COPTER PILOT Lt. David Taylor Killed Monday In Viet War

1st Lt. David Earl Taylor, 22, U.S. Army helicopter pilot, was shot down and killed over Vietnam Jan. 20, his wife, Mrs. Lynn Taylor, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Taylor, 211 Jefferson, were notified Wednesday.

LT. DAVID EARL TAYLOR

Young Taylor died on the day his infant son, whom he had never seen, was one month old. The lieutenant, who had planned to make the Army his career, enlisted here and had been in service for three years and in Vietnam for the past six months. Born in Colorado City, Lt. Taylor came to Big Spring in 1963 when his father, a 23-year veteran with Coltex-Cosden, was transferred here. He attended his junior and senior years at Big Spring High School, and was a student at Howard County Junior College for one year. He and Mrs. Taylor were married 18 months ago in Illinois, which is Mrs. Taylor's home state. His wife was making plans to meet her husband in Hawaii in the near future, when he was to have been sent to the islands for a rest period. He has one brother, Scott, 10, who lives here. Funeral arrangements are incomplete, pending further word from the military. So far, the only notification the family has received of Lt. Taylor's death was a personal message delivered by an Army sergeant from Midland. No telegram or other word from governmental authorities has arrived.

Crash Kills Texans

BANNING, Calif. (AP) — Three residents of Central Texas were found dead in the wreckage of their light plane in rugged mountains of California Wednesday. The victims were identified as Joe Corsentino, 40, and his wife Eleanor, 38, of Temple and John Stolta, 42, of Killeen. The three were on a flight from Temple in Central Texas to Fontana, Calif., at the time of the crash. A sheriff's deputy said the twin-engine Cessna 337 Skymaster disintegrated when it crashed into Mt. San Jacinto at an estimated speed of 225 miles an hour. There were turbulent winds and a low ceiling at the time.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 264, an unmanned satellite designed for space research of an undisclosed nature.

Navy Plane Falls

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A Navy plane crashed in heavy fog at the Meridian Naval Air Station Wednesday night, killing both occupants. Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin. The prop-driven S2 craft, on a training flight from the Corpus Christi, Tex., NAS, was making a radar ground-controlled approach to the landing field.

Cold Front Brings Snow Into Texas

By The Associated Press
The Weather Bureau warned today of a cold wave penetrating in the extreme northwest part of the state.

The forecasters also expected snow flurries in the Panhandle ending Friday morning.

The cold wave advisory with temperatures expected below freezing was for all North Texas and into the northern portions of South, South Central, Southeast and Southwest Texas.

TO 15 DEGREES

This morning, the temperature dropped to 15 degrees above zero at Perryton in the upper Panhandle while Dalhart reported freezing drizzle.

Freezing drizzle coated exposed surfaces in a light glaze at Dalhart and chilly fog hung low around Amarillo, also in the Panhandle. Official observers looked for a few snow flurries in the same area.

It likewise was foggy—but much warmer—in such South Texas areas as Palacios, Victoria, Corpus Christi and Alice.

Dust blew at many points in West Texas to herald the new northerly arrival. In its wake scattered thundershowers dotted parts of the Panhandle and spread during the evening into parts of North and Central Texas.

LIGHT RAIN

Early this morning there was a little light rain in the area between College Station and Lufkin downstate.

Although a 15-mile north wind sharpened the chill in the Panhandle, some observers saw signs that the worst of a bitter blast might slide off to the east and miss most of Texas.

Forecasters nevertheless called for readings as low as 15 degrees again early Friday in the Panhandle and 18 in North Central and Northeast Texas, where clouds were expected to linger. Fair skies were promised the rest of the state, with overnight lows down to 25 in the southwest, 28 in the south central part of the state and 32 in the south-east.

HIGHS

These expected marks contrasted sharply with Wednesday's highs, which hit 93 degrees at Beeville and 91 at Alice and Laredo. Top marks at other points ranged down to 64 at Amarillo and 63 at Dalhart.

Bucher Warned Of Navy Court-Martial

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A Navy court told Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher Wednesday that he was suspected of violating naval regulations in surrendering the intelligence ship Pueblo to the North Koreans. He was informed by the five admirals constituting a court of inquiry that anything he said from now on might be used against him in court-martial proceedings.

SHAKEN

But Bucher, obviously shaken by the statement, said he would continue to give "full details" of the Pueblo's capture and of the 11 months he and his 81 surviving crewmen spent in captivity. Bucher resumes his testimony today — first anniversary of the seizure of the ship by the North Koreans.

Wednesday Bucher, 41, described how he gave up the Pueblo with her guns still covered. The court recessed briefly after he told of "receiving" aboard a party of North Korean riflemen about 20 miles off Wonsan Harbor and how they prodded his crew to sitting positions on the deck.

After their return, his face tensed as he heard counsel for the Navy, Capt. William Newsome, declare: "Commander Bucher it is my duty to tell you that facts revealed in this court of inquiry render you to be suspect of a violation of USNR Article 0730."

NOT A TRIAL

A court of inquiry is not a military trial, like a court-martial, but only an investigative hearing. Nevertheless Bucher's status suddenly had changed from "a party to the court" to "suspect." Shortly after the crew's release just before Christmas at least two Navy admirals had called Bucher and his men heroes.

With a Brooklyn twang, Newsome quoted regulations: "The commanding officer shall not permit his command to

Killer Twisters Snuff Out 28 Mississippians

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — A series of killer tornadoes swooped through central Mississippi early today, killing at least 28 persons, injuring more than 100 and causing heavy damage. Police said the death toll could rise.

COUNTY SEAT

The deadly twisters struck first at Hazlehurst, a small county seat community some 30 miles south of Jackson, where 10 bodies were recovered by the Mississippi Highway Patrol. About 15 homes there were destroyed, and a lumber mill and concrete products plant were heavily damaged. An empty store and adjoining service station also were destroyed.

From Hazlehurst the tornadoes moved eastward through rural areas of Simpson and Smith counties.

The highway patrol said four persons in a single home were killed in the Smith County community of Sardis and 14 others were killed in Simpson County between Mendenhall and Harrisville.

The tornado "sounded like three or four freight trains," said Alvin Smith, a high school football coach at Hazlehurst.

"After three minutes, it was gone."

Smith said that as soon as the tornado had cleared he ran to a nearby area hard hit by the winds.

"I dug two people out myself, an old lady and a boy," Smith said. "I put a tourniquet on the boy. He was bleeding pretty badly."

Hospitals at Hazlehurst and Mendenhall were reported filled with tornado victims and others were being rushed to hospitals in Jackson and Brookhaven for treatment.

PROBE DEBRIS

Workers moved through the three-county area, probing through wrecked buildings and debris and searching strangely clear areas where homes had stood.

Relatives helped in the search with volunteer workers and stood silently by when they found no trace of missing kin in the debris.

"We're doing everything we can to provide quarters for the many people displaced," said Mayor Paul Kemp of Hazlehurst.

Death Scene

Workers reported finding three dead here and were looking for at least one more believed to be still in the wreckage. The house was destroyed by a tornado that struck the community this morning.

FEW SPECIFICS, MOSTLY GENERALITIES

Smith Backs Low Voting Age

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith recommended in his first speech to the legislature today a constitutional change that could give 18-year-olds the vote. He also asked the legislature for a prison "work release program" and for action to help make the $10 billion state water plan a reality.

BUDGET LATER

The new governor told a joint session of the legislature he would make his tax and budget recommendations later. There were a few specific recommendations but Smith spoke largely in generalities. He had copies of the 1968 state Democratic platform distributed and said he re-endorsed it today. The platform includes opposition to a state income tax and urges the legislature to submit a constitutional amendment permitting sale of liquor by the drink on a local option basis.

"Price tags and priorities remain to be decided," Smith said.

Smith had little to say about the proposals of former Gov. John Connally's Public School Study Committee, other than to recommend further study, "especially in the proper committees of the legislature."

He said the committee's finding that no school district should have less than 2,600 pupils—with limited exceptions—has been set too high for practical purposes, at least for any hope of early agreement by the legislature and the people.

TEACHER PAY

Smith said teacher salaries must be increased. He asked for careful consideration of the Texas State Teachers Association's and the governor's committee's pay recommendations.

"A more specific recommendation will be made in the budget message," he said.

The TSTA recommended a $1,000-a-year raise. The governor's committee proposed a raise of $1,566 over the next two years for beginning teachers.

Smith also said it "is not true" that he is against constitutional revision, but that he opposed submitting a complete new constitution—as recommended by a House commission—to the voters at one time.

He said revision and modernization of the 1876 Constitution "could only be accomplished politically by taking one or two articles at a time. He said a possible initial step would be to first ask voter approval of eliminating all language that is admittedly obsolete or meaningless.

The governor said it is time to think about giving young persons a greater say in the state's political life.

STRONGER

"The developing desire and determination of young people to have a stronger voice in public affairs is a sign of our times," he said. Smith noted the Texas Constitution lumps persons under 21 with "idiots, lunatics, paupers, felons" as disqualified to vote.

"In these tenuous circumstances, and in the certain knowledge that there are many more builders than wreckers in the Texas youth community, I would like to see these young people removed from that category," he said.

He recommended a constitutional change enabling the legislature to set a minimum voting age "lower than 21 but not lower than 18, if it desires to do so."

"This, of course, would not accomplish any change from the status quo without implementing legislation."

Smith asked for a constitutional amendment setting up a plan for financing Texas' share of the $6.3 billion Texas water plan that would carry surplus Mississippi River and East Texas water to Far West Texas and South Texas. He also said a constitutional amendment is needed to empower the Texas Water Development Board to implement the water plan.

An innovation recommended by Smith would set up a work-release program for state prisoners, which he said is being "successfully administered in about one-half of the states and by the federal government since 1965."

The program would allow prisoners to work under security in the free world for standard wages in jobs for which no other qualified workers are available. Part of their earnings would be used to help support their dependents.

Smith also recommended: —Restructuring the state technical-vocational education system, increasing appropriations for it, and providing junior colleges with individual appropriations for this purpose, instead of the present lump sum channeled through the Texas Education Agency.

—A constitutional change lifting the $60 million-a-year ceiling on state public welfare payments.

—Creation of new state medical schools at Houston and Lubbock; a new state dental school at San Antonio; and contracts with the Baylor medical and dental schools to increase their outputs.

Hickel Wins Senate Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed today the controversial nomination of Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska to be Secretary of the Interior.

The vote was 73 to 16. The action came three days after all of the other 11 members of President Nixon's Cabinet had been approved unanimously and more than 24 hours after they had taken office.

Hickel's views on conservation matters and his personal financial interests were probed for five days by the Senate Interior Committee. The appointment then was debated at length on the Senate floor.

The Senate now takes up another controversial Nixon nomination—that of California industrialist David R. Packard to be deputy secretary of defense.

Some senators have raised questions about Packard's plan for a trust arrangement for $300 million in stock he holds in an electronics firm doing extensive government business.

But Packard has the unanimous backing of the Senate Armed Services Committee and his confirmation also was expected today.

DEBATE

Debate on the nomination finally began Wednesday about five hours after the other 11 Cabinet members were sworn in at a White House ceremony.

Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, defended Hickel as "consumer-oriented" against attacks by Sens. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., and Muskie.

Clarification Asked On Soviet Mideast Proposals

LONDON (AP) — Britain delivered its answer today to the Soviet program for a phased Arab-Israeli peace settlement, terming some parts of it constructive but calling for clarification of other elements.

The Soviet proposals, addressed to the United States, Britain and France, urged Big Four action to promote progress toward an Arab-Israeli settlement in five stages.

The proposals were based on the U.N. Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, with a two-phased Israeli withdrawal from conquered Arab territories as a starting point.

But coupled with Israeli withdrawals, the Russians envisaged parallel Arab action to end the state of war against Israel and, among other things, to accept the principle of the freedom of navigation in the Suez Canal and through the Tiran Strait.

One issue raised by Foreign Minister Michael Stewart was a vaguely worded section of the Soviet proposals which referred to the restoration of free navigation through the international waterways of the Middle East—meaning Suez and Tiran.

The British were anxious to know if the Soviets envisaged that Suez and Tiran would be freely usable in the future by Israeli shipping. There was no precise commitment spelled out in the Soviet proposals which would bind Egypt to acknowledge that right for the Israelis in any peace settlement.

court the full details," Harvey said.

The Navy, through Wednesday, had raised these points against Bucher:

1. That he failed to comprehend fully the possibility of an attack. For example:

Q. Vice Admiral Harold G. Bowen Jr.: "Did you ever consider an attack and what you would do?"

A. Bucher: "No sir, I never considered I would ever be attacked on this mission. It never occurred to me. It never occurred to me nor did it cross my mind that I would ever be put in the position I found myself in that afternoon."

2. That his men weren't issued small arms.

Q. Bowen: "How about small arms for the men?"

SMALL ARMS

A. Bucher: "Small arms were issued in drills in port and under way, but not on the day of capture."

3. That Bucher waited too long to order destruction of classified equipment and documents.

Bucher testified that he waited until after one boarding attempt by the North Koreans, a sea chase and their first salvo of cannon fire before giving the order.

Until then, Bucher said, he had only ordered preparations for destruction.

He said at least two mattress covers full of documents fell to the Communists.

4. That Bucher failed to realize his incinerator was too small to burn all the documents and he didn't sail into water deep enough for jetting them out.

"It was a complete oversight on my part," Bucher said.

5. And finally, that he surrendered 81 of the most classified items on his ship when he turned over his men.

Q. Newsome: "Isn't it true that in deciding to surrender your vessel you also decided to surrender some of the most classified items on your ship, your personnel?"

A. Bucher: "Yes sir, that's right."

Bucher's testimony on Wednesday gave new details about the shelling of the Pueblo and indignities to her men when they were finally taken on shore in North Korea.

He said the crewman killed, Fireman Duane Hodges, of Creswell, Ore., was hit by a cannon shell that exploded in his upper thigh and abdomen.

"He could not possibly have survived even if there had been a team of expert surgeons aboard," Bucher said.

He added that Hodges died after emergency first aid as the Pueblo was being escorted to port.

Bucher and two other of his men were wounded.

Bucher said he was struck several times by his captors when he refused to disconnect the Pueblo's radio or uncover her guns.

Rental Income Tax Requirement

Persons who received income last year from renting part of their home need to file a Schedule B with their 1040 income tax return form, according to Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas.

Campbell said that taxpayers with pension and annuity income, income or losses from partnerships, estates or trusts, and rent or royalty income are required to use Schedule B.

Mayor's 'Miracle'

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay donated a pint of his blood Wednesday and pronounced it a "miracle" he had any left after three years in City Hall.

"I'm not sure there's any blood left in this tired old body," said the mayor, kicking off a Red Cross drive for donations.

Sirhan's Murder Trial Due To Drag

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's trial on charges of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy could last another three months or more, suggests Judge Herbert V. Walker.

Walker made the observation Wednesday as the prosecution and defense engaged in another round of seating and unseating prospective jurors. Three were provisionally accepted; three others removed.

This left a dozen jurors still tentatively seated, just where the proceedings were last Friday when the prosecution said it was willing to accept the jury. Since then, half of the 12 have been removed—five by peremptory challenges of the prosecution or defense. One was ex-

Jersey City Judge Orders Teachers To End Walkout

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Superior Court Judge Robert Mathews granted a temporary injunction today ordering an end to the teachers' strike which closed the city's 34 schools.

The injunction directs the teachers' organization to show cause Jan. 31 why the injunction should not be continued. It ordered the teachers to return to work immediately.

A spokesman for the teachers declined to comment on whether the court order would be obeyed.

The strike over wages began today, forcing the closing of Jersey City's school system, the second largest in the state.

The walkout was the second in two years.

Dr. Robert Coyle, school superintendent, in ordering the closing of the schools cited two reasons:

—Concern for the safety of the pupils.

—State law requires all schools to run 180 days of the year, and it would create an imbalance to keep only some of them open.

Jersey City, with a population of about 275,000, is just across the Hudson River from New York City. About 35,000 students attend the city's public schools, which have a teaching staff of 1,650. About 75 per cent of the teachers were reported on strike.

Negotiations between the Jersey City Education Association, representing the teachers, and the board were set for later today.

The teachers are seeking a yearly salary range of $8,000 to $12,800, compared to the present $6,200 to $9,750. The board has offered a $6,500 starting salary, with a top scale of $10,200.

The first report meeting from the participating member division of the YMCA's membership enrollment pushed the campaign to the one-third mark Thursday.

The sustaining member division was more than halfway to its goal, K. H. McGibbon, chairman, reported.

Mike Hull, chairman of the participating division, said that the first report meeting Wednesday evening boosted to $4,188 the amount so far included from 1969 members. New quota busters who joined Francis Hardesty, Wade Choate, Tito Arenchiba, Mike Hull and Bill Schwarzenbach.

We are looking forward to a real good report session Friday at 5:15 p.m. at the Y," said Hull. "I urge all division and team captains to check with workers and encourage them to be at the meeting. If everyone will make a special effort to make contacts on prospective members, we can have a great surge toward our goal."

The participating division is shooting at a goal of $12,500 and more than 600 members. The sustaining division, with a target of $10,000, has reported $5,389 so far raised.

Among those on the program will be the Rev. Harland Birdwell, St. Mary's Episcopal; the Rev. D. M. Duke, Church of Nazarene; the Rev. Coahoma Protest Trip Set Monday

COAHOMA — Patrons of the Coahoma Independent School District were reminded again today by Bill Read to make their reservations immediately for a trip to Austin to voice opposition to a state-wide plan for consolidations.

Coahomans have secured a 1:30 p.m. Monday audience with Gov. Preston Smith to take issue with a section of a Governor's Committee (appointed by former Gov. John Connally) which recommended that schools with less than 2,600 students be consolidated with others, generally in a county-wide system.

The transportation fee is $10 and Read needs to know as soon as possible about reservations for the one-day trip by chartered bus.

Nixon Calls First Session Of Urban Affairs Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon assembled his new Urban Affairs Council today to discuss the crises in America's cities and as the first order of business signed an executive order creating the panel.

Nixon used a succession of pens during the ceremony and joked about the difficulty of signing his name one small stroke at a time. The pens will be distributed as mementoes.

"I'M A SCRAWLER" "My name is not long enough," Nixon said. "This is a first for me. This is going to be the most illegible signature. I'm a scrawler."

Members of the eight-man council, which includes half of the Cabinet, stood behind Nixon as the President, seated at the Cabinet table, signed the order.

Nixon envisions that panel as the domestic counterpart of the National Security Council planning and implementing efforts to deal with big city problems.

Its first session, presumably was set up as largely procedural, for the naming of staff members to conduct its day-to-day work, including sociologist Daniel P. Moynihan, assistant to the President for urban affairs.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew also will be regular council members.

A Nixon meeting Wednesday with Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy produced a pledge that the new administration will contain "inherited inflationary pressures that are seriously distorting the economy and financial markets."

Kennedy said the Nixon administration will "try to get through this by taking just the steam out of the boiler, the high pressure," without disruptive economic measures which might hoist unemployment.

"We are all conscious of the risks of abrupt and blunt action that could bring unnecessary unemployment. We mean to avoid that," Kennedy said in a statement which bore Nixon's endorsement.

"But we are equally conscious of the risks of not moving decisively, because inflation is undermining both the foundation of our prosperity at home and our balance of payments position."

BUDGET CONTROL Kennedy listed budget control, monetary policy and the 10 per cent income surtax as among the tools the new administration would use in the effort to stem inflation.

But he was less than optimistic about prospects for substantial reduction of the budget. President Johnson sent Congress. He said he considers it "a very tight budget. My own view is that it's going to be very difficult to reduce expenditures substantially."

Both Mayo and Kennedy said the ultimate decision will depend on the size of the budget, the expense of the war in Vietnam, and the over-all economic situation.

Kennedy read his prepared statement on inflation control after naming his two top deputies at the Treasury Department. He said Nixon would nominate Charles E. Walker, executive vice president of the American Bankers Association, to be under secretary and No. 2

Paul A. Volcker, a vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, was named undersecretary for monetary affairs.

MARINE VETERAN LARRY VANN Correcting the lines of another poem

Marine Vet Tries Hand At Poetry

By TEX ROGERS
Christmas of 1965 in Vietnam was lonely for Marine corpsman Larry Vann of Portales, N.M. So, he wrote a poem to his girl friend and tucked it away.

Three years later, the 24-year-old veteran is just as lonely in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring, and he is still writing. This time, however, the purpose of the poetry is to win a contest instead of to simply record an emotion.

Vann's latest efforts will be entered in the 23rd annual writing contest for hospitalized veterans. His first effort, "Prayer for My Girl," was not written while he was in a VA installation, so it cannot be considered.

The lanky, former college basketball player is in the VA Hospital here awaiting transfer to the Dallas Veterans Administration Hospital for dental work.

That first ode from Vietnam began a pastime for Vann that featured other poems, plus a few attempts at short stories. He said he started three stories and was able to complete one. None have been published, but he hopes to eventually see his work in print.

Vann's poetry was discovered by Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of volunteer service where he saw a notice of the VA writing contest. He showed the poem to Mrs. Cunningham, and she encouraged him to write more.

He also received help from Mrs. Charles Reid of Levelland, a volunteer worker whose husband is a patient at the hospital, and Russell Hoover, recreation therapist.

Vann's stay with the U.S. Marines began soon after he attended New Mexico State University for one year on a basketball scholarship. He was an all-state cager two years at Portales.

He explains that his experience in the Marines has been nothing but a series of "unexplainable events." He enlisted and signed up for training in electronics, but after basic training was assigned to the corpsman school.

Following instruction as a medical man, he was ordered to Vietnam for a long stay, but remained there only 30 days before being shipped back to the United States.

"I didn't mind that at all, though," he says. Vann hopes to continue writing and plans to return to college this fall. Now he is awaiting judgment on his efforts at poetry.

HOLIDAY INN BEGINS WORK ON APARTMENT COMPLEX Workmen prepare site for construction of eight rental units

Apartment Complex Being Added To Holiday Inn Site

Holiday Inn has begun building an apartment complex as an added facility to its installation at the east end of Third Street.

O. M. Brewster, innkeeper, said that the new addition will feature eight two-bedroom apartments and that the unit now under way will probably be the start of a plan which will ultimately include two other eight-unit structures.

Brewster said that the Holiday Inn Corporation has built apartments of this kind in many parts of the country, and they have been highly popular with the public. The apartments are used by families who are moved into a community for short periods of time — a month, perhaps, or two months.

He said that the corporation is building the apartments with a contractor Ray Halligan, experienced construction man from Eldorado, Ark., has moved here to act as building superintendent. The ground was being prepared this week for the apartments which are to be west of the Holiday Inn layout along Birdwell Lane between Third and Fourth streets.

She said she plans to return to Johns Hopkins hospital, in Baltimore, where the sex-change surgery took place, for further medical attention. Mrs. Simmons said doctors have advised her there is a 50-50 chance of her having children. She said she wants three.

Newlywed, Who Changed Her Sex, Wants Children

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The newlywed Mrs. John Paul Simmons, who changed her sex from male to female through a series of operations says she is hopeful of having children.

The former Dawn Pepita Langley Hall was married Wednesday night to John Paul Simmons, a Negro and her former steward. Before the sex-change surgery, Dawn Pepita Langley Hall was Gordon Langley Hall, British-born free-lance writer and adopted child of the British actress Dame Margaret Rutherford.

The new Mrs. Simmons gives her age as 31. Her husband is 22. The Baptist ceremony was performed at the bride's home by the Rev. William Singleton, assistant pastor of Shiloh A.M.E. (African Methodist Episcopal) church in Charleston. The couple will travel to England to remarry in the Church of England.

TEXT OF PUEBLO MESSAGES RELEASED

Ship Called Repeatedly For Aid

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The USS Pueblo held a running message exchange with the headquarters of the commander of naval forces in Japan during her seizure by North Korean gunboats.

Unclassified parts of the exchange—were read Wednesday into the record of the Navy's court of inquiry into the Pueblo captured.

As read by E. Miles Harvey, civilian attorney for the Pueblo skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the exchange follows:

Headquarters: Sorry mate, kind of a boot on this circuit. What time do you want next sked?

Pueblo: This is Bailey here. We still got company.

P: Who is on duty now? This is Bailey. Got more company outside and more coming.

P: It not too bad out here, but lonely. We been here two weeks now and that not bad but when we get under way it gets so rough that you can't do anything, so I will be glad to get back and I sure could use some liberty now. That part starting to get rough now. Didn't think I would miss the old lady so much.

P: It is worse out here now. Got more company and not doing so good with them.

HQ: Know what you mean about that company and will stay on so you can come to me.

P: They plan to open fire on us now. They plan to open fire on us now. They plan to open fire on us now.

P: North Korean war vessels plan to open fire (and the ships position).

P: We are being boarded. We are being boarded. We are being boarded. We are being boarded. SOS, SOS, SOS, SOS. (repeated)

Troops Removed In Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — About 300 demonstrators wound their way through Wilmington's rainy streets Tuesday to protest the 10-month presence of National Guard troops. The guard was no longer there. Newly installed Gov. Russell W. Peterson removed the troops, promising to bring them back if needed.

The protest march was organized by Project Communications Network and the People Against Racism. The two groups termed Wilmington the "first military police state in the United States."

Negroes in this community of 95,000 did not participate in the march. Wilmington is 40 percent black.

The guard was activated last April 8 by Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. to help quell racial unrest which followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and had patrolled predominantly Negro sections of the city since the assassination.

The watch reportedly cost the state an estimated $600,000.

Washington Post President Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul R. Ignatius, secretary of the Navy in the Johnson administration, has been named president of the Washington Post, only morning newspaper in the nation's capital.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Frederick S. Beebe, chairman of the board, and Katherine Graham, president, of the Washington Post Co.

Ignatius, 48, who left the Pentagon Monday with the change in administrations, also becomes executive vice president of the Washington Post Co., a director and a member of its executive committee.

Challenger Downed

Light heavyweight champion Bob Foster, 30, Washington, D.C., stands over Frankie De Paula, 28, of Jersey City, N.J., Wednesday night after knocking him down in the first round of their scheduled 15-round championship bout in New York's Madison Square Garden. Foster knocked De Paula down three times and was awarded a technical knockout victory at 2:17 of the first round under New York State's three-knockdown rule.

Foster Finds Italian Easy Mark In Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Bob Foster said it wasn't his easiest fight. But his first-round technical knockout of outmatched Frankie De Paula in a title defense at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night has to rate high on any fighter's soft touch list.

It took the stork-legged, 6-foot-3½ champ from Washington, D.C., just 2 minutes, 17 seconds to drop the 5-8½ challenger from Jersey City, N.J., on the canvas three times. Under New York's three knockdowns in one round rule, the fight was automatically over for the 5-1 underdog.

In that brief period of time, Foster, who once fought for $23 and quit the ring in disgust when he couldn't get any fights, earned about $75,000 from the gross gate of $189,129 contributed by 16,129 fans and the television.

Most of the fans came from New Jersey to root for the crude but hard-hitting night club bouncer. Frankie at least earned about $37,500 to make up for his ruffled feelings.

Foster, winner of 13 straight including 12 knockouts, and his manager, Mushky Salow, plan today to go over a stack of offers for title defenses.

Salow said he had offers totaling more than $300,000 for defenses against Gregorio Peralta in Argentina; Peiro Del Papa in Italy; Bob Dunlap in Australia; Yvan Preberg in Yugoslavia, and Jose Torres in Puerto Rico.

The Garden offered a shot at the winner of the heavyweight fight here Feb. 3 between George Chuvalo and Buster Mathis, but Salow said "we'll take Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis with pleasure."

Frazier, of Philadelphia, and Ellis, of Louisville, both hold a piece of the disputed heavyweight title.

De Paula gave the partisan crowd one brief moment of hope early in the first round when he had the champ on the deck. Foster went down from a left to the body but it looked more like a slip since the blow had little steam behind it.

But referee Johnny LoBianco gave the 30-year-old champ the mandatory eight-count.

"I told the referee that it was a slip and I got mad," said Foster.

Just a few seconds later Frankie went down for the first time. Foster said he set up his foe with a jab and a right uppercut ("my best punch") and dropped him with a hook to the right.

"After that, I knew I had him," said Foster.

The next two knockdowns quickly followed, the second from a hook and right to the head and third from a right to the head.

"I wasn't hurt," said De Paula. "My feet went out from under me. A couple of punches stunned me but it was my feet—they just went out from under me."

"They shouldn't have the three-knockdown rule for title fights. I wasn't hurt."

More Rain Likely In Crosby Meet

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Think Sun read the big sign at the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

A bulky field of 137 pros and an equal number of amateurs began four days of play over three courses with the weatherman saying it would be cloudy with rain likely in the afternoon, southerly winds 20-25 miles per hour and temperatures in the 50s. No rain was forecast for Friday.

This picturesque Monterey Peninsula has been drenched with rain the past several days leaving the Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Spyglass Hill courses heavy and probably unplayable.

Defending champion Johnny Pott of Gulf Hills, Miss., sees the wind off the Pacific Ocean providing a greater hazard than the wetness.

Crosby's tournament, dubbed a clambake back when a much smaller group combined golf with social activities, officially is known as the National Pro-Amateur.

Of the $150,000 total purse, $125,000 is divided among the leading pros with $25,000 going to the pros on the top pro-amateur teams, and they figure in the amateur's handicap in counting the best-ball scores.

Celebrities from fields of entertainment, business, sports and the professions are numbered among the players.

Don Cherry has Dean Martin as a partner, Bert Yancey plays with Andy Williams, Bob Rosburg with John Brodie, Ken Still with Don Drysdale, and Dave Stockton with Leonard Firestone.

Jack Nicklaus plays his first tournament of 1969 at the Crosby and quipped that maybe his luck would be better at Las Vegas. The fourth Nicklaus youngster, Gary Thomas, was born last Wednesday weighing seven pounds, 11 ounces, and 7-11 are winning numbers in Nevada.

Missing from the entry lists were Julius Boros, the PGA champion of last season, and Charlie Sifford, the leading money winner so far this young year.

FREE SHOTS HELP Odessa Defeats NMMI, 75-74

ROSWELL, N.M. — Odessa College, showing great poise at the free throw line, achieved one of its biggest victories of the season here Wednesday night by edging New Mexico Military Institute, 75-74.

The victory tied Odessa for third place in the Western JC Conference standings with NMMI and South Plains. Each has a 3-2 record.

NMMI led in field goals, 30-27, but Odessa made 21 of 29 at the line while the Bronchos converted only 14 of 22.

Ken Davis and Ronnie Alvey were the only Wranglers in double figures. Davis had 18 points and Alvey 12.

Four NMMI players were in double figures. Craig Anderson scored 18, Jackie Ortega 17, Larry Nickle 15 and Don Martinez 14.

Over-all, Odessa is 9-5 while NMMI dropped back to 6-7.

Odessa will host Amarillo College in another conference game Saturday night.

Namath Hints He May Quit

NEW YORK (AP) — Was the Super Bowl Joe Namath's super farewell to professional football?

The brilliant quarterback, who predicted that the New York Jets would beat the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl and made good his boast, wasn't talking Wednesday—at least not that topic.

"I'm very happy with my life as it is right now," Namath said at a City Hall tribute to the Jets. But he also said:

"Jimmy Brown got out while he was still healthy," referring to the Cleveland Browns' star fullback who retired at the peak of his career to become a movie actor. "You want to make it while you're on top—before you get destroyed."

Namath's knees, operated on several times, are a prime source of concern.

Unknown Stands Out In Villanova Win

By The Associated Press

Guess who won the Spencer Haywood-Howard Porter battle? Johnny Jones, that's who.

A sellout crowd turned out at the Philadelphia Palestra Wednesday night to watch two of the country's most highly touted sophomores—Haywood and Porter of Villanova—go at each other.

But when the shooting died down it turned out to be Jones and zones that told the story as Villanova, ranked 11th in The Associated Press college basketball poll, ran away with a 93-71 victory.

Villanova led 46-45 with 15:13 left to play but the Wildcats suddenly went on a 25-5 tear over the next six minutes to wrap things up. Porter had 11 points during that stretch and Jones six.

HAS 37 POINTS
Jones, a 6-foot-4 senior from Pompano Beach, Fla., finished with 37 points, a career high, 22 of them in the first half, as Villanova ran its record to 12-2. He also had 12 rebounds. Porter added 28 while Olympic hero Haywood, held to 12 points in the first 30 minutes, wound up with 25.

Villanova clamped one of Coach Jack Kraft's patented sagging zones around Haywood. "I'd like to think that our zone had something to do with stopping him," Kraft said—and the Titans were unable to penetrate with much success.

The only other ranked team to see action was No. 9 La Salle, which turned back upset-minded Pennsylvania 78-64 in the second half of the Palestra twinbill.

The Explorers, 13-1, made 36 of 40 free throws to score a come-from-behind victory over the Ivy Leagueers, who had stunned Villanova last week with a slowdown game.

La Salle ran off 15 straight points in the second half to seal the triumph. Larry Cannon took scoring honors with 21 points, 18 in the second half.

There was only a smattering of major games elsewhere across the nation.

Sophomore Willie Bryant scored a key basket with four minutes left and stole a pass to set up another score seconds later as Penn State outlasted favored West Virginia 69-62.

EAGLES IN FRONT
Calvin Murphy of Niagara, the nation's second leading scorer, was held to 22 points, his season's low, but the Purple Eagles lost by Buffalo 79-76. Murphy's three free throws, one thanks to a technical foul against Buffalo Coach Len Sperfasi—put Niagara ahead to stay 69-68.

Gary Brown's free throw with six seconds left enabled Westminster of Pennsylvania to edge Pitt 65-64. Terry Driscoll's 28 points and 18 rebounds paced Poston College over Seton Hall 54-56 in the Eagles' first game since Coach Bob Cousy announced he would retire at season's end.

Bowling Green trailed Toledo until the final two minutes when Dan McLemore's rebound basket and two foul shots by Dick Rudgers gave the Falcons a 64-63 Mid-American Conference victory.

In another Mid-American clash, Western Michigan piled up an 11 point lead and then held off league-leading Miami of Ohio 71-66. Toke Coleman and Bobby Washington scored 21 points apiece as Eastern Kentucky downed Virginia Tech 73-65.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It's hard to figure that a franchise in one of the major baseball leagues could be worth $16 million when the biggest cash transaction for one player was negotiated by Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox over three decades ago when he signed $250,000 for Joe Cronin of the Washington Senators. The Washington club is supposed to have changed hands several months ago for $10 million.

The shortage of competent officials in this area has basketball coaches worried.

Many of the better ones who "carried" their chapters have grown old and gone into retirement.

Others are hanging up their whistles for a variety of reasons. For one thing, they say the pay isn't good enough for the abuse they have to take. For another, some insist the coaches have become increasingly hard to please. For still another, a great new emphasis has been placed on the full-court press in the game and the arbiters have to work doubly-hard under such conditions.

Fans, too, are rarely sympathetic to the plight of the referees. The home crowd invariably sees things only one way and if the home coaches care to emote a little bit and act as if they have been sinned against by the arbiters, that is about all that is needed to get the spectators in an ugly mood.

In order to be happy under such circumstances, the modern official has to be as mercenary as any shylock and possessed of a hide as tough as an elephant.

Don Knodel, the Rice coach, says that basketball is the least policed sport of all.

The spectators are closer to the battle pits in basketball. What they have to say (and it is invariably critical) echoes around a gymnasium.

I've seen athletic contests take place without coaches and under conditions where one team or the other might be short of the required personnel but I have yet to witness a game of any kind played without officials.

In basketball, the more the arbiters blend into the background and go about their duties the better conditions are. The point is, however, they have to be in attendance.

They're as much a part of the game as the goals and the buffs who patronize the sport should learn to appreciate them.

Between now and the middle of March, events booked for Houston's domed stadium include:

(1) Indoor track, Jan. 24-25; (2) college basketball, Houston vs. Notre Dame, Feb. 1; (3) professional basketball, Detroit-Cincinnati and San Diego-Boston, Feb. 4; (4) motorcycle race, U.S. Indoor Championships, Feb. 7-8; (5) polo games, Texas vs. Mexico, Feb. 12; (6) the Houston Rodeo, Feb. 19-March 2; (7) and midjet auto races, the Astro Grand Prix, March 8-9.

The Joe Chitwood Auto Thrill Show there recently attracted 59,344 customers.

More Houston Trades Due

HOUSTON (AP) — When the Houston Astros finished in the National League cellar last season, General Manager H. B. "Spec" Richardson said there were "no untouchables" on the squad.

He proved it Wednesday when he announced that Rusty Staub, the Astros' top hitter, had been traded to the new National League Montreal club for first baseman Donn Clendenon and outfielder Jesus Alou.

Clendenon and Alou were the third and fourth major league players to be acquired in trades by Houston since the start of the 1968 season. Previously acquired were catcher John Edwards and Curt Blefary from the Baltimore Orioles.

Richardson said there could be even more trades.

The popular Staub, one of Houston's first big bonus players in 1961, hit .291 last season. He finished with a .333 average in 1967 after leaving the National League for a good portion of the season.

The 24-year-old redhead, who plays both first base and right field, had a 1.2 lifetime batting average in six seasons.

Both Alou and Clendenon have lifetime batting averages of .280, and are right-handed hitters.

The Astros have dealt about 30 players, coming and going, since Richardson took over as general manager late in 1967.

Since October Richardson has dealt away such players as Staub, pitchers Dave Giusti and Mike Cuellar, and third baseman Bob Aspromonte.

Richardson called the Staub trade "the toughest decision since I have been in baseball."

"But when you're in 10th place you got to move," he said. Walker said, "Houston now has the strongest team in its history."

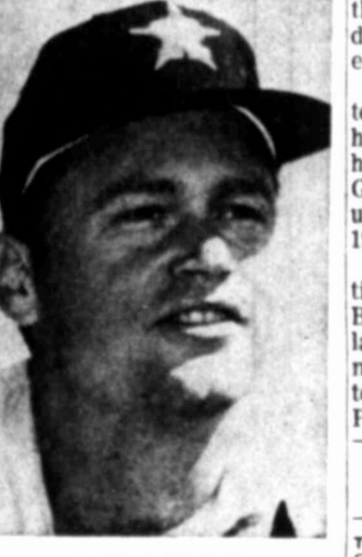

"We've added speed, power and defense, but have lost one of the finest hitters in baseball," he said.

"We have balanced our right-handed hitting with our left-handed hitting, and have filled one of our outfield spots."

"We've added four players in Edwards, Blefary, Alou and Clendenon who know what it takes to be a winning ball club," Walker added. "I think they will be able to help our younger players."

In Montreal, Jim Fanning, general manager of the Expos, expressed satisfaction with the acquisition of Staub. "This man is a batting champion," enthused Fanning.

"Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful," said Manager Gene Mauch, when informed of the trade in Los Angeles. "Staub could lead the league in batting twice over the next five years."

RUSTY STAUB

Alou and Clendenon went to Montreal in the recent expansion draft, Alou from the San Francisco Giants and Clendenon from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Alou, 25, hit .263 with the Giants. Clendenon, 33, hit .237 for the Pirates.

Both Alou and Clendenon have lifetime batting averages of .280, and are right-handed hitters.

Denny McLain '68's Best, Poll Decides

NEW YORK (AP) — Denny McLain, the flamboyant Detroit pitcher who is equally at home standing on a mound or sitting at an organ, was named today Male Athlete of the Year in the 38th annual Associated Press poll.

Continuing recent domination by baseball players of the year-by-baseball players of the year-end award, McLain became the fourth in succession and the seventh in the last eight polls to find himself sitting on top of the sports world.

In those eight years only Don Schollander, the swimming star of America's 1964 Olympic team, has managed to break baseball's hold on the award.

But no Olympian from the 1968 U.S. team or such an outstanding college football player as O.J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, was able to overshadow McLain's exploits both on and off the field during the 1968 season.

BALANCING ACT
For the 24-year-old right-hander conducted a delicate balancing act during the entire season, pitching baseballs with one hand and playing the organ with two. He received acclaim for the former, notoriety for the latter and money for both.

Jack Nicklaus plays his first tournament of 1969 at the Crosby and quipped that maybe his luck would be better at Las Vegas. The fourth Nicklaus youngster, Gary Thomas, was born last Wednesday weighing seven pounds, 11 ounces, and 7-11 are winning numbers in Nevada.

Missing from the entry lists were Julius Boros, the PGA champion of last season, and Charlie Sifford, the leading money winner so far this young year.

In the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, McLain was rewarded with 108 first-place votes and amassed a total of 517 points on the basis of three points for first place, two for second and one for third.

Only three other athletes received more than 200 points—Simpson, pitcher Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and quarterback Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, the only pro football player able to crack the Top Ten.

The poll, however, was taken before the Super Bowl game, which will become a part of the 1969 voting, and therefore does not reflect the stunning upset pulled off by quarterback Joe Namath in leading the New York Jets to a 16-7 victory over the Colts.

SIMPSON SECOND
Simpson, the workhorse running back who almost certainly will be selected by the Buffalo Bills as the No. 1 pick in next week's pro football draft, was the runner-up in the voting with 64 first and 423 points.

The exact date of DeY's switch has not been determined, but may be announced when the USGA holds its annual meeting here this weekend.

In announcing DeY's appointment Wednesday, J. Paul Austin of Atlanta, chairman of the newly constituted Tournament Policy Board, said DeY would have complete control of every thing pertaining to the pro tour.

However, actual conduct of the tour will continue under the direction of the field staff, headed by Jack Tuthill.

The 60-year-old DeY agreed to terms for five years. He will have offices here and at PGA headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. He has been executive director of the USGA since 1934.

DeY was a unanimous selection by the Tournament Policy Board, which came into being last month following an agreement between the rebellious tournament players and other PGA.

This 30-foot-long dump truck rolled forward and over a 45-foot-high cliff at 605 N. Benton Wednesday afternoon while its driver, Riss Roberts, 264 Washington, was attempting to unlatch the tailgate. When the load dumped, it pushed the truck forward. Minutes before the $15,000 truck went over the edge, several employees of the Clyde McMahon Concrete Company were standing on the spot where the truck landed; however, they had moved and no one was injured.

Scouter Banquet At HCJC Tonight

More than 250 Boy Scout leaders from the Buffalo Trail Council are expected here this evening for the annual meeting and recognition banquet at Howard County Junior College.

The banquet, a highlight of the council year, will start at 7 p.m. and will be preceded by the election of officers and other council business. The business meeting will be in Room 100 of the Science Building under direction of Malcolm Abel, Midland, council president, and at the same time there will be a reception for visiting ladies in the parlor of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

The banquet program will include music by Frank Wharton at the organ, with the courtesy of White Music and Neel's Transfer and Storage, and by the HCJC stage band under the direction of John Stanley. Tommy Thompson, Kermit, will install the officers, and Earl McKeohan, Midland, council executive, will report briefly. A climax to the meeting will be the presentation of the Silver Beaver award, the highest within the province of the council, to several adults for distinguished service to boys. Doug Russell, Midland, winner of two gold medals at the Olympics in Mexico City, will have been a speaker, but he had to enter the hospital early this week with a liver infection.

The commission said the increases will bring an estimated $400 million a year to railroads engaged in interstate operations. The ICC authorized last Nov. 28 an interim freight rate hike for all commodities except grain, iron, steel scrap and pig iron. The interim increases were made permanent today.

Freight Rate Hikes Remain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission continued and broadened today railroad freight rate increases ranging from 3 to 10 percent.

The commission said the increases will bring an estimated $400 million a year to railroads engaged in interstate operations. The ICC authorized last Nov. 28 an interim freight rate hike for all commodities except grain, iron, steel scrap and pig iron. The interim increases were made permanent today.

Voter Registration Lags Far Behind, Deadline Near

Registration of voters in Howard County is lagging far behind the record number set last year, with the Jan. 31 deadline drawing near, according to Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax collector-assessor. Mrs. LeFevre said that 6,940 persons had applied for voter registration certificates through Wednesday, which is far behind the 17,765 registered on the same date in 1968. Last year a record 14,122 voters were registered in the county.

She cautioned county residents to consider the several elections slated in the city and county this year, and encouraged them to register to vote. Elections are scheduled for the city commission, school boards and Howard County Junior College District. "An election in November could be very important to every resident," she said. "Several important pieces of legislation being considered by the Legislature may be brought before voters in Constitutional amendments."

Application For Voter Registration Certificate. Form with fields for Name, Address, Phone, House No., Street, Town, Year of Birth, Sex, Occupation, State, County, City, Birthplace, Citizenship, and Signature. Includes instructions and a table for citizenship status.

Rayborn Gets A Rare Move

Harold C. Rayborn, who has been with the base exchange for the past three years and general manager for two years, left Wednesday for a similar position at Seymour-Johnson AFB, N.C. He was slated to go to Vietnam. The North Carolina orders cancelled that overseas tour a week before his scheduled departure. The move marks the fourth straight state-wide assignment for the Houston, Mo., native — a rarity in the exchange service as it is in the military service.

Berkeley Student Unrest 'Flaming'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Student unrest focused today on a familiar locale—the University of California's Berkeley campus where the free speech movement started in 1964. Minority group students allied in what they call the Third World Liberation Front took a strike into a second day there in the shadow of Wheeler Auditorium, which was ruined Wednesday night in a three-alarm fire. The walkout's beginning was marked by scattered fistfights but no injury or arrest. Wheeler Auditorium, occupying the ground floor of Wheeler Hall, erupted in flames that destroyed all its 936 seats and did an estimated $300,000 damage. Students on upper floors of the half-century-old building reported hearing explosions beforehand and campus police started an arson investigation. Elsewhere, a one-day picketing demonstration by the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers at 13 of the 19 state college system campuses ended with little effect. AFT members at other colleges did not take part. The teachers union called the walkout to protest the automatic "resignations" under state law of 28 San Jose State College teachers who struck Jan. 8. An unauthorized absence of five days cancels a teacher's contract. San Jose AFT members walked out in sympathy with AFT teachers who had struck at San Francisco State, demanding more pay and better conditions and supporting students who joined a classroom boycott called by the Black Students Union. The BSU demands a commission of all Negroes regardless of academic qualifications.

C-C Exec Panel Meets Friday

Selection of a new manager and setting of a budget will headline the agenda of a meeting of the executive committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce at 5 p.m. Friday in the chamber office. The executives will vote on the recommendation of the selection committee for a new Chamber of Commerce manager. The chamber has been without a manager since the resignation of Carroll Davidson, who left in November to become manager of the Pasadena, Tex., Chamber of Commerce. A final decision of a manager was made Tuesday by the selection committee. The board of directors of the chamber will convene in a called meeting at noon, Monday, at the Settles Hotel to vote on the recommendations by the executive committee on the manager and budget.

CALIFORNIA'S STORM DAMAGE MOUNTS

10 Persons May Have Drowned

OJAI, Calif. (AP) — Along the debris-choked banks of Sespe Creek, the clearing sky disclosed a young boy's body ... then the bodies of two more ...

then the lifeless forms of a sheriff's deputy and a forest ranger. It was feared five more would be found dead today. These were the lost party of six young hikers, their adult leaders and three men who tried tragically to rescue them from the rain-flooded area. A survivor of the group, Scott

Eckersley, 28, told authorities that he was washed ashore after a bulldozer stalled as they had attempted to cross the swift stream late Monday.

Elsewhere, as skies dried over California, heavy property and crop damage was counted. Southern California's storm damage was estimated at $3 million.

There were 47 storm-related deaths. The storm turbulence was blamed for a light plane crash in which three Texans died on a mountainside near Banning. At least 29 traffic deaths in southern California were caused by the storm, authorities said. In the foothills of Angeles National Forest, northeast of Los Angeles, 15 homes were destroyed by floods and rockslides in the Azusa-Glendor area.

More than 90 other homes were damaged as overnight floodwaters from mountains denuded by a 19,000-acre brush fire last year sent muck and boulders crashing through a housing tract. Several were filled with mud six feet deep. Fifteen homes were evacuated. A mud flow wrecked the Azusa-Pacific College gymnasium, causing $100,000 damage, and hundreds of cars were partly buried at times.

The damage in Glendora-Azusa was expected to exceed $1 million. In San Luis Obispo County, officials said flood waters caused $2 million damage. A 70-year-old Guadalupe cypress tree which stood on grounds of Pomona's Post Office was felled by winds. In Tulare County, a sheriff's deputy found Ronald E. Balster, 23, his wife Ellen and their two young sons near the Kern River where they had been trapped since their car became stuck in heavy snow Saturday. All were in good condition.

Picket Lines For 50,000

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — As many as 50,000 members of the striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union remained off the job today, despite scattered settlements with oil companies across the nation.

A spokesman for the Denver-based union said Wednesday night that no new developments had been reported. He estimated that some 10,000 to 20,000 union members have returned to work after ratification of new contracts but the great majority held the picket lines.

The latest agreement reached Wednesday, was:

—Between Mobil Oil Co. and a local at Ferndale, Wash. Officials said the refinery's 145 union workers were scheduled to be on the job today. Spokesmen said the settlement followed an ion guide lines and, except for local issues, was the same as an earlier Mobil agreement at Port Arthur, Tex.

'We All Prayed, Even The Youngsters,' Says Survivor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six boys and four men are believed to have died when a bulldozer carrying them to safety stalled in a raging stream as flood waters rose quickly. This is the account by the only known survivor, a 21-year-old school teacher.

By JOHN SCOTT ECKERSLEY As told to The Associated Press OJAI, Calif. (AP) — We all knew it was more or less the end.

The boys were absolutely beautiful. No screaming. No hysteria. Only calm acceptance of the fact of what was to follow.

ONE BY ONE We all prayed, even the youngsters.

One by one, someone would call out he couldn't hang on any longer. The water in a cloud-burst rose so fast it stalled the bulldozer in the middle of the river. It was quickly up to our necks.

There was no time to talk about how to get to the bank. We all began to get numb and slip away.

Cong Blamed After Autopsy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Army autopsy blames medical blunders by the Viet Cong for the death of an American soldier nearly three weeks after the enemy freed him, it has been learned.

Spec. 4 James W. Brigham Jr., one of three American soldiers released by the Viet Cong to an American military team on New Year's Day, died at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital Jan. 17.

The Viet Cong radio has claimed that the 21-year-old Brigham, of Ocala, Fla., was "assassinated because the United States did not want him to tell the truth about the Vietnam war to the Negro population."

Brigham was reported to have been given head surgery for a battle wound during the three months he was held by the Viet Cong and the autopsy report indicated the operation was botched.

A summary of Brigham's case, made available by the Army, said the soldier entered the hospital Jan. 4, the day he landed here from Vietnam, and was found to be suffering from partial blindness "and a persistent draining wound from the head."

Army doctors operated on Brigham Jan. 9 and attempted to stem infection, but he died last Friday.

"The post-mortem examination revealed the cause of death to be widespread infected brain tissue; second, to inefficient debridement of the wound after initial injury while the patient was still in captivity," the Army said when asked for a report.

A spokesman said "debridement" means removal of damaged and infected tissue.

The Army report said examination of Brigham after his arrival here "revealed that visual impairment was due to a loss of part of the brain" and persistent drainage from an open wound.

The returned GI was operated on after diagnostic studies probed the extent of damage, the Army said.

Doctors found hair deep in the wound and serious inflammation, requiring more efforts at removal of infected tissue.

Brigham responded slowly after the operation, the Army report said, and he suffered "convulsive seizures" four days before he lapsed into unconsciousness and died.

the first to go. He went quickly. "We talked about death and dying as the water kept rising. He said the Lord had it all planned. Maybe five minutes later he slipped off, and I held him another five minutes.

Then the kids went one by one and their leader.

WENT UNDER Soon only two of us were left, a deputy sheriff and I. He was washed by a heavy swell on top of me. I held on to him but lost hold and we both went in.

I went under several times and I don't remember much after that.

When I came to, I was lying in a pool. I crawled up the bank into some thick brush, dug a hole in the mud, squeezed inside and covered myself to keep warm.

In the morning I walked up stream about four miles and came across a stalled vehicle which had provisions and blankets in it.

I made myself comfortable for the rest of the day. Near darkness I saw a helicopter overhead. I flagged it down and it landed and hauled me in.

WARPLANES SHOT DOWN 196 Americans Killed In Action

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 196 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, the highest weekly toll since mid-December.

Headquarters also reported the loss of two more U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers over South Vietnam, raising to five the number of American warplanes shot down over the South in the past three days. Five of the six crewmen aboard the five planes were rescued. The other was killed.

DEATH TOLL Spokesmen said the five losses were the heaviest three-day toll over South Vietnam in more than seven months. The latest losses raised to 335 the number of U.S. warplanes shot down in combat over South Vietnam during the war.

While American casualties moved up last week, so did those of the South Vietnamese military and the enemy.

Government headquarters announced that 292 South Vietnamese troops were killed in action during the seven-day period ending at midnight Saturday, their highest death toll in more than three months.

Enemy casualties also hit their highest mark since last November. Allied spokesmen reported 2,420 enemy troops were killed in fighting last week.

The U.S. Command said that while there have been no major actions since the first of the year, there have been hundreds of small fights that caused mounting casualties.

MORE MUNITIONS The lull in major ground fighting persisted today. U.S. and South Vietnamese headquarters reported sharp, short fights in scattered parts of the country and said their forces killed 97 enemy soldiers in the past 24 hours.

Meanwhile, thousands of allied troops hunting down enemy supply bases uncovered at least half a dozen more big stockpiles of munitions and food. They seized more than 10 tons of munitions and 15½ tons of food.

The sweeping troops seized 163,000 rounds of machine-gun and small arms ammunition, 1,500 mortar, rocket and recoilless rifle shells, and 15½ tons of food.

The latest finds raised to about 700 tons the total of enemy supplies allied troops have seized in the past 26 days. This includes more than one million rounds of machine gun and small arms ammunition.

Lions Get Banner From Swedish Club

Downtown Lions of Big Spring got a banner Wednesday from the Stockholm-Sodermalm Lions Club, the second such honor the Swedish club had conferred.

The bearer was Cynthia Pond, daughter of Past District Governor and Mrs. Joe Pond, who spent four weeks last summer in homes of members of the Sodermalm club and the one at Tibro. She came back home enthusiastic about Sweden and the gracious hospitality accorded her there.

Winston Wrinkle, first vice president, received the token which was the only one the Stockholm - Sodermalm club had issued since it had presented one to the Stockholm No. 1 Lions Club, the first club in Europe, on the occasion of its 25th anniversary. The Sodermalm club, incidentally, is the 100th club in Stockholm. The banner came from Jan-Axel Lemerman, past president of the Sodermalm club.

Miss Pond, now home for a few days from her studies at Baylor University in Waco, expressed the hope that children of Swedish Lions could be taken into homes here and elsewhere in the United States.

The club also got a new taste of the acid wit of Mark Twain. Al Scott, costumed in the white suit which was a trade mark of the celebrated American humorist-philosopher, gave a character monologue, "A Visit with Mark Twain."

Frank Wood, Stanton, district deputy governor, had Top Texas Club Builder awards for Frank Caldwell, Harland Huibregtse, Aubrey Bryans, and Dr. P. W. Malone. Guests included William M. Lund and K. O. Syverson, Lions from Waukegan, Minn. Morris Rhodes, for many years secretary of the club, has been succeeded by Bob West. Rhodes has been named to the board of directors.

'We've Had Some Cold Spells That Burnt The Oats Some'

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Under the spreading oaks, under the big benign sky of Texas a rancher named Lyndon Baines Johnson allowed as how the cattle looked good.

"We've had some cold spells that burnt the oats some," he said. "I went horseback riding with my favorite girl this morning and the cattle—well, I don't want to say they never had it so good—but they generally look good."

Three days out of the White House, Johnson also allowed as how he'll "certainly" miss power but is not having trouble decompressing. He said he "enjoyed very much" being president and that he is satisfied that his renunciation of another term helped bring North Vietnam to the peace table and helped unify a divided America.

About missing power, he said, "I'm sure any person who has been active as I have for 33 years in public affairs will notice when the roll is called and his name is not there. But I want to miss it. It hurts good."

Johnson and his wife aired their thoughts at a news conference on the broad lawn before their big white frame ranch house, near the plastic bubble covering the swimming pool on the banks of the Pedernales River.

The words of the former president were those of a relaxed man but in his manner, in the view of many veteran Johnson watchers, was not. To them, he appeared taut and his smile was somewhat perfunctory and, as always, he still sparred carefully with reporters.

Perhaps his most revealing answer was to the question: "Are you a happy man today, Mr. President?"

"Yes," said Lyndon Johnson, "I think so."

He spoke of the many things he no longer has to do, the "decisions to be made by 4 o'clock," the 15 or 20 appointments to keep every day, the military intelligence reports to be read, the cables from the "sensitive capitals" of the world to be studied.

Would he ever run again for elective office? Johnson seemed reluctant to close out his options. He said he had no plans along these lines but "no one can say for certain what the future will encompass. The best laid plans of mice and men often come to naught."

EARLY COUNTY RESIDENTS

Golden Anniversary Will Be Observed

SEMINOLE — Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this week are the Rev. and Mrs. J. Fred Cocke, 219 Ave. G NW.

Rev. Cocke was born in Williamson County, March 29, 1883. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foster Cocke, and he was the eleventh child of 12 born to this couple.

Mrs. Cocke (the former Lily Bessie Carlile) was born in Burnett County, June 25, 1891, to the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pierson Carlile. She was the second child of six born to this couple.

The Rev. and Mrs. Cocke were married in Hamlin, Jan. 21, 1919, where the couple met when Rev. Cocke was a circuit rider in Jones and surrounding counties. Mrs. Cocke was a pianist in the church in the Dovey community when he was assigned to that church by the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church.

From this region the couple was sent to Big Spring to serve in Howard County where he was the circuit rider there. The rural school houses were shared by the Methodist Church on its assigned Sunday with other denominations. Some of the school-church combinations where he preached were Elbow, L. o m a x., Moore, Richmond, Knott and Vealmoor.

Rev. Cocke was instrumental in forming the Methodist Church in Coahoma and the Asbury Methodist Church in Midland.

Because the churches at that time did not pay a living wage to the ministers serving them, Rev. Cocke was forced to "moonlight" by working as a carpenter to support his family. When that, too, failed to provide a living for his family during the depression years, he and Mrs. Cocke moved to a farm in Stanton. Later, they farmed in Midland, then moved to a farm in Seminole in 1941.

In Seminole, Rev. Cocke retired from farming and worked in building for awhile. He has continued as a part-time min-

A LOVELIER YOU

Extra Care Needed For Fine, Silky Hair

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: My hair is fine and thin, like spindly silk thread. I had it cut very short in the hope that it would grow stronger and thicker. But it is hardly growing at all and, when I brush it, more comes out than ever before. I'm scared. What should I do?

The Answer? Science has tried, but has not uncovered the basic mechanism that makes the hair grow. Research, however, has brought some useful facts to light, such as: Hair normally grows at the rate of one-half inch a month — a bit faster in summer. Thus close-cropped hair, taking up to six months to reach the ear tip, seems almost at a standstill. There is proof that cutting does not hasten growth, as witness the crewcut males of yesterday and the long-hairs of today. Some of the crew-cuts never did grow in.

Falling hair — excessive loss — can be chalked up to heredity, illness, nervous tension and external abuse. Strands in your brush may signal breakage from abuse rather than actual thinning. Besides, the normal scalp sheds about 100 hairs a day to make room for new growth.

So what's to do? See a dermatologist when hair comes out "by the handful." Otherwise, massage the scalp long and often with your fingertips (10 minutes daily at least), apply a protein conditioner weekly, get yourself a very soft bristle hairbrush and use it, discontinue abusive coloring and curling. Give your hair a rest cure.

HAVE LOVELIER HAIR
Overcome your hair problems! Send for my booklet, HOW TO HAVE LOVELIER HAIR. Advice includes: corrective care of dry, abused, oily and hard-to-manage hair; expert coloring methods and treatment of tinted hair; hairstyle formulas; tips on perfection cutting, permanents, straightening and grooming. Write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald for your copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ceremony Performed In Mexico

Miss Brenda Sue Campbell and Hugh E. (Buddy) Rhyne Jr. were married in a single ring ceremony performed Jan. 12 in a Protestant Chapel at Piedras Negras, Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carson of Big Spring, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, served as attendants for the wedding, and the bride was attired in a gold wool knit dress styled with V neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Campbell, 3616 Hamilton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Rhyne Sr., 2404 Runnels.

A senior at Big Spring High School, the bride has been employed at Mary's Beauty Center. The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and served in the Army for two years. He is now employed at the Eddie Harris Texaco Station.

Money management was discussed by Linda Beistle, Terri Beistle and Patsy Finley; foods and nutrition were demonstrated by Patricia Fryar; protein and meat groups were discussed by Phyllis Wynn; "Can't Beat Meat" was the topic of Jeanine Brady and Jayne Meacham; and fruits were explained by Susan Nixon.

Phyllis Wynn presided, and Patricia Fryar led the club prayer. Bobby Fryar led the Pledge of Allegiance. Johnny Bennett reported on the group singing at Bennett House during the holidays. It was announced that Pat O'Daniel and Dee Dee Luce tied as winners in a recent sales contest.

Hospital Chaplain Talks On 'Identity'

Chaplain Lee Butler of the Big Spring State Hospital spoke on "Woman's Quest for a Personal Identity" at Monday's meeting of the Protestant Women of the Chapel in the chapel annex at Webb AFB.

Chaplain Butler told the group to "be true to yourselves, search out the real person behind the facade and decide what goals for the future you really desire." He emphasized that each woman should be what she wants to be, rather than what society decrees that she be.

Mrs. Thomas Allison presided and announced the next meeting will be a brunch at 9:30 a.m. Feb. 18. Reservations are necessary. Guests were Chaplain Thomas Black and Chaplain Robert Deming. Hostesses were Mrs. John Millholton and Mrs. William Koehler.

Mrs. J. Williams Honored At Shower

Mrs. James Williams was complimented with a baby shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Richard Schilling, 410 W. 6th. The honoree was presented individual gifts, and refreshments were served from a table covered with a yellow linen cloth and centered with miniature baby articles. Games were directed by the hostess.

Gardeners To Clean 'Big Spring' Area

The Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs will sponsor a clean-up day, March 29, at the "big spring," according to plans announced by Mrs. J. E. Hogan at Wednesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. John B. Knox, 1313 Lexington.

Anyone interested in the development of the area is invited to assist, and all gardeners are asked to be prepared to work at the site from 9 to 10 o'clock that morning.

Mrs. Frank Wilson presided and those attending represented five clubs. New members welcomed were Mrs. Hogan, president of the Big Spring Garden Club, along with Bill Sneed and L. D. Bender, both of the Men's Garden Club.

It was announced that a program on table settings will be given by Mrs. William Folar of Alamogordo, N.M., on Feb. 17 at 10:30 a.m. in the Midland Woman's Club. The program is open to the public, and tickets are $2.

The next council meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. March 26, in the home of Mrs. John Edgar, 4109 Muir.

Lectures Continue On 'Driver Re-Education'

The second in a series of three classes in "Driver Re-Education" was held Wednesday in the First Federal Community Room. The course which is sponsored by the Howard County Home Demonstration Council, is being conducted by Patrolman Jack White of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

According to Patrolman White, the most common phrase heard after an accident is "I didn't see the other car." During a lecture on "how to see," he utilized a motor company film which demonstrated the three skills needed to drive successfully. He listed those as: knowing how to mechanically operate a car, correctly observing traffic signs, and being able to see and "know what to look for."

The speaker gave five seeing habits or rules that will increase visual perception and decrease accidents. They are:

- 1) Aim eyes high while steering;
- 2) Get the "big picture" or wide angle;
- 3) Keep your eyes moving;
- 4) Leave yourself an out;
- 5) Make sure others see you.

The final lecture will be given next Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Room. The topic will be "Defensive Driving Techniques."

ORCHESTRATIONS FOR BANDS

Legion Presents Music To Schools

Meredith Wilson, widely renowned contemporary composer, has written a special piece of music in honor of the American Legion's 50th anniversary and dedicated it to the veterans. Three copies of the composition, entitled "American Legion," in complete orchestration form, have been acquired by the Big Spring American Legion post. The three copies were presented to Sam Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Halvard Hansen, legion post commander. One copy of the composition will go to each of the school district's bands — high school, Goliad and Runnels. The American Legion celebrates its 50th anniversary March 19.

Protestant Extremists Demonstrate In London

LONDON (AP) — Protestant extremists repeatedly interrupted a Christian unity service Wednesday night by shouting anti-Vatican slogans during a Roman Catholic cardinal's address to 4,000 persons in St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral. Outside the cathedral, counter demonstrators pelted Northern Ireland's leading Protestant extremist, the Rev. Ian Paisley, with eggs and tomatoes. One Irish Protestant, the Rev. Thomas Foster, was charged with "indecent behavior" under a century-old law forbidding interruption of a church service. He was one of a dozen demonstrators—most of them in clerical garb—who were ejected from the service held as part of the worldwide Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. John Cardinal Heenan, head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Britain, had just been welcomed to the cathedral by the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, when Bible-waving extremists began shouting "No popery here!"

Ushers dashed from pew to pew, hustling demonstrators out of the church as they rose in sequence to rail against the Pope. Cardinal Heenan, believed to be the first Roman Catholic cardinal ever to appear formally in the 17th century cathedral, won applause from many of his listeners when he said the demonstrators showed "the need for the ecumenical movement." Paisley stayed outside the cathedral with his supporters behind a ring of police guards.

Southwestern Exposition Lures World's Top Cowboys

FORT WORTH (AP) — A traditional western parade signals the opening Friday of the 73rd Southwestern exposition, one of the nation's premier stock show rodeos.

With $80,000 in prizes, most of the world's best cowboys will invade Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum for 10 days and nights of competition.

The field, expected to exceed 500, includes reigning all-around champion Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore., and four other national champions—Shawn Davis of Whitehall, Mont., saddle bronc; George Paul of Del Rio, Tex., bull riding; Glen Franklin of House, N.M., calf roping; and Jack Roddy of San Jose, Calif., steer wrestling.

10,000 ENTRIES

Roddy captured the steer wrestling event here last year en route to the world crown. Mahan was not the event winner but the earnings here helped propel him to his third all-around national title.

Stock show officials expect more than 10,000 livestock entries with judging daily and auctions and private treaty sales throughout the week.

The grand champion steer will be selected Wednesday and sold at auction two days later.

George Herrmann, 17, of Lam-pasac will be seeking an unprecedented third straight grand championship. His heretofore offerings the last two years netted him $12,300.

DANIEL BOONE

The stock show additionally features a midway and the Hall of Commerce. The commerce hall will display more than $750,000 in merchandise that ranges from African diamonds to Bibles.

Special guest star for the 20 rodeo performances is Texan Fess Parker, described as an "actor - writer - producer - director - singer - composer" but best known for his television roles as Davy Crockett and Daniel Boone.

He was born here, raised in San Angelo and graduated from the University of Texas.

Other entertainment includes a six-horse Roman ride, Olson's performing buffalo, barrel racing, clown and horse shows and a musical group called the New Establishment.

DETROIT (AP) — Imagine Woodward Avenue, Detroit's main drag, paved twice over with dollar bills, curb-to-curb, eight miles inland from the Detroit River—with a few bucks left over for cab fare.

Got the picture? That, according to a playful city statistician, is what conventioners left behind in Detroit during 1968—$42 million.

The Detroit Convention Bureau says the future looks even better. More than 375 conventions are booked, compared with 355 meetings in Detroit last year.

Tech Medical Fight In Vain

AUSTIN (AP)—All that feuding-and legislative fighting over a Texas Tech medical school bill in 1965 was for nothing, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

Martin issued an opinion Wednesday saying the Lubbock school's board of directors can create a medical school on their own, as long as the College Coordinating Board approves.

The board already has given its approval and authorized the school to request money from the legislature to start planning and developing "an innovative medical school."

The opinion went to Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock, a Tech alumnus, who fought hard for a bill in 1965 creating the medical school. Then Gov. John Connally vetoed the bill, saying he wanted to get the Coordinating Board set up and hear its opinion before okaying the school. The board was established in 1965.

Martin's opinion was dated Tuesday, Smith's inauguration day. The attorney general said Smith requested it Dec. 13 as lieutenant governor.

Direct Election System Advocates Testify Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's Hugh Scott, No. 2 Senate Republican proposed a constitutional amendment today doing away with the present presidential election system.

Scott's proposal, which would abolish the office of presidential elector and allocate electoral votes by congressional district, went into the hopper as a Senate Judiciary subcommittee opened hearings into the whole situation of electing presidents.

Called as a leadoff witness by Subcommittee chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., were three senators, two of them advocates of direct popular election.

30 SPONSORS

Tennessee's Howard H. Baker Jr. and Oklahoma's Henry Bellmon, both Republicans, are among more than 30 sponsors of a constitutional amendment that would abolish the electoral college and replace it with a direct election system.

The third witness, Republican Peter H. Dominick, of Colorado, supports elements of two rival plans, one providing for a division of electoral votes in proportion to the popular vote and the Scott proposal.

Scott told the Senate his proposal would improve the present system and "end this problem of the disenfranchised voter by doing away with the winner-take-all method."

"It will tend to strengthen the two-party system, the real bulwark of our government, by encouraging the minority party in currently one-party states," he added.

SPLINTER PARTIES

"More importantly, it will not enhance the chances of splinter parties because they have little hope of diverting more than a few electoral votes from one major party candidate," Scott said.

His proposal came less than three weeks after the Senate agreed to accept the vote of a North Carolina GOP elector who cast his ballot for third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace of Alabama.

Under the present system, as outlined by the Constitution, voters in each state actually choose members of the Electoral College when they ballot for a presidential candidate.

Theoretically, each elector is a free agent and can vote for any person they choose, just as Bailey and a handful of others in the past have done. Actually the electors traditionally vote for the candidate who carried their respective states.

SCOTT'S PLAN

Under Scott's plan, a presidential ticket winning the plurality of a state's popular vote would win two electoral votes corresponding to the state's representation in the Senate.

The ticket also would win one additional electoral vote for each congressional district it carried by a plurality.

The presidential ticket receiving a majority of the total number of electoral votes would be elected, Scott said.

"If no presidential ticket obtained a majority, Congress in joint session would select a president from the top three tickets," he said.

Bayh is the chief sponsor of an amendment providing that the presidential ticket winning the most popular votes would be elected, if it got more than 40 per cent of the total vote.

If no ticket received 40 per cent of the popular vote, a runoff election would be held between the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes.

TESC Offices Construction

STANTON (SC) — Construction has begun on the new Texas Electric Service Co. offices to be located at the corner of St. Peter and School Streets, just east of the county courthouse. Cecil Bridges, manager of the Stanton office, reports that the building should be completed around April 15. The 2,100 square foot of the building will include a front office, a front display room and a Reddy Room about 28 feet by 20 feet which will be a new facility available in the Stanton office.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

About God's Will

DEAR ABBY: I am a very religious person and believe that everything in this world happens as a result of God's plan and wishes. Am I wrong then to feel that when we fall ill, it is God's will and perhaps God is trying to punish us for some wrongdoing? That is why I never take any medicine. Why fight God's decision? If you can answer this, you are a genius.

HAS FAITH

DEAR HAS: I'm no genius, but ask yourself this: If your theory is right, why then did God give man the knowledge and power to conquer illness?

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married to a big, good-looking Irishman for six years. We have two children. Mickey is a bartender, and I have never had any objections to the hours, temptations or anything like that until lately. His boss has told him to play up to the single women who come in — greet them with a big smile, a hug, and maybe a little smooch, and keep them sitting and buying drinks.

Well, there is one old widow who comes in nearly every night and stays until they close up. She's in no shape to get home on her own so Mickey takes her home. My question: Do you think Mickey has to go THIS far in the line of duty?

MICKEY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: How far does he go?

DEAR ABBY: A married male cousin of mine and his wife of some 40 odd years were visiting my husband and me for the weekend. While fully dressed and preparing breakfast, this married male cousin of mine came up behind me and surprised me with a kiss. No hug. Just a kiss.

I didn't think a thing of it, but after they had departed, my husband told me he saw "the whole thing." Then he became enraged because I hadn't thrown my cousin out of the house. He even said I must have encouraged my cousin and probably had further relations with him.

I assure you no such thoughts crossed my mind. Three years later my husband is still making nasty insinuations and accusations, and I am sick to death of hearing about it. What is your opinion of all this? We were all between 65 and 70 years of age, and the "kisser" is now dead. Thank you.

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: Don't be too hard on your husband on the chance that he is getting a bit added in his old age. But when he starts with the ugly accusations, let him talk to himself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "C K": It's useless to tell a grown daughter, "If you ever get into any trouble, come to me first." For if the proper relationship has been built over the years, she will. If it hasn't, the words will be meaningless.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MRS. BILL SPAIN

Designer Uses Talent In Home Decoration

By RHODA LEMONS
Mrs. Bill Spain is an interior designer with a degree from the University of Texas. She has taught courses at the YMCA in the past and will resume these classes there in February.

Now that she is not working at her profession, she is busy at home, caring for her husband, who is manager of the pharmaceutical department at Gibson's, and their son, Warren, 15 months.

Like many other women whose husbands work long hours, Mrs. Spain has a great deal of time to spend in using her professional talent in their home. She has antiqued several chairs, re-upholstering them in materials ranging from red and gray velvets to red denim.

The colors in her living room are gold, red and gray. Mrs. Spain has accented the room with a striking Turkish tapestry hanging over the couch, and she has refinished an antique desk. One of her favorite pieces of furniture is a chair (once in a complete state of dis-repair) which she attacked as a college project and now proudly displays in her living room.

She does decoupage, makes papier-mache flowers and has sewn attractive curtains for their home. One of her favorite pastimes is painting in oils and water colors. Her project of the moment is the old Mulholland home in Stanton which she has sketched and is now ready to paint.

Much of her time is taken up with Warren who is just beginning to walk about. This keeps his mother busy in "pursuit."

Spain has one day off each week (which rotates) and he is home on Sundays. He does not come home for lunch or the evening meal so Mrs. Spain cooks only for herself and Warren.

Sunday is the main day that Mrs. Spain cooks. The family attends services at First Methodist Church in the morning, and while her husband watches sports on television, she prepares dinner. They usually have steak or pot roast, a salad, vegetable and dessert. Often, she prepares one of the recipes listed below.

Mrs. Spain is in demand as a guest speaker for local clubs that invite her to discuss interior design. She has taught home decorating at Fort Worth's Technical High School and at Texas Tech. She is a member of the 1946 Hyperion Club and is past president of Big Spring Panhellenic.

Mrs. Spain is interested in Greek architecture and the ante-bellum days of the South. She reads all she can find on either subject and tries to capture some of her impressions on canvas.

Make Veal 'Italiano' For Supper

Everyone loves an easy to prepare dish that can be relied upon. The recipe listed below will fall in this category, and it has a special flavor all its own.

VEAL ITALIANO
1 pkg. complete spaghetti dinner with mushrooms
1 1/4 lbs. veal steak
1 medium onion
1/2 medium green pepper
4 slices bacon
1 1/2 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup water
1 (3 oz.) can broiled mushroom slices

Open complete spaghetti dinner package. Remove can of sauce. Open and set aside. Cut veal into pieces. Peel onion; chop fine. Cut green pepper into strips.
Cut bacon into pieces and fry until crisp. Remove bacon pieces from pan. Add onion, green pepper to bacon fat. Cook until tender but not brown.

Mix in flour, and salt. Stir in water and can of sauce from packaged dinner. Slowly bring mixture to a boil.

Drain canned mushroom slices and add with veal to sauce. Cover and cook gently for 25 minutes. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain.

Add contents of the can of cheese to cooked, drained spaghetti and mix well. Serve vegetable mixture on top of spaghetti. Top with crumbled bacon. Makes four servings.

Try Hearty Beef Salad

Tangy indeed is this award-winning salad which brings to dining cool, satisfying refreshment. Chopped dried beef, onion, elbow macaroni and sour cream figure among the ingredients that make this salad a tasty standout noon or night. And because it's so quick and easy to prepare, you can create this side dish without once leaving the realm of easy living.

TANGY BEEF MACARONI SALAD

2 cups jumbo elbow macaroni
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 medium sized onion, chopped
1 jar (2 1/4 ozs.) dried beef, chopped
3/4 cup sour cream
6 tbsps. vinegar
1 1/2 tsp. prepared horseradish
Salt and pepper to taste
Crisp salad greens

Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain. Rinse with cold water; drain. Melt butter or margarine; add onion and beef and saute until onion is tender. Combine onion mixture, macaroni, cream, vinegar, horseradish and salt and pepper; mix well. Chill. Arrange on salad greens. Serves four to six.

Cheese-Nut Salad Offers New Taste

If you have still to arrive in the culinary arts, or if you need a quick thrust to put your cooking back in the category of cuisine, this salad will do it. The combination of cheese-nut macaroni is like a magical moment. But play it continental. This salad should be served alone — as your first course!

CHEESE-NUT MACARONI SALAD

2 cups jumbo elbow macaroni
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese (about 1/4 lb.)
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
2 tbsps. capers
One-third cup French dressing
Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain. Rinse with cold water; drain. Combine macaroni and remaining ingredients; toss lightly but thoroughly. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce, as desired. Serves four to six.

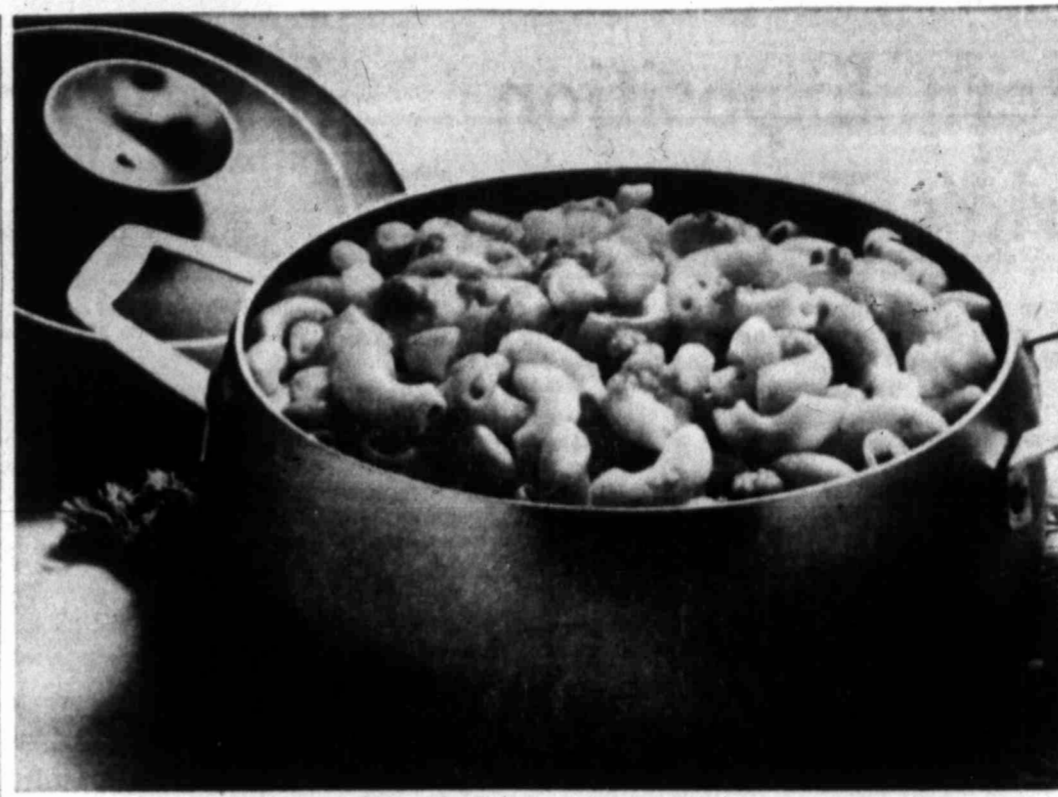

Use Frankfurters With Egg Noodles

Call a hot dog by any other name and you'll be delighted with the main dish ideas that come forth — like this savory suggestion. In about 25 minutes you've given the forlorn frankfurter a starring role in new, exciting excitement. Team up frankfurters and wide egg noodles, and this taste-pleaser will rate a big "plus" all around the dinner table.

DUTCH NOODLES AND WEINERS

5 cups wide egg noodles
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 medium sized onion, chopped
8 frankfurters, cut in 1/4-inch pieces
1 cup tomato juice
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
Melt two tablespoons butter or margarine. Add onion. Cook five minutes. Add frankfurters. Cook until browned on all sides. Add tomato juice. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally for about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook noodles as directed on package; drain. Add two tablespoons butter or margarine to noodles; mix well. Serve frankfurter sauce over noodles. Serves six.

Homemade And Good

This new one-step method for making macaroni and cheese is just what the homemaker needs. It cooks in less than an hour and is ready to serve with a salad and bread.

Make Easy Casserole With Macaroni, Cheese

One of the "stickiest" meal-time problems for homemakers seems to have been solved, and in a fashion that may lead you to wonder: "Why didn't somebody think of this before?"

It's not news, of course, that a real homemade macaroni and cheese casserole is an easy-to-prepare, hearty and economical main dish. This American favorite is a frequent traditional menu item for millions of families.

However, one aspect of a macaroni and cheese casserole can be a source of annoyance: clean-up time. When the rest of the family retires to the evening newspaper and the television, Mom is left with the casserole dish to soak and scrub, plus an extra pan, the one in which she pre-cooks the macaroni.

But now a leading macaroni manufacturer has come up with a two-part solution to this problem of getting Mom out of the kitchen quicker.

Part One is a unique recipe for a delightful macaroni and cheese casserole which does not require pre-cooking of the macaroni and, as a result, eliminates the "one more pan" to be washed, dried and put away after dinner.

Part Two is a special premium offer of no-stick Teflon-coated aluminum casseroles which sponge clean in seconds.

The unique recipe, which simplifies preparation of a genuinely satisfying macaroni and cheese main dish for six, is as follows:

MACARONI 'N' CHEESE ONE-STEP CASSEROLE

2 cups elbow macaroni
2 cups cheddar cheese, cubed
3 cups milk
Paprika
1 1/2 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
Combine macaroni, cheese and milk. Pour into lightly buttered casserole. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover. Bake in 400 degree oven one hour. After first 20 minutes, stir mixture slowly and thoroughly — making sure to get to bottom and around edge of casserole. Add salt and pepper. Repeat stirring after another 20 minutes. Leave cover off during remaining cooking time to brown top. Serves six.

Warm Macaroni Makes Tasty Salad

Serve a hearty main or side dish of macaroni, celery soup, vinegar and pickle relish. Lightly tossed and warmed.

Here's a flavor festival that's quick-as-a-wink to fix. Perfect winter fare for that one hot meal a day. And you'll enjoy the "ohs" and "ahs" when your family and friends discover you've been imaginative enough to serve a warm salad.

HOT MACARONI SALAD

1 1/2 cups shell or large elbow macaroni
1 10 1/2-oz. can cream of celery soup, diluted with 1/4 cup milk
1 1/2 tbsps. vinegar
1/2 cup pickle relish
Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain. Heat diluted soup; add vinegar and relish. Pour over cooked macaroni and mix well. Serves five or six.

Try Skillet Dinner Of Macaroni

A skillet dinner is about the most casual way to come up with a completely satisfying main course these winter days. In this one, luscious lobster is given the tangy treatment that meets with everyone's approval. This is an especially rewarding dish for the seafood enthusiast, and it takes surprisingly little time and effort to prepare.

MACARONI LOBSTER DINNER

2 cups short cut elbow macaroni
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 medium sized onion, chopped
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. thyme
1 can (1 quart-14 oz.) vegetable juice cocktail
1 can (5 oz.) lobster, drained

Melt butter or margarine; add onion and saute until tender. Add seasonings and vegetable juice and heat to boiling point. Gradually add macaroni so that vegetable juice continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until macaroni is tender. Add lobster and cook five minutes, stirring occasionally. Serves four to six.

Combine Bologna With Macaroni

Like a jelly-roll, only zippy and different. A bologna-based salad with the fine complement of short cut elbow macaroni to stem the tide of the most Teutonic taste. This chilled salad-satisfier is geared to cut-down and out-size appetites — and is guaranteed to please the palate.

BOLOGNA-MACARONI SALAD

2 cups short cut elbow macaroni
1/2 lb. bologna, about 1/4 inch thick
2 medium sized tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup sliced scallions
1/2 cup salad oil
3 tbsps. vinegar
1 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Roll up bologna slices tightly, jelly-roll fashion; chill. Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain. Rinse with cold water; drain. Combine macaroni and remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill. Arrange bologna rolls on macaroni salad. Garnish as desired. Serves four to six.

Protein Patties Make Good Lunch

For pre-schoolers on the go or all the family for that matter, mix one-fourth cup of high protein cereal, plus one egg, with each pound of ground meat. Season if you wish. Broil or pan-fry. For fun, roll into sausage shapes and serve on hot dog buns.

A Devotional For The Day

Now the God of patience and consolation grant you to be likeminded one toward another according to Christ Jesus. (Romans 15:5)

PRAYER: O God, give us patience. We are prone to rush madly, defiantly into life without the patience to overcome the many hindrances that stand in our way. Help us to be patient. Amen.

Apply Lessons In Job Training

One conclusion to be drawn from the report of the National Manpower Policy Task Force is that we have passed the basic experimental stage in federal job-training programs and are now ready for a more tightly knit endeavor. This group's proposal that the various government programs be consolidated under a single agency is soundly based on the view that, whereas the programs have thus far constituted a "vast experimentation," something different is now required.

The panel of academic experts notes that there have been both successes and failures under the present uncoordinated setup. That was to have been expected; job training is a frontier area, and there has to be some learning by trial and error. That has been the pattern in an undertaking which now involves the expenditure of $2.5 billion yearly by more than a dozen manpower-training services under a half-dozen agencies and departments.

The time has come for reform. More specifically, the time has come for applying the lessons of the present system to a coordinated approach which could reasonably be expected to be more effective than the present system even without any increased outlay.

The Manpower Policy Task Force also recommends that local governments be given more authority so that job-training programs can be tailored to local needs. This, too, appears sound, so long as care is taken to safeguard against abuses of this autonomy. The task force proposals offer excellent guidelines for greater effectiveness and for reducing wastefulness and combating abuses. Whatever is done should be open to continuous appraisal.

Only A Week To Go

The office of County Tax Collector Zerah LeFevre is performing a welcome and needful service in attempting to get a maximum number of people qualified for voters in 1969. Mrs. LeFevre is calling on the service clubs and other large groups, and members of her staff have operated desks at various institutions and industries to make it more convenient for people to register. Only half of our adults have qualified.

There is no money involved, only a moment to supply essential information and to sign an application or a registration certificate.

People who fail to attend to this by Jan. 31 are simply not being the kind of citizens they ought to be. It makes no difference if there were no election (there will be at least the school and city elections, plus the possibility of special issues), every citizen of the United States ought to be armed with the power to vote. You can help, first of all, by seeing to it that you have registered for you and your spouse, and also by encouraging fellow workers and fellow members to get or apply for that certificate now. One week from tomorrow and it will be too late.

What The Constitution Says

WASHINGTON — How many people really understand the true significance of the inauguration of a President of the United States? It is not an impression to be obtained merely by watching the crowds, the bands and the parades, or by reading about the gala affairs, entertainments and other forms of celebration. Nor is the meaning of the event necessarily revealed in the text of the inaugural address.

THE BASIC and fundamental challenge to a new President is to be found in the 35-word oath he takes. It is contained in the Constitution, and reads as follows:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

IT WILL BE NOTED that the mandate doesn't say "to preserve, protect, and defend" the American people because the Constitution itself explicitly mentions these objectives. So a President who ignores in any way the obligation to maintain the security of the United States against both external and internal threats isn't carrying out his oath of office. But how does anyone know what is covered by the Constitution in view of the confused state of mind today which has resulted from the arbitrary way the Supreme Court has undertaken to rewrite the Constitution at will?

UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, for example, the citizens are supposed to be given "equal protection of the law." This relates not only to racial discrimination but to the protection of life and property. It provides punishment of law violators as a way to deter the commission of crime. It forbids discrimination because of race or religion or color or sex. But a woman who can't lift heavy tools is not being discriminated against in employment if she isn't hired for a job of this type. An employer has the Constitutional right to judge the efficiency of his employees. Is he being protected today in his exercise of this right?

WHEN, MOREOVER, there are 175 white and 10 Negro children in a school and all the applicants in a neighborhood have been admitted, can governmental coercion then be used to correct "racial imbalance" by moving some Negro children from another school district? The Congress by law has said that federal funds cannot be withheld from educational institutions as a means of removing "racial imbalance." But, under regulations issued by the last administration, this has been done.

THE UNITED STATES has become involved in a war in Southeast Asia not only to repel aggression but to stop the Communist regimes in Moscow and Peking from taking over adjacent territories and depriving peoples of their right of self-determination. Unfortunately, there has arisen an opposition within our country, parts of which at times are treasonable. Whether or not Communist influences are to some extent back of this, as had been indicated in reports of a committee of the House of Representatives after lengthy investigation, the fact remains that many individuals have organized "anti-war" groups which have, intentionally or unintentionally, given "aid and comfort to the enemy."

TAXPAYERS' FUNDS can help to build not only a peaceful country but a prosperous economy, and there are plenty of constructive reforms which can be made and social welfare projects established. But the presidential oath commands the chief executive to "preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution," and this will be the true measure of whether President Nixon is fulfilling his oath of office. Next Acquisition Anyone's Guess

NEW YORK (AP) — For a price in excess of $300 million the First National City Corp. is presently in the process of acquiring one of the nation's major insurance concerns, the Chubb Corp.

But isn't First City a bank, you say? And what is a bank doing with an insurance company?

IN ANSWER to the first question, yes, the First City is a bank, but a holding company has been superimposed atop it. Secondly, the bank isn't to be the owner of the insurer; the holding company is.

First City Bank, still the third largest in the nation, now is just one subsidiary of the holding company. Chubb will be another.

And excluding the informed opinion of company executives, it's anyone's guess as to what acquisition is next.

One respected analyst asks in print: "What is to prevent a large financial conglomerate from acquiring a large steel, electronic or automobile company?" And it answers: "Absolutely nothing."

FIRST CITY'S purchase points up the enormous power of this now rampant strain of corporate life, the so-called one-bank holding company, sometimes referred to as the department store of finance.

The concept, though not new, had lain somewhat dormant. In 1966 Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., counted 425 of them. But in the past year it appears there have been at least 50 new ones, some of them quite large.

The one-bank holding company is simply a concern organized as a general business corporation. It is unlike the registered bank holding company, which is a banking concern with holdings of at least 25 per cent in two banks.

Because it is registered as a banking concern, the registered bank holding company is prohibited from activities unrelated to banking. It must register with the Federal Reserve and needs approval of the Federal Reserve Board for expansion.

THE ONE-BANK concept avoids this. In fact, no specific federal agency controls all its activities. It can acquire, diversify, merge with other companies with little at all to do with the Reserve Board.

First City, which even as a bank was straining to diversify, decided last year to take on the new form. It's first major move was into insurance, but seemingly it is free now to acquire a mutual fund, expand its travel advisory services, and sell computer services if it chooses.

Such interrelationships obviously mean savings, for the customer of one frequently is the customer of another. By bringing them under one roof, the cost of selling and maintaining accounts can be diminished.

Quirks Of Chance

NEW YORK (AP) — As every veteran bartender, doctor, lawyer, newspaperman and minister knows, sooner or later almost anything can happen to anybody.

INSURANCE claims adjusters, too, in time become familiar with the quirks of chance and the vagaries of human behavior. One of these, R. J. Bartum, claims vice president of State Farm Mutual and a man with a fine eye for the ridiculous and the unusual, collects as a hobby some of the odd cases his firm has been called upon to settle.

Here are a few:

A MIDWESTERN client summoned police after he smashed into a telephone pole. They immediately arrested him for a drunken driving.

Denying the charge, he asked for a drunkometer test. When the drunkometer failed to work, the man said, "I'm an electronics engineer, I'll fix it."

He did, then took the test—and flunked.

AFTER WHOOPING it up in a Michigan tavern, a bunch of Indians on their way back to the reservation attacked a passing pickup truck with rocks and beer bottles. The driver veered into a telephone pole.

He collected, but the insurance company couldn't, it found, collect from the wayward braves. Their tribe had never signed a full peace treaty with the United States; therefore they couldn't be sued.

AN ILLINOIS man reported he'd just been in a collision with a bathtub.

"Yes, sir," replied the unruffled claims agent, and asked how he had managed the unusual feat of colliding with a bathtub.

It turned out the bathtub had fallen from a truck on the highway.

THEN THERE was the case of the man who one moment was relaxing chin deep in a warm bath and the next moment found himself, stark naked, sitting on his garage roof.

His hot water heater had exploded. Part of his house was demolished; he was unscathed.

Around The Rim

The Second Stage Might

I still think it is a good idea.

SOME WEEKS ago, I heard from several folks anxious that something be done with the clutch of dilapidated buildings, most of them vacant, located in the area commonly called "the flats." Most favored leveling the whole bunch, and some of the buildings certainly belong on the condemned list.

DURING ONE such discussion of the problem, our managing editor, Mr. Pickle, suggested that the area would be a likely site for a park or plaza. Without a doubt, it would be a magnificent parksite, located on a major highway, and serving an area that could use a large, well developed park. It also offers someone the chance to take advantage of the opportunity to convert our city's largest single collection of sub-standard buildings and create something the community might be proud of. It would be a chance to back up those promises of a decade ago, when we voted down urban renewal primarily on the basis that we could do the job better ourselves.

I TOOK the plan to all who would listen, taking one city commissioner on a tour of the area. Which is to say, I have now heard all of those reasons why it cannot be done. Some of these reasons sound like excuses, and some of the financial figures that have been thrown at me are staggering. The problems of such a plan, I am told, are many fold. After hearing some of them, I am surprised the buffalo came to water at the "big spring" in the first place.

THE PROBLEMS of that area itself, unhappily were not explained away. It is still there, and grows more dilapidated every day. As it stands, most of the area is lost to some worthwhile purpose, and stands as mute testimony that nothing is being done, by anyone. If not a park, then perhaps a mammoth vacant lot. Anything would be better than what covers most of the area. It's too bad we don't need a parking lot there.

OUR FIRST Master Plan did not include such massive community building rehabilitation. The second one, now in the planning stages, might take in such problems. At this point, the details have not yet been spelled out.

I still think a park is a good idea. —V. GLENN COOTES

The Note On The White House Door

WASHINGTON — When President Richard Nixon and his wife Pat came back from the swearing-in ceremonies at the Capitol they found a note from Mr. Johnson pinned on the front door of the White House.

It read:
Dear Dick and Pat,

The key is under the doormat and you can have all the food that's left in the ice box. We've tried to leave the place spick-and-span as possible, but little Lyn was unable to find several of his toys. If you find a brown teddy bear with one eye, would you mail it to us care of the L.B.J. Ranch, Johnson City, Texas?

THE DOGS chewed up the rug on the last day and we didn't have time to repair it, so if you folks want to have it fixed, you can send the bill to us.

The fuse box is in the cellar behind the furnace. The electric bills are outrageous, so watch the help and see that they turn out all the lights.

The appliances are all in pretty good shape, though it gets hot in the kitchen every once in a while. You can blame Harry Truman for that. He knew about the problem, but every time someone wanted to do something about it, he said, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen."

LADY BIRD'S left a list of handy-men to call if you need anything repaired. If you call the plumber and tell him you're the President of the United States, he'll be over within 48 hours. The electrician might take a little longer, but he lives in Bethesda, Md., and usually doesn't make house calls.

Structurally, I think you'll find the building itself in fairly good condition, with one exception. When we first moved in, we found hordes of newspapermen coming out of the walls of the west wing of the White House. We called the exterminators and they did everything — they sprayed them, laid out poison bait for them, set mouse traps, and they even plugged up all the leaks and holes. But the newspapermen just kept multiplying.

IN THE LAST year Lady Bird and I decided to ignore them, and I'd advise you to do the same. Trying to get rid of them seems to do more damage to the house than letting them gnaw on the foundations of your administration.

The pool should be backwashed twice a week. Marvin Watson used to do it for me before I made him postmaster general. If you don't want to do it yourself, you can probably get Wally Hickey to do it for you. After all, he owes you a favor.

THERE ARE a bunch of trees and bushes in the garage that Lady Bird never did get a chance to plant and she said Pat could have them. She also left the silver shovel for Pat.

I guess that's pretty much it. I think you'll like the house. It has a je ne sais quoi quality to it that's hard to explain.

The only advice I have is don't get too attached to the place. The landlords are pretty fickle people, and no matter what you do for them, if you take a dislike to you they'll kick you out when your four-year lease is up.

Sincerely,
LYNDON

The GOP Class Of 1968

WASHINGTON — Some of us gave a party to meet the new Republican senators, the Class of '68, and right away the mind jumped back 22 years to the GOP Class of '46. It's been that long since the Republicans elected as many as 10 freshmen to the Senate — and what a difference in quality we have today!

BACK IN '46, when the memorable 80th Congress was chosen, the Republican campaign motto — "Had Enough?" — was designed to cash in on the postwar fed-up feeling. Mr. Truman was still meek and mild in the unpopular controlled economy of the ration book. Industry was slowly turning from munitions to consumer goods.

Most of the solemn columnists were predicting a depression with no decent jobs for the returning GI's. In the previous year Winston Churchill, the greatest man of the century, had been kicked out of his premiership, and Sen. Bill Fulbright was saying that Truman ought to resign and let Gen. George Marshall run the country with the efficiency of a military dictator.

IT WAS AN atmosphere in which practically any Republican could win, regardless of his worth, and the GOP Class of '46 had in it more controversial characters than ever before or after reached the Senate in a single year. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, among them, would become the most-abused man of his time. George Malone of Nevada, Bill Jenner of Indiana, Harry Cain of Washington would make the "extremists" of a few years later seem staid middle-agers by comparison. Two others, Watkins of Utah and Flanders of Vermont, would later rip open their own party as no Democrat could do. Others, like Jim Kern and Zales Ecton of Montana, came and departed so quietly that their footsteps were barely heard in the corridors of history. Most of them were one-termers, and only one, Williams of Delaware, stayed around and made himself anything approaching a great name.

WHAT A GRATIFYING contrast is the GOP Class of '68! Each of the 10 newcomers brings the experience and accomplishment that our increasingly-complex government now demands in a senator. Barry Goldwater, a previous two-term, is the most experienced. Bob Packwood, the least experienced at 35, was an Oregon legislator and an outstanding instructor in the school of politics conducted for the past several years by GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss. Ted Stevens, Majority Leader of the Alaska House, was here in the Eisenhower years as general counsel under Interior Secretary Fred Seaton.

HENRY BELLMON, who became Oklahoma's first Republican governor four years ago, received the top award (along with his wife) in 1956 as the best Republican precinct captain in the nation. Marlowe Cooke of Kentucky has been both a judge and a county executive. Bill Saxby has twice been attorney general of Ohio.

All of the other incoming Republican senators have moved up from the House of Representatives. Mac Mathais of Maryland ran 110,000 votes ahead of the Nixon-Agnew ticket in his state. Bob Dole of Kansas has the reputation of being one of the best half dozen congressmen of the 1960's. Dick Schweiker of Pennsylvania and Ed Gurney of Florida have long been regarded as senatorial timber by reason of their work in the House.

THE REPUBLICANS have a good investment in this Class of '68. There is not a bonehead or a mountebank among them. There is every indication that these men are re-electable, which is the quality that counts in politics. (Copyright, 1968, Publishers - Holt Syndicate)

Like Adventure

NEW DELHI (AP) — Three teenage girls declared here "adventure is NOT for boys alone."

They were among the 12 girls who underwent the three-week "special adventure course" in mountaineering in the Uttar Kashi region, 200 miles northeast of Delhi.

"It is full of adventure — with Nature, and why should it be the exclusive preserve of boys alone?" Miss Monica Puri asked.

"Mountaineering is the best cure for shyness and reserved nature," Miss Manjula Jain told a press conference.

"When once you have been bitten by the Himalayan bug, you fall for it again and again," Miss Nadita Hakkar said.

They climbed the 12,000 foot high Gowma peak. "But the sky is the limit," Miss Puri said. They have set their eyes on the 29,025-foot Everest, the world's tallest peak.

CHIEF JAY BANKS OUTLINES REQUESTS Police Chiefs Seek Law Changes

By KEN LEACH
Texas chiefs of police have issued a call for several changes to be made in the law as a means to strengthen the position of law enforcement officers, according to Chief of Police Jay Banks, president of the Texas Police Chiefs Association.

"We are proposing changes in the Texas Constitution, the code of criminal procedure, penal code and civil statutes," Chief Banks said.

The change the chiefs ask for in the Texas Constitution would provide bail to be denied in certain cases, Chief Banks said.

"A constitutional amendment denying bail for those charged as habitual criminals was overwhelmingly approved by Texas voters in 1956," Chief Banks said. "Now, some 12 years later, there is even a greater need for further strengthening of that law and extending its coverage."

The chiefs would like to see bail denied to those people charged with a felony and who are out on bond, then are charged with an additional felony; those who the trial court finds from substantial evidence are likely to receive more than 15 years imprisonment upon conviction; those who the court finds are inherently dangerous to themselves or others; and those who the court finds are likely to jump bail and not appear for trial.

"We suggest that authority be granted to Texas courts to order these defendants held in confinement without bond for up to 90 days, at which time he would be entitled to be released on bond if he had not been tried," Chief Banks said. "Recourse to the writ of habeas corpus would protect the accused from inequities."

Texas law now provides that anyone receiving more than 15 years confinement as sentence is not entitled to bail, pending appeal of his case, Chief Banks said.

The police chiefs are also hoping that the law be changed so that the judge automatically sets the punishment in all cases except capital cases where the state is asking the death penalty, according to Chief Banks.

"So far as we have been able to determine," Chief Banks said, "Texas is the only state that permits the defendant, who has been found guilty by a jury, to choose whether that particular jury or the trial judge will assess his punishment."

At present, there are many instances of equally guilty participants in the same crime receiving — from the jury in separate trials — widely divergent sentences, he said.

"In this connection, we also recommend the judge be allowed to make pre-sentence investigation," Chief Banks said. "This procedure, followed in the federal courts, not only allows the court to consider the past criminal record of the defendant, but also permits the court to consider any mitigating or extenuating circumstances such as the defendant's war record or mental history."

Another change asked by the police chiefs would, if approved by the legislature, set up procedures by which oral confessions could be used as evidence, Chief Banks said.

"Texas is the only state which requires statements to be in writing before they can be admitted in a court as evidence," Chief Banks said. "Even federal courts allow oral confessions, and we believe Texas laws should not hamper its law enforcement officers in bringing offenders to justice."

It is ridiculous that a peace officer in Texas should have to be further handicapped by the requirement that any incriminating statement must be in writing and signed by the defendant before it can be admissible evidence, he said.

"We also recommend that the legislature, following the guidelines set by the Supreme Court and Congress, make Texas law conform with federal law in regard to the use of wiretapping and electronic surveillance," Chief Banks said. "It is permitted on the federal level under controlled conditions, and we would like to see the same conditions enacted for use in Texas."

Justice must extend beyond the court room back to the site where the victim's rights were violated, Chief Banks said, rather than favor the criminal at the expense of law-abiding citizens.

"We are asking that the criminal code be amended to the point where an inmate must serve one-half of his sentence before being considered for parole," he said. "We would ask that time served should be actual time as opposed to the present system of granting 'good time.'"

A prisoner should be transferred to prison while his case is being appealed, Chief Banks said. Under present law, if a defendant is unable to make bond pending appeal from his conviction, he is kept in county jail.

"These men should be transferred to the state prison system," he said. "The Department of Corrections is equipped to handle these men, and productive man hours would not be lost while the defendant waits months, and in some cases years, while his case is being heard in higher courts."

The Texas police chiefs are asking that all driver licenses be issued with the provision that the driver gives his consent for officers to take breath or other tests to determine intoxication, Banks said. With the change in the law, the chiefs want the state to see a rate of blood alcohol concentration at which a person would be considered legally intoxicated, he said.

The chiefs would also like to see a provision of the law requiring a blood sample to be taken from all drivers and pedestrians killed in traffic accidents. The sample would be sent to the Department of Public Safety for analysis for the presence of alcohol. This law would help provide statistics on alcohol as a factor in traffic deaths, he said.

In addition, more courts are needed in the state to keep pace with the increase in arrests, he said, in order that everyone charged may enjoy his constitutional right to a speedy trial.

The police chiefs have also suggested stronger laws for the punishment of murder, assault with intent to murder, using firearms in committing a crime, and receiving and concealing stolen property, Banks said.

Pentagon To Seek Approval Of Controversial Bombers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before he left office, former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford ordered major changes in earlier plans by his predecessor, Robert S. McNamara, to phase out hundreds of nuclear bombers.

Under the revisions ordered by Clifford, who left office Monday with the rest of the Johnson administration, the Air Force will:

- Retain the 80 B58 Hustler supersonic strategic bombers which McNamara ticketed for mothballs beginning in mid-1970.
- Keep for a few years longer three older B52 squadrons, over 45 planes in all, part of 210 early B52 C through F models which McNamara planned to sideline completely by mid-1973.
- Cut approved production of the incoming swing-wing FB111 nuclear bombers from 210 to around 120. The FB111 is an offshoot of McNamara's controversial TFX design.

Pentagon sources say Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, will make a case before new Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird for retaining a dozen or so other older B52 bomber squadrons that are destined for oblivion under the old McNamara policy.

The revisions are being greeted as good news by Air Force bomber advocates who have contended the McNamara regime was basing too much of the nation's security on unmanned long-range missiles.

The Air Force once had over 600 intercontinental range strategic bombers but is now down to 445. Hundreds of B47 medium bombers also were phased out early in the McNamara years.

The Air Force once had over 600 intercontinental range strategic bombers but is now down to 445. Hundreds of B47 medium bombers also were phased out early in the McNamara years.

"This is a victory, however minor," one Air Force officer who is familiar with the strategic bomber program, commented.

ed. "We've got our foot in the door."

In arguing for retention of the B52, Air Force officials maintained that the older C through F models should be held as a reserve conventional bombing capability for other Vietnam-type wars in the future.

The slash in planned FB111 production represents further erosion of the McNamara plan to turn out one basic plane design which could meet the needs of the services.

The Navy carrier-based counterpart, the F111B, was junked months ago because of soaring technical and cost productions. Orders for the Air Force's fighter version, the $7 million F111A, are being "stretched out" to ease a financial burden.

The B52s, developed in the 1950s, are being modified at a cost of billions of dollars to keep them flying into the late 1970s and are being equipped with advanced missiles and electronics for penetrating Soviet air defenses.

The exact "mix" of strategic bombers for the United States over the next few years is not clear, mainly because the Air Force for security reasons will not announce squadron phase-outs far in the future and withhold production rates for the new FB111.

SAIGON (AP) — About 150 small, closely-packed housing structures were destroyed by fire today near downtown Saigon.

Authorities said the fire, around the city's major vegetable market place, apparently started from a "household accident" and Viet Cong sabotage was not involved. No casualties were reported.
