Building Wall Collapses

The interior of a women's clothing store and the second floor quarters of a laboratory service stand exposed after a 50-foot section of this brick building on the Independence, Mo., square collapsed into an excavation dug as a foundation for a new building. Medical equipment and supplies of the Clinical Laboratory Service, valued at $5,000, tumbled into the pit as the wall crumbled. No one was injured. A drug store in the damaged building was ordered closed because of the danger of further collapse.

Three Scurry Schools Close; State Regulation Is Clarified

Three Scurry County school districts have dismissed school in order that the cotton crop can be harvested.

At Ira, schools recessed yesterday for an indefinite period of time.

FLUVANNA

In the Fluvanna district, schools will be dismissed tomorrow for a two-week recess. There are 139 enrolled there, and about 130 average daily attendance.

Hermleigh schools will close Monday for about three weeks, perhaps longer if there is a rainy spell during the recess. At present the Hermleigh schools have about 75 children of migratory families on the rolls, and the schools are unable to accommodate about 75 more who are eligible to attend there, according to Orville B. Paty, superintendent of Hermleigh schools.

Yesterday in Austin, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said the state has no objections to local schools closing for any reason so long as they hold classes 175 days a year.

MANY QUESTIONS

His statement was in response to questions arising over the state in regard to a number of schools closing to free migrant and student labor from any violation of the federal child labor law.

"It has long been the practice to turn out for crop season, but it is more widespread this year, hence attempts are being made to enforce the federal child labor law," Edgar said.

How each school works out 175 days is left entirely to the local board, he said. There is no penalty unless the school falls under the 175 mark. If that happens, of course the school's accreditation and foundation is penalized, he noted.

The local board is also left free to work out salary arrangements with teachers during such recess. Frequently additional teaching time is given the teachers later in the summer to make up for harvest recesses.

Dr. Edgar said the state education agency has had a number of calls from superintendents this week to clear any responsibility the school might have to the state in such closings.

No record was kept on the number of calls, but a survey may be made simply for the purpose of information, he said.

Well In Salt Creek Flows 586.3 Barrels

General Crude Oil Co. and Percy Jones No. 1 D. R. Coleman, located on the northwest side of the Salt Creek field in Kent County has been completed for a daily flowing potential of 583.3 barrels of oil a day.

Production is coming from open hole at 6,406-6,560 feet. That interval was acidized with 500 gallons of acid. Total depth of the producer is 6,560 feet.

The No. 1 Coleman is 660 feet from the west and South lines of the east half of section 194, block G, W&NW survey.

It is also one location east of Sunerior Oil Co. No. 8 Wood, which is being deepened to test the Ellenburger. No information is available on this project.

Gas - oil ratio on the production test on the No. 1 Coleman was 405-1. Gravity of the oil is 40 degrees.

The northwest field extension made no water on the potential test. Casing pressure was 300 and tubing pressure 275 pounds.

VEALMOOR STEPOUT

P. R. Rutherford and others of Houston will drill their No. 1 Lloyd G. Branon and others in Central-North Howard County, as a south stepout to production in the East Vealmoor field.

Location of the project will be 466 feet from the north and west lines of the south half of section 19, block 27, H&TC survey.

Destination of the exploration is 7,600 feet.

Drill site will be five miles east of Luther.

The No. 1 Branon will be about three-quarters of a mile south of production in the south extension to the East Vealmoor field. Drilling is scheduled to start by Oct. 20.

IN WELLMAN FIELD

Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 Scales flowed at the rate of 3,013 barrels of oil a day in a two - hour drillstem test in the top of the reef lime in Southwest Terry County, to assure the second producer for the Wellman field.

Shivers Proclaims 2 Thanksgiving Days For State This Year

AUSTIN, Oct. 12. (AP) — Texas will have two Thanksgiving days by proclamation of Gov. Allan Shivers this year.

The governor yesterday designated the fourth and fifth Thursdays of November as Thanksgiving days to satisfy supporters of both dates.

He said confusion exists as to the proper date because the fourth Thursday is generally observed as the national Thanksgiving holiday while Texas traditionally has celebrated the final Thursday.

The days this year fall on Nov. 23 and Nov. 30.

"The state and the people of Texas have a great deal to be thankful for and should not necessarily be limited to one day a year on which to count their blessings," Shivers observed in his proclamation.

Banks will observe both holidays in keeping with state law, the governor's office said.

Stalin Wishes North Koreans Well In Fight

MOSCOW, Oct. 12. (AP) — Premier Joseph Stalin has wished the North Koreans success in their struggle for "the creation of a united, independent, Democratic Korea."

The text of the telegram was featured on Moscow front pages beneath large headlines this morning, after it was previously broadcast by the Moscow radio.

The message was Stalin's reply in an exchange of greetings between the Soviet and North Korean governments on the second anniversary of establishment of diplomatic relations between them.

North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung wired the Russian leader expressing his country's "warmest gratitude" for the "friendly support given by the Soviet Union to our people in their struggle for the independence of our country."

Generalissimo Stalin replied:

"I wish (your) people, who are heroically defending the independence of their country, a successful completion of their struggle of many years for the creation of a united, independent, democratic Korea."

French Leave Thai Nguyen, Indochina Base

SAIGON, Indochina, Thursday Oct. 12. (AP)—The French today announced their withdrawal from the former key Vietminh base of Thai Nguyen, in North Indochina, which they seized less than two weeks ago.

A French military spokesman said the withdrawal had been made voluntarily, without any Vietminh pressure, to a new, defense line about 15 miles south of Thai Nguyen.

WHY OF IT

The spokesman explained that Thai Nguyen, 40 miles north of Hanoi and the center of a large area of fertile rice lands, had been occupied to destroy important Vietminh installations in the area. That had been accomplished, he declared.

However, Associated Press Correspondent Kenneth Likes reported in a delayed dispatch from Hanoi yesterday after accompanying French forces operating in the area that the French had planned to make Thai Nguyen the anchor fortification for a series of 30 brick fortresses guarding the area.

Likes pointed out that the French had met only scant opposition in their drive on Thai Nguyen but that the area would be difficult to hold against the elusive hit-and-run guerrillas, who had retired to mountain hideouts without suffering damage.

HARD-PRESSED

France's hard-pressed troops in North Indochina have been carrying out widespread regroupings in the face of mounting severe pressure by the Vietminh guerrilla legions of Communist Leader Ho Chi Minh.

Already two key posts on the Indochina-China frontier have been abandoned by the French, leaving the Vietminh with an open road for wide stretches to Communist supplies and training in South China.

Wicks spoke on the international aspects of Rotary.

Guests included Marshall Kemp, A. C. Bishop, E. J. Woodward, Ed Ireland, Fred Wimberly, and A. R. Norred, all of Sweetwater; Harley Sadler, D. L. Holley, and T. O. Pearson, all of Abilene; K. L. Towle, Hobbs, N.M. and John Sehlaefli, Hutchinson, Kan.

Military Costs New Year Will Exceed 1950 National Budget

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 12. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Matthews said today the cost of operating the national military establishment alone next year may exceed this year's entire national budget. That would be more than $42 billion.

He said that the final sum, when determined, "will be painful to contemplate" and "will test the national character to face up to the reality."

Matthews went on to caution there must be "no hesitation or indecision" about going through with the plans for new military legislation now being drawn up for presentation to Congress when it reconvenes on Nov. 27.

"It must not be forgotten," he said, "that Korea is only a symptom of the political plague which afflicts the world. . .Total war may not be inevitable, but we dare not assume that it is avoidable."

The Navy chieftain voiced these views in an address prepared for a home state audience, the Nebraska Bankers Assn.

To finance the new defense effort he said, new taxes will have to be paid, controls endorsed and "the even tenor of our civilian pursuits will be violently disturbed."

Barnyard Poll Shows Truman Forces To Win

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 12. (AP) — The man on whose "barnyard polls" President Truman based his 1948 victory predictions last night forecast another Democratic victory in November.

Leslie L. Biffle, secretary of the U. S. Senate and confidante of the President, said in an interview that the Democrats will retain control of the House and increase their majority in the Senate.

"Without any ifs, ands or hesitations," Biffle said, "we will beat Taft in Ohio, we'll beat Capehart in Indiana and we'll beat Millikin in Colorado."

The three veteran Republican senators—Robert A. Taft, Homer E. Capehart and Eugene D. Millikin—are campaigning for re-election against administration-backed Democrats.

Professor Says Columbus Had Other Ideas

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12. (AP) — It was not a new world that Christopher Columbus sailed the ocean blue in 1942, a Johns Hopkins University geographer believes.

A well-beaten track between Asia and the Americas probably existed two or three thousand years before Columbus made his epic first voyage, Prof. George F. Carter writes in the current issue of the "southern journal of anthropology."

Americans pay tribute today to Columbus as America's discoverer.

Dr. Carter suggests the Asiatic peoples made contact with the Western Hemisphere sometime before 1,000 B. C.—perhaps as early as 2,000 B. C.

His theory is based on the fact that plants such as the sweet potato, cotton, Mexican poppy and certain weeds existed in America and Asia and some Pacific islands long before "any written record of man's having traveled between the two points."

Plants can't originate twice, the geographer holds.

"The answer to this puzzle," Prof. Carter concludes, "is that man did make such unrecorded ocean voyages probably in elaborate, giant canoes.

"In addition to plants, ancient explorers from Asia could have brought to the new world such skills as hieroglyphic writing, metallurgy and weaving techniques.

Kerr Predicts Democrats To Gain In Vote

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) —Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) predicted today that the Democrats will chalk up a net gain of at least two Senate seats in the Nov. 7 elections.

"You can be sure that there will be more Democrats in the Senate in January, when the new Congress convenes, than there are now," he told a reporter.

Kerr, a member of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said he was not so familiar with races for House seats. But he added that the Democrats' prospects for picking up additional strength in the House must be good, judging from the senatorial campaigns.

Republicans, of course, have been predicting that the gains will be made by their party. Sen. Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said last week that chances are "fairly good" that Republicans will capture control of both the Senate and the House.

Fifty Washington political writers polled by Newsweek Magazine predicted Republican gains in both branches but foresaw no upset of Democratic control. The magazine made the results public last night.

The magazine said the 50 correspondents predicted an average GOP gain of 31 seats in the House and four in the Senate. The Democrats now outnumber the Republicans 54 to 42 in the Senate and 262 to 172 in the House.

Will Seek To Enjoin Use Of New Color TV

By JACK ADAMS
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — A threat of court action and further major delays hung over home color television today despite an official go-ahead for the Columbia Broadcasting System's method.

The Federal Communications Commission announced late yesterday that it had made final its previous tentative selection of the CBS system as the national color television plan. CBS immediately promised to "promote (it) to the hilt."

But Isidor Goldberg, president of the Pilot Radio Corp., said in New York his firm will seek an injunction to stay the FCC's action. Declaring that the commission should have delayed the decision for another nine months, Goldberg said "we very definitely plan injunctive proceedings."

MORE TROUBLE

The action also came under fire from the Radio Corp. of America, developer of one competing color TV system ruled out by the FCC. The other was developed by Color Television, Inc.

David Sarnoff, board chairman of RCA, made a statement issued in New York that the public interest will not be served by forced adoption of a "degraded" and incompatible system.

What engineers call the incompatibility of the CBS system is the fact that its color signals cannot be picked up, even in black and white, by existing sets, of which nearly 8 million are in the hands of the public.

OPPOSITION STAND

"We regard this decision as scientifically unsound and against the public interest," Sarnoff said. "The hundreds of millions of dollars that present set owners would have to spend and that future set owners would have to pay to obtain a degraded picture. . .reduces today's order to an absurdity."

Sarnoff also hinted that RCA will not accept the FCC decision without a fight.

Gulf Hurricane Blows Self Out

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12. (AP) — A hurricane, which sent ships scurrying for cover in the Gulf yesterday, then romped inland crippling communications and levelling crops, was reported today to have pretty much blown itself out.

The storm, which spent its final fury on Vera Cruz, turned south last night and was reported to have broken up in the mountains near the coast.

Some small ships were driven on the beach by the winds, but the bigger vessels managed either to ride it out or to skirt the outer edge of the storm and make for the nearest port.

Banana growers in the Tuxpam region north of Vera Cruz reported heavy damage to plantations. In Vera Cruz itself latest reports said little damage had been done. Trees were blown down, blocking some streets, and some coastal highways were flooded.

All communications within the stricken coastal area were disrupted.

Three Airmen Die In Crash

TOKYO, Oct. 12. (AP) — Three airmen were killed and five persons including three war correspondents were injured today when a C-119 cargo plane crashed and burned in southern Japan on returning from Korea.

The injured correspondents are Harold Faber, New York Times, broken left leg and burns on the right leg; John Jefferson, Columbia Broadcasting System, and John M. Colless, Reuter (British) News Agency. The latter two suffered shock.

Names of the other two injured a military passenger and the plane's radio operator — and of the three dead crewmen were withheld.

The Air Force flying boxcar hit an embankment as it tried to land in bad weather.

Truman Hopes Meeting Will Bring Peace

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12. — President Truman held out hope today that he and Gen. Douglas MacArthur may find a way to counter the explosive threat of communism in the Far East.

He contended that the free nations are "making progress" toward peace "in spite of conditions which are prevailing in the Far East."

Out of his week-end conference in the Pacific, the President predicted, may come "some contribution to the peace of the world."

EN ROUTE

Mr. Truman's talk last night, to a meeting of the Missouri Order of the Eastern Star, highlighted his stopover here en route to the spectacular rendezvous with MacArthur, 6,500 miles away.

Although some 12,000 persons heard the President's speech, to a closed meeting of the Masonic affiliate, newspaper men were barred.

Typewritten transcripts of his remarks were made available to the press later by Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross.

That Wake Island will be the scene of the week-end conference — the first face-to-face meeting of the Prsident and the United Nations' commander — was the opinion of most members of the President's party.

NO COMMENT

Press Secretary Ross stoutly declined to say.

The President scheduled a 4 p.m. (EST) takeoff from Lambert-St. Louis Airport in the "Independence" on the second lap of his flight.

He is due at Fairfield-Suisan Airport in California at 715 p.m. (PS) and at Hickam Field, Honolulu, at 8 o'clock Friday morning, Hawaiian time. A four-hour stop is planned in California, a 16-hour layover at Hickam Field.

The meeting with the general after MacArthur's spectacular victory in Korea may figure heavily in the congressional election campaign.

Mr. Truman will make it the basis for foreign policy speeches at San Francisco Oct. 17 and to the United Nations General Assembly in New York Oct. 24. The White House has labeled both of these talks "non-political."

Truman Caed On White House Phone Number

ST LOUIS, Oct. 12 (AP) — President Truman came back to his hotel after the Eastern Star meet last night and decided to telephone Mrs. Truman in Washington.

"Operator, this is the President," he said. "I'd like to call the White House."

There was a pause while the operator got her breath.

"Charlie," he said, turning to his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, "What's that number?"

France Plans Doubling Arms Expenditures

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—France proposes to double its defense spending next year provided it gets approximately $70 million in outside aid.

French Defense Minister Jules Moch is reported ready to explain this new program to Secretary of Defense Marshall at a meeting today at the Pentagon.

Reliable officials said plans for boosting France's defense budget were presented to the State and Defense Dpartments just prior to Moch's arrival in this country yesterday.

The French proposal, they said, contemplates increasing defense expenditures from around $1,200,000,000 this year to around $2,450,000,000 during 1951.

Moch is seeking quick American approval of the plan during a round of conferences with top American defense leaders so his government can present the expended military budget to the French parliament shortly after it convenes next Tuesday.

France's ability to bear this big defense burden appears to hinge on whether the United States is ready to extend immediate large scale financial help from the $5,225,000,000 foreign arms aid fund appropriated by Congress.

Informed officials who cannot be named told a reporter the French plan calls for assistance not only from the United States but from Britain, Belgium, Italy, and other North Atlantic Treaty allies.

Northern Port Near Soviet Border Line

Battleship Missouri Leads Attacking Sea And Air Arms On City

By ELMAN MORIN
(Associated Press Staff)

TOKYO, Oct. 12. — The Battleship Missouri and allied warships set Chongjin port afire today with a thunderous bombardment and naval air strikes far north on Red Korea's east coast. The sea-air attacks were not many miles from the Communist China and Soviet Siberia borders.

There were indications the heavy shelling was continuing.

The burning red iron and steel center of 190,000 people is 34 miles southwest of Red China's Manchuria frontier and 49 miles southwest of Soviet Siberia. It is 140 miles from Siberian Vladivostok, a major supply head for Red Korea's heavy weapons.

FAR NORTH

Down the east coast 220 miles is Wonsan, northernmost advance point of allied spearheads pressing toward the Red capital, Pyongyang, near the west coast.

Carrier planes rocketed and strafed Chongjin in a fiery two-day prelude to the warship bombardment.

In addition to the Mighty Mo, the U. S. Heavy Cruiser Helena, and unidentified British, Canadian and Australian vessels took part. After an hour of shelling parts of the city were seen blazing.

The 45,000-ton Missouri blasted shore targets with one-ton missles from her 16-inch guns.

The Mo is the flagship of the task group commander, Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble.

There had been speculation that the Missouri might be the setting of President Truman's conference in the Far Pacific with Gen. MacArthur this week end. After news of the shelling, the big warship was ruled out as a meeting place.

Adm. Struble said "we have a 400-round allowance for today." This mention of the number of big shells—presumably for the whole task group—was a further indication the bombardment is continuing.

AP Photographer - Correspondent Gene Herrick reported the shelling from aboard the Mighty Mo.

NEW LANDING?

He did not indicate whether a new allied landing might be in prospect.

The bombardment was like the one that softened the west coast for the amphibious landings at Inchon in mid-September, but the Mighty Mo did not take part in that one; she was shelling the opposite coast at the time.

The Inchon landings and the liberation of Seoul, Korean republic capital 22 miles inland, marked the collapse of the Korean Red Army in the south and led to the rapid allied chase of the remnants inside the Communist north.

POSSIBILITY

A landing at Congjin could start another United Nations spearhead rolling across the peninsula to seal off the Reds from Soviet supplies.

Far south and southwest of Chongjin, allied ground troops pushed steadily ahead on three fronts toward Pyongyang. Tank-led columns above Parallel 38 were moving toward the Red capital from the south, southwest and east.

Texas Out To Snap Oklahoma Winning Streak On Saturday

By WILBUR MARTIN

AUSTIN, Oct. 12. (AP) — They're going to test today the knee that's caused as much concern as ever the knees of Elsie Crabtree.

This knee, the right one, belongs to Byron Townsend, the pride and joy of the University of Texas football team. He wrenched it Monday in practice and today will see — in a light workout — if the knee is going to be okeh for Saturday's game with Oklahoma.

Texas is ranked fourth in the nation in the Associated Press grid poll. Oklahoma is third. Both are undefeated and untied, so you can easily see why the knee has caused so much concern.

REMEMBER ELSIE?

If, says Texas Coach Blair Cherry, the knee is okeh "we'll be [illegible] for Oklahoma."

Townsend, Texas' big, bruising fullback, was one of the chief reasons the Longhorns knocked off Purdue two weeks ago. Purdue last week, you know, beat Notre Dame, snapping college football's longest winning streak at 39 games.

But who was Elsie? Oh, shucks, you remember Elsie, the drum majorette for the University of Nevada. Well, back in 1939 she had the most publicized pair of knees in the country. The dean of women wanted more skirt and less bare leg on Nevada's drum majorette, and Elsie wanted freedom of movement as she twirled and whirled at halftime. Elsie won, too.

SHIFTED TO FULLBACK

Townsend, a 190-pounder who runs with terrific power, gained 158 yards against Purdue, 59 more yards than the [illegible] ed up as a team. A junior, he was starting left halfback for the Steers last year. Switched to fullback, he's the Big Bertha of Texas' running game.

Cherry was pretty happy about the way Texas' last hard workout of the week went. He was especially pleased about the showing on pass defense.

Rice and Southern Methodist, the other two undefeated, untied teams in the conference, also put the finishing touches on plays and defense they plan to use this week.

OWLS TAKE TO AIR

Southern Methodist, number two in the AP poll, didn't look so good in practice yesterday. The first stringers had trouble stopping a collection of B team and ineligible players running Oklahoma A&M plays.

Oklahoma A&M, unbeaten but tied, meets the Methodists in the night end of a football doubleheader at the Cotton Bowl. Texas and Oklahoma meet in the afternoon.

Rice Coach Jess Neely admits his team is going to do a lot of passing against Pittsburgh Saturday. Ver[illegible] Glass, who threw for touchdown passes against Santa Clara, is scheduled to do most of the chunking.

BUT NOT A&M

Texas A&M, which battled Oklahoma to a standstill before bowing, 34-28, in the last minute of play last week, prepped for Virginia Military Institute with a long passing scrimmage. The Aggies have a terrific ground game, but have had little success with passes in three games this year.

Arkansas romped through a tough scrimmage and Texas Christian had a rough workout.

Baylor University said it had 14 gridders ailing and there wasn't much of anything but gloom at the Baptist school as it eyed Saturday's tilt with Arkansas.

Weatherall Is Weeks Lineman

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 12. (AP) — Life wasn't worth living for Big Jim Weatherall, college football's lineman of the week, when he missed the conversion that nearly plunged Oklahoma into defeat last Saturday.

But that miss ignited a spark that caused the Sugar Bowl champions to sweep past Texas A&M, 34-28, and extend their three-year winning streak to 23 games.

And out of that last-minute triumph came sufficient praise for the six-foot four-inch, 220-pound tackle to make him the day's top lineman in the eyes of sports writers from coast to coast.

THE BEST

"I thought all our linemen played well," said Coach Bud Wilkinson, whose Oklahoma team now ranks third in the AP national poll. "But Weatherall was the best. His blocking and tackling were wonderful."

Here was the situation in the dying moments of as thrilling a football game as you'll ever hope to see:

Oklahoma trailed, 21-28, with less than four minutes to play, in the rugged struggle that had see-sawed back and forth. Then Claude Arnold fired a 32-yard touchdown pass to Sophomore Billy Vessels.

A hush fell over the crowd of 40,000 as the teams lined up for the conversion attempt.

LOW PASS

Weatherall, who had kicked seven straight extra points in two games, squared away to try to tie the score.

But the pass from center was low. That threw Weatherall's timing off. He missed. The score was 27-28.

That did it.

Had Weatherall kicked the point, the Sooners probably would have settled for a tie. So would most of the fans, who watched in sympathy as Weatherall, whose line play had been a standout in the game, trudged to the sidelines, tears in his eyes.

Then the Big Seven champs caught fire. The Sooners forced Texas A&M to punt after the kickoff and started on their own 31 with a minute and 44 seconds remaining.

'WHO, ME?'

Back into action went Weatherall, blocking like a madman. Arnold completed six of seven passes which ate up 65 yards. Fullback Leon Heath churned around left end for the last four yards and his third touchdown of the day, with 37 seconds left.

"Who, me?" asked Weatherall when told he was the lineman of the week. "I didn't think I played that kind of a football game. I only hope I can play that kind of game (against Texas) this week."

"He played very well," Wilkinson concluded. "It is a fine thing for Jim and the team."

Other linemen nominated for this week's honors included:

Ends—Harold Riley, Baylor; Frank Pischel, Arkansas; Bob Moorman, Texas Christian.

Tackles—Bill Crockett, Rice.

Centers—Bob Bates, Texas A&M.

Tigers Show Good Spirit For Crucial Game

Spirit runs high among the Snyder Tiger gridsters this week as they stand prepared to meet the ever-strong eleven from Colorado City, the Wolves.

Playing a hardy pack of strong contenders for district title, the Moffetteers began to discuss stomping the Wolves immediately after they took the Rotan Yellowhammers for a 33-0 win last week.

Writers and commentators all over the state have printed confused predictions on the game, such as "either team could beat anyone in the state if they wanted to."

Coach Speedy Moffett expresses no idea as to who may win.

Mixed comments from the Tigers add up to just about the same as Moffett said. Some have no doubt that they will win, while others are afraid the Wolves are much in favor. However, all are working hard this week to give the rival team a good fight. Coaches are keeping visitors off the field during practice to insure no late scouting of Tiger strategy.

T. D. Wyman, high school principal, calls spirit among his students "the best yet" as they all have backing a winning team in mind.

As for attendance, a record crowd for the district is expected in Colorado City to see the game. All reserved seats on both sides of the field are being sold rapidly and bleachers are expected to overflow as fans go to see one of the best high school games in West Texas.

The outcome of this rival game may determine who picks up the title for championship for District 6A this year.

Fate Of Branch Rickey Still Is Baseball Question Of Hour

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Where is Branch Rickey going? Is Connie Mack going to step down as manager of the Philadelphia A's? Will Rogers Hornsby be the new A's skipper?

These are a few of the hot questions that keep the baseball pot boiling during these post-world series days.

Best information available at the moment is that Rickey will wind up in Pittsburgh with his old friend, John Galbreath. That's the way the wind is blowing inside the Dodger front office.

Rickey still is president and general manager of the Dodgers although he has contracted to sell his 25 per cent interest in the club.

ST. LOUIS BOUND?

Insiders believe that William Zeckendorf, who arranged to buy Rickey's stock, never will be able to go through with the deal. Instead it is expected that Walter O'Malley, with sound financial backing, will be able to exercise his option to buy the Rickey stock. That would leave the 75 per cent, including the holdings of O'Malley and the John Smith estate in one block.

Nothing is set on the Pittsburgh front where General Manager Roy Hamey is waiting definite word on the Rickey situation before he makes a move on strengthening the club. Hamey still has a year to go on his contract.

There also are reports that Rickey is bound for St. Louis to operate the Browns with the backing of the American League. President Will Harridge of the American League denied that such backing had been arranged.

NO RESIGNATION

In Philadelphia, the reign of 87-year-old Mr. Mack as manager seems to be near the end.

The story circulated at the World Series was that Mack would devote himself to executive work next year, leaving the managing job to a younger man. Still Mr. Mack has said repeatedly he'd never resign.

It is known that three men were being considered for the job. One was Paul Richards, who signed Monday to manage the Chicago White Sox.

The others are Del Baker, San Diego manager, and Hornsby, who won a pennant with the Yankee farm club at Beaumont in the Texas League.

Hornsby still is Beaumont manager. But if he has the chance to have no difficulty getting loose from the Yankee chain.

HIGH-PRICED

Then there is the case of Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland manager. There is talk that the Athletics might make a deal with the Tribe for player-manager Boudreau. Lou still can play part time at short or third base.

But the matter of Boudreau's contract, a good-sized chunk of dough, might discourage the A's who had a miserable season at the gate. Cleveland has yet to announce Boudreau's status for 1951.

So that's the pitch for the rumor factory today. Something may pop before Nov. 1. So many Dodger executives are waiting to see which way to jump that Rickey must announce his decision soon.

Oddity Of The Year Won't Try For It Again

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 12. (AP)—Washington and Lee may be cooking up something rather deluxe to throw at the University of Virginia football team at Richmond Saturday but it certainly won't include use of the famous "one wild impulse" play.

That's the double-D definite word from Robert Clyde Smith of Conneatu, O., author and principal performer of old "wild impulse" in the somewhat momentus climax to last year's Virginia game.

"Never again," said the six-one, 200-pound tackle today. "That sort of thing belongs in the once-to-every-man category. Besides, I hope to be a lawyer some day. I'd hate to be remembered most by something illegal I had done."

Smith won a pretty fat place on the nation's sports pages last year for introducing the twelfth-man theme into a sport usually limited to 11 on a side. It was the final play of the game and Smith, a previous regular performer at tackle for W&L, had been warming the bench and watching the Generals get soundly trounced by Virginia. He slid off the bench and started walking disconsolately toward the dressing rooms.

Just then the Virginia quarterback looped a long pass over the head of the W&L safety man. The Virginia end Ed Bessell was there to gather it in with a clear field to the goal line. He would have made it, too, except for Smith's "wild impulse." Smith scampered out and spilled Bessell. Nobody seemed to notice it, particularly and the game ended.

But a couple of days later a sports writer asked Smith how about it. Yep, said Smith, he decided to put himself in the game.

Smith's one play of the game took the "sports oddity of the year" title in an AP poll.

Middleground Lame, May Not Race Any More

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — Middleground, winner of this year's Kentucky Derby, went lame during a workout today at Belmont Park and a spokesman for the King Ranch stable said the three-year-old colt probably would never race again.

"It was a bad accident, and apparently serious," the spokesman said at the office of Max Hirsch, veteran trainer for the King Ranch of Richard Kleberg. Hirsch, who saddled the son of Bold Venture for his derby triumph last May, was not immediately available for comment.

Dr. William Wright, the stable's veterinarian, was preparing to take X-rays to determine the extent of the injury which was reported to be in Middleground's right fore foot.

Bill Boland, who as an apprentice jockey rode Middleground in his derby victory and later won the Belmont Stakes with the colt, was riding him when the horse suddenly broke down.

Middleground, regarded as the second leading horse in the three-year-old division, hasn't raced since the Jerome Handicap at Belmont Sept. 21.

In the Jerome, Middleground finished tenth to Hill Prince, the three-year-old champion.

Well In Salt

This new oil well is calculated to have at least 443 feet of pay in the reef above the water level in the lime-formation which is making the oil.

The flow came from the top 45 feet of the pay.

After topping the reef lime at 9,415, which is on a datum of minus 6,155 feet, operator deepened to 9,460 feet and took a two-hour drill stem test.

The packer was set at 9,400 feet in hard lime above the top of the pay.

A one-inch top choke and a ¾ inch bottom hole choke were used.

The 1,700 foot water blanket soon ended flowing out in 22 minutes. Gas appeared in the water blanket in 27 minutes.

The drill pipe began to unload oil and gas in 29 minutes.

The fluid was run to pits for three minutes and then turned to tanks. In the first 15 minutes of flowing the new section produced 32 barrels of oil. In the next 15 minutes it made 31.25 barrels of oil.

Flow during the next 30 minutes was 63.25 barrels of oil and in the last 28 minutes it made 57.95 barrels of oil for a total flow of 184.45 barrels of oil in one hour and 28 minutes of flowing.

The oil left in the pipe when the tool was closed at the end of the two-hour test, was reversed out. There was no water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure during the test was 3,710 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure at the end of 30 minutes was 4,000 pounds.

Operator plans to drill 50 feet deeper to 9,515 feet and cement casing on bottom. That pipe would be run through the top 100 feet of the pay.

After the casing is secured, they plan to drill the plug and drill about 100 feet deeper and complete the project from the open hole zone.

This development is 268 feet high on the top of the lime reef on the same marker in Anderson Prichard Oil Corp. No. 1 Bevers, a quarter of a mile west, which is the discovery well of the Wellman field.

Anderson Prichard No. 2 Bevers, one-quarter of a mile west of the discovery and one half of a mile due west of the prolific Magnolia No. 1 Scales, was 225 feet low to the Wellman discovery.

It ran a drill stem test on that zone at 9,950-90 feet and made 1,800 feet of sulphur water and no petroleum during a two-hour investigation. It is going on down to explore the Silurian.

Magnolia No. 1 Scales is located 660 feet from the north and west [illegible] survey.

Pan American Production farmed out 420 acres to Ryan Consolidated for the test, and Ryan has 250 acres surrounding the acreage farmed out. Pan American retained an over-ride.

CROCKETT WELL

A shallow wildcat has been spotted in Northeast Crockett County 13 miles southeast of Barnhart as C. P. Laubenheim and associates of Fort Worth No. 1-B University.

Cable tools will be used to drill to 2,000 feet. Operations will begin in the near future.

Location is 2,389.9 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 13, block 39, University survey.

ABANDONED

A wildcat failure in Central Sterling County has been abandoned by Republic Natural Gas Co. at total depth of 2,044 feet in Clear Fork.

The dry hole is the No. 1 E. F. McEntire, 330 feet from north and west lines of southwest quarter of section 3, block T, T&P survey and four miles southwest of Sterling City.

LAWRENCE, BROOKS

Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., and Balboa Oil Co. are preparing to complete their No. 1-A Lawrence Brooks, Central - East Irion County wildcat as a gas and distillate producer from the Wolfcamp sand of the lower Permian, and put it on regular production.

The project had tested for 10,500,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with and estimated distillate yield of 50 barrels each 24 hours from pay at 5,945-6,009 feet.

The flow was through a 22-64th inch tubing choke, and came after the pay section had been shot with 320 quarts of nitro glycerin and then washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

There was no formation water in the fluid being recovered.

Flowing tubing pressure during the testing was 300 pounds and pressure on the casing during the flowing was 600 pounds.

After a two hour shut-in the casing and tubing pressure equalized at 1,800 pounds, and both pressures were still increasing at the end of the two hours.

Operator represents a [illegible] the well to show a maximum [illegible] pressure of around 2,000 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 21, block 3, H&TC survey. That makes the discovery 13 miles north of the Tankersley pool and five miles southwest of the town of Tankersley.

This wildcat drilled to a [illegible] low 7,500 feet in the Ellenburger. That zone made water.

It has been plugged back and tested from the Ellenburger all the way to the present field of operations. Some of the zones investigated showed some slight signs of oil and gas, but none of them yielded any commercial petroleum until the 5,945-6,009 foot section in the Wolfcamp sand was reached.

KING COUNTY

Humble Oil & Refining Co. has staked a 6,850-foot wildcat in East-Central King County, midway between the Bateman Ranch and Ross pools.

Retail Prices Show Decline

By The Associated Press

Retail prices of several fresh foods declined a little in most stores this week—the first time in months that mark-downs appeared to outnumber advances.

Most meats either edged lower or held unchanged, with the sharpest price cuts in pork items—down two to as much as 16 cents a pound in competitive chain stores. Retail mark-downs on beef ranged from two to six cents a pound, and there were scattered cuts of one to two cents a pound on some lamb and poultry items.

The meat reductions marked the beginning of the seasonal downtrend which usually accompanies the growing volume of livestock supplies reaching markets.

EGGS LOWER

Eggs also were slightly lower in many places. The Agriculture Department reported that egg production will be rising soon and market supplies will increase, holding prices for the rest of 1950 below last year. The nation's hens laid 3,894,000,000 eggs last month —a new record for September and 25 per cent above the September average.

Fresh foods lower-priced in most produce departments this week included snap beans, brussel sprouts and carrots. Also, cucumbers, idaho potatoes and California tomatoes. Melons, good quality celery and sweet corn were up slightly.

At wholesale, the food price trend this week—as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Wholesale Food Index —was just a shade lower. The index declined for the fourth week in a row, down two cents from last week to $6.48. That's about the level of last July 25 when wholesale prices were on their steep uptrend to the Aug. 29 peak of $6.69. A year ago the index was $5.57. The figure represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

STILL CLIMB

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported this week that retail food prices were still climbing during the last two weeks of September. The gain was 1.4 per cent, with 19 of the 25 foods surveyed in 13 large cities showing increases.

Cabbage and sweet potatoes are the headliners on the Agriculture Department's most-plentiful-foods list for this week.

The Production and Marketing Administration also pointed out that a substantial part of the 1950 turkey crop already is being marketed. That crop is expected to reach 44,500,000 birds—six per cent over last year and the largest on record.

Be fair to yourself! Give yourself a break if you have such deficiencies! Why continue to drag yourself around—a burden to yourself and your family — when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drugstore if your system lacks B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron. This great HADACOL is inexpensive, too—costs only a small amount a day. Trial size, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.

Hermleigh Police Vacancy Is Filled By Raymond F. White

Raymond F. (Whizzer) White, 33, of 317 Twenty - ninth Street, was hired as a patrolman on the Hermleigh police force last night by the city council there.

White, who came to Snyder Feb. 1 and served since April 1 on the Snyder police department, was hired to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Hermleigh's chief of police, Bill Love, who left for the army Tuesday. White will take the place formerly held by Mark E. Search, who was elevated last week to succeed Love as chief.

RECOMMENDED

His appointment by the council was made after recommendations by Lloyd H. Merritt, sheriff, Bill Zimmerman and E. W. Green highway patrolmen, and a number of other officers in the county. He was notified of the council's decision this morning and will begin work there Saturday.

Born in Akron, Ohio, White was reared in the Buckeye state, learning several occupations, and has held positions in both oil and coal producing businesses.

When he first came to Snyder, he worked on a pipe line crew, but a few days later he was put in charge of the crew, holding this job until he joined the police force here. Since his service on the force ended Oct. 1, he has been employed by the Pan American Pipe Line Co. here.

White says by trade he is a dynamite blasting technician. His practical experience in this field includes the Jensie Coal Mine at Steubenville, Ohio, which he helped build as one of the most modern in America.

PACIFIC THEATRE

A veteran of World War II, White served on various islands of the South Pacific and once served as a human decoy to draw fire from a hidden sniper so that the enemy's position could be determined by White's platoon.

Volunteering himself as a target, White deliberately walked into the sniper's view, enabling his group—which recieved a citation from President Roosevelt for brave and effective fighting in the New Guinea jungles—to locate the Japanese soldier, whom White shot and killed with a submachinegun.

White's experience as a police officer began about nine years ago, and since that time he has held several positions as an officer.

Soon after the war, he was made the chief supervisor guard in the Ordinance of Civilian Defense in Detroit and was later made a deputy U. S. marshal there, which position he held for a short time.

White's second job as a federal officer began in the early part of 1945 and was held until late in 1948 at the Federal Correctional Institution at Milan, Mich., where he was a correctional officer and also athletic director.

AN ATHLETE

While working with the prison, White won recognition both as a football star and a baseball player in addition to coaching in both these sports as well as boxing.

White, who now weighs 268 pounds and is six feet, two inches tall, has also won considerable fame as a boxer, having won many professional fights.

Fighting for Wheeling, W. Va., White, whose nickname is "Whizzer", won the Tri-State Golden Gloves championship there when he first began boxing by winning three fights in three nights with a knockout in the first round each night.

In all, White was credited with seven knockouts in 15 amateur fights before turning professional, in which field he has a record for 27 knockouts in 64 fights, including the defeat of Austrailia's national heavyweight champion, Alex Stanton, April 17, 1942.

Then a corporal in the Marine Corps and champion of this branch, Whizzer knocked out the champion, a corporal in the Royal Australian Air Force, in the second round.

MADAME CHIANG

As victor over the Australian, White was presented with a silver loving cup by Madame Chiang Kai Shek and a certificate of the honor. The fight was staged at Melbourne for the benefit of the Lord Mayor's China Famine Relief Fund.

Two weeks later, White, who then weighed 235 pounds (the people Down Under called it 16 stones and 11 pounds), was defeated in a 10-round decision by Australia's light-heavyweight champion, Jack Johnson, who then ranked with the nine best light - heavyweights in the world.

White said he would move his family to Hermleigh so he can be near his work. Mrs. White, a receptionist at the Snyder Hospital, will continue to work here and will drive to and from Snyder. They have a 12-year-old son, Charles.

Middleground Career Ended

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Misfortune that cut short the careers of other Kentucky Derby winners had caught up today with Middleground, class of 1950.

The lean-shanked son of Bold Venture is through with racing—his active days ended by an accident in a Belmont Park workout yesterday.

The Chestnut three - year - old buckled under his rider, Bill Boland, and pulled up lame.

X-rays disclosed two broken bones in his right forefoot and trainer Max Hirsch announced sadly:

"We'll probably be able to save him but that's about all. I'd say chances are a million to one against his ever running again."

As soon as practicable, Middleground will be shipped to Robert J. Kleberg's sprawling King Ranch in Texas to munch oats and produce new little racing champions the rest of his life.

Bar Meeting Tonight To Plan Bill Proposing New Judicial District

A special meeting of the Scurry County Bar Association has been set for 7:30 o'clock tonight at the County Club to discuss the formation of a proposed new judicial district with Snyder as its center.

Those who have been invited include all members of the bar association; Edgar Taylor, county judge; A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater, district judge; Eldon Mahon of Colorado City, district attorney; Pat Bullock of Colorado City, state senator; Sterling Williams, representative of this district in the Legislature; and C. S. Harris, county judge of Borden County.

The purpose of the meeting tonight will be to set out the proposed bill to be inroduced in the next session of the Legislature.

Brazos River Scrap Hearing December 15

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) — Is the Brazos River in Texas navigable?

The Power Commission will hear oral arguments Dec. 15 by the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District on the subject.

The district plans to build three dams on the Brazos and it contends the Power Commission has no jurisdiction because the Brazos is not navigable.

Ex-Policeman Runs Racket

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP) — An ex-cop, held under police guard today, was accused of running a $20 million-a-year gambling syndicate while its boss took a trip to California.

The former plainclothesman, James Reardon, 33, was held in protective custody so he wouldn't "jump a banana boat," a judge said.

A Brooklyn rackets investigator told Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz yesterday that Reardon admitted he took over for big-time Bookie Harry Gross for a time last year.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Julius Helfand, who made the charge, did not say whether Reardon handled the $1 million a year graft which Gross has admitted paying to police.

Helfand said Reardon maintained a safe deposit box under a fake name and address while attached to the chief inspector's office, and only last Monday took out $1,500 and other valuables.

Reardon, who resigned from the department three years ago after five years' service, has been living the life of a country gentleman in Westport, Conn.

The Reardon revelations in the ever-widening gambling and graft scandal came as U. S. Senate crime probers said they had uncovered a link between New Jersey and Saratoga County, N. Y., gamblers.

Search For Robber Of Western Union Will Continue After Release

City and county police officers today were still faced with the problem of solving the case of the armed robbery of Snyder's Western Union office Oct. 3.

Walter Randermann, 33, held he about a week as a suspect in the hold-up, was released from the county jail yesterday afternoon after witnesses to the robbery failed to identify him as the gunman.

Randermann said yesterday he would probably work in Snyder a few days before returning to Brenham, Tex., where he was arrested shortly after the hold-up. A former resident of Snyder several months, Randermann left here for Brenham on the night of the robbery, he said, to attend vocational school there. He said he did not know about the robbery until his arrest.

The telegraph office was robbed about 7:50 p.m. Oct. 3, when a lone bandit entered with a pistol and left with $593. Neither of the four witnesses—three of the office personnel and a customer—could identify Randermann positively as the hold-up man.

Pecos Man Wins Prize For Being Ugliest

PECOS, Oct. 12. (AP) — Glen Stafford, former Pecos mayor, was the lucky one among 15 civic leaders who competed in an "ugliest man" contest at the Pima Cotton Festival yesterday. For winning first in the contest that helped raise funds for a local project, he won a week end, all-expense tour —to Sneadville, five miles away.

Operators Say Increased Rail Wages Will Cost $1 Billion

By HAROLD WARD
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — The railroad industry estimated today that pending union wage demands would raise costs $1 billion a year and force fare and freight rate hikes of 15 per cent.

Stirred by the newest demands of unions represenfing 1,250,000 employes, the industry's statisticians contended that a boost of that size in all freight and passenger revenues would be needed to offset wage demands announced or already up for bargaining.

Here are the demands and the industry's estimate of how much it would cost to meet them:

(1) Fifteen unions with 1 million members in the non-operating branches like shop crafts, telegraphers, clerks, signal men, water service and dining car employes, want 25 cents more an hour. They now average $60.15 per week and are asking for a $10 raise. They will serve notice of their demands on the railroads Oct. 25.

The unions estimated their pay proposal would cost $400 million a year but the railroads said it would come to more than $525 million.

(2) The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen headed by Dr. David B. Robertson, announced it will ask for 35 cents an hour more for 85,000 of its members. The railroads figured that would cost them $65 million a year.

The firemen and enginemen also have pending a request for 48 hours pay for 40 hours work for 35,000 members in yard service, a demand which the carriers think would add $23 million to their costs.

(3) The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, headed by J. P. Shields, wants a flat 20 per cent wage increase for all of its 80,000 members, with work guarantees for those in the yards as well as on the rolling trains. The carriers say that would cost about $22 million a year.

(4) The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors together are asking the same 48-for-40 hours pay as the Robertson Union. Their summer-long fight over that demand led President Truman to seize the railroads last Aug. 27 to head off a nationwide strike by the 300,000 members of those two unions. The dispute still is unsettled.

Great Grandmother Wins Hog Calling At Dallas State Fair

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP) — A great grandmother from Shreveport, La., who fiddles left handed and says there's not much difference in husband-calling and hog calling, walked off with top honors in two contests at the Texas State Fair.

Mrs. Minnie E. Cope, "only seventy-three past," won the women's division of the fair's old fiddlers contest yesterday. She also won the husband calling contest.

In the calling contest she said she just imagined her husband is an hour late for supper and "I have just spied him talking to a pretty woman neighbor. Then I'm in a mood for good husband-calling in a kind of panther moan."

McDonald Observatory Mirror Is Shined Up

The big mirror has just been cleaned and recoated with aluminum. Observatory officials say its now 15 per cent more efficient.

Oil Hearing Set For Grayson October 26

AUSTIN, Oct. 12. (AP) — The Railroad Commission will hold a show cause hearing on the Sherman Field, Grayson County, Oct. 26.

Operators will be asked to show cause why their MER now based on a per well top allowable of 170 barrels per day should not be cut and based on a per well top of 64 barrels per well per day.

Wooden Goal Posts Can Be Torn Down

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP) — If you want a goal post for free come to the Oklahoma - Texas game here Saturday—if you can get a ticket. The Cotton Bowl today replaced its metal goal posts with wooden ones so they can be torn down easier by students of the winning school.

Last year, there was a brief fight between police and students when the collegians attempted to wreck the metal posts after the OU-UT clash.

The metal posts will be set up again for the Southern Methodist - Oklahoma A&M game Saturday night.

Dean Of Nation's Lobbyists Is Retiring At Seventy-four

By ARTHUR L. EDSON
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — The dean of the nation's lobbyists, Benjamin C. Marsh of People's Lobby Inc., is retiring.

For 32 years Marsh has looked at — and tried to influence—the Washington scene. Now he's 74, and the doctors say it's time for him to rest. At the end of this month, both he and the People's Lobby Inc. will go out of business.

Maybe you mentally picture a lobbyist as a well stuffed character who has a well stuffed expense account and who smokes a well stuffed cigar.

CHANGE PICTURE

If so, your mental picture needs retouching, as far as Ben Marsh is concerned.

He's a lean, twinkly, scraggly haired individual who would love to smoke a pipe. The doctors have said no, but he keeps it in his mouth, unfilled and cold, for old times'-sake.

As for fat expense accounts—.

People's Lobby Inc., according to Marsh, is supported by 2,000 contributors. He says most of these have small, fixed incomes and that five-sixths of all contributions are for $5 or less.

Under the law, lobbyists have to disclose how much they spend. In the Aug. 22 issue of the "Congressional Record" Marsh shows how much he spent for three months.

ONE INSTANCE

You'll get an idea from one item. For the entire three months, he said, his lobbying expenditures for "travel, food, lodging, and entertainment" came to exactly $20.83.

After graduating from Grinnell College in Iowa, Marsh kicked around quite a bit. He took postgraduate work in economics, was a Balkan war correspondent in 1912, worked as a lobbyist for better tenement laws in New York.

Then he came here as a lobbyist for the Non-Partisan League, which he describes as a liberal farm outfit.

Since then he has plugged for public housing, unemployment insurance, old age benefits. But he told me he had no idea whether he had helped bring these about.

STRAIGHT PLAY

"I play it straight," he said. "I go up before a congressional committee and say 'We haven't any votes. We haven't any money. Suppose you consider the merits of the legislation for a change.'"

On the other hand, the inevitable duplicating machine has been busy tossing out ideas and opinions.

"If you grind, grind, grind," said Marsh, "you may get out some facts that will get people to think."

Incidentally, Marsh once was investigated by the attorney general.

"That was back in 1921," he said. "Harry Daugherty sent a man around to ask questions. At that time I think they had the idea I was taking Moscow gold."

Marsh pulled on the empty pipe, and then said cheerfully

"Hell, my big trouble has been that I haven't been able to get hold of any good old American gold, much less Moscow's."

Boom Is On Again In Farm, Ranch Lands

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 12. (AP) —The boom is on again for Texas farm and ranch lands.

Texas A&M College noted the market demand following a study conducted by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Texas Agricultural Station.

The report shows land prices in Texas in 1949 were 151 per cent higher than in the 1935-39 period, and are still rising.

The report was based on 93 sample counties and showed the 1949 average price per acre at $44.44 compared to $41.36 for the previous year.

While higher prices were recorded in 12 of the 18 type-of-farming areas in the state, the sharpest gain occurred in the wheat area of the High Plains. Here the average price per acre advanced from $32 in 1948 to $52 in 1949. Other areas showing marked increases were the High Plains and Trans-Pecos grazing area, the Edwards Plateau and Central Basin, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the northeast sandy lands.

Perkins Is Ruled Jim Wells County Nominee

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 12. (AP) — The Fourth Court of Appeals yesterday ruled W. R. (Buster) Perkins is the Democratic Party nominee for county commissioner of precinct one in Jim Wells County.

Perkins received more votes than Dan J. Scruggs in the Democratic party run-off election. But in a suit over the election, evidence in the trial showed some illegal votes had been cast. The favored candidate was not determined. A district court contest was expedited with Perkins the declared winner. The court of appeals affirmed the verdict of the trial court.

The appeals court said in its ruling that "due to the shortness of the time before absentee voting will begin no motion for rehearing will be considered unless filed within two days."

Watch Alaskan Vote Closely

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 12. (AP) — The land of the midnight sun today holds the answer to whether a Republican tide in Tuesday's general election will wash the Democrats out of control of the Alaska legislature.

The Republicans led for six out of eight Senate seats in the four territorial districts as early returns came in today and for 12 of the 20 seats in the house of representatives.

Slow communications and difficulty in tabulating the lengthy ballot delayed final counts but the preliminary returns indicated a definite trend toward the GOP.

[illegible] house seats in the second division are from the Arctic region and the isolated west coast, from which no returns have been received.

The Democrats clung to their almost traditional control of the seat held by the territorial delegate to the U. S. Congress. Incumbent E. L. Bartlett piled up a better than 2 to 1 margin over his Republican opponent, Almer Peterson of Anchorage.

The Alaskan election was closely watched by both parties as a possible indicator of political trends in the United States. The Democrats have claimed Alaska for that role in view of the similarity between the territory's voting in 1946 and 1948 and the results in the states.

Skunk Fools Everyone

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 12. (AP) —An SPCA agent probed delicately for a skunk hidden under a parked automobile, while a crowd gathered—at a distance.

Then Edward Bald arrived, reached under the the car and grabbed the skunk.

"Thank goodness you found Fifi," he exclaimed.

Bald said the animal had been deordorized two years ago.

Boy Shoots Girls To Do Something Bad

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 12. (AP) — "I just wanted to do something bad."

That, police said, was the only explanation 18-year-old Donald Cole could give for shooting and wounding two girls in a woodland ambush.

The Soo High School junior admitted the shootings following his capture by state police in the north woods yesterday. State troopers and sheriff's deputies had been hunting him since Saturday when he fled the scene of the shootings.

Brought to the Chippewa County jail here, the youth told Prosecutor James A. Henderson it was an overpowering urge "to do something bad" that caused him to shoot Pauline Parady, 14, and Myrna Benson, 12.

Historic 'Mighty Mo' Could Be Scene Of Pacific Conference

By MAX BOYD
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Belief grew in the capital today that President Truman's historic conference with Gen. MacArthur this week-end will take place aboard the 45,000-ton battleship Missouri.

This idea gained circulation as a result of reports that the President and MacArthur are going to Wake Island for the meeting. Wake is a desolate island about 2,000 miles west of Hawaii. It was the scene of bitter fighting early in World War II.

LITTLE TO OFFER

Persons familiar with the island said it offers little more than a few quonset huts to accommodate visitors—hardly adequate for the some 100 persons in the two official parties.

On the other hand, the Missouri could provide quarters, communications and an impressive setting for the meeting. Mr. Truman and Gen. MacArthur could go aboard after traveling to Wake by air. Thus far, the President's itinerary has been disclosed only as far west as Hawaii. He is scheduled to reach there by plane tomorrow morning.

The "Mighty Mo" has a strong sentimental appeal for both persons. It is named for Mr. Truman's home state and was sponsored by his daughter, Margaret, when the President was Sen. from Missouri.

On its broad deck in Tokyo Bay on Sept. 2, 1945, Japanese representatives and MacArthur signed the formal surrender of Japan to the allied powers, thus bringing the second world war to a close.

ONE OTHER

Although the Missouri now is most mentioned as the probably meeting place of the President and MacArthur, another ship — the Mount McKinley—has also been discussed as a possibility. It is an amphibious force command ship and, accordingly, has a large amount of quarters and communications facilities.

Early experiments in color photography were made in 1848 when Alexandre Becquerel reproduced the colors of the spectrum on a daguerrotype plate.

Sixteen North Texas Students Held Here

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 12. (AP) — Sixteen students from North Texas State College at Denton were unwilling "guests" of Midwestern University here today after a raid on Midwestern backfired early this morning.

The visitors today were "well surrounded at all times by close friends," as one observer put it and there will be little chance of their returning to Denton until sometime Friday night.

The students slipped onto the Midwestern campus about 3 o'clock this morning with the aim of prematurely firing material piled up by Midwestern students for a bonfire tonight. The bonfire is to be part of a pep rally in preparation for the Midwestern-North Texas football game tomorrow.

But the Midwestern Indians were ready. The campus was patrolled all night in commando fashion with eight walkie-talkie radios for communication. One radio was in the tower of the administration building.

The raiders were sighted about 3 o'clock. Several chases developed. One car carrying six North Texas Eagles was stopped in Wichita Falls. The highway patrol stopped another at Bowie. It also had six occupants. Students halted another automobile near Jacksboro and the five riders took to the brush. Four were captured after daylight.

The raiders were brought back to the Midwestern campus. Some had "MU" shaved into their hair. All were dressed in baby caps, handed nursing bottles and their picture taken.

[illegible] President Dr. James [illegible] a statement: "I hope no disciplinary action will be taken by North Texas. No damage has been done and apparently none was contemplated. The visit was made in a spirit of good, clean, wholesome fun. Our boys are trying to make them feel at home. I have the utmost confidence in the student council and the student body of Midwestern doing the right thing."

On schedule for the raiders today was attendance at Midwestern classes, free meals and free lodging tonight after the pep rally.

Generous Midwestern students will allow the North Texas students to light the rally bonfire.

A similar raid last year was more destructive. Buildings were smeared with paint and one Midwestern student was injured.

Legion Winds Up Meeting In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12. (AP)-After demanding that the Communist Party be outlawed, the American Legion winds up its 32nd national convention today with a stand on universal military training and the election of officers.

Delegates are expected to back UMT unanimously.

They also will learn whether their foreign relations committee will recommend that they urge the ouster of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

This issue was to come before the convention yesterday, but after a day-long session, the committee could not agree on a recommendation.

TOP CANDIDATES

As for the election, word from department caucuses is that Erle Cocke, Jr., 29, Dawson, Ga., airlines executive and farmer, has the edge over his two opponents in the race for national commander.

He is one of two World War II candidates. The other is Donald Wilson, 33, Clarksburg, W. Va., attorney. The third contestant for the Legion's top job is Arthur J. Connell, 52, Middletown, Conn., clothing firm executive. The retiring commander is George Craig, Brazil, Ind.

In addition, the convention will elect five regional vice presidents. There is only one candidate for chaplain, Rabbi David Lefkowitz, Shreveport, La. The legion rotates this office among a Protestant, a Catholic and a Jew.

The legion urged stern measures yesterday in dealing with Communists and subversives. The delegates were unanimous in recommending:

Outlaw of the Communist Party, by constitutional amendment if necessary; Communists who are American citizens should be interned and tried as traitors, those not citizens should be treated as enemy spies; federal legislation allowing the death penalty for persons convicted of espionage, sabotage or sedition in times of peace as well as war; removal from government office anyone under whom Communist activities have been allowed to operate.

OTHER ACTION

Other unanimously approved resolutions deplored the release from jail of Longshore Union Chief Harry Bridges, urged continuance of the House un-American Activities Committee, commended AFL President William Green for his anti-Communistic work and reaffirmed faith in the FBI and its director, J. Edgar Hoover.

Last night the legionnaires staged a mammoth pageant of movie stars in memorial coliseum, featuring such show personalities as Tenor Ezio Pinza of "South Pacific," Roy Rogers, Gary Cooper and Red Skelton.

Two Dumas Youths Are Held In Arkansas

ROGERS, Ark., Oct 11. (AP) — Two teen-agers from Dumas, Tex., are stewing in the Benton County jail.

The pair, ages 14 and 15, wound up in jail here after fleeing from Dumas because one was wanted for a minor traffic violation. They decided to see Northwest Arkansas because they heard "it is pretty."

But the reason they're in jail, said Sheriff Charlie Womble, is on charges of breaking into several homes. Womble says he recovered blankets, clothes, golf clubs, shoes, a radio and two guns stolen from homes in this area.

Fish Census Next Summer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—The biggest fresh water fish census in history promises to get underway next summer.

Milton C. James, acting director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, outlined to a reporter today the different types of projects he expects state fish commissions to submit for FWLS approval under the new Dingell-Johnson Act. The act provides funds for the improvement of sport-fishing.

One of these projects, he said, is taking the census of trout and salmon, bass and pike and a hundred other varieties of fresh-water fish.

Starting next July 1, the Dingell-Johnson Act will channel to states and territories the entire take from a 10 per cent sport-fishing equipment tax and, incidentally, give the angler a better break. The act was passed last summer.

James gave this outline of projects on which he figures a large portion of the estimated $3 million a year will be spent:

1. The census, and there are several different ways to do it. One is be electric shock. The shock stuns all fish in the area. They are counted and then thrown back.

Another is called "creel census," which is done by counting every fisherman's take along a portion of a stream or in a lake. The yield gives fish experts a good estimate of the total number of fish available.

A third kind of census involves marking hatchery fish, putting a specified number in the water, say 1,000 or so, and then comparing the marked and unmarked catches.

2. Studies of stream or lake topography.

"There are several ways to improve a stream for fishing," James said. "Maybe the current should be slightly changed. A strategic barrier in the water does that."

3. Obtaining chemical data from the water to see whether it's agreeable to fish.

4. Searching out spawning areas, checking food supplies and determining whether a lake or pond can support good-size stock.

Ingrid Bergman Gives Up Control Of Her Daughters Trust Fund

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12. (AP) — Actress Ingrid Bergman has agreed to relinquish her share of control in the $22,325 estate of her 12-year-old daughter, Pia.

The child's father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, yesterday filed a petition asking that a Los Angeles bank be named as co-guardian of the estate in place of Miss Bergman. The petition said Pia's mother had agreed to this change.

A previous settlement gives him custody of Pia most of the year.

Miss Bergman obtained a Mexican proxy divorce from Dr. Lindstrom last Feb. 9 and is now living in Rome with her Italian husband, Film Director Roberto Rossellini, and their baby son.

New Sox Manager To Meet The Press Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. (AP) — Paul Richards, the Chicago White Sox new manager, was slated to be introduced to press and radio staffers today in Comiskey Park.

Richards, whose appointment under a two-year contract was announced Tuesday, was plucked from the manager's post at Seattle in the Pacific Coast League. He left his home in Waxahachie, Tex., yesterday to come to Chicago to sign his new managerial contract.

New Training Methods Used To Cut Boot Camp Indoctrination

By ED CREACH
(Associated Press Staff)

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Oct. 12—"Your eyes are right.

"Your pants are tight.

"You had a good home but you left—

"Your right.

"Sound off: one, two. . . ."

You'll hear this chant, and a hundred variations of it, on the shore of Lake Michigan these days as the Bluejackets march through sharp autumn air.

ALL VOLUNTEERS

But the thousands of boys — all volunteers—do much more than drill. The U. S. naval training center is making them ready for active duty with the nation's expanding fleet, just as it trained more than 1 million young men in World War II.

Training is fast in these uncertain days. Fourteen weeks of basic training has been cut to 11. Your son, or your neighbor's, won't do much loafing if he comes to Great Lakes.

But he will learn a lot about seamanship, about democracy and about himself.

You'll see a change in him a few hours after he gets off the train. The Navy will give him a close-cropped haircut, a knit wool watch cap and a temporary uniform—dungarees. He won't get his regular uniform for about a month. It has to be tailored to fit him.

"The average age of these boys is 18," says Capt. Kelvin L. Nutting, who heads the recruit training command. "We give them the same fundamental training regardless of their future assignments. From here they will go on to service schools or direct to the fleet.

ADJUSTMENT

"Here we help a boy adjust to living in a group . . . teach him the fundamentals of Navy life—and of democracy . . . instill in him a pride in himself and in his service . . . help him develop a desire for self-improvement."

Today's Navy aims at being like a good father—firm but not harsh. The sailor is neither pushed around nor coddled.

Barracks are spotless. The boys sleep in double-decker bunks—not in hammocks any more—and the bunks had better be made right. Recruits wash their own clothes. If they don't know how, petty officers teach them how.

In training, there's more emphasis on how-to-do it movies and other training than on drill. But theory is followed by practice.

Midland Clubwoman To Address All Snyder Study Groups Friday

Holder of an honorary doctor's degree, trustee of a hospital, district commander of the American Cancer Society, and on and on go the titles and achievements of Mrs. J. Howard Hodge of Midland, who will speak to a large group of Snyder's study clubwomen tomorrow afternoon at Country Club.

Mrs. Hodge's first and most-worked-at accomplishment is, of course, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which will make her doubly important as a speaker at the tea from 3 until 5 o'clock tomorrow.

The Altrurian Club sponsors Mrs Hodge in her only local appearance. Mrs. W. R. Bell, Sr., club president, negotiating the details. All study club members will have invited guests probably, and Mrs. Bell is urging a large turn-out for the active study clubwoman from Midland.

Mrs. Hodge has been on the board of regents and an instructor at Howard Payne College, and their honorary doctor's degree was bestowed upon her recently.

Mrs. Hodge has long worked with study clubs, is active in her home-town clubs, has rung up an enviable record with district and state study club activities.

The group, to convene in the basement of the First Christian Church will hear Mrs. Ralph Sealyea speak on "Soils and Plant Foods". Mrs. Sealyea, a Horticulturist, is a guest of the club from Houston.

Mrs. Pylant Hostess To El Catorce Club

El Catorce Club met with Mrs. D. Pylant of Fluvanna Tuesday afternoon.

Present for bridge were Mrs. Riley Mason, Mrs. Leo Beaver, Mrs. Ruth Beaver, Mrs. Patsy Arrow, Mrs. Joe Landrum, Mrs. Wayland Mathis, Mrs. Lloyd Ainsworth, Mrs. Harry Kingston, and one guest, Mrs. C. F. Landrum.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Kingston, October 24.

Coyote Steals Lunch

FORT WORTH, Oct. 12. (AP)—The wolf in folk lore was more interested in Red Riding Hood than the goodies she carried, but a coyote here was more interested in Charley Harrell's lunch than the boy.

"I was carrying my lunch in a sack and it stole the sack right out of my hand," the 12-year-old said yesterday. The fifth grader took out after the coyote. It turned and jumped at his neck, but he knocked it down. James Cole, 25, came up and drove off the animal. He was bitten on the hand.

A Negro, Charley Hurd, set out in his automobile to hunt the coyote. He shot it nine times with a .45 caliber pistol.

Many vitamins and minerals are lost from grain in flour milling.

Biological, Medical Tests To Be Used In Sabu Paternity Case

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12. (AP)—Medical science will be asked to help out in deciding the paternity suit against Sabu, former elephant boy of the movies.

Brenda Marian Julier, London ballet dancer, is suing Sabu Dastagir, asking that he be declared the father of Michaela, two.

Sabu denied paternity when he appeared on the witness stand yesterday and his lawyer said the actor also doubted that Miss Julier is the mother.

At the request of Sabu's attorney, the court directed that blood tests be taken of Sabu, Miss Julier and the baby and that she be examined to determine if she had ever given birth to a child.

The court also directed that medical tests be made seeking to determine from the child's bone structure whether it was born about Sept. 12, 1948, as Miss Julier says.

Sabu testified that he had never been intimate with Miss Julier. She married a British film technician, Frank Ernst, last August.

Though All His Figures Were Wrong, Columbus Hit Jackpot

By SHERRY BOWEN
(Associated Press Staff)

Discovery of America by Columbus 458 years ago today was a mistake in more ways than one.

Every schoolboy knows that Columbus was trying to sail west to Asia and that when he hit America he thought it was Asia.

Less familiar is the fact that figures on the size of the earth used by Columbus were wrong. Had he known the true distance between the west coast of Europe and the east coast of Aisa, he would not have sailed. His ships could not have carried enough supplies to sail that far.

More than that, if he had accepted the best estimates of the distance which were accepted by the best geographers of his day, he probably would not have sailed. These estimates were those of Claudius Ptolemy, Second Century geographer. They were far less than the true distance, but they were more accurate than those used by Columbus.

GUESS WAS CLOSE

Strangely enough, one estimate of the true distance had been made by Eratosthenes of Alexandria about 1,800 years before Columbus sailed. Eratosthenes used the distance between Alexandria and Assuan as his base. By measuring the angle of the sun in the two places he figured what part of a circle around the world that distance was.

His figure for the circumference of the earth was 24,740 miles. Modern measures make it about 24,900 miles. Of course he knew nothing about America. But he did estimate how much of the earth was occupied by Europe and Asia. He also hit that pretty close.

Some moderns think Eratosthenes was just lucky—his errors cancelled out. But in any case, he told the world how big it was and how big Europe and Asia were. And what he said was correct. But by the time of Columbus, the work of Eratosthenes had been lost.

About 100 years after Eratosthenes, Posidonius of Rhodes used the same methods. He used the distance between Alexandria and Rhodes as his base. And he got it wrong. He said 7½ degrees on the earth was 3,750 stadia. Eratosthenes made 5,000 stadia 7 1-5 degrees. Naturally, Posidonius' earth was far too small.

MARINUS WENT WRONG

Then came Marinus of Tyre who lived just before Ptolemy. Marinus used the Posidonius figures. But he thought he had new data on the size of Europe and Asia. Those figures were wrong. When Ptolemy got hold of them, he showed they were wrong. But he quoted Marinus' figures to correct them. And he put the fairly correct Ptolemy figure for the size of Europe and Asia on the too-small earth of Marinus.

Columbus had the Ptolemy geography. But he used the Marinus figures which were quoted in it only to correct them. Had he used the hearer correct Ptolemy figures he would have thought he had to sail about half way around the too-small Ptolemy earth to reach Asia. That probably would have been too far for him.

FOOLED COLUMBUS

Columbus used the Marinus figures on the basis of a book by Pierre d' Ailly who said a degree at the equator was 56 2-3 miles. But these were Arab miles which reached d'Ailly through Afragan, an Arab geographer, and Roger Bacon. Columbus translated them as shorter Italian nautical miles.

Also Columbus thought that Marco Polo had found new lands to the east that Marinus had never heard about. And Columbus knew about the Azores and Cape Verde Islands which Marinus did not know. So he added to Marinus's already exaggerated estimate of the size of Europe and Asia.

And just to add to his mistakes, Columbus made an estimate of where he was on the earth in terms of degrees after he landed in America. His observations of an eclipse of the moon were so bungled that he placed himself far to the west of where he actually was. Therefore he asserted he had proved that the Marinus geography was correct.

The fact remains, however, that Columbus got to America — even though by mistake.

French Army Takes 500 Square Miles From Vietminh Forces

By KENNETH LIKES
(Associated Press Staff)

HANOI, Indochina, Oct. 10. (delayed) — The French army is feverishly pushing work on a web of permanent fortifications to hold 500 square miles of newly-conquered territory north of Hanoi.

In a 12-day offensive just ended, six battalions—about 4,200 men—cut a swath through a triangular region of flat ricelands 40 miles north of this chief city of North Indochina.

This action was south of the Caobang-Thatkhe border region where five French battalions were almost completely wiped out during the week end by Communist-led guerrillas.

BLOCK ADVANCE

Vietminh forces dug pits and wide gaps in the road to block the French advance. They succeeded in making the route impassable for rolling equipment. As rocks from the road were strewn through the rice paddies, the French had to make long hauls to replace the filler material.

Heavy mobile guards with automatic weapons and 40 millimeter guns were used to protect the construction gangs. About 1,000 villagers voluntarily helped, hauling dirt in straw baskets to fill the holes in the road.

Army construction units have started to build 30 medieval-type brick fortresses in the new territory. Five of the main positions are along the roadside. The others are four and five miles back from the road, located to cover each flank.

CITY IS ANCHOR

The big anchor fortification will be at Thai Nguyen. Several positions already have been ringed with think fences of sharpened bamboo sticks. Workers huddle each night in slit trenches behind these fences.

Peasants who fled and hid in the face of advancing French columns last week have now started to return to villages and are reappearing in the fields.

What appeared to be a deserted countryside a week ago has suddenly come to life in the past two days. There is no cheering for the French. No French flags are shown. There is no display of emotion one way or another by the Vietnames.

DROP LEAFLETS

The French army today circulated leaflets telling the populace of the capture of Thai Nguyen and of the French intention to occupy it permanently and protect the local people.

For the first time a foreign correspondent was allowed in the advance area in North Indochina during a French offensive. The operation was typical of a series during the past year that has driven the main military force of Ho Chi Minh's guerillas from the ricelands to mountain strongholds.

Successful as it was, its importance is limited because the new territory will be as difficult to hold against the elusive hit and run guerillas as it was to take. No real dent was made in Ho's forces. His mountain stronghold was in no way breached.

The main target of the French drive was the city of Thai Nguyen, a city now burned out and an expanse of rubble.

The "combat phase" of the operation wound up officially Monday at midnight. Scant opposition was put up against the initial French thrust, but supply lines and the deployed forces are still in an uneasy position, surrounded by the hostile Vietminh.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) — Official casualties in the Korean war as of last week are listed at 24,163, an increase of 3,407 in a week.

The total, announced yesterday by the Defense Department, covers those whose next of kin had been notified through Oct. 6. Of these, 3,164 were listed as dead, 16,289 wounded and 4,260 missing.

Among the reported missing are 311 who have since found their way back to military units and 107 identified as held by the enemy.

Auction of First Bale Will Aid Youth Center

Another auction of the first bale of cotton ginned in Scurry County will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the square.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the Youth Center. The Snyder National Bank gave the bale to the center after it was bought at an auction held on Aug. 26.

Colonel C. H. McCall will auction the bale Saturday.

Coal Stocks Show A Gain During August

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimated the nation's coal stocks at the end of August at 58,964,000 tons, a 13.4 per cent gain for the month.

That amount represents a 48-day supply, a better than normal store for Sept. 1, the bureau reported today.

That British Calm

NORWICH, Eng., Oct. 12. (AP) —The trial of Norman Goldthorpe, accused of the strangulation murder of a 40-year-old woman, was dragging to a close. The jury retired to consider its verdict.

Forty minutes later, the 12 solemn men filed back into the expectant courtroom—and asked for a cup of tea.

The judge sent them back to work. Three minutes later they delivered their verdict—guilty.

C. O. Pitman To Go To Active Duty Soon

C. O. Pitman, 2802 Avenue M, member of the army reserves, has received his call to active duty.

Pitman, a captain, will report Wednesday to Fort Smith, Arkansas, where the 4002 Army Service Unit is stationed. Pitman will join that unit.

His wife and three children, Keith Pitman, 14; Ronnie Pitman, 10; and Kay Pitman, 2, will remain in Snyder.

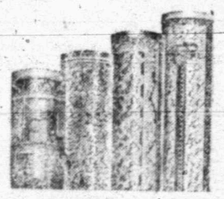

Goat Turns In Alarm

HOLCOMB, N. Y., Oct. 12. (AP) —A goat is credited with sounding the alarm of a $10,000 fire near this Ontario County community.

Joseph Mosher said the goat butted the back door of his farmhouse so persistently he went out to see what was wrong. He discovered the barn on a neighboring farm was ablaze.
