Girl Scout Fund Drive Set Dec. 4

Wellington Girl Scouts will conduct their first fund drive Tuesday, December 4, and the money collected will go to finance their program for the coming year.

This is a one-day drive only. Heading the drive are Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. Jerry Nix.

Five team captains are in charge of solicitation, Mrs. Leon Hartman, Mrs. Lynn Jenkins, Mrs. Kay Gassiot, Mrs. Lyman Daniel and Mrs. Benny McDanel.

Each of these will select seven workers to assist in contacting Wellington residents who support the Girl Scouting movement.

The Wellington Girl Scouts and their younger co-ordinate organization, the Brownies, are members of the Quivira Girl Scout Council.

While most of their work is carried out on the local level, the troops and their volunteer leaders also participate in many of the Council events. The Wellington units have been organized three years and reach a large number of little girls.

Rites for Ann Gholson Mason Held Saturday

Ann Gholson Mason, who lived in Wellington as a girl, died in University Hospital, San Diego, Calif., November 21, after a short illness.

She had moved there three months ago from Denver, Colorado, and was office manager for Glenn Justice Mortgage Company.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Sam Gholson, now of Wellington, and the late Mr. Gholson, and was born here November 7, 1939. Mrs. Mason was a member of one of the early families to come to the county, and her grandfather, the late R.F. Curry was a long-time

LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS STUDY

Law enforcement officers from over the area were in Wellington to attend a school on the new Texas Penal Code. The speaker was George Dowlen, Randal County criminal district attorney.

Officers Study New Penal Code

Area law enforcement officers were in Wellington this week for an intensive three-day school covering the new Texas Penal Code which becomes effective January 1, 1974.

George Dowlen, criminal district attorney for Randal County, covered the new code section by section, during the three sessions which lasted from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The school was sponsored by the Texas Criminal Justice Council through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. It was put on by Amarillo College through its Police Academy.

Sheriff John Rainey co-ordinated the school, assisted by other county and city law enforcement officers. The 24 classroom hours will be good toward certification of peace officers, now required by Texas law.

Lee Bradshaw, assistant co-ordinator for the PRPC Academy, opened the meeting. The new Penal Code has been controversial among Texas law enforcement officers, and in the Wellington group, opinions were divided as to whether it favors peace officers or the offenders.

"In my opinion, it will help law enforcement to a great extent," Mr. Dowlen said. "There are a few things in the code that are going to create a lot of undeserved problems for officers, but the language is modern and is a lot more concise.

The last complete revision of the Texas Penal Code was in 1887. Mr. Dowlen pointed out. Most states have revised their penal codes since then.

"Criminal law should be designed to protect the honest citizens and in my opinion there are parts of the (new) penal code that are too favorable."

Mrs. Chapman Dies After Long Business Career

Mrs. J.W. Chapman, 91, who remained active in business in Wellington for almost 60 years, died in Collingsworth General Hospital Tuesday night, November 20. She had lived at Wellington Nursing Center for several months.

With her husband, the late J.W. Chapman, she came to Wellington in 1906 from Cooper and farmed for several years northwest of town.

About 1914, they bought a confectionary, which also handled many other items, on the south side of the square,

Twelve teams, six boys and six girls, will play in the tournament. ## Part of County Receives First Snow of Winter

The northwest part of Collingsworth County received its first snow Wednesday, November 21, and the Quail area reported its first flakes Saturday, November 24.

The Wednesday snow was the southern edge of a heavy fall in Wheeler and Gray Counties that slowed traffic along Interstate 40 through the morning.

Only a light fall was reported by several residents in the Quail area Saturday morning.

Pre-Christmas Trades Days to Open Dec. 8

Wellington merchants again will sponsor their traditional Pre-Christmas Good Will Trades Days for the 1973 holiday season.

As a part of this, Santa Claus will pay his annual visit to the children of the Collingsworth trade area, arriving Saturday, December 8.

Trades Days will follow closely those of other years, with 20 Wellington merchants participating.

Trades Days will continue through Christmas Eve under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Margaret Vines, secretary, said.

Script valued at $300, plus an additional $100 in children's gifts, will be given away at four drawings, slated for Saturday, December 8; Saturday, December 15; Saturday, December 22; and Monday, December 24.

Drawings on each of these days will be on the south side of the Court House at 4:00 p.m. Merchants began giving trades day tickets Monday, November 26.

Script in denominations of $35, $25 and $15 will be given each week, and should the holder of the ticket drawn not be present, another ticket will be drawn until the script is given away. There will be no holdover of script this year. This is redeemable at any business participating in the program.

One of the most popular features ever sponsored by the merchants at Christmas is the children's drawings. After the drawings for the regular script are completed, more tickets will be drawn until the holder of that lucky number is a child 12 years or under, and accompanied to the drawing by at least one parent.

Items to be given away in the children's drawings will be announced next week.

All script will be void after January 2, 1974.

Santa Claus will visit Wellington only once this Christmas

— December 8, Mrs. Vines said. Present plans call for him to arrive on the Wellington Fire Truck at 3:00 p.m. and remain about an hour, or as long as is necessary for him to visit with the children.

"Wellington's pre-Christmas Trades Days are held as one way for our merchants to say 'Thank you' to their customers, and at the same time to remind them that Wellington stores are packed with merchandise that cannot be excelled for Christmas giving. And all of this, shoppers are reminded, is here in Wellington, where shopping can be done conveniently and leisurely, and with merchants who in turn are the only mer-

Leader to Print Santa Letters

Again this year, Santa Claus will receive letters from hundreds of kiddies with the assistance of The Wellington Leader.

The letters from kiddies through the Collingsworth area, along with some who formerly lived here, will be published in the Christmas edition of the newspaper.

One Wellington miss, Angela Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watson, has her letter written. Doubtless many other children do too.

Letters should be mailed or brought to the newspaper as soon as possible. As soon as the letters are prepared for the newspaper, the original letters will be sent to Santa at his North Pole address by the quickest possible way.

Date of publication of the Christmas edition, with the Santa Claus letters, will be announced later.

Methodist Churches Plan Pulpit Visits

The two United Methodist Churches in Wellington will each have two guest clergymen and a lay speaker Sunday, December 2, their pastors have announced.

This is part of the pulpit exchange for that date which is being observed throughout the Pampa District.

First Methodist Church will have the Rev. Ross Dunn of Wheeler as guest preacher for the Sunday morning service.

Speaking in the evening will be Rev. Rollo Davidson, pastor of First Church, Shamrock, and the lay speaker at that time will be John Fowler of Memphis.

The pastor of First Methodist, the Rev. James Boswell, will preach at White Deer Sunday morning. He will then preach the evening service at Clarendon Methodist Church.

Trinity United Methodist Church guests were announced by the Rev. C.R. Hankins, pastor.

The Rev. John Dorn will preach at the morning service, 9:30 a.m., and the Rev. Tommie Nelson of Memphis will fill the pulpit for the evening service at 7:00. J. Batton of Mobeetie will be the lay speaker in the evening.

Rev. Hankins will preach at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Pampa at 11:00 a.m. and at the Miami Church at 7:00 p.m.

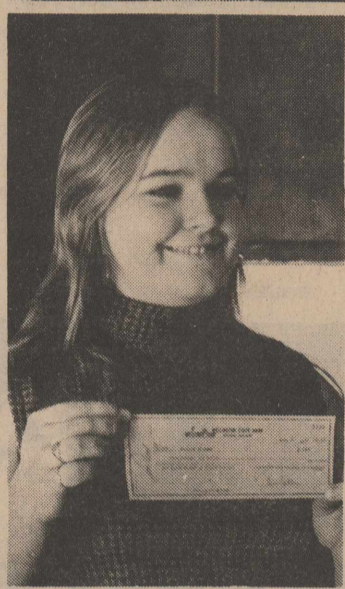

Another district event which both Wellington pastors will attend is the District Conference, to be held at Wesley Church, Borger, on Monday, December 3.

No Christmas Lights on Square

In view of President Nixon's call for the conservation of energy, the Christmas lights around Wellington's courthouse square will not be put up this year, Mayor Bill Hatch announced Monday, November 26.

It was earlier planned to burn them for limited periods.

The star which is fixed permanently atop the courthouse and the new Highway 83 Christmas decorations will burn for a limited time each evening, although these will be cut off should the need arise, Mayor Hatch added.

SLOGAN WINNERS

These three were winners of the Chamber of Commerce slogan contest. Rita Fielding, top, placed first and received a savings bond. Second place winner was Maurine Wilfong, and third, Harvey Oatman.

Mrs. Morris Asks Co. School Place

Mrs. Isla Mae Morris has authorized The Wellington Leader to announce her candidacy for the office of County Superintendent, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary.

Mrs. Morris made this announcement:

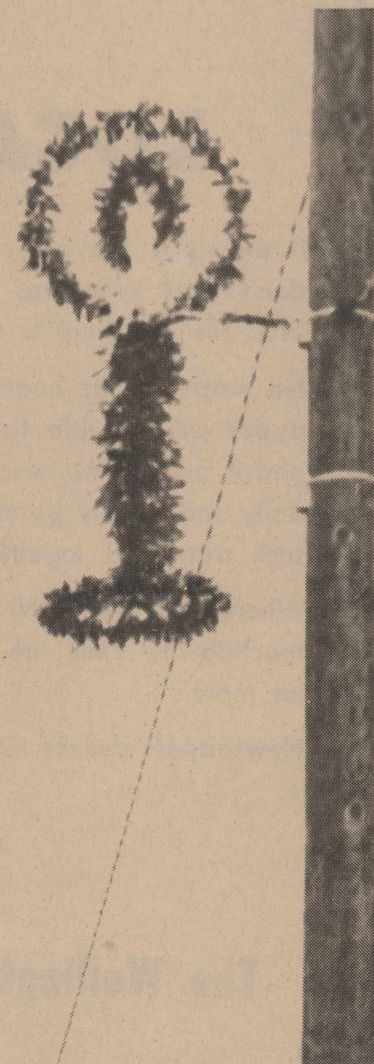

I am asking for this office on the basis of my 36 years experience as a teacher and administrator in the Collingsworth County, and on my knowledge of the present operation of our schools and the problems they face.

I began my teaching career in the rural schools here in 1932. I joined the Quail Consolidated School faculty in 1942 as a teacher and I have served as principal from 1951 to the present.

I hold Bachelor of Science and Master of Education Degrees from West Texas State University, along with four professional Texas Teacher Certificates: Superintendent, Principal, Administrator and Elementary.

As County Superintendent, I would be able to devote my full time and energy to the education of our children, just as I am now doing. I have faith that our schools can be outstanding in Texas if we all work toward that end.

Before the Primary Election, I will try to see each of you.

HIGHWAY 83 DECORATIONS

The new lighted Christmas decorations have gone up on Highway 83 through Wellington. These colorful red candles will be extinguished except for a few evening hours in compliance with the President's request to conserve energy.

Supplemental Security Income Begins Jan. 1

The Amarillo Social Security Office is now taking applications from Panhandle residents for the new federal program of Supplemental Security Income.

The new program known as SSI establishes a nationally uniform income floor for people in need who are 65 or over, blind, or disabled. Payments will range from $1 to $130 a month for individuals and from $1 to $195 for couples. The exact amount of payment people will get depends upon how much other income they might have.

To be eligible for any payment a person's resources cannot exceed $1500 for an individual or $2250 for a couple.

Resources include such things as checking and savings accounts, cash on hand, bonds, etc. However, not everything counts as a resource. A house, household goods, personal effects, automobile, and insurance policies do not normally count as resources if they are of reasonable value.

Travis C. Briggs manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office, said that certain items of income are also disregarded in determining the amount of payment. The first $20 a month of any type of income is excludable. Also, for those persons working part-time the first $65 a month of earnings will not be counted and only one-half of the amount over $65 will be considered as income.

To illustrate how the exclusions apply Briggs gave the example of a 68 year old woman whose only income is a $109.50 monthly social security check and a part-time baby sitting near the east end of the block. They operated the business continuously until about 20 years ago, when they felt they would like to retire.

Still too much a part of the business community, they reentered business a short time later, opening the gift shop, again on the south side of the square, which she closed only a few months ago. Even after her 90th birthday, Mrs. Chapman continued to come daily to her business, which she operated alone.

Born Mary Elizabeth Kesler, February 25, 1882, at Roanoke, Virginia, she was known to many of her friends as Molly. She was one of nine children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. John Kesler, also natives of Virginia.

She was married to Mr. Chapman December 24, 1904, at Cooper. He preceded her in death October 18, 1961.

Mrs. Chapman was a member of First Baptist Church.

Funeral services were conducted Friday, November 23, at 10:00 a.m. with the Rev. Howard Jones of Hamlin, former pastor here, officiating. Burial was beside her husband in Fairview Cemetery, under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were nephews, Elton Kesler, Frank Kesler, J.W. White, Austin White, Grover Graham and James Chapman.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. W.S. White and Mrs. Flossie Ford of Hale Center. Nieces and nephews living here are Mrs. M.J. Holland, Mrs. Grover Graham, Mrs. Joe Tarver and J.W. White.

and the boys at 2:30 p. m.

Third place in the girls division will be determined Saturday at 6:00 p. m. and in the boys division Saturday at 4:00.

The championship girls game is slated at 7:30 Saturday and the boys championship will be determined at 9:00 p. m.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Parker for the week end were Goldie Sobers of Miami, and Jim Kersey of Gettysburg, South Dakota.

job paying $90 a month. In this case the first $65 of earnings and one-half of the remainder will be disregarded leaving only $12.50 of earned income which must be counted. Also, the first $20 a month of the social security check may be excluded. Thus, total countable income is $89.50 plus $12.50 or $102. Since $130 is the basic benefit due an individual a payment of $28 a month would be made.

Briggs said that the example given is not from a real case but that his office has received many applications from persons whose circumstances were similar. It demonstrates that one may work part-time and still be eligible for some payments. It also shows that receipt of other income such as social security, VA payments, teachers retirement, etc., may not prevent some payment being due.

SSI benefits are first payable in January, 1974. People who are currently on state assistance rolls as aged, blind, or disabled recipients will be automatically converted to the new program in January if they are eligible for a state payment in December, 1973. It is not necessary for these persons to file a claim with the social security office. However, anyone who is not receiving state assistance payments must file an application for SSI benefits in order to receive them.

Briggs said it is probable that most persons who will be eligible to receive the maximum SSI payment of $130 or $195 a month are already receiving state assistance payments and need do nothing further to qualify for SSI payments in January. However, he estimates that there are several thousand persons in the Panhandle who are eligible for a partial payment who must file a claim before payment can be made. He said he hopes that those persons reading this article will tell their relatives, friends, and neighbors, who might qualify for payments, about it in order that everyone eligible might become aware of it.

Briggs also stressed the fact SSI payments will be financed by federal general tax revenues and not from social security contributions. Although social security offices will take applications and the Social Security Administration will be responsible for the overall program, SSI and Social Security will remain two separate programs.

PLOT RURAL DEVELOPMENT

leader in the development of rural areas for more than half a century. Governor Briscoe pledged to the leaders attending the conference that every effort possible would be made to create a favorable rural-urban balance of growth so as to help make Texas an even better place to live.

able to criminals," continued Randall County District Attorney.

"For example, the new insanity law is ridiculous. It makes it easier for a criminal to plead insanity and to be acquitted.

"The increase in the amount for theft to become a felony was raised from $50 to $200. The $50 figure was set in 1887, and those favoring the change argue that an article worth $50 at that time is worth $200 or more at present.

"I'd guess that by far the most of our thefts under $200 are committed by professionals," speculated Mr. Dowlen, adding that the $200 felony minimum will enable many of these criminals to escape prosecution, however a new feature allow several offenses to be lumped together for trial. Sheriff Rainey affirmed this.

County attorneys will be called on to try more cases, said the speaker, adding that in the future 95 per cent of the marijuana cases will be handled by the county attorney.

Bob Watson, chief probation officer for the Multi-County Juvenile Probation Program, points out that in some fields the officer will have more authority. As an example, he said that burglary formerly was defined as breaking and entering with intent of theft. Under the new code, entry alone may constitute burglary. Many definitions are clearer. "It's a whole new ball game," he added.

"I have really appreciated the courtesy and friendliness of everyone here in Wellington," Mr. Dowlen added, noting that his father, Glen Dowlen, lived here as a youth and his grandfather, Charles Dowlen farmed southeast of Wellington.

Enrolled in the school were County Judge William R. Cristof of Donley County; Mike Gilmore, Wellington Police Department; Helen Gollighugh, Collingsworth Sheriff's office; Lee Roy Hall, Memphis Police Department; Lon B. Harmon, Donley County Sheriff's office;

George S. Hooten, Shamrock Police Chief; James Clyde, Donley County Sheriff's office; Frank B. Lindsey, Donley County Sheriff; Mrs. Beatrice McKinney, Collingsworth Justice of the Peace;

Billy W. McKinney, Potter County Adult Probation Officer; Alvin Minatrea, Collingsworth County deputy Sheriff; John S. Rainey, Collingsworth County Sheriff; Doyle Ramsey, Wheeler County Sheriff's Office; Preston V. Stevens, Wheeler County Attorney; Arthur R. Taylor, Shamrock

assistant Police Chief; Bobby Jack Watson, Chief, Multi-County Juvenile Probation Office; Jack R. Yates, and Jack B. Smith, Spearman Police Department; Carl Wayne Knoll, Wheeler County Sheriff's Office; Betty Henard, Wheeler County Judge's office; R.L. Templeton, Collingsworth County Attorney.

A partial content of the new Penal Code studied by this group included:

- Inchoate offenses: criminal attempt, conspiracy, solicitation and criminal instruments.
- Offenses against the person: homicide, kidnapping, false imprisonment and sexual offenses.

- Offenses against the family: bigamy, incest, interfering with child custody, enticing a child, criminal non support.

- Offenses against property: robbery, burglary, criminal trespass, theft, fraud, etc.

- Offenses against public administration: bribery, coercion of a public servant or voter, tampering with a witness, bribery and corruption, etc.

- Offense against public order and decency which covers disorderly conduct and related offenses; and

- Offenses against public health, safety and morals.

Friendship night, one of the major events of the Eastern Star, was held by the Wellington Chapter No. 238 in the Masonic Hall Monday evening, November 19.

Seven chapters were represented, to bring the attendance to 63. These were Childress, Clarendon, Dodson, Hedley, Spur, Victoria and Wellington.

At the registration table, an autumn leaf which also served as a name plate was presented each guest. The dining table was centered with a large arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums, gold candles and autumn foliage. Pyracantha sprays and red and yellow leaves formed a garland down the center of the tables. Green and gold candles were accent notes.

Preceding the program, the visitors were welcomed and introduced by Mrs. Leggett; Mr. Davis led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag; and Mrs. Ethel Lowrie, chaplain, gave the invocation.

Mrs. James Sullivan presented "Memories of Galilee" a whistling solo, with Mrs. Frank Anderson as accompanist.

A candle ceremony was presented by the Star Points, Mrs. Cora Hurst, candle lighter and Mrs. Ruby Ball, marshal.

A solo, "Star of the East", was sung by Mrs. Louise Copeland of Childress. Those attending then formed a friendship circle to sing "Blest Be The Tie," the Mizpah benediction was led by the worthy patron.

Improvement of Airport At Top of Our Priorities

Members of the City Council at their December 3 meeting will hear a report from Bill McMorries, engineer who is making a study of Marian Airpark improvement needs. This is in view of applications for federal funding under the FFA's new National Airport System Plan and the State's new Airport Aid Program.

This is far and above the most important project now facing the city. It is one which can determine if Wellington is to have a growing, expanding future, or if we are to be limited by our own shortsighted actions.

Not many of us see the day to day use of the airport, and we are not aware, therefore, of the acute need for improvement. This is an example:

A few days ago a cattle buyer and his pilot left Hattiesburg, Miss., at 3:00 a.m. and landed in Wellington before daylight, flying a small twin-engine plane. The pilot had no difficulty landing and taking off on our short runway.

Experienced local pilots, however, point out that with a full load, the runway would have been too short. They further point out that the new twin-engine high performance planes cannot use this short runway. The risk is too great. More and more businessmen travel in the small executive jets. There is no way they can land here.

Our field is adequate for small aircraft but nothing more. Not so our neighboring towns.

Childress, utilizing its World War II air base, has a runway of some 6,500 feet which can accommodate any size planes. The other towns, Shamrock, Hollis, Memphis and Clarendon, have runways 4,000 feet or longer, all built with federal aid.

If Wellington can qualify for federal and state funding programs, the local cost will be only twelve and one-half percent of the total cost of improvement. This is probably the best bargain the city will ever be offered on its airport.

Luxury or Necessity?

If a ban is placed on Sunday driving, as now contemplated because of the energy shortage, the ban would have far-reaching ramifications and few people will like it. But then Sunday driving isn't what it used to be. Few families this day and time go for a "joy ride" on Sunday afternoon as was once the custom.

Old timers will remember when owning a car was not a necessity but a luxury, and when dad piled the wife and the kids in the family car as a matter of routine on Sunday afternoons, and all of them took a joy ride into the country or through the neighborhood. Most people walked where they wanted to go in those days. Riding in a car was an adventure.

The fuel shortage may develop to the point that Americans once again will revert to customs of that long-gone era. If it does, then it will hardly be a calamity. We will survive, just as did our grandfathers a few decades ago.

For the funny thing about a luxury is how quickly it becomes a necessity, and then how quickly a necessity can once again become a luxury—Wichita Falls Record News.

Hottest Thing in Antiques

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Gov. Dolph Briscoe released an eight-volume Texas land use study which he said will serve as a starting point for discussion of a major modern problem.

He first made clear that it does not necessarily represent his own policies.

The bulky, five-pound report was ordered by former Gov. Preston Smith in 1972 at a cost of $99,500. A lawsuit was filed to force Briscoe to release it (the report was completed eight months ago), but the governor made clear at the time he would make it public when his office had reviewed it thoroughly.

Three alternative approaches are suggested:

- * Delegation to local governments of responsibility for land resource management.

- * Recognition that the state must play an active role in managing its resources, but making the role limited and well defined.

- * Placing the state in the central position of regulating land use through statewide controls of all lands rather than specific areas or types of development. This alternative, conceded the report authors, would scarcely be "politically palatable," since it would put the state in position of issuing permits for land use rather than simply taking the lead in planning.

The report states federal regulations will be imposed in the land use field if states fail to assume more leadership. Designation of a statewide agency to coordinate changes in handling of land resources is termed essential.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the Gallup Poll findings are widely publicized these days and generally regarded by the over-people as a more highly inspired guide to our faith and practice than the Holy Bible.

The statisticians tell us this polling of the opinions of seven people per 1,000,000 population reveals what the other 999,993 are thinking.

Which makes it pretty silly to hold expensive presidential elections when we could just let the winner of each Gallup Poll serve as President for the Week.

Water Council Studies Recycling of Water

Presiding for the West Texas Council on Water Resources was State Senator Jack Hightower on November 7 in San Angelo. The new Houston Harte University Center on the campus of Angelo State University was the site of this meeting which had in attendance people from the Panhandle to Wichita Falls to Lubbock to El Paso.

Opening remarks entitled "Understanding Water" were by Charles Stewart and council member from San Angelo. Reminding those present that water is a phenomenon in nature in that it can neither be manufactured nor destroyed -- only changing in form or degree of foreign matter content, Mr. Stewart related several interesting approaches to understanding water.

One was early day experimentation by his mother on space water which she took home from the laboratory to her son. It was recycled urine. More interest in hydrology will show that shallow surface storage reservoirs whose contents evaporate at a rapid rate are only one answer to more water preservation on planet earth.

It was told that the runoff of the Red River, runs into that controversial ditch, the Mississippi River and flows to the Gulf where in importation plan would bring it back to Texas.

Wylie Webb, former Mayor of San Angelo told of that city's trials in "Search for Water." This City found solutions to its problems before the problems were of an emergency nature. With such an advanced water supply, industry is interested in locating in the area.

"Sewer and Wastewater Recycling" was the subject of J.E. Williams, San Angelo Public Works Director. Accompanying his talk were films in action of Windhoek, South Africa, the first city to use sewer recycling, and Lake Tahoe, the resort that is also famous for its consistent clear lake water.

At the latter a unique set up takes the wastewater for recycling and transfers it across a mountain where it is being used for boating and fishing lake to supplement the Lake Tahoe area.

In a Gallup Poll, the drinking of recycled water found 54% objected; 38.2% did not object; the remainder had no opinion, which seemed to mean that they were not opposed to drinking recycled water. It is felt that the objection is to the idea rather than to the taste of a thirsty person. Tests show that those of higher level of education are more receptive to this method.

Very fascinating was Range Management -- The Rocky Creek Story presented by District Conservationist, USDA, Barney Jefferson. For many years Texans believed that heavy runoff into surface storage was our only salvation. However, runoff on bare land leads to erosion. Decrease in the amount of water that soaks into the soil occurs in poor management of the soil. Grass, trees, and other plants help hold the soil in place and slow the runoff, allowing more water to soak into the soil where it will not evaporate.

Geologists tell of massive underground sources of water yet conservationists warn of the 88-million acres of mesquite alone that are syphoning off this valuable source. For Rocky Creek there was no water except late fall, winter and early spring . . . the time when the mesquite trees in that vast area were dormant. With a concentrated brush eradication movement, followed by control and management, a modern-day miracle occurred . . . the grassland reseeded became lush pastureland through which meandered not a dry creek bed but one in which water flowed the year round! Without the thirsty mesquites, the springs of decades ago were refed consistently. Brush is truly a water thief.

O.H. Ivie, General Manager of Colorado River Municipal Water District, directed the minds of the council and audience to "Weather Modification."

Prefacing his interesting lecture and slide presentation, he declared, "You cannot make it rain; you can make it rain more." The various methods of rain-making were mentioned with case histories in various states of our nation. Some states want more snow rather than more rain.

In several of the northern counties of the Texas panhandle there are ground generators set up by Oklahoma authorities. Pros and cons of rain-making and hail-prevention were discussed at length with statistics.

The next meeting of this West Texas Council on Water Resources, a part of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Water Resources set up by Lt. Governor Hobby and Senator Max Sherman, Chairman of the Senate's Committee on Natural Resources, will be in Amarillo on Monday, December 3. The public is invited to this hearing also.

Council members present for the San Angelo hearing were Mr. R.E. Chambers, Wichita Falls; J.A. Hedgecoke, Jr., K. Bert Watson, Amarillo; Troy McNeil, Dumas; A.L. Black, Friona, Kent Hance, George McCleskey, Lubbock; James B. McCray, Panhandle; Charles Stewart; Mrs. B.M. Sims.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

THE ENERGY crisis can cripple Texas industry and business if it lasts long enough and agri-business is no exception. There are plenty of sources of fuel and they can be developed in time to prevent prolonged hardship or a recession.

THE U.S. has enough coal to last for 500 years and its use can be much cleaner than it ever was before. It is expensive; but it can be done. So can the restoration of the land after strip mining.

THE United States produces slightly over half of the 17 million barrels of oil it uses each day. But there are vast quantities of oil in Alaska, offshore in the Gulf, California and New England that are only slightly developed. In addition there are large fields in Canada and South America. There are difficulties in securing oil from either of these sources besides that of governments. Some of the Canadian oil lies under arctic ice and some of that in South America has to be pumped out of jungles and over mountains; but it can be used.

IN ADDITION to coal and oil, there are other unlimited sources of power once they are efficiently harnessed. Some of the proven sources of energy are nuclear, solar, wind and tides. In time there will be abundant energy.

THERE IS another scarcity of a vital element that is essential to the survival of any civilization. That necessity is water and the long range prospects for an adequate supply of water for the world are not too bright at the present time.

TEXAS IS particularly conscious of the need of more water now and particularly in the future. Only this week, Governor Dolph Briscoe told a water task force that the states greatest water need was to get more water to dry West Texas. We need to find a supplemental source of water from outside the state, he said. He also said that there had been no preliminary agreements with Texas neighbors and that it would be very complicated but that he thought it could be done. When high officials start believing that a tremendously important task can be accomplished, then we are on the right track.

HARVEST of our greatest cotton crop money wise has been accelerating in recent weeks. Up to this week much of it was gathered too green and the growers took a loss in price. By next week practically all of the crop should be ready for machines. By then the problem will be in finding sufficient harvesting machines and trailers and the increasing glut of cotton at the gins.

MORRIS HIGLEY was a visitor in Wellington Monday. He saw the Bobcat-Rocket football game and that Wellington just plain beat Childress that night and that was all there was to it. But he was disappointed in the record of the Skyrockets after that. The Rockets should have had the Claude game and many fans believe that we lost two others that we should have had. Anyway it was a fine team and a great group of young men.

FROM "SMILES" the magazine of wit and humor: On Christmas eve, the family sang Christmas carols. During a lull a little girl asked her aunt a professional singer, what she was singing.

The aunt replied "Alto". The little girl blurted: "No wonder you sounded funny. We were singing Joy to the World."

Fires Destroy Rural House, Damage Another

The cause of a fire that completely destroyed a house 11 miles south of Wellington Wednesday night, November 21, has not been determined, Fire Marshal Bob Watson reported.

Another fire in town Saturday afternoon damaged the bathroom of a house at 1205 Dalhart Street.

Located a short distance north of Buck Creek on Highway US 83, the four-room rock house was on land owned by Mrs. Nell T. Vernon of Amarillo and operated by Virgil Patterson.

The quick thinking and courage of Sam Selman, who was hauling cotton for the Dodson Co-Op Enterprises, prevented further loss, Mr. Patterson said. Driving by, he saw a tractor beside a large butane tank near the burning house. He mounted the tractor, drove it and pulled the tank to a safe distance. Mr. Selman who lives at Childress, is the son-in-law of Darrel Murphy, manager of the Dodson Co-Op Enterprises.

The house had been repaired and furnished by Mrs. Vernon's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Martin of Dallas, who used it when they were in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson were notified of the fire about 10:30 p.m. by Mrs. Pat Bouchelle, who could see a blaze in the direction of the house. It was burning out of control by the time the rural unit of the Wellington Fire Department could arrive.

The fire at the Grady Phillips home Saturday afternoon in Wellington was confined largely to the bath room, where it originated, Mr. Watson said. The blaze was believed to have started from a gas hose that became overheated and melted, he said.

KOHOUTEK LOCATIONS

The Moody Planetarium of the Museum of Texas Tech University suggests that amateur astronomers may find these charts useful in locating the Comet Kohoutek during December and January. To the naked eye the comet looks like a star that is blurred as if it is viewed through a mist. The tail shows as a faint stream trailing behind the bright comet head. The planetarium, which will present a special show entitled "Kohoutek: Comet of the Century" at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 2, is interested in obtaining copies of any photographs taken of the comet. Astronomers suggest that photographers use a tripod, set the lens wide open, focus to infinity, and expose a very fast film for a few seconds.
