Two Lubbock Girls Bitten By Dogs

Two high school girls were bitten by dogs here this morning. One of the dogs was caught and held in the city pound for observation.

Mary Frances Keeter, 14, a high school junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Keeter, 1624 Eighteenth street, was bitten on the leg within a block of her home by the dog subsequently captured.

Bessie Hardgraves, 16, a senior, daughter of A. L. Hardgraves, 1904 Fourteenth street, was bitten, also on the leg, at Seventeenth street and Avenue S. Both girls were en route to school.

Although the flesh was broken in each wound, neither girl suffered a laceration. Both girls received medical attention.

Some men caught the dog, a bulldog type, which bit the Keeter girl, and tied it. Clarence Symes, City poundmaster, took the dog to the pound.

The Hardgraves girl said the dog which attacked her resembled a collie.

BRITISH AND GERMAN LEADERS ENGAGE IN VERBAL COMBAT

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 18—What many considered one of the most remarkable personal clashes between statesmen of two great powers in many years was brought into the glare of world-wide publicity today as a result of the counter-attack of Sir John Simon on Baron Konstantin Von Neurath.

Sir John headed Great Britain's delegation at the world disarmament conference which recessed until October 26 after Germany's withdrawal. Herr Von Neurath is Germany's foreign minister.

Challenges Hurled

Today's the effect the controversy—in which each challenges the word of the other—may have on the political careers of the two men in their respective countries and also on future Anglo-German relations, was awaited with widespread interest.

In a speech last night in which he charged that Germany was "jeopardizing, if not wrecking," the cause of disarmament, Sir John repeatedly referred to what he termed Von Neurath's statement that he (Simon) was "spreading untruthful statements" about the German foreign minister and "false views" of Germany's armament demands.

Ready For Showdown

At one point in his address, Sir John said he was ready to "publish records and documents" to show that he was right.

He even called upon Norman H. Davis, head of the American delegation at Geneva, as a witness that he was telling the truth and that Von Neurath was accusing him unjustly.

CONVICTION OF BELL MAN REMANDED BY APPEALS COURT

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 18—The court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the conviction of C. B. Yarbrough of Bell county, on a charge of murder in the death of his adopted daughter Doris.

Yarbrough was tried in Travis county on a change of venue and sentenced to 25 years. He was charged with having set fire to his adopted daughter's clothing.

Reversal was granted because of failure of the trial court to embrace the exculpatory declarations of Yarbrough in its charge and also for failure to charge on the law of circumstantial evidence.

Accident Claimed

Yarbrough asserted the girl's clothing accidentally caught fire and that by mistake he threw a bucket filled with gasoline on her to drown the flames.

"My God, I have thrown the wrong bucket," Yarbrough exclaimed as soon as he threw the bucket filled with gasoline, testimony showed.

The appeals court held that the exculpatory declaration, having been introduced by the state, was to be regarded by the jury as true unless disproved.

The court reversed and remanded the conviction of Charlie Langford in San Saba county on a charge of murder in the death of his father, Rufe Langford. He was sentenced to 99 years. The appeals court ordered the reversal because of introduction of inadmissible evidence.

Two Affirmed

Convictions of Clarence Chance in Freestone county apd Frank Jones in Hamilton county on charges of murder were affirmed.

Chance was convicted of the murder of Dudley Williams and sentenced to 35 years and Jones was convicted of the murder of O. L. Pierce and sentenced to 50 years.

YOUNG WOMAN TAKES BABY TO STAND

SISTER OF DEFENDANT NAMES CAMPBELL AS FATHER OF CHILD

Sobbing almost constantly as she related the story of her "love affair" and seduction, Grace Readhimer, 21, occupied the witness stand this morning in 99th district court in the trial of her brother, Vert A. Readhimer, 27, for the slaying of Stokes Campbell, Floydada High school youth, whom she named as the father of her child.

The baby, a chubby, three-month-old boy, was asleep in her arms when she took the stand but soon became fretful after waking up and was carried from the courtroom by a sister-in-law.

The girl was still on the stand when court recessed for the noon hour and indications were that she would be required to testify most of the afternoon.

Letters Introduced

After she had testified of her love for Campbell and told of the two occasions on which they had intercourse, prosecution attorneys on cross examination produced several letters written to one Joe Noel in which she addressed him in endearing terms. The letters were written from February, 1932 to February, 1933. Excerpts from the letters were introduced as evidence by the state, over objections by defense attorneys. As court adjourned at noon, Defense Attorney Geo. Dupree was reading the letters in their entirety to the jury.

The letters were introduced, prosecution counsel told the court, to impeach testimony of the girl that she loved no one but Stokes Campbell and that no other man had ever kissed her.

"Childhood Sweethearts"

The girl said she had known Stokes Campbell for about 14 or 15 years and that they had been sweethearts ever since they were in school together in the little Daugherty community in Floyd county where the two families resided. She said they started going together regu-

Post Office's Part In Progress Cited

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 18 (AP)—The part the post office has played in spreading the population, extending commerce and developing national resources was described today by Postmaster General James A. Farley in an address dedicating Meridian's new postoffice building.

He described development of the post office from colonial days, and said the post office in paying steamships and railroads in the last century to carry mail served as a "pioneer of civilization and progress", and not only as a transmitter of private correspondence.

FORD AND NRA IN NEW FUSS

WAGNER STATEMENT IS DENIED BY DETROIT SPOKESMAN TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Henry Ford today apparently was in a new tangle of differences with the NRA.

Chairman Wagner of the national labor board announced receipt of an "assurance by telegram" that the Ford Motor company was "prepared to meet authorized representatives of their employees."

Promptly, a Detroit spokesman of Ford—non-signer of NRA'S automobile code—said a telegram that went from the company's Dearborn offices several days ago was of "quite a different tenor" from the one described by Senator Wagner.

This Ford representative added that Wagner had "withheld" the communication from the Ford Motor company, and that if he would give it out "there will be no doubt about what the facts are."

Wagner's announcement said strikers at Ford's Edgewater, New Jersey, plant would hold a settlement meeting today at which Gordon Wagenet of New York would represent the board. Wagner added:

"The superintendent of the Edgewater plant has telephoned me that he will be at the meeting, inasmuch as I have requested his presence."

Regarding this announced meeting, the Ford spokesman said the situation would be clarified when such a conference is held.

BONDS OVERSUBSCRIBED

LEVY WILL GO INTO EFFECT NEXT MONTH

PACKERS WIN VICTORY WITH AGREEMENT ON 50-CENT RATE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A tax on floor stocks of pork and pork products held by meat processors and wholesalers will go into effect on November 5, the same day the new processing tax on hogs will be levied to finance the farm administration's gigantic hog-corn production control program.

It was reported today that packers, who protested the eventual tax rate of $2 per 100 pounds on hogs liveweight, won a victory through agreement of administrators that the tax at the start will be 50 cents per hundredweight.

Stocks Held High

The packers contended their floor stocks are high. It is estimated that present storage supplies amount to about 800,000,000 pounds.

If the tax at the beginning had been $2 the levy on floor stocks would have been four times as high. Under present plans the 50 cent rate will remain in effect for at least 30 days, then increased gradually, reaching the maximum of $2 on February 1.

The tax on floor stocks will be higher than that for hogs liveweight. The farm administration today neared the end of a study through which the conversion factor will be established.

It is generally estimated that after being processed, about 70 per cent of the liveweight of hogs is represented by a finished edible product, and the floor tax will be levied on the latter.

May Be Higher

As a result the floor tax may be about 30 per cent higher than the tax on hogs liveweight.

The conversion factor establishes the relationship between the value of a pound of live animal to a pound of finished product. It is estimated that the floor stock tax will yield about $500,000.

In addition floor stock taxes will be levied on corn held by processors. The rate of the processing tax on corn has not been definitely established, but will be about 30 cents a bushel or more, Secretary Wallace said. It will be realized principally at eleven plants in the nation which specialize in the manufacture of corn products.

Shots Are Fired At Imprisoned Pastor

JONESBORO, Ark., Oct. 18 (AP)—An attempt to assassinate the Rev. Dale Crowley, imprisoned pastor of the strife-torn Baptist tabernacle here has halted, temporarily at least, peace negotiations between warring factions of the church.

The attempt was made on the pastor last night as he lay asleep in jail where he is held without bond on a charge of killing the church janitor, W. J. Macmurdo, last week. A burst of pistol fire was directed at his cell but none of the slugs struck the minister.

THREE-TO-ONE MARGIN AVERAGED BY THIRTY-THREE STATES VOTING WET

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The thirty-three states which have voted for repeal of the 18th amendment have averaged a three-to-one margin.

These states contain more than two-thirds of the nation's population. The vote represented one for each 5.6 persons in those states.

The total population of those states is 85,630,000, estimated as of July 1 this year by the census bureau. The nation's estimated total population is 125,693,000.

A total popular vote of 15,034,570 has been cast thus far in passing upon the repeal amendment. That does not include Wyoming and Nevada which selected their convention delegates by precinct mass meetings or county conventions and not by popular vote.

The population of those two states is 324,000. The total vote for president in the 33 states last year was 28,765,394, or one vote for every 3.2 persons.

Of the total popular vote on repeal, 1,304,970 were for the ratification of the amendment. That was 75.2 per cent of the total vote.

Votes cast against repeal totaled 3,729,600, or 24.8 per cent of the total vote.

The majority for repeal to date is 7,575,370.

New York's majority was the largest, 1,699,082. Tennessee's the smallest, 7,113.

TWO SLAIN AT SAN ANTONIO

MURDER AND SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN FATAL SHOOTING IN HOTEL

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 18.—A coroner's verdict of murder and suicide was returned this morning in the double slaying of Sam J. Cleeton, 43-year-old attorney, and Miss Lillian Wells, 31, who were found shot to death in a ninth floor room at the Gunter hotel yesterday.

A hotel detective sent scurring to the room when a woman's cries were heard over the house telephone found Miss Wells lying on a bed, shot to death, and Cleeton face downward on the floor, dying. Near his hand lay a pearl-handled revolver inscribed "From Chief Sibley to S. J. Cleeton."

Sister Hysterical

Miss Francis Wells, sister of the slain woman, heard newsboys crying headlines about a shooting, as she worked in a store a block from the hotel. She bought a paper and became hysterical when she learned her sister was the woman killed.

Officers learned the pistol was given to Cleeton by Police Chief Ruck Sibley of Abilene, where Cleeton formerly lived. Cleeton was a native of Moberly, Mo., practiced law in Kansas City for a time, after the World war; and successively lived in Florida, Abilene, Hobbs, N. M., Tyler, Texas, and San Antonio.

Police said Miss Wells told friends before going to the hotel to meet Cleeton that she planned to end their friendship. Funeral arrangements for Miss Wells were delayed pending return of her mother from Hobbs, N. M., and officials still were attempting to locate relatives of Cleeton.

FDR Believes Farm Prices Are Too Low

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt feels that although farm prices have increased 32 per cent since the average for the year that ended in March, they are not yet high enough.

An economist for the executive council has presented figures to the president showing that the products the farmer sold in September brought 32 per cent more than in the 12 months ending with March.

In the same period, it was stated in official quarters today that the economist had reported, the cost of things the farmer buys has increased 11 per cent.

DECISION MAY AFFECT ALL RETAILERS

MORE THAN A MILLION STORES EXPECTED TO BE INFLUENCED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—A presidential decision which may influence prices in a million and a half retail stores was expected today from the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's task was to define the government's policy toward price regulation in a retail distribution code. Before him were arguments for and against minimum price mark-ups over invoice costs.

Johnson, Wallace Differ

Hugh S. Johnson, recovery chieftain, said 99 per cent of the country's retailers wanted this form of price stabilization. Secretary Wallace was vigorously opposed. He said, however, an agreement submitted to the president would prohibit sales below invoice costs in order to ban the "loss leader" practice.

While President Roosevelt studied the retail issue the labor department announced an upward trend in wholesale prices begun in March had "continued unbroken" through September with a two per cent advance in the weighted index of 784 commodities.

Price Index Rises

Based on 1926 average prices as 100, the department said the index went from 69.5 in August to 70.8 in September, averaging "above 70.8 in September, averaging "above 70 for the first time since November, 1931," and representing an 18 per cent increase over last February's low.

"Between August and September," it said, "increases were reported in 194 instances, decreases in 152 instances, while in 338 instances no change in price was shown."

At NRA offices plans were advanced for enforcing President Roosevelt's order providing a $500 fine and six months imprisonment for violators of blue eagle regulations. These regulations, issued by the president last night and supplemented by Johnson, forbid the display of the blue eagle by persons not complying with its provisions and require its removal on Johnson's order.

Science Finds Varying Illumination Needed In Different Home Tasks; Each Chair And Table Requires Lamp In Handy Location In The Room

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK.—With short days and long evenings just around the corner, remember it is the lighting your house has that gives it that inviting "Home, Sweet Home" appeal.

Rugs, drapes, easy chairs and ornaments you must have, to be sure. But it is attractive lamps, scientifically placed, that make the deep chairs bring longing thoughts of good books to your mind, the desk call to your attention that letter you just must write Aunt Susie. It is the lighting, too, that makes visitors exclaim over the comfortable looking house you have.

The children won't mind helping do the supper dishes half as much if there is adequate lighting over the sink. Later, they will get at their home-work with a will, if there is a special place, with the right amount of light thrown on their work, not in their eyes.

A Place For Everyone

We are entering a new era. Home means more to us now than it did during those driving, prosperous years when theaters, night clubs, a round of parties took us out night after night. To make home mean the most to everyone, there should be some comfortable spot, well-lighted, for every member of the family to drop into, to sew, read, play cards, write letters or play the piano.

Take the living room, in the ordinary home. If you must stop and figure which seat to grab when you must do some fine sewing, then it is not a 100 per cent successful living room. Every seat in the room should have proper lighting.

Science is helping us solve these light problems. Research proves that a 60-watt inside frost lamp is the very smallest bulb that, alone and unaided, can supply a chair with a comfortable reading light. Twice that amount is needed for sewing. Also Mother, Dad and some of the children may need a light of sewing strength to read comfortably.

Whether you use floor lamps or table lamps, certain things are required of them. In order to give proper lighting to someone sitting nearby, the lamp bulb must reach well above shoulder height. Sit down in the chair yourself and test out the correct height. That is the only way you can get it right. Shades are a matter of taste. But they must be broad enough to include within their circle of light the book or handwork held in natural position. In general, shades opening at the top, throwing some light up into the room, create the pleasantest, mellowest atmosphere. On the whole, neutral tints, yellows and ambers, give the cheeriest, sunniest, daytime effects. If you want dark shades, have them of translucent materials, and perhaps line them with color.

Wall lights always should be shaded. They are very annoying otherwise. For ordinary family purposes, wall lights should not have to be called into use. For parties, they are something else again and do add a festive gaiety to a room, particularly when people are on their feet most of the time, milling about.

If you have a davenport, use end tables with cheery lamps on either side. Mayn a davenport serves only one person for reading, when it could just as well accommodate two. A single floor lamp, properly placed behind the center of the davenport, can be used instead of two end lamps.

After the davenport is properly lighted, what about the desk, the corner chair over by the bookcase, the piano, the chair by the library table? Each should have its own light. You can easily bring a wire around to the desk, for instance. With a light right on your paper as you write, you'll find balancing your budget grows much simpler. For the bookcase corner, have a floor lamp, or a little table by the chair, with a lamp on it.

Two end tables with lamps lend symmetry to this living room. Note, also, the tricky inside lighting of the secretary at the left.

For Bed-Time Readers

Every bed should have a good reading light, one that is placed correctly so that it won't get your head hot or throw shadow on your paper or book. There are so many contrivances in the market today that, with a little measuring, you can easily make every bedtime reader comfortable. Dressing tables, shaving mirrors, the kitchen stove, the icebox, every single center of home activity should have its own light, strong enough and correctly placed.

Proper home lighting means little effort, really. Just a matter of measuring, arranging, wiring, getting bulbs and shades. But, when properly done, you will find that you have eliminated squinting. And along with squinting goes much of the crossness, the uneasiness, the discomfort that your family felt without ever realizing it was due to poor lighting. For poor lighting defeats us, without our knowing it. Proper lighting is the psychological Polyanna in our home. It brings happiness where ever it goes.

Bridge And Dinner Set For Ko Sharis

There will be a bridge party and dinner at the Hilton hotel this evening at 6:30 o'clock for members of Ko Shari club. Miss Theresa Lokey will be the hostess.

Hallowe'en appointments are to be used for the occasion.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF COFFEE

Not Merely Another "Blend" Or "Brand"

Folger's is not merely another "brand" or "blend"—not simply a different "roast." But brings you the flavor of rare coffees from a totally different producing region that's famed as the "world's coffee paradise."

Grown chiefly in tiny, isolated districts along the steep west coast of Central America—these super-coffees are totally different because they are mountain-grown. Because they are produced in an odd type of volcanic soil where altitude and steaming tropical rainfall impart a richness and winy tang that nature has never bestowed on any other coffee that's known.

These are the coffees that give such distinctive flavor to Folger's—the coffee that appeals especially to men. Now brought to you with all its original mountain-freshness faithfully preserved in key-opening vacuum tins.

Please note also that Folger's is particularly economical to serve. For, because of greater richness and body, a single pound of it goes as far as a pound and one-third of cheap, paper-package coffees. In other words, you use ¼ less and still have richer coffee . . . Ask for Folger's today!

POLICE FIGHT CRIME HERE

BEATS MADE SMALLER AND NIGHT FORCE IS INCREASED

To combat increased crime, the Lubbock police department Tuesday divided the business district into four instead of three beats, and Wade Hardy, former Lubbock county sheriff, was employed as a night patrolman, Chief of Police Wiley L. Metcalfe announced.

Burglary Reported

While local officers continued their investigation of two dry goods store burglaries, a third burglary was reported yesterday. Candy, cigarets, and other merchandise were stolen from Pullman cafe, 810 Eighteenth street, police were informed.

One of the most modern police weapons against crime, a municipal short wave radio broadcasting station, is under construction here, and at its completion it will be used to combat burglars, robbers, and petty criminals.

Because of possibility of delay in shipments of equipment for the station, completion date of the plant cannot be forecast yet, it was said at City hall.

Remain On Beats

The re-arrangement is for the duration of the "busy season," it was said. Instead of changing shifts at City hall, policemen remain on their beat until relieved. Last duty of night men is to shake all doors on their beat, and the first duty of day patrolmen after reaching their beats is to check the doors.

Until yesterday the downtown section had been patrolled at night by three men, aided by the patrol automobile. Under the re-arrangement, the beats are located as follows:

Beats Are Located

No. 1 — Texas avenue to Avenue L and from south side of Broadway to the alley south of Thirteenth street.

No. 2 — Texas avenue to Avenue M and from south side of Main street to north side of Broadway.

No. 3 — Avenue G to Avenue K and from north side of Main street to the alley north of Tenth street.

No. 4 — From Main street to alley south of Thirteenth street and from Avenue G to Texas avenue.

To Equip Car

At least one police car, the night patrol automobile, will be equipped with receiving apparatus. City officials, if they find its use practical, possibly will use the radio system in connection with the electric and water departments.

John Graham, electric plant manager who is directing construction of the broadcasting plant, said it would operate on a frequency of 2458 kilocycles. After its completion, the city must seek a permit to operate the station.

Sets Record

Dipping down unheralded on the Frederick, Md., landing field, Richard C. du Pont, 22, above, of Wilmington, Del., set a new American gliding record of 122 1-2 miles, in a flight from Waynesboro, Va. The previous American mark was 66.9 miles, established in 1932. Fog prevented the young sailplane devotee from making a longer flight.

NEW LICENSES SUGGESTED

GRAND JURY PROPOSES ACTION BY STATE TO CURB DRUNK DRIVING

A 99th district court grand jury which completed its work Tuesday suggested the state require motorists to procure driver's licenses, which would be denied "habitual drunkards."

Commenting on the grand jury statement, Judge Clark M. Mullican said:

Rests With People

"Law enforcement still rests with the people.

"No agency of government, alone, can enforce the law. No connivance with criminals, no concealment of facts, no sentimental defense of criminals ever will enforce the law.

"When public sentiment finally outlaws crime, then and then only will the law be in the saddle and the criminals on the run."

The jurors stated that "it is with considerable regret that in several investigations of charges of driving automobiles while intoxicated we were unable to secure sufficient evidence to justify true bills.

Sentiment Is Lacking

"In far too many cases," the grand jury report continued, "have witnesses appeared before the grand jury, on behalf of the accused, and testified to his sober condition, contrary to what we believe the true facts to be.

"There appears to be a lack of public sentiment in favor of the enforcement of the law against driving automobiles while intoxicated, and we realize that without the support of public opinion law enforcement officers are hampered."

S. C. Wilson of Lubbock was jury foreman. The grand jury yesterday morning returned eight indictments, bringing the total for the term to 48, an unusually large number.

SIAM GOVERNMENT DEFEATS REBELS

BANGKOK, Siam, Oct. 18. (AP)—Reports both from the north and the south centers of the insurrection which broke out last week indicated today that the government forces have triumphed over the rebels.

In the north, the rebels who attacked Bangkok have fled, while in the south the revolt at Petchaburi has been suppressed.

The rebel leaders and a number of others were arrested, including high army and civilian officers.

The anxiety of the foreign communities was relieved as business returned to normalcy and rail services were resumed.

The Siamese rebellious movement began last week with the mutiny of two up-country regiments and the seizure of the Donmuang airdrome, the headquarters of the royal aeronautical service.

Insurance Company Is In Receivership

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. (AP)—The National Life Insurance company of the U. S. A., with policies totaling $197,000,000, was in receivership today and state authorities, who brought about the action, said attempts to reinsure the policyholders already were being made.

The petition was filed yesterday at the request of Ernest Palmer, state superintendent of insurance, and P. J. Lucey, former Illinois attorney general, was appointed receiver by the superior court.

Dwindling assets that placed an actual valuation of $4,000,000 on real estate carried on the books at $7,917,296.04, and a value of $300,000 on bank stocks listed as worth $4,011,150, caused the action.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. (AP)—Almost two full weeks were added to the life of the World's fair when Major Lenox R. WAR MINISTER STATES CALM PREVAILS BUT TROUBLE RUMORED

MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 18. (AP)—Despite rumors of impending political troubles, Minister of War Pablo Quiroga declared today that "absolute calm prevails throughout Mexico."

Three battalions of troops were dispatched to the presidential palace yesterday and all federal district police were ordered to their headquarters.

"Merely Precautions"

But, it was explained officially, these moves merely marked precautions against possible disorders in a scheduled demonstration of striking National university students.

Meanwhile, the chamber of deputies passed and sent to the senate a bill which would make the university completely autonomous.

The measure would grant the university 10,000,000 pesos (currently about $2,800,000) over the next four years, after which the government subsidy of 4,000,000 pesos ($1,120,000) would be withdrawn.

This was seen as a challenge to the students to end disorders which have kept the institution in a tumult for days.

Wrestling Show Slated Tonight

SPYING ON SPORTS
BY COLLIER PARRIS

WRESTLING TONIGHT at Sled Allen's Auditorium. The card begins at 8 o'clock. Gorilla Pogi, the angry Argentine, meets Red Heinz, the Teutoa Terror, in the main go, two out of three falls, finish.

• • •

Your attention is called tonight to the professional debut of the local headliner. Billed as a special attraction, Jack Van Bebber, national intercollegiate and Olympic middleweight champion, takes on Swede Larsen of Amarillo in a 30-minute semi-final.

• • •

Then there's the three-man match, in which Sneeze Achiu promises to pin two welterweights from the Panhandle in 30 minutes. It's a good card, and one the wrestling fan will enjoy.

• • •

Boxing also is on the Lubbock entertainment card this week. Promoter Dee Puckett presents a card of four bouts Saturday night at the old Rex theatre building. Woody Windon of Abilene tackles Nick Santos of Fort Worth in the ten-round main go.

• • •

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

There is much "viewing with alarm" and grating of nerves on the part of Texas Tech's football mentors when this department outs with a statement now and then that the Tech Matadors are a pretty fair ball club. And when we meekly suggest that Tech might win a ball game, it's the signal for a pall of gloom and pessimism to settle over the features and vocal cords of the esteemed coachers, who would have their pupils assume the positions of underdogs in every game they play.

• • •

Your humble correspondent quite frequently engages Messrs. Cawthon and Smith in more or less heated arguments over this phase of pre-game ballyhoo. They contend that the fans will take a much greater interest in the forth-coming game and will turn out in larger numbers if they think Tech might lose. On the other hand, we suggest that the home fans like to see a winner, and they'll go for their football teams when they have some assurance that they will win. Now who is right? One reason for the coaches' attitude is that they want their boys to feel like it's going to be a tough old, rough old game, and they're likely to lose. But that comes under the head of coaching and not of writing for the hoospepper. We take absolutely no responsibility for the Matadors' defeat by Simmons last year. We remember getting out of position long enough to warn the Matadors a few days before the game, of the possibilities of getting slipped un on, although all dope indicated a Tech victory.

• • •

Now this week the Matadors are favorites to win a ball game. It's an intersectional game, to be sure—one Tech against another—and we expect the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs to put up a good scrap. But if the Matadors are not able to win by at least three touchdowns, something will be sadly amiss. Heaven forbid that by our printed opinions we should keep cash customers away from the box office. We hope they they have to erect extra bleachers, and that the crowd spreads all over the outfield. We suspect that the local fans want to see Tech win, and that they'll come out en masse if they know the Matadors ought to win.

• • •

FUNNY THAT WAY

It must be remembered that prospective membership in the Southwest conference, or any other big time league, depends largely, if not solely, on the attendance at Lubbock games. Far be it from this writer, therefore, to say anything intentionally that would keep the crowds away.

• • •

Football fans, like baseball fans, support winning teams. The fans are peculiar in that respect. Tech is a winner, and as long as it can win, the crowd will be there to watch 'em. We don't believe anybody likes to see their favorite teams take drubbings, any more than coaches do. Much as we like and admire Coaches Cawthon and Smith, we can't promise that the Louisiana Tech boys, good as they may be, will nose out the wild Matadors; we can't even promise that the score will be anything like close.

• • •

We can tell you this, however: You'll see some fireworks Friday night at the Tech field in the form of white footballs popping from one hand to another and across the goal line in as neat an exhibition of passing as you ever saw. The Matadors seem to have gotten their aerial attack down pat, judging from the 14 out of 19 completed against the Wildcats of Arizona.

• • •

That the Bulldogs from Ruston, La., have a strong defensive team is granted. In three rather hard games this season, they have held their opponents to not more than two touchdowns.

Three brothers are playing football for Oregon State College, Corvallis, Ore. They are Harold, Woody and Dick Joslin.

Levi Burlingame of LaCrosse, Kas., 83-year-old jockey, had mounts in races at fairs during the 1933 season.

GORILLA POGI MEETS RED HEINZ IN THE PRINCIPAL EVENT

Wrestling fans are due to get their money's worth tonight when seven (count 'em) grapplers cut loose with everything from scientific, college-taught holds to rough and tough tactics of the professional trained matmen.

Matchmaker Sled Allen presents a three-ring program at the Auditorium featuring Gorilla Pogi, the Awful Argentine, versus Red Heinz, the Terrible Teuton, in the main event, and a national collegiate and Olympic champion versus an up and coming young professional, in an event billed as a special attraction.

Two Against One

Another and the third high-light on tonight's program sees Walter 'Sneeze" Achiu, said to be the only Chinese professional wrestler in America, tackling two welterweights in a 30-minute time limit preliminary.

Achiu pleased customers last Wednesday night by throwing the Argentine, Gorilla Pogi, in a tough main event. One of the most popular grapplers in the southwest, Achiu has challenged two of the Texas Panhandle's most promising grunt and groan men tonight. He will essay to throw both of them within 30 minutes.

In the "special attraction," a 30-minute semi-final, Jack Van Bebber, wrestling coach at Texas Tech, will make his professional debut, meeting Swede Larsen of Amarillo. Van Bebber, who won seven national intercollegiate wrestling championships while attending Oklahoma A. & M. college, and who won the Olympic championship of his class last year in Los Angeles, will become the local favorite if he beats Larsen tonight and puts up a show at the same time. His qualities as a wrestler are known far and wide, but his showmanship has yet to be expressed in a professional ring. He accompanied his coach, Ed Gallagher, to Lubbock this summer and demonstrated his abilities before 300 coaches at the Tech coaching school. Recently he became a member of the Tech athletic staff.

Art Belcher of Amarillo and Lobo Brown of Pampa are Achiu's opponents in the preliminary. In order to win the match, Achiu must throw both of them within 30 minutes.

Heinz Out For Win

Heinz, who appeared here in a semi-final last week, tossing Pat Garrison of Borger in 20 minutes of a scheduled 30-minute bout, promises to be all that the Gorilla from San Francisco can manage tonight. Cocky, chesty and nonchalant, a great showman withal, the German youth from San Diego has appeared in many southwestern towns as the main attraction.

Tonight's card begins at 8 o'clock. Promoter Allen placed reserved ringside tickets on sale yesterday at the J. & J. Sporting Goods store and the Hotel Hilton drug store. They go for 75 cents, while general admission for men is 40 cents. A special concession has been made as regards women's and children's tickets. The general admission charge for these is 10 cents.

Match Horse Race May Be Abandoned

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—It appears now that the match race between C. V. Whitney's Equipoise and the Australian sprinter, Winooka, may be held after all.

Barely 24 hours after it was revealed that Whitney and Rufe Naylor, manager of Winooka's tour, could not agree on the distance, there were indications today that Naylor was ready to send the Australian champion over the mile route demanded by Equipoise's owner. Naylor, it was reported, already has re-opened negotiations.

The race, if agreement is reached both as to distance and weights, will be held at Belmont Park Nov. 7.

MATADORS ARE WORKING FOR BULLDOG GO

LOUISIANA POLY AND TECH CLASH HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Another intersectional gridiron combat is coming up for local fans Friday night at the Texas Tech field, and the Tech Matadors are getting set for it as though a championship was pending.

The Louisiana Polytechnic institute eleven, members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, is coming to Lubbock early Friday morning. They tangle with the Matadors Friday evening in the first game between the clubs.

Wait Two Years

The Bulldogs of Louisiana Poly and the Matadors of Texas Tech have been pointing toward such a meeting as this week provides for two years. When the 1932 schedule was being compiled, Louisiana Tech was put down as a tentative opponent. The card was changed later, and the game omitted.

Friday's contest brings Tech up against its first opponent from "way down South," and the game will be watched with interest by southern colleges. It offers the Matadors an opportunity to increase the scope of their victory march.

Ticket Price Slashed

Reserved seat tickets are on sale today at the J. & J. Sporting Goods company store. Tech officials have announced a special reduction in the price scale for Friday night's game. One dollar will buy a seat in the reserved section of the grandstand. This price includes tax. Originally priced at $1.50, decrease in cost has been made possible by a schedule change which provides seven home games instead of six.

With the cheers of thousands of Arizona fans ringing in their ears, the Matadors walked off the University of Arizona gridiron last Saturday night with a victory and possibly another Border conference championship dangling from their heavy belts. Unless some member of the conference goes through the season undefeated, Tech will have won the mythical title.

Big Crowd Expected

Lubbock fans are due to welcome the victorious Matadors by turning out in masse Friday night. Although favorites to lick the Poly Bulldogs from Ruston, La., the Tech gridmen are not taking anything for granted; are "laying" for the Bulldogs with as much gusto and deliberation as if another title depended on the outcome.

Fans at Matador Field Friday night will see the Matadors continue along a line of offense inaugurated last week at Tucson that bids fair to precluding Southern Methodist university's claim to fame as the "aerial circus" of the southwest. Once convinced that they can toss and receive passes, the Matadors are being primed this week for a real exhibition of overhead work.

Veteran Fullback At Rice Is Through

HOUSTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—Gordon Nicholson of Houston, veteran Rice fullback, today turned in his football uniform and announced he was through with football.

"I don't suit Coach Jack Meagher and he doesn't suit me. I wasn't doing any good on the football squad and figured I might as well call it a day."

Coach Meagher's only comment was: "I only know Gordon didn't come out for practice yesterday afternoon. He never has said anything to me about quitting the squad."

DOUBLE AND RE-DOUBLE

It took Washington University to come up with a "quadruple-threater." Here he is in the person of Nathan Tutinsky, who passes and kicks equally well with either hand or with either foot, as the case may be.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Teams playing Washington University can expect practically anything when Nathan Tutinsky, sophomore halfback, gets the ball.

He's a kicker who kicks with either foot, and a passer who throws with either hand.

His versatility also makes it more difficult for injuries to smother his talents, Coach Jimmy Conzelman points out.

Before entering Washington U., Tutinsky starred in St. Louis high school competition.

FANS PROVIDED WITH THRILLS HERE IN DOUBLE INDOOR BASEBALL CARD

The fans didn't know when to leave last night when the second game of the double indoor baseball bill was over, so quickly had it been played. The first contest, a long drawn out affair but exciting because of the closeness of the final score, made the second appear exceedingly brief and to the point.

Staging a great rally in the last two innings, the Lydick Roofing company Roofers tallied nine runs to come from behind, tie the score and win an exciting contest, 15 to 14, over the Huie-Ribble team. It was the closest game of the indoor season.

Trailing 12 to 6 when they came to bat in the sixth inning, the Roofers lashed at the offerings of Pitcher Yancy Price for six consecutive hits—the first three of them for two bases—to score four runs. Huie-Ribble, which had taken a good lead in the fourth inning, scored two times in the seventh and final frame, but the Roofers came back with a six-hit attack to score five runs and win the game after one man was out.

Strikes Out 14

Richard Godeke, the standout pitcher of the summer outdoor softball leagues and so far head and shoulders above the rest indoors, performed with his usual style in the second game to win for the Mitchell Cafe team, 7 to 1. Godeke struck out the first four men to face him, gave a total of four safe hits, scattered one by one over four innings, and whiffed a total of fourteen batsmen. Except in three innings, the Peoples Ice company team was set down, one-two-three.

Henly, "borrowed" from the Avalanche-Journal club by the Icemen when all the players didn't show up, slapped a single in the fifth, stole second and third and scored on a put-out at first for the Icemen's only tally. Godeke fanned three men in the first frame, two in the second, three in the third, two in the fifth and seventh and one each in the fourth and sixth.

The Cafe team, against whom Wilson pitched a good game, tallied once in the first, again in the second, twice in the fourth and three times in the sixth to win.

Huie-Ribble seemed to have the game in the bag after taking a lead in the first with three tallies. It was tied up in the second, and the Roofers scored twice in the third to Huie-Ribble once to take a one-run lead. Five tallies in the fourth, however, gave Huie-Ribble a good lead, and they added three more in the sixth—not enough to protect themselves against the Roofers' splurge.

The lineups:

Huie-Ribble —Wilson, 3b; Tatum, lf; Lawson, 2b; Brooks, ss; Pullen, c; Stewart, 1b; Rhea, rf; McCarty, cf; Price, p.

Lydick Roofers — L. Taylor, lf, Lawson, ss; H. Taylor, 2b; McClure, 3b; Freeland, 1b; Bumpass, c; Littrell, p; Hughett, cf; Wilson, rf.

Mitchell's Cafe — Woods, lf; Vest, cf; Berry, rf; Capps, rf; H. Godeke, 1b; Montgomery, ss; E. Allen, 3b; Bundrant, c; R. Godeke, p; M. Allen, 2b.

Peoples Ice — Hilliard, ss; McNeil, 2b; Breedlove, 3b; O'Hair, 1b; Bettes, lf; Johnson, c; Henly, cf; Herzet, rf; Wilson, p.

Night brings movies, campus caroling and whatnot to many students, but with the boys on the University of Florida football team, things are different. They do most of their practicing under flood lights.

From Africa

From South Africa comes Don McCorkindale, another heavyweight threat, to wage war along the highly remunerative American ring front. He will meet Patsy Peroni of Cleveland. Don also has a title bout with Primo Carnera, in Rome, on the fire.

Mat Thomas' Rites Set This Afternoon

Burial services for Mat Thomas, 79, a former Lubbock county resident who died Monday afternoon at the home of a daughter-in-law in Tahoka, were to be conducted this afternoon in Lubbock cemetery.

Survivors are the widow; four sons, Mat Thomas, jr., of Tahoka, John E. Thomas of Post, Chester Thomas of Valley Mills, Tex., and D. J. Thomas of Hurst Springs, Tex.; four daughters, Mrs. C. H. Beatty of Tahoka, Mrs. Leslie Jones of Valley Mills, Mrs. S. C. Miles of Rockdale, Tex., and Mrs. B. J. Eaves of Salado, Tex., and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. R. Thomas, 1809 Avenue S.

BORGER PLAYS ARE USED BY COWHANDS

WESTERNERS GIVEN A TASTE OF BULLDOG GRID SYSTEM

The Lubbock Westerners got an eyeful of Borger High school's football style yesterday when they scrimmaged against Coach Swede McMurry's Cowhands. Lubbock meets Borger's Bulldogs Friday night at Borger in the opening conference game.

Having scouted the Bulldog team last week, McMurry came home to teach the queer system to his Cowhands, who shifted smoothly and with exactness yesterday in demonstrating the "Southern California" style as adopted by Coach Albert Ackers of Borger.

Chapman Pleased

At times the Cowhands, among whom are several of the best high school gridders in Lubbock, although ineligible this season for the Westerner team, made the senior team look bad, but Coach Chapman appeared pleased with the way his club was catching on and solving the intricacies of the rather weird formations, shifts and huddles.

Lining up like a squad of infantry, wringing their hands, the Cowhands, four men on the line and seven in the secondary, would first coil, and then emerge with some sort of fake, delay, or end-around from a single wing back or punt formation.

Several times plays with White, Gear, or Coach Chapman lugging the ball, showed how deceptive the formations could be when properly executed.

To Use Same Lineup

Strong indications are that the Westerner lineup this weekend will be the same as the one that faced Abilene last Saturday. Calhoun, reformed end, although he sometimes looks a little ragged, is doing well enough at a halfback position, and Whitehorn, although he's not too torrid on the pass-snatching, is capable of filling Calhoun's vacated wing assignment.

No major injuries have cropped up since the Eagle tilt, although Griner's trick knee seems no better than it was two weeks ago.

"Donkey baseball," in which the players are mounted on trained donkeys, has become popular as a stunt sport in the Southwest.

FOOTBALL PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press)

HISTORY MAY REPEAT

PRINCETON, N. J.—Saturday's Princeton - Columbia game may bring a chance for history to repeat itself if William W. Roper, jr., sophmore candidate for an end position, gets in. It was against Columbia in 1900 that his father, later Princeton coach for many years, made one of his greatest plays. He grabbed a Columbia fumble and ran 35 yards for a touchdown, but it wasn't quite enough to win the game.

WORK IN SECRET

ANN ARBOR, Mich—The newspapermen around the Big Ten are expecting to see plenty of new plays when Michigan and Ohio state clash this week. The first entirely secret practice at Michigan in several years was scheduled for today while all spectators, including reporters, have been barred from the Ohio stadium for several days.

NOT SATISFIED

PITTSBURGH — Even though Pittsburgh defeated Navy 34-6 last week, Coach Jock Sutherland apparently wasn't satisfied. He made three changes in the first team yesterday, replacing Bob Hogan at quarter-back with Miller Munjas sending Henry Weisenbaugh to fullback in place of Izzy Weinstock and giving Bob Joel the tackle berth held by John Meredith.

SCORING PLAYS STRESSED

UNIVERSITY, Va.—Six points in two games weren't enough for Virginia even if the opposition was tough. Henee the Cavaliers have been receiving special instruction in scoring plays to be used when they penetrate into enemy territory.

TICKETS GOING FAST

NEW YORK—Columbia's followers seem to think the Princeton game will be worth seeing. Already 4,000 tickets have been sold here, the largest sale on record for one of the Lions' out of town games.

JOKE REPLACED

CHICAGO—The old favorite joke used to be "Stagg fears Purdue" but now its Clark Shaughnessy doing a little serious thinking about Chicago's clash with the Boilermakers. The new Chicago coach nas been working up a brand new set of plays to use Saturday.

THREE VIE FOR PASS HONORS

NEWMAN, HERBERT AND FRIEDMAN IN RACE IN PRO LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP)—A couple of quarterbacks who were all-America selections in their college days at Michigan, Benny Friedman and Harry Newman, are waging a close fight with Arnold Herbert for the lead in forward passing in the National Professional Football league.

Newman, in five games with the New York Giants, has completed 17 passes in 39 attempts for a gain of 353 yards while Herbert, Green Bar star, has completed 27 in 57 for 371 yards. Friedman, now with the Brooklyn Dodgers, has a higher average than either of his rivals, completing nine out of 11 for a gain of 165 yards but has played in only two games.

Paul Moss, former Purdue end now with Pittsburgh, and Luke Johnsos of the Chicago Bears, set the pace as pass receivers. Each has caught nine, Johnsos for a gain of 153 yards and Moss for 143.

Cliff Battles, former West Virginia Wesleyan flash and Jim Musick, of Southern California, furnish two big reasons why the Boston Redskins have outgained all rivals. Battles has gained 447 yards while Musick with 273 is his closest rival. Joe Lillard of the Chicago Cardinals and Ace Gutowsky of Portsmouth, are next with 238 yards.

FARMERS WILL GO TO PEN

CASS COLEMAN, WILL CASEY CONVICTED OF HARBORING KELLY

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 18. (AP)—Two farmers, Cass Coleman and Will Casey, among the last defendants convicted in the government's swift web of evidence involving persons connected with the kidnaping and $200,000 ransom of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoman, today awaited transfer to Leavenworth penitentiary.

They were sentenced late yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Atwell for harboring "Machine Gun" George Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, both now serving life sentences for their part in the Urschel kidnaping, while the Kellys were still fugitives.

Casey Gets Two Years

Casey, 60, who had pleaded not guilty and claimed he did not know the man who rented a small house on his farm was Kelly, must serve a two-year sentence. Coleman, 43, father of ten children, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of a year and a day. It was on his farm that federal agents recently dug up $73,250 of the Urschel ransom money. Coleman claimed he helped Kelly bury it because he feared for his life.

Ed R. Goss, deputy United States marshall, said the two prisoners would be transferred to Leavenworth prison tomorrow. Kelly, Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates, all are now serving life sentences in the same prison for the Urschel kidnaping.

"I have learned a lesson," was Casey's cryptic statement when he received sentence. Coleman expressed concern for his wife and children. He is an uncle of Kathryn Kelly.

California Wine Gurgles Dirge for Prohibition

YOUTH IS HELD FOR MURDERS

PARENTS, SISTER AND TWO BROTHERS ARE KILLED WITH AX

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Victor Licata, 21, was under arrest today on a charge of murder after his parents, two brothers and a sister were killed with an axe in their home here Tuesday.

The dead: Michael Licata, 47, the father, owner of a downtown barber shop; the mother, Mrs. Rosalie Licata, 44, a sister, Providence Licata, 22, and the brothers, Philip, 14 and Jose, 8.

Officers who broke into the house at noon after being called by the neighbors found the parents and Jose and Providence dead. Philip died in a hospital last night. Victor was found in the bathroom of the home, crouching on the floor. He quietly submitted to arrest.

Lunacy charges were filed against Victor last year, but had been withdrawn at the request of the family.

Buster Keaton To Wed Former Nurse

VENTURA, Calif., Oct. 18. (AP)—Buster Keaton, screen comedian, has filed notice of intention to marry Mrs. Mae Scrivens Hawley, his former nurse.

Slipping into the courthouse he asked the deputy clerks not to reveal his presence, but was recognized by a newspaperman. He gave his age as 38 and that of Mrs. Hawley as 28.

Under the California law the marriage ceremony cannot take place before Saturday. January 8 the couple was married at Ensenada, Mexico. But that was nine months before his divorce from Natalie Talmadge became final, so the two returned to California to live a "companionate life" until their marriage was legal here.

The divorce became final last month.

At one time, Mexico had more territory than the United States.

FRANCE ANSWERS ARMS PROPOSAL

PARIS, Oct. 18. (AP)—If Germany reaches an arms accord with France she'll do it at Geneva.

That, in brief, was the reply Premier Edouard Daladier had given today to proposals for separate Franco-German negotiations.

"France," said M. Daladier in a burning attack on Reich foreign policy, "will be in Geneva Oct. 26" when the disarmament conference is resumed.

"If Germany is ready to destroy all armaments (as Chancellor Adolph Hitler has said), why," the Premier demanded before the chamber of deputies, "do they withdraw from the conference just when we drafted a plan?"

Near Verdun France, is a sacred bit of ground protected by a monument. At this place a detachment of French soldiers was buried alive by a German shell and, to this day, their bayonets and rifle barrels may be seen protruding from the earth.

WHETHER WOMEN WILL BE ADMITTED TO METHODIST MINISTRY UP TODAY

CARLSBAD, N. M., Oct. 18. (AP)—Whether women shall be admitted to the ministry in the Methodist church, south, and whether bishops shall be elected for life or for a limited term will be among the important questions before the annual conference of the church for this district, opening here today.

Delegates who will be selected at the conference will vote next year at the general conference of the church on these two and other important questions of policy. Four lay delegates and four clerical delegates will be named at the closing session of the meeting Sunday.

The general conference will be held in Jackson, Miss., during the latter part of next April.

Ministrial appointments for the coming year will also be announced Sunday.

All churches in Colorado, New Mexico and western Texas will be represented at the conference. One of the actions expected to be taken this week is the extension of the Colorado district to take in the churches as far south as Albuquerque.

Thought For Today

Wherefore I also said, I will not drive them out from before you; but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you.—Judges, 2:2-3.

It is not designed that the road should be made too smooth for us here upon earth.—Jane Porter.

Melodrama, Facts

A good many people have toyed lately with the idea that the news-hungry citizen ought to be able to sit at home in his arm chair and have the news of the day wafted to his receptive ears from the loud-speaker of his radio.

In theory, it's not a bad idea. In practice, it seems to be a completely non-explosive dud.

Not long ago a gang of convicts escaped from the Indiana state prison.

An Indiana radio station immediately set to work to broadcast the story of the man hunt.

The man hunt wasn't having a great deal of luck right at the moment, and some radio official decided that the listeners-in deserved more excitement than the plain facts were likely to provide. So that part of the public which tried to get its news out of the loud-speaker began to hear a wild and woolly tale of a running gun battle, with a juicy slice of trumped-up melodrama substituted for facts.

* * *

As a result, the listeners-in were hoaxed and the enforcement officers who were trying to catch the convicts found the work seriously hampered.

In a protest to the Federal Radio Commission, Capt. Matt Leach of the Indiana state police asserted:

"This broadcast seriously interfered with the work of the 65 state police under my command and a considerable number of other enforcement officers... We wasted several hours of precious time... Telephone wires of the state police at their barracks in Chesterton, Ind., were tied up for several hours by persons who apparently had heard the broadcast and were calling for information."

* * *

So the net result of all this was that the attempt to catch the convicts was hampered, some scores of citizens were frightened badly—and nobody knew just what was happening until the daily papers came around with the real facts in the case.

This is just the sort of thing that has happened over and over again in radio news broadcasts. The Los Angeles earthquake some time ago took on the proportions of one of the great disasters of all time—until the newspapers came out with the truth.

Wild-eyed announcers have told us of frenzied and sensational prize fights—which, next day, turned out to be affairs so spiritless and slow that the participants were almost tossed out of the ring for failing to try. The Indiana man hunt was a desperate gun battle—until the newspaper reporters turned in their reports.

So it goes. The loud-speaker may be a fine medium for hearing feminine-voiced tenors and third-rate vaudeville. For accounts of the day's news, it seems to be a good deal less than reliable.

NO matter how serious the situation, there is usually a flash of humor if you look for it.

A Lubbock youth, now working in Oklahoma City, was attracted to the recent trial of George 'Machine Gun' Kelly, as were hundreds of others, and he happened to be on hand immediately after the jury's verdict to watch the super-gunman as he was chaperoned from the federal building to the patrol car, which was to bear him away.

There was quite a crowd on hand as heavily armed guards escorted Kelly down the steps toward the waiting 'hoodlum wagon'.

Just as the march down the sidewalk began a tattered newsboy, not more than 10 years old, jumped out in front of the throng and the prisoner, crying his wares.

"Extry! Extry!" he screamed. "Read all about the verdict in the trial of 'Popgun' Kelly! Extry!"

The Lubbock youth wrote relatives here describing the scene.

"Kelly", he reports, "got red as a beet at the "Popgun' part of the newsboy's spiel but for once in his life he couldn't do anything about it!"

* * *

Ping pong is advocated as a sure cure for stuttering. All that remains to be discovered now is a sure cure for ping pong.

* * *

YOU can lay a bet on this: Postmaster-General Jim Farley and the other Democratic bigwigs now on a goodwill tour of several Southern states, will remember, long after the tour is over, the treatment they will get Friday in Uvalde, sleepy little Southwest Texas home of Vice-President John Nance Garner.

Long after they have forgotten the flowery speeches, the soft music and the luxurious surroundings of their visits in Dallas, in Houston, Ft. Worth and San Antonio, members of the Farley entourage will remember Uvalde.

The reason is: the visitors are all used to banquets, to fine hotels, to soothing oratory and all that stuff—but they're not used to the simple, satisfying brand of hospitality they dish out in Uvalde.

* * *

Furthermore, they're used to express elevators and great buildings—many times larger than even those boasted by Heavenly Houston—but they're not used to seeing oceans of open country, or great formations of native rock like they'll see around Uvalde.

And these visitors, accustomed to world championship prize fights, world series ball games and all that sort of thing, are not accustomed to rodeos like they'll see in Uvalde.

Boy, they've got a real treat coming down there—one that will almost make up for having to applaud the oratorical efforts of every major politician in Texas at the Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston and San Antonio gatherings!

* * *

INSTEAD of being awed at meeting the Postmaster-General and various members of the Roosevelt 'Little Cabinet', the West Texans down there at Uvalde will walk right up, treat their guests like they treat anybody else—and will make them feel at home.

They're used to calling a vice-president by his first name down there and aren't likely to be very nervous or to try to put on a forced style.

* * *

Deep-chested Ross Brumfield will look up from a car he's working on in his garage, wipe a hand on his coveralls, and shake the paws of the visiting celebrities without giving it a second thought. For he's used to hunting and fishing not only with the "Cavalier of the Chaparral," as John Garner is dubbed, but with guys like Will Rogers, too. And he walks into Neighbor John's house without knocking!

Lee and Jake Schwartz, who run the general store across the street and who are among Mr. Garner's most trusted intimates, will amble up in their shirt-sleeves to greet their visitors. If they like 'em, they will take the boys over to Harry Hornby's newspaper plant for a bull session about the last banquet of the volunteer fire department!

* * *

IF Mr. Farley and his gang are as fed up on stiff formality as they should be, after long sojourns in Washington, they're going to have the time of their lives in Uvalde and will take home many pleasant memories and anecdotes for the folks to enjoy.

The big cities may put on more 'dog' than Uvalde but they won't please and entertain the trained political seals any better than that placid, pretty little place tucked deep into the cow and sheep country—where there's no tell-tale varnish to rub off!

NOT long ago it was mentioned in this column that staid, conservative England is keeping an eye on the NRA, with the end in view of copying the Rooseveltian plan if it is entirely successful in this country.

Now it appears that France, too, is closely watching the great social experiment and is even more interested in it than is England.

Already legislation embodying many NRA principles has been introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies.

Action of France and England bears out the statements made by many world leaders that Franklin Roosevelt is not only the hope of this country, but also is the hope of the world.

Certainly from a world-wide standpoint, the present chief executive is the greatest American since Wilson and it is not unlikely that he will become even more of a world figure than the war president, whose star waned before its time.

ONE of our last June's brides pounded on her mother's door about midnight last night and mama let her in.

"What's the matter, daughter?" the old lady asked. "What are you coming here for this time of night?"

"Oh, it's about my husband," the bride wailed, near hysteria. "He's been gone from home all evening and I haven't the slightest idea where he is!"

The mother, having been married to an ordinary type of man for 25 years, breathed a sigh of relief.

"You mustn't worry about that, my dear", she consoled. "You'd probably be twice as miserable if you did know where he is!"

Red Flame Comes To Washington Again, Flickers Softly, And Adds But Little Of Either Heat Or Light To Scene

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column, is being conducted by Willis Thornton during Rodney Dutcher's vacation.

* * *

BY WILLIS THORNTON
The Evening Journal's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 — The Red Flame came to Washington again the other day, flickered softly, and added but little of either heat or light to the national scene.

The Red Flame, in case you don't know, is Ann Burlak, blond Communist organizer, who is being promoted as the Clara Zetkin of America. Ann has done yeoman service in the cause of the American Communists, and was one of the leaders of last year's "hunger march." This most recent visit was a different story.

In the beautiful sunshine of an autumn morning, a line of some 250 people, marching in twos, approached the Commerce Building. From time to time they burst into songs or cheers as directed by a cheer leader, who hopped nimbly about on the flank.

A police motorcycle escort preceded them. A small, unimpressive man led, carrying an American flag.

Behind him marched Ann Burlak. She is a short, stockily built young woman of about 25, her muddy-blond hair hanging about her neck, shoulder-length. She wears a neat blue knit dress and a blue coat-sweater about it.

* * *

Not Like Hoover Days

Courtly policemen meet the procession at the door, and the singing of "WE were only playing LEAP-frog!" stops. (Only it isn't leap-frog—it used to be when you and I were kids—now it is "SOL-idarity for-EV-er!")

A policeman snaps to a stiff salute as the flag approaches the door. Another informs Miss Burlak that seats have been reserved for them at the hearing (they are here to protest proposed modifications of the textile code.)

"It wasn't like this when Hoover was in," observed Miss Burlak dryly, in a deep-throated contralto. The flag is rolled up; the party files into the auditorium for the hearing.

They take a block of seats, and with considerable shushing, get a "captain" in each aisle seat. A carton of cigarets is broken out at the head and passed back to the "captains," so all will have plenty of smokes. Miss Burlak bustles, registers with the conductors of the hearing.

When General Johnson enters to conduct the hearing, they applaud, but this evidently is a mistake, for after he has spoken . . . "We wish to arrive at some sort of arrangement, just to all, that will bring peace to industry" . . . there is silence in the Communist seats.

* * *

Even A. F. of L. Cheered

The Communist marchers cheer loudly, interrupting a speech by Donald Richberg, when a large A. F. of L. delegation enters. Communists hate the A. F. of L. like poison, but cheering them when they are on a similar errand as your own creates an impression that you tolerantly approve their belated rightness. That's part of the new Communist technique. Probably it is, in Communist ideology, SOL-idarity for-EV-er.

* * *

Hunger March Forecast

Police here are expecting a new Communist-led hunger march, probably in January, to greet Congress. . . . Detectives went to Cleveland to attend a convention of unemployed councils. . . . Police Superintendent Ernest Brown is making his preparations . . . last year he stopped the march in the suburbs. . . . Miss Burlak was one of the "heroes" of the affair . . . she'll be back. . . . The long-depressed textile industry is leading all other industries toward recovery, trade analysts report. . . . Funny, but you may remember that it was the first to sign a permanent code . . . and now Standard Statistics is predicting for it the best year since 1924. . . . One man is hoping the Department of Justice is right in saying that prohibition repeal requires no formal proclamation by the secretary of state . . . he's the secretary of state, Cordell Hull, a conscientious and devoted dry. . . . Marie Dressler made a big hit with the White House secretaries during her recent visit . . . she had to do a lot of autographing. . . . We should have known it — Secretary Eynon of the Senators was wild the day the Nats came down from New York because the Giants' train got in first — it's regarded as bad luck—and it must have been.

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

SLATON MAN UPHOLDS POSITION OF RAILWAYS

Dear Plainsman: Since no other form of transportation can assume the tax burden borne by the railroads in the State of Texas, it would seriously impair the financial structure of the school system of the state if unfair competition should force the railroads to abandon some of their branch lines in the state, or West Texas. Think what a loss would befall the adjoining counties to Lubbock if the great transportation systems should have to abandon their branch lines through lack of revenue which is going to the truck lines.

Analysis of our tax rolls shows the railroad companies are the heaviest tax payers and are the first to make their payments from which our school funds get their money for paying our teachers, thereby keeping our schools open. Fortunately the railroads thus far are not delinquent in their payments in our county.

Now, how much taxes do the trucks and busses contribute to the school funds? Therefore, I want to call to the attention of our business firms and representatives to our legislature from Lubbock and adjoining counties the fact that if our railroads keep on losing revenue to trucks and busses they will be forced to curtail expenses either by cutting off trains or abandoning the line altogether. To encourage or to permit any other form of transportation to operate in the state will automatically reduce the tax paying power of our railroads, and unless this substitute form of transportation pays to the public treasury an amount equivalent to the money in the form of taxes coming to us from the railroads the financial structure of the schools will be dangerously impaired.

An excerpt from Railroad Data shows that in Box Elder county, Utah, the railroads pay an annual tax of $305,000, while the tax from competitive truck and bus lines is only $119.26 for the year of 1932. Now where would Lubbock county be if such competition were allowed to go on the way merchants and business firms are leading it by patronizing truck competition? I am sure the tax payers of West Texas will, with one view, protest against any further burden upon their shoulders. Another instance must be pointed out: the tax payers are taxing themselves to build highways for their own pleasure and accomodation. But what has happened? These highways are being used, disintegrated and monopolized by carriers who contribute practically nothing for construction and maintainence.

As you well know, the great railroad systems are greatly impaired. A co-ordinator has been named to help them work out their problems. One of these problems is the abandonment of unprofitable lines and branches, which means if any branch is abandoned it will cease paying taxes, which are lost forever and will be from assuming any bond or indebtedness in such county.

From this I believe it is obvious that the Interstate Commerce commission, the merchants and business firms of the surrounding territory, who are contributing to unfair competition, hold the future of the school system in their hands.

G. L. Garrigues,
Slaton.

(Dear Mr. Garrigues: Thanks for your letter which touches upon an acute problem of the day. But did it ever occur to you that there is an unwritten law based upon "the survival of the fittest?" And have you ever considered that railroad managements, generally, have clung to age-old methods of operation, have not done much to improve their position save howl to high heaven? We all know we need the railroads, but where would this particular part of the country be without better passenger and freight service than offered by the railways? Yours truly, The Plainsman.)

Under The Capitol Dome

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—Carl C. Hardin of Stephenville was a member of the legislature for 10 years, but he isn't there now. There are many persons, both former constituents and lobbyists, who believe he still is "sitting in" on the law-making game.

During the late special session he received scores of telegrams and letters requesting that he support or oppose certain legislation. Hardin has attended the regular and special sessions of the legislature since he ceased to be a senator last January. He is interested in certain legislation, but as an observer, not as a member of the senate.

Hardin served in the house during the 38th session of the legislature. His constituents liked his work in the lower branch so well he was elevated to the senate and saw service there during the 39th, 40th, 41st and 42nd legislatures. He was succeeded in the 43rd legislature by Roy Sanderford of Belton.

Lights Out Early

Did you ever drive into your capital city at night and observe the illuminated dome of your red granite capitol building erected 50 years ago in exchange for some 3,000,000 acres of West Texas land?

If you have you know what a pretty view that is. But of late, the board of control in a spree of economy, has ordered the flood lights extinguished after 9 o'clock at night.

Not only has the board of control shortened the night-life of the pretty dome, but it has, for some reason, placed a bright light in the upper dome, just under the feet of the goddess of justice, which cuts that statue off completely at night. That bright light appears as if it belongs in a lighthouse, not a capitol dome.

Skunk Pays Way

CHICAGO.—From Hanover, Kas., came John J. Hatke, a farmer, yesterday explaining that he paid off the mortgage on the farm and financed his trip to the World's fair by catching a skunk.

He skinned the animal and won a major prize of $750 in an animal fur show sponsored by a mail order house.

30 Souls, 2 Women

NEW YORK—The old superstition about women bringing bad luck to sailing vessels is shattered, says Alan Villiers, author, who took part in this years grain race from Australia to England on the bark Parma.

Seventeen ships made the 15,000 mile passage and the race was the most successful in history. This despite the fact that five women made the race.

"We carried two women on the Parma," he said. "The old man said we had thirty souls aboard and two women."

BUS NEWS

DID YOU KNOW—
That the Bus Companies have not used the N.R.A. to boost fares? In fact, our fares are lower than they have ever been and we are carrying more passengers than we have carried since 1929. Because of the N.R.A. we have had to employ a number of extra people and it is costing us more to operate, but the increase in our business will more than off-set the additional cost of operation.

FLOYD OFFERS TO GIVE UP

"PRETTY BOY" WOULD SURRENDER IF DEATH WOULDN'T BE ASKED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—"Pretty Boy" Floyd, a name temporarily crowded out of Oklahoma's crime news by the "Machine Gun" Kellys and Harvey Bailey, was back today, linked with a story of wounds and a spurned offer to surrender.

Gov. William H. Murray said the desperado, wanted for murder and bank robberies of not-so-recent date, had offered to "give himself up" through an emissary after a state operative had wounded him in a gunfight near Coalgate, Okla., several weeks ago. But the surrender offer, said Murray, was on the condition the state would not seek the death penalty.

"I couldn't make a deal like that," the governor added. "We'll get him, though."

Murray, who disclosed neither the name of the Floyd intermediary nor the identity of the officer who, he said, wounded "Pretty Boy" in the leg and shoulder, declared the outlaw was hiding in the southeastern Oklahoma hills.

Although he was blamed for the murder of Erv Kelly, former McIntosh county sheriff and a wave of bank hold-ups in 1931 and 1932, little has been heard from Floyd since George Birdwell, his chief lieutenant, was shot to death in a bank raid in the all-negro community of Boley a year ago.

READHIMER TRIAL

larly in 1929 and that they were engaged to be married in April, 1930.

With but little questioning from her attorney, she related the incident of the first intercourse with Stokes Campbell on the night of the primary election in Floydada in August, 1932.

"We drove out about a mile and a half west of Floydada," she said, "and he stopped the car . . . and we sat there . . . and he was loving me . . . and asked me to submit to him . . . said he didn't see why I wouldn't . . . and he begged and begged and we got out of the car . . . and then . . . we got back to town about 11:30."

"Had any person ever had intercourse with you?," Dupree asked, and the girl replied, "No." She said Stokes tried to nave intercourse with her many times before and after that.

"Felt Disgraced"

"But I told him, I was never going to do anything like that again," she said, "I felt disgraced, and he said there wasn't anything wrong because we loved each other and were going to get married as soon as he finished high school."

She then told of the other time, on the night of October 8, when the act was repeated in the Daugherty community. At this point, the defense introduced a 1932 calendar in evidence.

The child in the witness' arms woke up and began to fret and cry but became quiet when she placed a bottle of milk in its mouth, but upon the suggestion of an attorney, the child was carried from the room.

The girl testified she learned of her condition about two weeks later and went to the boy and told him and asked him to marry her, but that he promised to get her some medicine.

"I told him I thought that was wrong," she said, "and asked him again to marry me. . . . I saw him most every Saturday night after that. . . . And I asked him again and again to marry me. . . . And he kept telling me he'd get me some medicine and if he didn't he'd marry me and save our families from disgrace. . . . And I loved him and trusted him so much."

"Seemed Indifferent"

She recalled one time during the Christmas holidays of 1932 when she was with him and again asked him to marry her and he said he was afraid his mother would never consent. She testified she saw him in February, 1933, in Floydada, and talked to him about her condition and asked him to marry her that time and he "began to seem cold and indifferent to me." Later, she said, she talked with him again and he told her he didn't intend to marry her and that the disgrace would be on her and the best thing she could do was to get rid of herself.

She said that it was soon after that when she went to Matador and registered in a hotel under an assumed name.

"Why did you go to Matador?" Dupree asked.

"With the intention of getting some poison."

"Had you told anyone of your condition except Stokes?"

"No."

Told Her Brother

The girl then related how she went to Amarillo to visit her grandmother and how she told her brother, the defendant, of her condition when he came to get her about two weeks later and on the day before the killing.

"Oh, he was killed over it and said, 'I never dreamed anything like this would happen'," she sobbed. She said her brother cried and cried after she told him and then said he would try to get Stokes to marry her.

She told of coming back to another brother's home in Hale county, "because I couldn't face mama in the condition I was in." She then related how her brother, Lloyd, his wife, and her mother came to her brother's home that night about dark and getting her ready to go with Stokes to Clovis to get married and how they learned of the shooting late that night.

"Still Loved Him"

"Did you love Stokes Campbell then?" Dupree asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Had any man ever put his hands on you except Stokes Campbell? Had any man or boy ever kissed you except Stokes Campbell?"

"No."

"When was your baby born?"

"The second of July." At this point, another calendar, one for 1933, was introduced in evidence by the defense.

"That was your baby you had in your arms, Grace?" Dupree asked her and she replied affirmatively.

"Who was the father of that baby?"

"Stokes Campbell."

On cross-examination, the witness ceased sobbing slightly and gave short answers to questions by Special Prosecutor G. E. Hamilton. She said she was engaged to Stokes Campbell continuously from April, 1930, until he was killed, and denied ever loving Joe Noel.

At this juncture, Hamilton began reading portions of letters she had written Noel in which she addressed him as "Dearest Joe," "Dearest One" and "Yours as ever, Grace." The witness sat with bowed head throughout the reading of the letters and looked up only when identification of the handwriting was sought by state's counsel. She admitted authorship of all the letters but said she never did tell him she loved him.

Denies Being Kissed

"Joe Noel never kissed you?," Hamilton asked.

"No, he tried to kiss me good night lots of times but I never would let him," she answered. She denied ever letting any other boys kiss her.

After a short recess, Defense Attorney Chas. Crenshaw sought to exclude the letters from the record but his motion was overruled.

Grace declared "Dearest One" was just a heading to the letters and that she had told Joe many times that she loved Stokes Campbell.

On re-direct examination, she said the letters she had written to Stokes were about like the ones she had written Joe. She said she destroyed all of Stokes' letters when she went to Amarillo, "because I had planned not to come back."

Dupree then began reading the other portions of the letters not introduced in evidence by the state and court recessed until 1:30. He was to resume reading the letters in the afternoon session.

Sid Claiborne has gone to Roswell, N. M., on business.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady, unchanged to 3 lower on disappointing cables and under commission house selling. Oct. 9.15; Dec. 9.26; Jan. 9.31; March 9.46; May 9.60; July 9.75.

There was a little southern selling and prices eased slightly after the call under realizing or reselling by some of yesterday's late buyers. December dipped to 9.20 making net losses of about 5 to 7 points on the more active positions, but the offerings were light and the market soon steadied on covering and trade buying. There was also some buying by New Orleans on the rally which carried December up to 9.38. Active months had net advances of 11 to 12 points at noon.

Reappearance of demand for July through brokers who were said to be operating for a government agency was followed by a sharp advance later in the morning. July sold up to 10.06 or 35 points above the low price of the morning and 29 points net higher, while the general list showed net advances of 22 to 25 points with December selling at 9.51. This advance brought increased offerings from the south or from spot house sources, however, and was followed by reactions. At midday December was ruling around 9.36 and July 9.86 with the market quiet at net advances of about 8 to 12 points.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Cotton opened steady although Liverpool was hardly as good as due. Sterling, however, advanced sharply. First trades here were one to two points up and the market improved slightly after the start. December trading at 9.22 and March at 9.43, or one to three points above yesterday's close.

Later, prices eased moderately on hedge-selling and in response to a very favorable weekly weather and crop report. December declined to 9.17 and March to 9.39, off 4 to 5 points from the opening highs and 2 to 3 points net lower.

Near the end of the first hour, the market developed a sudden upturn with trading active. This was attributed to a strong opening in wheat and reports of government buying in cotton. Shorts covered freely and by mid-morning, December had advanced to 9.48 and March to 9.68, or 29 to 31 points above the early lows and 26 to 29 points above yesterday's close.

Later in the morning, the market reacted owing to weakness of stocks and December dropped to 9.30 and March to 9.52, down 16 to 18 points from the highs to levels 10 to 11 points above the previous close. Near noon, some improvement in stocks caused a rally of 5 points.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. (AP) — Grain prices turned sharply upward today after a hesitant start. A majority of traders acted on opinions that the government buying of wheat had endid a critical situation, and that a much healthier market outlook was apparent. Opening at 3-8 decline to 1-2 gain, wheat sagged somewhat, and then rose all around. Corn started 1-4 off to 1 cent up, and subsequently showed a general advance.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP)—Stocks sagged wearily today, apparently having lost the spirit of recovery which sent them bounding upward late yesterday in the wake of rallying grains.

The cereals proved a neutral element, as did foreign exchange movemens and trade and industrial news. Some traders, strong proponents of the advance at the conclusion of the previous session, were not so sure when prices of leading equities displayed slipping tendencies during the early hours. Stock transactions were extremely dull and the side-lines appeared to be the favorite position of the more important speculators. Wheat, corn and other staples moved in a narrow range. Copper sounded a depressing note with another decline. The dollar held to a fractional range in foreign exchange dealings. Bonds were irregular.

Shares of U. S. Smelting dropped 5 points, and losses of around 3 were suffered by Union Pacific, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and National Distillers. Other recessions of 1 to 2 or more were recorded by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, American Can, Du Pont, U. S. Steel preferred, American Telephone, Deere, Chrysler, Johns-Manville, Liggett & Myers B, American Tobacco B, American Smelting Dome, McIntyre Porcupine, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Commercial Solvents and American Commercial Alcohol.

PRINCIPLES OF CHANCELLOR HITLER DEFENDED IN ANONYMOUS PAMPHLET

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Oct. 18. — An anonymous pamphlet which defended the principles of Chancellor Adolf Hitler and outlined a foreign policy for the new Germany aroused comment in international circles here today.

Titled "Germany's National Awakening," the booklet is printed in English.

Wide Distribution

It was given sudden importance through the declaration of the Journal Des Nations that numerous German organizations had urged world wide distribution to enlighten foreign peoples and restore their respect for Germany.

Even Napoleon, said one of the passages of the pamphlet, did not hit upon the corridor idea when setting up an independent Polish state.

Then the chapter on foreign policy set forth that one of the paramount aims of the new Germany is to attain "by way of treaty revision a more logical and less exasperating demarcation of Germany's eastern frontier."

Continuing, the pamphlet declared Germany "was robbed of its oversea possessions from which it obtained raw materials badly needed in German industry.

German public opinion regards the return of the colonies as an act of justice as well as a vital necessity, the pamphlet added, concluding that fusion of the "small German state of Austria with Germany is inevitable."

Their Dictatorship Plans Frustrated

It was all in vain that members of the Khaki Shirts lined up at Philadelphia as shown here, to hear their "Commander," Art J. Smith (right) give them orders to march to Washington and set up the president as "dictator of the United States." For, shortly after this picture was made, police raided Khaki Shirt headquarters, seized guns and ammunition, and arrested 21. The raid was made after authorities learned of an alleged plot to steal weapons from the Third Regiment Armory.

CLEAN FOOTBALL by JOCK SUTHERLAND, FAMOUS PITT COACH

A NEW supplemental note in the football rules says: "If the Kick develops from a running play, the kicker loses his special protection and is accorded only the same protection given any player."

This new ruling may cause several accidents before the season is over, unless kicks from running plays are eliminated entirely. The rule provides that a charging lineman who crashes through to break up a kick, and knocks down the kicker after blocking or partly blocking the kick, as part of a successfully executed play, is not liable to a penalty.

This leaves a big loophole for rough players, who might concentrate on the kicker after blocking the kick, and probably lay him out. The sporting game is a clean one, and the idea is to play the ball all the time, as is shown in sketch.

AUSTRIAN NAZI DRIVE BARED

MOVEMENT CONTINUES DESPITE HANDICAP OF PARTY DISSOLUTION

BY WADE WERNER

VIENNA, Oct. 18 (AP)—A nation-wide Nazi military organization has been developed in Austria, it was disclosed today, despite the handicap of the party's dissolution in this country.

The widespread movement came to light as government investigations continued into alleged Nazi plots at the Linz garrison and elsewhere to seize arms for use in "further action."

Officers Form Troops

Outstanding in the disclosures is the fact that Nazi storm troops no longer are being organized by civilians, but are in the hands of Austrian army officers—either active or recently retired.

Higher officers, it appeared, either are not involved or as a matter of policy are being shielded from compromising themselves. Lieutenants and captains make up the active membership.

A second fact is that these Nazi storm troops are officered by army men and drill regularly.

Kuernberger forest, near Linz, for example, has been the scene of such Nazi maneuvers.

A curious detail of these drills, investigators say, is the use of "Fascist heimwehr" sentries surrounding the drill ground in the middle of the forest to keep away casual hikers. These sentries of course are all Nazis disguised in the paraphernalia of Prince Von Star Hemberg's unoutlawed home guards.

Assemble At Daybreak

They customarily assemble at daybreak, arriving inconspicuously in small groups and departing similarly.

The third fact uncovered in the investigations, it was said, is that the under cover military organizations, it was said, is that the under cover military organization—enlisting civilians but organized from within the army and allegedly preserving contact with Germany—is divided into brigades.

(Lieutenant Franz Fritsch of Alpine regiment seven, arrested in connection with the Linz garrison plot, was acting commander of the upper Austrian brigade of Nazis.)

CUBAN RUMORS ARE DENIED

REPORTS OF TROUBLE IN PRISON UNTRUE, GOVERNMENT SAYS

HAVANA, Oct. 18. (AP)—Recurrent reports of trouble in the Isle of Pines prison, where most of the officers captured in the National hotel battle are imprisoned, categorically were denied by the government today.

Major Raimundo Ferrer, military aide to President Ramon Grau San Martin, declared "everything is going fine at the Isle of Pines and contrary reports are just plain rumors."

The most persistent rumor was that some of the soldiers guarding the imprisoned officers had refused to obey orders of the newly appointed leaders, declaring the imprisoned men were their rightful commanders.

Meanwhile, authorities continued their search for those guilty in a bomb explosion which shattered the window in an American owned ten-cent store during a strike of store employes.

The fight of the student directory to oust Chief of Police Uncienceno Franco for Mario Labourdette, 30-year-old student, appeared at a standstill.

NEW TATUM DOCTOR

TATUM, N. M., (Special)—Dr. Henry Payne of San Rita has moved here and will begin the practice of medicine. He will be located at the James Drug store.

E. A. Patterson, seed broker here, reports. The rate is one third less than the former rate and will be effective until December 8.

JAPANESE BUY COTTON

A large proportion of the present purchases of cotton in this area is by Japanese firms. The Japan Cotton Co. is making good purchases through its local representative, R. L. Stephenson.

TREATMENT OF JEWS IN GERMANY MAY BE BROUGHT BEFORE LEAGUE SESSIONS

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY

GENEVA, Oct. 18 (AP)—A European diplomat who was reared and educated in Chicago, Stephen Osusky, minister for Czechoslovakia in France, probably will bring about a discussion of the treatment of the Jews in Germany by raising the question of minorities before the coming session of the League of Nations assembly.

Germany has signed no treaty concerning the protection of minority peoples except a convention with Poland affecting only Upper Silesia whereby each country agrees to extend equal rights to racial and religious minorities in its territory.

No Bond On Germany

But Germany is not bound as regards Germany proper.

The League steadily is building a code of international law and is determined to give publicity, at least, to any infractions of that code in whatever country they occur.

There is, moreover, an assembly resolution urging all members of the League to respect the rights of minorities whether or not they have subscribed to minority treaties.

Guards Against War

Minority treaties directly affect Czechoslovakia, Greece, Rumania and Yugoslavia. Clauses in the peace treaties call for the protection of minorities in Austria, Bulgaria, Hungary and Turkey. Albania and the Baltic states also have agreed to afford protection.

These obligations arose from the feeling of the great powers that unless the non-dominant population was assured equal treatment, the seeds of new disorders, or even wars, would be sown.

Rights of minorities as contained in existing treaties may be grouped under two heads.

The first includes general rights. These are the right to nationality, the right to life, personal liberty and freedom of worship; the equality of all nationals of the same country before the law and the right to use the minority language.

It is declared that differences of race, language or religion should not prejudice any national of the country in the admission to public positions, functions or honors or in the exercise of professions and industries. In towns or districts where there are many "minority" nationals this element shall be given an equitable share of state appropriations for educational, religious or charitable purposes.

The second category of rights includes special rights guaranteed to groups like the Jewish minorities in Greece, Poland and Rumania and the Moslem minorities in Albania, Greece and Yugoslavia.

ABOUT TEN LUBBOCK FIRMS NAMED IN COMPLAINTS TO NRA COMPLIANCE UNIT

The Lubbock NRA Compliance board has requested about 10 Lubbock firms, named in complaints to the board, to report a state of facts from which the complaints grew.

Two of the alleged NRA violations were for failure to pay minimum wages; seven or eight were for staggering of hours for employes.

Using as an example an organization which had an employe work from 8 to 11 a. m. and from 4 to 7 p. m., the board wired NRA headquarters for a ruling. The reply:

"Staggering hours is not permitted. Staggering hours is defined as "any unusual or extra arrangement of hours of labor of employes whether with respect to corresponding hours of other employes in the establishment or with respect to ordinary practices in the business or community."

The salute with the left hand is a deadly insult to Mohammedans.

OUTPUT OF TEXAS OIL FIELDS CUT

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—The output of Texas oil fields has been cut 7,445 barrels daily under the federal allotment to this state in order to prevent overproduction. The state railroad commission yesterday issued an order, effective immediately, placing the state's production at 957,555 barrels.

The commission ordered that all oil produced from any well will be charged against it regardless of the disposition made of the oil and directed that no allowance be made for clean-out, pick-up or treated oil.

The commission telegraphed Secretary Ickes pledging him its cooperation and expressing a "determination to get our production within the allocation set by the president."

Here And There ON COTTON ROW In Lubbock

COTTON BEING HELD

Holding of cotton by farmers is assuming large proportions, according to cotton brokers and buyers. The holding movement, which began several weeks ago when first rumors of 10-cent advances by the government were heard, has increased this week. Latest reports indicate more than 90 per cent of the ginnings since the week-end are being held by farmers. Prior to that time, the holding was estimated at 40 to 60 per cent for the previous week.

W. D. RAY RETURNS

W. D. Ray of New Orleans, representing Lehman, Stern and Co., is here for the season. Mr. Ray has bought cotton in Lubbock before and has a wide acquaintance among local buyers.

ASSIGNED TO LUBBOCK

A. E. Koehler, College Station, with the division of agricultural economics of the U. S. D. A., has been assigned to Lubbock to gather statistics for his department. He expects to be located here for the next several months. Mr. Koehler was stationed here last year.

DIRECTORY ISSUED

The 1933-34 season "cotton Row" directory, has been issued by R. B. Pirtle. It contains the names of 15 broker firms with 21 men and 43 buyer firms and about 53 men. The larger firms are represented here this year. Copies have been placed in all of the offices along the row and also at strategic points over the city. The information gives the telephone numbers of both residence and officers of all regular buyers.

HIGHER PRICES SEEN

The price of cotton will probably go above the "pegged" price of 10 cents a pound, in the opinion of George Finberg, who bases his belief on past performances. "In 1926, after the big crop was made" he pointed out, "the government set the price at 9 cents as the value of cotton. Cotton actually went through 9 cents and sold at above that figure. I believe that the government does not want to buy cotton at that price, but believes that the price it has set, ten cents, is a fair value. The price may go above that figure.

OBSERVES CONDITIONS

M. Boller, representative of a large Swiss concern engaged in weaving yarn and manufacturing high grade cloth, is here for two weeks observing South Plains conditions. He is making his headquarters with H. E. Blocker and Co.

BUYER IS ADDED

H. W. Browning has joined the force of R. B. Pirtle and Co. as one of the buyers. Mr. Browning has bought cotton for several seasons.

GINS ARE BUSY

Gins east of Lubbock are running 24 hours in many instances, according to O. W. Critenden, of C. E. Dean and Co. Cotton is being picked rapidly east of here, he said

NEW RATE IN EFFECT

A new cotton seed rate is in effect from this territory to the ports.

THE POLICE ARE LIARS!

Capt. John H. Ayers, head of New York City's BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS, admits he has deliberately hidden the truth from hundreds of mothers whose daughters he has rescued from a shameful fate! He has confessed this deceit in a thrilling true life story—just the kind of a story you'd expect from a man like that—and it has been made into a great motion picture. It's called "Bureau Of Missing Persons" and you'll get your first chance to see it at the Palace Theatre, Sunday. Lewis Stone plays the role of the Captain, Bette Davis is the girl who gets herself in a jam, and Pat O'Brien is the smart, young detective who "wants" her—and gets her. It's our opinion that a liar like Captain Ayers is a swell person—and if you agree with us, we urge you to see this picture.
