Bombs Wreck British Town; 1,000 Killed

Nazi Air Fury Is Merciless For Coventry

Buildings, Homes In Ruins After All-Night Raid

(By The United Press)

COVENTRY, Nov. 15.—Squadron after squadron of German airplanes divebombed this ancient industrial city for 10½ hours in an attack which ended early today, leaving at least 1,000 casualties and wrecking the town as thoroughly as an earthquake.

The survivors of the Nazi air fury today wandered through broken streets and row after row of houses and buildings shattered to matchwood and rubble by the explosion of thousands of bombs.

Attack Is Relentless

The history of this present day industrial center of 167,000 population dates back to a medieval past brightened by the famous ride of Lady Godiva clad only in her golden hair.

Today it had joined the company of such targets of the German luftwaffe as Warsaw and Rotterdam.

All night long the attack continued relentlessly. Nazi bombers roared over in formations that swooped in dive-bombing attacks every three minutes, released their cargo of explosives and zoomed again to head back to a home base.

Every Street Is Hit

Literally thousands of high explosive bombs and incendiary missiles rained down upon hospitals, churches, hotels, theaters, banks, stores, offices and block-after-block of homes of Coventry's thousands of factory workers and middle class families.

Today it seemed that every street in the city was pocked by bomb craters. In some places the bombs had fallen so thickly that it was almost impossible to tell where the street once had been and where the rows of little houses had stood.

Observers could stand on long

Italy's Navy Dodged Challenge By British

By RICHARD C. McMILLAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WITH THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, Nov. 14 (Delayed)—It can be told now that when the air arm of the fleet bombed Taranto harbor Monday night most of Italy's navy—hundreds of fighting ships of all sizes and descriptions—were riding at anchor there.

And lined up in battle array, just outside the harbor, virtually the whole British Mediterranean fleet—rows of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and other craft stretching for 25 miles—stood in wait.

Challenge Was Hurled

The airplanes were sent in primarily to rout the Italians from their snug harbor for a fight. The destruction they did with bombs and aerial torpedoes was to have been only incidental to a naval battle such as the world never had seen, if the Italians had accepted the challenge. They didn't accept it, though their force outnumbered the British even when the airplanes got through with them.

I saw and heard the airplanes take the challenge to Taranto from the deck of a British heavy cruiser. The fliers did their job, and all but two of the planes came back. Then, like a policeman on the beat, we steamed back and forth between the Greek islands and the heel of the Italian boot for more than 24 hours waiting for the Italian ships to come out. They never did.

British Are In Control

The British stand before Taranto was the final phase of a 3,000-mile sweep of the Mediterranean, from end to end. I accompanied it all the way, and was shown beyond doubt that the British control the sea.

After steaming to every corner of the Mediterranean, and loitering in the narrow straits of Pantellaria off Sicily in a vain effort to lure the Italian fleet from port, it was decided that the only chance to get a decisive battle would be to make a rousing blow on Taranto, where the main body of Italy's navy was known to be.

We approached the Greek islands

Deaths Climax Maniac's Stop At Farmhouse

(By The United Press)

LUZERNE, Iowa, Nov. 15.—A night of terror in an Iowa farmhouse ended today with one man slain, two persons wounded and the suicide of the maniacal killer.

A transient came to the house late yesterday. Mrs. John Liddle was hanging out the wash and two children were playing.

The transient drew a pistol and commanded them to go into the living room. "Sit down," he ordered. They sat.

Others Come To House

One by one as they completed the chores, her father, brother and husband came into the house. Each was forced to sit on the floor.

The man with the gun sat quietly watching them and munching crackers. He refused to give them food.

Hours passed. The one lamp in the room ran out of oil and sputtered out. The gunman obtained a lantern.

"Bong!" the old mantel clock sounded 2:30 a. m. The transient stretched his arms and demanded $500.

Refused Automobile

The Liddles said they didn't have that much; they offered their automobile. The stranger refused.

Five a. m.—the stranger nodded. Mrs. Liddle seized a comforter she had been sitting on and attempted to throw it over him.

He fired wildly. One bullet struck Arthur Knoke, 32, Mrs. Liddle's brother, in the heart and killed him. Another glanced off Mrs. Liddle's back and struck her father, William Knoke, 70, in the head.

The man then blew his own brains out.

Huge Bonfire Lighted Today Prematurely

Full Program For Visitors Slated; Rally Is Tonight

At 7 o'clock this morning, 12 hours before the scheduled annual pre-homecoming bonfire at Texas Technological college, someone set a match to the stack of kindling painstakingly gathered between the men's dormitories and the gymnasium.

Viewing the asnes where the huge pile had stood, student officials gritted their teeth and began the process of again obtaining material so that the traditional event might be held as the climax of homecoming eve.

Conscience Should Hurt

Student officials said that as far as the student council was concerned the conscience of the person who set fire to the pile could take care of his punishment. "We're going to forget it," said James Snyder, student president.

Snyder is the student on whom the greatest responsibility in arranging the bonfire rests. The student council is responsible for collecting the material and arranging the program.

Snyder said plans would go as scheduled for the mammoth pep rally in Texas Tech gymnasium at 7 o'clock tonight. The rally will be broadcast from 7:15 to 8 o'clock, but request was made that students, alumni, town persons and others attending be present early and seated by time of opening of the broadcast.

Short Speeches Scheduled

Band music and yells will be interspersed with short speeches by Raymond Lee Johns of Lamesa, president of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, Coaches Pete

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15—Governors and cowards, movie stars and movie fans, gathered here today to honor the memory of Will Rogers, beloved Oklahoma humorist who knew them all.

Greeks Claim 30,000 Men Destroyed

Continued Success Against Invaders Is Said Scored

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Nov. 15.—Destruction of two Italian divisions, presumably totaling about 30,000 men, was claimed by the Athens radio today and advices from the Albanian frontier credited Greece's armed forces with continued sweeping successes in all sectors.

Previous reports had mentioned the destruction of only one division but the radio said a second was destroyed while seeking to aid the first.

Italians Driven Back

The Greek army has taken the initiative along the entire 100-mile battlefront from the Ionian sea to the Yugoslav border and is driving the Italians back everywhere, the radio declared.

In the coastal region the Greeks were said to have driven the invaders back to the Albanian border, forcing a retreat reported to be assuming the proportions of a rout.

The radio credited the Greeks with taking "thousands" of prisoners after having "beaten and dispersed" an Italian force which outnumbered them three to one.

The fighting in which the two Italian divisions were said to have been wiped out was reported to have taken place in the Pindus mountains, near the center of the battlefront.

Is Cut To Pieces

One of the divisions, the radio said, was trapped after advancing into Greek territory and the second was cut to pieces when it was sent to the aid of the first.

The Greeks were now reported fighting on Albanian soil in this sector as well as on the northern flank, where they previously claimed the capture of mountain positions dominating the Albanian town of Koritza, important Italian invasion base.

The Greek high command's communique last night told of "intense infantry, artillery and air activity" along the entire front and reported the Greeks had captured 200 more prisoners and "war material of all kinds."

Important victories in the air also were claimed by the high command, which said 11 Italian planes were shot down yesterday and another 10 "probably damaged beyond repair" against the loss of only one Greek plane.

Dispatches Of Reporters To Be Abolished

Action Taken As Reprisal; Order Effective Monday

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Nov. 15.—All American correspondents in Spain were forbidden today to send out news dispatches beginning next Monday in reprisal for what officials said was American refusal to allow the Spanish official news agency EFE to operate in the United States.

(EFE, pronounced "Ayfay," is the foreign service of the official news agency EFE-Cifra.)

The ban embraces the Associated Press, the United Press, the New York Times, and the Chicago Tribune.

Have Regular Offices

The newspapers and agencies mentioned are those with regular offices and staff correspondents in Madrid.

The reason given was that the United States government had refused entrance visas for correspondents of the Spanish agency EFE which the agency had planned to send to America and that EFE had been refused permission to set up an office in the United States.

It had been proposed to send as EFE correspondent to the United States Jose Antonio Jiminez Arnau, brother of the director general of the Spanish government press bureau, Enrique Jiminez Arnau.

No further details were given. There was no indication that American correspondents would be obliged to leave the country.

Strike Halts Work In Airplane Plant

(By The Associated Press)

DOWNEY, Calif., Nov. 15 — The Vultee airplane factory was closed today by a strike.

A CIO picket line was established early today, thereby actively beginning the first strike at a factory manufacturing military craft since the start of the present national defense emergency. A breakdown of wage negotiations caused the walkout.

Could Not Start Work

A spokesman for the firm said it was hoped that the plant could remain open with a skeleton crew, but at 7:30 a. m. it was forced to announce to several hundred workers that operations could not begin.

The company has on hand orders for $39,000,000 worth of planes for the United States and another $11,000,000 worth for export.

The United Automobile Workers union claims a membership of "more than 3,000" of the 3,700 production workers in the plant, which has a payroll of some 5,200 employes.

Failed To File Answer

L. H. Michener, regional director of the union, issued the strike order with a declaration that the company had failed to file an answer to the union's demands with a federal conciliator by the hour agreed upon yesterday afternoon.

Vultee officials later made public a communication to Lyman Sisley, department of labor commissioner of conciliation here, but Michener declared it had not been filed for nearly two and a half hours after the agreed time.

Since it did not meet the union demands, Michener added, the company's proposal would not have forestalled a strike order in any event.

Instead of the 15-cent in minimum pay asked by the union, from 50 cents an hour to 65 cents, he declared the company offered "a slight wage increase" at the end of three months, with another "slight increase" three months later.

Lubbock's Air Bid Is Made

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Witnesses from Texas and Colorado urged the Civil Aeronautics board today to consider favorably airline applications for direct connection routes between the states and extension of West and Southwest Texas feeder and main lines.

Those from Denver at a hearing before Thomas Wrenn, CAB examiner, described the importance of the proposed lines to Denver as a market outlet into Texas and on to Mexico.

Houston Urges Line

The Texans said development was necessary to serve Texas' southwest area and to provide direct west coast connections. Spokesmen for the Houston Chamber of Commerce particularly urged the latter development.

A. D. Simpson, director of the Houston chamber, said that many Houston firms had branch offices on the west coast, and predicted that direct connections now necessary would result eventually in the establishment of through planes from Houston to the west coast.

Cold Damages Texas Crops

(By The Associated Press)

Texas today continued in the grip of a cold wave which sent temperatures in many points to their lowest levels in history for this time of the year and penetrated deep into South Texas to inflict heavy damage on early winter truck crops.

At Edinburg a killing frost, first at this time of the year in the valley in two decades, brought heavy destruction to tomato, bean, squash and pepper crops, annihilating yields in many sections. Amount of damage had not been ascertained. The mercury plunged to 30 degrees, but the sun was shining bright.

Damage Is Heavy

Coldest weather of the year hit Laredo early this morning when temperatures tumbled from a high of 57 degrees yesterday afternoon to a low of 29 this morning. A heavy frost covered the entire area. Growers of tomatoes, sweet peppers and other tender vegetation reported heavy damage to their crops.

Temperatures were unusually low in the coast section. Houston reported a heavy frost this morning and a low of 29 1-2 degrees, lowest in twenty-four years for this date, but skies were clear and the mercury rising gradually. Port Arthur reported 29 degrees this morning.

North Texas Shivers

North Texas continued cold, Paris reporting 16 degrees last night, a record low for November, and Sher-

The mayor also announced that the colored lights will be turned on again next Wednesday and Thursday nights as part of the Thanksgiving observance. They will go on for the Christmas and New Year holiday period early in December.

There were 141 candidates including the poet Sidney Lanier, Walter Reed, hero of the fight against yellow fever, and Henry David Thoreau, naturalist and author.

This Inventor May Get Stung On This

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15 (AP)—A Los Angeles barber, J. R. Polizzi, has invented a trap which he says can eliminate the ant. It uses candy for bait.

Polizzi brought his contraption, which he said costs only a few cents to manufacture, to local headquarters of Inventors of America, which holds its annual convention here next month. With it he brought a one-gallon jar of ants, captured by his trap.

It proved one thing, at any rate. There are 30,000,000 ants to the gallon.

Germany Legalizes Dog Meat To Stop New Food Shortage

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. — A new law, effective Jan. 1, today legalized the meat of dogs, foxes, bears and beavers for human consumption, but observers doubted the measure would greatly augment the reich's food supply.

The law subjects these meats to the same rigid health inspection as beef and pork.

It indicates that such meats have been on German menus, probably in larger amounts recently as people find that the weekly pound meat allowance in Germany is not sufficient.

Most observers here surmise however, that the second war winter, hard as it may be, will treat Germany easier than almost any other country in continental Europe.

Even such a domestic animal as the horse is far from a common dish in Germany. If there is more than one horse restaurant in Berlin it is not well known.

Neutral observers in Germany suspect that the hardest hit of

New Mexico Motor Artery Now Follows Famous Path Of History

Santa Fe-Taos Road Colorful

(By The United Press)

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 15—Modern automobiles speed over the newly-completed Santa Fe-Taos highway, a trail which might well serve as a ramp over which 400 years of history of the Southwest could pass in colorful tableau.

An exploring party headed by Hernando Alvarado, a captain in the army of Coronado, New Mexico's first conquistador, passed along this route in 1540, reached Taos Pueblo and found a friendly people.

Feared Indian Tribes

In the next 300 years, however, the parade between Santa Fe and Taos became one of revolt, bloodshed and intrigue as explorers, colonists and militarists pushed northward along the Rio Grande into the fertile Taos valley.

Colonists settled near the Taos Pueblo little more than 30 years after Alvarado had discovered it. They chose land near the pueblo as protection against the hostile Utes, Navajoes and Comanches who roamed the country.

Trail Of Peace And War

Up the trail from Santa Fe to Taos, the northernmost Spanish settlement, went religious supplies for the padres from Chihuahua and Mexico City.

The trail changed from an artery of commerce to a bloody warpath in 1680 when the Pope released his Indian allies against the Spaniards. The once friendly Pueblo warriors swept southward from Taos to Santa Fe, wiping out the white men.

When peace came in 1692, Taos Pueblo was among the last to submit to Spanish terms and Don Diego de Vargas marched an army up the trail of the present highway to quell the rebellious Taos, and Spanish rule was restored in New Mexico.

During the 18th century, Taos became famous for its fairs which drew Pueblo Indians, Spanish traders and the fierce warriors there to swap and trade.

New Lands Opened

The coming of the Mountain Men—Kit Carson, the Bent brothers, Milton Sublette, the Robidoux brothers and others—at the turn of the 19th century extended the trail northward into Colorado and the Northwest.

Sabers rattled on the Santa Fe-Taos trail once again 1847, after the American occupation of New Mexico in 1846.

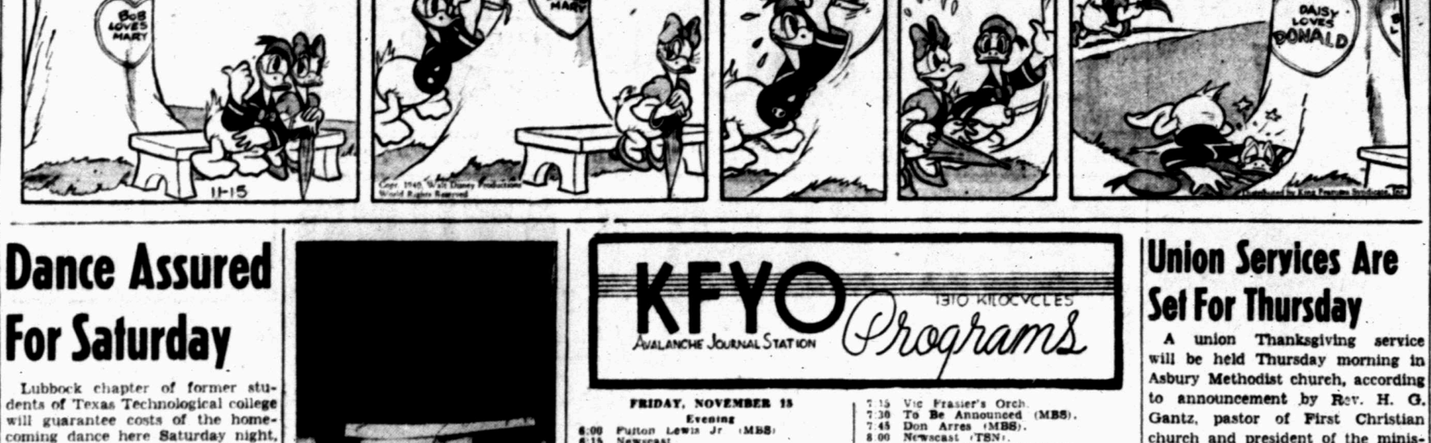

Just Memories Now

Torn between loyalty to Mexico and the United States, a revolt broke out and reached a climax at Taos when frenzied Indians, employed by the revolutionists, murdered and scalped Charles Bent, the first governor under American rule. Troops were sent up the trail to put down the revolt.

Over this route came traders. Indian scouts and wagon trains to Santa Fe, after coming west to Taos. Today the wagon trains have given way to lumbering trucks, the traders to swift automobiles and the scouts—protectors of the wagon trains—to uniformed highway patrolmen.

Dance Assured For Saturday

Lubbock chapter of former students of Texas Technological college will guarantee costs of the homecoming dance here Saturday night, members decided at a meeting in Lubbock hotel Thursday night.

In underwriting the event, the chapter offered to make up any deficit by individual donations from members.

Cawthon Is Speaker

The group, including 50 or more persons heard a talk by Head Coach Pete W. Cawthon on football, from the standpoint of prospects, reputation of the Tech football team and cooperation alumni may offer in athletic success at the college.

He said he had been asked what schools besides Texas Tech are not in conferences and in answer he displayed a list of 199 colleges and universities, including such well-known schools as Brown, Bucknell, Colgate, Harvard, Notre Dame, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Villanova, Virginia, West Virginia and Yale.

Although not big, either in weight or numbers, Texas Tech's squad this year is one of which alumni may be proud and has much in common with the team which went to the Cotton bowl, the coach said.

A "Tough" Job

Concerning prospects for victory in the Tech-Wake Forest homecoming game Saturday afternoon, he was neither optimistic nor pessimistic. He conceded the team has a "tough" job ahead of it and may be defeated.

He discussed impressions the team has made elsewhere this year and said comments are the best of any season in the 11 he has been coach.

Coach Cawthon said he received a letter Thursday from a Tech ex-student in Miami who wrote that the Miami university gridsters returned there so disgusted after defeat by Texas Tech that the university lent its assistant coach to help Wake Forest work out a defense.

For Ex-Students

The coach urged former students to join the Matador club.

At the meeting, besides Lubbock county former students, were two couples from out of town, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Gabriel of Old Hickory, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Williams of San Angelo.

Members of the chapter turned in money for dance tickets already sold and retained other tickets, which they will sell or turn in Saturday.

The dance will be held exclusively for former students and their guests from 9 to 12 o'clock in Lubbock hotel, with Ned Bradley's orchestra playing.

New Farm Agent Is To Take Up Duties

Duties as assistant Lubbock county farm agent will be begun here Saturday by Lee Hicks McElroy, present assistant agent in Lamb county, according to C. C. Jobson, farm agent. McElroy is a 1936 graduate of Texas Technological college.

While here Thursday Mr. and Mrs. McElroy arranged for a home. They will reside at 1502 Twenty-eighth street. Mrs. McElroy is the former Miss Bernice Dean of Lubbock and, like her husband, is a graduate of the college.

Registered in college from Post, he returned there as vocational agriculture teacher in the high school, serving until Feb. 1935, when he resigned to enter extension service at Amherst. While in college he majored in animal husbandry and was one of the leading students during his work here. He was a member of the junior livestock judging team which placed first at the annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth in March, 1935. In college he was a member of Block and Bridle club and of the Tech Aggie club.

McElroy succeeds Monroe U. May, who recently resigned to become farm agent of Castro county at Dimmitt. K. J. Edwards, district agent leader, approved the transfer Monday after a conference with the commissioner's court of Lamb county.

His successor in Lamb county will be Hubert T. Duke, who has been Agricultural Adjustment administration secretary-administrator for Kent county at Jayton. He is a brother of Earl T. Duke, of the plant industry department of the college and is a graduate of Texas A. & M. college. He is married, his brother said, and the couple have a son.

While at Amherst McElroy had a strong program of club work for Lamb county, working under V. F. Jones, farm agent.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy were active in community and social affairs at Amherst and he was a member of the Littlefield Rotary club.

FITS MY CASE PERFECTLY FORMER POSTMASTER SAYS ABOUT HOYT'S COMPOUND

My Trouble with Constipation, Sour Stomach, Gas Bloating, Dyspepsia, and Stiff, Sore Joints was Banished by Hoyt's, Mr. Stark, Aged Lubbock Man Explains.

MR. WILLIAM F. STARK

The day never dawns but someone who suffers from indigestion, constipation, headaches, muscular pains or nervousness comes to the Mark Halsey Drug Store and learns from the Hoyt Man of the relief Hoyt's Compound may give. The Hoyt Man, a special laboratory representative, invites YOU to come and let him explain the action of this scientifically prepared medicine which thousands say has brought them relief. One who has recently praised Hoyt's Compound is 78-year-old Mr. William F. Stark of 1924 Sixth St., Lubbock, who states: "I am a former postmaster and a retired merchant of Yeso, New Mexico, and have lived in Lubbock for the past eleven years. I was afflicted with constipation, sour stomach, gas bloating, dyspepsia. The suffering became almost unbearable. My bowels were very irregular, causing my system to be filled with poison. My whole body was one pain after another, my joints became stiff and sore, and even my neck was stiff all the time. Due to weak kidneys I had to get up four or five times a night. My nerves were shattered, and I couldn't get a night's rest. The food I ate wouldn't digest, I had no appetite. I became very run-down, and lost a lot of weight.

"I began taking Hoyt's Compound, and now I feel like a new man. I can eat anything without pain in my stomach. My food digests, and the sourness and bloating have gone. My bowels are regular, my sleep unbroken. Stiffness and soreness in my joints are gone. Hoyt's is the greatest medicine I have ever taken; it fits my case perfectly. I take this opportunity to publicly endorse this great medicine!"

Hoyt's Compound is the modern liquid extract of medicinal roots and herbs which countless former sufferers praise publicly by way of sworn statements voluntarily given for publication. Let the Hoyt Man tell you of many cases which have come to his personal attention wherein persons who have suffered found relief in Hoyt's. Talk with him today at the Mark Halsey Drug Store. Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by all leading druggists in this area. Adv.

Brer Rabbit Syrup is RICH in IRON

HOW TO ADD IRON TO CHILDREN'S DIETS

Children love to get their iron from delicious Brer Rabbit Syrup—and you can give it to them in any form they enjoy:

AS A SPREAD—for pancakes, waffles, biscuits and other hot breads. Or on plain or buttered bread for between-meal snacks.

IN MILK—For a delicious Brer Rabbit Milk Shake, mix one or more tablespoons of Brer Rabbit Syrup with a glass of milk.

ON CEREAL—In place of other sweetening.

FOR DESSERT—As a sauce for ice cream or in luscious gingerbread or cookies. All of Brer Rabbit's iron richness is retained in cooking.

GROWING CHILDREN need an abundance of food iron—much more than adults in proportion to their size.

And, unfortunately, a number of the foods in the average child's diet provide very little iron, or supply it in a form that the body cannot use fully.

But there is one delicious, inexpensive food that is a rich and reliable source of iron. Recent scientific tests prove:

1. Brer Rabbit Syrup contains a valuable amount of iron.
2. The iron in Brer Rabbit Syrup is almost 100% available for use by the body. It is more fully available than the iron in most other foods.
3. Brer Rabbit Syrup helps to supply the iron needed daily by both children and adults.

So why not give Brer Rabbit Syrup a regular place in your family's diet? Start today!

Royal Air Force Unleashes Extensive Raids On German Territory

Bombs Shower On Berliners

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Nov. 15 — Devastating British air raids on Berlin last night were described today in an air ministry communique which said that the main railway stations in the German capital and the great Tempelhof airdrome were bombed and set afire.

Indicating the extent of the British attacks the air ministry admitted that 10 British planes were missing.

Raids Extensive

It said that in addition to giving Berlin one of the heaviest raids of the war the Royal Air Force attacked "26 enemy-occupied airdromes and harbors and shipping in ports from Stavanger (Norway) to Lorient (France).

Good weather and bright moonlight favored the heavy attack on Berlin, the ministry said.

It announced that high explosive bombs fell on and around the Schlesischer railway station and goodsyards, which had been raided heavily the previous night before departure from Berlin of Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar Viacheslav M. Molotov.

"Invasion" Ports Attacked

The ministry indicated that large numbers of British planes participated in last night's raids and that in addition to heavy damage at Berlin great fires and explosions were caused in German "invasion" ports and the submarine base at Lorient, which the British have been trying to render useless to U-boats operating against British shipping in the Atlantic.

Youth Is Held For Firing Of School

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy who confessed setting fire Nov. 4 to the Harlandale high school building was turned over to Bexar County Probation Officer George D. Pickens today.

The boy, arrested at the school by County Highway Patrolman Jack Higdon, said he had set fire to the building because he was "mad at the teacher." He gave no reason for being "mad."

The school football team, returning to the building after practice, saw the flames and extinguished the fire.

Russia invited 1,000 peasants and agricultural workers from Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania to visit its 1940 agricultural show in Moscow.

TRY PROMOTOR — Chief defendant in what may prove one of the nation's most spectacular fraud cases, Howard C. Hopson, founder and controlling figure of the vast Associated Gas and Electric utilities system, is pictured at his trial in New York federal court. Hopson is accused of mail fraud and conspiracy to cheat the $1,000,000,000 utilities empire of more than $20,000,000.

Eli Whitney invented the cotton gin in Savannah, Georgia, in 1793.

Baptists Will Boost Budget

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 (AP) — Texas Baptists launched a program today that will mean gradually increasing their annual budget until it reaches $1,500,000 in the next five years.

This was voted yesterday at the general convention which also selected Abilene for the 1941 meeting. The dates will be Nov. 11-14.

Dr. E. S. James of Vernon will be convention preacher, with J. F. Wheedon of Denton as alternate.

Hardin-Simmons university of Abilene will be absorbed by the association, taking it over from the Sweetwater District association at the latter's request.

Under the terms of the agreement, the convention will not assume the university's $43,000 indebtedness.

To Expand Labors

The convention also voted to accelerate and expand its labors in the light of world conditions.

Russell C. White of Bryan, delivering the home mission report, said receipts for this work were showing an increase, with the mission board receiving $544,289 last year, and foresaw, with like continued response on the part of Southern Baptists, the objective of a debtless mission board by 1945.

Rev. William H. Andrew of Bryan in delivering the report on Southern Baptist foreign missions pointed out that the total income in 1939-40 was $1,149,231.

HE SAID IT FIRST

In a speech before the Anti-Slavery convention in Boston, in 1850, Theodore Parker, minister and abolitionist, first said: "A democracy—that is a government of all the people, by all the people, for all the people."

Jack Broughton, an Englishman, is believed to have invented the boxing glove.

Every Muscle In The Body Seemed to Ache

So Weak It Was Impossible To Do A Full Day's Work; But With Proper Elimination Gly-Cas Made His Life Worth Living

"Until I began Gly-Cas, constipation had been a constant source of distress," said Mr. J. T. Davis, 1412 Oak St., San Angelo, Texas. "Aches and pains developed in my joints and muscles until I could hardly stand it. It seemed every muscle in my body twitched and pained and I was in continual agony. It was almost impossible for me to get much rest or sleep in this condition. My digestion had become upset too and the least thing I ate would cause me such distress afterwards. I was so weak I could not do a full day's work at a time and although I was taking first one medicine after another I met only with repeated failure until I began Gly-Cas.

"From the first few doses Gly-Cas began to show me great improvement," continued Mr. Davis. "Now that my bowels are regular and those poisonous impurities are being properly eliminated those miserable aches and pains have eased-up until I am not bothered at all now. Then too, I have no trouble at all with my digestion but eat the foods I like best and without ill effects following. I have sufficient strength and energy now to resume my daily work and cannot keep from praising the wonderful ability of Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Man Who Strangled Pretty Wife Is Calm As He Goes To His Death

Two Electric Shocks Given

McALESTER, Okla., Nov. 15 (U.P.)—Roger Cunningham, 35, tossed aside a half-smoked cigar, carefully seated himself in the electric chair at Oklahoma state prison and was executed early today for strangling his pretty wife to death. Both had been prominent members of Oklahoma City society.

He was strapped in the chair at 12:08 a. m., CST, and pronounced dead five minutes later, after two, 45-second shocks.

Was Very Calm

"He was the calmest man I ever saw executed," Warden Jess Dunn said.

Just before he walked to the death chamber, Cunningham, a former government employe, had stood outside his cell smoking and talking to Herbert K. Hyde, his attorney.

"Tell my wife's mother that I want her to forgive me for causing so much grief and anxiety," he told Hyde. "God has forgiven me and I am ready to go."

He had nothing to say in the death chamber.

Hides Shaved Skull

He had tied a handkerchief over his head yesterday to hide his shaved skull.

Cunningham was the son of a prominent Oklahoma City physican. His wife, Eudora, disappeared in March, 1939. He shrugged off inquiries with the explanation that she had left him and he believed she had gone to the Pacific coast. After a few days, the body was found in a culvert in Oklahoma City. Cunningham finally admitted he had strangled her. His pleas of insanity, which he had maintained until late yesterday, were refused.

Once Proud Horse Of Stonewall Jackson Is Getting Bath

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 15. (AP)—Once proud ol' Sorrel, the famous horse which carried Stonewall Jackson through many engagements of the war between the states, is getting a bath after all these years.

Dust and heat through more than half a century have been hard on the old fellow—that is, all there is left of him here, his hide—and there was evidence he was coming apart at the seams. The job of reconditioning was undertaken by the University of Richmond.

The hide is wrapped over clay. Ol' Sorrel's skeleton is in Carnegie museum of Yankee Pittsburgh.

Colorado Park Sets Attendance Record

ESTES PARK, Colo., Nov. 15. (U.P.)—Officials of Rocky Mountain National Park have announced that 627,847 tourists from 48 states visited the park before early October, this year. The total registration in 1939—previous high year—was 609,000.

Automobile traffic through the park gates was 183,658 cars. Park officials attributed part of the increase to the European war.

Temporary Insanity And Stomach Ulcers Big Causes Of Disability In The War

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Temporary insanity and stomach ulcers are moving toward first place as the cause of disability in the present war.

The first large-scale evidence was reported today to the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, inc., by Dr. Clarence M. Hincks, general director of the Canadian committee of the same name.

Of all Canada's military personnel invalided home, more than 50 per cent came back with one of these two troubles.

"It is interesting to note," Dr. Hincks said, "that 30 per cent of men who have recently been invalided from Britain have been afflicted with these (mental and nervous) disabilities, and an additional 26.5 per cent had duodenal ulcer—a condition so frequently associated with emotional disturbance and tensions."

Einar Holboell, a Danish postal clerk, originated the idea of the Christmas seal for tuberculosis sufferers.

Father Confesses Killing His Blind Son Because He Pitied Him

Death Story Is Described

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 15 (AP) — A 33-year-old father confessed today, Detective Ralph Murphy said, that he killed his blind, crippled five-year-old son with his fist in their Scarboro, Me., home in 1937 because "I felt sorry for him."

Announcement of the asserted confession was made shortly after two sheriff's deputies took the father, identified by Murphy as Norman Burgoyne, back to Maine for trial on a murder charge.

Murphy said Burgoyne told him this story of the child's death and his flight west:

Struck Him With Fist

He was alone with his son, Robert, in their home one afternoon in August. He walked to the boy's bed and looked at him.

"I thought how much better off he would be dead." Burgoyne picked up the boy and struck him with his fist. The child died shortly afterward and Burgoyne took him 30 miles into a woods and buried the body.

Afterward Burgoyne fled to Kalamazoo, Mich., where, under the name of Charles Gordon, he married again without divorcing his first wife. Later, he moved here.

Burgoyne is a typewriter repairman.

Murphy said the father earlier had insisted the child was killed accidentally when Burgoyne fell while carrying him down a stairs.

Sheriff's Deputies Maurice H. Davidson and Arthur McDonald obtained extradition papers for Burgoyne from Gov. John W. Bricker yesterday.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is in Arlington Cemetery.

Weather Maps Of Electrical Storms On Surface Of Heart Now Being Plotted

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 15. — Weather maps of electrical storms on the surface of the human heart now can be plotted to forecast the progress of heart disease.

In an exhibit today at the Southern Medical association's annual meeting, Dr. Graham Asher and Dr. Frank E. Hoecker of the University of Kansas City, Kansas City, Mo., showed how it was possible to measure variations in the electrical output of various parts of the heart in the same way that observers check weather variations throughout the country.

The observations are made by placing a small electric "pick-up" device at more than 100 measured points over the entire chest region. The amount of electricity generated and carried from the heart to the chest wall then is recorded as electrical waves on a continuous moving film.

From the readings, the Kansas City physicians connect up by circular lines the points of equal activity and the result is a map exactly like the weather maps of meteorologists showing "high" and "low" areas across the country. It is possible to locate precisely the positive and negative poles of the heart, Dr. Asher said, and to determine by variations in them the exact nature of the heart condition. The method has been checked by many post-motem examinations and found to be accurate.

Mrs. M. Pinson Neal of Columbia, Mo., elected last year, was installed as president of the women's auxiliary of the southern association. Among other new officers was Mrs. Floyd F. Kirby of Waco, Texas, recording secretary.

The Tower of London once housed a menagerie.

Presbyterians Stage Banquet Last Night

A pre-Thanksgiving football banquet was attended by approximately 125 Texas Technological college students in the recreation rooms of First Presbyterian church Thursday night.

The dinner was sponsored by Men-of-the-Church and the ladies auxiliary. Rev. W. Jack Lewis, assistant pastor, served as "coach" or toastmaster. George Young and Harry Jarvis spoke.

Solos were presented by Miss Barbara Read, Charles Retting and Jeff Coffee. A duet composed of Miss Read and Cullen Chapman sang.

Lockert Sleeper was general chairman of arrangements. Men-of-the-Church who attended were L. C. Ellis, Harrison Van Aken, M. D. Temple, B. B. Pullen and J. Sam Lewis. Sponsor of the college group is Charles C. Galbraith. He and Mrs. Galbraith also attended the dinner.

Nazi Expulsion Of Frenchmen From Alsace-Lorraine Causes Rift

German-French Break Is Seen

(By The Associated Press)

VICHY, France, Nov. 15 — Vice Premier Pierre Laval was reported to be enroute to Paris today to attempt to stave off a definite break with Germany.

French-German relations have reached a critical stage as a result of the expulsion of more than 100,000 French-speaking residents of Nazi-occupied Alsace-Lorraine. Dispatches from Paris said German authorities had added to the friction by cutting off passes to travelers from the occupied to the unoccupied zone.

Strong Protest Filed

The French government already has filed a strong protest with the German Armistice commission over the expulsion. Urgent cabinet sessions have been summoned for today and tomorrow.

Well-informed quarters said Laval had assured his cabinet colleagues that he would find a solution before returning to Vichy tomorrow.

There was nothing to indicate that the policy of "collaboration for the peace of new Europe," developed in talks between Laval and Adolf Hitler last month, was dead, but the policy thus received its first public check.

Communists Said Arrested

In stopping travel from the occupied to the unoccupied zones, the Germans were reported as saying that only "extremely exceptional" requests for passes would be honored.

Marshal Philippe Petain, chief of the French state, prepared to make an official trip to Lyon Monday to greet the Alsace-Lorraine refugees.

Meanwhile, French police in the occupied zone arrested 871 militant Communists, Paris dispatches said, closing 35 establishments printing subversive tracts.

Prehistoric Burial Near Here Studied

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 15 (AP)—A hunt for Folsom man or his predecessor, who lived possibly 20,000 years ago, led Dr. Frank Hibben of New Mexico university to West Texas today.

Dr. Hibben, curator of the New Mexico university museum, was called to investigate a prehistoric burial near Lubbock.

Dr. W. C. Holden of the West Texas Museum reported the discovery consisted of a human burial stratified in gravel containing camel, horse and elephant bones.

Unique Discovery

"According to the reported layers of gravel," Dr. Hibben said, "this man would have lived about 20,000 years ago.

"No remains to match that have been found in the new world, although we have found arrowheads (Folsom points) and other artifacts to verify the existence of such a race of early Indian migrants."

Dr. Hibben has searched many sites in central and eastern New Mexico for even a fragment of the skeleton of a Folsom man.

Tech Homecoming

W. Cawthon and Russell T. Smith. Captains "Ty" Bain and "Primo" McCurry, Coach Douglas Walker of Wake Forest, W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council, and President Clifford B. Jones.

Immediately afterward the crowd will gather around the bonfire pile and the fire will be lighted by senior representatives on the student council, Betty Savage, Art Weber, Clarence Kelley, Snyder, John Williams, Emily Ann Mack, Mary Burk Yeager and Roy Wilkes.

The band will play, students and alumni will give vent to pre-homecoming enthusiasm through yells and several former students will be called on by Snyder to speak briefly.

Snyder said this morning approximately 20 floats would be entered in the parade beginning at city hall at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The parade will go down Broadway to the campus.

Wendell Watson, secretary of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, announced plans complete for the various homecoming events and urged that former students obtain tickets as early as possible for all events.

Tickets available in the alumni office and which will be available at the registration desk Saturday morning are: luncheon, 50 cents; football, $1.70 or 50 cents less than regular price if the former student has paid dues and is in good standing as a member of the association; dances, one in the gymnasium and one downtown exclusively for alumni and guests, $1.10 each.

Luncheon To Be Held

The luncheon will be held at 12:30 o'clock in the agricultural grove northwest of the main agricultural building. Box lunches will be served and Watson urged that former students obtain tickets as soon as possible to give some indication of number of boxes needed.

The registration desk will be maintained in the east lobby of the administration building from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. by the Council of Women Graduates. Tickets to the Tech dinner to be held Nov. 22 in Forth Worth also will be available for $1.10 each.

The Tech-Wake Forest game is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock. Various social clubs and other campus organizations have planned events to be held early Saturday morning or between end of the game and the dances. Both dances will open at 9 o'clock, with Sandy Sanderson's orchestra playing for the event on the campus and Ned Bradley's band for the downtown dance in Lubbock hotel.

The fire department was called after the fire on the campus was discovered by students this morning. The kindling was burning rapidly, however, and firemen returned to town.

Watson said tickets to the luncheon might be obtained from Ralph Brock downtown and from Mrs. Leonard Earnest in the registrar's office, as well as from the alumni office in the administration building. He requested that former students planning to go but unable to obtain tickets today call the alumni office and make reservations.

U. S. Press

upon the invitation of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, it was officially announced today.

(Serrano Suner's trip to Berlin has aroused speculation outside Germany that an Axis attack through Spain on the British stronghold of Gibraltar might be imminent. The Spanish foreign minister left Madrid unexpectedly last night for Paris.)

New Talk Of Drive On Gibraltar Heard

(By The Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 15.—Spanish Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner's trip to Paris was interpreted here today as raising anew the possibility of an Axis drive against the British stronghold of Gibraltar, guardian of the Mediterranean's western entrance.

(Serrano Suner left Madrid unexpectedly last night for Paris, accompanied by Baron De Las Torres, chief of protocol, and military aides. There was no explanation as to the purpose of his trip.

Stage Is Set

(The only comment in the Spanish press which threw any light on the situation was that in the newspaper A.B.C., which repeated a recurring phrase: that the Axis intends to "clean out" the Mediterranean.)

Speculation on a possible Axis attack on Gibraltar, with Spain participating actively or permitting Axis troops to cross Spanish soil, has been heard repeatedly since the fall of France, most recently after Adolf Hitler's conference with Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Less than two weeks ago, Spain seized full control of Tangier, strategic international zone in Morocco which commands the approach to the strait of Gibraltar from the Atlantic. Spanish troops had occupied the zone June 14, but it was not until Nov. 4 that the last vestiges of international control were wiped out.

Serrano Suner's trip to the German-occupied former capital of France turned observers' eyes not only toward Gibraltar but toward France's African empire, which was considered by many informed sources to be the real hitch in Franco-German collaboration negotiations.

Spain's desire to extend her control empire at French expense is no secret and it was reported in diplomatic quarters here that General Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" seizure of Liberville—only a few miles from Spain's fertile little Rio Muni colony—and General Maxime Weygand's activity in French North Africa, bounding Spanish Morocco, had much to do with the Spanish foreign minister's trip.

Bombs Wreck British Town

streets and as far as the eye could see every house of both sides had been damaged or blasted to bits by bombs.

Cathedral Is Wrecked

In the heart of Coventry there stood at sunset last night a cathedral—St. Michael's—a masterpiece of the light and lacey Gothic. Its central tower rose 303 feet from the pavement, a marker plainly visible over the low roof-tops of houses and factories.

Today that tower, spattered and pock-marked, still stood but the rest of the cathedral was a pile of mortar, glass, timbers and dust at the tower's foot.

Rescue workers rushing into the stricken town from the adjoining industrial cities of the western midlands—a region comparable to that of Pittsburgh or northern Ohio in the United States—said the town looked as though it had been shaken to pieces by an earthquake.

People Are Dazed

Through the streets people wandered, many of them walking about with the aimless, vacant stare of those stricken by a tragedy which the mind could not yet comprehend. Some stood beside the few relics of their household goods, snatched from a burning home amid the rain of bombs and anti-aircraft shrapnel during the hours before dawn.

Others poked about in the jumbled wreckage of what had been their homes, looking for some few articles which might be salvaged.

Enemy aircraft were reported again this afternoon over the midlands district but after the hell of the night and early morning there were few who paid heed to mere "reports" of enemy planes.

Families Flee Homes

Families huddling in the basements of their homes and backyard garden shelters were forced to flee when incendiary bombs started huge fires that leaped from house to house. Many of them made their way to public air raid shelters. Bombs crashed down on four such shelters, taking a heavy toll of life but authorities said more persons would have been killed had they stayed in their homes.

No reports indicated what damage had been inflicted upon the aircraft factories and industrial establishments which employ the bulk of Coventry's population.

Casualties included policemen and civil defenders who kept at their posts, accepting certain death in the rain of bombs.

One bomb fell directly on a hospital and rescuers were driven back by fire. It was feared that casualties were heavy among bed-ridden patients.

Six persons were killed in a garage where they had fled after their home was bombed.

High explosive bombs hit four public shelters and caused many casualties.

Nothing Escapes Bombs

Churches, public baths, clubs, schools, police stations and first aid posts were bombed — nothing escaped.

Theaters were converted into first aid stations.

Many policemen died trying to handle incendiary bombs or assisting persons to shelters.

Scores of German planes came over the city in relays, one after another. They had the advantage of bright moonlight.

First aid work was hampered by mountainous piles of debris, which grew higher and higher.

Staged For Revenge

(Nazi informants in Berlin said the raid was in revenge for the British air raid on Munich during the Nazi party celebration at which Adolf Hitler spoke last Friday; that it was the "greatest raid in the history of aerial warfare," that the German planes had dumped 450 bombs of 2,200 pounds each, the heaviest caliber made, onto the city.)

The raid started early last night and continued until dawn. At one time 40 bombers were overhead, despite anti-aircraft fire. Virtually every street and district was bombed.

Several fire fighters were killed at their jobs. There were many heroic acts amid the turmoil, most of which, probably, never will be recorded because no one lived to tell them. Many survivors told of seeing civil defenders brave the hail of bombs to shepherd dazed men, women and children to rest stations and feeding centers.

In one hospital, the windows were blown out of an operating room where a patient was on the table, but the operation continued.

The home security ministry at London said that "extensive damage was done and many buildings were destroyed including the cathedral."

The Coventry cathedral is St. Michael's, a masterpiece of the lighter Gothic style, with a steeple rising to 303 feet.

Coventry is 85 miles northwest of London. Its population is 167,000.

The home security ministry said last night's attack on Coventry was comparable to the heaviest night attacks ever visited on London.

Night Of Horror

Reports from the city told of a night of horror few persons ever have witnessed, with bombs falling on churches, hospitals, public shelters and public baths; of debris and fire driving rescuers from one bombed hospital, leaving bed-ridden patients with no hope of rescue; of numerous fires sweeping over the city; air raid protection workers dying at their jobs under a rain of bombs that never ceased throughout the night.

The home security ministry said: "The attack began with the scattering of incendiaries over a wide area. Fires broke out at many points. An indiscriminate bombardment of the whole city followed."

The home security ministry said at least two planes were shot down over Coventry.

"The people of Coventry bore the ordeal with great courage," the communique said.

Although it had many industrial works, Coventry was best known as a church city. In recent years it has become a motor manufacturing center.

It was revealed that a bomb had exploded on the grounds of Buckingham palace during a recent raid and had shattered most of the windows in the rear of the palace, including some priceless, figured glass windows in the famous picture gallery.

INDUSTRIALS WILT

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP) — Selling of steels took the starch out of today's stock market and industrial leaders wilted fractions to 2 or more points.

Until mid-day, prices held to a narrowly irregular course with volume relatively light. A few oils, rubbers and specialties were in front during the forenoon. Most of these eventually slipped. Closing quotations were at or near the lows of the day.

Scattered flurries of activity, generally on the declining side, put the turnover at around 1,100,000 shares, the ninth consecutive session in which dealings have bettered the million-share mark.

Traders inclined to pare commitments, brokers said, partly because of the somewhat more depressing European war news, including the fiercest Nazi air raid on England since the beginning of the conflict. Action of the Spanish government in barring dispatches of American news correspondents now in that country also was interpreted as a bit bearish and possibly indicating the Franco regime was about to leap to the side of the Axis.

On the other hand, comfort was found in the sustained brightness of the home business scene.

Prominent share laggards were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, American Can and Dupont.

The majority of the rails kept losses to minor amounts. Up at one time or another were U. S. Rubber Preferred, U. S. Gypsum, Texas Corp. and U. S. Leather.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. Wheat at Chicago was off ⅛ to 1¼ cents a bushel and corn down ⅛ to ¼. Cotton, in late trades, was up 45 to 75 cents a bale.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15 (AP) — Cotton futures advanced 60 cents to 80 cents a bale here today on price fixing and speculative buying on the outlook for greater consumption of the actual cotton. All months made new highs for the season. Closing prices were steady, 12 to 16 points net higher.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP) — Wheat prices advanced about a cent today to new high levels for the past six months but then tumbled 1 to almost 2 cents in a wave of profit taking that engulfed the market. December wheat reached 90⅞, highest level for any contract since last May, and then slipped to 88¾.

The setback in grains after seasonal high prices had been established in the wheat, corn, oats, rye and soybean pits, accompanied a downturn in securities.

Heavy shipping demand here took 67,000 bushels of wheat, 101,000 corn, 42,000 oats and 175,000 soybeans up to noon.

Forecast for East Texas today was fair, not so cold, but freezing in the interior and on the east coast tonight. Temperatures are scheduled to rise tomorrow.

For West Texas, continued fair tonight and warmer Saturday.

Clear Day Promised For Football Game

Rising temperature today and the official forecast of clear and warmer weather Saturday combined to promise comfort for fans who see the Texas Technological college-Wake Forest football game in Texas Tech stadium tomorrow afternoon.

After dropping to the 22.1 degree mark early this morning, the temperature had climbed at noon to 49.9 degrees, according to reports at the Texas Tech stadium of the U. S. weather bureau.

Heavy Snows Cover Northeastern U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

Snow ranging up to six inches fell over parts of northeastern United States today while the deep south shivered through an early record-breaking preview of winter.

The snow struck much of the area that earlier this week was buffeted by gales which veteran Great Lakes sailors described as the worst in their memory.

Record Snow Falls

Farther west, in the great plains, warmer weather was moving in although some stations continued to report subzero readings.

Six inches of snow blanketed southern Ohio and the state's low reading was 15 above at Bowling Green.

A record-breaking Nov. 15 snowfall occurred in Chicago where 4.8 inches piled up. Crews were kept along transportation routes in the city to keep traffic moving.

The mercury dropped below freezing from the Ohio valley southward beyond Tallahassee and Jacksonville, Fla., for some of the lowest temperatures on record for so early in the season.

20 At Fort Worth

A 20 degree minimum at the Atlanta weather station broke existing records for the season, but by only a day. A reading of 20 was recorded on Nov. 16 several years ago.

Birmingham, Ala., reported a low of 20, Montgomery, Ala., 24; Meridian, Miss., 20; Jacksonville, Fla., 30; Mobile, Ala., 24; Memphis, Tenn., 17, and Fort Worth, Tex., 20.

With a reading of 34, New Orleans, La., was one of the few southern cities above the freezing mark.

Southern forecasters said no immediate relief was in sight and expected even more severe cold tomorrow morning.

Arizona is called the "baby state" of the union, but within its borders are petrified forests estimated to be 60,000,000 years old, tracks of dinosaur and other prehistoric monsters, and ruins of ancient Indian cities.

Box Seat Tickets Will Go On Sale

Approximately 150 box seat tickets to the Lubbock-Amarillo High school football game here next Thursday will be placed on sale in the principal's office at the high school Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement today by Dr. W. B. Irvin, city school superintendent.

The seats, he explained, will be located in temporary boxes to be erected in front of the east and west sides of Texas Technological college stadium. The price will be $1.25 per ticket.

The temporary boxes, Dr. Irvin said, will make provision for a total of 1,792 spectators instead of the 1,400 originally expected. All of those tickets except the 150 have been sold.

Dr. Irvin emphasized that no reservations for the remaining tickets will be accepted and that none will be sold before Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Then, he said, it will be a case of "first come, first served."

horsemen from Vinita, Okla., 30 mounted boy scouts from Okmulgee, Muskogee, and Tulsa. Will Rogers was a co-founder of the scouts-on-horseback group. His relatives and friends also will come from Chelsea and Claremore, Okla.

To Drop Wreaths

Jose Estrada of Chihuahua City, Mexico, editor and public official, said he would bring a delegation from that country. Gen. Gerald C. Brant of San Antonio, commander of the gulf coast air corps area, and two air corps captains were invited to drop wreaths from planes over the coliseum during the dedication.

Mayor I. N. McCrary proclaimed "Will Rogers Day" and asked all citizens to put on cowboy and cowgirl regalia. A parade will open the festivities, followed by the dedication. After that, the invited guests will attend a buffalo barbecue and follow up by attending the premiere of the rodeo and horse show at the coliseum.

Prisoners To Perform

Nearly 200 cowboys and cowgirls will appear in the 16 rodeo performances to be given by Nov. 24. The stakes are high because world championships are decided upon a basis of points gained at major rodeos across the nation this year. The all-American is the final chance to win points, and almost every performer who still has a chance at the biggest titles came here from Boston, where the rodeo season formerly ended, to seek additional points.

Even the prison stringsters, musical organization of the Texas prison system, will help out in the Will Rogers ceremonies. It is one of the longest "road trips" ever permitted for the convict musicians and special accommodations were prepared for them at the Tarrant County jail.

British Challenge

at night at 30-knot speed, all crews at battle stations. Against the skyline I could see the big battleships outlined against the moonbeams, their gun turrets looming like floating fortresses on the shimmering waters. In the lead were a dozen destroyers churning the ocean until it seemed to boil. On both sides of us cruisers, light and heavy, loomed out as far as I could see.

Men Worked Silently

Our cruiser knifed the turquoise waters and hooded men moved around the guns. They worked silently. Some of them wore lamb wool coats with hoods like those of the Arabian Burnoos; others wore white antiflash gear resembling asbestos diving suits to protect their skin from cannon flashes. Slinking about the guns, they seemed like creatures from another planet.

Suddenly pompom fire lit the sky. A false alarm had been given. In the distance there was a thunder of heavy guns as the advance force in the Taranto straits encountered an Italian convoy bound for Albania. Simultaneously the air was filled with SOS calls from sinking Italian ships.

(In reporting on this incident, the admiralty in London said British units had sunk two and damaged the third ship of an Italian convoy and had driven off two escorting Italian destroyers, one of which was believed damaged.)

Airplanes Take Off

Then the British airplanes took off. I saw them disappear over the Italian coast line then sweep down upon the harbor. I could hear heavy explosions inside the bay. Back and forth, all night long, the planes operated.

Toward dawn the fleet began another sweep that lasted well into the afternoon. Not even so much as an Italian plane was sighted.

Meanwhile, scout planes from the aircraft carrier Illustrious went back to Taranto in daylight. They saw a smashed, derelict warship on the bottom of the bay, the waves lapping over her funnels, and other ships lying nearby, damaged.

The fleet started home (Alexandria is the base) from Taranto, despairing of a battle with the Italians. The spirit of the men, especially those of the air men, was high. On the decks, sailors sang the navy's newest ditty, "The Man Who Invented Beer," whose hero is a man named "Mops, the originator of hops." Overhead, fighting and scouting planes were doing the victory roll.

DESCRIBES BOMBING

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP) — A British bomber pilot who took part in the British raid on Berlin last night said he saw a building go "sky-high" in a "terrific explosion."

Man Makes Bond On Gambling Charge

One of four men charged with keeping a gambling house, had made bond of $750, set by J. T. Inmon, justice of the peace, it was said at county jail this morning.

Howard Braswell furnished bond; some of the others were expected to post bond during the day, others were out of the city. Charged also were, J. J. Johnson, Harry Wheeler and O. A. Webb.

The case formerly had been on file in county court, officials said.

Police said Rufus Bundy of 1615 Fifteenth street had reported loss of a diamond ring in a burglary.

Mrs. W. D. O'Brien of 2513 Twenty-second street complained that a purse containing $4.15 had been stolen from her.

some needy child in Lubbock on Christmas morning is wanted.

He asked that the toys which may be found around homes and for which the owners no longer have use be bundled together and be left before 9 o'clock on front porch or steps where they will be found easily by the scouts.

Scouts will be instructed to knock at the doors when no toys are in sight or when they are uncertain whether packages are intended for them, but it will speed the collection if that delay is made unnecessary, Toles said.

Scouts are to repair the toys they collect and turn them over to the Goodfellows, who will distribute them Christmas morning along with other gifts to the needy children of the city.

Boys who participate in the collection are to be guests of Bill Dean at a showing of the sound motion picture, "Touching All Bases," in the American Legion hall, 910 Texas avenue, at 1? a. m.

City's Air Bid

Chamber of Commerce cited as reasons why Laredo should be given air service its importance as a commercial city and its strategic location as a main freight and passenger gateway to Mexico and Latin America.

A. B. Davis and C. E. Maedgen of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce favored applications for permits to serve their section on the grounds of national defense and general community progress.

Davis said the amount of business transacted in Lubbock in proportion to its population was greater than in the more thickly populated areas of the east. Maedgen said the growth of population and transportation requirements demanded good air connections for the area.

Lines whose applications are involved in the hearing are Braniff Airways, Inc.; Continental Air Lines, Inc., Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and Essair, Inc.

Red Cross To Make Membership Check

Income from slot machines was used for a worthy cause this morning.

Sheriff Tom Abel submitted to the Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross 1,600 pennies obtained in raids on slot machines.

A check of number of memberships sold in the Red Cross campaign now in progress in the county will be made at a meeting at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Hilton hotel. The various campaign chairmen will attend.

"Good Results" Reported

Mrs. Carl E. Slaton, secretary of the campaign, said Ed Allen, chairman of the county committee outside of Lubbock, reported "good results" although no exact figures were available. She said James G. Allen, chairman of the campaign at Texas Technological college, reported approximately 125 memberships. J. E. Maisen, chairman of office buildings and large firms, said several had purchased 100 per cent memberships. W. C. O'Mara, business district chairman, said the same was true in firms his workers were canvassing. Mrs. Slaton, residence district chairman, said more than 600 memberships had been purchased. All results reported were only partial, however.

any European people will be the French, whose northern food provinces were largely depopulated by the war during much of the growing season.

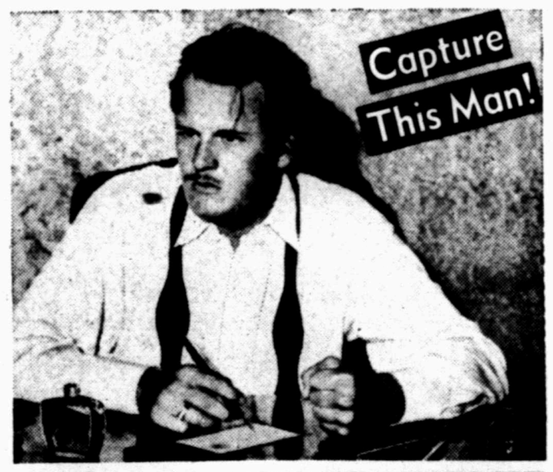

Denmark, Holland, Belgium and Poland are on a restricted diet, and in Holland and Denmark many cattle, pigs and chickens are being slaughtered to meet feed snortages. But the Germans say that food supplies in these countries are large and that only Norway may be expected to have difficulties with the bread ration.

The extent to which food supplies in the occupied areas is being drained into Germany is not known outside official circles. The Germans say it is being held down strictly. They concede that some wheat flour was taken from France but was replaced by rye flour usable by the occupying armies.

As for Germany's supplies, Adolf Hitler has asserted that food for the coming winter is assured. The wheat crop is reported to be but 2 per cent under the 1934-1939 average. The potato crop, it is estimated, not only will take care of the usual 18,000,000-ton household consumption but also leave a balance for livestock feed.

Wake Forest Hits City For Homecoming Classic With Red Raiders Saturday

Both Machines Work Out At Tech Tonight

Texas Tech's Red Raiders and Wake Forest's Deacons, a couple of rock-ribbed football elevens that are billed to provide the main attraction for Tech's Homecoming celebration come Saturday afternoon, settle down to the serious business of final pre-game workouts tonight.

Both teams are slated to take short drills under the lights of Tech Stadium.

Given Royal Welcome

The Deacons arrived in Lubbock early this morning and were given a right royal welcome. Coaches and players plus many student and downtown fans welcomed them at the Santa Fe station and escorted them to their hotel. Every Wake Forester was provided with a real ten-gallon Western hat as a souvenir.

Coach Peahead Walker of the visitors sent his cohorts through a last hard workout in Dallas Thursday. The Deacons went through a two-hour drill devoted largely to improvement of their passing attack.

Dvoracek Still Out

But the Red Raiders are not letting their hospitable feelings for the visitors extend to the ball game which is scheduled for Tech Stadium Saturday afternoon. On the contrary, the Techsans have been putting in their hardest practice licks of the season this week. Thursday afternoon, behind gates that were locked as they have been all week, Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith put their boys through offensive and defensive manuevers that lasted until darkness called a halt.

Big Charlie Dvoracek is not expected to be ready to play Saturday. He has been in a hospital since his nose hit somebody's knee in the Centenary game. But Walter "Jumbo" Webster has been doing marvelous work in practice this week, and is expected to plug the gap capably.

Otherwise the Techs are in perfect physical shape. Mental condition is, of course, harder to measure, but all outward indications seem to show that the Raiders are ready for this game as the top contest of the season.

A near-sellout is anticipated for the game, partly because of the annual Homecoming celebration of which the contest is a feature and partly because this game is just the best home tilt of the season for the Red Raiders.

Plainview Is Host To Cowhands Today

Lubbock's two Junior High school football teams, the Calf Ropers and the Cowboys, wrote the final chapter in the 1940 season yesterday. The Calf Ropers tied Levelland's juniors here, scorelessly while the Cowboys went to Big Spring to take their first beating in 16 games, 7 to 0.

A third Lubbock grid machine finishes its season this afternoon. Coach Cy LaMaster's Cowhands, who serve as cannon fodder for the Westerners and play a pretty stiff schedule all their own between times, play Plainview Reserves in Plainview.

The Calf Ropers, coached by Gordon Thompson, played five games this season without a victory. Up until yesterday they had lost four consecutive games by the margin of one touchdown.

Yesterday's defeat was the first since 1938 for the Cowboy machine. In 1939, Coaches Mule Davis and Lovie Liston sent their boys out to win nine consecutive games. This season they had added six more to the streak until they ran up against the stubborn Big Spring eleven.

After Those Recent Grid Results . . . .

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 15 (U.P.)—After a loss to the girls' field hockey team of Wheaton college, Harvard university men's squad today had booked a game with Yale as a "breather."

The Harvard team recently dropped a 1-0 decision to Wheaton college for girls and immediately were challenged by Yale as follows:

"Heard about your game with Wheaton. It coincides with games we have been playing with girls' schools around New Haven. Our team thinks it would be pretty good sport to have a field hockey hackaway. We have enough stocks. Bring 11 men Friday afternoon."

Fran Simpson, Harvard captain, replied: "We suffered a humiliating defeat from Wheaton but we think we can beat Yale. We'll be there."

Injuries Continue To Strike Baylor

WACO, Nov. 15 (U.P.) — Baylor's shortage of tackles became acute today as Bernice Fitzgerald, sophomore scheduled to start against Tulsa Saturday, went out of the lineup with a badly wrenched knee.

He was the fourth tackle on Baylor's injured list.

Rex Gandy and Jack Anderson, regulars, previously had received hurts that will keep them out of action and to bolster the position, Coach Morley Jennings converted Baylor's all-conference center, Robert Nelson, into a tackle.

But Nelson pulled a muscle in his side and won't be able to play and yesterday Fitzgerald went out.

His name is Tony Gallovich and he plays halfback for the Wake Forest Deacons. He is the leading back in the Southern conference in scoring and in yards gained rushing. For many weeks he led the nation's backs in yards gained rushing, but yielded the top spot last week to Jimmy Richardson of Marquette.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15.—I was frolicking on the lawn with my favorite pet, antipathy, the other day when the thought struck me that it was high time I quit being a sore thumb in the newspaper business and issued a ranking of the nation's football teams.

As you must have noticed, you sports page readers, the best way to be conspicuous these days, the best way to stick out like a sore thumb, is not to rate the country's gridders from No. 1 to No. 589. Everybody is doing it. You can't pick up a paper without seeing Professor Muzzlewumps' national standings, or how Dr. Freezefoot rates the teams, the order in which Philton J. Slipstream places the various elevens, or why Cornelius M. Hightower thinks Slippery Rock Teachers deserve a .554 rating and Long Island Dental must be content with .445.

He Admits It

The boys have made a science of it, and the fact that there isn't any science in the silly business doesn't stop them from taking it as seriously as a normal man would a fractured leg or a burglar in the wine cellar. They throw themselves into trances, speak personally to decimal points, mix and mingle with higher mathematics, and come busting out all covered with football ectoplasm that barely lasts from Saturday to Saturday.

Before you label this attack as one based on pure jealousy, I'll say it for you. It is based on pure jealousy. Here I go banging about the country, from New York to California, climbing those weary steps to press boxes, freezing my feet and ears, eating the 1932 vintage hotdogs they serve you in press boxes and drinking the 1929 vintage coffee they give you as a chaser, in the hope of seeing enough football teams to get a pretty fair line on who is great, who is good, who is only ordinary. And who is no good at all.

Watched The Big Ones

Since the season started I have watched, among others, Columbia, Georgia, Notre Dame, Minnesota, Northwestern, Michigan, S. M. U., Texas A. and M., and Georgia. In addition, I have talked to scouts and coaches who have seen 15 or 20 of the other winning teams. I am quite sure that none of the—well, let's call them the "brain trust" of football

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The weekly attempt to march through the football list (hoping to escape too many offside penalties):

Michigan-Northwestern: Add this one up any way you want to and it still looks razor-close. Each beaten once by a one-point margin, and by Minnesota, the nation's current No. 1 team there's some doubt whether Tommy Harmon will be in perfect shape and this vote for Michigan is predicted on the assumption that he will be.

Boston College—Georgetown: Two of the biggest teams in the country collide in a duel of unbeaten, untied forces. Nothing but the coin can help and it calls . . . Georgetown.

Stanford Over Oregon

Minnesota-Purdue: The Gophers are over the highest hurdles in a back-breaking schedule and are due for a let-down, which is simply preliminary to casting the customary vote for Minnesota.

Rice-Texas A. and M.: It seems the Aggies are just as good as they have to be and that's plenty good. Texas A. and M.

Stanford-Oregon State: The Indians had better be on their toes all the way or the perfect record will go by the boards here. Stanford, but not by much.

Picks Irish, Cornell

North Carolina-Duke: Form rarely means much in this one but injuries have played hob with Carolina. We'll take Duke.

Dartmouth-Cornell: Having got a lot of bad football out of its system last week, Cornell ought to rol' again and gets this vote.

Pitt-Nebraska: There are few better defensive clubs than the Huskers, Nebraska.

Notre Dame-Iowa: Nile Kinnick was the reason the Hawkeyes whipped Notre Dame last year. There's no Kinnick at Iowa City this time. Notre Dame.

Nod To Baylor

Georgia Tech-Alabama: Tech's on the skids and this game won't help much. The ballot is cast for Jimmy Nelson and Alabama.

Tennessee-Virginia: David and Goliath but the result should be reversed. Tennessee, easily.

Southern Methodist - Arkansas: Pretty close bu stringing with Southern Methodist.

Baylor-Tulsa: Not many clubs can take Tulsa but this fainthearted nod goes to Baylor.

California Favored

Texas Christian-Texas: The choice is Texas.

Washington-Southern California: The Trojans have mislaid the winning combination. Washington.

California - Oregon: California gets better all the time and rates this vote.

U. C. L. A.-Washington State: Apparently UCLA can't get going. Washington State.

Oklahoma-Missouri: Figures very close. Out of the hat, Missouri.

Princeton-Yale. Princeton.

Penn-Army: Penn.

Harvard-Brown: Not much to choose. The coin says Harvard.

Syracuse-Colgate: Syracuse.

Catholic Over H-SU

Columbia-Navy: Navy has the power but no team can afford to make a mistake against Columbia. Navy.

West Virginia-Kentucky: Kentucky.

Penn State-New York University: Ditto Penn State.

George Washington - Kansas: George Washington.

Holy Cross-Temple: Temple.

Illinois-Ohio State: No need to look past Ohio State.

Wisconsin-Indiana: Would prefer to dodge this. Indiana.

Marquette-Michigan State: One guess is as good as another. Michigan State.

Auburn-Louisiana State: The Plainsmen are hot, Auburn.

Tulane-Georgia: Fireworks can be expected, Tulane.

Texas Tech-Wake Forest: Probably close. Taking Tech solely because it will be playing at home.

Catholic-Hardin-Simmons: Catholic.

Undefeated, Untied And Unscored-On!

Masonic Home's Mighty Mites Win Another In March Toward State Schoolboy Finals

(By The Associated Press)

Masonic Home's little rascals rolled down the Texas schoolboy gridiron trail today, regarded as certain winners of the Fort Worth district championship.

Undefeated, untied and unscored on, the Mighty Mites last night beat Arlington Heights 7-0 to virtually clinch their sixth title in nine seasons.

A pass from C. D. Sealey to Clyde Roberts for 35 yards brought the Mason touchdown and Ray Coulter converted.

The Masons still have their 25-yard line intact. No team this season has managed to get past it.

More crucial games are scheduled in the state today and tonight, headlined by the Sherman-Paris struggle at Paris for the District 5 title. Both teams are undefeated and untied and the winner will be looked on as a cinch to come through as district champions.

At Temple, Corsicana battles the Wildcats for leadership of District 10 and in District 2 it's the same between Graham and Wichita Falls.

Jeff Davis can sew up the Houston district flag with a victory over San Jacinto tonight.

There are 24 games on today's schedule and six tomorrow.

Rice-Cadet Game Tops Card

Other Tussles Draw Interest

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 15—Only two steps removed from a likely Rose Bowl nod, a second unbeaten season and a history-making repeat performance as titlist of the Southwest conference, the Texas Aggies tomorrow start the leap.

Stout, surprising Rice institute stands before them first. Some 25,000 are due to stream into College Station for the collision.

Kimbrough's The Man

Rice is formidable—a good, fundamentally sound football team. But, as one wag perfectly described it, "a repeat for the Aggies would go down as the biggest upset since Mrs. O'Leary's cow let the lantern have it."

The Aggies shook Southern Methodist, a great team itself, with such power last weekend that all doubts about their greateness were dispelled. Big John Kimbrough, the 222-pound All-America fullback doing an encore, the man who has carried the ball 120 times for 449 yards and sparkled defensively, turned the corner against the Methodists.

Cadets Injury Free

He was a bull on the loose. He knocked men down and out with sheer power. He is quite ready to go again, as are the rest of his mates. Not an injury was reported from the Cadet camp.

Meanwhile, Rice, still very impressive in beating off Arkansas, 14-7, has tackle trouble. Two erstwhile starters, Billy Heard and Bob Smith, are reported ready to play but not in the pink. It will be more than interesting to see Rice's grand Bob Brumley, a fullback who has pulled games from the fire for the Owls, duel with Kimbrough.

Rice Boasts Ground Attack

The Aggies' line of concrete, the seven boys who weigh in above 200 pounds and have a season record of allowing something like 23 yards per game on enemy rushing plays, will get a workout. Rice runs with the ball. Passes are in their play bag, but Jess Neely has built a solid, smashing ground game.

In seven games, the Aggies have piled up 1819 yards while Rice, in six—and six tough ones—has managed for 1388 yards.

Only Tulane has whipped the Owls in a season that has already been acclaimed a terrific success by the homefolk.

McKnight Favors TCU

Second ranking game of the day brings Texas and Texas Christian together in a Homecoming game at Fort Worth. This is the battle of the cripples. Texas is wobbling with Jack Crain, Johnny Gill, Noble Doss, all fine backs, under the weather. It was even doubtful that Crain would play. But TCU had its troubles also. Fullback Frank Kring had a head injury and Tackles

Crowell Folks Have Another Great Gridder

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

CROWELL, Nov. 15. — As an end, Junior Haseloff is a star halfback—and vice versa.

The critics rave about John Kimbrough of the Texas Aggies with his 449 yards, but, after all, Kimbrough only has to play fullback and besides it required 120 tries to roll up that yardage.

Haseloff holds down two positions for Crowell High school.

In the first place he's the greatest wingman in this school's history. In the second place he is the top average ground gainer of Texas schoolboy football—in which about 20,000 youngsters participate.

In the third place he needed only 41 tries to make 437 yards, just one-third of Kimbrough's carry and only 12 yards short of his total.

While he isn't doing the blocking and tackling, the 170-pound Haseloff whirls to the other side on an end-around play.

In addition to his average of almost 11 yards per try, he has caught eight passes for 139 yards and has scored 36 points, which would be a mighty good season even for a halfback.

His average gain is the highest for any player Crowell ever has produced — and remember Crowell gave to football one Dick Todd, who scored more than 600 points in his high school career.

Todd today is with the Washington Redskins of the national professional league and is tied for the top scoring honors.

Haseloff's value to the team can be gauged not only in his ground gaining ability but his durability. In his school's nine games he has played every quarter.

Last night, as Crowell rolled over Iowa Park 18-8, Haseloff carried the ball six times, gaining 47 yards and losing three. He had runs of 10, 18 and 12 yards, scored one touchdown on a 9-yard pass and caught four passes for a total of 59 yards.

Zivic Faces Davis In Gotham Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (U.P.)—The boxing world will learn tonight whether Fritzie Zivic was fighting "over his head" when he wrested the world welterweight crown from Henry Armstrong on Oct. 4.

Zivic, making his first ring appearance since taking the title, faces a dangerous test in a 10-round bout with young Al Davis, Brooklyn knockout artist, at Madison Square Garden.

In this important non-title engagement, champion Zivic will reveal whether his upset victory over the great Armstrong was due to Armstrong's slipping, as some experts suspect, or to Zivic's own prowess.

Tech Freshmen Playing H-SU

Opening the Texas Tech Homecoming celebration by closing their football season, Texas Tech's freshman gridders this afternoon engage the Hardin-Simmons Frosh in Tech Stadium. The game was to start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Picador charges of Coaches Berl Huffman and Dixie White have already galloped to three victories this fall, and boast a record marred only by a 14 to 13 defeat by the Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Oklahoma. Since that game, the Camerons have won the Oklahoma Junior college championship.

Familiar Names Appear

Comparative scores indicate a victory for the Techsans. In their most recent victory, Coach Huffman's boys rolled up an impressive 34 to 7 score on the West Texas State Teachers frosh, while the Little Cowboys had trouble stopping the Buff freshmen, 12 to 7.

Several names familiar to South Plains grid fans will be in the Little Cowboy starting lineup. Dick Cazzell, who played a lot of right tackle for Amarillo against Lubbock last Thanksgiving, will be at the same position for the HSU greenies. And then there is Harold Bagley, who bulwarked the Brownfield Cub line last season and will be at center this afternoon.

No radical changes are planned in the Picador starting eleven. What is nominally the second team started against West Texas State Teachers, but it is planned to open with the top eleven today. Among the better-known boys in the Tech starters are Howard Alford, former Westerner halfback who will open at quarter; Maxey McKnight, fiery-haired lad from Littlefield who starred at both end and back positions in high school and will be at a halfback; Pat Farris, another former Westerner, at right guard; James Reed of Crosbyton at left guard; and big Avon Sewalt, quite a handy young man to have around when in need of an extra point or a field goal, former Westerner who will start at left tackle.

Perfect Teams Risk Records Over Nation

By LESLIE AVERY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—One of the nine remaining undefeated and untied football teams in the nation is bound to fall tomorrow when Boston College and Georgetown put their perfect records on the line at Boston, but the loser of this headliner probably will be the only casualty of the select circle.

Boston College has been an 8-5 favorite to lick the Hoyas for the past week, but since yesterday there has been a gradual shift in sentiment that bids fair to cut the odds to 6-5 or even money by game time.

Records Not So Great

A closer look at the records shows Boston College's only good win to be that 27-7 triumph over Tulane early in the season, and even that becomes less impressive in the light of Tulane's more recent defeats by Auburn, Fordham and Alabama. Centre, Temple, Idaho, St. Anselms, Manhattan, and Boston U., hardly can be classified as major tests, and there is a growing feeling that Boston College may have tougher going than anticipated.

Georgetown's schedule is nothing to write home about, but in maintaining an undefeated record of three years, the Hoyas have disposed of Roanoke, Temple, Waynesburg, Virginia Tech, New York U., Syracuse and Maryland this season; 247 points to 22.

Stanford Marches On

All the remaining seven undefeated and untied teams are favored and of them, Stanford seems to have the most troublesome opponent in Oregon State, a good big team that has lost only to Washington. The feeling that Stanford surely would lose a game before the season ended, and that the hipper-dipper of Clark Shaughnessy was not enough to insure a perfect record, dissipated quickly after the Indians licked Washington last week.

Notre Dame is still the mystery of the 1940 season. Hailed as the greatest team since Rockne's 1930 club, the Irish showed only enough to beat one of Army's weakest teams and a fair Navy outfit by a touchdown apiece. Most of the mystery concerns the winning touchdown against Navy. After being pushed all over the field, the Irish suddenly found themselves behind 7-6 and only three minutes to play. With the utmost ease a few passes were tossed and Notre Dame had a touchdown before you could say Steve Juzwik. The fighting Irish face Iowa and should win handily, but remember last year: Notre Dame, 6, Iowa 7.

Minnesota and Texas Aggies just have too much for Purdue and Rice, respectively, and Cornell, Tennessee and Lafayette have pushovers in Dartmouth, Virginia and Western Maryland respectively.

Lubbock Net Squad In Lamesa Today

Trying for their second straight victory over the Tornadoes, Coach Ross Ayers Lubbock High netters will go to Lamesa for a dual meet today.

Making the trip will be Donald Cook, Lovern Curlee, John L. Perry and John DeGarmo. Perry and Curlee will play the singles, Cook and DeGarmo the doubles.

Two weeks ago the Lamesans came to Lubbock, losing all matches to the Westerners.

McLemore's Rating

experts—has seen so many top teams. Yet they go right ahead and give a Michigan they never saw so many decimal points, a Minnesota they know only by what they read in the papers a football I. Q. of this and that, and, with a magnificent assurance, assign the Texas Aggies to such and such a spot.

That burns me up with jealousy, I suppose, because I, as a man who has seen most of the teams, can't get a word in edgewise while football fans quote the statisticians who know only from hearsay.

Gives His Rating

So, here goes my national ranking, the national ranking that I got from sitting in a press box and looking at the teams.

1. The Texas Aggies. Power, spirit, savvy.
2. Notre Dame, power, spirit, savvy. But not quite the schedule.
3. Cornell. I saw the Big Red last year and I know what it is like.
4. Minnesota. Not as good as a lot of folk believe.
5. Tennessee. Saw them twice last year. Once in the Rose Bowl.
6. P. S. 1 of Rochelle, Ga. I went to school there, played quarterback there, pure sentiment.

To hell with it. Let's forget it. Nobody knows who is best.

Rice-Aggie Game

Woodrow Adams, Ennis Kerlee and Darrell Palmer, the first line boys, were far from being ready.

The Christians carefully kept the doubtfuls out of the Detroit game last week and are the "sleepers" of the week. It's TCU, after a riot.

Tulsa Meets Baylor

Bruised Southern Methodist starts all over again at Dallas against Arkansas, and should win their second conference bout. Only guard Hoyle Simes is missing after the Aggie game.

Wrecked at the tackle positions, and still looking for an effective offense, Baylor's lagging Bruins will have a rough afternoon at Waco when Bochy Koch, the old Baylor immortal, brings in his Tulsa Golden Hurricane. It's a good bet that Koch will sadden the homefolk with another setback for Baylor. The Hurricane has been blowing hard since the Aggies sent it into a calm, 41-6.

It was Austin college's third victory in the circuit.

The Difference Is .8 Of A Point!

Deacons Favored Over Techs In One Of Week's Closest

Dr. E. E. Litkenhous has yet to miss a prediction on a Texas Tech game this year, but Red Raider fans are hoping he missed his shot this week. The prognosticator likes Wake Forest over Tech, but he isn't too sure about it. The margin of difference in the two teams, says he, is 0.8 points, which means that, ruling out injuries, home team advantage, inspired playing and all the other variable factors that affect football, Wake Forest should win by about one point after touchdown—if the doctor is right.

The Litkenhous system rates Tech as 40th in the nation, the Deacons 38th. Among teams trailing the Raiders are Duquesne, Baylor, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Louisiana State, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Arkansas.

A & M Again In Southwest Spotlight

Texas A. & M. again takes the spotlight in the Southwest. The ratings indicate that they are one touchdown better than Rice. The fans of the East have a treat in store for them. The Boston College-Georgetown, D. C., game figures as close as the proverbial Scotchman, with Boston commanding a 1.8 advantage.

Across the continent we find Stanford playing Oregon State in a struggle which may determine the West Coast nominee for the Rose Bowl. Should Stanford play according to form, they will whip the Oregon Staters by one touchdown and then have only California to hurdle in their march for the Rose Garden.

Jumping back to the Midwest, we find the boys in charge of the box office at South Bend competing with their neighbors up the lake. Notre Dame is only 4.1 power points better than Iowa, so should have a scrap on their hands.

Statistically speaking, the over all average last week was 85.9 on the 56 games. On the thirty-one games involving the top fifty teams of the country, the system correctly forecast all but eight, which is 73.3 per cent correct. When you consider that seventeen games figured by less than ten points and one of them had a difference of only one-tenth of one point, the results were fair enough.

Probable winners are set in blackface type. The ratings are used thus: Cornell, the rating of which is 101.6, plays Dartmouth, 69.6. If Cornell isn't hampered by injuries and other misfortunes and if Dartmouth isn't highly keyed up to play better than its average type of football, Cornell will win by about five touchdowns, the difference being 32 points. The results, when the difference is so much, could be from three to seven touchdowns.

Recruiting Post In City Is Enlarged

Enlarged quarters on the second floor of the federal building have been occupied by the district army recruiting personnel here, according to Major Walter Jessen, district officer.

Six rooms are to be used, rooms 200, 201, 202, 203, 204 and 206. Major Jessen's office will be in room 206, with Lieut. Homer Johnson, medical officer. Room 200 will be used for medical examinations. Additional medical equipment was received Thursday.

Capt. Everett Bright, assistant recruiting officer, will be in room 205, with several of the clerks in an adjoining room. Authorization for the change was received Thursday by Postmaster Amos Howard, building custodian.

Offices Were Changed

The fish and wild life service, formerly in rooms 203 and 205 was moved back to its former location, 219, at the west end of the hall. Last June the two offices changed locations when the army recruiting office here was advanced to a district office.

Sub-stations are located at Plainview, Amarillo, Pampa and Childress. Recruits from these stations are given medical examinations and sworn into the service here, being assigned to fill quotas from various departments of the army.

Huntsmen Set For Big Game

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 — The annual migration of huntsmen to the central Texas hill country, south Texas areas and other likely spots was on in full force today.

Tomorrow inaugurates the state's big game season with deer, wild turkey, javelina and black bear legal prey, with some exceptions, until Dec. 31.

Secretary Will Tucker of the State Game department reported deer more plentiful even than last year due to excellent rains which provided good feeding, were running due to the cold weather.

Hunter Cautioned

Turkeys, found mainly in the hill country, also were reported in large numbers and good flesh.

Cautioning hunters, Tucker pointed out it was illegal to kill turkeys with a shotgun not plugged to three-shell capacity or larger than a 10-gauge.

Shotguns, he said, may be used to shoot deer but it is illegal to take game between one-half hour after sunset and one-half hour before sunrise.

The javelina season corresponds to the deer season and the bag limit is two per season. The limit on white tail deer is two bucks with pronged antlers a season.

Only one mule deer per season may be taken west of the Pecos river and the season closes Nov. 30.

The bag limit on gobblers is three per season except in 21 hill country and West Texas counties where it is two.

Dallas Alumni Help In Brick Campaign

Dallas alumni of Texas Technological college are conducting an organized campaign to obtain bricks to help complete West Texas museum building.

Associated Press message from Dallas informed this morning that Dallas alumni Thursday named Ted Moody, city public works department accountant, to lead the "Give a Brick" campaign there.

Drive Ends Saturday

Campaign officials still had hope this morning the goal of 230,000 bricks would be reached by scheduled end of the drive Saturday night although 24,222 bricks remain to be donated before attainment of that goal.

Indications were that Saturday, being the final day of the drive and homecoming day at Texas Tech, will bring an influx of donations.

Jealous Parrot Will Face Death Penalty

WINSTED, Conn., Nov. 15. (AP)—Billy, an 18-year-old parrot, was under a death sentence today, convicted by Mrs. Frank D. Griswold of attacking her four-months-old son, Onville, in a jealous rage.

The child was bitten on the face and mouth yesterday as he was lying in his crib, and was taken to a hospital. Attendants said the wounds were not serious. Mrs. Griswold said that the parrot had been jealous of the baby since he was brought home from the hospital, and added that she would have the bird killed.

Swine Judging Time Changed

Change in the time of judging of third annual Sears, Roebuck & Co., swine contest from 11 o'clock to noon Saturday was announced this morning by W. C. O'Mara, manager, who said the judge Ray C. Drastic Changes In Infantry Tactics Announced

Fire Victims To Ballinger

LEVELLAND, Nov. 15 (Special)—Bodies of Mrs. Lonnie E. Williams, 20, and her three-year-old son, Mickie, fatally burned by flames from gasoline Thursday night, were taken to Ballinger early this morning, Davis-Mason Funeral home announced.

The husband remained in Phillips-Dupre hospital in Levelland this morning with severe face and hand burns, but was expected to be dismissed to attend funeral services in Ballinger for his wife and child. Time of services had not been announced. Ironically, the tragedy fell on the 22nd birthday of the husband.

Story Is Related

To Sam Drake, reporter on the Hockley County Herald, the following story was related:

Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who had lived here two and a half months and were operating a cafe, had gone home from Levelland and the husband attempted to light the stove. It was about 8:15 o'clock.

Pressure blew out the match he held and spray was blown from the stove against an oil lamp less than four feet away.

In Sheet Of Flame

Immediately the room was enveloped in a sheet of flame.

Williams, his clothing afire, made a dash for his automobile, parked near the house, and grabbed a coat. Extinguishing his clothing, he ran back into the house and attempted to drag the torch-like bodies of his wife and son from the room, but they were futilely pressing with last vestiges of strength against the trap of a window screen.

Before he could make his way through the inferno to them, rescuers, including Earl Lane, dragged the woman and her son through the window and rushed them to Phillips-Dupre hospital, where Mrs. Williams died 30 minutes later. The child died at 12:15 o'clock this morning.

Tried To Shield Child

A note of heroism was injected into accounts of the tragedy. Mrs. Williams attempted to the last to shield her child from the blaze. When pulled through the window of her burning residence, she had shoved the child into the window opening and was writhing in the flames, yet managing to keep the raw flames from reaching her baby.

The Williams' residence did not burn, rescue work having been in time to extinguish the fire. The place was described as being west across the street from L. A. Bacon gin.

Williams' parents live at Winters. Mrs. Williams' at Ballinger.

There are no other children in the Williams family, friends said.

Heavier Guns Bring Change

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Revolutionary changes in United States infantry tactics have been ordered, it was disclosed today, and a revised infantry manual taking advantage of the lessons taught by the European war is being distributed to the troops.

Secretary of War Stimson told reporters that instead of trying to advance on broad fronts in the manner of World war attacks, the riflemen of today would seek to penetrate "soft spots in the enemy formation."

The new tactics, he said, would emphasize decentralization of infantry combat, a tactic in which the Germans "showed high skill" in last summer's fighting.

Described As Revolution

A statement issued at the same time by Major General George A. Lynch, chief of infantry, described the new tactics as a "revolution" such as never before occurred in the American army in peacetime.

Because of the heavier machine guns and mortars with which modern armies equip certain infantry units, Lynch asserted, "it has become very clear that the rifleman can no longer shoot his way forward" but must coordinate his movement with supporting fire of artillery, aviation and armored units, as well as with that of adjacent infantry units."

SEC "Eaglets" Are Sent To Obscurity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (U.P.) — After a brief test flight to the top of the new Social Security building here, two 31-ton limestone eagles will roost in earthbound obscurity because they are overweight and ugly.

The eagles were designed by a Connecticut artist to cap the front columns of the building. After five days' work in setting up tackle and gear, workmen "flew" one eagle to the top. There he was anchored securely.

Supervising Architect Louis A. Simon of the Federal Works Program took one look and ordered the $3,000 stone bird taken down. He said it was "too large" and "out of proportion." The eagles will be stored in New York City.

Inventions Of Defense Value Collected From Patent Applications

Domestic Aids Also Boosted

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — The newly organized Federal Inventor's Council working in cooperation with the National Defense Commission is studying hundreds of new projects that may become useful in national defense.

The council's staff of engineers, which studies the plans submitted by inventors, works with Army and Navy officers who are qualified as experts along particular lines.

Study Kept Secret

Applications for patents which appear to have a use in the national defense are shunted from the United States Patent office to the Inventor's Council. No mention of the applications is made in the Patent Gazette, weekly publication which lists all patent applications approved by the office, until the board has examined and determined their usefulness to the nation's defense forces.

To keep newly found methods of warfare from becoming publicly known, Congress recently passed a law permitting the council to withhold the granting of applications while using the new device. At a later date the patent applicant can file suit to recover the value of his invention.

Inventor Aids Sportsmen

Despite these restrictions, the number of patent applications has not diminished appreciably. Many inventors, apparently not warlike-minded, are filing applications for devices that would make everyday living more enjoyable. The sportsman also is thought of by some inventors as manifest in the work of George Fuller, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was assigned patent No. 2,217,338 for an adjustable golf club.

Fuller's club eliminated the necessity of a bag for the various clubs players use. The adjustable head can be transferred from putter to niblick, from mashie to mid-iron.

Ventilated Garbage Can

The head is mounted on a spindle attached to the shaft and may be secured in several interlocking positions. The player judges the lie of his ball, selects the angle of flight that will be most advantageous, secures the head in position, and swings.

Another inventor who may have had the golfer in mind is Norman A. McMeekin of Woodsville, N. H. McMeekin's patented product is a zipper dirt guard for pants legs.

A ventilated garbage can, patent No. 2,216,807, had been made by Leo B. Couch of Maplewood, Mo. His miniature disposal plant not only had a ventilating mechanism on the top, but contained treated strips of cloth to act as deodorants.

Machine Saves Cans

Tin cans need no longer be thrown away with the rest of the trash if the can straightener of Albert J. Marchese, of San Jose, Cal., is manufactured.

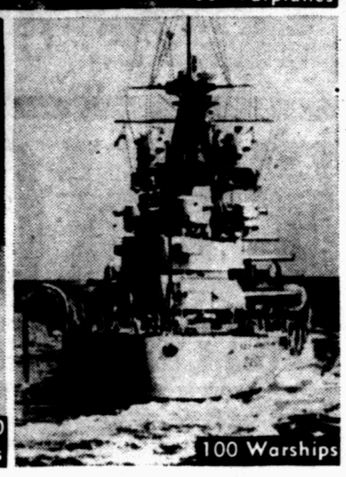

An invention is credited to Albert Gerhardus Boer, of Naarden, Netherland, includes a method for extracting vitamin D from periwinkles.

Gordon Joseph Peardon of Abbotsford, B. C., has obtained a patent on a new cooling system.

Transportation men may find value in the silent rail joints for railroads invented by Thomas B. Maher, of Lynchburg, Va., or the patent of Oscar Stankey of East St. Louis, Ill. The Stankey invention is a headrest alarm for automobile drivers, an adjustable gadget that supports the head as you drive.

Only vessel in the Greek fleet larger than a destroyer is one old armored cruiser.

LINEUP OF FORCES IN GREEK INVASION—Greece is throwing what appears to be a good sized army against the Italian invader but the troops from Italy are better trained and equipped for a long siege. Pictochart compares size of Italian forces engaged in the invasion of Greece with the total defense units of the small Balkan nation.

Fate Of Harry's Bar, Paris, Bothers Pipe Organ Pumpers

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Adolph Hitler has been asked to inform the Guild of Former Pipe Organ Pumpers what has happened to its continental loft, with headquarters in Harry's New York bar in Paris.

Has it moved with the French government to Vichy? Or does it owe allegiance to the "Free French" headed by Gen. De Gaulle?

These questions are worrying Chet Shafer, the guild's grind diapason, who is also president of the No Kink-Big Link-Old Fashioned-Pennsylvania Dutch-Hickory Smoked-Sossage company of Three Rivers, Mich., and brother of Rep. Paul W. Shafer, R., Mich.

Shafer wrote a letter to Hitler to find out. The information, he said, was essential because of the guild's novitiates and the fact that the phrase, "doppel gedickel gerohgedeckt" in the guild's official anthem comes from the name of a stop on an old German pipe organ—doppel rohrgedeckt.

This, he figured, gave Hitler and the guild something in common, and required a reply about the status of the continental loft if the guild was expected to take an intelligent stand on international questions. Shafer said his operatives reported up to within a few weeks of the German conquest of France, Harry's hand-tooled "diplomy" was hanging back of his bar, but that he had received no reports since the Gestapo moved in.

WHALE TUSK

Seldom does more than one tusk develop on the narwhal whale. The tusk, usually the left one, reaches the enormous length of ten feet. It projects straight from the upper jaw, and is used in fighting.

Ten Crashes Bring Warning To Pilots

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (U.P.)—Following investigations of ten air crashes during the summer, the Civil Aeronautics Board recommended three basic rules for the safety of the private aviators. They were:

"1. Don't Stall.
"2. Don't Stall.
"3. Don't Stall."

The investigations disclosed in each of the ten crashes, the majority of them fatal, the pilot had allowed the plane to stall while executing gliding turns, climbing turns, steep climbs and turns, and while making landing approaches.

Trade Expert Says U. S. Should Start Barter With South America

Buying Offers Best Prospect

(By The United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15 — Barter trade possibilities with Latin America are unlimited and no Nazi victory is necessary to put the United States on a barter trade basis not only south of the border but throughout the world, according to Commander K. H. Donavin of the Moore-McCormack lines.

Donavin, assistant to the president of the Moore-McCormack lines, is a veteran in the South American trade.

Donavin is convinced America's future foreign trade is going to be on a bi-lateral basis and especially that with Latin America. Regardless of Hitler's victory or defeat he said, barter will be the basis of a goodly portion of foreign commerce in the future. He said it is already here and is here to stay.

"As far as our trade with Latin America is concerned," he declared "it will be more than on a mere barter basis. It is going to be balanced to the milrei and to the peso instead of to the dollar.

Opportunity In Buying

"To my mind the really great trade opportunity of the future lies in buying in South America rather than in selling, for we can sell almost without effort to them up to the limit of their exchange conditions."

Donavin explained the Latin American countries have many products that should be exported to the United States, thereby creating trade balances here to offset their purchases.

The principal Latin American products for importation to the United States, he said, included coffee and tin from Bolivia; cocoa, cottonseed oil, leather, wool, tannic acid, semi-precious stones and the crystal work from Bahia, Brazil.

He said, in addition the United States should purchase manufactured articles from the Latin American countries including shoes, shirts, underwear and dresses.

"These articles would not compete with our own," he said, "for the established reason that the same articles have been coming from Japan for the past 20 years and sold in quantity."

Hectorites Love To Fly; Now Entire Town 'Up In The Air'

(By The United Press)

HECTOR, Minn., Nov. 15—This Minnesota prairie town of 1,044 persons claims to be "the most air-minded city in the United States."

Forty per cent of the men between 18 and 40 years old are either pilots or student fliers. There are 45 licensed pilots, more than 75 student fliers in the town and an airplane ride is a novelty to only a few of the town's residents.

Some townspeople fly the 85 miles to Minneapolis to shop. Two farmers who own planes fly the eggs to the Hector market and another plans to deliver baby chicks by air next spring. An implement dealer uses an airplane for business trips.

Mayor O. E. Smith's mother, Mrs. T. C. Smith, 87, has flown and spends much of her time at the airport. The airport is little more than a rolling pasture. The four hangars are unpainted. The largest of the five planes regularly based at the port is a three-place open bi-plane.

The field has the reputation as the training ground for good pilots. Three men who earned their wings here were hired recently as instructors at other airports. There never has been an airplane accident here and no Hector flier has been involved in a serious accident anywhere.

Mayor Smith, although not a pilot, is the town's No. 1 aviation booster. More than a year ago he had city council authority to pay half the rent on the 37-acre airport. Recently the council bought the airport and additional land to increase the field to 75 acres.

Erwin Hable was the first townsman to buy an airplane. He bought it in 1928. The Hector Flying club was organized two years ago when five pilots rented a 13 acre pasture for a landing field. The club's present membership is 25 pilots.

Bernard Torbert, a nimplement dealer, is president, and Carrington Fahlberg, shoe store owner, is the secretary. They have been flying "off and on" for about 10 years.

The oldest member is Alfred Ericson, 57, manager of the independent telephone company, a pilot for one year. Jimmy Clark, 16, is the youngest member. The only feminine member is Mary Jane Leasman, 21.

Northern Ireland has started a campaign to grow more flax at home.

That Girl on Broadway says no one can be pessimistic while watching the sun rise.

A man who calls himself a scientist says neither space nor matter exists.

If everything is nothing then we might just as well quit worrying!

A resolution proposing creation of a new commission to take over the duties of the present Texas Railroad commission in the regulation of oil and gas production has been approved by the executive committee of the West-Central Texas Oil and Gas association.

That suggestion isn't new—it having been made upon numerous occasions by numerous organizations and individuals in recent years. But it goes further than most of its predecessors in that it sets forth that members of an oil and gas commission should be appointed by the governor, rather than elected by the people, as are members of the Texas Railroad commission now attending to oil and gas duties.

In passing the resolution, the executive committee of the West-Central Texas organization harkens back to late, great James Stephen Hogg, founder of the present Railroad commission. It points out that Governor Hogg warned at the time the commission was established of the harmful effects to the public interest of having members of that body elected.

DECLARING that a bill for the establishment of an oil and gas commission, to be appointed by the governor, would be offered early in the forthcoming session of the legislature, the West-Central Texas association is seeking support for the measure, not only from legislators, but from interested organizations and individuals, as well.

For the first time since the suggestion of removing the oil and gas work from the Railroad commission was made, it looks like there may be some action next year.

While we have seen no statement attributed to Governor O'Daniel in connection with the formation of an oil and gas commission, our guess is that the governor would probably favor such a move.

As all and sundry know, two members of the Railroad commission sought unsuccessfully to unseat Mr. O'Daniel in last summer's primaries and that both of them "poured it on" the governor personally, as well as on his record in office.

Since oil and gas control is the most important work of the Railroad commission, in all probabilities the governor would be glad to see it taken away from Col. E. O. Thompson and Jerry Sadler, although he is said to have nothing but the friendliest of feelings for the newly elected commissioner, Olin Culberson.

THE Plainsman disagrees in part with the theory that if an oil and gas commission is established its members should be appointed, rather than elected by the people.

In most cases, we believe, it is better for the people to elect than it is for the power to be placed in the hands of a governor.

Currently, appointment by the governor would probably be the best, since Governor O'Daniel's appointments in most instances have been very, very good. In fact, the present governor seems to have hit a new high when it comes to appointing to office men who will work at the job.

But Mr. O'Daniel won't be governor forever and it is possible that somewhere down the line Texans will elect a man who, either purposely or by accident, might appoint officials generally less acceptable than we're getting now.

And that's where the rub would come in.

All in all, the government belongs to the people and in most cases we believe the people should choose the higher officials who are to serve them.

One of the finest, most lifelike pieces of art, The Plainsman has ever seen was shown him the other day by T. P. Turpin.

Done in transparent water colors of red, green, yellow, brown and blue, the work depicts Dr. Peter Willis Cawthon watching a football practice. Back of the drawing of the Texas Tech head coach is shown a Tech football player, in full flight with the ball.

The painting was made from a photograph and is correct to the minutest details. It is on a piece of cardboard, approximately 20 by 30 inches.

As part of a Tech Homecoming display, the drawing is now on view in one of Sears-Roebuck's windows. Mr. Turpin says he never had any instruction in art, that his talent is inherited from his father.

THIS really happened and we wish we could use names. But we can't, because we promised we wouldn't before the story was told to us.

You've often heard obstreticians say, "I've never lost a father yet," but one local doctor came pretty close to losing one here the other day. When the baby arrived—a bouncing daughter—and he was told that all was well, the new papa fainted dead away and had to be revived by the doctor!

Soon as the word reached the man's business associates in a local insurance office by the way, they sprang into action.

They went to a grocery store and got a variety of vegetables which they made into a "beautiful bouquet." Then they hied themselves to a drugstore, where they purchased a bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia and a card bearing a cheerful message for convalescents.

All these they sent to the suffering father, with best wishes for his early recovery!

PERSONAL DISLIKES: People who ape the British by refering to the United States as "Ameddica." . . . TIPS: Unless suggested by a song leader, or the chairman of a program, you do not stand when you hear the strains of "God Bless America." . . . It is not an official anthem and the only song Americans need automatically stand to is "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Recent American diplomatic recognition of Avila Camacho as president of Mexico is a fore-runner of a U. YESTERDAY: Buck talks the team out of their strike, sends Bill to practice. Bill tries one of his father's plays and the scrub team clicks. Landis challenges him to teach the scrubs all he wants to. That night Bullethead Peskin brings Dot Skelton to the drug store, bosses Bill around. Dot likes Bill. Drowsy Peters suggests Bill is overlooking a bet. Landis won't last, and if Bill is in solid with the Skeltons . . . Landis Orders Bill to Quit Football;

Buck Gets An Offer

CHAPTER IV

Bill Mentor, in football togs, moved slowly toward the practice field. Deep in thought, he was for once in his life deaf to the seductive pung of toe against leather.

Ten days had passed since Drowsy dropped the hint about Dot Skelton, but it clung to his mind like a burr on a piece of wool.

"Wait up, Bill."

He started guiltily at the sound of Helen's voice. He felt somehow that even thinking of Dot made him disloyal to Helen. Besides, she had a darn queer habit of guessing what was on his mind.

Helen fell into step with him. "Am I poison, Bill?"

"Heck no, Helen," Bill said, a little gruffly. "I've been putting in overtime, so Old Man Peskin'll let me off for the dance."

"Oh, Bill, I'm so glad!" Helen's eyes glowed. "This will be the first time I've ever gone to dance with someone that I . . . well, kind of like."

"It makes a difference," Bill agreed. "I never cared much for dancing, but . . ."

"What made you change?" Helen asked shyly.

"Why, you did—" Bill broke off, flushing.

"That's nice, Bill," she laughed. "I may have a surprise for you the night of the dance."

"Oh, swell," Bill said, and changed the subject abruptly to football. "Well, we finally won a game Saturday."

"Westerburg!" Helen scoffed. "And just by a field goal. If that's the best we can do against a little weak team, what'll happen when we meet Clayton?"

"Slaughter," Bill said gloomily. "I'll bet Landis is fit to be tied."

Landis was. They could hear his voice as he stomped along the sidelines bellowing at the boys. Catching sight of Bill, he scowled.

"Well, Mentor, still teaching the scrubs to be All-Americans?"

"No, sir, but we've got some new plays ready to roll. You said you'd like a chance to have the varsity stop them."

Bill spoke quietly, without challenge but his words sent a rush of crimson to Landis' face. For the first time he appeared to realize that his taunt had been taken sincerely, and that now it was too late to back out.

"I meant what I said, Mentor," he snapped. Then, turning to the varsity squad: "Get in there and smear this play wide open!"

In the huddle Bill said earnestly, "Let's make these good, fellows. We know the plays will work, but we've got to prove it to Coach. If we do, he may let the varsity use 'em. Let's go!"

The play was simple, yet employed a brand of deception suitable to young teams. The ball came to a big scrub back. Bill cut behind him, faked a grab at the ball. Then, running together, the two sliced off tackle. Good work by the other faking back had made it appear that the play was going in another direction. Only the defensive halfback stayed on the play. Bill roll-blocked him as he dived for the ball carrier. Landis blew his whistle sharply.

Silence hung over the field a minute. The varsity stood in a sheepish group. To a man, the scrubs tried to hide the triumph that lighted their faces.

Bill Mentor was surprised. Buck's training told him that the play shouldn't have clicked so easily. He sensed that it wasn't the fault of the varsity boys, but their defensive training.

Coach Landis strode across the field toward Bill. The tiny network of veins on his nose flared.

"Mentor," he said, "you're too big for your britches."

"But, Coach," Bill protested, "you wanted me to show the scrubs—"

"I don't want them learning circus plays," he raged. "You're—" He checked himself, as if realizing that his anger carried him too far. "So long as I'm coach, Mentor, I'll run the show. You're a disrupting influence. I've le. you practice with the squad because I felt sorry for you. I'm through being soft. Don't let me catch you around this field again."

"I'm sorry, Coach. You see, I thought you wanted me to—"

"Don't talk back" Landis shouted. Bill dug his cleats into the ground, bit down an angry retort. Buck had told the fellows to behave like soldiers. Now it was his turn to take orders and not whine.

He started toward the sidelines, shoulders erect. Passing the varsity squad he said, "I didn't mean to show off, fellows. I'm sorry."

Eleven husky boys grinned at Bill. "Forget it, guy," Don Hart said. "We're not sore." Then, in a whisper, "It was a darn good play; tell Buck we said so."

Bill changed clothes slowly. He wrapped Buck's uniform in a big bundle. Where his heart should have been, there was a sick, empty feeling. No more football ever. In another year he'd be through school and looking for a steady job. Bill Mentor realized sharply just how much these sandwiched-in practice sessions meant to him.

That night, Bill tried to get the bundle in without letting Buck see it, but the older man's keen eyes noted the shape of the package.

"That looks suspiciously like a football uniform, Bill. Anything wrong?"

Lying to Buck was out of the question. Bill said dully, "Landis booted me off the field today."

"Why?"

Bill told him.

Buck nodded, thumbed his pipe; but he uttered no condemnation of Landis. He said sharply, "That's tough, fellow."

"But he asked me to teach the scrubs—"

"Blu.. Bill. He never intended for you to do it."

"Maybe he was right," Bill said. "I guess I did want to show off your plays, Buck."

Buck Mentor smiled. "Keep punching, Bill. If things go as I've planned, you've got five years of football ahead."

"Five years!" Say—"

"Here, take a look at this, fellow." On the table Bill saw a movie camera and projector. "Buck, for Pete's sake, where did you get that?"

Avoiding Bill's gaze, Buck said,

AN INANE SUGGESTION

A robust Texas version of a rousing "Bronx cheer" doubtless will and certainly should greet the suggestion by former legislative Rep. Weldon Burney of Evant that a special session of the legislature be called immediately to discuss increasing old age pension payments.

The proposal is absurd for a good many reasons, the most obvious of which is that the regular session of the legislature will convene in January and doubtless will last sufficiently long to make people of the state thoroughly tired of it.

Another objection is that there is no reason to believe that a special session, if called, would reach any speedy agreement.

Still another is that a special session now would include a considerable number of "lame ducks"—men who have been defeated but whose terms do not expire until January.

Furthermore, since the old people of the state already have waited nearly two years in the hopes of higher pensions, there seems no reason to believe that great harm will be done if they have to wait a month or two longer for the possibility that pensions may be raised a few dollars a month.

The regular legislative session in January will be soon enough both for people and for legislators. It even may be too soon for some.

NEW YORK SYMPHONY: The orgy of silence cloaking Riverside Drive at midnight, sprinkled with lovers slipping into the deep quiet without hurting it . . . Starving actors making the rounds of booking agents housed in the million-dollar Radio City edifices . . . The workers in the subway change booths gripped by the clutches of boredom, looking into nowhere . . . The Times building electricks flashing the news of the world to a Broadway that makes news every moment . . . Old, posy-selling ladies, wearing their sadness uncomfortably, desiring to brighten your life with a few of their flowers . . . The entertainers in the knick-knack night clubs, whose make-believe makes other people happy, haunting the cafeterias after work, trying to make-believe they are gay . . . Doormen in front of theatres wearing million-dollar uniforms with lead quarter jobs, shouting at no one in particular at the top of their voices . . . The great gabfest continually going on between Greenwich Village intellectuals at musty bars. When they get done with a subject, it's a nervous wreck . . . The 14-karat lovelies who came to the city to sit on the success throne, and are grateful to get jobs as waitresses.

The castle-like Fifth Ave. library reading room filled with unemployed drinking knowledge . . . Broadway's blood-stream—the amazing lights that decorate a sector filled with the cheapest kind of honky-tonk establishments . . . The eerie quiet running wild throughout Central Park during the wee hours. It is the perfect atmosphere for love or crime . . . Poverty-stricken human zeros draping the Bowery. Probably all of them have a valuable novel locked in their lives . . . The skyscrapers and the sunrise tinted with colors of silent music. Nature's thrilling overture to a new day . . . Cloudy-eyed successes sprawled across Lindy's chairs, discussing their worries and troubles. And the tourists, who see them and drool with envy—for "such a wonderful existence" . . . The fairyland skyline, ultra-thrilling when you see it from the ferry wearing a shiny coat of moon-glow. . . . A lonely plane racing over the city, its landing lights looking like moving jewels against the night-time sky.

A flicker of life romps across their faces only when a pretty gal passes . . . The cushioned barns they call nightclubs that flop and spring up again with another name. "Wise" guys getting stuck trying to make another "easy dollar" . . . The museum in the RCA edifice depicting the wonders of machines, making human beings feel their unimportance . . . The vacuum-like Lincoln tunnel, where an auto horn sounds like a bomb-blast.

The European travel agencies along Fifth Ave. with their ads of the beauties of that part of the world, which always causes passersby to comment about the irony . . . Drunks in full bloom smearing the early morning peace and beauty of the town as they weave through the midtown streets . . . The army of birds that make their homes in corners of skyscrapers, seeming as out of place as caviar in the Automat . . . The poetic beauty of Coney Island these days. Because practically no people are there to clutter it up . . . The sheer artistry with which bus drivers maneuver the gigantic things through the maze of downtown traffic . . . The organ grinder with the monkey that is always in films about New York as something typical of the city, but we haven't seen one for years . . . The soapbox down at Union Square making the air shiver from the growls about the "recession." Remember how popular that word used to be? Why don't these bores get a new act?

Up-And-Coming Young Texan Does Great Job For New Deal Party

Meet Congressman Lyndon Johnson, Of Austin

BY BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—One of the big surprises of the campaign was the fact that the Democrats gained in strength in the House of Representatives instead of taking the heavy loss they were doped to take.

Catton

Chief reason was that the party dug up a new miracle worker—youthful and energetic Congressman Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

About six weeks before election day, party chiefs awoke to the fact that their comfortable House majority was in danger of vanishing. FDR wasn't campaigning the way congressmen wished—not enough speaking trips out into the country to give candidates a chance to climb on his coattails. Jim Farley was gone, and his successor, Ed Flynn, naturally wasn't as well up on details of the congressional fight as Farley had been. Chip Robert, who used to be a lot of help to local candidates, had just been dropped from the national committee secretaryship.

And to top it all, the Republicans were working like blazes.

Raised His Own Funds

FDR discussed things with Speaker Sam Rayburn, Majority Leader John W. McCormack and National Chairman Flynn. Upshot was that Johnson—who had no opposition in his district, and hence didn't have to campaign—was drafted to give his fellows a helping hand.

Johnson was given a job and a suite of offices, but no title and nothing much in the way of finances. He was of but not on the regular Democratic congressional committee; in military parlance, he would rank with but after that committee's chairman, Congressman Pat Drewry. He took on a staff of about 10 energetic young men, warned them they'd have to work 18 hours a day, and went to work. It was Oct. 11, with election day less than a month away.

Johnson acted as his own money-raiser, digging up—somehow—the funds for his own office expenses as well as contributions for local campaign committees. He went through the list of Democratic candidates to eliminate those who either didn't need any help (like the Southerners) or those who were so sure to get licked it was useless to do much for them. He wound up with a list of about 175 names, congressmen seeking re-election and newcomers opposing Republican incumbents.

Due To Rise

Each of these men got a letter asking, "What can we do for you?" The answers varied.

Some wanted $500 or so for campaign expenses. Johnson got it for them.

Two New York candidates wrote that their districts contained lots of Poles: Johnson got Congressman Tenerowicz of Michigan to go to each distict and make a speech. Both men got elected.

Congressman William Larrabee of Indiana, who is a doctor, wrote that the GOP was making hay with the charge that the New Deal was out to socialize medicine. Johnson took the letter to FDR, and a few days later the President made a speech at the opening of the new national health center in Maryland, denying the charge. Larrabee got elected.

Add together a few score special jobs of that kind, and you get the difference between losing and winning control of the House.

You also get—in the person of Johnson—a congressman due to rise in party councils. He has been in solid with the New Deal since he entered Congress in 1937. He won out in a special election to fill an unexpired term, and based his whole campaign on support of FDR's Supreme court reorganization bill.

"A present?" Bill gasped.

"Not exactly. You've heard me mention Jim Kirk?"

"The fellow you said could drive a hole in a concrete wall?"

"That's Jim. He was my sidekick in college. Recently he heard about my accident and looked me up. He's a district sales manager for the company that makes these outfits."

"I still don't get it, Buck,"

The older man fumbled with his pipe. "These machines are designed especially for coaches. Jim thinks my football background would make me a good bet to sell them."

"But, Buck, you can't get around," Bill objected. "You'd have to have the operation first."

"No, fellow, there isn't time. Jim wants someone soon. He'll give me a car to drive."

"Nothing doing," Bill said. "You're not going to do anything like that. You know darn well what the doctor told you about being quiet. I'll keep things going until we can afford the operation."

Buck gripped his son's arm. "Sorry, Bill, but I've made up my mind. I'm through pampering myself. I'm going to make a living for us. My legs can wait. Don't think it's going to be easy. We'll be separated, and that's tough to take."

"You—you'd have to leave here?"

"Jim only has an eastern territory open, Bill. But I'll send for you the minute I'm able."

Bill spoke with an effort. "Buck, when do you have to let Jim know?"

"Soon, Bill. Within a few days."

"Wait." Bill pleaded. "Something will turn up here. I know it will." Bill's mind flashed to an auburn-haired girl. "I—I've got a plan . . ."

Island Church Seeks Change

MANILA, Nov. 15. (U.P.)—Filipino desire for political independence today had its religious offshoot when Bishop Santiago Antonino Fonacier, newly elected "obispo maximo" of the Church of Aglipay, launched his campaign to convert Filipino Catholics and Protestants alike to the Philippines Independent Church.

Bishop Fonacier succeeded Bishop Gregorio Aglipay as spiritual leader of the 2,000,000 Aglipayans.

Aglipay was the founder of the organization, which broke from the Roman Catholic church in 1902. Bishop Fonacier hopes to establish a purely nationalistic church "of the Filipinos." He advocates severing of all religious ties with other countries.

Want Religious Schools

"It is not for us to sleep on our laurels," he told the consistory of 42 Aglipayans priests and laymen after his election. "It is rather for us to be always active and alert, and to work, work, work. Let us work unceasingly, with enthusiasm and true faith, and let us not rest until we have attained the full realization of those solemn aims which obliged us to separate from the Church of Rome and to found our own Philippine Independent Church, which is the true church of the Filipinos, for the Filipinos and by the Filipinos."

First projected step in Bishop Fonacier's program will be establishment of religious schools and colleges, and especially of a central seminary in Manila, where the church would train young men from the islands.

Just A Dream

"What we need most," he declared, "are apostles and ministers of God rich in faith, hope and charity, enthusiastic and active, because the lessons of history teach us that it is not the dogmas and doctrines of a church which most contribute to its triumph but apostles . . . armed with the faith that can transport mountains and divide the seas."

He admitted his plans for the future were in the nature of dreams.

To Serve Three Years

Fonacier is the first head of the Church of Aglipay under its new "democratization" program. The churchs' consistory has revoked an amendment approved in 1906 making the "obispo maximo" a life position. Fonacier will serve for three years, with the right to succeed himself once.

The "democratization" of the church, according to Bishop Fonacier, will be utilized "to reorganize and revitalize the offices of 'obispado maximo' so that everyone in the church, especially all bishops and priests, may be made to work for the church's advancement."

Service Reviewed

Bishop Fonacier has been connected with the Philippine Independent Church since its founding. He was ordained at the age of 18 when the movement was gaining momentum from Bishop Aglipay's charges the Roman Catholic Church had become arbitrary if not corrupt in the Philippines.

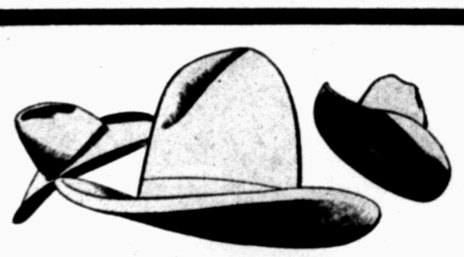

He was "on leave" from the church from 1912 to 1931, during which time he was a political writer on the Asamblea Filipina, a nationalistic Filipino-owned daily which demanded immediate independence for the Philippines and a delegate from 1912 to 1916 to the third Philippine Assembly. He served as senator from 1919 to 1925, during which time he was a member of the University of the Philippines Board of Regents and a member of the second parliamentary mission to the United States in 1922 to ask for independence.
