AGUA PRIETA TO BE SCENE OF CONFLICT

U. S. SOLDIERS READY

3,000 U. S. Infantrymen Entrenched Within Few Feet of Boundary to Prevent Firing Into American Territory.—Carranza Garrison Re-inforced.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 30.—Three thousand men of the Sixth United States Infantry were placed in trenches today within a few feet of the Mexican boundary ready to interfere if an attack on the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta by Villa forces expected Sunday or Monday should result in shooting into American territory.

Brigadier General Thomas J. Davis, brigade commander, said he would take every precaution to prevent any firing into Douglas.

"I do not propose to see the American town shot up," he said. Anticipating a battle tomorrow or Monday, General Davis at the same time issued instructions to residents on the American side to keep within doors.

Villa's advance guard under Colonel Thomas Franco reached San Bernardino, twenty-two miles east of the border, today. Colonel Franco gave the first definite information that Colonel Villa himself was with the army. He said Villa would arrive at San Bernardino tomorrow, indicating a battle would take place Monday.

General Calles, commanding Agua Prieta, also received reinforcements late today. The first of nine trains with troops and equipment arrived from Eagle Pass, Texas. Other trains were expected tonight and tomorrow. Colonel Franco declared Villa friendly toward Americans and desired to avoid all trouble.

Villa, Colonel Franco added, had 18,000 men and sixty 80-millimeter guns. Previous reports credited Villa with 7,000 men and 28 guns. Further information concerning the Villa forces was given by Juan Mendoza, a sixteen-year-old boy wounded in the leg in a skirmish at Cabañon yesterday and brought to the Carranza hospital at Agua Prieta.

"We have had no beans or flour since we left Casas Grandes," the boy said, "our food has been just plain cava." (cavaca).

Mendoza said the Villa troops are tired and hungry, nevertheless he was certain Villa would take Agua Prieta.

"Villa will be here for me in three days," he asserted, smiling the pain from his shattered leg bone.

DISPOSITION U. S. TROOPS.
The movement of the American troops from the camp two miles east of Douglas to points along the border began this afternoon. The Twenty-second Infantry moved from camp to a station directly south, a few yards from the barbed wire separating Mexico from the United States. The Eighteenth took a position west of the Twenty-second while the Eleventh Infantry was assigned to a position directly facing Agua Prieta. The Twentieth Infantry and part of the Seventh were ordered to reserve at the camp. The entire force began entrenchments and their work provided emplacements for about 30 machine guns if they should be needed.

As the Eleventh Infantry swung down the road leading through the American town practically the entire garrison and population of the Mexican town crowded against the barbed wire barrier to watch as American pickets and shovels went into action, cutting into the hard earth to form protective works on the Douglas border, the first time in the history of American warfare on the boundary line.

MEXICANS LOOK ON.
The American trenches begin at a point a few feet west of the customs house and within less than 20 yards of the Carranza trenches at the rear of Agua Prieta. Mexicans working in these trenches dropped their picks and shovels and joined the throng of gesticulating Mexican men, women and children watching the work of the American soldiers.

Besides the infantry regiments, General Davis has one regiment of cavalry, the Ninth, and four batteries of the Sixth Field Artillery. The disposition of these troops in the general scheme to protect American territory from violation has not been disclosed, but artillery officers already have positions picked for the guns on high ground, east of Douglas just north of where Villa will

BANDIT BAND BREAKING UP

Latest Fight Shows Band is Growing Weaker.—Government Carrying Out Suggestions Made by Citizens Committee at Brownsville

By Associated Press. Brownsville, Texas, Oct. 30.—The first official admission by Carranza authorities in Matamoros that Luis de la Rosa, one of the alleged leaders in the border troubles, had been on the Mexican side, was made today when General Eugenio Lopez said de la Rosa had broken with his band when a chase was begun two years ago near the Corales ranch, by Carranza soldiers. Announcing he had rather be taken by Americans than Mexicans, de la Rosa is said to have abandoned his band. General Lopez said his soldiers had captured six rifles from a band when it scattered into the brush on the Mexican side of the river. He believed that de la Rosa struck out for the interior of the state of Tamaulipas.

General Lopez said that an officer sent to undertake the chase of the band had made no detailed report, the only information received being a short telephone message today. The chase will be prosecuted, he announced, until the band is disorganized and the leaders taken. General Lopez said an investigation by his officers among small farmers in the Corales section resulted in slightly confused information concerning de la Rosa and his band, but all seemed to agree that de la Rosa had been making his headquarters there but had gone.

Yesterday's rumors that de la Rosa had been captured have not been confirmed and are not accepted by officials on either side of the river as being true.

Officials here, after considering the weak fight put up at the Capote ranch yesterday morning by bandits, are inclined to accept as true today's information from Mexico that de la Rosa has broken with his gang. This fight evidenced more crudity than any of the previous attacks on American soil, with a noticeable absence of the former devilry.

W. P. Glasscock, chairman of the citizens' committee on the border, which has been in conference with Governor Ferguson and Major General Frederick Funston, today received a message from Congressman Jno. N. Garner of this district stating that the executive branch of the government in Washington is carrying out the three suggestions with the exception of the one referring to rewards for the apprehension of bandits. The other suggestions were made subjects of prompt representations to the de facto government in Mexico and that the federal government assume complete authority in this section until the troubles are over.

Glasscock announced the committee will remain intact, but its activities will suspend pending further troubles on the border when it will prepare to go to Washington.

Senator Morris Sheppard, Collector of Customs Frank Habb and several other citizens here today were guests of General Lopez at a luncheon in Matamoros.

NO OFFICIAL REQUEST FOR WHITLOCK'S RECALL

Berlin Dispatches Indicate Sentiment Demanding Recall American Minister to Belgium

By Associated Press. Washington, Oct. 30.—Berlin dispatches reflecting public statements in Germany demanding the recall of Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, because of his report on the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse attracted attention of administration officials here, but elicited no comment further than statements that the United States had no official information from Germany that Mr. Whitlock was no longer acceptable. The German dispatches also made a point of that fact that the seat of the Belgium government is no longer at Brussels but at Havre and suggested that Mr. Whitlock should be at the latter place.

WILL NOT PERMIT U. S. TO ACT FOR OTHER GOVERNMENTS

CARRANZA TAKES STEP TO FORCE RECOGNITION OF HIS GOVERNMENT BY NATIONS REPRESENTED BY U. S.

By Associated Press. Washington, Oct. 30.—With the purpose of hastening certain foreign governments' recognition of the de facto government in Mexico, General Carranza has given notice that hereafter he will not recognize the United States as a representative of any other foreign country. This will oblige European nations who have refrained from according recognition to the de facto government to extend such recognition in order to look after the interests of their citizens in Mexico.

Mr. Hooper, the British charge in Mexico City, who is in New York, will leave for Vera Cruz immediately and it is expected that on his arrival there he will take steps for British recognition of the de facto government and to establish relations with the new government.

General Carranza's action is not understood here to apply to matters of vital consequence in which the United States as the nearest neighbor and friend to Mexico would continue to exercise its good offices. It refers to routine representations which are now accumulating with reference to foreign claims and property in Mexico. While the state department was in no way concerned with General Carranza's action officials felt a relief that he had taken the step, for it will relieve much of the business of American consular representatives who are busily engaged with caring for American interests in the reconstruction work now proceeding in Mexico.

Skirmishes between Villa and Carranza forces near Agua Prieta were reported today by Major General Funston. Three hundred troops were attacked at Cabañon by a Carranza patrol and forced to retreat to Anahua Pass west of Agua Prieta. The main Villa army camped last night on the bank of the San Bernardino river fifteen miles from Slaughter's ranch. Information in the possession of General Funston led him to believe that the army today would march to a point twelve miles east of Agua Prieta. The attack, he said, probably would be from the east. The position of the main Villa force was satisfactory to the officials of the war department, for the reason that, barring accidents, the entire force of Carranza troops now being reported through American territory will have crossed the border before long.

Mexican Herald Stopped.
The Mexican Herald, an American-owned English daily newspaper, was closed by the Carranza government last night because it is alleged to have exposed the Huerta government.

State department officials say it was reported that the Villa forces have been confiscating cattle in the vicinity of Nogales.

"It is stated," the department announced, "that there is one port 70 miles west of Nogales through which cattle could be exported to the United States and that Gen. Calles who is in control of the forces of the de facto government has been approached by cattlemen for permission to export. This, however, has been refused on the ground that no permit can be given until the territory is in control of the de facto government."

Official advice just received from the border are that conditions at Cananea are not as serious as reported. The officials of the Cananea Copper Company at Douglas have received information that quiet prevailed at Cananea and that the report of looting there was false. Reports state the impression prevails that there will be no trouble at that point if the sale of alcoholic liquors is controlled.

Quiet at Cananea.
Lorenzo Perez, consular representative for Villa at Naco, has arrived at Cananea and informed the American consular agent that while he can no longer perform the duties of consul, he is willing to do everything he can to protect Americans and other foreign interests continuing friendly toward his faction. He said General Urbalejo at Cananea intended to protect foreigners and foreign property.

Trapped In Factory, Thirteen Die When Pittsburgh Building Burns

PITTSBURGH DISASTER—FIGHTING THE FIRE

Thirteen persons were killed and eight injured by a fire in a four story building, the two upper floors of which were occupied by a paper box company, in Pittsburgh. Of the dead, all were young women employed by the company except one. Many of the bodies were so burned as to make identification difficult. Mayor J. G. Armstrong ordered that the police, city council and the coroner make a thorough investigation of the fire. The flames started in a pile of straw in the rear of the feed store of James Brown & Co. on the first floor of the building. William C. Kimbel, general manager of the box factory, at once went to the third floor and warned the girls employed there to leave the building quietly. The flames gained headway so rapidly, however, that escape by means of stairways and fire escapes was soon cut off. Some of the girls attempted to go to the dressing room for their hats and there huddled on the floor, firemen found a majority of the bodies.

KATY FINED FOR MAKING UNLAWFUL CONCESSIONS

Houston Furniture Man Traveled on Pass and His Firm Given Freight Concessions

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, Oct. 30.—An hour after an indictment on three counts had been returned by a federal grand jury here today against the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad and the Katy of Texas, counsel for the railroad entered pleas of guilty to numbers 1 and 2 for the parent company and No. 1 for the Katy of Texas. Judge Burns assessed a fine of $10,000 in each count.

The indictment followed the return of District Attorney John E. Green from Washington where he conferred with Attorney General Gregory in the prosecution. The indictments charged that G. A. Stowers of Houston traveled on a Katy pass and that the Stowers Furniture Company was given an unlawful concession for freight.

HESPERIAN SUNK BY TORPEDO NAVAL EXPERTS DECLARE

Secretary Lansing Announces Finding Which Will Be Transmitted to German Government

Germany Had Denied Act

Imperial Government Had Given Qualified Disclaimer—Experts Say Fragments are Not From Mine—Two Americans on Board

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Secretary Lansing announced today that the navy department has definitely established the fact that the engine of a warship which sank the Allen liner Hesperian was a part of a torpedo.

The German government has persistently denied that the Hesperian was torpedoed.

In the opinion of naval experts the fragments could not have been a part of a mine. The secretary said the result of the navy department's investigation would be immediately communicated either to the German government directly or to Ambassador von Bernstorff. The secretary volunteered no information regarding what form the communication to Germany might take.

Germany has made to the United States a qualified disclaimer of responsibility for the sinking of the Hesperian. In a note to Ambassador Gerard on September 14th, the foreign office said that on the face of the evidence then at hand, Germany was satisfied that the Hesperian was not sunk by a German submarine. The fragments of metal examined by the navy department experts were said to have been picked from the deck of the Hesperian after the explosion.

The Hesperian sank early in September off the Irish coast while making her way to port after being disabled by the explosion. The fragment was made of polished steel and was about nine inches long. It was sent to the state department by the American embassy at London. The state department heretofore has been in doubt regarding the direct cause of the sinking of the Hesperian. A number of affidavits from passengers on the ship have been received by the state department. The firmers swore that the ship had been torpedoed.

The Hesperian was declared to have been in regular passenger carrying service. The state department has been informed there were no troops aboard at the time of the sinking but some wounded Canadian soldiers were traveling on individual tickets as passengers. Two Americans were passengers.

NINE PERSONS EXECUTED BY GERMANS SATURDAY

Ten Others, Including Three Women, Sentenced to Penal Servitude for Espionage in Belgium

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 30.—Nine persons who were convicted on October 26 of espionage in Belgium were executed yesterday, according to Reuters.

An Amsterdam correspondent who says this information was received in an official telegram from Berlin. Ten other persons, including three women, were sentenced to penal servitude, it is stated.

The dispatch follows:

"An official telegram from Berlin states that in the last few days two additional important espionage cases have been detected in Belgium and northern France. In Belgium twenty-one persons have been arrested. It is alleged that after having confined their energies for some months to obtaining news by espionage and sending it to France by way of Holland, they became bolder in September, planning to dynamite railroads and buildings, besides assisting persons of military age to escape to Belgium and France. Among those arrested are four women, the principal charge against them being that they are endangering the safety of the German army."

The espionage system reported to have been discovered in France is alleged to have been managed by the wife of a French officer. It is alleged she received her instructions direct from the French military authorities. Two other women are also under arrest, according to Berlin, the extent to which the system of espionage is organized is indicated by the fact that the arrested persons figure prominently in the French secret service list.

"The guilt of the accused, it is said, already has been established. Nine persons, the message adds, were tried for espionage in Belgium on October 26. All were found guilty and sentenced to death. The sentences were executed today. Ten persons including three women were sentenced to penal servitude."

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN APPROVE DEFENSE PLAN

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Support of the national guardmen of country for the administration's defense plans including the formation of a continental army was virtually assured today at the conclusion of a two day conference between Secretary Garrison and members of the executive committee of the National guard association and the national militia board. Some opposition to the continental army scheme developed yesterday but Secretary Garrison was successful in convincing the guardmen of the wisdom of the plan and also that no steps would be spared to promote the interests of the national guard because of the new plan.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ON WAY TO AID HARD PRESSED SERBIANS

REPORTS FROM GERMAN SOURCES SAY RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE CROSSING BLACK SEA TO BULGARIAN COAST

SERBIA STILL HOLDING OUT

Only Mountainous Nature of Country Saves Her Hard Pressed Army from Complete Annihilation by Invading Teutons and Bulgars

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 30.—Serbia remains the center of interest in the war. Except for the French contingent stiffening the Serbian line in the region of Strumitza the allied reinforcements have not reached her hard pressed and retreating army and only the mountainous nature of the country is saving these troops from annihilation.

Serbia's tiny ally and neighbor, Montenegro, meantime is being hampered by the Austrians who are exerting great pressure along the Drina in a movement co-ordinating with the general Teutonic offensive in the Balkans.

Following the Russian bombardment of the Bulgarian littoral, Russian troops are now reported to be crossing the Black Sea prefector, to an attempted landing with a view of attacking the Bulgarians in the rear. These reports come from German sources, however, and are not confirmed, nor is the report of a big naval engagement in the Black Sea between a Russian squadron and Turkish war craft headed by the Goeben and Breslau.

The rumored movement of Russian troops to aid Serbia is generally credited in England, and giving the most prominent place in the late editions of the evening papers. A guarded reference to the undertaking was made in a Petrograd dispatch printed this morning, which referred to the Russian emperor as journeying south to give a send-off to large forces of all arms.

Serbian circles in London are still making urgent appeals to the allies to rush troops to their country's support but the very fact that the Serbians have been able to hold out up to the present time has created a certain amount of optimism.

Neither of the great battle fronts in the east and west has furnished any great developments. Petrograd reports tonight that the Germans are evacuating Volynia leaving a vast amount of ammunition and supplies.

AMERICANS ASKED TO GIVE FOR RELIEF OF POLES

Between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 are Reported Destitute and $30,000,000 Monthly is Needed

By Associated Press. Washington, Oct. 30.—Germany has asked the American commission for relief in Belgium to undertake in Poland relief measures similar to those taken in Belgium. Officials of the state department have been informed that the commission has been told that between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 in that part of Poland occupied by German troops are destitute. To care for them adequately would mean an expenditure of approximately $30,000,000 a month. All danger of having relief supplies confiscated by men under arms or supplies not reaching their destination was said today to have been overcome. The state department will not have to be consulted should the commission decide to undertake the work. Germany and Russia are reported willing that such work be placed in the hands of Americans.

POSTAL RECEIPTS FOR OCTOBER SHOW GAIN

Total Receipts for Month $5,671.98 Being Increase of $657.37 Over October, 1914

A substantial gain in postal receipts is shown in the figures for the month which closed last night. The figures for the month as footed up last night by Postmaster Bacon showed a total of $5,671.98. This was a gain of $657.37 over the corresponding month a year ago.

For the past several months postal receipts have barely held steady with last year or have shown slight losses so that the increase this month is welcomed as a turn in the tide.

SATURDAY QUIET DAY
ON COTTON EXCHANGELiverpool's Response to Bulge on This Side Most Unfavorable—Later
Reports More Encouraging

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, Oct. 30.—It was a quiet week end session in the cotton market today with buyers of yesterday rather inclined to let go. Liverpool's response to yesterday's bulge on this side was most unfavorable and led to depression when trading commenced. Around the opening, active months were 12 to 15 points under yesterday's close. This was the lowest of the day. Reports that Texas holders were refusing to trade in spots and the rumor that Roumania had joined the entente allies gave the market a steady tone and the close was at a net loss of 3 to 5 points.

WEAK CABLES AND GOOD
WEATHER BEARISH FACTORS

By Associated Press.
New York, Oct. 30.—Relatively weak cables and continued good weather in the South seemed to check the buying movement which was so prominent during yesterday's trading and business. In the cotton market today was comparatively quiet with fluctuations irregular. January contracts sold off to 12.15 early but rallied to 12.24 and the market closed steady within a point or two of the best, net unchanged to four points lower.

American Tools Help To Fashion

Shells Made For French Army

SCENE IN FRENCH AMMUNITION FACTORY

The terrific French artillery attack along the western front was made possible by equally unremitting and intensive effort in the production of projectiles in works which have been transformed by equipment with American machine tools and are working regularly twenty-four hours a day. One of these great establishments, near Paris, makes more than 5,000 shells and a number of aeroplane motors a day. The works there produced 600 automobiles annually before the war. In peace time material taken in at one end followed a regular progression until it came out at the other a finished car. The order of operations was different in shell making, so it was necessary to displace and rearrange 500 machines, install many new ones and at the same time find hands to replace a thousand mobilized mechanics. The picture shows a scene in a French ammunition factory.

WICHITA FALLS CLUB
RECEIVES CONGRATULATIONS

When the Peace Party's peace petition campaign was waged in the summer the local representative of the National Woman's Peace Party, the Wichita Travel Club through Mrs. G. W. Akin, corresponding secretary, took an active interest in the securing of the signatures of the women of this locality to the petition. A total of 1385 names was secured, a result so gratifying that Miss Hyers, acting executive secretary, wrote to Mrs. Akin a letter of congratulation for the work done by the Wichita Travel Club. Her letter follows:

"My dear Mrs. Akin: Allow me to congratulate you on the splendid showing of the campaign for the peace movement, in Wichita Falls. We hope that our combined efforts will do their part in lessening the length of the great conflict. Very sincerely yours, Railway Open.

The confidential agent here of the Carranza government made public tonight the following communication from Mexico City:

"Railway communication between Mexican City and interior points as well as the border is rapidly assuming normal conditions. The mails are now arriving at the national capital from New York in six days. This had not been done for nearly three years past. With a further effort to facilitate the restoration of normal conditions in commerce and transportation, first Chief Carranza has issued orders to the military chiefs to turn back all railway cars no longer actually needed in the campaign. Governor Millan of Vera Cruz has taken steps to end speculation in the national currency which has been depreciated by speculation to a point far below its actual value. Governor Millan's decree provides for the closing of all money exchanges open since April, 1914, and transactions in exchange of this sort are hereafter prohibited except through established and legitimate concerns which have arranged to pay proper taxes. The rate of exchange on October 29, was given at 7.90 to 7.91.

For Oklahomans

By Associated Press.
Norman, Okla., Oct. 30.—Superior straight football, superior passing ability and superior staying power overcame superior weight today at Boyd field here, and the Sooners added another brilliant victory to their string by defeating Kansas University 23 to 14. Seven thousand people, the largest crowd ever assembled on Boyd field, witnessed the game. The big Jayhawkers started the scoring, but were overtaken before the end of the second period when the desperate invaders pushed across their second score and soon played vigorously when the final whistle blew. With play about even, the score at the end of the first half was seven to seven. The light Sooners after wearing down their heavy opponents in the first half, opened up their bewildering pass assortment at the outset of the second half. McCain ran through the entire field

Wichita Falls, Texas, Oct. 31, 1915.

The special edition published recently by the West Texas Reporter at Graham was a credit both to Graham and to the newspaper profession. It was well gotten up and handsomely illustrated and Graham ought to be proud of it.

The Newcastle Register quotes a traveling man as saying that Newcastle and Wichita Falls are the best towns in his territory. He may be right. We know he is half right, at any rate.

Contracts agreeing to give six months' work at good wages and passage both ways is the inducement England is holding out to skilled American labor to work in her arms factories, but it seems there are but few Americans who are willing to leave this country, probably for the reason they are able to get all the work of that kind they can do at home at just as good wages. Press dispatches say the powder factories and war munitions plants of the United States, many of which have more than doubled their capacity since the European war started, are working night and day, and even at that are unable to supply the demand for their product. There is little or no reason for a skilled American laborer to leave this country and go to England unless it is merely to take the voyage and be closer to the scene of war.

And now Senator Morris Shepherd has incurred the ill will of Governor Ferguson. Probably the Governor gains the friendship of some who opposed him in his race for the governorship. It was up to him to do something that would have a tendency to cause them to have a more friendly feeling toward him and his administration, and on very slight provocation has taken it upon himself to say a few sarcastic things to and about Senator Shepherd that was not necessary and almost if not entirely uncalled for. In point of ability, Senator Shepherd has been put to the test while representing his district in congress and the record he made while in congress landed him in the Senate.

The Vossische Zeitung, leading German newspaper published at Amsterdam advises the German government to request the recall of Brand Whitlock, American Minister to Brussels. The grievance against Mr. Whitlock is that he seemed to show too much activity in his efforts to save the life of Miss Cavell, the English Red Cross nurse, who was found guilty of espionage and sentenced to death by a German court martial, which sentence was carried out at the appointed time in the face of the fact that Mr. Whitlock was using all the influence at his command to have the sentence stayed until the matter could be more fully investigated, or at least have a lighter sentence imposed. It is not known, of course, whether the advice of this German newspaper will be accepted and acted upon by the German government, but even if it is, it is not likely that the German government could ever hope to induce the American government to recall Mr. Whitlock on such a flimsy grievance as brought against him by the Germans, and even if he should be recalled, it is not likely that the man who would be sent to take his place would do other than did Mr. Whitlock under like circumstances. The wonder is that enough men could be got together to compose a firing squad to take the life of a woman guilty of no greater offense than was this English woman. Americans would not have done it, it matters not what might have been the consequences—the sacrifice of their own lives or the fall of their own government. In taking the life of a woman on such a charge reflects no credit on any government under the sun.

Business Conditions Viewed

In Monthly Financial Letter Of National Bank Of Commerce

With the exception of the cost of living, which continues to move steadily if slowly upwards, conditions in this country are more favorable than ever before. Crop yields are establishing new records, the financial situation is by far the strongest in our history and there is less and less heard every day of the problem of unemployment.

The country is entering a period of prosperity and development. In spite of all difficulties and drawbacks the people of the United States can look forward with reasonable certainty to many years of steady and substantial well being.

Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, in a recent address at the annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, pointed out the growing financial strength of the United States in the family of nations and the opportunities thus created for future prosperity.

Dr. Pratt emphasized the fact that the fundamental strength of the great nations of Europe depends to a considerable extent on the large amounts of money they have invested abroad and that the time has now come when the United States instead of drawing in money is able to give out surplus cash.

In this connection Dr. Pratt showed that America's ability to loan depends upon the savings of the people and that therefore there never was a time in the history of the country when it was more important than at present for our people to exercise intelligent thrift and economy. Many of the countries of South America, Africa and of the far East are eagerly seeking capital with which to develop their resources and their trade, and it remains with the people of America to furnish this capital from their surplus earnings. More and more each year the financial power of the United States is becoming of world wide importance and the next decade will unquestionably see a wonderful increase in the international importance of the United States as a world banker and investor.

not very spectacular effects of the interference of the war with American importing has been the impulse given to the manufacture on American soil with American raw materials of a variety of articles for which we have heretofore been depending upon foreign skill and enterprise.

American ingenuity, inventive talent and general enterprise have made good in many important lines with the result that whenever the future again opens the opportunity for renewed importing into this country American manufacturers will be found well established and able to resist competition.

It is interesting to note also that in the opinion of the department of commerce cost of production in the warring countries of Europe will not be lowered to such an extent as to create any danger from that source in the holding of any new markets we may have gained.

A prominent statistician has made a computation of the losses of the first year of the war up to July 31, 1915. He figures the aggregate wealth of Belgium at the beginning of the war at $12,000,000,000 and the losses to July 31 at $2,632,500,000 or more than one-fifth of the whole; the wealth of the United Kingdom at $82,900,000,000 and her losses at $6,290,000,000 or about one-thirteenth of the whole; wealth of France at $58,375,000,000 the losses $8,432,000,000 or one-seventh; the wealth of Russia $62,000,000,000, the losses $7,520,000,000 or one-eighth; the wealth of Germany at $75,000,000,000, the losses $13,885,000,000 or over one-sixth; the wealth of Austria-Hungary $65,000,000,000, the losses $7,940,000,000 or about one-eighth of the whole. The total destruction of capital of all the above nations is thus figured at considerably over $48,000,000,000. Included in this estimate is a capitalization of $11,000,000,000 for value of human lives lost.

No greater mistake could be made than to imagine that following the close of the war in Europe the great powers will be in a state of exhaustion from which they will not recover for very many years. It is a common prophecy on the part of many who do not go below the surface in their reasoning that Europe will be absolutely bankrupt in every way, but it is hard to see why this should be so.

The men of today are no less resourceful and courageous than their forefathers and certainly the facilities they have at their command are infinitely superior. In spite of the terrible wastage in men and material caused by the war, its proportionate destruction is very far from approaching what Europe has faced in the past, more than once and emerged triumphant.

While nobody can foresee what emergencies will arise, it is certainly contrary to all the lessons of the history of human enterprise and endeavor to imagine that even such an overwhelming disaster as this great war will be able to stultify the boundless energy and resourcefulness of civilization.

Dividend and interest disbursements during October were the largest since the opening of the war, being in excess of $181,000,000 as compared with $162,000,000 in October of last year. Of the grand total, dividends contributed in round numbers $95,000,000, an increase of almost $15,000,000 over the corresponding month of 1914. Interest payments approximated $86,000,000 as against nearly $82,000,000 for October, 1914.

So much has been heard of late months regarding what is and what is not considered to be neutrality in our political and business dealings with the great powers of Europe that it may not be amiss to quote the opinion of a leading authority who has defined the situation with excellent preciseness.

"There would seem," he says, "to be a better rule for the observance of a consistent and just neutrality than always to put American interests first. It can never be neutrality for this country to sacrifice its own interests to serve the interests of any of the belligerents."

When in doubt regarding the neutrality of any action taken by this country, it will be found most helpful to govern opinion by the one rule of placing the best interests of this country ahead of every other consideration.

GHOSTS AND WITCHES

ABROAD LAST NIGHT

Spooky Creatures Roamed Streets and Usual Halloween Spirit Was in Evidence

Ghosts, witches and other spooky creatures roamed the streets of Wichita Falls last night, the occasion being the observance of Halloween. This festival does not really arrive until tonight, but the celebrants took time by the forelock by reason of today being Sunday.

Observance of the day began Friday night with several parties, but it was not until last night that the young folks got in the work that usually makes Halloween a time of more or less unwhimsical and some folks. Missing front gates and other petty depredations were committed and the usual mischievous spirit was in evidence without anything really serious transpiring.

Halloween takes its name from the fact that it precedes Allhallow day, otherwise known as All Saints Day. Many superstitions center about Halloween. Among them is one that if a number of small boys live in your neighborhood your porch swing is apt to be missing on November 1.

Rollins Forward Passes Bring Victory to Texans—Indians Stronger at Line Plunging

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, Oct. 30.—The A. & M. College of Texas today won a hard fought but decisive victory over the Haskell Indians football team by the score of 21 to 7 before a crowd estimated at more than 7,000 persons. Absence of wind and perfect weather made playing conditions ideal. The feature of the game was the forward passing by Rollins and the punting by Collins, both of the Aggies. To Rollins' passes is attributed greatest credit for the victory for had it not been for these the score might have been reversed as Haskell was stronger at line bucking. Stover of Haskell starred in the attack. Haskell gained a total of 164½ yards in line plunging to A. & M.'s 9½ yard line, but A. & M.'s total of gained by forward passes was 157 yards to Haskell's 65 yards.

VERNON BANKER CLOSES
40,000 ACRE RANCH DEAL

(Vernon Record)
C. T. Herring last Thursday finally closed a deal, whereby he purchases a ranch of 40,000 acres, lying in four counties, Foard, Cottle, King and Knox, negotiations for which had been pending for several weeks. The land was bought from L. C. Clark and is stocked with 3,500 head of cattle, also included in the sale. Mr. Herring declined to name the figure he paid for the property, but indicated that it was one of considerable magnitude. He says it is one of the best ranches of its size in this section of Texas and is confident it will prove a profitable investment. Jim Bomar, formerly with the Bank Barber Shop, has been employed by Mr. Herring to have charge of the ranch.

CONFUCIANISM STILL FOLLOWED IN CHINA

ANCIENT SAGE LARGELY QUOTED IN FIGHT ON PROPOSED MONARCHY

BOTH SIDES USE HIS SAYINGS

Plan on Foot to Increase His Influence By Erecting Numerous Bronze Statues

Peking, October 29.—Confucius

looms large in the controversy which is being hotly waged in China over the monarchical plan. President Yuan Shikai and his supporters are constantly quoting the ancient sage. Advocates of the republic are also using Confucius freely, and urging that the change to monarchy would be a violation of a Confucian oath and consequently would discredit the teachings of the great moral leader in the eyes of the world.

Plans are now in preparation by government officials for the erection of a great bronze statue of Confucius in Peking. At present the ancient sage is represented in the various temples only by pictorial images or sacred tablets. These do not create the vivid impression of the great teacher which the Chinese officials desire, and the movement is under way to place bronze statues of him in Confucian temples throughout the republic. Mandates have recently been issued by President Yuan Shikai strengthening the position of Confucius' teachings in Chinese schools, and the society for the preservation of peace has constantly quoted the sayings of Confucius concerning loyalty to the emperor in support of the restoration of the monarchy.

Four Confucian canonical books are taught in Chinese schools and no students who are not thoroughly versed in them are regarded as well educated. Quotations from these books, written nearly twenty-five hundred years ago, are frequently used in nearly all governmental communications. The advocates of absolute concentration of government in an emperor are especially fond of such Confucian excerpts as this: "To no one but the supreme head of the empire does it belong to disturb the established religious and social institutions, to introduce new forms of government, to change the form and use of language. At the present day throughout the empire carriage wheels all have the same standard form and size, all writing is written in same characters, and in all the relations of life all recognize the same established principles."

Public speeches concerning the monarchical movement, letters to the newspapers and editorials in support of the restoration of empire are filled with quotations concerning the five duties of universal obligation outlined by Confucius and the three moral qualities by which the sage said those duties must be carried out. The first of these duties are those between ruler and subject. Next are the duties between father and son. Then the duties between husband and wife. The fourth duties are between elder brother and younger, and the fifth duties are those in the intercourse between friends. Intelligence, moral character and courage, in the order named, are the three moral qualities upon which Confucius laid great stress. Of these he says: "They are the three universally recognized moral qualities of men. It matters not in what way men come to the exercise of these moral qualities, the result is one and the same."

"Some men are born with the knowledge of these moral qualities; some acquire it as the result of education; some acquire it as the result of hard experience. But when the knowledge is acquired, it comes to one and the same thing. Some exercise these moral qualities naturally and easily, some because they find it advantageous to do so some with effort and difficulty. But when the achievement is made it comes to one and the same thing."

The effort to strengthen the interest in Confucianism is apparent throughout the vernacular press of China. Scholars are urged to visit the tomb at Chufou, and a more careful reading of his classics is advised. Young men are told that Confucius began gathering disciples around him and teaching the principles of good government at the early age of twenty-two. His services as minister of crime are reviewed, and the marvellous abolition of crime under his direction is emphasized. His great success as a teacher in the later years of his life when he gathered three thousand disciples around him is stressed, and readers are constantly reminded of the enduring fame of this teacher who had the proper ideals of government.

BUSINESS STOPPED AS TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

By Associated Press. Peabody, Mass., Oct. 30.—This busy manufacturing town stopped its machinery today to pay a silent tribute to the memory of 21 little girls who lost their lives in the fire which destroyed the St. John's Parochial school Thursday morning. Three of the funerals were private but for the other eighteen public mass was held. All stores and factories were closed during the ceremony.

PROSECUTION OF PLOTTERS WITH LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

By Associated Press. New York, Oct. 30.—After obtaining full details of the governments information in the case of the five men charged with conspiracy in plotting to blow up ships carrying supplies to the allies, Charles Warren, assistant to the attorney general who came here from Washington, left today for Boston. After a conference with Mr. Warren, United States District Attorney, H. S. Marshall said that for the present the cases would rest entirely with the local authorities.

A Relief.

"How did you come to lose your liberty?" asked the visitor at the penitentiary. "I ain't lost it," replied the prisoner. "Before I came to this institution I couldn't turn around that the police wasn't watchin' me. You don't know what a relief it is to be in a place that's run on the honor system."

BRITISH SOLDIERS HAVE TAKEN
COMPLETE POSSESSION OF
CITY OF ROUEN

ENGLISH PAPERS AND MONEY

Soldiers Get Along Nicely With Those of France and With Natives Also

By Associated Press.
Rouen, France, Oct. 30.—Five o'clock tea, smoked fish, roast beef, boxing matches, cricket, golf, corned beef, marmalade, pickles, Tommy Atkins and the Salvation Army have so completely Anglicized Rouen that Richard the Lion-hearted himself would scarcely recognize it.
Since the second week of the war the streets have been full of khaki and from that time on the English language has encroached until French is rarely heard excepting in the cafes from which Tommy Atkins is excluded by order of the general. Even the official communiqué is more English than French in Rouen. Ask a newsboy for a paper and he will inquire "Daily Mail? Telegraph? Times?" Here and there a boy has a French paper but seems to consider it scarcely worth mentioning.

"If anyone has a building or an apartment to let he advertises it in English, and it is promptly taken. Officers, subalterns, and privates of the auxiliary service lodge in town, while the fighting Tommies are camped just outside. The censor forbids mention of the number and discretion allows nothing more than the hint that there are enough of them to make a town of a hundred and twenty thousand French population appear to be English.

Rouen was the second English base in France after Havre; it was abandoned for Nantes during the march of the Germans toward Paris but since the battle of the Marne the quays along the Seine where coal was formerly King, with wine as Queen, are lined with piles of cases containing crackers, cheese, marmalade, corned beef and other essentials of British soldiers' fare. Where there are no cases there are flocks of sheep and goats freshly arrived from the slopes of the Himalayas to feed the Indian corps. Quiet crowds of French people watch the arrival and unloading of supply ships with about the same curiosity as that with which English tourists watched the movement of the vast cargoes of wine before they owned the town. When the Saint Patrick, the Saint Andrew, and the Saint George steam into port these crowds wab the ambulances bringing the wounded to the dock and as the hospital ships drop down the river wave them a feeling adieu.

"Here we take English money," is announced in some places; unnecessarily, for English copper and silver circulate quite as freely as French money. Freely is the word for in the early days of the occupation the English were accused of "throwing money out of the window." Their expenditures were heavy but gradually the people of Rouen have learned that though the War office pays liberally, it is not without counting.

Tommy Atkins' relations with the French population have become familiar if not cordial. He did many things in the beginning to raise difficulties. The "side" brought by English officers particularly caused much amazement, but that wears off and the men of the expeditionary corps have found many ways of dispelling first impressions. Two hundred of them saved the bulk of the contents of a big warehouse destroyed by fire and were thanked in official order by the French general commanding the district. On Sunday afternoon many a "Tommy" may be seen showing the camp to a French family, generally taking charge of the younger members. He is not always sober and is often very glib, but his orders notwithstanding, and he is so conspicuous that every peccadillo is magnified several times, but while passing for a "terrible charmer," Tommy conducts himself generally so as to credit the Anglo-Saxon race and is regarded as a "jolly good fellow."

The Young Men's Christian Association cooperating with the Salvation Army is now trying to keep Tommy straight. Its headquarters are the old "Folies Bergere" where instead of girls and liquors there are now hygienic drinks and high moral literature.

The organization of repose and pleasure in the British camp astonishes the French people. There is a circus tent requisitioned for the troops where there are moving pictures, acrobatic performances and shooting galleries, where the soldiers exercise their marksmanship on the silhouette of a German soldier as a target. There is no social life in Rouen for the officers. Everyone is too occupied in hospital or relief work. Some are even scandalized that at certain times in some quarters the Jews have the benefit of a city of pleasure for just outside in the Saint-Sever cemetery there are four hundred mounds, reminders of more serious things. There is a British soldier under each mound with tri-color cockades attached to the cross or stone above and flowers constantly renewed by the French people of Rouen.

GOVERNMENT WILL HASTEN PROSECUTION

Evidence Against German Bomb Plotter Will Be Laid Before Federal Grand Jury Wednesday.

New York, Oct. 30.—Although the cases of Robert Fay, the confessed German bomb plotter, and four other men charged with conspiracy to blow up steamers bearing supplies to the allies possibly will be taken before the federal grand jury next Wednesday, United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall said today that the government would hasten prosecution. "Fay's arrest after he had been watched for weeks was ordered because it was feared he was on the verge of making use of the bombs which he had prepared," said Mr. Marshall.

Stories that besides disabling merchant ships bound for the allied coast which he confessed was his purpose Fay intended to attempt to disable British war vessels near New York without supporting evidence obtained by the government Mr. Marshall said.

TEXAS CHAMBER COMMERCE ORGANIZED AT DALLAS

J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls Named First Vice President—Galveston Selected as Headquarters.

By Associated Press. Dallas, Oct. 30.—A Texas Chamber of Commerce was organized today at a meeting of nearly 200 Texas business men here. Morris Stern of Galveston was elected president and Galveston was selected as the headquarters for the organization. Both Mr. Stern and Galveston were the unanimous choice of the delegation. J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, A. C. Goeth of Austin and Alex Sanger of Dallas, were elected first, second and third vice presidents also unanimously.

The selection of a secretary and a treasurer will be left to the discretion of the four officers named, as will the selection of the board of directors.

BANK ROBBERS BELIEVED HIDING NEAR SAN MARCOS

San Antonio, Oct. 30.—Reports have been received here that the robbers who on Tuesday morning held up and fatally shot Robert Heinatz, bookkeeper of the First National Bank at Marble Falls, are hiding near San Marcos. A posse of eight officers from as many different counties are now scouring the canyons north of San Marcos. From information obtained by the posse it appears that after holding up the bookkeeper and looting the bank of $5000 the men escaped on horseback and rode through cane brakes. On Friday two men answering the description of the bank robbers were seen in San Marcos.

A telephone message received late tonight said it is believed the officers had the robbers surrounded.

TWO BOYS KILLED WHEN WAREHOUSE COLLAPSED

By Associated Press. Corpus Christi, Texas, Oct. 30.—Two Mexican boys were killed outright today when a small warehouse on the Texas-Mexican railroad tracks collapsed, burying several boys watching the first circus to visit Corpus Christi in 50 years unharmed. The warehouse was elevated six feet, giving room for a large number to stand beneath it. One boy was injured but will recover.

At noon a corps of volunteers was digging under the hundreds of cases of canned goods contained in the warehouse but had not found additional bodies. It is believed that the casualty list is complete. Whether the building collapsed from over weight or whether it was struck by railroad cars has not been determined. Railroad officials believe the first theory is more reasonable, as the building was 30 years old.

GERMAN-DUTCH BOUNDARY SERVES UNIQUE FUNCTION

Barbed Wire Fence Which Marks International Line Runs Through Farm Houses.

By Associated Press. Amsterdam, October 29.—The barbed wire boundary between Holland and her neighbors, Germany and Belgium presents a remarkable picture at some points, where it bisects farmhouses, towns, or even cuts straight across the platform of frontier railway stations.

There is one place where the street is divided up the middle, so that Dutch and German shops face each other across barriers of barbed wire. On the further side of the street runs a street railway, which is in Germany. Separated from the tracks by a high wire fence, there runs down the middle of the street a strip twelve feet wide which is neutral ground. Then comes another fence, and the narrow bit of road and pavement beyond it is in Holland. At each street corner are narrow openings to allow passage from one country to the other, sentries of each country standing guard on either side. It is the main street of a busy town, and the ordinary town life flows back and forth, while little Dutch street boys talk to the German street boys through the meshes. Down this street at the beginning of the war the Dutch population watched for four days and nights the German army marching southward into Belgium.

All villages on the frontier lead a confusedly bisected existence, a belt of barbed wire as it were separating their heads from their feet. In these places the work of the Dutch sentries is mainly to search the people who pass, lest they carry in or out illicit merchandise. The German guards are mostly concerned with keeping a lookout for deserters or able-bodied Belgians who seek to escape from a German rule. At a few points the German side of the barbed wire fence is further protected by wires carrying electric current and searchlight play up and down the line during night.

In the towns which are bisected by the boundary line, there are two or three contrasts which strike the observer immediately. All the soldiers on one side of the line are in one type of uniform, while in the other half of the town there are just as many soldiers, but of course in a different type of dress. The sentry boxes on one side are red, white and blue, on the other side they are red, white and black.

Part of the town of Baarle-Hertog is Belgian, but it is saved from German occupation owing to the fact that it is entirely surrounded by Dutch territory—a little Belgian island in the middle of Holland. There is no need of sentries here, and there is no wire to mark the invisible frontier which runs through the middle of the main streets. From here to the real frontier one travels over a well-paved road, which is Dutch, while the ditch at the side is Belgian. At the railway station which is Baarle in Holland, and Wieldre in Germany, the frontier runs straight through the ticket office and out across the platforms on either side. A line of colored tiling in the floor marks the boundary, and the words "Nederland" and "Belgique" are set into the concrete on either side. On both platforms, the sentries of the two countries face each other at a distance of a yard or so apart.

C. E. Painter of Drumright, Oklahoma, was taken into custody Saturday morning on advice from Drumright that he was wanted there to answer a charge of forgery. Painter was fined in the city court and had come in to pay his fine. Chief Nail had just received word from the Drumright authorities and turned him over to Sheriff Hawkins.

UNIQUE HALLOWEEN PARTY AT THE WESTLAND FRIDAY.

A Halloween frolic is always an unusually pleasant affair and in the hospitality of Miss Overly Wyatt at the Westland Friday evening, the informality of the usual Halloween traditions were observed. The guests came masked and in sheets and were pointed towards the side entrance of the hotel by solemn ghostly figures stationed at each door. At the side entrance a red demon welcomed the guests and pointed the way upstairs. The disguises were retained for about an hour, the identity of the maskers furnishing much amusement. One by one each masked figure was taken to the den of the gypsy fortune teller, his or her palm read and a fortune given in a nutshell. Mrs. T. R. Boger made a very effective and pleasing fortune teller in a fantastic garb of yellow and black. The disguises were removed after the visit to the gypsy den and dancing and other games prepared by the hostess were enjoyed. A "Ghost Walk" was a feature of the entertainment as a trip to the basement where witches and imps hold sway, came later in the evening. "All day suckers" were obtained from the magic pot of the witches. Mere dancing followed, then a visit to the supper room and another dance or two and it not until midnight that farewells were said. The decorations were in keeping with the season and were especially elaborate and striking. The newly arranged club room was hung with streamers of fellow and black cats and witches cut merry capers on walls and windows, while overhead vines were festooned from all four corners and strings of vari-colored lights were intermingled. The dining room was also decorated in a weird manner with cats, bats witches and other fancies. The long supper table, was centered by His Satanic Majesty, surrounded by a line of witches and imps. Grinning jack-o-lanterns, red imps and demons, black cats and cheerful skeletons were scattered over the table. The dining room like the club room was lit with pumpkin jack-o-lanterns. Yellow and black menu cards were decorated with black cats and jack-o-lanterns. The menu, a highly original one consisted of "Witch stew, fried butterflies, pumpkin dainty, Satan's delight, Devil's cake, black cat beverage and baked Brownies."

Miss Wyatt was assisted in entertaining by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt, Dr. and Mrs. Wade Walker, Mrs. W. B. Shepherd, Mrs. T. R. Boger, Mrs. F. D. Woodruff, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. T. B. Noble, Misses Deelphyns Wyatt, Sibyl Kell, Adele Adickes, Ruth Nolan and Master Stillwell Wyatt. "JUST CLOTHES FOR MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN"

The nightingale sings its love instinctively. The eagle shrieks its anger instinctively. Likewise, humans express feelings instinctively. You shout instinctively in victory. You moan instinctively in pain.

Where your feeling takes musical form, the degree and exactness of emotion pictured by the music depends upon the ability of the instrument to absorb and express your instinctive longings and desires.

Like the song of birds, the voice of a Sembrich and the piano of a Pachmann, the—

Baldwin Manualo

The Player-Piano that it all but human—expresses the exact emotion of whoever plays it because it responds to instinct. The instinctive feeling which, if you were a trained musician, would make the piano "talk," makes the Manualo "talk" with identical expression.

In Manualo music, the volume, the accent, the light, the shade, the very style of playing, are controlled from the one place where you are in constant contact with the instrument and where your musical feeling is naturally expressed—the pedals. Every particle of feeling which you instinctively put into the pedaling is instantly and exactly pictured in the music.

This, briefly, is why the Manualo gives complete satisfaction to everybody who plays it and hears it. Its music never becomes monotonous because it always is the spontaneous, natural expression of your ever-changing individual musical feeling.

Our book "The A B C of the Manualo" describes and illustrates the exclusive features which enable the Manualo to be the musical voice of whoever plays it. Send for a copy.

The second year classmen of the high school were delightfully entertained Friday evening at the home of Miss Dot Folshee, the entertainment being in the nature of a Halloween party. The usual black cat, witch and jack-o'-lanterns common to such an occasion were seen on every hand and the guests assembled in ghostly garb. When all the maskers had been identified the ladies each found a lassie and the couples made a trip to the witches den where their destinies were determined. Apple bobbing and various other amusements were next in order and at a late hour refreshments of ginger bread, stick candy, pop corn and apples were served to Misses Mary Leath Tevis, Goldie Maricle, Lois Morgan, Rose Johnson, Cleo Boyet, Agnes Lechman, Laura Hall, Ruth Musgrave, Jessie Brown, Beatrice Shell, Ester Lee Heath, Nettie Friberg, Blanche Clark, Gusie Pitchford, Ruth Giddings, Vella Mae Snyder, Gayle Crawford, Nellie Yung.

COTTON SEED PRICES LOWER AFTER PHENOMINAL ADVANCE

Both Local Mills Running But Many Are Closed Down Throughout the State of Texas.

After having reached a price of $40 a ton in the local market cotton seed prices have dropped back to $35 a ton and local mills are making little effort to buy stock until the price settles to some apparently firm basis. A number of oil mills over the state which had contracted seed earlier in the season at a lower price than now prevails have sold their seed and will not operate their plants. Local mill men estimate that the entire product of a ton of cotton seed will bring only $41 at prevailing prices. It costs something over $5 to handle a ton of seed at the mill so that mills operating on seed at $40 per ton are doing so at a loss of from $5 to $8 a ton. Both mills are still running here.

CAN'T PAY THIS YEAR'S BILLS FROM NEXT YEAR'S FUNDS

Austin, Texas, Oct. 30.—School trustees have no authority to pay a teacher for this year's service out of next year's funds, according to an opinion by Assistant Attorney General Cureton to the governor's private secretary today. This opinion was the result of a controversy raised by J. G. Banks of Kerrville. A number of school districts are affected by this decision.

OVERFLOW SUIT COMES UP MONDAY

FIRST OF NUMBER OF SUITS FOR DAMAGES SET OR TRIAL IN DISTRICT COURT

OTHER SUITS ARE PENDING

Alleged That Fort Worth & Denver's Bridge Obstructed Flow of Holliday Creek

The first of a number of suits for damages against the Fort Worth & Denver growing out of the Holliday Creek overflow last May will come up for trial in the 7th district court Monday. The suit is that filed by W. I. Cameron. Four thousand dollars damages are asked. The suit is one of a score of more in which the claims aggregate many thousands of dollars.

It is alleged in the suits that in building its bridge across Holliday Creek the railroad narrowed the channel so that it did not carry off the flood water with the flow that would have been expected had the bridge and the fill not been an obstruction. During the floods last spring the waters of Holliday Creek caused great damage spreading over thousands of acres of land and flooding houses and other buildings. Since the overflow the railroad company's engineers have made a detailed survey of Holliday Creek territory and it is expected that this survey will figure in the defense of the company in the suits and claims now pending.

Cameron is represented by T. R. Boone while the railroad company will be represented by Carrigan, Montgomery and Britain and J. H. Barwise Jr.

In his petition the plaintiff alleges that for the purpose of improving its road bed and improving its bridge across Holliday Creek, the defendant company carelessly, negligently and wilfully maintained a structure of iron and concrete across said creek which narrowed and lessened the size of the channel from its original channel.

That the railway company carelessly, negligently and wilfully erected concrete piers in the channel of the creek and thereby look up a great deal of the original channel. That an iron girder or platform was placed on the bridge lower than the natural channel of the creek and that approaches lessening the channel were also built. It is alleged that driftwood and trash accumulated around these girders obstructing the flow.

It is claimed in the petition that prior to the building of the bridge the channel was sufficient and did carry off all flood waters. It is alleged that through the improvements described the channel of the stream was narrowed to about 75 feet and that its depth was lessened to about two-thirds of its original depth. The plaintiff claims that on account of the obstructions to the flow, flood water backed over his land to a depth of seven or eight feet killing 750 peach trees, 46 pecan trees and causing other damage to a total extent of $4,000.

SECTION HAND DROPS DEAD WHILE BOARDING TRAIN HERE

Heart Failure Believed to Be the Cause—Effort Made to Locate Relatives.

Henry Legancamp, a section hand aged about 60 years, fell dead from heart failure while attempting to board a northbound Wichita Falls & Northwestern passenger train for Gould, Oklahoma at the Union Station at about 6 o'clock Saturday morning.

Legancamp has been here for several days under treatment of the railway company's physician. Friday night a pass to Dallas where he was to be sent to the hospital was secured for him. Saturday morning, he started on the trip. When about to mount the steps of the coach he staggered and would have fallen to the platform had not two other passengers caught him. He was laid on a truck and expired almost instantly without saying a word. Heart failure is reported as the cause of his death. His body was taken to the Wichita Falls Undertaking establishment, where it is being held while an effort is being made to learn whether the man had any relatives.

LONG HONEYMOON TRIP IS TAKEN IN DODGE CAR

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McShane of Barstow, Cal., found the touring route from Detroit to California a real honeymoon trail. They have just finished ed the tour in a Dodge Brothers' motor car, but declare that the honeymoon is by no means over.

Mr. McShane has been a resident of California for some time, but the lady of his choice resided in the east. When they decided to be married they arranged to meet in Detroit where the knot was tied. Mr. McShane had already purchased his Dodge car in Los Angeles, but had made arrangements for its delivery to him in Detroit.

This was done and the happy young couple started from Detroit for their California home. A camping outfit was carried and they took in the numerous scenic points on the way. Both are enthusiastic over the journey and over the performance of the Dodge Brothers' car. They averaged slightly more than 20 miles to the gallon of gas during the trip.

"SQUEEGEE TREAD" TIRES

DANIEL FROHMAN
—PRESENTS—
THE SUPREME FAVORITE OF THE SCREEN

Mary Pickford

IN ONE OF HER GREATEST CHARACTERIZATIONS

"Rags"

By EDITH BARNHARD DELANO

Always inimitable, always human, lovable and impulsive, she makes the character of "Rags" a living, breathing incarnation of all that is sweet and tender. The dramatic situations are numerous and powerful, and the sacrifices, renunciation and ultimate triumph of the abused and oppressed little character are thrilling in the extreme.

There are many settings in the production that deserve special commendation, and the transition of "Rags" from her squalid and sordid environments to an atmosphere of wealth and luxury is accomplished in a thoroughly convincing manner.

When this, one of the very best of pictures that the most popular motion picture actress in the entire world has ever appeared in, was run at the Million Dollar Strand Theatre of New York City for an entire week the crowds were lined up for two blocks at each performance waiting for the next show, this is sufficient evidence of the quality of the production and the high esteem that New York Motion Picture fans have for "Little Mary."

SAILOR DAVIS WINS MATCH WITH WALSH

BROOKLYN BOY AND CALIFORNIAN STAGE BOUT OF MUCH CLEVERNESS.

PRELIMINARIES PLEASE CROWD

New York Featherweight Finds Local Boy Hard-Picking—Very Small Boys Perform Cleverly.

"Sailor" Davis gave local fight fans a surprise Friday night at the Wichita Theatre, when he clearly bested Harry Walsh of Los Angeles. Active as a cat, hard as nails, and quick as a flash, the Brooklyn boy gave an exhibition that was as classy as anything ever witnessed in the State. Time and time again, Walsh uncorked his right arm with punches that would have counted, only to see them hit the place where Davis wasn't. While no decision was given, the superiority of Davis was generally conceded.

"Red" Henderson challenged the winner of the bout before the match started, and was accepted by both, so that another pretty exhibition is assured in the near future. Davis and Henderson fight, in much the same way and when they come together there should be a very brilliant performance.

The main bout, classy as it was, was rivalled in the favor of the large crowd by some of the preliminary events, all of which were worth seeing. The feature of the earlier bouts was that between Jacobs, a New York City featherweight, and Tom Courtney of this city, in which the Wichita Falls boy acquitted himself very handsomely.

Athletic Club's Plans.
Before the main bout, Judge Edgar Scurry addressed the crowd relative to the athletic club which has just about become a reality here. He said that a place would be furnished where business men and others could take regular exercise under favorable conditions, and he defended boxing matches against some critics, saying that when rowdiness and roughness were barred there was no finer sport. He urged that support be given the new institution.

Two diminutive boys staged the first preliminary, being Harold and Jack, sons of Wes Bell; they are eight and ten years old. Their performance was one of marked cleverness for boys of their age and showed that they had been taught something. They used a full measure of science in their boxing and showed a quickness and aptness that delighted the spectators and won the youngsters much applause in addition to a few dollars in coin of the realm.

Preliminaries Please Crowd.
Mike Levine and young Haley next donned the gloves for a four round exhibition that passed without any very exciting developments. Levine took better care of himself than in previous encounters with Haley and seemed to have somewhat the best of the argument.

McKeen and Delaney of this city were the next to enter the ring, their bout being scheduled to go four rounds. They started off with some lively footwork that made folks think it was a tango instead of a boxing match, but things got lively enough in a minute, as the boxers mixed things in wild cat fashion. McKeen was nearly put out before the end of the first round, but came back brilliantly, and in the second round punished his adversary considerably. His wind got the best of him, however, and before the second round ended he was forced to quit.

Courtney Meets Jacobs.
The Jacobs-Courtney bout was next. Those who predicted that Courtney, who has never had any ring training, would be easy picking for the seasoned little New Yorker soon found their mistake. He kept Jacobs at his distance throughout the four rounds, and landed several hard knocks. Jacobs, being several inches shorter than the local man, seemed to be trying to butt, his opponent when in-fighting was in progress, and referee Maxwell intervened several times, finally stopping the bout. The crowd insisted that Courtney, however, and the four rounds were completed. It was not clear to the spectators that Jacobs was really attempting any unsportsmanlike tactics. The rounds were fast and furious and the clever performance of Courtney was a source of much satisfaction to the crowd.

The next preliminary boxers were Heffler and a youth called "Dutch"; they went four rounds, Heffler having a decided advantage. Being heavier than "Dutch" and with a longer reach, and a left punch that he knew how to use, he had things considerably his own way, but the smaller man gamely stayed with him and gave a very creditable account of himself.

Challenge By Henderson.
That ended the preliminaries and the main bout began. "Red" Henderson issued his challenge, which was accepted, the boxers stipulating that he must make 135 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon preceding the bout.

The quickness of Davis was the marvel of the crowd. He seemed to be set on steel springs and while the blows he landed on Walsh did not have near the force Walsh's punches, they were much more numerous. Walsh adopted the plan of covering up and accepting some harmless hammering, then suddenly cutting loose with his right. These tactics worked to good effect on Eddie Lyons two weeks ago, but when that muscular right arm let drive at Davis, the sailor was almost always just out of reach. Both boxers fought cleanly and coolly. Davis wearing a smile most of the time.

Sailor Shows Rare Speed.
In the close range fighting, Walsh would do his best work, often landing heavy blows, but Davis did not indulge in that style of boxing to any great extent, preferring to keep his distance, dart in like a streak and land once or twice, then out again as actively as an electric flash. Spectators who have watched some of the country's premier ring performers said they had never seen his equal for speed. During the last half of the fight Davis forced the going nearly all the time, keeping Walsh on the defensive.

"I've nothing but praise for Davis," Walsh told the crowd when it was all over, "but I believe that in a longer fight, say twenty rounds, I can beat him."

We have just received fresh shipment of the famous Red Ribbon brand, new crop, evaporated loganberries, packed in eight ounce cartons.

One pound of dried loganberries is equal to five to six pounds of the fresh berries and will go much farther than a pound of any other dried berry. Try them for jelly, pies or dumplings. They are simply fine.

Per package 12 1/2 c.

AT THE THEATERS

MARY PICKFORD AT THE
EMPRESS THEATRE MONDAY

Mary Pickford, called by many "the spirit of the screen" whose every appearance in motion pictures is as much an assurance of entertainment value as Tiffany is of jewelry merit, returns to the Empress Monday in an appealing interpretation of Edith Barnard Delano's latest novel, "Rags," a title and a character that fit the star as has no other play in which she has ever been presented, even including her last screen triumphs, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow."

This five part production of the Famous Players Film Company on the Paramount program is a delightful combination of comedy and drama, both of which elements of the story are thoroughly human. After the perfect acting of Mary Pickford, the story deserves the greatest praise.

"Rags" is the daughter of a drunkard, who abuses and mistreats her, but whom she loves with all the ardor of her strong young soul. Her mother was loved by a wealthy man to whom, however, she preferred the worthless man she married, dying after the birth of her daughter. How "Rags" through the invisible influence of destiny, becomes so enmeshed in the web of fate that she meets the nephew of the man whom her mother rejected, and falls in love with him though realizing that his social position is too far above hers to ever permit a marriage between them, and how eventually her mother's lover learns of her unhappiness and takes her to his palatial home to live with him, where his nephew

"VANITY FAIR" A BIG

EDISON PRODUCTION

"Vanity Fair" the great Edison masterpiece starring Mrs. J. H. H. which was recently completed at the Bronx studios of the Edison company contains an elaborate halcyon home which for size and magnificence is said to be unrivaled. The Edison company made immense preparations for this big scene, renting numerous able furniture "props" and costumes of the period. The description of Lady Richardson's hall in "Vanity Fair" is frequently referred to as one of the greatest bits of prose in the English language. To visualize this beautiful scene as "Thackeray" would have wished to see it, was the ambition of every one interested in its staging from director to player. The entire Edison studio was used for this feature has been secured by the Empress management and will be shown at that theatre shortly.

SILK SCENERY RICH
AUTHOR'S LATEST

An advance notice says: The last word in scenery has been spoken by Philip Bartholomae, author of "When Dreams Come True" which comes to the Wichita Theatre matinee and night Thursday, November 2. Mr. Bartholomae announces that in the hall room episode, the scene is painted, not on the canvas of commerce, but on silk. He says that thereby he has attained a certain lighting effect of unquestioned beauty and effectiveness.

Mr. Bartholomae, as it is known, is equipped with one fortunate advantage carefully kept away from most makers of manuscript. He is rich. He can write checks for silk if he wants to. Let this not be taken to mean that only his wealth makes it possible for him to get in the time light. He is the author and producer of "Little Miss Brown" a success which has increased his bank account and he is the producer of a number of vaudeville acts equally successful. However, when one sets out to make scenery the possession of a bank balance is a distinct aid to the artist and the uplift. In addition to the silk set the play also reveals three other complete scenic offerings shown in three acts.

"SOLD" AT THE EMPRESS
THEATRE WEDNESDAY

Pauline Frederick is the star in "Sold" the Wednesday Paramount feature at the Empress. Containing all the elements of vigorous emotional portrayal, "Sold" the great drama of woman's devotion, adapted from the Russian of George Erastov, provides Miss Frederick with a role as fully adapted to her finely developed dramatic talents as was that of Donna Roma in her first engagement before the camera. In "Sold" Miss Frederick portrays the sacrificing young wife of a struggling artist who refuses to commercialize his art for his financial betterment. Through a series of powerful climaxes, the story reaches the point where the wife arranges to pose for her husband's successful rival in a sensational painting. In order to save him from the destitution which threatens him. The husband, hearing of her act, comes to the studio of the other artist, and in a mad fury shoots at the painting of his rival, striking his wife, who is hiding behind the easel.

Miss Frederick, who proved conclusively in her portrayal of Donna Roma that she is the screen's greatest dramatic actress, will undoubtedly strengthen this position through her powerful rendition of this role. Miss Frederick's methods of interpreting tense emotion are unsurpassable. She delineates all the broken heartedness and despair of the crushed wife with appealing pantomime.

Betty Nanssen is seen at the Majestic Tuesday in "The Song of Hate" taken from Sardou's "La Tosca." Dorothy Bernard and Claire Whitney are featured in conjunction with the popular foreign star.

Mario de Campo, a romantic young artist (played by Fritz de Land) meets Florio Tosca (Betty Nanssen) in a dreamy old world town where it is always afternoon. La Tosca is a celebrated opera singer. She is admired by Baron Scarpia, prefect of police who becomes furiously jealous of Mario's attentions to the stage star. Scarpia determines, with the power that is invested in him by virtue of his office, to wreck vengeance upon Mario. Steven Andrassi, Mario's best friend, is the tool which Scarpia elects to use to attain his ends. Andrassi is arrested as a spy and sentenced to the dungeons of St. Angelo, and ordered to be shot. Andrassi is a brother of Countess Fedor who is a warm personal friend of La Tosca. The business bribes Andrassi's jailer and he escapes. Scarpia seizes his opportunity. Mario is arrested for complicity in the escape of Andrassi. His capture has been brought about through the jealousy of Florio La Tosca for the Countess. Scarpia, who stops at nothing, when he has an end to attain, straps Mario to a chair of torture and as an iron band eats its way into the artist's forehead. Scarpia, with a cruel smile on his lips, sends for La Tosca. She realizes now that her heart and soul are bound in Mario's keeping. Scarpia names his price for Mario's life. It is the honor of La Tosca. But her great love knows no price too great to pay for the safety of Mario. She consents to meet Scarpia's demand. She meets him in a private room in a fashionable restaurant; but the last moment, as Scarpia's greedy hands touch her, his hot breath pollutes her lips, she shrinks from his Satyr-like embraces, leaning back in a last desperate moment, clutches a knife from the dinner table. Again and again she plunges it deep into Scarpia's heart. As he falls back with his lustful eyes glazed in the grip of death, the fearful realization of what she has done suddenly overwhelms La Tosca. But her sacrifice has been made. Black hearted to the last, Scarpia has played the traitor even with his debased bargain.

ORGANIZATION OF COOKS
AND WAITERS IS PLANNED

George Veyrich of Dallas, a labor union organizer is here in the interests of a cooks and waiters local and has called a meeting of all cooks and waiters in the city for this afternoon at the Moose hall at 3 o'clock. There had been a local union organized here about seven years ago but the organization was dropped. At the meeting this afternoon the final arrangements for perfecting the local organization will be made.

Feature at the Gem Monday.

SCENE FROM "THE BARNSTORMERS"

"If people realized the hardships of countered by the average player they would be mighty few stagestruck individuals." This was the statement recently made by a man who is regarded as one of the foremost stars upon the legitimate stage. In the years this player has been an actor he has known what it meant to be without an engagement—without a single one in prospect and with not a cent in his pocket. He also knew what it was to make one night stands, traveling with a company each member of which realized that the next stand might be their last. Consequently when this player was given the opportunity to see Kellum's four act "Broadway Favorites" feature, "The Barnstormers," he frankly declared that it would cause more than one person who believes his or her future to lie on the stage to be content with their present humble lot.

As a matter of fact, "The Barnstormers" is virtually a personal confession of their own, a stark story. The photo play patron accompanied by a musical comedy company and thus learns a first hand of the discomfort and hardships which are the average actor's lot. Probably no other photo play has ever torn away the glamor and romance surrounding the stage with so much of a hand.

Miss Myrtle Tunnahill, a star of the legitimate stage who has won fame in this country and abroad, enacts the principal role in this "Broadway Favorites" feature. Miss Tunnahill appears as Nell Laville, a soubrette, who, inacting herself in love with the worthless good looking leading man, turns her back upon the boy who really loves her.

Adam, the proprietor of a country hotel, is this boy's father. Ignorant of the affair between his son and Nell, Adam meets Nell in the city and falls in love with her. Mason, the leading man, and Epstein, the manager of the troupe, become aware of the old man's love. Learning that he is wealthy, they concoct a plot whereby Adam becomes the "angel," thus saving the show from financial rocks. Nell is ignorant of this fact, believing that the old man accompanies the troupe because of his affection for her. Later her eyes are opened, and she learns of the despicable manner in which Adam is being robbed. Then comes the discovery that he is her suitor's father. This comes after she has saved Adam from blackmail at the hands of the leading man and his manager. The story, of unusual heart interest, is sure to delight every photo play patron fortunate enough to see "The Barnstormers."

DOPE IN STATISTICS OF BASEBALL SEASON

HITTING, FIELDING, SCORING AND BASE RUNNING RECORDS ARE COMPARED.

MORAN—WILLARD BOUT NEXT?

Former is Fast Nearing Championship Class—Other News of the Sporting World.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 30.—The records made by the major league clubs in runs, hits, errors and men left on the bases for the season just closed furnish data for interesting study. In the National League, the Philadelphia club which won the pennant made next to the largest number of runs with the smallest total of hits. The Phillies also had fewer men left on bases than any other club and made next to the least number of errors.

The Boston Braves were third in run making, seventh in hitting. First in number of stranded runners and made less errors than any of their rivals. St. Louis made the greatest number of runs; Cincinnati led in hits. Chicago in errors and Boston in runners left.

The Boston Red Sox, World's champions and American League pennant winners, were third in the run making in the junior league, first in total number of hits; kept their errors down next to the lowest total but had more runners marooned than any other club except Detroit. The Tigers, runners-up to the Red Sox, made more runs than any other American League club; second in errors and in hitting.

The following tabulations show the number of runs, hits, errors and left on bases for the season of 1915. In both leagues.

FINED $25 FOR ADDING WATER TO MILK HE SOLD

Milk Seller Discovered Pouring Hydrant Water Into Milk—Pleads Guilty to Offense

A fine of $25 has been assessed in the city court against a dairyman who was convicted of adulterating his milk in violation of the pure food ordinance.

The evidence against the dairyman was conclusive, having been obtained when patrons complained to the police department that the milk did not seem to be all that it should. It was discovered that the milkman was adding water to it.

A watch is being maintained over the milk being sold in Wichita Falls and efforts will be made to prosecute those adding water to milk before selling it.

RANDLETT CITIZENS KILL BEAR NEAR RED RIVER

(Randlett Progressor)

Early Tuesday morning cotton pickers on the farm of W. L. Zimmerman discovered a bear wandering leisurely along the edge of the field. Mr. Zimmerman was informed of the discovery and he promptly telephoned to Randlett. In a very few minutes a battalion of hunters was organized, a few cars swung into service and they were off for the woods.

A few hounds were already on the trail and the hunters, ably assisted by some of the farmers had little difficulty in locating the bear's whereabouts. After a brief chase Bruin was seen on Deep Red creek. Soon every hunter ducked out of sight while the bear came strutting up the creek unmolested. When, however, the cub had arrived at a distance of about fifty yards from where the armed men had taken their stand and then a fusillade of shots rang out of everything from a Dalsy air rifle to a 42 centimeter Krupp. The bear beat a hasty retreat for about a hundred yards, where he turned his toes skyward and then there did Bruin's soul pass to the land from whence cometh the mournful sounds of the whang-doodle. To be sure all who fired (with the possible exception of Cleve Hooper, who was on the opposite side of the creek and thinking the bear had started that direction), tried desperately to commit suicide but missed by a narrow margin, hit the animal and there is not a chance or an argument as to who killed the bear.

Pacific Coast Sprinter.

Apparently the Pacific Coast is developing another cinder path flyer in Frank Sloman, the youth who recently broke the American interscholastic record for the quarter mile by running that distance in 48.15 seconds. An idea of this schoolboy's speed can be gathered from the fact that he fought twenty rounds with Jack Johnson in Paris on July 4, 1914. Although he lost the decision on the points the same would have been true of Willard had his battle with Johnson in Havana last April been limited to a similar number of rounds.

HEALTHY INCREASE NOTED IN RAILROAD BUSINESS LATELY

The railroads have been experiencing a big increase in business in about ten days ago and continues unabated. The Fort Worth & Denver handled over three hundred loads south from Childress and it has been found necessary to double crews back over the same division a number of times lately. Passenger business also is now the heaviest in the last several years and it is frequently necessary to run passenger trains in more than one section.

Cotton is beginning to move in considerable volume and there is no immediate prospect of business slackening. More than 10,000 bales of cotton have already been handled by the local compress.

I. O. O. F. LODGE PLANS MUCH WORK IN NOVEMBER

The local Odd Fellows Lodge will be very busy at each of their meetings during the month of November. Tomorrow night the initiatory degree will be conferred upon three candidates, after which it is expected to confer the other degrees in their respective order conclusively, with the probable addition of from one to three more candidates for the other degrees. The attendance was very good during October, but November is expected to be a record breaker, as the members are just learning what they have been missing in the past.

FOOTBALL TEAM PLAYS AT ELECTRA THIS AFTERNOON

Will Meet Old Rivals There—Lawton Eleven is Coming Here
Next Sunday.

The Wichita Falls football team will journey to Electra this afternoon for a game with its old rival at that place. The team has been practicing steadily during the past week and expects to make a stronger showing than in its game last Sunday, when it held the heavy Lawton bunch to a scoreless tie. The trip this afternoon will be made in automobiles.

Next Sunday the Lawton team will play a return game here. It will be staged at the city baseball park. The fact that neither team was able to score on the other last Sunday makes it certain that next Sunday's affair will be worth seeing.

Chapell's Condition Shows Little Change—Woman Has Made No Statement.

"Billy" Vernon, the resort woman who shot J. E. Chapell early Friday morning, yesterday morning was allowed bail by Justice Jones for her appearance at an examining trial on Thursday, November 4. Her bond was set at $750 which she promptly gave.

There was little change in Chapell's condition yesterday but his physicians said they were more hopeful for his recovery. He continues to suffer from the bullet lodged in the back of his neck against his spine and his arm is still paralyzed.

The woman has made no statement of her side of the shooting.

CANADA'S "GRAND OLD MAN" SIR CHARLES TUPPER, DEAD

Prominent Dominion Statesman is Claimed by Death at the Age of 94 Years.

By Associated Press.
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 30.—Sir Charles Tupper, venerable Canadian statesman died in England today. He was 94 years old.

From the establishment of the Dominion of Canada in 1867 in which he played a prominent part, up to with in a few years ago, Sir Charles Tupper was so prominent in Canadian statesmanship that upon his retirement he like the late Lord Strathcona, was called "Canada's Grand Old Man."

Born at Amherst, Nova Scotia, July 2, 1821, he studied medicine at Edinburgh University and attained success in the profession in his native Nova Scotia, where he entered politics in 1855 by winning a seat in the Nova Scotia parliament as a conservative. He defeated Joseph Howe, leader of the Nova Scotia Liberals.

Young Tupper made himself a power in parliament, and became premier of Nova Scotia in 1864. After the formation of the confederation he became minister of customs in the Sir John Macdonald cabinet that resigned in 1873 and was Sir John's closest adviser in the five years during which the conservative party was out of power. In 1878 when Macdonald returned to office, Dr. Tupper became minister of public works. He created the department of railways and canals, and became its first minister. In this post he carried out the policy of the government for enlargement of the well and canal, deepening of the St. Lawrence river, improvement of the Intercolonial railway and construction by a private company of the Canadian Pacific railway.

He retired from the ministry in 1894 and went to London as Canada's highest commissioner. In 1897 he was recalled to be minister of finance in MacDonald's new cabinet, but resigned next year and resumed his duties in London. In January, 1896 he entered the Sir Mackenzie Bowell administration as secretary of state and leader in the House of Commons and on the retirement of Bowell four months afterward he succeeded him as prime minister.

After the defeat of the conservatives in June, 1896, Dr. Tupper resigned office and upon the meeting of the new parliament he was elected leader of the opposition. A few years later he retired to private life. Several years ago he went to London, intending to spend his remaining years there. His leave taking was made the occasion of a great popular demonstration in Vancouver. Dr. Tupper was created a baronet in 1879. He was at one time president of the Canadian Medical Association.

DENVER SPECIAL AGENTS MAKE ARREST NEAR QUANAH

(Quanah Tribune-Chief)

For some time the Denver has been greatly bothered by finding switches open along their line, between Childress and Seymour. Occasionally a saw had been used, but more often a switch key. Somebody being sore at the railroad was suspected of wanting to cause a wreck, and the secret service men kept a sharp lookout. A young man giving his name as McGowan, and having from Dallas county, arrived at Acme Monday afternoon and confided to Deputy Sheriff Russell that he had fallen in with a stranger, who wanted him to assist in wrecking and robbing the train at the floodlight switch that night. As soon as it got dark Sheriff Walker, accompanied by Detectives Barnett of Fort Worth and Sellinger of Amarillo, left in Bob Whitman's auto for Acme. They overtook two men in the road near T. K. Marks' place and engaged them in conversation. Convinced that they were the men they were looking for, an arrest was made and when the officers found masks and a hacksaw upon them, they felt convinced no mistake had been made. The men were taken to Fort Worth that night. The officers being very reticent, few particulars could be learned. Evidently the detectives knew that a holdup had been planned for that night somewhere in this neighborhood, and it looks like they had a stool pigeon among the gang they had been watching. Rump has it that the gang has a fence in Fort Worth, where the stolen plunder of many country stores has been collected, and that the officers expected to raid this rendezvous. Since the arrest nothing more has been learned.
