SKYROCKETS ON POWELL FIELD

Wellington High School's 1978 football season opens here at 8:00 p.m. Friday, Sept. 8 when the Rockets entertain the Hollis Tigers.

Rockets Open Season Against Hollis Friday

Wellington Skyroockets open their 1978 season against their traditional first-game rival, the Hollis Tigers, Friday, Sept. 8, on Powell Field.

They have shown up well in both scrimmages, but their coaches and the team, itself, are eager to see what they will do under game conditions.

Starting time is 8:00 p.m.

Wellington coaches have respect for the Hollis team and expect some stiff competition.

"This first game is real critical for the season," believes Head Coach James Williams. "It will be Oklahoma trying to beat Texas again and we're looking for a real good game."

Scouting reports from both Hollis scrimmages, with Altus B team and Memphis, indicate they have good depth.

"We don't look for too much change from last year in both the offense and defensive sets," Williams speculated.

During Williams tenure here, Hollis has defeated

Wellington twice and the Rockets have taken three victories off the Tigers.

Hollis posted an 8-4 record last year, going into two play-off games after the regular season.

Back from that fine team is running back Mark Tarpley, whom Williams calls "one of the better running backs we will face this year." He considers quarterback Todd Taylor a "pretty good operator."

Also back from the 1977 team is Paul Almaguer, who plays at tight end position on offense and defensive cornerback. He was not an offensive starter last year.

Returning are Eddie Kromer, 6', 190 pound junior in tackle position, Ricky Whitfield 160 pound linebacker and Curtis Craddock, defensive end and offensive tackle.

Although the Rockets made four touchdowns to the one Wheeler accounted for Friday night, Wellington came out of the contest a little bruised, according to Coach Williams.

Ricky Jones was hit in the leg and is not at full speed. James Thomas, who was faster even than last year, got a knee injury. "We may not be at full strength," Coach Williams acknowledges.

The Rockets are a lot lighter than last year, being without huskies Dane Dodge and John Birkey.

"We don't have a boy over 200 pounds, so our asset is our quickness," Williams continued. "Experience is another asset. Carl Taylor goes to the quarterback position with three years experience behind him. He knows offense and he is a good team leader," say his coaches.

Taylor's backup this year is Marty Warrick, who came off last year's B team. However should both these be out of action the coaches can rely on David Baumgardner to move back to that position.

This year he has moved to halfback position.

"We don't have a lot of depth and some of the boys may have to double up. We do have more depth in the line than in the backfield, and we're anxious to see how the kids do in a game type situation," commented Williams.

Joe Saldana will kick off for the Rockets.

Eight of these started last year. Manuel broke his leg at the beginning of the year and was out most of the season. Thomas steps into the place Arnie Ingram vacated by graduation, and Baumgardner was a defensive starter.

Returning to the positions they played last year are

Fair Promises Two Days Entertainment

To the lively music of That Skyrocket Band, colorful parade entries will roll onto the court house square at 11:00 a.m. Friday, Sept. 8, opening the annual two-day Collingsworth County Fair.

It will not wind down until late Saturday, Sept. 9, when carnival lights dim, declares chairman Billy Moseley.

Sheriff John Rainey is the parade marshal. There will be colorful floats in commercial, youth and adult organization divisions, and with them will come a bicycle brigade and a special division for horses with riders of all ages.

Fair week events got under way with the opening of Jest Carnival Monday, Sept. 4, offering new entertainment as well as familiar rides.

Schools in the county are due to be dismissed for the Fair Parade, and many of the children will appear on parade floats.

Exhibits will be placed in Bura Handley Community from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. Thursday, except for the flower and baked foods division, and other entries that are perishable, Moseley pointed out.

Most entries will be judged Thursday night. The exhibits will be opened as soon as the parade is over Friday, about 11:30, and remain open until 5:00 p.m. Saturday hours will be 9:00 to 5:00.

Two major events are planned for noon Friday. The Kiwanis Club will serve its beef barbecue in Ellison Park. They will prepare the beef pit-style and serve it with the traditional trimmings. Serving hours will be 12:00 to 1:30 p.m.

Old settlers will begin gathering by mid morning Friday for their reunion at the Senior citizen center, 702 East Avenue. They will have a covered dish luncheon at noon and remain to visit as long as they wish, according to Hugh Bledsoe, president.

Two completely new entertainments will be featured Saturday.

The All-American Country Music Festival will be presented by John Alf Thomas and Jerry Manuel from 10:00 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. on-stage in the community center auditorium.

Exhibits will be arranged so there will be plenty of room for chairs to be placed for those listening to the music.

A continuous music program is planned.

The other new event is the water polo contest, which will be held on the south side of the square beginning at 2:30 p.m. both the fun and serious portions of these contests will take it through mid-afternoon.

Another favorite entertainment returning to the square will be the Lions Club terrapin race. They are gathering up

Booster Club Sets Towel, Soap Night

Wellington Booster Club members elected Danny West president Tuesday, Sept. 5, to complete the slate of officers.

He succeeds David Caison. Robert Wayne Powell was elected the 1978 vice president and C.L. Watts is secretary.

Their first project will be the collection of soap and towels for the Skyrocket football team Friday, Sept. 8, at the Hollis game. "Everyone interested in backing the Rockets should bring either a towel or bar of soap to the Hollis game. A Booster Club member will be present to take them or a container will be available," said Watts.

Caison explained that almost a hundred boys from the four teams--two high school and two junior high--use the showers every day. There is only one washer and dryer in the field house, and they can't keep up with the present short supply of towels.

The officers also urge everyone to attend the weekly Booster Club meetings, held each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Farm Bureau building.

CJ Grant Approved to Fund Law Enforcement

The Commissioners Court, in a special meeting Tuesday night, Sept. 5, approved the combined law enforcement program, which will be operated jointly by Collingsworth County and the City of Wellington through the 1978-

79 fiscal year. The City Council voted its approval in a regular meeting August 21.

A grant of $17,315.60 has been approved from Criminal Justice Funds as part of the financing for the combined law enforcement program for Collingsworth County and the City of Wellington.

Announcement of the grant came from County Judge Zook Thomas and from Jerry Settle, spokesman for the Sheriff's Department. The money should be received here around November 1, Settle said.

Judge Thomas called a special meeting of the Commissioners Court for Tuesday night, Sept. 5, to notify members of the funding and for them to approve the law enforcement agreement.

The combined law enforcement program is budgeted at $119,815. For the 1978-79 fiscal year, the city and county will share funding on a 50-50 basis. Previously, the county paid 60 percent of the cost and the city 40 percent.

The grant from the unbudgeted funds of Criminal Justice Department, the Governor's Office and a $4,500 surplus the sheriff's department will have on hand at the end of the fiscal year will bring

A group of approximately 50 Quail school district residents and taxpayers said they will circulate a petition next week asking that 61 percent (see map) of Quail Independent School District be detached and annexed to Wellington Independent School District.

Under the Texas Education Code, a majority of qualified voters of an area of a school district may petition the county school board to "detach from and annex to any school district territory contiguous to the common boundary lines of the two districts."

The area must meet a required ratio of students and assessed value of the area compared to students and assessed value of the total district. Spokesmen for the taxpayers group said that the area they planned to petition for included approximately 61 percent of the assessed valuations of the district and approximately 45 percent of the students in the district, and they said this fell within the ratio required by law.

Other provisions of the law state that the county school board must notify all boards of schools affected by the change and hold a public hearing on the matter. And the board of the school to which the area is to be annexed must approve the annexation.

Approval of the school board from which the area is to be detached is not required unless the petitioners fail to

Rev. Ron Wheeler At 1st Christian

The Rev. Ron Wheeler, intern chaplain of High Plains Hospital, Amarillo, has accepted the pastorate of First Christian Church and he and his family moved here late last week.

This is his first full-time pastorate, although he has preached on a part-time basis at Dumas during his year at High Plains, and he was an associate minister of a church in Irving.

Wheeler is another in the series of young pastors to come to Wellington within the last year, giving the town one of the youngest group of clergymen of any town in the area.

In entering the ministry, Wheeler follows the footsteps of his father, the Rev. Roy Wheeler, pastor of Paramount Christian Church, Amarillo.

And following him in this same calling are two younger brothers.

All four began ministerial studies in a Christian College in Joplin, Mo., where Ron Wheeler was born. He graduated with a B.A. degree from Dallas Christian College in 1976 and with a Bachelor of Theology Degree in 1978.

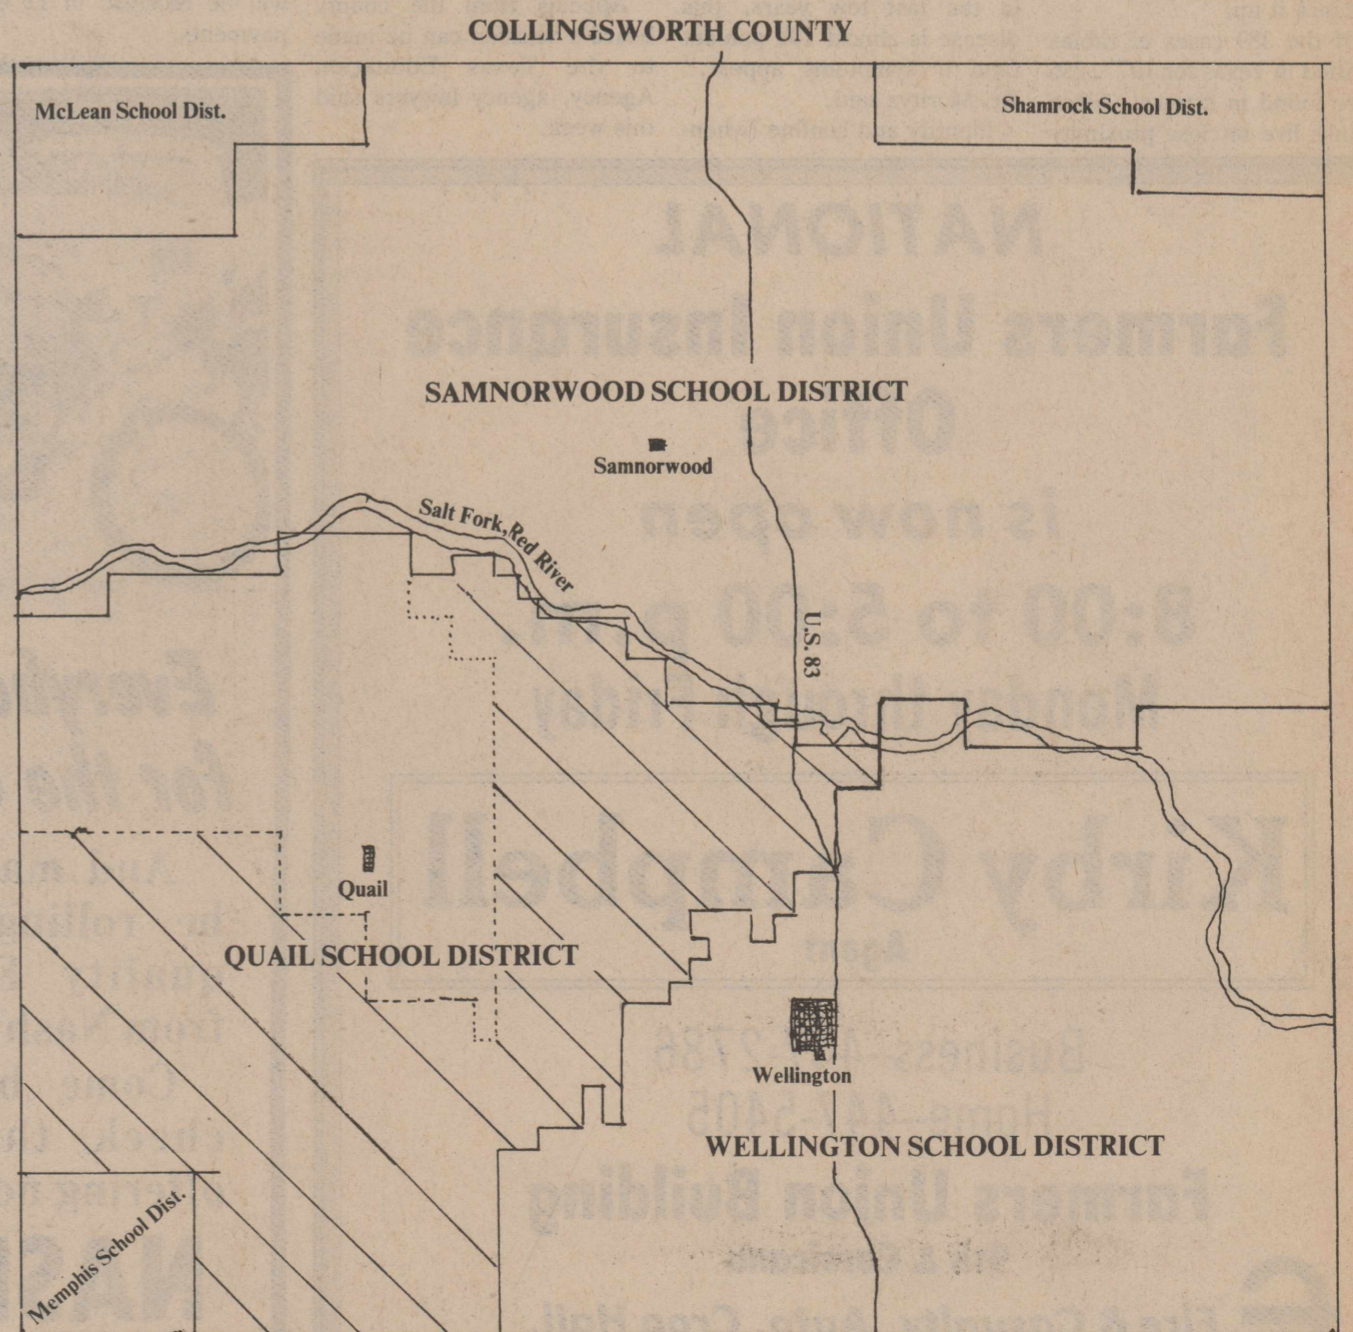

He was active in athletics, and he was twice winner of a conference chess championship.

Wheeler is married to the former Valerie Graw of San Antonio, who he met while both were in Dallas Christian College. They have a two-year-old daughter.

The new minister has as his hobby hand-painting miniature soldiers, which he markets through a speciality store in Dallas. These tiny lead soldiers, some mounted, some on foot, are made available to him by the store. He finishes and then paints them. While doing this work commercially, he has also built his own "army" of more than 1,000 pieces.

Quail Group to Ask Portion of School District be Annexed to Wellington ISD

PROPOSED ANNEXATION OF QUAIL SCHOOL TERRITORY

The slashed area of the map indicates the territory of Quail Independent School District that a group of petitioners will seek to have detached from the Quail district and annexed to Wellington Independent School District. The area includes approximately 61% of the Quail district's assessed valuations, spokesmen for the petitioners said.

ENOUGH TO GET YOUR FEET WET

"Why are you sitting out here in the rain?" "We like it." Enough explanation for Collingsworth County's first amount of moisture large enough to call "a rain" since early June. Sunday's showers dropped up to 1 1/2 inches water on a strip south of Wellington, but most of the county recorded less than half an inch. Dennis II, left, and Douglas Cudd are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cudd.

Skunk at Dodson Found to Be Rabid

On August 22 a Dodson family found their three dogs and a skunk fighting in the front yard. The skunk was destroyed and its head was shipped to the Texas Department of Health Laboratory, where it was found to be positive for rabies. Because the family's dogs had never been vaccinated, they had to be destroyed. A three year old boy was given six (6) anti-rabies shots before it was determined that he had not been exposed to the skunk.

In the past two (2) years, Collingsworth County has reported seven rabid skunks to the Texas Department of Health. This represents one-half of all the skunk rabies reported for the upper twenty-five counties of the Panhandle during this period. According to Dr. Henry C. Moriz, regional director of the Texas Department of Health, said while in Wellington Tuesday, Sept. 5, that any time an animal which is suspected of rabies is killed, its head should be removed and kept cool, the Department of Health notified, and some member of the regional staff will pick it up.

Of the 389 cases of rabies verified in Texas for 1977, 256 were found in skunks. Since skunks live in close proximity to man-particularly in rural areas and small towns-there is always the chance that a pet and rabid skunk will make contact.

Rabies is possible in any warm blooded animal, and all wildlife should be left alone, especially skunks, bats, foxes, and raccoons during daylight hours since these animals are more prone to be moving during the hours of dusk till dawn. Normally these animals are shy and avoid human contact; therefore, if a wild animal is friendly or overly aggressive, it should be left alone or handled with care by an adult.

"It is important that a local animal control program with leash laws be enforced to eliminate stray dogs and cats. Everyone should have dogs and cats vaccinated for rabies once a year. Domestic pets on farms and ranches are especially vulnerable to rabies from wildlife. By vaccinating pets and breaking the wildlife-to pet-to human chain of contact, the chances of a human case of rabies are lessened. Although human cases of rabies have been rare in the last few years, this disease is almost 100 percent fatal if symptoms appear," Dr. Moritz said.

Identify and confine (whenever possible) the biting animal for observation by a licensed veterinarian and/or later laboratory examination. If the head of the animal is not damaged a licensed veterinarian can package and ship them to the Texas Department of Health Laboratory for examination of the brain for rabies.

Wash the wound thoroughly with soap and water as an immediate first-aid procedure.

A physician must be consulted as soon as possible concerning the advisability of anti-rabies treatment, he emphasized. Anti-rabies meet the student/assessed value ratio prescribed.

The law also provides that no school district may be reduced to an area of less than nine square miles.

If a majority of the qualified voters of the area sign the petition, then it will be presented to the county school board composed of Sam Carter, Tom Cunningham, Johnny Carson, Z.J. Neeley and Walter Camp who will decide the matter.

Appeals from the county board's decision can be made to the Texas Education Agency, agency lawyers said this week.

treatment consists of administration of Human rabies immune globulin, if available, and twenty-one doses of anti-rabies vaccine given either as one dose daily for twenty-one days or two doses daily for seven days and one dose daily for seven days.

#4 -continued from page 1 to $98,000 ($49,000 each) the amount the city and county will have to pay.

Settle said the grant money should begin arriving in November, and all that remains to be done is the standard paper work.

Settle, who prepared the budget proposed by the Sheriff's Department, and which was the one the commissioners and city council adopted, explained that this will be the fourth year that law enforcement here has been under the city-county program.

Funding from CJD was set up on a diminishing scale, and the $17,315.60 grant this year represents 40 percent of the original grant. Next year's grant should be 20 percent of the first year's grant. Funds will be received in 12 equal payments.

terrapins this week and there will be an ample supply for anyone who wants to buy one and enter the race.

The annual pet and small animal show will begin at 11:00 a.m. at the livestock show barn between 7th and 3th Streets on Amarillo.

Any child in the area may enter a pet or small animal, provided it is not a snake or an animal that is dangerous. The horse show will start at 2:00 p.m. This will be a halter class only, and horses may be either grade or registered. Moseley requested that owners not bring their stallions.

Changes will be noted in the arrangement of exhibits in the community center. Moseley said there will be commercial and organization booths as well as those containing fair entries.

Fair exhibits to be visited in the community building include:

- Agricultural products.
- Women's open division.
- Girls Division.
- Art exhibit.
- Flower show.
- Craft and hobby show.

All entries in the community building must remain in place until 5:00 p.m. After that time those wanting to sell entries, may do so.

Lite-a-Bike For Bicycles In Parade

Bicycles participating in the Collingsworth County Fair parade will receive Lite-a-Bike reflector tape, as a part of the Veterans of Foreign Wars bicycle safety program.

Jim Larned and Bill Anders, who head the VFW youth activities program, are in charge of the Lite-a-Bike campaign, which has as its goal placing reflector tape on every bicycle in the county.

This campaign is tied in with the opening of school,

It is for adults with bicycles as well as children and youths, Anders and Larned pointed out.

Anders also has a tape at East Side Welding on Highway 83 and he said those needing it may contact him.

Drive, Enthusiasm Necessary For Library, Friends Told

"Don't get discouraged in your search for library funds. We were turned down 32 times before we received our first grant from a foundation,"

Mrs. Morris Higley, president of the Childress Library Board, told a group from Friends of the Library in their meeting Thursday, August 31.

Because a group of Childress citizens would not become discouraged, their town now has one of the finer libraries of the Panhandle. It receives annual funding of $11,000 from the county and city.

Mrs. Higley was chairman of the library building committee.

Five of these women, devoted to the goal of providing their town with a new library, filled an evening with down-to-earth advice to the Wellington group, which is struggling to get its organization off the ground. Mrs. Morris Higley was spokesman on the library funding and Mrs. Glen Stiner on work of Childress Friends of the Library.

A new library building is in the long-range plans of the Wellington supporters, who requested early information on Childress' successful program.

"We were told it would take 20 years to build a library. It took us 18 months," Mrs. Higley said.

The first step should be the selection of an attorney to advise on all legal matters.

A library board should be appointed without delay. It has been around 20 years since the Collingsworth County Library has had a library board.

Interest, enthusiasm, drive and a feeling that "this must be done" are necessary the Wellington group was told.

The Childress Library board did not seek federal funding to build their library.

Applications were made to private foundations in many parts of the United States.

Their first success and 33rd request, was a matching grant of $25,000 from the Moody

Foundation of Galveston. A second grant of $7,500 was received from Houston Endowment, Houston. The remaining money was raised from present and former residents of Childress County.

Other Childress women participating in the discussion with Mrs. Higley and Mrs. Steiner were Mrs. Jack Fox, Mrs. Ivy Ross and Mrs.

Moore.

They emphasized the need for fiscal responsibility and discussed the many sources tapped in their fund raising drive.

They are in support of Wellington's interest, and volunteered their assistance in working with Wellington library supporters on future plans.

Firemen, Officials Due In Water Polo Contests

A new event for this year's Collingsworth County Fair will be the water polo games to be played on both a lighthearted and serious level.

They are sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department. Starting at 2:30 p.m., Sat. Sept. 9, they will be on the southside of the court house square.

First, Mayor Bill Hatch and County Judge Zook Thomas, each manning a fire hose, will attempt to use a stream of water under pressure to force a suspended ball into the other's end of the court.

City Council members and members of the commissioners court are due to square off in the next competition. Neither body had made much comment on the contest early this week.

The most experienced man on either side would be Councilman Wayne Cudd, a former fire department member, and he is out of town on business.

In the serious portion of the competition, water polo and pumper teams from Memphis and Shamrock Volunteer Fire Departments will be here to compete with Wellington teams in a three-way meet, according to Mrs. Danny Gray of the Wellington Auxiliary.

The next part of the competition will feature teams from the Wellington and Shamrock Auxiliaries meeting in a pumper race and water polo.

"This is an opportunity for the people of Wellington to see the men who protect their homes and businesses, and at the same time watch competition that is lots of entertainment," said Mrs. Gray.

Women from the two auxiliaries will also show a skill at using fire hose and getting pumpers ready for operation that will astonish many. Awards will go to first place winners in each event.

Mrs. Gray urges the public to bring lawn chairs and sit on the court house lawn.

Ice cream and other refreshments will be on sale.

Also on display at the races will be the new fire truck which arrived recently for the volunteer department. It features the latest in fire-fighting equipment and is in the new colors which are going into use nationally, Lime Green.

In contrast, the old LaFrance fire truck, now past its 50th birthday, is due to be on display, so that people may see the truck that was the pride of the Wellington department in the late 1920s.

Hospital Board Asks Loan

Collingsworth General Hospital board voted unanimously Tuesday, Sept. 5, in a special meeting to authorize acting administrator Anne Langford to borrow up to $27,000 to meet the hospital's expenses through September 30.

The board already has borrowed $66,500 in several loans over the past few months to meet the hospital's operating deficit.

The board postponed hiring an ambulance driver/maintenance supervisor until a later date. The slot has been vacant since July 31 and volunteers from the Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance Service have been providing all daytime ambulance service in the county.

Attorney Charles Darter reviewed for the board the law which organized the hospital district and funding provisions of the law. Under the law, the hospital district must use county valuations of property and cannot raise the tax rate above $.75 per $100 valuation. The current hospital tax rate is $.70 per $100 valuation.

The board also asked Mrs. Langford to explore the possibility of floating more bonds to pay for physical plant improvements required by federal regulations.

In other action the board voted unanimously to transfer certain equipment which the hospital owns in Dr. Perez

Wills Biographer Emcees County Music Festival

Bob Wills and his Country Playboys made music for many dances in Wellington in the late 1940's and early 1950's, when the Community Building boasted of the best dance floor in the Panhandle.

Wills memory will be warm Saturday, September 9, when his biographer Dr. Charles R. Townsend of Canyon is a master of ceremonies at the All-American Country Music Show in the same room where Wills played.

The festival is a part of the Collingsworth County Fair, starting at 10:00 a.m. Saturday and continuing until about 8:30 in the evening.

Musicians will be on-stage in the big auditorium, and there will be chairs for the audience throughout the day, according to John Alf Thomas, who will share emcee duties with Dr. Townsend.

Thomas and another Wellington country-western musician, Jerry Manuel, are producing the festival.

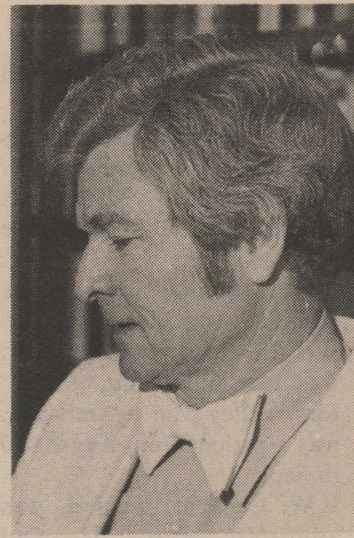

Not only has Dr. Townsend written what is considered the best biography yet about Wills, he was honored by the Country music world with a Grammy for the liners written for the album, "Bob Wills for the Last Time."

Equally at home in the world of country music as in the college classroom, Dr. Townsend caught the feeling of Wills music in "San Antonio Rose, the Life and Music of Bob Wills." It went to the top of the southwestern best seller list. He won recognition from many sources.

Dr. Townsend will present Thomas with an autographed copy of the book at the beginning of the festival.

He will also have copies of his book for sale and he will number and autograph these for the purchasers.

There is another facet to this versatile instructor. He has been a rodeo announcer for 31 years.

DR. TOWNSEND

Born and reared at Nocona, he received Bachelor's degree from Midwestern University, Wichita Falls and his Master's from Baylor, then went on to the University of Wisconsin for his Ph. D.

He joined the history department at WTSU in 1967. Thomas this week announced the program for the country music festival.

The Wheeler County quartet will appear from 10:15 a.m. until 10:45, to be followed by the Laster Family Gospel Singers of Maude, Okla.

The Mark Williams show will be featured from 11:15 to 12:15. Williams was a professional musician in Houston until he lost a finger and had to look toward another career. He is presently with the ASCS staff in Memphis.

John Thomas and the Texas Three will be on stage from 12:15 to 1:00 p.m., when the David House Show begins its one-hour program. House, who records out Lubbock, has the No. 1 song in South Texas, "Everything's All Right," composed by Jerry Manuel.

The Texas Jam Session will be on from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

Continuing the afternoon program, Beverly Neeley and her daughter, Raquel will be presented at 4:15; Jackie Wilderson at 4:45 and the Lighthouse Quartet at 5:00 and the Childress quartet at 5:30.

The Laster Family Singers will return at 6:00 and Mark

Williams at 6:30. Closing the festival will be the David House Show from 7:30 until 8:30.

Guests of Mrs. Joe Thompson over the weekend were her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Dickey of Dimmitt. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fulcher were in Arlington last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Roy Fulcher and family. Young children by the age of two need other children, not just to have fun, but to learn how to get along.

JUNIOR QUILT

The Wellington High School junior class will give away an original design quilt at the Electra football game, Oct. 6. The quilt, which features WHS motifs, was made by junior class mothers this summer. Donations are being accepted by all class members. The quilt will be on display at Saied's Department Store until fair time when it will be moved to the Community Building. A happy note for weary ticket buyers: if the class makes enough money on this project it won't have to have another one to finance the junior-senior banquet.

There are said to be two million comets in the solar system.

COLORFUL DAFFODILS come in many sizes and shapes from the familiar yellow trumpets to the small-cupped bicolors.

The Daffodil--a Garden Flower of Different Names

If daffodils are your favorite heralds of spring you should be aware of two facts.

First, daffodils are sometimes called jonquils or narcissus, but botanically they are all members of the Narcissus family.

Second, regardless of what you call them, they are not all yellow with trumpet-shaped cups. A vast number of daffodils have white, pink, lime, orange and even bicolor flowers.

Others, popularly called double daffodils, have row upon row of petals forming flowers that resemble roses in full bloom. Regardless of their shape or color, they are all remarkably easy to grow.

There are close to ten thousand varieties of daffodils. Here is a list of the major categories:

Nine out of ten gardeners grow the trumpet daffodil, characterized by its long cup. Bicolor options include "Goblet," "Magnet," and "Music Hall," all of which are white with yellow trumpets.

Large-cupped daffodils have shorter cups than the trumpet types, but they are still long in relation to the petals.

A two-toned white variety is a subtle beauty called "Ice Follies." "Mrs. R.O. Backhouse" has white petals setting off an apricot-pink cup.

Small-cupped daffodils have cups less than one-third the length of the petals. "Barrett Browning" is white with an orange-red cup. The colorful "Birna" has yellow petals and a rich red cup.

The double daffodils are among the most spectacular of all, with two or more rows of petals, often in contrasting colors.

"Texas," a double delight, features yellow petals with an orange center. "Mary Copeland" has creamy white petals with a bicolored--yellow and red--orange--center.

Use them in borders beds or rock gardens, and to flank driveways, sidewalks and paths.

Naturalize them in clumps of 15 to 25 on the lawn, under shrubs, around trees, or beside gates, posts, or doorsteps.

Apples Add Vitamins

COLLEGE STATION--Apples--with only 70 calories--supply needed vitamins and minerals plus fiber, an important contribution for its cleaning effect on teeth and gums.

In addition, it's hard to beat the firmness and natural sweetness of a fresh apple, says Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For a quick and easy dessert, peel and core one apple for each serving, she suggests.

Or, slice the apples into about 10 pieces each and place in a saucepan with enough water to cover the bottom of the pan.

Next, sprinkle with one tablespoon brown sugar and one tablespoon raisins for each apple.

Then, add a sprinkle of cinnamon and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes.

Group Attends Mangum Induction

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Selman of Oklahoma City. They taught together at Arnett a number of years ago.

On Monday, the couples attended the ceremony inducting new members into the Hall of Fame of the Old Greer County Museum and Hall of Fame, Inc., at Mangum.

Of the six, two were close friends of the Davises;

Selms, the late J.T. Hurst, Sr., and the late Elmo B. Hurst.

At Centralvue near Mangum, J.T. Hurst was a school trustee when Davis was a teacher, and he and Elmo Hurst taught together in Western Oklahoma Schools.

Mrs. Elmo Hurst represented the family at the induction.

The Hall of Fame honors each of its inductees with a stone marker bearing an engraved picture of the individual, along with pertinent information concerning him.

To save water, install a flow restrictor in the shower.

This device limits the flow to four gallons per minute—plenty adequate for showering, says Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Many parents find it difficult to balance reasonable freedom for growth with the necessary firmness which give support to teenagers, says Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Party Honors Ople White

Ople White of Quail was honored with a birthday party held Saturday, September 2, in the home of a son, Mr. and Mrs. Donald White in Clarendon.

Members of the family gathered in the backyard where they were served a barbecue supper, which ended with birthday cake and homemade ice cream.

During the evening, games were played, pictures made and afterwards there was visiting.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott, Sandra and Steve of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watson, Angela and Audie; Mr. and Mrs. Ople White and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Donald White, Randy and Bret, of Clarendon.

Save energy by thawing foods before cooking—when practical, suggests Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Personal

Miss Lisa Bowden visited her mother, Mrs. Patricia Bowden, and her grandfather, Willie Smith, last week. Mrs. Bowden took Lisa to Lubbock later in the week to enroll in Texas Tech, where she will major in horticulture. They then spent a few days in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, and Mrs. Bowden returned home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crone and Sharon of Martin were guests of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Myrick over the Labor Day weekend.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. A.V. Lowrie recently included Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Lowrie of Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Nelman Gunstream of Temple City, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Knight and Children, Jay, Stephanie, and Jeffrey of Quana.

Mrs. Edith Tramel of Ft. Worth visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tramel and Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Seale over the weekend.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe Horn of Plainview were overnight guests Monday of his father, Roy Horn.

The Fault of Many

The Perryton school system will spend approximately $2,000 per student during the coming school term and a lot of parents apparently think that this should get the job done. Truth of the matter is that the schools cannot educate children, no matter how large their budget, unless they get a lot of cooperation and help from parents. It is too much to expect of a school system and yet for too many years the schools have been given that responsibility. There are a lot of reasons why young people are coming out of school more or less uneducated these days. The blame must be placed upon the schools, of course, but also upon parents, the school board, the teachers, the federal government, our society in general and finally upon the kids themselves. Because there are so many causes, there is no one single solution. Yet all of the evidence points unmistakably toward a decline in the quality of education as evidenced in the qualifications of those emerging from our schools. All of us have a stake in it and all of us ought to become concerned about it.

Harold Hudson in The Perryton Herald

Where Were You?

Well, damnit, you didn't show up at the public hearing on the 1978-79 school budget Thursday night.

You were expected.

For your convenience, the Board of Trustees moved the meeting to the Lamar School cafeteria so there would be plenty of room.

And was that a wasted effort?

Only two showed up and I was one of those.

And there was another wasted effort.

Since there has been some criticism of the Board lately, it was thought that there would be a crowd.

Fifty extra copies of the budget were printed for you.

Now this is the Board where there were rumors that you were going to circulate petitions to replace the entire group only a few weeks ago.

This is the Board that is handling a business with a budget of nearly a million and a half dollars.

I'm not saying that you would disagree with the Board and it's actions but this certainly is the place you should voice your disagreements and not in a public place over a cup of coffee or whatever you are on at the time.

Of course, the plan to recall the Board in an election might have run into a stumbling block when several members said that they wanted to sign the petitions, if ever circulated.

Morris Higley in The Childress Index

Too Much Protection

Is it possible that 8 to 11 percent of the retail price of ground beef is directly attributable to the impact of 200 legal statutes, 41,000 regulations and 111,000 percent-setting court cases on production and distribution?

Not only possible, it's a fact, claims Consumer Alert Council, which quotes the figures from a National Science Foundation study. The organization is pressing for reduced government involvement in the marketplace in cases where such involvement causes a needless burden on the buying public and the business community. The organization also plans to support regulation when it is essential to health, welfare or safety of Americans.

"The American consumer . . . is the victim of government policy which denies the public its inherent right to free choice in the marketplace in the name of public health and safety," says Barbara Keating, chairman of the consumer group.

Keating is presenting a symposium at Texas Tech, Lubbock, on Sept. 22 on overregulation in the beef industry. The meeting is sponsored by the school and six livestock and ranching-related organizations, including Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers and Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers associations. It should be enlightening. If consumer groups push hard enough, perhaps Congress one day will listen.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texans will be voting on nine constitutional amendments November 7—including the tax relief proposal advanced in special session last month to the general election ballot.

The amendments, in order, include:

—The tax relief measures—broadened exemptions and special assessment of farm lands.

—Direction for state buyers to consider purchasing products from the handicapped where available.

—Authority for cities and counties to issue industrial development bonds.

—Provision for tax increment financing of urban renewal.

—Property tax exemptions for solar and wind-powered energy devices.

—An increase in civil case jurisdiction of justice of the peace courts from $200 maximum controversies to those involving $500, with the legislature empowered to increase the limit to $1,000.

—Provision for adding more judges to the 14 three-judge state courts of civil appeals.

—Abolishing the State Building Commission and building fund.

—Permission for water districts to furnish fire-fighting services and issue bonds to finance them where voters approve by a two-thirds majority.

Campaigns already are shaping up on the tax relief measure. Gov. Dolph Briscoe is urging support. Texas United Labor Legislative Committee is opposing the amendment as of small benefit to small taxpayers.

Port Files

Texas Deepwater Port Authority has filed its plan to build an offshore oil terminal with Transportation Secretary Brock Adams in Washington.

The $800 million superport would be constructed 26 miles offshore from Freeport in Brazoria County. More than $1 billion in revenue bonds would finance the project. First sale would begin in January 1980.

Oil companies will be called on to sign user agreements to offload oil from giant tankers through the facility.

The application is about the same as that filed earlier by Seadock, Inc., a consortium of oil companies. Seadock's application was withdrawn after red tape connected with the application left only a handful of sponsors ready to assume the financial risk. The major change in the new application is the provision for public ownership.

If approved and actually constructed, the Texas terminal—in 100 feet of water—probably will be the second in the nation. Another is planned near New Orleans. About 1.8 million barrels of oil arrive at Texas ports daily.

Gas Cut-off

LoVaca Gathering Company held a Capitol press conference to announce the company was about ready to cut off gas to the city of Pearsall unless past due bills are paid. LoVaca cut off Crystal City's supply of gas several months ago for lack of payment. Pearsall city officials asked for a Sept. 6 meeting to discuss the problem.

AG Opinions

A county judge's files of his congratulatory, birthday and sympathy letters to constituents is subject to the open meetings act, Attorney General John Hill said.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A special law under which Moore County Hospital District was established does not provide for a specific interval of time between annexation elections unless the elections are for the same purpose.

Express refusal to re-hire a teacher's aide before her current term of employment ended constitutes a break in employment for purposes of the nepotism statute making her ineligible for a two-year exception.

Divide Texas

A Central Texas senator says he will revive the plan to divide Texas into five states if the District of Columbia gets congressional representation.

Texas retained the right to split up into five separate states when it joined the Union in 1836.

"I just cannot believe that we should give full representation to the District of Columbia when 80 per cent of its residents are government employees," said Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

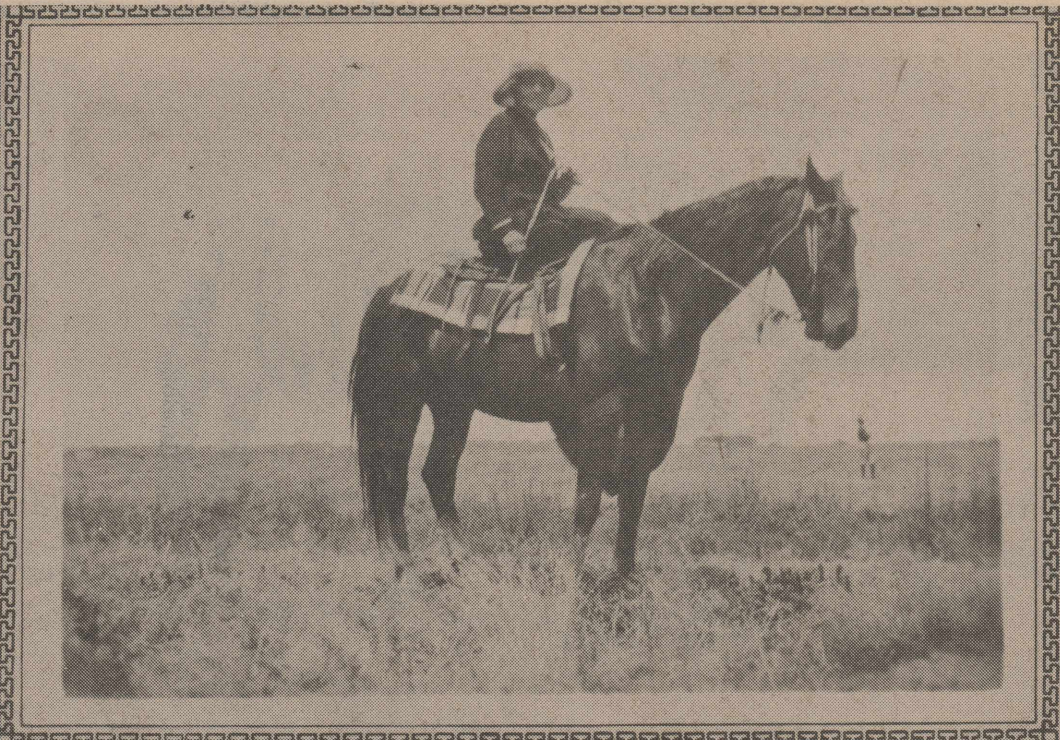

Kubiak sponsored legislation in 1973 to provide for the division. Other lawmakers, including the late Sen. V.E. "Red" Berry, offered it in the past.

"If we can so readily give representation to the small District of Columbia, then why not increase representation for the larger, populous states such as Texas?" asked Kubiak.

Sen. John Tower has opposed giving the District of Columbia congressional representation. Tower's opponent, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, supported the proposal.

SIDE SADDLE RANCH

Mrs. John P. (Rosie Estes) Yarbrough and her husband rode their matched horses in Wellington parades around the turn of the century. She filed on land, lived on the claim and raised a small herd of cattle while her husband "rode fence" for the Rocking Chair Ranch. Many people knew the homestead as the "Side Saddle Ranch." When the Rocking Chair sold to the Mill Iron, the Yarbroughs went into full-time ranching for themselves.

The Railroad Commission allowed Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Company to implement minor gas service rate increases in environs of 26 Northeast Texas cities. Meanwhile, a temporary gas service rate increase was ordered for customers of Lone Star Gas in Irving.

Attorney General Hill asked veto power for Texas over nuclear waste disposal sites in Texas and of transportation of the wastes through the state.

Vice President Walter Mondale joined Texas Democrats in paying tribute to retiring State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest at a $100-per-plate party fundraising dinner here.

A new committee has launched a study of the system for delivery of human services in Texas.

Eighteen applications for permits to sell nearly $14.2 million in securities in Texas were filed with the State Securities Board during the last two weeks.

Norwood Board Approves Tax Rate, Budget

Samnorwood School Board approved a budget of $278,619 for the '78-'79 school year and retained last year's tax rate of $1.27 per $100 valuation at special board meeting August 24.

Supt. Rex Peebles said the tax rate has remained the same since 1975. Before that, Peebles said, a small increase in county valuations enabled Samnorwood to drop its rate from $1.35 to $1.27.

The board also approved $1,000 for library supplies and $500 for a new library card catalog, set bus drivers' salaries at $125 per month plus 3 cents per mile and

Whaley to Address Retired Teachers

Foster Whaley, candidate for state representative from the 66th district, will speak at the opening meeting of the county unit, National Retired Teachers Association, Tuesday, September 12.

This will be a picnic meeting at Pioneer Park, beginning at 6:00 p.m., according to Mrs. Monty Mitchell, president.

Each member is asked to bring a guest, she said.

Whaley has visited Collingsworth County a number of times during his campaign for election to the post to be vacated by Rep. Cates of Shamrock on Jan. 1.

No candidate in recent years has conducted the handshaking campaign in Collingsworth that Whaley has carried out this summer.

NRTA is an organization of retired teachers, and any person who has at any time been a teacher or administrator is eligible to belong.

The county unit provides for both state and national affiliation and these in turn offer members a number of benefits which include insurance, travel, and reduced prices on certain services which may be had upon fulfilling certain qualifications.

Regular meetings of the retired teachers association are held on the second Tuesday of each month, and all retired teachers are invited. The place of the meetings will be announced later.

Tractor Started By Youngsters Demolished

Small children, probably two of them, probably started a tractor parked behind Ralph Owens Butane Monday night, Sept. 4. They jumped off when it began moving, but the driverless tractor crossed a street, went on to Owens parking lot and crashed into a butane transport truck, Chief Deputy Sheriff Jerry Settle reported Tuesday.

The motor continued to run after the collision. "The tractor kept plowing into the truck until it broke the entire

CORRECTION

In last week's story on the formula Quail School was using to revalue property, the value of one of the types of land is listed incorrectly due to front end of the tractor," Settle said.

He estimated it was completely demolished.

Ralph Owens was owner of the tractor and truck.

Footprints indicate that two rather young children were involved. Officers attempted to follow the tracks but lost them when the children walked onto pavement several blocks away.

a typographical error. Native and love grass land was valued at $67.50 per acre, not $167.50 per acre as reported last week.

The following names were omitted last week from the Pritchard Reunion, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pritchard of Shamrock and Gerald Ray and Mike of Wellington.

When you are away from home, leave your radio on. A radio uses little electricity and gives the impression that your house is occupied.

Old Settlers to Hold Reunion Fri.

Old Settlers of Collingsworth County will hold their annual meeting Friday, Sept. 8, in the Senior Citizens Center at 702 East Avenue.

Mrs. Stella Payne, secretary, said this will be a covered dish luncheon, and everyone attending should bring a dish.

Between 75 and 100 long-time county residents and their guests are due to attend.

A program will follow the luncheon, with the president,

Hugh Bledsoe, in charge.

Recognition will be given the oldest person present, the one who has lived in the county longest, the old settler who came the farthest to attend the reunion, and the one with the most grandchildren.

Officers will be elected.

There will be entertainment in the form of gospel singing and other music for as long as the old timers wish to remain and visit.

The reunion is held each year during the Collingsworth County Fair.

Johnson Family Meets at Austin

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. O.V. Johnson recently was their son, Jon Johnson, who teaches in the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

The three then went to Austin to join the Johnsons three sons who live in that city, Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Johnson and Katie, Barry Johnson and Dickie Johnson, a student at the University of Texas. Mrs. Jon Johnson, Beth and Amy, came from Alpine, where they had visited her family.

The Jamie Johnsons were guests of his parents here Friday night as they were en route to Canada.
