering project ever attempted in Australia. The Snowy River hydroelectric scheme has been talked about in this country for 70 years. Now it has been started.

The entire project will cost an estimated $440 million and take 20 years to complete. The Government plans to use teams of migrant labor, employing as many as 10,000 men on the project. Special towns will be built to house workers near the jobs.

Teachers To Discuss New Education Setup

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Texas teachers will tell how the new Gilmer-Aikin school program is working at their annual convention in Fort Worth this week.

A panel discussion of the revolutionary new education plan will be a feature of the three day program. The convention opens Thursday and runs through Saturday.

The 400-member house of delegates of the Texas State Teachers association also faces the issue of whether to move its headquarters from Fort Worth to Austin.

Miss Waurine Walker of Waco is unopposed for the presidency, to succeed Joe C. Humphrey of Abilene. Miss Walker is now vice-president of the 42,000-member association.

Among the speakers will be Gov. Allan Shivers, Attorney General Price Daniel, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Dr. Andy Holt of Nashville, president of the National Education association.

Heading the panel discussion on Gilmer-Aikin will be L. P. Sturgeon, director of the minimum foundation program; Henry Foster, president of the Texas Association of School Administrators; Charles H. Tennyson, director of public relations for the association.

Children Are Texts In Unusual Pre-School Observation Class

VAN NUYS, Calif., Nov. 19. (AP) —They have the cutest textbooks at the adult education class in Van Nuys evening high school. Textbooks with pigtails, ribbons and flashing eyes. They chirp gleefully to their readers. Children are the texts and their mothers are the students.

The class, called pre-school observation, studies the youngsters and seeks answers to common problems of child rearing. It's full and has a waiting list. The mothers, 44 of them with more than 50 children, meet weekly to observe their offspring at play, take notes, ask questions and discuss day-to-day growth problems.

The children ages two to five have swings, slides, a merry-go-round and books. Periods are set aside for painting, stories, singing, dancing, rest, crackers and tomato juice.

Austria still retains price controls on petroleum, textile raw materials, hides, skins, most food items, electricity and water rates and house rents.

Lemon Juice Recipe Checks Rheumatic and Arthritis Pain

If you suffer from rheumatic, arthritis or neuritis pain, try this simple inexpensive home recipe that thousands are using. Get a package of Ru-Ex Compound, a two-week supply, today. What's YOUR price tag on happiness?

The smartest bit of automobile styling on the road today? The standout beauty of tapering fenders—the sturdy protection of a wholly new front-end design?

The prestige that's in the Buick name—the solid, road-wise steadiness Buick has always stood for?

Your chance to get in on the perfect smoothness of Dynaflow Drive*—this being the lowest-priced car on which that sensational new transmission is available?

*Optional at extra cost.

They're all there, every one of those things. And for a good reason that may go a bit beyond the usual idea in designing an automobile.

For, a long while ago, we graduated from the idea that a motorcar is merely a means of getting about.

The way you travel is pretty important too. The lift that's yours in knowing there's no prettier picture anywhere on the highways. The "kick" there is in a power plant that's lively and eager and always ready to get in on the fun.

The comfort that's found in all-coil springs, a husky, steady-traveling understructure, cushions that are deep and soft and wide enough to let you spread yourself a bit.

Even that extra swelling of the chest that comes from owning a car you know everyone respects and admires.

In a word—your happiness. It's never out of our mind in planning this car—nor in making very sure each dollar of cost gives you the greatest possible benefit.

That's why we rather proudly ask you to go see—and try—this Buick SPECIAL. It's priced like a six, in spite of the fact that like all Buicks, it's a big-powered Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight.

And we honestly believe that it puts a lower price tag on your motoring happiness than any other car you can buy today! See your Buick dealer and find out about that.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Federal Reserve Bank Loans On Business Developments Favored

BY FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Chairman Spence (D-Ky.), of the House Banking committee said today he is inclined to sponsor legislation giving the Federal Reserve banks broad powers to make business loans.

Spence explained that he is favorably disposed toward the loan authority proposal made this week by Chairman Thomas B. McCabe of the Federal Reserve board.

McCabe recommended that the reserve banks be given power to "participate" with commercial banks in business loans by assuming up to 90 percent of the total risk involved. There would be a $500 million limit on the total loan commitments outstanding at any one time.

Business Boost Urged

The major purpose of the lending authority world be to start small businesses or give needed financial assistance to existing ones.

McCabe included the loan recommendation in lengthy report to the Congressional Economic committee. In answers to a questionnaire on monetary and credit policy he submitted a long list of proposals, including one to overhaul bank reserve requirements and extend the new requirements to both member and non-member banks of the federal reserve.

Spence said the latter recommendation, as well as the others made by McCabe, would have to be studied. But on the loan proposal, he said:

"I think that probably would be a means of stimulating business by giving small concerns, and businessmen with sound ideas, an opportunity to obtain credit which they could not otherwise obtain.

Objections Considered Unlikely

"If the federal reserve people want this authority, I would be disposed to offer the necessary legislation myself for the consideration of the banking committee. I don't believe there would be any objection to the plan.

"It seems that this would be a reasonable way to approach the business loan problem in many cases. It would not involve putting the government into the lending business, because it is already there. The Reconstruction Finance corporation has wide power to make business loans.

"Since such loans are distinctly a banking matter, there would be times when loans could be handled better this way than through the RFC."

Present Authority Restricted

The reserve banks for years have had power to make business loans, but McCabe said restrictions are such that the existing authority is ineffective. Reserve board officials explained that loans are now being made on a small and narrow scale.

Under present law, the loans have to be made to "established" businesses and only for working capital purposes. They can run for only five years.

McCabe proposed, not direct loans, but 90 percent participations to start new businesses or aid existing ones, with maturities up to 10 years. This would leave the initiative to the commercial banks, but the only shackle on the reserve banks would be the traditional "banker's judgment."

"Tough Guy" Said Menace In Traffic

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP) —Courtesy, says J. E. Hamm, Los Angeles county safety engineer, is 90 per cent of successful driving. And at the bottom of most discourteous acts, he adds is a complex. "In all red-blooded men a 'tough guy' lurks," opines Hamm. "This fellow is a private, personal hero of the man who carries him around. This 'tough guy' is fearless, boisterous, overbearing, dominant and obnoxious.

"What does the boorish driver do at a stop sign? He darts avidly forward after halting, feeling that because he has stopped, all others must wait until he crosses. 'If you give in, you're a sissy,' his alter ego yells. A gentleman waits until he can cross without inconveniencing anyone, whether they are right or wrong."

In a traffic jam the motorist's natural inclination is to yield a point, even though he may be legally right, Hamm says. Until, that is, the "tough guy" cries "Show them you're boss!" Drivers would do better, Hamm says, to read Emily Post as well as traffic rules of the road.

Boost In Poll Tax Payments Is Reported In Terry County

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19 (Special)—Poll tax payments in Terry county have picked up considerably since the defeat of proposed constitutional amendment No. 8 in the Nov. 8 election, Herbert Chesshir, county tax assessor-collector, reports.

Up to the time of the election, only about 20 poll tax payments had been received, with most taxpayers awaiting the outcome of the special election. Since the election, however, about 80 poll tax receipts have been issued, according to records at the tax offivial's office.

New Businesses In October Lowest For The State Since '47

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 —A slump in starting of new businesses was reported for October today by the Texas Employment commission.

Only 26 new firms began operations. It was the lowest number in one month since December, 1947, when 18 were reported.

Jobs created by the new businesses totaled 728, with an average of 28 per firm. Ned establishments employing eight or more persons were included in the TEC report.

Wholesale and retail trade led other industry groups in new business undertakings for the month, with 307 or 42 per cent of the new jobs created.

The Dallas TEC district led in number of new firms established, with six employing 85 employes. All were located in Dallas proper.

San Angelo Leads

San Angelo led other Texas cities in total new employment.

Although only one firm was reported opening its doors for October, 200 workers were employed in the manufacture of men's and boy's sport clothes. The firm was also the largest to begin operations in the state.

Austin ranked second in number of new firms beginning operations with 4. New employment in the new establishments totaled 71. Three were located in Austin proper and one in Lampasas.

Beaumont received three new firms and ranked second in the number of people employed with a total of 175. All were retail trade stores.

Houston and San Antonio received three new firms each. New employment in the Houston firms totaled 56, and in the San Antonio firms the total was 44.

Amarillo received two new firms employing 27. Waco, Fort Worth, Longview and Corpus Christi reported one firm each.

Police Seek Thief Unwilling To Make Plane Trip To Korea

MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 19. (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Spooner, 33, was happy today at recovering $2,500 worth of plane tickets, and police were hunting for a thief who didn't want to fly to Korea.

The missing tickets were found by a postoffice clerk and returned to Mrs. Spooner who plans to leave with her three children for a Christmas reunion in Korea with her husband, Author, an engineer.

A night clerk sorting mail noticed the tickets in a torn envelope and assistant Superintendent John Rooney remembered reading a newspaper account of Mrs. Spooner's loss yesterday. Mrs. Spooner said the family couldn't make the trip if the tickets weren't found.

The police theory is that a thief stole the tickets from Mrs. Spooner on a bus and then just dropped them in a mail box when he decided he didn't want Christmas in Korea.

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19—Terry County Farm Bureau delegates to the Nov. 21 state convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation in Dallas are B. M. Tuttle, W. G. McDonald, L. M. Lang and H. R. Winston. They were elected at the annual meeting of the county farm bureau.

Chosen as alternate delegates were Herman Wheatley, Fletcher Smith and Paul Blackstock.

SPRY PRICE CUT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 19. (AP) A cut of 1¼ cents a pound in the price of Spry, vegetable shortening, was announced today by Lever Brothers company which said it resulted from a decline in raw materials costs.

Texas Woman Killed In New York Plunge

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (U.P.)—Mrs. Sadie Frankley, 65, of Seguin, Tex., plunged to her death today from an apartment house here.

Mrs. Frankley had come to New York about a week ago and was living with her brother, Ralph Applebaum (at 400 Riverside Drive).

Applebaum told police Mrs. Frankley had become despondent following separation from her husband, Mark.

CRISCO IS LOWERED

CINCINNATI, Nov. 19. (AP)—Proctor and Gamble Co., today announced a reduction of a cent and quarter a pound in the wholesale price of Crisco vegetable shortening. The cut brought the price to its lowest level since October 1946, the company said.

Father Builds Miniature Circus As Birthday Surprise For Girl

DOWNEY, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP)—Gail Garland came home from school on her seventh birthday and found a circus, clowns and everything, in her own backyard.

Gail's daddy, Jack Garland, had worked nights for three months to plan the surprise. Inside the big-top, made of sheets and mattress covers, Gail gazed starry-eyed at life-size cardboard cutouts of lions trained seals, a ringmaster and bareback riders on white horses. There were even concessions. All her neighborhood playmates were there.

Daddy and Mommy were there, too. But Gail didn't know them at first. They were dolled up as clowns. As a final touch of realism Garland played recorded recordings made at a genuine circus.

Venezuela's oil output is soaring.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS
1873 — 1949

How did the residents of early-day Lubbock observe Thanksgiving? To answer this question, let's peek into a typical pioneer home.

The residence is that of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wolffarth, now of 1906 Twenty-eighth street, and the year is 1898. Mr. and Mrs. Wolffarth were married the previous Aug. 24 and were preparing to spend their first Thanksgiving together — next Thursday will be their 51st.

Mrs. Wolffarth prepared a sumptuous feast, centering about a turkey raised in the family barnyard. Most families kept a few turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas. The dinner table was laden with "trimmings" of many kinds—just as in most homes then and now. Those who didn't raise turkeys usually received them as gifts from neighbors, or bought them for a dollar or two.

The day was one of rest, relaxation, feasting—one of reunions of families and friends. Thanksgiving night usually was the occasion for parties in homes—sometimes for a big dance at the courthouse. Special Thanksgiving services usually were held during the morning in one or more of the early day churches.

It was an observance which exemplified the spirit of Thanksgiving as truly and sincerely as the first in 1621 when the Pilgrims created the day in reverent thanks to God for their survival in the New World they had chosen for their home.

SCHOOLS USE 115,569 BOOKS HERE

Free Books Provide Essential Foundation For School System

As books, their importance and enjoyment, were in the spotlight in Lubbock public school this week in celebration of Book Week, A. F. Rasor, general book custodian of the school district, called attention to the approximately 115,569 volumes which make up the "meat and potatoes" in the educational diet of Lubbock children.

These free textbooks, which are taken for granted by most citizens, are furnished to students by the State of Texas and the approximate cost of the books now in use in the Lubbock system is $9.07 per pupil. Rasor, who has been in charge of all textbooks for the Lubbock schools since February of 1946, explains that books furnished to students in secondary schools actually cost the state a little more than those used in the elementary grades.

Books Distributed Swiftly

Because of the large number, Rasor must preside over the host of tomes sent to the Lubbock schools by remote control. As soon as books come to the Lubbock school system they are sent to the schools for use as quickly as possible.

The average life of a textbook used by Lubbock children is three years, Rasor says, and usually after that time books must be sent back to the state for reconditioning. From the standpoint of standing up to hard and continuous use, the speller used by sixth grade students has the best reputation, Rasor said. All textbooks above the third grade are returned when backs become worn for reconditioning.

First Graders Lead

Students in the first grade actually use more textbooks and manuals than any other grade in in the Lubbock schools, Rasor estimated. Lubbock's approximately 1,450 beginners use 29,250 textbooks and over 350 manuals.

The grade which nearest approaches them in the number of textbooks used is grade four, where 10,990 books are in use this year. Rasor made it clear that all of the figures he compiled on textbooks dealt only with books in current adoption, and that he was not considering any of the books which were out of adoption.

Actual value of books in current adoption used by Lubbock public school students, 10,990 of them, is $99,769.94, Rasor said. Of this amount $30,836 was the value of the books received this year and the rest was the value of carry-overs from other years.

Rasor estimated that the general cost of books per child will be nearly the same each year, as new books are adopted on about the same percentage year after year. However, the increasing cost of publishing has been felt more keenly each year for the past three or four years, he explained.

Artificial Larynx Perfected By Men

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 19. (AP)— An engineer and his doctor have worked together to perfect a chromium larynx which gives speech to mute people.

Ten years ago, Harry Shannon, the engineer, had his larynx removed and was told he would never speak again. But he made a thorough study of the larynx and used his engineering skill to make an artificial articulator. His first important clue was the discovery that the vocal chords produce a constant tone, which is modulated by use of the lips and teeth. When in use, his chromium gadget which resembles an inhaler, is held in one hand, one end of the tube being connected to an aperture in the throat and the other slipped between the teeth.

Now Harry Shannon talks like any normal person. By changing from one articulator to another, he produces the voice of a baritone or a soprano, while he even has what he calls a "roarer" for cheering at football matches and a "whisperer" for more confidential moments. The artificial larynx has brought speech back to many other mute Australians.

Two Ohio Gunmen Jailed In California On Holdup Count

NEEDLES, Calif., Nov. 19. (INS). Two youthful gunmen, wanted for 21 armed robberies in Ohio in recent months, were jailed in Needles today for the $257 holdup of a theater.

The two 21-year-old desperadoes are Herman Maroni and Stanley Brozinski, both of Adena, Ohio.

Police stripped the pair's automobile and found the cash taken in the Needles holdup and four automatic revolvers concealed in the door panels.

The pair said that their Ohio robberies, committed in recent months, netted them up to $4,000 each. The two will be bound over to San Bernardino superior court on Monday.

Harrison county (Ohio) authorities filed a detaining order for the two when their sentences are completed for the California robbery.

The U. S.-U. K. Zones of Germany are making typewriters at the rate of 3,232 a month.

Money Outlook Is Charged Yardstick In All Measurements

American Women Dollar-Eyed Schemers With Tiring Voices, Briton Declares

LONDON, Nov. 19. (INS)—Listen, men, do you realize that your American women are "spoiled, petulant,, grating-voiced" schemers who see only the "almighty dollar" sign instead of stars in your eyes and who will rear your children to be "dollar snobs?"

Well, that's the sizzling opinion of a British woman who wrote a letter to the conservative, internationally-circulated British weekly, the "Recorder."

Southerners Excepted

The woman from Birmingham, England,—who partly exempts her sisters in Birmingham, Ala., and all the south—chose not to reveal her identity.

The letter from her kitchen was so hot—and so different from the usual run of cabbage recipes and atomic bomb warnings—that the Recorder editors cautiously prefaced it by saying it was offered "as helpful criticism and we hope it will cause no offense."

The editors also "invite replies in the same spirit" to this letter addressed to "Dear Mrs. America:"

"I have been a close observer of your American womanhood for some time and recently arrived at some unpleasant conclusions.

Voices Tiring

"I declare you are spoiled, every one of you . . . Apart from the quiet-speaking southerners your voices are the most tiring, grating, and unmusical of any other race I have met in my world travels."

The British woman said she could recognize an American woman anywhere by the "aggressive, petulant look . . . the tell-tale 'I want' to waiters . . . with the inflection of a peevish child with which most of you preface your orders.

"All this has something to do with your almighty dollar outlook. The dollar is a yardstick in all your measurements.

Children Same

"When you become engaged all talk is of the presents the fiance brings and what material things you will gain by marriage . . .

"You are hurt and amazed when it leads to divorce.

"Even before you are married you use your future husband as a slave. After marriage you will demand first attention—even beyond your husband's job.

"What I've seen of your children makes me believe you are bringing them up to be the same. They will become dollar snobs at a very early age. And what junior wants, pop usually has to provide or junior will develop some 'inferiority complex'. . .

"The spoiling continues until at teen age the children become rulers of the house and home and you declare yourselves unable to cope with it . . . A teen-age tryanny grips the country."

Lubbock Students Members Of ACC Music Organizations

ABILENE, Nov. 19—Four Lubbock students have been selected as members of two music organizations at Abilene Christian college.

John Wesley Payne, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Payne, is a member of the Abilene Christian college A Cappella chorus.

Jack Rigney, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rigney, 3001 19th street; Jimmy Murrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Murrey, 612 18th street; and Harvie Pruitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pruitt, 717 Seventeenth street, are members of the ACC Wildcat band.

Pruitt, who was baton twirler for the Westerner band from 1945-1947, is the twirler for the band.

Patrolman Grasps Rare Opportunity

ATLANTA, Nov. 19. (AP).—Patrolman W. T. Wood was getting ready to tag a car when a school teacher—whose name he wouldn't tell—showup.

She pleaded her low salary just couldn't stand a parking fine.

He agreed to tear up the ticket, on one condition.

The teacher turned in her home work today. Two paegs of it.

"I will not park illegally," she had written—100 times.

HOUSTON MAN KILLED

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 19. (AP)—Herbert M. Ogg, of Houston, was killed last night in a highway accident. Deputy Sheriffs said Ogg attempted to flag down a passing motorist after his own car developed engine trouble. Ogg's wife was seated in their car, when her husband was struck by a car driven by Robert James Horth, 30, of Indianapolis, officers said.

Snowshoe Rabbit In Montana Eats Currency, Masonic Card

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Mont., Nov. 19 (AP)—Kenneth Fallang says there's a snowshoe rabbit hereabouts "with about $15 in U. S. currency inside him." The rabbit also contains a Masonic Lodge card if Fallang figures correctly.

Fallang, deputy game warden, says he was dressing an Elk when his wallet fell to the snow from his pocket. He went home without it, later returned to the scene of his loss.

There were rabbit tracks leading to the wallet and other identical tracks where the rabbit had departed. The leather wallet was chewed into strips. A five dollar bill and two-thirds of a $20 bill were missing, along with the membership card.

DUCKS HAVE TROUBLE

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP)—Several ducks recently crash-landed on Main street, their wings thick with ice. The townspeople took the ducks into their home, thawed out their wings and released them. When last seen the bird were headed south—fast.

PLAN FOR DISPERSAL PROPOSED

Senator Claims U. S. 'Sucker For Unexpected Atomic Blow'

BY H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Sen. Wiley (R.-Wis.), said today that the U. S. "is a sucker for an atomic solar-plexus blow," and called on President Truman to "end the shocking stalling" on plans for dispersal of key government units, industry and population.

Wiley proposed that Congress, through its Atomic Energy committee, give immediate attention to the problem when the second session starts in January.

The senator proposed that Congress study the possibility of legislating by television from 30 or 40 scattered points in event of atomic war. He also suggested that it consider operating "a mobile capital" on railroad trains if necessary.

Atomic Reports Cited

Referring to a statement of the Atomic Energy commission that Washington could be flattened by a single atom bomb, Wiley said:

"This is but one of a long series of such frightening reports which have been invariably followed by our government officials going back to sleep.

"What they do is alternately shock us with grisly reports about what an atomic bomb could do to Washington or New York, and then give us a sleeping pill of smugness so as to assume that it can't happen here."

Senator Urges Program

Wiley called for the folowing three point program.

1. Creation by President Truman of a council of decentralization, consisting of both military and civilian leaders, to initiate action to disperse "priority one" government units from Washington, particularly military and atomic energy agencies.

2. Apropriations by Congress early next year to facilitate such dispersal.

3. Efforts by city and state planning groups to spread out their populations "to prevent the dreadful possibility of mass crushing on the highways in the event of an atomic attack."

First Farm Housing Loan In State Slated

DALLAS, Nov. 19 (AP) — A 41-year-old Fannin county farmer who never borrowed a dollar in his life will on Nov. 25 receive the first loan in Texas under the farm housing program of the Farmers Home administration.

The loan will go to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Winchester who reside four miles north of Windom. Total amount of the loan for building a new farm home and other structures will be $5,000.

Sam Rayburn, Democratic speaker of the House of Representatives, will be the principal speaker and will participate in the presentation and closing of the loan.

Rayburn lives about 15 miles from the Winchesters.

Presentation will be at 2 p.m. in the Windom High school auditorium.

Dillard B. Lassater, Washington administrator of the FHA, and members of the Texas FHA staff are expected.

The farm housing loan program recently enacted by the 81st Congress provides building loans to land owners who are unable to get a loan elsewhere and who lack the capital to make the needed improvements. The Winchesters bought the farm in 1947 and finished paying for it this fall. They have two children, ages 12 and six.

Review of 'Herman, The Pig' Closes Book Week Activities

Mrs. Russell Denison reviewed "Herman, the Pig" by Miriam Mason for students in grades four, five and six of Roscoe Wilson school at a special assembly held in J. T. Hutchinson Junior High auditorium which brought Book Week activities of the school to a close Friday afternoon.

An exchange of personal books was a new feature of the Book Week observance at Wilson school this year, according to Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal. In each room students brought their own books to school so that classmates might enjoy reading them. A display of current literature and book characters made by students in art classes has been another feature of the observance, Mrs. Savage said.

Switzerland sent 30 bakers to Britain for a course in confectionery.

Grain

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19. (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 2.31-2.37¾.
Oats No. 2 white 92-92¾.
Corn No. 2 white 1.60-1.62.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 pounds 2.12-2.17.

CHICOGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP)—All grains moved upward in heavy dealings on the board of trade today, paced by corn. The yellow cereal had gains extending to 2 cents at times. Deferred contracts scored new seasonal highs.

Strength of corn was tied in with export demand for this grain. It was reflected also in the spot market where No. 2 yellow corn sold at a discount of 2 to 2½ cents compared with the December delivery. Yesterday the discount was 3 to 3½ cents.

Other grains mostly followed the leadership of corn. Some inflationary sentiment appeared to be present in the pits. Dealings became quite active toward the close as the demand met selling orders from traders evening up for the week-end holiday.

Wheat closed ⅛-½ higher, December $2.11⅝-¾, corn was 1 to 1¾ higher, December $1.24⅜-½, oats were ¼ lower to ½ higher, December 75½-75, rye was ¾-1⅛ higher, December $1.34¼-$1.34, soybeans were 1 to 1¼ higher, November $2.24½, and lard was 5 to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $10.32.

Kenya has banned chrysanthemum imports because of plant disease.

PRICE ROUTE NARROW

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—The stock market ambled along a narrow price route today after a snappy three-day rise.

Most price changes were upward. Gains were small, though, and a wide variety of shares either remained at Friday's closing levels or backed down a little. Few stocks moved more than fractionally.

Business started off with a rush but quieted as soon as overnight orders were disposed of. Turnover ran at a rate of 600,000 shares for the two-hour session.

Railroad stocks did fairly well, with higher prices paid for Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, and Union Pacific.

United Aircraft gained around ½ point, evidently in response to news that the company's Pratt and Whitney division had been awarded a $10,000,000 government contract.

Also ahead most of the time were, General Motors, Packard, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, North American Co., Kennecott Copper, Dow Chemical, American Can. U. S. Gypsum, and Lehigh Portland Cement.

Profit taking clipped Chrysler after the stock advanced more than 5 points in the past three days.

Others tending downward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, J. I. Case, Gulf Oil, and United Air Lines.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly.

Higher in the curb were, Salt Dome Oil, United Light and Railway, Creole Petroleum, Argus Inc., Babcock and Wilcox, and American Maracaibo. Lower were Kaiser-Fraser, Humble Oil and Imperial Oil.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19. (AP)—Cotton futures declined here today under week-end long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were steady 5 cents to 20 cents a bale lower. Trading was quiet throughout the short Saturday session. Around the opening some months made small advances on buying stimulated by favorable textile reports. Middling 15/16ths inch spot cotton remained unchanged at 29.30 cents a pound. Local sales amounted to 3,801 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Cotton price movements were narrow today with trading slow. Most of the dealings involved switching from nearby December into March by leading spot houses, although there was some buying of the latter position attributed to mill account. Some hedging, as well as weekend profit-taking, provided contracts, although most dealers were inclined to adopt sideline positions awaiting some definite ideas on whether producers would sell their cotton or place it into the government loan.

Futures closed 30 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

MORE THAN 200 TO TAKE PART

Famed Bands To Give Combined Performance At Grid Game Here

There'll be more than 200 musicians on the football field at Jones stadium at the Texas Tech-Hardin-Simmons university game.

The 200 musicians will include 140 members of the Texas Tech band, 60 members of the H-SU Cowgirls and approximately 40 members of the nationally-known Cowboy band from the Abilene school. The three groups will combine for halftime performances at the annual gridiron battle.

Presenting a history of Hardin-Simmons put to music, the Tech band will show the development of the college from its founding in 1892 until the present date, according to Prof. D. O. Wiley, director. Following that, the band will form a huge cowboy boot, with the top extending completely across the field.

Band To Form Letters

Inside the boot, the Cowboy band will form the letters "H-SU," according to Wiley, while the spectators listen to the strains of the Hardin-Simmons school song. The Cowgirls will then form a large spur and rowel at the heel of the boot.

After the salute to H-SU, the two bands will form the traditional Double T of Texas Tech, with the loval musicians completing the one large, hollow single T and the Cowboys assuming the position of the smaller cross. The Cowgirls will then fill in the hollow center of the Double T while the Tech song is played.

Prof. Wiley himself is a former director of the H-SU Cowboys, having held that position when the band was named. Marion B. McClure, present director, took over the reins when Wiley came to Lubbock in 1933.

The Cowboy band has gained wide publicity and national fame since its founding, both under the direction of Wiley and McClure. It is capable of parading, playing concert music, or in presenting a stage show.

Always appearing in their western regalia, the musicians have been three times judged best at the annual Lions International conventions in San Francisco and New York — in 1942, 1947 and 1948. They make frequent road trips throughout the Southwest, playing in 10 states within the past two years.

Wiley, who started the Cowboys on their way to national fame has also led the Tech band to become widely known throughout the United States.

As the two bands meet here Saturday, they will be flanked on either side by three white horses, ridden by "Sheriff" Bill Watson of Abilene and his crew. Leon Harris of Lubbock will be master of ceremonies for the halftime festivities.

Rodent Extermination Program In Terry County To Continue

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19 (Special—The Terry county commissioners court has voted to continue for another year, beginning Jan. 1, the county's program of rodent and vermin extermination. John Black, who has been directing the program since its institution here, was re-employed for another year.

The county pays Black a salary of $150 a month and allows him $75 a month for truck and traveling expenses. The county also provides the poisons used in killing rats and mice and in the extermination of other vermin, such as poultry lice. There is no charge to the public for the service.

Christmas Seal Drive To Start

Approximately 12,500 letters containing Christmas seals are to be delivered to Lubbock county residents Monday in the annual seal sale to raise funds for tuberculosis prevention and cure.

The letters, signed by Roy Boyd, seal sale chairman of Lubbock County tuberculosis association, have been delivered to Lubbock postoffice.

Money received from seal sales will be used for work in 1950. Eighty-two per cent of funds received will be retained in Lubbock county, 12 per cent will be sent to the Texas Tuberculosis association, and six per cent will be sent to the National Tuberculosis association.

Urged To Be Generous

Gov. Alan Shivers has issued a statement, copy of which was received by Lubbock County Tuberculosis association, urging Texas residents to be generous in support of the 1949 Christmas seal sale, which will open Monday and continue through Dec. 25.

"The more we support the work of tuberculosis associations, the closer we shall be to victory over tuberculosis in Texas," the governor said. "Since the annual Christmas seal sale constitutes the sole support of state and local associations, we take an active part in the fight against this disease every time we buy and use Christmas seals." He said tuberculosis is a leading cause of death in Texas and takes the lives of more young persons in the productive years from 15 to 44 than any other disease.

Major Health Problem

"This dreadful disease," he said, "is spread from person to person and therefore must be recognized as a major public health problem." The governor designated Nov. 21 to Dec. 25 as Christmas seal month.

The letters being mailed to Lubbock county residents by Lubbock County Tuberculosis association refer to "Dollars and Sense for Blessing," stating that, "it is true that good health and good sense are two of life's greatest blessings. It makes sense that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, especially where tuberculosis is concerned.

"When you purchase and use Christmas seals on your holiday mail, your dollars make sense by financing a continuous program of health education and prevention to protect that blessing of good health."

The enclosed seals may be purchased for $1 a sheet, or more if residents wish to give more.

Publication Of Story On Housing Banned

PASCO, Wash., Nov. 19 (AP) — Pasco's Tri-City Herald, daily newspaper, was under court order today not to publish an article criticizing construction work in a housing project on the edge of the Hanford atomic works.

Superior Judge B. B. Harrigan issued the restraining order at the request of the Columbia Construction Co., Inc., contractors for the West Pasco housing project, in which homes are priced around $7,500.

The order came an hour or so before deadline, and the Herald pulled out its story and complied with the order.

The paper had already printed three stories in an illustrated series which had been sharply critical of the quality of construction by the company and also of the Federal Housing administration (FHA), which had approved the project.

The company alleged that printing of the articles while a company suit to collect from a war veteran tenant is pending in the court constituted an obstruction to administration of justice and contempt of court.

Chest Drive Reaches $71,140 Level Here

Lubbock's Community Chest the past week continued its slow, hard upward climb toward the $98,850 goal set by directors. Results turned in late Saturday night brought the total to $71,140.17, Earl Kerr, Chest manager said.

"The results day-by-day are running about the same way they did last year," Kerr said. "We had hoped, however, to be finished by this time."

More than 290 Lubbock business accounts have not been reported, Kerr revealed. "When those results are tabulated, things might look a lot better," he said.

A meeting of the Chest's board of directors has been scheduled for Tuesday. Roy Riddle, president of the board, will preside. "We will try to get things running more smoothly after this meeting," Kerr stated.

Policeman's Helmet Tops London Spire; Officials Puzzled

LONDON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Dawn broke today on a startling sight at Westminister: The tallest spire which towers over Parliament was wearing a policeman's helmet.

The top of the spire is 250 feet from the ground. The last 15 feet are absolutely bare of footholds. And last night there was a dense fog.

There isn't a guess on how the helmet got up there.

O'Dwyer, Former Model Cut Short Planned Weekend Trip

RYE LAKE, N. Y., Nov. 19 — Mayor William O'Dwyer and beautiful Sloan Simpson, who had planned to weekend in Saratoga Springs, returned to New York today because the mayor said the press intruded.

New York City's chief executive and the former model, who have been linked romantically, landed at the Westchester county airport in a New York City police plane which had been dispatched to the upstate resort for them.

No one had an opportunity to talk with the couple. They rushed from the plane to an awaiting limousine and sped away.

O'Dwyer apparently still was in a huff at the press this morning.

Burial Slated Today For Hale Center Man

HALE CENTER, Nov. 19 (Special) — Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon in the Hale Center Methodist church for Ben Eugene Warren, 64, who died Friday.

Warren had liven in Dodson for several years before coming to Hale Center last fall to work in a cotton gin here.

Warren is survived by his wife; six sons, Eugene, Frankie and Fred Warren of Hale Center, Denver Warren of Weather, Elbert and Gerald Warren of Dodson; two daughters, Mrs. H. Monkres and Nellie Warren of Hale Center and four grandchildren.

Burial will be in the Hale Center cemetery under the direction of the Lemons Funeral home of Plainview.

WASHINGTON NEW PORT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dredging operations have begun in the Potomac river that will make Washington accessible to 10,000-ton ocean vessels. The Board of Trade says a steamship line serving the Caribbean area has said it would like to dock at Washington.

Downtown Store Is Robbed Here

out. Shut up!"

As they released him, one of the bandits in the front seat turned and shook Skibell's hand saying:

"Goodnight. Better luck next time."

Skibell said he looked back at the car after he had walked about 50 feet up the highway, getting the description of the automobile. He was picked up a short time later by a passing motorist and returned to Lubbock. He was unable to identify the driver of the car which had picked him up.

West Texas Alert Sounded

A West-Texas wide alert was broadcast for the men with special attention to officers in the Vernon and Wichita Falls area.

The bandits gained additional time for their escape when employes at the store decided to obey the warning delivered as the men left and delayed calling police for nearly 30 minutes.

Skibell was held by his captors for an estimated 15 minutes.

Large Saturday night crowds thronging the streets a short distance east of the store failed to hamper the bandits in their getaway.

Employes Are Named

Employes in the store at the time of the robbery, other than Curtis, Skibell and Turner, were Mrs. Turner, E. O. Quinn, Norma Skibell, a Mr. Timmons and an unidentified salesman.

All were highly impressed with the methodical coolness of the bandits and their familiarity with the personnel and surroundings of the store.

Gunmen Not Nervous

"None of the gunmen seemed nervous or rushed," Curtis said. "They knew just what they wanted, where to get it and how to go about it."

The man stationed near the cash register during the holdup paused for a drink of water at a fountain near the door leading to the room containing the safe, Curtis said. As the bandits left the store he took another drink.

Officers later attempted to lift the bandit's fingerprints from the drinking fountain—a type operated by thumb pressure—and results were being studied early today.

Skibell told newsmen that any loss up to $2,000 would be covered by insurance.

Curtis, first man to encounter the bandits, is head of the science department at the Levelland High school. He works at the store each Saturday, he said.

Descriptions Given

Skibell said the men were about 25-years-old, and well dressed.

Two of the suspects he described as being about five feet eight inches tall, weighing 155 pounds. The other was said to be six feet one inch tall, weighing 180 pounds. The tallest gunman wore a light-color suit and tan coat.

Other witnesses, however, said the men appeared several years younger than the age supplied by Skibell. They gave their ages as about 21 or 22. All, they said wore hats.

Story Of Wild Ride

"Aren't you Skibell?"

"I said I was, and he asked: 'Where's the money?' "

Skibell said he told Joe V. Turner, store manager to "open the safe. Let them have it. Let them have it all."

As the men were leaving, one of them said, "You come on with us if you want to be alive," Skibell related.

"We went out the front door and went east on Broadway to the alley. Then we went south down the alley to a car parked about 20 feet from Thirteenth street. They put me in the back seat with one of the men who held a gun on me."

Hit 85 MPH

"They drove east out of town as fast as the car would go." He said the car, a 1945 or 1946 Chevrolet two-door coach, hit speeds up to 85 miles an hour on the Lubbock-Idalou highway.

During the ride, Skibell said one of the men remarked: "The first thing is to get the money and the next thing is to get away. That's what we are doing."

"One of the men asked me why I was chewing on my cigar. I told him that was the way I smoked all cigars. They asked if they got all the money. I said yes, you got all the money, boys.

Pleaded With Men

"I began to try to plead and reason with them to let me go. I pointed out that they didn't want to carry me through the next town, that the police might be looking for them. I told them that they might not be recognized in the next town but that someone might know me."

One of the men replied: "You haven't been in Lubbock long. Nobody knows you."

The information was correct. Skibell has been in Lubbock about three months.

"I was afraid the police might be following and there would be some shooting business and I didn't want to get mixed up in that. That's why I wanted them to let me out before they came to the next town.

Told To Shut Up

"They never cursed me, but they told me that they would let me know when they wanted to let me out and to shut up," Skibell said.

"I finally talked them into letting me out. They stopped on the highway and told me to start walking and not look back."

Skibell said the man in the front seat shook his hand and said:

"Good night. Better luck next time."

"I walked down the highway about 50 feet and looked back when I heard the car moving. They really took off in a hurry.

"I kept on walking toward Lubbock and finally flagged down a ride after walking about three to five miles. The man who picked me up told me his name but I was so excited that I forgot it. He let me out in front of the Economy."

Skibell said it was the first time he had ever been robbed.

"The men seemed to know me but I had never seen them before. But I'd know them if I saw them again." He said they were all around 25 years of age.

He estimated the total loot was "between $1,000 and $1,500," but added that the exact figure could not be determined without a further check. He said the store had insurance which would cover a loss up to about $2,000.

Missing Fliers Saved

Then he flew back to Kindley field.

The Haida was reported steaming toward Bermuda at 20 knots, and is expected to arrive in approximately 15 hours, that is, sometime tomorrow morning.

Officials directing the search sent their anxious hunters over a 100,000-square mile area.

Upon receiving reports that two of the men definitely were lost and 18 rescued they called off the huge hunt which cost the lives of five men yesterday when a B-29 plane crashed in Tampa Bay, Fla.

The rescue climaxed an unprecedented hunt following the plunge of the big ship Wednesday when it ran out of fuel and when its radio equipment was impaired.

The plane, commanded by Lt. Col. John Grabel, jr., was one of 16 of the 22nd Bombardment group, 15th Air Force, enroute to Britain from March Air Field in California for a three-months' training period.

The plane had been due in Bermuda at 8:10 a. m. Wednesday. Its radio navigation equipment became faulty, bad weather further hampered it, and search planes sent out to act as guides could not make contact. Just before the fuel supply was exhausted the crew messaged that they would "ditch" the plane.

A new radio signal received in Bermuda on a distress frequency at noon preceded the finding of the survivors three days after they took to the rafts. Red flares and weak radio signals previously had been seen and heard.

But bearings taken on that signal put it at a point 500 miles east-northeast of Bermuda. Three planes sped to the area; others meanwhile had been steadily criss-crossing the area to a point 600 miles north of Bermuda.

American and Canadian ships as well as U. S. Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard planes and RAF airmen aided in the search which was plagued yesterday by squally weather and mist.

The weather opened up to "visibility fair" today to aid the scores of men participating in the search.

Aboard the plane when it crashed were these crewmen and passengers:

Lt. Col John Grable, jr., 31, commander, of March Field, Calif.;

First Lt. Ernest W. Oliver, 27, co-pilot, of Abilene, Texas;

Capt. Joseph J. Petrosino, 29, navigator, of East Providence, R. I.;

First Lt. Leonard D. Culberson, 28, bombardier, of San Francisco, Calif.;

First Lt. Ralston P. Bennett, 27, radar operator, of Crystal City, Mo.;

S/Sgt. John J. Harris, 35, engineer, Braddock, Pa.;

S/Sgt. Perry C. Alfred, 27, radio operator, Greenville, S. C.;

S/Sgt. Lyle I. Pound, 24, gunner, of Riverside, Calif.;

S/Sgt. John O. Burch, 28, gunner, Los Angeles;

Pfc. Robert H. Dobson, 19, gunner, Decatur, Ill. ;

T/Sgt. William W. Johnson, 29, ground crew, Beverly Hills, Calif.;

M/Sgt. Roy H. Coulter, 46, ground crew, Beverly Hills, Calif.;

S/Sgt. William H. Pratt, 26, ground crew, Brockton, Mass.;

Cpl. Bryce W. Neal, 20, ground crew, Sault Ste Marie, Mich.;

S/Sgt. Manuel R. Oropeza, 31, ground crew, Globe, Ariz.;

Cpl. Raymond Breit, 32, ground crew, Arlington, Calif.;

Cpl. Lawrence A. Fry, 24, ground crew, Los Angeles;

Cpl. William H. Ciston, 20, ground crew, Ontario, Calif.;

Capt. Wilford B. Jones, 30, ground weather officer, Riverside, Calif.

Sighting of debris believed to be luggage of the missing plane was reported yesterday at a point about 260 miles northeast of Bermuda.

The lives of five American airmen have been given to the search. Another B-29 taking off for the area yesterday crashed into Tampa Bay, Fla. Four other crewmen on board were injured.

Industry Strives

steelworkers lieutenants mopped up the bulk of the holdout remnants — involving some 72,000 workers—since big steel signed.

The Armco Steel Corp. came to terms with the union today. It employs 8,685 workers in six plants located at Ashland, Ky., Baltimore, Kansas City, Houston, and Linden, Tex., and Sand Springs, Okla.

The agreement follows the Bethlehem pattern—$100 pensions, including social security and a five-cent hourly insurance program to which both employe and employer contribute.

The picture in coal was not altogether bright, however.

The bituminous pits east of the Mississippi are producing under a truce which will end November 30.

What happens then depends on Lewis. President Truman has indicated he will invoke the Taft-Hartley law if the miner's boss resumes the strike. Lewis and the operators have scheduled no further meetings on their contract dispute.

BUSY BROADWAY — Motorists stopping on Texas Ave. for the light at Broadway any time Saturday afternoon were invariably confronted with a spectacle similar to the one shown above. At times the ranks would thin, but on the next green light, they would file across as strong as ever. In this picture, all activity to the other side of the surging crowd on the crosswalk was blotted out with the exception of the truck, loaded with harvest hands heading home. Or perhaps the truck was just arriving, and the boys and girls, men and women, toddlers and infants it carried were released to swell the number of the masses covering every square foot of sidewalk space Saturday. (Staff Photo by Emmett Shockley.)

TIME TO GO HOME — It has been a busy day for the Rodriquez family from Fabens, and mama and papa are thinking about going home. To little Maria, the world was full of wonderful things Saturday, but a few minutes later she was asleep in mama's arms as they walked back to the truck. (Staff Photo.)

Sherman Declares

bitter controversy when he charged that the Pentagon unification policies are "nibbling to death" the Navy and its air arm.

Solons Offer Aid

His view was shared by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) World War II Marine flight officer, who volunteered to defend Crommelin if Sherman acceded to his court martial demand.

McCarthy, from a sick bed at Naval Medical Center, accused the general staff of erecting an "iron curtain" of "secrecy" in its operations and seeking to obtain "almost unlimited control of the nation's economy in peace and war."

Crommelin, who has been transferred to the Pacific coast as air officer of the Western Sea command, said that he hoped the next session of Congress will continue its unification investigation. He made clear that he has no intention of resigning. Crommelin declared:

"My personal welfare is not the real issue in this case.

"I regret this action of Adm. Sherman, for it prevents further open court discussion of the real cause of the grave concern of most naval officers for the security of the nation.

Prussian System Recalled

"This concern stems from the old Prussian general staff system of control of the defense department, which is totalitarian in its organization and administration."

Crommelin said that "fortunately this condition is now becoming a matter of serious interest on the part of millions of civilians and many senators and representatives." The captain said:

"I hope that when Congress reconvenes it will continue its investigation of the Prussian general staff type of control which is creeping into the democratic processes of government."

Amarillo Man Killed

head injury received when thrown from his car against the front bumper of the Chevrolet.

Partolmen said they were investigating the possibility that Russell's car had struck the rear end of the pickup he was attempting to pass. Broken glass from a tail light was found on the highway, but officers had not learned who was driving the pickup.

An ambulance from Lemons funeral home in Plainview took the dead man and the injured to the hospital in Hale Center.

Family Is Notified

Russell's body was taken on to the Lemons Funeral home and his family in Amarillo was notified.

A cattle broker with the George Porter Cattle company, Russell had been a resident of Amarillo since 1923. His residence was listed as the Amarillo hotel. He was a member of the Methodist church and a Mason.

Funeral services were still pending, but probably will be held Tuesday in Amarillo.

Survivors include his wife, Myrtle; a daughter, Mrs. E. S. (Pat) Bourassa; his mother, Mrs. A. W. Poteet; and two sisters, Mrs. V. E. Jolly and Mrs. George Porter. All are of Amarillo.

NEWS BRIEFS

Classes at Texas Technological college will cease for the holidays with the last individual class on Wednesday and be resumed with the first class Monday, according to Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

Police were informed Saturday of the loss of a 12-year-old Boston bulldog belonging to Mrs. A. M. Jones of 2322 Eighteenth. The dog described as having white hair on its neck and paws has been missing since Wednesday. A reward has been offered.

Decorations

use of about five miles of spruce roping, more than three miles of electric wiring and nearly 5,000 colored electric bulbs.

Merchants Share Costs

The merchants in the decorated areas are prorating the cost of the program among themselves, totaling about $3,500. The city will attend to the erection and removal of the ornaments and will supply the electricity to illuminate them—a contribution estimated at about $2,000 in value.

The program is less elaborate than members of the decorations committee had planned initially.

They considered, in the beginning, the use of glistening aluminum roping instead of spruce. This was abandoned when they learned such decorating would run the cost to about $8,000.

Heavy Expenses Avoided

They then considered the use of aluminum on Broadway and spruce on the other streets. Two sample aluminum strands were strung on Broadway at Avenues J and K. This plan of decorating would have doubled the cost to the Broadway merchants. Most of them didn't go for it, so that plan was abandoned, too.

The cost of the spruce roping has been prorated among merchants in the decorated area on the basis of 65 cents a front foot. Aluminum would have cost about $1.30 a foot.

Members of the committee said most of the merchants are contributing their share toward the cost. As usual, however, a few are helping themselves to a "free ride."

Christmas Music Planned

Contributing to the holiday atmosphere will be Christmas carols, music and other chimes to be broadcast over loudspeakers on the top of the Hilton and Lubbock hotels at intervals each week day.

The first reports from business establishments indicate they will be decorated somewhat more elaborately than last year. This informatioon indicated also that a good many firms which did not decorate their exteriors last year plan to do so this season.

Contributing to this prospect are that decorations are more plentiful, the general cost is a little smaller and most important of all, the competition for business is keener.

A whirlwind which sprang up when the main fire was under control caused the deaths of 84 firefighters in France's recent disastrous forest fire, an inquiry committee decided.

Building Record Set

opment is granted a building permit before the close of business Dec. 31, that permit alone will give positive assurance of Lubbock's largest building year in history.

It is the $2,000,000 Highland Place project from Thirty-fourth to Thirty-eighth streets at Dagley and Lincoln avenues. The job includes 123 duplexes, to provide 246 dwelling units for rent.

The Highland Place addition has not yet been incorporated into the city, but the process is under way and it is considered likely that a building permit may be issued in 1949.

Dollar Volume Short

Paradoxically, the month-by-month dollar volume of building in 1949 has been generally short of 1948. The increase this year has been mainly attributable to several large projects, notably the $1,250,000 courthouse building and Modern Manors.

The following table shows a monthly comparison of the two years:

Month	1948	1949
January	$ 719,792	$ 328,209
February	1,259,097	833,110
March	1,148,248	1,112,869
April	1,091,739	831,012
May	960,715	855,761
June	1,345,982	1,834,158
July	2,060,639	720,327
August	887,564	1,110,102
September	2,023,504	976,257
October	486,549	1,910,475
November	1,618,,838	3,313,452*
December	1,574,706	?

*First 19 days of month.

Five Months Exceed Million

Thus it is apparent that while 1948 had eight months in each of which the volume was $1,000,000 a month or more, so far only five months of 1949 have exceeded that volume.

As of Saturday, with the year's total standing at $13,825,732, Lubbock was $1,345,641 short of last year's all-time record $15,171,373.

Last year Lubbock set the pace for all Texas cities with a higher volume of building per captia than any other municipality in the state —including Houston.

Building observers here predict that the city will do the same thing in 1949.

One marked trend in 1949 has been the high incidence of "suburban" building, which fails to show in the city's building totals. Extensive residential developments north of the city and on Levelland highway resulted in construction of more luxury-class homes—$20,000 or above—than ever before in the city's history.

Also, industrial building outside the city limits has been heavy. One project alone, the Producers Grain corporation cooperative elevator near Slaton highway, cost an estimated $1,200,000.

If these nearby homes and industrial plants could be included in the city's official building total, it is unquestionable that the 1949 building would now be approaching $25,000,000.

Plane Hits House

bounce off the house next door.

"I grabbed my wife and we ran. Then everything fell apart."

Perry said he shoved his wife, Edna, and his 14-year-old daughter, Judy, through a window as the house crumbled around them.

Another occupant of the house, Mrs. Bertha Witzke, 76, mother of Harold, managed to get to the back porch where she was trapped. When rescuers finally got to her, they said, they couldn't grasp her "without the skin pulling right off her body."

The Perrys were treated for cuts at Saratoga hospital and then released.

The plane was coming into Detroit from Teterboro, N. J., where it took off last night. Airline officials said it was loaded with Christmas merchandise for department stores.

Johnny Jones, 50, Pioneer Resident, Dies At Slaton

SLATON, Nov. 19. (Special)—Johnny Jones, 50, South Plains resident for almost 35 years, died in Mercy hospital here at 11:15 p. m., today. He had been ill for about 11 months.

Jones had operated a grocery store in Sundown for about eight years. Prior to that, he had lived in Slaton about 25 years. Mrs. Jones is the daughter of Dave Hoffman of Slaton.

Services will be in the Methodist church here Monday. But other arrangements are pending. Williams Funeral home will have charge of burial in Slaton cemetery.

Survivors are his wife; four brothers, W. N., of Century, Fla., S. O., of Cantonment, Fla., G. L., of Arrey, N. M., and C. D., of Morton; and three sisters, Mrs. J. T. Grimes, Mobile, Ala., Mrs. A. G. Chun, Alabama, and Mrs. G. L. Ledbetter, Century, Fla.

Prominent Goliad Rancher Is Shot

GOLIAD, Nov. 19. (AP)—R. A. Thompson, 60, retired Goliad county rancher and oil man, was found at his ranch home early today, killed by a shotgun charge.

Justice of the Peace W. P. Baumgartner, sr., said he would not return an inquest verdict until after the funeral has been held. It will be at 10 a. m. here tomorrow. Baumgartner said it will be Monday before he records the verdict.

The justice said Thompson was found in a bedroom of the home by his wife. A gun was in Thompson's hand, Baumgartner said.

Mrs. Thompson served as vice chairman of the state Democratic party under the late Gov. Beauford Jester. She was prominent in Democratic affairs for some time before she joined the Republican party recently. She is a sister of Duval county Judge George Parr.

Former Lubbock Man To Be Buried Today

Funeral services will be held today at 2:30 p. m. for Elmer R. Waltermire, 67, who died Saturday morning in a hospital in Hot Springs, N. M.

Waltermire had formerly lived in Muleshoe and Lubbock, but at the time of his death his home was in Shamrock.

Services will be held at the McDonald Funeral home with the Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of the Arnett-Benson Baptist church, officiating and the Rev. A. W. Blaine, pastor of the Muleshoe Baptist church assisting. Burial will be in Tech Memorial park.

Waltermire is survived by a son, R. D. Waltermire of Childress; four daughters, Mrs. Bonnie G. Valentine of Shamrock, Mrs. Ruby D. Parker of Bryan, Mrs. Virginia Lee Riza of Cleburne, and Mrs. Anna Mae Garner of Muleshoe; and seven grandchildren.

Lockney Woman Kill

few miles west, and then taken on to Colorado City. His injuries, none of which were serious, included a broken right kneecap. None of the passengers in the other cars were hurt except for minor bruises, it was said.

The Cates were en route from Big Spring to Odessa to visit a sister of Mrs. Cates, Mrs. C. O. Whitehead.

The body of Mrs. Cates was taken to Eberley Funeral home here. An ambulance from Carter Funeral home of Lockney is to arrive here Sunday to transport the body back to Lockney for services and burial. Definite funeral arrangements had not been made late tonight.

Survivors include three sons, Rev. E. L. Hooker of Clovis, N. M., John Hooker and Charles Hooker, both of Amarillo; two daughters, Mrs. Kirby Ford of Lockney and Mrs. Audrey Vaughn of Spur; and a brother, H. H. Mills of Lockney.

She is also survived by several other brothers and sisters, but their names were not known here tonight. None other is believed to live in this area, however.

Labor Council Holds Thanksgiving Dinner

The Central Labor council of Lubbock held its annual Thanksgiving dinner at the Hilton hotel Saturday night, with approximately 50 members and guests attending.

Roy Bass, vice-president of the Lubbock Kiwanis club, was the principal speaker. He talked on "What the "W" in West Texas Means." After his talk, he and Mrs. Bass teamed up at the piano to give a humorous skit.

The Chord Bored Four, a barbershop quartette, consisting of John Zimmerman, Gil Wallace, Lewis Faw and "Squeaky" Roberson entertained with several selections. In appreciation, council Pres. James C. Sharp presented each with a monogrammed shaving mug and brush.

Guests included Guy Victory, president of the Rotary club, and Mrs. Victory: Groves Denman, president of the Lions club, and Mrs. Denman; and Earl Creel, V.F.W. post commander, and Mrs. Creel. The Rev. J. M. Comer gave the invocation and the benediction.

Car Recovered Here

99th district grand jury.

Wilson at first told police he had bought the car, then said a relative had bought it. The car, when recovered, bore a license not registered to it, officials said.

Two other automobiles were reported stolen. L. C. Chism of Ropesville said his black 1936 Ford sedan, license AR 7135, was stolen from Queen City; negro residential addition.

A 1929 Chevrolet convertible was reported stolen from Jim Sharp of West hall, Texas Tech. It was parked in 1200-block Broadway when taken, Sharp said.

Several investigations stemmed from violence reported early Saturday.

S. D. Lennox, 26, a negro known as "White Child," was arrested at 7:35 a. m., almost six hours after Willie Robinson, another negro, had been seriously cut with a knife at Mickey Mouse cafe in the negro quarters.

Witnesses Are Questioned

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin took a statement from the victim in a hospital, then questioned several witnesses who appeared at the police station for that purpose.

A charge of assault with intent to murder subsequently was filed in the case. D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, set bond of $1,500.

While still working on the case, Croslin was informed of another cutting, Birdo Steen, jr., 24, a negro of 117 East Nineteenth, was stabbed in the chest and the muscles of the right arm in an altercation about 2:30 o'clock on East Nineteenth.

Private Quarrel Joined

Officials said they were informed that Birdo had been drinking and interfered in a private quarrel between his brother Joe Steen and Joe's wife. Joe had a knife.

Birdo decided he did not wish to prosecute.

Otto W. Stieber, about 30, posted $500 bond returnable instantly on a fugitive warrant charging he had fled from a felony offense filed in Michigan.

The warrant was issued by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, upon affidavit of Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson that Stieber had been charged in recorder's court at Detroit with non-support of two minor children and that he had fled to Lubbock county.

Michigan authorities indicated they would attempt to extradite Stieber unless he waives that necessity.

Two Men Fined

Two liquor law violation judgments were filed Saturday afternoon by Judge Davies. Charles McCormick, a negro, was fined $200 and costs. Alfonso Lopez, 36, was fined $250 and costs.

L. H. Akins, 17 of Lubbock Route 5, was placed under $100 peace bond. His wife Jo Akins made affidavit that he struck and threatened to kill her. The bond was posted.

Bon dof $750 was set for Raymond C. Collum, 21, charged in Robertson's court with wife desertion.

Peace bond of $200 was posted by Claud Magar, 36, of 1900-block East Sixth, D. W. Robertson, justice of the peace, said.

The following judgments were returned by County Judge Walter Davies:

Robert Sims, about 50, a negro, $200 and costs, liquor law violation; Fred Hughes and Carl Smith, $25 and costs each, aggravated assault in a case filed Wednesday; Elbert McFan, 38, a negro, $25 and costs, aggravated assault.

Simms, police said, had been sought since several cases of beer were found in a raid of his premises in Dump Ground addition east of the Santa Fe railroad tracks.

India has decided that English will be the official language for the next 15 years; after that it will be Hindi.

Child's Attacker Sought By Police

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Twenty police patrol cars continued a search throughout Houston tonight for a well-dressed negro man who raped an 11-year-old white girl.

The child was lured away from the play ground at St. Mary's Catholic church, taken to a weed patch behind the church and attacked in a ditch.

Police arrested a 25-year-old negro early this afternoon. Inspector L. D. Morrison, chief of the police crime prevention bureau, tonight said he did not consider the man much of a suspect.

Child Nearly Hysterical

Police had photographs of two other men and planned to show them to the still nearly hysterical child.

Attendants at a hospital said the girl had been raped.

The pretty brunette child, a student in the sixth grade at the nearby Sutton elementary school, said her attacker smelled of whiskey.

She told police she struggled during the attack but "kept my hands over my eyes."

The man drew her away from St. Mary's Catholic school playground in a fashionable section of the city, officers said, by saying:

"Father Bagby wants to see you." (The Rev. J. T. Bagby is rector of the nearby St. James Episcopal church.

She went with him.

Police gave this version of the attack:

The negro pulled the girl into a weed patch, hit her in the face and attacked her. She said the man warned her not to tell anyone "or I will stick a knife in your stomach."

She stayed in the weeds about 15 minutes before she returned to the playground and gave the alarm. She was afraid, she said.

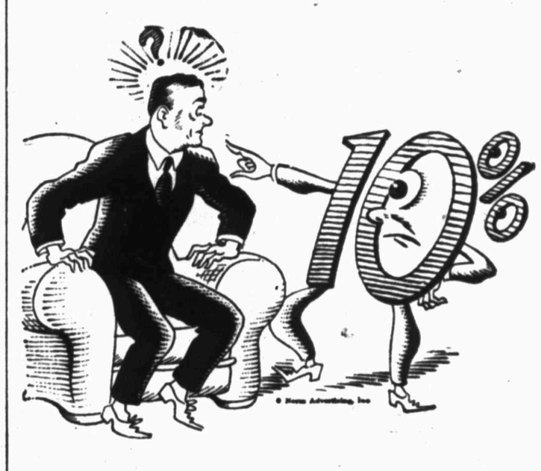

YOUTH HELD UNDER HEAVY GUARD IN IDAHO SLAYING

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Nov. 19.(INS)—A 16-year-old youth, who has admitted killing little Glenda Joyce Brisbois of Burley, Ida., "just to see someone die," was held under heavy guard in Twin Falls today.

Neale Butterfield, swaggering high school junior, was taken to Twin Falls because authorities in Burley feared mob action if he were returned.

Sheriff Jess Carlton described the heavy guard as "routine," and added that he did not fear that the prisoner would try suicide. He said:

"There's not much danger of Butterfield trying suicide. He has nothing to do it with."

Parade Of Tech ROTC Units To Take Place On Campus Dec. 1

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A scarcity of uniforms for the Reserve Officers Training corps at Texas Tech is expected to be sufficiently alleviated to allow a scheduled corps parade on the campus Dec. 1, according to Commanding Officer Lt. Col. R. P. Riordan.

Trouble was incurred in obtaining the uniforms this year because of a misunderstanding of the manner in which requisitions should be submitted, Col. Riordan stated. A shipment of shirts and shoes for the ground forces has been received, however, and other shipments are expected soon.

Retreat Ceremony Planned

The corps parade Dec. 1 will be participated in by most of the 525 cadets now at Tech and will include complete retreat parade ceremonies, Col. Riordan declared. It will take place at the Tech Memorial circle in the center of the main campus and will be the first public demonstration by the group this year.

Polishing up of parade procedures and other military directions will be performed by the Tech corps cadets before the scheduled date, Col. Riordan said. Drills are now being conducted with most of the men in uniform, he said.

Cadet leaders are expected to run their men through more complicated drills beginning next week, since only basic training maneuvers have been run so far, Col. Riordan declared. Training is on schedule this year, he said, according to a calendar worked out by officers last summer.

Change Causes Mixup

A change in the manner of submitting requisitions which requires that air unit uniforms be sent through separate Air Force channels instead of jointly with ground forces as before caused the mix-up in obtaining clothing issues for new members this year, the commanding officer stated.

Requisition for the clothing was submitted for the third time before it was properly cleared by quartermaster officers, but enough of the second and third-year cadets at Tech had old uniforms to keep the shortage from being acute, Col. Riordan stated.

The new blue Air Force uniform will not be available for ROTC use until next year, the Tech commander stated. Meanwhile, the air unit will wear the same regular uniform as the ROTC ground unit, he said.

In answer to queries concerning the outstanding unit award won by Tech in 1947, Col. Riordan asserted that such awards have been discontinued and that units are now judged either satisfactory or unsatisfactory. The Tech unit was judged satisfactory last year, he said.

Members of the ROTC are given from one to two hours of drill each week and must wear their uniforms on Thursdays. Commissions in the U. S. Army or Air Force may be taken up on option at the time of graduation from college, if all the training requirements have been met by the individual.

No trouble has been incurred in receiving supplies of other equipment besides clothing, the commanding officer stated, since rifles and instruments are obtained on separate requisitions.

He expressed confidence that no further difficulties would be met in receiving ample clothing shipments because there is now a clear understanding of the method for submitting the orders.

Musical Research Official In City

Research for an encyclopedia of music and dance in Texas now being compiled, centered in Lubbock Saturday with the arrival of William J. Perlman, Los Angeles, who is directing publication.

The book, to be entitled "Music and Dance in Texas and the Southwest," will contain articles by outstanding musicologists on the various phases of music in the area, and also will feature a section on musical activites and personalities in prominence today.

E. Clyde Whitlock, music editor for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, will edit the book, assisted by John Rosenfeld, music editor for the Dallas Morning News, who will serve as associate editor.

The book, which will cover musical activities and trends throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico, Louisiana, and Arkansas, will be out by March 1, according to Perlman, director of the Bureau of Musical Research in Los Angeles.

Perlman, who has been working in the state for about a year, said he was impressed by the apparent "renaissance" of music taking place among West Texans.

He will be in the city until Tuesday, making his headquarters in the Lubbock hotel. His next stop will be Amarillo.

New Presbyterian Church At Brownfield To Be Dedicated

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19—The new $55,000 First Presbyterian church, at East Broadway and D streets, will be dedicated Dec. 18 in an all-day service, according to Rev. J. Preston Murphy, pastor.

The first services in the new church will be held late this month.

The auditorium of the new building will seat 200. An educational room, with seating facilities for about 100, is to be added later.

Annual Thanksgiving Services Planned By Brownfield Pastors

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19—The annual community Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Terry County Ministerial association, will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 23, at the First Baptist church. Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist church, will preside.

Brownfield school children will attend the service at the church, from where the school buses will leave at 4 p. m. The schools will be closed Thursday and Friday for the holiday period.

Program Listed

The following program will be presented at the Thanksgiving service:

"America, the Beautiful" and "My Faith Looks up to Thee," by the Brownfield High school band, Richard Young directing.

Song, "All Hail the Power," by united choir, with Gerald Nelson directing.

Scripture reading and prayer by William J. Spreen, minister of the First Christian church.

Song, "Blessed Be the Name," by united choir. Prayer by Rev. J. Preston Murphy, pastor of First Presbyterian church. Choir, "Serve the Lord with Gladness." Sermon by M. A. McDonald. "America" by high school band.

Dismissal prayer by Rev. W. T. Sparkman, pastor of West Side Baptist church.

Board Plans "Pounding" For Nursery In Carver Heights

An old-fashioned "pounding," in which Lubbock residents will give food to Carver Heights nursery, is to be conducted Wednesday, John Austin, chairman of the board of white persons which helps direct and promote the nursery, announced Saturday.

Gifts may be taken any time Tuesday to the nursery, which is located at 2313 E. Ave E, said Austin.

Food of all kinds except cereal will be welcomed, he said. The noon meal is furnished daily to approximately 20 children.

Some fresh fruits or vegetables will be welcomed, but non-perishable foods are needed for the most part, he said.

Permilla Woods is superintendent of the nursery, in which care is given children from two to six years of age.

Anyone, either white or negro, who would like to see the nursery ay visit it from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mondays through Fridays.

Nursery officials hope a state license may be obtained for the nursery in the near future.

Hudson Offers The Pacemaker

Hudson Motor Car Company has invaded a lower-priced field with the new Pacemaker, a compact five-foot high car incorporating Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design and offering many new improvements. Models of the new car will be on display starting Monday at the Pup Thomas Hudson Co., Main and Ave. Q.

The Pacemaker's "step-down" design results in low-built beauty with long, free flowing lines, which despite the automobile's compact size, give it a pleasing symmetry of line and excellent proportions.

Front and rear fenders have been absorbed into the body and are continuous from headlight to tail lamps. An embossed panel beginning at the front wheels forms a speedline. The fenders appear to be a single unit with the body but actually are separate from the body and are easily removed or installed.

The Pacemaker's frontal lines are massive. The four-louvered grille has bars that become wider as they near the bumper. Twin struts from a triangle with the illuminated Pacemaker emblem at the top, centered in the top grille bar.

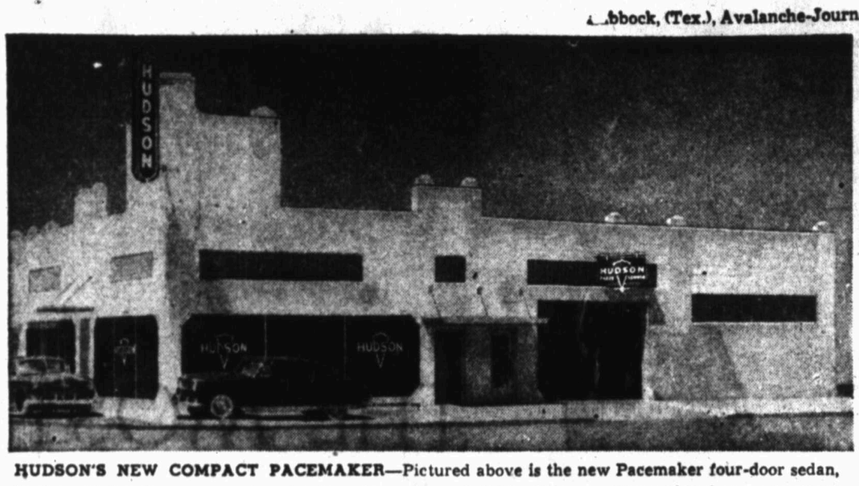

Pacemaker interiors are roomy, with both front and rear seats wider than the car ih high. Seating room measurements are 64 inches in front and rear. The Pacemaker has 37 1/4 inches of head room in both front and rear compartments.

An important feature of the Pacemaker is a much-improved view of the road ahead. The wide, curved 758-square-inch windshield in combination with short hood permits unusually wide-angle vision.

Topping the list of new mechanical features is the completely new, high-compression 112-horsepower Pacemaker six-cylinder engine. Top performance and economy are achieved by use of a dual-jet, triple range down-draft carburetor. The engine uses chrome alloy cylinder blocks, eliminating the need for frequent valve grinding and assuring long motor life by reducing cylinder and valve and tappet guide wear.

The new Pacemaker also introduces Hudson's Super-matic drive, the only automatic transmission on the market today that can be changed to conventional drive by the touch of a button, provided for that purpose on the instrument panel.

Pacemakers, which have a wheelbase of 119 inches and an over-all length of 201½ inches, are available in three-passenger business coupes, six-passenger club coupes, six-passenger two-door broughams, six-passenger four-door sedans and six-passenger convertible broughams. All body types are offered in 12 solid colors and four-two-tone combinations.

HUDSON'S NEW COMPACT PACEMAKER—Pictured above is the new Pacemaker four-door sedan, Hudson Motor Car company's entry in a lower priced field. The new Pacemaker has a wheelbase of 119 inches and an overall length of 201½ inches. New models are on display at Pup Thomas Hudson Co., Main and Ave. Q.

National Guard Facilities At Brownfield Are Boosted

Brownfield, Nov. 19—The Terry county commissioners court has voted to share a third of the cost of building a National Guard supply room on the west end of the Veterans hall. Howard-Henson Post No. 269 of the American Legion and the city of Brownfield had already voted to share a third each of the building costs, which are estimated at $3,600.

The supply room will have 1,000 feet of floor space. Its completion will enable local National Guard officials to apply for federal designation of a unit here. Since the Heavy Mortar company was transferred to Lampassas several months ago, Brownfield guardsmen have been operating as a drill unit of a National Guard artillery company at Lubbock.

Raiders Roll Over New Mexico's Lobos, 27-0

Burk Pitches Bears To Win Over SMU

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 19.—Tall Adrian Burk, Baylor's man with the slingshot, knocked down Southern Methodist 35-26 today to keep the Southwest conference football championship race going for another week.

The precision ball-manipulator on Baylor's glittering T formation passed for three touchdowns and set up two more in turning back battling Southern Methodist and its great Doak Walker.

It was Baylor's first victory over SMU since 1936 and puts the conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl up to next Saturday's game at Houston between Baylor and Rice. Rice remained undefeated in conference play by beating Texas Christian 20-14 today. Baylor has lost one game but by beating Rice can tie for the title and get the Cotton bowl bid.

Three TD's For Doak

A crowd of 63,000 watched Baylor break away for two touchdowns in less than nine minutes, then hold on easily against a great exhibition by Walker, who scored three touchdowns.

Southern Methodist won in the statictics, which wasn't much consolation. The Methodists ran and passed for 370 yards to 347 for Baylor but the amazing thing about the game was the accuracy of Burk, the mighty Bear bomber. The big quarterabck connected on nine of 16 throws for 240 yards.

Kyle Rote, powerman of the SMU backfield, was the leading groundgainer of the game with 111 yards on 16 runs. Walker was second with 60 on 19 tries and also passed 13 times, completing seven for 94 yards. Walker punted for an average of 43.0 yards.

But it was Walker who fumbled to give Baylor opportunity for its second touchdown, and his gamble on fourth down in the second period that presented Baylor with the ball on SMU 46 led to the third Bear score.

Bears Strike Quickly

However, the Doaker more than made up for these lapses by his great all-around play and his everlasting threat to the Bears. It was he who took a pass for a touchdown with only eight seconds to go to make the score at least respectable.

Baylor scored on the first play of the game. From his 20-yard line Burk passed to Dudley Parker on the SMU 32 and he ran to a touchdown. Recovering Walker's fumble of a punt on the SMU 33, Baylor got another touchdown just eight minutes later. It came on a 25-yard pass from Burk to J. D. Ison in the end zone.

SMU roared back with a 73-yard drive with Walker going over from the four.

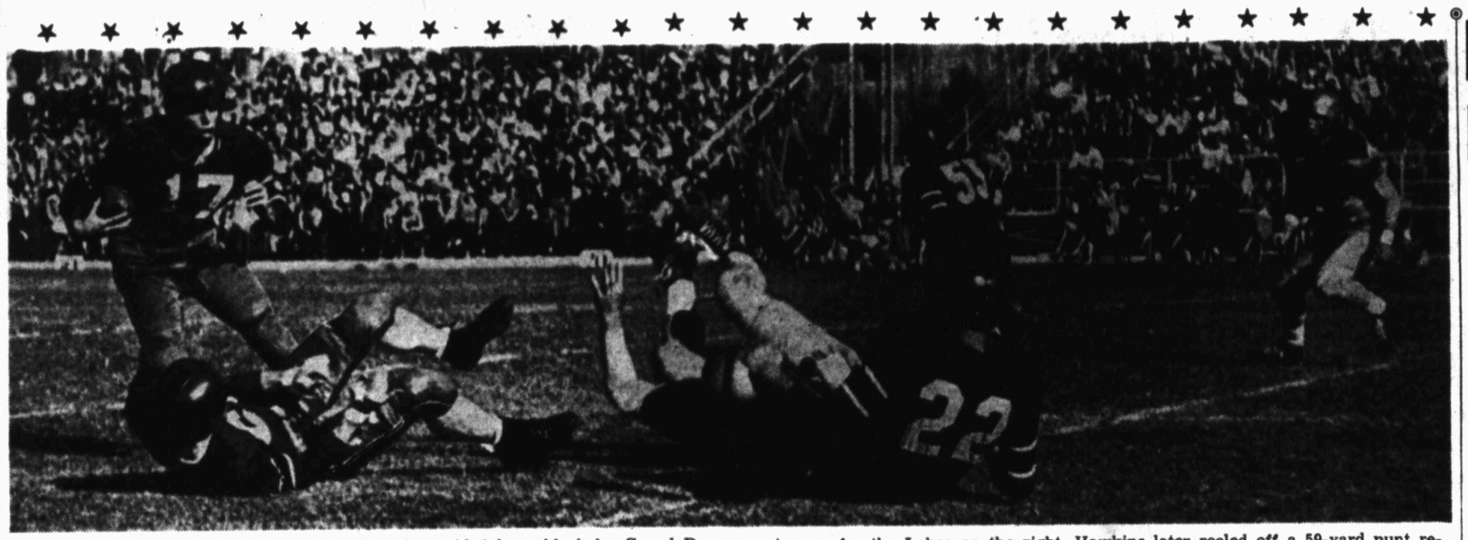

Gamble Fails

It was halfway through the second period that Walker, with nine yards to go for a first down, gambled on fourth down and his pas was incomplete. Baylor took over on the SMU 46. Burk passed to Stan Williams on the 22 and the big wingman ran to a touchdown.

SMU took the third period kickoff and in 12 plays zipped to a touchdown, Walker scoring it on a four-yard run. Gene Huebner intercepted a Walker pass on the Baylor 39 to halt another SMU drive and from here Baylor zoomed to a score. Burk's passes to Williams and Ison set it up with Jerry Mangum crashing over from the four-yard line.

Again SMU stormed back, dashing 66 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown which Rote made from the four.

The next Baylor score was on an 11-yard plunge by Art Sweet after Mit Johnson set it up with a punt return to the SMU 23. Then came SMU's last drive with Fred Benners pitching to Walker 15 yards for a touchdown. Henry Dickerson of Baylor kicked five extra points, Walker two.

Power Drives, Smooth Line Play Help Techsans To Win

10,000 Fans See Tech Overwhelm New Mexicans With Second-Half Tallies

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

ZIMMERMAN FIELD, Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 19.—A hard-charging, alert and magnificent Texas Tech team set the stage for next Saturday's crucial game against Hardin-Simmons by grinding out a second half 27-0 victory over the New Mexico Lobos here this afternoon to sadden a homecoming crowd of 10,000 fans.

The Red Raiders, driving with more power and finesse in the line than they have shown all season, simply overwhelmed the Lobos in the second half. Two touchdowns in the third period and another pair in the final stanza rounded out the scoring. It was one of the largest scores a Raider team had ever rolled up in beating New Mexico at home.

Hawkins Opens Scoring

Quarterback Ernest Hawkins, who rose to even greater heights this afternoon, both offensively and defensively, opened the scoring. He took a punt off the toe of half back Jerry McKown and returned it 59 yards for the first touchdown. Less than two minutes of the half had been played.

The second touchdown came on a 51-yard drive that consumed eight plays, with Fullbock J. W. Thompson plunging one yard for the score. With about four minutes of the final canto gone, Thompson again scored, this time on a brilliant 25-yard romp through the entire Lobo team. And the final score came two and a half minutes later, when Halfback Eural Ramsey plunged from the half yard stripe.

Halfback Tim Hatch converted all three of his efforts, while the first extra point attempt failed from the 22, after Tech had drawn two penalties.

Line Play Sparkles

The story of the game can be wrapped up in the tremendous line play of the Raiders. They smothered the Lobo ball carriers and rushed the passer to such an extent that New Mexico gained a net of only 14 yards in the first half.

Until late in the fourth quarter, when coach Del Morgan cleared his bench, New Mexico again had been held completely in check. The Raiders controlled the play throughout and the Lobos never posed a threat.

It was a great day for the linemen.

Credit for the victory also belongs to Coach Polk Robison, whose scouting proficiency enabled the Raiders to stop the Lobos. Every play the home team attempted to run, the alert linemen rose up, familiar with the intricacies of each sequence.

Only fortune prevented the Raiders from scoring in the first half. They kept knocking at the Lobo door, but it never was opened in the first 30 minutes. The Raiders drove to the 18 once, to the 27 another time, to the 24 on another occasion and to the 27 again. Each time the Lobos demonstrated why they had beaten Colorado.

Second Half Different

But the second half was a different story. Coach Bert Huffman, known for keying up a team at the half, had his team ready. The difference was that the Raiders were even more ready. They played alert, heads-up ball all the way, forced the action and made the breaks of which there were few.

Hawkins' runback of McKown's punt came with shocking suddenness this beautiful November afternood. He gathered the ball in on his own 41, hit for the east side line, picked up blockers and simply outran the remaining Lobo defenders. Key blocks in the run were thrown by Guard Dan Pursel, Tackle Marshall Gettys and End Bill Sharpley. Lobos players were going down like ten pins all over the field and it was only a question of Hawkins being able to run, which he did.

The second score came after the Lobos had held Tech on the New Mexico 12-yard marker. The Raiders held and McKown punted to Quarterback Albert Salem, who took the ball on the Raider 49, where he was stopped immediately.

Hawkins Sets Up Another

The drive started there and Hatch sparked it with a 16-yard carry over left guard, after Hawkins had relieved Salem on the New Mexico 12. Hawkins tossed a pitchout to Thompson and he drove to the Lobo six. Thompson cracked the line for five yards and on the next play went over.

Hawkins set up the third tally, which came soon after the third quarter opened. Quarterback John Hutchins faded to pass on his own 30 and Hawkins intercepted on the Lobo 41. It was the first pass in two years that he had had intercepted.

Halfback Cal Steveson made two yards and Thompson picked up 14 yards on the next two carries. On the fourth carry Thompson pounded through center into the open. He threw off three would-be tacklers and outran the Lobo chasers.

Alert Raider play again set up a touchdown. New Mexico ran the kickoff back to the 28, but a pass was incomplete and a bad pass from center sent the Lobos back to their own 15. Another aerial by McKown, almost intercepted was knocked down, and the Lobos drew a 15-yard penalty back to their own one-yard line.

McKown's fourth down kick, a high, lazy spiral went to the Raiders 45 where Salem gathered it in, returning to the lobo 39 behind good blocking. Thompson swept left end on a pitchout, getting 19 yards, but a 15-yard holding penalty set the Raiders back to their own 46.

Quarterback Milton Rathbone, injured late in the game when his trick right knee went out on him, hit End Dick Jackson on the Lobo 46 and Jackson powered to the 29. Thompson picked up nine yards; a pass failed by inches; and Halfback Herman Bailey made it a first down on the Lobo five with a 15-yard jaunt off right guard.

Lobos Offside Again

Thompson was stopped for a yard gain, and on the next plan the Lobos were penalized to the one for offside. Then came another break, if you wish to call it that. The Lobos were offside again, and on the next play Ramsey jammed his way over the center of the New Mexico line.

That was all the scoring in the game, although with less than five minutes remaining a fumble by Rathbone, when he hurt his knee, gave the Lobos the ball on their own 46.

Tech rose up to stop that drive when Tackle Bill Glidwell intercepted a pass thrown by McKown and returned it to the Tech 32.

The Raiders froze onto the ball, driving to the Lobo 38 before they were stopped. Bailey kicked over the goal and with less than two minutes remaining, the game vir-

Rice Squeezes Past TCU, 20 To 14

Owls Choke Off Desperate Frog Rally To Retain Lead In SWC

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Rice used a granite goal-line defense and a couple of breaks today to squeeze past Texas Christian university, 20-14, and cinch a tie for the Southwest Conference championship.

The big, burly Owls rolled up a three-touchdown lead in the first half, but had to hang on grimly the rest of the game.

Four times Texas Christian scored in the second half, but penalties rubbed out two touchdowns. And at the end a pass interception by Rex Proctor saved Rice's unbeaten record in conference play.

Passes Work Well

Next week the Owls and Baylor will decide which acts as host in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2.

Rice had the answer to Texas Christian's nine-man line, the defense that upset Texas, in the first half. It was deadly flat zone passing, with Tobin Rote doing the tossing and Bob Lantrip and James (Froggie) Williams the catching.

Flat passes played key roles in Rice's first two scores. One, a 31-yarder from Rote to Williams, sparked the Owls' first touchdown march, a 59-yard drive the first time they got the ball. Billy Burkhalter plunged over the goal line from the one.

Early in the second quarter another pass — Rote to Lantrip — ate up 30 yards in a 49-yard drive Burkhalter climaxed with a 12-yard touchdown sprint.

Berry, Morton Shine

John Kelly snagged Lindy Berry's pass minutes after Rice's second touchdown and ran 48 yards for the Owls' third score.

Two extra points by James (Froggie) Williams boosted Rice's half-time margin to 20-0.

TCU, sparked by Berry, playing with a plastic mask to protect his cracked jaw, and big John Morton, stormed back in the third period.

The Horned Frogs' Bob Moorman recovered Lantrip's fumble on Rice's six-yard line. This time the Owl's defense held at the goal.

But TCU cracked back 43 yards for two touchdowns, one that didn't count. After Morton clipped off 33 yards, Berry passed to Morris Bailey in the end zone. An offside penalty nullified it.

Morton got back the five, then one more. This time Berry's pass to Johnny Dunn went on the scoreboard.

Later in the third quarter, Rex Alford broke through to block Sonny Wyatt's kick and Wayne Rogers staggered over the goal line with the ball for the Frog's second score.

Homer Ludiker kicked both extra points.

TCU, which outgained Rice, 323 yards to 264, powered to a first late in the fourth quarter.

The Owls wouldn't budge on two line plunges by Morton. A backfield in motion penalty rubbed out a touchdown sprint by Berry.

George Boal caught Berry's next pass, but inches out of the end zone. That chilled all but the faintest hopes the Frogs had of pulling another upet. This last flickering spark went out when Proctor grabbed Berry's pass after TCU had taken over on the Owl's 26-yard line with less than a minute to play.

Arkansas Bows To W&M, 20-0

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 19. (AP)—William and Mary broke a scoreless defensive duel wide open in the second half here today to drub the Arkansas Razorbacks, 20-0.

The Indians ran and passed 77 yards to open the scoring late in the third quarter and then converted two Arkansas fumbles into fourth-quarter touchdowns.

The passing of Buddy Lex and the line-ramming of Jack Cloud and Ed Magdziak ate up the yardage and brought the scores. But Wiliam and Mary's line made the victory possible. The big line twice stopped the Razorbacks within the five-yard line.

W&M End Vito Ragazzo snagged his 13th touchdown pass of the season, a new national record, for the initial score. It was a 10-yard pass from Lex and capped an Indian drive from their own 23.

Cloud Rams Over

Early in the fourth quarter Arkansas' Jim Rinehart fumbled while trying to return a Lex punt and W&M took the ball on the Razorback 13. Cloud plowed to the 10 and two plays later went through right guard for a touchdown.

Tracy Scott fumbled the ensuing kickoff, with Ed Weber grabbing possession for the Indians on the Arkansas 28. An offside penalty and an 18-yard end run by Lewis moved the ball to the five, and Cloud went over on his third try.

Lex made good on his first two extra point kicks but missed the third.

Arkansas rolled 58 yards on sheer power near the end of the second quarter, only to be stopped at the Indian one. Then in the last five minutes, with Reinhart completing long passes, the Razorbacks got as far as the visitors' five, only to lose the ball on downs again.

Picadors Cop 53-12 Victory

CANYON, Nov. 19. (Special)—West Texas State college's freshmen gave the Texas Tech Picadors unexpected trouble into the second period of today's game here today. Then, with the score tied, 6-6, the youthful Techsans meshed their gears and it became no contest. The final score was 53-12, which was closer than the previous meeting of the two teams at Lubbock.

Tech's youngsters had the ball 13 times and scored on eight of those occasions, never even punting, which gives a fair idea of the difference.

Monahans Impressive

The Picadors rolled up 497 yards on the ground, 68 passing and 27 first downs. Their net yardage was 565.

Waldo Young of Monahans, who scored three times, was the Picadors' most impressive player afoot, but Jim Turner of Monahans was nearly as good and most of the red-clad backs had considerable part in the outcome. The Yearling Buffaloes suffered their fourth setback in five starts this year. Don Seale if Idalou counted twice and Turner, Gene Doss of Fort Worth and Carroll Drye of McAllen, once each. Hudson Routh of Olney hit five of his eight placement attempts.

The Calves scored their first touchdown after Jim Harris of Vega intercepted Carl Madson's pass on his own 47 and returned to the Picador 20. A pass from Lonnie Rice of Dimmit to Harris was good for the last 18 yards.

Penalties Hurt Tech

Fifty yards of penalties against the Picadors on one series, including three fines for roughing, helped the losers to their other tally late in the fourth period, with Rice crossing the double-stripe from one yard out.

The halftime score was 18-6, but after the ensuing kickoff the Picadors ground 79 yards on seven plays for five first downs, featuring Young and Turner on ground plays. That broke down the last of the Buffaloes' resistance.

North Carolina Cops 21-20 Win Over Duke

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 19 (INS)—Charlie Justice and Art Weiner teamed up today to help North Carolina defeat its arch rival, Duke, 21 to 20, and win the 1949 Southern Conference championship.

Weiner stopped a desperate Bluedevil scoring attempt late in the final period by blocking an attempted field goal.

A record crowd of 57,500 watched North Carolina come from behind in the second period to take a 7 to 6 lead at the half on a forty yard pass from Justice to Weiner, who snagged it lying on his back on the goal line. The kick was good.

In the third quarter, Carolina mounted its lead with a safety and two scores behind the crippled Justice's magic arm and Billy Hayes' long plunges through the Bluedevil line.

Tackle Dave Wiley added the safety when he blocked Billy Cox's punt on the Duke 13. The ball rolled over the goal and was downed by Carolina.

A sleeper pass from Hayes to Justice accounted for the next score moments later. The conversion failed.

Weiner smashed through two Duke line backers to ring up Carolinas last touchdown after a 39-yard Tarheel drive downfield.

Ducks Fool Hunters By Using Waters Inside New York City

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—The ducks apparently are getting wise to the ways of the big city.

So wise, in fact, that the sportsmen don't like it.

And the law is all on the side of the ducks.

With the duck-hunting season opening today, the experts have noted that the big migratory flocks are using waters within New York City limits for resting places.

North Texas State Eagles Down East Texas State, 59-6

COMMERCE, Nov. 19 (AP) — North Texas State's Eagles won a 59-6 victory over the East Texas State Lions today in the annual grudge football battle between the schools.

As 7,500 homecoming fans watched in Lion Stadium, the Eagles scored in every period. They were led by ace passer Zeke Martin, who pitched for two touchdowns. The other seven scores were on the ground.

End Joe Murphy set up the Lion's only score when he ran 40 yards to the Lion one-yard line. Bill Engle took it over.

TIL Breakfast To Be Held At Fort Worth

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Football's "Man Of The Year" will speak at the 27th annual Interscholastic League breakfast at Fort Worth Nov. 25.

He is Dr. Garl E. Leib, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and member of the faculty of the University of Iowa. His subject will be "The Relation Of Education and Amateur Athletics."

Dr. Leib, elected head of the NCAA in 1946 and re-elected in 1949, won the highest accolade in national football circles in January when the Football Writers' Association of America chose him Man Of The Year. Leib's key work in formulating the "sanity code" of the NCAA won him this recognition. Other men whose services to football have won this honor include Fritz Crisler of Michigan; Alonza Stagg of the College Of The Pacific; and Bo McMillin of Indiana.

Leib's speech will be the chief item on the program for the League breakfast at Hotel Texas, one portion of the annual Texas State Teachers Association Convention. T. H. Shelby, dean of the division of extension, University of Texas, will preside at the breakfast. J. O. Webb, assistant superintendent of schools, Houston, is secretary for the breakfast.

Stage Set For Two-Day Basketball Coaching Clinic Here Nov. 28-29

Arrangements are virtually complete for the fourth annual Clearence Fox baskeball coaching school to be held Nov. 27-28 at Lubbock's Chapman fieldhouse.

More than 100 South Plains cage squads are expected for the two-day clinic, at which Polk Robison, Texas Tech, and Gus Miller, West Texas State college, will be chief instructors.

An exhibition basketball game between the Tech and WTSC squads on the night of Nov. 28 will conclude the school. The game will be open to the public.

Coaches interested in attending the free clinic may make reservations by writing to, or calling, Clarence Fox in care of the Sport Center, 1612 Thirteenth, Lubbock.

Eastern New Mexico Beats NMMI, 32-14

ROSWELL, Nov. 19 (AP)—Eastern New Mexico's Greyhounds ran away from New Mexico Military Institute to a 32-14 grid victory today.

Wayne Calhoun went off tackle for seven yards for the first Greyhound score. The conversion was no good. ENMU scored again in the third when Ken Willis rounded left end for 17 yards. Again the conversion was no good. In the fourth, ENMU scored three more touchdowns. Ken Willis passed 19 yards to Ken Livingston in the end zone, Jack Barron passed 23 yards to Rex Orman, who was on pay dirt, and Charley Gant barged over guard from the 21 yard marker. Barron's kick after the second score was good, and he plunged over for the extra point after the third touchdown.

Maurice Willis passed to B. J. Ridley for NMMI's first counter in the third. Willis kicked the point. Then in the last 20 seconds of the game, Wayne Ricketson passed to Bill Huffman for a tally. H. A McDougal's kick for the point was good.

Brown's Illness Not Serious

Cubs Here Thursday

Lubbock's Westerners, with their first clear-cut district championship of the last decade safely tucked away, Monday begin preparations for their regular season finale with the Brownfield Cubs at Jones stadium Thursday afternoon.

Only an astounding upset this week could mar Lubbock's unblemished season record. Brownfield has not dented the victory column all year, and will go into this fray a decided underdog.

Illness Not Serious

Encouraging news on the condition of Bobby Brown, regular quarterback, came Saturday after Brown had undergone a thorough physical examination. Brown missed Friday night's Midland game because of a sudden illness, and coaches at first feared he possibly had appendicitis. The Saturday examination, however, indicated that his sickness was due to a mild stomach disorder, and he is expected to return to action this week.

Lubbock still will not be at full strength as Tackle Joe Brock and Guard Freddy Gray are due to be sidelined with knee injuries. Fullback Malcolm Young also may miss the Cub encounter, because of an ankle sprain.

The Westerners' bi-district opponent, which will be the champion of the El Paso district, will not be determined before Thursday, when Austin meets El Paso High. Austin currently is leading the 4-AA race, and could capture the crown with a triumph this week. Should El Paso High win, the scramble probably would end in a three-way deadlock involving Austin, El Paso and Ysleta.

Littlefield-Spur Site To Be Decided Today

Officials representing Littlefield and Spur High schools will meet at 3 p.m. today in Lubbock's Hilton hotel to choose a site and date for their Class A bi-district playoff football game next week.

Littlefield won the 4-A grid title Friday by thumping Slaton, 47-0, while Spur sewed up honors in 3-A Friday night with an impressive 45-13 win over Floydada.

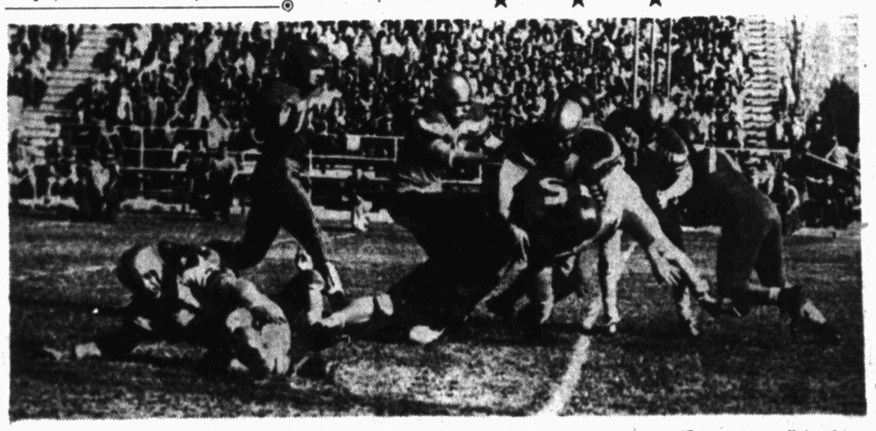

Representatives of Meadow and Olton schools announced Friday night that their Class B bi-district encounter would be played at 2 p.m. Thursday at Olton.

One other playoff site was determined Friday night. Pampa, champion of District 1-AA, and Wichita Falls, 2-AA, will meet at 2 p.m. Friday, Dec. 2, at Pampa. The site was decided by toss of a coin.

Lubbock has clinched the 3-AA pennant, but must await the outcome of Thursday's game between Astin (El Paso) and El Paso High before bi-district arrangements can be made. The Austin-El Paso game is expected to determine the 4-AA champion which will oppose the Westerners in the first round of the Double-A state playoff.

Lubbock plays Brownfield here Thursday in the final regular season game for both teams.

To encourage cotton growing, the Philippines has a new textile mill at Marvacan.

Lubbock Cagers Open Tuesday

Abernathy First For Westerners

A bit premature, basketball will thrust its way into the sporting scene at Lubbock High school when the Westerner quintet takes to the hardwoods Tuesday night in the season's opener against Abernathy.

It is not likely, however, that the cage game will take the spotlight away from football, with Lubbock the newly crowned District 3-AA winner and at least two games remaining to be played — one in bi-district.

Back to lead the local cagers are two lettermen, Jim Wilson and Jimmy Sexton. Wilson was an all-stater on last year's team which went to the state basketball finals in Austin, finishing third in the state. Gone from that team are all-stater Charles Galey and regulars Bob Rooker and Blair Hankins, but after last season it was felt that Lubbock would produce another strong team this year.

In his first year at the helm of the Westerners will be David Cook, a former Rice basketball star, who came to Lubbock only this summer and will be in his first year of coaching.

The Westerner season begins Nov. 25 and runs through Feb. 11, with Abernathy opening the season and Amarillo slated to close regular competition which includes 27 games.

Included on the slate are two tournaments, Plainview on Dec. 16-17, and South Plains Dec. 28-30 in Lubbock. Games with former 1-AA schools are being played, with Plainview, Borger, Pampa and Amarillo on the schedule.

District competition begins Jan. 6 when Odessa comes to Lubbock for their first game. District opponents are Odessa, Brownfield, Lamesa and Midland, and each team will be played twice to determine the winner.

In adition to Sexton and Wilson, other prospective candidates are Walter Norton, Tom Cheatham, Car Ince, Richard Allen, Bill Williams, Bob Wassom, Jimmy Hamilton, Charles Rand, Robert Newton and Charles Lambert. Cheatham was a squadman last year.

SPORTS Slants
BY CHOC HUTCHESON

There's a story behind every star, they say, and the case of Marlene Bauer is no exception.

It revolves about a man with an inner ambition. But, before getting into the story itself, let's bring ourselves up to date on Marlene herself.

She is, you'll recall, the 15-year-old wonder who came out of the West to knock the women's golf world on its ear this summer with a performance that bordered on miraculous.

In her first full-fledged swing around the women's tournament circuit, the chunky California miss proved to the satisfactoion of just about everyone concerned that—despite her tender age—she's the top feminine shotmaker of the day. While she didn't win all the tournaments she entered, she captured her share, and her aggregate score for events in which she competed was far lower than that of any of her rivals.

Now that the nation's experts are convinced that Marlene has "arrived," she's leisurely touring the Southwest on an exhibition junket designed to show fans of this area just how good a gal can get with those golf sticks.

Marlene, in company with older sister Alice, visited Lubbock Country club this week ,leaving a long list of "converts"—including this writer in her wake. Shooting from the men's tees, and in unfavorable weather, she fired a gaudy 69, two below men's par and three strokes better than the previous women's mark.

The remarkable thing about her record-shattering round was the ease with which she achieved it. To make a long story short, the Los Angeles miss plays "men's golf"—250-yard drives, deadly approaches with plenty of "bite," and steel-nerved putting that leaves Galleryites gasping.

After seeing her perform, I'm ready to make the prediction that the brightest star of them all now is on the women's golf horizon. Given another year in which to acquire "tournament polish," Marlene Bauer should be in a class by herself.

It is quite possible that Marlene's toughest competition for the next few years may come from her sister, 22-year-old Alice. At present, the vivacious Alice is almost, (but not quite) as good as her younger, quieter sister. But most observers agree that Marlene definitely is the better prospect for all-time greatness.

The story behind these two, mentioned at the outset of this column, is indeed an interesting one.

Its chief figure is Dave Bauer, the girls' father—a stocky, soft-spoken little fellow who is on the verge of achieving a lifelong goal: "I want to give the world the finest golfer it has ever seen."

I chatted with the elder Bauer during his daughters' exhibition here Thursday, and, bit by bit, he unfolded this explanation of his girls' success.

Himself a golf professional (with a flock of theories he wanted to test), Dave Bauer had to give up competitive golf early in life because of family responsibilities. So, his own ambition thwarted by cirumstances, he decided to make top-flight golfers of his daughters.

Alice, the older, showed no inclination to take up golf as a child, much to her father's dismay.

But Marlene developed ar early liking for the game, and when she was barely three years old Dave Bauer fashioned a special set of hand-made clubs to her specific cations. From the start, the girl's coordination was near-perfect, and within a few months she was poking consistently well-aimed shots as far as 50 yards down the fairways of her father's South Dakota golf course.

Naturally, friends of the family—and even strangers who happened to see Marlene perform—soon began to rave over her remarkable talent. And, just as naturally, 11-year-old Alice soon began to resent the attention that was showered upon her younger sister. Consequently, she asked her father to construct a set of clubs for her.

He did, and the golfing career of the two Bauer sisters was underway.

The girls' rise to the top has been uninterrupted. In 1943, the family moved to Los Angeles, where the two "whiz kids" promptly dominated women's links competition. From 1946 through 1948, for example, they won—between them—all but two of approximately 60 tournaments in which they played.

This year, both made the major tournament circuit, with Marlene grabbing such honors as the National Junior and Western Junior championships, and then creating a minor sensation with her spectacular play in the National Amateur. Shooting sub-par golf, she went to the semi-finals before she had an "off-day" and was upset.

Alice, incidentally, usually was right up there in the running, reaching the advance rounds of most tourneys in which she played.

The Bauers' father has been their only instructor. And, oddly, he has permitted them to develop styles which are quite dissimilar. Whereas Marlene is a calm, orthodox stylist who wastes little time studying her shots, Alice is a nervous, jittery performer with an almost unbelievably loose backswing. As one Lubbockite quipped Thursday, "Alice winds up as though she intends to do that golf ball bodily harm!"

Questioned as to his daughters' difference in style and temperament, Dave Bauer replied, "Golf is a game that each individual must play his own way. The main thing is that the player must be sure of himself before hitting a shot. Marlene needs little time to gain this confidence; Alice has to look the situation over before she's so sure of herself."

And, he added slyly, it may be that Marlene's youth is an asset in this respect. Intimating that many young golfers don't realize just how difficult the game is, Bauer chuckled, "Ignorance can be bliss, you know."

It is true that many teen-age marvels in the athletic world are "morning glories" who bloom brightly in the dawning, then fade into obscurity before their promise is realized. But my guess is that Marlene Bauer is a name to be marked and remembered. Sports fans will be hearing—and reading—of this young lady for many, many years.

Explaining to police in Toulouse, France, why he had knocked down M. Fontes, M. Ramond said that M. Fontes had hit him first—26 years ago.

Tulane Crushes Virginia, 28-14

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 19. (AP)—Powerful Tulane crashed Virigina from the proud ranks of the nation's unbeaten today, 28-14, although Johnny Papit of the losers outgained rival Eddie Price in the celebrated battle of the fullbacks.

Carrying 19 times for 113 yards, Virginia's churning backfield star bested Price's mark of 100 yards in 23 attempts but neither were important scoring figures.

The gallant Virginia team, outweighed in the backfield and line, fought back after a first half promise of a Tulane rout. They left the field trailing, 14-0 at halftime but fought on even terms in a 14-14 second half.

Tulane, primarily a ground gaining powerhouse, took to the air for two of its touchdowns. That came at a one-a-period rate through the afternoon.

But the record crowd of 30,070 surged and roared under the Cavaliers' second half comeback in the end. Class told the story. Tulane was too big, too fast and too alert on pass defense.

Coach Art Guepe, whose Virginia club finally lost after seven straight wins, was not downhearted.

"We could have done a lot better than we did," he said, "but our passing was not so sharp. Our own mistakes defeated us.

"I thought we did a fine defensive job, keeping Price under control. We might have done better if we had run Papit more."

Tulane heads now into a final battle with its neighborhood rival, Louisiana State, with a record of seven wins, a tie with Navy and a 46-7 beating by Notre Dame.

With representatives of the Sugar, Orange and Gator Bowls in the stands, one of these clubs and perhaps both, may get a New Year's Day invitation.

Coast Conference Must Vote On California Bowl Question

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP) — Only the formality of a vote by the Coast Conference faculty athletic representatives now stands between California and the Rose Bowl.

The faculty men, representing the 10 members, will send in their votes to Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt. If precedent is followed the result of the balloting will be announced Monday from Schmidt's Los Angeles office.

California, after tying with Oregon for the 1948 Conference title was voted into the Bowl, only to be defeated by Northwestern.

AA Champs Are Named

(By The Associated Press)

Fourteen district champions have been crowned in the Texas schoolboy football Class AA race, leaving two to go.

Nine of the crowns were won Friday night. In addition, Friday night, 21 Class A district titlists were decided to complete the playoff field of 32. And San Jacinto of Houston joined Sunset of Dallas in filling two of the four playoff spots for the City Conference.

The lineup for the first round of the playoff in the City Conference and Class AA will be completed next week. First round games will start in Class A.

Here's the district champions crowned to date:

City Conference:

Sunset of Dallas and San Jacinto of Houston. Fort Worth and San Antonio districts undecided.

Class AA:

District 1—Pampa; 2—Wichita Falls; 3—Lubbock; 4—Undecided; 5—Abilene; 6—Breckenridge; 7—Paris; 8—Highland Park of Dallas; 9—Marshall; 10—Conroe; 11—Undecided; 12—Galveston; 13—Corsicana; 14—Austin; 15—Alice; 16—Harlingen.

Class A:

District 1—Phillips (Canyon co-champion, Phillips in playoff; 2—Lefors; 3—Spur; 4—Littlefield; 5—Wink; 6—Haskell; 7—Ballinger; 8—Ranger; 9—Burkburnett; 10—Bowie; 11—Arlington; 12—Garland; 13—Honey Grove; 14—Atlanta; 15—Mineola; 16—Leverett's Chapel; 17-Kaufman; 18—Grand Saline; 19—Levega; 20—Mexia; 21—Rosebud; 22—Lampasas; 23—Brenham; 24—New Braunfels; 25—Alvin; 26—French (Beaumont); 27—El Campo; 28—Edna; 29—Freer; 30—Mission; 31—Edison; 32—Uvalde (tied with Del Rio, but won right to go in playoff on penetrations).

Wichita Falls downed Vernon, 21-14, Friday night to annex the District 2-AA title.

Lubbock used third stringers almost all the way in beating Midland 28-7.

Other Class AA titles were decided when Abilene smashed Big Spring, 72-7; Breckenridge downed Mineral Wells, 35-0; Conroe walloped Palestine, 60-8; Galveston blanked Baytown, 6-0; Corsicana beat Temple, 28-7; Austin defeated Corpus Christi, 27-7, and Alice blanked Laredo, 4-0.

Harlingen lost to Brownsville, 28-6, but advanced to the playoff by virtue of penetrations in its tie game with Edinburg.

Baytown was unbeaten and tied until last night's game. There are just four undefeated, untied teams now left in Class AA—Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Port Arthur and Corsicana, and 14 in Class A.

Phillips moved into the Class A playoff when Canyon defeated Dalhart, 14-7.

SPONSORS OF NEW DEAL BANQUET — New Deal High school's football squad was given a dinner in their honor Thursday night at the Hilton hotel here. The dinner was dreamed up by two ardent Lion suporters, Frank Worley and Bruce Gentry. Coach H. T. Pior endorsed the idea, as did A. L. Faubion, superintendent of shools, who helped promote the dinner. Finis Vaughn, former Plainview coach and South Plains official, was the principal speaker. Michigan State's Powerhouse Rolls To 75 To 0 Victory Over Arizona Gridders

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 19 (AP) — Michigan State closed its grid season with a great surge of power tonight to smash Arizona 75 to 0 before 16,000 fans.

It was Michigan State's first night victory in history and Arizona's worst defeat.

Interceptions laid the ground work for six of Michigan State's 11 touchdowns. Once they had the ball they went through and over Arizona almost at will.

Quarterback Al Dorow had a field day. He plunged for a touchdown in the second quarter, went over for another in the fourth and passed for two more.

Lynn Chandois, Michigan State's candidate for All-America honors, galloped 90 yards for a score in the final period.

Arizona made two strong bids for touchdowns in the third quarter. They reached the four yard line once and the six yard stripe another time before bogging down. Drives were frequently stopped by pass interceptions.

Fullback Frank Waters scored after six minutes for the only score of the opening period. Waters went over from the one foot line after a half minute of the second quarter.

Jesse Thomas intercepted a pass and went 6 yards for the third Spartan touchdown less than two minutes later. Michigan State led 28 to 0 at the half.

Everett Grandelius crashed from the three yard line and J. C. Williams went 1 yard on a pass interception for the third period scores.

Michigan State showed its full power in the final quarter, piling up 33 points. Chandnois made his long run and Dorow picked up one of his. Bill and Bob Carey put on a brother act, each taking passes from Dorow for major scores. Joe King romped 30 yards after intercepting a pass.

George Smith attempted eight conversions and made all of them. Ed Bagdon made the other.

Michigan State had two additional touchdowns nullified by penalties.

This was the final college game for 1949 Michigan State seniors, including seven members of the starting eleven. The Spartans finished the season with six wins and three losses.

Services Set Today For Knippa High School Football Star

KNIPPA, Nov. 19. (AP)—Marcus Glynn Alexander, 16, Knippa High school football player, died yesterday a half hour after he collapsed in a six-man football game at La Pryor.

Funeral services will be held here at 3 p.m. tomorrow. Alexander was a star half back for the Knippa team, a four-year letterman, and a senior. The attending physician said he died of a brain hemorrhage.

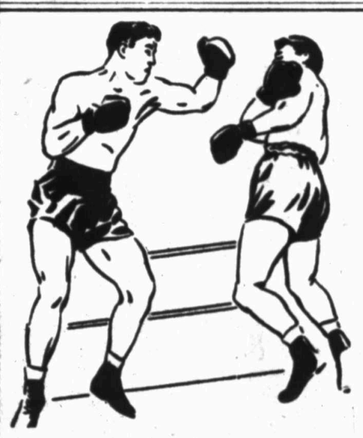

PLAYOFF SITE DECIDED

TEMPLE, Nov. 19 (AP) — Lampasas and Rosebud will meet here Wednesday night for their bi-district Class A battle. The site and date was decided by a flip of a coin. A meeting of officials here this morning couldn't agree after Temple would not permit use of the field Thursday night. The officials moved to Belton to discuss using Belton field, but finally flipped a coin to decide the question.

Tech Blanks New Mexico

tually was over.

It would be difficult to single out great Raider players today. The backs ran hard and intelligently and the quarterbacking was smart. The few passes tried were good, and the entire corps of backfield men performed admirably.

Offensive Units Click

From end to end, the line was impregnable on defense, while the offensive units worked with precision. It was the aggressive charging of the Raider forward wall that made it possible for Tech backs to run with ease through a vaunted Lobo line that failed to live up to expectations.

Such players as Gettys, tackle Jerral Price, centers Bobby Williams and Bobby Hix, Guard Dan Pursel, Ends Dick Cavazos and Dick Pirtle, and a host of others turned in great performances.

It was the best performance of the year for the Raiders, who were brilliant in all phases of the game. New Mexico never was in the game and knew it.

Stephen F. Austin Wins Second Place In Lone Star Conference

NACOGDOCHES, Nov. 19 (AP) — Stephen F. Austin won second place in the Lone Star Conference football race today by beating Sam Houston State college, 51-14.

Quarterback Leo Anger threw three touchdowns, one each to Ed Parrish, Oliver McKay, and Bob Jones, and scored one himself. His 66-yard peg to McKay set up the latter's short buck to score. Other Lumberjack scores came on a pass, Jim Drake to Fred Jackson, and Roy Davidson's four-yard run. Billy Jack Roberson, Austin tackle, scored nine points. He kicked six extra points and a field goal.

Gordon Brown and Bill Nelson each scored for Sam Houston, with Jack Kyle kicking the extra points.

Oklahoma Aggies Close Season With 47-20 Win Over Wichita

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 19 (INS)—Oklahoma A & M closed out its home season with a stirring 47-20 win over the Wichita Shockers today at Stillwater.

The Aggies scored in every period to win the rough contest that took more than three hours to play.

However, the Shockers drew first blood when Eddie Kriwiel hit Jimmy Nuttere with an 18-yard screen pass good for a touchdown.

Oklahoma A & M bounded back with one score in the first period and two in each of the final three. Fullback John Grabko tallied the first and six other Cowpokes followed him in the touchdown parade.

Old-Model B-29's Remain Grounded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—The Air Force was uncertain tonight how long the part of its superfortress fleet grounded yesterday would be out of the air, but there were guesses that it might be several weeks.

The order issued by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air chief of staff, bans flying of any B-29s in the Strategic Air command and the 19th Bomb group not equipped with modernized engines until they can be inspected by technicians and overhauled.

Officials said that because they had not yet learned how many bombers the order would affect nor the exten of inspection and overhaul required it would be difficult to estimate the duration of their inactivity.

The headquarters order, sent to all B-29 commands after Vandenberg had conferred with Lt. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, chief of the Strategic Air command, followed a series of B-29 crashes which have killed at least 120 men since last summer and wrecked 27 superfortresses.

Power-Laden Missouri Rallies To Beat Kansas Jayhawkers, 34-28

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 19. (INS)—Power-laden Missouri came from behind in the last ten minutes to nip Kansas, 34-28, today at Lawrence after holding a 27-7 halftime lead.

The Tigers, demoralized by a vicious Jayhawker attack in the last two periods, finally came to life and supplied the clincher early in the fourth quarter.

Halfback Dick Braznell flipped a left-handed pass to John Glorioso, who shouldered past two Kansas defenders for 35 yards and a touchdown.

Hopelessly outclassed in the first half, Kansas amazed a half-hysterical homecoming crowd of 40,000 by scroing three TD's and going into the lead at 28-27 before the bewildered Missourians could turn the tide.

Forrest Griffith, 190-pound Kansas fullback, electrified the fans on the first running play after the intermission when he broke away for 61 yards and a score.

The Jayhawkers reduced Mizzou's advantage to seven points six minutes later in the third quarter. Dick Gilman rifled a bullet pass to Bud French from the Missouri 35 and the fleet-footed halfback raced over for the tally. Bill Rinehart converted to make the score 27-21, with the Tigers still ahead.

Phil Klein, Missouri quarterback, fumbled on his own three and End Buck O'Neil recovered for Kansas to set the stage for the final Jayhawker marker. French dove over on the next play and Rinehart's conversion put Kansas in the lead, 28-27.

Five minutes later, however, Mizzou surged back to chalk up the winning tally and had the ball on the Kansas five when the game ended.

Missouri dominated first-half play almost completely, rolling up 272 yards on the ground and 138 through the air. Kansas counted first, but the Tigers came back with a rush, rolling up four touchdowns before the half ended, two in each of the first two quarters.

Embarrassed Canadian Boxer Rushes Into Ring Minus Trunks

NIAGRA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 19 (AP)—Jack MacDonald, a youthful boxer, was caught with his pants down Thursday night — before 1,000 people.

He walked into the ring in a colorful green robe. A handler started to take it off, then found MacDonald had forgotten his trunks. Amid shrieks and hoots from the fans, the boxer dashed out of the ring.

He was back minutes later and received a good boxing lesson from Jack Eber, Hamilton fighter.

Tennessee Upsets Kentucky, 6 To 0

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 19. (AP)—Flashy young Hank Lauricella fired underdog Tennessee to an upset 6-0 football victory here today that brought an end to Kentucky's bid for its first Southeastern Conference grid title and probably a spot in one of the New Year's bowl classics.

While Lauricella was picking up vital yardage to give Tennessee the upper hand throughout, it was two quick breaks late in the opening period that brought about the lone Vol tally.

First, J. W. Sherrill intercepted a pass to start Tennessee's drive from the Kentucky 36. Next it was a 15-yard roughing penalty against Kentucky that put the ball on the one. Gordon Polofsky leaped over center for the touchdown and that was the end, as far as the scoring was concerned.

Kentucky, meantime, couldn't get an offense going. It's running plays didn't work and its passing didn't click often. It was a late pass from Vito Parilli to Al Bruno that enabled Kentucky to penetrate as far as the 30 in the late frame but an interception stopped the advance at the 15.

Arkansas Selects All-Opponent Southwest Conference Eleven

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 19 (AP) — Rice, Baylor and Southern Methodist each won four positions on the Southwest Conference All-Opponent eleven selected by the Arkansas Razorbacks — the first team to complete its loop football schedule.

Texas got the other two posts on the team, announced today.

The team:

Ends—Ben Proctor, Texas, and James Williams, Rice;

Tackles — Clark Heironimus, Baylor, and Ken Jackson, Texas.

Guards—Chuck Stone, Baylor, and Jack Halliday, SMU;

Center—Joe Watson, Rice.

Backs—Adrian Burk of Baylor, Doak Walker and Kyle Rote of SMU and Bobby Lantrip of Rice.

TRINITY PLAYERS INJURED

HOUSTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Three Trinity university football players were hospitalized with head injuries following today's game with the University of Houston. They are Willard Mercer, Harold Carter and Charles Urbanowich.

TAAF Boxing Entries Grow

More than a score of entries have been received for the district TAAF boxing tournament to be held Dec. 8-9 at Sled Allen's arena under sponsorship of the VFW.

Latest additions to the entry list were seven Texas Tech students and four Reese Air Force base fighters.

Division champions in the local tournament will receive all-expense trips to the state TAAF meet later in December at Fort Worth, Ed Sides, district tourney director, announced Saturday.

Sides listed these new entries from Texas Tech:

Kit Pettigrew, 165, Haden Haby, 169, and Raymond Haby, 160, all of Big Spring; B. F. Yeates, Glenn; Joe Reppeto, Fort Worth; and Johnny Davis, 126, Jayton.

The Reese AFB team, expected to be supplemented by later additions, will include: Felix Romero, 135, Mora, N. M.; Frenchie Cedatol, 147, Baton Rouge, La.; Francis Rodrigue, 160, Shreveport, La.; and Douglas True, 147, Waco.

Other teams are to be entered by the Lubbock Naval Reserve unit, Odessa, Abilene and possibly Amarillo.

BUCKEYES SET FOR ROSE BOWL BID

Ohio State Earns 7-7 Tie With Michigan's Mighty Wolverines

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 19. (INS)—An aroused Ohio State team, pushed all over the field for three periods, struck savagely in the final period today to earn a 7 to 7 tie with Michigan, thereby deadlocking for the Big Ten football title and winning a trip to the Rose Bowl.

A capacity crowd of 97,000 forgot the murky skies that periodically erupted with rain and snow and the chill blasts churned through Michigan's huge stadium as they watched the bitter, thrilling "pay off" battle.

Ohio State's virtually certain trip to Pasadena and the storied Rose Bowl classic come New Year's Day was made possible by the toe of Jimmy Hague, the Buckeye's place kicking specialist.

With Michigan holding a 7 to 6 margin after the Ohio State score late in the fourth period, Hague stepped back to attempt the all-important conversion. The huge throng was silent and tense.

The kick was true but curved to the side and missed the uprights. But all was not lost. The eager Michigan forward wall charged an instant before the ball was snapped and an official spotted the infraction. So Hague came back for another try. This time he split the uprights and tied the score.

Whether the tie will insure the Buckeyes a trip to California will be decided by a vote of the Big Ten faculty athletic committee over the weekend, but the choice of the Bucks, despite a 27 to 0 loss at Minnesota earlier this year, seemed inevitable.

Michigan is ineligible under Conference rules to go to the Rose Bowl this year.

For three quarters and almost eight minutes of the final period it appeared that the contest would be decided on a 15-yard scoring pass midway in the opening period from Wally Teninga to Leo Kocekski. That pass and Harry Allis' conversion gave the Wolverines a 7 to 0 lead.

And the way they were going it looked good.

Then Teninga, a brilliant punter all afternoon, put the desperate Bucks deep in the hole in the final period with a long punt.

But they were not to be denied. Starting on their own 20 and with Jerry Krall and Fred Morrison carrying the ball.

New Mexico Aggies Lose

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Nov. 19. (AP)—The New Mexico Aggies were held scoreless for the first time this season today as Colorado A. & M. rolled to a 45-0 grid victory.

Colorado outclassed the New Mexico team all the way.

Colorado scored in the first quarter. Jack Christianson set up the first touchdown with a run from the Colorado 13-yard line to the Aggie 10. Two plays later, Frank Faucett plunged over from the eight. He added the point.

Christianson went over again in the second period. He plunged across from the six yard line to top off a Colorado drive. His kick was good.

A few plays later Charley Styron's kick was blocked in the end zone to give Colorado a safety.

On the following play, after Styron had booted his free kick after safety, Colorado's Kenneth Wilhelm took it on his own 32 and galloped the distance for another score. Faucett's conversion was good.

Colorado scored again on the last play of the half. Joe Folson passed to Marvin Patton in the end zone from the six yard line.

California Gains Rose Bowl Berth With 33-14 Victory Over Stanford

Bears Come From Behind For Win

STANFORD STADIUM, Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 19. (INS)—California's Golden Bears scored their tenth victory of the 1949 football season today and to California partisans it was the sweetest triumph of the year — a 33 to 14 win over Stanford.

By whipping their old rivals in the 52nd renewal of their "big game," the first of which was played in the last century, California automatically goes to the Rose Bowl for the second straight year.

Today's victory before 90,000 fans jammed into vast Stanford Stadium was the 17th straight Pacific Coast Conference win for the Bears — and that ties the all-time mark set by the great thundering herd teams of USC during the 1930's.

29th Victory

It also marked the 29th victory out of 31 games for California's portly Coach Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf since he came to the Berkeley campus in 1947.

A couple of fast-stepping halfbacks, Jack Swaner and Jim Monachino, scored California's five touchdowns this afternoon—Monachino two and Swaner three.

Together they turned in some of the finest and hardest running seen throughout the season—but they did not do it alone. They received tremendous blocking and time again were enabled to break into the open by the fast-charging California line, which seemed to pick up additional power as the game progressed into the second half.

Reserves Too Deep

Or perhaps it was just the old story of California's line reserves being too deep for the Stanford Indians who enjoyed a halftime lead of 7-6, and even were leading 14 to 12 for one minute early in the third period.

Monachino and California's fine quarterback, Bob Celeri, teamed up on a 54-yard scoring pass play with one minute and fifty seconds to play in the first period to tally the first touchdown. Celeri uncorked a 39-yard toss which Monachino, running at full tilt, caught on the Stanford 15 behind the Indian pass defenders. He ran the 15 yards to score without a Stanford man near him.

White Tallies For Indians

After three minutes of play in the second period Stanford scored, Halfback Bob White, a 20 year old junior from Glendale, Calif., making the tally on a 16-yard romp around California's right end. He eluded three Bear tacklers on his scoring sprint.

When Gary Kerkorian, Stanford's sophomore quarterback, booted the extra point, the Stanford side of the stadium roared itself into a frenzied ecstasy because California's extra-point kicker, Truck Cullom, had missed his conversion try after the initial Bear score. So at this juncture the Indians enjoyed a 7-6 lead. Later, Stanford rolled to the California four, but this scoring threat ended with a fumble by Harry Hugasian, a classy sophomore back who deserved a better fate. His fumble was recovered by California's Frank Brunk.

UNKNOWN QUARTERBACK PACES USC

Southern California Racks Up 21 To 7 Triumph Over Uclans

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19. (INS). A fourth-string quarterback, pulled from the obscurity of the bench, rose to the heights today to lead the University of Southern California to a 21 to 7 victory over its cross-town foe, UCLA.

Dean Schneider, pressed into service as a result of injuries to USC's first three signal callers, passed to two touchdowns and masterfully guided the Trojans to their win before 75,028 Memorial Coliseum fans.

The win was USC's thirteenth in the 19-year-old history of the Los Angeles city series. UCLA has won two. Four games ended in ties.

Schneider threw to End Bill Jessup in the end zone 45 seconds before the first-half gun to give the Trojans a 7 to 0 half-time bulge.

USC threatened to make it a rout by taking the second half kickoff and driving deep into UCLA territory, but the Bruins held and Harold Hatifield kicked into the end zone to give UCLA the ball on its own 20-yard line.

Five plays and 80 yards later the Bruins, led by Ernie Johnson's passing and running, tied it up. The payoff was a 12-yard pass from Johnson to End Bob Wilkinson.

The Trojans took home the blue chips with but five minutes remaining in the game when Schneider climaxed an 81-yard drive by passing to Halfback Johnny Williams for the score. The final Trojan tally came on a one-yard plunge by Fullback Don Burke six seconds before the end of the game.

Georgia Tech Beats South Carolina, 13-3

ATLANTA, Nov. 19 (AP) — Georgia Tech's football team, which usually does the upsetting, was well on its way to a drastic upending by weak South Carolina today when it finally worked up a little interest to win 13-3.

Through three quarters Tech played disinterested, listless football—its running attack coughing and spluttering when it should have been purring against so little opposition.

But in the fourth quarter Darrell Crawford, Colin Anderson, Buster Humphreys and Bobby North turned the Tech attack from a lamb like, lizard slow pace to a whirlwind. Two touchdowns and a point after kick by Red Patton snatched the game from a 3-0 deficit for Tech into a victory.

The game was supposed to be a Tech warmup for Georgia next week and that may account for Tech's three quarters of sloppy play. But whatever the reason some 20,000 fans were about ready to accept a South Carolina win.

BI-DISTRICT SITE SET

ABILENE, Nov. 19. (AP)—Abilene and Breckenridge will play their bi-district AA game here the afternoon of Dec. 3, officials of the schools decided today. They tossed a coin. Abilene has clinched the 5-AA crown and Breckenridge has the 6-AA title.

Purdue Racks Up 14-6 Victory Over Indiana Hoosier Eleven

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 19. (INS)—Johnny Kerestes scored two touchdowns today at the end of 95-yard marches to give Purdue a 14-6 victory over Indiana and its second straight "Old Oaken Bucket" triumph.

A capacity crowd of 33,704 shivering fans at Bloomington saw the Boilermakers hand Indiana its sixth straight Western Conference loss without a win.

Purdue steamrollered to a touchdown on the final play of the first quarter and then clinched the game with another TD in the third period. Indiana's lone tally came midway in the second quarter at the end of a 65-yard drive.

Oregon State Curbs Oregon

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 19 (AP) — Oregon State, off to a slow start this year, closed its season in glory today, winning a prized 20-10 decision over traditional rival Oregon.

The Staters, who upset highly regarded Michigan State last week, felt out their rivals through the first half today, then broke loose for three touchdowns in the closing periods.

Halfback Ken Carpenter, their top candidate for All-State honors, was the prime mover in all of the Staters' scores.

They involved drives of 58, 40 and 46 yards. The first two came in the third period with Carpenter grinding out most of the yardage. Then he flipped a pass to quarterback Gene Morrow in a 24-yard touchdown play early in the fourth quarter.

Oregon was in the game only briefly, late in the second period, after a pass interception on the Oregon State 35. They bucked to the 12 and from there Guard Chet Daniels booted a field goal to give Oregon a 3-0 halftime lead.

This was wiped out quickly in the third period, but Oregon fans got one more thrill. That was midway through the fourth quarter when halfback Woodley Lewis took a punt on his own 8-yard line, cut to the sidelines and raced 92 yards to a touchdown.

Gene Shannon Sparks Houston To 28-21 Win Over Trinity

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Halfback Gene Shannon scored three times today as University of Houston overcame a three touchdown deficit to defeat Trinity university, 28 to 21.

Trinity scored three times in a quick second period flurry before the Cougars could start moving.

After scoring in the closing seconds of the first half to reduce the deficit to 7-21, Houston held almost complete control.

Two more scores in the third period knotted the count at 21-21, and Houston cashed in on a fourth period Trinity fumble to win.

Copenhagen, Denmark, has ordered a fleet of British cars for taxis.

Oklahoma's Sooners Gain 28-21 Win Over Stubborn Santa Clara

59,000 Watch George Thomas Make Three Of Winner's Four Touchdowns

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 19 (AP) — Stubborn Santa Clara gave Oklahoma its toughest game of the football season today with the Sooners fortunate to keep their 19-game string alive with a 28-21 victory.

Santa Clara came into the game a three-touchdown underdog against the number two team of the nation but came fighting back time after time to push Oklahoma until the end.

A crowd of 59,000—the largest ever to attend a game in Oklahoma—saw George Thomas, Sooner halfback, make three of Oklahoma's four touchdowns for a new Big Seven Conference scoring record.

His 105 points betters the 97 made in 1942 by Missouri's Bob Steuber.

Although Oklahoma was never behind, Santa Clara was always a threat. It was this same team that gave Oklahoma its last defeat, 20-17, in the opening game of last season.

Fumbles hurt both teams with Santa Clara making seven and Oklahoma six. Half a dozen of these were within scoring distance.

Fullback Leon Heath's 81 yard run in the second quarter along with Thomas' three touchdowns and four extra point kicks accounted for Oklahoma's scoring.

Pass defense — Oklahoma's weakness all season — hurt the Sooners again. Two touchdown passes in the second quarter and a safety put Santa Clara within seven points of Oklahoma, 21-14, at the half. The first was Leon Napolitano's 13-yard toss to Monty Osborn and the second with 33 seconds left was from John Pasco 18 yards to Dick Wiborn.

Santa Clara's final touchdown in the last quarter was an explosive 58 yard run by Del Rasmusson who out-maneuvered three Oklahoma tacklers. Joe Vargas made the extra point kick good to end the game's scoring.

Tarleton Racks Up Win Over Arlington

ARLINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP) — Tarleton State of Stephenville went ahead in the state's oldest junior college football series today by beating Arlington State 26-0.

Sparked by the passing and running of Back Marvin Jones and the running of Back Bobby Cavazos, Tarleton scored once in each of the first and third quarters, and twice in the fourth.

A six-yard pass from Brown to End M. C. Jones brought the first score. Lloyd Carder converted. Brown passed 10 yards and Cavazos ran 40 for the second touchdown. Cavazos went four yards around left end and Carder drove three yards through the center for the last two scores. Carder kicked an extra point after Cavazos' second touchdown.

The series between the two southwest junior college conference teams began in 1917. Tarleton now has 10 victories, Arlington 9.

HENLY'S HORNETS WIN

Henly's Hornets, paced by Raymond Bufe's 10-point individual tally, defeated Crawford Electric, 31-25, in an independent basketball tilt Thursday night at the New Deal gym. Y. Boley topped the losers with 10 points.

Huskies Defeat Cougars, 34 To 21

SEATTLE, Nov. 19. (AP)—Rollicking Rolly Kirkby and a gang of sophomore backs earned Washington to a 34-21 football victory today over a Washington State eleven that still was trying—and scoring—at the final gun.

A crowd of 35,150—which pushed home attendance over the 200,000 mark for six games—saw the Huskies build up a 27-7 advantage in three quarters and stave off State's serious final quarter bid.

Kirkby scampered to two touchdowns and was a pesky fly in the Cougar hair all afternoon. Huck McElhenny, one of the busy sophomores, also kept the Cougars on edge with long rambles. He sliced through the line and went 48 yards to the first Washington counter.

But State's Cougars had drawn first blood, taking advantage of a break to grab a 7-0 lead midway in the opening quarter. With Don Heinrich back to punt for Washington, the center's pass sailed over his head and the Cougars took possession on the Washington four.

Notre Dame Downs Iowa

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 19 (INS)—Notre Dame ground out a touchdown in each period today to compile a 28 to 7 victory over the University of Iowa Hawkeyes in a fumble-packed game at South Bend.

A capacity crowd of 56,790 fans saw the surprisingly strong Iowa line hold the Notre Dame squad to a 14-7 halftime lead and then yield two touchdowns in the final half to insure the eighth consecutive victory of the season for the Irish.

Nine fumbles, six of them by Notre Dame, marked the 36th straight game in which the Irish have remained undefeated.

The ragged performance of the Notre Dame eleven in the first half was followed by a smooth-working machine that held the visitors to 37 yards in the final frames.

Notre Dame's scores resulted from a 20-yard pass from Bob Williams to Frank Spaniel, a 7-yard dash by Billy Barrett, a one-yard plunge by Spaniel and a 13-yard toss from Williams to Leon Hart.

Glenn Drahn initiated Iowa's lone tally when he passed to Bob McKenzie for the score.

Iowa chalked up a rushing total nearly double Notre Dame's in the first half.

14 Animals Placed On V-8 Ranch

Antelope Return To South Plains Area

The antelope, which roamed these broad prairies many years ago before the coming of the white man, is back on the South Plains.

Practically extinct in this area except for a few small herds near the New Mexico line, and on the Matador Ranch, antelope once numbered into the millions over Llano Estacado.

Late Friday afternoon, a Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission truck rolled to a stop on a hillside in the 3,000-acre V-8 ranch, several miles southeast of Lubbock. Two commission employes opened the end-gates and 14 of the sprightly little animals jumped out and were soon speeding over the ranch range.

The antelope were secured through the efforts of W. G. McMillan, local contractor-sportsman, and the ranch owners, Geo. E. Benson, Sam C. Arnett, sr., and Harry Morris.

O. F. Etheredge of Alpine, biologist for the commission; and Howard Dodgen of Austin, executive secretary, cooperated in sending the animals here.

The antelope, trapped on the Kokernot ranch near Alpine Thursday, were brought here by Tom Moore, Uvalde, and Donald Shutt, San Angelo, employes of the game commission.

The antelope, three bucks and 11 does, were trapped by use of a light airplane, which flies low over the animals and drives them ahead of it into a specially-built trap corral. Approximately 200 were trapped for "planting" in other West Texas areas.

McMillan and Mr. and Mrs. Benson were on hand when the fleet animals were unloaded late Friday afternoon and McMillan took some movies of the unloading. He plans to visit the ranch later to photograph the antelope when they become acclimaetd and accustomed to seeing human beings about.

The ranch is fenced with five-foot wolf-proof fence, which will provide an excellent haven for the antelope. They never try to jump a fence, unless crowded.

The ranch, which lies just above and in Yellowhouse canyon, near Buffalo Lakes, also has a herd of several head of deer roaming its range.

ANTELOPE PLANTED ON V-8 RANCH — Fourteen head of antelope, fleet little animals which roamed the South Plains by the millions more than a half-century ago, came back to Yellowhouse canyon Friday. A Texas Game, Fish & Oyster commission truck brought the antelope here from Alpine. Top picture shows the antelope as they came out of the rear end of the truck. Bottom picture shows most of the herd as they sped away at full speed, which has been clocked as high as 55 miles an hour. (Staff Photos.)

Elementary Grid Squads Honored

Two elementary football teams were honored by parents this week with banquets and programs which brought their season to a close.

The P. F. Brown Buffalos, undefeated champions of the south half of the elementary city league, were honored on Thursday evening with a turkey dinner in the school cafeteria. Brown and Sanders shared football honors as the champs of the South and North leagues this year.

Forty-two boys and parents, Frank Latta, coach, and Mrs. Ruth Carter, principal, attended the dinner. Mrs. Bill Watson and Mrs. Drew Warren were chairmen in charge of arrangements. Maroon and white chrysanthemums decorated the tables. Coach Latta made the football goal post place cards. Jerry Etter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Etter, was toast master. Larry Warren made the presentation speech as the team members presented Latta with a gift. Each boy introduced parents.

E. Y. Gibbs, magician, presented the program.

Fathers of the Roscoe Wilson Wranglers and Coach Milton Greer were hosts to their sons at the Wilson football banquet held in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Russell Denison was general chairman in charge of arrangements. Tables, decorated by a committee of mothers with Mrs. Glenn Woody chairman, were decorated in blue and gray, school colors. A horn of plenty centered the speakers table, and footballs, banked with leaves and chrysanthemums were on other tables.

Players were presented with key rings with miniature footballs. Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal, gave the invocation. "Butch" Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hall, acted as master of ceremonies. Coach Greer was presented with a gift by the players and made a short talk. J. Wm. Davis, representing the fathers, also made a talk.

AGGIE FISH WIN

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP) — The Texas A & M fish punched over second and fourth period touchdowns here this afternoon to beat the fumbling Texas Yearlings, 13-0, before 16,000 fans, a record crowd for a Southwest Conference freshman game.

Lubbock Gun Club Members Elect Clyde Tatum President For 1950

Election of officers featured the annual barbecue at Lubbock Gun Club Friday night. Forty members were present and Clyde Tatum was named the club's president for 1950.

Carl Maxey was elected vice-president and C. B. 'Cubby' Key was selected secretary. Joe Kirk Fulton, I. A. Stephens, R. A. Boyd, R. J. Cramer and R. B. Fairley were named directors.

Plans for shooting events during 1950 were discussed and it was decided that the club would be open every Sunday from 2 to 6 p. m., weather permitting, during the rest of the year.

Minnesota Comes Back After Sluggish First Half To Whip Wisconsin, 14-6

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 19. (INS)— A Minnesota football team, loaded with talent and goaded by ridicule, came back after a sluggish first half to whip Wisconsin, 14 to 6, today.

Coach Bernie Bierman called a nobody named George Hudak off the reserve bench to lead the giants of the north to the victory they hoped would bring a Rose Bowl invitation.

The triumph in that respect was in vain, but the 64,110 fans who jammed Memorial Stadium in Minneapolis didn't know it until the game had nearly ended.

The news of Ohio State's 7-7 tie with Michigan was held secret until just 24 seconds of play remained and until victory had been insured.

The public address system then disclosed the results which put Ohio State in line for the prized Rose Bowl bid.

Official blessing from the Western Conference, will not come until Monday. Hudak would have been the man of the hour had Michigan beaten Ohio State. But that didn't happen. As it is, however, he left a warm feeling inside of those who like to think of next year.

Bierman picked this third team halfback off the far end of the bench and sent him into the game in the third period. Again and again he ran for four yards and five yards. Then he stopped running when Minnesota reached Wisconsin's 25 yard line and tossed a pass into the end zone to Bud Hauksen for a touchdown.

His hard runing started Minnesota on the way to its second score before the third quarter ended.

Fullback Ken Biersdorf contributed a 16-yard bull rush to the seven and sophomore Dick Gretory needed only one chance to run Wisconsin's right end for the touchdown.

Minnesota's big bruising line yielded just 55 net yards and pounced upon Wisconsin's runners before they hardly got started. The alert and aggresive Badgers, however, had one opportunity in the second quarter.

Little Gene Evans caught a Minnesota punt on his own 38 yard line. He was tackled almost immediately by Bud Grant but somehow managed to stay on his feet and squirm away. He staggered down the sidelines like a drunken tight rope walker, regained his balance before Minnesota's behemoths came thundering toward him and continued his run for a touchdown.

The statistics of the game just about told the story. Minnesota gained 182 yards rushing to Wisconsin's 55. The Badgers were dangerous with their 32 passes that produced 167 yards. The Gophers gained 116 yards on 10 completed aerials.

Princeton Gridders Upset Indians, 19-13

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 19 (INS) — Team Captain George Sella, playing his last game for Princeton, scored twice against Dartmouth today to bring the Tigers a thrilling 19-13 upset victory before 40,000.

Sella's clutch of a Dick Kazmaier pass, which was thrown from the Dartmouth 43 yard line on the dead run, brought triumph to the Big Three champs in a wild fourth period which started with both teams even at 7-7.

The teams were tied 13-all when Sella scored the game-winning touchdown. Earlier, he had put Princeton ahead in the first period on a 43-yard run. The other Tiger score was made by Jack Davison.

For Dartmouth, Bill Roberts took the ball over the goal line twice, although the second time he fumbled, with teammate Ted Eberle recovering.

Northwestern Beats Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 19.(INS) —Quarterback Don Burson booted a 22-yard last-period field goal today to give Northwestern a 9-7 victory over Illinois before 67,872 homecoming fans at Champaign.

It was the Wildcats' third victory in seven Western Conference starts. Illinois wound up its league season with a three-three-one record.

Johnny Karras, the Illini's sensational sophomore back and the Big Ten's leading ground gainer on whom Coach Ray Eliot depended so much, was helped off the field with a leg injury shortly after the second period opened.

His loss was a big blow for the Illini, who were six-point favorites

Northwestern opened the scoring in the second quarter when Burson tossed 19 yards to Joe Zuravleff for a TD to climax an 80 yard march. Ed Nemeth's try for the extra point was wide.

Two plays after the final session opened Bernie Krueger passed eight yards to Walt Kersulis for the equalizer and Sam Rebecca converted.

Tom Worthington's 57-yard punt return to the Illini 18 set up the play for Burson's game-winning pick. Failing to gain more than three yards in three plays, Burson called for the placement and the ball went sailing into the teeth of a brisk wind through the uprights.

Mask, Tremain Tangle In Semi-Final

Overhull, Kasaboski In Main Arena Event

Out of last week's tag team wrestling match at Sled Allen's arena come the two grapplers for the main event Wednesday night at the local arena.

Meeting in the main go, two of three falls with an hour time limit, are George Overhull, popular Amarillo product, and Alex Kasaboski, the mad Russian.

Overhull and Kasaboski were members of the opposite team last week, with Kasaboski and his partner losing the decision. Kasaboski argued over the decision, protesting that Overhull's partner helped Overhull in the last fall when Kasaboski was pinned to the mat for the count.

Still using football tricks which made him a standout for the Amarillo Sandies, Overhull will be out to convince the fans and Kasaboski that he needs no help in beating the Russian, one of the roughest wrestlers in these parts.

Featured in the semi-final event will be Andy Tremain and the Grey Mask, and this match may turn into a spotlight-stealer. The Mask, an oldtimer, is touch and smart and in possession of all the off-color tricks of the trade and a master of holds and leverage. He will need to dig deep into his bag of tricks if he stops the smooth-working Tremain. Tremain, who has been employed by the immigration service on the border at El Paso, demonstrated to the local fans last week that he keeps in good physical condition and still maintains his speed and deception. He is smart and quick to take advantage of the mistakes of his opponent.

Flores, Parks Meet

Opening the card will be Salvador Flores and Herb Parks in a 20-minute bout or one fall. Flores helped to subdue the Mask and Kasaboski and will be trying to gain a match with the Mask by trimming Parks. Parks is a hard one to beat and will be a tough opponent for the lad from south of the border.

Matches start Wednesday at 8 p. m. Advance ticket sales are being made from 9 to 5 that day at the arena.

ROBINSON FIGHT POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — A ten-round non-title fight between welterweight champion Ray Robinson and Billy Brown of Hartford, Conn., at the Golden Gate Arena here Dec. 5 was postponed indefinitely today because of a shoulder injury received by the champion in a recent exhibition.

THIS is still America and we believe there are still men with ambition who accept the challenge of hard work as the price of success. We need such a man to demonstrate and sell our accepted line of Engine tune-up products. Write Box 5, Avalanche, giving general qualifications for interview.

WILL HAVE OPENING FOR SALESMAN
in the near future, selling building products in Lubbock territory. This is strictly a commission job, but a good one. Pays to $4000 to $6000 per year. Write immediately to BOX 25, AVALANCHE

CAN YOU STAND PROSPERITY?
We would have no opening in our organization were it not that a number of representatives who came to us from other fields are not used to cash earnings of $600 to $1200 monthly. They have to take time off to spend the surplus. We would like to interview a few sober, industrious salesmen with family income. To those selected, we can offer unlimited immediate earnings and an opportunity for executive responsibilities.

Texas Solon Asks Increase In Import Taxes On Foreign Oil

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—A boost in import taxes on foreign oil was proposed today by Rep. Gosset (D-Tex.) to protect the domestic petroleum industry and provide more revenue for the government.

He said he is considering introduction of legislation next session to achieve this end.

"Several members of Congress have suggested that this tax should be raised to as much as $1 per barrel. It now is 10½ cents," Gossett said in a statement.

"Revenue, restraint and protection would be the several-fold objective of such legislation."

Gossett expressed concern over the present volume of foreign oil flowing into this country. He said that on the basis of government estimates it would reach 700,000 barrels daily in 1950.

"Many congressmen feel that to increase the tax on petroleum imports is a better approach to the problem than bills now pending to place a quota on such imports," he added.

"Such a tax would raise a great deal of additional money, and should therefore be pleasing to the administration. It would also have the desirable result of furnishing some protection to the domestic petroleum industry, which can and does produce a surplus of petroleum products.

"If the imports of petroleum and petroleum products continue to increase, Congress will certainly look with favor on some remedial legislation."

Congressmen from oil-producing states during the last session sought to cut down unsuccessfully petroleum imports.

12. Legal Notices

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
GWO No. 525-N

Sealed Proposal addressed to Mr. Steve Matthews, City Manager, Lubbock, Texas, will be received at his office until 2:00 p. m. December 8, 1949, for the construction of grading, drainage, concrete curb and gutter, caliche base and asphalt surface treatment on certain streets in the City of Lubbock as hereinafter specifically designated.

As soon as possible after receiving the bids they will be considered and the successful bidder notified.

Prices in the Proposal shall be on the basis or unit measurement for each of the 5 items in the proposal. The approximate quantities are as follows: Subgrade preparation 88,658.21 square yards; Concrete curb and gutter 40,143.24 linear feet; and pavement (includes caliche base and asphalt surface) 77,507.35 square yards.

Bidder must submit cashier's or certified check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Bidder's Bond from a reliable surety Company, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock in an amount not less than five (5%) per cent of the largest possible bid submitted as a guarantee that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within the (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The successful Bidder must furnish performance bond on the attached form in the amount of one hundred (100) per cent of the total contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Surities acceptable to the Owner.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive formalities, to accept the bid which seems most advantageous to the City's interest.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.

Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91 Chapter 45, (Article No. 5159A Civil Statutes 1925) covering the wage scale and payment of prevailing rates of wages as established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing wages is set forth in the specifications.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, plans and specifications are on file at the office of the City Engineer, at the City Hall, Lubbock, Texas, and may be procured upon a deposit of $10.00 as a guarantee of safe return of the plans and specifications. The full amount of this deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition. No refund on contract document and plans returned later than ten (10) days after the date of receiving bids will be obligatory. Additional sets of plans may be obtained at the cost of duplication.

The bidders attention is called to the fact that he will not be paid in cash by the City of Lubbock for the work performed under the terms of this contract, except for the City's share minus 5% for Engineering, but will accept without recourse, assessment certificates payable in three equal payments (See Information for Bidders) and will be entirely responsible for the collection of the property owner and railway assessments. (See information for Bidders.)

No bid may be withdrawn after the schedule closing for receiving of bids for at least thirty (30) days.

Middle Class In Britain Gripped By Fear Of Eventual Elimination

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Despite the billions of Marshall plan aid furnished by the USA, the plight of the middle class in most of the countries of Western Europe has become a cause for serious concern. It is a cause for concern because the middle class traditionally has been a sturdy bulwark against Communism.

In a survey trip through the principal countries of western Europe, Seymour Berkson, general manager of International News Service, has just visited and talked with typical middle class families in each country to learn first hand about their problems, fears, and hopes. (Berkson was stationed in Europe formerly as a foreign correspondent for INS and has traveled extensively on the continent since 1932.)

In the following first article of a series, he tells what is happening to Britain's middle class.)

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
General Manager INS

LONDON—The greatest fear in Britain today is not the fear of war, nor of Russia's atomic bombs.

It is the fear haunting Britain's middle class—traditional backbone of the nation—that it is being progressively wiped out by skyrocketing living costs and taxes under Britain's Socialist regime.

In fact, in most of the countries I visited—notably England, France, Germany, Austria, and Italy—I found the middle class in jeopardy and fearful of its future. It is from this class that most of Europe's leading scientists, doctors, lawyers, educators, captains of industry and commerce have come.

British Plight Desperate

Nowhere, not even in vanquished and occupied Germany, is the plight of the middle class as desperate as it is in England.

If the present process continues it is feared that the middle class living standard will be reduced to the level of the poorest paid factory workers, with no hope or incentive for reward of individual initiative and ability.

Indicating how drastic is the intent of the Labor government, Britain's Secretary of State for War Emanuel Shinwell recently told a mass meeting in County Durham:

"Some people still have too much . . . those on the higher level, no matter who they are, must come down . . . "

Grim Struggle Cited

Life for the average middle class family in England is a grim struggle for food, clothing and shelter —with no leeway for anything but the barest necessities.

Its standard of living is being reduced to the point where it can no longer afford the education and family traditions that have produced most of England's greatest political, scientific and industrial leaders during the last several centuries.

It was grim enough before devaluation. It is even more so now, with the price of bread up 30 per cent—and most other prices beginning to follow suit.

A London bank manager, for example, confided that of 1,000 middle class professional men's bank accounts he handles, 900 are regularly overdrawn.

Bank Allows Credit

He said the situation has become so prevalent the bank has adopted the practice of permitting reasonable overdrafts in the case of trustworthy clients and extending them sympathetic credit in this manner for a limited period of time.

Most middle class families that could buy automobiles before the war have given them up as luxuries they can no longer afford.

It is a familiar sight in London nowadays to see a respectable looking man of the white collar class peddling to and from work on his bicycle, gripping his briefcase and one of the handlebars with the same hand.

People have had to cut down on movies, books, magazines, and other entertainment.

And, yet, despite the dreary drabness of this struggle for the basic essentials of life, the rank and file of the British middle class still try to grim and bear it.

They do so with that remarkable self-discipline, restraint of emotionalism, and spartan courage which they demonstrated so dramatically during the battle of Britain in their darkest hour of World War II.

The average British family does its best to adopt the philosophy that "the best things in life are free." They spend more time in the outdoors than they did before; and more time participating in all forms of free entertainment such as band concerts, royal processions and ceremonies, walking in the parks, etc.

They even have their little jokes and gags about the life they are leading.

Shocks Considered Normal

One Englishman I met in London remarked that his countrymen ase so accustomed to shocks by now that even the explosion of an atomic bomb in the heart of London wouldn't send them into a panic.

"About the only worry such an occurrence would inspire," he said, "would be whether it would make any difference in the football pool dividends (the favorite weekly gamble of millions of Britishers)."

Another described the "brave new world" being fashioned by Britain's Socialist government as consisting of the following ingredients:

"Blue prints, red tape, white hopes, green legislators, and black despair."

Although grumbling against the government and its economic policies is growing, it is in the restrained British manner.

Drastic Upsurge Unlikely

There is no sign whatever of any drastic upsurge of popular resentment. The British are not built that way.

The British public traditionally respects law and order even under the most trying circumstances.

Except in time of war, it is doubtful that either the Americans or the French, for example, would accept the present state of life in Britain without much more violent reactions.

But the feeling of despair is spreading among the middle class of Britain today—the professional people, shopkeepers, white collar office employes, salesmen, clerks, and small businessmen generally, who consider themselves the main victims of Britain's Labor government "reforms."

They do not deny that the position of Britain's lower working classes was overdue for betterment, nor do they begrudge any "sound improvement" in their lot.

What they fear, however, is that the policies of the present regime have produced a drastic levelling off process that is rapidly reducing the middle class to the lowest standard of living.

Schools To Close For Thanksgiving

With the exception of Carroll Thompson Junior high, all Lubbock public schools will be dismissed Wednesday afternoon to observe Thanksgiving holidays on Thursday and Friday, Superintendent R. W. Matthews announced Friday.

Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, will be the only holiday observed by students in Carroll Thompson Junior high, Matthews said. This school opened two weeks late in the fall because of remodeling, and time is being made up on holidays and Saturdays. Regular school hours will be observed on Friday, Nov. 25, Carl Bailey, principal, said, and the regular Saturday schedule of 8 a.m. to 12:50 p.m. will be held on Saturday, Nov. 26.

Singer Regains Talking Ability After Removal Of Voice Box

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP) — Twelve years ago William C. Mills, 72, a professional singer and voice teacher, had his larynx (voice box) removed to rid himself of cancer. The operation took from him not only his ability to sing, but even his ability to talk. "I decided I'd get nowhere," Mills says, "by feeling sorry for myself."

He began studying the art of esophageal speech, talking by use of respiratory muscles. "I was talking after five weeks," he says, "and in three months I could converse. Haltingly at first, but talking all the same." Mills saw a new way to make himself useful — teaching similarly handicapped persons to speak. So far he has instructed 14 persons and only one has failed to respond. "He refused to practice," says Mills. "Those who tried, learned."

Farmers To Vote On PMA Committeemen

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19 (Spcl.) Terry county farmers will decide on Nov. 23 who will serve as community Production and Marketing Administration committeemen during 1950, according to Hugh H. Harred, chairman of the Terry county PMA committee.

A nominating committee has been appointed in each community and these nominating committee have selected two names for each position to be filled. The names of those nominated have been printed on the ballots and space has been left for a "write in" in the case any voter wishes to vote for someone other than the nominee.

Every farmer has been mailed a ballot, which he is asked to return to the county PMA office in Brownfield not later than 5 p. m. Nov. 22. It will be necessary for those not voting by mail to cast their votes at the PMA office here, since there will be no other voting places in the county.

Annual Terry County Christmas Party Planned Dec. 9 At Union

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19 (Special)—Members of the Terry county home demonstration council have announced that the annual county-wide Christmas party will be held at 2 p. m. Dec. 9 in the Union school gymnasium.

All home demonstration club members are invited to attend the party, bringing along small children and a gift for each child brought. Each member is also asked to bring a gift to be auctioned and a gift for the tree.

Terry Commissioners To Seek Bids On New Health Center

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19 (Special)—South Plains Health Unit officials have been authorized by the Terry county commissioners court to ask for construction bids on the new health center to be built here by the county, city and federal government.

Notices to bidders are being drawn and bids will be accepted up to Dec. 12, it was reported.

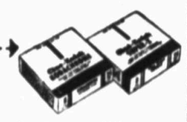

The new health unit center will be built in the northern part of the city. The county and city will provide $21,000 each toward construction of the center, with the federal government putting up $42,000.

The new center will be headquarters for the South Plains Health Unit, which serves Terry, Dawson, Gaines, Yoakum and Hockley counties.

PLANNING THANKSGIVING FROLIC—It's more fun than work for these Westerners and their dates to plan a post-game "Turkey Day" party. Left to right, they are Moe Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Turner of 2505 Ave. L; Mary Lou Seward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Seward of 1928 Ave. N; Bill Presley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Presley of 2504 Twenty-ninth; Ann Bondurant, daughter of Mrs. Eunice Bondurant of 2123 Twenty-eighth; Joyce Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Moody of 2424 Twenty-fourth; and Mac Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Taylor of 2223 Sixteenth.

STUDYING FOR SERMON — Mrs. Abe Hester, jr., watches as her husband, Reverend Hester, pastor of the College Avenue Baptist church, prepares for the sermon he will give at the church-wide union service to be held Wednesday night at 7:30 at the First Methodist church. The pastor's sermon will be on "Thankfulness." The Hesters, who live at 2420 Ninth, have two children, Carol Anne, age 8; and John Paul, 3.

THANKSGIVING ARRANGEMENTS—Mrs. J. G. Keyes of 2217 Thirty-first is shown as she arranges flowers for a Thanksgiving centerpiece. Mrs. Keyes says that she and her husband both have flowers as a hobby — he grows them and she arranges them. She first became interested in flowers while she was in the Home Economic division at Texas Tech college. Her favorite flowers to work with are iris and chrysanthemums in the fall, the tulips and jonquils in the spring. Ordinarily, Mrs. Keyes prefers modernistic and line arrangements, but for Thanksgiving, she decided on maroon chrysanthemums complemented by a shining brass and copper chafing dish.

IT'S ALMOST DONE—Mrs. R. S. Booker of 2801 Twenty-fourth looks at the turkey she is cooking for the holiday she and her family will have together. Mr. and Mrs. Booker's youngest son, Bobby, a junior at the University of Texas, will arrive in Lubbock Wednesday. His mother has been planning the traditional Thanksgiving dinner for weeks, because all of her family enjoy turkey with "all the trimmin's". Other children who will be present are Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Booker and their two little sons of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Griggs and three sons of 3220 Twentieth; and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tinney and two children of 3312 Twenty-fifth.

BUYING THE TRIMMINGS — Mrs. Frank Junell of 2522 Twentieth does her Thanksgiving shopping before the "last minute" rush and thus has ample time to make wise choices. Mrs. Junell says that she and her husband and two children, Janice, 11, and Robert, 2½, enjoy being home together during the Thanksgiving holidays. They always have a Thanksgiving meal, but their dinner differs from the usual one — Mr. Junell does not like turkey, so they have "ham with all the trimmings." Thanksgiving time is also an "anniversary" for the Junell family, for one year ago they became Lubbock residents.

IT'S COOKING TIME—Little Buddy Fulgham, 4, and his sister, Carolyn, 9, happily await a "sample" of a new-recipe butterscotch pie baked by their attractive mother, Mrs. C. E. Fulgham, 2402 Thirtieth. Buddy and Carolyn agree that the nicest things about Thanksgiving are the good things to eat—especially the turkey that they will have at their grandmother's, Mrs. Morgan Jones of Abilene. Carolyn also enjoys the holidays from her school work. The Fulgham family is planning to leave for Abilene Wednesday to be with relatives over the holidays and will return to Lubbock Sunday.

Morrow-Craft Marriage Is Read In Baptist Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Billy G. Morrow, who exchanged wedding vows Friday night at 8:30 o'clock at First Baptist church chapel, will be at home at 907 Forty-first. The bride is the former Miss Maxie Ruth Craft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Craft. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Morrow of Hobart, Okla.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant read a double ring service.

Gerre Hancock, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Norma Lee White as she sang "Because" and "O, Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a light brown suit with dark green accessories and her flowers were red roses. Something old and borrowed was a string of pearls that the bridegroom's mother had worn for 25 years.

The Wedding Party

Miss June Gillis, maid of honor, wore a suit with brown accessories and a corsage of roses.

Bert Morrow, jr., was best man and Beverly Craft lighted the candles.

At a reception that followed in the Craft home, 602 Ave. M, Barbara Craft greeted guests and assisting in receiving were Betty Goble, Bonita Black and Margaret Harris.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a brown and tan gabardine dress with cocoa brown accessories. A graduate of Lubbock High school, she is secretary at the Hygeia Water company. The bridegroom, a graduate of Hobart High school and former student at Oklahoma A. and M. college, is a salesman at Dunlap's department store.

Through The Coral Doors

Howdy folks,

Thanksgiving is coming in a big way at Decorators Studio. If you haven't been in there in the last two days, you'd better drop by to see the most sumptious set-up I've seen for a buffet Turkey spread. A centerpiece of evergreens and vegetables cascade from a bowl headed by a large golden duck. Shasta, that American adaptation of a gay modern Swedish design in china, is used with individual cassoroles of red tomatoes. Josie and Anne were adding the final touches with golden crystal and golden Dirilyte, while I tried to steal nibbles of the edible centerpiece!

Bee was especially pleased over the receipt of new pictures during the week. First there arrived a handsome and most unusually framed set of signs of the Zodiac. They are done with the originality always found in the items created by Feika exclusively for the Studio. Also received were some prints Bee had ordered, including Rouault's Joan de Arc and a pair of excellent bird prints. You know, copies of world's best paintings can be gotten behind that Coral Door to be especially framed for you.

James has been busy hiding set-ups for beautiful rooms in various cabinets about the Studio. Since he has several out-of-town customers who want new surroundings by Christmas, he has everything ready for their final selection. If he just doesn't lose his map showing what is tucked away in which drawer!

The lovely green and yellow Daffodil pottery arrived today on the new china base. Those of you who have the pottery will find the new shipment is the same in color, but will have all the fine wearing qualities china has over pottery. Ask one of the girls to show you some smart metallic-shot place mats to go with Daffodil. You'll find at least one color out of the wide range in these mats will add sparkle to any table ware you have that needs a new lease of life.

Guess Fredda has flown the coop. Leastwise, she's always out-of-town seeing a client or else she is just out gadding when I come around. The girls tell me she is doing some very swish things in the way of interior designing. I did catch a glimpse of some handsome new carpet in her hand as she whizzed by. (In a heavenly purple dress, I most add).

Santa Claus certainly has a field day at 1202 Ave. N. Those many beautiful packages already put back contain such items as lamps, sets of china, silver accessories, and end tables. One of the smaller packages holds a very big gift—a carpet sample with a paid receipt for 72 square yards attached. What could be more welcomed by the lady of the house?

Must get about my own shopping; you'll find me snooping at the Decorators Studio. See you next week.

Grandpa Nosey.

Church Classes

The largest social even of the year for First Methodist 50-50 class will be a Thanksgiving banquet to be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at Hilton hotel.

Reservations for the occasion will not be taken after today. Mesdames Bruce Bryan, Walter Clark and Gerald Fulton, are in charge of arrangements.

Dorcas class of Westminster Presbyterian church had a meeting in the home of Mrs. S. T. Hodges, 2204 Twenty-fourth, Thursday night with Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. W. H. Waln as hostesses.

After a business session, games of forty-two were played and refreshments were served to 18 members and one guest.

The class' Christmas party will be given at the home of Mrs. J. A. Sears at a date to be announced later.

An aqua pottery cornucopia filled with fall fruits and autumn leaves centered the table at the annual Thanksgiving luncheon given for First Baptist Ruth class Friday in the home of Mrs. W. J. Powell, 2321 Thirteenth. The cornucopia and placed on a reflector.

A turkey dinner was served to 35 members and five guests, Dr. J. Ralph Grant, and Mesdames Pat Davidson, George Rufus Rush, Melvin Robertson and Henry Knox of Waco.

The invocation was by Dr. Grant and a musical reading, "Count Your Blessings," was given by Mrs. Rush, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. K. Lamb. A quartet, Mesdames L. O. Neill, Lee White, R. R. Holmes, jr., and W. M. Noble, sang "Count Your Blessings."

Adult Friendship class of the Forrest Heights Methodist church had a party Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hewett, 3015 Thirtieth.

Hostesses were Mesdames Harold Kelley, Roger Poff and Harold Girdner.

A "fashion parade" of the latest women's creations was given by the pastor, Rev. Burgin Watkins, and several of the male members of the class.

Refreshments were served to 25 members.

Plans were made for a Turkey dinner to be Dec. 15.

Members of Calvary Baptist Business and Professional Women's class held a taffy pull at the home of Mrs. Esther Lemon, 1912 Ave. K, Friday night.

Those present were Mesdames J. T. Lowrimore, Arlene and Joan, Sylvia Lewis and Roxie Beth, Helen Carr and Judy, Emily Hailey, Harva Brown, J. A. Giles, Jean Trammel, Esther Lemon, Ronald, Duane and Madeline, and Misses Willma Rupert and Fannie Pillow.

Modom's Earrings To Be Shoulder-Ticklers

New Jewelry Will Make Women Weight-Lifters

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—In jewelry, the new-fangle look is the dangle look.

A smart lady will want virtually everything—short of her participles—to dangle. Meaning earrings, necklaces, hat trimmery, ankle bracelets and even belt buckles.

It's all part of the glittery, jittery "back to the 1920's" trend in fashion which has dress designers snipping off hems and beauticians snipping off hair.

Earrings Stretching

Foremost among dangle-stuff will be earrings, now called "shoulder-ticklers." New, abridged hairdo's have marked the ear for special attention, so 1950 earrings are massive and glamorous.

They consist of clumps of stones, beads or pearls clamped to the ear, and dangling with as many as five three-inch-long strands of beads, hanging to the shoulder.

Matching these are dangling necklaces, consisting of one tight strand around the throat supporting long dangle-strands that spray out, sunburst fashion, on the chest.

Dangle tie-rings are such a new doo-dad, they're still costly and scarce. But some jewel-makers are showing inch-wide rings of colored beads or pearls, dripping with pendants to match.

Ankle bracelets, wrist bracelets, lapel pins and belt buckles also dangle with baubles in their most high-fashion form.

Finger rings are mammoth. They're ball-like in shape and formed, generally, in one large stone framed by small sparklers.

Charm bracelets are coming back, in hefty form. New models have charms the size of 50-cent pieces and heavily weighted.

Another doo-dad trend is toward gold or silver mesh collars and bibs.

Because of the new popularity of long, slim sleeves or above-elbow-length gloves, more spectacular bracelets are upcoming—to be clamped on the outside.

Hat jewelry is another nostalgic newcomer for 1950. On the season's simple, small hats, pins can be the dominant ornament.

Scatter pins are scheduled for popularity again this season, but under a different title: "Pins to be grouped."

According to designers, there's never been a bigger year for pearls in the history of America. A woman may dangle pearls from her neck, her wrists, her waist or her ears and be in high fashion.

Some women are even tacking the extra-long pearl strands around hemlines, twining them around belts, or scrolling them, after the fashion of Victorian braid, on woolen shawls and stoles.

Institute Is At Program

Three committee members and a trustee were elected for three year terms at an annual fall dinner meeting of the Tech Art Institute at the Hilton hotel Thursday night. Robert J. Allen and Mrs. Claud Keeton were re-elected and Mrs. DeAlva Roberts named to the committee. Dr. C. J. Wagner is the new trustee.

During a program that followed: Prof. John Douglas Hale gave an account of the portrait sketch of Daniel Chester French by Vonnoh, new acquisition by the institute; Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president, discussed fine art groups in El Paso and Dr. Elizabeth Skidmore Sasser lectured on different types of picture composition in famous paintings. She illustrated her talk with color slides.

Program For Year

The year's program was announced as follows:

Dec. 15-Jan. 5, Contemporary artists group show, museum building. Preview date for members to be announced.

Jan. 1-21, Oil painting show (Ohio artists) circulated by the Cleveland Art museum.

Feb. 1-21, Water color show (Ohio artists) circulated by Cleveland Art museum.

March 1-30, Peter Hurd show of oils, water colors, lithographs, etc.

April 10-30, Texas Fine Arts exhibition.

May 1-21, Children's art show.

May 22-June 12, Postage stamp design. This exhibition will be in cooperation with the Longhorn Stamp club of Lubbock.

June 12-Sept. 15, Exhibition of the Art Institute's permanent collection.

Husbands' Party Held By 1941 Needle Club In Cates Residence

Mrs. Oliver Cates and Mrs. Eldon Trego were hostesses with a Thanksgiving party for members of the 1941 Needle club and husbands Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Cates home, 2821 Twenty-seventh.

Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, autumn leaves and berries and yellow candles were featured in decorations.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames A. L. Holtkort, Meritt Clark, Gordon Douglass, Wesley B. Smith, John Mallory, Pat Henry and J. O. Pope, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Petty and Messrs. Cates and Trego.

The club's next regular meeting will be Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. A. E. Dietering, 2205 Twenty-first.

Two-Year Theme Set By TFWC President

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—Mrs. J. Howard Hodge of Midland, new president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, will emphasize the theme, "Education for World Leadership" during her two-year administration.

Mrs. Hodge announced her theme yesterday following her election.

Day-long balloting in the Federation's closing day of its three-day annual convention also brought the election of Mrs. T. M. West of San Antonio, first vice president; Mrs. John O. Douglas of Houston, second vice president; Mrs. U. L. Wilie of Matador, treasurer; and Mrs. W. S. Cantrell of Lometa, secretary.

On Building Committee

Mrs. Hodge said she plans for her administration to give attention particularly to Pan-American relations, the General Federation's project of "Building Better Communities," education, junior clubs and the study of the United Natjons General Assembly, the security council and UNESCO.

She named Mrs. H. Howard Gibson of Waxahachie and Mrs. E. N. Smith of Marshall as the two appointive members of the Federation's board of directors.

Officers were installed in ceremonies last night in the convention's final session.

The convention drew 639 delegates, the largest attendance since 1940.

MRS J. HOWARD HODGE

Sister Of Mrs. Hodge Is Lubbock Resident

Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, new president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, is a sister of Mrs. Minnie Fickas, 1610 Ave. L, and has visited here a number of times. She and her husband have just returned from a three weeks' stay in New York, where she attended the national convention of GFWC.

Baptist Union Party Is In Harrison Home

Rev. and Mrs. Ira Harrison, 3415 Twenty-seventh, were hosts at a Friday night party given for the Companions Training union of First Baptist church. Following an evening of games, a party plate was served.

Attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Daulton Blevins, Bob Wilson, John Zinn, Tullis Walker, David Crisp, Leverett Guess, Bill Tiemann, Bill Beck, Leon Harris, Calvin Stewart and Mrs. John Hall.

SPACE SAVER

If an 8 or 9 inch space is left between cabinets in your kitchen, utilize the space by installing a tray, rack or towel dryer in between.

Visitor Lectures On Planting Of Church Gardens

Lubbock Garden club members had as their guest speaker Friday, Mrs. B. C. Elliott of Amarillo, church garden chairman of District 1, Texas Garden clubs, Inc. The guest, who was introduced by Mrs. H. G. Knight, spoke at Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway. Among those attending were representatives from various Lubbock churches.

Mrs. Elliott explained that church gardens are rather new, the idea for them originated in the East a few years ago. She said when a church decides to have a garden, a group is organized to plan and execute the project. A worship garden, outdoor sanctuary, a prayer retreat, a garden for social affairs, or a garden for other uses might be planned by the group.

Three church of Amarillo have garden groups, according to Mrs. Elliott.

Mrs. R. C. Badgett presided for business and Mrs. George Berry, of the board of directors of Lubbock Women's club, discussed a project of the organization.

Home, Art, Government Will Be Discussed Before Clubs

WOMEN'S club activities for the week will be limited because of the Thanksgiving holidays, but several organizations have planned parties, book reviews and talks to be given by members and guests.

Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will be guest speaker for Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the East room of the Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway. He will discuss "Our American Home and Family Life."

Supplementary talks will be made by three club members: Mesdames Ivy Savage, T. R. Prideaux and M. L. Shepherd.

Tuesday Night Readers are to meet in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Douglas, jr., 1714 Thirtieth, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Mesdames R. C. Douglas, jr., and George J. Young will be hostesses.

Songs of Thanksgiving will be presented by Mrs. Odis Hackney and Mrs. Wayne Pharr at a meeting of Pierian Sorosis Study club Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway. Guest day is to be observed and hostesses will be Mesdames W. C. Mingus, Troy Peeples and M. W. Stone. Reservations are to be made by calling one of the hostesses by Monday.

Mrs. J. J. Willingham is to review "The Africa of Albert Schweitzer."

In the home of Mrs. Eldon L. Rawlings, 1409 Arnett, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Lubbock Junior Woman's club will have a program on "Women and Government" led by Mrs. D. B. Morrison. Subjects to be discussed are: "We Women Throw Our Votes Away," by Mrs. R. L. Redline; "The Republican Party," Mrs. Dee H. Bradford, jr.; and "The Democratic Party," Mrs. Ted Waldrip.

Members will answer roll call with the name of a cabinet member in the federal government.

Program On Art

Mrs. R. A. Tynes, 2318 Twentieth, will be hostess to Athenaeum club Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program, "America's Culture Comes of Age," will be given by Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt who is to discuss "What Is Art and Who Is the Artist" and Mrs. D. M. Davis who will talk on "What Makes A Home Beautiful."

Clement Sorosis Study club will meet Tuesday at 3 p. m. for a program, "Art in Everyday Living." Mrs. L. D. Marshall is to be leader and Mrs. Belverd Needles, 1710 Thirtieth, will be hostess. Mrs. John Powers, a guest, is to discuss "Holiday Flower Arrangements."

"Dinner at Antoines" (Keyes) will be reviewed by Mrs. Eldon F. Fuller when members of Sorosis club meet with Mrs. W. P. Clement, 2606 Twentieth, Tuesday at 3 p. m. Co-hostess is to be Mrs. R. S. Williams.

"Silent Servant" Is To Solve Problems For Homemakers

Housewives who start that housecleaning job, then at midmorning want to sit down and have a good cry needn't do it — there's a new answer to the problem in "Silent Servant," Lubbock's newest business which is being announced today.

Mrs. Hope Conroe—in private life she's Mrs. William Conroe—thinks she has the answer to the housewife's dilemma in her new business.

She offers a complete housekeeping, baby tending and washing service, available to clean and wax floors, wash windows and woodwork, vacuum clean, dust and polish furniture.

With the aid of young men from Draughon's Business college, Silent Servant will give a guaranteed job under supervision of Mrs. L. D. Oden. If the job isn't satisfactory, Mrs. Conroe says she will come back and scrub herself if necessary.

"And believe me, I know how to scrub," she adds.

The Silent Servant does a turnkey job, furnishing all materials and labor. If the lady of the house wants a particular brand of wax or polish used, that brand will be provided.

Jobs will be done rapidly, probably with three boys working at the same time under personal supervision of Mrs. Oden, it was announced. The telephone number temporarily is 5579.

Needle Clubs Are Hosts At Annual Dinner Parties

After a dinner served for Mend 'n Mind club members and their husbands at Hilton hotel Thursday night, games of forty-two were played. Pyracantha, ivy and candles decorated tables.

Vegetables Play Important Role In Thanksgiving Meal

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

FRESH vegetables play a major role in the Thanksgiving menu.

Baked Stuffed Onions
(6 servings)

Six large onions, 2 tablespoons melted butter or fortified margarine, 1 cup chopped celery, 1-3 cup coarsely chopped nut meats, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup grated American cheese, sprigs of parsley for garnish.

Boil onions for five minutes in a large quantity of boiling salted water. Drain, cool slightly and remove centers with a sharp-pointed knife, being careful not to cut through the bottom of onions. Brush onions inside and out with melted butter or margarine. Mix chopped celery, nut meats, salt and grated cheese together. Fill onions with mixture and place in 1½ quart yellow dish of heat-resistant glass. Bake in moderately hot oven 375 degrees F.) for about one hour or until onions are tender and dressing is browned. Garnish with parsley and serve.

Baked Carrots Sauterne
(serves 4)

Four cups shredded raw carrots, ½ cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or fortefied margarine.

Place carrots in a greased casserole. Add water, salt, pepper and sugar. Stir so that seasonings are evenly distributed. Dot with butter. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve at once from the casserole.

Candied Yams
(6 servings)

Six yams, cooked and peeled, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup cold water.

Slice yams and arrange in a shallow casserole; sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, dot with butter and pour water over all. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer.

Three Recipes To Vary Dishes On Thanksgiving

Everyone is looking for special recipes now for Thanksgiving. Try these three—each fine in its own way.

Minted Peas
(Serves 4)

Shell and wash two pounds fresh peas just before cooking. Cook not more than 8 to 12 minutes in a small amount of boiling salted water (about 1 inch of water in a covered pan). Add several of the pea pods and several sprigs of fresh mint while peas are cooking. Remove pods and mint before serving. Season with butter or fortified margarine. Serve at once while peas are fresh and sweet and their color is a beautiful bright green.

Pumpkin Tarts
(Yield: 14 tarts, 3-inch diameter)

Two-thirds cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon each, cinnamon and ginger ⅛ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup unsulphured molases, 2 cups mashed pumpkin, 3 eggs, 1 cup undiluted evaporated milk, pastry, using 2 cups flour.

Combine first six ingredients. Add molases and pumpkin. Beat in eggs. Add milk; mix well and pour into pastry-lined cupcake pans. Bake 35 minutes in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.).

French Apple Pie

Eight medium-sized apples, 1 nine-inch pie shell, unbaked, ¼ cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1-3 cup butter or fortified margarine, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon.

Slice half the apples into the pie shell. Crumble flour, sugar, spices and butter together. Sprinkle half the crumbs over apples. Top with remaining sliced apples and cover with remaining crumbs. Place a cover over pie and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Remove cover and bake 30 minutes longer. Serve hot or cold, but pie is a little runny when hot.

Carroll-Zollinger Wedding Is Read In New York City

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Zollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zollinger of Bethlehem, Pa., and William Wesley Carroll, jr., son of Mrs. William Wesley Carroll of 2012 Sixteenth and the late Mr. Carroll, which took place at noon, Saturday, Nov. 12, in the Brides chapel of the Church of the Transfiguration in New York City. Rev. Randolph Ray performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and close friends of the couple.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a navy blue suit of Italian Duppioni silk. Her blouse was finished with a Peter Pan collar of real lace, and she carried a Bible with a single white orchid and lilies of the valley. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Louise Zollinger.

Walter F. Zollinger served as best man.

Mrs. Carroll is a graduate of Pennslyvania State college where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority.

Mr. Carroll was graduated from Lubbock High school and is a former student of Texas Technological college. He served with the Army during the war, and at present he is in the second year of Interior Design at the Parson's School of Design.

After a brief wedding trip to Split Rock in the Pocono mountains of Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will be at home in New York City.

GUEST IS SPEAKER

Mrs. L. H. Kirby, guest of AAUW Child Study unit 3 Friday afternoon, spoke on the topic, "When a Child Asks about Sex." A round table discussion followed the talk.

Hostesses were Mesdames J. D. Cates, L. E. Parsons and T. W. Camp in the Cates' home at 2305 Twenty-eighth.

Eighteen members attended.

MARRIED—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pool of 513 Ave. O are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Bobby Ann, above, to Arthur Lee Burnett, son of Mrs. Ivy Roark of 713 Ave. L, which took place recently at Clovis, N. M. The couple is at home in Lubbock. Mrs. Burnett is attending Senior High school and Mr. Burnett is employed by Lytal's Pharmacy.

WSCS Lecturer To Be Student From India

Hazelton Madison, a student from India, will discuss the religions in India for St. John's Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church sanctuary.

At 2 o'clock Monday, the society will have a business meeting. The regular 11 o'clock meeting and luncheon are not to be held.

Luncheon Is Served To WICC

The annual luncheon for members of the women's social clubs of Texas Technological college, sponsored by Women's Inter-Club council, was given at Hilton hotel Saturday with representatives from each of the five clubs presenting the program. Alice Hix, WICC president, presided and gave a welcome. Another feature of the luncheon, was the presentation of a softball tournament trophy to DFD club by Mrs. Richard Richards, WICC sponsor. The tournament was conducted last spring.

On the program were the following numbers: a song by Shirley Harris, Sans Souci; novelty number, "Chloe," by Guida Miller, Las Chaparritas; reading by Pat Edwards, Las Vivarachas; novelty Homer and Jethro number by Janet Moore, Pat Keefer and Freeda Harwell, DFDs; and a skit on the five types of boys found at Tech dances by Jane Moseley and Corinne Garrison, Ko Sharis.

Presidents of each club were introduced, and they in turn introduced the clubs' sponsors. To follow tradition ,at the close of the luncheon, Guida Miller played the songs of the clubs and they were sung by the appropriate groups.

A fall centerpiece decorated the head table. Approximately 200 persons attended, and special guests were Mrs. D. M. Wiggins, Mrs. E. N. Jones, and three assistants to the dean of women, Miss Virginia Keehan, Mrs. Lorraine Hudson and Miss Dorothy Willett.

PLAN YULE PARTY

Needle Club Bee members who met with Mrs. T. S. Cranford, sr., Friday afternoon at 2120 Twenty-third planned a forty-two party to be given Dec. 2 at 7:30 p. m. Husbands are to be guests at the party which will be held in the C. C. Chambers home, 2118 Twenty-seventh.

ODE TO COACHES

SOMEONE sent this in the mail:

The football coach
Is full of woes
Conceding games
To other Joes.
The more he thinks
His team will win
The sicklier
His Friday grin.
The more he thinks
The outlook poor
The more he tries
To act cocksure.
A chronic hypocrite
The coach is
Who seldom on
The truth encroaches.
The public, though,
Forgives such sinning
Particularly
When he's winning.

Henry Morgan suggested a slogan for newspaper features in which readers are urged to analyze themselves: "Don't be afraid, be a Freud." . . . A Lubbock hostess, planning a tea, designated members of her house party as "greeters," "mixers," "minglers" and "plate takers." . . . Although our country has properly been called a melting pot of peoples, for at least a century the native born have constituted 85 per cent or more of our population . . . Before you accept all those invitations to holiday parties between now and the New Year, recall that it's said a man may live 60 days without food, 14 days without water, but only 6 days without sleep. Try to get adequate sleep every night to keep your health, your disposition and your beauty.

JOY PHARR

MONA RAE POWELL

Senior Girls Honored By B-PW Club

The Girls of the Month for October and November who were honored by Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club at a dinner meeting held Wednesday night in Hilton hotel ballroom were Mona Rae Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powell, 2324 Twenty-sixth, and Joy Pharr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Pharr of 1915 Ruby.

A committee of Senior High school teachers chose the girls for the honor on the basis of their character, scholarship, leader ship and service. Mrs. DeAlva Roberts introduced the two young women and presented each a book on behalf of the B-PW club.

Is Class Secretary

This year, Mona Rae, a high school senior, is senior class secretary, president of Y-Teen club, Y-Teen state girl executive and vice president of the National Honor society. Previously she has been a sophomore class vice president, cheer leader and favorite, a junior vice president, cheerleader, vice president of Junior Thespians and assistant editor of activities for the Westerner, school yearbook.

Joy, also a senior, is editor of the Westerner World, school newspaper, president of Quill and Scroll, member of the publicity committee of Y-Teen club, member of Natonal Honor society, and is secretary of her guidance. She plans to make a career of journalism.

NOT SO WORTHLESS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Bernard L. Cohn bought a batch of stock in the 1920s. After the 1929 market collapse he thought it was valueless. He forgot it until a tracer firm asked him to dig out the stock certificates. The "worthless" paper proved to be worth about $500 or $600.

Date Set For Comic Opera

Lubbock Music club will present "The Mikado" (Gilbert and Sullivan) at Senior High school auditorium Feb. 20-21, 1950.

The dates originally were set for this week, but because illness in the cast was postponed.

Weekly rehearsals are continuing, it was announced.

The date was set at a program and business meeting of the Lubbock Music club Friday night at the Women's clubhouse.

Dr. Dorothy Lyle To Address Groups On Cleaning, Dyeing

Dr. Dorothy Siegert Lyle of the National Institute of Cleaning and Dyeing, Silver Spring, Md., will speak at Texas Technological college Monday. At 4 p. m., she will address home economics students in Annex G, and at 7:30 o'clock, she is to give an illustrated talk for the Science club in the Aggie Memorial auditorium. Her subject will be "Unserviceable Garments and Fabrics Met by the Dry Cleaner."

The public is invited to attend the night meeting, and special invitations have been sent to local dry cleaning and dyeing establishments and retail store buyers.

Dr. Lyle represents the Consumer Relations Department of the National Institute Of Cleaning and Dyeing. She was invited to Tech by Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head of the department of clothing and textiles.

While in Texas, Dr. Lyle will speak to groups at other colleges, and she is scheduled to address home economics teachers at the Texas State Teachers association meeting in Fort Worth Friday.

NEBRASKA GROWS 'EM BIG

WACO, Neb. (U.P.) — Herman Heinecke had such good luck with his garden that he doesn't talk about eating "Turnips." He speaks of "part of a turnip for dinner." Heinecke displayed the largest of his crop, a 4½ pound turnip.

Mrs. Ruel Martin To Be Hostess To PEO

Chapter AK of PEO Sisterhood will meet with Mrs. Ruel C. Martin, 1718 Thirty-third, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The co-hostess will be Mrs. W. A. Black and a book review will be presented.

ATTEND HOMECOMING

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Terry of 1901 Thirtieth are attending homecoming activities at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque this weekend. Both were students there before their marriage. The couple will also visit relatives of Mrs. Terry's, and will return home this afternoon.

TO MARRY TUESDAY—In a ceremony to be performed at St. Paul's Episcopal church Tuesday at 7 o'clock in the evening, Miss Joan Hale, pictured above, and Hugh P. Harbert are to be married. A reception for wedding guests will be given afterwards at Hilton hotel. Miss Hale is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hale of 2118 Seventeenth, and Mr. Harbert is son of Mrs. D. K. Bondurant of Fort Worth.

SELLER LACKS PROOF

FALLS CITY, Neb. (U.P.) — Ross Beasley was arrested here when he tried to sell $75 worth of eggs to a local merchant. The reason for his arrest was that Beasley had no chickens.

FLOWER SHOW CARRIES ON

BOSTON (U.P.) — The nation's oldest continuous flower show is Boston's. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, it was held this year for the 120th year.

"FRESH" EGGS CHIRP

CALHOUN CITY, Miss. (U.P.) — "Fresh" eggs bought by a housewife here proved to be fresher than she thought. She placed them in a paper bag on top of a kitchen cabinet and when she looked again one of the eggs had hatched a chicken. Three others hatched when placed under a bantam hen.

Two-Day Choir School To Be Held In City

Under sponsorship of the Lubbock chapter, American Guild of Organists, a choir school will be conducted Monday and Tuesday at First Christian church by Cecil E. Lapo, minister of music of the Wichita Falls First Methodist church.

All choir members, directors, organists and others interested are invited to attend the sessions for which there will be no fee. A free will offering will be taken.

The school will open Monday night at 7 o'clock with a rehearsal of several hymns of interest to organists as well as singers. A seminar for organists and choir directors will follow at 9 o'clock.

Choir clinics are scheduled for Tuesday at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. There will be a rehearsal period at 7 p. m. and a program open to the public at 8 p. m. The last program will include anthems presented by the choir and congregational singing led by Mr. Lapo. He also will speak on the multiple choir system and importance of music in the church service.

The music minister is a graduate of Westminster Choir College and served the last eight years as minister of music to the First Methodist church of Cuyahoga Falls, a suburd of Akron, Ohio. In addition, he has served as director in various choir schools in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

OLD FRIEND REMEMBERS

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y. (U.P.) — When Mrs. Julia Fry Fosgate celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary, she received a letter of congratulations from Dr. G. S. Farmer, who will be 100 in January. They went to school together as children and hadn't seen each other since.

SOLDIERS FORGETFUL

FORT LEWIS, Wash (U.P.)—The quartermaster's office here published a list of articles found in the pockets of Army uniforms sent to the cleaners during a three-month period. Items left included 25 wallets, seven wrist watches, six fountain pens, three pair of glasses, three partial plates and one marriage license.

DIAGNOSIS CORRECT

GREEN BAY, Wis. (U.P.)—Tom Schultz told the doctor he was bothered with a "breathless' feeling." An X-ray showed a bone more than an inch long lodged in one lung.

Fresh, fragrant flowers . . . as much a Thanksgiving tradition as turkey and pumpkins! Decorate your festive table, or surprise your hostess with their beauty. Smart arrangements for informal or formal settings. Priced to please everyone!

TO EDUCATE JAPANESE CHILD

Mother Of Former Westerner Grid Star Plans Scholarship

In memory of her son, Wayne (Rusty) Johnson, former Lubbock High school football star who was killed on Okinawa, Mrs. W. H. Johnston of Tulsa, has established a scholarship which will give a Christian education to a boy or girl in Japan, it was learned here Saturday.

Mrs. Johnston was formerly an active member of First Methodist church here. Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor, said, "She was one of the best members we had. When I came here she was working in the Women's society. She was especially active in visiting shut-ins."

Killed In 1945

Wayne was with the Sixth Marine division and was killed in 1945.

Since that time Mrs. Johnston has been trying to decide on a suitable memorial for Rusty, who was an outstanding football player at Coffeyville, Kas., Junior college, Marquette and Notre Dame universities after he was graduated from high school here.

Mrs. Johnston now attends Boston Avenue Methodist church in Tulsa. The $250 scholarship, using some of Rusty's insurance money, has been set up under the Methodist board of missions. Dr. T. T. Brumbaugh, associate secretary of the board, is visiting Japan and has promised to take a personal interest in choosing the school and the student.

"It isn't much, but it may inspire other mothers," said Mrs. Johnston in explaining the scholarship. "We must educate the Japanese boys spiritually and help them find Christ. That is the way to peace."

Mrs. Johnston will supplement the fund later. She hopes other families will become interested in the plan and that similar scholarships will be set up in China, Russia and Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston moved from Lubbock to Dallas in 1944. In 1946 they moved to Tulsa.

Rusty was a 1939 graduate of Lubbock High school. He had two brothers, Joe Bob Johnston who lives in Lubbock, and James Johnston, now of Denver, and a sister, Mrs. C. H. C. Anderson, jr., of Dallas.

The Statue of Freedom atop the Capitol dome in Washington, D. C., weighs 14,985 pounds and cost about $23,700.

Mrs. Paul Whitney, Youth Leader, Will Talk To Club Here

Mrs. Paul Whitney, who has worked many years with American youth, will speak on "What About Our Younger Generation?" before Lubbock Knife and Fork club at a dinner at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at Hilton hotel.

Mrs. Whitney formerly was director of an experimental playground in the slums of Milwaukee. Her work later carried her through various phases of child guidance, including 12 years experience in a Syracuse high school as student counselor and teacher of health and mental hygiene.

She did undergraduate work at the University of Wisconsin and received a master's degree from Syracuse university.

Believing that the first step in understanding a child is to understand his parents and home environment, she has visited thousands of homes.

She is convinced "there is no such thing as a bad child."

She has addressed leading educational groups, parent-teacher associations and other organizations interested in American youth.

Church Drive Is Set For Slaton

SLATON, Nov. 19 (Special) — A campaign for $80,000 to build a new First Methodist church in Slaton will begin Sunday, Nov. 27, the Rev. O. B. Herring, pastor, announced today.

The new sanctuary will be erected on property adjoining the present church, which will be converted into an educational building, Mr. Herring said.

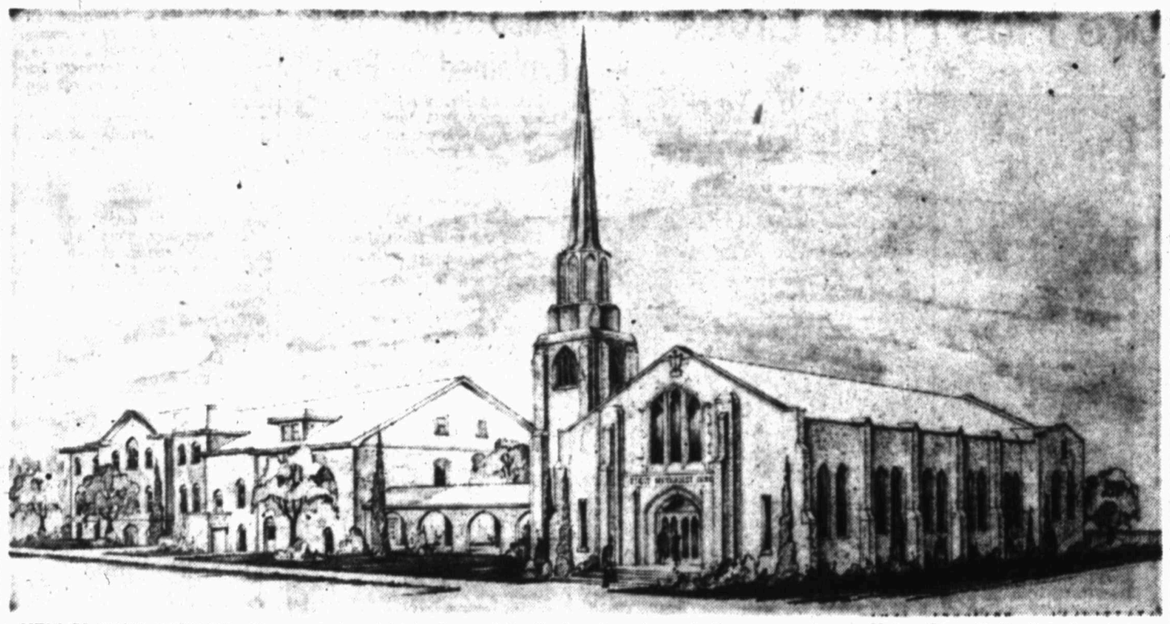

Plans call for a structure measuring 42 by 100 feet seating about 500 persons and surmounted by a copper spire 70 feet high.

Membership Has Grown

The expansion is necessitated by the rapid growth of the church membership which now approximates 625. more than 100 of whom have been added to the rolls since Mr. Herring became pastor 18 months ago.

The new structure will be of red brick, matching the present building, which was erected in 1921. Mr. Herring said about one-fourth of the money for the expansion now is invested in government bonds.

A graduate of Southern Methodist university, Mr. Herring filled pastorates in Post, Lockney, Happy, Snyder and Hereford before his assignment to the Slaton church.

NEW SLATON CHURCH—Shown at the right in the architect's drawing above is the proposed new Slaton Firs. Methodist church for which a financial drive will be started next Monday. The spire, of copper, will be 70 feet high. The present church will be converted into an educational building, as pictured at the left. Atcheson and Atkinson, of Lubbock, are the architects.

Lost Hunter Finds All Comforts At Home At Wyoming Ranch House

LANDER, Wyo., Nov. 19 (AP) — Don Pettis of Omaha not only enjoyed all the comforts of home when he got lost on a recent hunting trip and he got himself found by phone. Pettis got separated from his guide during a snowstorm and made his way to a cabin which he found equipped with soft chairs, electric lights, electric heaters and a telephone.

Pettis called the operator at Dubois to report that he was safe and to ask that someone come and get him. Trouble was, he didn't know where he was. The telephone operator then started calling all the ranches on her circuits, kept the lines hot but found no one who had heard of Pettis.

Finally, Pettis called back to say that he had found some mail addressed to the "CM Ranch" and figured that was where he was. That proved right and rescuers soon turned up to remove Pettis from his comfortable quarters. Note: he didn't get the elk he was hunting for.

Pacific Coast Turkey Exhibit Manager Is Flying Gobbler To President Of Turkey

By KARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 — America's No. 1 gobbler stopped here today on its way to Turkey.

The turkey, alive and gobbling, was on its way to curl up in an oven and eventually to wind up as the Thanksgiving dinner for the president of Turkey, Ismet Inonu.

For once, President Truman was playing seconds to the head of another nation. The same plane which carried the prize-winning bird had one tagged for the White House. Second prize.

Offer Is Accepted

As a gag, Gene Malecki, the manager of the Pacific Coast turkey exhibit, thought it would be a cute idea to send the "turkey of the year" to the president of Turkey for Thanksgiving. At a show in McMinnville, Ore., judges picked the best of a fine crop. The board of Turkey governors decided to send a bird to each of our 48 governors, express paid, plus one to the White House. Gene, who has some press agent blood in his veins, sent the president of Turkey a cable offering him the best gobbler of them all.

Without delay he got a letter right back, air-special. It said:

"Dear Mr. Malecki: His excellency, Gen. Ismet Inonu, president of the republic of Turkey, was deeply touched by your wire. The president will be pleased to receive the grand turkey . . . as a token of good will."

The note was signed by Cemal Yesil, secretary general.

Malecki is not a man to waste any time. He wired right back to Turkey and called the airline to get reservations for himself an two turkeys. One for the President of the U. S. and another for the president of Turkey.

He dropped down here long enough to dispatch a fine live bird to Blair house by government limousine.

The Oregon man isn't bashful. He said that he wasn't a bit afraid of how he would keep President Inonu's bird fat and bushy-feathered on it's long trip to the oven in turkey.

Carries Corn Sack

He carried a sack of corn and was assured that the airline had enough water to make the trip interesting for a turkey going to Turkey.

After all, for a guy who was cute enough to send a bean festival representative to Boston for a pot of baked beans—well, this was a cinch.

There is an off chance, the turkey man said, that the president of Turkey might take a fancy to his gift from Oregon and maybe want to make a pet out of it.

Malecki is all ready for that awful thing, if it happens.

"Right up there in the freeze compartment of the airplane is a spare," he said. "A turkey all cleaned, pin-plucked and ready for the president's oven.

"I'm not taking any chances."

Lunch Hour Is Expensive For Teller In Dallas City Bank

DALLAS, Nov. 19 (AP)—E. J. Solon, jr., teller for the National City bank here, had an expensive lunch hour.

When he left his cage at 1 p. m. yesterday there was $1,630 in crisp new bills to the right of his window, he told officers. When he came back, all the bills were gone.

Witnesses told police they saw two men leaning against Solon's window when he shut it. Leonard said the window was closed, but not locked.

Sixteen Enroll For First Aid Course

Sixteen persons are enrolled for a Red Cross standard first aid course being taught at 7:30 o'clock on Monday nights at Rix Funeral home by Dick Crandall and James B. Wynn, Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross announced.

Five of the class members are Rix ambulance drivers who are complying with the state law that ambulance drivers must be trained in first aid. They are Whitney Victory, James Maynard, Kenneth Cox, Roland Lee and Paul Turpen.

Others in the class are Gerald O. Atkinson, Jerry Swain, Bill Griggs, Milton West, Farris Brock, Arlan P. Trice, Robert C. Johnson, Robert Fore, George K. Smith and Charlie Whitfield.

Wynn also teaches a class of student nurses at West Texas hospital, where he is employed. Crandall is on the accounting staff of Armour & Co.

Robert Lucey of the National Red Cross safety services will teach a class for instructors the first week in December. Thirty-six senior physical education majors at Texas Technological college have enrolled. Anyone wishing to qualify for that class for instructors may work with Wynn and Crandall to qualify.

HOPE FOR WARM SUMMER IN '50

Nudism Is Booming In Britain As New Clubs Are Organized

By ARTHUR W. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Nudism is booming in Britain. More people are walking around naked than ever before.

Not in public, of course—the law frowns on that—but in flourishing "naturist" camps scattered throughout the country.

Leaders of the open-air cult say happily they've never seen anything like it.

Britain's few hundred timid pre-war nudists have grown into a lusty movement 50,000 strong. In 1938 there were 20 nudist clubs. Now there are 60. Many non-club "naturists" enjoy life in the raw in the privacy of their own homes and gardens.

Vote To Incorporate

The British Sun Bathing association (BSBA) — biggest nudist group—has just voted to incorporate nudity. It's forming a limited company of 200 shareholders.

Right now the clammy British winter has driven all except the hardiest "naturists" into long underwear. But the BSBA hopes next summer will be the best ever for the one out of every 1,000 Britons it says likes to frolic naked in the sun.

The burning question: Will the sun cooperate?

It did in 1949. It was the sunniest summer for 16 years.

Mrs. Slyvia Bassam, 34, pretty Canadian-born secretary of the BSBA, says the association is campaigning for three things:

More Women Sought

1. The legal right to bathe in the nude on approved public beaches;
2. More young women nudists;
3. To teach skeptics that "naturism" is "a healthy, wholesome way of life followed by intelligent people."

Mrs. Bassam, whose own suntan, she affirms, stretches unbroken from top to toe, says British nudists don't want mixed bathing with nudists and non-nudists taking the sun together. They want certain public beaches set aside.

The BSBA doesn't even like g-string swim suits.

Its insistence on complete nudity for all posed a problem this summer at a club near London. Naked customers in the restaurant couldn't tell who were the waitresses. They were unclothed, too. The hired help were given armbands.

"Black List" Used

At that club's entrance a sign proclaims: "This is a secluded pleasance in the heart of the woodland, remote from the busy, ...ts of man." There, as elsewhere, members swim, play tennis and picnic under the trees, wearing not a stitch.

Biggest pain in the neck for British nudist club directors, Mrs. Bassam says, is the unbalance of sexes. Far more males than females join, the ratio being about four to one.

"We get many many appl... ations from single men but not enough from the right-type girls."

The BSAB and some other nudist groups are preparing a black list of undesirable characters who have been trying to muscle into the movement with unworthy motives. But the problem is not very acute, Mrs. Bassam said, nudists being a cut above the average in morality and integrity. So far the black list contain fewer than ten names.

The BSAB prizes propriety above all. No beer or liquor is sold at the camps, although many of the members love their pint of mild and bitter.

"If clubs applied for drink licenses, some people might think we're going in for orgies," explained Mrs. Bassam.

TO CONDUCT SERVICES—Rev. W. E. Grindstaff, pastor of the First Baptist church of Mangum, Okla., will arrive in Lubbock Monday to conduct a two-week revival series at Calvary Baptist church, Eighteenth and Ave. T. Rev. Grindstaff will lead services each weekday at 7 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday services are at 10:50 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The revival will close on Sunday, Dec. 4. He will speak at 2:30 p. m. each day this week, beginning Monday, on a series of church broadcasts over station KSEL. Singing at the revival services will be directed by L. A. Coward, of Calvary Baptist church.

New Judge Asked To Explain Law Point By Green Attorney

DENVER, Nov. 19 (AP) — John C. Pickett of Cheyenne was sworn in recently as a judge on the tenth U. S. court of appeals and in one of his first cases a young attorney asked:

"Would your honor mind explaining this point of law to me? I was admitted to the bar only a month ago and I don't want to injure my client by making a mistake." To which Judge Pickett replied:

"You don't have anything on me. I've only been a judge two days myself. What's your question."

ORIGIN OF RADIO TUBE

NEW YORK (AP) — The radio vacuum tube in its present-day guise is the result of the work of many scientists. But in its early history three names stand out. They are Thomas A. Edison, who in 1883 discovered the basic principal of the tube; John Ambrose Fleming of England, first to develop the detector tube; and Dr. Lee DeForest, who in 1906 improved the tube to the stage that opened the development of the modern radio and television systems.

New Furniture Has Nine Lives

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Functional furniture gets more functional all the time. At the rate designers are turning out double and triple-duty pieces, pretty soon whole families will live in one huge room which can be divided in a jiffy by drop walls or blinds.

The modern trend is toward pace and light. New apartments nd homes concentrate on window rrangements to give the maxinum of light, just as furniture designers are concentrating on designs that take up a minimum of pace.

Scarcely a spot along the wall s wasted, and only the ceiling emains unadorned. Pretty soon ome bright designer probably vill figure out a way to utilize it lso to better advantage.

In today's functional home, we ee tables that fold down out of ook cases, beds that pull out of vall cabinets, coffee tables that re storage pieces, desks with reesses for books and bibelot.

You can add to the myriad of nteresting combinations that ave been shown a desk-cabinet ombination, which at first glance esembles a storage cabinet. It an be placed against the wall for effective display of handsome room accessories, opened up to reveal a desk and a chair which also is part of the cabinet design. The desk is hidden under a spacious lid, the middle front panel of the cabinet is the back of the chair, so that when it is pulled out you have a kneehole desk. The right panel opens to reveal a storage chest, and the left panel is a door to two spacious file drawers. Desk is of grey formica and silver-grey walnut.

Another interesting piece is a sliding table which slips over bed or sofa to serve food. It also can be used as an end, lamp or typewriter table. It has a black lacquer base and a surface of red formica.

ROUND TRIP TO SCHOOL

PEARL HARBOUR. (AP)—When Maresabang heard about the U. S. navy wanting to educate the Pacific islanders he left his home on Palau. He arrived here aboard the Navy transport General William Mitchell. The Immigration service said he couldn't expect to begin his search for learning by stowing away. They wouldn't even let him come ashore. The sympathetic navy came aboard. Maresabang said he stowed away because he wanted to enroll at the University of Hawaii. Fine, said the navy, but first he would have to go to school on Palau. And that's where Maresabang is going.

Members Of Cast For Play Selected

Members of the cast of "The Male Animal" (Thurber), play to be presented by Lubbock Little Theater Dec. 12 and 13 at O. L. Slaton Junior High school, have been announced by Mrs. John Robert Moxley, who will be director for the production.

Described as presenting "three acts of insane hubub," the play offers the story of a professor who was a happy man until an All-American descended upon his home and an irate trustee menaced his career. He was a mild, literary scholar until hilarious complications made him a swash-buckling man of action. It happened at homecoming, when the "exes" gathered around the college for the big game, and the professor's pretty wife, Ellen, was deceived by an Indian summer.

The part of Professor Turner will be played by Guy C. Wilson, a newcomer to the Little Theatre organization. Others, in the order of appearance, are Mrs. William C. Boyd, as Cleota; Mrs. Samuel W. Tinsley, jr., as Ellen Turner; Ann Eskin, as Patricia Stanley; George Wehling, as Wally Myers; Douglas Hale, as Dean Frederick Damon; Gerald Wayne Tippit, as Michael Barnes; Bert McGinnis, as Joe Ferguson; Mrs. Robert Sells as Blanche Damon; Richard Kelisky, as Ed Keller; J. D. Helms, as ... and James Pinson, as the newspaper reported.

... play will be on sale in the lobby of Hilton hotel from Wednesday, Dec. 7, through Tuesday, Dec. 13.

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C. (U.P.) —Gov. Kerr Scott couldn't find his official car so he tried hitchhiking. He stood in front of his success. Finally the chamber of commerce hailed a car.

Video "Snow Spots" Explained By Profs

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 19. (AP)—Those spots that look like snow on your television screen are explained in a new way by Doctors Henry G. Booker and William E. Gordon, of Cornell University engineering faculty. You could call them pictures of water in the air.

When the television signals pass through the watery blobs the rays are scattered in many directions. This scattering causes the "snow" and also causes television sets to receive the signals at extraordinary distances. Ordinarily television signals travel in straight lines and are cut off by the earth's curvature at 50 miles or less.

The Cornell engineers also explained a second and better reason for television occasionally skipping great distances. This they said is apt to occur in the peculiar weather conditions known as temperature inversions. It happens when the air close to earth is colder than that higher up. The place where the two air temperatures meet acts like a pipe for television signals. This temperature line follows the earth's curvature and so do the signals.

RAIL CASUALTIES HIGH

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese railway authorities say railway casualties in Japan are averaging five a day, mostly because passengers have a habit of jumping on or off moving trains.

Red-Headed Chicago Widow Jilted Again

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (U.P.) — Romance went aglimmerin' again today for the red-haired Chicago widow who was jilted by convicted swindler Sigmund Engel and had the 73-year-old master lover sentenced to prison.

Al Turk, band leader and booking agent, revealed he had called off plans to marry Mrs. Reseda Corrigan. He also abandoned plans to put her on the stage to sing about her troubles with Engel.

Mrs. Corrigan, 39, announced early this month she would marry Turk, whom she met two years ago.

College Enrollment Of War Vets Drops

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—College enrollments by World War II veterans are tapering off sharply.

The office of education said only 856,000 veterans enrolled for higher education this fall—16 per cent less than the 1,022,000 enrollment of a year ago. The peak of 1,158,000 was reached in December, 1947.

Enrollment of veterans by states, with the amount of decline from a year ago given in parenthesis, included:

Louisiana 11,941, (2,957); New Mexico 4,085 (367), Oklahoma 18,385 (3,334), and Texas 43,691 (9,842).

BUILD MOST SHIPS

LONDON. (AP)—Lloyd's Register of Shipping disclosed that British shipyards are building nearly as many vessels as all the rest of the world put together. Figures for Sept. 30 showed that the tonnage under construction in Britain totalled 2,095,217 tons, while all other countries (with the exception of Russia) had 2,512,522 tons abuilding.

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—It's a long way from New Richland, Minn., around the world to Calcutta, but Elaine Zwiener made it.

It took the prety 24-year-old blonde three years and 600,000 miles to work her way around the world. She claims it must be a record of some kind—the slowest global circumnavigation in the annals of air travel. But she has enjoyed every minute of it.

While she was still in high school back in New Richland, Elaine decided that she was going to see every country in the world—or bust. She didn't. As purser aboard a Pan American clipper, Elaine recently completed the last leg of her long-planned circuit, flying into Calcutta from the west. Says she:

"I was born with a wanderlust. I decided to work by way around the world, and here I am. Every bit of it has been fun."

In the last three years Elaine has flown with all three of Pan American's divisions—from Miami south to Buenos Aires; from San Francisco west to Australia and Indian; From New York east to Europe, Asia and Africa. She has entered each of the six continents in her travel log.

Began In College

It all began when Elaine took a four year course in foreign service at the University of Minnesota, and concentrated on the study of Spanish. Completing her four-year course in three years, she enrolled at the University of Mexico in Mexico City and set her sights on a diplomatic job in Latin America.

Back in Minnesota she enrolled in the Army's course in Japanese, took the State Department's examination for foreign service, and then on an impulse took off for Miami to apply for a job as stewardess with the Latin American division of Pan American. For the next 18 months she perfected her command of Spanish and flew to Brazil, Argentina, Colombia, Venezuela, the Canal Zone, Guatemala, Mexico and all the island stops in the Caribbean.

Promotion

Her next hitch was with the Pacific-Alaska division, based in San Francisco. By now she had been promoted from stewardess to purser, and was in charge of official documents carried by the Clippers as well as being responsible for ordering food to be served aloft.

Her biggest thrill to date came when she flew into Tokyo, and found the Japanese phrases she had learned really worked. Soon she was at home in Honolulu, Wake, Guam, Tokyo, Shanghai, Manila, Bangkok, Calcutta, New Caledonia, Australia and New Zealand.

Elaine had learned water skiing at Miami. Beach boys taught her to ride a surfboard at Waikiki. She took up surf fishing at Guam, tried out golf courses from Siam to South Africa. In between trips she tried out Mexican recipes at a ranch house she leased with five other airline stewardesses, studying French in her spare moments.

Elaine's next transfer was to the Atlantic division because, as she explains, "I still had Europe and Africa to see." She shopped in London, Paris and South Africa, then completed the last link of her round-the-world trek with the flight to Calcutta.

This fall she's making home base New York, plans to complete her flying hours for a private pilot's license. On vacations she goes back to New Richland, where her father runs a restaurant and manufactures ice cream. Says Elaine:

"I gain pounds everytime I go home, because from London to Calcutta and from Bangkok to Johannesburg, I've never found anything to beat Dad's ice cream."

Wildlife Service Seeking Answer To Surplus Raccoons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — The whims of civilization are often echoed in nature.

Raccoon is out of favor for fur coats. So trappers don't catch 'coons any more. So there are more 'coons—so many that they're beginning to damage truck farms and corn fields in some sections.

They're even causing trouble for the trappers themselves by following trap lines and damaging pelts of other animals, muskrats mostly.

So the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service is sending 'coon pelts to factories and laboratories in a search for other uses that will cut down on the little masked animals again.

Boy Happy About New Tricycle But He Can Never Ride On It

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19. (UP)—Seven-year-old Harold Balben lay on his hospital bed today, a happy smile on his lips as he gazed at a shiny, new tricycle near him.

He can't ride it. He never will. But it's the answer to a question that had been puzzling him:

"Do they have tricycles in heaven?"

Harold is dying of an incurable disease—cancer of the brain.

Prince Is Enthroned As Ruler Of Monaco

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Nov. 19 (U.P.)—Prince Rainier III was enthroned today as ruler of the tiny state of Monaco, less than half the size of New York's Central park.

The handsome, 26-year-old prince actually has ruled since his grandfather, Louis II died last May, but his formal enthronement did not take place until today.

In the ceremonies, which lasted all day, Ranier received no crown. He merely sat on the decorative royal throne in the velvet-walled throne room as a symbol of his right to rule.

Madras Province, India, has banned smoking in movie and other theatres.

Court Orders Store To Take Back Flat-Noted Harmonica

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Richard E. Volland, 19, bought a harmonica. Some of the notes sounded flat to him so he took it back. The store wouldn't do anything about it. Volland went to court.

Judge George D. Nielson requested him to play the harmonica. He did. Judge Neilson said it sounded pretty bad.

"Let's have another try," he said. Volland obliged. The judge said it still sounded bad. He gave the store two weeks to make good, or else.

LAMPREYS GET LAKE FISH

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Great Lakes fisheries are threatened by an invasion of the eel-like sea lamprey, says the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service. Lake Huron produced 1,720,000 pounds of trout a year for many years, but fell off to 5,000 pounds in 1948—presumably due to the depradations of the lamprey. The Fish and Wildlife service is working on control. Traps have been used to prevent the lamprey from going up streams to spawn and to capture the young on the way down.

WORKS HARD TO GET HURT

CHICAGO (AP) — Sometimes it takes a bit of doing to get yourself hurt. In this case it was Hiram Kirkendall, 8. Somehow, he worked a real bullet into a toy gun and pulled the trigger. Then he went to a hospital with a bullet wound in his left hand.

Sands Of Nile Believed Hiding History Of Ancient Christians

By BRIAN HODGSON
United Press Staff Writer

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Nov. 19.—The unwritten story of an ancient Christian civilization in Africa may be buried beneath the desert sands around Karima and Dongola, on the banks of the Nile.

Disturbed only by the hooves of occasional gazelle, this wilderness is believed to conceal the history of a people who populated the area thickly until 1340 A.D.

The people built cities, had their own particular culture and kept an outpost of Christendom flourishing in the depths of the Moslem-controlled Middle East for nearly 800 years.

An amateur archeologist has set out with camels and Sudanese bearers to survey the area at his own expense. He is Terence Gray, a wealthy Irishman, resident of the south of France.

His purpose is to collect as many "clues" as possible about this civilization and then to report to P. L. Shinnie, archeology commissioner for the Sudan government.

Blank Chapter

Gray's finds, though not sensational, have convinced Shinnie that a full-scale scientific expedition should be sent out to the Karima area.

"It will fill in a blank chapter of history if such an expedition is financed," Shinnie said.

If the expedition is not sent, it is likely that the "blank chapter" never will be written. The Egyptian government is almost certain to start construction of a new dam in the locality soon, and the site of Shinnie's proposed investigations will be flooded by the waters of the Nile.

The archeology commissioner has drawn up a detailed plan for a large expedition, armed with equipment for digging deep enough to fold back the desert from the remains of temples and burial grounds which he feels certain lie under the sands.

It is believed that the Christian population of this extinct nation were Nubians. They were converted by missionaries of Greek extraction who were sent by the Empress Theodora of Constantinople, in 540 A. D.

Theodora was at one time a harlot dancing girl, but became a devout and active Christian after her marriage to the emperor. Constantinople, or Byzantium, was at that time the capital of the eastern half of the split Roman Empire.

It is amazing, Shinnie said, to realize that, while the western world was besieged by the forces of uncivilized barbarians, Theodora's missionaries were able to reach the Sudan and found the Christian community.

The Christian civilization is believed to have been finally overrun in the middle of the 14th century by Moslem forces from the north. No massacres are known to have taken place, and the reason for the gradual degeneration and final disappearance of the population of the area is another point which Shinnie wants to clear up.

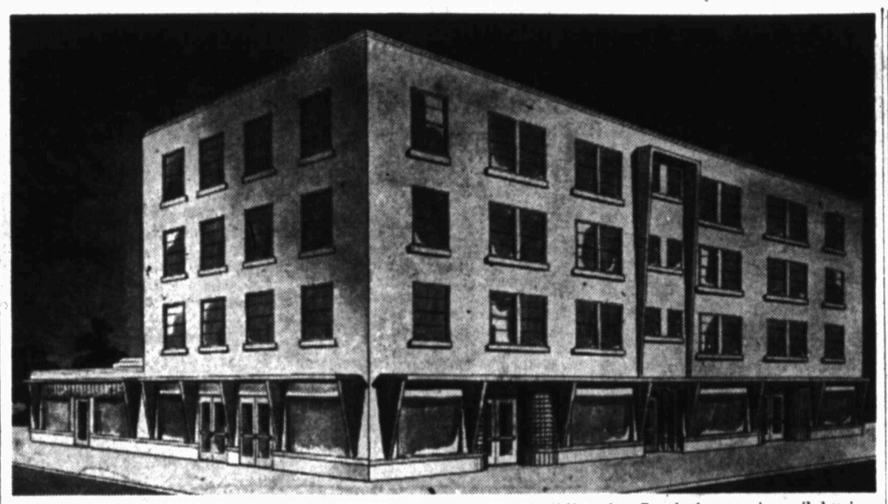

Call Fireman Confesses He Set 35 Fires In Two Years

TYNGSBORO, Mass., Nov. 19. (U.P.)—A father of seven children, who received $1 an hour while on active duty as a call fireman, confessed to police today that he had set 35 fires in the last two years so that he could get extra wages to pay maternity bills.

John W. Gotham, 32, a call fireman for six years, was arrested on an arson charge and will be arraigned later in Lowell district court.

MAIL ORDER FRACTURE

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP)—Ormiston Kee, a rancher, broke his arm while reaching for his mail. Kee drove up to his roadside mailbox, stuck his arm in, but neglected to stop his car.

NEW BUILDING PLANNED AT SNYDER—A new office building for Snyder's growing oil business is in the planning stages. The building to be located one half block from the square on Avenue R will be a four-story structure of brick, stone, and concrete construction. The street floor will consist of stores and shops and the upper three floors will be office space. The new office building will contain 23,150 square feet of floor space, the ground floor will be 75 feet by 100 feet and the upper stories will be 52 feet by 100 feet. Estimated cost of construction will be $400,000. The building will be centrally heated and cooled and will be modern in all respects including elevators. The contractor for the job will be Pierce Construction Company of Midland. The architect will be Fred Murphree of Fort Worth. The Scurry County Chambers of Commerce in Snyder can be contacted for lease information or other information concerning this building. (Photo Copy by Elsey Studio).

"Suicide Leap" By Circus Performer Turns Into Real Thing As Rope Snaps

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—"You will now witness the most desperate attempt at suicide ever made by man," shouted the circus announcer.

From a tiny platform 96 feet high, Jan Vogel, 37, billed as the "Great Stanelly," leaped for a trapeze 10 feet away.

As always, he missed the trapeze and started to fall. And as always, he had a rope tied to his ankle to check his plunge.

But last night the rope broke. He fell to the floor as more than 9,000 persons in the audience gasped.

Attendants quickly rushed him from the arena of municipal auditorium and the show went on. Many persons in the crowd thought the fall was part of the act.

Vogel died shortly afterward in a hospital.

Formerly of Amsterdam, Holland, he had been in this country about a year.

LAMPSHADES HURT HISTORY

READING, Eng. (U.P.) — Lampshades are playing havoc with British history, Lt. Col. G. E. C. Malet, registrar of the national register of archives, told Reading University students. He lamented the custo mof using "old deeds, with interesting examples of old writing and historic signatures and seals," to make lampshades. Every one of them "tears a rent, however small, in the history of our country," he claimed.

22-YEAR-OLD CUSTOM CONTINUES

Texas Couple Plays Christmas Host To Hundreds Of Children

By MARGUERITE HERCULES
Tyler Courier-Times Staff
(Written for the Associated Press

TYLER, Nov. 19. (AP)—For the 22nd consecutive year hundreds of children will have a merry Christmas through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Cain, the "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus of Garden Valley."

Ten days prior to Christmas in 1927, Cain, now 75, and his wife, 66, set up the first children's Christmas tree in their modest Garden Valley home, 20 miles west of Tyler.

Childless, themselves, they invited nearby children to come in and they presented each with a gift and treat.

Twenty came the first year, and as news of the Cain's tree spread the number increased annually until last year 1,623 came in the 10-day yuletide period to enjoy the informal observance and receive a gift and treat.

Worked In Orphanage

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cain have spent their years in helping others. For 20 years, he worked in Texas orphanages.

Along with his routine work, he tried to bring as much happiness as possible to his charges. Mrs. Cain, until retiring a few years ago, devoted her life to teaching in rural East Texas schools, in the vicinities of Garden Valley, Starrville, Village Creek and El Grove.

Although gifts are distributed at the Cain home 10 days before Christmas, preparations are carried on the year around. There are used toys to be repaired and painted, there are dolls to be dressed, there is shopping to be done, there are donations from generous friends to be collected, and, as the holidays draw near, there are hundreds of bags of candy to be sacked and the mammoth holly tree to be erected, decorated and loaded with gifts.

Children Get Gifts

Every child who comes to the Cain home is given a gift to his liking, plus an apple, an orange and a bag of candy. While children of means are never turned away, the Cains make a special effort to provide for orphans and other unfortunates. Children from orphanages are brought to the Cain home by bus loads; when packages are distributed, perhaps Cain will make a brief talk in keeping with the holiday spirit. But there is never any planned program.

Special attention is given to children of convicts in the state prison. From prison authorities Cain obtains home addresses of inmates and sends to their children gifts appropriate to each child's age, sex and desires.

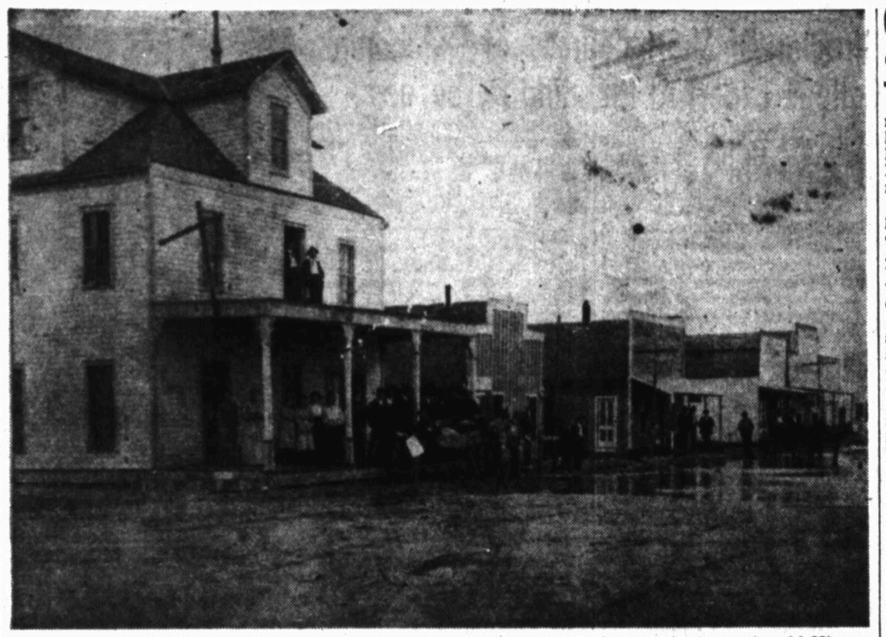

Outside Aid Needed

The Cain home is a typical East Texas pioneer structure, with an open hall through the middle.

The Christmas trees is primarily for the children but adult guests who linger and marvel at the Yuletide spirit go into the dining room to receive a piece of fruit cake or cookies made by Cain, himself.

The Cains have little means of livelihood and scrimp their meager income to bring a merry Christmas to others. They are grateful to merchants, friends and well-wishers, many of whom live in distant parts of the United States, for donations to have enabled them to make the "Cain Christmas" grow with each year and spread the spirit of "good will toward men."

An Arabian alchemist of the tenth century named Albukassen was the first known man to mention the distillation process.

Official Family To Attend Capital Concert

Margaret Truman To Miss First Home Thanksgiving

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Margaret Truman passes a significant Thursday milestone in her transition from home girl to independent career girl.

Then, for the first time, the President's 25-year-old daughter will have her Thanksgiving dinner away from home and family.

She will be prevented from joining the President and first lady in their holiday dinner, of course, because of her concert commitments elsewhere.

Miss Truman will be back at Blair House, however, just about in time to find turkey hash on the menu. She will be home next weekend for her gala concert in Constitution hall next Sunday afternoon.

Official Family To Attend

Just about every member of the President's official family is planning to be on hand for the concert. The chief executive and first lady will be in the presidential box with relatives and friends for the big event.

The young soprano's only previous Washington concert was sung in Constitutional hall two years ago. It was attended by an overflow audeince which pounded its palms loud and long for the President's daughter.

In their daughter's holiday absence, the President and first lady will share their Thanksgiving dinner with three close relatives.

The first lady's mother, Mrs. David W. Wallace, will naturally be there. Mrs. Wallace has made her home with her daughter and son-in-law for many years.

In addition, Mrs. Truman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Porterfield Wallace, will come to the capital from their home in Independence, Mo., for the holiday.

The White House menu will, as usual, be about the same as the menu in almost any other American home from the roast stuffed turkey with cranberry sauce and giblet gravy to the mince and pumpkin pie.

Another administration daughter seems to have decided that she would rather be a housewife than a career girl.

Drucie Snyder, the vivacious brunette daughter of the secretary of the treasury, will almost certainly give up her highly successful radio and television career after her forthcoming marriage.

Drucie will be staying on in the capital, however, since her husband-to-be, Maj. John Ernest Horton, is currently stationed a tthe Pentagon building, and is also serving as one of the handsome young White House aides at the present time.

A carlet fever outbreak recently closed all schools in Tipperary, Eire.

Officers Named By State School League

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP) — Seven newcomers and four oldtimers have been elected to the interscholastic league advisory council, the league's official publication announced today.

The council members, with power collectively to make advisory recommendations to the league's executive committee, were voted on last month by schools in the 11 regions with existing vacancies, the league said.

Newcomers are Dale Douglas, superintendent of Pleasant Grove school, Dallas, region III, conference A; Joseph R. Griggs, superintendent of Bastrop schools, region VI, conference A; P. J. Dodson, superintendent of Bastrop schools, regionVI, conference B; Hugh Norris, principal of Mercedes High school, region VII, conference A; John F. Bailey, superintendent of Breckenridge schools, region II, conference AA; Henry L. Foster, superintendent of Longview schools, region VI, conference AA; and C. E. Wade, superintendent of Kingsville schools, region V, conference AA.

Four Officers Are Reelected

Of the four who have served before, three were re-elected and one elected after an absence of four years from the council.

Re-elected were R. B. Norman, principal of Amarillo High school, region I, conference AA; F. L. Moffett, superintendent of Center schools, region IV ,conference A; and Walter Coers, superintendent of Orange Grove schools, region VII, conference B.

Elected again after serving his first term from 1941 until 1945 was J. E. Gregg, superintendent of Marfa schools, region VIII, conference B.

Each of the league's 23 regions in four conferences are represented on the council. Terms are for four years each, with some expiring each year.

Male Student At Baylor Gets "A" In Child-Training Course

WACO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Man, the amazing!

Bill Galt, father of a young daughter and first man ever to enroll in Baylor's home economics department, has received a grade of "A" in the child-training course.

Honey-Haired Italian Dancer Says Story Of Marriage To Lucky Luciano Just Joke

ROME, Nov. 19 (AP)—A honey-haired Italian dancer says the story that she is married to the exiled New York vice king, Charles (Lucky) Luciano is "just a joke."

But 28-year-old Igea Lissoni told inquiring reporters to ask Luciano about the report that Bill Dowdell, columnist of the Rome Daily American, published yesterday.

Permission Said Given

Dowdell said both Luciano and Miss Lissoni at a wedding celebration Thursday night gave him permission to publish news of their marriage.

Miss Lissoni made her denial by telephone from Luciano's Rome penthouse. She has been his constant companion for three years —since he was deported from the U. S. after serving a 10-year prison term for white slavery. Miss Lissoni has made no secret of her desire to marry the greying 51-year-old Luciano.

No Comment Given

Luciano, who is here on a 10-day police pass, could not be reached for comment. Several weeks ago he said rumors of his marriage were "a lot of bunk."

The former vice king has been exiled to his native Sicily by Rome police after they smashed an international dope ring. Although he was cleared in the case he was declared persona non grata in Rome and described as "a crime threat." He got the police pass, he said, to "look into some personal affairs."

MOSCOW CERTAIN OF LOYALTY

Two Veteran Red Conspirators Control East German Republic

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Nov. 19—Two veteran Communist conspirators run the East German republic.

Moscow needs no loyalty check of President Wilhelm Pieck and Deputy Prime Minister Walter Ulbricht. Their ties with the Soviet union are stronger than blood or iron.

Each has braved death to carry out Russian policy. Their selfless dedication to the Kremlin has never wavered in 30 years. Pick is a jolly, 73-year-old soapbox orator, who came back to Berlin in 1945 an as assimulated colonel on the political staff of the Soviet army.

Demonstration Is Staged

Now he relishes being described as "father of his country." A quarter-million Berliners cheered his elevation to the East German presidency last Oct. 11 by fiat of an unelected provisional parliament.

In his honor, hundreds of black-booted police with rifles stomped down Unter Den Linden in a Russian guardsmen style of march, nearly as extreme as the old goosestep. Thousands of youngsters in the blue shirts of the Free German Youth (Communist) held torchlights aloft.

Pieck obviously loved the spectacle. He always has been a showman.

Ulbricht, on the other hand, is a cold and crafty strategist, who writes more powerfully than he talks. Although he is now only 56, he was present when the German Communist party was founded in 1919. His first important assignment was as a commissar dispatched from Russia to the republican military headquarters in Spain in 1936.

Ulbricht does most of his speechmaking behind closed doors in the politburo of the Socialist Unity (Communist) party. He has drafted orders Sovietizing the East German economy, expanding the police, and silencing the gabbing tongues of bourgeois politicians.

A week of before the eastern republic was proclaimed, its program appeared in the Communist press. Ulbricht was the author.

Publicly, he ranks just under Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl in the regime. In fact, Grotewohl is merely his shadow.

Named As Co-Chairman

A former insurance executive, with socialist leanings, Grotewohl played the pied piper in 1946 to lead the Social Democratic party into a forced merger with the Communists in the Soviet zone. This produced te Socialist Unity party, under Communist control, and destroyed the Social Democratic party.

For his services, Grotewohl was named co-chairman of the Unity party with Pieck. But Pieck and Ulbricht monopolized the party's all-important politburo. When the Soviet Union signaled for the republic to be announced, Grotewohl had no opposition for the job of prime minister.

As a turncoat Socialist, trying to climb in the Communist machine, Grotewohl has many counterparts in the people's democracies of Poland or Hungary, Czechoslovakia or Romania.

But it is tough sledding. Russia is more than ever suspicious of home-grown Communists and Johnny-come-lately converts in its satellites since Marshal Josip Broz-Tito became disobedient in 1948.

No such doubt hangs over Pieck and Ulbricht. They feel more at home in Moscow than in their German birthplaces of Guben and Leipzig. Red square has more spiritual significance for them than Potsdamer platz. Decades ago, they purged themselves of nationalism.

Pieck's term as president runs until 1953. Despite his age, he is in fair health. He took a rest cure at the Soviet Black Sea resort, Sochi, last spring.

Police Are Controlled

Ulbricht, as unchallenged heir-apparent in the party, directly controls police, economic planning and foreign trade. His Communist underlings keep close watch on Grotewohl and the five unhappy cabinet ministers supplied by the eastern Christian Democrats and Liberal Democrats as part of the "anti-fascist-democratic bloc."

If there are any loopholes for "Titoism" and "westernism" to grow east of the Elbe, Ulbricht will quickly attempt to plug them. Both Pieck and Ulbricht are aware that some blood may have to be spilled before Germany is safe for proletarian dictatorship.

Jovial and saturnine, voluble and tight-lipped, the temperaments of Pieck and Ulbricht are dissimilar, but their careers have followed the same underground groove.

A stripling, Ulbricht was overlooked by the German army officers who assassinated the leaders of a Red putsch in Berlin in 1919. Pieck was taken into custody at the Eden hotel, where Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg were to be slain. Pieck bluffed his way past an officer's wavering pistol. It was not his first escape nor his last.

Both Pieck and Ulbricht were Communist members of the Reichstag which Hitler wrecked. Both had visited Moscow frequently in the 1920's and were welcomed back as refugees in 1933.

Both organized the "national committee of free Germany," which dured captured German generals into repudiating the Nazis in the second world war.

In those war years, Pieck and Ulbricht were kept hidden by the Russians from allied diplomats in Moscow. The allies not only had no "tame Germans" of their own to school as future instruments of their policy, but they were astonishingly ignorant as to what Pieck and Ulbricht would do.

The fires of battle had hardly died down in Berlin when Stalin's two German aces were hustled back for the most important political poker game in Europe.

DEATH FOR COAL USERS

In old England, coal once was believed to fill the air with poisonous gases and, in 1306, the English monarch issued a proclamation declaring anyone who burned coal would be put to death.

Watchmaker's New All-Purpose Cement Fixes Aching Tooth

MARYKNOLL, N. Y., Nov. 19. (U.P.)—Father Joseph W. Regan of Fairhaven, Mass., a Maryknoll missionary in China, finally got his tooth filled, according to his letter received here.

Father Regan lost a filling. The nearest dentist was at Kweilin, 70 miles from his station. Guided by a Chinese boy who said he knew the way, the missionary set out.

First the boy took him to a large office building in Kweilin and escorted him to an office where Father Regan asked for the doctor.

A white-coated man looked at his cavity, painted the tooth with iodine and gave him a prescription for throat gargle.

"This is strange," the priest said.

"We made a mistake," the boy-guide said. "That is an ear and throat doctor. Not a dentist."

The finally found a dentist, who examined the tooth, commented on the weather and said he did not have the material to fill the cavity.

He recommended that the priest visit a doctor at a hospital at the other end of town. Father Regan found that the doctor had left for a two-week vacation.

There were no other dentists in town. The boy-guide finally suggested that they visit the watchmaker, who had a stand on a narrow street.

While a curious crowd watched, the watchmaker filled the priest's tooth from a small tube.

"I do not know how hygenic the job was," Father Regan wrote. "But the filling stayed in my tooth. I haven't had a toothache since, thanks to the watchmaker's tube of all-purpose cement."

Oil Is Most Valuable Asset In Texas' Rio Grande Valley

McALLEN, Nov. 19. (U.P.)—Oil—not grapefruit juice—is the most—valuable liquid in the lush lower Rio Grande valley, a survey indicated today.

Oilfield statistician Joe Beard placed the valley's income from oil at $66,000,000 for the year. But citrus fruit — originally thought to be the valley's lifeblood, was topped by king cotton. The valley's income from cotton in 1949 was $90,000,000.

Beard came up with his figures in connection with oil progress week, being celebrated here and throughout the nation.

He estimated that the valley has 2,337 producing wells.

Director Of Short Courses At Oklahoma College Expert At Planning Barbecues

By EDWARD H. HOFFMAN
NEA Staff Writer

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 19—Officially, H. Clay Potts' title at Oklahoma A. & M. College here is "Director of Short Courses." But officially Potts is Oklahoma A. & M.'s "Professor of Barbeque."

Potts took charge of short courses — extension education courses for non-undergraduaes—at the college in the 1920's. He soon found out that a good meal, with plenty of Oklahoma hospitality, made friends for the school and for his educational work.

So Potts began to produce gigantic barbecues. He once fed 17,000 persons in a few hours. Now he averages about 50,000 persons a year, who come away from his pit-prepared meals with a satisfied feeling.

Has Good Background

When he became short course director, he had a good working background in barbecuology. But in the last 20 years, he's added a few twists of his own to the science. His talents are borrowed by concerns and organizations whenever a big feast is called for, but, as a public relations gesture, he runs the barbecues just for expenses.

"I don't serve come-one-come-all barbecues," he says. "Like all cooks, I want to know in advance how many persons I'll have to feed, the nature of the affairs, what facilities are available—and then I blueprint my plan."

Preparing a barbecue is a lengthy proposition, the way Potts does it. He gets to the scene the day before, with the college's staff meat expert, Forrest Little. Little wraps the meat in bundles while Potts supervises the pit.

Pit Is Problem

Potts, meanwhile, is having the pit dug. Planning the pit size is a complicated business, calling for higher mathematics. He figures a 10-foot long trench, 3½ feet deep and 3 feet wide, will handle 400 pounds of meat, or enough to feed 800 persons.

Potts lets the meat cook about eight hours, but says that overcooking does no harm. Then the joyous moment arrives when the meat is removed, the bundles opened, and Potts' barbecue sauce—a mixture of such ingredients as catsup, Worcestershire sauce, liquid smoke and brown sugar — poured over it.

Then—well, the only thing left is to pick up a knife an fork and dig in. While his guests do just that, Potts circulates around the crowd, saying a pleasant "Howdy" to them all, and spreading the word about Oklahoma A. & M. as he goes.

The Professor of Barbecue finds that his course quite often has students who like to come back for another portion of his brand of tasty knowledge.

H. CLAY POTTS: He blueprints his barbecues.

A man of average height will take about 2270 steps in walking one mile.

JUNKETS WILL COST TAXPAYERS $150,000

Congressmen Travel In All Parts Of World On Special Inspection Trips For Committees

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Congressional trips to all parts of the world probably will cost taxpayers well over $150,000 this year.

A check today showed that 129 House members and 30 senators either are out of the country, have been, or plan to go.

Exact information on the congressional globe-trotters is difficult to pin down. The popular term for the trip's is junkets, but congressmen hate the word because the trips are classed as official business or inspections.

But people who must arrange transportation, issue passports and handle similar details say this year has witnessed probably the greatest exodus of congressmen in history.

"I expect the navy to protest", one stay-at-home congressman said. "Congress is stealing the old recruiting slogan 'join the navy and see the world'."

Money Claimed Well Spent

Although senators and representatives often are touchy about the subject, most of them insist the money is well spent.

During the last year Congress, acting for the people, has voted some $20,000,000,000 for foreign aid, arms assistance and national defense. It will be spent in all parts of the world.

Many of the lawmakers work long hours on the trips trying to learn where the money is spent, what conditions exist abroad and what must be done in the future. This checkup actually costs only a tiny fraction of the totals involved.

But the trips are not always all work. Foreign nations and officials unusily are anxious to entertain the visitors and U. S. diplomats and employes overseas always seek to please the men who control the pursestrings.

Some members have taken their wives, daughters and friends along, although they usually pay the extra travel costs from heir own pockets.

Teapot Tempest

Exact costs to the government and taxpayers are difficult to ascertain. Often the congressmen can fly along on a U. S. airplane that would make the trip anyway. The same is true of some ship and automobile travel.

But congressional veterans said the average government cost for a trip to Europe and back runs about $1,200 and longer trips may double or treble that expense.

About one-third of the 96 senators got in on some sort of a legislative excursion.

Slightly more than one fourth the House—120 out of 435—made trips out of the country.

On the Senate side, Elmer Thomas (D-Okla), leading a group including members of the appropriations committee who handle funds for the armed services, created a diplomatic tempest this month by protesting that his group had "been snubbed" in Sweden. He warned that he might not favor any Swedish requests for aid in the future. Swedish newspapers and officials claimed "an insult" and used strong words about Thomas.

Hospitality Lauded

Later Senators Robertson (D-Va) and Chavez (D-NM) differed with Thomas and lauded Swedish hospitality while other congressmen who had been entertained by the Swedes praised their hosts.

Five senators represented this country officially at the Interparliamentary union session in Sweden early in September. They were Ferguson (R-Mich), Brewster (R-Me), Baldwin (R-Conn), Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Hunt (D-Wyo).

Baldwin, Kefauver and Hunt later visited Germany and other points in Europe collecting on-the-spot testimony as an armed services subcommittee investigating the Malmedy massacre.

Four members of the Senate banking committee — Sparkman (D-Ala), Flanders (R-Vt), Frear (D-Del) and Bricker (R-Ohio)—also visited Sweden and other European points gathering data on cooperative housing.

A One-man European trip by Senator McCarran (D-Nev) is for three Senate groups. He is chairman of the judiciary committee which still is holding a displaced persons bill sought by the administration. He also heads the watchdog committee to check on foreign aid and is a member of the appropriations committee.

Other Trips Listed

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate armed services committee made a month-long tour of European centers alone.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) now is making a similar inspection of the Pacific area for the appropriations committee.

Two senators—Lodge (R-Mass) and H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ)—have made trips at their own expense to Europe and the Far East.

Senator Brewster, a veteran traveller, also inspected European maritime facilities alone for the commerce committee.

Senator Cain (R-Wash) made a flying trip to Hawaii during the session on public works committee duties.

Freshman Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) left this week for an inter-national labor organization session in Geneva, Switzerland. Earlier this year Senator O'Conor (D-Md) represented the U. S. at an ILO session in Geneva.

But the most rigorous and longest Senate jaunt—clear around the world with numerous stops in Europe, the Far East, and other points—is being made by Senators Ellender (D-La), Green (D-RI), Jenner (R-Ind) and Ferguson. All but Jenner form an armed services subcommittee on appropriations.

Three senators are planning separate visits to the Virgin Islands later for the interior and insular affairs committee. They are Murray (D-Mont), Leahy (D-RI) and Butler (R-Neb.)

A senate agriculture subcommittee had planned a mid-winter visit to Mexico to check upon the campaign there against the hoof-and-mouth disease. But this has been delayed at least temporarily. Tentatively listed for this are Senators Ellender, Hoey, D-NC), Gillette (D-Ia) Holland (D-Fla) and Young (R-ND).

TOO MUCH IS ENOUGH

ATLANTA (U.P.)—Judge John S. McLelland figured enough was enough when Margaret Brooks was arrested on charges of drunkeness for the 70th time. He gave her three years.

Vets Not Planning To Waste Insurance Dividend Payments

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (U.P.)—The average World war II veteran will not squander his share of the $2,800,000,000 GI insurance dividend to be paid after Jan. 1, a survey disclosed today.

A large majority of veterans who will share in the dividend melon will spend it for a variety of useful purposes, the Vet-Times, a weekly publication for veterans and their families, said after a mail survey among its subscribers.

The survey already has attracted about 1,000 replies from a nationwide subscription list and answers are still pouring in, the Vet-Times said.

Only four veterans who returned survey coupons said they would use their insurance refunds to "paint the town." The other respondents said they would use the money to pay old bills, increase their bank accounts, or pay on homes and home furnishings.

More than 300 of the replies—32 per cent—said the dividend would be used to catch up on old bills. Bank accounts will get 22.4 per cent of the dividend while home payments and household furnishings each will cut in for 16.2 per cent.

Parent-Teachers Group Sets Up Project For Retarded Students

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 19. (U.P.)—The Parent-Teachers Association of the Arlington elementary school here is setting up a privately-financed clinic for the treatment of retarded and maladjusted students at the school.

The first such project to be financed by private funds at a public school in Baltimore, the clinic will be staffed by a psychiatrist and a psychologist who will make weekly visits and a full-time social worker and secretary.

Donald C. Weiller, president of the Arlington P-TA, said the project would cost an estimated $8,000 a year to operate. He said the clinic's services would be free and would be available to all students at the school, regardless of whether their parents belong to the P-TA.

tions with the clinic's specialists tions wit hthe clinic's specialists would be kept secret and that no child would be embarrassed by classmates who would know he is being helped by the clinic.

The public school system currently employs psychiatrists who visit the schools at periodic intervals, but P-TA members have complained that the visits are too infrequent to be of any real value to the students.

FATAL DIARRHEA INVESTIGATED

Public Health Service Blames Flies For Spread Of Diseases

By BEN PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATLANTA, Nov. 19.—"The fly flew in the grocery store, it lit on the counter and it lit on the floor . . ."

Maybe you remember that old nursery jingle; maybe you are singing it to your children now.

If you are, stop it and kill that fly.

The communicable disease center of the U. S. public health service has just about concluded that the fly is one of the deadliest enemies your child can have.

Dr. R. A. Vonderlehr, a product of the University of Virginia medical school and director of CDC, says the fly has been nailed just recently as a baby killer in the case of shigellosis.

That's just a big medical word for the fatal diarrhea which carries off 6,000 to 8,000 babies annually and is the dread of all hospitals and mothers.

Death Rate High

Just before the war, the death rate was 4,000 to 6,000 higher, but more about that in a moment.

Dr. Vonderlehr and his colleagues are extremely suspicious of the fly for another reason. Laboratory tests have shown that flies contain the dread poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) virus.

That was why the CDC embarked on a fly control and study program two and a half years ago which still has another two and a half years to go.

At the end the CDC hopes to have established once and for all the relationship of the fly to polio outbreaks.

One thing more about the fly: Swat it. Don't just spray it with DDT. Tests have shown that in the last several years the common house fly has developed a remarkable immunity to the stuff.

The CDC is strictly a war baby grown up. Back in 1942 just after the outbreak of World war II, the U. S. public health service and the armed forces began having jitters over malaria.

Thousands of troops were being shoved into camps in the south and southwest where 58,277 cases of malaria had been reported. By the end of the year troops were drifting back from the South Pacific and North Africa, both heavily infested.

Organization Set Up

The surgeon general's office set up an organization in Atlanta known as "malaria control in war areas." This outfit sprayed oil, paris green and DDT all over the place.

It dug ditches, drained swamps and spent thousands of man-hours clearing debris from the still waters in which mosquitos breed.

The job was done well. There was no malaria outbreak. Last year, six years after the work was begun, 28,000 blood smears for malaria were performed by CDC laboratories. Only four were positive.

With the malarial situation apparently under control, the U. S. public health service figured it had something hot in this war born outfit. Congress agreed and the CDC was born.

The CDC now has laboratories scattered about the country working for your welfare—studying how to curb rat borne typhus, leprosy, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, rabies, various types of encephalities (brain inflamation), Q-fever, Asiatic dysentery and others.

Last September the CDC announced that for the first time mosquitoes had been identified positively as the transmitters of the so-called eastern equine encephalomyelitis, a sever and often fatal virus disease.

Sometimes this form of encephalomyelitis is diagnosed as polio. The symptoms are somewhat the same.

Feeds On Horses

The mosquito, known as the mansonia perturbans, feeds on horses infected with the virus and later transmits the disease to man. It affects all ages but most frequently strikes the very young.

The CDC is now after the mansonia perturbans.

But back to those flies in diarrhea. In 1941 there were 12,262 deaths among children under two. In 1947—the last year for which exact figures are available—the death rate was 6.257. It is believed to be somewhat lower now.

Remember the years immediately following 1941 were the war years, and DDT was being spreadly by the hundreds of tons. Health officers all over the nation directed cleanup campaigns.

The DDT at first reduced the fly population considerably (the immunity came later) and the breeding places for flies were screened, covered or filled in with dirt. Flies took a licking.

After the war CDC selected Hidalgo county, Texas, for fly control experiments.

Where the flies were controlled for nearly a year, the diarrheal rate dropped to around 417 among 77,000 people. In an uncontrolled town the rate was almost 100 per cent higher.

For three months in the fall of 1947, the controls were reversed. The once clean town that permitted the flies to breed freely saw its rate swing upward again, while the other city dropped.

This story has a point, of course. The CDC observes that the cleaner a community all around, the less disease there is generally.

Since the flies have developed their immunity to DDT, the CDC has set out on extended experiments with insecticides in its Savannah laboratory to determine the one most fatal to the fly which also won't be fatal to people.

Pickpocket Had An Idea That Smelled

VIENNA, Nov. 19 (AP) — The long nose of the law tracked down a Vienna pickpocket recently. All the victims reported their wallets were lifted on Vienna street cars and there was a terrible odor of garlic present.

When caught the pickpocket said he thought it was a good idea to eat parlic before setting off each day, because his intended victims all turned their backs to him, making his task easier. Said the police: "Your idea stinks."

American Legion To Sell Christmas Trees

Allen Bros. post, American Legion, will sell Christmas trees in Lubbock again this year, H. J. Kendrick, chairman of the tree sales committee, announced Saturday.

"We're expecting the best grade of trees in years in our shipments this year, for every tree properly tempered by frost, has been cut under supervision of a forest ranger," Kendrick said.

Kendrick said a shipment of 5,000 or more trees was expected to arrive here about the first week in December. The trees, all western fir, will be from the Olympic National Forest in Washington and Oregon and will range from two feet to 14 feet in height.

Kendrick said the Legion would sell the trees retail and in wholesale lots. Orders for wholesale sales will be taken by the sales committee now, he said.

Veteran Miners Set New Mark In California Drilling Test

MOJAVE, Calif. Nov. 19. (AP)—John Lewis and Frank Parsons assembled their jack-hammering equipment, drilled 36 inches into live rock, dismantled the nine separate pieces and plumped down for a rest.

They earned it. In completing the operation in five minutes and one second they had set a new record in the annual hardrock drilling championships of Mojave's gold rush days celebration.

Parsons and Lewis, employees of a Borax firm and miners for 20 years, shaved 16 seconds off the old record. The operation takes about 45 minutes under ordinary working conditions. Besides prestige, they won $325 in prizes for their feat.

Princess' Flight To Malta To Visit Husband Postponed

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's flight to Malta to spend her wedding anniversary with her husband was postponted today for 24 hours because of unfavorable weather.

The official announcement was made a little more than an hour before her scheduled 9 a. m. (4 a. m. EST) takeoff from London airport. A thick London fog last night had delayed the arrival of most of the 300 guests invited to Buckingham palace for a farewell party for the princess.

Elizabeth had planned to reach Valletta, Malta, on the eve of the second anniversary Sunday of her wedding to the Duke of Edinburgh, a navy lieutenant now on duty with the British Mediterranean fleet.

The postponement means she now probably won't get there before the anniversary is almost over. The flight, with a lunch stopover at Nice, had been timed to take eight and one-half hours.

Countess Mountabatten is going with the princess. Her husband, the Earl, also is on duty in the Mediterranean with his nephew, the Duke.

Two-thirds of the persons killed in city motor vehicle accidents and about one-sixth of those killed in rural traffic accidents are pedestrians.

Ancient Greeks preferred pitched or resinated to natural wine, while the Romans liked to flavor their wines with such materials as pepper, poppy, tar boiled sea water and chalk.

Three Wildcats Are Staked In Borden

Locations for three wildcats in Borden county to test the Pennsylvanian have been staked. Two of the ventures will be carried down to 8,500 feet and the other will dig to 8,200 feet.

In Central Borden county, one mile west of the town of Gail, Bay Petroleum corporation is to drill its No. 1-A L. A. Pearce. It is slated to 8,500 feet.

The drillsite will be 660 feet from south and west lines of section 35, block 31, T-5-N, T&P survey.

Test Is Scheduled

L. H. Armer of Fort Worth No. 1 L. D. Rogers is to be in Central-South Borden county, five miles east of Vealmoor.

It is projected to 8,500 feet.

Location for the prospector is 446.6 feet from south and west lines of the north half of section 25, block 32, T-3-N, T&P survey.

The other Borden prospector is to be drilled by Honolulu Oil corporation in the central-southwest part of one county.

This development is to be the firm's No. 1 T. J. Good and will be 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 32, T-3-N, T&P survey. That makes it 12 miles southwest of Gail.

Contracted depth is to 8,200 feet.

Drilling Past 5,843

A wildcat in Southwest Borden county to test the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvania, Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Von Roeder, was drilling past 5,843 feet in lime and shale. It is to test the Canyon reef at around 7,000 feet. It is eight miles southwest of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of Scurry County.

It is at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 103, block 25, H&TC survey.

Don Ameche No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, West Central Borden county wildcat five miles west of Gail, ran a one-hour drillstem test in the Spraberry sand of the Permian at 5,831-968 feet.

Recovery was 360 feet of drilling fluid with no shows of oil or gas. It is now making new hole below 5,993 feet in Permian sand.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 30, block 31, T-5-N, T&P survey. It is to find and test the Ellenburger.

Four miles south of Ameche No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, R. S. Brennand, jr., of Midland No. 1 W. D. Everett, had set surface casing at 3,052 feet and was to drill ahead after the cement had cured.

It is to be an Ellenburger venture, slated to 9,500 feet.

The venture is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block 31, T-4-N, T&P survey. It is seven miles south of Gail.

Deepening Gets Underway At Southwest Dickens Wildcat

Deepening was in progress at Union Oil company of California No. 1 W. J. Elliott, jr., southwest Dickens county wildcat, five and one-half miles southwest of Spur.

It was making new hole past 6,036 feet in lime toward its contracted depth of 8,500 feet.

Location is 1,990 feet from north and 2,052 feet from east lines of section 177, block 1, H&GN survey.

Drilling & Exploration company, Inc., No. 1 Wilson Connell, southwest Kent county wildcat, had reached 3,284 feet in shale and was drilling ahead.

It took a drillstem test in the San Andres from 2,340-70 feet. Recovery was 665 feet of fluid and 515 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud and 100 feet of salt water.

It is to go to 7,200 feet to test the Canyon lime.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 19, block 5, H&GN survey and two miles southeast of Polar.

Stanolind Oil Company Is Deepening Test In Cochran

In the Landon Devonian field of central-south Cochran county, Stanolind Oil & Gas company was deepening its No. 3-R/A-A Brown below 7,402 feet in lime. The venture is to drill to at least 12,200 feet to test the Devonian.

The drillsite is 1,320 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 14, block L, psl survey. It is 14 miles north of Plains.

A plant in Hungary is making two new types of rubber boots for women.

Drilling Pushed On Terry Wells

In southeast Terry county, Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Brownfield, wildcat to 10,000 feet to explore the Pennsylvanian, was making new hole past 6,792 feet in lime and shale.

No. 1 Brownfield is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 26, block 1-A, EL&RR survey. It is ten miles southeast of Brownfield.

Cities Service Oil company No. 1-D Masten, central southwest Cochran county wildcat, one mile northwest of the Levelland field, was bottomed at 4,504 feet in lime and was fishing for lost tools.

To Test Formation

As soon as the tools are recovered, the venture will continue to its contracted depth of 5,800 feet to test the San Andres.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of labor 3, league 133, Armstrong county school lands survey, and eight miles southwest of Lehman.

Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, southeast Terry county wildcat, 14 miles south of Brownfield and four miles east of the shallow Adair field, had reached 11,240 feet in Mississippian lime and chert, and was making more hole.

North Of Dry Hole

Tentative top of the Mississippian lime has been called by some geologists to be at 11,050 feet on an elevation of 3,171 feet. That makes it 876 feet high to the Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 15 American Warehouse, deep dry hole in the Cedar Lake area of northeast Gaines county, ten miles south and slightly west of No. 1 Nystel.

It is projected to 12,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey.

GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

PECOS, Nov. 19 (AP)—A 90-day jail sentence and a $120 fine was given Pedro A. Ortiz of Midland this week for contracting laborers in Reeves county without a permit.

Test At Yoakum Well Shows Oil

The Yoakum county prospector which has indicated for a discovery from the Glorieta-Permian, is Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Paul Cobb, located 12 miles east of Plains.

The petroleum came in a drillstem test at 6,031-144 feet, between two packers. Total depth is at 6,512 feet.

Strong Air Blow

The tester was open four and one-half hours, with a strong blow of air at the surface during the early part of the test, which decreased to a light blow at the end of the period.

When 3,100 feet of dry drill pipe had been pulled, fluid was found in the pipe. Recovery was 800 feet of oil and gas-cut drilling mud. 200 feet of mud cut oil, and 2,050 feet of clean oil.

Operator re-set the packer twice during the test and the mud came into the drill pipe in the re-setting of the packer.

No Water Shown

There were no shows of formation water.

The section in the hole between 6,144 feet and 6,512 feet logged no show of oil or gas.

Deepening to explore into the Wasson 6800 and 72000 is planned.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 381, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

The 2,050 feet of clean oil recovered in the drillstem test was unloaded from the drill pipe as each joint was pulled and racked.

Court Magistrate Uses Bible To "Test" Guilt Of Defendant

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 19. (U.P.)—Magistrate Gene Herron literally swears by the Bible in determining the guilt or innocence of persons accused of thievery.

Herron's "Bible test," which he used first in a case in which one woman accused another of stealing $20, consisted of tying the Bible closed with string, with a key inserted between the pages, broad end out.

Two persons—one of them the defendant — held the book, while the accused one recited an old verse:

"By St. Peter, by St. Paul,
By the grace of God who made us all,
If I did not steal the . . .
Let the Bible spin and fall."

If the Bible falls then, Herron said, he decided it was an acquittal by God and ruled accordingly.

New Spraberry Field Producer Is Completed By Seaboard Firm

A new producer for the Spraberry Deep field of Southeast Dawson county has been completed at Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No .7-D-A Robinson.

The well made a 24-hour flowing production of 120.37 barrels of 39.3-gravity oil. The flow was through a 5/16 inch tubing choke.

Completion was from open hole between the top of the pay at 6,525 feet and the plugged back total depth at 6,620 feet in the Spraberry sand.

Shot With Nitroglycerin

The pay section was shot with 178 quarts of nitroglycerin.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 37, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

Seaboard was swabbing to test at its No. 1 Mart Barrow, deep wildcat which failed in the Ellenburger and which has been plugged back in the San Andres.

In the last seven hours of swabbing above the plugged back total depth of 4,500 feet, operator recovered 173 barrels of load oil. Swabbing is to continue. The interval being swabbed has been treated with acid.

The development is 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of section 8, block 15, T-6-N, TP survey.

Seaboard No. 3-D Lee, a south offset to the Spraberry Deep field, was drilling out cement at 6,426 feet in lime after setting 5½ inch casing at 6,475 feet. Operator will deepen the venture to around 7,000 feet into the Spraberry sand, the pay in the Spraberry field.

Deepening In Progress

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 47, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

Deepening was in progress at the same company's No. 8-D-A Robinson, quarter mile east outpost to the field. It was making new hole past 6,266 feet in lime.

No. 8-D-A Robinson is 660 feet from north and 1,737.5 feet from west lines of section 37, block 34, TP survey.

Another project in the Spraberry Deep field, Seaboard and others No. 3-D C. W. Shafer, 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 48, block 34, T-5-N, T & P survey, had reached 2,698 feet in lime and shale and was drilling ahead.

It is to drill to 7,000 feet.

Drillstem Test Run

A show for petroleum production in Northwest Dawson county has been made at Reagan J. Caraway of Dallas, No. 1 T. A. Loe, seven miles northwest of Lamesa.

This prospector took a drillstem test in the Spraberry sandy lime from 7,95--7,411 feet.

There was a blow of air throughout the period. The tool was originally open for one hour. Apparently it closed at the end of that time. An effort was made to reopen it and it appeared to have stayed open for 20 minutes, after the re-setting. Recovery was 220 feet of gas cut drilling mud.

The project was deepened to 7,482 feet in sandy lime.

The section at 7,400-18 feet showed flourescence and satin and the interval from 7,418-464 feet was broken with stain and good fluorescence. It is understood that another drillstem test was to have been run.

The exploration is 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 12, league 3, Taylor County School Land survey. It was originally projected to drill to 10,500 feet to explore the Pennsylvanian.

Wildcat To Test San Andres Is Scheduled

In southwest Lynn county, H. E. Chiles, jr., of Midland, and Edward C. Lawson of Tulsa, Okla., No. 1 G. C. McPherson is to be a 5,200-foot wildcat to test the San Andres-Permian.

It will be three miles north and one mile west of New Moore and 520 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of the north west quarter of section 14, block O, H&OB survey.

R. E. Williams and S. L. Parham of Midland will dig the Central Cochran county wildcat as their No. 1 C. R. Starnes. It will be nine and one-half miles south of Lehman and slightly more than one and one-half miles south of the Lion Oil company No. 1 Masten, recently completed three-quarter mile southwest extension to production from the San Andres in the Levelland field.

No. 1 Starnes is to be 660 feet from north and east lines of section 23, Harrison and Brown survey.

Drilling is to be started in the near future on a 7,500-foot wildcat to explore the Canyon reef lime in extreme northwest Kent county.

Ryan, Hays and Burk of San Antonio have planned the operation as their No. 1 Faustina Kenny.

It will be ten miles southwest of Spur and 660 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 57, block 2, H&GN survey.

Three Prospectors In Garza Planned

Garza county prospectors will be drilled by George Callihan of Abilene, and P. W. and R. S. Anderson of Midland.

Callihan's project, No. 1 J. C. Dorward, is to be in extreme southeast Garza county, six miles southeast of Justiceburg.

No. 1 Dorward is to be a 3,100-foot cable tool exploration, located 330 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 114, block 5, H & GN survey.

The other Garza development is to be P. W. and R. S. Anderson No. 1 R. Clyde Miller, located 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east lines of the north half of section 29, block 6, H&GN survey. That makes it two and one-half miles southwest of Justiceburg.

It is one-half mile east of the Proven Oil company No. 1 Herd, which pumped five barrels of oil per day from the San Andres for a considerable time before being depleted.

The Anderson prospector is to test the San Andres at around 2,600 feet.

JUST CONFUSED

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., (U.P.) — After his client failed to appear on schedule in circuit court, John T. Zakrzewski, attorney, finally talked the judge out of forfeiting bail when it was learned the defendant was sitting in federal court instead of circuit, waiting for his trial to start and wondering where everyone was.

Discovery Of New Oil Field In Southeast Gaines Is Indicated

The past seven days produced the banner week of the South Plains oil activity for 1949.

Wildcats in Southeast Gaines, in Central-East Yoakum, and in Northwest Dawson county are showing for the possible discovery of new oil fields.

Locations for nine new wildcats were reported for immediate drilling on the South Plains.

Three In Borden

Borden County gets three of these; two are in Garza county, the others are in Central-West Gaines county, Southwest Lynn county and Central Cochran county, and in Northwest Kent county.

Discovery of a new oil field in Southeast Gaines county has been indicated at Forest Oil corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1-A Parmer, 15 miles southeast of Seminole.

The prospector had an oil fill up at the rate of 14.48 barrels per hour during a drillstem test at 12,045-156 feet. The oil was 40.1-gravity. No signs of formation water were reported.

This possible new field opener is bottomed at 12,206 feet and is trying to regain circulation to drill ahead. The section from 12,156 to 12,206 feet has not been tested.

The tool for the drillstem test at 12,045-156 feet was open three hours and 53 minutes. There was a blow of air at the surface during the entire period.

Sweet Gas Found

A 4,500-foot water blanket was used. No gas or fluid came to the surface while the tool was open—largely on account of the weight of the water blanket.

When operators started pulling the drill pipe after the test, sweet gas was found in the first joint, which was broken off.

Fluid was found when 2,900 feet of dry drill pipe had been pulled and racked. Recovery was the 4,500-foot water blanket, cut with oil, 560 feet of oil cut drilling mud, and 4,070 feet of 40.1-gravity sweet oil. There was no water.

The section covered by the test which developed the oil is said to have a fracture with some signs of shale.

Operator representatives did not identify the formation other than to say that it might be Pennsylvanian.

This development is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer County School Land survey.

It is scheduled to drill to 15,000 feet to test the Ellenburger unless it finds or develops commercial production before reaching that point.

Discovery Is Indicated

Camedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers of Midland No. 1-E-A Andrews, indicated discovery from the Devonian and from the Ellenburger in Central South Gaines county, is swabbing to test the top of the Ellenburger through Casing perforations at 11,900-960 feet.

That zone made some free oil on a drillstem test. If the Ellenburger fails to make a commercial well, operators will likely plug back to the Devonian and complete it as a producer from that horizon where it showed for a possible production of 40 barrels of oil per hour.

The development is 15 miles south and west of Seminole and 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey.

Drilling In Lime

The Los Nietos company No. 2-B Doss, contracted 11,000-foot wildcat to test the Devonian in the North Riley field of West Central Gaines county, was drilling below 10,702 feet in lime and shale.

No 2-B Doss is 660 feet from west and 760 feet from south lines of the southeast quarter of section 360, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey. It is nine miles southwest of Seminole.

Magnolia Petroleum county No. 1 Wolfe, one-mile outpost to the Flanagan Clear Fork field of Central-South Gaines county, was at total depth of 7,290 feet in lime and was taking a drillstem test. No information is available on the recovery.

Since entering the Clear Fork it has shown some signs of production in drillstem tests.

The development is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A-23, psl survey. It is contracted to 7,300 feet.

The same company had set seven-inch oil string at its No. 1 Williamson, a west stepout to the Flanagan field. Operator was to have drilled out the plug and continue to deepen. The seven-inch casing was cemented at 7,050 feet. Projected depth is to 7,500 feet.

Plans Gaines Wildcat

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the south 480 acres in section 12, block A-23, psl survey.

Amerada Petroleum company has planned its No. 1 W. M. Breckon as a 6,500-foot wildcat in Southwest Gaines county, five miles east of Jal, N. M.

The drillsite will be one and one-quarter miles northwest of Mid-Continent Petroleum company No. 1 L. R. Nichols, wildcat which has had some shows from the Florieta and Clear Fork sections, and which is now drilling below 7,349 feet in dolomite.

No. 1 Breckon will be 467 feet from south and 1,113 feet from east lines of section 25, block A-9, psl survey.

Some sources say that the Amerada operation will be carried on down to at least 7,500 feet.

Wartime Good Deed Aids Prison Guard In Probation Plea

CANON CITY, Colo., Nov. 19 (INS)—A wartime good deed today helped a former Canon City, Colo., prison guard gain probation on charges of smuggling narcotics to an inmate of the Colorado penitentiary.

Herbert J. Martyn, 38, had pleaded guilty to smuggling benzidrine inhalors to convict William S. Raines. Martyn applied for probation and the application was approved by probation officer Jack S. Moseley.

Job Is Offered

Moseley pointed out to District Judge Joseph D. Blunt tht Martyn had never been in trouble before and has a job waiting for him.

The job offere came from Allen J. Studebaker of Sioux City, Iowa. Studebaker and Martyn were in the same outfit in the South Pacific during the war.

Studebaker was wounded in the leg and Martyn helped him back to safety. Studebaker's leg was later amputated and Martyn helped him to get to meals, helped him walk around camp and generally cheered him up.

Man Attends Hearing

Studebaker said: "I vowed then if I have a chance to return his great favor I would."

The Iowan flew to Canon City for the probation hearing. He offered to be responsible for Martyn during his five year probation period.

The Iowan added: "I have absolute confidence in his ability to come through."

Martyn will work in Studebaker's check protection agency in Sioux City.

ALLOWABLE FOR TEXAS DROPPED

Oil Exploration Not Affected By Dull Winter Crude Market

By MAX B. SHELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Nov. 19.—Lack of a healthy winter market is giving crude oil a rough time but apparently affecting exploration very little.

Failure of predicitions of an early upward swing in winter demand brought two sharp developments this week.

Texas, although confident a month ago it had hurdled the supply-demand problem, ordered 218,357 barrel daily cutback in December crude oil production allowables.

More Rigs Operating

Domestic refineries were operating at only 79.5 per cent of capacity, the lowest point since spring.

The American association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, however, reported more rotary drilling rigs in operation this week than at any time since December.

Rig operations were placed at 2216, compared to 2106 last week and 2037 a month earlier.

Texas' returns to cutbacks in allowables was blamed on a superabundance of stocks and a very light winter demand resulting from unseasonably warm weather in oil-burning areas.

A survey conducted in 18 midwestern and northwestern cities by the Chicago Journal of Commerce indicated temperatures are milder than the unusually warm winter of a year ago.

Weather in these cities between Sept. 1 and Nov. 15, the newspaper said, was 14.6 per cent warmer than the same period last year.

Stocks Show Increase

The Bureau of Mines meanwhile reported the first sharp increase since August in domestic and foreign crude oil stocks.

Stocks as of Nov. 5 were placed at 254,121,000 barrels, an increase of 2,052,000 from the previous week. A year ago the total was only 242,451,000.

It is the second consecutive refinery operations slump to be reported by the American Petroleum Institute.

The plants on Nov. 5 were operating at 82.4 per cent of capacity after having climbed to 85.3 Oct. 29.

Railroad freight and passenger services have made sharp postwar swings to petroleum powered locomotives.

More Diesels Used

A research committee of the eastern railroad presidents conference report that in 1941 only 0.22 per cent of freight traffic and 7.5 per cent of rail passengers were hauled by diesel engines.

Last year diesels handled 21.27 per cent of freight traffic and 39.55 per cent of the passenger business.

The committee also said that 97 per cent of the locomotives on order last April were diesels.

Postwar pipeline construction has deemphasized somewhat the importance of railroads as transporters of crude oil and refined products.

Huge A. Stewart, director of the oil and gas division of the Department of Interior, this week said the railroads handled 16 per cent of petroleum transportation in 1938, 10 per cent in 1948.

Field extensions and optimistic wildcat reports are adding emphasis to the big oil boom in Scurry county, Tex.

Two wells this week continued successful development of areas around the four initial producing fields which have launched the boom within the past 12 months.

Well Is Completed

Final guage on the S. D. Roberts et al No. 1 Burl Lewis well, three miles northwest of the Kelly field and about three miles notrheast of Diamond M, was rated at 610.5 barrels daily.

The Cities Service oil company No. 1 Von Roeder well between the North Snyder and Kelly canyon fields was completed for 1124 barrels daily.

Fights by Texas and Louisiana to keep control of their submerged oil tidelands are developing unusual maneuvers.

Last week Texas advised the Supreme court its testimony and documentary exhibits will be so voluminous the court might desire to appoint a special master to hear the evidence.

Louisiana this week petitioned for a trial by jury, should the court refuse its motion for dismissal of the suit.

The federal government has asked the court to recognize its paramount rights to the tidelands of the two states.

Unusual floods in Brazil's Amazon Basin have caused loss of 3,000 tons of jute.

Legal Aid Denied In Child Custody Case

ATLANTA, Nov. 19. (U.P.) — The Legal Aid Society here decided not to press the claims of the man who asked for help in getting custody of his wife's five children.

The un-named applicant said he had been married two weeks. He wanted a divorce and custody of the children.

'Are the children yours?" a society worker asked.

"I'm sure some of them are," he said, "but I want them all anyway."

New "Atomic Cocktails" Devised For Mice May Be Cure For Radioactive "Hangovers"

By JULIAN GRANGER
United Press Staff Writer

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Nov. 19. (AP)—Scientists are using "atomic cocktails" made from sodium bicarbonate to cure test mice of radioactive "hangovers."

The result of their research may well be that the hazard of radioactive poisoning from Carbon-14, the radioactive isotope most widely used in medical and biological research, can be offset.

Dr. Howard E. Skipper, Locke White, Jr., and Carl E. Bryan of the Southern Research Institute, Birmingham, Ala., told of their studies in a paper submitted to the southeast regional meeting of the American Chemical Society in this birthplace of the atomic bomb.

The research was carried out for the Atomic Energy Commission under a contract with the Office of Naval Research.

When mice were injected with radioactive sodium bicarbonate, they found, more than 90 per cent of the radioactivity contained in Carbon-14 disappeared within an hour.

But the problem is not completely solved, the chemists said. Further experiments are necessary to determine whether some "hot" carbon might not be concentrated in cell nuclei and other small but vital structures of the body were the effects of radioactivity are pericularly damaging.

Rapid Turnover

In the upper part of the small intestine of the mice, for instance, the scientists found a rapid turnover of radioactive Carbon-14. The embryos of pregnant mice which had been given doses of radioactive sodium bicarbonate absorbed an unusually large amount of the radioactivity.

While no high concentration of Carbon-14 has been observed in any of the organs of the test mice, the chemists said, and while most of the bicarbonate is rapidly broken down by the body and exhaled, some tissues may retain the radioactivity by fixing the carbon in other chemical forms.

They emphasized that their studies apply only to readily soluble minerals containing carbon and carbon dioxide gas. An entirely different picture might develop in comparable studies of organic chemicals resembling food factors and normal body compounds.

GINNING NO PROBLEM TO WEAVERS

Gins Too Taxed To Care For Crop, So They Built Plant Of Their Own

LAMESA, Nov. 19 — Fifty-five hundred aces of rapidly-maturing cotton creates quite a problem in these days of critical labor shortages.

Just ask J. R. Weaver and his son, Bill, of Lamesa.

But they think they'ev got it about licked, that is if the weather remains as clear and sunshiny as it has for the past three weeks.

Ginning the cotton has been the major task, and thereby hangs the crux of this story.

Built Gin For Crop

Faced with the largest crop ever to be produced in Dawson county and with capacity of gins already overtaxed, the Weavers began to worry about ginning of their bumper crop early this fall. They decided to build a new gin to take care of their own crop, largest in the whole of Dawson county.

"Conditions were just right this year for dry land cotton," the elder Weaver stated. "As a result we will make close to three-quarters of a bale to the acre."

With the season drawing to a critical climax the Weavers made a quick trip to Dallas to discuss the erection of their gin with the Continental people. Drawing plans rapidly the firm promised they would expedite the construction of a 4 80-stand gin, complete with driers, burr extractors and four of the very latest lint cleaners.

Plant Built In Six Weeks

The firm was as good as its word. From the time the order was placed to the time the first bale started through the saws was exactly six weeks. The gin was ready for operation on October 9 and the first bale was completed on that day.

The Weaver gin is located two miles west of Lamesa on the Seminole road.

The Weavers decided, while they were at it, to build as good a gin as is possible, so as a result they have one of the finest plants in West Texas. It is powered with a 250 horsepower electric motor, while most plants have about half as much power. The gin's drier is a two million B. T. U. unit instead of smaller ones used by other gins.

But featuring the plant is an installation of specially-designed lint cleaners, one of two such units on the South Plains.

The elder Weaver figures he has already paid for the cost of his gin plant through use of the lint cleaners, which are increasing the value of each bale ginned from $25 to $30, by improving the grade and staple.

Weaver thumbed through a stack of gin cards in his modern office at the gin to prove his point. Out of more than a group of 60 or more cards, more than 80 per cent of the grades were middling or better.

Loss Is Negligible

"And you only lost about six to ten pounds of cotton by running it through the re-cleaners," Weaver said.

The gin has already turned out more than 3,000 bales of cotton in the past six weeks, 2,500 bales of which came from the Weaver land lying adjoining and several miles west of the gin. Weaver expects to gin 4,000 bales of cotton from the 5,500 acres of land he and his son are farming. He expects to turn out at least 7,000 bales at the gin this season.

Using Mechanical Picker

With approximately 200 Mexican "braceros" in addition to other Latin-Americans and four International Harvester cotton pickers are piling cotton in the fields. Bill Weaver estimated the other day there were more than 200 bales of cotton on the ground, because of a shortage of trailers.

The cotton pickers, purchased through Hays Walker of the Lamesa Implement Co., are doing a good job harvesting the Weaver cotton.

The Weavers originally planned to handle only their own cotton. However, conditions are so critical in the county they have agreed to do custom work for other farmers and growers in the area. Weaver's daughter, Mrs. Gus Junis, is responsible for this step. She, too, is helping at the gin. Mrs. Junis is acting as office manager and weigher.

Plant Well Arranged

In addition to the gin the Weaver project includes a cotton house with a storage capacity of 250 bales and a large seed house and hopper. The plant is well arranged for efficient operation. The office, of concrete block, is adjacent to the gin.

L. A. Bacon, Lubbock, supervisor for the erection of the machinery, said that it required only nine minutes to run a 536-pound bale.

J. R. Weaver, the man who built this modern gin in "self defense," was born at Sulphur Springs, Texas. He later moved with his family to Ft. Worth and came to Dawson county first in 1902. His father, the late F. M. Weaver, had 65 sections of land in the area. The trip to Lamesa was made by rail to Big Spring and the balance of the way by a mule-drawn stage.

Started Farming In 1925

The Weavers were originally ranchers. They first started cultivating their land in 1925. At the present time they have 6,500 acres under cultivation, 5,500 of which is in cotton. Son Bill, daughter Grace and son-in-law, Gus Junis, all work together on the vast enterprise.

Weaver's move seems to be thoroughly justified in view of conservative estimates. County Agen Lee Roy Colgan places his crop forecast at 160,000 bales, a sizable load for the 29 gins in the county.

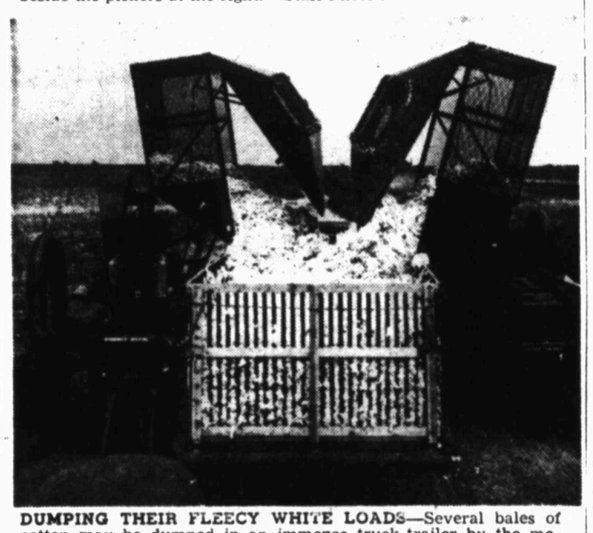

Contractors for the Weaver gin were: Lubbock Engineering Service, gin building; Suttel Purcell, Lamesa, cotton house, office and seed house. The total cost was about $110,000.

You Can Get 158 Miles Per Gallon

WOOD RIVER, Ill., Nov. 19. (U.P.)—It's possible to get 158 miles on each gallon of gasoline you put in the family chariot.

Whether you figure it's worth what you have to go through is another matter.

R. G. Greenshields, director of the Shell Oil Co. research laboratory here, said the laboratory each year stages a "mileage marathon for engineers." This year it was won by a modified 1924 model which got 158 miles to the gallon.

Toward that goal, the gear ratio has to be changed from 6-1 to 10-1 and the tire pressure increased from the normal 32 to 35 pounds to 110 pounds.

That, with the use of a light lubricant, will enable a motorist to get 45 miles per gallon.

The compression has to be raised as high as possible, which entails lowering the valve seats in the engine block. With that, the motorist will get 49 miles a gallon.

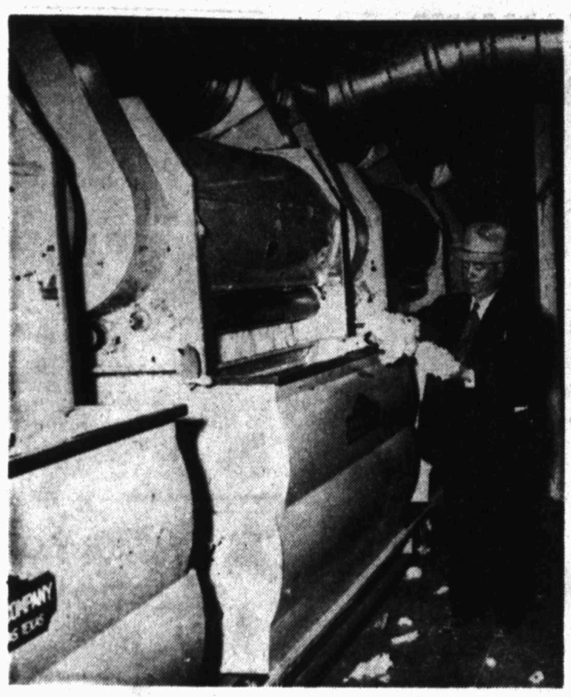

The next step is to strip the car of accessories such as the fan, water pump and generator to get about 54 miles per gallon if the car is operated at a low speed. All these changes are going to make it 95 per cent cheaper to run the car, Greenshields insisted. He used a 1947 model to demonstrate.

After that it gets even harder, though. For further reductions, you have to cut the ignition after reaching a speed of 20 miles per hour and coast until the speedometer needle drops to five miles per hour. You keep repeating that over until you are tired of getting 158 miles per gallon.

Firm Provides Free Television Sets For Hospitalized Workers

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Radio division of Bendix Aviation corporation puts its television sets in the rooms of employees who are hospitalized . . . free.

First installation was made in a convalescence ward at City Hospital to the delight of a 27-year-old girl riveter. Hospital authorities also like the idea. So did seven other girls who shared the ward—some of whom never before had seen television.

Hot Bath And Noodles Given As Best Cold Cure In Japan

TOKYO, Nov. 19. (U.P.)—The best cure for a cold, thousands of Japanese will swear, is to climb into a bath tub full of hot water and leisurely eat a bowl of noodles.

Of course, thousands of other equally sincere Japanese will tell you that the "noodles-and-tub" remedy went out 50 years ago and will insist that nothing can compare with a roasted orange for really knocking out a bad cold.

The real fault with the "noodles-and-tub" remedy, according to a qualified source, is that it is apt to become habit forming.

Tanaka-san, the neighborhood charcoal dealer, is the "qualified source." He does a good side business prescribing home remedies.

"You feel so good when you are in the tub eating noodles," Tanaka-san said, "that you are likely to be tempted to order a bowl of noodles whenever you go to the bath house, even if you don't have a cold."

How It's Done

"Take one orange. Put it on the fire and roast it until its outer skin is burned almost entirely black. The orange then is eaten—charred skin and all."

This remedy has the good quality of not being habit forming. As a matter of fact, Tanaka-san says, it is apt to taste "rather bitter."

Other "recognized" Japanese cold cures include drinking hot ginger tea, hot orange juice or hot radish tea and then taking a hot bath.

Tanaka-san firmly denied that the hot bath lobby had anything to do with the promotion of the remedies.

Sake Also Popular

He admitted, however, that one of the most popular cures is one which makes ample use of sake, the world famous Japanese rice wine.

The cure is called "Tamagozake." It is hot sake with egg.

"About a pint of sake is put in a pan and heated," Tanaka-san explained, "and then the yolk of one egg is put in it and thoroughly beaten. It makes a good egg-nog and becomes an excellent cure for colds."

He paused briefly. "I rather like it myself," he acknowledged thoughtfully, but did not say whether it is habit forming.

Two Texas Women Are Elected Officers Of Girl Scout Group

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 19 (AP) — Two Texas women received offices in the Girl Scouts of America organization at a meeting here yesterday.

Mrs. R. A. Burnett, Amarillo, Tex., was elected a regional member of the national board. Mrs. Will Clayton, Houston, was appointed a member of the Girl Scout national advisory council.

War Vet Shoots Two Policemen

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 19. (AP)—Two policemen are in a critical condition today, victims of an attack of a 28-year-old war veteran who went beserk in the Veterans administration office.

Police Chief William Donahue said the veteran, Charles Hartwell, a railroad brakeman, held the VA office manager at pistol point for an hour and then shot Sgt. Leo. Waldinger, 37, a graduate of the FBI training school, and Motorcycle patrolman Leo May, 45.

Shooting Is Recounted

Hartwell, a former patient in Warren, Pa., state hospital, was discharged from the army because of a mental condition.

Police gave this version of the shooting:

Hartwell came o the VA office to ask why he was denied a service-connected disability claim. He was told reviewers in the Pittsburgh VA office had made the ruling.

The veteran pulled out a pistol and barricaded himself with office Manager Lt. Col. Arthur Criswell in Criswell's office. Police were summoned and as Officers Waldinger and May broke into the office Hartwell emptied his pistol at them.

Waldinger was shot in the stomach and May was shot once in the stomach and twice in the left shoulder.

Overpowered by other police, Hartwell was taken to Erie county jail. He is being held there on an open charge, pending the outcome of the officers' injuries.

Panama, for the first time in its history, will have rice to export this year.

AUSTIN MEN NAMED TO POSTS BY SEC. JOHNSON

Housing For Military Personnel In Texas To Be Studied Under Defense Department's Program

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Two Texans who worked closely together on the Texas Relief Commission back in the dark days of the '30's have been named by Defense Secretary Louis Johnson to attack the national problem of housing for military personnel and their families.

Bertram Giesecke, Austin architect, is chairman of the Department of Defense' Housing Commission, and Lawrence Westbrook, also formerly of Austin, now living in Washington, is executive secretary.

Main object of the commission is to study the military housing situation and make recommendations to the secretary as to what is to be done.

To Make Study In Texas

"Of course we shall start with Texas where military housing problems are so acute," Lawrence Westbrook said here this week. "Eventually, we shall study the problem both in this country and overseas and throughout the four territories."

Studying housing in Alaska will be nothing new to Westbrook. As assistant administrator of the Works Progress Administration of the nation in 1940 and 1942, he directed the building of 200 homes in the Matanuska housing project. Recently and assistant secretary of the Interior Department, unaware that Westbrook had had anything to do with that project, said in his presence. "Today after 14 years, these are the best houses in Alaska."

Giesecke and Westbrook are old hands at this housing. Giesecke was named by S. Perry Brown of Beaumont when national commander to head the American Legion's national housing program. Giesecke has been chosen under the Craig administration for the same post. Secretary Johnson learned about Giesecke's talents from his close friend, Perry Brown, and from watching Giesecke in actiof.

Low-Cost Housing Sought

One of the big things which the Legion housing commission has done is to press for low-cost housing before the Congress. In the last session, Giesecke and Westbrook both testified before congressional committees in favor of the housing bill for moderate income families. One feature of the measure sponsored by Rep. Wright Patman, Texarkana, was to permit citizens to pool their resources to obtain federal loans for housing construction.

Giesecke was a member of the Texas relief commission, Westbrook director of the commission. He was also at one time regional head of the Works Projects administration before he became an assistant administrator here. He has been a development engineer for long-range private projects in this country and Europe for several years now. He wrote many of the speeches for the New Dealers and coined some of those ideas which President Roosevelt so well phrased. Westbrook is also a close personal friend of Rep. Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House.

Giesecke and Westbrook, both now on special duty at the Pentagon, sat around a conference table with other military officials this week to draw up a program of inspection. It calls for going to work promptly on the sore spots in military housing in Texas. Inspections will begin there the latter part of December and run into January. Details of the itinerary are still being arranged.

However, to name a few of the housing problems in Texas there are: Fort Bliss and Biggs field, El Paso; Camp Hood, Killeen; the Navy station at Orange, also at Corpus Christi; Fort Sam Houston; and many others.

Work is underway toward relief of military men and their families at Sherman's Perrin field, Reeves Air Force base at Lubbock and at El Paso. What has already been accomplished will be studied to determine if its is sufficient or to show other bases what can be done.

Anyway, now, as one person remarked at the Housing Commission's office the other day, with Giesecke and Westbrook at the helm, this country ought to see something done about the critical situation which has caused so many young men to decide against a military career and which therefore, and in the case of Alaska, particularly, produce a threat to the national security. Permanent military installations require housing and housing keeps up the morale of men and their families.

Notes From a Deserted Capitol Hill—Much mystery still seems to surround the true causes for Interior Secretary J. A. Krug's fall from grace. Krug formerly was so popular with capital newsmen. Loyal friends insist that he did make speeches for President Truman in that campaign last year, and that he was loyal, also able. It is true, however, that Oscar Chapman, the undersecretary, has had more entre to the White House all this year than has Secretary Krug . . . Chapman is expected to keep in office the Texan who is solicitor of the Department, Mastin G. White of Tyler, former Texas University Law faculty member.

The State Department has a report it has been trying to keep secret. It is a policy drawn up after checking the petroleum situation with all other branches of government. This policy was then laid before major company representatives at the State Department who seem to be the oil mapors to keep the report secret. There is a possibility that the report or part of it may be made public later.

Senator Magmuson, Washington, has his eye on Texas these days. Also New Mexico. The reason is he does not want to see any more industry moved inland from coastal points. Magnuson has been fearful that his state would lose the big Boeing plant. Asked why he did not include the Gulf coast in his list of points which are now vulnerable to those who would move strategic plants inland, he said: "It was not a conscious omission. The position of the Gulf coast has been discussed."

Rep. Paul J. Kilday's committee, House Armed Services, must write a report on the recent Navy hearings against the B-36 by January.

More women than men showed up for an organization meeting of a Texas State Society square dance group. Life here for small-town gals from Texas is not always glamorous.

Dance Firm Accused Of Waltzing Students Into Long-Term Debt

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (INS) — Charges that dance students at a Chicago Arthur Murray studio were waltzed deep into debt by "seductive means" were filed today in superior court.

The studio is operated by Albert Vente, of Chicago, who bought the franchise from Murray, founder of the chain.

The students, some of whom owe up to $2,500 in unpaid tuition bills, seek to enjoin Vente from collecting the unpaid balance of the notes.

Te bill was filed by Attorney Julius L. Echeles, who said that one of his 24 clients was obligated for a total of 1,000 lessons.

Charge Explained

The bill charges that each student had to sign a note upon entering the school, promising to pay for the lessons when graduated.

However, the bill alleges, that at the completion of the course "winsome young ladies and handsome young men" persuaded the students to sign up for another.

Echeles said most of his clients never had learned how to dance—let alone how to be dance instructors.

The bill also seeks a ruling holding the contract between the students and Vente void. Echeles said he would seek a temporary injunction Monday.

Scout Officers Schedule Meeting At Hale Center

HALE CENTER, Nov. 19 (Special) — Scoutmasters, assistant Scoutmasters, troop committeemen, sponsoring organization representatives and young troop leaders of Boy Scout troops in four districts of the South Plains council will meet here the night of Wednesday, Nov. 30, in the Hale Center Scout hut for the second of a series of six sessions of a training course.

The districts are Tule, Dan Beard, Yellowhouse and Haynes and approximately 60 officials in scouting are expected.

Wayne "Tramp" Browne, Littlefield Scoutmaster, is instructor in the course which opened Wednesday this week in Plainview. Motion pictures and demonstrations on Scouting skills are given in the course along with round table discussions. Ray Howard, Plainview, and Marvin Standefer, Floydada, are council field men assisting in the course.

Other sessions in the course will be held in other cities of the four districts.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! BY FAGALY and SHORTEN

"Heathen Flats" And "Chigger Ridge" Just Two Expressive Names Of Towns

COMMERCE, Nov. 19 (AP)—Shakespeare asked "what's in a name?" Nothing funny says the Commerce Journal of the names of some Texas towns.

The newspaper editorially decried the fact taht some other newspapers carried the story of farm-to-market roads for Dial, Muddig, and Telephone, Tex., "apparently thinking there is something funny about these names."

These names aren't funny, the Journal went on, but "just pretty and expressive."

"Of course these fine communities should have good roads but why overlook numerous others with nice names, also needing roads. For instance, Granny's Neck, Heathen Flats, Bloody Hollow, Sweat Box, Needmore, Dime Box, Jot 'Em Down, Bug Tussle, Greasy Neck, Chigger Ridge, Goose, Mohegan, Ed Rube, Race Track and Bonanza, all right here in Hunt, Fannin and Delta counties."

The Journal forgot to say that the original Cow Hill is now Commerce.

French Cannot Compete With Low-Cost American Wines

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (AP) — There is room for both French and California wines on America's dinner tables, says Earnest Des Baillets, a vintage connoisseur. France has yet to be surpassed in making "really fine" wines, but it can't compete with lower cost wines produced in the U. S.

Des Baillets expressed these views after returning from a 23-day tour of such French vineyard areas as Anjou, Touraine, Bordeaux, Cotes-du-Rhone, Alsace, Champagne and Cognac. Fine French wines are tops, he said, because of differences in climate and soil and the more personal supervision of the product. Des Baillets added that contrary to some reports, the Germans did not take the best wines out of France.

Handicapped Friendly Deer Is Given Shelter At Farm

BILLINGS, Mont., Nov. 19 (AP) —Sid Morse was walking across an abandoned alfalfa field near here when he spotted a deer.

He walked toward the animal and it didn't move, seeming to wait for him. Morse finally walked up to the deer and patted it on the back.

His companions took pictures of him, thus certifying his intimacy with the deer. They could hardly believe it themselves. Then they discovered the deer was blind. They led it to the safety of a farmer's corral.

Defendant In "Corpseless" Case Plans Final Appeal From Chair

By WILLIAM TUCKER
United Press Staff Writer

ATLANTA, Nov. 19.—A bizarre murder case that started out without a body and was climaxed when the victim turned out to be somebody else is about to enter its closing chapter.

John Wallace, bald, heavy-set west Georgia cattleman, has just about exhausted his efforts to escape the electric chair for the murder of his tenant, William Turner, alias Wilson Turner.

Superior Court Judge Virlyn B. Moore recently denied Wallace's petition for a writ of habeas corpus so he could go free while "sensational new evidence" was presented.

Wallace then prepared what may be his final appeal to the state supreme court and his execution, scheduled for Oct. 14, was stayed automatically once more. The court already has turned him down twice.

Manty Witnesses

The Turner murder case broke in the spring of 1948 at the Sunset tourist camp, about 40 miles below Atlanta. A dozen persons were idling about the camp when a car drove up and a harried figure jumped out and sought shelter in the office.

Scarcely had he entered the building when a pickup truck raced up and four or five men jumped out. The men seized the man who had come in the car, clubbed him savagely on the head with a rifle butt and drove off with his inert body in the truck.

The witnesses were to testify later that the man was beaten so heavily that, in their opinion, the blows were enough to kill him. This testimony proved the crux of the case against Wallace, subsequently identified as the ringleader of the abduction group.

Lamar Potts, small gimlet-eyed sheriff, had no body to prove that murder had been done but other witnesses identified the abducted man as Wilson Turner, a tenant on Wallace's farm, who had been feuding with his landlord. It was soon determined that Turner was missing.

Search Rewarded

Potts organized a posse which for several weeks beat the scrub country around Wallace's farm without finding a trace of Turner.

Potts' persistence paid off, however, and he got the confidence of two negroes of the area. The negroes finally led Potts and state officers to a spot where they found charred fragments of clothings and several pieces of burned bone small enough to fit in a matchbox.

The bones were identified as human and the clothing as belonging to the missing Turner. Potts was ready to go to trial.

The two negroes who led the way to the evidence confessed that they had helped burn the sharecropper's body but were charged with a lesser crime than murder because of their helpfulness.

Surprise At Trial

The big surprise of the case then was sprung by Turner's father, who announced that Wilson Turner was alive and well. The man whose bones were found actually was William Turner, Wilson's brother, who had assumed his brother's identity and his draft card during the war.

Wallace finally admitted at his trial that he killed Turner. But he said he did so in self-defense on his property after bringing Turner back from the tourist camp to question him about making whiskey and stealing cattle.

But the witnesses who saw Turner beaten at the tourist camp convinced the jury that he received mortal wounds at the time. Wallace was sentenced to death. His accomplices did not testify and received life sentences.

Tactics In Fighting Common Cold Given By Health Director

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (INS)—Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer of Texas, says that there are six "common sense" tactics in combating the common cold.

As soon as you come down with the sniffles, here is what Dr. Cox suggests you do:

1. Get as much rest as possible. Stay in bed or indoors for the first day or so if you can.

2. Keep comfortably warm and dry. If you must go to work, wear clothes that will protect you adequately when you go outdoors, and avoid drafts and sudden chilling when you're over-heated.

3. Drink plenty of citrus fruit juices, water and other liquids. Eat simple foods which agree with you, but don't pay any attention to the old adage, "stuff a cold and starve a fever." Just follow the normal diet.

4. Protect other people as much as possible. Cover your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze. Use paper handkerchiefs or paper napkins that can be burned. Wash your hands frequently with soap and water.

5. Blow your nose gently. A hard snort may force infected material from your nose into your sinuses or middle ear and develop infection there.

6. If a cold starts with chills, fever or aching, or seems extra severe, or lasts longer than usual, consult a physician without delay. Colds pave the way for more serious diseases such as pneumonia and tuberculosis.

Gum Drop Bait Sure Lure For The Mice

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 19. (U.P.)—Ed Batzner, head of a pest control service, hasn't built a better mousetrap but claims a better bait than ordinary cheese.

Batzner uses a gum drop. He says the mouse gets it teeth stuck in a gum drop and its neck stuck in the trap.

He claims he killed nine mice in one hour on a single gum drop. Batzner recommends that lemon flavored gum drops be used for best results.

Demand For Cotton Pullers Over Area Showing A Decline

Demand for cotton pullers has dropped sharply in the South Plains area during the past week, B. T. O'Connell, manager of the district office of Texas Employment commission, said Saturday.

Strippers and picking machines are still in widespread use, O'Connell said. He said eight picking machines are in use in Lubbock county at present.

Situation Reviewed

He reviewed the area cotton labor situation as follows in a weekly farm labor bulletin containing data as of Friday:

Cochran county, 800 workers needed for half-bale to the acre cotton. Farmers paying $2 to the gin.

Hale county, 950 workers needed at Hale Center and 2,600 needed at Plainview for half to three-quarter bales to the acre. Farmers paying $1.50 to $1.75 in field, plus 25 cents weighing and hauling.

Floyd county, Lockney area, 3,000 pickers needed for three-quarter to one bale to the acre cotton. Farmers paying $1.75 to the gin.

Terry county, 1,000 workers needed for one-third to one-half bale to the acre, paying $1.75 in the field and 50 cents W&H.

Lynn county, 100 workers needed, paying $1.75 in the field and 25 cents W&H.

Dawson, Borden and Gaines counties, through Lamesa, 1,450 workers needed at $1.50 to $1.75 plus 25 cents W&H.

Crop conditions were reported good throughout the so-called Amarillo district of TEC which includes the Lubbock and South Plains area. The crop ranges from 75 to 100 per cent open, and in various counties the crop ranges from 12 per cent harvested in Deaf Smith county to 65 per cent harvested in part of Lamb county. In most South Plains counties gins are operating 24 hours a day.

Legs, Not Talent, Drawing Large Crowds

French Ballet Dancer Wows Audiences In New York City

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—It's estimated that real, serious lovers of the ballet make up only about 10 per cent of the crowd flocking these nights to Les Ballets de Paris.

One of the chief reasons for the remaining 90 per cent is Colette Marchand, whose talent, charm and provocative proportions bring wild applause, whistles and catcalls at every performance.

After the first night, New York critics rushed back to their typewriters to immortalize Mlle. Marchand's legs. "The most entrancing since Ann Miller went to Hollywood," said the Daily News. The Morning Telegraph drooled:

"There hasn't been such long, luscious and alluring legs in view for 25 years, and Betty Grable may retire now to her ranch and raise horses instead of the temperature."

Americans Are Nice

So the Associated Press dispatched a calm and detached reporter to find out what all the shouting is about. He came back with an enthusiastically incoherent report which adds up to this:

It is true what they say about Colette. Especially the legs. She has a soft, warm charm and she is brown-haired and brown-eyed and she is 24 and she is unmarried.

At First Mlle. Marchand was stunned by her reception here. In Paris, she said through an interpreter, the critics liked her but did not mention her legs. In London, she said, there were brief references to her legs but they contained none of the excitement heard in New York.

"I think you Americans notice such things more," she said.

"In Paris," she said, "they whistle if they don't like you. Here, one hears whistles even on the streets. It is very amusing, Americans are nice."

Leads Strict Life

She was persuaded to tell American women how they might improve their legs. Too much walking, she said, is not good. If you sit down, she said, it is frequently a good idea to put your legs up higher than your head. The lady was referring to the bicycle exercise of lying on the back and churning the legs in the air.

Mlle. Marchand was born in Paris and joined the Paris opera ballet at 11. Her father, an electrical appliances manufacturer, and her mother at first objected. They thought that dancers don't achieve a good social reputation.

"Actually," Colette said, "dancers lead a stricter life than anyone else. There's so much work—so many rehearsals. And one has to watch one's diet."

This ballerina does not smoke, drinks a little red wine now and then "for the vitamins" but no white wine. White wine, she said, makes her legs unsteady.

Won't Consider Marriage

She finds it somewhat ironic to think that for so many years she worked so hard to develop her talents. Now in her biggest role in "L'Oeuf A La Coque" (The Boiled Egg)! she says, she is required to display little skill and mostly is expected to "show off" her legs.

Because of her devotion to her work, Colette will not consider marriage for some time. Her father now approves of her profession, she pointed out, but would still prefer her to settle down, get married and have children.

There was some confusion as to what she meant. "Dix enfants ou des enfants (ten or some children)?" asked the interpreter.

"Des enfants," Colette replied with just the right tiny smile.

Use Of Strong Language To Fight Temptation Is Urged

CHESTER, England, Nov. 19 (AP)—A British . bishop says girls should tell sex temptations to "go to hell." The Rt. Rev. Walter Carey, preaching to women's moral welfare workers in Chester Cathredral, said.

"To such temptation it does no good to say: 'My mother would not like me to do this.' The only thing to say is 'go to hell. I won't do this. I am a Christian'."

U. S. ONCE HAD PENGUINS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Penguin-like birds which could not fly swam around the Los Angeles area 3,000,000 years ago, says Dr. Loye Miller of the University of Los Angeles. Enough fossil remains have been found to give a good picture of the Los Angeles penguins. Today, the only wild penguins are in the Antarctic.

Wife Convicted In Death Plot

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—A jury of seven men and five women last night convicted Mrs. Theresa Hirschman, 38-year-old farm woman, of the attempted "murder for pay" of her husband, Edward, 47.

Hirschman was assaulted with a pickhandle near a barn on his Shenango township farm July 12, 1948. His son came to his rescue and the husband escaped with minor injuries.

The state contended throughout the trial that Mrs. Rirschman and her sweetheart, Clyde Ayers, 34, plotted to have the husband murdered in such a way that death would appear accidental.

Plot Denied

They plotted, the state said, to collect double indemnity on the husband's 7,000 insurance and acquire possession of a $50,000 farm owned jointly by the husband and wife.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty on two counts: conspiracy to commit an unlawful act and assault with intent to murder. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of a 4½-to-nine-year prison term.

Charles Gearhart, 20, of Smicksburg, Pa., pleaded guilty to the actual assault but later petitioned the court to permit him to change his plea to innocent. The hearing on his petition will be held Nov. 28.

Mrs. Hirschman denied the "murder-for-pay" plot and declared: "I never asked Gearhart to knock off my husband or offered to pay him money to do it."

Establishment Of Afghan-Iran Air Service Ends Isolation

KABUL, Afghanistan, Nov. 19 (AP)—Two centuries of isolation for Afghanistan ended recently with the signing at Kabul of a Protocol establishing an Afghan-Iranian air service. Ahmed Shafik, brother-in-law of Reza Shah Pahlevi, headed an Iranian delegation that conducted the negotiations.

Afghanistan's previous links the outside world consisted of winding roads through the Khyber and other historic passes. Adequate for the troops of Genghiz Khan, Tamerlane, and Alexander the Great, they have been widened and improved in recent years, and today carry lorries as well as camel caravans.

THE QUESTION
Do you think that as a rule, women are neater than men?

THE ANSWERS

M. L. WILKISON, 2203 Twenty- second, owner of Lubbock Hubbers: "As a rule, I believe they are. At least they appear to be. They have a much neater appearance. I think that definitely a woman is a neater housekeeper than a man is."

R. P. McELROY, 3602 Twenty-second, employe of West Texas Gas. Co.: "Yes, I do. Women seem to watch what other women wear more to keep in style. Women are neater in keeping house, too."

BILL BYRNE, 710 Ave. M, employe of West Texas Gas. Co.: "As a rule, I don't believe they are. In their wearing apparel they are, but in their home where they aren't seen by the public, they seem to be a little careless."

JIMMY LILES, 3701 Twenty-second, insurance inspector: "Naturally, because they're more vain. They usually are better groomed and are more particular about their clothes. I think that women are neater housekeepers, too."

OLA MAE DAVIS, 409 Ave. D, employe of West Texas Gas. Co.: "I think they are. Good grooming is much more essential for women. They are neater housekeepers, too, but then they have more interest in the home."

WINFRED RUSH, 1720 Ave. E, employe of West Texas Gas Co.: "I think so, in some cases. Business women are neater, but I don't think that a housewife is neater than the average business man."

Husband Charged In Abuse Of Ex-Wife

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 19 (U.P.)—Robert K. Blanchard, 31, will be arraigned today on a charge that he rapped on his former's wife's window and thumbed his nose at her.

Yesterday, Blanchard was given a suspended six months' sentence in district court for using abusive language in 'phone calls to her.

Witnesses also said that Blanchard had a device that annoyed his ex-wife by producing whistling and tapping noises on the telephone.

Two Men Die Of Heart Attacks While Deer Hunting In Texas

HOUSTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Two men died of heart attacks while deer hunting yesterday in Kendall county, northwest of San Antonio.

They were William M. Stanley, a retired Socony paint products company executive and Ogburn D. Butler, Orange county tax assessor-collector.

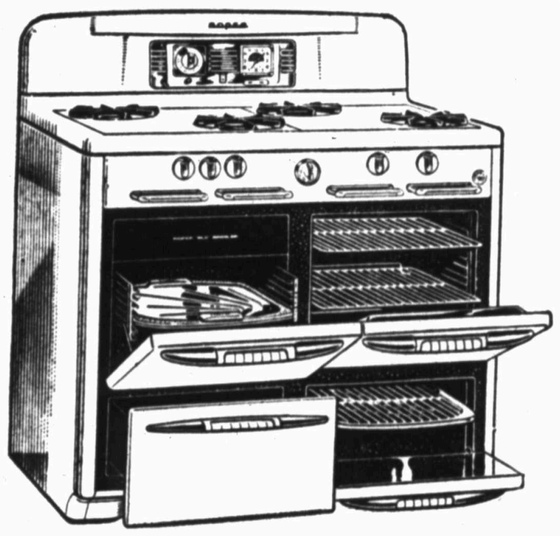

Both men were hunting on the Seidelsticker ranch near Comfort, but with separate parties.

Stanley was 55. He retired Jan. 1 as sales manager for the paint company. He formerly lived in Beaumont.

Butler was 63. He had been tax collector of Orange county for about 15 years.

TOUR OF 22 COUNTIES PLANNED

Insurance Company Executives To Visit Area For Inspection

Top officers and members of the executive committee of the board of directors of Great National Life Insurance company, Dallas, will arrive today in Lubbock to look over the company's vast investments in Lubbock and the South Plains.

Headed by S. J. Hay, president of the company, the group will leave Monday morning for a tour of 22 counties in which the Great National has invested capital.

Includes Several Counties

Their tour will include Bailey, Cochran, Collingsworth, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Deaf Smith, Foard, Gaines, Hale, Hockley, Howard, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Mitchell, Parmer, Reeves, Swisher, Terry, Yoakum and Scurry counties.

In the group, besides Mr. Hay, will be Carl C. Weichsel, vice president; Robert F. Weichsel, vice president; Webster Atwell, general counsel, Ray Coffman, manager of the mortgage loan department, and executive board members W. W. Overton, chairman of the board of Texas Bank and Trust company, Dallas; Julius Schepps of Schepps and Sablosky, insurance and investments, and a director of the Mercantile National bank in Dallas.

To Inspect Holdings

In the South Plains area Monday they will view farms, ranches, and oil producing properties on which Great National has made loans. Tuesday they will view the company's Lubbock investments which include loans on commercial buildings, warehouses and residences, and they will also tour the Texas Technological college.

The company has made a grant of $5,000 to finance research on artificial insemination at the college. The company has been interested to the extent of furnishing capital and cooperation in better stock raising and crop advancement and will meet with agricultural leaders to review activities in this direction.

While in Lubbock the officials will confer with Kenneth D. (Dinty) Moore, manager of the South Plains agency, J. H. Brock, city loan representative, and W. R. Tillson, farm and ranch loan manager.

Service Denied Man Who Drove Into Bar

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 19—Rolfe's Tavern in Cleveland has a sign in its front window, "Drop in, but please don't drive in."

A customer did just that after getting into an argument with the bartender over a glass of beer. He drove his car through the plateglass front window and parked it in front of the bar.

Congressman Makes Traveling Easier By Washing Own Shirts

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 19 (AP)—The young lovelies who do a hand washing of their flimsies each night have nothing on Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb).

Equipped with two of the new nylon shirts, Stefan boasts to friends here that by laundering the two shirts each night he makes traveling much easier. The shirts require no ironing.

The next step, said the agriculturally-minded congressman, is to get a nylon shirt maker to use corn stalks and wheat stubble for his products.

PRINCESS GETS BIKE

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret has a new irridescent green and gold bicycle. It is the first bicycle to come out of the first Coventry factory to be rebuilt after the World War II blitz. The factory gave it to her. Its hand-engraved head badge of enamel took several months to make. Princess Margaret in thanking the makers said she was taking the bike to Windsor Castle where she hoped to get many hours' use out of it.

Girl Student Wins Master's Degree With Wasp Stings

WACO, Nov. 19. (U.P.)—Carl McCall rounded up more than 3,000 wasps and even went so far as to persuade a lot of them to sting her.

It was for the sake of science, and the master's degree in biology which Baylor University subsequently awarded her. Miss McCall set out to determin why wasp stings sometimes result in death.

Most people, she found, need have no fear of a wasp sting.

But there have been, in 1949, several deaths in Texas caused by wasp venom and Miss McCall wondered why.

May Be Allergy

She has yet to find the answer, except in the vague sense that "allergy to wasp venom" might be it. And how to determine if you are allergic without actually being stung?

"Its mere theory, but I suspect that if you are allergic to pollen, food proteins o rother factors, the odds favor your being allergic to wasp venom," she said.

"And the reaction will be even more secere if the stinger reaches into te veins of the allergic person, allowing the venom to circulate quickly throughout the body."

Injects Venom

In her research, Miss McCall exposed herself to possible severe reaction by extracting venom from wasps and injecting it into her own veins. That was in addition to the dozens of stings she took directly from her vicious little winged friends.

Besides allergy, she raised another possible factor by studying circumstance of death that resulted from wasp stings.

A marine, home on leave, was hunting when he was fatally stung.

A farmer was pitching hay, and a young boy was romping in the yard at his home when wasps killed them.

"Perhaps over-exertion, or fatigue, plays a part in severeness of the reaction," she said.

Russian Pattern In Preamble Rejected By India Assembly

NEW DELHI, Nov. 19 (AP)—A proposal to adopt the Soviet pattern in the preamble of India's new constitution was rejected by the constituent assembly recently.

Maulana Hasrat Mohani, a Muslim member from the United Provinces, moved an amendment to name India a Union of Indian Socialist Republics, U.S.I.R on the lines of the U.S.S.R.

The Maulana claimed that he was not a member of the Communist party but only a sympathizer with Communist principles. The assembly voted for the official preamble of "constituting India into a sovereign democratic republic."

Philadelphia Barge Watchman Protects Pet Terrier In Plunge Into Icy River

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (AP)—Leo Ferguson, 60-year-old barge watchman, has a faithful companion during his long lonely vigils through the night.

Last night both Ferguson and his comrade of the dark—a small black and white terrier—had trouble.

The watchman, his dog in his arms, slipped and plunged into the Delaware river as he started to board the barge.

His cries for help brought Patrolmen George Michaels and Mario Mafre to the water's edge. There, they said, they found Ferguson, his head bleeding from a gash, treading water and holding the dog on his shoulders.

They tossed him a life ring and pulled him to the pier to lift him out.

But Ferguson resisted, protesting "no, no, the dog first."

So the officers took the terrier to safety and then returned for the watchman.

At the hospital, where Ferguson was taken for treatment, he asked over and over "how's the dog?"

At a police station where the pet was lodged for the night a policeman reported: "The dog's fine. Why that fellow hardly let that terrier get wet!"

Six Philadelphia Policemen Found Dozing In Cars Fired

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19. (AP)—The daytime siesta is not looked upon with favor in this city in the northern clime.

That was the rude awakening given six policemen yesterday when they were found dozing peacefully in pairs in squad cars by two police investigators.

All six were brought to headquarters and given their walking papers.

False Statement Costs Ohio Man 30 Days In Workhouse

HAMILTON, O., Nov. 19. (AP)—Ted Gay, 46, will be sure the next time whom he voted for in an election for municipal court judge.

Gay was brought into court yesterday on a charge of intoxication and was fined $100 by acting municipal Judge Robert Marrs.

As he walked away, Gay remarked, "that's what I get for voting for you."

Marrs promptly slapped on a 30-day workhouse sentence—he wasn't a candidate for anything at the recent election.

America Moves To Strengthen Her Position In The Far East

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The western powers having at least temporarily contained the Bolshevist drive in Europe, America is making energetic moves to strengthen her position in the Far East where communism's mounting success threatens to turn that part of the globe into the political armageddon of the isms.

With this in view Uncle Sam's head diplomats in eastern Asia have been ordered to hold a regional conference in Bangkok, Thailand, in January to consider the general situation. Meantime the Washington administration's top diplomatic trouble-shooter, Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, also will make a survey of the situation and then meet with his colleagues in the Siamese capital. That will be a major policy conference.

Bristles With Problems

This whole vast area fairly bristles with problems. Foremost among these are the question of a Japanese peace treaty; the position of strategically located Korea, which is a land divided against itself—communist in the north and democratic in the south; the complex Chinese situation where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government has all but been knocked out in the military sense.

From the American standpoint the Chinese situation has been seriously complicated through the imprisonment of U. S. Consul General Angus Ward and four of his staff by the Communists in Mukden. President Truman has denounced this as an outrage. The Reds charge Ward with having beaten a Chinese employe, and they have ignored official American inquiries regarding the prisoners.

One of the immediate results of this ugly controversy has been the declaration by Secretary of State Acheson that the United States won't even think about recognizing the Red Chinese regime in Peiping until Ward is released. What effect this will have on the Communists remains to be seen, but it undoubtedly wil hurt, because they want and need recognition by the western powers. Moreover they need material assistance, especially of the sort which only America could supply.

Top Boss Question

There now arises the ticklish question of just who is boss in Peiping—the Red leader, General Mao Tse-tung, or Moscow. The Chinese Communists of course have bound themselves to Moscow and diplomatic quarters in Washington are uncertain whether Mao has full freedom of action. Russia is suspected of having special influence with the Communists in Mukden and elsewhere in Manchuria.

For this reason one possible move by the State department is to ask Russia to intervene with the Red Chinese government.

Chinese Nationalist fortunes continues to fall. Enemy forces draw in on the provisional capital of Chungking, and the American embassy and consular personnel are scheduled to leave for Hong Kong tomorrow. It's said this won't affect diplomatic relations between the Nationalists and Washington.

So goes the story, and this whole complicated situation in east Asia forms a jig-saw puzzle which the American conference of diplomats at Bangkok presumably will endeavor to piece together that is to say, their job will be to evaluate the various complications and give them the proper place in the defense against Bolshevism.

Women's Invasion Of New Kingdom Outer Baldonia Feared By Peace-Seeking Anglers

By ROBERT J. McCLEAVE
United Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 19—The world's newest state may never be eligible for the United Nations. It would be hard to find it on a map and its population is sometimes non-existent.

But it has one distinction. It allows no women to enter its boundaries.

The state, or principality, is called Outer Baldonia, situated in the Soldier's Rip, a tuna-fishing ground off the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia. Its borders enclose three acres.

Outer Baldonia is owned by Russell Arundel of Washington, D. C., a big game sportsman. He bought the island from a group of Nova Scotia fishermen who, however, retained the right to graze their sheep on the island. Some 50 bleating animals are permanent residents.

Club Built House

After Arundel bought it, a three-room club house was built on the island. It's a place for tuna fishermen to go and swap stories about the ones that did or did not get away.

The Washington sportsman decided that Outer Baldonia could offer its members more than the amenities of the rude building. He decided it could be a principality free from women, a place where fishermen would be free to boast about their accomplishments, even in profane language when the big ones got away.

Arundel made the rules for his fishermen friends when he drew up the constitution of the island. The rules are a declaration of independence. The declaration is dated "in the year of Outer Baldonia, One," if effect kicking out the Gregorian calendar.

Fishermen, he says, are a race alone. They have the right to boast and be believed, the right of freedom from questior from nagging, from shaving, from women, from taxes, from monologues, war, and inhibitions.

Rush Of Members

Arundel also wrote into his declaration a rule that fishermen have the right of applause, vanity, flattery, and praise, the right to swear, lie, drink and gamble, to be noisy, pensive or hilarious and the right to sleep all day and stay up all night.

The rush of tuna fishermen to join the principality was great. Each had to pay from $50 to $100 to join.

But, like all Gardens of Eden, there turned out to be a serpent. The women got curious. They wanted to know all about the principality, and most of all to visit the Kingdom of Outer Baldonia.

The pressure grew terrific, but Arundel managed to turn down all feminine pleas.

Deputy Weakens

Came a recent day, however, when he decided to return to the United States and do some hunting. Before he left, he delivered the government of Outer Baldonia into the hands of Elson Boudreau, a guide and secretary-manager of the Wedgeport Tuna Guides Association. He also is called chancellor of Outer Baldonia.

When Arundel left, the women turned on his deputy. Boudreau, unfortunately for his boss, is a different man from Arundel. He's apparently susceptible to womanly charms.

Boufreau broke down. He says that the constitution of Outer Baldonia should be changed. "I think we should let the women in."

That brought plenty of howls from the menfolk. The big test will come next year, when the tuna fishing season brings throngs of Outer Baldonia menfolk back to their kingdom. They may find womenfolk all over the place.

Oh well, it was a nice dream while it lasted.

Doctors Given More Freedom To Make Statements, Talks

DALLAS, Nov. 19 (AP)—A doctor may now feel freer to answer newspaper reporters' questions or make a public speech, an official of the American Medical association said.

Lawrence W. Rember of Chicago, executive assistant to the AMA's general manager, said yesterday the AMA house of delegates has recently modified its code of ethics. The revision, he said, gives AMA members more freedom in speaking and writing about medical matters or questions of health without the fear of being charged with self-advertising.

Tourist travel in Switzerland is reported running somewhat behind last year.

Colombia has a new firm operating two 1,500-ton ships in the coastal service.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19. — It could happen only in Hollywood—

Marlon Brando, the New York actor, will play the role of a paralytic in Stan Kramer's new film, "The Men."

To accustom himself to the role, Brando has been spending a great deal of time in a wheel chair in the paraplegic ward at the Army's Birmingham hospital here.

Johnson

Other night Brando and three other wheel-chair patients went to a nearby cocktail lounge, the Pump Room.

Almost immediately they were accosted by a tipsy customer who insisted the boys should try to walk.

One of the patients whispered to actor Brando:

"Why don't you give this guy a shock?"

It was too great a temptation for Brando to give the greatest performance of his life.

With a great flourish and agonized face, Brando struggled to his feet, stepped out of the wheel chair, did a fast buck and wing and walked out.

The tipsy customer didn't bat an eyelash. All he said was:

"Shee—I told you sho."

Up From The Ranks

DIANA LYNN wants to play the professional crook in UI's "Shoplifter." The Irwin Gielgud script describes the girl with: "I started out as a juvenile delinquent and worked my way up."

Mickey Rooney has switched agents and will end his long time association with Sam Steifel after their next film together. Sam was Mickey's business agent but lately has been acting as producer of the Mick's independent films.

Bing Crosby, Montgomery Clift, Elizabeth Taylor and Dorothy Lamour were having lunch at Paramount. At a nearby table agent Sam Jaffe said to agent Louis Shurr: "How would you like to have 10 per cent of their salaries?"

"The way business is," replied Shurr, "I'd be satisfied with 10 per cent of their lunch checks."

Ward Bond finally has shed those leg braces he's been wearing for nearly three years—result of an auto accident.

Marriage In The Red

HOWARD HUGHES will change the title of "I Married a Communist" before it goes into national release. Moviegoers, he discovered during a west coast trial run, would prefer to have Laraine Day marry someone else. Maybe even Durocher.

Tex-Mex Institute In South Texas Is Damaged By Blaze

KINGSVILLE, Nev. 19 (U.P.) — Fire damage to a dormitory at the Tex-Mex institute was estimated at $8,000 here today.

The blaze broke out yesterday, burning all the clothing of 30 students and a teacher, but was under control in 40 minutes.

The school is operated by the Presbyterian church for boys of Mexican descent.

SOUVENIR PIPES TABOO

BANGKOK (AP) — An American visitor who purchased two silver-mounted opium pipes as curios was fined 40 baht ($2) the other day and the pipes, costing 2,000 baht ($100), were confiscated. The tourist was charged—to his surprise—with possession of opium pipes without a license.

Glitter Turned On In Paris By First Nighters

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Newsfeatures

PARIS, Nov. 19—What Parisians actually wear—as apposed to what Paris couturiers have been showing world buyers—was illustrated by a fashionable first-night audience here.

In defiance of their own fashion dictators, Parisiennes wore more old-style full, bouffant skirts than new-style narrow, draped ones, and hem-lines were in staggered rebellion from ankle to knee, when the Ballet de Monte-Carlo opened the season at the Palais de Chaillot October 1.

But true to America's conception of the ultimate in Paris chic, it was a pair of hats that stole the show in front of the footlights. One might more accurately be described as a creation than a chapeau, as it consisted of a shower of amber beads suspended on slightly curved silver wires some six or eight inches above a flat, tightly rolled hair-do. The silver wires sprouted mysteriously from the wearer's hair, and there was properly speaking no basic hat form at all.

The second outdid the first for sheer glitter, standing out amid the general elegance like the Hope diamond in a small-town jeweller's showcase. It was a small, round calot cap, worn to one side and completely hidden by what appeared to be paste-diamonds and gold and silver balls. A gently undulating fringe of balls hung suspended at the lower edge, and a black egret feather rocketed up from the off side.

Even for a first-night, full evening dress was much more in evidence than last season, or since the war. Instead of the usual hand-full of rather self-conscious long dress and dinner jacket wearers Paris opera and theater goers have become accustomed to see, more than half the ballet audience turned out in tall coats and floor-sweeping formals.

Gold and the new uranium gray were favored colors, and materials were rich and luxurious, with a predominance of heavy satins and changeable taffetas. Two-material combinations, such as satin skirts with chiffon drapery, and two-color combinations, usually two pastels, were frequent.

For a people who do not like cocktails, the French have taken with enthusiasm to cocktail frocks, or short evening dresses. A standout at the ballet was one of gray lace, with many panelled layers of skirt ending in points just below the calf.

Gary Cooper Aids Newcomer In Completing Screen Test For Role In New Production

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 — Gary Cooper's kindness to Benny Long, an unknown boy, puts Coop even higher in my esteem. Benny, who served in the Navy, goes to school on the GI bill of rights. He has been a pal of my young cousin, Gordon Maynard, since both were small boys. But to go on with my story:

Last summer at Gordon's birthday party, Mike Curtiz said, "that Benny has such a wonderful face, I want to test him sometime." None of us thought much about it until Mike asked that Benny make a test for "Bright Leaf." This came at a good time because Benny's grandmother, who raised him, had just died.

But, when Benny read the lines he wasn't good. He was frightened and inexperienced. Mike said, "it's too big a part for you, we'll try another time."

Gary, who was rehearsing with Donald Crisp, following Benny to the door, said: "Come back, son. I like your face. Let Mr. Crisp and me help you."

Those two men worked for an hour with Benny. He then made another test and Mike gave him the job in "Bright Leaf."

Raft To Star

"I'll Get You for This," the story by an English writer, James Hadley Chase, who tells all about the American gangsters in the Capone era, will star George Raft.

Joe Kaufman is making it independently, with the financial help of John and James Woolfe. It will be filmed on the Italian Riviera and London—and that, I suspect, is what interested George, who likes the Riviera.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Is Jim Kimberly the attraction that suddenly took Cleatus Caldwell East a few days ago?

Hollywood took on all the old-time glamor, what with the premiere of "All the King's Men" and the first night of "A La Carte," a new stage show. Dinner parties were numerous, as well as supper parties at the night clubs.

At La Rue, Gloria and Jimmy Stewart were dining with Evie and Van Johnson and Margaret Sullavan, all of them went on to "All the King's Men."

At a table for two Elizabeth Taylor and Robert Stack had dinner before the premiere, and they looked as if they were having a good time.

Between the acts of "A La Carte," Frank Fay telephoned Broadway friends that this revue belongs on Broadway, which displeased his friend, Sid Gauman, angel of the play.

Same night as these openings, Rose Shattuck had his exhibition of really wonderful paintings of Mexico. Margaret Ettinger's office was turned into a gallery and before and after the theater it was thronged. Irene Dunne, Sol Lesser, William O'Connor, Harriet Parsons and many others bought pictures right off the walls.

Eight Persons Are Injured In Collision Near Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 19 (AP) —Eight persons were injured, three seriously last night, when two cars of football fans collided seven miles west of here.

Most seriously injured were Olin Bridges, 20, airman from Sheppard AFB here, his mother, Mrs. C. H. Bridges, 52, Archer City, and his 16-year-old wife, Wanda.

The two vehicles carried parties returning from a football game at Valley View.

TO LEARN BOXING

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The inmates of the Danish prison camp of "Moegelkjaer" will learn how to defend themselves on gloves. A. E. Abildgaard, a former Donish district boxing champion, will teach them. The farmers near Moegelkjaer do not like it. There are no fences around the camp, and the inmates often disappear. However, it is not the intention to teach the prisoners to fight, but to give them "healthy interests," said camp inspector Aude-Hansen.

New Clinic Will Help Alcoholics

A 20-bed clinic for the treatment and study of alcoholism in Lubbock will be dedicated a week from today in ceremonies at the site, 1502 Main, according to S. R. Whaley, director.

The dedication, to be in charge of Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will be at 3 p. m., shortly after a meeting of the board of directors of the Alcoholics Anonymous group here.

Special Meetin gSet

A special meeting in the Senior High school auditorium on the eve of the dedication will feature Ralph M. Henderson of Yale university as principal speaker. Also appearing on the program, which will begin at 8 p. m., will be Dr. Robinson, and Shine Phillips, Big Spring druggist, who wrote the book, "Big Spring."

Henderson will speak on the citizen's part in conquering the health problem presented by alcoholism, and will explain an area educational project to cover 35 West Texas counties from a main headquarters here. The public is invited to attend.

Whaley, a member of the Yale Foundation for the Study of Alcoholism at Texas Christian university, spoke before the field staff of the State Department of Public Welfare Friday. He told them that alcoholism was the greatest chronic illness confronting the nation today.

"Of 60 million people who indulge in the use of alcoholic beverages, four million eventually become alcoholics."

He said the public must recognize alcoholism as a community problem. In line with this policy, the Yale Foundation was organized to study the problem and to make headway toward helping the alcoholic.

Whaley is remaining in Lubbock as director of the clinic, which will have the services of a nursing staff, a social worker, and a psychologist. A full staff has not been appointed, but some workers in the clinic will be Mrs. Mary Lorimer, RN, of Lubbock; Mrs. Bill West, RN, of Lubbock; Mrs. McGohoy, RN, of Lubbock; Mrs. Ina Heath of Seminole; and Fred Hill of New Orleans.

BLOOMING TELEVISION!

NEW YORK (AP)—A "bloom" in television never means a flower. Rather it is the glare caused when too much light from an object is reflected into the lens of a camera. As a result of over-brightness, the camera tube tends to obscure picture detail and a blob or dark spot is produced in the picture. An example of this effect would be the white bosom front of a man's shirt against the background of his dark tuxedo.

You Have To Spend Money To Make It

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP) — You have to spend money to make money, even in the heist business.

Two young men walked into Joseph Kuntz's tavern, dropped two bits on the bar, ordered two beers, drew pistols, scooped up $1,300.

Their net profit before taxes (if any was $1,299.75. They left the quarter.

Ohio Child, Cheered By Early Christmas, Claimed By Death

MIDDLETOWN, O., Nov. 19 (U.P.)—With toys clustered around him and the lights of a Christmas tree burning brightly, four year old Eugene Spencer died quietly at his home early today.

A victim of cancer, the child had been ill four months.

When other residents heard of the child's plight, they flooded his home with gifts and the Christmas tree—both for Christmas and for his birthday, which would have been Dec. 6.

Beefsteak "War" Raging In Top Hollywood Restaurants

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (AP)—The filmtown's top restaurants are waging a peculiar "battle of the beefsteak."

The first salvo was fired when this message was placed on tables at the Sunset strip spot, Larue's:

"In order just to swap dollars in the buying, cooking and serving of steaks, we are forced to charge $5.50 (a la carte) for such services. It's entirely too much for this food and we earnestly request that you scan our menu for many other excellent dishes more reasonable in cost and in many instances superior in food values. . . .

"Stop eating steaks for awhile and bring these prices down."

The notice was caused by a dollar rise in cost of a New York steak, a Larue's spokesman told me. The campaign cut nightly steak consumption from 60 to 12, he said. And the movement spread.

Mike Romanoff heard of it and ordered the same cards for his Beverly Hills restaurant. And similar announcements sprouted on the tables at the Brown Derby.

Meanwhile, another experiment in the restaurant business was being tried by movie maker Preston Sturges. His fashionable Players cafe was offering meals "Hollywood party style."

"I changed dinner at the Players to buffet-style, all you can eat for $2.25. It's like a continuous party. Before, I charged $12 for a dinner and lost money; now it's $2.25 and I'm making money. The reason is that I don't have high-priced help sitting around doing nothing."

Attacking Burglar In Dallas May Be Overcome By Rabies

DALLAS, Nov. 19 (INS)—Dallas' love burglar struck again this morning but he may be a rabies victim because of it.

The boudoir bandit appeared in the doorway of the bathroom where Mrs. Dorothy Richardson, 20, was brushing her teeth at 6 a. m., and began choking her. The girl's mother, Mrs. J. W. Hill and and the family pekingese ran to her aid.

Mrs. Hill broke her leg scuffling with the intruder but the peke hung onto the burglar's leg as he ran from the house.

Detectives said the dog was not vaccinated for rabies. They warned doctors to watch for a young man, about 20, "powerfully built," with dark brown hair and olive complexion who may come in for rabies shots.

SPECIAL SERVICE IS SCHEDULED

Cornerstone-Laying Ceremony Planned By Church Of Christ

A cornerstone-laying ceremony in which representatives of the community and area and of Churches of Christ will take part will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the construction site of the Broadway Church of Christ building in 1900-block Broadway.

Congressman George Mahon of the 19th Congressional district will present greetings from the community and area.

Hershel Dyer, minister of Pioneer Park Church of Christ, will offer greetings from Churches of Christ.

Members To Take Part

B. Sherrod, chairman of the building committee, will speak on plans for completion of the building, which is expected to be ready for use by July, 1950. Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ, will speak on the challenge to the church offered by the building of such a structure.

Liff Sanders, pioneer Church of Christ minister, has been invited to lead a prayer.

Arrangements for singing by a quartet are being made by Horace Coffman.

Members of the building committee and others will have part in laying of the cornerstone, which will bear the inscription, "Church of Christ, A. D., 1950." The granite stone will be laid at the southwest corner of the building.

Members of the building committee, in addition to Sherrod, are S. E. Holt, J. C. Rigney, Dr. J. B. McCorkle, Lawrence Green, Bob Cobb, E. K. Hufstedler, jr., and Dr. Young.

Luncheon Planned

Members of the public are invited to attend, and examine the building, said Dr. Young. Signs probably will mark different parts of the building. Elders and deacons will serve as guides.

Preceding the cornerstone laying ceremony, the Broadway Church of Christ congregation will attend a covered dish luncheon about 12:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the building under construction. Approximately 500 persons are expected to attend.

The auditorium is being built to seat 2,091 persons. A balcony will be located over the foyer, with no side balcony. The floor is to be bowl-shaped, with different elevations for seats. There will be five aisles.

Plans are being made for installation of hearing equipment for the deaf, with places at different seats for them to plug in for use of the equipment.

Custom Altered

The pulpit and the Lord's table will be built of oak paneling like that which will decorate the front of the auditorium. Marking a change from the customary, the Lord's table will be situated behind the pulpit on an elevation about three feet higher than the pulpit and the baptistry will be located above that on the second floor level, carrying out an architectural plan of emphasis, said Dr. Young. Around the Lord's table will be seating places for 24 persons serving the congregation.

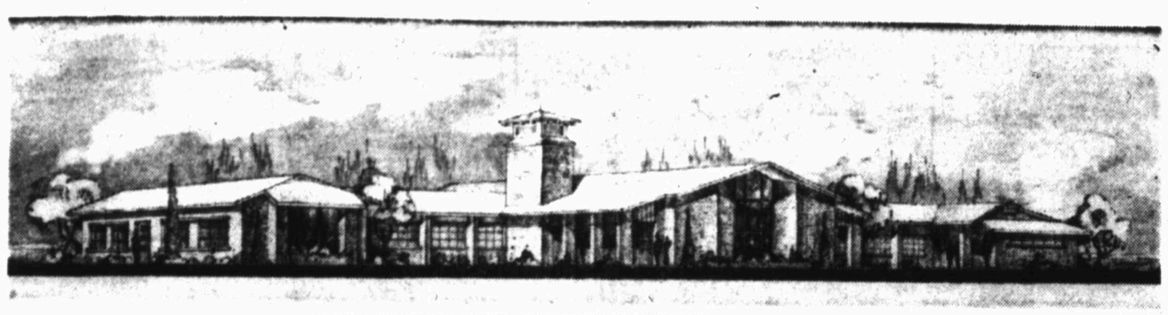

Brick work on the auditorium wall on the east side has been completed. The bricks still are to be laid on the front or south side. The auditorium is to be on the ground level.

The walls of the chapel, which will seat 250 persons, have been built. The chapel will be wired for use when an overflow crowd is present, giving a total seating capacity in the auditorium and chapel of 2,341.

The chapel, auditorium, and fellowship hall will be air-conditioned.

The educational department will provide space for 1,500 students. It will be departmentalized, with primary, intermediate and junior departments having an assembly room with small classrooms.

NEW LUBBOCK VIEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH—Pictured above is the architect's sketch of the new Lubbock View Christian church which is planned in the 3300-block on Thirty-fourth street. First wing of the new church will be constructed within the near future and remainder of the structure will be added as needs demand. Atcheson & Atkinson are architects for the new church.

New Church Is Planned For City

Plans for another new church building in Lubbock, the Lubbock View Christian church, in the 3300-block on Thirty-fourth, were announced Saturday.

The church, organized last May in Fellowship hall of the First Christian church, has been conducing worship services and church school in a renovated and reconstructed dairy barn at the Thirty-fourth street site.

Has Membership Of 134

Rev. Harry Purviance is pastor and the church now has a membership of 134 persons, not including children under membership age. Charter membership of the church was closed on July 1 with 91 members on the church roll.

The new church, on which plans are under way to construct the first wing, will be a T-shaped plan of conemporary architecture style. It will be a steel frame structure with brick veneer walls, composition roof and metal windows. It will have a cooling system and forced-air heating system.

To Be Complete Building

The structure will have a sanctuary, pastor's study, assembly room and banquet room with adjoining kitchen, ladie ' parlor and nursery and church school rooms.

The structure will have a total of 10,500 square feet of space and the sanctuary will seat approximately 300 persons, with provisions for enlarging it to seat 500 people. The wing to be built first will have 3,700 square feet.

Atcheson & Atkinson are architects. Elliott Taylor heads the church building and property committee, which has assisted in the drawing of plans for the structure.

The church has been rapidly outgrowing its present facilities and plans for the new church will provide room for expansion in future years.

The proposed building will face north on Thirty-fourth street.

BIBLE STORY FROM "IN OUR IMAGE"

"But The Lord Was With Joseph"

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of studies from the Old Testament: The text is condensed from selections by Houston Harte for the new book, "In Our Image." Illustration by Guy Rowe is also from the book.

NOW Israel loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age; and he made him a coat of many colours. And his brethren hated him.

And Joseph dreamed a dream, and told his brethern: and they hated him more. And he said, Hear, I pray you, this dream. Behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and, my sheaf arose, and stood upright; and your sheaves stood round about, and made obeisance to my sheaf. And his brethern said, Shalt thou reign over us" or shalt thou have dominion over us? And they hated him yet the more.

AND he dreamed another dream, and told his brethern. Behold the sun and the moon and the eleven stars made obeisance to me. And he told his father, and his father rebuked him, and said unto him, Shalt I and thy mother and thy brethern indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth?

And his brethern went to feed their father's flock. And Israel said unto Joseph, Go, see whether it be well with thy brethern, and with the flocks; and bring me word again.

And Joseph went, and found them in Dothan. And when they saw him they conspired against him to slay him. And they stript Joseph out of his coat of many colours; and they took him, and cast him into a pit. And they sat down to eat bread: and behold, a company of Ishmeelites came from Gilead with their camels bearing spicery and balm and myrrh, going to Egypt. And Judah said unto his brethern, What profit is it if we slay our brother? Come, and let us sell him. And they drew Joseph out of the pit, and sold Joseph to the Ishmeelites for twenty pieces of silver: and they brought Joseph into Egypt, and sold him unto Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh's, and captain of the guard. And his master saw that the LORD was with him. And Joseph found grace in his sight, and he served him: and he made him overseer over his house.

AND Joseph was a goodly person, and his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph; and she said, Lie with me. But he refused, and said, How can I do this great wickedness and sin against God? And she caught him by his garment; and he left his garment in her hand, and fled. And she laid up his garment by her, until his lord came home. And she spake unto him, saying, The Hebrew servant came to mock me: And as I lifted up my voice, he left his garment with he, and fled. And when his master heard the words of his wife, his wrath was kindled. And Joseph's master put him into the prison.

But the LORD was with Joseph, and shewed him mercy. And the keeper of the prison committed to Joseph's hand all the prisoners in the prison. And Pharoah was wroth against two of his officers, the chief of the butlers and the chief of the bakers. And he put them into the prison where Joseph was.

AND they dreamed a dream both of them, each man his dream in one night. And Joseph came in unto them in the morning. And they said, We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it. And Joseph said, Do not tell me them, I pray you. And the chief butler said, In my dream, behold, a vine was before me; and in the vine were three branches: and her blossoms shot forth; and the clusters brought forth ripe grapes: And I took the grapes, and pressed them into Pharoah's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharoah's hand. And Joseph said unto him, The three branches are three days: Yet within three days shall Pharaoh life up thine head, and restore thee unto thy place; and thou shalt deliver Pharaon's cup into his hand ,after the former manner when thou wast his butler. But thing on me when it shall be well with thee, and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, for I have done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon.

When the chief baker saw that the interpretation was good, he said unto Joseph, Behold, I had three white baskets on my head: And in the uppermost there was all manner of bakemeats for Pharaoh; and the birds did eat them out of the basket. And Joseph answered: The three basketes are three days: Yet within three days shall Pharaoh's hang thee on a tree; and the birds shall eat thy flesh from off thee.

And it came to pass the third day, which was Pharaoh's birthday, that he made a feast. And he restored the chief butler, and he gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand: But he hanged the chief baker: as Joseph had interpreted. Yet did not the chief butler remember Joseph, but forgot him.

AND it came to pass at the end of two years, that Pharaoh dreamed: And in the morning his spirit was troubled; and he called for all the magicians of Egypt, and all the wise men: and told them his dream; but none could interpret.

Then spake the chief butler saying, In the captain of the guard's house, there was there with us a young man, an Hebrew, and he interpreted to us our dreams. And as he interpreted, so it was.

Then Pharaoh called Joseph, and they brought him hastily out of the dungeon: And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, I have heard say of thee, that thou canst understand a dream to interpret it. And Joseph answered, It is not in me: God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace. And Pharaoh said, In my dream, I stood upon the bank of the river: And there came out of the river seven kine, fatfleshed and well flavoured; and they fed in a meadow: And, seven other kine came up after them, poor and ill favoured and leanfleshed: And the lean and the ill favoured kine did eat up the seven fat kin: And it could not be known that they had eaten them: but they were still ill favoured, as at the beginning. So I awoke. And I saw in my dream, and seven ears came up in one stalk, full and good: And, seven ears, withered, thin, and blasted with the east wind, sprung up after them: And the thin ears devoured the seven good ears.

AND Joseph said unto Pharaoh, God hath shewed Pharaoh what he is about to do. The seven good kine are seven years; and the seven good ears are seven years: the dream is one. And the seven thin and ill favoured kine that came up after them are seven years; and the seven empty ears blasted with the east wind shall be seven years of famine. Behold, there come seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt: And there shall arise after them seven years of famine. And God will shortly bring it to pass. Now therefore let Pharaoh look out a man ,discreet and wise, and set him over the land of Egypt. And let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the land of Egypt in the seven plenteous years, and lay up corn under the land of Pharaoh, and keep food in the cities. And that food shall be for store against the seven years of famine; that the land perish not through the famine.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Forasmuch as God hath shewed thee all this, there is none so discreet and wise as thou: Thou shalt be over my house, and according unto thy word shall all my people be ruled: only in the throne will I be greater than thou.

And Joseph went throughout all Egypt. And in the seven plenteous years the earth brought forth by handfuls. And he laid up the food in the cities. And Joseph gathered corn as the sand of the sea, very much, until he left numbering; for it was without number.

And the seven years of plenteousness were ended. And the seven years of dearth began to come, as Joseph had said: and the dearth was in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread. And when the people cried for bread, Pharaoh said, Go unto Joseph; what he saith to you, do. And Joseph opened all the storehouses, and sold unto the Egyptians. And all countries came into Egypt to Joseph to buy corn.

Church Observes Loyalty Sunday

Shepherd King American Lutheran church today will observe Loyalty Sunday—a nationwide observance of more than 2,000 congregations of the American Lutheran church.

"The purpose of Loyalty Sunday services is to have every member of every participating congregation in attendance at worship services today in a great rededication to the Lord Jesus Christ and to the work of His church," Rev. David Sieberg, pastor of the local church, said.

Good Attendance Seen

The congregation of the Shepherd King American Lutheran church now numbers 108 confirmed members, representing 60 families that include 150 Baptized persons. The Sunday school currently has more than 70 persons on its rolls, with an average attendance of about 60.

An attendance of more than 150 is expected at today's 10:30 a. m. worship service.

The Thank offering at the service will be applied to the local building loans.

Rev. Sieberg said that reports of attendances at all American Lutheran churches are to be sent in immediately to the church headquarters, 57 East Main street, Columbus, O., for compilation and publication. Information from all American Lutheran churches in the South Plains area and those in the Winters and Roscoe areas will be received by Rev. Sieberg for compilation and then relayed to the headquarters office.

Shepherd King American Lutheran church will follow its yearly tradition Thursday, when its annual Thanksgiving Day service is held at 10 a. m. All whose churches do not have a Thanksgiving Day service and all others who desire to worship on Thanksgiving morning are invited to attend the service.

The world's tallest building, the Empire State in New York, houses a television transmitter, with antenna atop its 102-story high tower.

Sunday School Meet Is Slated Today By Lutheran Church

A Lutheran Sunday School Teachers' institute will be conducted from 3 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at Redeemer Lutheran church at Twenty-second and Ave. W.

Participating will be the Sunday school staffs of all Lutheran churches on the South Plains affiliated with the Missouri synod of the Lutheran church.

Following opening devotion, Rev. Karl W. Keller, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran church, will address the group on "The Objectives of the Lutheran Sunday School." Mrs. D. V. Hafemann of Plainview will present a flannelgraph demonstration for the assembly.

Program Is Given

The remainder of the program will consist of sectional meetings for the various departments. Ralph Nafzger of Plainview will speak to the superintendents of the topic, "I Am Elected—What Do I Do?" The beginner and primary department teachers will discuss "Maintaining Interest and Attention in the Lesson," under leadership of the Rev. H. A. Heckmann of Emmanuel Lutheran church at Littlefield.

For the junior department teachers, the subject will be "Memory Work," led by the Rev. E. J. Riske of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Sparenberg. The Rev. J. A. Rebber of Trinity Lutheran church at Lamesa will direct a discussion of "Creating Interest in the Use of the Bible" for teachers of the intermediate department. Rev. D. V. Hafemann of Plainview will lead study of "Teaching Pupils to Make Personal Application" in the senior department teachers' meeting.

Junior Work On Program

Teachers of the Junior Bible classes will discuss "The Development of a Junior Bible Class in Practical Church Work," under direction of Rev. Walter Gummelt, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church at Lariat.

Time also will be given in sectional meetings for individual problems in the various departments.

A short business meeting to arrange for further joint meetings will be held. The institute will close with a brief vesper service, with Pastor Keller speaking on the theme, "How Shall We Do Unto the Child?"

Gideon Service Set At Wilson Today

A. N. Gamble, district lay leader of the Lubbock district of Methodist churches, will bring the layman's gospel message at a Gideon service this morning at 11 o'clock at the First Methodist church of Wilson.

A. N. GAMBLE will tell of the history and workings of the Gideon organization at the worship service.

Valuable Painting Found In Rubbish

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP) — Poking through a rubbish heap paid off for Joseph Padore, a boilermaker with artistic leanings.

He turned up a painting identified as a 250-year-old work by an Italian artist, Vincenzo Oleotti. Phil Bernay, Los Angeles art dealer engaged to restore the picture, said it is a copy of a masterpiece done in 1600 by Andrea Del Sarto, which now hangs in the Palazzo Pitti museum in Florence. It depicts the Holy Family.

Bernay estimated the painting to be worth at least $2,000 and theorized that it was discarded by a family unaware of its worth. The colors, he said, have retained their original richness and warmth. The finder, Padore, is a painter himself and has done a mural for his church.

BUILDING HALF COMPLETED—Construction of the new church building of Broadway Church of Christ has reached approximately the half-way mark, as the cornerstone laying ceremony is held. The completed building is expected to cost between $600,000 and $700,000. Approximately $300,000 already has been spent on the structure. (Staff Photo).

Introducing Lubbock's Ministers

Rev. Westbrook, Native Of City, Now Pastor Of Church

Rev. Sidney Westbrook came to Lubbock four and one-half years ago as second pastor of the Foursquare chapel, now located at Thirty-fourth and Ave. J.

Rev. Daisy Wiltbanks started the chapel in 1944 in a frame dwelling at Seventeenth and Ave. G. She served as pastor of the church for the first year, after which Rev. Westbrook took over the post.

The present church structure was built in 1946. There are approximately 85 members of the Foursquare chapel at this time.

Rev. Westbrook, a native of Lubbock, attended the L. I. F. E. Bible college in Los Angeles, an institution supported and directed by the Foursquare church.

Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook have two sons, Ozell and Jimmy. The family resides in the church parsonage at 922 Thirty-fourth.

REV. SIDNEY WESTBROOK

James Fenimore Cooper, author of the "Last of the Mohicans," wrote 70 books in 30 years.

Progress Costs A Lot Of Money; Ching Cuts Loose At John L. Lewis

TIP TO OTHERS:

Some Can Be Saved

MOST South Plains cities might profit from Lubbock's costly experiences in acquiring property for the extension of the City's Highway Dispersal system and other public improvements.

The costs risked by delays were illustrated in Lubbock last week when the City commission paid $108,855 for the property needed to open Nineteenth street between Texas avenue and Avenue G. Fifteen years ago the property could have been acquired for $10,000 or less; 25 years ago, at practically no cost at all.

Few people in Lubbock are in position to criticise City commissions of the past for failing to buy the property when the prices were low. Most of us would be millionaires if our foresight equalled our hindsight.

Most of the huge expenses to which Lubbock has been put during recent years, and which it faces in the future to keep pace with growth, could have been avoided by the adoption of a city plan when this city was no larger than the largest of the other towns of the area now are. This does not assume that any city plan could have, or would have anticipated all future needs. But almost any plan could have made provision for many of the needs like those which are costing Lubbock many thousands of dollars. Almost any plan can anticipate most needs far enough in advance that provision can be made for them at costs far smaller than if delays are risked.

THE CITY plan adopted in Lubbock 11 years ago came too late to avoid many of the huge investments made necessary by the City's growth. But the plan undoubtedly has save, and will continue to save the City's taxapayers huge sums. Although seemingly high prices have been paid for many pieces of property needed for public improvements since the city plan was adopted, those prices consistently have been lower—in many instances, far lower—than they would have been if purchases had been further delayed.

The Lubbock city plan, in short, has paid huge dividends in terms of economies already. Those returns are virtually certain to continue, and increase, with the passage of time.

Yet the savings would have been enormously greater if Lubbock had adopted a city plan when it was a community of 5,000 or 10,000 population, instead of waiting until it was one of almost 50,000. This would seem to suggest that the governing bodies of most of our neighboring towns—some of which are destined to be cities — may be wise to give thought to their future planning while they still have the time to make the most of the opportunity.

Political Stalling

POLITICAL considerations may not have had anything to do with the President's belated intervention in the soft coal strike. His advisers insist that he was actuated solely by considerations of the public interests.

But the record does not support that pious pretense. The miners were on strike more than 1½ months. John L. Lewis, their boss, wanted the government to keep hands off. The government kept hands off.

Lewis, facing the first strike defeat in his life, finally ordered the miners back to work on a temporary basis. He became "available" to confer with operators relative to the settlement of the strike. He was ready for the government to step in. Mr. Truman promptly obliged.

If Mr. Truman had been concerned about the American people, he would have acted immediately after the strike started—indeed, he might have headed it off. But that would have displeased the miners, who then were confident they could gain more by striking than in any other way.

They guessed wrong. So they yelled for the President as their best hope of salvaging something from their mistake. Then, and not until then, did Mr. Truman deem "the public interest" sufficient for him to step in.

A philosopher says "contentment is wealth." It's about the only wealth they haven't thought up ways of taxing.

"A TREASURY OF GREAT REPORTING"

Book Contains "Literature Written Under Pressure"

"A TREASURY OF GREAT REPORTING," edited by Louis L. Snyder and Richard B. Morris; (Simon and Schuster).

IF you like good reporting, on-the-spot description of things that are happening at the moment, you must add a copy of "A Treasury of Great Reporting" to your library shelves.

Edited by Louis L. Snyder and Richard B. Morris, with a preface by Herbert Baynard Swope, the book contains more than 170 classics of "literature written under pressure." From Defoe, Dickens and Kipling to Ernest Hemingway, Walter Duranty, John Gunther, Winston Churchill, Pulitzer Prizewinners Hal Boyle and Larry Allen of the Associated Press, the greatest newspaper and radio reporters present in this collection some of the most spine-tingling reading to be found within a book.

Scenes Of War And Peace

Scenes of war and peace, of battle on sea and land, riot, strike, trial, hanging, electrocutions, assassination, fire, earthquake, and of lighter things too, like baseball games, puppet show, and a beer-drinking baboon pack the 800 pages of the book.

They range in time from the report of a witch's trial and conviction in 1587 to the 1948 broadcast of the birth of Israel by Lowell Thomas. They include war correspondence, political campiagns, murder trials, the deaths of kings and presidents, revolution, faminies, history in the first person. These real-life dramas, culled from the press, are even more exciting that the daily paper, for they are the high spots, the essences, the summits of journalistic achievement. Together they constitute a newspaper chronicle of the past three and one-half centuries written on the spot and at white heat by newspapermen (and maybe some of the broadcasters, but we fear they had ghost writers) who have made journalistic history.

Authoritative Background Given

They go back to Peter Zenger's trial, come up through civil strife here and abroad to World Wars I and II and their stern aftermaths.

Each of the stories is introduced by an authoritative account of the background—the story behind the story—the principal actors, and the writer. Each is followed by an account of the consequences. Many of the stories come in sequence, dealing with the same event, but giving utterly different and sometimes contradictory viewpoints depending on the author's sympathies and his own particular vantage point.

Affords Kaleidoscopic View

This constant change of pace affords a kaleidoscopic view which no single typewriter could possibly give.

Stories by Mark Twain, Jack London, Irvin S. Cobb, H. L. Mencken, Damon Runyon, Ben Hecht, William L. Shirer, Richard Harding Davis, Heywood Broun, Webb Miller, Horace Greeley, H. Allen Smith and many others too numerous to mention here are found in this fine book, for here are the front-page, headline stories between covers.

Included also is a 32-page section of news photographs, cartoons and others historical pictures illustrating the stories covered in the book.—CWR.

"The Long Love"

"THE LONG LOVE," by John Hedges; (John Day).

IN the quiet town of Chedbury, near Boston, live two families, the Seatons and the Haslatts. A Seaton dresses for dinner, with which he drinks wine; he goes abroad, buys his clothes in New York, sends out the washing, always expects both ends to meet. A Haslatt takes the temperance pledge, turns his worn collars and cuffs, mows his own lawn, squeezes every penny.

So for the purposes of this novel, what happens? Edward Haslatt, son of a printer, marries Margaret Seaton, who has an income. He plans a New Orleans honeymoon by day coach, but father-in-law gives him a drawing room; he looks for a house he can afford, and father-in-law buys him a mansion; he intends to save enough to buy out the printshop, but his wife brings him the necessary $12,000.

Match Opposite Temperaments

The sober young man and the fun-loving girl start out to rear a family and publish books, and this novel concerns their long life. They bring up children, who bring up children; they match opposite temperaments against each other, and watch their tempers; they establish Haslett and Sons as successful publishers.

This ought to be a popular novel, because it contains so many elements which the public has enjoyed before. Marriage and love are safe subjects, publishing is lately a common subject. With conventional characters who never kick over the traces, with an ending which is all the happier for one shake of bitters, this is a well behaved novel, and it goes right where it was told to go, to the sentiments and affections of several hundred thousand readers in the Literary Guild, which chose this for November.

The novel deserves praise for its expertness, blame for its ordinariness. What we learn here it merely that if we marry a rich girl, we'll succeed in business, or that if we marry an earnest young fellow, we'll succeed domestically. It's commonplace book knowingly packaged.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

MANY years ago I bought my first automobile from a dealer who called himself "Honest Pete."

The "Pete" is fictitious, I made that up.

He may have reformed or gone to his just reward—so why not let sleeping dogs lie?

The car was a Maxwell — the kind that you hear Jack Benny and Rochester argue about on Sunday evenings.

BRANDEIS

"Honest Pete" assured me that it was a fine automobile — "as good as new," and that he guaranteed it with his reputation.

Blithely I started out in it on a four-hundred-mile trip from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

After a hundred miles I heard a terrific noise. The car stopped, and as I looked under it I saw a large piece of machinery on the ground.

Fortunately a garage was nearby. The machanic came over, looked at my "fine automobile" and asked me "where did you get that wreck?"

To make a long story short, the repairs would have cost almost as much as I paid for the car, so I had it taken into the garage and wrote "Honest Pete" that he could get it and keep my down payment.

I never heard from "Honest Pete" again, but I swore that I would never, never buy anything from anybody who had to tag himself "Honest" this or that.

As usual the Master of Ceremonies started a flowery introduction.

He told the audience that they were about to listen to the "famous columnist" Erich . . . and I stopped the fellow right there in his tracks.

HE'S "BURNED UP"

Arrogance Flayed

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Federal Conciliation Chief Cyrus Ching really cut loose at John L. Lewis in a private chat with the mine operators who were stood up when Lewis ducked a scheduled conference on settling the coal conference.

"What right has he to keep us waiting here at this critical time and say that he will set the date for a meeting at his convenience?" exploded Ching. "In my opinion, that is unnecessary and unforgivable arrogance."

PEARSON

The fact that Lewis meantime had grandiosely ordered the miners back to work until December 1 cut little ice with Ching.

"I want to see the coal strike settled permanently, so we can return to a normal economy," said the conciliation boss. "The miners are entitled to know where they stand. So are the industries which need coal. So are the people. This temporary return to work is no solution."

What Ching meant was that the railroads would not go to the expense of putting strike-sidetracked trains back into service if they had to yank them off the rails again on December 1. Also, steel companies and other industries needing coal couldn't plan ahead with Lewis's work-again, strike-again shenanigans.

Nor will the 2½-week strike truce solve the "Christmas money" problems of the coal miners, most of whom are so broke it will take them months to get back on their feet.

Capturing The Capitol

Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Joe Duke made short shrift of D. C. national guard officers when they called on him to explain their recent mock "raid" on the U. S. capitol in the dead of night.

"Why, you even set up a machine gun in front of the Senate," exploded Duke. "Let me assure you that if you try this again, we'll give you the same treatment we give any other prowlers. You can't go skulking around the capitol grounds at night, even if you are on a 'training' maneuver."

"But we thought we had a right to do this," explained a national guard officer. "It was just a routine training maneuver. Besides, the capitol is public property, isn't it?"

"Yes, and so is the Pentagon building," shot back Duke. "Why don't you go over and raid it?"

BELIEVE it or not, but erudite Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan almost got himself hauled up on a "moonshining" rap recently by the Internal Revene bureau.

Internal Revenue, which plays no favorites, learned that a dozen or so manufacturers in eastern states were making a flavor concentrate for preserves, candy and fruit juices that was patented some time back by Brannan's hard-working Bureau of Agricultural and Industrial Chemistry.

Brannan's chemists little realized they were going to get their boss in dutch as an "accessory" to a "moonshining" charge. However, what was developed in the concentrate was a distilled essence of various fruit flavors.

Revenue agents got on the job when they discovered that the commercial manufacturers weren't paying the $9.00 per gallon excise tax required by law on any distillate containing more than ½ of 1 per cent alcohol.

The Bureau of Agricultural and Industrial Chemistry and its licensees argued that the flavoring should be tax exempt, since it wasn't a "potable," but revenue officials wouldn't hear of it.

"If we made an exception of you, a lot of other people would be on our neck demanding exemptions," they ruled. "You'll have to get the revenue laws amended. Otherwise, we collect the tax."

GOP Representative Dan Reed of New York, a ways and means committee member, finally came to the rescue with the required legislation, which passed in the late days of last session.

Modern Parables

Dear Friends
and Gentle Hearts:

HER NAME was Anna Maria Cecily Sophia Virginia Avaiun Thessalonians.

She was born into slavery on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and her earthly master had thought it a great joke to saddle the little brown baby with that ungainly christening. As a young girl, in the first year of her freedom, Ann helped the doctor the day my mother was born. That was in 1866. Thirty-seven years later she was in the bedroom when I was born; she gave me my first bath, but that was not all she gave me.

I REMEMBER her as she sat at the kitchen table in our house; the hard brown hands folded across her starched wrapper, the glistening black eyes lifted to the whitewashed ceiling, and the husky whispering voice saying:

"Much obliged, dear Lord, for my vittles."

"Ann" I asked, "what is a vittle?"

"It's what I've got to eat and drink—that's vittles."

"But you'd get your vittles whether you thanked the Lord or not."

"Sure, but it makes everything taste better to be thankful. In some people's religion the whole family does it every meal. But not my church—I do it just for myslf."

After the meal was over, she thanked the Lord again and then lit her clay pipe with reedy stem; to this day, every smoking pipe I smell makes me think of my old nurse.

"YOU KNOW," she said, blowing expert rings in the direction of the kitchen range, "it's a funny thing about being thankful—it's a game an old colored preacher taught me to play. It's looking for things to be thankful for. You don't know how many of them you pass right by, unless you go looking for them.

"Take this morning, for instance. I wake up and laid there, lazy like, wondering what I got to be thankful for now. And you know what? I can't think of anything. Tee-hee! What must the good God think of me, His child, but it's the honest truth—I just can't think of a thing to thank Him for.

And then, what you think? My daughter, Josie, comes opening the bedroom door and right straight from the kitchen comes the most delicious morning smell that ever tickled my old nose. Coffee; Much obliged, dear Lord, for the coffee and the daughter to have it ready for an old woman when she wakes up. Much obliged, dear Lord, for the smell of it—and for the way it puts ambition even into me. Some people try to tell me coffee is bad, but I've been drinking it for fifty years now and I'm obliged to the dear Lord for every cup I get.

"NOW FOR a while I've got to help Josie with the housework. It's a little hard to find anything to thank God for in housework; your Ma will tell you the same thing and so will any other woman. But when I come to the mantel-piece to dust the ornaments, there's the Little Boy Blue. How long you think I've had that little China boy? Since before your mother was born. I was a slave when I got it for Christmas. But I never broke it; never even got it chipped. There he sits, all shiny blue, on the mantel, with his golden horn to his mouth. I love that little boy; he's been with me all the time; he's my little mantelpiece brother. Much obliged, dear Lord, for Little Boy Blue.

"And almost everything I touch with the dust rag reminds me of something I love to remember. Even the pictures that hang on the walls. It's like a visit with my folks, here and yonder. Funny, when you get to my age you've got as many of your folks up there as down here. The pictures look at me and I look at them and I remember so much that's good. I get through my housework before I know what I'm doing. I've been so busy remembering.

"You go downtown and look in the windows; so many pretty things."

"But Ann," I broke in, "you can't buy them; you haven't enough money."

"I've always had enough money for what I want. I don't want those pretty things. What I want a long velvet gown for, trailing halfway behind? But I think it's pretty and I love to stand there and play dolls. Yes, I do. I play dolls in my mind, and I think of your Ma, and your Aunt Dot, and your Cousin Leona, how each of them would look in that dress, and I have a lot of fun at that window. I'm much obliged to the dear Lord for playing in my mind, old as I am; it's a kind of happiness.

"ONCE I got caught in the rain. My daughter Josie thought I would catch my death. Tee-hee! It was fun for me. I always heard about fancy people's shower baths. Now I had me one and it was wonderful. So many things are wonderful. That cool water dropping on my cheeks was just exactly like a baby's fingers and I always loved them.

"You know, God is just giving Heaven away to people all day long. I've been to Druid Hill park and seen the gardens, but you know what? I likes the old bush in your backyard a sight better. One rose will fill your nose with all the sweetness you can stand."

Now Ann must have told me these things at different times, but they have ranged themselves in my memory as one long, husky whispered monologue. For a long while I forgot that she had ever said them. It was not until trouble had clamped down on me with a throttlehold and my old ego had been battered. An hour came when I recognized danger in my own increasing sense of despair. I searched my memory as a bankrupt frantically pokes through safety boxes, looking for a morsel of counsel. Ann had been a long time mouldering in her grave, but her rumbling, half-whispered tones came back to me, with the game she taught me at the kitchen table of searching out every cause for thankfulness.

I URGED myself to play that game . . . I was in the subway at the time, vile-smelling and overcrowded — and it happened there was a burst of laughter that, probably because I was seeking it, reminded me that sorrow passes . . . and I looked about me and marked a young girl's eyes shining with hope for the evening; and again, pride in reading of a batsman's home run bringing a glow to the face of a tired old clerk . . . and when I went up on the street, clean snow was falling; a church was lighted and its open doorway called to me. I went in. And I knelt. And my heart filled with warmth when I began to count over my many gifts, my many blessings—how much—how overpoweringly much I had to be grateful for.

For work to be done—good work that I could put my heart into — I'm much obliged, dear Lord, for that. For the ability to take care of those who looked to me. For my loved ones, who love me more than I deserve. For friends; so many who had reached out or

Admiral Denfeld Makes Final Report As Chief Of U. S. Navy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19, (AP)—Admiral Louis Denfeld, in his final report as chief of naval operations, said the question of how much more the navy shrinks depends on how Congress interprets world events.

The navy issued today the annual report written by Denfeld, who was ousted from his job after he and other high ranking admirals had carried their fight against reduction in navy power on Capitol Hill.

The report dealt only with affairs during the fiscal year ended last June 30. In it was no direct mention of the bitter row which took Denfield and his colleagues before the House armed services committee hearings on the B-36 controversy and the whole question of policy and strategy.

New Plan Cited

Denfeld now on leave, reported that on June 30, navy manpower strength stood at 46,650 officers and 363,500 men; the operating fleet at 744 ships of which 271 were major combat vessels. (Since then the size of both personnel and ships has dwindled. By September the number of fighting ships was down to 268. The new plan is to cut the number of major combat vessels to 247 by next summer. Navy and marine corps strength will be reduced 54,891 by next summer, in line with the ship reduction.)

In his report, Denfeld wrote:

"During the recent war, the navy was a big navy and a tough navy — the biggest and toughest the world has ever seen. Now we are at peace and the navy grows smaller.

"How much smaller if will become depends on congressional interpretation of international events as they affect the security of the United States translated in terms of appropriations for defense."

Air Power Extended

In general, Denfeld's report was a discussion of broad navy plans, trends and an explanation of functions of its various branches. There were few statistics or mention of funds.

Reviewing naval aviation, which has been at the core of the controversy with the air force and defense department, Denfeld commented "a small expansion was in prospect at the beginning of the year, although this was cut back in the revision of the budget."

(The navy announced on Friday that a total of 35 squadrons of which 28 are navy and seven marine would be taken out of service in the next four months. This will mean a cut of about 480 first-line combat planes below the 2,258 figure reported by Denfeld for last June.)

Subs Impressive

Discussing the submarine fleet, which has high priority in the navy's program, Denfeld said:

"The new submarine construction program includes a type capable of high submerged speed which promises impressive performance as compared with existing submarines, and an entirely new type especially designed for anti-submarine warfare.

"These and other designs currently in development give the United States navy assurance of retaining supremacy in the field of undersea warfare."

Three of these submarines, designed to duel underwater with enemy submarines, are being built.

The modernized snorkel subs, built from World War II types, eventually will be replaced by the completely new fast attack class now building," Denfeld wrote.

He also announced that "the design of a faster and more powerful destroyer has been turned over to the builders, and several vessels are now under construction to meet the challenge of recent developments in naval air and submarine warfare."

spoken, or who had mercifully kept silent in my troubles. And for utter strangers, whom, I knew now, God had sent to me in times of trial, miraculously on hand to help . . . I found the words of thanks tumbling from my lips and heard myself thanking God even for difficulties because they renewed my faith . . .

There's magic in thanksgiving. You my begin with a cup of coffee, but once you start, the gratefulness swells and the causes multiply. Finally, it seems, the more you thank, the more you have, and the more you get, to be thankful for—and of course, that's the whole spiritual keystone.

THE SOUL of long-dead Ann was a big soul; big enough to see God everywhere. I shall never be as big a soul as she was, but she taught me. The word came from the dingy street where she lived in East Baltimore, with Josie, her daughter, that Ann was dying. I remember, Mother drove me there in a cab. I stood by Ann's bedside; she was in deep pain and the hard old hands were knotted together in a desperate clasp.

As if in answer to my unuttered challenge, she opened her eyes and looked at us; her eyes lingered with mine.

"Much obligd, dear Lord," she said, "for such fine friends to come and see me off."

She never spoke again—except in my heart. But there she speaks every day. I'm much obliged to God for that.

Radioactive Materials Used To Trace Fever Mosquitoes

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Nov. 19 (AP) Mistletoe steals the food of trees upon which it grows as a parasite. This was shown by Australian agriculturalists who used radioactive atoms from Oak Ridge to find out how mistletoe kills eucalyptus trees. In Australia mistletoe does extensive timber damage by destroying trees. Zinc and cobalt, both of which could be traced by their radioactive rays, were injeted into the trunks of eucalyptus trees on which mistletoe lived. In two months the mistletoe had all the zinc and all the cobalt, leaving none for the trees that nourished the Christmas growth.

In Nigeria, British West Africa, yellow fever mosquitoes were tagged with radioactive strontium. The mosquitoes ate or drank stuff containing minute amounts of this strontium. Thereafter the mosquitoes could be traced by their ticking sounds on radioactive counters. These African yellow fever mosquitoes were thus found to live about one month and seldom to travel farther than three-quarters of a mile from the place where they were born.

Australian Remains Hopeful Of Lottery Win After 50 Years

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 19. (U.P.) — An Australian who has bought lottery tickets regularly since 1899 and won a total of less than 30 pounds sterling ($66.72 since devaluation) calls himself "Sydney's Number One Jonah."

Edward Joseph Wilson, 65, has tried for the jackpot for half a century. He wanted the money for a trip to California, which has fascinated him since boyhood.

Wilson can't estimate how much he spent chasing his trip to the Golden Gate. The money, he thinks, would be the equivalent of a major prize. He has papered the walls of a room with unsuccessful tickets.

Wilson has named ticket syndicates after nearly every town in California. He has tried naming them after men, towns, ships, events, omens and coincidences.

Still Waiting

"Every time I've bought a ticket I've told myself: 'Here goes for 'Frisco.' But I'm still here," he sadly recalled.

Wilson attributes his bad luck in lotteries to his 13th birthday falling on Dec. 13, and to the fact that he spent it in a house numbered 13.

He started his "record-breaking" run at 14 when he bought a ticket in an interstate lottery. He still can remember the ticket number of his first prize of 5 pounds sterling in 1903. Twenty-eight years later he won another 10 pounds sterling.

"I looked in all papers to make sure it wasn't a misprint," he recalls.

When the New South Wales state lottery started in 1931, Wilson was ready with six shillings and a half-penny he'd saved while working as an odd-job man at a country hotel.

Still Has Halfpenny

He bought a ticket and had the half penny left. Today he still has the ticket and the same halfpenny, tied with a black ribbon as a reminder "never to go broke again."

But, in his 50 years of ticket buying Wilson never has lost hope. "I can't give up now," he said. "It would be just my luck to miss out on a syndicate that took the tick."

He has tried everything.

"Ive bought at certain times of the day, gone in a certain door of the lottery office," he said. "On the 13th of the month, I've bought 13 tickets; on the sixth I've bought from No. 6 window.

"Recently I found three pennies close together in a park. I thought: This is it, and immediately got a ticket."

Wilson still never misses a week without a ticket. He still thinks his luck must change. If it does it's still "California, here I come," for him.

Dallas Negro Will Survive Drinking Of Strong Poison

DALLAS, Nov. 19 (AP)—All hen house tipplers take note.

A 44-year-old Dallas negro took a drink from a bottle he found in a shed at his home.

The potion turned out to be a hen house spray made with a strong nicotine mixture for killing poultry lice.

The thirsty man's nervous and respiratory systems were knocked out. They rushed him to a hospital, gave him a strong antidote, and put him in an iron lung to keep him breathing.

After several hours on the critical list, doctors said the man would live to drink again—but not hen house spray.

Looking At Life

That sort of thing would be all right for my obituary, when I wouldn't be there to hear or read it, but not while I am alive.

THEN I told my hearers that little story about "Honest Pete."

It is the same with fame, I said. You can't make a person famous simply by calling him "famous." You need not tell an audience that a man is "great" if he really is great.

The President of the United States is usually introduced simply by saying, "I now give you the President" or something equally brief.

That's all that is necessary. He needs no further amplification. His job speaks for itself.

Greatness, fame—honesty, speak for themselves.

Some time ago when we were looking for a home, the real estate agent kept on raving about the hollyhocks and the lovely fruit trees on a place which she showed us.

I went into the bathroom and looked at the plumbing. I turned on the faucet which was leaking. That water ran dark brown. I didn't buy the place.

That's the way with people. It's the PLUMBING that counts.

White ants are not ants, but termites, and he winged ones are not even white.
