Coste On His Way Across Atlantic On East-West Flight

FRENCH FLIER SEEKS TO MAKE SUCCESSFUL EAST-WEST CROSSING; MAURICE BELLONTE IS ACCOMPANYING HIM IN BIG PLANE

LE BOURGET, France, Sept. 1.—Captain Dieudonne Coste, one of the greatest of French aviators, took off at 10:54 a. m. French summer time (4:54 a. m. est.) today on a flight across the Atlantic to New York. Accompanying him in his plane, "The Question Mark" which already holds the world's long distance record, was Maurice Bellonte, co-pilot and mechanic and friend and companion of other famous flights.

Takeoff Best In Career
The takeoff was one of the best in Coste's long career. Although heavily loaded with gasoline, the plane left the ground with hardly a bump.

The start was considerably delayed because of weather conditions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The Radio Marine corporation received a wireless message from the liner Berengaria reporting that the ship had been in communication with Dieudonne Coste's transatlantic plane at 10:45 a. m. (E. S. T.) today and that "everything is ok." The Berengaria sailed from New York Thursday.

The fliers were up at dawn and would have started then but for a vering of the wind to the north. The wind brought clouds and haze. M. Codos, a flying companion of commercial flying days, went up and surveyed part of the route to Chesbourg. He returned and forecast an improvement soon. After a conference with weather officials Coste changed his departure time until noon, but with further improvement in the weather took off earlier.

To Average 100 Miles
There lay ahead of him a trip in excess of 3,700 miles which he should traverse at an average speed of 100 miles an hour. This would put him in New York about sundown Tuesday. Should he succeed in his flight he will be the first east-west trans-Atlantic flier to land in New York without a prior stop.

He charted his route as over southwestern England and Ireland and thence over the great circle. He expected to have a wind behind him during the first part of his journey. Last year when attempting the same feat he finally had to turn back when he encountered what he called a "wall of wind."

The plane weighed seven tons, five of which was gas, enough, he said, to carry him 5,000 miles in favorable weather. He said he expected to reach New York in 30 hours although well able to stay up over 30 hours, as he did last year when establishing the world's long distance record by flying from France to Taitshair, Manchuria.

The plane, with a "T" on its side, is a Breguet which Coste had flown for years. It is a biplane, with a single Hispano Suisa motor.

FRENCH FLIER FACES HARDEST TEST
PARIS, Sept. 1. (AP)—Captain Dieudonne Coste today attempted the most difficult feat of his 15 years of flying, although in those years he has crossed the World war, accounted for five enemy planes and seven balloons and

Airplane Refueled From An Automobile

The feat was performed here yesterday. Johnson's plane has a 30 horsepower motor with a top speed of 85 miles an hour and can drop alone as slow as 25 miles an hour.

SIX KILLED IN WRECK

TEXAS SPECIAL IS DERAILED LAST NIGHT

ELEVEN INJURED; WORK BELIEVED DONE BY TRAIN WRECKERS
(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—Six persons were killed, eleven taken to hospitals and about 180 other passengers shaken up, many receiving minor injuries, when the "Texas Special" of the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad was wrecked in the outskirts of St. Louis at 7:20 o'clock last night.

Railroad and county officials in St. Louis reported to J. E. Hutchison, vice president of the Frisco in charge of operations at Springfield, Mo., that the wreck occurred at Osage Hills last night.

Although badly injured in the derailment of the Frisco's de luxe passenger train, "The Texas Special," at Osage Hills last night, Atlee Wickersham, Springfield, Mo., brakeman, crawled from the wrecked baggage and office car and stationed himself at each end of the wreckage to prevent other trains from running into it in the darkness.

Charge of investigation today were convinced the speeding train was purposely and maliciously wrecked by an obstruction of large rocks on the rails. No statement as to the motive was given. Two-fold investigation went forward today into the derailment.

St. Louis county authorities and officials of the railroad, who were conducting separate inquiries, were convinced the derailment was the work of train wreckers.

Dr. John O'Connell, county coroner, said the derailment had been caused by a pile of large rocks which had been placed on the rails. The rocks, six or eight in number and ranging from one foot square to three inches in thickness, were placed on the rails on a curve in the tracks, he reported.

BALLOON RACE BEGINS TODAY
THREE AMERICANS OUT FOR CUP; STARTS AT 4:30
(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Six premier balloonists, flaunting the flags of four nations, awaited the start today of the 19th annual Gordon Bennett race, pioneer classic of the air.

The weather, the only uncertain factor in the takeoff, was forecast as fair, and a dozen men, the pilots and their aides, were prepared to pit skill and luck against the elements in a quest of one of the world's great sporting honors.

Three Americans entered against a trip of Europeans in an effort to bring the United States a new record of five successive victories. Capt. Ernest Demuyter of Belgium, veteran of every race and holder of the original Gordon Bennett award, was considered the most likely of the foreign entrants to halt the United States' winning streak. The United States won the second cup and has the first leg on the third.

America's leading balloonist, Ward G. Van Orman of Akron, O., who won his second victory last year, was back to renew his duel with the Belgian R. J. Blair, also of Akron and a pupil of Van Orman's. (Turn to Page 5, Column 2, Please)

OKLAHOMA CITY ENTERS BID FOR 1931 CONVENTION; FOUR TEXAS CITIES OUT FOR 1932 SESSION; HOTELS ARE BUSY

OKLAHOMA CITY is the only city so far out for the 1931 convention. Owing to the custom of having a Texas governor to preside over a meeting in Oklahoma and an Oklahoma governor to host a Texas convention, the 1931 gathering goes to the Sooner state. Tulsa, host in 1928, is out of the picture. Clinton, a town of 10,000 has not bid. Neither has Shawnee, Enid or Muskogee, larger towns of the state.

Four After 1932
Four Texas cities are bidding for 1932: Galveston, Tyler, Amarillo and the "Lower Rio Grande valley" group. Banners displaying the bids are found in the Lubbock lobby.

Flags of many nations, including Canada and other parts of the British empire, with Germany, France, Mexico and Japan, were used to decorate the auditorium of the First Baptist church. The stars and stripes and the blue, gold and white of Kiwanis International were the most prominent.

Old Stories Lend Inspiration For Fabric Designers

BY ELIZABETH H. RUSSELL, Decoration Editor

MODERN DESIGNERS have returned to some of the stories which never grew old—for inspiration in new fabric motives, and we are charmed to find such favorites as "Moby Dick" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" pictured in dashing modern materials. These vivid fabrics are claiming when used in the right places, and modern decorators have had no difficulty in finding uses for them. For long curtains in sunrooms or summer homes, or for slip covers and draperies in informal rooms, they are appropriate and delightful.

"Moby Dick," the Great White Whale, makes an especially decorative subject, and a study of the details reveals icebergs, ice-locked whaling ships, rowing sailors and, as the center of interest, the leading character himself, "blowing" in a manner which evidently gives good cause for alarm to a group of started seas. This would be a splendid fabric for a boy's room, and give him no end of inspiration for adventures.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has a more sentimental appeal, but is not without adventure, too, since it depicts Simon Legree and his famous hounds, as well as Eliza on her ice-cake. Uncle Tom and his angel Eva, and the famous little cabin "amid the cotton and the corn." This, too, would give a child much amusement and interest if it were used in the decoration of his room and grown-ups favor it for its pictorial value, and find many uses for it. It was recently used effectively for draperies and slip covers in the cabins of a large yacht.

Gorgeous Modern Design A gorgeous modern design is shown in the picture of the door opening into a kitchenette in a modern New York apartment. This design is called "Le Petit Dejeuner" and depicts an amusing presentation of the elements of this "Little Breakfast." It is printed in black and scarlet on a white background of rayon rop, and is as effective as an early Art Deco design, which, in fact, it strongly recalls. A coffee-pot and dish of fruit including pineapples, bananas and oranges, may be deciphered, as well as a sugar bowl, cream jug and cup and saucer, all rendered in a modernistic manner.

The walls in this room are finished in a salmon-cream enamel paint, the floor is covered with a cork covering in mellow shades of tobacco brown, while the furniture is antique walnut French Provincial. The strongly decorative fabric used for curtains at the windows and a portiere at the door, add emphasis to the whole scheme and give it snap and interest. The scarlet note in the fabric is repeated in the enamel saucers in the tiny kitchenette, the brilliant tulips on the antique bureau and the flowers on the quaint postery on the open dresser.

These modern fabrics add immensely to the possibilities of "waking up" a color scheme, and infuse interest and personality into every room where they are used.

Send The Whole Child To School

Every Child Is Entitled To A Fair Start

What About Your Child? Is He Handicapped?

To take the lead in every undertaking in life, one must have comfortable vision, according to Dr. Walter F. Kimball, President of the Missouri State Board of Optometry. Dr. Kimball goes on further to stress the importance of good eyes to boys and girls while they are young.

Parents and teachers at all times should see to it that the abuse of school children's eyes be prevented. Many times a splendid example of an athletic youth is ruined because of weak eyes. Olympic stars, tennis champions, boxers, baseball stars and athletes, both men and women, in all branches of sports, must have active eyesight to win honors.

All the sports require the most perfect coordination of sight, muscle and nerve action. Modern Optometry, Dr. Kimball continues, is concerning itself as much with lessening the need for glasses among our children as with obtaining better ones for ourselves.

And the campaign "Send the Whole Child to School" which is fostered each year during the month of September by the National Association of Optometrists at once assures its true valuation, that of an educational campaign which is vital to the life, health and happiness of millions of our future citizens. In other words, the eyes being of paramount importance in education and the formation of habit, the moral standard of our country can be seriously affected by how we safeguard the eyes of our youth.

A Child

has little means of comparing his vision with standard vision. He has no means whatever of knowing whether his eyes are right.

Many times one has apparently perfect vision, yet an eye defect is present which makes him use much more nervous energy to get that vision than he should use. In those cases the immediate result of eye strain is seen not in the eyes but in some other part of the body, often quite remote from the eyes.

Carefully conducted vision surveys show that a large percentage of all children between the ages of six and sixteen have defective eyes.

Most of these children are being forced to do school work under the handicap of a constant nervous strain caused by neglect of eyes that need help. And the pitiful part is that the parents' ignorance of these conditions does not save the child from the penalty he or she is constantly paying.

It is foolish to lose time in supposing that the child will "grow out of it."

The suitable time to put out a fire is before it amounts to anything. The sensible time to stop eye strain is before it "amounts to anything."

Nothing but trouble is gained by waiting until the point is reached at which some school examiner sends the child home for the attention his parents should have given him long before.

A thorough examination by an optometrist is interesting, not at all unpleasant, and as no drops or drugs of any kind are used, causes absolutely no unpleasant after-effects.

You can get the facts about your child's eyes easily, quickly and positively.

Consider your child.

It pays to Get the Facts about eyes.

Periodic Vision Surveys

should be made in the school by trained refractionists and careful records kept of the visual capacity of each child. School authorities are urged to confer with their licensed optometrists who will be glad to co-operate in this work. Such surveys can be made rapidly and with slight interruption to the school work as optometrist examinations are made without the use of drugs and entail no unpleasant after effects.

You should take occasion to observe carefully the children in your charge as there are certain symptoms of eye strain easily read which will enable you to determine in some degree the visual condition of the child. These symptoms include:

Headaches—The majority of headaches are caused by defects of vision and they readily yield when the eyes have the proper optometric help.

Head Tilting—Many children (and grown-ups too) carry the head tilted to one side. This indicates muscular trouble of the eyes and is a frequent cause of headaches, nervousness, indigestion, dizziness and other nervous symptoms.

Squinting—The child with defective eyes often squints or frowns to shut out light which irritates his weak eyes.

Crops of Styes, Inflamed Lids—Styes are frequently caused by defective vision, as is also general inflammation of the lids. These usually disappear when proper glasses are worn.

Holding Book Too Close—This habit does not usually indicate nearsightedness but it does mean that the eyes are seriously defective. The work is held close in an effort to get a larger view and this means added eye strain.

Poor Readers—Many children with defective eyes are poor readers and most poor readers have defective eyes which are unable to sense the words rapidly.

Poor Distance Vision—This speaks for itself, indicating that the eyes are out of focus.

Nervousness, Irritability—Eye strain is a frequent cause of these troubles. Many a young outlaw has been tamed by putting glasses astride his nose.

Crossed Eyes—This is nearly always due to eyes that are out of focus. Delay is dangerous and neglect often causes the deviating eye to become permanently blind.

Any of the above symptoms indicate urgent need for a thorough Optometric examination.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says many a fellow who's a big hole at the office doesn't dare squeak at home.

Yes sir. That fellow Payne sure was bad about foolin' with dynamite.

You kiddies who entered The Plainsman's essay writing contest just about had the old man stumped. Yes sir, I had to figure and figure on the prizes until I had a headache. Doggone—I never saw so many good essays, well written and everything.

However, with the help of three or four of the reporters I have finally decided on the prize winners. Those of you who didn't win one of the prizes don't feel disappointed because you all came so close that it wasn't even funny.

First prize, $2, goes to Eleanor Simpson, 9 years, who lives at 2211 14th street. Second prize, $1.50, goes to Maxine Hoover, P. O. Box 2403. Third prize, $1, goes to Weldon Cook, 1920 6th street. Fourth prize, 50 cents, goes to Mary Ruth Toy, 2315 14th street.

NOW out of the other essays there were many, many good ones so The Plainsman has chosen some honorable mentions and the boys and girls in this list came awfully close to winning prizes. The Plainsman didn't have but $5 to spend but any of the little folks getting honorable mention will have an ice cream cone coming to them if they'll call at The Plainsman's office Tuesday afternoon. Here are the honorable mentions: Othel Kennedy, general delivery, Lubbock; Glen W. (the didn't sign his last name) who lives at 1633 18th street; Yvonne Goodwin, no address given; Van Jones, Clovis, New Mexico; Ruby Tom Rhodes, 2114 20th street.

It so happens that The Plainsman doesn't meet any of these kiddies but their parents are mighty proud of them. Their work is uniformly good and they should all make good grades in school.

PARTS of Texas are getting all worked up over blue laws. Lubbock is fortunate that it has no similar fighting going on here, for after all is said and done, fighting blue laws or fighting against them doesn't get anybody anywhere.

The Plainsman doesn't know whether they're still at it or not, but in Cooke county not so long ago they'd gone so crazy over antiquated Sunday blue laws that they even stopped the sale of soft drinks.

Now The Plainsman doesn't claim that it is necessary to drink soft drinks on Sunday or any other day for that matter. But tell people they can't buy em on Sunday and they'll buy em just for spite. In Cooke county it was decided that folks could buy food on Sunday but that's all they could buy. Soft drink dispensing got around the blue laws by selling a cookie for a nickel and giving the customer a coke to wash it down with. That's just an instance of how the blue laws were beaten at the last ditch—and also an instance of how today's people can be when they decline to be reasonable.

It's the same way with Sunday picture shows. Five years ago there wasn't a Sunday show on the Plains. In fact the only Sunday shows in Texas were in the big cities, where public opinion demanded them and the laws were forgotten in the dust of the statute books. Now nearly every town has Sunday afternoon shows and a few of them have Sunday night shows. Lubbock theaters don't advertise Sunday night shows but they are well patronized and, as a gesture of good will, the shows run slides, urging people to go to church on Sunday.

THE PLAINSMAN hasn't any personal opinion about Sunday shows in a theater as oftentimes he has himself more than they would be if they were somewhere else. However, this writer has attended but one Sunday show since Lubbock has been having shows. The principal reason being that attending a show on Sunday leaves nothing to be done during the first couple of nights of the week.

Down at Abilene they've been having a big time. The shows are running on Sunday—the show managers are pinched, tried and fined on Monday. Now the defense counsel for one showman has dared the Mayor of Abilene to put Sunday shows up to a vote of the people and leading citizens are lining up, one on each side, another, calling each other names.

Don't forget—the Kiwanians and the school marms are here and Lubbock people have a job on their hands entertaining them. A little smile, courtesy in answering a question or performing some little service may go a long way in impressing a visitor with this city and country. Between four and five thousand visitors are in the city and to take care of them

The Army Celebrates Thirtieth Anniversary Of Its Part In Putting Down Boxer Rebellion; Story Full Of Thrills

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NSA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Thirty years ago this month developed the climax of the Boxer rebellion in China, when American, British, French, Russian troops stormed Peking and rescued the diplomats and other foreigners beleaguered there in the legation quarter.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

read some letters which appear as a haze. It may wonder at the teachers' impatience. It may with the pathetic docility of many defective children, accept the verdict that it is not like other children because it is "stupid."

The International Expedition

The Boxers were Chinese who wanted to drive the foreigners out of the country. Their Chinese name was sometimes translated as "Righteous and United Fists," so it was easy for the foreigners to think of calling them boxers. The use of foreign names had long been endangered as they increased in strength, so the United States, Japan and the European powers joined in sending an armed expedition to north China. The Manchurian government got into action as soon as this force landed, lining up with the Boxers.

A little body of diplomats, legation guards, merchants, missionaries and their families found themselves cooped up in Peking behind barricades with a large throng of Chinese Christians. They held out for two months before they were relieved. In justification of their fear of imminent massacre, although they sent out messages for aid they could not tell whither they were in the big cities, where the public opinion demanded them and the laws were forgotten in the dust of the statute books. Now nearly every town has Sunday afternoon shows and a few of them have Sunday night shows.

THE PLAINSMAN hasn't any personal opinion about Sunday shows in a theater as oftentimes he has himself more than they would be if they were somewhere else. However, this writer has attended but one Sunday show since Lubbock has been having shows. The principal reason being that attending a show on Sunday leaves nothing to be done during the first couple of nights of the week.

Down at Abilene they've been having a big time. The shows are running on Sunday—the show managers are pinched, tried and fined on Monday. Now the defense counsel for one showman has dared the Mayor of Abilene to put Sunday shows up to a vote of the people and leading citizens are lining up, one on each side, another, calling each other names.

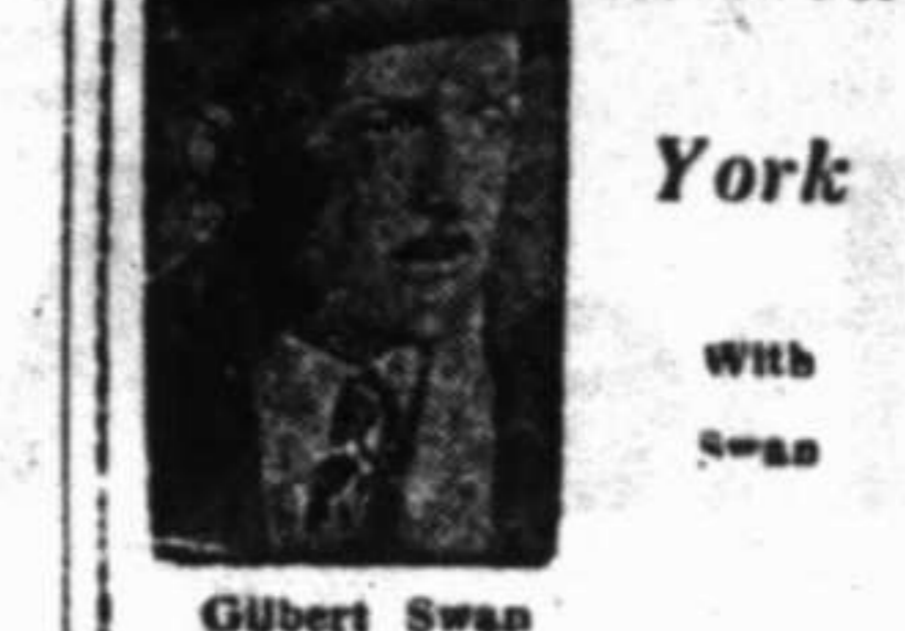

Don't forget—the Kiwanians and the school marms are here and Lubbock people have a job on their hands entertaining them. A little smile, courtesy in answering a question or performing some little service may go a long way in impressing a visitor with this city and country. Between four and five thousand visitors are in the city and to take care of them all demands that every Lubbock citizen get on the job and stay there.

Folks are going to have pretty much that they want, as long as those things they desire don't hurt anyone else. What Texas should do is junk its blue law statutes and substitute them with Sunday laws which fit the minds of the people. It's bad for laws to remain as laws and be openly violated with public approval. Such action weakens all laws—and the respect for them.

That Man on Avenue Q says there are more unemployed people in business offices than there are walking the streets.

In New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—All through Suffolk county, New York state, they are preparing the many rustic fields for another season of polo. Ships from dear old London arrive with famous polo ponies, and the most celebrated of England's players now trek over seasonally.

Lacking the democratic elements that make football or baseball the national favorites that they are, and admittedly of aristocratic and swanky stock, still and all there is a sportsmanship about polo, a real thrill, hazard and amazing skill, which has caught public favor.

All Long Island is dotted with polo fields. Those within auto range of Manhattan naturally draw the heaviest gate receipts. There are the Rockaway Hunt Club, the Meadowbrook Polo Club, the Arroyo Polo Center and a number of others within hourly distance of the city and its suburbs.

One word by listening along the line that the most interesting polo visitors of the year come from Australia. They are four brothers—the Ashbourns—and they are said to be about the same size and to look so much alike that they could be mistaken for quadruplets.

On the American side of things, a tyro discovers that the Hitchcocks are the outstanding figures. There is Thomas Hitchcock Jr., captain of the U. S. players, who will select the team and who is said to be a general expert coach. His mother, Mrs. Hitchcock, is a most ardent polo enthusiast and is said to be as good as on a pony and hold a mallet.

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock Sr. by the way, is said to have the keenest polo eye of any woman in America. It is not in the world. Not only is she an expert coach, but she is responsible for the ability displayed by a score of young millionaires whose names have been mentioned with the game. Hitchcock Sr. looks after the training and the affairs of the ponies.

But if you listen in on the off-stage chatter about such matters, you'll find that Mrs. Hitchcock's suggestions concerning players and field points are seldom disputed.

Having turned her son into a crack player at an early age, she then proceeded to take in hand such prominent young millionaires as August Whitney, young Cornelius Vanvorst and Douglas Burdick, who made up a team known as the Meadow Lark. Mrs. Hitchcock used to pitch in and show them how to do it, asking no favors from any player but she broke her arm when pitched from her horse and this season must sit upon the sidelines. She's 65 by the way, and very southern.

There are a number of other colorful and picturesque figures. For instance, Cecil Smith, a cowboy from Texas who started "hounding" the range where polo is a game that even Will Rogers can play when he feels in the mood. There is George Bostwick who for years has been known as "the gentleman jockey" because he has ridden with the best of them in racing events, while still maintaining quite an important social position. There is the widely-known Paddy, spectacular goal maker.

And there is horseflesh such as only millionaires can afford and which so outclassed even the English riders are sending 65 of practice for the late summer competition.

It is reported that hoked apples recently fell off trees in two states. But tree sitters deserve stronger names than that.

LAUGH EACH DAY WITH THE JOURNAL COMICS

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The man just waved as he went by. We stood and looked at him. "Oh, my, but I'll bet he gets tired if he hikes all day long. Why, we should stop and take a rest. Perhaps he doesn't think it best. He's hiked so much the muscles in his legs look good and strong."

"Oh, he's a rather husky sort," the Travel Man explained. "It's his job to hike the highways, hille the sun is shining bright. No matter how far he may go each day, he's always bound to know that he can rest his weary bones through good food and sleep at night."

"Remember, son, if you would keep in health you need a lot of sleep. And, while I'm on the subject, we've been staying up too late tonight. We'll turn in early and I know that you will think it's grand to wake up in the morning with the sun just setting."

"I'm game for that," wee Corby said. "So now let's travel straight!"

(The Tines have a fine dip in the next story.)

DOROTHY'S BABY VOICE WINS FAME SHE TRIED TO DODGE; SHE'S A HIT

Dorothy Hall did her best to avoid fame on the stage, but a drawing baby voice made it impossible.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fame has come to Dorothy Hall, though she did her best to dodge it. And, it all happened because of her voice—a drawing baby voice that made people laugh.

It was Dorothy's ambition to become an interior decorator when she left Mendocino, Pa., several years ago. That hope was realized, and she was a president decorator, too. However, when Miss Hall began to mention advantages of Tudor or Louis XIV decor, her clients would smile and ask why she didn't appear on the stage.

Finally Dorothy became a bit exasperated. To prove to her advisers that she was not meant for the stage she went into a play called "White Collars." She was a hit. Then offers came from other producers, and she was a success in each succeeding role.

Richard Dix persuaded her to become his leading lady, and she was taken from that role to play in a Broadway musical comedy.

Now she's to be starred in her own right on the stage, and she'll appear in talkies, too.

For several years she has been married to Neal Andrews, a millionaire manufacturer.

Printed Silks In Tweed Effects Are Smart For Fall

Early fall garments stress the use of dark shades in small printed work. The materials are in a good weight silk and wool and for street or utility wear they are decidedly "wearable." Our full assortment of these fabrics is now on display, and what a pretty display them make—

Rich Brown Tones
Priced $2.75

In this assortment are some most unusual patterns and colorings—the materials are in silk and wool and brown and black and white effects are decidedly outstanding—the quality is especially high and the most striking garments are possibilities—decidedly attractive in price also—only $2.75

Fine New Patterns
at Varied Prices

Other printed silks are also worthy of your attention. There are fine patterns from Cheney and Hass Bros. that are outstanding for the finest garments. Other ranges feature more moderate prices. The assortments of printed silks here now are creating much favorable comment. Especially outstanding are ranges priced—

How New York's Millions Tried To Escape the Heat Wave

Here's what happens when New Yorkers try to escape from crowds on a torrid day by going to the beach. The crowd at world-famous Coney Island, where more than a million hot, perspiring residents of America's largest city swarmed along the shore the other day—and found their neighbors there, too, each on his own grain of sand! Other beaches in the New York area presented similar pictures during the recent nationwide heat wave.

WHEAT ACREAGE IN TEXAS TO BE CUT

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—Farmers of Texas will plant five per cent less wheat this fall than last fall, according to a prospectus issued today by the United States department of agriculture. The acreage sown last fall was 3,150,000 acres and a five per cent reduction would bring this total down to 2,992,500 acres.

Druth conditions were reported to be seriously interfering with preparation of the ground and sowing of the crop and actual sowing will depend largely on the amount of rain that falls during the remainder of the planting season. Seedings of winter wheat throughout the nation will be 4.5 per cent less if farmers carry out their present intention, the prospectus said, indicating a total acreage of 41,392,000. Nebraska and Oklahoma farmers have indicated intention of decreasing their acreage by 12 per cent; Illinois, 8 per cent and Colorado 7 per cent. Other states showed intended decreases of from 1 to 4 per cent. Washington however, reported an intended increase of 50 per cent; North Carolina 25 per cent; Tennessee 20 per cent and Kentucky 10 per cent.
