REST DEMANDED FOR TAXPAYER

Appeal For Peace In Grim Setting Of War

Here are Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler as they united today in an appeal for peaceful collaboration with all nations of good will. But in the background may be seen massed thousands of Hitler's German troops, ready for any emergency which might call them to take up arms. Hundreds of thousands were on hand for the joint speeches, given in Mayfield Olympic stadium.

Hitler And Il Duce Join Hands Urging Friendship Of Nations

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 28. — Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini have made friendship with England the cornerstone of their European policy, political circles of both declared today.

The two fascist leaders met at a very private luncheon at the summer home of Col. Gen. Hermann Goering, just outside Berlin, for an across the table talk before their world-wide broadcast — an appeal for peaceful collaboration with other nations—from Mayfield Olympic stadium.

Goering Joins Conversation

Goering, Hitler's chief aide, joined occasionally in the conversation.

The fascist chiefs agreed, well informed spokesmen said, to what might be termed a four-power pact by stages, to include England now, and later France.

The first stage is development of friendship between Rome and London. Premier Mussolini agreed to further forthcoming conversations with Britain and seek a definite accord which would straighten out their two-year-old difficulties in the Mediterranean — (difficulties begun with sanctions against Italy during the Ethiopian campaign.)

Hitler Also To Act

At about the same time, Hitler is to seek also to better relations with London.

The psychology to be pursued is two-fold — 1. To impress Premier Neville Chamberlain's government with the solidarity of the Italo-German lineup and its combined military strength. 2. To convince London this strength is not to be used against Britain, but that in conjunction with her it would serve to keep peace in Europe.

This is to be the first stage. The second isn't to come until the first is definitely concluded, and London is lined up with Berlin and Rome, not in a three-power pact but through Berlin-London friendship and Rome-London friendship. The second stage is to convince France it is to her interest to come into the London-Berlin-Rome alignment. Hitler and Mussolini appear to count on British influence over France to bring this about.

Would Exclude Russia

This, then, would make the four-power pact. An important feature of the plan, however, is that France would be asked to give up her defensive alliance with Russia before she could enter into the arrangement.

Official circles pictured the addresses by the two rulers this afternoon as an appeal for peaceful collaboration with all nations of "good will."

Nearly a million residents of Berlin thronged early toward Mayfield Olympic stadium to see and hear Hitler, the host, and Mussolini, the guest, in their world-wide broadcast.

Fourth Day Of Visit

It was the fourth day of the Italian premier's history-making, five-day visit of state to Germany.

The famous visitor, up early for activities preceding the joint appearance in Mayfield stadium, first inspected relics of Germany's proud military past at the historic Zeughaus on Unter Den Linden.

In that war museum, Il Duce saw weapons wielded by German warriors in conflicts from the time of Frederick The Great down to the World war. Then he motored west to Potsdam and visited the Sans Souci chateau of Frederick The Great.

Stadium To Be Crowded

En route, Mussolini saw hundreds

Meager Description Of Mystery Man In Gray Cap Offers Only Positive Clue In Kidnaping

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—A hotel bellboy's meager description of a mysterious man in a gray cap offered the only promising clue today to the kidnapers of wealthy Charles S. Ross.

The man talked to Ross in the Sycamore, Ill., hotel a few hours before the 73-year-old retired greeting card manufacturer was abducted on a highway a few miles west of Chicago Saturday night.

No demand for ransom had been received by the victim's distraught wife. The kidnapers' silence engendered a belief that Ross might have died from shock. He had suffered from heart disease.

The conversation between Ross and the man wearing a gray cap occurred at the Fargo hotel where the former had dined with his one time secretary, Miss Florence Freihage, 44.

Cecil Vandemere, 19-year-old bellboy, said the man approached him in the lobby and pointing at Ross asked:

"Do you know who that is? He looks like a man I used to know."

Vandemere replied he did not know the elderly man. Later he told police he was unable to tell whether

New And Heavier Taxes In Nation Are Hinted

Labor Battles Being Feared

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Sept. 28—Peace or war among American Federation of Labor building trades unions depended today upon the attitude of William Hutcheson, president of the powerful carpenter's union.

"Big Hutch," as the carpenter's chief is generally called among labor leaders, was expected to arrive tonight for a series of conferences with other construction craft chieftains.

Hope To Avert Break

They hoped to reach an understanding that would avert renewal of the break that divided the building trades unions into two warring camps two years ago.

Hutcheson has sent word to all the leaders of the A. F. of L. building trades department that he would oppose reelection of J. W. Williams, the department's president.

Williams, also a carpenter, ran for Hutcheson's job at their union's convention last fall at Lakeland, Fla. A group of carpenters opposed to Hutcheson's anti-New Deal activities supported Williams.

Is Conceded Defeat

Since Hutcheson controls the largest single block of votes in the building trades department convention, everyone concedes Williams' defeat—including Williams himself.

But many of the department's leaders are unwilling to allow Hutcheson to pick one of his lieutenants to succeed Williams.

If Hutcheson is willing to support a candidate agreeable to everyone, they say, internal strife may be

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 — The administration's two chief fiscal officers will urge President Roosevelt to balance the budget in the next fiscal year, informed officials said today, even if it requires new and heavier taxes.

These persons said Secretary Morgenthau and Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board are convinced a balance between income and spending is essential to bolster business confidence and permit a paring down of the $38,884,000,000 public debt.

Caused By Uncertainty

Although neither has commented on the recent stock market decline, authorities pictured both as believing this drop probably resulted in part from business uncertainty over the government's future fiscal course.

Morgenthau, seeking to eliminate the red-ink entries written on federal account books since 1931, already has started a series of conferences about balancing the budget in 1938-39.

The deficit stands now at $2147,000,000, compared with Mr. Roosevelt's estimate of $1418,000,000 for the entire fiscal year. Treasury authorities said they were hopeful the deficit could be held under the president's estimate, but expressed doubt that it could be eliminated entirely.

Shortage Of Cotton Pickers Is Reported In Floydada Section

(By Staff Correspondent)

FLOYDADA, Sept. 28.—Shortage of cotton pickers for handling the 1937 crop is seen by local ginners, said Homer Stein editor of the Floyd County Hesperian.

Steen said he had talked to ginners, who assured him there were not enough pickers in sight to begin crop harvesting.

Few Mexicans have come this way. "We may have to go down to Lubbock and get men," Steen said. "Our crops are good, best we have had in years, and we will need a lot of outside help."

Picking is expected to be well under way in Floyd county within the next three weeks. October 15 will see gathering in full swing.

Prospects are good for a big crop, ginners and farmers say. Yield will be good, owing to so much cotton on irrigated land. The dry land crop is equally good.

CITY JOINS FAIR CROWD

Attendance Is Expected To Get Boost

Stores, Schools And Offices In City Closed; Shallowater And Idalou Also Honored

Lubbock closed its doors at noon today to celebrate its own day at the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Schools were dismissed, banks were closed and most of the downtown business establishments declared a half-holiday for the occasion, which was expected to bring one of the largest daily attendance records in the history of the exposition.

Tomorrow Is Big Day

Only the gathering of tomorrow is likely to exceed today's figures. Wednesday will be Children's day as well as the special day for 15 of the city's neighboring towns, and if the turnstiles click fewer than 50,000

WEDNESDAY'S PROGRAM

Children's Day; also Slaton, Southland, Post, Tahoka, Lamesa, Brownfield, O'Donnell, Plains, Seagraves, Seminole, Gail, Ropesville, Wilson, Idalou and Shallowater Day.

9 a. m.—Grounds and exhibits open. Judging of Jersey cattle, and Hampshire and Spotted Poland China swine begins.

Noon — T. J. Tidwell carnival midway opens.

1:30 p. m. — Races and vaudeville acts at grandstand.

7:30 p. m. — Michael's Big City circus followed by fireworks in front of the grandstand.

times, fair association officials will be surprised. Last year, Children's day attracted 43,000 spectators, while the all time record for that occasion is 47,000, set in 1935.

Joining with Lubbock residents in the celebration which will continue until midnight tonight will be citizens of Idalou and Shallowater, and large gatherings from both of those communities was indicated by reports to the chamber of commerce.

Circus Closes Tonight

This afternoon and tonight offered the final opportunity to see Russell Brothers circus which will move on to Plainview Wednesday. Racing at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, the performance of Michael's Big City circus and the fireworks display in front of the grandstand starting at 9:15 p. m., and the Tidwell midway were other entertainment features on today's program, final event of the night will be Daredevil Daniels' free exhibition at the top of a 150-foot pole.

Exhibits continued the major attraction of the forenoon and were visited by thousands in the afternoon and evening. A particular center of interest were the livestock and swine barns where judging started this morning. Results, however, will not be tabulated until late this afternoon.

Judging Is Complete

In the Agricultural department, judging was completed in community exhibits, leaving only the individual displays to be passed upon. Frenship emerged first in the community contest, with Posey second and New Deal third.(AP) Judging of individual exhibits probably will be completed Wednesday.

Departure of the Russell circus tonight will mean a revision under which the fair has operated the first two days. Grandstand programs will start at 1:30 and 7:30 p. m., and will be much more elaborate than has been possible under the curtailed schedule Monday and today. The same situation will apply

Jap Bombings Condemned

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Sept. 28—The League of Nations assembly condemned Japanese aerial bombardment of China cities today by a moment of dramatic, solemn silence.

There was no formal vote.

Unanimous Approval

The Aga Khan, delegate from India and newly-elected assembly president, interpreted as a vote of unanimous approval the silence that followed presentation of the Sino-Japanese advisory committee's resolution of condemnation.

The assembly acted swiftly on the resolution. It had been adopted yesterday by the league advisory group on which the United States is represented in a consultative capacity.

The letter accompanying the text of the measure, from Foreign Minister William Munters of Latvia, president of the 23-nation Sino-Japanese committee, explained its purpose was to give delegates not represented on the committee an opportunity to subscribe to it.

Distress Is Expressed

The brief condemnation of Japanese aerial tactics in the undeclared war in China, as approved by the advisory committee, expressed "profound distress at the loss of life caused to innocent civilians, including great numbers of women and children, as the result of such bombardment."

The resolution declared "no excuse can be made for such acts, which have aroused horror and indignation throughout the world," and "solemnly" condemned such attacks.

Second Blood Transfusion For Patricia Maguire Ordered

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. (AP) — Hope for the recovery of Patricia Maguire waned today as physicians ordered a second blood transfusion for the dark-haired girl whose futile 67 month fight against sleeping sickness has been aggravated by pneumonia.

Dr. Eugene Traut, said he hoped today's transfusion would build up her strength to permit an operation for an abdominal tumor.

REQUEST IS GRANTED

COLUMBUS, Tex., Sept. 28 (AP) — Rep. J. J. Mansfield of Orange was notified today his request for an additional $10,000 for completing a survey of the Colorado river to Austin had been granted. Notification came from John C. Page, reclamation commissioner. Allocation of the fund has been made and the work will be continued without delay, Mansfield said.

First Formal Address For FDR Given

Broad Program For The Future Outlined In Speech Delivered At Site Of Power Project

(By The Associated Press)

BONNEVILLE DAM, Ore., Sept. 28—President Roosevelt stood on this great federal power - navigation project today and asserted its cost would be returned many times over in improved navigation, cheaper electricity, and distribution of power to "hundreds of small communities within a great radius."

The first formal address of his west coast trip, he tied in this $51,000,000 Columbia basin undertaking with his program for regional and national planning. He declared, too, that instead of spending half its income on armaments as some nations do, America was wiser in building such projects to give "more wealth, better living and greater happiness for our children."

Promises Balanced Budget

The president also:

Predicted through broader use of electric power a "wider geographical distribution of population" through the building up of smaller communties to prevent undue expansion of "over-large' cities with their high living costs and other disadvantages.

Promised a "definitely balanced' budget by the next fiscal year—July 1, 1938.

Forecast "ultimate development" of the St. Lawrence waterway for power and navigation improvement, a treaty on which with Canada was rejected by the senate several years ago.

Favors Use Of Power

Favored a policy of the "widest use" of power at Bonneville, Grand Coulee and other federal dams.

Re-advocated better land use and conservation of water resources.

Denied his proposal would "set up all powerful authorities which would destroy state lines, take away local government and make what people call a totalitarian or authoritarian or some other kind of a dangerous national centralized control."

"Most people realize,' he said on the latter point, "that the exact opposite is the truth—that regional commissions will be far more closely in touch with the needs of all the localities and all the people in their respective regions than a system of plans which originate in the capital of the nation."

Go From Ground Up

In other words, he added, the responsibility of the federal government for the welfare of its citizens "will not come from the top in the form of unplanned, hit or miss appropriations of money, but will progress to the national capital from the ground up—from the communities and counties and states which lie within each of the logical geographical areas."

The president led up to his prediction of a redistribution of populations by relating how New York state, when he was governor, discouraged persons in the vicinity of the proposed St. Lawrence dam from the idea of planning another great manufacturing city like Pittsburgh and a dopted a policy of the widest distribution of the power to benefit hundreds of smaller towns.

After predicting that every community in the Columbia basin would

Death Planned

"Maybe they've forgotten me," mused bald, bearded Willard Hyatt, 83-year-old Burlington, Mich., farmer, shown here waiting for death beside the tombstone he bought 18 years ago. Hyatt, who has outlived four wives, believed that because both his mother and father died when they were 80, he also would die at that age. So he had a stone cutter carve 1934 on the headstone as the date of his death. He lives on.

Swine Prizes Given Today

Club entries in the swine division were judged this morning by Fred Hale, College Station, swine specialist for the state extension service, at the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Homer E. Thompson, acting superintendent who took the place of C. B. Martin, Plainview, unable to be here, made the announcement of winners.

Winners Announced

Winners were:

Breeding Duroc-Jersey junior sow, first, Lee Lillard, Arlington.

rBeeding Poland-China, senior breeding sow, Lillard, first; Derrel Ward, Wilson, second.

Junior breeding sow, first, Lillard; second, Louis Countess, Idalou; third, Arnold Masker, Wilson.

Hampshire, junior breeding sow pig, Lillard.

Chester White, junior breeding sow, Eugene Heath, Hale Center, first; Lillard second.

Pat Pig club winners were;

Leo Wenzel, Slaton, first; Lillard, second; Heath, third.

Litter of five to eight; Wenzen, first; Countess, second; Heath, third.

Judging Of Livestock Starts At Fair This Morning

Judging of dual purpose or Milking Shorthorn, beef cattle and swine began this morning at the Panhandle-South Plains fair, with a small but interested group of farmers and breeders watching.

In the hog barn Fred Hale of College Station, experiment station swine specialist, watched the Duroc-Jerseys as Superintendent Doug Pounds had his charges sent into the judging ring. R. E. Prewitt, Quemado, secretary of the Panhandle Swine Breeders association, recorded placings. Clifton Cole is assistant superintendent.

Two Classes Judged

Out in the rear of the cattle barn two classes were being judged. Miles Milholan, Wildorado, milking shorthorn authority, called the places in the dual purpose contest. Frank Weil, Plainview, is superintendent and Raymond King, Floydada, assistant.

D. L. Stevens, Brownwood, a well known breeder, judged the Herefords. W. L. Stangel was superintendent and M. J. Williams, assistant.

Senate Group Asks Economy Before Taxes

Sharp Criticism Is Hurled At Governor Allred; Is Charged With Use Of Smoke Screen

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 28 — A senate committee investigating costs of state government recommended today the taxpayers be given a "rest."

Pointing to possibility of larger revenues from existing taxes and a need for "retracting $10,000,000 in excess moneys appropriated for the present biennium," Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, chairman, said the question of economics should come before raising additional revenue, express purpose of the aclled session.

Suggestions Are Given

The group suggested:

Abolishing the liquor board and transferring collections to the comptroller and enforcement to local officers at an estimated saving of $900,000.

Eliminating $500,000 from the rural aid appropriation.

Delaying operation of the teachers' retirement fund and aid to the needy blind and dependent children pending completion of a study of "actual needs and proper courses of procedure."

Revenue To Increase

Holbrook said revenue from oil alone would be $6,000,000 more than the last two years and gas, utilities and possibly ad valorem taxes would bring an $2,000,000 increase.

"Considering economies which ould be effected," he said, "the general fund deficit would be approximately $14,000,000 at the end of the biennium, without inluding increased tax collections."

The hcairman asserted new and increased taxes at this time would accelerate state spending whereas a deficit of not more than $14,000,000 would tend to prevent it.

Expenditures Doubled

He said expenditures had doubled in the past decade and citizens would pay $115,000,000 by Aug. 31, 1939, without more or higher taxes.

The ommittee urged legislation, if necessary, to expedite ollection of more than $20,000,000 delinquencies of which $10,000,000 could be gathered in two years to almost balance the general fund.

Holbrook said the report was preliminary to recommendations for setting up a simpler form of government at the next general session in 1939.

He harged Governor James V. Allred used a "smoke screen" by stressing deficits in his message to the legislature yesterday, adding the governor had approved bills increasing the tax burden by $10,000,000 and had asked $15,000,000 more for each of the next two years in face of his re-election on a campaign of economy.

Alarmed At Attitude

"I am both alarmed and chagrined at the governor's attitude on the matter of taxation which conerns the happiness and welfare of the people more than all other issues combined," he said.

In addition, the chairman asserted the governor had never prepared and submitted a budget to the legislature as required by law.

Other recommendations were:

Re-allocating to the general fund occupational tax revenues originally allotted to the school fund through "overzealousness" of legislators.

Setting a maximum ad valorem rate for school purposes to eliminate confusion.

Eliminating overlapping work of social welfare agencies.

Cutting off between 500 to 1,000 employees hired through "political pull."

Eliminating public relation directors in most departments.

Equalizing salaries of officers and employees.

Japan And Russia Ready For War

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Sept. 28 — Japan was estimated by foreign military observers in North China today to be mobilizing 600,000 troops for a possible clash with Russia as her armies claimed advances on all China fronts.

French army authorities at Tientsin, headquarters of the Japanese North China expeditionary force, reported the full strength of Japan in Korea and Manchoukuo, on the border of Soviet Siberia, was being placed on a war footing in the event Russia becomes embroiled in the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

(Dispatches from Tokyo said the war office had issued military ordinance "No. 41," affecting virtually every able-bodied man in Japan and prolonging military service indefinitely for all officers and men on both active and reserve lists.

(Both Japan and Russia were reported in Tokyo yesterday to be massing huge troop concentrations along the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier. Reliable Tokyo sources described the tension between Russia and Japan as the most critical since 1932 when the Manchoukuo empire was created.

(Russia has lodged a stringent warning with Japan against the bombardment of the Chinese capital, Nanking, in what was believed to be a direct response to a Chinese appeal for aid.)

In the first claims of progress in several days in the conflict with China, the Japanese army announced that an armored train had pushed 50 miles south of captured Paotingfu in North China, putting the most advanced Japanese point 130 miles south of Peiping on the railroad to Hankow.

On the Shanghai front the Japanese claimed advances of 300 to 500 yards all along the entire Lotien and Liuhong sector, 20 miles northwest of Shanghai, after days of severe fighting.

Japanese bombers concentrated their efforts today on destruction of China's air strength, bombing airdromes in the vicinity of Nanking, raiding Canton three times and blasting two Chinese areas of Shanghai.

Although the Japanese planes stayed away from Nanking proper, in apparent reaction to foreign protests against bombardment of ci-

"Lucky Star" Names Are Drawn At Mexican Dinner Given For Local Sorority

Kappa Gammas Entertained

Members of the Kappa Gamma sorority were served a typical Mexican dinner when they met at the Mexican Inn Monday night as the guests of Misses Nettie Fay Brown, Anna Bass Arnett and Maurine Jons.

Hand-painted place cards were used and dahlias were decorations. Each member drew a red scroll tied with a gold ribbon which bore the name of another member to whom she is to send a gift on the thirteenth day of each month. These are called "lucky stars."

Attending were Misses Margaret Carroll Robertson, Eufaula Wise, Gladys McSpadden, Edith Henderson, Verna Upton, Hazel Duncan, Mary Cooper, Evelyn Jones, Mildred Boone, Helen Hart, Bonnarea Stephens, Opal Sloan, Ruth Gosdin, Mesdames Robert Maxey, Yancey Price, Lottie Hilton, Ruby Skipper, Clem Boverie, M. J. Aderton, Winnie Wheat and Dr. Pauline Miller.

Mrs. Sam Ainsworth, Bride, Is Honored At Shower

Mrs. George N. Atkinson, 2206 Fifteenth street, entertained with a kitchen shower recently honoring Mrs. Sam Ainsworth, who was Miss Virginia Newton before her marriage.

Guests wrote favorite recipes on cards which were presented to the honoree with an index file. At the close of a series of contest, Mrs. Ainsworth cut a large papier mache cake which contained the gifts.

Heart-shaped sandwiches, individual cakes, mints and Russian tea were served. Boutonnieres of azaleas and Michaelmas daisies were favors.

Guests were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Roche Newton, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ed Ainsworth, and Mesdames W. W. Nelson, J. Davis, G. Sherrod, Isabel Garrison, Robbis Graham and Misses Willena Nelson, Roxie Graham and Nina Jo Cellum.

Gifts were sent by eight other persons. Mrs. Atkinson was assisted by her daughter, Lottie Margaret Atkinson, and Miss Beatrice McCoy.

Cow Meanders Through Town And She's Within Rights

LOWELL, Ariz., Sept. 28 (AP)—Citizens of this city, much as they resent the meanderings of a prosaic Holstein along the main thoroughfare, will have to restrain their indignation, they were informed by the Cochise county sheriff's office.

For weeks the cow has made a daily round trip through the business district. Public spirited citizens, many of whom grew up in the cattle country, questioned her decorum, but said nothing—that is until the animal began making appearances in some of the shops.

That was too much. They took the matter up with the sheriff's office only to discover that the Holstein was quite within her rights. She may swagger about the town as she pleases under protection of the state range law.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

HOW LONG CAN A THREE-QUARTER WIFE HOLD HER HUSBAND?

YOU have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, unsympathetic, but that's the way they're made and you might as well realize it.

When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Mother Nature has a Special Recipe for making FOLGER'S Different

Not Just a Different Brand—But a Deliciously Different KIND of Coffee—It's Mountain-Grown

● You could taste dozens of different brands . . . and find Folger's the only coffee that has a distinctive flavor! Most brands taste alike, because they all use the same kind of coffee—the thin, flat-tasting coffees grown in the lowlands. But in Folger's you get a different kind of coffee—the thrilling, racy tang of coffees that are mountain-grown!

The coffees in Folger's come from tiny mountain-top plantations in Central America! A small region that's a coffee paradise . . . With an amazingly fertile volcanic soil, abundant rains, and the purest mountain air and sunshine! Up there nature grows an extra keen flavor and wine-y tang into the coffee berries! A flavor so rich, housewives say they use ¼ less of Folger's and still get better flavor, plus their coffee savings!

Try Folger's just once—and your taste will tell you it's the different coffee you've been looking for! Order it from your grocer today!

Folger's Brightens Your Life

Like Drip Coffee?
You'll like it better made with Folger's Drip Grind. Designed especially for drip makers, filter and other glass coffee makers. Never crushed or mashed—but cut by scientific methods to give far more flavor to your drip coffee!

Woman Holds Unique Position As Owner Of Gigantic Circus

May we present the Russell brothers, pictured herewith?

Correct. The Russell brothers are a woman. There are no others. She is them.

This unusual personage is Mrs. Pauline Russell Webb, who is founder, owner, operator and director of the three-ring circus which will present its final performance at Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The third of the four performances is in progress this afternoon.

Holds Unique Position

Mrs. Webb, an attractive woman of younger middle years, is said to hold a position unique in the circus world. If there are any other women who own and direct any circus anywhere, the veterans of the big top here insist they do not know it. Mrs. Webb gives practically all her time to the business end of the organization, but occasionally takes a hand at training of such animals as dogs, monkeys, horses, ponies and the like.

Two major reasons are behind the use of the name, "Russell Brothers," for the circus. One is the fact that once there was a Russell brothers circus widely known and widely traveled in the east, but it dropped out of active existence about 11 years ago. The other reason is Mrs. Webb's uncertainty as to whether advertising that a woman is the owner of the circus might have an adverse publicity effect.

Was Born To Circus

Mrs. Webb was born to the circus. Her parents and her grandparents were circus people before her, and she was born while her parents were on tour. Her parents died, and two brothers of her father continued the business until it folded up with their deaths.

Mrs. Webb related that she finally scraped enough money together for a new start, organized a one-ring circus with "a few dogs and a pony or two" in Fort Worth in 1928.

"It wasn't any bed of roses for awhile," she continued, "but we got along and expanded."

Profits were put into new acts, new equipment and advertising. Now she has a big top seating 6,500 people; several acts for which she out-bid some circuses larger than her own; has more than 150 units of motor equipment for travel; carries a personnel of approximately

MRS. PAULINE RUSSELL WEBB

800 people; has a menagerie representing an investment placed at more than $100,000; and has played every state in the union except Maine and Florida. Likewise, she has her own wintering "farms in Missouri.

Ends Season Nov. 15

The present tour is her first west of the Mississippi river, and has included 15 states including Washington, Oregon and California. The show will end its season November 15, and now is enroute to winter quarters.

This year, incidentally, has been generally unprofitable for circus people, she said. Strikes and the threats of wars, she explained, have caused a feeling of general uncertainty of the type which invariably reflects itself at the box office.

The organization will resume its journey tonight, playing Plainview Wednesday.

Scout Session Is Conducted

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 28. (Special)—The September court of honor for Boy Scouts of the southwestern district of the South Plains council was held in the high school auditorium here last night.

Participating in the program were troops 49, 45, 44, all of Brownfield, 72 of Ropesville, 76 of Seagraves, and a troop from Plains, said Earl M. McClure, council executive.

27 Awards Presented

A total of 27 awards were presented. In the court of honor ladder the troops were ranked: 49 of Brownfield, first; 45 of Brownfield, second; 44 of Brownfield, third; 72 of Ropesville, fourth; 76 of Seagraves, fifth, and the Plains troop sixth.

Troop 49 also won the parents' attendance and mothers' attendance awards. Presented for Star ranking were J. M. Akers, Bob Lewis, and Earl Burnett, all of troop 45.

R. A. Simms, court of honor chairman, presided. Assisting in the program were M. L. H. Base, district commissioner; Dr. R. B. Parish, scout master of troop 49; Emery Loughrake, scoutmaster of troop 45; and L. E. Heath, all of Brownfield.

Plans for the fall program for the district were laid at a commissioners' meeting at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. It also was announced that the sustaining club membership drive would be held Oct. 29.

Following the court of honor, mothers of scouts in troop 49 organized a club. Mrs. J. C. Powell presided.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Marksmanship

PHILADELPHIA — Patrolman Leroy Jordan saw a thief escaping from a taproom and fired hastily. The bullet, imbedded in the heel of the suspect's right shoe, tripped him. Jordan captured him but was annoyed.

"The light was bad," he apologized. "I was aiming at his left heel."

Fish Rocking Costs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Throwing rocks at fish here costs $10—if you hit the fish.

James L. Tickley paid that amount at a hearing before Magistrate Edwin S. Watson.

Witnesses testified Tickley struck a 35-pound catfish with a five-pound rock and then waded into the water and brought out the fish.

Superman

EL CENTRO, Calif. — It was a toss-up between an intruding skunk and a rainstorm, and most of the patrons of a bank here chose the rainstorm.

Not so Guy Harrison. Armoring himself with a grocery carton, Harrison seized the odoriferous animal and took it home.

"Skunks make fine pets," he explained. "Most people don't understand them."

Suitable Justice

BUFFALO, N. Y. — A bicycle-automobile collision cost Gottlieb Hoffstetter his position in life.

So a jury awarded him $4,500 damages, because he can't sit cross-legged anymore.

Hoffstetter, 73, is a tailor.

Stork Deals Double

BEDFORD, Ind. — There was harmony today in the home of Bedford's proud mayor, Henry Murray.

The mayor had wanted a boy, his wife a girl. The stork came with twins—a boy and a girl.

Fine Stuff

WINFIELD, Kas. — Police Judge Charles M. Swartz fined Mrs. Mable Frankenfeld $2 for overtime parking. Mrs. Frankenfeld is Swartz's daughter and also wife of his boss, City Manager W. J. Frankenfeld.

Judge Swartz paid the fine.

Youthful Tarzan

LOS ANGELES — Frantic parents were relieved when Jack Moody, 11, and his "favorite girl," Betty Webb, 9, returned home to explain a two-day absence. Jack said they had camped on a mountainside until they got tired of it.

"We couldn't catch any rabbits with my cap pistol," he added.

In the torrid zone, where the world's heaviest rainfall takes place, the new moon always "lies on its back," in the position popularly called the dry moon.

Raymond Lee Johns Is Chosen As President Of Press Club

The Press club of Texas Technological college Monday night elected Raymond Lee Johns, senior journalism student from Slaton, president at the first meeting of the club.

Other officers elected were: Morris Laine, senior from Spur, vice-president; Doris Montgomery, secretary, and Charlotte Cooper, reporter.

Discussion of plans for the coming year centered on two dances, a "girl's tag," and an all-college dance. Further details are to be announced at a later date.

Annual Rodeo Is Planned

Plans for La Remuda, annual rodeo at Texas Technological college sponsored by the Block and Bridle club, and scheduled for October 9, are well under way.

Theme of this year's show is the Spanish frontier and it is under the direction of Vestel Askew, junior agriculture student from Del Rio, and John Henry Baumgardner, senior in agriculture from Wellington. Arch Lamb from Fort Worth has been selected Remuda clown.

To Select Queen

The queen of the rodeo will be elected next week by the student body from a list of candidates representing each campus and social club.

Program for the show includes a football game between cowboys dressed in boots, spurs, and chaps, a donkey polo game, a derby with college professors as jockeys, a potato race on horseback with representatives from social clubs participating, a bull fight and a stock show.

Proceeds from the rodeo help defray expenses of livestock, dairy products and seed judging teams sent from Tech to contests held over the United States. Students holding activity tickets, however, will be admitted without further charge.

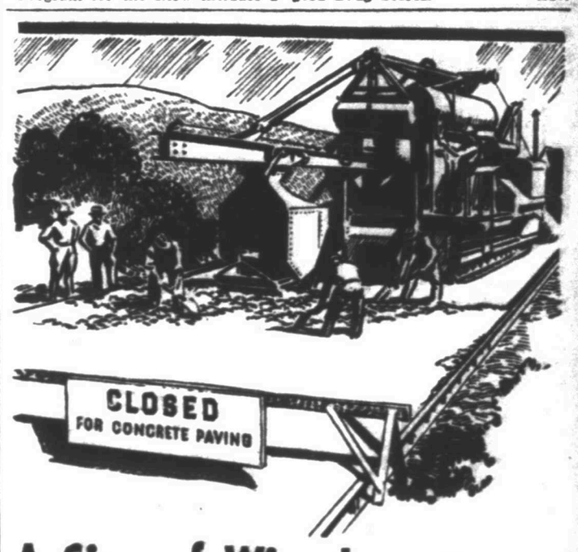

Toads can blink only one eye at a time.

A Sign of Wise Investment

Fortunate are the communities where a highway is closed for paving with concrete. Temporary inconvenience is quickly turned into lasting satisfaction.

This means the end of spring break-up ills—frost boils, mud and ruts. Seasonal load restrictions, dust and the inconvenience of constant road tinkering can be forgotten.

Concrete stands up under all legal loads in all weather. It permits speed with safety. It cuts driving costs to motorists. It reduces road maintenance costs.

Skidding Cubs Win But Still They Lose; Giants Topple The Bees

Bee Veterans Are Whipped By Terrymen

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like the man trying to go up on the down escalator, the Cubs are sliding back each time they take a forward step.

They thought they'd taken a pretty good one when they whipped the Reds yesterday, 7-4—thought so, that is, until the Giants up and took both halves of their double-header with the Bees. All of which meant that, despite winning, Charley Grimm's grimmer-growing crew had lost another half game.

Only Six To Play

Today they were trailing by four and a half, with only six left to play to the Giants' nine. If the Giants win four, they're in no matter what the Cubs do. Similarly, any combination of four — Giant wins and Cub losses — will get the Terry-men into the throne room for the second time.

The picture, in fact, is getting prettier by the minute for the Giants, who proved by stopping the Bees, 5-4 and 3-1, they can win two games on ten hits with just as much eclat as the American league's World series entry, the Yanks, win one with 20.

There Goes Ball Game

In the opener, with the score tied at 4-all in the last of the eighth, the Giants filled the bases on an error, a single and a walk. At that point the usually reliable Lou Fette, running true to the rule that he can't whip the Polo grounders, committed a balk — and boom, there went the ball game.

In the nightcap Jim Turner set the Giants down in order for six innings and got one away in the eighth, with the score 1-1. The next batter singled, then Turner, with the second out in his grasp, fumbled Bill Lohrman's bunt. He retired Joe Moore, but Dick Bartell broke up his party with a two-run double.

Lohrman, fresh out of the International league, earned himself a handsome set of freshman spurs by hurling a five-hitter — the Giants got four—that ran the club's winning streak to six straight and ended the score for the season at ten games each.

Seventh Straight Loss

While the Cubs were handing the Reds their seventh loss in a row, the Dodgers gracefully dropped their twelfth to the Phillies, 11-3, in a game remarkable chiefly for Chuck Klein's two homers and long Tom Winsett's debut as a pitcher. He gave up two of the runs.

The Indians, playing their last home game, bowed to the Tigers, 2-1. Buck Newsom, after beating the Athletics, 6-2, with a five-hitter in the first game, tried to come back in the nightcap for the Red Sox, but gave up six walks in less than three innings and the Sox were shut out, 6-0.

The Yanks and Senators were rained out, while the other clubs were not scheduled.

Ladder Tourney To Close On Sunday

Final 36 holes of Meadowbrook Golf club's "ladder tournament" will be played Sunday, said Manager G. H. Tosh.

Between now and Sunday, however, those entered in the event and who wish to complete the test Sunday, must play the first 36 holes of the 72-hole event. Eighteen of the 46 players who started the joust turned in scores Sunday, J. K. Bradshaw's 67 being low for 18 holes. Best 36-hole score posted was Jim Shaw's 73-79—152. Bradshaw was the only par-buster turning in a score.

Bradshaw Is Low

Players entered in the event, and scores of those who have started, follow:

Bradshaw, 67; Alfred Holton, Manson Allen, 75; Bob Hale, 72; Rufus Bradshaw, Hugh Anderson, 82-78; Jack Trammell, Mendal Hughett, W. C. Edwards, 75; Herman Patterson, Clarence Fox, Si Fluke, A. E. Jones, 74; A. Yaggy, 78-80; Fuzzy Davis, 76; Gus Freeland, 78-79; W. L. Hale, 78; Gene Anderson, 77; W. T. Rogers, J. D. Henson, T. M. Hackett, O. A. Terry, 78; A. C. Straley, N. L. Ball, 81.

The field will be divided into flights, according to the first 36-hole qualifying score, for final play Sunday.

Louisiana State Boasts Power In Two Clubs; Texas Plans To Test Outfit This Week

BY NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 28—Louisiana State university has a versatile football team this fall with the potentiality of a third straight Southeastern conference championship.

A tip-off to what fans might expect for the 1937 Tiger edition came Saturday when L. S. U. licked the University of Florida 19-0.

Coach Bernie Moore put out two classy exhibits. Exhibit "A," or first team, played the first and third quarters with a steam-rolling running attack. Exhibit "B," the lighter and faster "shock troops," took to the air and opened up aground in the second and fourth in a bombardment that brought victory.

Two Powerful Weapons

The game disclosed that L. S. U. has no such thing as first and second teams, but two powerful weapons for use as strategist Moore sees fit. This probably will be to wear down Tiger opponents with the "A" squad and run up touchdowns with "B."

Out of the galaxy of players rose a brilliant sophomore, Young Bussey of Houston, Texas. Young's projectile-like passes and swift end runs led the Tigers down the field in a 60-yard march for their first touchdown. Alternating with "B" squad halfback Art Morton, Bussey and the "shock troops" produced the spark that sent squad "A" into scoring section.

"We did many things wrong, naturally," said Moore after the game. "But the Tigers will come along, provided they don't get whipped too badly in the games coming up with Texas and Rice."

Must Come Along

Louisiana State must "come along" a great deal in blocking accuracy if it is to keep intact its string of twelve conference victories. The Tigers' loss of nine regulars last year, including the twice All-American Gaynell Tinsley, was most apparent Saturday. In this respect on L. S. U.'s three touchdown drives blocking improved. But generally during the game it was poor.

Squad "A" lines up this way: J. Gormley, 190, and Dumas, 195, ends; Friend, 246, and Gatto, 206, tackles; Smith, 190, and Clark, 202, guards; D. Gormley, 188, center; Booth, 190, quarterback; Milner, 190, and Staples, 196, half backs and Rohm, 174, fullback.

This is squad "B": Kavanaugh, 194, and King, 190, ends; Perguson, 197, and Pittman, 195, tackles; Messina, 178, and Lester, 193, guards; Warmbrod, 184, center; Cajoleas, 182, quarterback; Bussey, 185, and Morton, 175, half backs, and Lemak, 175, fullback.

After Texas and Rice, the latter game at Houston, the next two Saturdays L. S. U. meets the University of Mississippi here Oct. 16; Vanderbilt at Nashville, Oct. 23; Loyola of New Orleans here Oct. 30; Mississippi State here Nov. 6; Auburn here Nov. 13; Louisiana State Normal here Nov. 20 and Tulane at New Orleans Nov. 27. Games with Texas, Mississippi and Loyola will be night affairs.

Lefty Gomez Will Open For Yanks In Series

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Airings of a jittery World series: Joe McCarthy didn't go to Washington with the Yanks but stayed here personally to scout the games. . . Tiredest guy around is the photo finish chap at Rockingham Park. . . Only eight days of the 24 day meeting have gone into history, but more than half the races run so far have been decided by the silent films. . . . Texas has gone hog wild over football. . . . All three stations in Fort Worth broadcast Saturday's T. C. U.-Ohio State battle.

Lefty Gomez, first hurler in the majors to win 20 games this year, will open the World series for the Yanks. . . . Current prices for the Minnesota-Notre Dame game are ten bucks a pair and the chances are the ante will hit $25 by Oct. 30. . . Looks like the pay-off year for scalpers who have been trying to capitalize on Minnesota's "hot team."

Lou Ambers, Harry Jeffra, Barney Ross and some of the other boys will be guest stars of Kate Smith on the air Thursday night. . . . Bill Terry is laid up with something resembling influenza. . . . We predict the Yanks will flail the stuffing out of Carl Hubbell in the World series . . . But Cliff Melton is apt to stop the Yanks the first time he faces 'em. . . . Max and Buddy Baer are chopping wood in California to get in shape. . . .

Hard Practice Is Scheduled During Week

Lubbock's two major football machines settled down to rigorous practice Monday after checking up on games of last two weeks and glancing forward to classy opponents of this week.

Texas Tech reaches 'way over to the Pacific Northwest for its opposition, bringing University of Montana's Grizzlies here for a Saturday night game.

Lubbock High school's Westerners go visiting for the first time this season, playing Capitol Hill High school at Oklahoma City. It is out of state opposition for both the home clubs. Lubbock and Capitol Hill also play Saturday night, the game having been moved back from an original afternoon agreement. The Westerners hustled through a light workout yesterday, polishing some plays in signal drill, kicking and passing to take the kinks out after last Friday night's encounter with Slaton.

Plummer Still Ailing

For the Red Raiders of Tech, it was a day of rather hard work, mentally as well as physically. They donned practice uniforms seven hours after reaching home from the Austin trip, and all players, with exceptions of Captain Red Ramsey and Alan Plummer, were in pleasing shape, considering the trials and tribulations of Saturday's game with University of Texas. Ramsey bore a couple of particularly impressive "shiners" from the rigors of that game, and one eye especially was heavily decorated. Plummer continued to complain of a side ailment, which prevented him from reaching special heights of stardom against the Longhorns.

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith introduced a series of new plays yesterday, designed for use against the Grizzlies Saturday night. Preliminary practice on these plays occupied a good part of the afternoon, but no doubt left the club better armed for the coming hostilities.

Passing Game Better

Considerable time was devoted to practice for outfielders. Although the pitching, especially that of Gene Barnett, was very neat indeed against the Longhorns, the catching department was sadly off. Barnett laid 'em in there with precision yesterday, his customary precision, and the ends and other backs looked considerably better shagging 'em than they have in any practice or either game so far.

Tech's offense, for future reference, probably will revolve around Barnett's passing, also his running and kicking. And when Barnett isn't playing the left halfback position, it's pretty certain to be filled by Bobby Holmes, the snakey open field runner, line slicer and end tearer-upper. The Indian boy showed an abundance of running ability, and his defensive work was no less demonstrated.

Elmer Tarbox, who plunged for Tech's only "running" touchdown, and Ed Smith, quarterback, lost none of their importance as a result of their play against Texas, and fans were pleased with the showing of another quarterback, Raymond "Babe" Curfman, who turned in a nice job of field generalling and pass handling. Charley Calhoun, for his plunging and kicking, is in no danger of losing his regular fullback position, but Miles Chapman did a nice job of pinch hitting for big Charley when the latter needed awiled.

Things will be tougher at both football camps today. The Red Raiders anticipate, and not without solid reason one of the toughest games Saturday night. The Grizzlies, with a large squad of lettermen back from the team that won 6 out of nine last season, will present a most pressing problem here.

The Westerners, with two victories behind them, bump into their toughest competition of the season so far at Oklahoma City. The Chapman club leaves here Friday morning by bus for the Sooner capital.

Purses Totaling $500 Offered In First Day Racing Meet At Fair; Good Card On Today

The Panhandle-South Plains fair six-day horse racing meet got off to a good start yesterday with Mason King of Amarillo as chief steward and C. H. McMillan as starter.

The crowd was small, but apparently appreciative of efforts on the part of J. H. Brock and his large staff to "put racing over" here, although pari-mutuel or other legalized forms of wagering is "out." The half-grandstand of fans, about 2,300 of them, cheered the horses and jockeys in a five-race opener. Twenty-six bangtails left the starter's gate yesterday and purses totaling $500 were distributed. Owners and jockeys, as well as the fans, voiced appreciation for the day's bill.

Thirty-six horses, including eight two-year-olds, are listed for today's five-race program. Post time is 2:30 o'clock. Fans will be entertained between races by special vaudeville acts staged before the grandstand. These acts, as did the races, drew applause.

Three of today's races are full events, containing the limit of 8 horses.

Winners Are Listed

Winners yesterday were Owners S. Christy, B. Banks, T. Speck, L. C. Coble and S. F. Whitney, with Sky Hawk, Biddie King, Jack Howe, Baby Bess and Empress Pelota doing the respective running. Jockeys Williams, Bright, and Ricord doing the riding. Ricord rode three winners, Jack Howe in the third race, a 5-furlong event dashed in the fine time of 1:0.8; Baby Bess in the 4-furlong fourth race, and Empress Pelota in the six-furlong final. The Empress gave considerable trouble before starting, but took the lead and held it for the three-quarter-mile distance.

Starter McMillan, here with his famous ten-stall starting gate and a crew of experienced assistants, spent a minimum of time at the post, although some of the youngsters in the second race put up squawks before the take-off.

Stamptalks by Collier Parris

WHAT WITH bees vesting every day, wrestling Wednesday night, football Saturday and Saturday night, there isn't much for people to see in the way of sports around here this week.

If you like to see the bangtails run, you'll find the Panhandle-South Plains Fair racing meet quite interesting. You will see some pretty fair hayburners in action, handled by a capable ground crew and racing organization. Master of Ceremonies Mason King knows his way around the timbers, and he lends considerable to the racing atmosphere.

To be off the beaten path of race horse owners and riders, Lubbock is putting on a pretty high class race meet. And the free vaudeville acts between races are biggah and bettah than evah befoah.

FIRST OF A STRING of major league football clubs comes to town this week, and you can prepare yourself for some real shooting Saturday night. The University of Montana sends its Grizzlies here. The University of Montana is in the same conference with University of Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State, University of California, University of Washington, Stanford university, University of California at Los Angeles and University of Southern California.

The University of Montana never played in the Rose Bowl, never was voted the national pigskin champion, but neither have a lot of other teams. Montana won one game, lost five and tied two in 1933. It won six games and lost three in 1936. Its coach, Douglas Fessenden, leads a large brigade of boosters who claim the 1937 Montana team is the best in the history of the institution.

Put these names down somewhere, learn to pronounce them; it'll come in handy Saturday night, and you can say you knew them when: Milt Popovich, Bill Lasetich, Bill Matasovic and Paul Szakach. Yeah, they are football players for University of Montana.

WE WOULDN'T ALIBI FOR TEXAS TECH BUT—

It was our privilege to rub shoulders and otherwise do a bit of hobnobbing with some of the "experts" last Saturday afternoon in and around the fine new press box at Texas Memorial Stadium. It was also our privilege, and their's too, to see a mighty fine game of football at Texas Memorial Stadium.

Most of the big shots in the press box — practically every Southwest conference town was represented, as well as a lot of others—came to see how University of Texas was shaping up under the whip of Dana Bible. They saw quite a lot of shaping up. University of Texas has a nice football team; its prospects for the future are nicer than its team of 1937, but its present team is by no means a slouchy situation.

Before the big shots left that press box, however, they had seen a Texas Tech team in action, and for fully half the game they saw more of Texas Tech than they saw of University of Texas. In fact, they forgot about Bible, Blair Cherry, the "new deal," the scoreboard, and even their scorebooks, so wrapped up were they in watching those Techs come back from the depths to damned near the tops.

A few of the boys, including your agent, figured that Tech should have won the game. Still a larger number, still including your agent, concluded that the final score should have been 13-13, for Texas. They settled down moaning when the fourth quarter came up and the high wind caught big Man Wolfe with his sails all set, driving him toward the Tech goal line.

But that ball game was played in the middle quarters, and everybody realized it. The weatherman took a big hand in deciding that score. We wouldn't alibi, because one doesn't generally have to alibi for the Red Raiders, but if the norther hadn't struck, in Texas' favor, in the fourth quarter; if Tech coaches had had a chance to scout Texas, if the Red Raiders had a member who could kick off and kick goals, "we would have by gosh won us a dadgummed football game."

Tech and Lubbock fans have no call to moan about the ball team. It's a right nifty outfit, capable of playing some real football, of winning some games. That Texas game convinced us, although the Arizona State game didn't. Tech has a well balanced outfit, except in the place-kicking department. It has no Jim Neill, no All-American triple threater. But it does have Gene Barnett, Bobby Holmes, Charley Calhoun and Buzz Barnard. These boys, with the help they'll get from Babe Curfman, Ed Smith, Miles Chapman and Alan Plummer, should, and will, give Tech the backfield strength to pair with Dutchy Smith's fine line and provide a better than ordinary ball club before the season gets old.

Tech's line is superior to University of Texas' line. Texas, however, has the most and the biggest and the fastest backs. They are so big and so fast and so frequent that they don't need much of a line, and they'll win more than one Southwest conference game this season. They won't win 'em all, because some of the other schools have pretty good teams, too.

We are pretty well sold on this Texas Tech team of 1937, from waterboy to head coach. Traveling with them, riding in the same Pullman and eating at the same table, finding them the most interesting, the best behaved, the most sociable and possibly the most "human" bunch of Tech footballers we ever traveled with, helped sell us on them as much as watching them play football.

Special Matches Are Slated At Country Club Tomorrow

Linkswomen of Lubbock Country club will meet women golfers from Amarillo on the local course in special matches Wednesday.

Officials of the women's golf organization of Country club urge that all ladies who can play, or who will try to play, be at the clubhouse by 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Amarillo delegation is expected between 9 and 10 o'clock. Nine holes of golf will be played in the morning, nine in the afternoon. Lunch will be served at Hotel Lubbock.

Prize will go to low medal winner, after handicap has been subtracted.

Huge Rally To Be Broadcast

The Coca-Cola College night broadcast series will be initiated at 6:30 o'clock Thursday night at Texas Technological college, said W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Tech Athletic council. The public is invited.

The broadcast, which will be in the form of a gigantic pep rally preceding the Tech-University of Montana game Saturday night, will go through Radio Station WFAA and WBAP of Dallas, WOAI of San Antonio, and KPRC of Houston.

Hal Thompson will be announcer; Dale Drake, technician, and Ben Lee Boynton, football commentator. All are of Dallas.

Boynton will introduce Coach P. W. Cawthon of Tech and the Montana coaches if they have arrived, and Herschel (Red) Ramsey, Tech captain, and Lou Jones, co-captain.

The band will give eight numbers. President Bradford Knapp will speak. Cheering will be led by the Saddle Tramps.

All Riley did vs. the Giants was run 65 yards for a touchdown, kick two field goals and an extra point for all Washington's points.

The Siberian meterite struck on June 30, 1908, and, so far as is known, not a single human life was lost. So great was the rush of air that forests were laid flat. A herd of 1500 reindeer was completely wiped out, and a farmer 50 miles away was knocked down by the force of the blast.

Dog Rushed By Airplane To Fort Worth For Operation

FORT WORTH, Sept. 28 (AP)—Tuck, a wire-haired terrier, was rushed here by airplane from Kermit to undergo an emergency operation for bladder stone at the Mercy Cat and Dog hospital. It was a 350-mile race against death, with aviation and veterinary science winners.

Tuck is resting well and will recover.

The black-and-white terrier, 17 months old, belongs to Mrs. Walter Piensy, wife of the drilling superintendent for an oil company at Kermit. The dog became ill Sunday and grew suddenly worse Monday morning.

County Award To Childress

Childress county captured first prize with its exhibit in the county agricultural department at Panhandle-South Plains fair, judging in which was completed late Monday, according to C. C. Jobson, Lubbock county farm agent who is superintendent of the department.

The Childress display was credited with a total of 927 points out of a possible 1,000. V. F. Hafner, county agent, is in charge of the display which will remain through duration of the fair.

Three points separated the next three counties: Collingsworth 923 for second place; Lynn, 922 for third and Lamb, 920 for fourth.

Childress copped a $75 first prize; Collingsworth won $60 as second place and Lynn, third with $40.

Other Rankings Given

Other counties and points scored were: Haskell, 918; Terry, 917; Hockley, 903; Crosby, 890; Maverick 871 and Floyd, 871. All below third place receive $25 each.

Judges were George Samson, Post, grain sorghum authority and expert booth designer and Earl T. Dude, of the agronomy department of Texas Technological college.

"This is the best quality of exhibits I have seen in the five years I have been judging agricultural exhibits at this fair," Samson said. "The farmers are getting back to the old time quality they used to produce."

Points To Baled Hay

Samson stressed particularly the baled hay exhibits. He pointed out that these were of unusual quality.

The exhibits attracted wide attention. There were but ten counties showing this year. Farthest to come was from Maverick county, with Eagle Pass as the county seat, although the exhibit was from Quemado. It is 423 miles to Lubbock from that town. R. E. Prewitt brought the exhibit here.

Counties exhibiting were: Childress, Collingsworth, Haskell, Lamb, Lynn, Maverick, Hockley, Terry, Floyd and Crosby.

Close Cooperation Promised In Armistice Celebration

The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will cooperate to assure one of the best Armistice day programs ever attempted for Lubbock, it was indicated last night after the Legion had met and heard a report of its committee.

An ex-service man's breakfast, a parade, and a dance at the auditorium were on the program outlined by W. E. Lavender, chairman of Armistice day committees for both the legion and the VFW. Although nothing further has been scheduled as yet, Lavender hopes to have some arrangement with the authorities at Texas Technological college, whereby a VFW-legion program may be presented at the Duquesne football game, on the same afternoon.

The committee of which Lavender is chairman includes Homer L. Pharr and Robert Allen of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Hubert L. Allen and Charles Whitacre of the American Legion.

Music for the evening's program was furnished by the Rhythm Captains, a 6-piece band.

A. L. Cramer, of the State Health Department, was a visitor from the American legion post at Austin.

Cincinnati, Egypt and Jeff Davis were the names of General Grant's three favorite war chargers.

Lease Activity In Area Given Boost

Eleven oil and gas leases filed Monday and Saturday, conveying exploration rights on 5,194 acres, showed the trend to interest in the eastern part of the county, whereas it has been almost strictly in the south.

New Area Opened Up

Until the leases were filed Saturday, most of the land on which rights had been conveyed was in the southern and southwestern portions of the county.

W. M. Blevins, Lubbock oil man, leased from:

W. J. Hood and wife of Lubbock county, south half of southeast quarter of section 51, containing 80 acres; W. J. Hood, jr., and wife of Lubbock county, east half of southwest quarter of section 42, containing 80 acres; Perrin Bean, trustee for Sallye Bean, southeast quarter of section 44, containing 160 acres; George R. Bean and Nora Bean of Lubbock, 113.41 acres, a part of survey 45; and Emmitt L. Sowder and wife of Lubbock, northwest quarter of section 50; all in block A, HE & WT Railway company survey; and E. C. Hatton and wife of Lubbock, east half of section 22, block E-2, containing 320 acres.

Others Give Leases

W. R. Chancellor, also of Lubbock, leased from:

B. Sherrod and wife of 1016 Broadway, north half of survey 6, and Mrs. Della Redmond of route 1, all of southwest quarter of section 6, both in block O, EL & RR Railway company survey; and Mrs. S. E. Nairn of route 1, all of section 25, all of south half of northeast quarter of section 46, and all of section 26, all three tracts in block A, HE & WT Railway company survey, containing 1,739.6 acres; and Mrs. Lizzie Crim and others, northwest quarter of survey 72, block A, abstract 892.

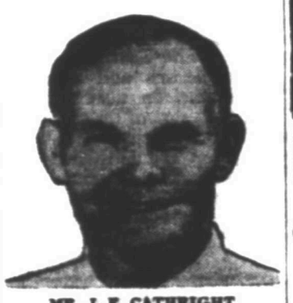

Fred Childers leased from Robert H. Bean, trustee, all the northeast quarter of section 44, block A, certificate 402, abstract 733, HE & WT Railway company survey.

Grapefruit production of the United States in 1936 has been estimated at 10,000,000 boxes in excess of normal production.

New Gly-Cas Is Greatest Ever

Hundreds Of Sufferers Laud Gly-Cas As Being Without An Equal; Mr. Cathright's Nerves Quieted, Kidneys Regulated, Entire System Freed Of Poisons

"Gly-Cas was worth many hundreds of dollars to me," said Mr. J. F. Cathright, Strong, Arkansas (just outside El Dorado). "I was almost a nervous wreck the past ten years—practically lost control of myself. My entire body was sore all over especially my arms and limbs and was in such condition it looked as if I would never be well again. My kidneys were terribly disordered too, up at all hours of the night and of course sleep or rest was impossible. I had also suffered severely with a pain in my side. Medical authorities told me it was appendicitis and that nothing would do but an operation. Constipation also added to my already miserable condition. But once I gave Gly-Cas an opportunity to help me I found it to be the very medicine I should have had all these years."

MR. J. F. CATHRIGHT

"Gly-Cas gives results even when all else fails," continued Mr. Cathright. "This new remedy has actually been worth its "weight in gold" and more too for me. I am like a new man today, freed of all my former health troubles and would not take anything for this new Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Idalou Victor With Exhibit

Idalou was winner of the vocational agriculture division of the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair, judging in which was completed late Monday, according to O. T. Ryan, superintendent of the department. Coleman Cowan is teacher at the school.

Floydada placed second, with a demonstration on growing and fattening pigs. W. A. King, Tech graduate, is the teacher. Hale Center, with a live-at-home program, placed third. Will Rogers is the teacher. New Home, in Lynn county, with Homer Hall as teacher, ranked fourth with a poultry exhibit and Cooper, in Lubbock, was fifth. Jesse Johnson is the teacher and landscape was the theme.

Judges Are Announced

Judges for the contests were: J. D. Strickland, vocational teacher at Lorenzo; V. F. Jones, Lynn county agent and a veteran vocational teacher and Donald F. Turner, Lamb county agent.

The judges went carefully over the projects and were united in a reporting a very excellent showing by the boys.

There were 15 prizes given. Winner received $30; second place, $25, and third and fourth, $20. Other positions paid $10.

Placings were:

Idalou, first; Floydada, second; Hale Center, third; New Home, fourth; Cooper, fifth; New Deal, sixth; Cotton Center, seventh; Ralls, eighth; Patton Springs, ninth; Sudan, tenth; Roosevelt, eleventh; Spur, twelfth; Anton, thirteenth; Post, fourteenth; Meadow, fifteenth.

Other schools exhibiting were: Lubbock, Seminole, Crosbyton, Shallowater, Slaton and Fluvanna.

THE PLAINSMAN sincerely hopes there is not a young man in school at Tech by the name of Alston Burrowes, registered from Ralls.

But if there is, for heaven's sake tell him to stay away from the Lubbock cemetery!

Your humble servant had a dream last night that was so distinct in every detail that it kinda worries him.

It seems like Dean W. A. Jackson called up and reported that a Tech student named Alston Burrowes from Ralls had committed suicide in the Lubbock cemetery.

The Plainsman went out and checked all the details at the cemetery and then went with Dean Jackson to where the boy roomed and found a note in which the kid said he was leaving two modernistic chairs, very evident in his quarters, to another Tech youngster next door.

Trouble was, however, that the chairs weren't paid for and had to be returned to the furniture store!

The dream was the most distinct one The Plainsman has ever had. Every detail remains, just as if it had been a real occurrence.

VYING with the monkey cages at the circus for public acclaim is the KFYO booth in the merchants' building at the fair.

All glassed in, the radio booth is the scene of much broadcasting during fair week and the public certainly does like to peer in at the performers at work.

Judge Landis, KFYO boss, has the Texas Tune Tusslers back again for fair week and they are drawing lots of notice. Since they played the fair last year they have been on the West Coast where they have played for NBC and made a considerable number of records.

Douglas Pounds, who has been in charge of the hog exhibits at Panhandle-South Plains fairs for so many years that he has lost track, reports this year's porker exhibit is the largest ever featured here. There are 227 animals on parade, including five pens of "Chester Whites" which have never been displayed here before. The "Chester Whites" are the property of Ed Heath and Sons, Hale Center.

Doug is also proud of the fact that the quality of animals on display is in keeping with the quantity.

THERE has been a lot said concerning the special session of the legislature, which got under way yesterday.

There will be a lot more said before the solons go home.

But the striking thing about the situation is that apparently no one is interested in the session's discussing economy in government — all you hear discussed is ways and means of raising taxes.

As this column said a year ago, the time is coming wher Texas will have a sales tax.

The time also is coming when we'll have a state income tax.

And one of them is apt to be put on by action of the special session.

IT seems that everybody in Austin can think up ways and means of taxing the people but few, if any, of the boys down there have any ideas at all in regard to doing a better governmental job at a lower cost.

Just for a change, The Plainsman would like to see a real effort made to decrease the cost of state government.

The public would be surprised at how much could be done.

THE quadrennial conference of the Methodist church will next year be petitioned by the student body at Southern Methodist university to permit dancing on the college campus.

As everyone knows, those of the Methodist faith officially turn thumbs down on dancing. Yet also as everyone knows, if Southern Methodist university students cannot dance on the campus, they will go elsewhere to dance. Hence the whole business simmers down to whether it is better to recognize the dance and sponsor it under the best of conditions; or not to recognize it and let it be promoted under conditions not of the best.

The Plainsman hasn't any idea of what the conference will do about the petition, but he's willing to bet that there'll be plenty of discussion, pro and con!

Best Dressed Woman

BY HELEN WELSHIMER
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JUDITH IRVING, heroine, America's best dressed woman.

PHILIP IRVING, Judith's estranged husband.

MARTA ROGERS, Judith's rival.

BRUCE KNIGHT, author, Judith's old classmate.

MILLICENT BAYNE, Bruce's protege.

Yesterday: Judith arrives back in New York, arouses Phil's ire because of her reported romance with Bruce. She agrees to meet Phil the next day. But Marta is on hand, too.

CHAPTER XI

Judith nodded and spoke to Marta who had so patently come to the couturier's to guard against any privacy that she might possibly share with Phil at lunchtime. She realized that Marta was not subtle, not diplomatic. She thrust herself on Phil at times when her absence would have pleaded her case far more eloquently.

The attendants were hurrying with new designs, new models, and Judith surrendered herself to their allurements. She ordered recklessly, lavishly.

She had enough money in her own private account to care for the bills. After all, clothes must be her medium of earning her living now. She knew, though, that it was a desire to finish the fashion parade, if finish it she must, in a burst of glory that prompted the shopping expedition. Her innate honesty would not let her be deceived.

When the measuring and checking of materials had ended she decided to call Mark Price and tell him of her return. To her surprise, Mark Price's warm, welcoming voice made no mention of her status in the fashion world. He made an appointment with her, welcomed her back, and told of the progress of his work. Hardly had she hung up, when an attendant rapped on the door. In response to Judith's "Come in," she opened it to admit a tall figure in gray tweeds.

"Phil!" Judith said. It was idiotic for her heart to bounce like a rubber ball. She tried to quiet it by saying, inanely: "You're looking well."

He wasn't looking well. His face was thinner, tired, and his eyes were baffled.

"You're—gorgeous!" he said. He did not look at the dress, though. "Oh, Judy, it's good to have you back." For a moment he had forgotten that their meetings, now, were only transient affairs. Judith realized. "Ready?" He smiled down at her. "Where shall we lunch?"

Judith named a favorite luncheon place, one where they had gone many times in the past. She wondered how Phil had evaded Marta. Perhaps he had begun to realize the futility of any lasting happiness with Marta. His next words banished the entire idea.

"Mind if Marta goes, too? I asked her last night. She's outside."

"Marta? No, not at all."

So Phil, rather than escaping, was so deeply enmeshed in his devotion or love or infatuation that he would commit an act, clearly of bad taste, to please Marta! Judith decided to have soup and coffee and escape quickly. She kept the conversation moving swiftly in a light vein. She realized that Marta had been defeated in some purpose which she sought.

The next days were crowded, and finally came the night of the style show. Mark Price had not mentioned her identity to Judith, though she was sure that he must know who she was. Judith had been present at a private dress rehearsal, asking that she be permitted to miss the general one. No one but Mark Price and his fitters knew that she was appearing.

Her first ensemble was a blue dinner gown, svelte and close-fitting, made of hundreds of plaits that were sharp and definite. Now, at the verge of the stage, her courage left her. How could she have accepted such a role? What imp had possessed her to do this? The music repeated its cue. She must go on!

She knew that the silence, at first, was a tribute to the creation. It lasted a little too long. Amusement threaded it. Somebody gasped. A sound like a breeze in a field stirred the audience. Then there was applause, wild and tumultuous and approving.

"Damn she's got nerve!" Judith heard a man's voice say.

"Mighty good publicity. Why didn't I think of it?" she heard a woman's voice, and her eyes flickered, ever so briefly, in the direction of the sound. The words came from a woman who had been a clothes rival last year.

She wondered if Marta had come. And Phil. She mustn't think. Walk to music, she commanded herself. This is your job. Down the ramp, down, down, turn, open the jacket, slip it off, slowly—

The show was over at last. Photographers were everywhere. She was asked to pose in this and that. She was asked if she had done the job for charity. There was a supposition that she had. Mark Price's eyes were incredulous.

"How in this world did I keep from recognizing you?" he asked.

"You didn't know?" she gasped.

"No. Once or twice, lately, I've thought you knew clothes."

"My picture—the papers . . ."

"I haven't read a thing since I returned — only glanced at the headlines. I feel very honored and I thank you. Will you forgive me for being so presumptuous as to think you might work with me in the salon I'm opening? To voice it now looks as though I want to capitalize on your reputation. I'm sorry."

"Don't be," Judith answered steadily. "Let's talk about it later. I'm going away day after tomorrow for a while. My other trip was interrupted by the airplane catastrophe. This time I must see it through. When I come back—"

She paused.

"I'll be waiting," he answered.

Late the next afternoon, she returned from a fitting and tea with Anne. Because the day was warm she was wearing a simple two-piece frock of blue linen with a natural lined bolero, wide hat, and sandals and gloves of the same material.

"There are callers," her maid, who had now returned to her, told her.

"Yes?" she asked. "Who are they?"

The maid shook her head slightly. Because she had been with Judith so long, she ventured: "Mrs. Rogers—THAT Mrs. Rogers —and Mr. Irving."

Judith walked into the hotel sitting room, greeted Marta and Philip.

Marta's dress was black linen and her jacket, beret, slippers, gloves and bag were as pure white as country snow. She looked young, sweet, eager, and a little frightened. Only a woman could find the hardness in her eyes.

A storm was coming. Jagged flashes of lightning ran down the sky, across the park, disappeared far over the distant river. Judith remembered that it had stormed in such a manner the day that she had been frightened, first, about Marta. It thundered and Marta shrank closer to Phil.

"Will you lower the shades and draw the curtains?" Judith asked him. "It shuts away the storm. And may I order something for you? What shall it be, Marta? Phil?"

All the time that she went through her duties as a hostess she was thinking that once upon a time she, too, had been afraid of lightning. She and Phil had been in a fishing boat, off the coast of Normandie, when the sea had danced riotously in the wind. His strong arms had held her close as the waves and the sky and the bright curdling lights came together. No good, reminiscing, she reminded herself. Phil's words broke the spell, anyway.

"Judith, we came to ask you if you would accommodate your plans to ours a little," he said.

"I'm going to China this autumn and I'd like to take Marta. I can combine a world cruise with the business end of the venture."

THE GREAT AMERICAN HUSBAND

Mrs. Edward Hillman, jr., figuratively speaking takes off her hat to that much maligned of the genus homo—the American husband.

Says she:

"The American husband gives his wife his undivided attention and interest. That is what every woman wants."

What makes Mrs. Hillman's statement worthy of attention is that she is the former Lady June Inverclyde of England. Since she has seen the husbands of England and the continent and has learned to know them well, her tribute to the American husband is a valuable one.

The Journal believes, despite some of our movie comedies and newspaper cartoon strips, that the American husband, generally speaking, is a pretty fine sort of an egg. He has his faults, of course, and they are magnified. But we believe the world over there is no other set of husbands which can compare with the American variety. From the standpoint of the good provider as well as from the angle of kindliness and affection, our husbands are in a class by themselves.

Isn't that true, ladies?

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28.—When the cry of the bull ape resounds through the Hollywoods as the signal for starting production on a new Tarzan picture, a strange procession of beasts, birds and whatisits immediately sets out for the studio.

Benny Moselle, a former wrestler, is sure to be in the vanguard, because he is the only free-lance gorilla in town. That is, he owns and operates a gorilla costume. M-G-M also owns one, but that company isn't making Tarzan flickers any more, so its gorilla will remain in mothballs and Benny will get the job.

A really first-class gorilla suit costs about $4000. That's because it is not made of fur-covered hides but of cloth with each hair tied in separately—as the best wigs are made.

The face is artfully modeled so that the eyes move, the mouth opens and the nostrils dilate. The whole thing is built on a padded metal framework, weighs 160 pounds, and is very uncomfortable and hot—hot despite an aircooling system which works a couple of small bellows when the arms are raised and lowered.

Even the husky Moselle can wear his suit only about half an hour at a time. He gets $100 a day for costume rental and another $100 for wearing it.

White Monkey Search

All the trained chimpansees in town have been out to visit Producer Sol Lesser at Principal Productions. The chimp named Chita, veteran of several Tarzan films, likely will get a featured role. Lesser also wants a white monkey to be the pal of Glenn Morris, his new ape-man, but hasn't found one.

Either the makeup department will bleach an ordinary monkey, to its great astonishment, or a real white one will have to be imported immediately.

A more serious problem is the scarcity of African elephants. All the movie pachyderms are from India, and have smaller ears. Amateur critics are too numerous among the nation's fans to permit the use of the wrong breed of elephants, so Lesser may have to try renting a few from circuses. Or maybe he'll try artificial ears on the patient beasts who are locally available.

Lions are a cinch. The Selig Zoo and several private menageries have docile lions for rent, and Tarzan Morris already has made friends with one of them—Jackie.

Meanwhile the casting office at Principal frequently is scared silly by the visits of animal trainers with lions on leashes.

Business Goes To Grass

There's a scarcity of midgets and dwarfs—to double in burnt cork for jungle pygmies—because most of them now are traveling with circus sideshows.

And speaking of jungles, the man who builds most of them is a wholesale florist named Charles A. Reese. He has a conservatory full of tropical vines and plants, and a wide selection of trees. Some of the latter are real, for actual transplanting; many are large trunks, only 10 or 15 feet in height. Artificial limbs can be attached to them.

Reese is the man who installs most of the patches of lush, closely-cropped lawn which you see on movie sets. This isn't grass, of course, but artificial sod, burlap-backed, with bright green raffia tied into it something like a hooked rug.

Even under close inspection it looks and feels like grass, and it's a wonder to me that home-owners in this semi-arid country don't carpet their yards with it.

Another of Lesser's casting problems, besides elephants, pygmies and a white monkey, is a leading lady for Glenn Morris. Eleanor Holm Jarrett is the favored candidate.

WILL ATTEND MEETING

O'DONNELL, (Special) — Three Lynn county women will attend the Texas Home Demonstration association meeting in San Antonio, Tuesday through Thursday. They are: Mrs. T. I. Tippit, Friendship club; Mrs. James Connolly, Tahoka, and Mrs. S. G. Anthony, Wilson.

Some Chinese laugh at sad music and cry at jazz; shake their own hands when they meet a friend; wear a hat on entering a house and remove it when leaving; read books backwards by beginning on the last page and finishing on the first; wears white to funerals; and in some places the male wears skirts, while the female wears trousers.

Rome — once she and Phil had planned to travel the world's far rim together!

"I'm leaving tomorrow night," Judith answered. "It will be a matter of only a few weeks, Phil, until you are quite free."

They rose to go but the storm was too fierce. They sat down again. There was a silence. Into that silence came a man's heavy, drawling voice, as he refused to let the maid announce him and approached the sitting room.

Judith looked up. The man who had been Marta's husband looked down on them.

Supporters Of Both Feel Better Now Since Lewis And FDR Are Pals Again—Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 — Although no one who knows President Roosevelt and John L. Lewis expects that there will ever be a bond of personal friendship between the two men, the atmosphere surrounding their public cleavage has become much less tense since Lewis called at the White House and discussed their differences at some length.

Dutcher

Close associates of the President and the C. I. O. leader, who were more or less panic - stricken after their exchange of Labor day compliments —and who have worked strenuously to save all bridges from being burned behind one or both — have returned to a state of relative calm.

They say that Roosevelt was conciliatory and that Lewis was considerably less belligerent at the White House than in previous public and private expressions. The view among administration insiders is that the labor leader's public lashings at Roosevelt were largely induced by the fact that Lewis had made so many private denunciations of Roosevelt that he felt he could hardly avoid something of the sort in a major public address.

They also are aware that the Lewis references to Roosevelt were unpopular among certain other C. I. O. leaders.

Everyone's Happy Now

Lewis partisans make the most of the fact that it was Roosevelt who made the first conciliatory gesture to Lewis—in the form of an invitation to the White House.

All concerned — the New Deal crowd, the Lewis group and C. I. O. leaders — again believe that it is so essential both to the C. I. O. and the administration that there be no real split between Lewis and Roosevelt, that a serious, early break would be virtually impossible.

Fundamentally the two men differ through the fact that Lewis, a former Republican, has absorbed the philosophy that labor can and should rise to dominance through a farmer-labor political party. He thinks a successful attack by this merger upon the old political parties must be preceded by a far more extensive union organization of labor than has yet been achieved.

Nearly all the C. I. O. leaders hold to the same long range objective. Temporarily they are content to function as a balance of political power in industrial states, expanding labor influence in elections as far as they can.

Roosevelt Has Big Cards

Labor experts, inside and outside the labor movement, are saying that F. D. R. doesn't understand the labor movement, is mistaken in believing that C. I. O. will not become an increasingly effective political force and underestimates the importance and vitality of Lewis.

Be that as it may, the recent hostilities left most competent observers—and perhaps Lewis himself — convinced that Roosevelt was holding the big cards and that Lewis had more to lose in a genuine break than the President. A federal administration [illegible] against the C. I. O. now might well smash it, since C. I. O. has so many other enemies.

It is almost generally agreed that in a political contest under present circumstances, Roosevelt would be likely to influence more votes of C. I. O. members than Lewis himself. Reports have been current that Roosevelt had been trying to play off other C. I. O. leaders against Lewis.

Lewis heard these reports idly ago and is reported to have been increasingly bitter because Roosevelt showed a marked preference for President Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, both as to White House invitations and in the framing of the wage-hour bill.

Lewis was also compelled to remember that the A. F. of L. is still a force and would like nothing better than to build an alliance with Roosevelt on ruins

Cotton Report Made Public

"In some respects the grades of cotton from recent ginnings in Texas have improved over those of previous weeks," said a report from the bureau of agricultural economics at Austin, issued by the U. S. D. A. Saturday. "One fourth of the cotton classed during the week ending Sept. 23 was white strict middling and better, which compares with less than 20 per cent for the previous week."

"For district No. 2, the high plains area, 30.6 per cent graded middling or better, 18 per cent strict low middling and the remainder below that grade. Forty-five per cent was from 7-8 to 29-32 inches in staple length; 28.8 below 7-8 and 16.1 as 15-16 and above.

"Slightly over one-third of the crop this season to date has been white middling, and 12 per cent strict low middling and low middling. Over one-fifth of the cotton this week was strict middling and good middling spotted which compares with about 12 per cent to date," says the report.

"Based on all cotton classed to date this season, the staple length for the state as a whole is generally shorter than that of last season to corresponding date. The following shows the proportions of the various staple lengths to the nearest whole per cent to date this season and to corresponding date last season.:

| Staple Lengths (Inches) | 1937 Per Cent | 1936 Per Cent |
|---|---|---|
| Shorter than 7-8 | 10 | 7 |
| 7-8 and 29-32 | 44 | 32 |
| 15-16 and 31-32 | 28 | 42 |
| 1 inch and longer | 8 | 19 |

"The largest proportion of those lengths shorter than 7-8 inch is reported in district 5, the proportion being 53 per cent, with an absence of these lengths shown for district 1. Larger proportions of these lengths are reported to date this season than last season to corresponding date in all other districts except 3 and 5, with little change shown in district 2. Smaller proportions of the lengths 1 inch and longer are shown this year than last season in all districts except 2, 3, 5, and 6. A total absence of these lengths is indicated in district 5. One hundred per cent of all cotton classed in district 1 has been 1 inch or longer in staple length. The most pronounced decreases in the proportions of these lengths are shown in districts 4, 9, 10, and 11, with moderate reductions indicated in districts 7 and 8. A slight increase in the proportion of the staple lengths 1 inch and longer to date is shown in districts 2, 3, and 6.

"Cotton tenderable in the settlement of futures contracts to date this season ranges from 46 per cent in district 5 to 100 per cent in district 1, the total for the state being approximately 85 per cent."

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28. (AP) — Cotton opened steady today and first trades were unchanged to 6 points higher in response to better foreign markets and in the absence of spirited hedge selling.

Notices for 1050 bales of October cotton were tendered here against 50,700 in New York. The notices apparently were stopped promptly and failed to affect prices.

Oct. contracts opened at 8.41, Dec. at 8.42, Jan. 8.48, March 8.53, May 8.61 and July at 8.69.

Domestic and foreign goods centers continued quiet.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, up 2 to 8 points on higher Liverpool cables and trade and foreign buying despite October notices against 50,700 bales. Oct. 8.48; Dec. 8.57; Jan. 8.40; March 8.47; May 8.57; July 8.64.

Whiel the first notices issued against Oct. contracts were heavier than trade expectations, liquidation was readily taken by the trade and shorts. The near month maintained its premium over Dec.

Following the call, hedge selling and profit taking caused slight reactions from the best.

Dec. sold off from 8.38 to 8.34 but shortly after the first half hour was 8.37, with prices generally 2 to 5 points net higher. Part of the early demand came from Liverpool, the far east and the continent.

Liverpool reported lighter offerings because prices were near cotton loan levels.

Lubbock Market

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock. Grain — S. E. Cone Grain and feed company. Following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers. Cotton—Stocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

Payments Are To Begin January 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. — The Social Security board announced today that Texas had accumulated in the treasury by September 1 a total of $13,328,749.45 for unemployment insurance.

The state had received from the government up to the middle of the month a total of $335,240.55 for administration costs of the unemployment compensation system, which covers 708,000 workers.

To Pay In January

The board said the state is preparing to pay unemployed workers, beginning in January, benefits to be based on records of past earnings. The insurance to be paid through the state employment service, after a waiting period which begins when the unemployed worker first registers at the employment office for a new job.

The first duty of the service will be to assist the worker in finding a new job, the board said, and if unsuccessful, compensation payments are to begin two weeks after registration. The worker will receive benefit for total wages up to a maximum payment of $15 a week. The minimum payment will be $5 or three fourths of weekly wages, whichever is less. The duration of the payments will depend on the wage credits of the individual recorded by the state unemployment compensation commission.

More Pensions Paid

The board also reported that in July there were 120,683 recipients of old-age assistance in Texas who got an average of $13.75 each monthly, totaling $1,658,852. This compared with the 89,999 recipients in the same month of 1936, when payments averaged $15.82 each monthly for a total of $949,055.

There were 131,911 applications for identification numbers under the old age benefits program filed with the board as of September 1 by Texas employing establishments, and 1,226,406 applications for social security account numbers from individuals. First payments begin in 1942.

Troops Mobilized

vilian areas, a naval spokesman announced the airdromes at Kwangteh, Hangchow, Changin, Kashing and Tachiaochang, outside Nanking, had been bombed.

More than half of China's planes have now been destroyed, the spokesman asserted.

City Is Shaken

Four huge Japanese bombers dropped explosives on the Chapei and Pootung areas here for two hours, some of the missiles shaking the city. Foreign residents of the city crowded the rooftops to watch the attack.

A Japanese spokesman declared there were clear signs that the Chinese troops in the Shanghai sector were preparing to shift their positions. He said Japanese intelligence information was that 25 Chinese divisions were in active operation on the Shanghai front and 20 more were in reserve. They averaged 10,000 men to a division, he said.

President Speaks

be wholly electrified in the not far distant future, he added:

Encourage Small Communities

"It is because I am thinking of the nation and the region fifty years from now that I venture the further prophesy that as time passes we will do everything in our power to encourage the building up of the smaller communities of the United States.

"Today many people are beginning to realize that there is inherent weakness in cities which become too large and inherent strength in a wider geographical distribution of population.

"An over-large city inevitably meets problems caused by over-size. Real estate values and rents become too high; the time consumed in going from one's home to one's work and back again becomes excessive; congestion of streets and other transportation problems arise; truck gardens disappear because the backyard is too small; the cost of living of the average family rises far too high."

The president said there was "doubtless a reasonable balance in all of thi sand it is a balance which ought to be given more and more study."

Kidnap Case

Ross and the stranger were acquainted.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of the state's attorney's police, said the man may have been a spotter for the three kidnapers who forced Ross out of his car and carried him off in their own.

"I am convinced that this was a real kidnaping but that it was accomplished by amateurs," Capt. Gilbert said, adding his belief that at least five men would have participated if the kidnaping was the work of professionals.

There's Nothing Too Dangerous In Trapeze Work For Petite Russell Circus Artist; French Girl Rides Cycle In Big Top

By MARY HOWELL

There's nothing too dangerous for petite 97-pound Aerialetta to do and there's nothing she likes better than to sit in her trailer house and pet her four-year-old Pekinese dog, Chico.

One of the foremost aerial gymnasts of the day, Aerialetta went through her routine last night at the Russell Bros. circus at the fair, performed with unerring confidence and style that drew long breaths from her audience, ran the entire scale of difficult trapeze tricks and came to a hair-raising finish when she did a standing ankle drop and then performed a series of somersaults from a trapeze.

Is Native Texas Girl

The native Texas girl who said that she was soon expecting her twentieth birthday first began her dangerous acting six years ago when she met her husband, Walter Jennier, who is the trainer and manager of the "college trained" seal, Buddy. "I only had a few lessons in toe and tap dancing and of course I was very limber, which made me adapted to this aerial work," the girl who has been married for nearly five years, said. She first took to "the air' at a ranch circus in Galveston when she was 14 years of age.

Authorities in aerial trapeze said the Aerialetta act is the first time in history that the combination of muscular and sensational routine work has been combined.

Exhibits Her Rope Burns

Showing a reporter her hands that remain damp "nearly all of the time," the trapeze worker laughed and said "and just look at my rope burns." The actress had blisters and burns on her hands that looked like liabilities to anyone working on trapeze. Aerialetta said that she always tried to smile during her acts because she could get her work "over better and then, too, it keeps me in better spirits."

She does not smoke, not because she things it would be bad on her nerves, but "simply because I do not like to smoke," she said.

One of her favorite acts is her "stomach balance" on a highly suspended trapeze and "then I like to do the ankle grabbing act," she said as she sat in her trailer house and reprimanded Chico, her dog, when the canine dragged a steak bone onto a rug in a neatly furnished road home.

Aerialetta always wears white tights and cape made of Tulle. She makes the costumes herself. She commented that "I like Lubbock as a shopping center" and said that "Lubbock is a nice city." She was in here several years ago with the Tom Mix show, she said. From critics over the country, information from news clippings that she had about her work revealed that the tiny trapeze actress had made appearances to border likeness of Lupe Veles, popular movie star.

By EVA ROB WATKINS

The little French girl, Dolly Rebras who rides the bicycle inside a cylinder high in the air, didn't speak English. The reporter didn't speak French. So they sat on Dolly's trunk by the side of her tent, at Russell Bros., circus at the Panhandle-South Plains fair and talked to each other in Spanish.

Of course Dolly Rebras isn't her real name. It is Roberte Dick. This is her first year in America and she can't get used to traveling such great distances.

Born In Northern France

Roberte was born in the northern part of France and her parents, two younger sisters and a brother still live there. And here Roberte simply dived into her trunk to bring out a letter that had arrived only the day before. It was from her brother, Jean. The envelope was covered with forwarding addresses in half a dozen different handwritings. In the corner was a beautiful indigo stamp—a commemorative with the picture of Pierre Corneille, the French dramatist who produced "Le Cid" exactly 300 years ago. Roberte is a stamp collector and traveling with a circus has given her ample opportunity to make a very good collection.

The trunk itself, symbolic of circus life, was a curiosity. The tray was divided into dozens of compartments, each one packed neatly and to capicity with make-up material, powder puffs, and, typical of French frugality, a ball of twine pieced from tiny bits. Then below there were piles of fluffy, and bespangled dresses and tights in all colors. The white in which she made her entry for her act in Lubbock was hanging in the tent ready for her to wear.

Nearly Had Accident

When asked if ever she "got scared nearly to death" while riding the bicycle, Roberte said that she had been terribly frightened twice, and both times it was in Greece. The houses there have flat roofs. People came out onto their roofs, and she and her brother Louis went onto the highest roof of all to do the act—on a six story building. The second time was when the cross beam in the cylinder broke. It flattened, the bicycle went flying into space, she caught onto the pole, and through it all, though it lasted only a second, Louis balanced her and she came down safely.

Roberte has not been in circus work long. In Europe she was a toe dancer from the time she was very young until she went into gymnastic vaudeville work. She then began travelling all over Europe with Louis, who had been in French circus almost all his life.

In comparing the French and American circus, Louis said there were fewer tents in France and more buildings for their performances. Traveling accommodations were not so good as those in America, because the runs were very short and there were not many of them. For this reason, they "put up" with discomforts.

Almost all the personnel of the circus travels in trailers. These range from rickety patched-up red wooden contraptions to the sleek, streamlined modern homes on wheels with every convenience. Roberte's next door neighbors are Belgians. And five girls live in the next house down the street. The girls were sitting outside their house, a most luxurious one, "setting" each other's hair, but "not with fluid" because it was only an hour until the circus began.

Sheriff Tom Abel Thinks Fair This Year Best In History

Sheriff Tom Abel thinks the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair "by far the best we've ever had", and he ought to know.

He has attended each of the 24 annual fairs.

The sheriff spoke of the greater number and better class of exhibits, and emphasized the cleanliness aspect. "Even the hogs are spotless", he said.

"It's getting to be a big thing", he summarized the fair.

Sam Rayburn Scoffs At Third Term For Roosevelt Reports

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (AP)—Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas today scoffed at speculations the president might "attempt or consider" seeking a third term in the White House.

Rayburn refused to be quoted directly but Rep. Patrick Boland of Pennsylvania, majority whip, said he believed third-term talk was "rubbish."

Rayburn and Boland stopped here after a tarpon-fishing expedition at Aransas Pass.

Rayburn refused to acknowledge there was such a thing as a split in the Democratic party.

Coke Stevenson Says He Has Done 'Quite A Bit Of Running'

AUSTIN, Sept. 28. (AP)—Representative Coke Stevenson of Junction, twice speaker of the house, said today he already had done "quite a bit of running" in the 1938 lieutenant governor's race. He added he expected to make formal announcement of his candidacy about January 1.

Across the hall were two persons who may oppose him in the lieutenant governor's contest, Senator Will D. Pace of Tyler and Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland.

ISSUE BLANKET INDICTMENT

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 28. (AP) —A blanket indictment charging violation of the National Labor Relations act was returned by a grand jury in federal district court late today against 22 Harlan county coal mine companies, 24 executives of the companies, and 23 deputy sheriffs or former deputies.

ALLRED ACCEPTS LEADERSHIP

FORT WORTH, Sept. 28. (AP) — Governor Allred today accepted an invitation to head the Texas committee on arrangements for the seventh World's Poultry congress to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1938.

Hitler And Il Duce Reaffirm Friendship Of Italian And German Nations In Toasts

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 28. — Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler in an exchange of banquet toasts last night reaffirmed solidarity of the Rome-Berlin axis of close collaboration in European affairs.

The two Fascist leaders proclaimed that their cooperative axis, through capable of supporting even wder European cooperation is imperious to any attempts to wreck Italo-German friendship by playing one nation off against the other.

Make Dramatic Reaffirmation

Il Duce and his host, Reichsfuehrer Hitler, made their dramatic reaffirmation of friendship at a state manquet given in the reichschancellery for the visiting Italian statesman.

Hitler declared, however, the Rome-Berlin axis must not be interpreted as "the formation of a bloc aimed against other European states."

"On the contrary we are convinced that through this, our mutual labors, we best can serve not only interests of our countries but beyound these the aim—close to our hearts—of a general international understanding.

Side By Side

"In this spirit Italy and Germany will examine and deal with their political tasks side by side in order thus to counteract every possible attempt to divide the two nations or even to play one off against the other," he told the banquet guests.

The Reichsfuehrer closed his remarks by proposing a toast to Italy's king and "emperor of Ethiopia" and to the welfare of Mussolini and Fascist Italy.

Turning to his host, Il Duce declared.

"Conversations which I have had with your excellency in these recent days have strengthened our friendship and immunized it against every attempt to disturb and divide it—from whatever quarter it may come."

Mussolini, fresh from witnessing extensive war maneuvers in north Germany, praised the spiritual atmosphere of "brown-shirted Germany" and eulogized Hitler as the creator of a new nation.

Italo-German solidarity, he said, is not the result merely of political calculations, but the expression of community of interests.

It in nowise constitutes "a self-contained bloc which fearfully and suspiciously shuts itself off from the rest of the world," Il Duce declared, asserting that "Italy and Germany are ready to cooperate with all other peoples of good will."

Germany's capital had given Mussolini a tumultous welcome. Previously Il Duce rode with Hitler in an open automobile through lanes of cheering, flag-waving crowds. Nearly 800,000 persons saw them.

At Essen today Der Fuehrer showed Il Duce the Krupp munition works—Europe's greatest cannon factory.

Berlin outdid Munich in its welcome. A six-mile route to the presidential palace was lined with huge pillars bearing the Fascist insignia.

County League Officers Are To Be Selected On Friday

Reorganization of the County Interscholastic league and election of officers will be undertaken at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the chapel of the First Methodist church.

The session will be presided over by A. L. Faubion, director-general of last year's setup.

All school teachers of every system in Lubbock county with exception of Lubbock city schools are eligible to participate in the meeting, said Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent of public instruction.

THE GADDING WINDERS

MORTON, (Special) — This is some kind of a record, says J. L. Winder. On a recent week-end he and Mrs. Winder drove to Wichita Falls to visit a son, C. N. Winder. Later another son, C. F. and a daughter, Mrs. Roy Tarver, and their families left to visit friends in Lubbock. It was the first time in the 14 years Winder had been in Morton that all of his family was out of town at the same time.

CHANGE MEETING DATE

SLATON, (Special) — The Luther Powers post of the American Legion announces its regular meeting nights will be the second and fourth Monday nights in the month. Formerly the post met on Friday night, but this schedule interferred with local football games.

NAMED TEACHERS

Miss Turner will teach language, arts and social studies in the fourth and fifth grades and Lindley will teach mathematics and social studies in the fourth and fifth grades.

New Policeman Is Added To Force

The eighteenth member of the police department, Carl Francis, 35, was announced this morning by Don Reeder, chief.

Francis, said Reeder, had been on the force several days, but had not been in uniform until today. The plainsclothes method was used because of a recent splurge of law infractions.

Francis is married and has been employed nine years by Lubbock Poultry and Egg company.

Parents Of Young Film Star Wage Fight For Custody

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP) — While Freddie Bartholomew is waging a court fight with his studio over his film salary, his parents are moving to regain his custody.

Attorneys for Cecil Llewellyn and Lillian Bartholomew filed notice in superior court yesterday they would petition to have his adoption last April 3 by his aunt, Myllicent Bartholomew, set aside on grounds of fraud. Hearing was set for Friday.

Jap Naval Ministry Denies Story Of Attack By Sub

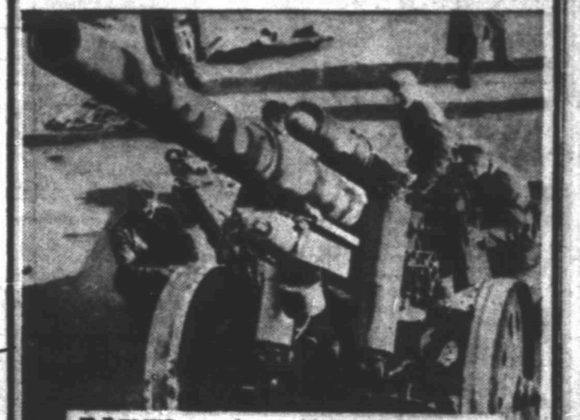

TOKYO, Sept. 28 (AP)—The naval ministry issued a categorical denial today of reports from Hongkong that a Japanese submarine sank a fleet of Chinese fishing vessels and charged the story was an example of "fabricated propaganda."

Ten Chinese were brought to Hongkong yesterday by the German liner Scharnhorst which had rescued them from the fishing junk they said was the only one of 12 to survive an attack by a Japanese submarine. They declared 300 lives were lost.

A California railroad runs across tree tops over a deep ravine near the coast. A bridge of stone or iron would have been too costly so the trees were utilized. The top branches were sawed off and the timbers for the line laid on the stumps. The bridge is regarded as entirely safe.

What Two Things Happen When You Are Constipated?

When you are constipated two things happen. FIRST: Waste swell up the bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. This nerve pressure causes headaches, a dull, lazy feeling, bilious spells, loss of appetite and dizziness. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, bringing on sour stomach (acid indigestion), and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath.

Then you spend many miserable days. You can't eat. You can't sleep. Your stomach is sour. You feel tired out, grouchy and miserable.

To get the complete relief you seek you must do TWO things. 1. You must relieve the GAS. 2. You must clear the bowels and GET THAT PRESSURE OFF THE NERVES. As soon as effective enzyme action are washed out you feel marvelously refreshed, bliss vanish, the world looks bright again.

There is only one product on the market that give you the double action you need. It is ADLERIKA. This efficient carminative cathartic relieves that awful GAS at once. It often removes bowel congestion in half an hour. No waiting for overnight relief. Adlerika acts on the stomach and both bowels. Ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only.

Adlerika has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 25 years. No griping, no after effects. Just QUICK results. Try Adlerika today. You'll say you have never used such an efficient intestinal cleanser.

Texas Tech Is Third In State In Receipt Of Cash From NYA

Texas Technological college placed third in a list of Texas institutions receiving NYA help this year, J. C. Kellam, Texas director of the National Youth administration, announced from Austin.

In the allotment for Texas funds to provide jobs for 3117 needy students were available. Of this number, the University of Texas at Austin placed first, with $9,310 for 614 jobs. Texas A. & M. at College Station was second, requiring $4,050 for 330 jobs. Texas Technological college expects to take care of 192 students with $2,880.

A. V. Bullock, district supervisor for the National Youth administration, explained that many high schools would have students assigned aid at $6 per month, while the college students received $15 a month. Further applications for college and high school aid are being acted upon as fast as they are received it was stated.

Other Texas schools which placed over the thousand dollar mark were East Texas State Teachers college, at Commerce, John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville, Prairie View State college at Prairie View, Southern Methodist university at Dallas, and Southwest Texas State Teachers college at San Marcos.

The list included 66 Texas colleges, and announced the approval of 600 high schools for NYA aid.

First Lecture On Business Is Given By Kuykendall

First lecture in a series to deal with Lubbock business conditions and problems, was presented Monday afternoon before a class of 130 freshmen business administration students by George P. Kuykendall, manager of Kuykendall Chevrolet company.

Subsequent lectures will be given Monday afternoons throughout the semester, the class teacher, Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, has announced. Ten or 15 local business men will be asked to appear on the course, which is being presented for the first time this year.

Mr. Kuykendall stressed necessity of character development on the part of young people hoping to enter business, the importance of ability to get along with other people and the importance of technical training in the field of business.
