HOLIDAY EVE

Teenagers Wreck Tavern

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — About 600 teenagers and young adults wrecked a tavern Thanksgiving Eve, smashing all the glass and furniture in the place, police said.

Four policemen were slightly injured and were treated at Vassar Hospital, police said.

A 16-year-old-boy and three young men were arrested during the hour it took police to restore order at the Buccaneer Tavern on Route 44, near this Hudson River city.

Police said they could not learn immediately how or why the rampage started Wednesday at about 10:45 p.m.

Airport Issue Voting

Absentee voters who desire to ballot on the proposals to create a Howard County Airport Authority and to issue $750,000 in airport improvement bonds, can do so starting Monday at the office of the Howard County clerk.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that a ballot box would be ready and ballots on hand for the beginning of the absentee voting interval. The election will be Dec. 16 in all of the Howard County voting boxes.

Eight thousand ballots have been prepared for the election. Each ballot states the two questions with proper form to either approve or disapprove the proposals.

Deadline for absentee voting expires at 5 p.m. Dec. 12.

TWO DIE

Faulty Machine

EL PASO (AP) — Inadvertently crossed tubes in an anesthesia machine probably were responsible for the deaths of two women during childbirth, Thomason General Hospital officials said.

Dr. M. I. Marks told newsmen Wednesday that one copper tube sealed by the factory which supplied the anesthetic nitrous oxide was connected to the oxygen flow meter and vice versa.

When the anesthesiologist shut off what she thought was the nitrous oxide to flush the lungs with oxygen, Marks said, she actually was turning off the oxygen.

Hospital officials said the deaths of a 22-year-old woman believed from Baltimore, Md., and a 15-year-old El Paso girl occurred last month. Their babies lived.

Crash Kills 11

RIO BRAVO, Mexico (AP) — Police reported a highway crash involving a bus, a trailer-truck and a car killed 11 persons and injured 14 others seriously Wednesday night.

The accident happened south of the border city of Reynosa on Highway 105.

One of the dead was identified as an American, Homero C. Pompa of Harlingen, Tex.

Highway patrolmen said the bus veered onto the wrong side of the road and crashed head-on with the truck. A light car plowed into the wreckage seconds later.

Mishap Claims 2

CHILDRESS (AP) — Two military enlisted men were killed Wednesday night when their cars collided 11 miles east of here in Northwest Texas.

State police identified them as S. Sgt. Albert T. Parker, 29, of Thornton, Colo., and Pfc. Walter F. Herbert, 23, of Billings, Mont.

Parker was stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base outside Wichita Falls and Hebert with the Army at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Officers said Hebert's vehicle veered into the opposite lane and the automobiles crashed head-on about two miles east of Kirkland.

FROM PEACEFUL OBSERVANCES AT HOME TO WAR FRONT IN VIETNAM

Americans Pause To Give Thanks

Traffic Toll Mounts Slowly Across Nation

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths mounted slowly on the nation's streets and highways today during the early hours of the Thanksgiving weekend.

The holiday death toll at 11 a.m. EST was 69.

WARNINGS

Hazardous driving warnings were posted for 15 states in the West, Southwest, North and Northeast, as roads were slicked with rain, snow and freezing rain.

Traffic deaths during Thanksgiving weekend last year set a record for any holiday period when 748 persons were killed during the four-day count.

The Associated Press made a comparative survey of motor vehicle fatalities for a nonholiday period of equal length—from 6 p.m. Wednesday Nov. 8 to midnight Sunday Nov. 12. The death toll for that weekend was 567.

The count for Thanksgiving holiday periods always runs from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

NO ESTIMATES

The National Safety Council does not make advance estimates of traffic fatalities during the Thanksgiving weekend because it regards the observance as a home holiday which does not involve as much driving as other holidays.

Traffic fatalities numbered 608 during the four-day Memorial Day celebration and 732 during the four-day Independence Day observance this year. Both were records for those holiday periods.

Drumming Up An Appetite

Lt. Rosie R. Parmeter of Seattle, Wash., an Army nurse, holds turkey drumstick for Sgt. William Olds of Detroit as they celebrate Thanksgiving Day in U.S. 25th Infantry Division hospital in Cu Chi, South Vietnam. Olds, a nine-year Army vet, was wounded in the arms, hands, chest and legs in recent enemy attack on Cu Chi.

Traditional Feasts, Games Mark Day

By MALCOLM STEPHENSON
Associated Press Writer

From peaceful village greens where church bells rang to war-torn Vietnam where GIs fought and died—from the bountiful board of the LBJ Ranch in Texas to Plymouth, Mass., where Thanksgiving began 346 years ago—Americans around the world today celebrated a holiday that is their very own.

IN CHURCH

For many millions the day began in church—giving thanks for favors large and small.

There were turkey and all the fixings for folks at home, wounded service men in hospitals, down-and-outers in big-city shelters and even inmates of many prisons.

Divided over a faraway war, deeply disturbed by grave issues on the home front, but prosperous as never before, Americans also turned to parades, football games and other sports events to celebrate the day.

By plane, train, bus and private car, families gathered from far and wide to spend the day together. Fog delayed and canceled many flights Wednesday from airports on the Eastern Seaboard.

RANCH HOME

Joining them for the Thanksgiving meal were their daughters, Luci and Lynda, Luci's husband, Patrick J. Nugent, and their son, Patrick Lyndon; Lynda's fiance, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, and others in the family circle.

Mary Davis, a family cook, was preparing a meal of turkey with cornbred dressing and giblet gravy, green beans amandine, sweet potatoes with marshmallow topping, asparagus, molded cranberry salad, ambrosia, angel food cake, fruit cake and coffee.

For American servicemen and women around the world, Uncle Sam provided 2.72 million pounds of turkey, 765,000 pounds of potatoes, 340,000 pounds of cranberry sauce, 306,000 pounds of pumpkin and lots more holiday chow.

Things were also changed for Gary Robinson, 8, of Kansas City. Sunday a Kansas City Times photographer spotted him coatless and wrapped in a window curtain on the sidelines of the Kansas City Chiefs-San Diego Chargers football game, and the paper ran the boy's picture the next day on page one.

DONATIONS

The Times received an unsigned letter Wednesday containing a $10 bill and asking the newspaper to buy him a coat. More money was donated and today he had a new coat, hat, other clothes and that his mother had a turkey for Thanksgiving dinner.

Texas Holiday Turns Out Dry

By The Associated Press

Thanksgiving Day weather proved to be dryer than had been expected in Texas.

Showers dried up as a Canadian cold front coasted to a near standstill today along a line from Southeast Texas to the Panhandle and a new puff of cooler air from the Pacific headed into the state.

EDGED DOWN

Pre-dawn temperatures edged down to freezing or a little below in parts of the Panhandle, where Dalhart recorded 31 degrees, Pampa 32, Dumas 34 and Amarillo 37.

The new Pacific front was expected to lower temperatures in the Panhandle-Plains sector tonight and across the northern half of the state Friday. Readings as low as 26 in the Panhandle but above freezing elsewhere were predicted.

Warnings to travelers of hazardous driving conditions in 15 states and inclement weather in other areas marred the holiday.

The Weather Bureau said a storm system in southern Canada made driving hazardous in Montana, the Dakotas, Idaho, northern Minnesota, Utah, northern Colorado and Wyoming.

Battle-Weary Troops Claim Thanksgiving Prize: Hill 875

SAIGON (AP) — Battle-weary U.S. paratroopers and infantrymen captured Hill 875 today as their Thanksgiving prize after nearly five days of some of the bloodiest fighting in the Vietnam war.

U.S. commanders hoped capture of the hill signaled the end of the bloody, three-week battle of Dak To in the central highlands. But two hours before the final assault, other paratroopers killed 10 North Vietnamese in a short firefight a mile and a half to the north. And less than two hours after the paratroopers reported victory, a landing zone at the northeast base of the slope came under mortar attack.

PULLED OUT

"It seems at this time," a senior U.S. officer in Saigon said, "that the North Vietnamese have pulled out but we're not going to get overconfident yet. If there's not more contact for another day, we'll know they've pulled out. But the North Vietnamese 174th Regiment still has some strength and it could resuscitate itself."

He added that the jungle terrain on Hill 875 was "very tough and the U.S. troops are moving very slowly," mopping up enemy remnants on the hill.

The hard fighting since Dec. 3 around Dak To was reflected in the weekly summary of casualties, which showed more Americans killed and wounded in combat last week than during any week since the Communist artillery siege of Con Thien last September. The estimate of North Vietnamese dead was 1,000 less than the week before, however.

TOLL

The U.S. Command said 225 U.S. troops and 1,287 Communists were killed last week in combat, and 1,256 Americans wounded. An estimated one-third of the American casualties occurred at Dak To. However, the summary did not include casualties on Hill 875, where the battle began Sunday.

After nearly five days of some of the hardest fighting of the Vietnam war, Associated Press Correspondent Edwin Q. White reported from Dak To that a company from the 173rd Airborne Brigade and two companies from the 4th Infantry Division launched the assault on the last ridgeline held by the North Vietnamese at 11:30 a.m.

CONSOLIDATED

AP Correspondent John Lengel reported from the hill that the unofficial American casualty toll in the five days of fighting was 105 paratroopers killed, 25 more than announced by the U.S. Command, and that an estimated 120 enemy bodies were on the hill.

Court Found No Error, Refused Rehearing Bid

The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday ruled exactly opposite from the way it was reported Wednesday by The Herald in the case of Ralph Gossett et al vs. the State of Texas.

The Herald erred in reporting that the high tribunal had granted Gossett's application for a writ of error. The correct ruling was that the high court had refused the application and found no reversible error.

CLOSES DOOR

This, to all practical purposes, closes the door on all the efforts of the owners of property at the intersection of US 87 and FM 700 to fight further the findings of a Howard County judge in the matter of damages due them in a right-of-way condemnation.

Instead of reopening the case, as The Herald had indicated it might be, the matter is closed with the one exception that the landowners have within 15 days to file a motion before the Supreme Court for a rehearing.

Attorneys say that a rehearing on an application of this nature is rarely ever granted by the Supreme Court.

If the application is filed and overruled, or if it is not filed, the case is at its official end. The landowners will have to be content with the $103,000 awarded them in August, 1966, by a jury in Howard County.

The case has been one of the major features of the right-of-way efforts growing out of the rebuilding of FM 700.

Special commissioners appraised the property and proposed about $111,000 for Gossett and his associates as price of the land and damages. The landowners appealed to the county court and the jurors, in a trial on the issue, set the amount at $103,000. Gossett appealed to the Texas Court of Civil Appeals which rejected his appeal.

THEN FILED

He then filed his application for a writ of error in the Supreme Court — on which the court ruled Wednesday.

The state was represented in the trial here by Gil Jones, former district attorney; Dee Jon Davis, county attorney; and Dick Milstead, attorney with Jones.

Gossett and his associates were represented by W. H. Eyssen, Big Spring attorney, Ed Gossett and Henry Kucera, Dallas lawyers.

Thanksgiving Speaker Enumerates Blessings

People with overflowing hearts almost overflowed the Webb Air Force Base Chapel on this morning of national Thanksgiving.

They heard Edward C. Keefe, Oklahoma City, declare that God must surely have wanted to bless America. How else, he asked, could you account for the success of the Revolutionary War and even the defense of this country in World War II if "God had not had for us a very special destiny and mission."

MANY

Keefe enumerated the many blessings of this country, among them freedom of abundance, and the right of choice. He said individuals are under obligation to express thanks for these blessings by using them for good things, to be good stewards, and to share blessings not with just those next door, but whith those around the world.

He also said that thankfulness should be expressed by assisting others to have freedom. He further linked the spirit of Thanksgiving with the preservation of the free enterprise system, and the resistance of socialist ideas which would constrict the right of free choice.

Col. George Franks, Webb Air Force Base commander, welcomed the large crowd to the chapel, observing that it is "fitting that we gather in this nondenominational chapel to which come worshipers from all walks of life." He noted it also was appropriate because of the closeness of the community and the base, which he said was second to none in the country.

The Rev. Homer Rich, pastor of the First Assembly of God and president of the sponsoring Pastor's Association, presided in the traditional community service. Prayers were led by the Rev. James Puckett, Rev. Rich and Chaplain Robert Dem-

'PROTECTS' RIGHTS OF TENANTS AND LANDLORDS

Renter Blacklist Circulates In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Names of 2,000 persons are on a rental blacklist which began circulating in the Detroit area shortly after the July riot.

A man who helped prepare it says its purpose is to "protect the rights, privacy and security of both tenants and landlords."

Officials of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, which prepared the list, said it was issued to landlords as a way to screen undesirable tenants applying for apartments.

The list resulted from a growing concern among landlords about tenants "who constantly disburb their neighbors, vandalize their apartments and victimize their landlords" and was suggested last April, said Irvin Yackness, executive director of the association.

Yackness, who assisted in preparation of the list which he termed a service, said Wednesday reaction has varied from wariness to outright opposition from another major builders association.

No formal complaints have been lodged.

"I suppose if somebody wanted to exercise prejudice, they could pervert the reason for our service," he said. "It's not a device for service prejudice. It's to assist the screening of possible tenants. We only cite facts."

But Burton Gordin of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission asked, "Why can't we continue to use the old referral and reference way?"

"What we need are new laws to protect the tenant," added Gordin. "Present laws give the landlord all the protection."

A spokesman for the West Central Organization, a civil rights group in Detroit concerned with urban housing problems, said its members were bitterly opposed to the list.

The spokesman said members considered the list an infringement on their civil rights and at several meetings had discussed the possibility of seeking an injunction.

Yackness said the list has been distributed to landlords for 375 apartment buildings involving 50,000 to 75,000 rental units in the six-county area in and around Detroit.

Other reasons cited for the list, which covers all income levels, were to identify tenants who habitually pay rent with bad checks or give loud parties.

Yackness said the list is not "an attempt to impose a big brother watch over tenants—it is simply an effort to protect the rights, privacy and security of both tenants and landlords."

He said landlords need to be protected from only a small percentage of tenants.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Wise And Gentleman With Expertise For Thrills

By ED SYERS

The other night I put down one more article by one more angry young man, pompous with big words and instant expertise. From his homeland South and from Texas, he must flee North to find tranquility and cities of justice and brotherhood, of course, riot-free. I had to recall this is the time of Thanksgiving.

NAIVE

I read into another book. This is by a wise and gentle man whom I know by letters and telephone visits over the years. He wrote it at age 82; it reflects a kind of life we cynical moderns call naive. I'm thankful for the American stock of Weatherford's Justin Van Gordon Anderson and his 'Recollections and Reflections of a Texian.' This is a hard-to-get volume (Texan Press, Waco; or direct to Mr. Anderson, 110 Couts Street, Weatherford.)

Last week in San Antonio, I recalled Anderson's writing. Late for three appointments, I walked past HemisFair's site. Over where engineers make order from seeming chaos, mighty, giant - fingered cranes lifted whole buildings. I noted that the work seemed efficient and hurried on. Later, up the quiet hills to home, I thought of philosopher Anderson's brief passage on 'the quality of being thrilled'; and I could give thanks.

Anderson has served his fellow man many ways: schoolman, minister, professor, Army chaplain at near 60 and student for master's degree at age 73. This began, as he recounts, when he was born in 1884, 17 miles from the Alamo, 19 years after Appomattox. He traces to America's Revolution but looked out on a world, short years after Bell had given it a telephone and Edison an electric light. Chester A. Arthur was U.S. President.

Gladstone was Britain's prime minister . . . "and the movies, model-T, television, zipper and space craft were in the same place as they were in Abraham's day."

FAMILY STORY

Thereafter, 'Recollections' becomes a kind of family story—yours, if you look back: from the time the boy didn't know "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep" wasn't a good prayer (for he'd later be taught children shouldn't be motivated with death), any more than he knew "we were poor" at the rag end of his Dad's Confederate struggle.

At six, he went by wagon with his 10-children family to new land north of Abilene: 13 miles a day for 27 days, where farm home would be family - built, rock and wood, across a winter into a Spring. There was a tent and box shack thrown together on the wind - whistled rise—this for the women. The December they arrived, there was a Christmas tree of a little mesquite his mother had used for pots and pans.

His big present was a single blade Barlow knife, blunted at the end for safety. It was a magnificent Christmas because they had — the whole family — some firecrackers to shoot. No house, not even a completed pasture fence for 37 cattle; but a family Christmas!

CLEARED LAND

"We cleared the land (ever tried it?), and got 60 acres in crops that Spring. Once the homesite was located (and tented), the first thing was to drill a water well. Two young fellows had a horse-power rig. This was as good as a circus for us youngsters.

"To see the ponies go round and round, the big drill drawn out, the slush bucket sail down and up filled with red mud, was a grand sight.

"What a pity, we have to lose the capacity to be thrilled! The nearest modern counterpart is the steam shovel. It cannot give me quite as big a 'wham' now, as that primitive drilling rig did when I was six."

Since this is only a sketch from the brush of Texan Anderson, I could go on: family success and failure, life won and lost. But always faith. Its classicism is missed largely by the restraint which accepts, as routine, the close hazard of life.

The same restraint which feels for the land, digs it into its fingers and smells the Spring wind . . . yet walks toward the future, wary but not whimpering.

This is a simple book, and you may not like it as well as I. But it is a fair reflection of a man who has lived across the span which frightens so many: across the span of a man who has been able to see it come, from a mesquite Christmas tree to a horse dug well, to rockets. And yet a man who, in the beauty of simplicity, can be thrilled!

And so my Thanksgiving is for Justin Anderson and those like him. And may our angry youth — at 82 — have the stamina, courage and quality to write of their country so.

For they will write whatever it shall be.

Concentrate On Youth, Kiwanis Members Urged

Edward C. Keefe, Oklahoma City, past president of Kiwanis International, urged Kiwanians at a Thanksgiving breakfast, to concentrate upon youth work. It may be, he said, one of the few fields of service left to the organization in the next decade.

Keefe spoke at the breakfast sponsored by Division 22 of the Texas - Oklahoma district at the Cosden Country Club. Representatives of two clubs in Midland, one in Odessa and Snyder, joined with Big Spring Kiwanians to hear Keefe. Key and Circle K Club members were guests.

The Big Spring High School a cappella choir, under direction of Kenny Sheppard, sang a number of Thanksgiving hymns at the conclusion of the program which was attended by upwards of 100 people.

Keefe told the Kiwanians that more emphasis was being given to Key Club and Circle K Club activities, high school and college-level clubs sponsored by Kiwanis. These will become auxiliaries of Kiwanis International, he said, instead of committee functions.

He predicted that at the present rates and trends, most community functions will be assumed by government within the next decade or two, leaving service clubs little excuse for existence. One great exception, and one which would justify Kiwanis existence, will be the sponsorship of the Key and Circle K Clubs, he said.

Keefe also touched on the expansion of Kiwanis internationally, something he viewed with mixed emotions. While the movement is getting traction abroad, he felt that "we lost something in shipping Kiwanis across the seas — the idea of the primacy of human and spiritual values," he said. Abroad, clubs are highly class conscious, but he said they were nevertheless gaining strength.

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, district lieutenant governor, presided at the breakfast. Guests included Julian Pressley, Odessa, lieutenant governor - elect. On the program were Bill Johnson, club president, Rev. James Puckett and Roscoe Newell.

CYPRUS CRISIS

President Sends Envoy To Scene

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Cyrus R. Vance, President Johnson's special envoy in the Cyprus crisis, arrived in Turkey today.

Another special envoy, from United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, was en route to Turkey as fears of a Turkish-Greek war over Cyprus increased.

Turkey announced early today it was turning down a Greek proposal for further talks. The Turkish government reaffirmed its determination to ensure the security of the Turkish Cypriot minority on the island 40 miles off the Turkish coast, increasing speculation that the Turks were on the verge of landing troops on Cyprus.

President Johnson, who intervened when war on Cyprus appeared imminent in 1964, responded to the new threat by sending former Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance to Ankara with orders to proceed from there to Athens. Vance, now a New York attorney, served Johnson as a trouble-shooter in last summer's Detroit riots.

Diplomatic sources said they believed it unlikely that Turkey would attempt any military action against Greece, like it, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, before Vance's arrival.

Also heading for the Turkish capital and then Athens was U Thant's special emissary, Jose Rolz-Bennett of Guatemala, a U.N. undersecretary for political affairs.

The new crisis, part of a centuries-long history of strife between Greeks and Turks on Cyprus, developed after a battle last week in which 25 Turkish Cypriots and two Greek Cypriots were killed.

DEATHS

Harold Hatch, Rites Friday

Services for Harold E. (Hilo) Hatch, 69, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Frank D. Whitney, 82, died Wednesday night in O'Donnell.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Nalley - Pickle Rosewood Chapel, the Rev. E. V. Duggins, pastor of First Baptist Church in Ackerly, officiating. Burial will be in Ackerly Cemetery.

Mr. Whitney was born Jan. 28, 1885, in Gainesville. He lived in Big Spring seven years while working for the West Texas Compress Company, although most of his life was spent as a law enforcement officer. He served in that profession for 28 years in Bonham and two years in Wynnewood, Okla. A veteran of World War I, he was a member of the First Baptist Church in Ackerly.

Survivors include his wife, Bertha; two daughters, Mrs. Ima Jean Malone, Dallas, Mrs. Betty Pittman, Alaska; three stepsons, Alfred H. Sutton, Lexington, Ky., Maj. James D. Sutton, Arlington, Va., Raymond L. Sutton, Omak, Wash.; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Leon C. Highfill, San Angelo, Mrs. Helen Marley, Jersey City, N.J., Mrs. Maurine Garn, Toledo, Ohio; three brothers, J. W. Whitney, Dallas, Alfred Whitney, Oakland, Calif., Thomas Whitney, Terrell; one sister, Mrs. Ora Kane, Banks, Ore.; 24 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mrs. Niblett, 90, Lamesa Resident

Mrs. Amelia Niblett, resident of Lamesa for 34 years, died Wednesday in a local hospital. She was 90.

Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Nalley - Pickle Rosewood Chapel, the Rev. William H. Odell, pastor of Berea Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery.

Mrs. Niblett was born Oct. 18, 1877, in Indian Territory, Okla. She married John T. Niblett in 1900 in Snyder, Okla. He preceded her in death in 1954. She was a member of the Church of Christ in Haskell and had moved to Big Spring in June of this year.

BLESSINGS

ing. Chaplain C. O. Hitt, VA Hospital, read the psalm of Thanksgiving, and Mayor Arnold Marshall read the presidential Thanksgiving proclamation.

The offering went to the support of the high school Bible class fund and was received by members of the Key Club. Joe Dunn directed the song services, and Kenny Sheppard led the high school a cappella choir.

Mrs. Jonell Roberts was organist. The Rev. V. Ward Jackson introduced Keefe, and Kiwanians served as ushers.

Woman Pays Fine

Barbara Tredaway, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty to the complaint in Howard County Court on Wednesday afternoon. She was fined $25 and costs in the case. She paid the fine and costs and was released.

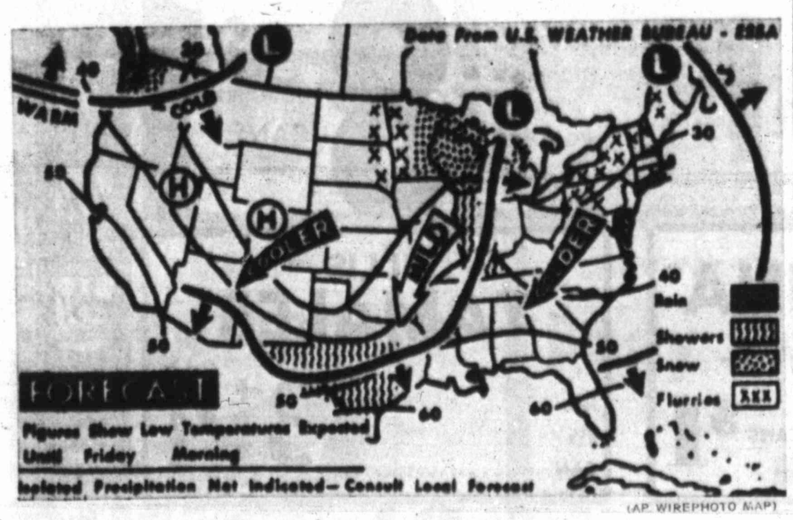

Director Tapped

AUSTIN (AP) — President Johnson has named Frank Hildebrand executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, to a 22 - member task force to seek ways to attracting more foreign tourists to the United States.

Helicopter Crash Injures Newsman

SAIGON (AP) — John Cantwell, an Australian newsman working for Time magazine, was injured in the leg and hand when the U.S. Army helicopter he was riding in was shot down near the summit of Hill 875 Wednesday.

Cantwell was reported in satisfactory condition. His injuries apparently were the result of the crash and not of the enemy groundfire which brought the chopper down.

Children Not Seriously Hurt

Tommy Rawls, three months, and Dena Rawls, two years, passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Loyce Burcham Rawls, 810 W. 8th, were treated and released from Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Rawls and Doyle Ray Burnett, 1608 W. 3rd, were in collision at 800 Lancaster.

Four minor accidents were also reported to the police Wednesday. Amy Reid, Forsan, and Russell Morris, Lubbock, were involved in an accident at 2202 Gregg. A car that left the scene of the accident was in collision with a parked automobile belonging to Alice Davis Clary, Lamesa, on the south side of the courthouse.

Donald Wayne Griffin, Sterling City, and Evelyn Joyce Walker, Route 1, were involved in an accident at FM 700 and Birdwell Lane. An automobile driven by Billy Joe Albert, Webb AFB, was in collision with two parked pickups belonging to Dreyer Music Co., 306 Gregg, at Fourth and Gregg.

Fires Snuffed

Firemen answered two calls Wednesday. At 12:05 p.m. they put out a grass fire on a vacant lot at First and Valley and no damage was reported. The second fire was at 12:55 a.m. behind The Herald, Eighth and Scurry, where there was a trash fire.

Thefts Checked

Police are investigating two thefts reported Wednesday. L. W. Hart, 3305 Drexel, reported clothes were stolen from his car. A stereo was taken from the automobile belonging to Kennethr Stephens, 700 W. 16th, while parked in the Gibson's parking lot.

C-City Council Answers Questions On Sales Tax

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Colorado City council met with civic leaders and members of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night to promote and explain the city sales tax on which Colorado City voters will ballot Dec. 15.

Dr. John Chinn, mayor, told the group that property taxes are burdensome and inequitable, and that a sales tax will tend to keep pace with increases in population, business and inflation.

He said that unless the sales tax is passed that an increase in property taxes will be necessary in 1968 or 1969 but that passage of the sales tax would probably allow reduction of property taxes and continued improvements in summer recreation programs and parks.

In response to a question as to whether Colorado City's $9 million in property valuations is growing in response to the building of new homes in the residential area, Chinn replied that additional valuations from new housing is more than offset by loss of revenue from the Baker Hotel, the Root Memorial Hospital and the Max Berman Department store.

The hotel is closed and empty, the Root Memorial Hospital has passed from private ownership to a hospital district, and the department store reduced a tremendous inventory and was sold. Councilman Mike Burt also pointed out that the city is losing about $5,000 annually because of the removal of parking meters, and is studying the purchase of a new City Master Plan to replace a study made in 1950. The cost will be at least $18,000, Burt said, of which the city will pay $6,000, and the federal government, the balance.

Frank Deregibus, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was asked if his organization would take over the promotion and presentation of the sales tax program and he would put the matter to the directors.

Unlucky Trio Free On Bail

Three men arrested by city police and brought to the county jail Wednesday on charges of being drunk were served with warrants which have been on file against them for some time, alleging two counts of theft against two of the men and one charge against the third.

The trio, listed on the jail ledger as Fox Miller, Andy Miller and Roy Graham, posted bonds and were released.

Sheriff's officers said the trio was charged with the theft of tires earlier in the year. The grand jury ruled the offense was a misdemeanor complaint. This moved the case to the county court.

The men had been sought for the misdemeanor complaints and when they were turned over to the county by the city the old warrants were activated.

State Hospital Services Held

Three hundred patients and staff members at Big Spring State Hospital attended the Thanksgiving services held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Allred Auditorium.

The Thanksgiving message brought by the Rev. Lee Butler, chaplain, concerned "Why Have I Found Grace in Thine Eyes."

Glenn Faison, minister of music at First Baptist Church, sang "How Great Thou Art." The state hospital choir, under the direction of Frank Wharton, presented "When They Ring Those Golden Bells."

City Presents Sabbath Air For Thanksgiving Holiday

A Sabbath-like air prevailed in downtown Big Spring today. Streets were almost devoid of traffic. Nearly every business establishment was closed.

At the sheriff's office in the Howard County courthouse, an abbreviated crew of deputies stood by but reported there were few matters to be investigated. On the fourth floor, the jail cook was putting the final touches to the turkey dinner which was served to the 18 prisoners in the jail this afternoon.

Flags flitted in the breeze from scores of business establishments and from many residences. The sun shone brilliantly and there was just a light nip to the air.

At Webb AFB chapel, union services arranged by the Big Spring Pastors Association in observance of Thanksgiving day were conducted with Ed Keefe, Oklahoma City, as guest speaker.

The police department was functioning as usual despite the holiday but found the hours relatively quiet. Firemen were on duty at the city fire stations. The hospitals were functioning and were in readiness to deal with any emergency the holiday might produce.

Highways were not heavily travelled since the thousands who were taking advantage of the holiday for trips to other towns had made the journey for the most part Wednesday night.

The U.S. Experiment Station reported that the low for Wednesday night was 50 degrees and was scored at 7 p.m. After that little dip the mercury began to rise. Early Thursday morning was not as chilly as had been the fleeting interval immediately following sunset yesterday.

Some of the courthouse offices will be closed Friday as well as Thursday. However, the shutting down is not universal. Some offices are to be operating while their neighbors across the hall present closed doors to the public.

For most offices and agencies in the city, work resumes Friday as it does at the retail establishments and industrial plants.

School children were in the bracket of those given a longer holiday. They will report for classes Monday.

As is traditional, the arrival of Thanksgiving brought with it the Christmas decorations in the downtown and shopping center stores. Christmas trees glittered and gaily colored Yule displays were much in evidence Thursday.

Follow-Up Expected On Mid-East Peace Formula

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant is expected to follow up the U.N. Security Council's unanimous approval of a British peace formula for the Middle East by sending trouble shooter Gunnar Jarring to the area to try to get negotiations started.

Informed sources said Thant would name Jarring, a veteran Swedish diplomat who has served in the Middle East, as U.N. mediator under terms of the British resolution the 15-nation council approved late Wednesday.

Key point of the resolution was a call for withdrawal of Israeli troops from territory it seized from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the June war.

Israel has stressed that it will not give up any territory until the Arabs agree to direct peace talks. But the fact that both Israel and the Arab states raised no major objections to the British formula was considered a major step forward after months of futile bickering.

Israeli officials in Jerusalem welcomed the Security Council action as "the first step" toward peace.

Keep Your Cool During Problems Of Holidays

'Tis the season to be jolly! Don't fret when your husband hands you his last - minute shopping list, your in - laws announce a surprise visit and the children find the key to the Christmas closet. Now is the time to keep your cool, advise the experts.

As you complete the holiday shopping, purchase a few extra gifts to hold in reserve. Many "little presents," such as hand cream or cosmetics, gourmet snacks, paperback books and plants are priced under a dollar and make nice holiday hello's for visitors and neighbors. When well-chosen and prettily wrapped, little gifts are appreciated far beyond their price. And if there are any "left-overs," you will be ahead of the game for grabbags, birthdays and bazaars.

Children getting in your hair? Suggest a special holiday project they can do themselves! For instance, even little fingers can decorate a tidbit tree for the wildlife outside the window, or choose toys to wrap and give to a needy child. Cookie and candy-making can be fun too, since convenience foods and disposable utensils keep mess to a minimum. And even if the results aren't picture-perfect, the warmth of sharing and accomplishment will be well worth the effort.

Add Gaiety

For fun and a Christmas conversation piece, trim a small tree with unusual items that fit into your home's decor. If an oriental flavor will do, miniature fans and parasols make a delightful way to trim. Search the party - favor shops for similar ways to add gaiety to your home.

Right Way To Engrave Cards

Whose name comes first if you use a card with your names printed or engraved on it?

Here the wife's name is courteously used first: "Mary and Tom" (or "Mary and Tom Green").

What if a child's name is included in the signature?

Then the father's name should come first: "Tom, Mary, and Billy Green." If you have several children you may informally sign the card: "Tom and Mary Green" and underneath, it, "Billy, Jane, and Debbie." The birth of a baby since last Christmas is also often announced," such as "and our new daughter Deborah, born September 27, 1967.

Is it correct to print or engrave your name rather than sign it personally on a Christmas card?

Many busy people with large mailing lists have their names printed or engraved. Many prefer a personal signature — especially on a card to a close friend, even if it is printed or engraved.

When signing the card, whose name is written first — the husband's or wife's?

Symbolize Grateful Hearts

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Petterson have been married only a few months and symbolize the spirit of the day as they spend their first Thanksgiving together. They will have dinner in their home at 1512 Stadium, but the noon meal will be served in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Coker, and shared with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Petterson of Colorado City.

No Bridge Games At Club Today

George Pike, director of duplicate bridge games at the YMCA, has announced winners of Thursday evening's Master Point session. They were Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. John Stone, first; Mrs. Charles Dodson and Mrs. Walter Slate, second; Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, third;; and Mrs. Joe D. Herbert and Joe Price, fourth. Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. Hayden Griffith tied for fifth place with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Riley.

Pike announced that there will be no game at the YMCA this evening due to the holiday. He reminded players that to be eligible for Master Point sessions, they must play at least one fractional game before the MP game. This does not apply to out-of-town guests.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Clean Melted Mess Of Plastic Wrapper

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever accidentally put a plastic wrapper (like bread comes in) on hot chrome, such as a toaster or a waffle iron?

Of course, the plastic melts and it is very difficult to take off without scratching the surface of the chrome!

One day I tried fingernail polish remover, and presto!, the plastic came off slick as a whistle! . . . Mrs. B. E. Fair

• • •

HELOISE

You have come along and saved the day for us all.

The remover worked immediately and I can never thank you enough. With everything coming in plastic today and so many electrical appliances, I can just bet that nearly every home will use your hint. Hugs and kisses from us all. . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Here's my way of disposing of empty cans and lids:

When the juice has been drained off and the contents removed, put the lid back into the can. There's enough moisture left inside of it for the lid to STICK to the bottom!

Then when the trash barrel is full and overflows a little, you won't have the problem of picking up those loose lids one at a time that have fallen out on the ground or are stuck to the bottom of your garbage can.

I know — I've picked up a few! . . . Mrs. C. E. S.

• • •

Another thing, too. You can press the open end of the can together to make sure that top doesn't fall out. Besides, it takes up less room in your trash barrel. . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I take an old bed sheet and cut about a yard off one end. Then fold it in half lengthwise and slip the top of my electric blanket inside of the folded sheet. I baste on both sides by hand using large stitches, but being very careful not to sew into the wiring.

After winter is over, I take off the sheet cover and my blanket is still nice and clean. Then I wash and dry the cover and baste it back on again and my blanket is ready for use next winter. . . Irene Bolte

• • •

Dear Heloise:

My young daughter begged to learn to iron and came up with a good idea:

When removing men's handkerchiefs from the dryer or clothesline, stack them one on top of the other, corners together. Then when ready to iron, place a stack on the ironing board.

Quickly spray the top one and fold, spray again and iron, using a very hot iron. By the time you reach about the middle of the stack, no spray is necessary.

My first try using this method netted 32 in less than 10 minutes. And from one who hates ironing, that's a record.

Since this hint came from a nine - year - old who, "Just thought it up, Mommie," I thought it worth passing on. . . Mother

• • •

Dear Heloise:

When you are making a lemon pie and it calls for the juice and grated rind of one lemon, try this:

Squeeze the juice of one lemon, remove all of the seeds with a spoon, then grind the rind — pulp and all—in your food chopper or electric blender by adding the juice to it.

I used the tiniest blade that came with mine, and it was the best-flavored lemon pie I've ever made in my entire life! . . . Merrel Brown

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Pieces of styrofoam make excellent pin cushions.

The pins cling to them and needles don't work their way inside as they do an ordinary pin cushion. . . Mrs. Donald Webster

Rebekah Lodge Gains Member

Mrs. A. I. Johnson was accepted for membership during the Tuesday meeting of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Johnson will be initiated soon.

Mrs. Alton Allen, noble grand, presided, and 23 visits to the sick were reported by the 28 members attending. Mrs. Lillian Black of Fort Worth was a guest.

Mrs. Jim Ferguson read a resolution of sympathy in memory of Eugene Crenshaw, brother of Mrs. Mable Glen. In other business, the women agreed to send a Christmas donation to the Rebekah homes for children and the aged, and they will serve refreshments Saturday at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Gives Criticism On Arrangements

Mrs. W. D. Caldwell gave constructive criticism on dried arrangements made by members of the After Five Garden Club at the Monday evening meeting in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. Cohostesses were Mrs. Rex Greenwood and Mrs. Joe Peay. Mrs. Tom Ivey presided and reported on the Southern Zone meeting held in Midland last week. Refreshments were served.

Couple Says Vows In Wednesday Wedding

Mrs. Anita Coleman and Harry Wood exchanged wedding vows before an altar graced with yellow and white gladioli and carnations Wednesday evening at Hillcrest Baptist Church. The Rev. Clyde Campbell read the double ring ceremony.

The bride lives at 2305 Mishler and is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel King of Post. The bridegroom resides at Odessa and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wood of Post.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Vicki Findley at the piano.

The bride was attired in a yellow silk shantung two-piece suit with white and yellow lace overblouse. She wore an antique pendant watch as her only jewelry, and her corsage was a brown orchid.

Miss Nancy Coleman and Miss Kathy Coleman served as their mother's attendants. They were attired in matching dresses of blue silk shantung designed with Empire bodices and blue lace jackets. They wore corsages of yellow rosebuds.

A reception was held in fellowship hall.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a yellow and white floral arrangement. The bride's cake was three tiered and topped with confection white doves and love birds. Miss Charleta Findley presided at the guest register, and others in the house party were Mrs. James Findley and Mrs. H. L. Grant.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wood, Mrs. Ethel King, Mrs. Mary Northcutt and Mrs. Mary Mize, all of Post; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wood and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Guthrie, all of Lubbock; and Mrs. Leo Burkett of Lamesa.

Circles Meet For Study On Africa

The Blanche Grove and Jo Ann Sturgeon circles of Baptist Temple held a joint meeting at the church Tuesday for the mission study on Africa entitled "Arrows to Atoms."

Those participating were Mrs. D. D. Johnston, Mrs. Ross Hill and Mrs. Arnold Tonn. Slides illustrated the text.

Afterward, the Grove Circle went to the home of Mrs. Bill Myers to wrap Christmas packages for servicemen in Vietnam, and the Sturgeon circle reconvened at the State Hospital to wrap gifts for patients.

Pythian Sisters Give To Children

Thanksgiving and Christmas donations were made by the Pythian Sister, Sterling Temple No. 43 for the children's home in Weatherford at the Monday evening meeting at Castle Hall. The annual Christmas party was tentatively set for Dec. 20 in the home of Mrs. R. E. Collier, 810 Kent. Mrs. W. L. Thompson, president, was honored with a grandmother's shower and was awarded the silver drill prize. A covered dish supper was served by Mrs. Herbert Johnson Jr., hostess.

MRS. T. M. MERRICK

Wedding Held In Local Home

Miss Donna Jeanine Duke and Teddy M. Merrick were married Monday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thorp, 2614 Ann, with the Rev. Guy White, Paster of Coahoma Baptist Church, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Duke, Coahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Merrick, Sand Springs. The bride was given in mariage by her father, and vows were exchanged before an arch of white gladioli, carnations and greenery. Her wedding dress of white lace over taffeta was fashioned with Empire waist marked with a small white bow. The bodice was styled with high, rounded neckline and long sleeves. A white pillbox hat with veiling completed the costume, and she caried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Keith Hodnett, the matron of honor, wore a pink wool sheath and carried pink carnations. Keith Hodnett served as best man.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony, and the couple received guests with their parents. Members of the house party were Mrs. Jack Thorp, Mrs. Gordon Thorp, Mrs. Guy White and Mrs. Charles Parrish. Sammy Merrick of Stanton was an out-of-town guest.

The refreshment table was covered with pink net over white taffeta and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli. Crystal appointments were used, and the white wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Upon returning from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Merrick will reside in Big Spring. Both are graduates of Coahoma High School and are now attending Howard County Junior College. He is employed by Gibson Discount Center.

For traveling, Mrs. Merrick chose a pink wool suit with black accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

A LOVELIER YOU

Schedule Time For Keeping Good Looks

By MARY SUE MILLER

Good looks and good grooming are synonymous. Because of haphazard grooming habits, the beauty of many a girl is obscured or entirely hidden. Yet a woman could be on the plain side and appear lovely were she flawlessly turned out. Superior grooming is never a hit-or-miss affair. It is based on an efficient plan, one that fits individual needs for a given period of time. The plan, below, is meant to be used as a reminder and adapted to one's own requirements.

Reserve time now for the shampoos and sets that you will need before the new year. This is vital whether or not you frequent a salon. Do-it-yourself girls are most likely to "put off until tomorrow" unless time is saved for beauty duties.

If a permanent, tint or touch-up is in order, make haste to have it. Perms benefit from "aging." Coloring should never be put off until the neglect shows.

Check your supply of cosmetics, manicure equipment and hair-grooming aids. Fill in missing items before you're caught short on a big evening.

So that your skin looks glow-y, give it extra care. Double up on whatever treatments make it bloom—sudsings, creamings, masks.

If you are ever tempted to slight a beauty duty because of time pressures, remember that to keep in trim professional models get up an hour early, skip lunch and burn the midnight oil. Anything they can do, you can do better.

KNOWS NO AGE

Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in "Beauty Knows No Age." Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering make-up, hairstyles and fashions. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped, envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

O.K., Gang, soon as you find spots in the refrigerator for the leftovers and finish that mountain of dishes—it will be time to start thinking about Christmas. Welll, you might as well. It should be more pleasant to think about that than to dwell on all the pounds you'll put on in the next couple of days.

Traveling might help take the pounds off, and some of us will be doing that. Mrs. Horace Garrett and daughters, Ann and Sue, will be coming back from Phoenix where they are spending the holiday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kemper, and their son, John, and daughter, Mrs. Charles Bentzin. Bentzin will be there, too, with the children, Benson and Barton.

Marvin Miller filled the gas tank Monday and took off for Dallas for a week with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bernard, and children. Daughter Carolyn is in California but won't be off long enough to join them. Marvin's compadre, Richard Johnson, says he's staying home to work (?).

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne M. Lowry of Bridgman, Mich., are holiday visitors in the home of her mother, Mrs. Grace Warren. Mrs. Lowry flew here from O'Hare Field in Chicago. She said that Michigan has already had two one-inch snows . . . and I hope our Texas weather behaves for her.

Over at the Ben Boadle house they were expecting daughter Jackie home from Sul Ross and then the family will get together with her parents, the Horace Miles in Sand Springs, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boadle.

Don't you know Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor, 211 Jefferson, are happy today? They have their son, Lt. David E. Taylor, and his wife here for Thanksgiving. Lt. Taylor will report to Fort Knox, Ky., in December. And over at the Tony Taroni home, they have as guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards. Friday the whole family will go to Dallas to see his mother, Mrs. E. Taroni.

Mrs. Ivahlou Ashley was hurrying home Wednesday from Rotan where she had school business, and Will Inkman, of the same office, was trying to get over a touch of something-or-other. He's due to fly to Dallas Friday to return with his mother, Mrs. Camille Inkman, who has been there for several weeks.

Note from Mrs. Leon Kinney says she enjoyed the social hour hosted by Mrs. Faye Morgan the other night for members of the International Wives Club and several other women. Understand Paquita Hinecker, one of the club members, is a marvelous seamstress—and I know she is a lovely person. The group gave Faye some pretty ear clips for her hospitality.

The Ever Ready Civic and Art Club also had a nice dinner last week, and they thank everyone who helped make it a success. Over 100 attended to hear the guest speaker, charming Mrs. O. T. Brewster, and the soloist, Mrs. J. E. Swindell. Miss Rosetta Brown is president.

Happy Holiday—Call me?

Bride-Elect Honored At Waco Party

Miss Mary Smoot, bride-elect of Tommy Gingerich, was honored with a gift shower Tuesday evening in the Baylor University Student Union Building in Waco.

Hostesses were Miss Kathy Simonds, Miss Judie Brooks, Miss Judy Deaver, Miss Becky Rodgers and Miss Kathie Parker.

The honoree was presented a pink carnation corsage, as was her mother, Mrs. Joe H. Smoot, of Big Spring, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. George K. Gingerich of Waco. The hostess' gift was an electric buffet warmer.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink roses, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Approximately 50 attended.

FOR BETA OMICRON

Mrs. Don Cunningham Gives Jewelry Program

Mrs. Don Cunningham presided and presented the program on jewelry at the Monday evening meeting of the Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in Coahoma. The group met in the home of Mrs. Rodney Hallmark.

Mrs. Cunningham compared primitive and modern jewelry and said that primitive man wore ornaments for protection, but woman has always worn jewelry for adornment. She showed some antique jewelry that belongs to her family.

Mrs. Jim Prewit will be presented in the Queen of Hearts ball, Feb. 10 in San Angelo. The Christmas party was set for Dec. 19 in the home of Mrs. Herb Doering, 3216 Auburn, and a wiglet will be given away Dec. 15 by the chapter.

The Thanksgiving theme was used in decorations. The refreshment table was laid with a white embroidered cloth with autumn leaves and centered with a shock of feed flanked by miniature pumpkins and turkeys.

MR. AND MRS. J. T. GROSS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY
Long time between these wedding pictures

Reception Will Mark Golden Anniversary

Miss Vera Pounds and J. T. Gross might have been married earlier in the day on Nov. 24, 1917, but the minister had rattled off to town with a wagon load of cotton to be ginned. It was sundown when he got back home, so the couple drove up in the buggy and remained there while he came out and performed the ceremony.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gross, who live on the Sterling City Route in the South Haven Addition, will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary with an open house reception at the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. Their children and friends are hosting the event from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Mrs. Gross will be presented with a gold orchid and Mr. Gross with a gold boutonniere. All friends are invited to attend.

Mr. Gross is a transplanted East Texan. In 1914 he heard about a fabulous crop in West Texas, and after gathering his crops, he struck out for Haskell County. As fate would have it, he went to work for Vera Pounds' father. After the day's work, the young folk gathered in the front room to play the organ and sing, and Mr. Gross joined them. This was the beginning of the romance which climaxed in their marriage at Rochester three years later.

They moved to Eastern Oklahoma and farmed several years before returning to Texas and Scurry County, finally moving to Howard County in 1928. He worked for the T&P shops until he was bumped during the depression years, so it was back to the farm. They moved back to Big Spring in 1950. Mrs. Gross worked at Wackers for 11 years, and for the past four years she has been with the Berea Baptist Church nursery. Both are members of that church where she has been a teacher of adult women.

All of their seven children plan to be here for the anniversary. They were Mrs. Herschel (Oleta) Johnson, Alamagordo, N.M.; A. J. Gross, Austin; Mrs. P. O. (Doris) Maneval, Carnation, Wash.; Mrs. L. B. (Bettie Jean) Crow, Brownwood; Mrs. Grady (Billie Jean) Walker, Big Spring; Mrs. Claude (LaVerne) Morris, Big Spring; and Donald Ray Gross, Las Vegas, Nev. Nineteen of their 25 grandchildren and two of their three great-grandchildren also will be here.

Others expected are Mr. Gross' sister, Mrs. Lola Duckworth, Pasadena; and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Traweek, Dublin, and two brothers, H. A. Pounds, Campbell, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Pounds, Bovina.

Benefits Bill Faces Tough Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic sponsors of the Senate Social Security bill that proposes record cash benefit boosts anticipate a tough conference with the House in the effort to work out a final version.

Some experts on the legislation believe differences between the two versions are so serious and numerous that a final agreement may have to wait until the next session of Congress, which starts in January.

HUGE MARGIN

But Democratic leaders say they are determined to get the far-ranging bill to President Johnson's desk before Congress quits this year.

The measure cleared the Senate Wednesday by an overwhelming 78-6 vote after six days of floor debate.

But a few senators, including Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, said they voted for it with the expectation and hope that the final product would be much closer to the House version.

CHANGES

The Senate made more than 100 substantive changes in the House bill passed last August. But the strongest disagreement with the House is expected to center in two areas:

—The much higher Social Security benefit and tax levels approved by the Senate.

—Senate softening proposed House restrictions on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

The Senate measure goes along with the benefit levels —including a $70 monthly minimum, up 59 per cent from the present $44, and a 15 per cent general increase for others now on the rolls.

Tied in wih this is an eventual $10,800 taxable wage base, a big jump from the present $6,600. This $10,800 base would go toward financing greatly increased benefits proposed for those retiring many years in the future.

WORK RULES

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and his House Ways and Means Committee rejected the administration-backed levels after six months of close consideration earlier this session.

Mills won House approval of a bill containing a 12½ per cent general increase with a $50 minimum monthly payment and a $7,600 wage base.

But Democratic backers of the Senate bill contend the benefits it contains are the lowest possible if many old persons are to be lifted out of poverty and given meaningful retirement payments.

Mills inserted toughened welfare provisions into the bill in his committee after voicing alarm about the big increase in the number of AFDC recipients.

He said he believed it was necessary to put features into the program compelling many of these persons to take work training or jobs and become self-supporting.

The Senate version also has a broad work incentive program but the strong provisions for forcing work upon welfare recipients contained in the House measure have been removed.

Raiders Discover Corker Of Cooker

HEFLIN, Ala. (AP) — State and federal agents raided a barn looking for a moonshine still and found a corker of a cooker.

"This is the largest cooker any of us has ever seen," said John Corbin Jr., a federal revenue agent. He said the cooker, used in converting mash to whisky, was a 20-foot long, six-foot high steel vat.

The raid produced five arrests and 20,360 gallons of fermenting mash. The still was said to be the largest ever discovered in Alabama.

Corbin said the 19,200-gallon still was capable of producing 725 gallons of illicit whisky daily.

Laborites Win Censure Vote By 335-258

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government rode out a censure vote Wednesday night on its devaluation of the pound as expected, but political commentators continued to predict that Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan—the man who takes responsibility for the move—will be moved to another job.

Callaghan, a breezy 55-year-old Irishman, for months has wanted to quit the onerous Treasury post.

NEW RESPECT

Amid the hue and cry after the pound was cut from $2.80 to $2.40, it seemed at first that he might succeed Foreign Secretary George Brown. But Callaghan's frank, incisive handling of critics of devaluation in the House of Commons won him new respect. Some political writers even pointed to him as a possible successor to Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Wilson's government easily beat back a Conservative censure motion in Commons. The vote, along straight party lines, was 335-258. Only one Laborite broke ranks and abstained.

GOLD RUSH

A rush on gold following devaluation was intensified by France's decision to pull out of the international pool pegging the price. This forced the U.S. government to sell gold heavily to foreign buyers to keep the price from rising above $35 a fine ounce, since a rise would devalue the dollar.

RAMBLING NOTE

Oswald's Grave Stone Missing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald lay in lonely eminence under leaden skies this Thanksgiving Day, his grave marked by a weeping willow tree and a pot of flowers left with a rambling note.

It was disclosed Wednesday—the fourth anniversary of the Nov. 22 tragedy in Dallas when President Kennedy was assassinated — that someone had stolen the 135-pound headstone from Oswald's grave.

ANONYMOUS DONOR

The time of the theft was set at late Tuesday or early Wednesday. A florist's delivery man discovered the headstone had been taken when he came to deliver the one bunch of flowers—a pot of yellow chrysanthemums—from an anonymous donor.

Oswald was identified by the Warren Commission as President Kennedy's assassin. Oswald himself died Nov. 24, 1963, when he was gunned down during a jail transfer.

His funeral was marked by controversy. Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, mother of the accused assassin, at first said she wanted Oswald buried in Arlington National Cemetery, the resting place for the nation's fighting men. The family had to settle for Rose Hill Cemetery just inside the city limits of Fort Worth and a stone's throw from Arlington, Tex.

INNOCENT

Fort Worth police said Earl Johnson, superintendent of Rose Hill, reported the theft of the marker Wednesday. Johnson said the gray, granite, 14-inch-high stone could have been dug up with a spade and was light and compact enough for one man to carry.

Fort Worth police said an investigation was under way. They did not disturb the flower pot, left with an attached card that read:

"Oswald:

"As these flowers hold sweet scent, this grave does hold me innocent. I am.

"Now other voices speak that louder grow . . . no longer weak . . . who, if legal means to fail, will some names, true killers, tell.

NOT MOLESTED

The gravesite itself was not molested. Mrs. Oswald, Johnson said, visited the gravesite Tuesday. She planted the weeping willow that now marks the grave, at the head. "I make my living by selling his letters, so I guess I can afford a marker," Mrs. Oswald said.

Mrs. Oswald had suggested only last week that her son's body be exhumed and examined. She said she believed a physical examination could disprove parts of the Warren Commission Report on the assassination. She has insisted that Oswald was innocent. The commission said he acted alone in murdering Kennedy.

Police said nightly checks are made of the gravesite, though a 24-hour guard on the grave was relaxed—without public notice—after more than a year.

Nonstop Petitions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil Aeronautics Board officials said Wednesday petitions to operate nonstop between Houston and Cleveland have been filed by Delta Airlines of Atlanta and Trans Texas Airways of Houston. Delta also asked for a route between Houston and Detroit by way of Cleveland.

1967 YULE STAMPS LIKE 1966 ISSUE, ONLY BIGGER
Current issue gives better showing of Madonna and Child

Christmas Stamps Bigger, But Have Same Artwork

Uncle Sam's post office department liked the Christmas stamp it used in 1966 so well that it has repeated the design this year.

There's a big difference, though. The 1967 Christmas stamp is about two times as large as those printed in 1966. The stamp admirer gets a chance to better see the colors and details of the replica of the famous Madonna and Child painting which it features.

Last year's Christmas stamps came in sheets of 100. This year's issue is in 50 stamp panels. The price, of course, is still the same—5 cents a copy.

The Big Spring Post Office has an ample supply of the attractive special Christmas stamps on hand. Friday there were 170,000 copies in the post office vault. Further, according to Weldon Bryant, assistant postmaster, the supply can be augmented in speedy fashion if needed.

There are two reasons. One, the stamp is decidedly ornamentive. Second, if you put a 5-cent stamp on your Christmas greetings, they get first class mail handling and stand a better chance of reaching their destination on time.

Students To Stage Popular Musical Here Next Week

Rehearsals are going smoothly and tickets selling fast for the forthcoming production of "The King and I," by the drama, art, band and choral departments of Big Spring High School.

The popular musical will be staged the evenings of Nov. 30, Dec. 1-2 at 8 p.m. in the new auditorium, with reserved tickets at $2, adult tickets, $1.50; and students, $1.

Mark Shaver plays the balky, puzzled, and polygamous king of Siam, and Beth Hayworth is the strait-laced English governess he engages to tutor his children.

"The King and I," which scored a run in New York when it was first produced there that was almost as long as the record-holding runs of "Oklahoma!" and "South Pacific" by the same Rodgers and Hammerstein, is based on the actual story of an Englishwoman who was brought to the Siamese court in the middle of the 19th century to serve up western culture to the king's numerous progeny.

This was Mrs. Anna Leonowens who, after seven years' duty, returned to England and published a book about her experiences in 1871. Seventy years later, a British novelist, Margaret Landon, fictionalised this story into a novel, "Anna and the King of Siam," which was made into a successful movie, starring Irene Dunne and Rex Harrison as the tutor and king, in 1946.

In 1951 Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein 2nd followed up their epochal successes with "Oklahoma!" "Carousel" and "South Pacific" by adapting this story into the musical play, which ran for three years — minus nine days — in New York, from 1951 to 1954, under the title "The King and I." Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner (who had been the Siamese king in the original stage version) made the film of the musical in 1956.

Replete with the picturesqueness of what was a century ago and a half-barbarous land, "The King and I" tells a more absorbing story than is usually found in musical comedies—the story of a conflict of ideas between western civilization, as represented by a dauntless English governess, and oriental culture as represented by an autocratic but well - meaning king, who is a mixture of brutal force and child-like curiosity about western ways.

Sprinkled through this story of a battle of sexes and a collision of races are some of the most tuneful songs—"Getting to Know You," "Hello Young Lovers," "I Whistle a Happy Tune," "Something Wonderful," "We Kiss in a Shadow" and "Shall I Tell You What I Think of You?" — not forgetting the king's philosophical soliloquy "A Puzzlement."

University To Reopen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Racially troubled Central State University will reopen next Monday under a new policy giving more recognition to Black Power elements but with renewed determination to prevent lawlessness, President Harry E. Groves said Wednesday.

He told a news conference here that university trustees approved policy changes after rioting that closed down the 2,700-student school Nov. 15 for an extended Thanksgiving holiday.

Black Power elements were blamed for the rioting.

Sinatra, Young Wife Will Try Separation

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "A trial separation has been mutually agreed upon."

The bare announcement signaled a rift in the 16-month marriage of Frank Sinatra, 51, and Mia Farrow, 22, and touched off speculation over reasons for the break.

The news was released Wednesday by James Mahoney, publicity agent for the two stars. He said neither of the Sinatras had comment.

FAREWELL PARTY

The twice-divorced Sinatra married the young star of television's "Peyton Place" on July 19, 1966, in Las Vegas, Nev. Their jobs often kept them apart, as she made a film in England with Lawrence Harvey and he continued his far-flung activities in the show world.

But the pair appeared to be in accord during the times they were together. A few weeks ago she was much in evidence as the singer taped his latest television special.

Earlier this week, the Sinatras held a small farewell party for Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton who visited here briefly.

ANGRY CALLS

Friends indicated problems between Sinatra and his young wife were aggravated by troubles concerning their current films. Miss Farrow has been starring in "Rosemary's Baby," and the film, directed by Polish Roman Polanski, lagged behind schedule. She had been slated to join her husband in filming New York locations of "The Detective."

Sinatra, who likes to make his films rapidly, became irritated because his wife was unable to join him in New York. Angry telephone calls were reported between Sinatra and officials of Paramount Pictures, which is producing "Rosemary's Baby."

SENSATION

The studio refused to release Miss Farrow for her appearance in "The Detective" and the cast and crew of the Sinatra film returned to Hollywood where production was suspended pending Miss Farrow's appearance.

Insiders predicted that Miss Farrow will be replaced in "The Detective."

The romance of Sinatra and Miss Farrow, 29 years his junior, caused a sensation when it was first disclosed. She is the Hollywood-born daughter of Tarzan's costar, Maureen O'Sullivan, and her late husband, director John Farrow.

MAKING MED HISTORY

Little Girls Offer Hope For Thousands

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Four little girls—too young to know they're making medical history—offered hope for thousands Tuesday when doctors outlined their progress as the most successful liver transplant patients in medical history.

As recently as four months ago, there was no known record of anyone surviving longer than 34 days following any type of liver transplant.

Now there are these four.

The first, Julie Rodriguez, 25-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo., had her transplant 122 days ago on July 23.

SLY SMILE

She bounced alongside with mother, arms swinging into a news conference. Julie is virtually ready for discharge from the hospital, and spends about half her time outside, leading an all but normal life.

The most recent patient, Carol Lynne MacCourt, 15½-month old daughter of Mrs. Marylin MacCourt, Salt Lake City, made her appearance in a stroller and had a shy smile and a wave for newsmen. She received her new liver 45 days ago, on Oct. 8.

Kerri Lynn Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Brown, Long Beach, Calif., also arrived in a stroller and didn't seem at all impressed by her visitors. She is 15 months old and had her transplant Sept. 5.

The oldest, Paul Kay Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Hansen, Fort Worth, Tex., was carried in. She is 25 months old and received her new liver Aug. 1.

TOO EARLY

There have been some serious but so far not insurmountable complications with these cases, but generally doctors at the University of Colorado Medical Center, where the transplants were performed, are optimistic. They are hopeful progress with livers will parallel advances in kidney transplanation, a field where some patients are doing well five years after the surgery.

The doctors are reluctant to make long range predictions but "the fact that they are doing well is encouraging," said Dr. Carl G. Groth of Sweden, a Public Health Service international fellow in surgery. "It's too early to tell," about the future, he said.

Opening lead: Six of ♡ South, the declarer at three no trump, succeeded in completely disorganizing the defense at the opening gun by sleight of hand.

West, heeding his partner's overcall, dutifully opened the six of hearts. The nine was carefully played from dummy and East covered with the jack to dislodge declarer's king.

South crossed over to the ace of clubs in order to maintain his line of communications with the dummy, he led the jack of diamonds and took a first round finesse in the suit. West was in with the queen and he returned the three of hearts.

East was obliged to put up the queen of hearts in order to top declarer's eight. Whether or not he cashed the ace next proved to be a mere bookkeeping entry involving an overtrick, inasmuch as dummy's ten-five constituted a delayed stopper in the suit, and South now had nine running tricks—four diamonds, three clubs, one spade, and one heart.

East damaged the defense beyond repair at trick one when he played the jack of hearts. West's lead of the six was obviously either a doubleton or a singleton, inasmuch as the three was the only lower card missing. If it is a singleton, then there is no hope for the defenders since declarer has two stoppers in the suit.

If West has a doubleton heart, however, then South can be restricted to one trick—provided that East retains enough strength to top North's remaining three cards in the suit, the 10-5-4. East can accomplish this end by refraining from covering dummy's nine.

At trick one, East should merely signal with the seven. Observe that it does not matter that North wins the first trick with the nine for, when West gets in with the queen of diamonds to return his remaining heart—East can put up the ace to drop South's king which is now alone. The queen and jack of hearts pick up the dummy's holding and East's deuce is established for the setting trick.

Dear Abby

The Gal Who Lost Out

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I got a girl friend of mine a date with an eligible bachelor! After he took her out once he told me he thought she was "charming." Naturally, I wanted to make her feel good, so I told her what he said and I built it up a little. After the second date he told me he found her to be extremely aggressive, possessive, and very eager to get married. He also said that she has lots of problems, which he doesn't need right now. He hasn't called her back and I'm sure he doesn't intend to.

My girl friend keeps asking me why he doesn't call her. What can I tell her to get her off my neck? I could say he thinks she is a little too young for him. Or that I think he has somebody else. Or maybe I should tell her what he REALLY said about her so she won't be so forward with other men and scare them off like she did this one. THE FIXER

DEAR FIXER: Don't tell her anything. She is obviously the type who comes on very strong, and any eligible man who dates her gets her message loud and clear.

You won't change her personality, even with a well-intended tip. And chances are she will quote you, and you'll lose the man's friendship. Maybe not, but that's usually the way it works out.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my best friend. I am married and have a 13-month-old daughter. This friend, who is also married, invited my husband and me to her home last evening. We took our daughter, Angela, along and had a very nice time just talking. There were other guests, too.

My friend called me this morning, very upset. She said that Angela had taken an ash-tray and banged it against her brand-new cedar chest, and the chest was ruined. I didn't notice Angela doing this, and neither did my husband. My friend said SHE noticed it but didn't want to say anything in front of the other guests.

I told her I was very sorry and even offered to pay to have the cedar chest repaired, but she said it couldn't be repaired. Now what should I do? I apologized and said I'd never bring my child to her home again, but she still wasn't satisfied. What more can I do? I hate to lose her friendship.

ANGELA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your "friend" is obviously angling for a new cedar chest at your expense. If you feel that obligated, offer to buy her one. Whether your "friendship" survives this episode is doubtful. If not, the loss will not be great.

Artists Collecting Works For Show, Flea Market

By WINNIE UNGER

Big Spring Art Association is working hard to collect works for its annual Membership Show and Flea Market display to be set up in the mall at Highland Shopping Center Dec. 2.

Painters and craftsmen in Big Spring and neighbor cities who want to display their works may register early Saturday morning, and are encouraged to arrange their own displays. Entry fee is $1 for any number desired. The paintings will remain in the mall Saturday and Sunday, and will range from tiny prices on up.

Mrs. Frank Hartley is chairman of the show.

The term "flea market" originated in large European cities such as Paris, Rome and London to designate temporary outdoor markets which were set up on Saturdays featuring folk art, books, pottery, jewelry, old tools, and other items from the home. Painters have found this method very appropriate to display and sell their lowest-priced works—some unsigned, or several years old, or those they wish to dispose of in this manner.

The Ninth Annual Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions of the Southwest Region, which includes Texas and New Mexico, will be held in San Antonio Jan. 25-26-27. The Junior League of San Antonio, Inc., in cooperation with San Antonio College, sponsors the auditions, and application blanks may be obtained by writing to the Metropolitan Auditions, care of The Junior League of San Antonio, 819 Augusta St., San Antonio, Tex., 78215. Applications must be postmarked no later than Jan. 5, 1968.

All qualified candidates will be heard in preliminary auditions on Jan. 25, 26. The most talented and promising will audition in the finals Jan. 27 before Jan Behr, conductor of the Metropolitan Opera.

The first place finalist selected by Maestro Behr will compete in the national semi-finals to be held in the Metropolitan Opera House during the week of March 25. The expenses of the trip will be paid by the Metropolitan Opera National Council.

Those selected to enter the national finals will appear before an invited audience to be judged by Rudolf Bing and his staff, with the winner receiving possible Metropolitan Opera or Metropolitan Opera National Company contracts and other awards.

In Lubbock, the Hayloft Dinner Theater opened Wednesday with "Irma la Douce," a Broadway musical. The Lubbock Theater Center will open Nov. 30, and continue Dec. 1-2-8-9, their production of the comedy, "Dear Me, the Sky Is Falling."

* * *

The Fort Worth Opera Association will open Dec. 1-3 with "Aida," the title role to be sung by Ingrid Bjoner, Metropolitan Opera soprano. Mexican National Opera tenor Placido Domingo will sing the role of Radames and Metropolitan Opera soprano Nell Rankin will be Amneris.

Other operas scheduled in the series are "The Marriage of Figaro," Jan. 19 and 21; "Manon Lescaut," March 8-10; and "Lucia di Lammermoor," April 5-7. All will be given in Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium, Friday performances at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2:30; and the Opera Association will accept orders for individual productions.

Compact Model Indians And Pilgrims Celebrate Holiday

First graders at Boydstun School staged their own version of how the ancient Pilgrims and their red skinned friends got together on the first Thanksgiving day. The "Indian" in the center is doubtless giving the Pilgrims his idea of the latest dance. The wigwam in the background and the assorted tin-can tom-toms all contributed a special flavor the the scene in the school's newly rebuilt, but as yet uncompleted, library.

Books Offer Good Choice As Gifts

Of all the gifts you might offer a child this year, books are among the best. As the book becomes a long-term favorite, this Christmas and your thoughtfulness will be pleasantly stamped in the child's memory.

When selecting a gift book, keep in mind three criteria. First, is it a book that the child will want to own both now and in the future? Second, is it the best version of that particular book, and with the best possible illustrations? Finally, is it either superbly up to date or a timeless classic?

A child under three, according to educators and child care experts, will relate most easily to animal books with bright, simple pictures. He'll certainly like "Ring o' Roses" a collection of Mother Goose rhymes and "A Apple Pie", Kate Greenaway's colored ABC book. For the slightly older pre-schooler, you might pick "The Tale of Peter Rabbit" or "The Golden Goose Book" which tells of The Three Bears, The Three Little Pigs and Tom Thumb.

The child of five to seven is learning to read, and can appreciate the stories of the brothers Grimm, A. A. Milne's "Winnie the Pooh" and "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland". As he advances slightly in age and reading ability, he'll want to tackle "Gulliver's Travels", "Aesop's Fables", "Uncle Remus' and the wonderful animal stories compiled by Hugh Lotting into "The Story of Doctor Dolittle'.

Around ten, the tastes of boys and girls begin to differ. Either can enjoy "The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood — or "The Story of King Arthur and His Knights". But whereas girls lean toward "Little Women" and "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm", boys usually prefer tali tales about cowboys like "Pecos Bill", or adventure stories such as Stevenson's "Kidnapped" or Cooper's "The Last of the Mohicans".

Teenagers vary from those who read anything to those who loathe most books. The classics, of course, are still good choices; they'll be kept and used for years. You might consider the collected works of William Shakespeare, "Moby Dick" or "Les Miserables".

If the teen you're buying for has a hobby, however, your best bet is a book about it. Look up the hobby in Major Reference Works supplement at the back of the "Random House Dictionary of the English Language". Every field of interest from ancient history to stamp collecting is listed, and the reference books suggested are the best ones available.

Whatever the youngster's age or taste, you can find a book that's perfect for him. From it, he'll derive not only the joy of reading or being read to, but also a love of worlds beyond his own.

MOTHER ADMITS FOUR 'TRIPS'

LSD Causes Birth Defects

BOSTON (AP)—University of Iowa pediatricians say they have encountered the first documented case of a baby born with birth defects because her mother had taken the hallucinatory drug LSD during pregnancy.

The baby girl, born in Iowa last summer, has a severely deformed right leg.

The report by Dr. Hans Zellweger a professor of pediatrics, and his associates is published in the current issue of a British medical journal The Lancet, printed and distributed simultaneously in London and Boston.

They said they are certain that LSD caused the defect in the baby because there is no evidence of birth defects in the families of father or mother, both parents were healthy, and the mother had taken no drug except LSD during her pregnancy.

They also said that in both the mother and the father laboratory analysis revealed breaks in their chromosomes, tiny cell structures which carry the genes, or hereditary units.

THREE TOES

Medical literature recently has contained several reports by investigators who found chromosome breaks among LSD users and said evidence indicated that the defects could be transmitted to offspring, but none reported an actual case.

The right leg of the baby girl born in Iowa is shorter than her left, and is attached to her hip at an odd angle. Her right foot also is short and has only three toes.

Zellweger's report did not indicate that all women who have chromosome breaks as a result of taking LSD will have deformed children, but said LSD taken during pregnancy definitely may cause birth defects.

Zellweger said the critical date of the mother's taking of LSD appears to have been the 45th day of her pregnancy.

He noted that it coincides with the experience during the early 1960s with the drug thalidomide, which was linked with limbs deformities when taken between the 42nd and 47th days of pregnancy.

Rosy Assessment Fails To Repair Viet Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever its impact on the country, Gen. William C. Westmoreland's optimistic assessment of Vietnam war progress has left senatorial critics and supporters of President Johnson's policies as sharply divided as ever.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., a spokesman for dissenters, said he has no doubt Westmoreland, the U.S. field commander, and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to Saigon, "believe what they are saying when they report progress."

PROGRESS

"But I can't believe we are making all that progress," Clark said. "Their reports are certainly in disagreement with those we get from intelligent, responsible newsmen on the scene."

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., a strong supporter of Johnson's policies within the divided Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a separate interview he thinks Westmoreland and Bunker gave "very satisfactory answers" to questions about the progress in both military and civilian programs.

JUSTIFIED

"I think their optimism is justified," Sparkman said. "From them and other reports I have received, I think we are on the road to attaining our objectives of giving South Vietnam freedom of choice and of stemming Communist aggression."

While Sparkman said he thinks the intensive wave of optimistic statements carried on in recent days by Johnson, Westmoreland, Bunker and others will increase support for the President's course, the critics did not seem to agree.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., a dissenter, told his colleagues Wednesday he couldn't understand why Westmoreland was making speeches at home while some of the most critical battles of the war were under way.

DEADLY BATTLE

At about that time, Westmoreland was terming the 20-day Dak To battle "the beginning of a great defeat for the enemy." He said at a Pentagon news conference he had just spoken by telephone to his deputy, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., who had been to Dak To and had made an aerial reconnaissance of the battlefield.

"With due respect to Gen. Westmoreland," Hartke said, "more people have been killed in Vietnam while he was here telling us about the great victories in that war. The most serious battle of the war has been going on over there in the meantime.

"We have a half million of the best trained American troops there, all our technology, all of our planes, all of the money of the greatest, most powerful nation in the world. Yet, in some way, we do not seem to be able to win because it is that kind of war."

Brooks Must Face Draft Dodge Count

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A federal judge refused Wednesday to block prosecution of Black Power spokesman Fred Brooks as a draft dodger.

U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller cited the established rule "that a registrant for the Selective Service is not entitled to judicial review of his classification when he has not exhausted his administrative remedies."

Unless Brooks appeals to a higher court, Miller's action clears the way for the federal government to prosecute the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee leader.

'GROSS DISRESPECT'

Brooks lost his student deferment after being suspended from Tennessee A&I State University last summer for showing "gross disrespect" for the school administration. He subsequently was reclassified 1-A.

Brooks, 21, refused induction, saying he is opposed to the Vietnam war and charging that Negroes were systematically excluded from Tennessee draft boards.

Miller refused Nov. 15 to issue an order delaying Brooks' induction.

VIOLENCE

The judge ruled Wednesday: "The contention that the membership of various Selective Service boards and agencies must be racially proportioned according to population is more in the nature of a political question than one capable of judicial resolution. It is not apparent how a court could order such a classification of membership of executive agencies."

As Miller handed down his decision, Brooks was testifying in Washington before a Senate subcommittee investigating last summer's riots. He repeated his statement that Negroes should "gain their rights" through any means including violence.

Brooks, former chairman of the Nashville SNCC chapter, directed the city's Liberation School for young Negroes during the summer.

TEXAS PUSHES ACTION

Solicitor General Backs Wage Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. solicitor general Erwin N. Griswold told the Supreme Court Wednesday he felt it should hear a suit over extending coverage of the federal minimum wage and hour law to state employes.

Texas and Maryland head a list of 28 states arguing that Congress lacked constitutional authority last year when it amended the statute to make it apply to about 1.7 million public school, hospital and other state employes.

IMPORTANT

These states asked last month that the Supreme Court weigh their contention.

Griswold said in a memorandum to the high court that he felt sure the commerce clause of the Constitution gives Congress such power.

The solicitor general added, however, that his department would not oppose the requested hearing because it involves questions which are important to every state.

Griswold noted also that a federal court in Baltimore cast doubt in a June 13 decision on the constitutionality of applying overtime provisions to state employes.

The court in Baltimore ruled 2 to 1 that the minimum wage extension was valid. Concerning overtime, however, one judge held such provisions were constitutional, a second said they were unconstitutional and the third took the view they may be unconstitutional.

Under the legislation enacted last year, the minimum hourly pay for about 30 million workers is increased. It also brought 9.1 million more workers under the federal standards, including 1.7 employed by state institutions.

States joining Texas and Maryland in the suit are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia and Wyoming.

Shot To Death

BAIRD, Tex. (AP) — George Howard Bartlett was shot to death and left in a pasture, an autopsy Wednesday revealed. The report said Bartlett, 62, of St. Louis, Mo., had been dead about 10 days when found on the Caldwell Ranch southeastern Callahan County.

Improper Conditions Found In Many Large Meat Plants

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The U.S. Agriculture Department found improper conditions in 10 meat packing plants operated by American Meat Institute members this year, and 40 in 1962, the Des Moines Register said Thursday.

In a copyright story by Nick Rotz from the Washington bureau of the Register and the Minneapolis Tribune, the newspaper said the reports came from a 1962 investigation of about 1,000 plants selected at random, and a 1967 investigation of about 180 plants.

LOBBYING

Plants involved are not subject to routine federal inspection because they are not in interstate commerce, the story said.

The Register said the meat institute, an organization of some 300 meat packing companies and "the most influential meat packer lobbying group in Washington," has endorsed a plant inspection bill pending in the Senate after first opposing legislation of meat inspection.

It said some opponents of a strong inspection bill have contended that improper conditions mostly were confined to small plants.

FIRM CITED

However, the newspaper said it compared the inspection reports with institute member lists and "confirmed... that many large plants are also guilty of improper practices."

The Register two weeks ago told of Agriculture Department reports of improper conditions —which the companies said had been corrected—in intrastate plants operated by Swift & Co. and Armour & Co., both institute members.

"Further scrutiny of USDA records reveals that Wilson & Co., the nation's third-largest firm, has been cited for "insanitary conditions in one of its intrastate plants, as have more than 40 other plants owned by AMI members," the newspaper said.

Club To Attend Holiday Party

Green Acres 4-H Club has voted to attend the county-wide 4-H Club Christmas party set for December. The action was taken at a recent meeting at which Conrad Miller, of the Texas Electric Service Company, presented a program on electricity, which is the club project.

The club has extended an invitation to all youngsters who are interested in the program to attend the meetings, which are held on the third Tuesday in each month.

Nudist Sun Not Obscene

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Placing legal fig leaves on "variegated presentations of the human figure" is not the judiciary's business, the state Supreme Court declared.

The court, ruling that the International Nudist Sun was not an obscene publication, said it followed the U.S. Supreme Court's finding that the nude human form in a nonsexual context is not obscene.

The state court thereby affirmed an original judgment by the Los Angeles Municipal Court which had been reversed by the state's District Court of Appeal.

A Devotional For The Day

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High. (Psalm 92:1)

PRAYER: Dear Father, may our hearts be filled with gratitude—so filled that we shall never be satisfied until we give not only of our time, energy, and material resources, but our very selves to the work of Thy kingdom. In Christ's name. Amen.

Lost Story

The 50th anniversary of the 10 days which shook the world passed without public mention of the last surviving veteran of the leadership of the Revolution: Vyachaslav M. Molotov, now more than 77 years old.

He became a Bolshevik in 1906 and, in 1912, secretary for Pravda, the Communist Party organ, whose editor was Josef Stalin. He served as Stalin's first lieutenant after the death of Lenin until Stalin died in 1953. In 1939, as Soviet foreign minister, he signed the 10-year non-aggression pact with Nazi Germany. He was dropped from the Soviet Presidum (Politboro, under Stalin) in 1957 on a charge of collusion and intrigue against the party leadership, after serving as a member for 33 years.

The last official positions Molotov held were ambassador to Outer Mongolia and Soviet delegate to the International Atomic Energy Agency. But he was denounced by Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1961 and dropped from public view.

What a story this man could tell of death and intrigue, of how to survive numerous purges and remain at the warm side of Stalin. In retirement as in public life he was impenetrable, a short chunky figure, addicted to gold pince-nez glasses. Looking into his eyes, one observer said, was like looking into an icebox after the light goes out.

The Molotov story is most likely lost to history. He has, as the historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., recently wrote, "not yet indicated any desire to collaborate with the Columbia Oral History Project."

. . . Give Thanks

In a day of divergence, it would be too much to expect complete unity on the efficacy of thanksgiving. Not all people believe in a higher power than themselves, and even among those who profess a belief in God, there is not always a willingness to express gratitude. Yet, it is not necessary to establish by popular poll that by and large we do possess the virtue of gratitude. This is something on which the individual casts his vote by an attitude of the heart.

Gratitude is a crowning grace per se, but it finds its highest meaning when it acknowledges the source of all blessings as a Supreme Being. Sincerely accepted as a bestowal of God, our blessings imbue us with a sense of humility. We no longer are our own little gods and complete masters of our destinies, but we "are the sheep of His pasture."

In this spirit, we cannot be mindful of the source of our blessings without being more mindful of our fellow man. Our opportunity and our capacity for service is increased and invigorated. We become better stewards of all that we possess, of all the manifold institutions, traditions and blessings of our nation because we recognize that we have but a short trusteeship in the great sweep of time.

In this spirit, too, we realize that the enduring blessings are not the comforts, the things we possess, the things we can touch, or the things that give us a sense of power, but rather the precious intangibles of liberty, of dignity, of opportunity. It becomes us, therefore, to shake off the sickness of ingratitude and, on this, and all other days, give thanks.

One Nation's Money Affects Others

WASHINGTON — Today the world faces a crisis in finance. It involves every country because imports and exports are influenced by drastic changes in prices. The lessons of experience are being taught the hard way. Governments cannot indefinitely keep on spending more money than they collect in taxes. Nor can a national economy in one country be operated without having some impact outside its borders.

THE BRITISH have been running a "welfare" state under their Socialist Labor government for the past several years. Prices have been rising, as wages have soared due to threats of strikes and actual work stoppages for prolonged periods. Wage-and-price controls — belatedly adopted — were not enough to stop inflation.

For the present, the devaluation of the pound sterling by Great Britain will affect primarily the people in that country. Domestic prices will rise due to the higher cost of some imports, though Britain's goods will be offered for export around the world at fewer dollars. It's just as if the United States had suddenly reduced tariffs. Many British products will be available at lower cost now and competition in certain lines of American goods will be felt in this country.

BACK IN 1931, after Britain went off the gold standard, the pound sterling dropped from 4.86 dollars in value, fluctuated widely for nine years, and was finally stabilized in 1940 at 4.03 dollars — a decrease in value of 17 per cent. In September, 1949, in another devaluation, the price was set at 2.80 dollars — a drop of 30 per cent — where it remained until last Saturday. While the latest change is 14.3 per cent and brings the pound to 2.40 dollars, the big question now is whether the British will further devalue due to pressure upon their economic system because of the counter-action taken by other countries around the world to support their own currencies.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE Bank here over the weekend increased the discount rate at which banks borrow from the federal reserve system. This was done in order to prevent more American dollars from flowing out of the country to satisfy the demands of foreign borrowers, thus increasing the imbalance in payments which the United States government has been trying so long to correct.

An increase in the Federal Reserve rate for bank interest will, of course, move up other rates, too. The cost of borrowing will rise for people who want to buy homes and also for businessmen in obtaining their customary loans.

WHAT IS happening today resembles to some extent the occurrences in the 1920's and 1930's. The first of these decades produced an inflationary era, as interest rates were kept low and money was available for almost everything, including speculation. When the stock market crashed in October, 1929, European banks were already feeling the pinch of America's inflation.

It was not until 1931, however, that the real crisis came, as a bank in Austria, known as the Credit-Anstalt, collapsed. It had been in trouble in 1929 and was merged with a bigger bank. But this proved to be a temporary solution. A chain reaction set in, and the consequence was that Germany, England and most other European countries got into financial difficulties and had to go off the gold standard.

CONGRESS, OF COURSE, will attempt to appraise the possible effects of Britain's devaluation, and some of the Democratic leaders are saying that a tax increase would relieve the American situation. Their theory is that the tax would tend to reduce inflation and that this would make unnecessary any further increases in interest rates and perhaps might even tend to bring them down. It may turn out that for a while the United States will have to maintain interest rates at a high level anyhow to prevent European drains on American funds.

A sound economy isn't achieved overnight. Though the current changes are being characterized as "temporary," either on the international side or in connection with domestic policy, they may involve a period of readjustment which will last longer than just several months. It might even take a few years.

Billy Graham

I find it hard to believe, as large and measureless as the universe is, that my life has value to God. As supreme Being, He must have far greater concerns than me, and my small, insignificant life. Don't you think? G.F.

The wonderful thing about God, according to the Bible, is that He has an infinite love and concern for each of us upon the earth. This is the gist of Biblical teaching.

The Bible says that we were created in God's image. The Bible itself is a saga of God's dealing with man, in love, in mercy, and in judgment. There is every indication that one of God's chief concerns is man, his conduct, his life upon this earth, his fulfillment, and his destiny.

During Jesus' day the same question you ask was raised, and He gave us a wonderful answer: "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall to the ground without your Father, but the very hairs of your head are numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows." (Matt. 10:29-31)

But the greatest revelation of God's concern for us is found in John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Imagine! God being so concerned for man and his lostness, that in love He gave His only Son to save us. Can we ever doubt that God values us?

Nixon Practically A Cinch?

By The Associated Press

Richard M. Nixon says that if he seeks the presidency next year he will present his own personality for judgment by the people—not an artificial one.

"I'm not going to take any speech lessons; I'm not hiring any high-powered public relations firms," Nixon told a newsman Wednesday night. "When a man is constrained or artificial, he doesn't get through."

NIXON'S comments followed an appearance on NBC's "Tonight show where he told host Johnny Carson that his faulty make-up for the televised Kennedy-Nixon debates was a big factor in his 1960 loss to John F. Kennedy.

Nixon, already tagged as first choice for the Republican presidential nomination by delegates to the 1964 convention who responded to a recent Associated Press poll, got more good news. CBS reported its surveys show he's practically a cinch for the nomination if he wins the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries. And when Carson asked his audience to indicate whether they would vote for him, the applause meter was driven to its limit.

AS FOR that make-up problem: Roy Voege, make-up man for the "Tonight" show, revealed he probably will join Nixon's staff. A Nixon aide said Voege appears to know how to erase the five o'clock shadow which Nixon seems to have on television.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who has announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination, also discussed his public image, telling a news conference in Lansing that news reports of his Vietnam statements have been on a "piecemeal approach."

ROMNEY said this sometimes makes him appear to be inconsistent on the war issue when, in fact, "if anybody takes the time to go back over what I've said, they'll find a very consistent position."

Romney also said he has received excellent cooperation from the State and Defense departments in planning a near four-week trip that will take him next month to Europe, Asia and the Middle East. Among those he hopes to see, he said, are top leaders of the Soviet Union.

IN LOS ANGELES, the district attorney's office said it was probing reports that supporters of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace for president have offered illegal financial bonuses for registering for Wallace. He is campaigning in northern California in hopes of securing 66,059 registrations required to put his name on the state's presidential ballot. Wallace says he has 20,000 to 25,000 so far.

The district attorney's office said a registration official was approached by an unidentified member of Wallace's organization and offered a bonus over the 20 cents per signature paid by the county. Wallace said he hadn't heard of the allegation.

Big Time Radio Recalled

NEW YORK (AP) — Big time radio has been dead now for about 18 years, but it is not forgotten by those who grew up during its heyday.

One man who remembers it, and loves it, and even longs for its return, is Frank Buxton.

BUXTON DESCRIBES himself as a tape nut who has preserved thousands of hours of old radio programs for—well, certainly not for radio's return, but for the enjoyment of hearing the familiar voices just once more.

"Fred Allen was like a god to me when I was growing up," he said.

Buxton, a radio and television personality, and author of "Radio's Golden Age," will attempt to bring back a little of the old flavor when he teams up with Bill Cosby in January for a five-minute five-day-a-week radio comedy program.

"RADIO WAS a powerful force in our lives," he said. "It was the sole source of entertainment in our lives for many of us during the depression. And it was free during a time when we needed something free."

As an example of radio's force he cited Orson Welles' program on "The War of the Worlds," that in 1938 drove some people from their homes and convinced many others that the earth was being invaded by Martians.

What is behind radio's mystique?

"I THINK for one thing the past is always remembered as better than it was," Buxton said. "And for another it's possible to recreate or find all the artifacts from the days we were growing up, from comic books to the old movie serials.

"But the one thing that's missing is radio. It's not possible to turn on your radio and recreate the past unless you're a tape nut like I am.

"IT'S IMPOSSIBLE to describe to a child what radio used to be like. Radio was a theater of the mind. You made the hero what you wanted him to be. No one had to paint a castle for you because you did it much better with your own imagination," he added.

Buxton also explodes a few of the myths about radio.

ONE STORY is that of Uncle Don, the host of a New York children's program, who told the kiddies goodby and then, thinking he was off the air, added, "I guess that'll hold the little ——."

"That never happened," Buxton said, "but after I wrote about the myth in my book I got three letters from different parts of the country saying it had happened to their own local versions of Uncle Don. I believe it's tricks of memory."

When A Little Girl's Hair Smells Sour

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 9, has had a problem of "sour" smelling hair since she was six or seven. I wash her hair at least twice a week, yet the day after a shampoo the the hair gets this odor. I've even tried other shampoos. Is there any other reason? I am at my wits' end. — Mrs. J. R.

The sour smell is probably due to bacterial breakdown of oils on the scalp. Try tincture of green soap as a shampoo, which may solve the problem because alcohol in this soap is both antiseptic (thus destroying bacteria) and effective in removing oils from the hair shafts.

If that doesn't do the trick, consult a dermatologist to make sure she does not have a scalp infection.

* * *

Dear Doctor: There seems to be a new idea—using green soap for a shampoo once a week or so. Isn't this too drastic? One person using it complains, "My hair is so soft I can't do a thing with it."

Also, my daughter gets more and more dandruff in spite of using products supposed to cure it. In my day, we were told to use pure castile soap and a lemon juice rinse. — E. M.

I may not keep up on all the fashions in how to wash heads but I assure you that the use of tincture of green soap is not new. I've used it myself for years. It is true that it leaves the hair soft and a bit unruly, because it removes oil from the hair shafts, but a bit of one of the hair-tamers makes it stay in place.

Many a mild case of dandruff yields to one of the antidandruff shampoos (or to tincture of green soap) but because different bacteria may be at work in different cases, if a fair trial doesn't succeed, my suggestion is to see a dermatologist.

For, after all, dandruff is a flaking of dried particles of skin which appear because of some skin disorder or a dry scalp. Some mildly antiseptic shampoo often will stop the trouble, but remember that "dandruff" isn't just one specific disorder. It can result from a number of disorders, which is why I suggest a specialist's guidance if a reasonable trial with shampoos doesn't bring results

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any significance in the presence of blood in a nocturnal seminal emission? I am 60 and this has occurred twice in six months. — B. C.

Ordinarily not, but it warrants a medical checkup of the prostate and urinary tract to make certain that no disease is present. In short, it can happen, but it's best to play safe and have an examination.

* * *

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble—symptoms; treatment; how to speed recovery—write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for his booklet "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Remember Them—And Give Thanks

The turmoils of mass demonstrations, resulting from race tensions and beatnik drug-ins, continually paint a picture of a strife-torn nation. It is quite easy to lump these problems together and surmise that our country is in decline.

BUT IS IT? Can a nation that will turn out its young men to fight in a small, far-away country — however ill-conceived — be totally headed for a fall? More, can a nation that has turned out the calibre of young men who will make such a stand be of bad mettle or in decline?

A few years can make quite a difference.

The fighting man of World War II was pictured a hero — he was trying to save the free world. He was reassured from home by unanimous support and the total energy of a nation determined to put down the dictators.

HARDLY HAD the final echoes of gunfire died down, when young American fighting men were again in te field, ostensibly to assure the small nation of Korea all the freedoms that had been won in the worldwide holocaust. This time, there were murmurs back home that all was not well — that he had less than complete support.

Thousands did what was asked of them anyway.

TODAY, THE tumult back home is making almost as much noise as at the fighting front. The young men are laying down their lives for the same things that World War II Americans fought for, but the support back home —if the majority of reports are true— is far from unanimous.

On a day such as today, when we set aside an observance of giving thanks, we might do well to remember these young men, their sacrifice, and the calibre of a country that can produce them. It is one thing to fight for a unified country, another when even the aims of the battle is in dispute.

TODAY, thousands of Americans are having dinner in jungles, bunkers, ditches, and other less comfortable places, with their arms close-by. Today, the rest of us can be thankful that responsibility to duty is still an important facet in the character of an American, and a nation.

A French Explanation

WASHINGTON — It is traditional every year that I pause in my duties and explain Thanksgiving Day to the French people. This holiday which means so much to us is incomprehensible to them, and I sincerely believe if the French could understand Thanksgiving Day, they could understand us.

ONE OF OU Rmost important holidays is Thanksgiving Day, known in France as "Le Jour de Merci Donnant."

"Le Jour de Merci Donnant" was first started by a group of Pilgrims (pelerins), who fled from l'Angleterre before the McCarran Act to found a colony in the new world (le nouveau monde), where they could shoot Indians (les peaux-rouges) and eat turkey (dinde) to their heart's content. They landed at a place called Plymouth (now a famous voiture Americaine) in a wooden sailing ship called the Mayflower (Fleur de Mai) in 1620. But while the pelerins were killing the dindes, the peaux-rouges were killing the pelerins, and there were several hard winters ahead for both of them. The only way the peaux-rouges helped the pelerins was when they taught them to grow corn (mais). The reason they did this was that they liked corn with their pelerins.

IN 1623, after another harsh year, the pelerins' crops were so good that they decided to have a celebration and give thanks because more mais was raised by the pelerins than pelerins were killed by les peaux-rouges.

Every year on the "Jour de Merci Donnant," parents tell their children an amusing story about the first celebration.

It concerns a brave capitaine named Miles Standish (known in France as Kilometres Deboutish) and a young, shy lieutenant named Jean Alden. Both of them were in love with a flower of Plymouth called Priscilla Mullens (no translation). The vieux capitaine said to the jeune lieutenant:

"GO TO THE damsel, Priscilla (allez tres vite chez Priscilla), the loveliest maiden of Plymouth (la plus jolie demoiselle de Plymouth). Say that a blunt old captain, a man not of words but of action (un vieux Fanfan la Tulipe), offers his hand and his heart, the hand and heart of a soldier. Not in these words, you know, but this, in short, is my meaning.

"I am a maker of war (je suis un fabricant de la guerre) and not a maker of phrases. You, bred as a scholar (vous, qui etes pain comme un etudiant) can say it in elegant language, such as you read in your books of the pleadings and wooings of lovers, such as you think best adapted to win the heart of the maiden."

ALTHOUGH JEAN was fit to be tied (convenable a etre emballe), friendship prevailed over love and he went to do his duty. But, instead of using elegant language, he blurted out his mission. Priscilla was muted with amazement and sorrow (rendue muette par l'etonnement et la tristesse).

At length she exclaimed, interrupting the ominous silence: "If the great captain of Plymouth is so very eager to wed me, why does he not come himself and take the trouble to woo me? (Ou est-il, le vieux Kilometres? Pourquoi ne vient-il pas aupres de moi pour tenter sa chance?)"

Jean said that Kilometres Deboutish was very busy and didn't have time for those things. He staggered on, telling what a wonderful husband Kilometres would make. But finally Priscilla arched her eyebrows and said in a tremulous voice: "Why don't you speak for yourself, John? (A chacun son gout.)"

AND SO, every fourth Thursday in November, American families sit down at a large table with tasty dishes, and for the only time during the year eat better than the French do.

No one can deny that "Le Jour de Merci Donnant" is a grand fete and no matter how well-fed American families are, they never forget to give thanks to Kilometres Deboutish, who made this great day possible.

Don't Read Too Many Books

WASHINGTON—Columbus Day this year fell on Thursday and Veterans Day celebrations commenced on a Friday, and everybody knows the dangers of enforced idleness.

Naturally, on an enforced holiday, you don't care to read back numbers of the Congressional record, or those predated campaign biographies of next year's would-be heroes, so you might as well re-read something with no connection whatever to American politics.

SOMETHING, for instance, like Maeterlinck's "Life of the Bee," seems bound to be diverting. But you don't get eight or 10 pages into it before you find yourself marking passages "LBJ" or something of the sort. Materlinck's thesis is that the beehive is a "republic," although ruled by a Queen, since all the inhabitants obey the natural law and work for the preservation of their favored race.

BUT YOU SOON get the idea that the ruler isn't a ruler at all (any more than an American President is) and despite all the deference and grandeur attached to the office (like the presidency itself), the Queen is nothing more than an instrument of inevitability. She doesn't affect the prosperity or safety of the hive any more than rulers who went before or will come after. Being the ruler of an attractive and industrious society is a linchpin job, all right, but linchpins of this sort are replaceable parts, and what really matters is that flowers keep blooming in the meadows.

THIS KIND of reading, if you can't turn your mind off on an artificial midweek holiday, is very disconcerting. You know perfectly well that if Goldwater had beaten Johnson in '64, the domestic economy wouldn't be staggering around under a deficit budget despite the fact that the same economy is still riding an 80-month growth momentum. Barry would have done something different about the air and water pollution, the urban decay and much else that costs money to mend. Criminals and rioters would be crouching in their dens if a different ruler had swung into power, but it's going to be mighty hard to explain that when the time comes for the next column. It was a bad mistake to have allowed Maeterlinck to lead you into apiculture.

BATTLES LONG AGO, maybe, will make better reading, and will suggest how the Tall Tactician can get along with winning in Vietnam. But in War and Peace, Tolstoi treats tactics and strategy with an armchair disdain which would lose any columnist whole platoons of readership. Is the life of the hive so remarkably like the life of nations? For a general to win battles, he's got to be in consonance with universal laws. Christ and Confucious are better teachers than Caesar and Clausewitz, when you're reading Tolstoi. Disturbers of the peace, like Napoleon, will eventually defeat themselves, provided the defenders never lose heart, nor faith, nor love of country. You may be able to equate Bonapartism with godless communism, and to learn the lesson that evil cannot in the end prevail. But nothing in War and Peace gives a hint about the air-power saturation theories of Gen. LeMay nor the enclave theories of Gen. Gavin, and Tolstoi won't prove that Johnson ought to fire McNamara or invite Ho Chi Minh to a weekend at the ranch. So, tomorrow, how do you write?

After Thanksgiving Meal

Make Casserole From That Holiday Turkey

What to do with that leftover holiday turkey?

One good use is to put it in a casserole with fresh mushrooms, noodles and a sauce made with broth and light cream. The mushrooms add delightful flavor.

If relatives and close friends are on hand after the holiday, you'll find this casserole makes a good main dish to feed to eight of them. Nothing more than a salad and perhaps a loaf of garlic bread are needed to serve with the dish. Dessert can be fresh fruit and holiday cake or cookies.

HOLIDAY CASSEROLE

½ cup (¼ pound) butter
1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
3 tbsps. flour
3 cups fat-free chicken broth (homemade or canned)
¾ cup light cream
2 tbsps. chopped pimiento
¼ cup medium-dry sherry
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
4 cups cubed (1-inch pieces lightly packed) leftover roast turkey
Salt and pepper to taste
1 pkg. (12 ounces) medium egg noodles, cooked according to package directions and drained

In a 10-inch skillet melt ¼ cup of the butter; add the mushrooms; cook over rather high heat, stirring often, until wilted — about five minutes; set aside.

In a large saucepan (about three quarts), over low heat, melt the remaining ¼ cup butter; stir in the flour. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in the chicken broth, keeping smooth; add the cream. Over moderately low heat, cook and stir constantly until thickened. Off heat, stir in pimiento, sherry and ½ cup of the Parmesan; mix in mushrooms, turkey, salt and pepper.

Arrange noodles and mushroom - turkey mixture in layers in a buttered four-quart casserole, having sauce as last layer. Sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup Parmesan. Cover tightly and refrigerate — overnight if you like. Bake, covered, in a 350-degree oven until bubbly-hot—1 to 1¼ hours. Makes eight servings.

RECIPE NOTE

If you want to use chicken rather than leftover roast turkey in the Holiday Casserole, you may cook the chicken this way:

Place a 3½ to 4 pound roasting chicken with the giblets (but omitting liver) in a Dutch oven or other saucepan into which the whole chicken fits. Add enough cold water almost to cover. Add a medium onion (sliced), several ribs of celery (sliced) and two teaspoons salt. Bring to a boil; simmer, covered, until chicken is tender—45 to 60 minutes. Remove chicken and cool; remove bones and skin; cover and refrigerate. Before using in Holiday Casserole, cut into about one-inch cubes to make four cups lightly packed.

Strain broth; refrigerate in covered jar; before using, remove any fat that has hardened on top. To use in Holiday Casserole, measure the amount called for in recipe (three cups); refrigerate leftover broth for other use.

Prefreeze Icing

Before freezing an iced cake, place it in the freezer for about 15 minutes to set the icing. Remove and wrap the cake in plastic wrap. Put it back in the freezer until you plan to serve it.

Salad Ring Adds Zest

Happy surprises are in store when you taste corned beef in this ruby-tinted salad ring. Vegetables used with the meat contribute color and texture to make this cool meal well-balanced.

Cooking will take from four to five hours. For serving, slice across the grain. Use for cold meat platters, sandwiches or in this molded salad.

SPICY SALAD RING

2 cups sliced cooked corned beef, cut into ¾ inch cubes
1½ tbsps. gelatin
1-3 cup cold water
2 bouillon cubes
2 cups boiling water
¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp. salt
½ cup diced pickled beets
1 cup diced celery
½ cup cooked peas
½ cup sliced radishes

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add seasonings. Chill until slightly congealed. Add beets, celery, peas, radishes and corned beef. Pour into a 1¼ -quart ring mold and chill. Makes eight servings.

Count Your Calories On Thanksgiving Holiday

Thanksgiving has been a time for sumptuous meals and loosening of belts ever since the first three-day feast back in 1621.

Many of today's 20th century pilgrims celebrate the harvest festival marking the beginning of the holiday season with a four-day weekend that means lots of good food. It also means lots of extra calories and perhaps a few extra pounds as a result.

A typical Thanksgiving dinner, beginning with turkey, laced with seconds, and ending with two kinds of pie might total 3,500 calories. That can mean one extra pound. In fact, the combination of extra food and plenty of rest can add up to an extra four pounds by Monday morning — nothing to be thankful for.

And the upcoming Christmas holidays mean more to come.

TUNA-EGGPLANT BAKE

½ cup eggplant (raw), 25 calories
1 can 225-calorie tuna and noodles diet dinner
3 crackers (make cracker crumbs), 42 calories
1 egg, beaten (small), 65 calories

Cut about a one inch thick slice from an eggplant. Peel. Cut into cubes to make ½ cup. Place the eggplant cubes in water and let stand about 20 minutes. Cook the eggplant in one cup of water until soft (about 10 minutes); drain and mash.

Combine the eggplant with the tuna and noodles, cracker crumbs, (leave a few for the top) and egg. Pour into buttered individual casserole dish. Top with remaining cracker crumbs. Place in a slow oven (325 degrees) until hot. Serve one. Total calories: 357.

YE OLDE FASHIONED CASSEROLE

¼ cup mashed potatoes, 47 calories
1 can 225-calorie vegetables and beef diet dinner.

Prepare instant mashed potatoes according to directions on package. Briefly heat vegetables and beef. Put into casserole dish. Top with the mashed potatoes. Brown slightly in oven. Serves one. Total calories: 272.

Homemaker Plans To Furnish Living Room

MRS. PASCHAL ODOM

By RHODA LEMONS

There are persons looking forward to Christmas and all its delights, others are longing for the new year, but Mrs. Paschal Odom, 2615 Lynn, is anticipating January for a reason all her own. During that month, she and her husband plan to furnish their living room with just the furniture that they desire.

The decor will be either Spanish or Mediterranean, and they feel that they will know instinctively what they want when they see it. First, they plan to do some repair work, a touch of paint and a thorough cleaning of the carpeting. The room already has attractive draperies, and in certain instances, has been a real advantage devoid of furniture.

Mrs. Odom can set up bridge tables at ease for one of their favorite pastimes, or she can have a children's party without damaging anything. However, if it comes to the choice of furnishing or not furnishing, Mrs. Odom admits to favoring the former.

Odom has just completed a book case at the end of the hall wall. He recessed the shelves into six inches of Mrs. Odom's bedroom closet and the results look as if they belonged that way. He painted the shelves white, and added doors on the lower section which he trimmed with striking Spanish black wrought iron handles and hinges.

The Odoms plan their purchases together, and Mrs. Odom confesses her husband does not particularly care to be an installment purchaser.

Mrs. Odom shops for groceries once every two weeks. In recent months, they purchased a food freezer, and already, Mrs. Odom wonders how she got along without one. She has enjoyed preparing meals in advance, buying when bargains are good, and freezing leftovers for soups, stews and casseroles.

Next week, she plans to start baking for Christmas and plans to bake everything that she can freeze at her leisure so that the holidays will not catch her feeling "panicky." Her family enjoys rich desserts, and they make a big thing of Christmas dinner and holiday time.

During the school week, Mrs. Odom prepares a large breakfast for her children, Jill, 9, and Jack, 7, third and first grade students at Kentwood Elementary School. Her children are hearty eaters and enjoy coming home for lunch. Odom eats lunch at home part of the time, and they usually have sandwiches or soup. The evening meal is the main one, and it is usually served promptly at 6:30 o'clock.

Odom is assistant to the general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Both he and Mrs. Odom prefer spontaneous entertaining without too much formality. They are devotees of football, and almost never miss a game. Oftentimes, they will invite friends over for snacks or refreshments following the game.

Mrs. Odom sews many of her own clothes and some of her daughter's wardrobe. She is now making a theatre suit of blue and green brocade; the pattern is a sheath with a jacket. She knits and has made a poncho, an afghan and doll clothes.

Mrs. Odom is a member of the Junior Woman's Forum and plays regularly in a bridge club. She and her husband are members of the First Presbyterian Church, where he was recently made an elder.

Spaghetti Sauce Made With Liver

Here's a new idea for liver—use it in a well-seasoned, ready-to-prepare spaghetti meat sauce.

Dust one pound beef liver, thinly sliced, with ¼ cup flour seasoned with ½ teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Brown the liver in one tablespoon butter or margarine. Add one can (11 ounces) spaghetti sauce with meat; cover and simmer about 15 minutes or until tender. Stir occasionally. Makes four servings to go over your favorite spaghetti.

Holiday Frosting Good On Any Cake

WHITE FROSTING

2 tbsps. butter
Dash of salt
1 cup unsifted confectioners' sugar
2 tbsps. (about) sherry (medium or dry)
½ tsp. grated orange rind
Orange Raisin Cake (or other variety) baked in a 9-inch square pan

Cream butter and salt; gradually add part of sugar, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar alternately with sherry, beating vigorously after each addition until smooth and creamy; add enough sherry to make frosting of a good spreading consistency. Blend in orange rind. Makes about ½ cup. Cover top of cake with frosting, and drizzle frosting down sides of cake.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Mrs. Paschal Odom

PRALINES

3 pkgs. butterscotch pudding
3 cups pecans
1 tall can evaporated milk
3 cups sugar
1 cup brown sugar
6 tbsps. margarine

Cook pudding, milk, sugar and butter over low heat until all is dissolved. Cook to 230 degrees. Add pecans and stir until the mixture thickens. Drop by tablespoon onto buttered paper.

STRAWBERRY-CRANBERRY MOLD

1 can cranberry jelly
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 box frozen strawberries
1 pkg. strawberry gelatin

Dissolve gelatin in one cup boiling water, add other ingredients and mix well. Refrigerate until mixture is jelled and serve as an accompaniment for turkey or ham.

ORANGE GELATIN SALAD

1 small pkg. orange gelatin
1 small can crushed pineapple
½ cup sugar
Juice of ½ lemon
1 cup grated pasteurized processed soft cheese
1 carton whipping cream

Dissolve gelatin in 1¼ cups boiling water. Combine pineapple and lemon juice and boil together. Add pineapple, sugar and lemon mixture to the gelatin and refrigerate until fairly well jelled. Add grated cheese and whipping cream that has been previously whipped. Chill for 30 minutes and serve.

CHICKEN SPAGHETTI

3 small cans boned chicken
1 box spaghetti
½ cup onion
2 garlic cloves
½ tsp. pepper
1½ cups grated cheese
Dash of Tabasco
3 tbsps. flour
1 can mushroom soup
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tbsp. paprika
1 cup chopped pimientos
1½ cups water

Cook onion and garlic in two tablespoons margarine until tender. Make a thick sauce of onion and garlic mixture, flour, mushroom soup, salt and water. Add Worcestershire sauce, paprika, pepper and a dash of Tabasco. Pour above mixture over chicken and cooked spaghetti. Add chopped pimientos. Place in a casserole and cover with grated cheese. Bake at 275 degrees for 45 minutes.

ORANGE SHERBET

6 bottles orange soft drinks
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 can condensed milk

Mix above ingredients in one gallon ice cream freezer and freeze until firm.

SEVEN LAYER CASSEROLE

1 cup uncooked long grain rice
1 cup whole kernel corn
2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
Salt and pepper
¾ can water
½ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped bell pepper
1 lb. uncooked ground beef, salted and peppered
4 strips bacon

Arrange in layers in a two-quart covered casserole. First, add layer of uncooked rice, and then layer of corn. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour one eight-ounce can of tomato sauce and one-half can of water over the first two layers. Next, add layer of finely chopped onion and bell pepper, cover with uncooked ground beef and pour second can of tomato sauce and one-fourth can of water over all. Cover with four strips of bacon, and bake in 350 degree oven for one hour. Uncover and bake 30 minutes more.

COFFEE-TOFFEE TORTE

1 pkg. angel food cake mix
1 pkg. chocolate pudding
1 to 1½ tbsps. instant coffee
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
2¾-oz. bars chocolate-coated toffee, chilled and crushed
1 1-3 cups milk

Prepare angel food cake mix and bake in a 10-inch tube pan according to package directions. Invert and cool thoroughly.

In a saucepan, mix pudding and instant coffee. Prepare pudding following package directions, but use only one and one-third cups milk. Cool. Beat until mixture is smooth. Add half the whipped cream.

Split cake into three layers. Divide pudding-cream mixture in half, use one half to spread between layers. Fold remaining whipped cream into last half of the pudding mixture and use to frost the top and sides of the cake. Sprinkle the cake with crushed toffee bars. Chill until serving time. Serves 12.

BAKED BEANS

2 1-lb. cans pork and beans
2 slices bacon
1-3 cup onion
1½ tsps. dry mustard
1-3 cup brown sugar
¼ cup catsup

Fry bacon and drain. Saute onions in bacon drippings. Combine onions, dry mustard, brown sugar and catsup with pork and beans. Top with bacon and bake one hour at 350 degrees.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Count on cooking a smoked boneless pork shoulder butt, covered with water, for 40 to 45 minutes per pound. Then you can insert whole cloves in the butt, at one-inch intervals, and glaze it in the oven just as you treat baked ham.

• • •

Easy way to top a cake-mix cake, is to allow the cake to bake about 15 minutes and then sprinkle the top with a combination of cinnamon and sugar plus finely chopped walnuts or pecans. Keep the cinnamon-sugar mixture on hand for such cake use, for topping French toast and for making cinnamon toast.

• • •

Some good cooks like to add a little cubed salt pork to a homemade tomato sauce for spaghetti.

• • •

Topping creamed chicken, ham or vegetables with chow mein noodles adds welcome crisp texture. When you open the can of noodles, heat them briefly to give them fresh flavor.

• • •

Ever fold creamstyle cottage cheese into lemon gelatin to use as a salad? Serve on salad greens and top with pimiento.

• • •

The original Waldorf salad did not call for nuts, but these days most cooks like to add walnuts to the combination of apple, celery and mayonnaise.

• • •

Parsley in the refrigerator? Add lots of it, minced, to a salad.

• • •

Permian JV Team Set As Steer Opponent

Big Spring, which returns to play against Lubbock High in Lubbock Friday night, has drawn the Permian Junior Varsity club as a first round opponent in the annual Odessa Invitational Basketball tournament, which will be held in the OHS fieldhouse Nov. 30 through Dec. 2.

Junior varsity squads of both Permian and Odessa High were added to round out the eight-team field.

The Steers and the Permian JV's square off at 6 p.m. a week from today.

Lubbock High and the Odessa JV open the meet with a game at 4:45 p.m.

In other first round games, Permian's A team battles El Paso Jefferson at 7:15 p.m. while Odessa High A squares away with Amarillo Caprock at 8:30 p.m.

Big Spring is in the lower bracket and would meet the survivor in the Odessa - Caprock contest at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 1, in event it won its opener.

The other semifinal game is schedued for 7:15 p.m. Friday. First round consolation games are booked for 4:45 p.m. and 6 p.m. Friday.

The two last place clubs clash at 4:45 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 2. The consolation winner will be determined in a game at 6 p.m. Third place goes on the line at 7:15 p.m. while the championship will be determined at 8:30 p.m.

Big Spring will be seen in action at home for the first time Monday night, at which time it hosts the defending state AAA champion, Lamesa, at 8 o'clock.

The Big Spring Steers, 63-62 winners in their first basketball assignment of the year, face rugged opponents in their next two outings.

The Longhorns go to Lubbock Friday night for an 8 o'clock engagement with Lubbock High School.

Midland High succeeded in subduing Lubbock, 66-55, in a game played at Midland Tuesday night but the Westerners were very much in contention for a half, trailing by only one point.

The Golden Tornadoes soared by Monahans, 77-49, Tuesday night. In the game, the Lamesans' all-state ace, 6-6 Pat Fees, scored 21 points to run his career total past the 1,000-point mark.

Jayhawks Favored In Meet Opener

GARDEN CITY, Kan. — Howard County Junior College of Big Spring, Tex., rules as a slight favorite to topple Garden City, Kan., in the first round of the annual Garden City Junior College Basketball tournament, which gets under way here this afternoon and continues through Saturday night.

Both teams lost their opening games, HCJC having dropped decisions to both Hill County JC and McLennan County JC, the latter a new school.

Garden City was victimized by Frank Phillips College of Borger, Tex., in its opener.

However, HCJC will be strengthened by the addition of ace guard Hiron Hubert, who did not make the trip to Hillsboro last week.

HCJC's games in the tournament are being aired over radio station KBYG Big Spring 1400.

Other first round contests send Northeastern, Colo., against Northern Oklahoma at 2 p.m.; Cameron, Okla., against Paris, Tex., at 4 p.m.; and Highland, Kan., against Dodge City, Kan., at 7 p.m.

Texas Grabs Frosh Title

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The undefeated Texas Shorthorns won the Southwest Conference freshman football championship by beating winless Texas A&M 34-22 Wednesday night as Steve Worster scored twice and ran for 84 yards.

Texas averaging 40 points a game in the five-game season, built a 34-6 lead before the A&M Fish scored twice more against Shorthorn reserves in the fourth quarter.

Worster, who carried 25 times, scored on runs of four yards and one yard.

Quarterback Monty Johnson passed 31 yards to Danny Lester for one touchdown, and a 37-yard pass from reserve quarterback Eddie Phillips to Bill Zapalac accounted for another Texas score. Billy Dale scored the first Texas touchdown.

Texas A&M touchdowns came on runs by Johnny Weaver, Dave Elmendorf and Brad Norvell.

Bill Sinches Due To Start

BROWNWOOD — Coach Glen Whitis' Howard Payne College Yellow Jackets open their 1967-68 basketball home season Tuesday (Nov. 28) with Tarleton State College in a return engagement.

Tipoff for the Brownwood Coliseum tilt is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Jackets opened their season with a convincing 106-84 win over the Stephenville team, will be shooting for their 10th straight regular season victory on their own home hardwood.

Led by their two time all Lone Star Conference center, Dandy Dan Smith, now ranked as the third all-time point manufacturer in the history of HPC, the Jackets won over Tarleton twice last year, defeating them in Stephenville 95-61 and following up with a win in Brownwood by the score of 100-71.

Smith 6-6, Denton, along with Mike Gibbs, Bowie, who is working toward his fourth letter, are the only starters back from last year's outfit which produced for Whitis his second straight LSC championship.

HPC fans will be seeing four players performing for the first time against the Tarletons. They are Bill Sinches 6-2, transfer from Howard County College; Hugh Fletcher, sophomore transfer from Comanche; Dan McGhee 6-7, Bloomfield, Ind., freshman; and Kenneth Griffen, junior college transfer from Louisville.

Sinches and McGhee are expected to get starting assignments, with the fifth starter to be picked from a trio of lettermen composed of Gary Day, 6-3 junior from Amarillo; Marvin Utecht 6-5, junior from O'Donnell; and Pete Zuniga, senior from Merced, Calif.

Smith, who poured in 33 points against Tarleton, and who jumped from sixth to third place in all time scoring at HPC, now needs but 74 points to tie Robert (Big Foot) Moore's second place standing of 1361 points (1954-58). He is but 121 points away from breaking the top performance of 1407 points, established by Stanley Owen (1955-59).

Raiders, Purple, Steers Favored

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas and Texas A&M may settle things today so far as the Southwest Conference football championship is concerned but there still are five more games to go before the hectic campaign becomes history.

Texas A&M can sew up the title if it wins or ties Texas at College Station this afternoon. But otherwise the championship race could be turned into quite a jumble. It might be Dec. 2 before it could be unraveled.

Texas is a 1½-point favorite, which is cutting it mighty close, and which means the game can be looked upon as a toss-up. It means more to A&M because it would mean an undisputed championship and the Cotton Bowl. To Texas it would be only a tie for the title with the possibility only of making it to the Cotton Bowl.

Three out of four last week (Texas Christian ruined the average when it beat Texas). Here's how they look this week:

Texas-Texas A&M—Texas is stronger over-all in offense and is the choice.

Rice-Texas Christian — Texas Christian is traveling fast these days, so it's the Frogs by a couple of touchdowns.

Texas Tech-Arkansas — Arkansas has too much defense and will edge through.

Southern Methodist-Baylor — Southern Methodist has come close too many times not to finally make it by the law of averages if nothing else.

Ben Kirkland Sets Four Records At East Texas

COMMERCE — The last two years have been perhaps the most ironical in East Texas State's 50-season football history.

The 1967 season was one of ETSU's biggest in offensive production, but the team finished in a tie for fifth in the Lone Star Conference with 3-4 in league games and 4-6 for the season. In all, 18 school records were set and another was tied.

In 1966, the Lions were beaten in nearly every statistical category, but they won the LSC championship. They were 5-3-2 for the season and 4-1-2 for conference.

Tailback Arthur James, split end Tom Black and quarterback Benny Kirkland of Big Spring accounted for 13 of the records and the tie.

James, a 5-9, 170-pound artist of moves from Texarkana Dunbar, wrote his name in the record books four times with 233 yards rushing in one game (against Sul Ross), 35 carries in one game (against Sul Ross), 963 yards rushing in one season and 206 carries in one season. His coach, Sam McCord, had set the records of 887 yards rushing and 148 carries in the 1959 season. A knee injury limited the sophomore to nine games.

Coaches had been waiting for more than a year for the 192-pound Black to recover from his many injuries. When the Central Islip, N.Y., junior did recover, he immediately broke five records.

Twice he broke the record for pass receptions in one game. He had nine against McMurry and followed with 12 against Howard Payne. That Howard Payne performance also netted the most yards by a receiver in a single game, 176. His season records set by Tommy McCormack in 1951, the single game pass reception record by Doug Paschal in 1964 and the single game pass reception record by himself.

The 6-1, 180-pound Kirkland put his name in the records four times with 39 pass attempts and 50 offensive plays against Southwest Texas and 194 pass attempts and 270 plays in one season. His 18 pass completions against Southwest Texas equalled the mark set by John Stooksberry in 1964 against Texas A&I.

Pokes, Cards Hungry 11's

By The Associated Press

Dallas and St. Louis, with only three days to build an appetite, still should be plenty hungry for their Turkey Day meeting tonight with two National Football League divisional titles on the table.

The Cowboys and Cardinals, coming off unsatisfying performances last Sunday, dig in against each other in the Cotton Bowl, the Cowboys sniffing the Capitol Division crown, the Cardinals with an eye on the Century championship.

The game was one of four on the television menu with game time set for 5 p.m. Big Spring Time on CBS.

Los Angeles met Detroit earlier in the first half of an NFL television doubleheader while Oakland played at Kansas City and Denver at San Diego in an American League twinbill on NBC.

The Cowboys, 7-3, lead the Capitol Division by two games despite a 27-20 upset loss to Washington last Sunday. The situation for the Cardinals, 5-4-1, is more pressing after a dreary 30-3 defeat at Chicago sent them one-half game behind Cleveland in the Century Division.

The teams have only three days to prepare their table manners, but at least they'll be trying to carve up each other with everyone healthy.

They will be looking for a return to form by quarterbacks Don Meredith of Dallas and Jim Hart of the Cardinals. Meredith got the Cowboys only one score against Washington before Craig Morton relieved and pitched for two touchdowns.

Hart, a sensation earlier in the season, got only a tie against Pittsburgh two weeks ago and had five passes intercepted by the Bears last Sunday.

Meredith and Morton will be throwing to Lance Rentzel and Bob Hayes with Don Perkins and Dan Reeves running and catching. Hart throws to Bobby Joe Conrad, Jackie Smith and Billy Gambrell with Johnny Roland, the second best rusher in the NFL, running.

But the offenses will be going against two stingy defenses.

"Defense should decide the game," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "Those guys (the Cardinals) can make an offense look awfully bad. And we're tough on defense, too."

Dallas is two games ahead of Philadelphia, which plays at New York Sunday against the Giants, only a game behind Cleveland. The Browns host Washington, at 4-4-2.

In other Sunday games, Baltimore tries to protect its Coastal Division lead and its unbeaten record at San Francisco while Green Bay, 7-2-1, meets the Bears, 5-5, its closest competition in the Central Division.

Atlanta travels to New Orleans and Minnesota invades Pittsburgh in other contests.

In the AFL Sunday, Houston can pull within a game of the Eastern Division lead with a victory over visiting Boston while Buffalo plays at Miami. The New York Jets, who lead the East, have a bye.

Walt Alston Signed Again By Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter Alston, the dean of managers in major league baseball, is set to pilot the Los Angeles Dodgers for the 15th consecutive year—counting the old Brooklyn Dodgers, of course.

Alston flew out from his hometown, Darrtown, Ohio, for the formal signing Wednesday and to confer with President Walter O'Malley, Vice President E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi and other brass regarding the baseball meetings next week in Mexico City.

The Dodgers did not divulge salary figures but the 55-year-old Alston reportedly will receive $55,000 for 1968, the same he is supposed to have made in 1967.

Alston, it appears, was not penalized for the club's disappointing headlong collapse from first in 1965 to eighth in 1966.

"Alston late last season was wooed by at least two other clubs to manage at more handsome figures than he gets from the Dodgers. Why did he decide to stay with Los Angeles?

"The Dodgers have always treated me well over the years," he said. "Besides, we've had some pretty good athletes over the years. I'm satisfied."

What is needed for 1968?

"Two things. Hitting and defense," he replied. He pinpointed on defense the infield and particularly shortstop. Several tried but none really succeeded at shortstop last season.

He said the defense cost the club more runs than it should have. He'll take a long look at all the talent in spring training.

Alston also said that if he can come up with another pitcher, he might go with a five-man pitching rotation instead of the usual four.

He feels, he explained, that a veteran such as Don Drysdale, or a busy young man such as Don Sutton, might benefit from an extra day's rest.

Another interleague trade highlighted other baseball news as Cincinnati dealt outfielder Floyd Robinson and right-handed reliever Darrell Osteen to the Oakland Athletics for right-hander Ron Tompkins.

Robinson, 31, acquired by the Reds from the Chicago White Sox last year, was hampered by injuries in 1967 and hit only .238 as a reserve. Osteen, 24, finished last season with Buffalo and had a 10-4 record.

Tompkins, 23, won 10 and lost 9 at Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

The Detroit Tigers completed their deal for Eddie Mathews last August by sending right-handed relief hurler Fred Gladding to the Houston Astros. The Astros chose Gladding from a list of six players named by the Tigers at the times of the trade.

Gladding won six games and saved 10 for Detroit.

The New York Mets assigned outfielder Larry Stahl, 26, to Jacksonville, Fla., of the International League and Philadelphia sold right-hander Bill Champion, 20, to their San Diego farm club of the PCL. Stahl hit .237 in 69 games and Champion had a 6-9 record at Portsmouth, Va., of the Carolina League.

The California Angels signed Gaetan Groleau, 20, leading pitcher in the Montreal Junior League the last four years, for a reported $6,000 bonus.

Sam Bell, who went from here to Tyler John Tyler High School as head basketball coach in 1959, is still on the job there.

According to Dave Dixon, president of World Championship Tennis, Inc., the pro net tour will pay its leading money winner more than the top pro golfer now earns.

The tour will offer $800,000 in prizes, according to Dixon. The PGA tour will pay over $5 million but, of course, there are far more touring golfers than there are pro netters.

The tennists expect to establish a scoring average which will become most meaningful to the game through use of a VASSS system. VASSS stands for Van Alen Simplified Scoring System.

Fernando Mendoza, who confined his talents to the JV football team here the past season, connected 26 times in 34 point-after-touchdown kicking attempts over the year.

Midland High's tallest basketball player this season will be Eddie Wilson, a two-year letterman who stands 6-3.

The Bulldogs will have one other two-year letterman in 6-1 Jody Mayes. Four of the five Midland starters are lettermen and all are seniors.

Coach Jack Woodley loses six players off his 1967 Garden City High School eight-man football squad, which failed to get out of district although it did not lose a game within District 3. (Two ties cost the Bearkats the playoff spot).

The Bearkats should be tough next fall. Among those returning will be the Hilliger twins, Robert and David, Floyd Schwartz and John Schafer, all of whom are halfbacks; Steve Hirt, a quarterback; guards James Dubose and Ernie Schwartz, ends Roger Lange, Mike Kelly and David Hoelscher and center Rudy Halfmann.

In all, Woodley will have nine seniors in camp while Hirt will be a junior and Halfmann and Floyd Schwartz sophomores.

Boys who have played out their eligibility for Garden City include quarterback Ronnie Hirt, halfback Tony Chandler, Bobby Halfmann, John Weckoff and Floyd Hayden.

Up at Sands High School in Ackerly, Coach James Blake has already booked nine games for a team that moves from eight to 11-man ball in 1968.

The Mustangs will play practice games with Grandfalls, Loraine, Forsan and Imperial and is seeking a tenth games for either Oct. 11 or Oct. 18.

Sands will be in the same district with Hermleigh, Jayton, Roby, Wilson and New Home.

Question: Why do all sports broadcasters have to say in any given game:

"This is a big, big play—third down and so many yards to go." That is elementary.

EX-STEERS MEET HERE

Glenn Whittington, now of Hurst, Tex., has asked former athletic lettermen at Big Spring High School to meet with him in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company building at 6:30 p.m. Friday for the purpose of organizing an Ex-Letterman's Association.

Whittington said he would hold a similar session of one-time Big Spring athletes in Arlington the night of Dec. 8. Many former BSHS athletes now reside in the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

Many ex-Steers now residing in places other than Big Spring will be visiting friends and relatives here over the Thanksgiving holidays, a factor which prompted Whittington to call the local meeting.

Celtic Coach Benches Self

By The Associated Press

Boston Celtics' Coach Bill Russell had a problem. He solved it by benching Boston Celtics' player Bill Russell.

Toward the end of the first half of the Celtics' 124-110 victory over San Diego Wednesday night, the score was tied 48-48 and Russell put Wayne Embry in for himself.

Big Wayne quickly sank a pair of free throws, added a three-point play and scored another basket, leading the Celts to a 61-52 halftime lead.

Embry came in for Russell again early in the second half and hit three more fast baskets and the Celtics led by as much as 17 points. The Rockets couldn't get back after that.

In other NBA action, Cincinnati nipped New York, 123-122, Chicago beat Baltimore 105-100, and St. Louis edged Philadelphia 115-113.

In the American Basketball Association, Houston beat Denver 106-100, Dallas topped Indiana 112-111 and New Jersey shaded New Orleans 109-106.

Jerry Lucas threw in two free throws with two seconds left in the Royals' victory over the Knickerbockers. Oscar Robertson led Cincinnati with 40 points and Lucas added 31. Cazzie Russell topped the Knicks with 29.

Grid Spotlight Isn't On East

By The Associated Press

Thanksgiving used to be the start of a three-day period that made Philadelphia the football capital of the United States. No more.

In years past the Cornell-Penn game used to pack 60,000 or more into Franklin Field for the once-famed Turkey Day clash. On the following Saturday the annual Army-Navy clash at the then Municipal Stadium on South Broad Street always drew a capacity 102,000.

The two games provided the background for a colorful weekend of social affairs for celebrities from all walks of life and leading football coaches from throughout the country.

That is all changed now. Cornell plays at Penn this Saturday and the annual meeting between the Ivy League rivals no longer attracts 60,000.

The Army-Navy clash isn't until a week from Saturday, Dec. 2. The cold service clash still packs them in.

Nowadays the big college Turkey Day games are in the Southwest and Midwest.

Texas A&M entertains Texas at College Station, Tex., while Oklahoma and Nebraska tangle at Lincoln, Neb., in the leading games today.

Bowl bids hinge on each game. If Texas A&M beats Texas the Aggies will win their first Southwest Conference title in 11 years and their first Cotton Bowl assignment in 26.

A Texas A&M victory also would put the Miami, Fla., Hurricanes in the Bluebonnet Bowl against Colorado.

"If the Aggies win, Miami is our team," Lou Hassell, chairman of the Bluebonnet selection committee, said Wednesday.

This information came from A. F. Dudley, president of the Liberty Bowl, who called a Nebraska-Georgia match "the most logical one." Oklahoma already is in the Orange Bowl.

In other games today Virginia Military and Virginia Tech clash at Roanoke while Villanova is at Toledo. On Friday night Notre Dame is at Miami, Fla. The other major teams don't play until Saturday.

Eagles Are Idle This Weekend

Sterling City, newly crowned eight-man football champion of District 3-B, will be idle this week.

The Eagles return to competition next week, meeting the winner of the bi-district contest between Dawson and Three-Way.

That game will end the season for Sterling City.

Campbell Back For Title Run

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — The third annual Alvin Dark Invitational Golf Tourney got under way here today with a field of more than 180 — including 115 professionals.

Cigar-chomping Joe Campbell, a regular on the PGA national tour, is back to defend the title he won here last year.

Many of the pros in the field are lesser lights from the big play-for-pay circuit hoping for a pay day before next week's Cajun Classic, final official stop on the 1967 PGA tour.

The celebrity division includes tourney host Alvin Dark of Lake Charles, manager of the Cleveland Indians, and such baseball figures as Dizzy Dean, Ken Harrelson, Gene Mauch, Paul Richards and Joe Horlen.

A contingent of some three dozen stage, screen, and radio-television personalities will compete the final two days. The group call themselves "The Hollywood Hackers" and have made numerous appearances in California for charity golf tournaments.

Shatters Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Angelo Cordero, Jr. rode two winners at Aqueduct Wednesday and set a one-season riding record at New York tracks of 259 winners with three weeks still to go. Bob Ussery had set the previous record of 257 in 1963.

Long Of Louisiana Bops Tax Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposed income tax boost, long mired in a hostile House committee, appears to face potentially tough opposition on the other side of Capitol Hill.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee said Wednesday he doubts a tax hike now would be a "good thing for the country."

Long's opposite number in the House, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, has refused to take up the tax hike measure until the administration offers major spending cuts.

But Long indicated he favored putting the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge to a vote of both houses.

Long, in a radio interview for Louisiana stations, said Wednesday of the tax proposal: "It's not popular and, frankly, with four per cent of the people in this country out of work, I doubt that it's a good thing for the country."

Earlier in the day Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said the administration will offer Congress a package of tax increases and spending cuts that would slice about $11 billion out of a potential $29 billion federal deficit this year.

UNVEILING DUE

Fowler, in a letter to Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said the proposals would be unveiled when Mills' Ways and Means panel opens tax hearings next Wednesday.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is fine for making whatever important and vital decisions of note that concern you while then the afternoon and evening are excellent for doing whatever may be necessary to make these conclusions actually work and operate in a detailed fashion in your everyday routines. Get everything about you solo-and-span.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Morning is best for fun and planning social affairs, while later in the day is best for handling duties wisely and efficiently. Put those creative ideas to work. Impress others with your capabilities.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Pleasing kin is good in a.m. so that you have free time later in the day for the social, the recreational. Start that uptrend in all of your affairs. Then off to the delightful companions you like in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are rightfully enthused about your plans in a.m. and can accomplish a good deal, but be sure later in the day you meet expectations of kin. Shop, have conferences early. Handle the fundamental first.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan in the morning how to increase income and then get together with congenials at favorite hobbies. Listen early to what a person in business has to advise. Follow through with good ideas.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know what it is you want from life, and then get wheels rolling in the right direction. Set up an entertainment plan, also. Find out just what it is going to cost you and set aside a little fund for same.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You need to have a greater abundance and now is the time to plan to do just that. Start on some new project that is most promising. Then forget business and get down to the business of being entertained.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Enjoying yourself with friends is best in a.m. so that you can later get into the chores that are waiting for you. Listen to fine ideas that pals suggest. These can be very profitable in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show higher-ups that you value their favors of the past and assure them of your loyalty for the future, and then out to have fun with congenials. Be sure you handle that civic duty first however. It is important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are able to garner fine new ideas if you contact persons of different background to yours now, more wide experience. This could prove very interesting, also. Gad about town in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Responsibilities of an intimate or commercial nature are best handled in a.m., so that you have time later to enjoy new acquaintances. Please mate in morning also. Listen to new ideas later in the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Reaching right decisions with associates is possible in a.m. and you can later go right ahead with your share of work regarding same. Situations arise that give you a chance to be more harmonious with others. Handle properly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Get all that work ahead of you nicely arranged in a.m. and then be off with allies to make more suitable arrangements. Some invention you have in mind should be worked on. Give attention to details.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will, early in life show much magnetism and desire to accomplish great things, since the imagination and ability is great, but take care he, or she, does not get bogged down with small detail and hanging on to a job for a mere existence, as is likely. Provide now for greater self-expression, freedom of will.

LCB Agents Suspended

AUSTIN (AP) — Two Dallas agents of the Texas Liquor Control Board have been suspended because "they're supposed to have made some remarks" about the board office there, LCB Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. says.

Stevenson said he has instructed agents William B. Groce and Raymond Valenta to appear before him at LCB headquarters here Nov. 28.

"It won't be a hearing as such," he said. "We are going to do some interrogating, that's all." Stevenson added there also is a possibility of a public hearing later.

Leaflets placed under car windshield wipers here and in Dallas Monday, with the notation "bought and paid for by the Christian taxpayers," criticized Stevenson and Dallas LCB supervisor James E. Dale. Stevenson said he has "complete confidence" in Dale and called the broadsides "malicious slander."

Clerk First Single Woman To Adopt Child From Agency

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)— Audrey Oliver brushed imaginary a lint from the skirt of her two-piece yellow suit. Her dark eyes scanned the reception room.

Her fidgeting ceased when a six-month-old girl entered the room in the arms of a woman. Miss Oliver's arms went out, and she placed the infant on her lap.

LOVE

There were no words—but it was love at sight.

Miss Oliver, 29, a financial clerk at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Wednesday became the first single woman to adopt a child from the Childrens' Bureau of Indianapolis.

For Miss Oliver, who beamed with pride as she straightened the infant's dress, it marked the end of a long struggle.

She had tried with three other agencies in Indiana to adopt a child but was told she had to be married. She took her case to the childrens' bureau and after careful screening, Miss Oliver was allowed to adopt the child.

'SHE'S MINE'

"The childrens' bureau believes in the right of every child to have a home of his own," said James J. Mallon, executive director of the agency.

"If the only alternative is having no parents in his lifetime, then we feel that the child will be better off if he or she can be loved and cared for by a single person."

He said love is the yardstick when placing a child, along with job security and family environment.

"She's mine," Miss Oliver whispered as she held the baby. "I'm going to call her Candy."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Oliver, Audrey's brother and his wife, cooed and teased the new member of the family.

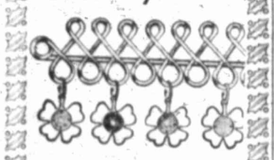

Audrey lives with another single girl. She dates and says she's in no rush to marry.

Other states such as Oregon and California have similar programs of allowing single women to adopt children.

HE'S ON HIS WAY
Santa Claus will arrive here next Monday

WILL BE HANDING OUT BALLOONS AND CANDY

Santa's Arrival, Parade Monday

Santa Claus will be coming to town Monday. He will arrive at the railroad station at 2 p.m. where he will be met by a stage coach drawn by Shetland ponies from the Flying W Ranch at Ozona.

A police escort will lead Santa Claus and the Big Spring High School band up Main Street to the courthouse. En route Santa Claus will greet people and pitch candy and balloons to children.

Santa Claus will be on the east side of the courthouse until 5:30 to talk with children. Preschoolers are asked to be there prior to 3:30 in order that the school children may be there from that time until Santa leaves at 5:30. Members of the American Business Club will serve as Santa's helpers during the afternoon.

The street light decorations will be turned on the first time on Monday evening. Sixty light poles in the downtown area will be decorated with bells and lights.

The Nativity scene will be on the east side of the courthouse and will be spotlighted in the evenings. The life-size figures in the scene have been repaired and repainted by members of the Art Club of Runnels Junior High School, sponsored by Edward Hall.

The scene will be arranged by the youth department of the Salvation Army Corp under the direction of Lt. Bart Deggs, commander, and Earl Wilson, Wilson Brothers Contractors. The cotton bagging for the roof of the scene is being furnished by Co-op Gin of Big Spring.

Santa Claus will arrive at the Highland Shopping Center Friday, Dec. 1, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and will be riding in the world's largest sleigh drawn by Shetland ponies, since reindeer do not operate in climate this warm.

The three shopping centers, College Park, Eleventh Place, and Highland, will have Christmas decorations up by Monday. College Park will use two bells extended from poles with lights and Highland Shopping Center will use candles, spiral trees and flashing bells in the decoration of the center.

All-Purpose Glass For Holidays Is Popular

The all-purpose wine glass — first acquaintance of the wine novice and old friend of the gourmet — is increasing in popularity throughout the country.

Although graceful wine glasses come in various shapes and sizes and in many different price ranges, some people don't wish to keep a large supply of glassware. For them, the all-purpose wine glass is the answer. It has an 8 or 9-ounce tulip-shaped bowl with plenty of room for a gracious serving of wine, and space above for the delicious wine aroma and bouquet. Stems may be longer or shorter than the 1½ inch standard length.

Any wines — appetizer, dinner, dessert and sparkling — may be served with assurance in an all-purpose glass. The usual serving is a little over half-full for table and dessert wines. The all-purpose glass is attractive enough to enhance any table, inexpensive, and sturdy.

When the glasses are combined with a bottle of California wine, a thoughtful and distinctive gift results.

Stay Healthy To Enjoy Christmas Holidays

The Christmas season is traditionally a time of joy, filled with parties, hectic shopping trips, sleigh rides and snowball fights. It is also a time of coughs and colds brought on by wintry weather and lowered resistance stemming from the fast pace of holiday activities.

Quick action at the first sign of coughs or colds can keep them from spoiling the Christmas season for the entire family. Although science hasn't come up with a cure for the common cold as yet, there are ways which will make a patient feel more comfortable and help him effect a speedier recovery.

Here are some suggestions for dealing with a cold as set forth by the U.S. Public Health Service:

1. Go to bed when you first feel a cold coming on.
2. Drink plenty of liquids — water, soups, fruit juices and milk.
3. Eat moderately of appetizing foods which agree with you.
4. Keep dishes and towels separate from those used by others.
5. Call a doctor in the event of high fever, severe headache, achiness, chest pains, hard coughing spells or earache.

An ounce of prevention can mean a happier new year.

One of the newest successful products to combat discomfort is cough discs. Distinctively cherry-flavored the discs are cough syrup in handy form. They contain the same cough-suppressing ingredient, dextromethorphan, common to leading cough syrup brands.

'Little Gifts' Can Be Made To Look So Extra Special

Want your "little gifts" to look extra-special this season? A good way to make a moderately priced present look important is to add imagination! For distinctive, thoughtful gifts for the friends and neighbors on your Christmas list, try these new do-it-yourself designs.

Funny Faces

Amusing and appealing, "funny faces, hide a welcome aid for feminine skin care. To make the faces, cover jars of rinse-off cold cream with paper, ink on the feature, add ribbon or tinsel curls and perky bows. When unmasked, the cream will provide many weeks of cleansing. Not greasy, not drying, it removes make-up completely with plain water. It is available at all beauty counters in four sizes.

Chimney Sweep

Men always appreciate shaving aids, and here's a festive way to wrap a useful tin of aerosol shave cream. Cover the shave cream with brick-patterned paper and top the cap with a Santa Claus face. Finish off with a bow and a bit of holly for a cheery Christmas chimney. Creamy, smooth - shaving cream comes in menthol and regular aerosol formulas in medium and large sizes, from about 79 cents.

Snow Blossoms

For the ladies on your list, top fragrant bath oil and hand and body lotion with bright tissue paper flowers to bloom brightly in bath or boudoir. To make each colorful blossom, take three or four squares of tissue paper in varying colors and twist the sheets together in the center, forming a small stem. Then shape petals with fingers or scissors, and tape the stem to the bottle cap. Add a ribbon bow, bauble, or glitter, if you wish. For smoothing and softening winter-dried skin, bath oil and lotion for extra dry skin are recommended.

Hand Maiden

A decorative addition to a guest room or powder room is a decorative container that does double duty as a manicure center. Use a container shaped in the form of a face or a hand, and trim with sparkling tinsel and bows. Add colored cotton balls, emery boards, hand cream in a tube and a cuticle remover. In a convenient personal - size tube, a popular hand cream for extra dry skin is lanolin - enriched to prevent dryness and chapping. A companion tube removes cuticle without harmful cutting, bleaches nail tips, too. Packaged with its own orange stick.

Traveler's Aid

Traveling men on your gift list? A welcome tuck-in is a plastic case filled with personal sizes of grooming aids. For a Christmas-y air, stitch a stocking from plastic, and fill it with tooth paste, brush, shave cream and razor blades.

Original Touch

For an original topping to your Chistmas package, tie tiny pine cones and sprigs of plastic pins to a big red bow. Pine adds an original touch.

Trim With Stockings

Just hang colorful hose for the entire family. With the advent of modern fibers, casual hose such as these can now be designed with full fashion appeal. And so durable — stays in shape throughout many a machine washing and drying cycle.

Dress Them Up For Nicest Gift

Delicious goodies from your own kitchen are always wonderful gifts. But, what makes them even nicer is the way you dress them up.

Festive little mincemeat or cranberry pies are even more giftable if set on a small paper plate and wrapped with cellophane, clear or colored, and tied with a sprig of holly.

During the pre-holiday rush, set aside some time for pampering yourself in peace. One lovely relaxer is a soak in a warm tub right up to your chin accompanied by your favorite background music. Turning the bath into a beauty treatment by adding two capfuls of Silk'n Satin bath oil to the water. Golden and fragrant, it smooths and softens skin while you unwind. Then follow the bath with a leisurely manicure and pedicure and a final fillip of matching body lotion, massaged into hands, elbows, feet and heels.

Assemble a Crash Kit

On the night-before Christmas, the mice may all be asleep, but the Mommas and the Poppas are busier than ever! To see yourselves through the hectic evening, have a little "crash kit" handy. It might include aspirin, a tube of Pfizer bacitracin ointment to relieve scrapes and burns, prepacked bandages, some penetrating heat lotion or ointment to soothe stiff, aching muscles, and a decongestant eye drop to return natural sparkle to red, tired eyes. In fact, the makers suggest that you always keep such a kit in kitchen, car glove compartment, and the workshop for everyday emergencies.

Enjoy, Enjoy!

So what if the tree lights just blew out and your husband thinks you still wear a size ten. And don't worry about that jelly all over the lace tablecloth. Everyone is having a wonderful time, and you are calm and collected.

Now, what are you going to do about New Year's?

Paper Tree Easy To Make

Paper, in culottes and chairs, flowers and footwear, wastebaskets and washcloths, is the newsmaker of the year. All the more reason to update your holiday decor with a simple paper Christmas tree! Scaled to a table top, this tree can be set amid a blanket of soft white cotton that simulates snow and invites an array of tiny gifts — those you're giving, or those you've received.

To make the tree, you need a sheet of solid colored construction paper, colorful Christmas beads, a box of "Q-Tips" cotton swabs, needle and thread, a miniature tree-top decoration and some glue.

First, fold the construction paper into a cone about 15-20 inches high. The width across the cone's base should be 10 inches. Glue the cone together in back.

Once the base is completed, glue the cotton swabs in position. Then, thread the Christmas beads onto the needle and make six strands, varying in size, beginning with the largest for the base of the tree. Slip the beads on the tree; they should rest lightly on the tips of the cotton swabs.

Turkey About 17-20 Pounds Is Favorite

Nearly one - third of the persons checked in a survey said they favored the range of 17 to 20 pounds when entertaining.

The third preference grouping was a tie between those who used larger birds of from 21 to 24 pounds and smaller birds of from 13 to 14 pounds.

The turkey survey also showed that turkeys of from 11 to 12 pounds are the most popular for regular family meals. Next came nine to 10 pounds, and then six to eight pounds.

Turkey consumption per person went up 80 per cent from 1950 through 1965, from 4.1 to 7.4 pounds, and is expected to be above about 7.6 pounds this year.

Use A Petticoat Around Tree

Rather than using cotton to cover the base of your tree this year, why not plan to make a gay petticoat.

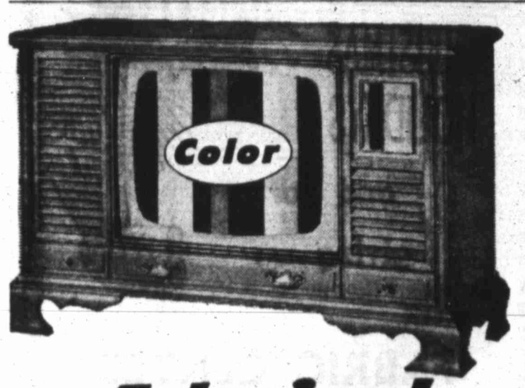

These can be made quickly with felt and a pair of pinking shears. Cut a hole in the middle and slash from outer edge to fit around tree trunk. Scallop with pinking shears and decorate to your taste.

Dainty Corsages Are Flattering

Silver Service Is 'Most Wanted'

The multi-purpose pieces are often the loveliest in a sterling set, and they add the final touch of beauty to a table set with gleaming sterling place settings and fine china and crystal. Without them, a hostess finds that she has to "make do" with other flatware — and this expedient can lend a particularly jarring note to holiday and party meals when tables are set with special care.

The serving pieces in every sterling flatware set range from items as small as the dainty lemon fork to the 17-inch wedding cake knife (an ideal Christmas present, incidentally, for the bride-to-be). In between, there are many times, small and large, each an example of the consummate artistry and skill that goes into the making of every piece of sterling silver.

If the lady you have in mind already owns some sterling flatware, it's easy to learn the identity of the manufacturer and the pattern. The manufacturer's name is always stamped on the back of every piece of sterling; sometimes the pattern name appears also, but if not, an admiring comment on the pattern or a casual inquiry into its name is usually all that's needed. Often, in the case of the new bride or young homemaker, the sterling pattern she owns will be listed at the gift registry of her favorite jewelry or department store. Here, a complete record is kept of the pieces which she's already received and those which she still needs.

The following serves as a brief guide to some of the handy serving pieces which make excellent Christmas gifts:

For the Informal Hostess: Buffet parties are the answer to easy entertaining these days — and serving pieces seem to be even more in the spotlight here on dining tables. The cold meat or buffet fork is useful for meat loaves, cold meats and platter salads. The sterling tablespoon is ideal for puddings, soft and frozen desserts, potatoes and vegetables. The tomato or flat server is handy for hard-to-balance food such as tomato slices, asparagus spears or croquettes. And the sterling-handled salad fork and spoon are, of course, the utmost in buffet eclat!

For the Teatime Devotee: Elegance and flair attend this cherished ceremony — and the beauty of dainty china teacups and sparkling silver contributes almost as much to the occasion as the flavor of the beverage itself. Indispensable sterling serving pieces are the dainty sugar spoon or sugar tongs, the lemon fork and the bonbon or nut spoon in sterling.

For the Dessert-Lover: Any woman who dotes on luscious pies and cakes, or prepares them for her family, would love to receive a beautiful solid silver pie or cake server this Christmas. This piece, which has a serrated cutting edge, can be used either alone, or with the sterling cake knife or cake breaker.

For the Weight-Watcher: The combination of fresh fruit and cheese, as any European traveler knows, is one of the delightful mainstays of the continental menu. This dessert, which is catching on in this country, is the perfect ending to a filling lunch or dinner. The cheese serving knife in sterling makes a wonderful gift combined with that individual place piece, the sterling fruit knife. This pair can enthrall any epicure — and make weight-watching a positive delight!

Gifts With Future

Shown here are the large serving fork and spoon — pieces which can be given either alone or in combination. The serving spoon is used for casseroles, vegetables, berries and puddings; the serving fork for meat loaf and cold meats. Together, they make an elegant salad serving set.

Add Color To Dull Objects

If your holiday decorating funds are limited, there are easy, effective ways to add extra Christmas beauty and still maintain the budget.

The secret is in spending a minor amount to effect a major change in the appearance of a room. The secret is also in using color in small amounts to erase the over-all winter drabness of a home.

One of the practical beauty tips suggested by a design expert for Rez antiquing and stain colors is to spend five dollars to buy a new piece of furniture. There is no catch. The five dollars buys color to apply to an old or tired piece of furniture to transform it into a decorative room highlight that picks up the interest of its surroundings.

Leftover antiquing colors won't go to waste. If you choose a soft antique blue that reflects the Colonial era of elegance for a handsome but outmoded chest, use the leftover paint to apply to inexpensive candles that can be purchased for pennies in your variety store. In several antiquing kits available today, a tube of gold paint is included which can be applied as a candle trim and as a smart coverup for unappealing candle holders.

If you decide to reawake the beauty of a scratch table by adding a fresh wood stain, use the leftover stain for plain paraffin candles you make or buy to simulate Christmas logs. The Rez people suggest scoring the candles with a hot nail before the stain is applied to give it a genuine rough-textured "cedar log" appearance. Then wipe on wood stain. After stain has dried, burn the "scores" into the candle. For a fir or spruce log, use a green stain.

Tack on a touch of holly, a wood sprite, an ornament. Arrange as logs in a circle of holly or other greens and you have created a Christmas hearth for the center of your holiday table.

The holiday season stimulates a woman to do the decorative extras that can become an important part of a room's decor the year around. All predictions seem to indicate that antiqued furniture will come on stronger than ever in the New Year. So choose the antique blues, reds, violets, greens and other mellowed finishes that will spark the decor for seasons to come. With the new two-step antiquing process, a large table or chest can be antiqued in a day.

Use the leftover paints and stains to create coordinated and unusual candle colors that reflect your artistic and economic approach to a happy holiday.

Plants Like A Lot Of Light

The gift plant in your home should have as much light as is possible, preferably a sunny window. It should be kept away from drafts and heating elements. The plant likes a 65 to 70 degree day temperature and 55 to 60 degrees at night.

As soon as the plant is unwrapped, the foil should be punctured so that excess water can run out the hole in the bottom of the pot. It will probably need a good soaking so pour water around the top until it runs out of the bottom — then empty the water in the saucer under the plant. When this is done there is not much danger of over watering. Allow the soil to dry out before repeating the process.

Driving Gloves

Why Spell It 'Xmas'?

Why is "Christmas" sometimes written "Xmas"?

"X" is the Greek letter symbol that is used to represent the name, "Christ."

These urns were uncovered in a cave on the Bethlehem to Jerusalem Road.

Easy Candle

Take any size easy - opening waxed cardboard carton, and drink up the liquid that's in it. Then, put a regular table candle in the center, fill with crushed ice and pour hot paraffin wax until full. (The plastic coating will prevent sticking.) When it's cool, cut back the carton and pull out the finished candle. For extra color, decorate with rosettes or holly leaves. Then light the wick for a very attractive candle all will admire.

Watch Out For Fires Around Tree

During the holidays your home is more susceptible to fire than at any other time of the year. All fire-causing components are present . . . greens and your Christmas tree trappings for fodder and to ignite them, heat from the tree lights and candles. So for a save and happy holiday, follow these simple precautions:

1. Saw the Christmas tree trunk off at an angle at least one-inch above the original cut end; then use a stand that provides for a water well. Keep well filled to above the cut line.

2. Station the tree and greens well away from any heat-producing devices such as radiator, fireplace or television, or from where smokers are apt to sit.

3. Before decorating tree, give it a fire-retarding treatment. Dissolve ½ pound alum (available in drugstores) and ½ pound kitchen shelf baking soda in a gallon of water. Fill a bug-killing gun or other squirt-type contraption with the solution and spray it on the tree. Decorative greens should likewise be treated, but they can be dunked in the solution. Extra bonus — a decorative snowlike coating. Remember, however, that this treatment is merely a fire retarder. Fire can still break out although it will be a slow smolder instead of a fast blaze, so don't be lulled into a false sense of security.

4. Before installing lights, inspect them carefully and dispose of any with faulty sockets or frayed wiring. Then inspect lights periodically to see if needles around them have turned brown. If so, move them.

5. Use only foil or flameproof or fireproof material to cover the Christmas tree stand. If you want to use an old sheet, flameproof it first by dipping it in a solution of 9-ounces of pure borax, 4 ounces of boric acid powder and a gallon of water. Wring by hand, hang to dry and iron if you wish.

6. Use only glass, metal or fireproof trimmings on the tree.

Four Kinds

There are four kinds of trees that are popular and generally the best — Douglas Fir, White Fir, Silvertip and Minnesota Spruce.

Springtime Special

If you can't find a kitten for Susie's Christmas stocking (kittens are usually born in the spring) — you might wrap up this picture and put it under the tree as a kind of promissory note for the kitten-to-come. Or you can settle for a cat, who, in the long run, may be an easier companion for small fry. A cat is housebroken, well-behaved, and used to strenuous love, like being carried around upside down! And there are 10 million homeless cats in this country — some of whom you'll be able to find at your local SPCA or humane society.

Might Best Settle For Grown Tabby

If you are looking for a kitten to give Susie for Christmas, you may have already discovered that, unlike babies, parakeets, and turtles, kittens are not an all-year-round commodity. For reasons best known to Nature, kittens are almost always born in the spring, along with tulips and daffodils. Occasionally, some kittens, unaware of this timetable, are obligingly born near the holidays, but you better not count on it.

There are, however, two things you can do, according to the Friskies Cat Council: If you are shopping for a pure-bred kitten — a Siamese, Persian, Abyssinian, Burmese, or one of the more exotic breeds like a Korat or Himalayan — you can put in your order for first litter choice with a local breeder, and for Christmas morning, wrap up a picture of a kitten — (the magazines are full of them —), and put it under the tree. Susie won't be able to cuddle it, but she'll have something to look forward to, come April or May.

The best solution of all is to settle for a cat. There are approximately 10 million homeless cats in this country. You won't find all of them at your local SPCA or Humane Society, but you can see a fair sampling. Sleek, beautiful, well-behaved cats. Many of them have been abandoned by their owners for reasons good or evil. These are cats used to a family, to care, and to love.

Chances are, they will also be accustomed to children, and this is one big advantage to consider. Most children are very hard on kittens. They squeeze them too tightly, they love them too strenuously, they pull their tails, and lug them around until they are exhausted.

A cat, on the other hand, is more tolerant of all this enthusiasm, and physically, more able to take the gaff. On Christmas Day, she is not likely to get ruffled by all the excitement, nibble the tinsel, or get sick on the poinsettia leaves. She is already housebroken. Just give her time to explore the house and yard, feed her a variety of quality commercial cat food, dry and canned (like Friskies), and plenty of fresh water; give her a bed in a secluded spot off the floor and out of drafts, and she will be a healthy, contented cat.

So this Christmas you can give two presents in one: a cat for Susie, and a new home for Tabby.

Give Him An Ages Old Gift, Pipe

History has revealed the use of tobacco in pipes in many different forms. Eskimos at one time used a willow twig, which they split, hollowed out and put together with leather thongs. Segments of a crab's claw, lobster claw, ivory tusks, slate, clay and the center of a plantain leaf were used for pipes.

In fact, pipes have been fashioned from iron, gold, silver, platinum, jade, horn, porcelain or any material which would tolerate heat. Even today you can choose a pipe from corn cob porcelain, clay, cherrywood, pyrolite, graphite, meerschaum and of course, briar.

While all are thoroughly enjoyable, the most popular is briar. The use of briar for pipes is one of those unusual occurances which accidentally happens once in a century.

Pipes predate all other forms of smoking. It wasn't until the 1890's when a French pipe maker who was devoted to Napoleon decided to visit Corsica and learn Napoleonic lore first-hand. While there he evidently became so enraptured with his history that he dropped his favorite meerschaum completely ruining his prized pipe.

Desperate for a substitute, he could find nothing to his liking, until he heard of a farmer nearby who was skilled at carving. He asked the farmer to fashion him a pipe from whatever material he could find. The farmer chose the root of the bruycre bush botanically known as erica aborea, and commonly known as the white heath tree. The pipe proved so fine, the French pipe maker took samples of the wood back to France and thus began the use of briar as the premiere pipe product.

Briar is excellent material for pipe smoking, according to the Pipe and Tobacco Council, because of its porosity, resistance to heat, its lightness, its ability to absorb and digest moisture, and its all around attractiveness.

Meerschaum, the German word for sea foam, is the fossilized remains of tiny marine animals. It has much the same properties of briar but its inaccessibility and rarity make it a prized possession.

In the gift-giving season such as Christmas, more than 96 per cent of the millions of pipes which will grace the Christmas tree will be of briar. There are others, too, which the inveterate pipe smoker will want. These include the new pipe made from pyrolite graphite which is similar to the materials used in the nose cones of missiles. There are, of course, the corn cobs, a perennial favorite in the United States and throughout the world. Finally, the meerschaums, the cherrywood, the clay pipes of old, and some of the fancy porcelain pipes.

All are good gifts. All are perfect complements for the man's favorite tobacco. Interestingly, seven out of ten men in the United tates have smoked a pipe at one time or another. The refinement in today's smoking tobacco has convinced many of them to remain with his favorite pipe, no matter the material.

Put It Inside

Money at Christmas is always appreciated. But, it's much nicer as a gift when inserted in one of the many novel cards now shown for that purpose.

Carol's Father

The "Father" of the American Christmas Card is Louis Prang. He created exquisitely beautiful cards in his lithography shop in Boston in 1874. Soon he was selling his cards all over the United States for several dollars each.

Prang's card appeared in as many as 20 colors. Very few of them used Christmas scenes, but instead were illustrated with designs of spring flowers, harvest scenes and pictures of children playing.

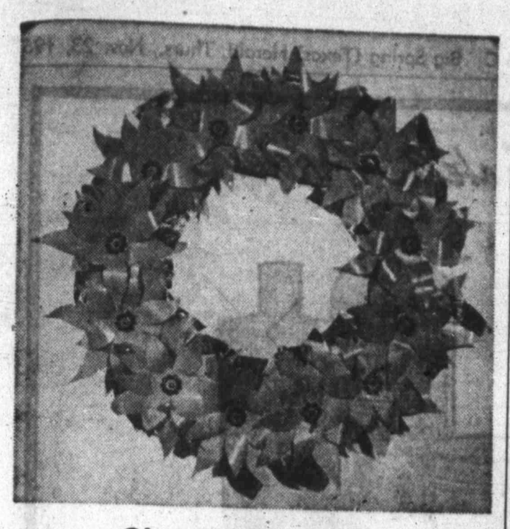

Glad Reception

Sofa pillows, large floor cushions, patterned or pure white table - cloth and napkin sets, cigarette boxes, table lighters, and candy dishes, all will meet with a glad reception.

Hung Horizontally

Tall, symmetrical trees look their loveliest when lights are hung horizontally. Tall trees which are not symmetrical should have lights hung vertically. This is the best treatment for too - stocky trees too.

Large trees can take the different treatment of lights hung spirally.

Clusters Of Beads

Many Ideas For Cheer

The "Poinsettia Wreath" is a cheerful holiday decoration for door or fireplace. You can make it inexpensively using Christmas gift wraps. Here is a marvelous idea for a Christmas bazaar, or as a gift for someone you'd like to please . . .

Materials:

2 rolls "Holiday Red" gift wrap
2 rolls "Emerald Fashion Foil" gift wrap cardboard straight pins
black beads
plastic foam ring, 18 inch diameter (outside), 14 inch diameter (inside), 1 inch thick

Instructions:

1. Wrap 1 inch strips of "Emerald Fashion Foil" around plastic foam ring; secure with pins

2. Leaves: Cut shapes from 5½ inch x 2¼ inch rectangles of "Emerald Fashion Foil", grain running lengthwise. Pinch one end and pin to wreath in overlapping rows.

Flowers:

3. Cut 12 cardboard circles, 2 inches in diameter.

4. Petals: For each flower, cut 6 petals, 3¾ inches x 1 inch and 6 petals 2¾ inches x 1 inch of "Holiday Red"

5. Cement large petals on a circle in radial pattern.

8. Cement a circle of black beads in center of flower.

9. Attach flowers to wreath by pinning through black bead in center.

Instructions for making the "Poinsettia Wreath" and many other original Christmas decorations for the home, church, or school are available in a free booklet published by Norcross Inc. called "Christmas Tales and Treasures." To obtain a copy, send a postcard request Norcross Inc., Department SC, P.O. Box 250, Old Chelsea Station, New York, N.Y. 10011 no later than Dec. 1.

Recipe For Danger On Nation's Roads

Take any intersection, add winter driving conditions, stir in exuberant holiday mood and spirits and you've got a recipe that spells dangerous trouble.

"Holiday Mood" can be defined as preoccupation with the social whirl, or as the glow of "holiday spirits"! There is no minimizing of danger from intersection accidents. You can avoid intersection accidents by being alert, which means, not to mix alcohol if driving.

Forty-four per cent of all accidents in urban areas happen at intersections. Reduced visibility, and reduced traction, are the main bugaboos of winter driving, says the Safe Winter Driving League. The League distributes information on how to avoid winter driving hazards.

Traction on snow or ice increases with either snow tires or chains. With snow tires on ice at 30 m.p.h. you still need 392 feet to stop. But, chains will stop you in 173 feet.

However, some people don't like the clunk-clunk of chains on dry portions of the street. If you're one of them, then you've got to be extra cautious, and proceed at snails pace, if necessary.

As for the danger "ingredient" holiday spirits, keep your exuberance at a safe medium. The old rule of "if you're driving, don't drink . . . if you're drinking, don't drive" still holds good.

Carol Singing Mostly Around Favored Piano

In homes all over the world families will soon be taking part in one of the most joyous traditions of Christmas — the singing of Christmas carols. The accompaniment in most cases will be on the piano, the most popular instrument, now played by an estimated 24 million amateur musicians. Many of these carols were written long before the piano came into being and have interesting origins. We received information about them from John Steinway, whose family and the instrument it makes have been performing a service to music for over a century.

Many of the carols are centuries old. In ancient times, plays performed in cathedrals during the Christmas holidays were set to music. In the 13th century, St. Francis of Assisi spread this tradition outside the church by incorporating the songs in street festivals. Among the earliest carols is "O Come, All Ye Faithful," which has been translated into around 120 languages and dialects. Some scholars believe the Latin text was by St. Francis of Assisi.

The text of "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" was written as a hymn in 1739 by Charles Wesley. The music used today was not written until a century later when Felix Mendelssohn composed it as a secular cantata. It was adapted to the carol in 1856.

"Silent Night" is not exactly what we consider music for the guitar. But according to Mr. Steinway, it was composed on the instrument we now associate with rock 'n roll. The poem was written in 1818 by Austrian clergyman Father Josef Mohr for the evening Christmas service. The church organist, Franz Gruber, is said to have composed the music in two hours that afternoon, using a guitar because the organ was broken.

America is the origin of at least three famous carols. "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was written by Bishop Phillips Brooks of Boston and Philadelphia. "We Three Kings of Orient Are", was composed about 1857 by Reverend Dr. J. H. Hopkins of Pennsylvania. "Away in the Manger", is probably the last one to have gained fame. The music was composed in 1895 by the famous American Gospel-song composer, W. J. Fitzpatrick.

More Attractive

There is no doubt about it, evergreens and the entire garden appear much more attractive when the Christmas lights are on. The reason is that darkness blots out unsightly areas. But the bulbs should be placed so that they do not touch the needles of the evergreens and one should check the position of them each day. Winds may shift them out of position. The heat on the needles will sear them so that patches of dead needles will appear on the evergreen in the spring.

Easy-Bake Oven

Operates on two ordinary electric light bulbs and bakes in half the time Mom's oven requires. Just adding water to the special mixes provided will produce delicious cookies, frosted cakes, and other treats.

She Can Cook Just Like Mommy

New adventures in cooking take the spotlight on Toyland this Christmas. Most unusual is a new Big Burger Grill which operates on one ordinary electric light bulb, beamed to interest boys as well as girls in operating a drive-in type stand. This unusual grill produces a complete range of quick order treats including cheese dreams, pancake, burgers and franks and rolls to match.

A see-through cover protects kids from spatter and there's a safety trap for grease so kids can cook wholly without supervision. Mixes for onions, catsup, pancakes, syrup, etc. add to the fun.

Another hit in the cooking area of Toyland is the Easy-Bake oven which operates on two electric light bulbs. This is notable for safety features which protect little fingers. A slide-in arrangement makes it impossible to get out the cake pan until it is cooled.

There's a broad range of goodies in failure-proof mixes which the junior cooks can stir and bake to their hearts' delight without supervision, such as gingerbread, honey cakes, bubble gum, devils food, and there's a corn popper attachment too.

Newest thrill is the dandy bar set which makes it possible to bake real candy bars with peppermint, butter pecan and maple centers and chocolate or cherry vanilla covers. This kit includes candy bar special foil pans, candy wrappers and separator sheets.

And perfectly timed to make junior cooking enthusiasts enjoy clean-up operations, there's a new jet-action automatic dishwasher that attaches to an ordinary faucet. It has a see-through cover so the kids can enjoy watching the detergent do the job.

Children can operate their own dairy "Ice Cream Stands," too, with Freeze Queen. The set includes a dairy stand machine, a mixer, a cone dispenser and "just add water" mixes. Pre-freeze the canister in the ice compartment of the family refrigerator, then insert in the Freeze-Queen. No need for a plug in to bring the mixes to proper temperature. The youngsters can create a wide variety of curly top cones, sundaes, sherbets and sodas.

Dustpan Dress

Even your lowly dustpan should get dressed up for Christmas. Decorate a copper dustpan in three easy steps: 1. Glue sequins all around the edges. 2. Use decorative cellophane tape to attach pine cones, pine branches and small Christmas ornaments across the top. 3. Take four yards of red ribbon, make a bow and streamers of different lengths and attach to the top of the dustpan handle. The Pine Cleaner Information Center suggests you display your dustpan at hearthside or near the tree. Then it will be all set for its practical role in sweeping up ashes or fallen pine needles.

Check Against The 'In' List

How "with it" are you? Check yourself against this list of gift suggestions for hep holiday shoppers to find out just how you'll rate with the swinging set come the gift-giving season. Most of the items have not been around very long. Those that have are enjoying a new wave of popularity and all are generally available. Count one point for every item you've heard of. Then find your "swinging" rate at the end.

TEENAGE GIRL: Mini hair dryer; electric curlers; leg art paint; electric hair and nail kit; papier-mache slave bracelets; mirror jewelry; chain belts; bracelets and bags; records; foot-wide paper flowers; ostrich-plume boa; flower-powder poster; love soap; mod watch; six-inch (plus) wide belt; water buffalo sandals; mini billfold; anything purple; a book on horoscopes.

SMALL FRY: Peanuts pillow, shirt, games; big soup-can storage bin; high-riser bike; skate stilts; dolls, address book, desk set; papier-mache piggy bank; stationary pack; skirt-pants dress; paper lunch box pack; see and tell phonographs.

TODDIERS: Paper houses to climb into; paper tub chairs; stuffed Winnie-the-Pooh, Eeyore, Piglet; three-piece melamine feeding set; chairs and tables to construct themselves; oatmeal box table; paper pinafore.

That's it. We bet it's safe to say you're reasonably familiar with 60 per cent of the above. If you hit the 80 mark, you're in there pitching and for any score above that, count yourself a real swinger.

Water It Often

During the holidays: add water to the tree holder daily. . . Always turn tree lights out before retiring or leaving the house . . . Keep the bird feeder well stocked. . . Be sure to enjoy this special day and have a very Merry Christmas.

SECTION D — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1967 — SECTION D

IT'S A LOT NEARER THAN YOU THINK

Time To Get Your Mailing Done

It's a lot nearer to Christmas than you think.

According to Frank Hardesty, postmaster, the Yule is already very much in evidence at the Big Spring Post Office.

"In fact," Hardesty noted, "one deadline has already expired. Nov. 11 was the last date to get 5-pound parcels and gifts to persons in service abroad. Mail of this type was sent by train, truck and ship and the time to permit its delivery by Christmas has passed."

In fact, the postmaster said, the time is at hand for everyone to begin giving serious thought to his plans for Christmas mail. This applies alike to parcels and to letters and cards.

The next deadline for military personnel overseas is Dec. 1. That's the final date for gifts weighing five pounds or less, plus letters and greeting cards sent at surface rates. If these are in the mail by deadline date they will be expedited — even sent by air mail on a space available basis.

In 1966, the Big Spring Post Office handled over 30 million pieces of mail. Hardesty noted that about 5,000,000 of these letters and parcels had to be taken care of during December. The Christmas rush accounted for the big number. He expects this year's Christmas mailing to exceed last year's total.

That is why, he said, that early mailing, not only to men and women overseas but to friends in the continental U.S. is so important. A belated Christmas gift which arrives after the holiday is a heartbreak. It is a disappointment to the person who sent it and to the person for whom it was intended.

It is better, the postmaster argues, that a parcel reach its destination ahead of Christmas than to have it show up several days after the holiday has passed.

Here in this country, gifts to residents who live in distant points should be in the mail Dec. 4. Greeting cards to far off points should be dispatched not later than Dec. 10 and gifts and letters to nearby places not later than Dec. 13. (These are items which are expected to travel by surface mail.)

Overseas airmail deadlines are near. For those places remote from mail air routes, packages and mail should be on its way by Dec. 1 and even for the areas served by the heavily travelled air routes should be sent not later than Dec. 10.

Hardesty urged citizens of Big Spring to be sure to use the correct address on their letters and packages going to servicemen overseas to avoid serious delays in delivery.

Hardesty warned that millions of letters and packages going overseas have been delayed because they were insufficiently addressed. He said that one of the biggest problems has been the failure of persons to include the important five digit APO or FPO number in the military address. Mail not containing this number is incorrectly addressed.

Hardesty said that last year more than nine million pieces of mail were delayed in delivery. Of this number, three and one half million pieces failed to include the complete five digit APO or FPO number in the address. This improperly addressed mail had to be sent to a military locator directory where time - consuming searches were made to determine the proper address.

"As the Christmas mail volume going overseas is expected to increase up to 30 per cent or over four million pounds above last year, every precaution should be taken by friends and relatives of servicemen to address their letters and packages properly to assure rapid delivery to its destination," Hardesty said.

They are:

1. The serviceman's identity-grade, full name, and service number.
2. His military unit — complete.
3. Gateway post office—New York, San Francisco, or Seattle.
4. APO or FPO—a five digit number.

When any of these elements is missing, the letter or package will be delayed in delivery.

Some timely tips were suggested by the postmaster:

1. Start preparing now a list of correct addresses including the ZIP Code number of all friends and relatives who you plan to send gifts or greetings.
2. Address Christmas cards and gifts correctly and clearly.
3. Be sure to place a return address on all mail and list your own ZIP Code number.
4. Use the new five cent Christmas stamp showing the Madonna and Child on all Christmas cards. Sending cards first class permits you to write personal messages on the cards which is not legal on second class mail.
5. Separate the mail into "Local" and "Out of Town" bundles. Free labels will be delivered to every householder Dec. 1 to assist you in this.
6. Mail all of your Christmas cards and parcels to out-of-town addresses by Dec. 10 and all those for local delivery by Dec. 15.

Hardesty also had some advice on wrapping Christmas gifts.

"Use strong durable containers," he said. "Wrap in strong papers. You may enclose a message, if you pay an additional five cents postage and label the package 'First Class Mail Enclosed.'

"Pack your presents securely so they will have a better chance of making their long difficult journey intact."

In closing, the postmaster added:

"A Merry Christmas to everyone and may you all make good use of your ZIP Code numbers."

Make Pillows

Where The Teddy Bear Originated

Giengen-on-the - Brenz, the little German town where the Teddy Bear originated over 60 years ago, is basically a village of toymakers with a history dating back about 700 years. Its cobblestone streets and gingerbread houses, many of them centuries old, provide a "Hansel and Gretel" setting. There is also the quiet Brenz River and the fields and forests surrounding the town. It is here that Margarte Steiff GmbH., the world's largest stuffed toy manufacturer, is headquartered.

Toymaking is much the same as it was when Margarete Steiff first opened her shop in 1880. Most of the work is done painstakingly by hand. For the greater part, each tiny piece of mohair cloth or felt is cut by a worker using a pair of scissors. Noses are hand-embroidered, seams are hand-stitched, stuffing and coloring are done by hand — and so it goes throughout the entire manufacturing process.

The Old World custom of homework, too, is practiced. Women are seen arriving at the factory with huge baskets to pick up raw materials which they later return as finished products.

The name "Teddy Bear" came out of a hunting incident involving the U.S. President. In 1902, the year Steiff made its first bear, Theodore Roosevelt traveled into the backwoods of Mississippi on a bear hunt. After several days in which no bears were sighted, the expedition's guide chased a little bear cub out of the brush and cleared the way for the President to get off his shot. Mr. Roosevelt refused and shooed little bruin back to his mother.

On this same expedition was the Washington Post's famous political cartoonist, Clifford Berryman, who was so moved by the President's gesture that his first cartoon upon returning to his drawing board was one showing the President refusing to shoot the cub. From that point on, in each cartoon Berryman did on the President, the little bear cub showed up which Berryman named "Teddy's Bear."

Guests were invited to an affair to be held at the White House. As they came in they saw Steiff bears posed on the festive tables — dressed and equipped as hunters and fishermen — a theme chosen by the caterer because of the President's reputation as an avid outdoorsman. When the illustrious Teddy admitted that even as a bear expert he couldn't name the breed, a guest spoke up and said, "Why, they're Teddy Bears, of course!"

Add Sparkle

Add your own sparkle to candles this year. It's easy and fun too. Just soften the outside of the candles where you want to attach "glitter" . . . then stick on odd buttons, old tree ornaments, sequins, or tinsel objects you can buy where ornaments or wrapping paper are sold.

Firemen At Work Fixing Up Toys

Bicycles, tricycles, wagons—these and dolls top the list of most popular and needed items now being sought for the 37th annual firemen's toy drive.

City firemen numbering 49 are already busy repairing, painting and cleaning toys brought in since the campaign began last week when a request was made to Big Spring residents for broken, old or unwanted toys.

The seasonal repair job of the firemen will continue for six weeks, according to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker. By the time the Dec. 23 deadline rolls around, dolls, bicycles, wagons, gun and holster sets, games and an assortment of like-new toys will be ready for distribution.

Last year 2,532 toys were distributed by the Salvation Army, the majority of them repaired by firemen and others donated by individual contributors.

"Even bicycles or wagons beyond repair are needed to supply parts to complete others" said Crocker. "Many times we must interchange parts and toys which appear of no use often have parts we need. It may take two or three tricycles to make one."

Over 200 dolls received in the 1966 drive have been sent to the high school home economics department and women in town for "dressing up." Although firemen scrub, clean and disinfect the dolls, these volunteers undertake the task of outfitting each one—sewing, washing and pressing so each looks almost new by the time it faces final inspection.

Toys may be delivered to any of the city's fire stations for repair. Should anyone have contributions and are unable to come to one of the stations, Crocker said pickups would be made.

Metal toys are preferred since they are more easily repaired than plastic ones. Any kind of dolls are welcome.

Ideal For Travel

Fold or hang - up wardrobe bags, ideal for car travel make the perfect family gift. In lengths for dresses or suits, one or two car - packs will constitute a never - to - be - forgotten gift.

Roomy shoulder bags to hold tickets, traveller's checks and every etcetera; smart attache cases that will make him resemble a traveling tycoon; all are designed as special gifts for special people.

Help Him 'Putter'

There's a tremendous variety of garden, building and 'fix-it' items to choose from. These range in price from 50 cents to as much as you want to pay.

For $5 or less, you can put together a fine gift for the handyman! Fill regular glass jars, labeled, with a collection of nails, screws, tacks, etc., in various sizes.

Or, why not fill a box with an assortment of miniature tools. (Smaller - than - average hammers, screw drivers and pliers are often useful for intricate jobs or repairs in tight places.)

Of course if you can find out what is needed, gifts that 'round out' the work-shop tool supply are always most appreciated.

For the most expensive gift, the power tool that converts for many uses is very popular. And, was there ever a man with a yard who didn't want a power mower?

Competitive Games Beamed At Whole Family Enjoyment

Wild Life is one of the most unusual formats invented by Peter Ryhiner, a veteran leader in preservation of wild animals. The object of play is to capture animals alive and sell them to zoos instead of exterminating them. Each player acquires ownership of a zoo. Playing pieces are plastic hunters and the jungles of the world are the base for humanitarian hunt. Players must cover the cost of the capture, stabling costs of animals in transit and other practical aspects of wild animal marketing.

Another highly realistic new game is Count Down which uses data and pictures supplied by NASA for competitive action keyed to carrying out project Apollo — consisting of rockets landing on the moon and returning. Astronauts cards which control the plays show pictures of real astronauts. The game includes an eulogy to astronaut heroes who have died. Players spend millions to purchase parts of rockets.

Espionage and other plots hamper progress, so there is suspense right up to the last play.

Most novel in the strategic game category is Nile which harks back to Cleopatra's day for inspiration. Players lay tiles to chart the winding course of the ancient river, reports E. S. Lowe. Nile is unusual in appeal to those who like quick action and excitement and those who relish deep strategy.

Another innovation is Home Stretch, the first game based on Sulky Racing. Play involves realistic strategy with suspense right up to the finish line.

In the quick action sector of games, Yahzee is a favorite dice game that combines skill and luck. Heads Up bases plan on building basic equations with the throw of the dice. Although simple addition, subtraction, multiplication and division are involved, observers report a challenging competition.

Oregon's Birth Rate Low Looms

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — On the same day that the population of the United States reached 200 million, an Oregon official predicted her state's birth rate was about to hit its lowest point in 35 years.

Marian Martin, state director of vital statistics, said Oregon's birth rate this year will be about 16 per 1,000 population.

Lingerie Just Right

Slips are a year-in-year-out necessity that no female ever has enough of. However, if you suspect that she is well-stocked in this department, try a slip or petti-slip in one of the new, bright lingerie shades. Just watch her eyes light up!

Sophisticated nylon gowns that can almost double for at home wear, albeit a bit bare, will thrill even the hard - to - please type that you think has everything.

SWEATERS

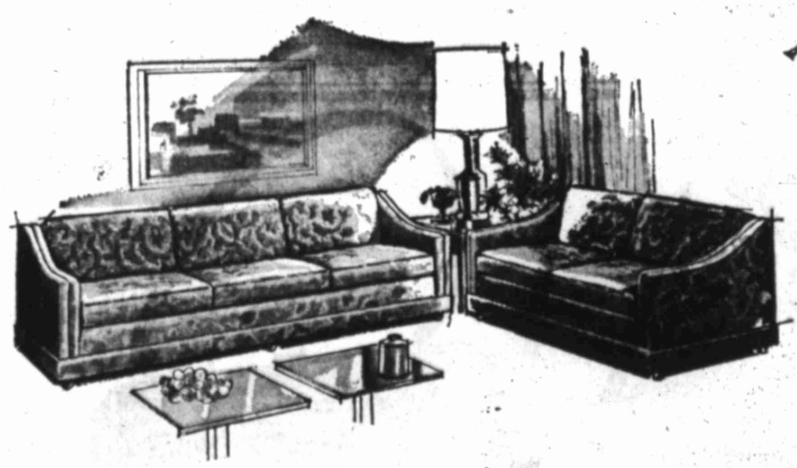

Select a sweater to make a most suitable gift. Just let her social life decide your choice, and you can't go wrong. The outdoor gal wants a shaggy bulky, either pullover or cardigan style. The social butterfly can't get enough of beaded or embroidered cardigans and will consider a fur trimmed cashmere THE best gift ever!

FUR AND NEW

Even women who prefer the tried and true, will be delighted with a touch of what is new! And there's nothing newer this year than fur and fur-like accessories.

He's Alive! Almost

Toy designers bring to children a "baby brother" with a different response for each different body action. For instance, pick up That Kid's right arm; he says, "Hey! That's my pitchin' arm." Pull his ear, he says, "Let go of my ear." Sit him down and leave him, he asks, "Can't I come along?"

Got A Skier At Your House?

If there is a skier in your house, chances are his or her list of Christmas gift suggestions is at least as long as his favorite ski trail.

Unfortunately, the awesome array of ski equipment, clothing, and accessories is enough to bewilder the cleverest Santa. Especially if Santa — or Mrs. Santa — can't tell a long thong from a toe throw.

One sure way to score with your favorite skier is to tuck a pair of sunglasses into his Christmas stocking. Next to skis, boots and poles, sunglasses are a skier's most important piece of equipment.

Of course, you should select your skier's sunglasses carefully to make sure you are giving him the best protection from blinding glare and from "snow blindness". Snow blindness is caused by excessive exposure to ultraviolet light and can be avoided with sunglasses. The lenses in these remarkable sunglasses absorb 96 per cent of these harmful rays.

Snow blindness is the extreme, but even reflected glare off snow can be annoying, sometimes dangerous. Again, to protect your skier from blinding glare, look for lenses that are designed to eliminate glare, not just darken it.

If Santa is feeling generous, or if your skier has been especially good this year, two pairs of sunglasses might be in order; one pair with green or grey lenses for sunny days, and another pair with amber lenses for hazy, cloudy, "flat light" days.

Make Home Shine For Christmas

Where lights, tinsel, stockings or wreaths are to hang, that's where eyes will focus at Christmas so make sure that every eye-catching spot in the house is free of smudges, smears or soot. A product that will stand you in good stead in your Christmas cleaning stint is sal soda concentrated . . . it's a boon to the budget, too, for not only is it inexpensive, but a little sal takes you a long way.

Start with the fireplace and mantel, the center of stocking-opening activities. Youngsters will endorse this enterprise for it means a clean entrance for Santa when he comes swinging his pack down your chimney. To erase the soot from brick, apply a strong solution of sal soda concentrated . . . about a cup of sal per pailful of hot water with stiff-bristled brush. For tile, apply the same solution with a sponge or cloth. For really stubborn spots, on either brick or tile, brush or sponge the sal on dry. To get rid of fingerprint smudges around the mantel, use a weaker solution of sal and apply it with a sponge or cloth, rinse with fresh water and wipe dry. Use the same technique on doors that will sport wreaths and on archways that will sport mistletoe.

Ceiling light fixtures, distined to be decked in greens, should be soaked in a sinkful of hot sal solution. The film of grease-laden dust will be emulsified and your lights will shine the brighter for the cleaning.

When it comes to washing windows to make way for wreaths, swab them down with about three tablespoons of sal soda concentrated per quart of water, rinse with fresh water and wipe dry.

Choose Tree With A Care

Shop as wisely for your Christmas tree as you do for that very special gift. In order to get a lovely tree that will stay that way there are several considerations.

First, check the shape of the tree, making sure that it is uniform and full-branched.

Be sure to measure the height you want for the tree in your home, and then take that yardstick with you when you buy. A tree in an open-air lot looks smaller than it actually is. It's a waste of money buying a tree that is too tall; it also means it will have to be cut down.

Many people feel that it is worth it to spend a little more and get a fire-proofed tree. Many families are selecting the colored trees.

Bake 'N Take Is Nice Gift

Check your Christmas list. Is there anyone who wouldn't love getting a fat cookie jar filled with delectable home-made treats? A "bake 'n' take" gift is one of the nicest (and least expensive!) ways to remember close friends and relatives at the holiday season.

Santa's Samplers are perfect for the "bake" part of your gift. Everyone will love them — soft and plump, spicy and crunchy with chopped nuts. Thanks to the canned apple slices in them, these treats stay moist and fresh with zesty flavor for days. Apple slices also simplify the making, for they come out of the can firm and juicy, already cored and peeled, ready to use.

To complete this pleasant, personal gift, "take" the cookies in a gift-wrapped cookie jar. Tag on the Santa's Samplers recipe — that cookie jar should never go unfilled!

Santa's Samplers

½ cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup all-purpose flour, sifted
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup rolled oats
1 cup canned apples slices, drained and chopped
1 cup walnuts, chopped

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Mix with oats. Add alternately with apples to creamed mixture. Add walnuts, and mix well. Drop by rounded tablespoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F. about 20 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Give Tots Their Very Own Camera

Picture Story Camera is a make-believe camera for preschoolers styled after a real 35 mm candid camera. Proportioned and detailed to follow the lines of a real miniature camera, it is colorfully reproduced in a bright yellow, red and white, with a yellow plastic carrying handle.

By pushing the shutter release button on top of the camera, a triple action is produced that at the same time turns the top-mounted simulated flash cube, changes the full color scene in the viewer, and advances the number of the film "exposure." Eight pictures in all tell of a visit to a farm. The second viewer, a see-through one, has a wheel which changes the colors of the field of vision.

It's a take-along toy for youngsters aged 3 to 6 that suggests imaginative play situations. Made of tough plastic and wood, it measures 5¼ inches wide, 4 inches high, by 2¾ inches deep.

Fire Plant Is Now Poinsettia

More than a hundred years ago our Ambassador to Mexico Joel Roberts Poinsett, took a fancy to a brilliant tropical plant, known as the Mexican Fire Plant.

Returning to his home in South Carolina, he started growing the plant from cuttings he brought from Mexico. Soon the scarlet-leafed plant came to the attention of American botanists, and under the name "poinsettia," it was destined to become symbolic of Christmas.

In tropic climates, poinsettia is grown in varieties of white, pink and yellow, but by far the most popular is the bright red that carries out the color scheme of Christmas.

Light Up Outdoors For Festive Look

Inexpensive outdoor decorations can be made much more exciting and beautiful simply by spotlighting them.

Consider using a colored light, although white is always effective. The only really important thing to remember is to conceal the source of the light as much as possible.

Shrubbery near a window or door is always good for cover. However, spotlights get hot, so take care that the heat is not too close to the shrubs to cause a fire.

Like to feature a twinkling star in your display? It's easy . . . simply cut a star shape from perforated board. Place the light behind, turning it away from the star to shine on a wall or other large, solid object close by. The light will bounce back and shimmer through the tiny holes in the star-shaped board, making it seem to twinkle.

For courtesy's sake, make sure your outdoor lighting does not shine on your neighbor's home.

Some Gift Hints

If she really loves to sew, give her a pattern plus enough material, the zipper, buttons and thread for a new dress, robe or lounging outfit.

A dress form, or a gift certificate for one, will make her think you're the most thoughtful person ever!

Needs Light

The poinsettia is a real sun worshipper, so place it where it will receive as much direct sunlight as possible.

Inexpensive Toy Chest Suggested

Cover any container with a bright, cheerful new wall-covering and you can turn it into an inexpensive toy chest in a matter of a few minutes.

One leader in the industry, recommends its new pre-pasted, vinyl-coated wall-coverings for this purpose.

You can achieve a gay result by using one of the new nursery patterns to cover a container. In addition, a border pattern can be cut apart to make attractive vignettes which have been placed in inexpensive frames for wall decoraions.

Mix and match patterns, using scissors and a ruler. You can transform a tiny, drab cubicle into a cheerful nursery with wallcoverings. The papers need only be dipped in cool, clean water and positioned on the wall. This vinyl coat gives these wallpapers complete scrubbability so that tots' fingerprints and scribblings are easily removed.

Wreath Making

It's fun and easy to make your own Della Robbia wreath. You can buy evergreen roping in the length you desire. Form a circle with it. Then with wire attach fruit and nuts that have been dipped in white shellac. Good to use are crab apples, Seckel pears, limes, lemons, tangerines, kumquats, grapes and cranberries. Wash the fruit before you shellac htem.

Nothing To 'Spare' For Bowler In New Products

Bowling a bowler over for Christmas leaves nothing to "spare" these days. In fact, gifting bowlers for Yuletide was never easier. The world's leading manufacturer of bowling equipment and accessories has a striking line this year. Shoppers can select from among many accessory items sure to please the heart of any bowler. There are balls esteemed by professionals in a variety fo weights just right for 'him' or 'her' bowlers. Epoxy-type plastics and rubbers furnish gayly colored balls that score high among the lady bowlers. Junior can make his entrance on the lanes with an 8-lb. Powermite — a real striker for the lollipop set.

Perfect on-the-lanes footwork is assured with bowling shoes in a variety of fashion-right styles and materials made with soles that allow perfect approach slide. The problem of toting balls and shoes to lanes has been handily solved with a wide selection of zipper closing bags executed in rhineo-tough plastics or quality leathers which nest both balls and shoes neatly. There's even a rigid-sided bag, air-flight light, perfect for tournament touring.

For assurance of gift-giving satisfaction, bowlers' Christmas gift certificates in book form or as a Christmas tree ornament are available in bowling centers and pro shops to allow a recipient to make a personal choice.

Tape Does It

To hang cards from wall to ceiling without marring — tack a piece of cellophane tape (sticky side out) to the molding and baseboard. Just press the back of each card, as you receive them, to the tape. To keep the front pages of book fashion cards in place, slant the top of the card a little.

Apple Of Grandpa's Eye

It seems generally accepted that the most important function in the life of any grandparent is to spoil his children's children. Maybe that's why grandparents are the largest single group of bike buyers in the country just before Christmas. There's lots of good health and good fun wrapped up in that bike.

Bikes Still Most Popular

With 18,000 mile an hour supersonic transports just around the corner, it is something of an anachronism to find that one of man's most basic inventions — the wheel, in one of its happiest applications — the bicycle, is still the most popular of all Christmas gifts.

It is also interesting to note that recent industry trends indicate not all Christmas bikes are being bought for youngsters. Thousands of adults are now buying bikes for themselves to ride alone, or with the family for fun, physical fitness or pleasant outdoor recreation.

The bike has always been a favorite with the younger set, and many a small eye has filled with tears of joy over that first two-wheeler. Sociologists point out that the bicycle represents a "coming of age" to the youngster. He has instant acceptance with his peer groups, an outlet for his natural spirit of curiosity and adventure, and a new sense of independence to go where and when he chooses without needing Mom to drive him. He also feels, it has been noted, that by giving him a bicycle, parents seem also to be giving a vote of confidence in the developing of a youngster's sense of responsibility.

For the growing number of adults who are returning to the bike, there are a wide variety of models and styles to suit every adult need. The emergence of bicycling's popularity among adults has caused a revolution in the field of recreation planning. New York's Central Park, Rock Creek Park in Washington, Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, and many others throughout the country have become cyclists' paradise on weekends as they have been closed to all but pedestrian and bicycle traffic. New bike trails, paths and Bikeways have sprung up in more than 200 cities, and the U.S. Bureau of Census reports that cycling popularity has increased by 105 per cent in the past five years . . . much of it with adults.

All of which is to say whoever you want to please this Christmas morning, chances are a bike will do the trick. From small wheels to three wheels, tandems, unicycles or sleek racers, there's an American-made bike to delight the fancy of any youngster on your Christmas list . . . no matter how old he is.

Taking The Pain Out Of Shopping

The atmosphere of Christmas, according to tradition, is supposed to be "calm and bright," but the period preceding it seldom is.

Besides the usual chores of housekeeping and weekly shopping, mothers must also wrestle with the seasonal job of shopping for gifts and cards, and planning and cooking special feasts. Then there's the holiday baking, cleaning the house from top to bottom, decorating it, and lastly, preparing to entertain both expected and unexpected guests.

Nevertheless, the Christmas holidays were meant to be enjoyed and if you plan your schedule, organize your family, and conserve your energy, they can be fun. Toward this laudable end, the makers of Bayer aspirin offer the following helpful tips for making it a merrier Christmas.

Shopping for a seemingly endless list of presents looms largest on the holiday to-do list. Therefore, spread your shopping trips over several weeks. Allocate no more than three hours out of a day to it. Start early in the morning when you are fresh. Also that's when the stores are not usually crowded. At home, after a hectic shopping session, ease those aches with two aspirin, and a leisurely soak in a warm bath for 15 minutes. You'll be surprised how this helps.

You can cut down your shopping mileage by using the catalogues that big department stores send out at Christmastime. In many cases, you can order gifts by mail or telephone directly from the catalogues.

Addressing greeting cards can be another time-consuming job. You can take the strain out of this by dividing your list into four parts and then doing each part over a four-day period. Also, involve the youngsters in this by having them address the envelopes (if their handwriting is legible) and in sticking on the stamps.

Your baking task will be easier if you make a list of the special things you want to prepare. Then set aside one day of a week and call it "baking day." Fruit cakes, candies and cookies can be made considerably ahead of time if you take care to wrap them in foil or waxed paper. Little girls love to help with this particular chore so delegate the mixing, decorating of cookies, and some of the wrapping to them.

When it comes to decorating the house, keep it fairly simple. Besides the tree with lights and ornaments, you will have candles, wreaths, garlands and table decorations to think about. You need only a few of these to turn your home into a place of splendor. If you decide to make some, remember again to pace yourself. Do a little bit each day as Christmas approaches.

Start Saving Now For 1968

Don't hesitate to borrow this Christmas, but don't get caught short of funds again. Start saving for next December 25 now! You'll have a year to save, a little at a time.

To help you, banks around the country now provide special accounts under programs called Christmas Clubs. They make you save for Christmas in spite of yourself: You save in much the same way as installment loans.

Looking Ahead

Quite often it is the "senior citizen" who is most difficult to buy for — but it needn't be so. Gifts that "look ahead" are always appreciated. . . gifts such as a subscription to a magazine or book club, or a roll of postage stamps in a pretty container.

Varied Holiday Programs

By RHODA LEMONS

During the forthcoming weeks of Advent, Christians throughout the city will be making preparations to celebrate the birth of the Christ child with hymns of praise and adoration. Others will join together in gift giving and sharing with others in keeping with the Biblical injuncton, ". . . It is more blessed to give than to receive."

STATE HOSPITAL

The first Christmas activity at the Big Spring State Hospital will begin Nov. 27 when Herman Bauer, manager of Woolworths, will host an open house at his store for hospital patients to do their Christmas shopping. Staff members at the store will return with the hospital patients and serve coffee and doughnuts. The group will be transported in a bus furnished by the Knights of Columbus.

Ward and room decorations will begin Dec. 11, and Christmas trees will be donated by the Optimist Club. The patients will be assisted by the attendants in the decorating, and prizes will be awarded by the volunteer coordinators.

The patients will present a Christmas program for fellow residents Dec. 20 in the auditorium, under the direction of Frank Wharton, and the public is invited. On Dec. 21, volunteer groups will host parties for patients in each hospital unit, and it is expected that approximately 30 organizations will assist. Individual gifts will be presented by members of the Volunteer Council from Big Spring and Midland.

Chaplain Lee Butler will conduct special Christmas services at 9 a.m., Dec. 24, in the hospital auditorium. Other programs will be held at the hospital by the Music Study Club, Dec. 11, and various caroling groups from churches and organizations will visit the hospital during the Yuletide season. Gift wrapping projects have been under the direction of Mrs. Neil Norred, and gift wrappers have been provided by Mrs. Emmett Grantham.

VA HOSPITAL

Holiday festivities will begin at the Veterans Administration Hospital when the American Legion Auxiliary will provide, at no expense to the patient, a Christmas gift shop so that patients may select gifts for their families. Gift wrapping and mailing will also be done by the auxiliary, and the shop will be open Dec. 4-8.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary of Lubbock will host a party for the patients, Dec. 5, as will the Auxiliary of World War One Barracks of Abilene on Dec. 12. Both will be held at the hospital. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary of Lubbock will present a Christmas program, Dec. 14, and the Christmas trees will be decorated Dec. 15 and 17. Clubs responsible for decorations will include the World War One Barracks and Auxiliary, the National Association of Letter Carriers, the American Gold Star Mothers and the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

A ward party will be held for the patients on the sixth floor, and the dining room will be decorated by members of the Salvation Army. Christmas gifts to all the patients by combined organizations will highlight activities on Dec. 22. Christmas caroling will be held throughout the month under the supervision of Chaplain C. O. Hitt. The Berea Baptist Church will hold special services at the hospital Dec. 16, and the First Church of God will have a religious program at 7 p.m., Dec. 23. Rev. Hitt will speak at the morning worship hour, Dec. 24, in the hospital chapel.

CHURCHES

Glenn Faison, minister of music at the First Baptist Church, will direct the church choir in a presentation of the cantata, "The Story of Christmas," by H. Alexander Matthews at 7 p.m., Dec. 17, at the church.

Mrs. Louis Heinze will serve as organist, and Mrs. William T. McRee will play the piano accompaniment. Those featured in solo parts will be Miss Pat Adams, Mrs. B. J. Priddy, Lester Morton, Walter Wheat and Kenny Sheppard.

The youth and junior choirs will present special Christmas selections on Wednesday and Sunday prior to Christmas, and a vesper carol service will be held at 5 p.m., Dec. 24.

FIRST METHODIST

Handel's "The Messiah" will be presented by members of the church choirs and the orchestra from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, at 6 p.m., Dec. 10, at the First Methodist Church. Van Hale, chairman of the music department at Howard County Junior College, will direct the presentation, and John Stanley, musical instructor at the college, will be featured at the organ.

SACRED HEART CATHOLIC CHURCH

Midnight mass will be read by the Rev. James Delamey at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The choir will present special religious music for the Christmas season and will render a selection of Christmas carols.

SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army will have a Christmas tree and party Dec. 24 at the Dora Roberts Citadel, and members of the Ladies Home League will be hosted to a Christmas party, Dec. 13, in the home of Lt. and Mrs. Bart Deggs.

COLLEGE BAPTIST

On Dec. 17, members of the sanctuary choir of the College Baptist Church will present the cantata, "The Glorious Message," by Donna Krieger. Mrs. Gorman Rainey and Orville Bryant will be featured soloists, and Mrs. Don Richardson will serve as organist. Mrs. L. B. Thomas will play the piano. The youth choir will be heard in two programs on Dec. 13, consisting of Christmas carols and the story of Christ's birth.

TRINITY LUTHERAN

The Rev. Robert Knutson will present the Christmas Eve service at 7:30 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church. He will give the Evangelical Mass written by Olavus Petri, which was written in 1531 and used by Luther. Holy Communion will be celebrated in the candlelight service which will close with a spreading flame. The public is invited. December 3 will begin the season of Advent and members of the congregation will participate. A children's Christmas program will be conducted Dec. 17 under the direction of Mrs. James Charnawskas.

FIRST CHRISTIAN

A Christmas folk cantata based on the hymn of the shapenote tradition entitled "An Appalachian Nativity," by Lewis Henry Horton, will be presented at 10:50 a.m., Dec. 17, at the First Christian Church. Sampy Wall, minister of music, will direct the program. Soloists will be Mrs. Florence Hallam, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gerber and Wall.

SCHOOLS

Kenny Sheppard will direct the a cappella choir concert on Dec. 16 at the Big Spring Senior High School, and on Dec. 11, the Abilene Christian College band will perform at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

The traditional Christmas program will be presented at Goliad Junior High School, when the band and choir will collaborate in a program at the school Dec. 20.

Students of the sixth grade class at Airport Elementary will present the Christmas program for the Parent-Teacher Association at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 14 at the school. Raymond Stevenson will direct the program, "Music Around the World."

Directed by Mrs. Florence Compton, the sixth grade will present a Christmas program at the Boydstun P-TA meeting, at 3:30 p.m., Dec. 14, at the school.

Miss Kathy Woods will direct the Christmas musical, Dec. 7, at Cedar Crest Elementary School, and will also direct the program at Marcy Elementary School, both in conjunction with the P-TA.

The sixth grade musical department under the direction of Mrs. Compton will perform in a Christmas program Dec. 13 at the College Heights Elementary School. The program will be "Holiday for Music," and will feature contemporary as well as traditional selections.

Salvation Army Slates Busy Season Of Help

Christmas is just around the corner and plans to make it a happy one are already in the making at Salvation Army headquarters, according to Lt. Bart Deggs, commander.

Bells will ring Dec. 4-23 as members of local civic organizations man five bright red kettles, urging residents to contribute to various Christmas programs sponsored by the Salvation Army.

Clubs who will be helping are the Men's Bible class at the First Methodist Church, 1953 Hyperions, Big Spring State Hospital staff, Potpourri and Shriners. Any others may contact Lt. Deggs.

Kettles will be located at the post office, Woolworth's, Gibson's, Hemphill-Wells and Furr's Cafeteria.

"This program was first started in 1885 in San Francisco and last year raised $3,816 for use locally," said Lt. Deggs.

In 1966 food baskets for 271 families were financed with part of the money, while 140 children were entertained at Christmas parties. Lt. Deggs said 2,532 toys were distributed during the holidays, most of them coming from the firemen's toy drive.

County and state welfare files provide a list of needy persons to benefit from the programs, said Lt. Degga. These lists are supplemented by the Salvation Army's to determine who will receive assistance. He said need is most often based on income, unemployemnt, etc.
