MOON IN ECLIPSE—Lubbock and South Plains residents, along with most of the nation, got a good look at a rare celestial display in which the moon was the principal actor last night in one of the best demonstrations of a total eclipse in several years — as shown in the three pictures above. The three scenes, taken at various intervals during the eclipse, were somewhat hazy because of the haze in the atmosphere. The pictures, left to right, were taken when the eclipse was about one-third over the moon, the second when it was about one-half and the third when it was a little more than two thirds. The eclipse, caused by the moon moving into the earth's shadow, started about 5:38 p. m. when the moon entered the outer shadow. At 6:37 p. m. it entered the black shadow with total eclipse starting at 7:40 o'clock, with mid-eclipse at 8:20 o'clock and the total eclipse ending at 9 o'clock. During the total eclipse the moon was a dull red ball in the night sky. (Photos by Reeves.)

Japs Knew Warship Movements; Plan For Attack Issued Nov. 9

By TOM REEDY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Testimony that the Japanese learned on Dec. 6, 1941, through intercepted U. S. radio messages what warships were at Pearl Harbor was laid before the congressional investigating committee today.

This information came from General Douglas MacArthur's staff in Tokyo, along with other word that:

1. The enemy had alternate plans to smash the U. S. fleet if it was anchored outside the harbor.

2. Orders went to the Japanese Navy to prepare for the attack as early as Nov. 9; assuming war with Britain, the United States and the Netherlands was "inevitable" and would come "the first part of December."

From Jap Officer

This information was obtained by MacArthur's staff in questioning Japanese prisoners after the fall of Japan. Much of it came from Commanderr Tomo Tachibana of the Japanese naval intelligence staff, reconstructed from memory.

Whether the Japanese actually had cracked a U. S. radio code as theirs had been cracked was not made clear.

The joint Senate-House committee received at the same time memoranda of Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, describing the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting at sea when the Atlantic Charter was drawn in August, 1941. Welles revealed that:

(A) Mr. Roosevelt was reluctant to agree right then on a postwar organization to disarm aggressor nations, urging that this wait until a U. S.-British "police force" was established.

Occupation Of Asores

(B) The President agreed to U. S. occupation of the Azores.

(C) Prime Minister Churchill said he could not subscribe immediately to a promise that all peoples would have access to world markets and raw materials.

(D) The British sought to have the Americans and Dutch join in a statement to the Japanese that further "encroachments" in the Southwest Pacific would lead to counter-measures even though the result might be war. The Presi-

Six Men Die In Bomber Crash

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (AP) — Six men lost their lives this afternoon when a U. S. Coast Guard patrol bomber, one engine missing and the second throwing oil, crashed in a field 14 miles north of here.

The U. S. naval air station at Dallas said the plane, flying westward through the heavy overcast, had aboard two coast guard pilot officers, two coast guard enlisted men and two Army enlisted men. The ship had taken off from the Coast Guard base at Biloxi, Miss., and had obtained clearance to El Paso, the Navy said.

Three Bodies Found

Four hours after the twin-engined PBY 42 dropped down in a steep dive, struck the ground and burst into flames, three bodies had been recovered. Naval regulations do not permit identity of plane crash victims to be divulged until next of kin have been notified.

Eagle Mountain Lake Marine air station said the stricken ship had broadcast a call that one engine was not functioning and that oil was leaking badly from the second shortly before 12:30 p. m. That was the time fixed for the accident.

Harry White, jr., and his father, who witnessed the crash from their farm home near Haslet, said the plane was not afire when it was seen dropping out of the low clouds, apparently headed north. White, jr., said the ship was in a steep dive before it struck the ground.

Thousands Of Vets In West Coast's Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18 (AP) "Operation Santa Claus"—pouring thousands of veterans into Pacific coast ports daily in a well-intentioned plan to get the boys home for Christmas—hit its critical peak today, with thousands of soldiers apparently destined to be out of luck.

Close to 100,000 homebound soldiers and sailors are in West coast staging areas and ports awaiting transportation and, in the next few days, inbound ships will add thousands.

Another wintry blast was sweeping across the South Plains last night, sending temperatures down into the 'teens and threatening to set a new low reading for this season.

The cold front pushed in about 11 a. m. Tuesday, and the temperature skidded from a high of 35 degrees at 10 a. m. to 16 degrees at midnight, according to figures at the West Texas Gas company's main line station. Lowest official reading reported so far this season is 13 degrees.

Temperatures were dropping steadily in most of Texas at a late hour Tuesday night, with some points predicting new lows for the season.

Christmas weather swept Texas yesterday with snow falling in Amarillo and Pampa, and subfreezing temperatures following in the wake of a new and colder norther.

Amarillo registered 14 degrees, Abilene 22, San Angelo 27, Big Spring 25, Midland 26, Wichita Falls 17, Fort Worth 19, Dallas 20, Waco 26, Austin 36 and Texarkana 28.

Snow and dropping temperatures were forecast for much of north Texas today as the norther, which moved into the Panhandle early yesterday, is expected to overspread Texas.

Most of Texas Involved

The cold wave had been reported as far south as the lower Rio Grande valley. The mercury dropped to 53 at Brownsville. Laredo had 51 degrees, El Paso 46 and Del Rio 45 along the Rio Grande.

The gulf coast was foggy, damp and chilly. Corpus Christi had 50 degrees, Galveston 52, Beaumont 50 and Houston 48.

Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene, San Angelo, Texarkana, Waco, Tyler, Corsicana and other points were in the 30's yesterday and are expected to be even colder today.

New Storm In East

A new snow storm began enveloping the eastern half of the nation last night bringing some moderation but no lasting relief from one of December's bitterest cold spells. More than 34 deaths already have been directly attributed to weather conditions in the current cold wave.

The new snow increased traffic hazzards over wide areas, but heightened prospects for a white Christmas.

The fall, ranging from a depth of one to seven inches, covered eastern Kansas, Missouri, northern Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and Ohio and was headed toward the eastern seaboard.

Sleet, snow and rain spread over Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama five inches of snow, which later

Russia Said Once Involved In Tricky Axis Political Schemes

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Wednesday, Dec. 19.—Russia in late 1940 agreed "in principle" to join members of the tri-partite alliance in a four-power entente which assigned the eastern world between them, Prince Fumimaro Konoye posthumously revealed in a special document defending the Axis.

Iran and India were to be Russia's "future sphere of influence" under a secret agreement accompanying the proposed entente. Japan was to receive the South Seas area; Germany would have taken central Africa, and Italy northern Africa, said a document released today by Konoye's son, Michitaka, who stated it was prepared by his father preceding his Sunday suicide.

Konoye said, however, the plan failed to progress and that three months after the agreement in principle was reached, German officials openly talked about the inevitability of a Nazi-Soviet war.

Japan once officially requested Berlin to avoid war with Russia, but the overture was brushed aside with the contention "it will be possible to terminate operations in two or three months."

Both he and Japan had been duped by Berlin's "tratitorous" power politics, Konoye strongly suggested, and he intimated neither Germany nor Russia seriously attempted to conclude the entente agreement.

Yosuke Matsuoka, then foreign minister, knew about the prospective Nazi-Soviet hostilities when he sought and obtained a neutrality pact from Moscow, the document said. Matsuoka's purpose was to hedge on Japan's position.

Adherence To UNO Is Voted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House passed the bill for America's participation in the United Nations organization today by a vote of 344 to 15. It was adopted in substantially the same form as the Senate had approved it, but minor changes sent it to a Senate-House conference.

The Senate approved a measure granting pay increases averaging about 11 per cent to some 1,000,000 government workers. This, adopted 62 to 3, was a substitute for a bill of Senator Downey's (D-Calif) which would have provided a flat 20 per cent boost. It now goes to the House.

Disposing Of Ships

The Senate also approved and returned to the House legislation providing for the sale or charter of $10,000,000,000 worth of wartime ships. The measure gives Americans first chance to buy the 4,750 vessels, with foreign sales authorized after 90 days.

Those were the chief legislative accomplishments at the capitol in a day which found the committees busy and congressmen laden with statements.

The Pearl Harbor investigating committee heard that the Japanese intercepted U. S. radio messages on Dec. 6, 1941, which tipped them as to what warships were in Hawaii anchorage; that the Japanese Navy was ordered Nov. 9 to prepare for war in December; and that if the U. S. ships moved outside Pearl Harbor the Japanese had plans to hit them there. This information was gathered by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff in Japan.

Minimum Wage Plan

The Senate Labor committee put off at least until Jan. 21 any action on the administration bill to raise the statutory minimum wage from 40 to 65 cents an hour and eventually to 75 cents.

The congressmen's statements and speeches covered a wide range.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind) proposed a "cooling off" period before Congress tackled the Army-Navy merger, military training and other defense problems.

Rep. Smith (R-Wis) said he saw "no sound reason why this nation should bail the British out of one war and then out of another and then be asked to re-establish their economy with our money."

Rep. Savage (D-Wash) contended the House committee on un-American activities had done nothing to justify its existence.

Union Rejects Ford Wage Offer As "Completely Unacceptable"

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Dec. 18—The CIO United Automobile Workers today rejected a 12½ per cent wage rate increase offer by the Ford Motor Co.

The rejection came less than an hour after the Ford company announced the offer while representatives of management and union were meeting on the UAW-CIO demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase.

The UAW-CIO recently turned down a 10 per cent wage rate increase offer by General Motors Corp. whose 175,000 production workers have been on strike nearly a month over the union's 30 per cent increase demand.

Estimated 15 Cents An Hour

Ford estimated its increase offer at 15 cents an hour to all production workers. The GM offer was estimated by the management to amount to 13½ cents an hour.

"The Ford proposal is completely unacceptable to the union," said Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO Ford director as he came out of the negotiating conference. He did not amplify his statement but indicated a detailed explanation could be made later. It was announced the conferences between union and company would be resumed Thursday.

The Ford offer and its rejection brought no immediate comment from General Motors officials. Most of them were enroute tonight to Washington for the opening of hearings tomorrow by a fact-finding commission appointed by President Truman to study the GM dispute.

Conditions Attached

The Ford offer was coupled with a condition that it become effective for a period of two years at the beginning of the calendar month during which production of all Ford vehicles, cars and trucks reached or exceeded 80,000 units monthly. The Ford normal peace-time output is in excess of 120,000 units a month.

The proposal also stipulated elimination of unauthorized work stoppages, an agreement regarding management prerogatives, and a reduction in the number of union committeemen. It also included a new "company security" plan, providing penalties against individual workers and the union for unauthorized work stoppages.

A company spokesman said he assumed the $68,000,000 loss envisaged by the company during its 1946 operations, would "come out of capital."

"It certainly won't be taken out of profits," he added.

Number Not Estimated

The Ford statement did not estimate the number of workers who would be affected by the proposed wage rise. In the recent strike vote conducted among Ford employes 102,248 were listed as eligible to vote.

An augmented picket line at General Motors' AC Spark Plug division plant in Flint today kept office workers from their jobs. Police estimated the pickets numbered close to 600 at one time. Yesterday there were 50. There was no attempt to break through the line today as was done yesterday and after the group of office workers had been sent home most of the pickets also left the plant gates.

Under the new proposal individual workers taking part in illegal strikes would be penalized $1.50 a day during their first participation and $2.50 a day during their second participation. The union would be liable to the company for an equal amount for each worker involved.

In addition the UAW-CIO would

Flu Spreads, Many Schools Closing Early For Holidays

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS—Celebrating his recovery after a year on crutches and braces, little Kenneth Redwine, 5, of Muleshoe, whoops it up at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, in Dallas. He'll spend Christmas at home, able to run and walk like the other kids, now that his legs are straight and strong. Kenneth is one of 7,688 crippled children cared for by the hospital in its 22 years of service. Nathan Adams' current campaign for Christmas gift checks from friends throughout Texas will help keep the hospital operating next year.

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands of cases of influenza scattered over Texas have caused the closing of several schools.

Only one death had been reported to date, and some of hte hardest hit areas report a decrease in the number of cases now.

Dr. George W. Cox, state healtn officer, revealed that 11,259 new cases of influenza were reported over the state the past week. The year's total now has reached 69,472. On the basis of 10 unreported cases to one reported, Dr. Cox said, this give 110,000 for the past week and nearly 700,000 for the year to date.

SMU Also To Dismiss

Southern Methodist university in Dallas will dismiss classes today (Wednesday) two days ahead of schedule, because of the prevalence of flu among students.

Kilgore Junior college, with about 100 ill, closed Monday. The Kilgore public schools closed last Friday because of widespread sickness. City Health Officer C. T. Richardson estimated there were 500 influenza cases in Kilgore, but he said they were decreasing.

Palestine schools were dismissed Monday. Absenteeism there had been about 25 per cent.

Harrison County

Harleton school in Harrison county, with 70 out of 175 students absent with influenza, will close today instead of Friday for the Christmas holidays.

Slightly more than 26 per cent of the Texarkana school students are absent due to colds and influenza, Superintendents W. M. Looke of Texarkana, Ark., and H. W. Stillwell of Texarkana, Tex., said yesterday. The number has mounted steadily since last Thursday, when an overall absence of 15 per cent was reported.

In Denison, 560 influenza cases were reported in schools, and they will close today.

Corsicana And Tyler

Corsicana schools reported from one-fourth to one-third absent. A Corsicana physician estimated that one of every four persons in the city were either recovering, or is now ill with flu.

Tyler had over 400, or 17 per cent, of its students absent.

In Vernon, cases were reported well above the average. One death was reported there due to influenzo, the only flu death so far reported.

Worried Homma Pleads Innocent

MANILA, Wednesday, Dec. 19. (AP) — Polite, worried Lt. Gen, Masaharu Homma pleaded innocent today to responsibility for the horrible Bataan Death March and other major Japanese atrocities in thee Philippines.

Speaking clearly in English, which he learned in his years as attache with the British Army, the one time conqueror of the Philippines agreed to dispence with translation as he was arraigned before a U. S. military commission.

He Squirms And Bows

The disgraced former commander of the Philipines twisted his hands, let his eyes wander around the courtroom and finally sat still with head bowed as the charge was read. He is accused of responsibility for the death march, in which 17,200 American and Filipino prisoners died, and with numerous other brutalities including the atricious deaths of 4,831 Americans and 45,000 Filipinos between April and August, 1942, in the infamous O'Donnell and Cabanatuan prison camps.

His trial is expected to begin

Pay Hike Voted For Government Workers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP) — The Senate today voted a graduated pay increase, averaging about 11 per cent on present scales for more than 1,000,000 government employes in classified civil service.

The vote was 62 to 3.

The legislation adopted after two weeks of intermittent discussion would repeal a 16 per cent wage increase given federal workers last July 1. Then, on the basis of their pay at that time, they would get a 36 per cent increase on wages up to $1,200, 18 per cent increase on wages from $1,200 to $4,600 and nine per cent extra on all wages above $4,600 up to a limit of $10,000.

The legislation now goes to the House for action.

OPA Policies Are Assailed

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Construction industry leaders today assailed the government's new housing program as "unworkable" and "unrealistic."

They made these assertions after adjournment of a two-day government-sponsored housing conference and following statements by federal officials that the session had accomplished its purpose.

Were "Shoved Around"

H. R. Northup, secretary-manager of the National Retail Lumber Dealers association, told a news conference that management delegates "didn't come here to get shoved around for two days."

Douglas Whitlock, former president of the Producers' Council Inc., said he had understood the conference was to be a cooperative industry - labor - government undertaking.

Both Northup and Whitlock contended that the primary construction bottleneck is OPA's "unrealistic price policy."

In asserting purposes of the conference had been attained, National Housing Administrator John B. Blandford jr., said these were twofold:

To Share Information

1. To share government information about the housing shortage with industry and labor representatives of the construction industry.

2. To review government plans to stimulate home construction.

Whitlock said that while the construction industry found the new program objectionable, "we will cooperate as best we can."

The program provides for earmarking 50 per cent of all building supplies for homes costing $10,000 or less. It also includes administration endorsement of legislation to fix price ceilings on new and existing houses.

Higher Prices Said Needed

Management delegates emphasized, the NHA spokesman said, that price increases for building materials are needed to get home construction rolling.

Under quality safeguards proposed, NHA would examine builders' specifications when they apply for air in obtaining materials. If the agency found the sale price planned was not reasonably related to the cost of a house, it would deny the contractors' application for priorities assistance.

Nazis Knew Of Jap-U. S. Plan

TOKYO, Dec. 19—In a great and tragic double-cross, Japan disclosed to the German government in July of 1941 the terms of its proposed plan for peace with America even before it was forwarded to the United States.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye's memoirs disclosed that then Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka ordered a subordinate to inform Germany of the plan at a time when the United States was seeking assurances of Japan's good faith.

Surprised At Attack

Konoye, three times premier of Japan who committed suicide Sunday to avoid arrest as a suspected war criminal, related that negotiations which had been going on since April halted when Germany attacked Russia in July of 1941.

Konoye said Japan was surprised by the German attack on Russia and indicated strongly that Japan, although a member of the

Southern Eire Still Nourishing Bitter Feeling Toward British

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Traveler

DUBLIN, Dec. 18—Now we come to the vexatious question of why the Eire government maintained neutrality during the war and refused requests of the United States and Britain for badly needed naval bases.

That's a hot potato. I think perhaps the best way to approach it is to tell you of an extraordinary incident that has happened to me here.

Official Steps In

I went to get a picture of the fine old parliament building. Having secured permission of the sentry, I proceeded to make four shots. Ihad much difficulty because a huge statue of Queen Victoria stood right in front of the building and there was no way of outflanking it. As I was maneuvering nor a fresh position, a minor government employe intervened and said I wouldn't be permitted to publish such a photo.

"We can't have a picture of the parliament building taken with the queen in front of it," he declared with such finality that I promptly removed my film roll and handed it to him.

Film Is Returned

"Well." I remarked, as I eyed the likeness of the famous Queen who has been dead these 45 years, "I knew the feeling here against England was bitter, but I didn't suppose it was this bad."

I went back to my hotel, not at all annoyed but on the contrary much interested. By the time I arrived at my hotel I received profuse apologies by telephone from the head of one of the government departments, and he himself brought the film to me.

People Hate England

The cold fact is that the people of southern Ireland as a whole are so bitter towards Britain that political circles here will tell you quietly there would have been open revolt in some quarters if the government had granted bases and thus joined in the war on the site of England.

The government of Eire and the majority of the public regard England as an invader because of the partition of Ireland into two sections. Had the two sections been united when the war began, the probabilities are the emereld Isle would have come in on the side of the Allies. It wasn't that Eire wanted the Germans to win. Many thousands of southern Irishmen served with the British fighting forces as volunteers.

I dare say one could dig up further reasons for neutrality, but to my mind we always get back to the feud between the southern Irish and the English s—bloody quarrel which runs through the centuries to the early Irish kings who finally succumbed to the invaders.

Fiery Independence Still Retained By Residents Of Eire

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP World Traveler

DUBLIN, Dec. 18—Sean O'Kelly, president of the republic of Eire, is as Irish as Shamrock.

O'Kelly and I have been friends 27 years. You would hardly suspect such a quiet, scholarly man, whose face habitually wears a friendly smile, has a Jack-the-Giant-killer record. He was one of those who fought the British in Dublin during the 'bloody Easter week rebellion' of 1916, and was imprisoned so many times for defiance to England that he likely would have trouble remembering all the cells he occupied.

Finally Got Story

The first time I met Sean O'Kelly was during the peace conference in Paris after the last war. His business was trying to catch the attention of the powers and intrest them in applying the Wilsonian ideal of self-determination to Ireland.

Shortly before that Eamon De Valera had made a sensational and mysterious escape from Lincoln prison in England, and newsmen of many countries had been trying to get the details. O'Kelly had the story but had declined to publish it because he thought the same method might be used again for the rescue of other Sinn Feiners. Well, I advanced the argument that if he gave me the story it would serve to attract the attention of the peace conference to the Republican movement. He finally agreed and here is what he told me:

Plot Is Revealed

De Valera's Sinn Fein colleagues in Ireland, having decided to try to rescue him and several companions, sent to Lincoln a fat and affable Irishman who leased a plot of ground beside the grim old prison and proceeded to cultivate vegetables. As he worked he sang Gaelic songs. These had tremendous fascination for De Valera, since they voiced both encouragement and instructions.

Finally one day the gardner's lyric tenor told De Valera to get an impression of the big lock in the gate of the yard. This was achieved with soap, and De Valera threw it over the wall to the gardner. From the impression a key was made.

Makes Quick Escape

At this juncture there appeared two beautiful Irish girls—both college women from Dublin—who played a siren role to British sentries at the gate. At the appointed hour the rescue was made while De Valera and his mates were in the yard. The girls drew the sentries away. The relief party rushed up and unlocked the gate with the key made from the impression. De Valera and his pals raced out and were distributed in several fast automobiles.

There are other versions, but I like this one—especially the touch about the singing gardner and the beautiful girls. It represents the stuff of which the present government of Eire is built.

Company Says XB-36 Not Near Completed

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (AP)—Comdr. R. G. Mayer, Consolidated Vultee division manager here, today discounted reports of the official Army publication "Air Force" that the XB-36 is "about to take to the air."

Mayer said it will be "well in 1946" before the six-engine pusher-type bomber gets off the ground. He pointed out that the ship still is not completed and that after completion it will have to undergo extensive tests on the ground.

The superbomber is expected to have a range of 10,000 miles, enough to fly non-stop from a base in the United States to bomb virtually any spot in the world.

Wingspan of the 150,000-pound ship will be 230 feet, compared with the 141-foot wingspan of the B-29. The fuselage will be 163 feet long and 150 inches in diameter. The crew will total 17 men, including relief crewmen.

Hauling of horses into Wyoming for rodeos is considered a commercial operation by the state highway patrol. One-trip permits costing $5 each are required every time the state line is crossed.

Spain sold the state of Florida to the United States in 1819, with this country gaining full possession of the area in 1821, for only $5,000,000.

The number of mule foals produced in the past eight or 10 years has been only about one-fourth as many as are needed to offset deaths.

The ability to digest milk in large quantities decreases with age. Adults who have not drunk milk in a long time find it very hard to digest.

THE COACH SITUATION

The rapid return of America's armed forces from overseas requires that the Burlington relinquish approximately one-half of its main line coaches for military transport exclusively. This takes many cars from regular trains, plus any relief equipment.

No extra cars are available for the holiday season and many regular trains will have fewer cars than normally. Some discomfort, disappointment or delay seem inevitable.

If trains are temporarily overcrowded or do not have the customary equipment, you will understand why it is unavoidable.

Use Of Irish Potato Silage Is Studied In Feeding Experiment

Although no conclusions are to be drawn until a 100-day feeding test is completed, Irish potato silage, composed of 80 per cent Irish potatoes and 20 per cent grain sorghum stover (de-horned butts) is proving a satisfactory feed for fattening cattle in comparison with sumac sorghum silage and cotton seed hulls, according to W. L. Stangel, dean of Texas Tech's division of agriculture.

The experiment was begun Dec. 14, 1944 when 30 stocker calves were secured by the agriculture division from the Spade ranch. The calves were placed in three lots, 10 head to each lot.

Plan Is Explained

Cattle in Lot 1 were wintered on sumac sorghum silage, lot 2 on sumac sorghum fodder and lot 3 on native grass pasture. All cattle in the three lots received one pound of alfalfa daily. Those in lots 1 and 2 daily received one pound of cotton seed meal and cattle in lot 3 were fed one pound of cotton seed daily.

Those in lots 1 and 2 daily received one pound of cotton seed meal and cattle in lot 3 were fed one pound of cotton seed daily. This feeding period was continued until May 1.

Given Native Grass

Calves were then given access to native grass pasture with no supplement. Sept. 1 the stockers (then long yearlings) were moved from the pasture and placed in a feed lot for a 27-day period. Here they were fed daily rations of 60 pounds of irish potatoes and six pounds of alfalfa hay.

During this feeding period each lot of calves lost weight, ranging from .19 pounds (lot 1) to .57 pounds in lots 2 and 3. Due to the lateness of feed crops, it was deemed inadvisable to hold cattle to field grain combined milo so they were placed in a dry lot Sept. 27 for the finishing period, Dean Stangel said.

Steers in lot 1 were fed sumac sorghum silage, those in lot 2 frish potato silage, and lot 3, cotton seed hulls. Same amounts of milo chop, cotton seed meal and alfalfa hay were given steers in each lot, the only difference being roughage.

It was during the 28-day period ending Oct. 25 that steers made the most outstanding gain, Dean Stangel said. Those in lot 1 averaged 855.9 pounds and gained 3.46 pounds daily. Steers in lot 2 weighed 847.7 with a daily gain of 4.57 pounds; lot 3, 875.6 with daily gain of 3.51.

Average gains for the first 56 days were: Lot 1, 2.83 pounds; lot 2, 3.71 pounds; and lot 3, 2.84 pounds. The difference between gains in lots 1 and 3 was very slight, but lot 2 (fed irish potato silage) showed a remarkable gain for the period.

The three lots of steers will be carried to a marketable finish. It is assumed this time will be at the end of 100 days of feeding, Dean Stangel said.

This experiment is being conducted by Tech's division of agriculture in cooperation with the Texas Agriculture Experiment station, College Station.

School Holidays Here Start This Afternoon

Lubbock public school students end school today until after the Christmas holidays returning to classes Dec. 31, school officials said Tuesday.

The last day of classes will feature special classroom parties and Christmas trees, exchanging of gifts, assembly programs and caroling through the halls of the schools.

Guidance classes of Senior High school will have holiday parties from 9 to 9:30 a. m. today and at 2:45 p. m. there will be an assembly program and presentation of Dicken's "Christmas Carol." The assembly will be in the high school auditorium and parents are invited.

An annual tea honoring members of the Senior High school faculty was given Tuesday afternoon by the homemaking department from 3:40 to 4:40 p. m.

The a capella choir of Senior High school directed by Mrs. John Watson has been caroling through the halls of the various schools this week.

History Of State's Part In War Planned

AUSTIN, Dec. 18 (AP)—The State historical association is preparing a history of Texas' participation in World War II, says H. Bailey Carroll, acting director, who asks cooperation of all citizens in the enterprise.

The association wants personal letters, photographs, diaries and other source materials with emphasis on "human interest" phases of the war, Carroll said.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

OVERLY conscientious, when she engaged a new maid she asked as many questions as are asked in a civil service examination.

"Have you," she asked sternly, "any religious views?"

"No, ma'am, I haven't," answered the girl, "but I've got some dandy snapshots of Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes."

HOUSEHOLD HINT—If you have been having trouble with candles toppling over, perhaps you'll welcome this suggestion telephoned by a reader: Take a fruit jar lid (that little thin tin part), melt a bit of candle and let it drip in the center of the lid and set the candle on it. Cover with evergreen or paper or what have you, and there is your candle, upright and in no danger of falling over.

ONE COMPANY'S PLAN

IN an era of news dominated with stories of strikes, picketing and an ever-widening gap between labor and management, that seems to be threatening the very life of our nation, it is heartening to read a statement from the desk of a representative of the Lincoln Electric company of Cleveland, Ohio, concerning distribution of its twelfth annual incentive bonus.

The Lincoln company, according to the statement, and also according to statements that have reached our desk from time to time during the war years, directs its efforts entirely toward the reducing of costs and selling prices. "We do not have time nor the inclination to fight among ourselves," the statement continued.

THE bonus that was distributed to 1100 employees, was the total earnings of the company after payment of the taxes and dividend, and the setting aside of the necessary seed money for the continuous prosperity of the company. It was divided among all workers who had been in the employe of the company for 45 days or more, as of December 15, in proportion to each individual's contribution to the success of the company. The bonus was in excess of the total wages and salaries of all workers and totalled slightly in excess of $3,000,000. The amounts paid varied from $8 to about $25,000.

This undoubtedly makes the workers of that organization the highest paid people in industry anywhere in the world. It was made possible by the great production record made by the employees. This record was made over a long period, through good times and bad, through peace and war; hence its soundness is therefore assured. It is a plan that points the way to understanding between management and men.

According to the statement, the efforts in the Lincoln Electric company are directed entirely toward the reducing of costs and selling prices. Industry might do well to adopt this or some similar system if we are not to come under the heel of a dominant government. If this latter tragedy should occur, the statement points out, "our liberties, our standard of living and our hope of the future will disappear in the resulting chaos."

NAVY LAD

FOR many a young boy, this will be the first Christmas away from home. This fact is sometimes forgotten by those with their loved ones at home once more. One such young man, scarcely more than a boy, wrote his thoughts on Christmas and the war to his parents as he sat alone December 7. Last year he enjoyed Christmas dinner with his parents in their magnificent home; this year he will be with shipmates in the Marianas.

Remember the date is December 7. Here is an excerpt:

"Today is just another day in the lives of the common man and the rich man alike, but it was not just an ordinary day in my life. Remember four years ago today? I can remember it so well for I was at the picture show when we heard the news of the disaster at Pearl Harbor and little islands that most Americans had not even heard about. Well, here on Guam the 550 Marines knew what was coming and did the best they could to prevent the landing of the Japs. Today I saw the graves of those men, row after row, with only white crosses to show for what they had given their lives. It made me think and I wondered just what they would have to say about all the strikes and uproarings that have been going on in this peaceful country. I wonder what they would give in dollars or in blood, to be at home again. Well, today was a peaceful day on Guam as it was on other Pacific islands and I only hope that God will be watching over all of them for the rest of time.

"I have read that a lot of veterans are returning to their first good old-fashioned, home-cooked Christmas dinners in four years. I guess it is no great sacrifice for me to miss one, or maybe two Christmases away from home; although I will miss you and Dad and the Christmas spirit that filled our house every year. Will likely get a big dinner never had on this rock, but no matter what you give a fellow out here, it doesn't quite make up for his mother's cooking."

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Beats Them All
So Easily Mixed! No Cooking. Saves Big Dollars. Real Relief.
Yes indeed, this home-mixed cough syrup, made in your own kitchen, is one of the most effective things ever found for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix, a child could do it. And it saves good money, too.
Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired.
Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from your druggist, and put it into a pint bottle. Then fill the pint with your syrup. Thus you make a pint—a family supply—of really excellent cough medicine. It gives you about four times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.
The way this simple mixture takes right hold of a cough, is truly surprising. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritation, eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you get restful sleep. You'll swear by it.
Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, known for its quick effect on throat and bronchial irritations. Just try it, and if not pleased in every way, your money will be refunded.

Wainwright Warns 'Paper' Troops Won't Halt International Bandits

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 18—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, who knows what freedom means, today urged that this nation's liberty be guarded by a modern Army and Navy and universal military service.

The thin, blue-eyed general told a luncheon audience of more than 700 that "one of the first lessons we must learn is that potential strength — the armies which can be put into the field two years after danger threatens —will have no more deterring effect upon any future disturber of world peace that it had upon Germany or Japan.

Play For High Stakes

"International bandits play for high stakes. In estimating the strength of forces which may oppose them, they give no consideration whatsoever to troops which exist only on paper or to weapons represented only by preliminary blueprints. They are willing to gamble that they can complete their conquest and secure their victory before such paper troops and blue print weapons ever materialize on the battlefield.

"That was the story of World War I. That was the story of World War II. That will be the story of World War III unless we resolve here and now to speak to all future agressors in the only terms such people understand . . . existing force and a determination to use it to preserve the peace or in our own defense."

Aides Accompany Him

The general was accompanied from Fort Worth by his aide, Col. O. I. Homan and by Lt. Col. Tom Dooley of McKinney, Tex., who was with Wainwright during his Japanese imprisonment.

In a broadcast, the general said he had been told "and it is hard to believe, that Dallas, always a leader in Texas projects, is lagging in the accomplishment of its final wartime responsibility, successful completion of the Victory Loan drive."

"Texas has never left a combat assignment unfinished," he declared. "I have experienced thousands of graphic examples of that. I am certain Texans at home will not fail."

Ex-Aggies Praised

Wainwright, at a press conference, praised the work of ex-Texas Aggies on Bataan and Corregidor.

"Those Aggies," said he, "were all good, tough soldiers. They got together on San Jacinto day on Corregidor and organized the Corregidor chapter of Aggie Exes. There was no time for a celebration but those Aggies just couldn't let a Texas holiday pass unnoticed.

The general leaves tomorrow for San Antonio. He will spend the holiday season shooting "Christmas quail" near Del Rio.

'One Man Farm' Seen Under Modern Trend

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson predicted today that mechanization of agriculture would bring the nation to the point where "one man on the farm will be able to produce all the food and other farm products needed for 10 in the cities.

Anderson told the 27th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau federation that "a revolution on the land"—was resulting from technological and mechanical advances and that fewer people were needed to grow America's food.

"Before World War 1, farming had progressed so far in technology and mechanization that one-third of our population could do all the farming necessary for the other two-thirds," he said. "By 1929, one-fourth of the population could handle the farming end of our economy. And now we have just come through a period of greatest farm output of all time, with less than one-fifth of our people on the land."

With this technological advance, however, the farm has become less than 10 per cent self-sufficient, Anderson said, necessitating a high degree of interdependence between agriculture, labor and industry to achieve a balanced expansion of national economy.

In his annual address opening the session, Federation President Edward A. O'Neal said industrial wages, prices and farm prices "in fair relation to each other," could to a great extent eliminate booms and depressions that have marked the nation's economy in the past.

War Veterans To Get Chance At Surpluses

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18. (AP)—War veterans will get opportunities to buy several types of Army vehicles Thursday and Friday at Camp Livingston, La., and at Fort Sam Houston, Teas, Jan. 10 and 11.

The sales dates were announced today by Hamilton Morton, regional director of the Consumer Goods division of the Office of Surplus property here.

The Camp Livingston sale is in progress now on 930 units including 6x6, 6x4 and 4x4 cargo trucks, ¼ton command and reconnaissance trucks.

Federal agencies began buying Monday, state and local agencies were buying Tuesday and Wednesday and Veterans will buy Thursday and Friday. The sale will be resumed Dec. 27 and 28 for dealers.

The Sam Houston sale of 655 units will begin Jan. 7, with federal agencies buying the first day, state and local governments the next two, veterans on Jan. 10, and 11, and dealers, Jan. 14.

A 5,000-kilowatt hydro-electric plant will be constructed shortly in Northern Wyoming at an estimated cost of $900,000.

Washington, Declares WCTU, Drinks More Hard Likker Per Capita Than Any Other City In America; Here's The Reason Why

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—I think I'm beginning to understand why Washington, according to the WCTU drinks more hard likker per capita than any other city in America. It's the pace; the gruelling pace.

Take the generals, who had to sit in a committee room while Pvt. George L. Marks, ex-hair tonic salesman from Cleveland, looked them in the eye and called them aristocratic phonies of the Pentagon castle. When those generals finally got out of there do you think they guzzled soda pop?

And so on, WCTU. There are reasons. The Veterans bureau was forced to announce its own press agent didn't know what he was talking about when he said it was training WACs to be chorus girls. Eighty million dollars worth of German old masters came to the National Galleries which put 'em out of sight in the cellar. Confounded art lovers turned to gin.

Cabinet Goes Yachting

Members of President Truman's cabinet got rigged out in clean shirt to go yachting with their boss. He took them aboard his boat and fed 'em, but never left the wharf.

Congress still was battling over the Full Employment bill, which began to look about half full. The lawmakers finally gave the President authority to reorganize the government. The FCC authorized the Puget Sound ferry boat, Kala Kala, to steer itself by radar.

The War department got back its beef priority.

Mr. Truman demanded ceilings on the price of new homes. The President also asked for $1,650,000 to build a lean-to at the White House and fix the furnace.

The Patent office returned from Richmond, Va., hundred of employes who couldn't find places to live. Only way they could keep warm, WCTU, was to frequent those sal—ns.

Probe Committee To Quit

William D. Mitchell, attorney for the Pearl Harbor investigating committee, and his staff decided to quit. They said it looked like the hearings might last 10 years maybe and they simply didn't have the time. The Senate couldn't decide whether to raise the salaries of federal clerks. They decided against raising their own right now.

Secretary of State Byrnes went to Moscow to see if he could cook up an atomic deal. Sen. Theodore D. Bilbo, D., Miss., got a bill through the appropriations committee to pay him $1,183 for the salary of a clerk nobody told him to hire. The OPA promised more shirts cheaper soon. Most of the government had the grippe.

Robert L. Gray of St. Paul, N. C., who didn't like his seat in the coach got up and started walking to the rear of a train. It was in the middle of a tunnel when he got to the last car. He didn't know it. He picked himself up and trudged back to the Union station. And what, WCTU, do you think they gave him?

It wasn't buttermilk.

Diet Ends Extraordinary Session And Some Improvement Expected

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Dec. 18—The Japanese Diet, its members displaying lack of familiarity with Democratic processes, today ended a 22-day extraordinary session which should bring some improvement in the lives of millions of citizens.

Chief products of the session were an election reform bill enfranchising approximately 22,000,000 young women and 3,000,000 young men, a labor union law, a farm reform measure and the repeal of several wartime laws.

Uninterested In People

Diet members handpicked by Hideki Tojo in 1942 for his rubber stamp parliament failed to demonstrate either a marked interest in the people's welfare or an ability to utilize their newly-granted freedom of speech.

An imperial decree will be issued soon naming the date for an election now scheduled to be held between January 20 and 30. The election law was calculated to give the electorate greater authority in the selection of its representatives.

The labor union law for the first time authorizes collective bargaining. Passed belatedly, the measure gives new rights immediately to about 8,000,000 workers, the government estimated.

Absentee Landlords

The government has until March 15 to comply with MacArthur's order for elimination of absentee landlordism and a provision for tenants to purchase their lands.

The session produced an unprecedented discussion on whether Emperor Hirohito shared in war guilt. The Diet voiced support for continuation of the emperor system and agreed with Premier Kijuro Shidehara that Hirohito was not a war criminal. But orations praising the ruler drew only halfhearted applause.

War Correspondents Awarded Ribbons

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP)—European, African and Middle Eastern campaign ribbons were awarded today to 314 civilian war correspondents "for outstanding and conspicuous service with the armed forces under difficult and hazardous combat conditions."

Eight awards were made posthumously, to Bede Irvin, Associated Press photographer; Harold Denny, New York Times; Jack Frankish, United Press; Harold W. Kulick, Popular Science; David Lardner, New Yorker; Gaston Madru, Newsreel Pool; Ernie Pyle, United Features; and Thomas S. Treanor, Los Angeles Times.

Those who received ribbons for service with the Associated Press were Hal Boyle, Franklyn Banker, Horace Cort, Ruth Cowan, Kenneth Dixon, Howell Dodd, Roger D. Greene, Dan Grossi, Harry Harris, Lewis Hawkins, Henry B. Jameson, Byron Rollins, Wade Werner, William S. White, Don Whitehead, Thoburn Wiant, Tom Yarbrough, Larry Allen, Edward D. Ball, William F. Black Market Lumber Trade Is Assailed

HOUSTON, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Black market lumber trade in East Texas mills is contributing largely to the shortage of lumber in Houston, Gene Ebersole, executive vice president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas, said today.

His charge followed an assertion by OPA District Director Stephen J. Tully, Jr., who charged that half the lumber milled in East Texas went into the black market at as much as three times the ceiling price.

OPA attorneys, meantime, announced they were preparing to file charges in federal court in an attempt to stop the illegal operation. They said six cases would be before the court by Jan. 1.

"Unless OPA stops this business," Ebersole said, "I think it will mean the end of OPA."

"It's getting to be ridiculous—this enforcing of regulations governing reputable lumbermen when there are so many flagrant violations," he added.

Tully attributed the high increase in the cost of home building in Houston to more expensive materials rather than higher wages. "Wages are just a drop in the bucket," said Tully, a builder himself before the war.

Houston Woman Held After Leaving Baby

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—A Houston woman who abandoned a seven-months-old baby in a saloon, was in jail today as police prepared to file a charge of criminal neglect of a minor child against her.

Police said it was uncertain whether the baby girl, now safe in a charity hospital, would be returned to her since the woman admitted she was not its mother.

Police said the woman left the baby with a stranger in the barroom. She asked the strange woman to hold the baby for a minute and left the room. When she did not return the strange woman notified police.

The Houston woman showed up about noon the next day and was placed in jail. Police said formal charges would be filed today and bond would be set.

The woman said she had adopted the baby but Texas authorities reported a baby of that age could not legally be adopted in Texas. Houston records showed the child was born to a Waco, Tex., woman in a Houston hospital on May. 15.

Wife of a shipyard worker, the Houston woman said the mother stayed at her apartment for four months and gave her the child.

Marines Say Ships Leave China Empty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Rep. Delacy (D-Wash) inserted in the Congressional Record today a letter from 15 Marines of the Sixth Marine division asking why they could not be sent home and asserting 25 empty transports sailed for home from China on Nov. 14.

"These ships would have been more than enough to have taken the entire Sixth Marine division back to the states," the letter continued. "Last week we watched these ships weigh anchor and sail for home—empty."

The men said they took part in most of the campaigns of the Pacific and the final battle of Okinawa and that they have served 12 to 24 months.

TICKLING TOO MUCH

GOSHEN, Ind. (U.P.) — Narciso Puga, 39, didn't let out as much as a peep when a doctor stitched up his lacerated foot following a railroad section gang accident, but it took three men to hold him when a nurse washed the bottom of his injured foot.

Puga, who is a Mexican and cannot speak English, couldn't make the attendants understand that he was ticklish.

Legion's Chief Says U. S. Must Be Armed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—John Stelle, national commander of the American Legion, declared at a Congressional hearing today that the United States must "keep a gun cocked" through adoption of universal military training.

Submitting to the House military committee the Legion's plan for four months of intensive training, Stelle said:

"That gun can be in the form of a large, standing armed force or it can be in the form of a small highly-trained regular force and trained citizen Army and reserve components."

"The first is repugnant to our way of life, but the second conforms to it," he added.

S. Perry Brown of Beaumont, Tex., chairman of the Legion's national defense program, then outlined to the committee the training program which the Legion adopted at its Chicago convention last month.

The Legion plan calls for up to four months of intensive, basic training for all youths between 18 and 20, and those of 17 who have parental consent. Trainees would then be given several optional ways of completing the remainder of their year of training—either in the armed force, National Guard, R. O. T. C., college or industry.

Assistants In Vets' Setup Are Announced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans administrator today picked three assistant deputy administrators to help manage VA branch offices in Dallas, St. Louis, and Philadelphia.

Durrell A. Hillier, vocational rehabilitation and education officer at the New Orleans regional office, will serve under Dr. Harry Rubin, deputy administrator at Dallas.

Harry J. Crosson, manager of the Philadelphia regional office, will be promoted to the assistant deputy post under Robert W. Wilson, deputy administrator in Philadelphia.

Thirteen branch offices were set up by Bradley as part of a plan to decentralize administration of veterans affairs.

The number of eggs a hen may lay is determined by her parents.

WAINWRIGHT WARNING

DALLAS, Dec. 18 (AP)—General Jonathan M. Wainwright today warned a Dallas luncheon audience that "the armies which can be put into the field two years after danger threatens will have no more deterring effect upon any future disturber of world peace than they had upon Germany or Japan."

Crop Production For Past Year Said Third Largest On Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (U.P.) — The Agriculture department, in its final 1945 survey, reported today that crop production for the year was the third largest on record.

The report was based on crop conditions as of Dec. 1. Over-all output has been exceeded only in 1942, when production was two per cent larger, and in 1944 when it was one and one-half per cent greater.

Figures Are Given

"High yields on acreage that was the second largest since 1932 accounted for this outstanding achievement in face of numerous difficulties," the crop reporting board said in summarizing the farm achievement in the last war year.

The board said the 1945 corn crop reached 3,018,410,000 bushels. This is six per cent below the 1944 production of 3,203,310,000 bushels, but about 25 per cent above the 1934-43 average.

Yield per acre was estimated at 33.1 bushels compared with 33.0 bushels last year and 26.8 bushels for the average.

Wheat Output High

Wheat production for 1945 was placed at 1,123,143,000 bushels, a new record. This compares with an average production of 789,080,000 bushels.

Wheat yield per acre was 17.3 bushels compared with 18.1 a year ago, but 14.7 in an average year.

Winter wheat production was estimated at 823,177,000 bushels compared with 758,930,000 bushels a year ago.

Other Figures Given

Spring wheat was estimated at 299,966,000 bushels compared with 313,247,000 bushels.

Final estimates of production for other crops in 1945 compared with 1944 an dthe 10-year average:

Oats — 1,547,663,000 bushels compared with 1,154,666,000 and 1,068,399,000.

COTTON CONSUMPTION FOR PAST MONTH IS CITED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) — The census bureau reported today that cotton consumed during November, 1945, totaled 743,450 bales of lint and 83,680 bales of linters.

This compared with 759,806 bales of linters consumed during October of this year, and 836,438 bales of lint and 12,032 bales of linters consumed during November of last year.

Consumption for the four months ending Nov. 30, totaled 2,944,067 bales of lint and 330,838 bales of linters, compared with 3,261,577 and 497,948 for the corresponding period a year ago.

Cotton on hand Nov. 30 included:

In consuming establishments 2,202,498 bales of lint and 257,002 bales of linters, compared with 2,208,291 and 232,471 a year ago.

In public storage and at compresses 10623,198 bales of lint and 43,587 bales of linters, compared with 13,174,894 and 24,415 a year ago.

Cotton spindlers active during November numbered 21,605,060 compared with 21,721,792 during October this year, and 22,257,040 during November last year.

Mules live longer than horses, averaging 18 years to the horses' 15 years.

NEW AMBASSADOR SEEN

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Three London newspapers reported today that Lord Halifax, ambassador to the United States since 1941, would be succeeded soon by Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, present British ambassador to Russia.

Milk Stoppage Set In Albuquerque As Protest On Price

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Unless OPA officials are able to offer a satisfactory solution to dairymen's request for a raise in ceiling prices, Albuquerque's threatened milk stoppage will become a reality tomorrow morning.

Walter Taylor, Denver, head OPA regional food price specialist, was slated to confer today with producing dairymen of Bernalillo, Valencia, Torrance and San Juan counties. He arrived here yesterday in response to an urgent call by local OPA officials.

Meanwhile, state OPA Director John D. Bingaman describes the situation here as looking "pretty bad," and disclosed that the dairymen had refused OPA's offer to check on claims that they are operating at a loss. They pointed out that they had been attempting unsuccessfully to get a milk price increase for several months, Bingaman said, adding that they had also refused OPA's request to postpone the strike until after Christmas.

Mrs. Frank Schulmeister and A. F. Black, who represent the dairymen, were scheduled to continue their conferences with OPA today.

The milk stoppage will be carried out as planned tomorrow, said Mrs. Schulmeister, "unless OPA can give us definite assurance of a price raise."

Dairymen in this area will ship to Santa Fe, Gallup, El Paso and Grants—all of which have higher price ceilings—if the increase is not granted immediately by local OPA officials, Mrs. Schulmeister said.

The dairymen are seeking a price of $1.20 per pound for butterfat, as compared with 92 cents, plus the government subsidy, which they are now receiving, according to Bingaman.

Lower Infant Death Rate Is Forecast

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 18. (AP)—The second lowest infant death rate in 20 years was forecast for 1945 by the public health department in statistics announced here today.

Out of an estimated 10,500 babies born this year, the death total of children under one year will be approximately 675, it was announced. This compares with 715 deaths among 10,100 babies born last year.

Conservation Plans Talked

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Substantial achievements today were foreseen in the meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact commission here.

Governors Andrew Schoeppel of Kansas and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, predicted that the meeting here would bring about further improvements in the conservation program, which is the chief concern of the commission.

Hunter Is Praised

Both governors spoke to the meeting of southwestern oil men late yesterday, and both Kerr and Schoeppel expressed sorrow at the death of J. C. Hunter, Lathrop, Tex., a pioneer compact worker and director.

"This compact is almost a monument to the wisdom, patience and statesmanlike qualities of this man," Kerr said of Hunter. "No one will ever take his place."

"This organization grew out of the interest of the common welfare," the Oklahoma governor said. "By acquiring knowledge and experience, the compact has developed a pattern of oil and gas production that is outstanding."

Reports Are Made

Committee reports were made following the addresses by the Oklahoma and Kansas governors.

The research and coordinating committee voted to continue their study of the methods of allocation. The committee requested the aid of the legal committee in further study basing their requests on the plea that both the problems of conservation and protection of correlative rights are essentially a part of any allocation formula.

The group resolved that sufficient money be appropriated by Congress to carry on necessary research in connection with the Bureau of Mines.

The same committee reported to the national stripped well survey of 1944, 9,400 stripper wells were abandoned during 1944, with a loss of 34,297,740 barrels of recoverable oil.

The legal committee reported they would revise the suggested conservation laws and a suggested chapter and by-laws for the engineering committees operating in the various states.

A volume on oil and gas production practices is well underway, the engineering committee reported. They said outlines of essential chapters have been suggested by various engineers, and authors have been selected to prepare the manuscript.

Nueces County Draft Board Chairman Dies

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 18. (AP) —F. B. Orr, 53, chairman of the Nueces county draft boards, died here yesterday of tetanus. He stepped on a nail ten days ago.

He had been chairman of the draft board for five years, and transportation chairman of all local boards four years. He had served as a member of the school trustees three terms. An ardent football fan, he had inaugurated night games, and was responsible for starting construction of the high school stadium.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

There were 8,897,000 horses and 3,408,000 mules on U. S. farms Jan. 1, 1945.

U. S. State Department Reasserts Authority Over Actions In China

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The State department today reasserted its right to chart American foreign policy by making public some instructions to the War department on movement of Nationalist troops in China.

Issued at a news conference, the statement "directed" the War department that Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer could transport Chinese Nationalist troops to Manchuria when he deemed it necessary.

Only For Manchuria

It added, however, that this privilege held only for Manchuria. Wedemeyer may move forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek from south to north China, the statement said, only if such action is approved by Gen. George C. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy, who is scheduled to arrive in Chungking Thursday.

Although the statement said "the State department has directed the War department," state officials said it was not a directive in a strict sense, but rather an interpretation of the President's Chinese policy statement issued Saturday.

Some State department officials including Secretary Byrnes have insisted until recently that the presence of American troops in strife-torn China was purely a military matter.

There Due To Japs

The U. S. troops were there, Byrnes eplained, only to accept the surrender of Japanese troops; disarm and repatriate them under terms of the surrender agreement.

Byrnes told a news conference November 7 that it had not even been called to his attention when U. S. Marines were first sent into China, but emphasized he was not concerned because the operation was purely military, not political.

be held liable to the company in the amount of $5,000 for each person not an employe of the company who might be found guilty of "instigating, fomenting, actively supporting or giving leadership to an illegitimate strike."

The worker penalty would be deducted from his wages and that against the union from amounts collected by the company for the union under the check-off provisions of the agreement.

To Be Used For Charity

The company said any penalties thus collected would be paid over to the national infantile paralysis foundation or some other recognized charity of the company's choosing.

The prerogatives stipulations reserved to the management the right to hire and lay off, promote and transfer, and discipline and discharge employes for cause, provided the terms of the agreement were not violated in the exercise of those rights.

The company also reserved the right to "establish and determine and to maintain and enforce standards of production," and to determine which employes should work overtime when such extra work became necessary to maintain "efficiency and an even flow of production."

Workers Renew Pledge

The UAW's strike strategy committee asserted late today that 99 per cent of the GM strikers have indorsed a recommendation by the UAW's GM council that they "remain on strike until their demands are met."

The GM delegates at a December 8 meeting here called on the locals to turn down GM's offer of a 13½ cent an hour wage increase, which the company said would average a 10 per cent wage boost. The union seeks 30 per cent.

Company officials were unavailable for comment.

Some Relief At Buffalo

In the Buffalo, N. Y., area where 68 inches of snow was piled up in one of the state's worst blizzards, the storm abated and workers fought to restore normal transportation. Trains still were running as much as six hours late, however, and schools and most city offices in the area remained closed.

Sub zero readings were common in the northern plains states. Coldest readings were from Broadus and West Yellowstone, Mont., with -33 degrees.

In Oklahoma, a glaze of ice and snow covered highways and the state highway patrol urged motorists to stay off roads.

Lindbergh Says World Setup Is Now Needed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh says men's science has brought him to a choice of whether he will live "in an organized world or in constant insecurity."

Aircraft and the atomic bomb, the one-time non-interventionist declared at an aero club dinner, have made it "no longer a question of whether or not we should have world organization, but of what form it should take."

Lindbergh chose a celebration of the 42nd anniversary of the Wright brothers' flight for his first public address since [illegible]. At that time he resigned his colonel's commission in the Air Force reserve during a dispute with President Roosevelt over foreign policy.

The California - Arizona citrus industry set a record by shipping 140,544 cars of fresh fruit during the 1944-45 season.

Ricketts Recalls Name Change For Wainwright's Men

TEMPLE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Defenders of Corregidor, called "General Skinny Wainwright's Warriors," were known, after a few months of Japanese imprisonment as "General Wainwright's Skinny Warriors," Sgt. J. F. Ricketts of Lubbock, says.

Ricketts, a member of the 60th Coast Artillery, was captured when Corregidor surrendered and was a Japanese prisoner for three and one-half years. He now is convalescing at McCloskey General hospital here.

The Japs assigned Ricketts to a burial detail.

"One morning," the sergeant related, "one of my buddies died and I had to bury him. The morning he was buried I said a prayer for him but not aloud. The Japs saw my lips moving and for that I was severely beaten."

The sergeant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ricketts (423 Avenue M) Lubbock. He wears the Purple Heart with two clusters.

Pearl Harbor Quiz

dent, other witnesses have said, did make a statement to the Japanese ambassador but it was "watered down."

The evidence was introduced as Vice Admiral Theodore S. Wilkinson, chief of naval intelligence at Pearl Harbor time, went through his second day of questioning.

Strike Outside Harbor

The MacArthur niformation that the Japanese had assigned a force to hit at the fleet if it was outside the harbor led to some sharp questioning of Wilkinson.

Wilkinson said it takes 10 minutes to get a big ship out, one destroyer could have gotten out between the battleships and cruisers, perhaps two. By his reckoning, more than half the six battleships, six cruisers and dozen destroyers smashed in the raid could have escaped the harbor.

The committee record was bulged some more by the introduction of correspondence between Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, Pacific fleet commander, and Stark in which Kimmel complained he was not getting enough information on the broad political situation.

Key Officer Died

The documents for MacArthur's headquarters were based on the conjecture of the Japanese officer interviewed because the key officer at Pearl Harbor had died and important papers were burned at the time of surrender.

Tachibana informed Col. F. P. Munson of MacArthur's staff about the intercepted U. S. broadcast on the number of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and others entering Pearl Harbor or anchored there. He did not give any more details of this broadcast but added that the Japanese got information also from signals to American ships.

The Japanese said the naval intelligence division at Tokyo had "a most difficult time" judging the habits and strength of the American fleet.

Story Of Sub Commanders

MacArthur also relayed to the committee the story of two Japanese submarine commanders interviewed by a Japanese correspondent. This account said submarines which participated in the Pearl Harbor attack left Yokosuka naval base as early as Nov. 11, assigned to strike U. S. vesels escaping from the harbor and to rescue fliers shot down.

A day before the attack one of the submarines sighted the Carrier Lexington but "no trouble ensued." The story related the launching of two-man midget submarines from the decks of five larger submarines just before the air attack began.

Homma's Plea

about Jan. 7 before the commission.

Homma is the second former commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines to be tried here as a war criminal. Less than two weeks ago, Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, one of his successors, was convicted of condoning wholesale atrocities, and sentenced to be hanged. Yamashita has one appeal pending before the United States Supreme court and another before General MacArthur.

The defense emphasized that the charges are based on atrocities committed three years ago, that many details have been forgotten by Homma and that witnesses are scattered throughout Japan, Korea and China.

Soviet Favors More Big Three Meetings

MOSCOW, Dec. 18. (AP)—As foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and Soviet Russia met for their third formal session today, the Moscow newspaper "New Times" indicated Russia would favor continued meetings of the Big Three powers in the interests of world collaboration.

Referring to recent proposals that veto rights of the five major nations on the United Nations security council be abolished, the New Times called this an "attempt to balk on firm collaboration of peace-loving great powers," and an attempt to "transfer international policy to new rails" which "cannot lead peoples to a way of reliable peace."

Conceding that the atomic bomb had introduced something new into international relations, the New Times asked: "But is firm collaboration of the great powers in the interests of international peace less necessary under the new conditions? Isn't it rather the reverse?"

Exploding Munitions Truck Rocks Big Area

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 18 (AP) — A Navy ammunition truck and trailer caught fire and exploded on a highway about 15 miles north of here about 3:20 p. m. today with a terrific concussion that rendered almost 1000 persons homeless in a nearby federal housing project and caused about 20 casualties.

No serious injuries were reported by police. Camp Matthews, near the blast, reported 16 Marines were treated for cuts. Windows were broken in the area, furniture blown into the street, and nearby Army and Marine camp structures reported damaged expensively.

Truck driver John Ayala, of Fallbrook, Calif., noticed his gas tank aflame and leaped out to notify authorities at La Jolla Junction, 150 yards away, of the impending danger.

Police and firemen had time to evacuate residents of adjacent Torrey Pines federal housing project and block off traffic at both ends of Rose Canyon before the explosion. Firemen from Gamp Matthews, Camp Callan and San Diego kept away from the vehicle since they expected an explosion.

Man Pleads Innocent Of Kidnapping Girl

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 18. (AP) — Thomas H. McMonigle pleaded innocent to a charge of kidnaping 15-year-old Thora Chamberlain today before Superior Judge William F. James, a few minutes after the Santa Clara county grand jury had returned an indictment against him. He also pleaded innocent to a second count of child-stealing.

The court fixed Jan. 14 as the tentative trial date and set McMonigle's bond at $25,000. Then the prisoner, who had been brought from security custody at San Quentin prison expressly for the court appearance, was promptly returned there. His caravan included a carload of heavily armed deputy sheriffs.

Woman, Brother Die In Auto-Bus Crash

BRENHAM, Tex., Dec. 18 (AP) — Mrs. W. H. Hickman, a secretary for the Rosenberg Chamber of Commerce, and her brother, Soleman B. Curlee, recently discharged from the Army, were killed instantly today in a car-bus crash three miles north of Brenham.

Investigators said the car in which the two were riding collided head-on on a narrow bridge with a Bee Line, Brenham to Waco bus.

None of the bus passengers was injured but the infant son of Mrs. J. O. Taylor of Houston was thrown through the bus windshield, struck the pavement and was passed over by the vehicle but was unhurt except for a broken tooth.

U. S. Loan Approved By House Of Lords

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House of Lords tonight approved acceptance of the $4,400,000,000 United States loan by a vote of 90 to 8, after two days of debate climaxed by caustic opposition from Conservative Lord Beaverbrook.

Immediately after the vote the House approved the Bretton Woods Monetary agreement bill, adoption of which was a condition of the U. S. loan. The Bretton Woods agreement, now cleared of its final parliamentary hurdle, is expected to receive royal assent Thursday.

Stolen Autos Are Recovered

Police and county officers last night announced recoveries of four stolen automobiles, following the flurry of car thefts reported Monday and Monday night, and Sheriff Sam Floyd of Lynn county announced apprehension at Okemah, Okla., of Tommy Mason, who recently sawed his way out of Tahoka jail.

Mason is under a two-year penitentiary sentence from Lubbock, faced a forgery charge in Lynn county at time of his escape, and is under charges in Dawson, Hockley and Lamb counties.

Abandoned At Tucumcari

A light blue 1941 Ford coach, license No. ED 2166, belonging to Nolan Swain of route 2, and reported stolen Monday night, was abandoned in Tucumcari, N. M., Sheriff H. W. Beasley informed the sheriff's department here. He said license number on the car was AX 9803 when found, but the motor number and other description of the car corresponded with the one Swain reported stolen.

Beasley also said two men had stolen a gray 1941 Chevrolet coach at Tucumcari, Kansas license No. 2-47434. Police announced recovery of this car last night in Lubbock, after they investigated a report by H. E. Ewing, 706 Ave. T, that an abandoned car was in front of his house. Ewing gave the license number which checked with that of the stolen vehicle.

Found In Garage Here

A pickup, reported by Sewell and Wilks, 1412 Texas, as stolen from their car lot, was found at a garage here, police said. Sheriff Floyd announced recovery of a Chevrolet sedan reported stolen at Tahoka.

Police were investigating a break-in and theft, reported by Mrs. J. B. Roberts of 1008 Ave. V, who said a purse containing $12 and papers had been taken from a back bedroom. Officers said entrance was made through a window.

Joseph R. Dickerson Dies Suddenly Here

Joseph R. Dickerson of 1502 Thirty-third, a cafe owner and resident of Lubbock for 20 years, died suddenly late Tuesday on his 69th birthday while being rushed to Lubbock Memorial hospital in a Plains ambulance.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital. His health had been good until he became ill about 8 p. m.

The body is at Rix Funeral home. Definite services have not been arranged.

Survivors include the widow, one son, J. R. Dickerson, jr., of Fort Worth; two brothers, B. F. Dickerson of Trinity, and G. W. Dickerson of Magnolia; three sisters, Miss Margaret Dickerson of Houston, Mrs. J. P. Warner of Bronson, and Mrs. E. C. Cobb of San Augustine.

Iran Plans Strong Fight On Insurgents

TEHRAN, Dec. 18. (AP)—Prime Minister Ibrahim Hakimi told the Iranian Parliament today he would take "strong measures against insurgents who have set up a government in Azerbaijan province, and would not permit them "to bring this country to ruin through terror, murder and rebellion."

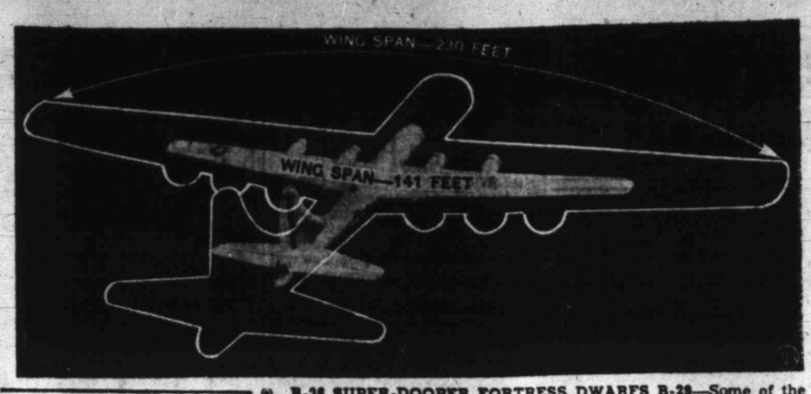

He said he would appeal again to the United States ,the Soviet Union and Britain to evacuate their occupation troops from Iran as soon as possible, and added "I still intend to go to Moscow."

Lamesa Woman Gets State C Of C Post

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (AP)—Joe L. Mock of Harlingen was elected president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce managers at the 39th annual convention which closed here today.

Lloyd P. Bloodworth of Alpine was named vice president and Fred Husbands of Waco is the new secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected are John Bailey of Nacogdoches, E. D. Wedgeworth of Pampa, C. J. Crampton of San Antonio, Mrs. Matt McCall of Lamesa, E. S. Holliday of Galveston, and Frank Thompson of Sherman.

B-36 SUPER-DOOPER FORTRESS DWARFS B-29—Some of the details of the U. S. Army's new B-36 bomber, released for the time, reveal it to be a giant, with a wing span as long as a city block, which will dwarf even the B-29. Figures on chart, left, and diagram, above, show contrast with the Superfortress which will become obsolete when the new bomber is perfected. The B-36 will be powered by six 3000 h.p. "pusher" engines mounted on the rear edge of the wings, turning three-bladed propellers. They are Pratt & Whitney's new "Wasp Major," 28-cylinder, four-row, radial air-cooled engines. Speed and range of the new bomber are still to be determined by flight tests.

Mustangs Romp Over North Texas, 58-38

DENTON, Tex., Dec. 18 (AP)—Southern Methodist university defeated North Texas State college 58 to 38 in a basketball game marred by 34 fouls here tonight.

Burt Rollins, SMU guard, was high point man with 17. Bud Hopkins, towering North Texas guard, was next with 14. Hopkins played only part of the game because of a foot injury.

At the half, SMU led 25 to 17.

Georgia Finds Travel In Mississippi Costs

ATLANTA, Dec. 18 (AP)—It seems that University of Georgia football players and others at Athens are going to see the Oil Bowl game after all.

They chartered a bus but it developed they would have to pay a stiff fee in crossing the state of Mississippi in a chartered bus.

Chairman Walter McDonald of the Public Service commission conferred with Mississippi officials on the phone and arranged for the Georgians to pay a four-dollar special rate.

ALFORD PRO BOUND

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Bruce Alford, Army Air Force Training Command end and a former Texas Christian university star, left for San Antonio and a separation center today and announced tha the had signed to play professional football with the New York Yankees of the All-American league.

WHITE DUE DISCHARGE

WELLINGTON, Colo., Dec. 18 (AP) — Lieut. Byron "Whizzer" White, former All-American halfback at the University of Colorado, is out of the Navy after four years of service in the Pacific and ready to go back to his law books.

TULSA WORKS IN SNOW

TULSA, Dec. 18 (AP)—Another day of hard, fast scrimmaging found Tulsa university's football squad working in snow and ice today as they trained for the Georgia game in Houston's Oil Bowl New Year's day. Regulars worked against reserves who represented Georgia's Bulldogs in the defensive practice.

An advertising assessment of five cents is levied on every box of oranges produced by members of the California fruit exchange.

tripartite (Axis) pact, was not advised in advance.

With the negotiations halted, Konoye's memoirs continue, President Roosevelt sent him a message asking for definite word refuting reports that "Japan will start military action against the Soviet."

Konoye assured Mr. Roosevelt Japan would not move against Russia (the cabinet already had met and decided not to start action "for the time being.")

Konoye said that earlier in July Matsuoka went to Emperor Hirohito and made this statement:

"Today, with the German-Soviet war having started, Japan should co-operate with Germany and attack the Soviet Union. For this it is best to hold back temporarily from southern religions, but we will have to fight soon."

It was in this atmosphere of displeasure and uncertainty, Konoye said, that negotiations were resumed with the United States.

MAN DIES OF INJURIES

KILGORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Robert E. Bradshaw, 66, of Liberty City, five miles northwest of here, died in a local hospital today from injuries received Monday when his car ran off the Gladewater highway.

Pullman Sale Plea Approved By Court

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18. (AP)—A three-judge special epediting court today granted Pullman, Inc., permission to sell its sleeping car business to a combine of 52 railroads which had bid approximately $75,000,000.

"The railroads are the natural and obvious people to do sleeping car business," said Judge Herbert F. Goodrich in the court's opinion.

Pullman elected to sell its sleeping car operating business after a federal court ruled that operation of the sleeping car business, the Pullman company, in conjunction with Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company constituted a violation of the anti-trust act.

News Briefs

Fire, caused by flames from a gas heater, was out on their arrival, firemen said after making a run to the A. E. Barker residence, 216 Paris at 5:21 p. m. Tuesday. A Christmas tree, window shade and a bed were involved in the slight blaze, the report showed. Fire from an oil stove at 715 Ave. C at 6:05 p. m., caused no damage.

A large grass bur was removed from the larnyx of 12-year-old Mereyiloo Marcia of Dickens at Lubbock Memorial hospital about 5 p. m. Tuesday, and the child was reported resting well. The bur was swallowed last Friday.

Wayne Kelley, 33, of 2708 Twentieth, was treated at West Texas hospital last night for mouth and chest injuries suffered about 10 p. m. when the car he was in and another vehicle were in collision about nine miles north of Lubbock on the Plainview highway.

A 15-year-old negro girl was held in juvenile ward in county jail last night for investigation in connection with the stabbing in the back of Mary Pearl Barker, negress, at a negro dine and dance place after midnight Monday.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bales, 3903 Nineteenth, on birth of a daughter weighing 6 pounds 10 ounces at 1:55 p. m. Tuesday in St. Mary's hospital. The father is a mechanic.

Cruiser Captain Denies Charge Of Negligence In Ship's Loss

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, denied today at his court martial trial that he was guilty of negligence and inefficiency in connection with the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis.

The cruiser sank with loss of 880 officers and men a few minutes after it was struck by torpedoes fired by a Jap submarine in the Philippines sea last July 30.

McVay told the Navy court hearing the charges that he did not believe it was necessary for the cruiser to follow a zig-zag course. He added that he ordered his crew to abandon ship approximately eight to 10 minutes before the cruiser sank.

Didn't Give Orders

McVay is charged by the Navy with failing to direct the cruiser to follow a zig-zag rather than a straight course. He also is charged with failing to give "timely abandon ship" orders.

McVay was asked by his defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady, if he gave any instruction segarding zig-zagging.

"I did not," McVay replied. "Conditions were such that I did not believe zig-zagging was necessary. The visibility was very poor and there was no moon."

InEmergency Cabin

McVay said he was asleep in his emergency cabin on the ship's bridge at 12:05 a. m. when the explosion occurred. He first believed that the ship had been hit by a kamikaze suicide plane, he said.

"I went out on the bridge with my feet bare with nothing much else on," McVay said.

"The officer of the deck told me that all communications on the ship were out," McVay said.

McVay said he ordered the deck officer to determine the damage. Meantime, he said, he returned to his cabin to get his clothes.

Didn't Check On Message

"Two to three minutes later the executive officer told me we had been badly damaged, that the ship was taking water fast, that she was down by the bow and that he thought we were finished," McVay said.

He said he decided then to abandon ship. He estimated he gave the order eight to 10 minutes before the ship sank.

McVay said he was unable to get to the radio room to make certain that a distress message was sent out because of the ship's list.

"I yelled to the men, ordering them not to jump over the side unless they had life jackets," McVay said. "I told them the ship would stay up a minute or so and ordered them to cut loose the floater nets."

McVay said he tried to make his way to a "high spot."

"I was sucked off the ship by a wave and struck out in the darkness," he said. "I heard a swish and the ship was gone."

McVay testified slowly and without visible emotion.

The Indianapolis was sunk while returning to Leyte after delivering atomic bomb materials to the Army Air Forces in Guam.

Partner Of Robbery Suspect Is Sought

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (AP)—Police today pressed their search for the partner of a robbery suspect shot to death by Detective Charles C. Carmichael during a hand-to-hand struggle in the officer's automobile Sunday.

The hunted man was believed to have been involved in five hold-ups which netted more than $7,000 here in recent weeks.

The five hold-up victims said the dead man, identified yesterday from a ration book and draft registration card as R. E. Davis, an ex-convict from Greenville, S. C., had robbed them of their money and valuables at gun-point.

Police yesterday questioned two women picked up in connection with the robberies. One was the blond girl friend of the dead man, who told police she was the wife of a Navy seaman. She is 24. The other woman is 27.

'Perfumed Ink' Used In Newspapers' Ads By Amarillo Man

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

J. Paul Allingham, business manager of the Amarillo Globe and News, is one of the first if not the first to use odor in inks.

He believes he is the first, and so far hasn't been proven wrong.

It was back on the Atchinson (Kas) Globe, the paper owned by Ed Howe, famous Sage of Potato Hill and father of the equally famous Gene Howe of Amarillo.

Allingham was very young at the time (he's in his early 30's now) when he conceived the idea of mixing odors with newspaper inks so the printed page would smell like the item advertised.

His first attempt was with essence of peppermint. A drug store was overstocked with peppermint patties. So Allingham worked up an ad, mixed the peppermint flavor into the ink, and the druggist cleaned out his stock.

He's used odor once in Amarillo, plans to expand the theory further now that the war is over.

Christmas Story Is Recounted For Club

Rev. R. A. Partlow, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian church, recounted the story of the first Christmas at the luncheon Tuesday of the Lions club in the Hilton hotel and a group of musical selections were heard in a Christmas program.

Miss Jackie Lewis sang "Christ Triumphant" and Misses Norma Cleavinger and Billie Henry sang "And There Were Shepherds" accompanied by Miss Dorothy Weiss

Club members brought gifts for the Goodfellows or paid 50 cents. A total of $38.45 was collected for the Goodfellow fund plus a large collection of toys.

L. C. Edwards and George Young had charge of the program.

Two U. S. Warships Damaged In Storm

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Two American warships, the aircraft carrier Wasp and the cruiser Augusta, were damaged in a 70-mile an hour gale which swept over the mid-Atlantic and battered the coast of England today.

The U. S. Navy port office at Southampton announced that the Wasp was enroute to Southampton to pick up troops when she ran into the storm Sunday. Steel curtains on the hangar deck were washed away.

The Augusta, en route to the United States from Le Havre with troops, had her starboard side crushed in one or two inches and received similar damage to her bulkheads.

No casualties were reported on either ship.

ADVERTISING MAN DIES

HOUSTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Charles J. Evans, advertising manager of the Houston Press, died at his home today. Evans came here in 1936, was formerly with the Dallas Times-Herald. Prior to that he worked on the Oklahoma News of Oklahoma City and at one time owned a newspaper in Okemah, Okla.

George L. Nelson of Brownfield was introduced as a transfer member.

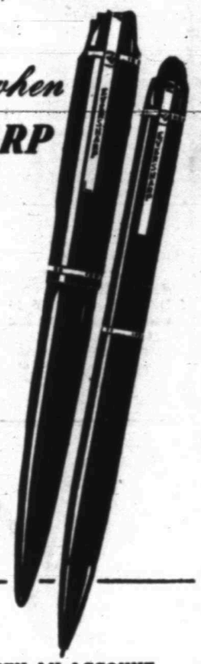

Guests were Robert E. Maxey, William H. Evans, Lonnie Langston, Raymond Lofland, Charles Brodie, Charles Whitacre, Joe Baldridge and Rudy Greer.

Great Lakes Win Off Irish Voted Year's Top Surprise

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP) — Notre Dame's 39 to 7 defeat by Great Lakes in the final football game of the season for both teams is the biggest sports surprise of 1945 in the opinion of the 76 sports writers who participated in the Associated Press' annual poll.

Twenty-nine of the writers saw fit to put the Sailors' triumph on their ballots in one of the most diversified voting of recent years. Forty-two different eye-brow lifters were listed by the scribes.

Others Share Honors

Indiana's winning of its first Big Ten football championship was second and the mid-season sale of Hank Borowy by the New York Yankees to the Chicago Cubs, ultimate National League pennant winners, ranked third.

Actually, the Great Lakes-Notre Dame game's selection as 1945's surprise was the result of two other surprises — and produced a third.

At the start of the football campaign there were indications that Notre Dame's team would be weak but the Irish surprised by bowing only to potent Army before meeting Great Lakes. Prior to the Dec. 1 clash many of the Sailors were reported ill with colds and influenza but they played surprisingly well against the Irish.

The surprise the selection produced is that it is the second time in three years the same two teams led this phase of the nation-wide poll. In 1943 Steve Lach of the Sailors pitched a 46-yard scoring pass to Paul Anderson just 28 seconds before the gun for a 19 to 14 verdict that was Notre Dame's only defeat.

Sixty of the 80 writers in 1943 deemed that the year's greatest shocker.

Ideas Are Divided

This time there was no such unanimity. The winning selection was rated No. 1 on 11 ballots, a number equalled by Borowy's sale and the Hoosiers' football championship efforts.

Washington's baseball Senators, rated as 1944 greates disappointment, were fourth in this poll and garnered nine first place votes with their rugged battle to win the American League flag.

On a basis of three points for each No. 1 vote, two for second and one for third the Irish defeat compiled 57 points. Ondiana's footballers gathered 46, the Borowy deal 45 and the Senators 36.

Other surprises that collected 10 or more points are: winning of the National League flag by the Chicago Cubs, 27; St. Mary's football team, 24; the Cleveland Rams' National Football League title, 20; golf victories by Amateurs Freddie Haas and Lt. Cary Middlecoff over top-flight professionals, 15; and the pitching of Rookie Dave Ferris of the Boston Red Sox, 12.

Purdue's football victory over Ohio State; the election of A. O. Chandler as baseball commissioner and Minnesota's gridiron misfortunes, including its loss to Iowa, received 10 points each.

Red Raiders Add Two Cage Games

Two more games have been added to the Texas Tech basketball schedule for this winter, Polk Robinson, coach, announced yesterday.

The Abilene Christian college five will invade the Tech gym the night of Saturday, Jan. 12 for an additional home game.

Friday night the Red Raiders will go to Phillips for a game with the Phillips Men's club quintet.

Seventeen games were on the original Tech schedule. Robison said negotiations are on for two or more games on the road during the mid-semester period of Jan. 28-30. Indications are military teams will be met.

Rassle-Royal Heads Weekly Mat Program

Two new faces and four old times will square off in the ring at the Horse and Mule Auction arena tonight at 8:30 o'clock in another rassle-royal to decide the order in which the weekly mat card will be run off.

Tom Felis and Joe Parker will be the two newcomers to the local ring, with the returning stars being Milt Olsen, Ivan Jones and Charlie Trijo, along with Ted Torres, who made his first appearance last week.

The first two victims of the free for all starter will be rematched for the opening preliminary bout for one fall, or a 30 minute time limit. The net two pinned will return for the best two out of three falls, or a 45 minute time limit semi-final. The two survivors will meet in the main event, with a 90 minute time limit..

Frenship Five Noses Shallowater, 15-12

WOLFFORTH, Dec. 13. (Special) —Frenship High cagers nosed out the Shallowater five here tonight, winning a defensive duel 15 to 12. The Shallowater Juniors evened the count for the night, however, by winning 19 to 9 over Frenship.

Penkert paced the scorers for the night, leading the losers with eight points. Wynn and Johnson of Shallowater each counted four points for the winners.

Hank Borowy Top National Hurler

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (U.P) — Slender Hank Borowy, who hurled the Chicago Cubs to a pennant after being sold from the American League in midseason, walked off with the National League pitching laurels by registering the best 1945 earned-run average and winning percentage, official league statistics revealed today.

After being sold to the Cubs on July 27 because New York Yankee President Larry MacPhail felt that "Borowy isn't effective after July," the blond right-hander chalked up 11 victories for Chicago while suffering only two setbacks, for a percentage of .846. The mark was 57 points better than the one posted by his nearest rival, left-handed Harry Brecheen of St. Louis, who won 15 and lost four.

Coupled with Borowy's 11 senior league triumphs, were 10 victories the Jersey-born pitcher collected while with the Yanks in the American League.

The total of 21 winning games, pitched in both the American and National leagues, made Borowy the first moundsman to turn the trick since Iron Man Joe McGinnity won 13 for the Baltimore Americans and eight for the New York Giants in 1902.

Hank's fast ball and fine control were also responsible for his turning in the lowest earned-run-average, 2.14. In that department, Bowory took over the title won by Cincinnati's Ed Heusser in 1944 with a mark of 2.38. Another Red hurler, Elmer Riddle, was the last to win both the earned-run and percentage titles in the same year. Riddle accomplished the feat in 1941.

Charley (Red) Barrett, who divided the summer between the Braves and Cardinals, won the most games, 23, completed the most contests, 24, pitched the most innings, 285, and allowed the most hits, 287. Barrett was one of the two senior circuit pitchers to win 20 games Henry (Hank) Wyse being the other with 22 triumphs,

New Deal Boys, Post Girls Win Thrillers

POST, Dec. 18. (Special) — The New Deal boys and the Post girls were winners here tonight in a triple header basketball program played before a good crowd.

The Post girls won 20 to 13 over the strong New Deal club with Billie Cowdry setting the pace for the winners with 11 points. Joy Sheppard chipped in with six more. Nancy Young, with seven, paced the New Deal girls.

But perhaps the outstanding play of the game was turned in by Jimmie Chandler of Post, who played a great defensive game for the winners.

The defensive play of New Deal's Utley also featured the boys A game, as New Deal nosed out a 14-12 victory. J. N. Hall of New Deal paced the scorers with six points, while Jimmy Bird paced the Post club.

New Deal also won the boys B game, 22 to 19, in a fast, close battle. Roy Williams of Post, and Vaughn and Aglin of New Deal all shared the scoring honors, each with eight points.

Meadow Cagers Win Twice Over Tahoka

MEADOW, Dec. 18. (Special)— The Meadow Bronchos took both feature games over the Tahoka Bulldogs here tonight, the Meadow girls winning the opener 35 to 9, ad the Meadow boys A team winning 46 to 16. The Tahoka boys B team won the third game, 12 to 4.

The scoring by the Meadow girls was divided between four players, with Wilma Hinson, Mary Fox, Bobbie Stephenson and Lois West accounting for the points. Hinson and Fox flipped in ten each, Steuhenson eight and West the remaining seven. Peggy Dunlap scored all nine of the Tahoka points.

Three Broncho stars were hitting the hoop for Meadow in the boys A game, Jack Barnes scorching the net with 19 points, followed by Leland Terry with 14 and Paul Nettles with ten. Jerry Edwards, with ten, led Tahoka.

Botkins paced the Tahoka B team with eight points, and Jack Brown was high for Meadow with two.

These games concluded the Meadow schedule until after the holiday season, the net games scheduled at Wellman for Jan. 4.

Westerners Roll To Victory Over Slaton

The Lubbock Westerners finished strong Tuesday night at Slaton and turned back a stubborn Slaton Tiger team, 40 to 25, for the second win for the Lubbock club as many nights.

The Westerners held a lead of three points over the Tigers at the end of the first period, and led by four points at the half, but the Lubbock club began to pull away in the last half.

The Westerners built up an eight point lead in the third period, and coasted in with the victory with a strong finish that found Lubbock scoring nine points to two for Slaton in the home stretch.

It was Jimmy Clark who set the pace for the Westerners, finding the range for six baskets from the playing floor, and toed the foul line for two more and 14 points.

Roberts and Elder set the pace for the Slaton club, Roberts hitting three field goals and rolled in four out of five free pitches for ten points. Elder connected for three field goals and made good on one free pitch for seven points.

The Lubbock B team made it a clean sweep for the visitors, getting off to a flying start to roll up a 51 to 6 victory over the Slaton Tiger Cubs. Moore and Johnson each connected for five field goals, with Moore adding a free picth to gain top honors with 11 points.

Touchdown Club Set To Honor Grid Stars

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)— Army's Doc Blanchard and Navy's Dick Duden were among players selected today to receive 1945 awards January 8 at the Touchdown club's annual banquet.

Blanchard will receive the Walter Camp trophy as the outstanding college player of the year. The Knute Rockne trophy for exceptional line play will go to Duden.

Bob Waterfield, brilliant former UCLA star who paced the Cleveland Rams to a 15-14 victory over the Washington Redskins Sunday for the National League title, will be honored as the year's top prfessional player.

Special recognition for his many years of service with the New York Giants will go to Mel Hein, veteran center.

Steve Juzwik, Fleet City, Calif., and former Notre Dame and Washington Redskin backfield star, will receive the outstanding service player award.

Skymaster Coach To Get Discharged Soon

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (U.P)— Maj. Douglas Fessenden, who has been coaching the Army Air Forces Training Command Skymaster football team, left today for a separation center to become a civilian and will return to the University of Montana as head coach, AAFTC headquarters announced.

Fessenden, who obtained a leave of absence from Montana in 1942 to enter the Air Corps, said he would "vacation" a while and report to the university nearly next year.

Scottie-Coyote Duel To Be Aired By KFYO

Radio station KFYO of Lubbock will take to the air Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock with the broadcast of the semi-final football game of the Teas Interscholastic League between the Highland Park Scotties and the Wichita Falls Coyotes.

The game will be played Saturday afternoon at Fort Worth's Farrington field. The kickoff is set for 2:30 o'clock.

Florida is nicknamed the "Peninsula State."

Sundown Honors Grid Club At Dinner Here

Sundown's Roughnecks, one of the top contenders in District 6-A during the past season, were honored Tuesday night at a banquet at the Hilton hotel here.

Supt. P. O. Smith served as toastmaster of the banquet. Jo Ann Perry gave the welcome, with John Ethridge the response. Football music was given by Ross Garrett, accompanied by Miss Eunice Gibson. Billy Key gave the invocation and W. L. Mooney gave the benediction.

Coach Clem Page spoke on the highlights of the past season.

Players of the team who were on hand were John Ethridge, Dale Peden, Jack Carey, Morris Wilson, Bobby Meek, Billy McCulloch, Douglas Ethridge, James Clark, Teddy Benson, Lawrence Patton, Clarence Ledbetter, George Benge, Cecil Ray, Bobby Wheat, Wayne Teague, Bobby Swain, Jack Page, Burnice Clark, Billy Mealer, Wiley Bounds, Eugene Woodward, John McInturff, John Whiteside and Elmer Dowell.

A special guest of the evening was Ira Wells. Members of the school board who attended the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Swain, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Craddock, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. LaMarr, Mrs. P. O. Smith and Mrs. Clem Page.

The Roughnecks had long been a power in six-gun football, and were playing their first season in the faster eleven-man game. The team was a threat all the way in the district race, winning five and losing four games as their record for the first season in football.

Arkansas Withdraws From Oklahoma Meet

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 18 (AP) Arkansas Coach Gene Lambert said here tonight he had withdrawn his Razorback squad from the mid-west tourney at Oklahoma City Dec. 26 because of player woes.

Lambert said George Kok, towering center who suffered an ankle injury in last Saturday night's tussle with New York university, would be out of service for awhile. Kok did not come to Lexington for the Arkansas-Kentucky contest tonight.

The Razorback tutor, however, said his troubles did not stop there.

Charles Jolliff, another center, is expected to be drafted into the Army before the tourney date, and Earl Wheeler, six-four guard, was to leave the squad here to participate in the East-West football game.

Ocie Richie, captain of this year's Arkansas net squad, quit before the season opened.

Peel Rumored To Be San Antonio Skipper

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (U.P)— Has anybody seen Homer Peel?

It's important that Peel be located, for President Bill DeWitt of the St. Louis Browns wants to get in touch with him—perhaps to offer him the job of manager of the San Antonio Missions team of the Texas League.

FLU HITS ALABAMA

TUSCALOOSE, Ala., Dec. 13. (AP)—Eight members of the Alabama football squad were kept from practice today by an outbreak of influenza as the other gridiron performers worked out in weather termed "awful, just awful" by Coach Frank Thomas.

"Buy A Victory Bond TODAY."

Cards Reluctant To Sell Surplus Stars

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—With a bargain counter overloaded with valuables, the St. Louis Cardinals could stage one of the biggest January clearance sales in baseball history.

The only hitch is that Proprietor Sam Breadon isn't sure he's going to open the doors.

Almost every one of the other 15 major league clubs has been trying for months to get first choice on such prize packages as Walker Cooper, Marty Marion, Whitey Kurowski, Jimmy Brown, Enos Slaughter and others.

The clubs know that the Cardinals, weighted down with at least 50 major league caliber players, will have to dispose of some very choice parcels on the open market.

One factor in Cardinal reluctance to talk business is Eddie Dyer, the new manager. He wants to see the Red Bird properties in training before letting them slip away.

Dyer has already removed one name from the possible sales list. That was Marion, the brilliant shortstop for whom the Chicago Cubs supposedly offered $200,000. The new Card boss told shrewd Sam he'd sign if Marion would stay at least a season. Dyer signed.

Another brake on possible deals is the uncertainty as yet as to who will be available for the coming season. Some of the brightest stars including Stan Musial, Cooper, George Munger and possibly Slaughter may not be ready to exchange their armed forces uniforms for baseball garb for another year.

Morgan To Address South Texas Coaches

Dell Morgan, head football coach at Texas Tech, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the South Texas Coaches and Officials association Thursday night in Beaumont.

He will discuss changes in officiating throughout the years and the need for uniformity in handling athletic contests.

Morgan has been busy for the past couple of weeks addressing banquets given in various communities in honor of high school football teams. Jan. 4 he is to talk at the Waco high school banquet.

LONGHORNS LOOK RAGGED

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 18 (AP)— Showing the effects of a too-easy training program which has seen them work out only a few days since the Thanksgiving game, the Texas Longhorns looked ragged in a long passing drill today.

Our Air "Supremacy"

It Requires A Lot Of "Keeping"

NOW that we are groping around for ways and means of maintaining national security, there are certain facts which the American people must keep in mind.

To ignore them would be tantamount to a man's cancelling his life insurance after having survived one catastrophic accident.

In the first place, when considering the subject of air power, people must realize that figures sometimes do lie, and dangerously.

Many persons will recall that Hitler employed 3,000 planes in a single campaign—the conquest of Poland. And it is now common knowledge that when Japan sneaked up on us at Pearl Harbor, the United States had a total of 1,157 planes fit for combat. Today, our Air Forces can be reckoned in many tens of thousands of planes, though we may not have the trained and eperienced men to man them all, what with rapid demobilization.

Comparing these figures, the average citizen might well assume, "Sure, America was a weak sister in the air. But now we have nothing to worry about; we've got the mightiest air force in the world."

But the figures do not tell all. What they fail to reveal is this:

In terms of far-reaching developments now on America's drafting boards, in our experimental laboratories and in our wind tunnels—even our most advanced planes are, in a sense, obsolete.

In other words, if the American people permit themselves to be lulled into a feeling of security just because we have "more planes," the foundation would be laid for what could be the greatest mistake this country could possibly make.

* * *

WE were caught napping once. We must not be caught napping again. In this war, Britain held off the enemy while we frantically built up our strength in the air. Fortunately for us!

Next time—if there is a next time—we may not be so fortunate, for we shall probably be target No. 1. There will be not time for us to prepare.

That is why we must constantly be ready, and able, to protect ourselves from such attack. We must maintain our air superiority so that no aggressor nation in its right mind would dare think of attacking us.

Unfortunately, the public has little or no conception of the factors involved in maintaining air superiority.

For one thing, most people do not know that there is a slow, painful lapse of time between the day when a plane is first laid out on a drafting board and the day when that plane can be mass-produced and put into combat.

Most people do not know that it took almost eight years to give the Army Air Forces their first long-range heavy bomber, and over three years to design and build the second such bomber, the famous Liberator.

It took five years to develop one of America's foremost fighter planes, and one of this country's greatest aircraft engines has been undergoing changes for over 11 years, and still hasn't reached maximum efficiency.

In short, it can be said that we achieved air supremacy in Europe with air force equipment that was largely designed and developed before Pearl Harbor, and only at a terrific and needless cost in lives, money, and resources.

OTHER developments in aerial warfare took even more time than the three to seven years usually required to design and perfect a battle plane.

Radar which was a potent factor in enabling the British to knock the Luftwaffe out of the sky in the battle of Britain was born in an American research laboratory back in 1925.

And as far back as 1919, this country had developed a flying bomb, which successfully passed its flight tests. But because the war had ended and the world seemed forever "safe for democracy," further research on this weapon was dropped.

It is said that the German started work on a similar weapon 10 years ago, their V-1 robot bomb. Some military experts believe that if they had started just one year earlier, England might not have been able to withstand the still more devastating weapon which the Nazis had perfected.

All of which points out the need for educating the American people to the importance of one thing:

Research in the field of aeronautics must be a constant and continuing process.

To neglect this vital field of research, as we did after the last war, would be to say goodbye to our present-day air superiority. There are developments now under way which must be carried through to completion if we are not to lapse back into the status of a second-rate air power. This is especially true now that air power has been so tremenously strengthened by the world's most devastating weapon, the atomic bomb.

Research in aeronautics and in other fields of defense is, in effect, an insurance policy on our national security—and we must not let a single premium lapse!

The tax collector isn't fair. He frequently jumps on our bank account when it's down.

Marshall's Report On The War

By Gen. George C. Marshall
Wartime Chief Of Staff

(This is the 27th of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.

SUPPLY LINE MIRACLE

IN Western Burma the British broke south through Tiddim across the Chindwin against Japanese delaying actions. Southward in the Arakan, British operations cleared the Kaladan River delta on the Arakan Coast and provided air strips at Akyab and on Ramree Island.

MARSHALL

The Japanese retreat in Burma was in full swing by the end of January 1945. General MacArthur's successive landings in the Philippines and United States fleet operations in the China Sea had cut the Japanese supply line to Burma. In mid-February, a British column crossed the Irrawaddy near Pagan and drove to Meiktila. The seizure of this road and rail center with its airfields undermined the whole Japanese position in Central Burma. In the meantime, other British-Indian forces were closing on Mandalay from the north and west. Japanese trapped in Mandalay held out against the British until 21 March. Forty days later British airborne troops descended along the western shore of the Rangoon River south of the port and assault troops came ashore the following day. The Japanese had already fled Rangoon and the British forces entered on 3 May. The port facilities were captured in good condition.

The Burma campaign had all but ended. A few Japanese units were able to withdraw eastward into Thailand and into the Moulmein area of Southern Burma, but thousands of the enemy were put off in isolated pockets with little hope of escape. Admiral Mountbatten reported the fighting had already cost Japan 300,000 casualties of which 97,000 were counted dead.

Flow Of Materiel Increases

The Asiatic operations had been maintained at the end of the most precarious supply lines in history. The efforts of the United States service forces to strengthen them were prodigious. United States port battalions at Calcutta worked in intolerable heat and humidity with native labor weakened by disease, heat, and famine. Despite these handicaps, they established records exceeding those of every other military port in the world for quick unloading and turn-around of our ships. At the same time, the capacity of the tiny Bengal-Assam Railroad was more than doubled by American railway battalions which refused to let the disease and heat of the steaming Brahmaputra Valley dissipate their energies as they have weakened white men and brown for centuries. During 1943 and 1944 the flow of United States arms and materiel through Calcutta and up the valley had become great enough to support not only the Herculean job of building the Ledo Road and destroying the Japanese forces in its path, but to increase steadily the capacity of the Himalayan air route and the flow of arms to the undernourished armies of China.

In the latter stages of the Burma campaign, American troops of the MARS force, a brigade of two regiments which succeeded the GALAHAD force, were flown to China together with two of the Chinese divisions that had been fighting in Burma.

By January 1945, Hump cargo had been increased to the amazing rate of 46,000 tons a month. This vital and hazardous traffic stands as one of the great logistical accomplishments of the war against Japan. It alone made possible the indispensable support which General Chennault's Fourteenth Air Force was able to give the Chinese armies and the attacks by China-based superfortresses on Japan's home islands. In June of this year when the Marianas bases had been sufficiently developed, the China-based B-29's were sent to the Pacific where they could be more easily supplied.

Reverse In China

In May 1944, however, the Japanese had launched a strong drive southward from Tung Ting Lake in Hunan Province. In the late summer they began a complementary drive west from Canton. These salients joined near the American air base at Kweilin severing unoccupied China, and overrun seven of the principal bases from which the Fourteenth Aif Force had been throwing its weight against shipping in the China Sea. In April 1945, the Japanese drove out of Poaching against our important air base at Chihkiang. Supported by the Fourteenth Air Force, Chinese troops slowed, stopped, then threw back this Japanese column with heavy losses. The offensive in China were the most serious the Japanese were able to mount in 1944 and 1945.

By the spring of this year the impact of the smashing attack across the Pacific islands had been felt deep in Asia. Fearing for the safety of their homeland, the Japanese had begun to withdraw large forces from South and Central China. Behind them Chinese troops were applying every pressure their present strength would permit. Under General Wedemeyer, American officers in increasing numbers were helping speed the retaining and reequipping of Chinese soldiers who had been fighting the Japanese for eight long years. The War Department made available to him two of the Army commanders who had helped defeat the German Wehrmacht, General Truscott of the Fifth Army in Italy and General Simpson of the Ninth Army. At the same time the Air Forces in China were reorganized, the 10th Air Force from India was moved into China and both the 10th and 14th were placed under the general direction of General Stratemeyer. While this reorganization was in progress, General Chennault, who had commanded the original American Volunteer Group of "Flying Tigers" and then became the first commander of the 14th Air Force, asked to be relieved. The War Department granted his request and named Maj. Gen. Charles B. Stone to succeed him.

General Stilwell had been able to provide some training and equipment for 35 Chinese divisions in his training centers in Yunnan. Under the direction of the Generalissimo, General Wedemeyer was continuing this mission with full vigor and greatly increased resources now moving over the road from India. We were determined that when the final battle of Japan was fought the armies of the Emperor would find no comfort anywhere on earth.

Chinese Red Leader Says Scrap Must End

CHUNGKING, Dec. 18 (AP)—China's No. 2 Communist, here to talk peace with the nation's leaders, said today that an end to civil warfare was China's first need and that the seven-man delegation he heads would "demand cessation of hostilities."

Gen. Chou En-Lai told newsmen he would seek a cease-fighting agreement before the all-party political consultative council begins its formal peace session. Failing that, he added, he would insist that a truce be made the first item on the council's agenda.

Chinese press dispatches meanwhile reported "ferocious" fighting in southern Shantung province, where Communists were said to have captured the important town of Tenghsien, on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad midway between Nanknig and Tientsin.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek already has convoked the existing national assembly for next May 5, but the Communists have repeatedly protested that this assembly—selected before the war with Japan—was packed with Kuomintang (Nationalist party) delegates and no longer truly represented the nation.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

WHENEVER the new Social Register appears much ado is made about who has been dropped and why.

This year the sensation of the latest volume is the fact that Elliott Roosevelt, son the late president, has been omitted, and the presumption is that it is because he married a lady of the stage.

BRANDEIS

To me this whole business has always been a huge joke.

What distinction is there to being in a Social Register?

What merit is it of anyone to belong to a family that has amassed a lot of money some time in the past and been able to buy a home on Park avenue, another one in Florida and a third one in California?

The American way of judging your social standing should not be where do you come from, but what have you done?

Blue blood is not an American asset, red blood is.

Look at some of the sorry specimens of European aristocracy whose members consider it a disgrace to do an honest day's work!

We have lots of them over here now — "refugees" they are called. And refugees they are—refugees from the realities of life; refugees from the suffering of their countrymen; refugees from the wrath of awakened peoples.

Mind you, I don't say that there aren't hundreds of deserving people in the Social Register.

My hat is off to every socialite who makes a living, who contributes to worthy causes and who makes even the tiniest contribution toward the improvement of social conditions.

IF Elliott Roosevelt was dropped because he married an actress, then the action was foolish, narrow-minded and silly.

An actress does a lot more to make the world a more pleasant place to live in than those drones who sit around the nightclubs and demand ringside tables because their forefathers were successful peddlers or became rich manufacturing mousetraps, and whose ways are spent in hangovers and bigotries.

One of these days I'd like to publish my own social register.

In it I shall list the thousands who go through life unsung and unrecognized but who, for little reward, try to awaken mankind from its spiritual lethargy.

In it I would list nurses and doctors and scientists and preachers and teachers and even the street cleaner on our block who astensibly has contributed nothing to the world but his shovel and his broom, but who has brought up five lovely children—two of whom gave their lives at the battlefront—for you and me.

My social register won't make much of a hit with the headwaiter of a swanky nightclub—but I guarantee you that St. Peter would read it very, very carefully.

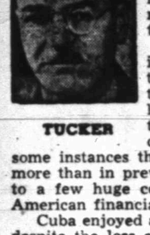

Sugar's Case Critical

Cuba Demands Preferential Status

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker
Special Correspondent

HIGHER prices and grave shortages of sugar for American housewives will persist for several years unless Department of Agriculture officials bow to extortionist demands which Cuban producers have made during current negotiations for purchase of the 1946 crop. Any failure to obtain a settlement may force the U. S. to turn to new sources of supply for the long future, with unfortunate results to domestic consumers.

In normal times Cuba provides about thirty per cent of our sugar, the Philippines furnish fifteen per cent and the balance comes from domestic growers, including Hawaii and Puerto Rico. This quota system gave us a nice arrangement in the event failures or economic disturbances shut off the major supply from any one of these areas.

TUCKER

Japan's conquest of the Philippines removed those islands from the picture, and Cuba stepped in to fill the place. he Carribbean island has sold us slightly more than fifty per cent of our wartime consumption at terrific profits. In some instances they ran as high as 3,000 per cent more than in prewar days, with the benefits going to a few huge companies largely controlled by American financial interests.

Cuba enjoyed a golden boom during the conflict, despite the loss of revenue from tourists and other activities.

POSITION: Cuban negotiators now in Washington after a sharp break in the conversations, demand that the fifteen per cent quota normally allotted to the Philippines be given to the them permanently. Otherwise, they may refuse to sell the 1946 production to this country and seek higher prices in the world market.

Cuban spokesmen are quite frank in demanding a permanent preferential position in the future trading. One of their spokesman has said:

"The assurances that we ask for are a minimum import quota representing nearly fifty per cent of the domestic prewar consumption in the United States. Our position is based on the fact that while our regular quota of the American market is only 28.6 per cent, we supplied an average of over 50 per cent of its requirements during the last two wars. . . .

We ask, beg and argue, but we do not take the rightful stand that we should. If action by the U. S. Congress is necessary to settle the matter, let us wait for such action before attempting to sell."

DEPENDENCE: The loss of the Cuban supply would produce a famine or dizzy prices in the United States. Our defendence on this source for so long enables Havana to hold us up under penalty of paying from fifteen to twenty-five cents a pound.

It is doubtful whether the Philippines can be brought into production again for at least three years. It will be some time before Hawaii can raise even as much as she did before December 7, 1941. Puerto Rico, largely due to Governor Rex Tugwell's reforms, will probably grow less rather than more sugar in the next few years. Domestic cane and beet producers will be hard put to it to obtain the necessary labor, machinery and other requirements to boost their output.

Last, any desertion of the Filipinos after their sacrifice and loyalty during the conflict would damage American prestige in China and other sections of the Far East.

AUTHORITY: General George C. Marshall will have carte blanche to revise the American policy in China and Japan if his studies convince him that Far Eastern conditions would be improved by any change. It may result in the arrest or deposition of Emperor Hirohito and in a tougher attitude to Chiang Kai-shek's rule.

The former Chief of Staff will not be authorized to revamp our historic program for China, which seeks the restoration of universal peace and progress in that sprawling country. But he will have authority to recommend that we enlarge our agenda to deal with all parties instead of exclusively with the ruler at Chungking.

The strategic need for depicting him as a democratic reformer and an Oriental hero has disappeared with the defeat of Tokyo. Even Sleanor Roosevelt now talks more flankly about such a distinguished White House guest as Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Many diplomatic experts, including those recently attacked by former Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley, believe that placing all our hopes and bets on Gen. Chiang represents a narrow and short-sighted policy.

HIROHITO: General Douglas MacArthur's recent moves suggest that he is edging toward a change in Hirohito's status. His latest list of major war criminals, which includes a royal, 71-year-old figurehead as well as bankers, businessmen, teachers, editors, and writers, indicates that he will eventually ask for indictment of the Emperor.

At the moment General MacArthur's course and that adopted by Robert H. Jackson at the Nuremberg trials are wholly contradictory. Mr. Jackson makes the new claim that the heads of aggressor states should be held personally accountable for their warlike acts. Diplomats do not understand why Hirohito should be held exempt under this sort of reasoning.

Washington suspects that practical considerations motivate MacArthur, as General Marshall may discover when they meet. A hands-offs attitude toward the imperial divinity may make easier our occupaiton program. And maybe "General Mac" has found that His Honor was only a "stuffed shirt."

TEXAS
By GORDON SHEARER
Special Correspondent

AUSTIN.—Undulant or Malta fever, that painful disease which is most generally contracted by drinking raw milk, is on the rise in Texas.

Much of the increase is due, state health officials say, because citizens are unable to get the amount of pasturized milk they desire and buy raw milk to finish out their needs. Pasteurization kills the undulent germs.

State Health Department records show that in 1938 there were 238 cases of undulant fever reported in exas. It rose to a high of 354 cases on 1940, dropped to 231 in 1942 and then started on the upgrade again.

In 1944 there were 470 cases reported. Through October this year 518 undulant fever patients were reported.

There is one bright ray, however, in the situation. The death rate is not correspondingly high. In 1938 there were 19 deaths attributed to undulant. In 1940 it rose to a high upward again, rising to eight in 1942 and 11 in 1943. While for 1944 it declined to six.

No figures are available this year on the deaths caused by the fever. Health officials think it may not be proportionate to the increase because medical science has devised better methods of diagnosis and treatments.

Counties which have reported more than 15 cases this year are: Brewster, Donley, Hidalgo, Hockley, Kaufman, Liberty, Madison, Potter and Victoria.

MAY COME FROM PORK: Undulant "bugs" aren't secured solely from raw milk and its products as some folks believe, state health authorities assert.

The germs may be obtained from pork as well as from another person. However, the spreading of these germs from pork and persons is rather limited, the majority of cases resulting from raw or unpasteurized milk.

A New Yorker, found in the street in a partial daze and suffering from bruises and lacerations, told investigating night policemen that when a ghost came in through the east wall of his room he went out through the west wall.

Freedom Also Means "Right To Work"

Solons Debate Job Security

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — A lot of strange things are said—as well as crimes committed—in the name of Liberty.

This was exhibited in the outcry in the House against inclusion of any declaration of government responsibility to provide jobs for its citizens in the so-called "full employment" bill.

STOKES

There was, for example, the remark of Rep. Will Whittington (D., Miss.):

"There is a difference between the right to Liberty, the right to freedom, and the right to work."

Of course Mr. Whittington, or "Mr. Will" as he probably would be addressed by the negro tenants in his district, was speaking in general terms and not of his own district.

But, in passing, it might be pointed out that he represents a rich Mississippi delta district where the standard of living among big plantation owners is reported to be about the highest in the country. Fifty per cent of the people in his district are negroes. Their right to freedom and liberty does not include the right to vote. And their right to work is somewhat under the control of the plantation owners.

Mr. Whittington unmasked the motives of a good many Southerners as well as others in fighting and declaration of government responsibility to provide jobs. They don't want any government planning for jobs that might disturb the pool of cheap labor, black and white.

Aside from the bit of background of Mr. Whittington and without inquiring further as to how much right he had to talk about liberty and freedom, the board general question he raised was rather well answered by another Southern Democratic congressman from another sort of district, Rep. Kefauver of Chattanooga, Tenn.:

* * *

"Let me ask you, how can the government assure freedom without seeing to it that every individual has the opportunity to earn a living? If a man has no job, how can he enjoy freedom of political participation, freedom from fear, freedom from competition, freedom of health, education, recreation and security, freedom of social and economic democracy, freedom to make the most of himself?

"How can a man on the dole exercise that initiative and self-reliance which is declared to be a major objective of the committee bill? Without the right to work, a man is not free."

That sounds like sense.

BUT back to Mr. Whittington for a moment. At another point in his speech, he said:

We hear at lot about security. When Patrick Henry said 'give me liberty of give me death' he was thinking of more than security. He was thinking of something more important than work. He was thinking of liberty."

Certainly, Mr. Whittington.

But not liberty in the abstract, not just a stone lady on a monument with a bronze halo around her head.

Included Job Security

It seems to be generally agreed by historians that Mr. Patrick Henry and others who helped to create the American revolution were thinking about work and jobs, too. Business and economic motives were much mixed up in the fight for freedom.

They didn't want their businesses to be taxed and regulated by a Parliament across the sea in which they weren't represented Shipping men in this young martime nation didn't like to be told by England where their ships could go and sell goods, as they were by the navigation laws. Those who had things to sell found their markets limited.

JOBS and job security, too, were mixed up in the pursuit of freedom here. For jobs were becoming scarce in England and the rest of the old world. And there was plenty of work to do here in a continent only barely scratched by the Indians.

It has become crowded, too, now, and changed by industrialization and mass production so that some sort of planning is needed if everybody who want sa job can get one.

Is it wrong, Mr. Whittington, for the government of the people to do something about that.

Recess Approved In Deadlocked Parley

CLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 18. (AP)—At the request of the White House, the deadlocked national shipbuilders conference on wage stabilization for the industry recessed today and will reconvene Jan. 1 in Washington.

Representatives of labor, management and government will meet with Stabilization Administrator Caskie Collet.

The request was sent the conference in telegrams from John R. Steelman, President Truman's personal adviser on labor matters.

Giant Douglas Fir Sent To Trumans

DENVER, Dec. 18. (AP)—A 16-foot Douglas fir cut in Pike National forest will greet President Truman when he arrives in the family home at Independence, Mo., Christmas day.

The tree is the gift of President and Mrs. Truman's nephew and niece, David, 11, and Marian, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. David Wallace of Denver.

Another Death Being Probed In Cline Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (U.P.)—Police today investigated reports of the death of another elderly woman associated with Alfred Leonard Cline, ex-convict charged with the murder of one widow and under investigation in the death of seven others.

District Attorney Edmund Brown said he had received a letter from Dr. Nora R. Miller, Ripley, Calif., which said Cline was the man she believed had left his wife and two sons to elope with a young woman named Annabelle O'Laughlin in Ft. Collins, Colo.

Brown dated the alleged incident as "sometime in the '20s."

The girl died suddenly, the letter asserted, and her body was shipped back to her family.

"Her fine clothes and jewelry were missing and her nude body shocked them," the letter said.

Police said Cline's wife and one of his sons, mentioned in the letter, died. The other son was reported to have been recently discharged from the Navy and now a student at University of Southern California.

Other Cases Cited

Meanwhile, San Francisco police were checking Cline's association with a woman they identified only as "an elderly San Francisco lady."

In a search of his effects, police found papers relating to the estate of a Mrs. Sarah Slentz, Lyons, Kans. Authorities in that city were asked to provide further information.

Seeking to strengthen Brown's contention that Cline was involved in the death of five widows in Reno, Jacksonville, Fla.; Macon, Ga.; Dallas, Tex., and Portland, Ore., police awaited further reports from authorities in those cities.

CLINE IDENTIFIED BY EMPLOYE AT MORTUARY

MACON, Ga., Dec. 18. (AP)—Solicitor General Charles Garrett said today that a local mortuary employe had identified a picture of Alfred Leonard Cline of San Francisco, as the man who made arrangements for the cremation here of the body of Mrs. Alma Willa Carter.

Signatures of an F. A. Klein and of Mrs. Carter were found yesterday by detectives on a Macon hotel register of Feb. 17, 1944. The signatures will be compared with handwriting specimens of Alfred Leonard Cline and with a Mrs. Alice W. Carpenter. Mrs. Carpenter was reported by St. Petersburg, Fla., police to have left that city with Cline on Feb. 14, 1944. They said Mrs. Carpenter told friends Cline had proposed marriage.

Charge Of Smuggling Arms Into Mexico Is Probed By Officials

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 18 (AP)—Vincente Lombardo Toledano, Latin-American labor leader, was asked by the foreign office today to explain his charge that arms are being brought into Mexico from the United States to foment a revolution by the "reaction."

The foreign office acted following a visit by U. S. Asbassador George S. Messersmith, who asked Foreign Secretary Castillo Najera to determine if there is any evidence to support the labor leader's charge.

PRICES RECOVER SLIGHTLY

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—The stock market today got back on its feet selectively although many leaders still displayed the bearish effects of Monday's sharpest stumble in two years.

Commitments were reinstated in most cases, and short covering appeared here and there, on the idea that the relapse had substantially bettered the technical health of the list and put it in shape to resume the climb to new 15-year highs.

The comeback gt underway after a quiet opening and, while dealings were relatively slow throughout, gains of fractions to 2 or more points predominated at the close. Transfers of 1,350,000 shares compared with 1,990,000 the day before. Rails, steels, motors, amusements and aircrafts were the best performers.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .5 of a point, aided mainly by a rally of .8 in the carriers. Of 918 issues registering, 523 rose, 256 fell and 139 were unchanged.

American news common advanced 4⅝ on a 2-for-1 splitup proposal. In front were N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, St. Paul (when issued) common, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Paramount Pictures, Warner Bros., Boeing, Glenn Martin, Goodyear, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott and General Electric.

Casualties ran to 4 points for Allied Chemical and lesser amounts for American Can, Du Pont, Anaconda, Texas Co., Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Corn Products and National Steel.

Carrier bonds improved at the last.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP) — Aggressive mill and commission house buying advanced cotton futures as much as 70 cents a bale today although best levels were pared by profit taking and hedging. Continued good demand for cotton at primary markets and reports of considerable export inquiries were strengthening factors. The Bureau of Census reported November cotton consumption at 743,500 bales or about in line with trade expectations.

Futures closed 15 to 65 cents a bale higher.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (AP) — Trading interest today centered largely in the rye pit, where prices showed a nervous tendency. Rye was up more than 3 cents at the opening, but profit taking absorbed some of the early advance in both nearby contracts. Small offerings resulted in quick action.

At the finish wheat was unchanged to ⅛ lower, than yesterday's close December $1.80½. Corn was unchanged at ceiling, December $1.18½. Oats were ⅛ to ½ higher, December 78⅞.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 18 (U.P.) (USDA)—Estimated grain receipts at Fort Worth Tuesday included 8 cars of wheat, 4 cars of corn, 3 cars of oats and 26 cars of sorghums.

Prices reported to USDA's production and marketing administration were unchanged.

No. 1 hard wheat, with ordinary protein content, was quoted at 180 to 182 per bushel, bulk, in carlots, with all charges paid to Fort Worth or Galveston. The No. 2 grade, weighing 59 pounds to the bushel, was quoted at 1.79-1.81 while the 58 pound weight brought 1.78-1.80.

Sorghums realized 2.52-2.59 per cwt. for milo and kafir.

No. 3 white oats brought 86 cents a bushel in Fort Worth and 88 cents in Galveston.

Free Bridge Across Rio Grande Blocked

AUSTIN, Dec. 18 (AP)—Ten years of planning by Texas and Mexico for a free international bridge link in the Pan-American highway at Laredo may be blocked indefinitely at Laredo polls Jan. 8, John S. Redditt, chairman of the Texas Highway commission, said yesterday.

Laredo has negotiated the purchase of an existing toll bridge across the Rio Grande for $695,000. If the purchase is approved by election Jan. 8, the state cannot build a free bridge until bonds issued for the purchase are fully paid.

"For the past ten years, the highway departments of Texas and Mexico jointly have been completing preliminaries for the construction of a high-water toll-free bridge at the international boundary at Laredo," Redditt said. "Plans are now complete and the structure has been included as an item in the state and federal postwar highway program."

The highway, which traverses the heart of Texas through San Antonio and Laredo, into Monterrey and Mexico City, will undoubtedly be our most important tourist artery in the postwar tourist artery era, he said.

House Bill 676, passed at the last legislative session, prevents the state from exercising its powers in any way to impair the rights of the bonds issued for the purchase of a toll bridge until the bonds, together with the interest, are fully paid.

Plea For More Sugar For Christmas Sent HST From Houston

HOUSTON, Dec. 18. (U.P.)—Joe Weingarten, Houston grocer and president of the Supermarket Institute of America, said today he had appealed to President Truman to put the next sugar ration stamp into use before Christmas.

Weingarten made a similar plea to OPA Administrator Chester Bowles last week but was turned down. His appeal to the President is a final attempt to get more sugar to the housewives by Christmas, Weingarten said. The stamp now becomes valid January 1.

"I informed the President in a wire that I had learned in contacting super market operators in other large cities there is plenty of sugar at the stores but no stamps.

Mr. Bowles turned down the request, saying he feared it would create 'too tight' a sugar situation. I pointed out to President Truman that sugar will begin coming in from Cuba about February and we have the sugar beet crops coming up."

Weingarten said both Texas senators, Tom Connally and W. Lee O'Daniel, had wired they were contacting OPA officials about his request.

Amarillo Negro Now Carries On Tradition Of Lone White Flower

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

The lone white flower of Amarillo is something that those who receive it never forget.

It is presented with touching dignity by a 78-year-old negro. It is given only to those he considers worthy of the honor.

The aged negro, son of slave parents, has been awarding these flowers for 51 years. It has become something of a ritual in the capital city of the plains.

Pioneer Of City

Mathew Bones Hooks was born in Robinson county. He grew up to become a cowboy. He followed the railroad from Henrietta to Clarendon and on to Amarillo, where he arrived in 1900.

He has been there ever since.

But earlier, when he drove a chuckwagon over the twisting trails of Texas, he worked for the Clayton family in Pecos. He loved the young son, Tom Clayton.

Tom went to college, and came home to run his father's ranch. But they didn't teach him the ranch business at college.

Honors Former Employer

"I'm not a horseman," he told Bones when he returned from school. "I'm depending on you to teach me to ride, and a lot about ranching, and we'll maybe make one good man."

A horse fell on Tom Clayton and killed him.

Broken-hearted, Bones brought his first white flower.

Ever since, he has distributed white flowers "in honor of Tom Clayton."

He said he gave the white flowers as a tribute to those he believed "have Tom Clayton's spirit."

FDR Given One

They have been presented to President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Vice-President and Mrs. Garner, Postmaster General Farley, Wendell Willkie, Secretary Henry A. Wallace, and many others.

Bones is nearing 80 now, but he is erect and proud and a leader among Amarillo's 5,000 negroes. He started the Dogie club, a club for negro boys. He says 26 of his boys served in the armed forces with perfect records.

He promoted a negro residential district near the town. He is saving money to erect a monument to Panhandle pioneers.

But one of his prized memories is the fact that the citizens of Amarillo love and respect him—and made him the first negro ever to sit on a grand jury in Texas.

Hopes High In China For Unity And New Economy With U. S. Aid

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Dec. 18—Hope is higher in China today than at any time since the war ended.

A wave of optimism for settlement of the civil strife began with the lightly-opposed thrust of government armies over the land lanes into Manchuria.

It was augmented by the appointment of Gen. George C. Marshall to succeed Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley as ambassador to China.

It grew with the visit of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to Peiping, a trip which took the government's leader into the heart of troubled North China.

Truman Plea Felt

It reached a still higher level when President Truman crystallized the United States' view into a plea for cessation of hostilities between the government and the Communists and for a conference to include all of China's major political elements.

Marshall's msision is awaited almost with bated breath, by almost everyone in China. It is almost impossible to over emphasize the expectancy, the hope—even the misgivings—attached to his assignment.

Communists' Hopes High

Undoubtedly the Central government would like as much of the old Hurley program retained as possible, but it hardly feels that a powerful figure like Marshall was named to carry on Hurley's undeniably pro-government program without any changes.

Some observers view Chiang Kai-Shek's surprise trip to Communist-encircled Peiping as a show of national unity and a bid for Marshall's support. In their Yenan headquarters, Communist spokesmen openly voice a hope that Marshall will back their demands for a Democratic coalition government.

Business Also Affected

American troops in China also view Marshall's arrival with personal concern. Many of them are convinced they will not be leaving China while the civil strife persists. They reason that if he can bring about peace he will remove the barrier to their return home.

Marshall's mission is awaited with quiet eagerness by still another element, an element seldom mentioned but one which feels that it, too, is vitally concerned—foreign business.

May Bid For China Trade

This faction, apprehensive over new laws designed to limit operations, over inflation and over the uncertainty of China's post-war attitude toward it, wonders if Marshall's ambassadorship means that Americans are going to become more aggressive in China trade, perhaps bid for permanent leadership.

If it does, foreign business which has been taking things easy, feeling its way, may shed this cautions timidity and jump back into expanded operations. Lots of people, including a good many Chinese, feel that this would be one of the best things that could happen right now to China.

One could speculate endlessly on what may come of Marshall's mission to China. This you can say for sure:

People feel that, one way or another, something is going to be done. Perhaps about lots of things.

Texas Town Is Ruled Both 'Dry' And 'Wet'

PASADENA, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—Pasadena is dry but it's wet.

Anyway city fathers were so informed today by the Attorney General of Texas:

The town voted dry in 1942 but recently annexed adjacent wet territory. The attorney general said that wet is wet and shall so remain.

It's a short walk from dry Pasadena into wet Pasadena for a short beer.

President's Family Makes Holiday Plans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (U.P.)—The first of President Truman's three dinners on Christmas Day ought to be a whopper, if Mrs. Truman has "what she would like to have."

This is her "favorite Christmas menu:"

Mushroom soup, roast turkey and scalloped oysters, jellied cranberries, celery, olives, jelly, pickles, mashed potatoes and giblet gravy, cauliflower, hot rolls, pear and cheese balls salad, plum pudding and hard sauce, coffee, candy and nuts.

Mrs. James Meredith Helm, White House social secretary, did not reveal what the President will be served when he goes from his own Christmas table in Independence, Mo., to his mother's house and later to his aunt's house for his second and third Christmas dinners.

But she said she expected the Truman's to have the same kind of Christmas as in the years before they moved into the White House.

They will open their presents around the Christmas tree in the living room of their large Independence house as soon as the President flies in from Washington on Christmas Day.

Mrs. David Wallace, Mrs. Truman's mother, Mrs. Truman and Margaret Truman will precede the President, leaving for Independence on Tuesday. Other members of the family will join them there for Christmas Day.

The only children scheduled to be at the Truman home on Christmas morning are David and Marion Wallace, 11 and 9, son and daughter of Mrs. Truman's brother, David Wallace of Denver.

Both Mrs. Truman and Margaret have finished their Christmas shopping and have their gifts wrapped.

Before leaving Washington, Margaret will be bridesmaid at the wedding of Jane Augusta Wells on Saturday.

Miss Wells is the daughter of J. E. Wells, Jr., deputy governor of the Farm Credit administration. The bridegroom is Lt. Cmdr. Richard B. Evans of Tuscon, Ariz.

Myrtle The Spider Carries On But Big Brood Facing Death

Myrtle, a black widow spider found under a board in the backyard of Roy Davis of 218 Thirty-first, is still kicking — literally — after 71 days sealed in a fruit jar without food or drink and sans any air except that captured in the sealing process. And most of her brood of little kid spiders — apparently about four or five dozen of them—seem to be doing well after 35 days of similar existence.

Davis, who says he likes to "experiment" with insects and things, said he put Myrtle in the quart jar on Oct. 7, and placed the container on the refrigerator in the kitchen. Myrtle straightaway got busy making things livable, spinning herself a nice, silken web. As it turned out, she was getting things ready for some little ones.

Lays Bag Of Eggs

On Nov. 10, she laid a bag of eggs, about the size of a big pea.

"She sat on that bag for two solid days and nights," Davis said, "acting just like an old hen."

Davis, who by now had become very engrossed in Myrtle and her personal life, was on hand when the little spiders hatched.

"They came out looking like mites," he said. "First, 13 crawled out of the shell, then two hours passed before the rest hatched. It took about five hours for them all to get out. And it appears to me that those who are still living have grown considerably."

Davis thinks that Myrtle can distinguish him from other people. "Every time a visitor at the house picked up the jar, Myrtle kicked and flounced around like she was scared to death. But I can pick up the jar anytime and she stays just as quiet as she can be."

To demonstrate, he asked a reporter to handle the jar and stick his face close. As the reporter complied, Myrtle jerked so violently that she almost tore her web down. But, when Davis did the same thing, Myrtle was as immobile as buttered molassoes.

With evident reluctance, Davis, who is in the trucking business, left his "experiment" on a desk in the Avalanche-Journal news room, requesting that close tab be kept of the slow death of Myrtle and her offspring, and if newsworthy, chronicled in print.
