PRICE FIVE CENTS

BLAMES PIPE
LINE OUTFITS
FOR CONDITION

URGES COMPANIES BE FORCED TO BUY
RATABLY

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (P)—Governor James V. Allred severely condemned wastage of millions of cubic feet of gas daily in the Texas Panhandle and recommended immediate corrective legislation in a message, delivered personally, to the Texas legislature today.

Blame for the condition was placed by Governor Allred primarily on refusal of major pipe line companies to purchase gas ratably. Asserting "sound public policy demands that this atrocious waste be stopped and that our gas resources be conserved for useful purposes," Governor Allred recommended:

1. Legislation to effectuate conservation and elimination of physical waste within reasonable limitations to protect oil production.

2. Ratable withdrawal from all gas wells.

3. Limitations upon the right to produce natural gas from gas wells to compel producers, handlers or transporters of natural gas to apportion withdrawals from all gas wells in each field ratably under supervision of the railroad commission.

4. Investiture of the railroad commission with power to restrict production to prevent physical waste and to restrict the right to produce natural gas so as to impose ratable withdrawal of gas from the wells in each field.

5. To permit use of gas for any "beneficial" purpose.

6. Divorcement of gas pipe lines from producing, manufacturing and marketing branches of the natural gas industry.

The governor said he regarded pipe line divorcement as "essential to the remedy." He said small producers, denied a market outlet by pipe lines, "have been compelled to turn to the wasteful practice of stripping the natural gasoline for profit and turning the stripped gas into the open air. These pipe lines, selfishly refusing to purchase gas ratably, have left small independent producers with no outlet."

"It is reliably reported that in excess of a billion cubic feet of gas is daily wasted by being blown into the air in the Panhandle field," the governor stated. "It is also common knowledge that hundreds of millions of cubic feet of natural gas are daily being wasted into the air in other fields from gasoline stripping plants, the number of which will shortly multiply unless

Flight Record To New York Is Set By Andrews

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 21 (P)—Leland S. Andrews, in a single motorized monoplane, today set a new trans-continental transport record, covering the flight from Los Angeles to Floyd Bennett airport, New York, in an elapsed time of 11 hours, 21 minutes, and 1 second.

He checked 37 minutes and 59 seconds from the previous record, set by his brother-in-law, Major James R. Doolittle, on January 15, 1931, when he flew from Los Angeles to New York in a biplane.

The 42-year-old American aviator, pilot of the record, today set the fact that he landed and spent 14 minutes at Washington, D. C.

He was flying the same type of plane—a Vultee all-metal low-winged monoplane—as that used by Doolittle in his war-time biplane. In his record-breaking flight, the ship was powered by a 750-horse power motor.

Man Injured In Auto Accident

Wade Blacksten was taken to Pampa hospital in a Pampa Mortuary ambulance this morning following an automobile accident at an intersection southwest of Pampa. He received cuts and bruises and was in a dazed condition when taken to the hospital. His condition was not considered serious.

The injured man was riding in a car driven by Paul McMahon when it crashed with a car operated by G. M. McGarty of the Humble Oil & Refining company. Neither driver saw the other until it was too late to stop. It was said.

One car was going south and the other car east when the accident happened. Both cars were damaged.

Already under fire of an investigation, the nation's only woman prison warden, Mrs. George A. Waters, above, is expected to face a new inquiry after the break of 31 convicts from the Granite, Okla., state reformatory, in which she played a heroic role, facing gunfire of the fugitives who killed one guard.

TEXAN IS DEAD FOR 5 MINUTES AND THEN LIVES

Ex-Sheriff of Tyler
Brought to Life
By Adrenalin

TYLER, Feb. 21 (P)—Life that left him for five minutes yesterday slowly returned to 71-year-old W. A. Strang today—the work of adrenalin injected into a still dead body.

Dr. Howard Bryant, who revived the former Smith county sheriff five minutes after he had folded his hands in "death," said his chances for complete recovery were "good."

Strang weakened slightly early today as he lay in an oxygen tent—his watch beside him—but attendants still hoped for recovery.

Dr. Bryant, who termed the case "extremely rare," said Strang came to his office yesterday, apparently suffering from coronary occlusion. "His breathing was difficult—he was unable to speak and I had to diagnose his condition from examination alone. His pulse was thready and very weak."

"He was placed on an examining table and his head raised to a semi-sitting position. He was given stimulants but his condition became worse. He stopped breathing and his heart stopped."

"I told his wife he was dead and she called an undertaker."

Dr. Bryant, upon the man's hands together and covered him until the undertaker arrived.

"I went back in a few minutes and decided to try adrenalin," said Dr. Bryant. "The adrenalin was injected through the chest wall into his heart through a spinal puncture needle."

"His heart began to beat. He began to breathe lightly. His oxygen was forced into his lungs from a gas machine. His color picked up and soon he appeared to be much better. He apparently had a typical attack of coronary occlusion."

Ten hours later the patient appeared normal. Dr. Bryant said. His pulse was of good volume and his chest was clear except for a few moist rales at the base.

Dr. Bryant was reluctant to discuss the case and would not compare it to a similar case reported recently in England, where a man "died," was revived and told of his vision of the hereafter.

Strang, upon revival, weakly said: "I was sure gone that time, doctor. I don't know how you did it."

Then he asked for his watch. He has not talked since.

Royal Arch Masons Plan For Chapter

Plans for securing a charter for a Pampa chapter of Royal Arch Masons and a council of Royal Select Masters were perfected at a meeting in the Masonic temple last night.

A group of local Masons will visit in Miami tomorrow night, when the Miami chapter will be petitioned for a recommendation to the Grand chapter of Texas for a charter for the new organization.

At the meeting last night temporary officers named for the chapter were: O. A. Davis, most excellent high priest; L. P. Yoder, excellent king; L. E. Thompson, excellent scribe.

Temporary officers for the council are: W. W. Simmons, thrice ill-lustrious master; E. M. Bradley, right illustrious scribe; L. P. Yoder, illustrious principal conductor of work.

Condition of Mrs. De Les Vicens was improved this morning after a restful night. Pampa hospital attendants reported.

ARKANSAS ON A SEARCH FOR ALLEGED REDS

OPPRESSION CHARGED BY RENTERS AND LABORERS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 21 (P)—Economic unrest, hobbing up in widely separated sections of a conservative Arkansas, has sent this state's legislature on a quest for communistic activities.

In eastern border counties, sharecroppers organize, charge their landlords with unlawful evictions and unsatisfactory crop settlements. On the far western line, demonstrations against pay cut on relief jobs prompt a week's suspension of all relief in one county, throw 3,600 farmers and miners out of work, threaten relief elsewhere.

Two men, leaders in the movements, are convicted of anarchy. Others are charged with barratry—the continued inciting of a dispute.

A bill to make possession of seditious literature a felony is rushed through the house of representatives.

The legislature wants to find out what it is all about.

"It is oppression," say the leaders of the tenant-union movement and the standard bearers of the agitation for higher pay on relief work. "It is the abrogation of free speech and free assembly."

"All this trouble is traceable to outsiders, professional trouble-makers," say the tenant-plantation owners, relief officials and many local authorities.

First legislative action was creation last week of an investigating committee to inquire into the teachings and personnel of commonwealth labor college, near Mena, in western Arkansas.

Actually, the committee has been told to find out if these economic upheavals in Arkansas are internal growing pains or the external evidence of a much broader thing.

One member of the investigating committee already has disclosed plans for asking congressional action.

"It is my opinion that Commonwealth is not only teaches communism and radicalism but fosters it," said Rep. J. O. E. Bevk of Crittenden.

Smiling, suave 28-year-old Lucien Koch, director of the school, replied: "Every activity at Commonwealth is covered by the bill of rights. If you close Commonwealth, it will mark the death of civil liberties in the South."

Legislative attention was focused on Commonwealth because Koch and others connected with the school played prominent roles in both the eastern Arkansas sharecropper disputes and the western Arkansas relief strike agitation.

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 21 (P)—Dr. John Franklin Gorrell, father of the slain John Gorrell, collapsed in his hotel room here this afternoon. "I see my son," the doctor cried time and again, as Mrs. Gorrell, herself in tears, sought to quiet him.

HOUSTON, Feb. 21 (P)—Zell Eaton, medalist, and Reynolds Smith and Gus Morland, all favorites, breezed through their 18-hole matches in the first round of match play this morning in the Houston invitation tournament.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (P)—Rexford G. Tugwell is considering resigning as undersecretary of agriculture, but possibly may take another government post.

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 21 (P)—The state closed its arguments in the Phil Kennamer murder trial today with a dramatic plea that the life of the federal judge's son be executed "just as Phil Kennamer shot and killed John Gorrell in Tulsa last Thanksgiving night."

Unexpected in view of other prosecutors' demands for imprisonment, his plea created a sensation in the court room.

As the jury filed out of the court room to begin its deliberations, Kennamer, tall, dark-haired, turned and smiled nervously at his sister, Opal, in the first row of spectators, Virginia Wilson, the Tulsa beauty, for love of whom Kennamer swore he killed, was not present.

"If you send that boy to the penitentiary at McAlester his father will start trying to get him out the minute he is behind the walls," Gilmer said.

"I don't blame him, that's what I would do so I am asking you to send him down there and rub him out."

"Killer, kidnaper, Kennamer—there he is," Gilmer shouted, pointing toward the youth whose self-possession has not deserted him during the entire trial.

"If you turn him loose he is our

NAZIS 'HUNGRY FOR WAR,' SAYS RUSSIAN PRESS

English, Germans and Japs Jibed in Newspapers

MOSCOW, Feb. 21 (P)—The official organs of soviet opinion today braided Germany today with accusations of plans for aggression in both eastern and central Europe.

On the heels of the approval of the London agreements extended by Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, on the condition they are made effective in their entirety, the authoritative press pictured the nazis as hungry for war under the disguise of "diplomatic chattering."

General display was given charges by the Czechoslovakian newspaper Narodni Politika that Japan, Germany and Poland were preparing for war against the soviet union. The influential Pravda and Izvestia, however, concentrated their attacks on Germany with incidental jibes at England.

"German fascism," said Pravda, "is getting ready to occupy east and central Europe in order to prepare for war on the western front. That is why it is against the east—eastern pacifism and mutual assistance."

Further, it is trying with English help to destroy Franco-Soviet cooperation. The English bourgeoisie must take into account that the mass of English toilers does not want war and does not approve of encouraging the adventurist plans of German fascism.

"The English government has taken to complicated maneuvers, but is now faced by the general conclusion that it is necessary to accelerate the completion of regional pacts, above all the eastern pact, and that it is up to the English ruling circles to promote this end."

Soviet Russia has lined with France and Great Britain in an effort to obtain from Germany unqualified adherence to the principles of the London agreements.

Russia's views were contained in messages sent by Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, to the French and British governments and made public last night.

The communications explicitly set forth that soviet support for the London program is conditioned by insistence that it shall be carried out in full.

This attitude conforms exactly with that taken by both Great

Master Masons to Hear Dr. Caldwell
In Speech Tonight

Decision to limit the address of Dr. A. J. Caldwell to Master Masons and their families was announced today as changes were made in the arrangements for welcoming the Amarillo man tonight.

Dr. Caldwell will speak at the city auditorium at 7:30 o'clock on a George Washington theme. Washington was a Master Mason.

Dr. Caldwell also was to speak at the Lions luncheon today.

BACK FROM AUSTIN
R. G. Allen and Gene Green returned yesterday afternoon from Austin where they attended an oil and gas hearing. They made the trip with Dee Graham in his large monoplane. A stop was made in Fort Worth where Mr. Allen transacted business.

ROADS WEST AND EAST OF CITY FAVORED

NO. 41 IS LIKELY TO BE FINISHED IN THIS COUNTY

Highway improvement east and west of Pampa is expected to be considerable this year, according to a survey made by the Board of City Development.

In a letter to the Board, Judge W. R. Ely of the state highway commission stated that in his opinion what is known as Oil Field Highway 41 would be completely paved this year from Pampa east to the Oklahoma line. This would mean the completion of 152 in eastern central Gray county and closing of the gap east of Wheeler.

In Wheeler county, the right-of-way has been purchased from the end of the paving 5 miles east of the town of Wheeler on to the Oklahoma line. An FERA project is being worked out for this gap, which is about 15 miles. In Oklahoma, the road has been graded and drained from Sayre to the Texas line and it is now being graded.

West of Pampa, the road to Borger on the same route is a principal difficulty now, for the lack of right-of-way. Assistance will be lent to Carson county in the securing of the right-of-way. Oil companies with properties west of Pampa are eager for the Pampa-Borger road to be completed. Some work has been done east from Borger, where grading was difficult.

The gap between Stinnett and Dumas remains one of the worst in the Oklahoma City-Denver short-cut route. From Dumas west to the Hartley county line, FERA workers are busy. The state is letting a contract for hard-surfacing from Hartley east toward Dumas to the county line. Indications are, therefore, that within a year or so the Dumas-Stinnett gap will be the principal one in this territory. State funds are limited, but the highway commission has shown a desire to cooperate with those counties which obtain the right-of-way.

Eventually, the route north from Dalhart may be shortened. Competition for the road is keen in Colorado, where its importance is realized.

PAIR BURNED IN GAS EXPLOSION; BLAZE PUT OUT

Men Drive To Local Hospital After Well Blast

Two men were taken to Worley hospital following a gas explosion at the Texas company's No. 5 Noel, 7 miles west of Pampa, early this morning. Neither of the men was seriously burned.

The explosion, cause unknown, ignited 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Paul Arnold and Dick Conley were on the floor of the derrick when the blast occurred. They were burned about the face and hands but were able to drive to the hospital. Their condition late this morning was reported satisfactory.

Fire destroyed the derrick but the engine and engine house escaped. The Pampa fire department left the station at 5 a. m. in answer to a call from the Texas company. Water and steam were hurled at the blazing well for some time before the blaze was snuffed out.

The local fire department has extinguished or assisted in extinguishing a number of oil well fires during the past year. Firemen strung 700 feet of hose this morning, getting water from a tank near the burning well. Texas company employees shot steam on the fire.

The well was drilling at 3,050 feet when the explosion occurred. Pay was topped yesterday. The well is being drilled by the Findley Drilling company.

The fire department was called to 114 West Foster avenue last night to extinguish a fire in a car.

I Heard . . .

Hollis Keys, back from a trip to California with Mrs. Keys and their son, James Gregory, telling about some of his hard luck. A number of flats were the least of his worries. He had one in the desert of New Mexico and as he got out of the car the wind, blowing worse than in this country, took his hat from his head. Hollis chased it a half mile and recovered it only after rolling around in the sand. He fixed the flat had another or two, and upon arrival in Roswell went to look at his watch and found it missing. He had apparently lost the watch while chasing his hat, which finally reached some mesquite and hung up.

Nearby American nations, viewing the tactics of Japan and Italy, ought to be thankful that they live near to dear old Uncle Sam, who is just too nice, or dumb, or something to annex all the weaker neighbors.

If Hauptmann were a typical German, perhaps the best sentence would be to condemn him to operate one of our dirigibles for life.

Folks seemed to enjoy a revival of old-time comic valentines. In fact, a little old-fashioned prosperity would likely be just as popular. We travel in cycles, not in a straight line.

That Kansas City girl, "fleeing from herself," had the right idea, opines the West Foster grouch, but the wrong technique. The best way to escape from self is to do services for others.

The Lubbock Journal found this ad in an Arkansas paper: "Anyone found near my henhouse at night will be found there next morning."

Musings of the moment: Times do change. Back in 1912, it was recalled at a recent Dalhart road meeting, our own C. H. Walker made a big speech at Amarillo in favor of better roads. He stirred up the folks, but some of them thought the then current ruts could not be improved upon—sort of guided the wagon wheels, you know. . . . Come to think of it, some of our drunken drivers might use ruts to advantage—we'd know where they were going.

Brevitorials

BIG THINGS are in the making for Pampa. Progress held back by the depression cannot be stayed much longer. Plans long made are beginning to materialize. As the B. C. D. spokesmen stressed at this week's banquet, now is the time to get organized for a general offensive against status quo. The command is "Forward." Naturally, it is going to take some sacrifices, some money, much time. These things, however, are the price of the fine Pampa that is. It would be highly illogical to assume that progress can be made of any other ingredients.

PAMPA'S NO. 1 optimist is Judge Ivy R. Duncan. Sometimes we refer to him as an "incurable optimist." We believe the judge is a good prophet. He has one failing—his timing of his predictions is sometimes unfortunate. Every year Judge Duncan figures out how to beat Amarillo in football beyond the slightest doubt. He doesn't miss it far, and we have a hunch that if he sticks by his guns this year he may be able to add greatly to his laurels. . . . In several recent speeches, Judge Duncan called for confidence in Pampa's future. He painted a picture so rosy that you can forgive him for believing it most sincerely. He thinks the oil reserves of this territory have

Stories in STAMPS

The TRENCH of BAYONETS

RAIN had drenched the fields along the Verdun sector, in the late spring of 1916, and the trenches were sodden with soft mud. . . . In one of these mucky holes waited a company of 100 French soldiers, bayonets fixed, ready to go over the top.

Suddenly the rain-soaked ground above caved in and buried the 100 soldiers alive. Only their bayonets remained sticking above ground.

Today this grim reminder of war is enclosed in a memorial, and the memory of this tragedy is perpetuated in France's charity issue of 1917-19, for the orphans of war.

WHAT JURIES THINK ABOUT

The juror who in a recent trial in 31st district court rose in his seat to ask whether he would be allowed to question witnesses was not speaking for himself alone. He was urged by other members of the jury to ask the question.

What this juror did was not important in itself and in that particular case. But it was indicative of the state of mind which in so many juries makes decisions difficult and opinions chaotic. Jurors often long for an opportunity to question witnesses in their own way, to brush back the maze of technicalities which hide the truth, and to have the time and opportunity to dig into the real facts of the various cases.

For there is far too little control over key witnesses in important cases, too little intensive research into the facts involved, too little provision for under cover work and preparation of evidence. Few peace officers are skilled in assembling evidence which will escape technical bans. The average district attorney has far too little time to study the evidence and to add to it. The district attorney is one man struggling with many cases and opposed by lawyers who through their firms and their connections are far better equipped to learn the truth and, indeed, to obscure it as is their province.

Such conditions lead to the remarkable picture of district attorneys frankly telling the juries that the whole truth has not been told, and pleading for verdicts on wholly inadequate evidence. Such conditions make juries dissatisfied with their own work and tend to lower the administration of justice to a point of dangerous public disdain.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Rumor, pesky little pup, has sunk its teeth into the pants of Donald Richberg and doesn't intend to let go.

I do not predict at this time that Mr. Richberg will be thrown to the sharks or that he will jump overboard voluntarily, though his appetite for punishment and martyrdom is so insatiable that he would just love to take that leap if convinced such sacrifice would aid his beloved chief, Mr. Roosevelt.

But Richberg's seat on the poop deck become increasingly uncomfortable. This rumor is a large, healthy, persistent rumor such as you can't kick off into a corner and tell it to be quiet.

Such rumors, involving a gent of top rank in the administration, are always carefully nourished by a fellow's worst enemies, who know, among other things, that constant repetition both disturbs a fellow's morale and encourages his other enemies to join the poison squad.

Sometimes, as is partly true in Richberg's case, a resignation rumor fits in with what seems the inevitable logic of a situation. This also makes the rumor thrive—and induces cagey newspaper correspondents to pay it heed.

Thus the Richberg rumor flourished almost miraculously after it was revealed that he had threatened the Saturday Evening Post with a libel suit in case General Johnson's articles were as nasty to him as he had been told they would be. Added to that are many tales of nervous irritability and sensitiveness to newspaper stories. The health of the "assistant president" is not any too good.

The other night, Mr. Richberg appeared with Chairman Clay Williams of the National Industrial Recovery Board to tell newspaper correspondents about the continuation of the automobile code. Soon he was bawling out competent newspapermen for their persistence in questions which would have revealed the fact that the NIRA had opposed the code agreement and that labor leaders hadn't been consulted about it.

Now the A. F. of L. is shrieking for Richberg's scalp. It's true that the A. F. of L. leaders are a sorry lot and that Roosevelt secretly shares Richberg's contempt for them.

But labor's political power is greater than its economic power and you can't ever tell when it will feel it's been kicked in the face once too often. Unions outside the A. F. of L. share the feeling against Richberg, even his old employers, the railroad unions. On top of that, liberal leaders—whom Roosevelt can't ignore—are siding with organized labor against Richberg, on the theory that his policies would deliver labor into the hands of industry and its company unions.

It is extremely unfair for labor leaders to brand Richberg as a "traitor to labor." When Richberg joined Johnson to build and operate NRA, he made it very plain to his friends that he was going to represent the president—not labor.

Richberg, as New Deal co-ordinator, probably has done as well as anyone could do at that impossible job. He has failed to give the National Emergency Council a staff worthy of the name and, although working like a horse, has succumbed to an apparent mania for speech-making.

Richberg has felt these speeches were vitally essential to the New Deal. But his friends, seeking to dissuade him, have told him he was nuts.

A lecturer told a New York audience that we already can feel the chill of another ice age, due in 20,000 years. But that may have been only Fay Webb and Rudy Vallee looking at each other as they came into court.

The reason the centenarian crop is so short has been discovered. A Chicago woman, 101, says nobody lives that long except by minding their own business.

Judging by the recent action of England and France, it seems that a clique of nations is running the League of Nations.

Great Britain soon is to have television broadcasting. The United States isn't ready yet to be disillusioned.

First man to die under Estonia's new execution law chose hanging to drinking the poison cup. He probably had had experience with a cocktail mixed by an amateur.

Now that the Hauptmann trial is over and the special writers have gone home, the large metropolitan newspapers again may become acquainted with their regular reporters.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

Gen. Sam Houston knew of the inward rebellion-taking place within his soldiers, but in spite of unfriendliness and disgust toward him, he followed his own plans, reaching San Felipe on the 27th. When he started his march up the river, it was all Baker and Martin could endure. Baker took 120 men and remained at San Felipe. Martin took his company and went below to guard the crossing at Fort Bend. When Houston and his men reached Groce's Ferry, they made their headquarters near the present town of Hempstead, until April 14. Captain Baker ordered the town of San Felipe burned March 29, in accordance with Houston's request, he always claimed. Secretary of War Rusk and Vice President of the Republic Zavala joined the army the first of April.

Meanwhile, the dreary rains continued. The Brazos bottom was a fright. Wherever the armies turned, they had bad roads and poor traveling facilities. Santa Anna was gathering his forces on the Brazos. When he reached San Felipe on April 7, and found the town deserted and Houston up the river, he erroneously decided that at last the Texans had come to their senses and left the way open for him. He sent word by his swiftest messengers to Urrea to continue on his route to Matagorda. He took about a thousand men, and one cannon, and set out to cross the Brazos. Captain Baker hindered his crossing at San Felipe, but Martin was not successful in preventing his passage at Fort Bend. Harrisburg was left in flames on the 16th as Santa Anna went down to New Washington on Galveston bay.

The wife of President Burnet and the officers' wives looked back toward their old homes as the boat they were in with President Burnet left Galveston bay. The Mexicans fast were approaching the bay. With surprising calm the women prepared to die at the hands of their pursuers. General Almonte and his company of soldiers were within firing distance of the Texans leaving on the boat. Order had been given to fire at will. Then Almonte saw the women, huddling close together in the boat. His men called him chicken-hearted when he revoked his order for firing. He was a soldier, yes, but he was a gentleman also. He would not have his record stained by having it said that he killed women. He might kill a thousand men, but he would not shoot one woman. With a gallantry worthy of sincere praise, he led his men away from the bay, leaving Burnet and the others to reach friends and safety.

The climax would be reached in another four days. It was inevitable. Houston and Santa Anna would clash and the battle would be a decisive one. The occasion, which was to result 100 years later in Texas' observance of its Centennial in 1936, was near at hand.

Girl Is Taken to Hospital in Plane

LUBBOCK, Feb. 21. (AP)—Although her condition was without appreciable change, 9-year-old Corralle Jones, a typhoid-pneumonia victim brought here from Lovington, N. M., by airplane last night, was resting satisfactorily this morning, attendants said.

Lamps of more than 75 automobiles made a ring about the Lovington airport and a bonfire flared up in the center to aid Art Chase, the pilot, of Lubbock in landing safely. A 20-mile tailwind helped speed the flight of mercy on the return leg.

The girl is the daughter of a rancher of near Lovington.

For Kidney and Bladder Trouble

Stop Getting Up Nights

Here's one good way to flush harmful waste from kidneys and stop bladder irritation that often causes nocturia, burning and smarting passage. Ask your druggist for a 3-cent box of Gold Medal Haerlem Oil Capsules—a splendid safe and harmless diuretic and stimulant for weak kidneys and irritated bladder. Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble are backaches, puffiness, leg cramps, and moist palms, but be sure to get GOLD MEDAL—the genuine medicine for weak kidneys—right from Haerlem in Holland. PAID USED TAX ON OIL ARGUED BY COMMITTEE

COMMITTEE NAMED TO DRAFT PANHANDLE GAS BILL

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Five members of the house revenue and taxation committee began consideration today of the question of how much, if any, the oil tax should be increased.

Three bills proposing higher levies were sent to the sub-group after a hearing at which independent producers warned that a tax increase might force the independents out of business, thereby turning the state's oil over to the major companies.

Bailey Hardy of Austin, representing the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas, C. P. McGaha of Wichita Falls, president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association, C. W. Hoffman of Pampa, representing the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, Edwood Fouts, Dan Harrison, Paul Kayser and H. F. Montgomery of Houston, and John Boyle of San Antonio were among the speakers.

They argued that oil already was bearing its share of the state's tax burden. Hardy cited figures to support an assertion that including the gasoline tax, the industry was paying 54 per cent of the taxes received by the state. Boyle suggested that the state place a substantial additional levy on natural gas before increasing the tax on oil.

The sub-committee appointed to "attempt to combine the best features of the three bills" consisted of Reps. Caldwell of Asherton, Bradbury of Abilene, Ferguson of Gilmer, and C. C. Platts and James of Cameron. One of the bills proposed that the production tax be increased from two to three cents a barrel, another called for graduated tax ranging from two to six cents, and the third proposed a four cent tax.

Race Hearing Delayed.
Bills to repeal the law permitting racing under the pari-mutuel system remained with committee. A senate committee held a hearing on the repeal proposal but voted 5 to 3 to postpone action until next Wednesday after Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth said he desired to prepare amendments.

Arguments before the senate committee were similar to previous ones before a house group. Proponents of repeal argued that race betting hurt the state both morally and economically while opponents contended betting at the tracks did no serious harm.

To Draft Gas Bill.
A house sub-committee set to work to formulate a bill to halt effectively wastage of natural gas, especially in the world's largest Panhandle field.

Members of the sub-committee of the house oil, gas, and mining committee appointed to draft the legislation were Reps. Sidney Latham of Longview, H. K. Stanfield of Amarillo, Albert G. Walker of Vernon, Hugh B. Stewart of Pampa, and Hollis Frazer of Franklin. The personnel of the committee was considered as fairly representing the views of both opposing factions in the Panhandle as well as public interest.

Texas automobile drivers would be licensed, but without cost or physical examination, by a bill recommended by the senate highways and motor traffic committee. It differed in many provisions with a bill approved by a house committee, by which an examination would be required for annual licenses.

Senator W. R. Poage of Waco advocated his bill as one which would establish the licensing principle in Texas and obtain major benefits without burdening car owners with a heavy cost. Under his plan, a license would continue until revoked.

A bill providing a statewide livestock law to prevent animals from roaming on highways also was approved by the committee. Many counties have obtained local laws to eliminate the motor traffic hazard. Owners of stock permitted to stray on highways would be subject to a fine up to $200.

Lump appropriations instead of rigid itemizations were proposed by Senator John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the finance committee, as means of either effecting economies or obtaining more service for expenditures.

Funds for institutions of higher learning would be allocated in one amount for annual periods, while those for departments would be budgeted in four main divisions. Heads of institutions or departments would prepare quarterly budgets and receive biennial allotments in eight installments.

Senator Redditt said he intended to couple with the lump sum plan a system for classifying employees, which he termed as in effect modified civil service. It would enable heads of departments to reward employees for merit within minimum and maximum salary scales, he said. The basis of compensation would be on responsibility and efficiency.

Meanwhile, the house appropriations and senate finance committees were at wide variance on proposed allotments for 1935 summer schools. The house approved a bill to appropriate $227,528, while the senate recommended $280,229, a sharp increase over $219,890 provided for sessions last summer.

FACEANT PLANNED.
PLANNING, Feb. 21. (Special)—Panhandle, which will have a Texas Centennial theme, will be one of the many attractive features of the 1935 convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce, which is to be held here, May 13, 14 and 15. This city, which boasts that it was the scene of the first "super-convention" of the chamber already is busy with plans to make this gathering in 1935 one of the most successful ever held.

INCOME TAXPAYERS IN LOWER EARNING BRACKETS TO PAY LESS THIS YEAR BUT MORE IN HIGHER BRACKETS

Reports Necessary Though
No Payments Due in Some Cases, Uncle Sam Says.

By ALEXANDER E. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—With lower taxes on small incomes and higher levies on large incomes and on estates, the 1935 battle with income returns is getting into full swing throughout the country.

Internal revenue officials say that thousands of taxpayers unfamiliar with the provisions of the revenue act passed by congress last spring, are expressing surprise that their taxes are lower than they were a year ago. Many are under the impression that they have made errors in computing their tax.

A major factor in the reduced levy on the small wage earner is the new allowance of 10 per cent credit on earned net income up to $14,000, with the provision that all income up to $3,000 be considered as "exempt." Another sizeable reduction is brought about by the substitution of a 4 per cent normal rate on all income as compared with the previous 4 per cent for the first $4,000 and 8 per cent of all income above $4,000.

Big Income Levy Increased.
Levies on big incomes are increased by larger surtaxes in the higher brackets and by the imposition of the surtax on "surtax net income" in excess of $4,000.

Despite the surtax increase, the married taxpayer with a net earned income up to and including $25,000 will pay less this year than he did in 1934.

For example, the married man with no dependents and having a net income of $5,000 will pay a tax of $8 this year as compared with $20 last year, or less than one-half as much. It is computed in this way: A 10 per cent allowance for earned income amounts to $500, which deducts a tax of $30 as compared with $270. Subtraction of the $250 exemption for married persons leaves a taxable income of $250, and 4 per cent of that amount is $8.

The married man with no dependents and a net earned income of $5,000 will pay a tax of $30 as compared with $100 a year ago. The man in the same status with an earned income of $25,000 pays $2,489 as compared with $2,520 in 1934.

Persons with earned incomes above $25,000 will pay a higher tax than they did last year although the increase is not relatively large.

The 10 per cent credit applies only to earned income, no allowance being granted for revenues derived from investments of various kinds.

Filing Returns Required.
Even if allowable deductions and exemptions remove a person from paying liability, the filing of returns is required of every single person who in 1934 had a net income of $1,000 or more or a gross income of $5,000, or of married couples who had a net income of $2,500 or more or a gross income of $5,000 or more.

The period for filing returns, which began on January 1, ends at midnight on Friday, March 15. Failure to receive a form does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file and pay the tax on time.

Decreases Shown.
The table below shows comparative tax liability under new and old laws of married man with no dependents, the decrease being due chiefly to 10 per cent credit on earned income and elimination of 8 per cent normal tax on income in excess of $4,000.

Earned Income	Tax Due This Year	Tax Last Year
$3,000	$ 8	$ 20
3,500	26	40
5,000	80	100
7,500	210	255
10,000	435	480
15,000	924	1,020
25,000	$2,489	$2,520

SOMEONE SHOULD KNOW
CHICAGO, (AP)—Mrs. Victoria Rurek appeared before Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort for an increase in support payments from her former husband, Stanley.

"How many children?" asked the judge.
"Three," said Mrs. Rurek.
"Five," said Stanley.
"Three," insisted Mrs. Rurek. "I ought to know."

Fuzzled, the judge continued the case until a master in chancery could take a census.

Hey, Kiddies!

Here is another Shirley Temple photograph for use in making up the scrapbook in the Pampa Daily News-La. Nora theater prize contest. Watch this paper and the theater ads daily for other Temple pictures for use in the scrapbooks, which must be turned in at The NEWS by noon of Saturday, March 2. The contest is open to all children under 12 years of age. Pictures may also be cut from magazines, newspapers, or original photographs. The scrapbook should be 8 by 10 inches in size, or larger, since The NEWS will give an 8 by 10 photo of Shirley Temple when each scrapbook is entered for inclusion on the front or early pages of the book. Start your scrapbook today; you may win one of the 10 desirable prizes. And be sure to write your name, age, and address on your book.

'BACK TO GOLD' SAYS HOOVER IN PHOENIX SPEECH

Restore Confidence
In Our Currency,
He Urges

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 21. (AP)—Smashing his self-established precedent of silence as "private citizen," former President Herbert Hoover urged reestablishment of the gold standard to "restore confidence in our currency" as a needed contribution to "real recovery."

If the dollar were made convertible at the present 39 cents of gold, he said in a prepared statement here last night, "it would tend to check inflation, replace relief with real employment, and recovery."

In his comment on the supreme court's gold clause decision, Mr. Hoover broke his consistent policy of refusing to express his opinion upon political matters—a policy he began when he left the presidency March 4, 1933.

His departure from his usual custom came as he returned with his son, Allan, from a visit to New York. While he repeatedly disclaimed political implications, the titular chief of the republic party was nevertheless greeted all along his route by political allies and former officials.

All members of the court, he commented, "agreed the government acted unconstitutionally in repudiation of the covenant on its own bonds," although a majority held the private citizen "has no remedy."

"That will have long moral consequences," he said, "but whatever the moral, right or wrong, of the devaluation may be, the face of the American people must be forward."

"The need and the opportunity now is to restore confidence in the dollar. All that is of further evaluation should not be removed. To do this, we need a needed contribution to real recovery, the dollar should immediately be made convertible at the present 59 cents of gold, making it payable in gold bullion."

PANHANDLE ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN LOCAL CLUB WITH TALKS, MUSIC

A dozen members of the Panhandle Rotary club visited the local club yesterday and presented the program. F. A. Renter, president, presided and introduced the members.

The program was opened by J. L. Graham who led in group singing. Mr. Graham is recognized as one of the outstanding song leaders in the 41st Rotary district and is called upon to lead some of the singing at district conferences each year. Mr. Graham and Jack Adkins sang several numbers accompanied by Miss Nina Carhart, club pianist.

M. B. Welsh, a past president of the Panhandle club, gave an interesting history of Rotary, bringing out several important details which are usually overlooked in such discussions. He traced the history from the beginning with four members and one club to the present when Rotary is represented in nearly every country in the world.

Frank Stone entertained with accordion solos and J. L. Naylor concluded the program with a talk on service.

Mr. Renter announced an inter-city meeting at Panhandle for Friday night, March 29, when the district governor, Tom Taylor, will be there. Pampa and Borger clubs will attend the meeting.

Visiting Rotarians, other than those from Panhandle were Jimmy Thompson, Amarillo; Alvin Hendricks, Littlefield, and John Caylor, R. M. Hobby and Jesse Grimes of Canadian. Other guests were J. M. Daugherty and Sam Horner.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Legislative machinery has been set in motion to test the correctness of a ruling by the Texas supreme court on a law granting a moratorium on mortgage foreclosures.

The Texas court held a law passed by the forty-third legislature vesting district courts with discretion to stay forced sale of real estate in worthy cases in which sale of the property would work a hardship on the owner and in which the owner had a chance of paying out was invalid because it abridged the obligation of a contract. The ruling, made under a provision of the state constitution, was contrary to a decision of the United States supreme court in the oft-quoted Minnesota moratorium case involving federal constitutional questions.

Rep. Joe Greathouse of Ft. Worth and W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, co-authors of the moratorium legislation, succeeded in having the house pass a bill to re-enact the law and it now is pending in the senate. If it is approved by that body and signed by Governor James V. Allred they plan to initiate a test case to carry the question to the United States supreme court where they believe the law will be upheld.

Greathouse argued the state court decision violates United States supreme court's pronouncement in the Minnesota case and was therefore invalid. He contended the decision of the nation's highest tribunal was binding on the state court and that if the law did not violate the contract provision of the federal constitution it could not conflict with the state constitution.

It was necessary to re-enact the law to permit a test case to be brought since the original law expired by its own terms Feb. 1. Governor Allred has taken special pains to emphasize that his announced clemency policy does not mean that every prisoner will be incarcerated until he has served the full time on his sentence.

The statement was made when it was reported that prisoners were restless and had interpreted the governor's attitude to indicate that prisoners entering the penitentiary should leave all hope behind. "It doesn't mean that at all," Allred told newspaper men. "But it does mean that only those prisoners who by their records and deportment are entitled to be returned to society will be discharged. It means the merit system will be the basis on which I shall act and the money and influence will play no part in obtaining a prisoner's release. It should be to the benefit of those in prison who do not have friends on the outside with influence and money. If a prisoner is entitled to a pardon and is recommended by the board of pardons he will get it in nine cases out of ten."

Those who have studied the prison problem believe the indeterminate sentence law should be amended to provide for automatic review of prisoner's cases when he has served the minimum on his sentence. This would insure that there would be no "forgotten men" in the prison.

With this in view a bill has been introduced to move the state penitentiary to Huntsville, center of prison units.

Badminton was introduced at the University of Oklahoma between the Minnesota case and was there an exhibition game of shuttlecock being played.

MELLON 'WASH SALE' UNDER CLOSE PROBE

TESTIMONY SHOWS HE SOLD STOCK TO HIS SON

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21. (AP)—The barbs of cross-examination were aimed again today at what the government claims was a $6,800,000 "wash sale" of Pittsburgh Coal company stock by Andrew W. Mellon to a firm entirely controlled by his family.

Howard M. Johnson, for two decades financial secretary to the Pittsburgh millionaire, began his third day on the stand in Mellon's income tax case with more questions from Robert H. Jackson, counsel for the board of tax appeals.

The former treasury secretary is asking $139,000 refund for overpayment of income tax in 1931 but the internal revenue bureau insists he should pay more than $3,000,000 in taxes and penalties because of "fraud" in the report.

In his testimony Johnson told how in December, 1931, he sold for $5,000,000 on Mellon's orders to the United Trust company shares of the Pittsburgh Coal company which originally cost the financial $6,177,856. That represented a part of Mellon's stock losses that year, he said.

Months later, Johnson testified, he was asked to find a buyer for the stock and in April, 1932, it was sold for $5,170,000 to the Coalested company, a holding firm in which the common stock is owned by Paul Mellon, the banker's son, and Mrs. Alice Bruce, his daughter.

In his cross-examination, Jackson seized upon the sale with the accusation that it passed from Mellon's hands into a family-controlled firm.

Johnson insisted that while Andrew W. Mellon held preferred stock in Coalested he had no voting shares and could not be said to have a "controlling interest."

Official estimates place the 1934 income of North Carolina farmers at $120,000,000 more than that of 1933.

ATTRACTIVE PARTY IS GIVEN FOR BRIDGE CLUB AND GUESTS

GAMES PLAYED IN WASHINGTON DAY SETTINGS

MRS. BUCKINGHAM IS QUEEN OF CLUBS HOSTESS

Holiday decorations inspired by Washington's birthday made the party given yesterday afternoon for the Queen of Clubs one of the most attractive of this month. Mrs. Howard Buckingham was hostess at Schneider hotel.

Cards, tallies, and score pads for the bridge games were in the Washington day theme. The following refreshment course included cherry pie.

Mrs. Buckingham invited guests outside the club to make up five tables. Mrs. W. T. Fraser was winner of high score award for special guests, and Mrs. A. M. Martini for club members. Mrs. Tom Rose co-high.

Mrs. J. M. Lybrand, B. C. Lov John Studer, John Sturgeon, C. J. Hunkapillar, Max Mahaffey, J. Burrow, Charles Thut, Clifford Braly, Rose, Fraser were the special guests.

Members present were Mmes. A. B. Goldston, H. D. Keys, L. N. McCullough, Raymond Harrah, Carl Boston, J. H. Kelley, Carl Smith, H. E. Schwartz, and Martini.

Week of Prayer Program Planned By Central WMU

Review of previous lessons in their Bible study series occupied the study hour of Central Baptist Missionary union yesterday afternoon at the church. Mrs. E. Bass Clay was leader.

A week of prayer for home missions was planned for next month, during the short business meeting. A prayer by Mrs. A. L. Edmondson opened the program.

Members present were Mmes. A. B. Cecil, Wood Overall, D. M. Scaler, Edward Pearson, H. A. Overall, W. L. Lane, R. E. Warren, G. C. Stark, J. B. Hilburn, Clay, and Edmondson.

College Entrance Exams Are Open to All Seeking Credit

College entrance examinations to be given at the high school here the first week in May will not be limited to high school students, it was explained from Supr. E. B. Fisher's office today in response to questions.

Any person wishing to receive high school credit is eligible to take the examinations. A number of students enrolled in the night classes for adults that are being conducted on Tuesday and Friday evenings at high school building are studying for the tests.

Asbury A. Callaghan and John O'Keefe of Panhandle attended a meeting of the Rotary club here yesterday.

THURSDAY EVE DANCES GROW IN POPULARITY

Dances on Thursday night at the new Pampa dance palace continue to increase in popularity due to the opportunity for dancers to secure free admission to the dance or to receive a credit on an admission to the theatre.

The regular tie-up, which will be available for the dance Thursday night, provides that each admission paid to the dance before 9 o'clock will be credited for that amount on an admission to the theatre. The regular admission is 25 cents with a charge of 5 cents per dance.

The new tunes which Chick Talcott introduced last week have proven popular among the dancers who have asked for more of them. Miss Laurette du Rose, the "little girl with the blues," will entertain with several numbers.

The Talcott organization is composed of nationally known entertainers, eleven of them, and promise an interesting evening for those who attend the dance Thursday night.

ORPHANS WRITE GRATITUDE FOR COUNCIL GIFTS

Group Three Gives Yesterday's Program

Letters of appreciation for gifts to the Juliette Fowler orphans home at Fort Worth were read to members of First Christian council yesterday afternoon, and the group decided to send a number of dresses for girls there next month.

The council meeting was at the church, with a business meeting in which Mrs. R. H. Elkins was elected World Call chairman, and a program by members of group three.

Mrs. C. C. Wilson was program leader. After a devotional by Mrs. Samson Wilson, Mrs. Guthrie played accordion solos. Mrs. Tom Eckard discussed Facts and Figures of Mission Work, and Mrs. W. G. Kinder told the highlights of a missionary's trip to Tibet.

The group presented a book, "I Follow the Road," to the council's library.

Chapel Program Will Center on Patriotic Theme

Patriotic holidays of this month will be honored at the chapel program scheduled for 3 p. m. Friday at Sam Houston school. The public is invited.

Introduction of Girl Scouts and Boy Scout cubs who attend Sam Houston school will be a feature of the program, an observance of the 25th anniversary of Scouting. The program has been outlined as follows:

Band numbers, directed by A. C. Cox.

Song by high fifth grade.

Colonial dance, sixth grade girls.

Reading, February, by a fifth grade pupil.

Play, February Birthdays, by high fifth grade.

Display of work by girls' handicraft club.

Colonial drill, Mrs. Peddicord's room.

Valentine play, Mrs. Irwin's room.

Introduction of Girl Scouts by Mrs. R. A. Selby, and Club Scouts by Principal A. L. Patrick.

Bowers Are Hosts To Friends With Barbecue Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers were hosts with a barbecue dinner at Schneider hotel last evening to about 50 friends, including many old-timers of Gray county.

During the dinner and afterward J. M. Dodson, who acted as toastmaster, called upon a number of the guests for impromptu talks. Incidents of pioneer days were recalled by the old residents.

Those who spoke briefly included Mrs. A. H. Schneider Sr., Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mrs. Charles Thut, Roy Jewell, Siler Paulkner, Ivy Duane, Newton P. Wille, John Andrew, Earl Talley, Dr. V. E. Brundage, John and Otto Studer, John Sturgeon, Sam Fenberg, J. M. Tate, and Buck Miller.

The meal, prepared in the tradition of old-time plains hospitality by Mrs. Schneider, had barbecue as the main dish. A 240-pound calf was barbecued for the occasion by "Mac" McCartie, and the portion not eaten at the dinner was given to charity by Mr. and Mrs. Bowers.

Banquet Guests Have Praise For Mac's Barbecue

Many old-timers in this part of the country are famous as barbecue cooks, but there's one man in Pampa—a newcomer in the city, but an old-timer at the barbecue game—who's quickly establishing a reputation as Pampa's barbecue chef supreme. Last night, in fact, scores of the Panhandle's pioneers had an opportunity to sample his wares, at a banquet at the Schneider hotel, where nothing but praise for his "barbecue technique" was heard.

The man is Don MacCartie, who owns and personally barbecues all the meat for the sandwiches which he serves, and nothing but the purest ingredients are mixed in the delicious sauce which he makes. Besides a relish for barbecue, Mac's sauce has a reputation in the home where it is served on home-cooked meats and fish.

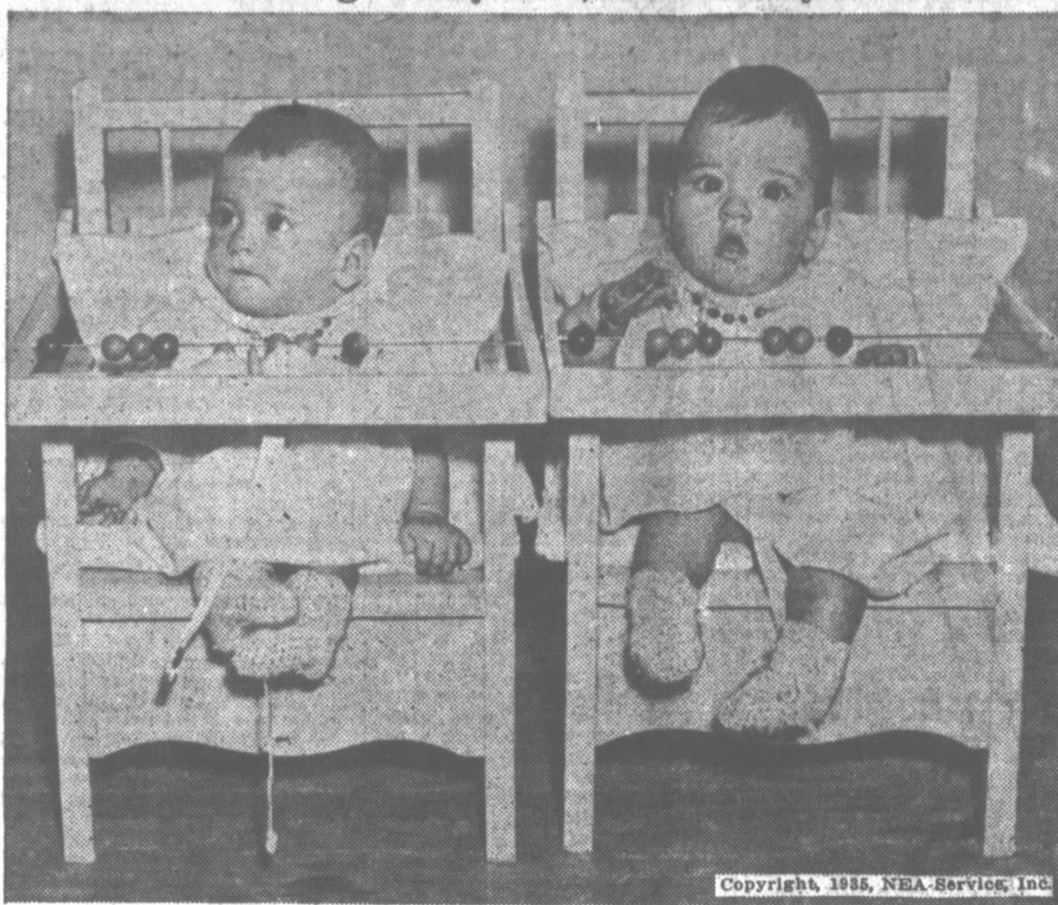

Mac's barbecue is cooked over an open pit in which he burns nothing but oak wood. If the meat is furnished, beef, hog, fowl, or wild game, Mac will barbecue it for ten cents a pound by the 100-pound, or for 50 cents by the single pound. The sauce sells for $3.75 per gallon, in smaller amounts. Special prices on the sandwiches which he serves at all times are made to clubs, lodges, and parties.

After 22 years experience in this particular sort of work, Mac's barbecue has to be good! (Adv.)

Plans Are Complete For Tea

EPISCOPAL AUXILIARY INVITES WOMEN OF CITY

Final plans for their annual Martha Washington tea were made by women of the Episcopal Auxiliary at their meeting yesterday afternoon. The tea will be given tomorrow at the home of Mrs. C. P. Buckler.

It will be open to all women of the city, who are invited to call at any time between 4 and 6 o'clock. The afternoon will be entirely informal. Guests will be welcomed by Auxiliary members, but there will be no receiving line.

Music will be furnished through the afternoon by Miss Evelyn Shanklin, soprano, and Miss Elizabeth Rose Jameson, pianist.

Committees for the tea include Mmes. S. F. Thornton, Earle Schele, and Buckler, for refreshments; Mmes. Julian Barrett, Gilmore N. Nunn, and Nell McCullough for decorations.

Guest and New Members Attend Society Meeting

Three new members were welcomed to the Altar Society of Holy Souls church yesterday, in a meeting at the home of Mrs. R. E. McKernan. Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald was co-hostess.

Mmes. W. R. Schoonmaker, A. T. Case, and C. B. McGowan were the new members, and Mrs. McCouldrick was a guest for the afternoon. Twenty-three members attended.

Seniors to Sell Candy at Games

Seniors will sell candy, chewing gum, and popcorn during the week-end basketball tournament that begins here tomorrow, it was announced today.

Proceeds will swell the class fund for the annual trip to Carlsbad cavern, to be made before graduation.

COURT HOUSE NOTES

Lewis Scott, charged with car theft, was on trial in 31st district court today. He was indicted for the theft of a 1934 Ford V-8 coupe from G. Cleveland last December.

The jury is composed of the following: J. C. Watson, L. R. Rush, E. D. Nolan, L. E. Ellis, Edgar E. Brown, Jack Newman, M. C. Bostick, C. O. Seeds, Walter E. Beck, E. L. Norman, W. A. Glass, M. J. Noel.

The Gray county grand jury met briefly yesterday and returned a few indictments, on which no returns had been made up to noon.

Sheriff Earl Talley was ill today. He has been suffering from a severe cold for a week.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Howard Abernathy and Miss Dorothy McBride; J. L. Richardson and Miss Ruth Jones; Lawrence C. Stein and Miss Bernice Roach.

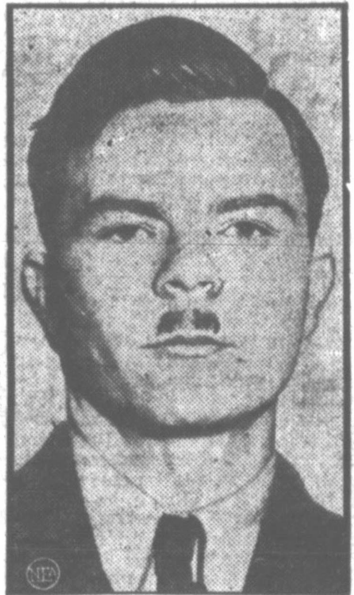

PANPANS AT FUNERAL

A group of Panpans has returned from Durant, Okla., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Lizzie Gilbert, a relative. Mrs. Gilbert was the mother of J. E. Gilbert and Mrs. L. F. Ward of this city. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Ward and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gilbert and children, Miss Dee Polson, Miss Myrtle Fay Gilbert, and Finley Barrett.

A Girls' Auxiliary will be organized in Central Baptist church at a meeting called for Friday. All girls are urged to be present then.

Following this meeting, a general B. T. U. session is called at 7:30. Plans for spring activities are to be made.

Fight to Rescue 'Farm Anarchist'

A nation-wide campaign is being waged by liberals on behalf of Ward H. Rodgers, above, sentenced at Marked Tree, Ark., to six months in jail and fined $500 on conviction of anarchy. Rodgers, now free on appeal bond, was arrested for organizing tenant farmers against alleged injustice of landlords and ousted as FERA educational instructor.

TREBLE CLEF'S OPEN MEETING IS TOMORROW

MANY INVITATIONS TO PROGRAM HAVE BEEN ISSUED

A courtesy to all women's clubs in Pampa that has been customary each year since organization of the Treble Clef club will be extended tomorrow evening. The club will be hostess at an open house musicale in city club rooms.

Invitations have been extended to clubs in the Pampa council, and individual members have also invited guests. The program will feature observance of Washington's birthday.

Members who will take part are Mmes. A. N. Dilley Jr., C. C. Dodd, Ralph Dunbar, J. W. Garman Jr., Ray Huling, Sam Irwin, Harry Lyman, Bob McCoy, L. N. McCullough, Harry Nelson, H. C. Price, Frances Sturgeon, Alex Schneider, Walter Stein, Earl Thomason, E. W. Voss, Philip Wolfe, Walter Wanner, Martel Peters, H. O. Roberts, W. R. Chaffin, W. L. Brummett, and Miss Jimma Seary.

Mrs. Dilley is director of choral numbers, and Mrs. Stein accompanist. Solos will be by Mrs. Garman, Mrs. Huling, Mrs. Nelson, and Mrs. Lyman. Mrs. Garman and Mrs. Wolfe will sing a duet.

Mrs. Nelson is to play a piano solo. Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Brummett, and Mrs. John Hooper, violinist, will assist with accompaniments.

Following this program, the club will launch spring activities. Members have been asked to present at the state club federation, convening in San Angelo in April the "Gay Nineties" program given at the district federation in Plainview. Observance of national music week here will also be a major item this year, as is the annual custom of the club.

Ward School Glee Club Entertains At H. S. Assembly

Harmony of a kind expected only from well-trained adult choruses was afforded by the Horace Mann glee club in high school assembly yesterday morning. Seventy boys and girls of that ward school are members.

Directed by Miss Loma Groom, the club has learned to sing in four-part harmony this year. Scenes from George Washington's life were presented in a series of tableaux by Horace Mann pupils, and a girls' chorus also appeared.

Miss Josephine Thomas, Horace Mann principal, Miss Frances McCune and Miss Groom were directors of the program.

The main talk was by Gilmore N. Nunn, manager of THE NEWS, whose brief address honored Washington. Band members and assembly singing of the Star Spangled Banner introduced the patriotic assembly program.

Mrs. Jeff Dye Is Shower Hostess

Mrs. Jeff Dye was hostess Tuesday at her home on the Wilcox lease, honoring Mrs. Felix Lofland with a shower. Miss Leona Sexton opened the packages, and guests inspected the dainty gifts.

Cocoa and cake were served to Mmes. Lofland, McAuley, Ponder, B. A. Head, H. J. Lofland, T. C. Roberts, Eddy Lawson, B. J. Ironmonger, Misses Sexton and Hazel McDonald. Gifts were sent by Mmes. Jerry Reed, Wiley, Lilburn, J. W. Sexton.

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat" and brings "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get a quarter pound jar of Kruschen Salts at Richards Drug Co., Inc., or any drug store (lasts 4 weeks)—you must be satisfied with results or money back. Adv6

A good many of those "dead" have been observed for signs of approach to some "other world" after the heart stopped. All the medical evidence points to this condition being merely a deeper form of unconsciousness rather than real death.

DIE SIMULTANEOUSLY
WACA, Feb. 21 (AP)—Double funeral services were arranged this afternoon for Mrs. Ora Haginsson Seary and Dr. B. L. Scott, her brother-in-law, prominent Wacopans who died simultaneously yesterday. Scott passed away in a hospital and Mrs. Seary at her home, both from natural causes.

BROTHERHOOD DAY SERVICE IS ANNOUNCED

Many Nations Will Be Represented at Church

A cosmopolitan service will be held at First Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:27 o'clock and the pastor, Rev. Gaston Foote, will speak from the subject "All of God's Children." The evening prayer will be delivered by Rev. Joe Wonderly of Holy Souls Catholic church.

This service is in keeping with the request that the churches observe Sunday as International Brotherhood Day and people from 15 different nationalities and countries have been invited to sit on the platform at the service Sunday night to represent their people. These are China, Canada, Sweden, Jerusalem, Finland, Denmark, Mexico, Assyria, Greece, Ireland, Poland, England, Germany, and Scotland.

The choir from the Colored Methodist church will sing a special number at this service. There will also be a duet by Frank and Joe Hernandez in Spanish. Other special features are being arranged.

In making this announcement, H. D. Tucker, in charge of publicity, said that if there are other nationalities or races represented in Pampa that would join in this service, he would appreciate a call from anyone willing to be there and represent his race or nationality.

Mrs. Dilley is director of choral numbers, and Mrs. Stein accompanist. Solos will be by Mrs. Garman, Mrs. Huling, Mrs. Nelson, and Mrs. Lyman. Mrs. Garman and Mrs. Wolfe will sing a duet.

Mrs. Nelson is to play a piano solo. Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Brummett, and Mrs. John Hooper, violinist, will assist with accompaniments.

Following this program, the club will launch spring activities. Members have been asked to present at the state club federation, convening in San Angelo in April the "Gay Nineties" program given at the district federation in Plainview. Observance of national music week here will also be a major item this year, as is the annual custom of the club.

Talks Continue In Young Folks' Revival Series

Another young woman, Maudine Woodworth, will follow Hazel Bath, speaker last evening, in the pulpit of First Christian church tonight in the young people's revival series. Tonight's subject is The Program of Christ. Alice Butts will be leader of the service.

Accepting Christ is to be the subject tomorrow evening, with Harry Clay as the speaker and Alice Reed in charge. Joan Douglas will be responsible for the choir, made up of young members of the church.

Ushers will be Virginia Roberts, James King, Anna Belle Allam, and Oneta Frasier.

The revival will close Sunday, with Turner Ferrell making the address. It started last Sunday. Young people have been in complete charge of all services, but adults have found the meetings interesting and profitable.

AVIS HEISKELL IS MARRIED IN COLORADO CITY

WEDS LAWRENCE THOMAS OF CENTRAL CITY ON FEB. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Heiskell announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Avis to Lawrence Thomas of Central City, Colo., on February 15. The marriage was celebrated at 8:30 that morning at St. James Methodist church in Central City.

The Rev. Hugh L. Lowry read the service. The bride was attended by Miss Phillips Ferrell, and the groom by Jack Powers. Miss Heiskell wore a tunic frock of blue crepe, and the bridesmaid was dressed in blue and white, both with matching accessories.

A member of the Gray county family, Miss Heiskell grew up in Pampa, attended high school here and was prominent in girls' athletics. Mr. Thomas is a graduate of the Central City high school, and is employed there.

After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were honored at several dinners and a dance given by friends at Central City, where they are now at home.

BABY WAS NOT LINDY'S WAS DEFENSE TALE

REILLY WOULDN'T USE STORY PREPARED BY LAWYERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—A former defense investigator said today counsel for Bruno Hauptmann had ignored evidence that the body in the murder case could not have been that of the Lindbergh baby.

Seven autopsy experts were ready to show, declared George H. Foster, that the body found five miles from Hopewell, N. J., and identified by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as that of his son in reality was:

(1) More than four inches taller than Charles Lindbergh Jr.;
(2) Decomposed more than would have been possible in the mild weather after the kidnapping; and
(3) Embalmed.

His assertion came as the present defense staff prepared to gather in Trenton today for a conference on their disagreement over appeal procedure. This was understood to be due in part to the failure of Edward J. Reilly, chief counsel, to attack the state's identification of the body.

Advices from Trenton predicted a showdown, but Reilly insisted in Boston last night that "there's no row."

Associated with Reilly are C. Lloyd Fisher, designated as Hauptmann's "chief of New Jersey counsel"; Frederick A. Pope, and Egbert Rosecrans. Pope is said to side with Fisher, Rosecrans with Reilly. "We have neglected to take advantage of the most important point in the defense case," Fisher had said when Reilly did not challenge the corpus delicti. "Without warning to rest of us, Reilly suddenly announced that Lindbergh should know the body of his own child and let it go at that."

Data collected by Fawcett and his aides had been turned over by court order to the present defense attorneys.

Regarding these, Foster said: "We had produced seven experts in autopsy work who were prepared to show that the body found was not that of the Lindbergh baby."

"Three of our experts are undertakers who had served the federal government during the war as autopsy experts."

"We were going to challenge identification on three points, mainly:

"In the first place the body found was 33 1/2 inches long, whereas the Lindbergh baby was described at the time of the kidnapping as being only 29 inches.

"We would show that a body does not decompose readily at a temperature below 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Between March 1, 1932, when the baby disappeared, and May 12, when the body was discovered the mean average temperature was less than 47 degrees.

"The doctor who saw the body in Trenton was prepared to testify that it had been embalmed, and that this fact was recognized at the time by one of the attending state physicians. "We had pictures of the body, and they disclosed the fact that it could not have been recognized, so decomposed it had become."

SETH PARKER IS A SORRY SIGHT AT PAGO-PAGO

Owner Undetermined
What to Do With Schooner

TUTULUA, American Samoa, Feb. 21 (AP)—With bedraggled sailing gear flapping from her masts and her plume working continuously, the American radio schooner SETH PARKER anchored at Pago-Pago today.

The little sailing ship, whose distress calls 10 days ago echoed around the world and brought the third son of King George to her aid aboard H. M. S. Australia, was towed into port by the U. S. naval tug Ontario at 10 p. m. last night (4:30 a. m., today, eastern standard time).

Although not badly damaged the craft on which Phillips Lord, master and down east radio character known as SETH PARKER, hoped to sail around the world, was a sorry sight.

All of her masts were still standing but one or two spars had been torn away, her jib sail was ripped to ribbons and minor pieces of rigging were torn loose by the South Sea storm she weathered.

What will be done with the SETH PARKER was not known. Lord said he did not plan to return to the United States until he has circumnavigated the globe.

All of the 13 men originally aboard her were well.

The Ontario took the SETH PARKER in tow last Friday, four days after the British cruiser Australia, with the Duke of Gloucester aboard, arrived alongside for the second time.

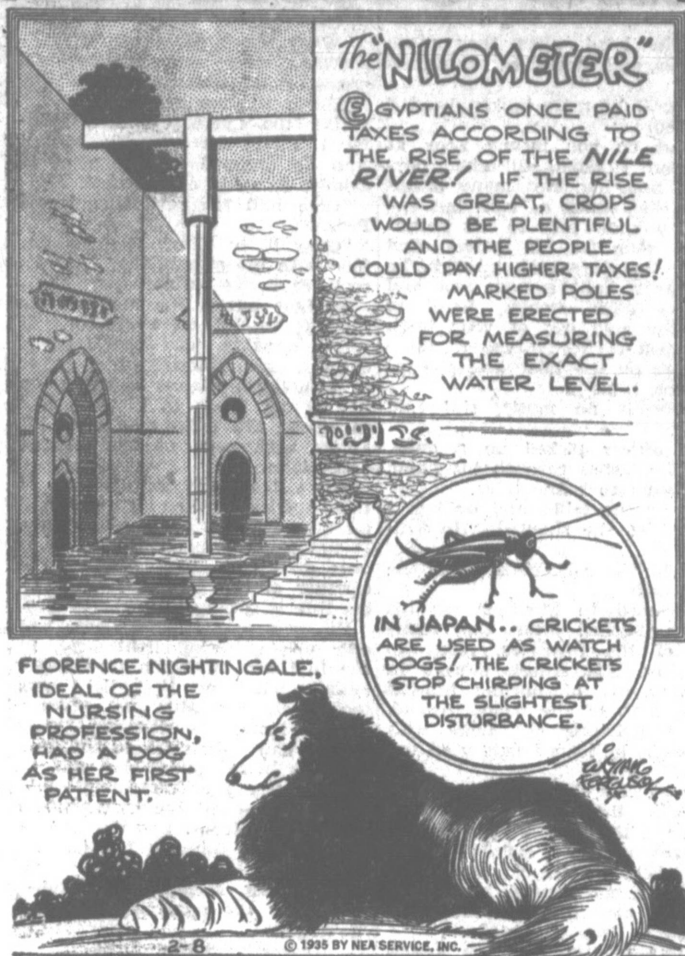

"We encountered a bad gale with wind of hurricane force, which in the early stages carried away the upper rigging," Lord recounted today. "Laboring of the ship caused serious leakage and we were unable to take care of the water coming in."

"The ship was wallowing in a trough and unmanageable. Captain (Constantine) Fink, 32 years in sail, said he believed it would be impossible to weather the gale and as this coincided with my opinion and lives were at stake, the distress call was sent out."

"If the gale had not abated, I doubt if we could have lasted until the arrival of the Australia, which stood by until the arrival of the

THE "Nilometer" shown above was situated near Cairo. It consisted of a square well, into which the water was admitted as it rose, while in the center was a marble column, marked at frequent intervals.

barely been touched, that the natural gas field will long continue to be the "world's greatest," that there isn't the slightest danger of Pampa's slipping back to a city of 5,000 or less.

DESPITE THE FACT that Judge Duncan's football prophecies are not to be taken too seriously, respect his general prognostications and believe Pampa would be a better city if more persons shared his faith. A city built by faith is the greatest city of all, for it is wrought out of the investments, solidarity, and enthusiasm of the home folks. Faith without works is truly dead. The greatest gas field will mean little if it is dissipated without more worthwhile local participation. It is like an unshared river whose energies are not used.

THERE IS ONE field into which Judge Duncan did not go. He did not do anything about the drought. He didn't even mention the drought. He recognizes that agriculture is highly important to Pampa but that agriculture alone would not make Pampa a stable city right now. We are happy to supplement the judge's predictions. We predict that the drought will end long before there is any decline in oil; that wheat crops once more will exceed the carrying capacity of railway cars; that central Gray county will bloom as the rose; that irrigation and terraced and rotated crops will make farming profitable and stock-raising possible. Yes, big things are in the making. Building and industrial plans are being drawn. Business generally is improving. Yes, a privilege to live in Pampa during the depression; it will be an even greater privilege to live in Pampa during the next 10 years.

THERE ARE MANY ideas of gas utilization going the rounds. The latest is to raise water for irrigation purposes by gas lift. Gas pressure will raise oil and it will raise water. Using it to pump water would not ruin the gas for other purposes. It is tragic and wasteful to blow valuable power into the air without using it, to the full extent. We do not know the full feasibility of the gas lift for water, but it is worth debating.

NOW IS AN excellent time to make plans for a spring repair campaign. Pampa, in common with every city in the country, needs rejuvenation of her property. There are hundreds of houses to paint, hundreds of fences to build, roofs to repair, rooms to refinish and remodel, papering to do, in infinite variety. Rental property generally is in a poor state of repair. Beautification has been barely begun. McLean had a brilliant idea—the erection of beautiful entrances to the town. Most towns are unimposing and ugly at their entrances. McLean is setting an example which could and will be followed in hundreds of towns and cities. It is no longer necessary to wait for credit. Persons of good character and steady employment can secure credit now. Loans for both repairs and new construction are being made. Now is a good time to talk to material dealers about that spring repair and building plan.

U. S. S. Ontario, commanded by Captain W. L. Freseman, who executed the greatest care and judgment in towing us to Pago-Pago. "We were unable to use our sails because of the weakened rigging."

TRUCK MEASURE ADDS STRENGTH IN THE SENATE

Opposition of More
Groups to Bill
Is Offered

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—Advocates of raising the load limit on trucks with semi-trailers recruited strength in the senate today for an attempt to override an adverse committee recommendation.

Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth notified the senate highways and motor traffic committee he would submit a favorable minority report after the committee refused to recommend, 8 to 3, a bill to increase the limit from 7,000 to 10,000 pounds.

Counter suggestions for reducing the maximum size of trucks on highways developed in the committee after Rawlings obtained adoption of a substitute compromise. Instead of doubling the limit, he suggested an increase of 3,000 pounds available for trucks with semi-trailers, equipped with brakes on all wheels, which were 84 inches wide, and 10 feet, 6 inches, instead of 12 feet, 6 inches, high. He said the smaller size would be a safety factor.

Opposition of Texas growers of perishable products was added to that of railroads, county judges and other industries against the bill.

"Fodder trucks are ruining us," complained C. O. Miles, representative of the Rio Grande Valley Citrus exchange and Texas Citrus Shippers association.

He said practically the entire Texas market was demoralized by trucks dumping products, leaving available only carload shipment markets in other states.

"Raise the limit to 14,000 pounds," he predicted, "and they will truck it as far as Chicago, ruining our market all the way."

SO THEY CALLED 'EM—Seeders—but not for the reason you think. Erskine college is located at Due West, South Carolina, first state to secede, but the nickname for athletes arose from the fact the school's founder, the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, split from the Presbyterian church.

YOU'RE HAPPY WHEN YOU'RE FIT

Think back over the last month. The days you enjoyed most were the days you felt in great shape. Increase these sunny days by keeping fit.

Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. It may cause indigestion, bloating, and other troubles. It adds your enthusiasm to the fun out of living.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes you with "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also contains vitamin B and iron. This gentle natural food is a better than patent medicines. Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

GLASS READY TO CLUB FOES OF RELIEF ACT

ROOSEVELT LEADERS COUNT ON HIM FOR ASSISTANCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Senator Carter Glass (D., Va.) unlimbered his guns for action today in the fierce struggle over the Roosevelt administration's $4,880,000 work and relief bill.

Though there was no advance word as to just what he would say on the measure in general, Roosevelt leaders counted on him to rally strength behind the $50-a-month "security wages" which administration officials propose.

The leaders see the fight over wages as the biggest obstacle to their drive to get the bill through the senate without major changes.

Some of them were frankly worried as the senate headed toward a vote on the amendment, proposed by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.), to require that relief workers be paid wage rates prevailing in private industry.

The promised speech by Glass was awaited the more eagerly because he once expressed resentment at not having been consulted by Mr. Roosevelt regarding the work-relief measure.

Later, when the program encountered difficulties before the senate appropriations committee, of which Glass is chairman, he said he had been authorized to deliver a message from the president to the committee. The bill finally emerged from the committee in a form considered acceptable by administration leaders.

Before taking the floor in the work-relief debate, the Virginian told reporters he would talk on "other things" as well as the prevailing wage amendment.

Observers are trying to assess the consequences of the blow aimed at the $4,880,000 measure yesterday by Glass's colleague, Senator Byrd (D., Va.), who urged that the sum be cut down to $1,980,000.

He called for the defeat of the $4,880,000 bill as "a proclamation to the world that the period of acute economic emergency is over and that we are now turning calmly to the treatment of the crisis to making our recovery sound and permanent."

Answering him, Senator Robinson, democratic leader, said the bill is designed to increase purchasing power as well as to "enable the government to absorb into the labor system temporarily approximately 3,500,000 workers, who, without the legislation, may have no employment at all."

BANKS' CONDITION GOOD
WACO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Texas banks are in good condition and the gold decisions released trading and investments in Texas that had been at a standstill. Sam H. Greer of the Texas Bankers' association told a throng at a district meeting of the association here yesterday. "Everywhere I go I find bankers with a new song on their lips and a new light in their eyes," the Tyler banker said. He added the banks were "possibly too liquid."

MORGENTHAU CONTENT
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the administration is "satisfied" with its present monetary policy and contemplates no change despite Herbert Hoover's advocacy of a return to the gold standard.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: By a clever ruse, the Montana Kid and Mateo Rubiz could never escape from the fort. But if they died, so would some of these jolly sparks.

"What are these sparks? What part of a person are you?" asked the commander. "More like a damned mountain bandit, to my eye. Look at him and try to remember! Haven't I seen that face on posters with a reward for him, dead or alive?"

The nerve of Montana prickled through his skin. It seemed that the next moment would be the end of Rubiz, or the beginning of the end.

But the deep voice of the outlaw answered: "I was hurt by a fall in the mine, sir. I was carrying a basket up the ladder."

"And the damned ladder broke and gave you a fall?" asked that commander.

He leaped back a little, his thin face sneering as he stared at the half-naked, powerful body of Mateo Rubiz.

"No, but the forehead band that supported the basket of ore broke; and the basket fell and knocked another man off the ladder. That man was killed by his fall."

"Listen! I told you there were stories in this lump of a man."

"I was only a few steps from the top of the ladder, and as I came up the overseer, who had seen what had happened, hit me with the butt of his man-whip, and that knocked me down the shaft again."

"You see how they treat these fellows? The other man was killed, but you lived through it, eh?"

"I was weeks in the hospital," said Rubiz.

"Discipline," declared the officer. "That's what it takes. Knock fools over the head when they make mistakes, and there'll be fewer mistakes."

"There'll be more broken heads," said Pedro.

"What do you mean? Look at this head! It would still take a parcel of breaking. Not many brains under that shock of hair, but enough to know how to lift hampers of wine for his betters. And for all that he's been through, he still has a light enough foot and hand—a light enough hand to steal the gold out of your teeth while you sleep, I'll wager. Jump up there on the table and give us a dance, you!"

"There is no music, sir," said Rubiz.

The officer picked up a quilt, drew the lashes through his hand, and then struck the table.

"Up on the table, and we'll give you music!" he shouted. "Up with you!"

And he slashed Rubiz across the naked body.

It seemed to Montana, as his thumbs hooked over the hammers of the revolvers, ready to open fire, that Rubiz swayed in the very act of hurling himself at the man of the whip. Instead, without touching the table with his hands, he leaped lightly on top of it.

The officers shouted. They began to strike the table in a quick rhythm with their whips. And to that rhythm poor Rubiz had to dance. When some of them made a mistake and landed heavily on his body instead of on the table, he had to leap the higher.

It was frantic work. In a few minutes he was staggering. And at last Pedro it was who called out: "Let the poor fool stop. See, Luis, where you drew the blood on him! He's had enough exercise for one evening. Get down."

Rubiz jumped to the floor. "Give him a few coppers," said Pedro, "and he'll be able to forget his torn skin."

"What about his torn skin?" "What does skin matter? It grows again without any cost!"

"Here's the money," said Pedro. "It's too much," decided thin-faced Luis, the superior officer. And he dropped a portion of it, calmly, into his own pocket.

"Give him the rest, then," said Pedro.

"Give it to him? Give a dog food with my own hands? Let him root for it, the swine!"

So Luis hurled the money from him. It rattled on the floor. It rolled clinking into the farthest corners, and Rubiz darted after it, sometimes almost shuddering on hands and knees in his apparent eagerness. The officers followed his antics with yells of the highest appreciation.

But a toast proposed by one of them suddenly called all heads and all eyes towards their own group. It was at that moment that Montana drew open the door into the corridor of the general rooms and big Rubiz sprang through the gap.

His eyes were insane. There was only one guttering light here, in the foul air, by which to see the outlaw, but even that light was too much for Montana. Rubiz, for an instant, buried his hands in his hair. Then he turned and beat his head against the wall.

Only after a long moment could he hold up one hand. When he opened it Montana could see a dozen copper coins in the palm.

Tomorrow, Montana and Rubiz enter the apartment of the governor.

SCIENTIFIC DEDUCTION
TORONTO, Ont., (AP)—Serving beer in a beverage room is a "hazardous occupation," a Toronto insurance company actuary found, and the life expectancy of such an employee is less than average.

"Perhaps," added the actuary, "the theory is that beer is too accessible to the waiter."

"This New Solvent Gasoline of Skelly's Reduces Starting Strain and Keeps the Firing Chamber Clean"

At A Glance!

(Reading Time, 22 Seconds)
Note that Skelly gives you the best advantages which other regular-priced gasolines offer, and in addition:

Two EXCLUSIVE Skelly Advantages

1. Tailor-Making
a. QUICKER START—At zero, starts in 1/2 revolution.
b. AIR-MIX MILEAGE—7000 to 1 air-gasoline mixture, assuring greater mileage.
2. Solvent K-27 for Cleaner Motor
a. LESS STARTING DRAG—With clean pistons, rings and cylinders.
b. CARBON FREE—Solvent K-27 reduces carbon formation.
c. GUM FREE—Gum not deposited, passes out exhaust.
d. NO STICKY, LEAKY VALVES—Reduction of gum keeps valve seats clean for tight seal, preventing compression loss of power.

TO OBTAIN OF COURSE—The maximum anti-knock rating with tetraethyl lead is 70 octane.

One head mechanic said recently:

"92% of all cars have carbon and gum formed on piston seats. This is the reason why most motorists are losing power, and wondering why the 'bue' has lost that new car feel."

If your car is losing snap, or you want to keep it carbon-free, you should change to new Skelly Aromax. A new solvent, K-27, has been perfected to make carbon and gum pass harmlessly out the exhaust. This new K-27 is now being added to Tailor-Made Skelly Aromax.

This new gasoline assures twice as many miles between valve-grinding jobs and cleaner piston rings, less repair bills and the lively feel of a new car.

Tests Prove Motor Is Cleaner

Test cars and truck and bus fleets have traveled thousands of miles, testing gasoline with and without K-27. Special gasolines containing heavy gum and carbon potentials were used part of the time. The difference in results was apparent to the naked eye, but research engineers went farther. They photographed valves, piston heads, and piston rings. They accurately weighed the carbon and gum that formed. They proved without doubt that K-27 greatly reduces carbon and gum deposits.

Two Exclusive Features

Skelly Aromax is the only gasoline either Tailor-Made or containing Solvent K-27. So of course it is the only gasoline having both features.

Because it starts in 1/2 revolution at zero, Tailor-Made Skelly has become a favorite with winter motorists. Now, with K-27 to release frictional starting drag, Aromax is even faster starting.

Get BOTH these values when you fill up the tank, for they cost nothing extra. The gasoline that is Tailor-Made to give you faster start; the gasoline plus K-27 that keeps your motor cleaner.

Get BOTH when you fill up the tank today—in either Skelly Aromax or Aromax Ethyl.

PAMPA, GOODNIGHT GIRLS CLASH HERE TONIGHT IN SECTIONAL PLAYOFF

LOCAL SEXTET LOSES 28-18 AT GOODNIGHT

HARVESTERETTES' FOES HAVE IMPROVED GREATLY

The Pampa Harvesterettes and the Goodnight girls' team will clash in the second game of a bi-sectional playoff series here at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Goodnight won the first game last night, defeating the Pampa sextet 28 to 18 on the Goodnight floor.

Unable to stop Williams, Goodnight's sensational forward, the Harvesterettes went down to defeat after playing heads-up basketball in the first half. Williams looped 5 field goals and three free throws to score 13 points. Her teammate, Brown, was also deadly on scoring plays, adding 10 points to the team's total.

Shields led the Harvesterettes attack with seven points, followed by Helms with six points before she was sent to guard in an effort to stop the Goodnight scoring spree in the last half.

Goodnight fielded a much improved team. The girls played better and shot more accurately than when defeated by the Harvesterettes here last month.

Should the Pampa sextet win tonight, a third game will be necessary. Time and place will be selected later.

EQUIPOISE IS FAVORITE AT SANTA ANITA

Ceaseless Quest for Horse To Beat Ekky Is Futile; Others Draw Attention.

BY PAUL ZIMMERMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—Like the search for the gold of the Aztecs, the ceaseless quest for a thoroughbred to beat Equipoise in the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap Saturday went on today without apparent success.

For always the form charts brought them back to the starting point with the stubborn fact that in 50 races, C. V. Whitney's candidate for the title of richest money winner of all time has finished out of the money on only seven occasions. Three of these were the result of disqualifications.

And if Ekky's record plus his showing here wasn't enough, there was that speedy filly with whom he will be coupled as an entry, High Glee.

Time Supply, winner of $50,000 in the Narragansett and Bay Meadows handicaps; handsome Head Play, questionable old Twenty Grand; Ladysman, Mate, and Azucar, the former steeplechaser, were drawing a lot of attention as the race stood two days away, but none had any record to put up against that of the 7-year-old son of Pennant.

There was some chance for the searchers to be found in the Agua Caliente future book, which came out with a new vice line that left the odds on Equipoise at 2 1/2 to 1, in the face of his victory over Twenty Grand and the recent disqualification on mate.

Aznar, Ladysman, and Time Supply were shortened to 6 to 1 but the others remained much the same.

WISCONSIN GUARD STOPS ALL CAGE FOES WHEN STOPPABLE

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The bane of high-scoring artists in Big Ten basketball circles this year has been Gil McDonald, Wisconsin's veteran guard.

When they can be stopped, he stops 'em. As a result McDonald is Wisconsin's nominee for all-western honors.

His most recent demonstration was staged at the expense of Bill Haarlow, Chicago star and individual high point getter in the Big Ten.

During the Chi-go & Wisconsin game, won by the Badgers, 26-24, McDonald covered Haarlow and held him to two field goals, drawing only three fouls for his efforts.

Haarlow admittedly is the most difficult player in the Big Ten to cover without fouling, due to his speed, deception and variety of shots.

Mitchell Leads Faculty In 30-20 Victory Over Groom

Pedagogs Come From Behind in Last Period to Win

Coach Odus Mitchell showed the boys when he hopes will win the district championship here this week-end how to win a basketball game instead of losing it here last night when the faculty cagers whipped down a fighting Groom quintet, 30 to 20 in a last-half rally.

The Harvesterettes who are prone to alternately heckle and cheer the pedagogs, noted that the score was 11 to 10 for Groom at the half. The score at the end of the first quarter was tied 6 and 6.

In the last half, the Harvester mentor hit his stride. He looped five field goals and one free goal for 11 points in that period. The coach led the scoring for both teams with 13 points. The trouble with the Groom player who was sicked on the Pampa coach with orders to stop him cold was that he tried to keep up with Mitchell. The coach soon had him winded and his tongue hanging out of his mouth.

It was Mr. Frank Monroe's off night. The idol of Junior high looped a pretty one in the first minute of play to start the scoring, and thereafter his shots went wild and the ex-Buttalo star could not click. Besides, the Groom cagers were laying for him, and they swept over him like ants. To Bennett, Pampa forward, goes the cement basketball for missing a record number of set-ups. He excelled in that department in the game against McLean here. Winston Savage turned out to be one of the best guards on the floor.

Field goals hurled by the visitors were sensational. The Pampa defense gave them no set-ups and they had to rely upon long-distance luck which was with them many times. Bennett fouled out for Pampa, and Monroe received three personal fouls. As a result of those penalties, Kendrick, Groom guard, was able to make six free goals, and Townsend two.

Groom has by far the best team the faculty has faced this season, and on a smaller court they might easily cop a victory—say in the Groom tournament which the faculty five plans to enter.

Helen Pedersen Wins Net Title

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—A year ago Helen Antoinette Pedersen of Stamford, Conn., was labelled a "promising young tennis player."

She still is young and has fulfilled the promise. The 18-year-old girl won the national girls' title and stands now in the same high place she held a year ago. She has swept through the current women's national indoor championship to brilliant heights with a quarter-final round defeat of Mme. Sylvia Jung Henroth of France, a heavy favorite.

So today Miss Pedersen engages brilliant Hirsch, an 18-year-old New Yorker, in one of the two semi-finals. It will be a renewal of their rivalry started in the same round a year ago. Miss Pedersen triumphed on that occasion in three sets.

She probably will find the New Yorker just a formidable in view of Miss Hirsch's stunning upset victory over Norma Taubele, defending champion.

The other semi-final match brings together Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, seeded No. 1 and ranked fourth in the nation, and Jane Sharp of Pasadena, Calif., sixth ranking woman player.

The University of Kentucky basketball team, in winning its first nine Southeastern conference titles, scored an average of 55.2-9 points to its opponents' 19.5-9.

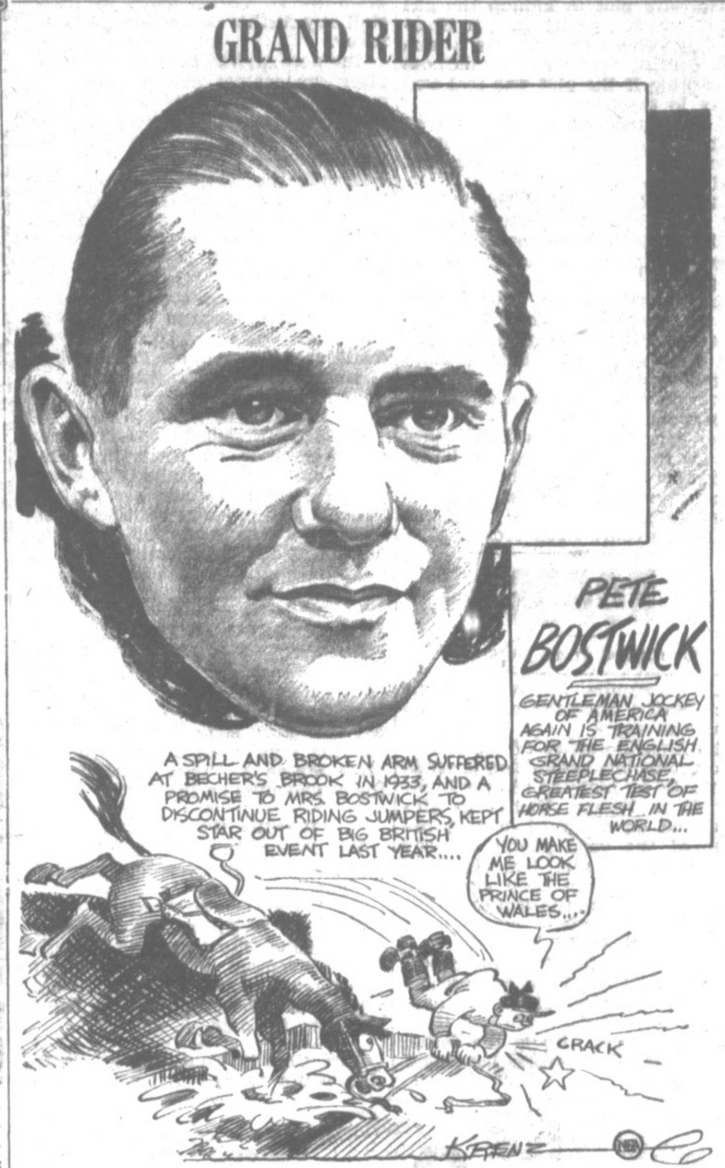

Donald has been assigned to cover only one Northwestern game, the one made anything like his usual showing. Ten of Fisher's 13 points in the game resulted from five extremely long shots. In the first game between the two teams, McDonald held Fisher to two points.

Others unable to cope with McDonald's close guarding have been Dewney and Kessler of Purdue, held to a total of six points; Stout, Indiana, three points; Jablonski, Michigan, six points; Baker, Minnesota, six points.

The work of McDonald and his teammate, "Chub" Poser, has won for Coach Bud Foster's first Wisconsin team the reputation of being the best defensive five in the conference.

Foster at guard has held all opponents except Ootom of Purdue below their season's average and has scored 33 points to 35 for opposing players.

Tumbling Team To Perform On Tuesday Night

The high school tumbling team, coached by Harry Kelly, assisted by the high school quartet, under direction of Bob Smellage, will stage a circus carnival at the high school gymnasium Tuesday night starting at 7:30 o'clock. Admission will be 10 and 15 cents, with proceeds going to the high school Parent-Teachers association.

Students selling tickets are members of the senior class. They will be given a percentage of the proceeds and that money will go into the fund for the trip to Carlsbad cavern. Argus Fox is in charge of ticket sales.

The event is being sponsored by the finance committee composed of Mrs. Cyril Hamilton, Mrs. C. E. Lancaster, and Mrs. Ray Summerfield. The P-TA undertakes many worthy activities during the year and needs money for its projects. Mothers and fathers of high school students are especially urged to attend the program which will be one of great interest.

ROOMMATES BORRIES, DORNIN MAKE NAVY'S HALL OF FAME

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—They're dusting off niches in the U. S. Naval academy's all-time hall of sports fame for two versatile athletes whose joint collection of "N" and "N-stars" promise to be one of the largest in Navy annals.

The redoubtable Fred "Buz" Borries, a pinch to earn rating in and his bosom pal, Robert E. Dornin, stepped directly from football field to basketball court to continue their starring roles, and in the spring will go on to still other varsity duties before graduation.

Many regard Borries, who hails from Louisville, Ky., as the greatest all-around performer ever to wear the Blue and Gold. His prowess, versatility and dependability already are by-words at the academy. Dornin, whose home is in San Francisco, is not far behind.

Bulwarks Of Basket Team They stand out in every game as bulwarks of Navy's strong basketball team, almost always scoring more than 20 points between them. Many of the Midwestern most spectacular plays revolve around "Buz" team captain who plays center and guard, and Forward Dornin.

In the spring they separate, Borries to play baseball and Dornin to battle with the lacrosse team.

"Buz" scaled the heights on the grid last fall, scoring seven touchdowns, contributing to five others in forward pass plays and winning all-American backfield honors. Dornin, an end, was on the receiving end of many of Borries' scoring passes, and his touchdown against Notre Dame particularly thrilled spectators.

Alike in temperament, the two athletes are inseparable and their great delight is playing pranks on each other. Dornin often has been a guest at Borries' Kentucky home over holidays.

Fine Physical Specimens Six feet tall, they are a delight to a coach's eye. Borries, 22 years old and 175 pounds in weight, is a natural athlete with perfect timing, speed and coordination. Off the playing field, he is known for his humor and modesty.

Dornin is 21 years old and tips the scales at 163 pounds. Clever and alert, he is a hard worker and makes his efforts count in the contest. He is no less witty than his buddy.

Among their sporting souvenirs already in the matter of citations for prowess on academy teams, are: (Borries) two "N" and five "N-stars"—the latter representing victories over Army on gridiron, court and diamond; (Dornin) three "N" and one "N-star."

Each is certain to win another "N" in basketball, very possibly with a star attached, while Borries will have still another chance to add stars to his crown when the Middy baseballers engage Army.

Owls Will Play Frogs Tonight

HOUSTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Still clinging to a mathematical title hope, the Rice Institute Owls will go after their sixth straight Southwest conference victory tonight in a game with the lowly Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, cellar occupants.

Without defeat on their home floor this season, the Owls, inspired by a string of wins, rated top-heavy favorites over the Frogs.

A Rice victory would place them only one game behind the pace-setting University of Arkansas Razorbacks. A defeat would shove the Owls out of the title picture. It is their last home game of the season.

Arkansas will run into stiff competition at Dallas Friday and Saturday when they meet the Southern Methodist Mustangs, also still in the running.

FIRST ROUNDS IN HOUSTON'S TOURNEY BEGIN

GUS MORELAND PITTED AGAINST DON SCHUMACHER

HOUSTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Survivors of a trying qualifying test started in quest of the Houston Country club invitation title today—the draw placing formidable foes in the paths of many pre-tournament favorites. Gus Moreland, the Dallas Walker cup star and three times winner of the invitation, faced a rising star of Texas golf, Don Schumacher, a fellow townsman. Schumacher, Texas junior champion and one of Dallas' best, carried Moreland to the home green several months ago in a Dallas tournament.

The tourney's medalist, Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, western amateur champion and one of the finest of all American amateur medal players, had Grey Little, Beaumont ace, as his first round opponent. John Dawson of Chicago, defending champion, drew Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, a tournament surprise last summer. Dawson, wobbly in the first day's qualifying, came back nicely yesterday to card a 73, two over par, and again assume his favorite's position.

Stock Reynolds Smith, winner of five extra-hole matches in the 1934 national amateur and Texas' amateur king, faced Harold Cohn Jr. of Houston, runner-up to Gus Moreland in 1933, as his first round foe.

Two "bantamweight" stars, Leland Hamman of Paris, Trans-Mississippi champion, and Ed White of Bonham, finalist in the national intercollegiate last season, squared off for an opening round match.

Eaton, many times medalist, paired a 71 with his first day total of 70 to grab medalist honors with 141. He was trailed by Moreland, who scored 72-73-145. Fred Odum, New Orleans' ace, fired 69 yesterday, which with his 75 of Tuesday, gave him third position with 148.

Pairings: Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City vs. Grey Little, Beaumont.

Al Smith, Houston, vs. Willie Maguire Jr., Houston.

Reynolds Smith, Dallas, vs. Harold Cohn Jr., Houston.

Lionie Wendland, San Antonio, vs. Preston Moore, Houston.

Fre Odum, New Orleans, vs. J. T. Chenoweth, St. Louis.

T. L. Fontaine, Houston, vs. Nelson Munger Jr., Houston.

George Dawson, Chicago, vs. A. W. Freddie, Dallas.

Reuben Albaugh, Dallas, vs. Ed Anderson, Houston.

Gus Moreland, Dallas, vs. Don Schumacher, Dallas.

Halbert Grumbles, San Antonio, vs. Barney Clark, Houston.

Leland Hamman, Paris, vs. Ed White, Bonham.

John Barnum, Mercedes, vs. A. K. Newby, Beaumont.

John Dawson, Chicago, vs. Morris Norton, Wichita Falls.

Re. Handy, Houston, vs. Jimmy McConnell, Dallas.

Ossie Carlton, Houston, vs. Henry Ransom, Houston.

Harry Todd, Dallas, vs. George Cummings, Corpus Christi.

Turkey Defeats Lakeview 20-15 For Hall Title

TURKEY, Feb. 20. — Turkey's crack basketball team, known in this section as the "Terrible Turks" will again represent Hall county in the district basketball tournament to be played in Childress Friday and Saturday. It marked the third consecutive year the Turks have been county champions.

The boys of Coach Al Duncan of Pampa defeated Lakeview Owls 20 to 15 in a hard fought game to win the county title. Yarbrough, guard, and Hedrick, center, were named on the all-county team. Hedrick was selected an all-district forward last year.

Turkey will meet some stiff competition in Matador, Quanah, Crowell, Wellington, Paducah and other county champions.

Bay City Pointer Wins Field Trials

PALESTINE, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Texas open championship, featured event on the Texas field trials program, today belonged to Buddah, white and liver pointer owned by Ellis Hammill of Bay City, Texas.

Buddah won the first leg on the $1,000 Sid Ferris Joe Memorial trophy.

Barfield Exclusive Jingo, white and liver pointer owned by C. A. Camp of Tulsa, Okla., and handled by Pete Pritchett, was runner-up and shared the cash prizes split between the winners.

6 Teams Begin Race For Cage Crown Friday

The district 2 basketball tournament, with seven teams competing, will open at the high school gymnasium at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and last through Saturday night, when the team that will go to the regional meet in Canyon will be selected. Higgins and Mobette will open hostilities, with the winning team meeting the Pampa Harvesterettes, who drew a bye in the first round of play, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The second game, at 11 o'clock, will see the crack Allison team tangling with the strong Panhandle Panthers. The third game will be at 2 o'clock and will be between Borger and Miami.

Seven games will be played tomorrow and five Saturday with the final game set for Saturday night. Casey Cade of Higgins will handle the whistle in all games. Admission will be 10 and 25 cents a session until Saturday night when admission will be 20 and 35 cents. A preliminary game will be played Saturday night, but the opposing teams have not been named.

Hedley, the defending champion, will not be here to defend its title. The Owls lost to Clarendon in a bi-county playoff. Clarendon in turn was defeated by Panhandle in a sectional playoff series.

Allison, the team that was nosed out by Hedley last year, will be one of the favored teams. Borger and Panhandle, along with the Harvesterettes, are also strong favorites. Strength of the other three teams, Mobette, Higgins, and Miami, cannot be determined. It was learned that Miami may not enter the tournament.

The Mobette Hornets won the Wheeler county championship from a strong field and should give trouble to some of the favorites. Higgins won the Lipscomb county title but has played no teams in this section.

Saturday's schedule cannot be given until the tournament has progressed through the first two rounds of play. However, games will be played at 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday morning and 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Time of the final game Saturday night has not been set. It will probably be at 8:30 o'clock, following a preliminary game to be called at 7:30 o'clock.

BASEBALL

HE KNOWS THOUGH HE WILL NOT LEAVE

BASEBALL

BY HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Baseball's biggest question mark, George Herman Ruth, is home again, but he is unable to tell whether he will find an acceptable job in the game he has personified for more than a decade.

Returning from a world tour that combined business and pleasure and re-demonstrated his tremendous pull at the box office, the Babe readily said he had no idea what he would do this summer although he scarcely could conceive the possibility that no baseball job would be open to him.

Ruth gave few definite answers to the rattle-fire of questions hurled at him when his boat docked but out of the conversation these points developed:

1—He will not wind up his career as a part-time performer or as a pinch hitter spending most of his time on the bench.

2—His big ambition still is to become a major league manager.

3—If he signs a contract with the New York Yankees, it will be as a regular outfielder.

"I'm so thrilled to get back home that I don't know what I will do," said the Babe. "It will take me a few days to recover by bearings."

"I don't want to leave baseball. I'd be lost without it. I don't think I'm entitled to a manager's job or a try at it, anyhow. I don't think I should be asked to sign as a player and sit on the bench waiting for a chance to pinch-hit, maybe once in seven days. That's something I don't intend to do."

"I don't know whether I could play another full season as a regular. That would depend upon how I feel at the training camp. Even if I don't sign, I intend to go to St. Petersburg to throw out. I'm getting so old now I feel as though I belong there."

"Money is not the primary consideration with me now. I've got enough to live on. But I want to stay in baseball."

The next chapter in the Ruth saga probably will come in a few days with Ruth toting his "informal" contract to the offices of Col. Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner. That contract calls for a salary of $1 a year. It was offered as a stop-gap until the Yankees can discover just what Ruth intends to do.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP)—Trends in the stock market were highly divergent today, but a number of mild recoveries in the final hour gave the list a better appearance. Trading was relatively dull with the turnover approximating 700,000 shares. The close was fairly steady.

Rep. Blanton (D., Texas) arranged to petition that the Patman measure be placed on the legislative appropriation bill which provides for the payment of salaries to members of congress.

The Patman bill proposes to pay the bonus with new currency. The Vinson bill, backed by the American Legion, also would pay the adjusted service certificates immediately but does not specify any particular means of raising the money. Legion officials have said it was their intent to leave the method of raising funds entirely in the hands of congress, in conformity with Legion policy.

As the battle moved forward, it became known that the democratic committee on the Texas delegation recommended of the Texas delegation. U. S. Patman be assigned to the banking and currency committee.

"I guess they didn't like his easy money ideas," a friend of Patman said.

Another house member said he did not know whether the rejection was made because of Patman's monetary philosophy, or because another Texan, Rep. Cross, is already on the committee.

There were six candidates for the post that ultimately went to Rep. Driscoll of Pennsylvania, a first term.

"It was a stiff fight, all right," a congressman said. "There were seven or eight ballots."

Opponents of the Patman bonus bill wondered whether the rejection meant that the democrats on the ways and means committee, who also comprise the party's committee on committees, did not indicate disapproval of the inflation methods of raising the $2,000,000,000 pay off.

this wasteful practice is summarily stopped.

"Natural gas stripping is both a worthy and profitable industry. The waste occurs principally after this operation. The return of dry or stripped gas to the producing strata of gas or oil fields in a manner to save or use it beneficially is a worthy operation; as also is the use of this gas for other beneficial purposes such as light, fuel or manufacture."

Blowing Intolerable.

"But blowing this product into the open air—as also is the blowing of any natural gas into the open air beyond practical limitations required incident to production of oil—is intolerable under sound conservation policy. The gigantic waste of natural gas in Texas has attracted the attention of the state and nation. This waste must be stopped."

Governor Allred said the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Cities Service company and other large corporations "led the parade" for oil proration in the oil fields but "it is well known that these corporations, through affiliated companies, and otherwise control these gas pipeline outlets."

The governor commented "it is most significant that these corporations, which inspired the perfected oil proration have strenuously resisted gas proration for the sole reason that the advantage of their position as to gas rendered it unnecessary to prorate. It is difficult to understand how, in view of this gross inconsistency, the executives of these great corporations can pursue such policies without reflecting on the intelligence of the people of Texas."

"The history of these companies, however, is sufficient to leave no room for shock in the minds of those conversant therewith."

These corporations, Allred said, financed pipe lines to Chicago and other large cities on the representation of ownership of gas reserves they did not fully own.

"Their purpose was and is to drain from the gas lands both within and without their ownership the requirements of gas for these lines, thus doing great and irreparable injury to thousands of land owners and small producers by disallowing the benefits of ratable purchase and withdrawal."

Opposes Price Fixing.

Governor Allred said, he believed it was essential to insure effective regulation that interlocking ownerships in the gas industry, through holding companies, be prohibited.

He warned against any attempt at price fixing because "it is off the charted course and presents a serious constitutional question and also might bring us face to face with the question of federal control of this natural resource, a situation wholly repugnant to the interest of the state in the exclusive exercise of its right to handle its own internal problems."

Should natural gas production be declared interstate commerce and subject to exclusive federal control, then the state might be forever precluded from its right to levy taxes upon this resource.

"We are, of course, intensely interested in a market and fair price for natural gas at the wells. This condition can and should be improved by finding additional markets for natural gas at home and through new pipe line outlets to industrial centers that now suffer great shortage of fuel gas at prices within the limits of economic profit."

Allred referred to pending negotiations with the federal government for construction with public works funds of a giant pipe line from the Panhandle to northern industrial centers and said it was "both reasonable and plausible" to establish additional markets.

SISTERS DIE

the plane after the horrified Kirtan took it back to Romford airport. Officially described as the dual deaths as the strangest air tragedy in Europe since Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, the famous Belgian financier, disappeared July 4, 1928, from a cabin plane over the English channel.

The two letters were said to have been addressed to the girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coert Du Bois. Their father is United States consul general at Naples.

The bodies landed in a cabbage patch, close to the edge of town. The impact drove them a foot into the soft soil. The first police on the scene outlined the spot with rows of wooden pegs.

Seemed Hysterical

The plane was operated by Hillman Saloon Coaches and Airways, Ltd., which runs passenger services from Romford to Paris.

A Hillman official said the doors on their cabin planes lock from the inside. "A cabin door could easily be opened from the inside," said the official when he was questioned as to whether the pressure from the slipstream of the propeller would be sufficiently strong to hold the door shut against the strength of two women.

The girls were at first believed to be French because of their clothing, but later authorities said they had established their identity "without a doubt" as the Misses Du Bois.

Their father is Coert Du Bois, a native of Hudson, N. Y., but now with his legal residence at San Francisco. His wife was the former Miss Margaret Mendall of Boston. They were married Aug. 1, 1910. The two daughters were their only children.

The pilot apparently flew on for an hour after the girls fell to their deaths without knowing of the fate of his two passengers.

Out over the English channel, he looked back into the cabin, saw the girls were missing, and that a door was ajar.

He immediately notified Croydon airport of the passengers' disappearance, then streaked back to the Hillman landing field at Romford airdrome.

The death plunge was witnessed by a group of workmen who glanced up into the sky at the sound of the plane motor's roar.

Just as their gazes went aloft, they saw two objects, which at first they did not identify as human, hurtling down at the ground.

Remembering the recent experience in the loss of bar gold from a Hillman plane flying from Paris to England, the group rushed to the spot expecting to find strong boxes. Instead, the men were horrified to see the mutilated bodies of the two girls.

The girls were the only passengers in the plane which, in addition, carried only 40 pounds of baggage. The pilot was J. Kirtan.

Watch Found

Death must have come to the girls within 15 minutes after the plane took off from Romford, for Uppminster is just about that flying time from the airport.

It was believed that the distance of the fall was about 1,500 feet, for that is the normal altitude of the Hillman planes when they cross over Uppminster.

A shattered wrist watch engraved with the initials "J. Du B." was found near the bodies. They were embedded one foot into the ground.

The full name of the Hillman service is "Hillman Saloon Coaches and Airways Limited." It operates passenger services between Romford and Clacton-on-Sea and to Paris.

Pilot Kirtan was the same man who was flying the London-bound plane late in January which spilled $110,000 worth of gold bars out on the French coast. The gold was lost during a strong gust of wind. It was found subsequently by searchers.

An official of the Hillman lines said Kirtan was an excellent pilot and has a distinguished record for negotiating rough-weather channel crossings.

Mother In Naples

NAPLES, Feb. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Coert du Bois, wife of the United States consul general and mother of the two girls killed in a plunge from an airplane today when informed of the deaths of her daughters.

She said Elizabeth, 23 years old, and Jane, 20, had gone to Paris last Saturday and had planned to go to London later.

Mr. and Mrs. Du Bois' home in the United States is San Francisco but the family has lived abroad in the service of the United States for a number of years.

Both Jane and Elizabeth were beautiful girls and among the most popular members of Italo-American society here. Friends said that both appeared to be in excellent spirits when they last saw them.

The two letters found in the plane were addressed one to the father and one to the mother. The police took charge of the letters, then sealed the airplane's doors after they had examined the 40 pounds of baggage apparently left on the plane by the sisters.

The airplane is a biplane with two engines and with seats for eight passengers.

problem," said Gilmer. Judge Thurman Hurst said he believed a verdict at any time until during the afternoon.

Gilmer contrasted the slain youth and the defendant. "From the beginning to the end, this Gorrell boy was working and studying. Kennamer was stopping and running away from everything."

"The only thing he did finish was a murder."

The jury deferred deliberations until 1 p. m. after lunch.

Judge Hurst said he would receive a verdict at any time until 10 p. m. and if none is received by that time, he would be available at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

White-haired C. B. Stuart roared a denial today he had been "paid to weep" in his defense of Kennamer.

Referring to the charge of J. Berry King, former state's attorney general and special prosecutor, the massive 78-year-old attorney told the jury:

"I'll have you, and him, know I am without price in this case. There is no sordid money involved."

"I have known this boy's father (Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer), eaten his salt, broken bread with him. When he called I was glad to respond."

Story Is Pathetic

"As I open the last words for this unfortunate boy, remember this is a simple case."

"This is the story of a precocious boy, of his overprotecting love for a girl and his tragic effort to keep her from harm."

His deep voice boomed through the little court room as he told of the one-sided romance, the unrequited adoration of young Kennamer for Virginia Wilcox, Tulsa oil heiress, threatened in an extortion note admittedly written by Gorrell.

Kennamer testified he killed Gorrell in self-defense after he sought to forestall the kidnap plot.

With a word of sympathy for "those unfortunate families," the H. F. Wilcox family, the Kennamers, and the parents of the slain youth, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gorrell, Stuart reverted to the Kennamer's love, which he described as "a form of worship."

"Don't tell me this love is a ridiculous thing. It runs through this trial as a glorious thing."

"This girl got on the stand and said, 'I know he loved me; I could not return it, but it was there. I know it.'"

What Boy Wanted.

Turning again to King's sarcastic delineation of young Kennamer, Stuart continued:

"The former Oklahoma attorney general said yesterday this boy first wanted this beautiful girl for the Wilcox money. Second, King said he wanted to kidnap her and get that money anyhow."

"Oh, how cruel and wrong that was!"

Stuart detailed once more the defense contention Kennamer learned of Gorrell's plot to kidnap the girl and of how Kennamer went to Kansas City, where Gorrell was a student dentist, "for the sole purpose of learning if the plot was real and to try to thwart it."

"I must apologize to this bereaved mother and father because it is impossible to 'speak nothing but good of the dead.'"

"Gorrell told him of the kidnap plot and Kennamer persuaded him to change it to an extortion plot—to get the money without harm to the girl."

The extortion note, Stuart said, "is the most cold-blooded, severe extortion letter I ever have read. And the prosecution admits John Gorrell wrote it."

The parents of the slain youth again were in court.

The defendant sat without moving, his face shielded by one hand. Virginia Wilcox, who had been a calm witness and an attentive spectator during most of the trial, was not in the court room today.

The Amarillo office of the American Automobile association is sending traffic on highway 66 over highway 60 to Pampa, thence to McLean and on eastward over 66 because of the good paving by way of Pampa and the fact that the gap in 66 has not been closed in the south part of the county.

DR. WITT ILL

WACO, Feb. 21. (AP)—The condition of Dr. M. Witt, 84, member of the state medical board, grew steadily worse today. He was ill at his Waco home. He is the father of Edgar E. Witt, former lieutenant governor.

WAR

Britain and France in the face of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's intimation that he would prefer to consider the proposed air alliance separately.

LONDON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Diplomatic quarters today viewed Russia's unexpected and shrewdly timed note demanding that Great Britain and France stand solidly behind their entire pacification program as an adroit move to forestall any further concessions to Germany.

The note arrived only a few hours after the cabinet had debated the question of sending Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, to Berlin for the direct conversations suggested by Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Despite the soviet's warning that "regarding" any one of the regional agreements projected at London would be "open encouragement of a breach of peace in the region concerned," British officials remained lukewarm toward the proposed eastern Locarno pact. Russia favors an eastern security agreement as sponsored by France, but Germany has been hostile to it.
