GARNER FORCES TO LAUNCH NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Senator Elmer Thomas Forces Restoration Of Oil Traiff To Tax Measure

ONE-CENT LEVY STAYS IN BILL UNDER THREAT

Oklahoman Promises Long Filibuster if Clause Is Abandoned

LUMBER LEADS WAY

Two Cent Tax on All Bank Checks Approved By Committee

WASHINGTON, May 4. (UP)—Tariffs were swept back into the senate finance committee's tax bill today under pressure from groups which threatened to hold congress in session all summer if not placated.

Lumber, which was refused protection when the committee previously inserted tariff items, led the way today. The committee voted a tariff of three dollars per thousand on timber, and then restored protection for oil, coal and copper.

Cent a Gallon on Oil

The copper tariff was fixed at four cents a pound; oil at one-half cent a gallon; gasoline at two and one-half cents a gallon, and coal at two dollars a ton. These oil and copper rates are lower than those originally voted in the bill and then unceremoniously voted out a few days ago. Only oil and coal are protected in the house bill, the former at one cent a gallon, including gasoline, and the latter at three dollars a ton.

The committee also added import taxes on lubricating oil, at two cents a gallon; on paraffin and other petroleum wax products, at one cent a pound; and on asphalt at 10 cents a hundredweight.

Busy Day

The sudden reversal of tariffs followed a busy day of drafting and redrafting the revenue bill. Its most conspicuous decision today was to make permanent all excise taxes in the bill including the levy on leased wires which it is estimated will cost newspapers approximately $1,000,000. The house had voted a two-year emergency on excise taxes and made permanent only income, inheritance and gift taxes.

The action on tariffs came after Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, openly threatened to conduct a filibuster that would last all summer if an oil tariff is not included in the revenue bill. He said he would take up the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, item by item, and move to reduce protection for the East.

Other Rates Hoisted

Other rate schedules drafted today included:

A flat two-cent tax on all bank checks, which the committee substituted for its previous levy covering all checks above $5. Bankers protested the previous tax on the ground the exemption would complicate accounting and lead to a flood of small checks.

Restoration of the one and a half per cent penalty voted by the house for filing of consolidated corporation income tax returns.

Exemption of loans of stock from the four cents a share tax on exchange transactions.

Reduction of oil and gasoline pipe line tax from eight to three per cent.

COMPACT BILL UP

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—A bill by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, giving the consent of congress to any interstate compacts between oil producing commonwealths to promote conservation will be taken up tomorrow by a senate judiciary subcommittee.

American Girl Hurt In Paris Auto Accident

PARIS, May 4. (US)—Injured when her motor car overturned, Miss Druscilla Evans, Des Moines, Iowa, is almost out of danger, her mother said today.

Miss Evans is suffering from concussion of the brain. The accident occurred at Les Andelys Saturday. John Evans, the injured girl's father, is an American newspaper correspondent in Rome.

Governor Sterling Posts Reward for Murderers

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling today offered a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of two unknown men who murdered and robbed J. N. Bucher near Hillsboro Saturday night.

Honor Slaying Case Comes To Abrupt End As Pardons Granted

By JAMES ADAM
(Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

HONOLULU, T. H., May 4.—With abrupt and dramatic swiftness that stunned Honolulu, the famous Fortescue-Massie "honor slaying" case terminated today when Gov. Lawrence Judd granted commutation of sentences of the four defendants to one hour in custody.

Executive clemency came immediately after the defendants, convicted of manslaughter for the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, native Hawaiian, had been unexpectedly sentenced to a term prescribed by law—not more than 10 years imprisonment at hard labor in the territorial prison.

Defendants Joyous

The quartet, Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two navy enlisted men, Albert S. Jones and E. J. Lord, were overjoyed by their sudden freedom.

Their faces were wreathed in smiles.

They were so happy at the quick turn in events that it seemed they were quite unable to realize what it all meant for several minutes after the governor personally greeted them in his office and read the commutation.

Mrs. Fortescue, after shaking hands with Governor Judd, her keen blue eyes shining, said:

"This is the happiest day of my life. I thank you Governor Judd from the bottom of my heart."

Navy Men Salute

Her daughter, Mrs. Thalia Massie, innocent victim of a criminal assault by a gang of hoodlums that led to Kahahawai's killing, also beamed at the governor as she too clasped her slender hand in his.

Lieut. Massie clicked his heels together and saluted before he voiced his gratitude, as did the sailor boys, Jones and Lord.

All Lord could say was: "Thanks, governor."

The four Americans did not undergo any prison sentence, the hour in custody which the governor prescribed being merely technical.

It consisted of the defendants being turned over by the court to Major General Gordon Ross, high sheriff of Hawaii. Ross accompanied them in a navy automobile to the gates of Pearl Harbor navy base, 12 miles from Honolulu where he left them.

Darrow Pleased

"My congratulations to you all," said Major General Ross as he departed. "I believe this is a most happy outcome to this unfortunate case."

Both Clarence Darrow, famous chief defense counsel, who was heartbroken when a mixed blood jury brought in convictions of manslaughter last Friday, and special prosecutor John C. Kelley, expressed satisfaction with the outcome.

"I appreciate the attitude of Governor Judd," said Darrow, "and I think he acted wisely and justly."

"We believe the ends of justice were observed when a jury convicted these defendants," declared Kelley. "I am a prosecutor, not a persecutor."

Natives Displeased

Honolulu was stunned by the sudden ending of a case which had split the city into opposing factions and created a political and social upheaval.

While most approved, others, particularly in the Hawaiian mixed group, including orientals, denounced the governor.

It was revealed after clemency was granted that secret negotiations had been under way for two days between opposing attorneys and Governor Judd. But not a word leaked out until this morning.

Sentence of the defendants had been scheduled for Friday and even a half hour before the defendants were brought into court Darrow announced he was continuing with his plans for a new trial and an appeal to the higher courts.

Decision Made

Shortly before 9 o'clock this morning Governor Judd summoned Attorney General Harry Hewitt and his assistant, Harold Kay, into his office.

He informed them of his decision which had been reached the night

LIQUOR INDICTMENTS

AMARILLO, Texas, May 4. (AP)—Grand jury indictments charging 12 Amarilloans, two of them women, with violations of prohibition laws were returned in federal court here today.

'Killy-Me-Quickly' Wrecks Morals Of Women In Africa

BOSTON, May 4. (US)—They have gin-drinking flappers, even in South Africa, where bootleg liquor is known as "killy-me-quickly."

Ambitious native of Johannesburg, in "the world's worst slums," eke out the family income by doing a little bootlegging on the side.

In fact most of South Africa's hooch is made by women.

These surprising facts were detailed today by Miss Ruth C. Cowles, of New Britain, Conn., a missionary on a visit home. Said Miss Cowles:

"Why do the native women of the slums of Johannesburg manufacture illicit liquor? To make both ends meet!

"We have thousands of gallons of whisky and brandy sold to non-Europeans by the Europeans who make laws against it, and they are selling it to boys and girls—and sending them straight to the devil.

"Every Monday morning hundreds of Bantu women are driven to jail with their babies on their backs to serve sentences for brewing this illicit liquor."

'BONUS DEAD' RAINEY AVERS

Democratic Leader Predicts Defeat of Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—A confident prediction that cash redemption of the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus will not become law was made today by the house majority leader. Meanwhile the ways and means committee prepared to act on the controverted proposal that the payment be made with currency issued for that purpose.

Representative Rainey, the Democratic chieftain, told newspaper men flatly that the bill "hasn't a chance" and that "the committee won't approve any fiat money plan."

Bonus advocates insisted, however, that eleven of the 25 committee members already were on their side and hoped to add enough support for a majority.

"Our plan to pay the certificates is the only plan that will place money among the masses and cause an increase in the velocity of money and credits," Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, said.

"It is gaining public support every day and this congress can not afford to adjourn without doing something to help the masses of the people."

Rainey said it might be a good thing to get the bill on the floor for action so that business could be assured no fiat money will be issued.

'Hoover Doctrine' Urged For Peace Enforcement

WASHINGTON, May 4. (US)—The United States will adhere closely to a policy of "non-recognition," instead of force or the boycott to enforce peace, Acting Secretary of State Castle declared tonight in an address before the conference of international justice in which he outlined what he termed the "Hoover doctrine."

This policy, he said, is the outgrowth of the attempt to enforce adherence to the Kellogg pact by Japan and have her relinquish her gains in Manchuria. He said that while the use of force, or a boycott was impossible, members of the League of Nations had subscribed to the "Hoover doctrine."

RAIL BOARD JOINS IN WAR ON OIL THEFTS

'Put the Screws to Them,' Is Commission's Word To Prosecutors

PENALTIES SOUGHT

Suits to Collect Fines Authorized at Meeting Of Commission

TYLER, Texas, May 4. (UP)—All branches of government united efforts here today to stamp out widespread theft of oil from wells in the East Texas field. The state railroad commission joined county and district attorneys and military officers in a law enforcement campaign, invoking pecuniary penalty provisions of the conservation laws as well as criminal law.

"Put the screws to them," was the commission's injunction to the officers investigating the thefts, alleged to have been carried on in Gregg and Rusk counties for months through collusion of operators, a few commission employes, and two railway agents.

Suits Authorized

The railroad commission authorized District Attorney John E. Taylor of Longview to file suits for recovery of penalties against all violators of the commission's oil production orders in the East Texas field.

Penalties range from $100 to $1,000 per violation per day. Taylor was unable to estimate the total amount he could recover but it was said earlier this week penalties against one alleged oil theft ring under investigation would approximate $20,000.

Neff Absent

The commissioners acted near the end of a hearing at which Chairman C. V. Terrell and Commissioner Lon A. Smith investigated possibility of its staff in the field being involved in the alleged thefts. Commissioner Pat M. Neff did not attend but sent telegraphic suggestions as to matters for investigation. His colleagues called him a "vociferous stage decorator" and ignored most of his suggestions.

Theft of oil, besides being a felony, is a violation of state conservation laws if the oil is produced in excess of commission allowables. The suits for penalties will be filed under the conservation law.

Col. L. S. Davidson, commander of guardsmen in the field, told the commission that neither county nor district attorneys could file the suits without authorization.

Permission Granted

"We will grant that permission right on the spot," replied Chairman Terrell. Smith acquiesced.

In the hearing with the commissioners were District Attorney Taylor, Colonel Davidson, R. D. Parker, chief supervisor of the commission's oil and gas division; County Attorney Vernon W. McDavid of Rusk county; Assistant Attorney General Bishop; Major Harry Johnson, provost marshal of the guard, and Carl L. Estes, Tyler newspaper editor.

Chairman Terrell commended Taylor, McDavid and the military leaders for their activity in uncovering the alleged thefts.

Baseball Park At Shreveport Burns

SHREVEPORT, La., May 4. (AP)—Biedenharn park, home of the Shreveport Texas League baseball club, was razed by fire tonight. The blaze originated in the north end of the grandstand just over the players' dressing room and rapidly ate its way until only a small portion of the southern wing of the structure remained. The only space not destroyed was used as an office.

The park was insured for $35,000. The game scheduled for tomorrow between Galveston and Shreveport has been postponed because of the fire.

GAMES TO BE PLAYED AT TYLER

DALLAS, May 4. (AP)—J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, said here tonight that Walter Morris, business manager of the Shreveport Sports, whose park burned, intended to switch Shreveport's home games to Tyler, Texas, until a new park was built.

Ireland Passes Bill To Eliminate Oath

DUBLIN, May 4. (US)—The Free State dial by a vote of 76 to 68, tonight passed through committee stage the government's bill to drop from the constitution the oath of allegiance to the British king.

The bill will now come up in the dial for third reading, and after passage goes to the Senate, where it may be defeated.

Greenville City Council Acts to Cut Expense

GREENVILLE, Texas, May 4. (INS)—A total of $27,417 had been stricken from city expenses here today.

The saving, which was reported by city officials at a meeting of the city council, was effected through the elimination of offices, consolidation and reduction of wages. Other savings are expected.

Methodist Conference Warns Candidates Against 'Wet' Stand

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 4. (US)—Aspirants for the presidential nominations of both parties were warned today by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church that the denomination stands unequivocally for continued enforcement of the prohibition laws.

By the unanimous vote, the section of the episcopal address dealing with the liquor problem will be printed in pamphlet form and copies sent to President Hoover, members of both houses of congress, the governors of the 48 states and candidates for the presidential nomination.

Study Divorce Law

A subcommittee of the committee on the state of the church began its deliberation on proposed changes in the divorce law of the church, adopted four years ago at the sessions of the general conference in Kansas City. Under the present law, a minister of the church may officiate at the marriage of a divorced person when it is clearly established in the minister that the true cause for divorce was adultery "or its full moral equivalent."

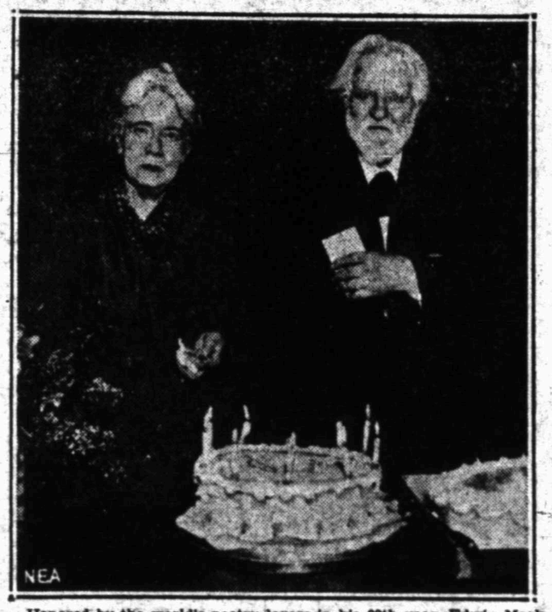

Memorials have been submitted asking a definition of the phrase "full moral equivalent" and requesting a statement of how the minister is to learn the true cause of divorce. The revisions made in the divorce law four years ago were regarded by many as a lowering of standards and dissatisfaction had been expressed in various sections of the country. In the episcopal address, the bishops referred to the existing ruling as "unsatisfactory."

Spiritual Life

Another group of the same committee has turned its attention to preparation of a statement on the spiritual life of the denomination. Among subjects which it will discuss are "Buchmanism," a movement founded by the Rev. Frank Buchman, formerly of Philadelphia, which has spread widely both in England and America despite widespread criticism.

A third group of the committee on the state of the church devoted its attention to a memorial requesting "a strong statement" on the moral and social implications of the present industrial system, denouncing the present as "more nearly representing the practice of the jungle than of a Christian family," urging unemployment insurance and world economic planning.

Wife Shares Tribute To Aged Poet

NEA

Honored by the world's poetry lovers in his 80th year, Edwin Markham is shown here, with Mrs. Markham, in an interesting pose as the International Poetry society paid tribute to him in New York the other day. The cake and candles were in honor of the aged bard's birthday anniversary, which occurred recently.

Attorneys Plan Final Plea Before Court Passes Sentence On Negroes

Appeals Decision Upholds Death Sentence Given Johnson; Slayers to Pay Penalty Soon

Affirmation of the death penalty given Richard Johnson, negro, in the 30th district court here last fall for the murder of A. N. (Ted) Nodurft was announced by the Texas court of criminal appeals at Austin Wednesday.

A similar penalty imposed upon Johnson's companion, Richard Brown, negro, for robbery with fire-arms in connection with the same offense was affirmed one week ago.

Brown is still a prisoner in the Wichita county jail. Johnson is in the Dallas county jail, where he has been held for several months.

Attorneys Walter Friberg and J. Earle Kuntz, who were appointed by Judge Allan D. Montgomery to defend Johnson in his trial here, announced Wednesday that a motion for a rehearing by the appeals court probably will be filed. Definite decision on that matter, they said, can not be made until the court's written opinion is received here. It is expected Thursday or Friday. Defendants are allowed 15 days after the appellate court's affirmation of sentence to ask a rehearing.

Cedric Taylor, attorney for Brown in the latter's trial at Graham, indicated last week that a rehearing of that case would be asked. If such hearings are denied and further appeal is not granted, mandates will be issued by the criminal court of appeals and the negroes will be brought into trial courts for sentencing.

Both negroes were indicted on charges of murder, criminal assault, and robbery with firearms in this city after a crime which shocked the entire community. Nodurft, formerly of this city but a resident of Fort Worth at the time, was parked near Brook avenue just south of the W. F. & S. railway tracks with his fiancee, a Wichita Falls girl, when the attack occurred.

Surprised by the approaching negroes before he could drive away, Nodurft was shot and fatally wounded. The girl was attacked by both defendants, who then robbed both her and her dying companion. Nodurft was rushed in his own car, driven by his fiancee, to the hospital where he died within a few hours.

The two negroes were captured by city and county officers here more than a week after the crime was committed, and after several days of investigation had seemed to furnish litle or no clues. Johnson first was tried before Judge Montgomery. The jury deliberated little more than half an hour before returning a verdict fixing his punishment at death.

Brown was tried in Graham on a change of venue from this county. The jury there also returned a prompt verdict calling for the death penalty.

DEMOS ADOPT PARTY PLEDGE

Way Cleared for Precinct Conventions May 7

Almost unanimous approval was voted by members of the Wichita county Democratic committee Wednesday morning for the action of the state committee recently in requiring that pledges to support Democratic nominees for president and vice president be required of all participants in precinct conventions.

Four Oppose Pledge

Of the approximately 40 precinct representatives present at the meeting, only four declined to vote endorsement of the state committees action, according to Bert King, chairman. No record of the dissenting votes was made, Mr. King said other than to show that all but four of the members present voted endorsement. A small number of precinct chairmen were represented by proxies.

Considerable discussion preceded the committee's action on the pledge requirement. P. B. Cox de-

Norris Demands Halt On Air Mail Subsidies

WASHINGTON, May 4. (US)—A moratorium on the gigantic post-office subsidies to air and ocean mail "trusts" was demanded by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska today, as senate heavy artillery took up the economy drive of the federal government.

Picking up the budget balancing program where the house left off yesterday with its battered "economy bill," Norris and Senator McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, accused Postmaster General Brown of "crucifying" clerks in order to save the $55,000,000 a year dole to big corporations.

Al Capone Becomes Atlanta Prisoner

ATLANTA, Ga., May 4. (US)—Massive gates of Uncle Sam's most impregnable prison clanged a song of oblivion tonight as they swung shut on Al Capone.

The one-time big shot of Chicago gangland—now just a fizzled cap-pistol—entered the penitentiary at 7:12 o'clock to become one of 3,000 unlucky numbers.

"Scarface" was whisked here under a heavily-armed automobile convoy guard from the union station in downtown Atlanta where, shackled and surrounded by United States deputies, he stepped from the Dixie Flyer of the N. C. & St. L. railroad at 6:50 p. m.

The motorized guard swept up to the main prison entrance through the front gates and Capone was taken inside to sign the "register." The name of Capone becomes but a memory.

Miriam Hopkins Adopts Baby and Gets Divorce

CHICAGO, May 4. (US)—Vastly annoyed at all the attendant publicity, Miriam Hopkins, blond movie actress today adopted an orphan baby known only as "Boy Wilson" and incidentally revealed that she is divorced from her playwright husband, Austin Parker, from whom she has been separated about a year.

When she was asked why she had adopted the baby, she shook her blond curls indignantly and replied:

"I have nothing to say. I hate all this—this—publicity about a matter that is entirely private and does not concern my professional career. It's just a fact. I don't have to give a reason."

Bailey County Sheriff Resigns After Charges

GARNER HAS 90 VOTES

F. D.'s Backers Still Hope For Nomination But Show Chagrin

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Cheered by his success in California, leaders of the Garner-for-president movement announced today they would shortly open campaign headquarters in New York and Chicago in behalf of Speaker John N. Garner and would "acquaint the Democrats of the nation with his merits."

Silliman Evans of Fort Worth, Texas, chairman of campaign publicity, said "the California victory marks the beginning of a very definite campaign for his nomination and election. We confidently believe that he is now the choice of the majority of Democrats in the nation."

CALIFORNIA VICTORY PUTS GARNER IN SADDLE

D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Speaker John N. Garner of Texas has overwhelmed Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith in the vital California primary and precipitated the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination into the national convention at Chicago.

Supporters of Roosevelt, who had counted strongly on California's 44 convention votes to regain the prestige he lost to Smith last week in Massachusetts, were openly disappointed over the Texan's victory, but remained confident the New York governor would get the nomination.

Roosevelt Faces Battle

They admitted Roosevelt's nomination now was unlikely on the first ballot, but claimed he would have a majority at the start and the banner would be his on an early vote. All agreed, however, the New Yorker's fight from now on would be a hard one.

Garner's friends hailed the victory and Smith boosters said Roosevelt had been definitely stopped.

Despite his silence, Garner now has been thrust to the front as a vitally important potential factor in the determination of who is to get the nomination if his own chances are found to be slim.

Garner gets 44 pledged convention votes as a result of his victory and he will have 90 when Texas instructs its 46 for him May 24. The only other organized opposition Roosevelt thus far has met is behind Smith, who has 68 pledged votes and an unknown number from New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, but in all likelihood not more than 150 or 160.

A Glance at 1924

In the 1924 convention, with more than a dozen candidates in the field, no one but Smith, with 240½ votes, had more than 42½ on the first ballot. With the new distribution of first ballot strength suggested by the Garner victory, both Garner and Smith become important factors, but neither controlling votes to block a nomination.

The real significance of the California results, therefore, probably will be found in the effect they have on stiffening the determination of favorite sons to stay in the race. This group will have the balance of power and the outcome depends upon where those delegations like Ohio, Illinois, Virginia and Oklahoma would go to break a possible deadlock.

Alliance Unexpected

On the surface it would seem an alliance of all other candidates to prevent his nomination, such as faced McAdoo in 1924, is not expected by Roosevelt supporters.

An indication of this was given today by Senator Lewis, favorite son candidate from Illinois, who told newspaper men the California vote might be construed as indicating a strong desire for a Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

He said a "great honor" would be conferred upon Garner if he should

Explosion of Sulphur Bomb In San Antonio Theater Burns Six

SAN ANTONIO, May 4. (AP)—Six persons were burned, two seriously when a sulphur "bomb" exploded on the lower floor of the Aztec theater at 9 p. m. tonight. Firemen stationed in the theater took charge of the situation as the entire audience started for the exits. House lights were flashed on and the theater was emptied without disorder.

Warren Dunn, 19, and C. R. Green, 25, are in a hospital in a serious condition. Both suffered first degree burns on the hands and face in attempting to extinguish the blaze resulting when the bomb exploded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Hyvari were burned on the legs and their clothing was damaged when the bomb flared up beneath their seats in the middle of the lower floor.

S. J. Rosenfield and Miss Billie Henderson were burned on the hands and feet by the sulphur.

Rosenfield told City Detectives C. J. Leonard and H. C. Perrow that he saw a youth throw something on the floor and kick it toward the front of the theater immediately before the explosion. He grabbed the youth and attempted to hold him, but was forced to release him when sulphur was spattered on him, he said. The youth escaped in the confusion.

Firemen brought fire extinguishers into play and put out the blaze, after which the show was resumed and persons in the audience returned to their seats.

It is the second "bombing" in the Aztec theater within the last 10 days. Bombs have also been thrown in the Texas and Empire theaters within the last two weeks.

Approximately 30 operators of motion picture machines in six San Antonio theaters were discharged by theater operators April 18 after they had threatened to quit unless stage hands were employed in four theaters. Men were then brought in from out of town to occupy the booths.

Brothers 'Want' Pal Of Woman Hijacker

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 4. (UP)—Three brothers who went away to war in 1916, leaving their sister on the farm, late today buried Lena Hurt, shot down as a bandit.

The brothers, R. L., Luther and Mack Riggs, expressed no malice toward J. H. Jackson, who shot the woman as she fled from his drug store with $8 she had taken from him at the point of a gun. But they "want to get the man who got her into this."

They referred to the two men seen speeding away from the drug store after Mrs. Hurt was wounded.

"She had the mind of a child," the brothers said. "Any one could lead her into anything."

Events In Kreuger's 'Silent Room' Told By Match King's Associates

STOCKHOLM, May 4. (UP)—The dramatic and often-times fantastic undercover financial deals which the late Ivar Kreuger directed from behind locked doors of his famous "silent room" were sketched tonight in the first report of the police investigation into the affairs of the Swedish match king.

On one occasion, Kreuger summoned to the "silent room" two of his close associates, Carl Lange and Sven Huldt, both now under arrest for having aided the financier in fradulent deals which led to collapse of his world-wide organization and his own suicide in Paris.

When the two men stood before him, Kreuger tossed thousands of debentures and other shares on the wide table at which he sat.

"Help yourselves," he said, offering them to buy heavily in Swedish Match and Kreuger & Toll company shares in an effort to stimulate the market.

The report recounted various other activities of these three men the financial circles of Sweden and affected many other nations. Coincident with its publication, the union of Kreuger debenture holders announced intention to start proceedings for compensation of losses they have suffered.

HONOR SLAYERS GET FREEDOM

Sudden Pardon by Governor Closes Hawaii Case

before at a private meeting with Darrow in the governor's mansion.

Immediately opposing counsel got busy, Trial Judge Charles S. Davis was advised and the wheels of justice began spinning rapidly.

Darrow and his associate, George Leisure of New York, were the first to arrive at the courthouse. They went into the judge's chambers. In a few minutes Kelley entered with the attorney general and his aides. They too went in to confer with the judge.

Courthouse Deserted

The courthouse was virtually deserted at the time and no one, apparently, had any inkling of what was happening.

Word quickly spread through the courthouse and attaches gathered in the corridors awaiting arrival of the defendants.

Soon they came.

Four navy cars rolled up in front of the courthouse. In one was Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Massie, Mrs. Thalia Massie, and Captain Ward Wortman, special court officer who has had charge of them.

In another machine were Jones and Lord, the sailors, both jauntily puffing cigarets and in charge of Lieut. J. F. Granville, U. S. N.

The smiling faces of the enlisted men were in striking contrast to the careworn, haggard expression seen during the long tedious trial, and when the jury returned verdicts against them.

Good News Expected

It was apparent to every one that the members of the party expected joyful tidings. They did their best to conceal their excitement and refused to talk to any one as they passed into the sun-flooded courtroom, which was almost empty.

Mrs. Julian Ripley, sister of Mrs. Fortescue, and Robert Bell, her brother, arrived next and took seats by her side.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Darrow, Kelley and others came from the judge's chambers and took their places at the long counsel table.

Darrow Beamed

Darrow's gray hair was carefully combed, and his wrinkled, kindly old face, beamed.

A moment later Judge Charles S. Davis opened the door directly behind the bench and stepped out. Everybody arose. As he sat down a bailiff pounded a gavel and everybody resumed their seats.

Tension in the courtroom increased.

A few legal requirements were carried out and Judge Davis, his face stern as usual, looked down at Jones, attired in a light gray suit.

"Albert Jones, stand up," demanded the court.

As Jones stood up the judge began reading "In accordance with the verdict of manslaughter returned against you in this case, I hereby sentence you to the term prescribed by law, not more than 10 years imprisoned at hard labor at Oahu prison."

Jones Grinned

Ordinarily a prisoner receiving such a sentence would wilt. Not so Seaman Jones.

He grinned.

The court then went through the same procedure and imposed like sentences on Lord, Lieutenant Massie and finally Mrs. Fortescue.

"Is there anything you wish to say," Judge Davis inquired.

All replied negatively.

The four defendants were calm and composed and the courtroom lacked even the slightest indication of excitement. Everybody seemed to sense, however, that the unexpected summoning into court, and the passing of judgment meant that executive clemency would follow.

Court Cleared

While defendants were still standing immobile, Prosecutor Kelley, immaculate in a white linen suit, addressed the judge and moved that immediate mittimus, or commitment, be issued.

"Your motion is granted, Mr. Kelley, "the court ruled, "but before it is issued I want the bailiffs to clear the courtroom of all except counsel and defendants."

The handful of spectators went into the corridors and waited around wondering what the next move would be.

It was not long until they found out.

Major Rosse, in civilian dress, hurried into the courtroom. He soon came out again carrying the mittimus and escorting the four defendants.

Went to Governor

"They are going to the governor's office," some one whispered.

Across the street to Iolani palace, now the territorial capitol walked the lawyers and the prisoners, trailed by a crowd that increased with every moment.

They went direct to the governor's office on the second floor where Judd was waiting.

For 10 minutes the defendants and attorneys and Major Ross were privately closeted with the governor in his office.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the executive opened his door and called in press representatives.

He then made formal announcement of the commutation. He also disclosed that the defendants, through Darrow, had filed a written application for clemency.

be elected vice president, while if the Democratic ticket lost he could return to the house.

With 708 Democratic delegates now selected, the lineup tonight was as follows:

Roosevelt instructed, pledged and claimed, 313; Lewis pledged, 58; Smith pledged 46; Garner pledged 44; Reed instructed 36; Murray instructed and pledged 23; in doubt (x), 188; total, 708.

(x)—The 188 doubtful includes Pennsylvania's 76 over which Roosevelt and Smith claims overlap.

Texans Elated

Senator Connally and Representative Rayburn of Texas were elated over the California result, while Silliman Evans of Fort Worth, chairman of the publicity committee for the Garner-for-president movement, said it marked the beginning of a "very definite movement for Garner's nomination."

That Roosevelt cannot hope to foreclose the nomination in advance of the convention, unless favorite sons swing on to his bandwagon, is evidenced by the fact that of the remaining 446 delegates to be selected, the most of these he can get is 260, with the others going to Garner, Governor White of Ohio, former Governor Byrd of Virginia and Smith.

Adding 100 which he may get from New York and Pennsylvania to his present 313 and also the 260 gives him 673 at the most. With 770 needed to win.

GARNER LEADERS STAKED ALL ON ONE STATE

DALLAS, May 4. (UP)—A typical Garner maneuver, though not carried out by the poker-playing Texan, tonight had lifted Speaker John N. Garner from the "favorite son" class into an enviable position to obtain the Democratic presidential nomination.

Garner's friends left his chances hanging on one draw of the cards, in the California primary, and through success have insured him of at least 90 votes on the first ballot in the Chicago nominating convention. Garner is certain to add the 46 Texas votes to the 44 of California.

Arizona May Pledge

National Garner headquarters here said it is not planned to enter the speaker's name in any other state primaries or to seek instructed delegations in states picking delegates by convention. Reports have been received that Garner may be given Arizona's six votes, but these are not counted as in the bag.

In the Texas and California delegations, Garner will have as many, if not more, votes than Alfred E. Smith. Garner supporters see a fairly easy path for him toward the nomination, anticipating a deadlock and a general turn toward Garner from Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The California victory gave new enthusiasm to the forces working for a solid Garner representation at the state convention at Houston May 24, when Texas delegates to Chicago will be selected. Precinct conventions will be held Saturday and county conventions next Tuesday.

The Garner forces are determined to prevent any effort to instruct the state delegation for Roosevelt as "second choice." They intend also, at least in Dallas county, to see that the Garner delegates have no strings attached on the prohibition issue.

No Compromise With Love

"Winner takes all," will be the slogan in Dallas county. A meeting of regular Democrats has agreed to make no compromise with the Thomas B. Love ultra-dry faction, which is willing to approve Garner but wants to declare against any candidate known to favor repeal of the 18th amendment.

Love, a former Democratic national committeeman, attributed Garner's victory in California to support of dry Democrats, and sent a congratulatory telegram to William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, who led the Garner fight and will head the California delegation.

GARNER'S VICTORY OVERWHELMS F. D. R.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4. (UP)—An overwhelming victory today was conceded to Speaker John N. Garner in a triangular fight for control of California's 44 delegates to the Democratic national convention, as results of the seats presidential preferential primary election were compiled.

With only 1,000 small precincts out of the state's 10,271 yet to report, Garner had 205,979 ballots.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, pre-election favorite, was trailing more than 45,000 votes behind, with 160,508. Alfred E. Smith of New York was third with 132,571.

The tribute paid President Herbert Hoover by Republicans of his home state became steadily more impressive as isolated precincts reported. Hoover, unopposed on the Republican slate, had 608,205 votes.

One of the worst defeats ever suffered by a California referendum measure was recorded on the Sharkey bill to provide state control of crude oil production. A total of 1,047,157 votes had been counted against it, and 286,767 for it. The measure carried only in Contra Costa county, home of State Senator Will Sharkey, sponsor of the bill.

A referendum to prohibit leasing state tidelands for oil drilling had 734,810 favorable votes and 489,288 against it.

Justus Wardell, leader of the Roosevelt campaign, and Edward W. Cahill, Smith's campaign manager, conceded Garner's victory at noon today.

Each professed confidence his candidate would capture the nomination at the Chicago convention.

Political observers declared Garner's decisive victory marked a personal triumph for William Gibbs McAdoo, who headed the Garner slate of delegates.

McAdoo, leader of the dry wing of the party in California, probably will be a candidate for United States senator at the August primaries, they declared.

McAdoo Backs Garner

McAdoo was known to have given such a candidacy serious consideration.

William Randolph Hearst, wet newspaper publisher, backed the Garner candidacy. Observers believed the Hearst papers would support McAdoo's candidacy as a result of the successful coalition that won for Garner.

A factor in Garner's victory, it was declared in political circles, was that McAdoo held all dry votes for his candidate, while wets split between Smith and Roosevelt.

Prohibition has long been the dominating issue in Democratic party ranks in Los Angeles. With McAdoo in power at least until after the convention, a dry will be in control for the first time in years.

One result of the election was expected to be the elimination of Isadore Dockweiler of Los Angeles as Democratic national committeeman. He supported the Roosevelt ticket.

HOOVER ENDORSED BY SOUTH DAKOTA

PIERRE, S. D., May 4. (UP)—Representative tabulations from yesterday's primary election indicated tonight that President Hoover has obtained South Dakota's 11 delegates to the Republican presidential convention.

With slightly more than one-third of the state's precincts reported, the list headed by Royal Johnson and pledged to the president had a lead of nearly 7,000 votes over a list pledged to an unnamed "Progressive."

The Democratic election was a mere formality of approving a set of 10 delegates already pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Trade Councils Hold Convention in Hawaii

HONOLULU, May 4. (US)—Greater prosperity through greater foreign trade was the keynote of addresses after the convention of the national and foreign trade councils opened today with 500 delegates present.

Manufacturers, traders and business men from all parts of the United States and the far east expressed optimism on the outlook for the development of commerce.

HALE PLEADS FOR BIG NAVY

Senator Demands Parity With Powers

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Asserting war may be forced upon the United States at any time, Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee today pleaded with the senate to build the strongest fleet that treaties will allow.

"We must be strong enough to keep out of war," he said.

Opening debate on his bill to authorize construction of a treaty navy, he said approval of the measure would "strengthen the hands" of the American delegates to the Geneva disarmament conference. He added:

"The passage of this bill will serve notice to the other powers that the United States intends to keep up a proportionate degree of preparedness with the rest of the world, and that if other nations insist on keeping up to the full allowances granted to them by treaties, the United States will do the same."

Hale called attention to the conflict between China and Japan and said:

"The treaties in which we have placed such implicit confidence have utterly failed of immediate effect, and with their prestige damaged may not be relied upon with any degree of safety as guarantees against future wars."

Hale contended approval of his bill would indicate to the other powers represented at Geneva that "we really mean what we say when we talk about parity with any other naval powers and when we insist that certain ratios be maintained.

"We are rapidly becoming not one of the two great and equal naval powers of the world but a poor and trailing third naval power."

"Our fleet," he said, "is fast becoming a navy of obsolete ships." Only 170 of the 373 ships on the navy list today, he added, are under age as compared with 184 for Japan and 150 for Great Britain.

Women's National Party To Get League Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 4. (US)—American women opposing the league court won their fight today for a hearing before the senate foreign relations committee.

By a vote of 8 to 7 a special meeting was called for Saturday when the national woman's party will be given one-half hour to argue in behalf of an equal rights reservation to the league court protocol. Only one representative of the party will be heard.

Millionaire's Estate Found Worth but $124

NEW YORK, May 4. (US)—The late A. L. Erlanger, theatrical magnate, was believed to have been a multimillionaire.

But his estate actually is worth only $124.20, according to an interim accounting filed today in surrogates' court.

The accounting, filed by Saul J. Baron, also sets forth that added to the estate is $1,270,252.99 in debts —"uncollected and uncollectable."

Voters To Sign Demo Pledge

clared his belief that any committee member who could not sign such a pledge should resign at once. Ed Howard asked that the motion of endorsement be put to a vote, stating that "there are men in here who are not Democrats, and who have not been voting the Democratic ticket."

Plans were made for holding precinct conventions next Saturday afternoon, May 7, and the county convention on the following Tuesday, May 10. Precinct meetings will be held Saturday at 2 p. m., most of them being called for the usual voting places in the various precincts. Dan Allen was named as chairman in precinct 6, and W. M. Austin in precinct 36, due to the absence of formerly named chairmen.

It was announced that the convention for precinct 17 will be held at the Carrigan school, and that for precinct 16 at the home of J. E. Hall, 2000 McGregor.

Precinct Conventions

Mr. King announced Wednesday that qualified voters must sign the party loyalty pledge before participating in Saturday's precinct conventions. The precinct chairmen also must submit to the county chairman a list of such signed pledges before that precinct's delegates can be recognized, the chairman said.

Certified poll tax lists, copies of the pledge, written instructions to precinct chairmen from the state executive committee, and lists of votes cast for Gov. Ross Sterling in November, 1930, were distributed Wednesday by Mr. King to the various precinct charimen.

Each precinct will be entitled to one voting delegate in the county convention for each 25 votes or major fraction thereof, cast in that precinct for Governor Sterling in the last general election.

The Grays Harbor county, Washington, game commission has lifted the limit on bear.

The University of Iowa's freshman swimming team of 1932 was undefeated in six telegraphic meets.

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. 'Pretty Boy' Floyd: Phantom Bandit, Lured By Love, May Pay Life For Visits Home

(By NEA Service)

TULSA, Okla., May 4.—Here in the Southwest where Al Jennings, the Daltons and other noted bad men have been the objects of thrilling manhunts in bygone days, a youthful "phantom bandit" who is known to have killed six men and suspected of having killed six more today plays hide and seek with officers and dares almost certain death to pay visits to his mother and also to his wife and 7-year-old son.

Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, on whose head there is a reward of $6,000 for capture dead or alive, is the much-sought fugitive. Phantom like, this sleek baby-faced bank robber frequently bobs up in his old haunts to visit members of his family and, if trapped, calmly shoots his way out.

Efforts to capture or kill Floyd have been redoubled since he shot and killed Deputy Sheriff E. A. Kelly recently when officers tried to waylay Floyd when he arrived to visit his wife at her father's farm home near Tulsa. Kelly hid behind a chicken house and opened fire on Floyd and a companion as they drove up. Floyd riddled Kelly with five quick shots from an automatic pistol and drove off.

For weeks, Floyd lived with his wife and child in a Tulsa bungalow, right under the noses of Tulsa police who were seeking him for bank robbery and murder. Officers chanced to locate his hideout by means of an auto used in a bank robbery, but when they surrounded the house Floyd and a companion escaped.

Arrested, Mrs. Floyd denied her identity, but when police showed Jackie Floyd, 7, a newspaper containing the bandit's picture, the child exclaimed: "That's my daddy!"

"I don't know what my daddy does," the boy replied in response to police questions, "but I love my daddy and he gives me lots of money. Daddy wants me to go to school so when I grow up I can be a doctor."

Not only does Floyd defy police to see his wife and child, but he also scorns the $6,000 price on his head to pay occasional visits to his mother, Mrs. W. F. Floyd, at Sallisaw, Okla.

"I see him off and on," says Mrs. Floyd, with a vagueness that indicates she wants to protect her son. "Every so often he must see his old mother and he dares them all and risks his life to come and see me."

The mother explains why Floyd doesn't flee from Oklahoma, where the hunt for him is hottest.

"He loves me and his wife and that boy of his too well to leave us," she says. "He can't go . . . Yet, if he stays here they will some day shoot him down like a mad dog."

Both his wife and mother insist that Floyd is not guilty of all the crimes charged to him. They say that many crimes have been "pecked on him" by officers who couldn't catch the real culprits.

But the records tell a different story. Floyd's picture has been identified as the unmasked bandit who robs banks nonchalantly, acting as leader of the gang and enforcing his calm commands with a threatening machine gun that he carries under his arm. In several cases, bank employes have been kidnaped and placed on the running board of the bandit car to act as a shield for the fleeing robbers.

"This is a desperate case," asserted Lieutenant Governor Burns of Oklahoma in posting a $1,000 state reward for Floyd. "This man has terrorized the entire eastern-central section of Oklahoma with his outlawry. Already, six killings and 10 bank robberies have been charged to him. He must be stopped."

It is estimated that Floyd's bank robberies have netted him more than $50,000 in Oklahoma alone. How much he has obtained in other states where he has operated, including Ohio, is a matter of conjecture. Floyd is a fugitive from Ohio, having escaped after he had been sentenced to 15 years in the state penitentiary for a bank robbery near Toledo.

Floyd's criminal career began at 17 when he was arrested for a post-office robbery. The following year he left home to work in the harvest fields, became involved in a pay roll robbery in St. Louis and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He was released in 1929.

With Bert Walker, a Missouri killer, he went to Ohio in 1930 and there committed a string of bank robberies. Walker was executed for the murder of an Akron policeman, but Floyd won an acquittal in this case and was taken to Toledo to answer to a bank robbery charge. He was convicted and sentenced to 15 years, but escaped by leaping from a moving train.

Later, Floyd was recognized by police when he and a companion drove into Bowling Green, Ohio. In the ensuing battle, the companion was killed, but Floyd escaped after killing a policeman.

Proceeding to Kansas, Floyd resumed his string of bank robberies and murders. One of his victims was Curtis Burks, a federal prohibition officer, whom Floyd killed when Burks tried to arrest him in a Kansas City speakeasy. Feigning drunkenness, Floyd let Burks take his gun—and then snatched it from Burks' hand and shot him dead.

Early last year, two Kansas City narcotic peddlers disappeared after they had planned to betray Floyd and his partners to the police. A short time later their riddled bodies were found in a ditch.

Returning to Oklahoma, Floyd began a series of bank robberies which have continued to the present, featured by the daring robbery of the First State bank of Stonewall, Okla., a few days ago.

Scores of Oklahoma officers leaped into the manhunt, enlisting the aid of an airplane piloted by Wiley Post, round-the-world flyer, but Floyd and his companion escaped.

Fleeing from this holdup, the bandits kidnaped Estele Henson, a filling station attendant at Ada, Okla., and held him prisoner, apparently for possible use as a shield, while they hid in a thicket overnight.

"They were pretty good fellows," said Henson, after his release. "I could have grabbed Floyd's automatic pistol and might have been able to shot them both. But I couldn't do that—not after they had been so considerate of me when they held my life in their hands. They shared their food with me and treated me swell."

How Floyd feels about himself is illustrated by a remark he made recently to an old friend when he bobbed up on one of his phantom-like visits to his home town.

"I'll never be taken alive if I can help it, for I would rather be killed than serve another term in prison," he said. "I know they will bump me off some time, and the sooner the better. What have I to live for?"

A reward of $6,000 for his capture "dead or alive," doesn't deter Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Oklahoma's super-bandit, from defying officers to pay visits to his wife and child. The notorious bank robber, Mrs. Floyd and 7-year-old Jackie—for whom he plans a career as a doctor—are shown above. "Pretty Boy" gets his nick-name from the fact that he invariably appears sleek and well-groomed when committing his bold holdups, in which he wears no mask.

Archer County Receives Flour From Government

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 4.—The Archer county Red Cross today received its first consignment of government flour. The shipment was 150 barrels and will be distributed on request to Mrs. C. A. Montgomery, secretary of the Red Cross here.

Mrs. Montgomery estimated that 600 barrels would be needed for the county and said that requisitions for further supply would be made from time to time.

Salary of University Instructor Tax Exempt

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Compensation received by instructors in state universities is exempt from federal income tax.

It was so held today by the board of tax appeals which overturned its previous decision and ruled against the internal revenue bureau.

The decision was in the case of G. Ridgly Sappington, an instructor in the Maryland university law school.

STATE WAGE CUT SOUGHT

Representatives Pay Would Be Cut 25 Per Cent

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—A 25 per cent reduction in the pay of members of the legislature is being advocated by Rep. Trueman O'Quinn of Beaumont. O'Quinn said he would sponsor a resolution at the next session to reduce the legislative pay to $7.50 per day.

This figure would be a 50 per cent increase over the pay received by members of the house and senate before the last session when they were paid $5 per day.

O'Quinn opposed continuing the $10 per day to legislators after the regular session had been going 120 days, advocating that members serve after the 120-day period for nothing.

The legislators should cut their own salary before starting on a program to slash the salaries of all other state employes, O'Quinn said, adding he was sure there would be no lack of candidates for seats in the legislature even if the old rate of $5 per day was returned.

A man weighing 130 pounds on earth would weigh about 377 pounds on Jupiter.

Fire Causes Damage To Gulfport Piers

GULFPORT, Miss., May 4. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin swept through the piers of the Gulfport waterfront today, doing damage roughly estimated at $100,000.

The Norwegian steamer Lysefjord, unloading bananas, was forced to leave the west pier with a scorched hull before the flames were brought under control by the Gulfport fire departments.

Starting under the pier at the southwest end of the docks and fanned by a south wind, the fire destroyed the new banana sheds recently built on the west pier, the warehouse on the south pier, about 10 refrigerator cars on the Illinois Central railroad spur and 1,000 bunches of bananas.

Flames were still licking the west pier shortly before noon, but firemen said they were under control. Dock authorities said they were investigating possible incendiary origin of the fire.

OLDEST MAP

The oldest map in the world is said to have been found in excavations about 200 miles north of Babylon. It was buried under 20 feet of earth, and pictured the layout of a rich man's estate.

Men are said to be more often color-blind than women. The ratio, according to I. H. Godlove, of the Museum of Science and Industry, New York, is about four to one.

'Home Town' Contest Entry Named at Quanah

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 4.—J. H. Kelly won first place in the class of five contestants for the honor of representing Quanah at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention "My Home Town" contest at Sweetwater. The elimination contest was held at Quanah High school Tuesday afternoon.

"J. H.," as he is familiarly called won second place in the 1931 Texas entrants in the district national oratorical contest, and went to Kansas City where he commanded much attention in the contest because of his age, being 14 years old.

Do you inhale?

"Why bring that up?" —the cigarette trade asks!

FOR years there has been generally a striking avoidance of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it has solved the problem! It gives you the protection you want...because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

"Fifty million smokers can't be wrong!" So whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly—safeguard your delicate membranes!

PATMAN RAKES OGDEN MILLS

New Attack Launched By Texas Solon

WASHINGTON, May 4. (INS)—A new attack on Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, was made today by Representative Patman, Democrat, of Texas, author of the world war veterans bonus bill now before the house ways and means committee.

"Mr. Mills, our chief opponent," Patman said, "will be prevented from making a personal inside raid on the treasury by reason of the unanimous action of the senate finance committee in striking from the revenue bill yesterday six hours after my disclosure of the facts, that provision which would have permitted the revaluation of estates and making the law retroactive.

"His own interest was to get his grandfather's estate revalued—after the stock market collapse—by reason of the death of his father nine months before. This provision would have benefited him and a few others greatly and would have cost the government from thirty to one hundred million dollars. The comedy is that the provision was embodied in a so-called tax raising bill to balance the budget."

Patman said his plan to pay the veterans now is the only one that will distribute money among the masses and increase the velocity of money and credits.

Heavy Wheat Yield Predicted For Knox

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, May 4.—Despite predictions to the contrary, a survey just completed indicates that the wheat yield in this territory as a whole will equal the excellent crop of last year, according to the assertion Wednesday of Jack Mayes, manager of the Munday Mill and Grain company.

In sections, he said, the crop will be short as result of the dry March. But conditions in the territory as a whole, he declared, will cause the concern of which he is manager to make preparations to handle a volume at least equal to that of last year.

Iowa Park C. E. Director Honored With Picnic

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, May 4.—Miss Hazel Crites, director of the First Christian church Christian Endeavor, was complimented by members of the society Tuesday evening with a picnic on the Wichita river. Miss Crites will leave shortly for an extended summer vacation.

Those attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Marshall D. Masters, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Corder, Mrs. Arthur Fielder, Bruce Fields, T. W. Detlefs, Connie Terry, Archie Bryant, Kyle Hall, Loy and Leroy Nichols, George Ellis and Lee and Alton Hogel of Electra, Rollins Woodall, Frances Detlefs, Donald Masters, Mary Emma Boyd, Thea McMullen, Allie Goetze, Jessie Van Horn, Loys Terry, Beulah Terry, Lorene Swint, Nina Ruth McKelvey, Virginia Sanders, Margaret and Lila Grace Cornforth, Maybelle Bryant, Gladys Van Horn, and the honoree, Miss Hazel Crites.

MAY-DECEMBER COUPLE WEDS

Nurse, 23, and Patient, 77, Elope in Kansas

KANSAS CITY, Kan., May 4. (UP)—A bride of 23 and groom of 77 who eloped from Wichita were married today by Judge Henry Meade of the Wyandotte county probate court.

The bride was Miss Zelma Grammont, Wichita, a graduate nurse, and the groom was Henry C. Rutter, Wichita, a retired oil man.

Miss Grammont nursed Rutter back to health six months ago when he was in Wesley hospital suffering from pneumonia. From that relation the romance flowered.

Rutter's first wife died 16 years ago. He has four daughters, three sons and 20 grandchildren. His oldest child is 42 years of age and his youngest is 19.

The couple said neither Rutter's children nor Miss Grammont's mother, who lives in Enid, Okla., knew of the elopement.

The bride admitted she fell in love with Rutter while she was nursing him.

"Older men are more reliable," she declared. "I don't like sheiks and lounge lizards."

Rutter said he preferred a young wife, as he thought association with youthful persons kept one young.

"You're just as old as you feel," he asserted. "I feel young and I want to stay that way."

Babe Lost in Hills Now Believed Dead

NEWHALL, Calif., May 4. (INS)—Missing more than 48 hours in the mountainous Ridge Route district, Cecilia Mitchell, 3, today was believed to have frozen to death or been killed by wild animals or rattlesnakes.

She wandered away from a small group of children that was picking wild flowers Monday morning.

Her toy sled was found abandoned last night at the foot of a deep canyon.

Hundreds of possemen are scouring the rugged country.

Nephew of Celebrated Sculptor Wins Prize

NEW YORK, May 4. (UP)—Robert McKnight, a great-great nephew of J. Q. A. Ward, one of America's best known sculptors of the last century, has carried on the family tradition by winning the $3,000 prix de Rome award in sculpture.

Parent-Teacher Units Plan Final Season's Programs

Parent-teacher units of Wichita Falls are preparing for the final meeting of the season. Music, featuring national music week will furnish the theme at many schools. In the Alamo school, Miss Ila B. Cook, music supervisor of the school will discuss "The Influence of Music in Home and School," and will direct a group of 80 children in chorus numbers.

Miss Kate Haynes will direct a pageant "Our Mothers," with the following children taking part: Mary Frances Harris, Mary Ann Roberts, Peggy Gray, Frank Jones and Edgar Gilbert. Baldwin Montgomery will sing "Wonderful Mother of Mine."

The devotional and prayer will be given by Mrs. H. F. Bennett and in the business session, conducted by Mrs. Herbert Gray, president, reports will be given from the district conference at Quanah.

Mrs. R. L. Underwood will install the incoming officers, as follows:

Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, president; Mrs. S. P. Cunningham, first vice president; Mrs. Charles Clough, second vice president; Mrs. R. E. Hillburn, third vice president; Mrs. Hal Yeaker, secretary; Mrs. Harvey Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Albert Owen, publicity chairman; Mrs. W. E. Bell, welfare chiarman; Mrs. F. E. Thornburgh, health chairman; Mrs. C. R. Lanphere, magazine chairman; Mrs. R. E. Bridges, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. W. Clark, council representative.

A playroom will be in charge of a paid attendant with sixth grade children assisting. Parents and friends are invited to attend the session.

Barwise Music Festival

An elaborate spring program has been planned for Barwise school Thursday evening when orchestra numbers, primary and elementary groups will give the program. The program has been designed to feature the work of the children especially in the elementary department.

The Barwise band, directed by Doyle Hatfield and accompanied by Mrs. T. B. Parnell, will give a number of selections with a vocal chorus; in the primary group, readings and tap dances will be given by Margaret Ruth Hurst; songs and folk dances by pupils from Miss Panel's room and a group of songs by Miss Alston's pupils.

Elementary Group

The elementary program includes a duet, "The Land of Spain," fourth grade, Leon Gibbs and Everett Hanks; reading, "The American," Fletcher Walker; duet, "Questions," fifth grade, Mildred Walker and Dorman Prather; trio, "Home," sixth grade, Mary Katherine Mathews, Vera Mae Decker and Charlotte Vaughn; duet, "Long Live the Roses," sixth grade, Margaret Jones and Mary K. Mathews; trio, "Nightfall," Frances Hawkins, Mary K. Mathews and Mary Dell Brooks.

After the program names will be drawn for the P.-T. A. quilt, which was pieced, embroidered and quilted by P.-T. A. members. The program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and the public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Walter D. Cline, Misses Lucia Powell and Avalon Rines returned Monday from New Orleans where they attended the meeting of the library association. Mr. Cline was a speaker and both Miss Powell, who is an officer, and Miss Rines, who is a leader in the children's library work, were on the program.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The second Friday in May falls on the 13th, a day and a number tabu to many superstitious folk. Though Friday never had any particular horror for us, we have our own pet superstitions, the main one, breaking a mirror, which brings on seven years of bad luck (believe it or not) and walking beneath a ladder, a fatal thing to do.

◇ ◇ ◇

But a recent "Pathfinder" enlightened us on the hoodoo which has been traced to the last supper when Christ sat with his 12 disciples at that memorable meal. Yet last week, a hostess gave us a list of her luncheon guests and laughed over the fact that they numbered 13. To this time, nothing fatal has come of it.

◇ ◇ ◇

Our republic started with 13 states and 13 stars and 13 stripes but it grew up into the 40's before national scandal became a thing of common talk. Only since the world war—what a dreadful expression, "the world war," has gang rule and the royal family of bootleggers come into its own.

◇ ◇ ◇

You have probably been at dinner parties when the diners looked askance at 13 sitting in, (poker of course to which this phrase belongs, is limited in number.) Yet not long since, a member of the French cabinet, entertaining Meilon at a stag party, found to his horror that his table was laid for 13 and called in his wife to break the hoodoo.

◇ ◇ ◇

We know hotels where there is no room number 13 and we have read that so many waitresses in the Child's chain object to the number that it has been struck from the records.

◇ ◇ ◇

We had a seven and an eleven on our license plate last year when we first possessed our ancient automobile, but that didn't keep it from skidding and turning over with us. "What's in a number?" we ask.

◇ ◇ ◇

In Paris no house is numbered 13 according to the Pathfinder. Primo de Rivera had 13 letters in his name, set out to save King Alfonso, 13, of Sept. 13, appointed 13 ministers and died under the combination of 13 incidents.

◇ ◇ ◇

Italians will not have a number 13 in their letteries and the new Turkish republic, we are informed, has no such word in its vocabulary. Mexico, Central America and even the Hindu people dislike the number.

◇ ◇ ◇

On the other hand, there's a custom still surviving in some Latin countries where the bridegroom gives the bride 13 gold pieces. Should we ever wed again, we think of seeking the man in one of those countries and promptly banking the gold in America, in our own name.

◇ ◇ ◇

Wagner, who had 13 letters in his name and was born in 1813, finished and performed many of his compositions on the 13th of the month.

◇ ◇ ◇

Personally we would much rather sit down to dine with 13 at the table than go hungry and have many pet superstitions that go before that of "13." Just the other night, we saw a learned lawyer throw a pinch of salt over his shoulder when he had spilled the salt; when we told him it took three pinches to kill the jinx, he was particular to throw the required number.

◇ ◇ ◇

We'd adore having 13 dresses, 13 hats, 13 pairs of shoes and hose, 13 handkerchiefs (we still lose one a day), and 13 new books. The only trouble is that rapt gazing at one set of possessions might keep us from attention to the others. Then there are more musicians in Wichita Falls than we can number, to whose 13 consecutive songs we would willingly listen.

Lunch Fund Is Assured By Aid Of Lester Jones

An inspiring talk made by Lester Jones at the Wednesday morning meeting of the city council P.-T. A. at the Memorial auditorium was an appeal to the members of the parent-teacher units to keep up the work of feeding needy children. While approximately 500 children were being fed a month ago, Mr. Jones stated that 537 have been fed in the last month and that checking the funds Tuesday, he found that it would not be possible to keep up the ratio for the remainder of the school term. At least one-third must be cut from the list.

"It is true," Mr. Jones stated, "that some may have been fed who did not need it, but what worries me is the fact that we might not be able to take care of some children who were really in need." With this thought confronting him, he went out Wednesday morning and collected from interested parties enough money to complete the season's work.

A heart-felt vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Jones for his humanitarian work. Mrs. C. W. Clark is council chairman of the lunch fund and the speaker was presented by Mrs. P. B. Cox, program chairman.

Mrs. Paul Barnett, retiring president, was in the chair and interesting reports were heard. Mrs. A. A. Brackett, magazine chairman, stated that the subscribers to the Parent-Teacher magazine had increased from 44 reported last month to 74.

Mrs. R. L. Underwood led the impressive services installing the new officers who were Mesdames R. D. Lewis, president; Paul Barnett, vice president; P. B. Cox, secretary; O. W. Karr, corresponding secretary; Albert Owens, treasurer; Al Bedinghaus, preschool chairman; A. A. Brackett, magazine chairman, and Curt Buddrus, publicity chairman. There were 39 members at the meeting.

Beautiful Luncheons Mark Final Study Club Meetings

Closing meetings of study clubs were marked by luncheons and programs Wednesday. Members of the 1930 Study club who held their luncheon at the Wichita club, featured the theme of their 1932-33 program in the charming miniature flower pots filled with cactus that made pretty place favors, the miniature Alamo and missions on the table and in the prizes in the auction games. Roses in every color decorated the room and a side table held a great silver bowl filled with Madonna lilies.

Yearbooks for the coming season, printed in purple ink and tied with golden silk cord, emphasizing the club colors, were presented to the members. A colorful map of Mexico make the frontispiece.

Mrs. Ray Grimes made appreciative talks when she presented the retiring president, Mrs. J. H. Campbell, with a copy of the "Life of George Washington," and the incoming president, Mrs. E. D. Malone, a copy of "The Raven," on behalf of club members.

In the games, Mrs. P. S. Richardson was high winner and was presented with a handsome oil Mexican scene painted by Mrs. E. D. Malone and framed in a hand carved frame by Mr. Malone. Mrs. W. Ray Thompson won second prize and Mrs. John Swanner was fortunate in the cut.

Covers were laid for Mesdames J. H. Campbell, J. J. Fite, Ray Grimes, Fay C. Hardeman, L. E. Harris, J. H. Harrison, E. J. Killelea, Clyde Murph, Geo. Mobley, Floyd Pace, D. P. Moore, John Swanner, Ray Thompson, R. K. Bond and P. S. Richardson.

Pieria Luncheon

The pretty screens used as a background made the luncheon closing the year for the Pieria club members, a beautiful event. The club colors of purple and orchid were used in the purple and orchid larkspur, intertwined with graceful sprays of ivy. Orchid tapers completed the pretty table and miniature replicas of the new year book with names of the new officers inside, were charming place cards.

Mrs. Sidney Waghorne, assisted by Mrs. M. E. Myers, was chairman of the arrangements and acted as a gracious toastmistress. She introduced the artists in a delightful program. Mrs. Stanley Raub, accompanied by Mrs. G. Wayne Barker, sang "Schubert's Serenade," and "The Lass With a Delicate Air," by Aine. Magnificent piano numbers were furnished by Ernest Katz who played Chopin's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor," and "Rigadau," by McDowell. As a closing number, he gave the "Viennese Waltz" by Friedmann.

Mrs. Ralph DeShong, retiring president, gave greetings from the club members and Mrs. W. D. Bratton, incoming president, gave a charming response.

New officers were installed by Mrs. J. E. H. Railey and Mrs. James G. Oakley presented the retiring president with a beautiful book on behalf of the club.

Covers were laid for the following guests: Mesdames Burke Taylor, C. E. Jordan, Geo. Bancroft, Louis Reisen, M. P. Blacknell, Stanley M. Raub, Wayne Barker, and Mr. Katz. Members present included Mesdames Ralph DeShong, W. D. Bratton, M. L. Stephens, James G. Oakley, Miles E. Myers, J. O. Ammann, W. F. Newberry, A. B. Duncan, Sidney Waghorn, J. E. H. Railey, T. D. Moore and Miss Clara Schulz.

Tejas Delphians

The Tejas chapter of the Delphian society had a charming and unique closing session in the "backward" luncheon and the program held at the home of Mrs. Rhea Howard in Country Club estates. The "backward times" were marked by charming old fashioned gowns worn by members and made a pretty picture in the rooms filled with a luxuriant display of spring blossoms.

Places were marked with a menu written backwards, and the unique idea made an afternoon of fun.

During the social hour, Mrs. C. C. Parfet played old-time piano numbers; Mrs. L. E. Martlew gave readings of the same nature, and Mrs. J. M. Hawley, vocal numbers.

Mrs. R. G. Cocanower was leader of an interesting program on "Art Illumination," and also gave the lesson resume. Topics were reported upon as follows: "Development of the Art of Illumination," Mrs. L. E. Martlew; "Methods and Subject," Mrs. G. P. Raborn; "The Significance of Art to the Layman," Mrs. C. E. Beavers; "Meaning and Form of Art," Mrs. O. F. Marchman; "The Elements of a Work of Art Composition," Mrs. F. C. Elkins; "Art of the Spirit, Its Era," Mrs. C. A. Rogers; study of pictures, "Illuminating Manuscript," Mrs. J. M. Hawley.

Following the program, the lesson was discussed.

Those present were Mesdames R. L. Hargrave, R. G. Cocanower, J. Martlew, G. P. Raborn, C. E. Beavers, O. F. Marchman, F. C. Elkins, C. A. Rogers, J. M. Hawley, H. W. Barton, H. P. Ledford, A. V. Tennyson, Carlisle Norwood, C. C. Parfet, R. C. Stanford, W. L. Scott, H. F. Bennett and W. C. Woody.

Impressive Meet Closes Season At Ben Franklin

Musical numbers stressed the national music week when members of Ben Franklin P.-T. A. met at the school Wednesday afternoon in the closing session of the year. The school orchestra gave "Majestic Overture," and "Wood Gnomes."

Mrs. Frank Creighton was the speaker, repeating the talk on the children's charter given at the 13th district meeting at Quanah and discussed in detail the 19 points necessary to the charter.

Mrs. John Martin presided in the business meeting when Mrs. P. B. Cox led in the impressive installation services. New officers inaugurated were Mesdames Frank Parsons, president; Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., first vice president; Mrs. J. W. Combs, second vice president; Mrs. G. R. Burch, third vice president; Mrs. John Gibbs, secretary; Mrs. A. E. Kelly, treasurer; Mrs. G. E. McWhirter, publicity chairman and Miss Florence Cullen, parliamentarian.

Mrs. N. M. Clifford opened the meeting with the Lord's prayer and in the business meeting, reports of officers were featured by that of the health chairman, who announced that in the 21 children examined at the pre-school clinic, two were found perfect.

More than 100 members were present and the attendance prize went to Miss Sumner's room.

Willing Workers Have Regular Monthly Meet

The Willing Workers class of the First Evangelical church met on Tuesday evening at the church annex for their monthly business session. As planned at the last meeting each member made some contribution and the pastor and his family were pleasantly surprised by a variety "pounding."

Refreshments were served to the following: Bob Decker, Alice Sturm, Opal Broyles, Edna Sturm, Lucile Broyles, Estelle Ditto, Vida Holder, Ann Sturm, Dorothy Posy, Walter Ford, Herman Harbes, Juanita Zimmerman, Glenna Corbell, Fred Maier, Jimmie Sowell, Benny Word, Evelyn Holden, Harold Lankford, Albert Reid, Lucile Hibbs, Louise Taylor, Mrs. R. McIver, and Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Hoesch.

Camp Fire Girls Arrange Program For Health Week

Camp Fire Girls will observe health week with a district-wide play day at Boone's park on Saturday of this week. All Camp Fire Girls, parents, friends, and prospective members are invited to come out and enjoy the fun.

The following program has been arranged:

10:00 A. M.—Registration. Each girl will register, be given a tag to show which flag she will be under for the day. As the groups assemble into the four "nations" they will each choose a "ruler" for their "nation." Costumes will be worked out by the different nations with materials furnished them.

11:00 A. M.—General assembly; singsong, group stunts, pasture parade.

12:00 M.—Lunch hour; Camp Fire groups will spread lunch by groups.

1:00 P. M.—Contests.

First Aid—Each nation will have ready one team of two girls to compete in the following events: triangular bandaging of palm or back of hand; forearm or leg; elbow and ankle; eye; forehead. Neatness, accuracy, and speed will be judged. Miss Agnes Anderson, member of committee of awards, will be chairman of judging these contests.

Songs—Groups singing "Mammy Moon," "Burn, Fire, Burn," and "The Walking Song," with motions, the best, will get the points on songs. Mrs. Florence Frazer will be chairman of judges on singing.

Water Boiling—All groups may take part in this. The group getting their fire built and water boiling first gets points.

Relay—This will include running, walking, hopping, skipping, and crab race.

If time permits, each group will be permitted to challenge every other group to one event.

2:00—Winning of honors. Each girl may sign up for one section in nature lore or camp craft in which she is to earn honor beads.

The Camp Fire program emphasizes health all the year around. "Hold on to Health" is one of the seven points of the Camp Fire law. Next to homecraft, the members earn more health beads than in any other of the seven crafts. The section in elective honors includes exercise, first aid, personal hygiene, water sports, and winter sports.

Honors most frequently earned by the girls include walking 40 miles in any 10 days; taking seven hours of outdoor exercise a week for three months; demonstrate three ways of using the triangular and the roller bandage, also the use of the tourniquet; demonstrate the proper clothing and treatment of feet to prevent blisters on a long hike; be free from every indication of cold for two consecutive months between October and April; do not miss school or work because of ill health or headaches for three consecutive months.

Each member must keep 90 per cent of the points on the standard Camp Fire health chart as one requirement for rank—one month wood gatherer, two months fire maker, and three consecutive months torch bearer. Before a girl can earn her second rank, she must have passed requirements in first aid, personal hygiene, and general habits of health.

The Camp Fire Girl, when lighting the health side of the Wohelo triangle made up of work, health and love, says: "We hold on to health because through health we serve and are happy. In caring for the health and beauty of our persons, we are caring for the very shrine of the Great Spirit. Wohelo means health."

First Methodist W. M. S. Circles to Serve Dinner

Members of circle six of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary society will serve a chicken dinner in the educational building of the church Friday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock, it has been announced.

The program will be featured by a contrast of an old fashioned concert with a modern operatic program.

STUDENTS IN WAGE DISPUTE

Petition at U. T. Demands Builders' Hike

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—A controversy over wages paid laborers engaged on construction of buildings being erected on the campus of the university of Texas had been entered by some of the students today.

R. B. Gragg, state labor commissioner, recently held a public hearing to determine the current scale of wages in Austin in an effort to enforce a state law that provides wages paid laborers on state projects shall not be lower than the current scale of the community.

Gragg decided the scale employed by some of the university building contractors was lower than the current schedule. He set out to enforce the law, but some contractors obtained a temporary injunction in federal court at San Antonio restraining the commissioner from acting. A hearing on an application for a permanent restraining order will be before a three-judge court.

A petition asking the board of regents of the university to take "some action to relieve the situation of the laborers and to remove from the buildings now under construction the stain of having been built by the hands of industrial slaves" is being circulated on the campus for student signatures. Nearly 200 students had signed it.

Announcement was made that the petition was sponsored by an Austin branch of the League of Industrial Democracy.

"To you, as the directors of the University of Texas, the largest educational institution in the South, we address ourselves to protest against the negligence, indifference and inhumanity shown toward the laborers employed in the current university building program," the preamble of the petition stated.

The petition stated a suggestion of Gragg should be adopted, that "on each of our fine buildings the inscription should read 'this building was erected by the labor of men whose children were deprived not only of education and other similar benefits, but of actual sustenance, and it stands as a perpetual monument to industrial servitude'."

Frisco Railroad To Issue Bonds

WASHINGTON, May 4. (INS)—The Interstate Commerce commission today authorized the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad to issue $944,000 of prior-lien mortgage six per cent gold bonds, which are to be pledged with the trustees of the consolidated mortgage.

Upon pledge of these bonds the road was authorized to issue $1,679,000 of consolidated mortgage six per cent gold bonds. These bonds are to be pledged and repledged from time to time as security for any loans that have been or may hereafter be made to the road by the Railroad Credit corporation.

Further authorization was given to issue from time to time $1,679,000 of consolidated mortgage six per cent gold bonds in exchange for an equal amount of such bonds of another series which may be presented for conversion.

Hardeman County Gets Army Arabian Stallion

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 4.—An Arabian stallion has been secured from the United States government and will be placed in Hardeman county for 1932. Eugene B. Smith, cotton buyer, was instrumental in securing this fine animal.

The horse is due to arrive from Colorado Springs Saturday and will be placed at the farm of Charles Swindell, eight miles northeast of Quanah.

This stallion is the only Arabian that was available from the army.

Circumstantial Evidence Of Science To Send Man To Prison For Murder

Modern Methods of Crime Solution Results in 40-Year Term In Ambush Shooting in Callahan County

AUSTIN, May 4. (INS)—A scientifically solved murder is going to send Jerry Kent to the penitentiary for 40 years. The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the conviction of Kent in Callahan county for the murder of R. L. (Bob) Ensor on March 28, 1931.

Circumstantial evidence alone, founded in modern scientific crime solution methods, convicted Kent. Ensor was shot from ambush late one afternoon with a heavy charge of buckshot.

Near the place where Ensor's body was found officers discovered a cleft cut into a clump of bushes. Bootees found in Kent's possession fitted exactly into the footprints found there, officers testified. Cigaret stubs left by the ambusher were rolled with paper identical to a package of cigaret papers given the defendant by a neighbor.

Shells Similar

The shotgun wadding and shell found near the scene of the killing were of the same type of ammunition found in the possession of Kent. A hardware dealer testified he had sold Kent three buckshot shells of this type prior to the murder.

But the strongest link in the state's circumstantial chain was welded by a firearms expert, J. J. Smith. Smith testified that he and the sheriff had fired a shell on Kent's gun and found, by magnifying, that the imprint of the firing pin on the cap of the shell was identical to that on the presumed murder shell. Moreover, the microscope revealed that the protuberances and contours of the firing pin were identical on both shells, Smith testified.

Seen in Vicinity

Kent had also been seen in the vicinity of the killing before and after the murder. Several months before he had been heard to threaten to kill some one, meaning the deceased.

The only motive revealed in the appellate records concerns the burglary of Ensor's house some time before the murder. Kent had heard that Ensor had had his car searched after the burglary and resented it.

A remarkable coincidence of the case was that a man who had been charged with the burglary of the Ensor home was near the scene of the murder chopping wood. He was arrested in the killing but later dismissed. He testified merely that he had seen Ensor's car near the scene of the murder.

The high court thought the circumstantial evidence sufficient to warrant a conviction.

Plans Comeback

What with Jack Dempsey, Bennie Leonard and other ex-champs on the comeback trail, David (Baby) Barber, 6, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who claims to be the world's youngest professional box fighter, is staging a comeback himself. The Babe, who has been trained since infancy by his father, a former boxer, hopes to have $25,000 in cash to help him along. At the height of his ring career, in which his parents say he earned a lot of money for the family coffers, young David stumbled in a pavement hole and broke his arm. Suit has been brought against the city on the grounds his pugilistic income was interrupted. Meantime David has recovered and is back in the ring.

Court Decides A Man Cannot Forge Own Name

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—A man can not forge his own name.

This was the decision of the court of criminal appeals today in reversing and remanding the conviction of J. W. Graham, former county clerk of Uvalde county, on a charge of forgery. Graham allegedly made out and signed a draft on the county treasurer for $511.85 in payment of an account for $11.85.

The opinion, written by Associate Justice F. L. Hawkins, and concurred in by W. C. Morrow, presiding judge, was dissented from by O. S. Lattimore, associate justice.

Hawkins stated the statute on forgery defined the offense as "purporting to be the act of another." He also held the statute had no application to Graham's act in signing his name in his official capacity.

In the dissenting opinion, Lattimore held there was a difference between the acts of an official and a private person and claimed the majority placed an improper construction on the statute. "His whole intention being to defraud, every reasonable construction necessary to bring to justice such an offender ought to be indulged," Lattimore stated.

Graham's conviction previously had been affirmed. The opinion today set aside the judgment of affirmance and reversed and remanded the case.

Q.—By what title is the wife of Premier Mussolini addressed?—D. B.

A.—By a recent decree, she has been granted the title, Excellency. She shares it with the wives of members of the Supreme Order of Annunziata, the highest order in Italy. There are but 21 living members of the order. The wives of nine of these have royal titles.

Q.—Please give a brief history of the essay.—S. J. H.

A.—In 1580 a retired French lawyer, Michel de Montaigne, published two volumes of short prose compositions about his own reactions to the world he lived in. Montaigne called his two volumes Essais; and the great body of literature for which they were the chief inspiration we know as essays. He was the first writer to adopt the easy, informal style of chatting about himself. Although Bacon's first 12 essays were published in 1597, a few years before Montaigne's Essais were translated into English, there is no doubt of the influence of Montaigne upon him.

Turning the Lights on the "Bulls"

UNDER the impetus given by fiery Congressman La Guardia, the senate's inquiry into the stock market seems to have become more an investigation of the bulls than of the bears.

Since the bull market is now two and one-half years in the background, and looking more remote every day, this may seem a waste of time and money. Actually, though, it isn't a bad idea. It might be about as good for us to find out how we were got to the top of the toboggan slide as how we were sent skidding down it.

After all, this lamentable bear market, with its accompaniment of unemployment, hunger, red ink and general business stagnation, is only the reverse side of the bull market. What goes up, in this world, must come down, and if it goes up beyond all reason it is apt to come down in just the same way. We bargained for all of this in those hectic days of 1928 and 1929 when it was popular to talk about a new economic era, and the more light we can get on the unseen forces that had us by the nose before the crash the better off we shall be.

So far, we haven't shown much interest in getting that kind of knowledge. We have tried to tell ourselves that we were a virtuous and well-meaning people foully victimized by schemers who have taken us for a ride. We have spent two years looking for a scapegoat, and the present effort to lay the blame for the depression on short sellers is just the latest development in our hunt.

Sooner or later, though, we'll have to admit that nobody betrayed us, except with our own consent. We lost all sense of values during the boom, we pretended that it was no longer a sin to gamble (provided one wins) and we surrendered to one of the most dismal orgies of dollar-worshiping the country has ever seen.

Now we're paying for it. To find out what brokers are selling short in the markets of 1932 might be interesting, but it can't be especially important. It might be a whole lot better to follow Mr. La Guardia's tip and put the spotlight on what was happening when all prices were going up.

The Beer Tax Angle

IT IS probable that during the coming year we are going to hear a whole lot more about the proposal to legalize the sale of real beer and collect a federal tax on it, both as a means of knocking the props out from under the racketeering beer barons and as a means of refilling an empty federal treasury. That being the case, it might be enlightening to look at a few figures on the matter.

In 1924—a normal pre-war year—Americans consumed a little more than 66,000,000 barrels of beer, on which customs and excise taxes were levied at the rate of about a dollar a barrel. By 1919, however, the tax on beer stood at $6 a barrel, and the public accepted it as a not too exhorbitant rate.

Now—get out your pencil. Suppose legalized beer were sold in this country this year to the extent of 1914 consumption, and suppose it were taxed at $6 a barrel. What would Uncle Sam get? Just $396,000,000. Would it come in handy?

The $2,500 Border Line

ACTION of the house of representatives in exempting from the 11 per cent reduction in federal salaries all employes who earn less than $2,500 a year will hardly call forth any great protest from the general public, even if there is a crying demand for governmental economy.

After all, an income of $2,500 is not exactly a luxurious one, even if there are several million unemployed men in the land today who would be tickled to death to be earning even half that much. When a man's pay is at that level, every dollar you take out of his weekly envelope is badly missed. Surely, it ought to be possible for congress to reduce Uncle Sam's expenditures sufficiently in other ways to make it unnecessary to cut into the incomes of those employes who are below the $2,500 line.

A Freakish Accident

ACCIDENTS can be freakish, sometimes. An Ohio widow is suing an insurance company for $5,000 worth of accident insurance, and in her claim she describes what surely must be one of the oldest accidents ever recorded.

Her husband was playing golf. Having driven off from the first tee, he started strolling down the fairway, swinging his club as any golfer might. Somehow the shaft of the club get entangled in his legs and tripped him. He fell, struck his head on the end of the club, and died a short time later.

Sometimes it almost seems as if there were a cruelly impish fate that devoted all its time to devising improbable ways to end men's lives.

SO THEY SAY!

WALTER WINCHELL
On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

(During Illness of Mr. Winchell This Column Is Being Conducted by Paul Yawitz)

Portrait of Another Young Man Talking to Himself!

I no longer believe that the smile on a cripple's face is a protective veneer....And that down deep in their soul they harbor spite and resentment to the able-bodied....It was short-sightedness on my part ever to have believed it....There's Connie Boswell, for instance....The tender-voiced invalid member of the crooning Boswell Sisters....She spent a valuable afternoon waiting on 72nd St. and Broadway yesterday that Jimmy Palmer, the crippled newsboy, might not be disappointed....For weeks he had asked me to make it possible for him to meet his favorite radio goddess...."It will mean so much to me, Mr. Yawitz," he would say....Jimmy is 27 years old....And for 17 years infantile paralysis has left him with puny underpinnings, a curved spine and a set of crutches that spread across the floor like the broken wings of an eagle....So, last Friday, that incorrigible secty of mine columned a note to the effect that Jimmy wanted to meet Connie....And the next day two of the little star's representatives called to tell me she, too, was anxious to see the boy....But Connie couldn't wait for her agents or for me to plot the meeting....Yesterday afternoon she went herself.

She made no appeal for publicity....The allegedly inevitable line-up of newsreel men was absent....Nor were reporters invited to the scene to perform their hullabaloo antics....It was just a great lady, who had risen from the trivia of small-town ado to a national fireside fame, coming to exchange a smile of sympathy....With an unknown newsie at his corner hutch....When she arrived, Jimmy was not there....So she ordered her chauffeur to park and wait....Two whole hours went by, before Jimmy appeared....It was a great surprise....He hadn't even had time to don his holiday suit and the redstriped scarf....But the thrill was greater than if a doctor had suddenly told him his warped body could be straightened....In the back seat of her sedan, they talked and talked....I don't know what they said and I didn't have the nerve to ask....But I imagine Jimmy was just a trifle awed at first....And stuttered and stuttered, just as I would have done....After a while the host invited the most famous guest his stand will ever boast into a near-by soda fountain....And they drank malted milks...."With a lot of whipped cream on top," he told me....And Connie invited the lad to see her again at her home....And she inscribed "to a really wonderful boy" on a photo....In less than two hours Jimmy had it framed and proudly displayed on the edge of his magazine rack.

Jimmy waited up till 5:15 yesterdawning to catch me on my homeward trek...."I gotta thank you," he said. "I met Connie and we talked about things the ordinary person doesn't understand....It was great!"....Jimmy's sort of a different man today....Five years ago, he wandered into a Chinese restaurant on Third Ave. and met a taxi dance-hall hostess....She had been Eye-Gazing with a hack-driver whose love-meter was checking up on a new fare....Jimmy paid for her chow mein and hobbled her to her door....Inside of a month they were married...."I appreciated having some one with a strong pair of legs care for me," was his summation....She was a pretty girl with dark hair and a pair of blue eyes that laughed courageously at those who couldn't understand the marriage....Life was a joyous epic to Jimmy....He sold more papers than the larger stand in the neighborhood....He was rightfully proud of his woman....Then suddenly one day "she left."....There was a note in his room....There always is a note!....But this one was pinned to one of his old crutches....She wanted to make certain he would see it...."I became so mean after that," he said, "that people refused to buy papers from me....I barked at every one who had a normal body....I didn't care much what they thought....One day, a fellow resented my insult and told me so....I jumped at him and fell into the gutter....So he picked me up and I felt ashamed."

In two weeks she was back....Jimmy gave her money and helped get her a job, but he wouldn't take her back...."It hurt too much."....The only woman he ever had wasn't destined to be his permanently....But I wonder if Jimmy's woman is any different from all the others....There are quite a number of handsome gentlemen in Little Old New York who have had similar experiences....Fellows with hardy legs and spines as straight as a London bobby's....At any rate, I'd like to tell Connie that she did me a great favor....And also that she infused a new constellation into the little universe of 72nd St. and Broadway....Today the whole neighborhood is congratulating the Man Who Knows Connie Boswell.

That's an interesting story about Luigi Barzini, the editor....He came here 6 yrs. ago and made a tabloid of the Italian Corriere....In Italy his fame spread....And they paraded in the streets of Naples in honor of the local boy making good in the big country....Then Mussolini heard about him and invited him to come back to Italy and bring American ideas with him....So Barzini wound up his affairs and re-entered his native land to the huzzahs of the populace....He was given charge of the Naples Mattino, the most famous daily in the peninsula....The first thing he did was to make the news brief....And to eliminate the traditional "third page" on which appeared the learned comments of the higher-brows....Give the readers news! was the prime purpose of his regime....And in a few months, the populace rebelled....They accused him of Americanizing their journalism....And according to a cable I received today, Barzini is on the way out....for doing just what they had asked him to do....

It always puzzled me, that city ordinance that prohibits women from working as waitresses or cashiers after midnight....And yet, does nothing about the hat-check girls, the dance hall hostesses and the women taxi-drivers....There should be an explanation!....And now the first Sandwich Sign Girl makes her appearance....That's what the depression is doing....I saw her yesterday parading the virtues of a beauty-parlor—of all things—as she pounded the 42nd St. pavements....She was a sprightly lass with a chilled expression....It sort of said: Yes, but what of it!....And I couldn't think of an answer....I doubt if there is one....And while we're on the depression, Tom Patterson, the art dealer, was asked by a friend how he felt after his recent operation....."Okay, but I think the ether was cut," he replied....That flood of letters (180 to date) protesting the Little Red Book's statement that Eli Culbertson's two children never saw a deck of cards all contained clippings from a current mag....And they're all pictures of little Bruce and Joyce sitting on the floor playing bridge. Was I wrong, or is it trick photography?

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE MATRIMONIAL WAISTLINE—The Papuan "mary" (wife) is a valuable commodity for the reason that she is the breadwinner of the family and labors to raise its food. Obesity in a man lessens his matrimonial chances by raising the purchasing price of a wife to an extravagant figure. A slim waist, indicating frugality on the part of the youth, is one of the prime requisites of a successful suitor. The young man I drew at Port Moresby, New Guinea, had bound his waist a few years previously and has succeeded in reducing his waistline to about 50 per cent below normal. The permanent bandage has considerably improved his chances for a bride.

THE BOWER BIRD—The species is very remarkable for the curious bowers or playgrounds it constructs in the neighborhood of the nest. A platform is raised in the clearing of an undergrowth with the aid of twigs and branches. The platform is ornamented with bleached bone, bright shells, moss, berries, feathers and any shining object within the reach of the builders. In the center of the platform the bird raises two bowerlike walls. Under the bowers the sexes disport themselves, flirting and paying court day after day.

THE WIDOW'S CRAWL—The lot of the widow in New Guinea is a very sorry one indeed. For a week following the burial, she is obliged to spend the night outside of her house on the temporary grave of her departed husband. As soon as the body is placed within its permanent tomb the widow must crawl to it every daybreak in the wake of a spear, which an obliging friend drags on the ground before her. She must also refrain from eating pork during the first twelvemonth of her widowhood. When these customs were called to my attention I tried to elicit some explanation of their meaning from the old natives. All I succeeded in obtaining was a cryptic "him belong long fashion" (that is an old custom) in the quaint pidgin English of the country.

Wanted—Love!
The Story of an Unemployed Girl

CHAPTER XLV

"I would like to be able to do something for you, dearie," said the calm-faced gray-haired woman to Lillian, "but we have no room here."

"I was told you gave beds to girls without jobs—"

"We do—but we have no room now. Of course, if you're willing to work you might come back in the morning...."

In the morning!

But there was the night to get through. Eve and Lillian had moved from the Girls' Home two nights before. Sixty cents, thirty cents each, for a bed was more than they could afford. They found a place where girls were given beds for twenty cents each and coffee for breakfast, too.

But now they could not afford that. They had come to the charity home some of the girls had told them about.

"Free beds for a night or two," the girl had told them. "No longer, but that might help you."

"You see, we'll have to investigate your case first, anyway," the calm placid woman said.

"Where do we sleep," indicating Eve and herself," while you are investigating?"

"Walk down to Spring street. They might have a few empty cots down there."

"Is it far?"

"Strong girls like you two shouldn't mind a walk of about fifteen blocks. Goodbye."

Eventually they came to the address on Spring street. Their suit cases had become leaden and their feet masses of pain. But there were two flights of steps to be climbed.

At the top of the stairs was a shabbily furnished room with a dim light. A radio was going and several women sat about listening.

A plain, poorly dressed woman came up to them. "Yes?" she asked.

"We were told we might be able to sleep here tonight?" Lillian ventured.

"You might—got thirty cents between you?"

Yes—all they had was fifty.

"Fifteen each. Sign here," she pulled out a thumb marked ledger. They signed and paid her.

"Those two cots, over in the corner." She indicated, by a motion of her head, the far end of the room, where a row of cots were arranged, army fashion.

"Now, before you go to bed go in the tank there and get clean."

The tank was a crude galvanized affair, filled with a murky solution, which smelled of disinfectant.

"Don't high hat it!" the rasping voice instructed. "Don't make no difference—every one gets the same treatment here. No tav'rites. Bring a towel?"

They shook their heads.

"Well, I guess you'll dry off without one."

Eve took off her clothes and got into the tank first. Lillian waited. Tears squeezed over Eve's cheeks as she submerged her body into the disinfectant. Her pinched pale face became purple.

Lillian made her use one of her crepe slips for a towel.

Lillian tried to think of something pleasant as the smelly chilliness covered her body . . . of bright summer days in New England, of music, of dancing, of tea at the Copley Plaza . . . friends. But nothing kept her from shivering.

By the time they were dry and ready for bed most of the cots were filled and the radio was shut off. They hung their clothes on the foots of the cots and pushed the suitcases beneath.

They noticed that the other inmates slept in their clothes or had them rolled up under their pillows.

From the next cot a voice said in a whisper to Lillian: "You won't have anything to put on in the morning if you leave 'em out like that."

"Thank you," said Lillian, getting her clothes and putting them in the suitcase and placing the suitcase on its side above her head. She had to crumple her body considerably then to stay on the cot. Eve did the same.

The woman on the other side of things—as she pounded the 42nd St. pavements....She was a sprightly lass with a chilled expression....It sort of said: Yes, but what of it!....And I couldn't think of an answer....I doubt if there is one....And while we're on the depression, Tom Patterson, the art dealer, was asked by a friend how he felt after his recent operation....."Okay, but I think the ether was cut," he replied....That flood of letters (180 to date) protesting the Little Red Book's statement that Eli Culbertson's two children never saw a deck of cards all contained clippings from a current mag....And they're all pictures of little Bruce and Joyce sitting on the floor playing bridge. Was I wrong, or is it trick photography?

"You must not stand here in the cold."

Eve said: "The girl that slept in that cot last night is in the morgue tonight."

"What—what happened? Did she get run over or something?" Eve asked.

Several hollow laughs pierced the cold air.

"What happened!" a new, cracked voice said, "she died of an empty belly. Same as all of us will if we depend on this free soup they give you at these charity institutions!"

Lillian and Eve felt more like crying than laughing. But the room echoed with the flat laughs of the women.

The sheets of the cots smelled of disinfectant. And the army blankets were clammy.

But it was a bed. Tomorrow . . . tomorrow might mean a job . . . but there had been too many tomorrows which brought nothing . . . only more heartache . . . more regret to Lillian that she ever had left home.

Her body ached. Her eyes stung. She sighed for herself—and for poor, brave Eva, who said so little, never complained.

Twenty cents! Every cent they had between them. Every cent! But they had a bed for tonight . . . a lumpy, cold bed, which smelled of disinfectant and even so, felt crawly. It offered no comfort, no rest. Lillian turned and turned again. She could not stretch out. The tension of her muscles was unbearable. She would have to remove the suitcase from the cot. So she could lengthen her body.

She counted the cots. There were twenty-seven. Twenty-seven women in the same room. And two small windows.

There seemed no air in the room. Not a fresh breath. Lillian crept out of bed and went to one of the little windows. It was only partly up and the glass was grimy. But she could see moonlight on the street and hear an orchestra playing faintly somewhere.

Even breathing. Snores. Moans filled the room. "You mustn't stand here in the cold, sweet. Better try to be quiet, still. It'll soon be morning. . . ."

"Look, Eve. Moonlight . . . beautiful . . . the night is laughing. . . . Let's laugh, too. We haven't laughed in so long. We ought to laugh. Forget we're hungry . . . let's laugh, Eve . . . because we're in a flop house!"

Eve patted her arm and tried to lead her from the window.

This is a flop house, Eve . . . remember Laura said she made a last stand against the flop house—and the bread line. . . . Laura missed this. . . ."

Lillian's thin body shook with mingled sobbing and laughing.

Eve tried to pull her from the window. Several of the inmates of the close, cold room sat up in their cots, straining their eyes toward the two figures.

"What's all this rumpus?"

"Get away from that window! You're shutting out the air!"

"Pipe down, you brats!" . . .

"Eve," said Lillian, "we don't have to do this, do we? We could have said 'yes' to that man who asked us to go riding with him this afternoon, couldn't we? This isn't anything to be ashamed of, is it, Eve? We would have been ashamed to go riding with him—"

"Yes, yes, sweet. Come. Get back in bed."

Hysterical, Lillian sat on the edge of her cot, cuddled in the blanket. Eve sat with her, stroking Lillian's fevered head with her cool hands.

It was almost daylight when fatigue overcame them and they fell asleep, both on one narrow cot. But at six o'clock they were all routed from their beds . . . cold, stiff, cramped.

Certainly there were no jobs to be had before daylight—

SMITH PLEADS FOR FINANCES

Repayment of Raskob Debt Is Urged

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith last night appealed to the Democratic party to pay back to National Chairman John J. Raskob $320,000 it still owes him, both because it is a just debt, he said, and in order that the party may function as an untrammeled organization.

"I make no appeal for Mr. Raskob as an individual," the 1928 Democratic standard bearer said. "I speak for him in his official capacity as chairman of the national Democratic party. He advanced money at the rate of $10,000 a month, and the party is now indebted to him to the extent of $320,000."

Addressing 800 women workers in the party's $1,500,000 victory drive, Smith made only one reference to his own campaign for the presidential nomination. He denied that the fund would be used for "any one candidate."

"We must wipe out the deficit and send the party off with a flying start," he said. "We must not owe Mr. Raskob anything. We must not owe anybody anything. We must be a party with nation-wide connections and on our own feet."

Smith referred to Raskob as "an extremely businesslike individual," who would not continue as chairman unless the party were run on an efficient and business like basis.

Amarillo Schools Enter Fire Prevention Contest

AUSTIN, May 4. (AP)—Twenty schools in Amarillo have submitted 203 entries in the state fire prevention poster contest, Raymond S. Mauk, state fire insurance commissioner, announced in urging other schools to submit their exhibits immediately.

The poster contest is held annually by the fire insurance commission as part of the educational campaign to acquaint Texas children and their parents with the dangers of fire and the best prevention methods.

Contests are conducted in three classes, high school, intermediate and primary. No schools can submit more than one poster from each grade.

LIFE SAVING SCHOOL

EDINBURG, Texas, May 4. (AP)—Challenged by the recent drowning of two small boys in the valley, the Hidalgo county Red Cross chapter is conducting two life saving schools in the county.

One is being conducted at Mission and the other at Mercedes.

He's Nominee

The Socialist Labor party's nominee for president is Verne L. Reynolds (above) of New York. A steam-fitter by trade, he now is in the advertising business. He was named to head the ticket at the party's recent national convention in New York.

Financiers 'Sink' Huge Sums In Pool

NEW YORK, May 4. (INS)—William F. Kenny, friend of Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, was induced to join a $5,000,000 pool speculating in Third Avenue Railway company securities because his "financial and political influence" were considered valuable, the Hofstadter legislative committee was told today.

Kenny, multimillionaire contractor, put $1,050,000 in the pool.

Other prominent New Yorkers who were members of the pool were the late Nicholas F. Brady, traction capitalist, who put in the same amount as Kenny and Thomas L. Chadbourne, who put in $1,100,000.

Testimony on the forming of the pool was given by Hugo W. Blumenthal, partner in the brokerage firm of Hallgarten & Co., who was called by Seabury apparently to show that the pool members had sought to block the Equitable Bus corporation from obtaining a franchise to operate buses in the Bronx.

JACK M'GURNS DENIED REVIEW

Capone Gunman and Wife Must Serve Time

CHICAGO, May 4. (INS)—"Machine Gun" Jack McGurn, Capone gunman, and his "blond alibi" wife, the former Louise Rolfe, today were denied a rehearing by the U. S. circuit court of appeals on charges of conspiracy to violate the white slave act.

McGurn was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and his wife, four months in jail.

Louise Rolfe supplied McGurn with the alibi that aided him to escape prosecution for the St. Valentine's day massacre. She said McGurn was in a hotel with her at the time of the shooting.

Vannie Higgins Nabbed On Speedy Rum Boat

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Charles (Vannie) Higgins, alleged rum ring leader, was captured during the seizure of the rum runner Whichone and a cabin cruiser about five miles off Asbury Park, customs officials disclosed today.

Higgins, now held prisoner aboard the boat anchored in the lower harbor, was to be arraigned later before U. S. Commissioner Stanton in Hoboken.

It was the second time in seven months the speedy Whichone was brought into the harbor.

Slaying of Watchman Under Investigation

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, May 4. (AP)—An investigation of the ambush slaying of Jesus Benavides, night watchman and special deputy to the sheriff, was under way today.

Benavides was struck in the side by a charge of buckshot early yesterday as he was making his rounds. He had stopped to punch a time clock when the shot was fired. He died a few hours later at an Alice hospital.

Sheriff Dan Tobin of Duval county was heading the investigation.

Southern Senators to Protest Cotton Sale

WASHINGTON, May 4. (UP)—Senators George of Georgia and Smith of South Carolina plan to go before the federal farm board to protest its decision to sell 650,000 bales of stabilization cotton during the year beginning Aug. 1.

"The farm board ought not to place that cotton on the market now," George declared. "If they've held off this long, they can hold off longer. I want them to postpone it for another year at least."

Texas Channel Work Urged On Congress

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, today recommended to congress the alteration of the Freeport, Texas, harbor project by providing a channel from the gulf 32 feet deep and 300 feet wide to the jetty entrance and thence 30 feet deep and 200 feet wide to th turning basin at Brazosport. Cost was estimated at $226,500, with $1,000 anually for maintenance.

He also recommended a 30-foot channel to the turning basin near the Stauffer chemical plant at Freeport, at an additional cost of $79,000. The recommendation provides that local interests shall contribute $100,000 toward the cost of the gulf to Brazosport turning basin and improvements above Brazosport are not to be undertaken until required by commerce. When these are made, 50 per cent of costs are to be paid by local interests.

STAR-MICKS CONSOLIDATION SALE

DRAWS WONDROUS CROWDS OF THRIFTY BUYERS FIRST THREE DAYS

FOLK — WE SINCERELY THANK YOU for the mighty response you gave us on the first three days of our Great Consolidation Sale—beyond question one of the most gigantic price slashing furniture sales ever held in Northwest Texas. Truly, they came alone and in crowds, taxing us far beyond our expectation to render that ever courteous attention these two big stores are noted for. But, friends, come again—bring your neighbor—for possibly NEVER again will you have an opportunity to buy good, up-to-date furniture at such sacrifice prices. Necessity compels us to make a quick disposal of these two big stocks before we can consolidate them under one roof in our OWN building at 716-718 Seventh Street. Business conditions, you are well acquainted with, make possible this great saving you can now have on furniture for your home. It's almost a crime—it's even pitiful, we are compelled to cut and slash prices as we are now doing, but we can't help it. It's just got to be done. We can't afford to place in a dirty warehouse this fine furniture. We'd rather pass it on to you even at such a loss. Space is too limited in this message to even attempt to quote prices. Come and see with your own eyes these wondrous price reductions. Watch daily papers and tune in on KGKO for further announcements.

SHOULD A YOUNG CHILD BE TAKEN SHOPPING?

There is a fear of losing a small child in a crowded store or on the sidewalk and this sometimes causes the mother to hold the child's hand too tightly, causing the arm to be stretched upward in such a position that it must become very tired. This brings us to the problem of today's article: Should the young child be taken shopping?

I am sure that the wisest plan is to arrange to leave the small child with a kindly neighbor. This plan prevents the danger of the child's picking up some contagious children's disease, a danger which is always present in a crowd. Where such an arrangement is not convenient, and the child must be taken on the shopping tour, certain steps can be taken by the mother to make the day more pleasant.

The first suggestion I wish to make is that the mother either make at home or buy for a few cents, some kind of harness to put on the child so she can lead him by the attached strap. In this way there is no danger of his getting lost and the child no longer has to walk for long periods with one arm raised up in the air, an uncomfortable position for a young child to hold. How frequently we see a child of 2 or 3 yanked along the street by one arm. Such a set of harness would save this. The mother should take the time to walk slowly so that the child can keep up, rather than walking swiftly and half-dragging the little tot along.

Before starting out shopping make a short list of the articles which are really needed. Your aim should be to make a plan by which you can get all the buying done in the shortest possible time. In this way the child gets home before he is too tired and upset. We have all seen a tired mother struggling with a tired child in a store and felt sorry for both of them. The child quickly wearies of the unusual noise and to finish all necessary business and then get home is the best plan. The mother should try to get downtown early in the day while the child is still feeling rested and before the stores are crowded. Going in the morning will also have the added advantage of not interfering with the child's nap.

Now comes the question of what to buy the child. Most mothers look forward to surprising him with the treat of a small toy. However, once the tiny tot arrives at the toy counter he is likely to want everything he sees. It is not an unusual sight to see a child screaming for toys because he has learned that his mother will give him what he wants if he howls loudly enough. To prevent this, take the child to the toys and tell him firmly that he can have but one plaything. Give him plenty of time to pick it out and when he has made up his mind, buy the toy and leave the department. Never buy three or four objects just because he cries for them. If he makes any unpleasant disturbance, the best rule is to quietly walk away, not buying anything.

A child taken shopping should be fed just as carefully as at home, yet how often exactly the opposite happens. He is tempted by candies, pastries and other unaccustomed dainties and it is very easy to feed him not wisely but too well. To avoid an upset stomach afterward, a good way is to pay particular attention to what he eats while away from home.

These directions I have given are easy to follow and the mother who heeds them will enjoy the shopping trip more than if she tries to hold the child's hand, does not know exactly what she wants to buy and hence spends more time in town than is actually necessary, is herself upset by having the child cry for too many toys, and is worried because she knows he has indulged in too many fancy foods. If you will but take the trouble to train the child correctly on his first shopping trips, then, when he is a little older, the two of you will enjoy many pleasant buying trips together.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Compulsory Treatment

Question—Mr. R. writes: "I had a positive Wassermann test and took treatments for 15 months, although the doctor told me it would take a year at first. These treatments are very expensive and it is difficult to continue them. One time when I missed my appointment the doctor sent me a threatening note and spoke of the law. Can a doctor compel me to continue his treatments providing the test is negative now?"

Answer—No doctor can tell you ahead of time just how long it will take to cure your disease. Sometimes it is necessary to have several negative reports before he is reasonably sure that the disease is cured. The law compels the doctor to report your case, because the disease is communicable, but you cannot be compelled to take any certain treatment, although you must remain under some doctor's care until pronounced cured. It might be better to change to a doctor who holds his patients by ability and not through fear.

Calcium in Milk

Question—Mrs. M. G. writes: "I have been told that milk contains so much calcium that it causes bones and arteries to harden. Is this true?"

Answer—Milk does not harden bones or arteries, and may be used to advantage at any age if used in proper combinations. The calcium in milk is in soluble form and helps to alkalinize the body. I sometimes advise a milk diet for those who are showing premature ageing.

ARCHER HOST TO HUNTERS

Arrangements Complete For Annual Meeting

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 4.—Arrangements are complete to entertain the Texas Fox and Wolf Hunters association in Archer county May 9-12, the local committee in charge announced today. The affair is expected to draw an unusually large attendance of sportsmen of the state.

Headquarters for the meet are located on the Ikard ranch, seven miles south of Archer City. Delegates may pitch their camps here without charge, it was said. Care was taken in selecting the site for the headquarters, which gives good pasture and water.

A commissary and restaurant now is being erected on the ground to accommodate visitors.

Chase Coyotes

Archer ranchmen will provide horses for delegates, although riders must furnish their own saddle and equipment.

The feature of the four-day meeting will be several "rides to hounds." The chase will extend through 12 ranches of the county containing 140,000 acres. The ranches are said to be infested by hundreds of coyotes, which will give ample chase for hunters and dogs.

About 400 hounds already have been entered for the chase. Ed Newblock of Tulsa will officiate as master of the hounds.

Officials of the association have expressed the belief that the 1932 meet will be the most successful since the organization 20 years ago.

OWENS' CIRCUIT CLOUT IN 12TH WINS FOR SPUDDERS, 7-4

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Who Said Slump?

At the time when the Spudders appeared to be digging in for a protracted hitting slump, the big guns started barking Tuesday in the opening game of the current Houston series.

Harry Green and Walter Euller, who had found hits hard to get the preceding few days, came through with timely singles that scored runs.

Fuss had a perfect day at bat with two doubles and a single in three official trips.

That game developed only one serious case of slumpitis, and young Harlond Clift, who had hit in practically every game until then, was the patient. The kid couldn't get a lick off crafty Mike Cvengros, who fanned him twice. Clift also struck out when Hanson took the mound in the seventh.

The most notable hitting achievement was Skipper Hank's home run. These pitchers won't be walking Green to get to Severeid much longer. That's what both Cvengros and Hanson did Tuesday, and it cost 'em.

We have a hunch Skipper Hank is going to swat some more extra base hits. He likes to take things in easy stages. He's just warming up to this hitting business. His batting average at present hovers around the .290 mark, below those of Green, Garms, Clift, Fuss and Badgro. When he gets that heavy warclub swinging just right he'll show us the kind of hitter he was on the coast last year, when he hit .347.

Hank is always bristling with energy, but he rarely likes to plunge into things.

There was one notable exception—when he enlisted in the army during the world war.

That was one time he demanded quick action. He wanted to go over and take a lick at those Central Powers, and he wanted to go right now. That's what he told the recruiting officer. "I don't want to lag around in any of these training camps," he said. "If I enlist, I want to be sure I'm going somewhere quick."

He went. Fourteen days after he enlisted he was in France.

He told the recruiting officer he wanted in a branch of service that would get into the scrap early, and they put him in the tank corps.

Hank was the first player of either the Browns or the Cardinals to enlist when the call came.

He came back without a scratch, but with a minor ailment that still troubles him. They were going up to the front line in big trucks, Hank said, with each man loaded down with a full pack. When his truck halted at a stopping point he lost his balance jumping down, due to the weight of the pack, and fell. The spine was injured, and periodically it still gives him trouble.

Going Up

The consensus at present is that the Spudder most likely to see major league service in the near future is Noisy Bob Fuss, Hank's clouting right fielder.

Fuss continues to swat the ball in the dizzy .400 realm and his fielding, not far from perfect in the first game, is getting better with every game.

For Fishermen

I caught a crawfish once when I was a kid, but this achievement will not, I daresay, give me entrance into the Select Circle of Anglers. You've got to know everything about fish and fishing to crash the circle. At any rate that is the impression I get when associating with fishermen. If they don't know it all then they are artists at pretending they do.

Well, I'm not a fisherman, unless you will accept my crawfish catch as a claim to the title—but I bet I can cross up every fisherman in these parts with one simple question.

It's this: What fish is claimed to be the largest fresh water food fish in the world?

Now you guys get to thinking!

The Buffs' Third Sacker

Eddie Hock of Houston fielded .936 in 158 games last season to lead all other third basemen in the league in the defensive department. His work so far in the Buff series with the Spudders here indicates he is blazing right along the same trail he followed last year. He is a fine player, one of the best third basemen the league ever had.

Hock and Tom Carey, hustling Buff shortstop, are all that remain of the 1931 Buff infield. Carey Selph's immense shoes are being filled at least partially by Narlesky at second base, while Lee Stebbins, last year with San Antonio, has replaced the eccentric Guy Sturdy at first.

We will admit reluctantly that Hock is a better fielding third baseman than our own Bo Euller over the season's stretch. They were about evenly matched in last Tuesday's game, however. Both came up with great stops.

Euller fielded .914 last season compared to Hock's mark of .936.

Hock is the more valuable of the two in a hitting way. He lacked only one point of crashing the .300 circle last year, while Euller batted .256.

From Vernon

A Vernon fan who forgot to sign his name to the letter writes as follows:

"What is the correct ruling on this play: In a game between Oklaunion and Quanah Sunday the Oklaunion second baseman, swinging at the third strike, fouled the ball. It hit the ground and bounced up and hit the batsman on the arm. The batsman was still in the batter's box.

"The umpire called him out. Was he right or wrong?"

He was wrong. A batter is out when hit by a batted ball only when he is in fair territory. The batter's box is not in fair territory. The umpire should have called it a foul strike.

SWAT SCORES FOUR TALLIES

Furman Delivers With Bases Loaded

By FRED THOMPSON

Young Furman Owens, Skipper Hank Severeid's understudy in the Spudder backstopping department, sat on the bench last Tuesday and watched Hank slam a home run with the bases loaded in the sixth inning to whip the Houston Buffs in the series opener.

As young Furman watched that timely four-base swat clear the fence, he must have thought that being understudy to such a swatter as Hank is a tough assignment for any man in any league. But his courage didn't fail him, and yesterday he delivered the same kind of swat under the same circumstances and in even more sensational fashion that Skipper Severeid had done the day before.

For young Furman's home run that cleared the left field wall came with the bases loaded with two out in the 12th inning of a bristling pitchers' battle, and gave the Spudders title to the second game of the series. The score was 7 to 4.

Furman's great swat gave Lester White a victory over the veteran Ralph Judd, cool, crafty right-hander, in one of the most thrilling extra-inning battles of the season—and there have been quite a few thrillers during the present home stay.

Bo Swats One Too

Bo Euller shared the spotlight with young Furman, for it was Euller who delivered a home run in the sixth inning to tie the score at 3-all and put the Spudders back in the running. Up to that time the Spudders had negotiated only two runs off Judd, one in the first and another in the second, while the Buffs, thanks to Medwick's home run clout in the first half of the second, and two more runs resulting from three hits off White in the fourth, had taken command of the situation.

After Euller's clout in the sixth, White and Judd settled down and pitched masterfully, both receiving excellent support.

In the torrid 12th inning the Buffs scored a run to take a 4 to 3 lead and the Spudder cause seemed doomed. Funk took first when he was hit by a pitched ball. He went out of the game for a faster runner, Kott, who advanced on a sacrifice, and eventually was brought home by two singles off the bats of Carey and Narlesky.

In the last of the frame the Spudders put on a last desperate rally. Garms walked, took second on Bejma's single, but was forced at third by Fuss. Badgro hoisted out to center but Green was walked so Judd could get to Owens.

And then, with his team trailing one run behind, and with the count two strikes and one ball, Furman delivered the blow that won the game.

Players Injured

The contest was marked by a near-serious accident in the eighth inning, when Owens and Euller collided as they rushed in front of the box to take Medwick's pop fly. Both were knocked down and suffered contusions about the head but they remained to see the game through.

Ollie Bejma, regular second baseman, made his reappearance in the lineup, replacing Harlond Clift. Bejma made a day of it, with three hits in six trips, and several fine fielding jobs.

Sanders, Buff center fielder, pulled some of the flashiest fielding for the visitors.

When matters were getting warm in the 10th inning a squabble over one of Umpire Eddie Palmer's decisions arose, and for once an ump changed his decision!

Carey was on first as the result of Scharein's error and Narlesky, Buff second baseman, attempted to bunt. He missed the ball a country foot, but Palmer called it a ball. Skipper Hank ran out to join the rest of the boys in loud protests. Finally Steve Basil, base umpire, was called in, with the result a strike was called on Narlesky. White closed the incident perfectly by striking out Narlesky.

The two teams meet today in the final game of the series.

Badgro Scores Fuss

To open the contest Hock hit to Scharein and was safe on Scoop's wide throw to Green. Carey hit into a double play, Bejma to Scharein to Green. Narlesky grounded out, Bejma to Green, retiring the side. After Garms and Bejma had flied to Peel in right to start the home half, Fuss walked, stole second, and scored on Badgro's double to center to give the Spudders an early lead. Green grounded out, Hock to Stebbins, for the third out.

Medwick opened the second with a home run slam over the left center field wall to tie the score. Peel flied to Garms. Stebbins doubled to left center and Sanders walked but Funk fanned and Judd flied to Garms. With one out in the home half Scharein doubled down the right field foul line, took third on Euller's infield out and scored when White delivered a timely single to left center. Garms grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins.

Bejma Doubles

In the third Hock lined out to Scharein, Carey grounded out, Scharein to Green, and Narlesky fouled out to Green. Judd pitched out of a hole in the home half. Bejma doubled against the left field fence to start it. Attempting to bunt, Fuss popped to Judd. Badgro grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins, Bejma taking third. Green walked but Owens fanned.

The Buffs scored two in the fourth to take the lead. Medwick and Peel lined singles past Euller and advanced on Stebbins' sacrifice, Euller to Green. Sanders flied to Badgro and Medwick scored after the catch. Funk was hit by a pitched ball. Judd singled to center, scoring Peel, and Funk made third when Garms dropped the ball. Hock forced Judd at second, Bejma to Scharein, retiring the side. In the last half Scharein popped up to Funk, Euller grounded out, Hock to Stebbins and White struck out.

The Buffs went out in order in the fifth. Carey grounded out, Euller to Green, Narlesky popped to Bejma in short center, and Medwick grounded out, Scharein to Green, the latter coming up in great fashion with Scharein's throw that barely missed being short. Garms and Bejma led off with singles in the last half, but Fuss flied to left, Badgro grounded out, Stebbins to Judd, who covered first, and Green struck out.

Euller Ties It Up

With one out in the sixth Stebbins lined a single to center but Sanders flied to Garms and Funk lined out to Badgro. With two out in the home half Euller slammed one over the left field fence to tie the score again. White grounded out, Carey to Stebbins for the third out.

With two out in the seventh Carey singled to left and stole second but Narlesky popped to Scharein to quash the rally. In the last half Garms flied out to Peel in right. Bejma fouled out to Stebbins. Fuss lined a hit through the box but Badgro fouled out to Carey.

In the eighth Owens and Euller collided in front of the plate as they ran forward to take Medwick's pop fly. The ball fell safe for a hit. Medwick took second on Peel's sacrifice, White to Green. Stebbins fouled out to Euller and Sanders popped out to Euller, retiring the side. In the home half, Green grounded to Carey and was safe at first when Stebbins dropped Carey's throw. Attempting to sacrifice, Owens forced Green at second, Stebbins to Carey. Scharein singled to right, Owens taking second, but Euller hit into a double play, Hock to Narlesky to Stebbins.

Extra Innings

In the ninth, Funk flied to Badgro. Judd grounded out to Green, unassisted. White handled Hock's hot liner to the box and threw him out at first. In the last half White grounded out, Carey to Stebbins. Garms fouled out to Funk and Bejma grounded out, Hock to Stebbins, and the game went into extra innings.

Carey was safe at first when Scharein dropped his grounder to open the tenth. With the count two-one on Narlesky he attempted to bunt but missed it. Umpire Palmer called it a ball but after Skipper Severeid had joined in a general protest the ump changed his mind. Narlesky then struck out and Carey, who took out for second, was doubled off the bag by Owens' toss to Bejma. Medwick grounded out, Euller to Green, for the third out.

In the home half, Fuss grounded to Judd who raced over to first and made the putout. Badgro grounded out, Carey to Stebbins. Green grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins.

In the 11th, Peel grounded out, Scharein to Green. Stebbins grounded out, Bejma to Green. Sanders beat out an infield hit to second, but a moment later was thrown out stealing, Owens to Bejma.

Owens singled past third to start the last of the 11th. Scharein flied to Peel in right. Sanders in center made a great shoe string catch of Euller's fly, but threw the ball in the Houston dugout on the throw-in, Owens taking two bases. He was stranded on third, however, when White flied to Medwick in left.

That 12th Inning

In the 12th, Funk was hit by a pitched ball. Kott went in to run for him. Kott took second when Judd sacrificed, Euller to Green. Hock fouled out to Badgro. Carey beat out an infield hit to third, Kott taking third. Narlesky singled to left, Kott scoring and Carey taking second. Medwick flied to Badgro for the third out.

In the last half, Garms walked and Bejma singled to left. Attempting to sacrifice, Fuss forced Garms at third, Judd to Hock, Bejma taking second. Badgro lined out to Sanders in center. Green walked, loading the bases. Owens socked one over the left field fence, scoring Bejma, Fuss and Green ahead of himself to break up the game.

High School Recruit Tames League Leaders

FORT WORTH, May 4. (AP)—Linwood Rowe, recruit from El Dorado, Ark., High school, was more than the Fort Worth Panthers could stand here today and they fell, 7 to 3, before the Exporters in the second game of the series.

Dick McCabe started for the Panthers but was blasted from the mound in the fifth inning when the Exporters scored six runs. Four came as a result of home runs by Rowe and Paul Easterling each finding a runner on the paths. Score:

SPORTS 8, BUCS 4

SHREVEPORT, May 4. (AP)—Shreveport moved into a tie for seventh place in the Texas league today by beating the Galveston Bucs, 8 to 4, for the second consecutive time. George Hollerson was credited with the victory and a homer in the seventh inning with two men on base made his pitching work easy. Carroll pitched seven innings for the Bucs and retired for a pinch hitter. Tubbs finished for him on the hill. Score:

Hillin Blanks Filling Station Nine, 3 to 0

Little Willard Hillin let the lusty clouting Four Way Filling Station club down with three hits Wednesday afternoon in a Commercial league game on Harrison field and registered the seventh straight win for the Hardwaremen by the score of 3 to 0. It was the fifth win in a row for the Noble-Little ace, and was one of his best games of the year. Hillin whiffed 10 men for an average of two per inning. Noble-Little bunched four hits and a walk in the third round for their scores before Hubert Scott, big right-hander could relieve Cantrell, the left-hander. Scott retired the last eight men in order. McLarnin May Battle Petrolle Fight Victor CHICAGO, May 4. (UP)—The Chicago stadium will attempt to match the winner of the Billy Petrolle-Bat Battalino bout at the Chicago stadium May 20 with Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, B. C. welterweight, here in early June, Matchmaker Nate Lewis said today.

Negotiations for a welterweight title bout between Champion Jackie Fields and McLarnin have fallen through because of Fields' unwillingness to meet McLarnin.

The stadium also has undeconsideration a lightweight title bout between Tony Canzoneri, 135-pound champion, and Tony Herrera, El Paso, Texas.

Warnecke Holds Pirates To Six Hits As Chicago Clubs Out 4-1 Victory

PITTSBURGH, May 4. (AP)—With flashy support, Lonnie Warnecke held the Pittsburgh Pirates to six scattered hits today, enabling the Chicago Cubs to win, 4 to 1.

Warnecke and Larry French put on a warm mound battle, but the Pittsburgh defense faltered several times and the Cubs were quick to take advantage of the misplays.

Hack's steal of home in the third inning was the bright spot of the game.

Chicago counted once in the second inning on a pair of hits. In the third inning, Hack was on third and Herman on second when Moore drew a base on balls.

Brenzel, Pirate catcher, whipped the ball to second on the fourth ball and Hack tore home. Piet's double in the fourth helped the Pirates to a run. Jurges secured the game for the Cubs in the ninth when he hammered out a triple to right with two on and two out.

Chagnon relieved French at the start of the inning and Richbourg and Grimm singled. Jurges drove them home.

Victory in the last game of the series gave the Cubs two out of three. Score:

TIGERS BEAT CHISOX, 8 TO 7

Three Home Runs Give Win to Detroit

CHICAGO, May 4. (AP)—Three home runs by Detroit today brought an 8 to 7 win over Chicago in the final of the series. Outhit, but managing to make the most of their blows off Thomas, the Tigers retained third place by the victory.

John Stone won the game in the seventh inning when, with Johnson and Rogell on, he hit a home run into the right field stands to give Detroit the one-run margin. Earlier Gehringer hit for the circuit with two on base, and Walker got a round tripper with the sacks empty.

The White Sox hit Wyatt hard in the first two innings, but he hurled until the seventh and received credit for his fourth win of the season. Score:

INDIANS WHIP BROWNS, 8–3

Burnett's Bobbles Rob Clint Brown of Shutout

CLEVELAND, May 4. (AP)—Robbed of a shutout victory by Johnny Burnett's two successive fumbles at second base, big Clint Brown nevertheless held St. Louis to six hits while the Indians were pounding out 15 bingles for an 8 to 3 win today.

The game closed the Indians' western stand and they go to Philadelphia tomorrow to open against the Athletics with a record of 10 victories in their last 11 games.

The Indians had a field day against Sam Gray and Wally Hebert.

Montague collected a perfect score at bat, getting two hits and a walk, starting a squeeze play and sending three runs across. Willie Kamm hit for three out of five and scored four times, while Myatt continued his hitting streak by getting three out of four and scoring twice.

Save for the third inning when Burnett's two errors on easy grounders allowed St. Louis its three runs, the Browns were in a position to score again only once.

That too, was in the third inning when Brown purposely passed Goslin to fill the bases with two out. Rick Ferrell grounded out to Brown to retire the side and pull the big Indian right-hander out of a ticklish situation. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation together with little local and southern selling which appeared to be influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables, and a favorable view of weather conditions in the South.

July closed at 5.63, with the general market barely steady at net declines of 8 to 13 points.

Reports of favorable weather in the South and reiterated talk of nothing more than a moderate reduction in acreage, seemed to command more attention, and slight bulges right after the call met increased offerings which were probably influenced by rports of weakness in the early stock market.

The decline extended to 5.44 for May and 5.81 for October making net losses of about 16 to 20 points on the general list during the middle of the day, but there was trade buying on a scale down as well as considerable covering. Closing quotations were 6 to 7 points up from the lowest on most positions.

The weekly report of the weather bureau said germination and growth were unfavorable affected because of low temperatures in most sections, but otherwise was considered generally favorable.

Futures closed barely steady, 8 to 13 points lower. Spot, quiet; middling, 5.65.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 4. (AP)—Cotton was generally easier in today's fairly active trading, declining 17 to 18 points during the morning to within 6 to 11 points of the season's lows but later staging a partial comeback. The market closed barely steady with prices showing net declines for the day of 8 points.

After mid-session and during the early afternoon the market rallied n good wire house buying and covering, recovering 8 to 11 points from lows of the morning. A shade easier at the end, July closed at 5.63 and Oct. at 5.87, showing net declines for the day of 8 points.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 to 3 penny points up.

Port receipts 7,694, for week 41,606, for season 9,493,610, last season 8,723,002. Exports 29,670, for week 78,876, for season 7,387,686, last season 5,896,029. Port stock 4,009,756, last year 3,452,712. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 115,600, last year 56,799. Spot sales at southern markets 3,701, last year 7,154.

Futures closed barely steady at net declines of 8 points.

Stock Prices Enjoy Rally While Bonds, Always Slower, Stay Down

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 4 (US)—Stock prices rallied today, but bonds continued in supply. This may be due to the more speculative nature of stocks and their ability to respond more quickly to shifts in speculative sentiment. As a matter of fact, recovery in stock prices from the day's lowest prices was fairly brisk and substantial. Lacking any other explanation, the improvement must of necessity be characterized as a reflection of technical forces within the market.

There was a rather significant timing of the rally. It seemed to follow shortly after Washington advices indicated a growing sentiment for revival of the sales tax program which had been unceremoniously rejected by the house not so long ago. This may have been only a coincidence with the rapidly shifting speculative currents, but it was not lost sight of by observant people.

All eyes in the financial community are turned toward Washington, in the hope of a sane financial policy which will overcome all prevailing nervousness over the national finances. No individual source could furnish greater gratification at the moment than Washington.

Short-covering undoubtedly contributed to the rally; it is known that many accounts were covered by speculators. Perhaps one of the immediate factors impressing the shorts was the establishment of a stiff premium on international shoe. Shorts had to pay $75 a hundred shares to borrow the stock overnight. The issue ran up more than two points. The situation in this stock, which after the close still commanded a premium of ½-point, was not at all to the liking of the speculative community, but its strength for the day influenced other shorts.

Lehman Corporation whose liquidating value was disclosed as above $52 also rallied sharply. From the low of Tuesday it covered more than five points.

It developed that the stock's weakness, along with the weakness of other members of the "Lehman group" such as Penney and National Dairy Products, has been due at least in part to reported shortselling for the account of an individual who has been looming bigger almost daily in recent months.

In fact, it is understood that the stock exchange's sudden questionnaire on all "put and call" transactions was due to a desire to ascertain how great an influence these dealings have had in depressing prices of late. This is one of the most commendable actions taken by the stock exchange in its campaign to stamp out abuse of its facilities.

The practice has been for an individual or a group, according to the story, to go short sizeable amounts of specific stocks. Then, "calls," which are merely an option to purchase stock at a stated price above the market, are offered freely at quotations not far above prevailing prices. The usual practice is for the purchaser of these calls to sell against the option as soon as it touches the call price.

So "attractive" have these call prices been of late, however, that numerous traders have purchased them and immediately sold against the options, knowing they had certain protection against more than a modest rally.

The effect of this outside selling has been to depress prices, affording opportunity for the previous seller, who also offered the calls, to cover with handsome profits. The largest operator on this scheme is understood to have been forced to curtail activities.

Not until the market had closed was it announced that General Motors' dividend was reduced to 25 cents quarterly. This of course was fully expected; in fact, some people had been predicting omission of the payment. The stock closed unchanged; DuPont, whose income from its General Motors investment is halved, closed up for the day.

The most conservative people are analyzing DuPont without allowing for any General Motors income. The company, it must be remembered, is a major chemical unit, largest explosives manufacturer, and also producer of many other products, such as the widely-used cellophane.

Decline in electrical energy for the week was reported somewhat below the previous week's decrease, and steel operations were up somewhat for the latest week.

But the intimations from Washington were principally responsible for whatever betterment occurred in sentiment. The sales tax has the united backing of the financial powers and its return to the revenue bill undoubtedly would greatly encourage the banking community.

It might bring a return to the favorable sentiment which was developing rapidly until the house threw over its leaders and went helter-skelter into disorganization.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 4. (AP)—Export purchasing of 1,500,000 bushels of North American wheat, not counting cargoes taken for Russia, helped put new backbone into grain values today.

Temporarily, corn dipped to below the season's bottom price record, as well as cutting under quotations at Buenos Aires.

Wheat closed firm, ⅛@⅜c above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅝c higher, oats unchanged to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Estimates of the amount of North American wheat bought for Russia indicated that 1,000,000 bushels were taken from the Pacific coast and 500,000 from the Atlantic.

Acting at times as a notable offset to revival of speculative buying of wheat as a result of enlarged export business was unsettlement of securities. At one stage, wheat futures dropped to almost 10 cents a bushel under the market's recent high point. The widest difference for some time existed between Chicago and Liverpool quotations. Domestic crop reports were of a mixed character, but gave some stimulus to bullish traders, especially advices from the Northwest that spring wheat seeding was still incomplete in many sections.

An authoritative unofficial estimate put farm stocks of corn at 740,000,000 bushels, compared with 446,000,000 a year ago and a five-year average of 595,000,000. Oats followed corn.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 53⅝c, 55c; July 55¼@⅜c, 57⅛@¼c; Sept. 57⅝@¾c, 59⅜@⅝c; Dec. 61c, bids. Corn, May 29¼c, offers; July 31⅛@⅜c, 32¼c; Sept. 33½c, 34⅜@⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 4. (US)—Lack of speculative interest continues the chief deterrent to professional action in the wheat market. Locals generally seem to favor the constructive side of the market, but even extremely bullish news such as the private crop reports of Tuesday fails to stir buying demand from the outside. Unfavorable financial surroundings are credited with being the restraining influence.

Russian stocks of wheat on the continent have been pretty well cleaned up, resulting in a firmer tone in the markets. Most of the supplies were in Rotterdam and since their disappearance that market has had a relatively firm tone, compared with other world markets.

Some experts predict a large crop of wheat this season in France. Weather is very favorable at present. Warmer temperatures causing rapid growth.

Nat S. Murray, of Clement, Curtis & Co., estimates stocks of corn on farms as of May 1 at 740,000,000 bushels compared with 446,000,000 bushels a year ago, and a five-year average of 595,000,000 bushels. In southern states supplies are 213,000,000 bushels compared with 74,000,000 bushels a year ago and a five-year average of 128,000,000 bushels he figures. Oats stocks are estimated at 173,000,000 bushels compared with 212,000,000 bushels a year ago and a five-year average of 194,000,000 bushels.

HUGE OIL DEAL IS UNDER WAY

New Jersey Standard to Buy Pan-American

NEW YORK, May 4. (AP)—Early closing of the Standard Oil of New Jersey deal for purchase of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company was forecast in usually well-informed oil trade circles today.

Although there has been no formal statement from either company and rumors have been current that the deal had struck an unexpected hitch, executives of some of the large oil companies said they believed an announcement might be made within a few days saying the negotiations had been completed.

It is understood the merger plan calls for a payment of something over $100,000,000 for control of the company, about half of this to be cash and the rest Standard of New Jersey capital stock of $25 par value. Control of Pan American is now held by Standard Oil of Indiana.

Heinrich van Riedemann, of Zurich, Switzerland, a director of the Standard Oil company representing some of its important European interests, is now en route to New York. It is expected that he will deliberate with other Standard oil executives over plans for allocating foreign territories to the various units of the merged company.

It is understood that the tentative plan now under discussion calls for uniting the subsidiary organizations of Pan American into the Standard of New Jersey in territories where both companies are operating.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

S. K. Wichita Falls—I am holding a few shares of United States Rubber preferred bought when it paid $8 annually. Is it worth holding in the hope that dividends can soon be restored? I am self-supporting but have no dependents.

Answer—United States Rubber is still reporting deficits. Restoration of dividends looks remote. Net loss in 1931 amounted to $9,473,000. In 1930 net loss totaled $18,064,000, after $11,084,000 inventory adjustments. Previous to suspension of dividends in May, 1928, the preferred stock paid dividends without interruption from 1893, with the exception of two years 1902-1903. From 1921 to 1928, when the first deficit of importance occurred average earnings were more than $10 a share yearly. The writer shall have to ask you to use your own judgment about retaining the stock.

A. W. S.—Please give some information on Baldwin Locomotive common stock. What is the dividend?

Answer — Baldwin Locomotive common is a speculation. The present stock was on a $1.75 annual basis from Jan. 1, 1930, but payment expected July 1, 1931, was omitted. Reflecting unsettled conditions in industrial and railway operations, the company reported a deficit equivalent to $2.94 a share for six months ended June 30, 1931, against net of $1.31 for similar period in 1930. Net for 1930 was $1.94 a share, compared with $1.07 in 1929. The book value exceeds $53 and working capital is about $30 a share. Ratio of current assets to current liabilities is about 9 to 1. The company recently omitted dividend on preferred.

Oil Pipe Lines in U. S. Total 111,660 Miles

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Oil pipe lines, one of the big competitors of railroads, aggregated 111,660 miles a year ago.

As revealed today in a survey by G. R. Hopkins of the federal bureau of mines, the pipe lines reported have a storage capacity of 23,214,000 barrels.

Of the total, 58,020 miles or 52 per cent, were trunk lines. The rest consisted of gathering lines used in the oil fields to convey oil from the wells to the trunk lines.

CIVIC MUSIC WORK OUTLINED

Membership Campaign To Open Monday

Importance of providing not only children, but adult citizens of the community, with opportunity to hear the world's best music presented by the most competent artists is being urged by officials of the North Texas Civic Music association in preparation for its 1932 membership campaign next week.

Changes Cited

Such an organization as the Civic Music association is the logical outgrowth of changes which have taken place in this country in recent years, according to those who are engaged in providing Wichita Falls and surrounding territory with its services here.

"While there has been a marked increase in the public's interest in good music during the past few years," observed Mrs. Walter Robbins, secretary of the new organization here, "circumstances also have made it difficult for the average community to avail itself of concert exposition of such music. The vast increase in the study of music appreciation in our public schools has aroused in thousands of children a keen desire to hear artists of first rank in the presentation of famous compositions. The inclusion of great music in radio programs has awakened similar interest among adults.

"Opportunities for hearing such musicians have not grown in the same degree, however. Concert bookings have been left to individual enterprise, and with the amount of patronage uncertain, have been irregular and infrequent. Because only the prospect of profit could induce individuals to undertake such engagements, prices have held to a high scale. The result has been that only a small group in each average community could avail itself of the best music presented personally by accredited artists."

Low Membership Cost

The entire plan of the Civic Music association, Mrs. Robbins pointed out, is based upon low membership rates and large memberships. The association brings a minimum of three concerts yearly on a membership fee of $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for children.

In urging the value of good music, Mrs. Robbins referred to the remarks made by Samuel Insull of Chicago, honorary president of the organization, before its annual convention several weeks ago. Commending the work of the association, Mr. Insull declared that "music has the power to inspire and encourage humanity in its times of difficulty and distress; it has a nourishing effect on the finer things within us, making us kinder and more sympathetic."

The campaign which opens here next Monday morning will continue throughout Saturday, May 14, closing at 10 p. m. The proceeds of memberships issued during those six days will pay in full for concerts to be heard next fall and winter. There will be at least three concerts; and as many more as the total membership fund will make possible.

Boy Uses Rifle to Force Neighbor to Return Ball

One 12-year-old Wichita Falls youth has ideas of his own about interference of neighbors when he is playing baseball. While he and a friend were playing catch about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, one of them missed the ball and it rolled into a neighbor's yard in the 1300 block on Twenty-first.

The neighbor, objecting to numerous similar incidents, told the youth he intended keeping the ball and argument failed to change the decision. Shortly afterward the youth returned to the neighbor's home with a .22 caliber rifle seeking his ball. He got it. The neighbor called police and Juvenile Officer J. A. McDonald was investigating the case Wednesday night.

B. and O. Authorized To Issue Security Bonds

WASHINGTON, May 4. (INS)—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad today was authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission to issue $55,813,000 refunding and general mortgage and 6 per cent bonds to be pledged and repledged from time to time until June 30, 1934, as collateral security for any note or notes which it may issue.

Certain subsidiaries of the road were also authorized to issue their bonds in various amounts aggregating $12,861,000 and to deliver them upon order of the B. and O. to trustees under certain mortgages.

Escaped Inmate Of Hospital Recaptured

One of three inmates who escaped from the Wichita Falls State hospital the night of April 26, was returned here from his home in Grayson county Tuesday by Supervisor W. L. Loden. The man escaped at the same time Leonard Poole, declared criminally insane in 1931 at Dallas, and another inmate forced bars from a dormitory window. Poole and the other man, a Clay county resident, were still at large Wednesday night.

Death Claims Mother Of Mrs. Tom Fulton

Word has been received in Wichita Falls of the death of Mrs. Keeley of Pueblo, Colo., mother of Mrs. Tom Fulton, Kemp Kort. Mrs. Keeley died Tuesday and funeral services will be held Friday morning at Pueblo. Mrs. Fulton left Monday for Pueblo. Several children survive in addition to Mrs. Fulton.

AUTO STOLEN

Loss of a dark green Buick sedan, parked at the Radio building, between 9 and 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, was reported to police at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night by C. C. Eckman, 1600 Polk. The Radio building was the scene of activity for a prowler Wednesday afternoon, with a coat taken from the office of Dr. T. P. Lynch, police said.

Three important St. Louis soccer games at the close of the season drew $19,000 in paid admissions.

Watchman Kidnaped and Drugged As Burglars Rob Postoffice at Munday

MUNDAY, Texas, May 4.—An account of how he was kidnaped, drugged and held captive early Wednesday morning by four men, apparently the same who knocked the knob of the postoffice here and escaped with $28 in stamps and money, was told today by Walter Bevers, city watchman.

Bevers, a man of about 50, was under the weakening influence of the drug until late this afternoon.

He was found in a stupor in the city marshall's office early this morning by a group of officers who were called to the postoffice, directly across the street, by youths who saw burglars at work in the building.

Forced Into Car

It was believed Bevers' abductors forced the postoffice safe after eliminating the chance that the watchman would interfere by drugging him.

Bevers related that he was making his beats in the business section some time after midnight when a man approached, grabbed him by the arm and pushed something, apparently a gun, into his side and forced him into a nearby car occupied by three other men.

The four with Bevers captive drove into an alley on the edge of the business district. They poured a liquid from a jar and told the watchman to drink. Bevers objected.

Drug Took Effect

"You are going to drink it and like it," one of the men snapped. Another of the kidnapers added: "You are lucky to be here with us. If we didn't know you were a pretty good fellow you would have been put on the spot instead of being here."

After Bevers had drunk the potion the car drove out of the alley.

This was the last the watchman remembered, he said, except for occasional flashes of consciousness over a period of time he was unable to estimate.

At one of these intervals of consciousness, he said, he was sick from the drug and his captors stopped with him at a filling station. The next instance he remembered was when he was pushed out of the car and fell beneath the machine.

Struck by Wheel

One wheel of the auto, he related, was driven over his leg as the four men were departing. One of the men said, "Don't run over him." Bevers heard the reply, "I'm not going to," after which the car was maneuvered to avoid the watchman's body.

After another lapse into insensibility, Bevers came to lying on the sidewalk a short distance from the postoffice. He still had his gun and timeclock.

He succeeded in making his way across the street to the city marshall's office, where he collapsed again as he reached for the phone to call officers.

He was awakened at 4:20 o'clock Wednesday morning by authorities called to investigate noises inside the postoffice.

Boys Heard Burglars

It was about 3:30 a. m. when boys heard sounds of hammers inside the postoffice. They saw a dim light through a window. After each blow on the safe one of the knob-knockers would come to a sheet stretched across a window and peer out to see if the blows were attracting attention.

After watching for a moment one of the youths went to his car, leaving his companions concealed, to call officers. Apparently the intruders heard the machine leave, for when Frank Trammell, chief of police, and Grady Blake, constable, arrived, the burglars had made their escape through a rear door.

The four men who kidnaped Bevers are believed to have been the burglars of the postoffice, and also have attempted unsuccessfully to enter the safe of the postoffice at Seymour Tuesday night.

Middy's Eyes Fail To Start Probe Of Lights Of Academy

WASHINGTON, May 4. (UP)—Naval academy plans to discharge Midshipman Howard Bierer, Guthrie, Okla., because of impaired vision, brought today from Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, announcement that he would take a lighting expert to Annapolis to investigate artificial illumination conditions there.

"Bierer's eyesight was all right when he entered the academy," Thomas said today. "If his vision is impaired now it must be a result of imperfect lighting during study hours. If the naval academy is equipped with lights destructive to sight I intend to find out about it."

Goggled Bandits Raid Oil Station

Two youthful hijackers obtained approximately $9 in a raid at the Atlantic, Pacific & Gulf Refining company filling station on the Iowa Park road at 11:35 o'clock Wednesday night. Descriptions of the bandits, furnished police, fitted that of two youths who bungled a hijacking of the Estep Pharmacy Tuesday night.

The hijackers drove into the filling station and obtained six gallons of gas and a quart of oil and when B. F. Price, attendant, checked the air of a tire on the Buick sedan he was covered by a bandit who left the car. Price was marched to the front of the car and the driver held a gun on him while his pal rifled the filling station. Failing to locate any money he returned and took about $9 from Price. The bandits drove east on the Iowa Park road. Both hijackers wore colored goggles.

50-Pound Fish Caught In Little Wichita River

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, May 4.—"Fifty pounds!"

"Yes sir," said R. H. Lasseter, as he hoisted the fish up for closer scrutiny of the crowd, "Yes, sir, it must weigh all o' that."

There were no scales handy, and if there were any doubting Thomases in the crowd they could not be officially reassured—but the fish looked just that big.

It was a blue cat, caught by the Noconan in the Little Wichita river.

He violated a long-standing tradition, however, when he modestly refused to assert he had thrown larger ones back.

One fisherman in the crowd assembled on Clay street to look at Mr. Lasseter's catch attempted to throw cold water on the latter's achievement by asserting an even larger blue cat, weighing 76 pounds, had been caught in the Little Wichita, but he was drowned out with demands for positive proof of his statement.

He could not produce the proof. Mr. Lasseter had all the proof he needed.

Albert Fall to Secure Prison Release Sunday

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Albert Bacon Fall will be a free man again next Sunday even if federal authorities have to act to bring about his release from the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Justice department officials today cleared up confusion over the former secretary of the interior's failure to pay a $100,000 fine imposed along with his prison term for accepting a $100,000 bribe. They said if necessary special instructions will be sent to Ed Swope, warden of the prison at Santa Fe.

Swope announced today he would hold Fall, unless otherwise directed, and require the former cabinet member to serve an extra 30 days and take a pauper's oath for defaulting the fine.

Legion Leaders Address Friday P.-T. A. Meeting

Members of the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion were the featured speakers at a meeting of the Friberg P.-T. A. at the school house in that community Wednesday night. Post Commander Roy J. Daniel delivered the principal address on "American Citizenship."

H. H. Bailey discussed the man-a-block plan in use in Wichita Falls for supplying work for unemployed persons. Greetings from the local legion post were delivered by Fred Greer.

Sheriff Joe Crawford of Cleburne stopped in Wichita Falls Wednesday en route home from Mountain Park, Okla., with a prisoner. The suspect, wanted in connection with a postoffice robbery, was placed in the city jail over night.

Twilight League in Iowa Park Blasts Lid

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, May 4.—The Iowa Park Twilight Baseball league opened its season at Athletic park here Tuesday, when two teams made up of local firemen staged a warm contest, Team No. 1 nosed out a 6 to 5 decision over team No. 2.

The league, sponsored by the firemen, includes their two teams, the Lions club team and the Business men's team. The Lions and the Business men clash in the second game Friday afternoon.

Hines of team No. 1 held his rivals to seven hits in the opening game. The victors got nine hits off Denny and Kelly. Each side contributed generously to the error column.

Childress and Wichita to Send Legion Delegates

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 4.—Should other American Legion posts of nearby cities attend in numbers comparing with Wichita Falls and Childress posts who have announced 100 or more legionnaires will come to Quanah for the convention of the 18th district here May 7-8, the stimate of 1,000 delegates and visitors will fall far short of actual attendance.

Registration booths will be maintained at Legion hall, Crawford hotel and Quanah hotel.

A full program of entertainment, address by Col. Alvin M. Owsley, State Commander Earp and business sessions is planned and all arrangements completed.

G. O. P. Plans Assault On Demo Stronghold

ATLANTA, Ga., May 4. (INS)—Republican candidates will oppose Democrats for Georgia's post in congress and may even enter the race for major state offices it was announced today.

Members of the state central Republican committee, following a meeting here yesterday, said G. O. P. candidates would seek one of the state's senate posts and at least one post in the house of representatives.

A Republican candidate for governor "in all probability" will be announced within the next several months, it was said.

FALSE ALARM

A unit of the fire department answered a false alarm at Elizabeth and Denver at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Sterling and Woodward Cause Stir Of Speculation in Unslated Meeting

ROSENBERG, Texas, May 4. (AP)—Rosenberg saw today what it thought might mean the conditional beginning of a gubernatorial boom, but the principals—Gov. R. S. Sterling and State Senator Walter Woodward—said it was just a social visit.

The governor and the senator came here to join in a Washington bicentennial celebration. The appearance of the senator was regarded as significant, since he was not on the official program and in view of the fact it has been generally understood he would have administration support for governor in the event Mr. Sterling does not offer for re-election.

Both, however, laughed off the subject of politics.

Mr. Woodward explained to newspaper men that he has wanted to see Mr. Sterling, had been advised the governor would be here and therefore, had decided to join the governor at the celebration and "ride back to Austin with him."

He emplified the statement a bit in a brief unscheduled address to the hundreds who attended the barbecue celebration.

"I'm not here on matters of business or politics or religion," he said, smiling.

"I'm just here on a social visit and I hope I may have the pleasure of coming back on some other occasion."

As for the governor, he merely said it was "no time for politics."

Woodward announced recently he would vigorously support Mr. Sterling, but himself would run if the governor didn't.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS 302

35 Teachers May Go On Reserve List

All teachers of the Wichita Falls public schools were re-elected Wednesday afternoon, but approximately 35 of the instructors will not be used unless needed during the 1932-33 term, Superintendent H. D. Fillers said.

The action was taken at a board meeting at the board of education building, 1105 Holliday. The trustees announced the opening date for the 1932-33 term as Sept. 12.

A total of 302 principals and teachers are now employed in the school system here, but in view of the reorganization plans of the board a tentative list of 35 instructors will not be used unless their services are needed.

The list of elected instructors will not be released until contracts are signed, Mr. Fillers said. The contracts are expected to be returned within 30 days.

Railroad Threatens Jap-Soviet Breach

MOSCOW, May 4. (US)—Fears that a Soviet-Japanese diplomatic rupture is impending spread to Moscow today with reports that Japanese in Manchuria planned to oust Soviet officials from control of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Reports from Harbin stated Japanese military detachments are shortly to begin to search all Soviet railwaymen, and that "documents" have already been forged providing sufficient excuse for the dismissal of the Soviet workers and seizure of the railroad.

General Bluecher, commanding the red army at Khabarovsk, in a speech on May day to new army recruits, declared again that Moscow's army is "ready to thwart every attempt of foreign foot to trample on our collectivized fields."

Allred Orders Arrest Of Cigaret Vender

AUSTIN, May 4. (UP)—Attorney General James V. Allred tonight called on the county attorney at Abilene to arrest a man reported to be selling cigarets there from a wagon without state tax stamps and claiming authority from the attorney general.

Allred also asked for a photostatic copy of the letter the seller was reported to be exhibiting. He said his department has issued no authority to any one to sell cigarets without stamps. The Abilene incident was reported by Louis Montgomery, a druggist.

American Airways, Inc. Consolidates Divisions

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 4. (US)—Lamotte C. Cohu president of American Airways, Inc., today announced the consolidation of the central and colonial divisions to be operated from a base at Lambert field, this city, under the direction of Col. Halsey Dunwoody vice president.

This is the second consolidation of American Airways divisions within 60 days, the first having united the old Universal and Embry Riddle divisions in the central division under Colonel Dunwoody.

French Premier Makes Final Election Appeal

PARIS, May 4. (US)—Warning voters of the "duties and dangers of France," Premier Tardieu from his home tonight made his final election appeal in a country-wide radio speech.

Emphasizing France's position in international affairs, the premier pointed out foreign hopes of a Socialist victory had been demonstrated by comment on last Sunday's first-run election, and called on the voters to go to the polls next Sunday to reinstate a Nationalist chamber of deputies.

Two Wichita Homes Robbed by Burglars

A burglar raid netted property valued at $12 Wednesday night at the home of J. W. Mayes, 1804 Tilden. A golf pencil, vanity case and purse were included in the loot. The loss was reported at 9:30 o'clock. Police received a report of a burglary at the F. J. Elbert home, 1705 Tilden, at 9:05 o'clock when a purse was taken. Prowlers were reported shortly before 9 o'clock in the 1700 block on Tilden and in the 1700 block on Hays, police said.

Radio Reports Schooner Destroyed by Fire at Sea

NEW YORK, May 4. (UP)—Destruction by fire of the fishing schooner Louise B. Marshall was reported by Mackay radio tonight.

The message, picked up from the S. S. Codelia, read: "Fishing schooner Louise B. Marshall on fire. Dangerous to navigation. Also passed empty dory three miles northeast of schooner."

The Codelia gave its position as 43.9 north and 65.30 west.

AVIS SEEKS COUNTY POST

Wichitan to Make Race For Clerk

Basing his candidacy solely on his merits, A. W. (Jake) Avis has thrown his hat into the political ring as candidate for county clerk of Wichita county.

Mr. Avis issued the following statement of his announcement for office:

"In announcing my candidacy for county clerk of Wichita county I am asking for the first time a favor at the hands of the voters of this county. I was born in this county and except for the period spent in the army have lived here all my life.

"I believe those who know me will say that I have done what I could toward the development of this county and will say that my long business and clerical experience qualify me for this important position. I would like to be regarder as running on my merits.

"I promise the people of Wichita county that, if elected, the duties of this office will have my constant and undivided attention, and that my administration of this office will be both economical and efficient.

"I invite for my candidacy the careful consideration of every voter."

Typewriters Stolen From County Offices

Two typewriters were stolen Tuesday night from offices in the basement of the courthouse, it was learned Wednesday. One machine was taken from the courtroom of Judge O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, and the other from the office of G. C. McGown, county agent.

The typewriter stolen from the justice court room belonged to Thomas Hall, navy recruiting officer. Investigation indicated that the thief entered the office by the door, but left by way of a basement window facing the county jail.

Wichita Students Leave For State Scholastic Meet

Seven students of the Wichita Falls High school left Wednesday for Austin with their sponsors to carry the Coyote colors in competition during the annual state interscholastic league meet.

Dean S. H. Rider left Wednesday morning and was accompanied by Rufus King and H. R. Hanks, tennis entries; and Henry Wineinger, track entry.

Miss Juanita Kinsey, public speaking sponsor, left Wednesday afternoon with the girls' and boys' debate teams. The girls are Ellen Newby and Frances Louise Krauss, and the boys are Marvin Pierce and Paul Barnett.

Grand Jury Expected To Make Report Friday

Investigation of charges against 36 defendants was begun by the April grand jury Wednesday morning with George W. Anderson and Mike Anglin, assistant district attorneys, presenting evidence before the inquisitors.

A report will probably be made Friday afternoon, it was announced, in view of the large number of cases to be studied.

SCOUT HEADS MEET TONIGHT

Filming of New 10-Reel Movie Starts Sunday

Members of the executive committee of Boy Scouts in the Wichita Falls area will hold a meeting at First Christian church Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock in connection with a camp supper, according to Frank B. Creighton, scout executive.

The supper-meeting Thursday will replace the usual noon luncheon of the committee for this month.

A demonstration of scouting, such as is given when trips are made to nearby towns to promote interest in new troop organization, will be presented by Don Ross and Mr. Creighton. Scoutmasters of the city are to be guests of the committee at Thursday night's meeting.

On Sunday afternoon, May 8, the first shots will be made at Scotland park in the making of a new scout motion picture by Don Ross. The new film is to be of approximately 10 reels, it was announced. Mr. Ross has asked for 200 scouts in full uniform, including neckerchiefs, to be present at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The picture is to be made in colors. A film made last year by Mr. Ross has been shown extensively throughout this area, and is credited with the creation of much interest in the scout movement.

The annual spring jamboree is to be held at Memorial auditorium on the night of Friday, May 13, in connection with the regular monthly court of honor. The tenderfoot investiture service will be conducted by Wichita Falls troop No. 8. An admission charge of 10 cents will be made to aid in paying for a truck recently purchased by the organization. Events in the jamboree will include six-man pyramid building, five-man signal relay race, eight-man push ball contest, four-man relay compass race, fire making with flint and steel, and by friction. Advancement in scout classification, troop attendance, and uniforms also will count in the computation of scores.

Mr. Creighton announced Wednesday that the annual educational trip this summer will be made to Galveston. More than 25 boys already have signified their intention to make the trip. The group will leave this city Thursday morning, June 2, at 8 o'clock, returning Sunday night, June 12. During the 11 days, the caravan will cover about 1,400 miles. Stops will be made at Austin, New Braunfels, and San Antonio, where visits will be made to the new air field, historic missions, and other points of interest. A stop of one day is to be made at Houston. A trip through the state penitentiary at Huntsville is now being contemplated. Three or four days will be spent on the sea wall at Galveston. The trip will cost each boy $12.50, covering transportation, meals, and sleeping accommodations.

Candidates to Attend Box Supper at School

Candidates for public offices in Wichita county have been invited to attend a box supper to be given at the Pleasant Valley school house Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, it was learned Wednesday. The Parent-Teacher association of that school is sponsoring the affair.

Water Fowls Indicate Wet Summer For Knox County

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, May 4.—The sea gulls, or whatever it is they are, have given warning of the wettest summer in years for this section, according to pioneer Knox county weather prognosticators.

The prognosticators base their prognostication on the assertion that a certain bird—some kind of water fowl which they call a sea gull, has been visiting this section during recent weeks in larger numbers than ever before.

The visits of the bird have been irregular, it was added, years sometimes elapsing between appearances. But when they have appeared, it was declared, it invariably has been in advance of an unusually wet summer.

BUSY MONTH WAITS C.-C.

Many Events Crowded On May Calendar

A group of major activities are requiring the attention of the membership of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and the junior chamber for May. Outstanding in the list of projected events will be the "golden jubilee special train" to Sweetwater May 12-14 for the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. A committee in charge of W. R. Cramer is working at present in signing reservations for the train.

Preceding the "golden jubilee special" will be the visit of 150 Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce members in Wichita Falls, Tuesday, May 10, and a banquet for Wichitans and the visitors at the Kemp hotel is scheduled with Bert Ripley, veteran maestro of merriment, in charge of the entertainment.

Members of the Junior chamber are already busy with plans for the invitation golf tournament on May 21-22, at the municipal course, and full information on the tourney will be divulged Friday, May 6, at the membership luncheon at the Wichita club with Chairman H. J. Hughey Jr., in charge of the program and Judge A. H. Britain as the speaker.

The membership luncheon for May 20, will be in charge of the recently organized junior council at Vernon, President Don T. Haynes announced Wednesday.

C-C Leaders Attend Mineral Wells Meet

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce will be well represented at the Texas Commercial Executives association conference in Mineral Wells Thursday with a majority of the officers and staff members in attendance.

Manager John Boswell left earlier this week and was on hand for the opening of the three-day conference Wednesday. President Albert E. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly, Assistant Manager Wilburn Page and Mrs. Page, Mrs. Wilson Reedy and Miss Ebby Peters will attend Thursday. Mr. Page and the other members of the staff will return Friday.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

Dr. J. E. Kanatser of the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital left Wednesday night for Waco where he will attend a three-day session of the state medical association opening Thursday. Dr. Kanatser will read a paper before the obstetrical and gynecological section of the conference on "The Indication for Caesarean Section."

First Cellophane Shoes Placed on Sale By Wichita Store

Cellophane shoes have appeared in Wichita Falls.

Slipperland is offering this newest creation in women's footwear made by the DuPont company from wood sulphite. The new type shoe is not transparent and at first glance appears similar to other models of shoes.

The smoking public, acquainted with cellophane wrapped cigaret packages, will recognize the material in the woven cover of the shoe with a small thread as the center. A wide variety of colors are offered in the cellophane shoes at Slipperland and the material may be washed without damaging the colors or cellophane.

TWO HELD IN KNOX ROBBERY

Wichita Fingerprint Bureau Aids Identification

Two Knox City suspects, arrested Wednesday in that city in connection with the burglary of the Knox City High school Tuesday night, were definitely linked with the robbery Wednesday afternoon by Jimmie Gonzales, Bertillon expert of the local police department.

The two suspects were brought here by Deputy Sheriff George Harberger of Knox City and fingerprints of the two tallied with prints obtained from a portion of window glass broken at the school building. Mr. Harberger told Police Chief Dick Morris a portion of the groceries obtained in the robbery were recovered at the home of one of the men.

EVELYN RUTH MORROW

Funeral services for Evelyn Ruth Morrow, 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Morrow, 407 Bridge, were held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning from the Hines mortuary chapel. Burial followed at Riverside. The child died Tuesday. The parents, three brothers and a sister survive.

TRIBUTE PAID TO MOTHERS

Optimists Hear Address By Dr. O. L. Powers

"Mother's Day" was the subject of an address given Wednesday before members of the Optimist club by Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The speaker declared that sacrifice and influence constitute the greatest phase of motherhood, and extolled the universal custom of honoring mothers by the wearing of flowers on the designated day of each year.

Because they are "the creators of mankind," mothers stand side by side with God, Dr. Powers said.

The club voted to send a delegate to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meet at Sweetwater May 12-14 after Ralph K. Pond had told of the "golden jubilee special" to be sent from this city.

The new members campaign now under way was discussed briefly by Robert Flechtner.

In preparation for the district convention of Optimist clubs to be held here May 30, six committee chairmen were named by Wilburn Page, general chairman in charge. They are Solon Featherston, registration; Leon Horn, publicity and invitations; Robert Flechtner, luncheon; R. K. Pond, dinner and dance; Mrs. C. E. Deaton, ladies' entertainment; and Henry Hamilton, extra activities.

The last census taken in the United States, during 1930, showed 62,137,080 males and 60,637,966 females.
