Beautification Committee to begin new clean-up campaign with controlled burning of weeds in Lone Wolf Creek

Colorado City's Beautification Committee is planning to rid Lone Wolf Creek of unsightly weed growth and eliminate a fire hazard at the same time as they are awaiting permission from the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission for a controlled burn of the growth in the creek downstream from Ruddick Park.

County Agent Joe Raff prepared a request for the controlled burn to be sent to the TNRCC and a reply is expected shortly.

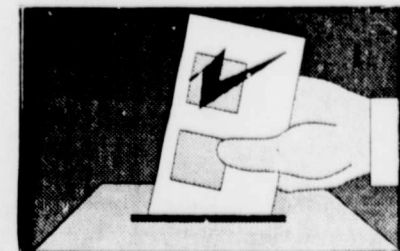

Raff, Range Specialist Jake Landers, Bryan Limmer and committee members Patrick Parker and Rex Thackerson examined the area to be burned on February 21. The group walked from Ruddick Park downstream to an area about halfway to the Austin Street crossing. Raff said that abundant grass fuel was confined to the creek bottom while the slopes were already green from new growth and said he did not feel the fire could creep out of the creek bottom.

The burn would follow the strict rules of the TNRCC and all safety precautions would be observed, said Parker.

"There are several places to be cleaned up in the community," added Parker "and this is only a start."

He went on to say that contributions to the Beautification Committee could be made through the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and noting that the funds should be funneled to this committee.

Early voting ended at 5:00 p.m. Friday and County Clerk Joan Beach said a total of 597 ballots had been cast.

Voting places for Tuesday's Democratic Primary are as follows: Precinct 1, CISD School Administration Building; Precinct 2, Westbrook ISD School; Precinct 025, Oak Street Baptist Church Annex Building; Precinct 3, Mitchell County Courthouse; Precinct 4, Loraine Senior Citizens Building; Precinct 046, Calvary Baptist Church Family Center (South Building). See a copy of the sample ballots on pages 4 and 5.

Communication chain is noted at City Hall

When Colorado City's interim city manager Glenna Garrett took over the top spot in the city following Buddy Foster's resignation, she wasted little time setting in action a new chain of communication between the city's department heads and the city council.

Foster had issued a memo at one time stating that "at no time will the City Manager deny an employee access to the city council" and "no employee shall, at any time, be reprimanded or penalized in any way for such a request or for seeing the City Manager of the City Council."

In a memo dated February 28 and directed to all city department heads, Garrett quotes the City Charter of Colorado City, Section 20 which states that "except for the purpose of inquiry the council and its members shall deal with the administrative service solely through the city manager and neither the council nor any member

Vandals hit two businesses, school with spray paint

Vandals armed with spray paint hit Colorado City Thursday night and caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage.

Chief of Police David Montgomery said the department is investigating the break-in of five storage buildings on north Hickory plus the spray painting of the facilities with silver/grey paint.

Kelley Elementary was also spray painted Thursday night as was one other business and at least two vehicles.

Jameson files for place on CISD board

Rosanne Jameson has filed for a spot on the Colorado City school board for the spot that was formerly held by Dwayne Harris.

Mrs. Jameson said she is running for the school board "because the future growth is exciting and I would like to be a part. I have six more years of schooling for my own children and education is so important."

She earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Graphic Design with honors from Southern Methodist University in Dallas and graduated from high school at Sterling City. She was born and raised in Sterling City also.

She has business experience in Dallas, San Angelo, Houston, Austin and Midland. She then met her husband, Tooter Jameson, and have lived on the Rendonbrook-Spade Ranch for 16 years.

They have two children - Joe

Ross who is 15 and a freshman at CHS and Margaret Ann who is in the sixth grade at CMS is 12.

thereof shall give orders to any subordinates of the city manager, either publicly or privately."

The memo stated that the "Council is bound by the provision of the Charter quoted above. In order to keep from putting the Council in the awkward position of either violating the law or ignoring you, you are not to contact the Council regarding problem or projects. They will come to you if there is anything they want or need to know."

Garrett's memo stated that it was advisable to make everyone (the city's department heads) aware of the manner in which policy making and the administering of policy are accomplished. Simply stated, the memo continued, it is the Council's job to make policies and the city staff's job to carry out those policies.

An exception to this memo, said Garrett, was that if an employee or department head has knowledge concerning illegal actions or unethical conduct of the city manager or department heads.

Rowe files for spot on Council

A. W. Rowe has joined the race for a spot on the Colorado City city council as he has filed for the Place 4 seat presently held by Brian Bassham. Bassham has said he will not seek reelection.

Previously, Patrick Parker filled out papers for Place 6 on the council. Allen Pharis, who is the councilman in that district, has picked up papers to file but had not done so Friday afternoon. Also, incumbent councilman Gary Redwine has also picked up the necessary papers to file but has not turned them back in as of 5 p.m. Friday.

Fuller records 20 years safe driving

George Fuller

George Fuller, a delivery driver for United Parcel Service, was recently recognized by the company for completing 20 years of safe driving. Fuller works out of the UPS facility located at 365 Full Wiler, Abilene. He presently provides delivery service in Colorado City, Westbrook and Coahoma.

George attributes his 20 years of safe driving to "driving defensively, staying alert and always expecting the unexpected."

Fuller and his wife, Brenda, live in Abilene. They have two children, Kristi, 24 and Shanna, 20.

The U.S. Department of Transportation issued the following statement: "A corporate commitment to safety backed up with a comprehensive safety program has helped United Parcel Service achieve a highway safety record considerably above the industry average."

To the Voters of Mitchell County:

Dear Friends,

As election day nears, I want to take this one last opportunity to ask for your consideration and your vote as I seek re-election as your county judge. I've enjoyed the opportunity and the challenge in serving as your county judge and I would appreciate the chance to continue serving you in this capacity. When making your choice for county judge I ask that you consider my experience, qualifications and dedication. I've strived to be a full-time judge, dedicated to the betterment of Mitchell County and its citizens and determined to see justice carried out in a fair and just manner.

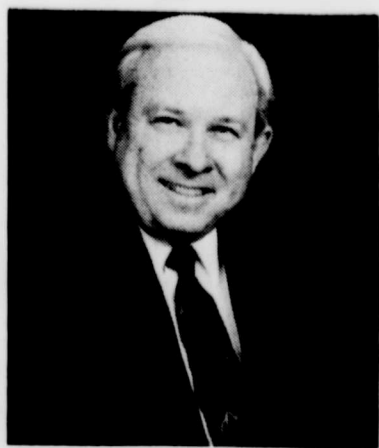

I have a vested interest in Mitchell County and I want to see it prosper and grow. My family moved to Mitchell County in 1961 and like so many others, I left after high school and college because of the limited opportunities for young people here. I was fortunate to be able to move back home several years ago and to again enjoy the quality of life only offered in a rural setting. My wife, Janet, the daughter of Moon and Louise McMullen of Colorado City, was born and reared here and we're glad our son has been able to be brought up here.

And, like so many of you, I want to see Mitchell County be a place for our children and grandchildren to grow and prosper—a place they will be proud to call home. Thanks to you, the county has led the way in a bold economic development plan that is already starting to see results. There is still much work to be done and I am excited to be involved in the continued growth of the county.

I believe in Mitchell County. I believe in you, its citizens, and I believe that together we are making Mitchell County a better place to live.

Sincerely,

Ray Mayo

Hollis honored at retirement party

Mrs. Ruth Hollis closed out fifteen years of service to Westbrook Independent School District Monday, February 28 when she retired as school tax collector. The day seemed fairly normal until Sonny Hollis picked up his wife to drive her to a "home interior party" at the school library at 4:00. There, she was totally surprised by thirty-five friends, relatives, board members, their wives and school faculty and a retirement party in progress.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of silk flowers in mauve, navy and burgundy, which was a gift from the faculty. Other table appointments were in navy and crystal.

White cake, frosted pineapple punch, nuts and mints were served to guests.

Mrs. Hollis was presented a gold engraved watch from the school board in appreciation of her many years of faithful service. Among the other gifts was a collection of notes written by the second and third grade suggesting the places they might go and things they might do when they retired.

Out of town guests attending the party were Mrs. Rhonda Thebeau, a former employee, now of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Terry Brown and family of Lamesa, who is Mrs. Hollis' brother and her sister, Mrs. Marquita Long and husband of Andrews.

VISITING THE MUSEUM: Adah Leah Wolf, left, was visiting the Heart of West Texas Museum this week conducting a survey for the American Association of Museums. She is the curator of a museum in McKinney and had nothing but praise for the museum here. She said the museum was outstanding for a community this size and noted the participation that the community gave it. She is shown with, Left to right, Marion Bassham, Elizabeth Connell and Sissie Merrett.

Texas CattleWomen encourage Texas entries for Beef Cook-off

Texas amateur cooks have until June 1 to enter the National Beef Cook-Off and be selected as one of 15 finalists who will compete for $45,000 in cash prizes and the title of the nation's top beef cook. Each of the 15 finalists also will receive an all-expense paid trip to the national competition September 22-23 at Little Rock, Arkansas.

Entries must be postmarked by June 1, 1994 and received by June 7, 1994. Anyone except food professionals is eligible to enter. For more specific rules contact the National Beef Cook-Off at P.O. Box 3240, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

No one from Texas has ever won the National Beef Cook-Off even though it is the nation's largest beef producing state. It's time for that to change, say the Texas CattleWomen, one of the contest's sponsoring organizations.

"We came close to winning it all with a third place finish in the indoor competition at the 1993 national competition," says Texas CattleWomen President Anita Brown of Wheeler. "As thrilling as that was it now is time to go for the top award. The home kitchens of this state have more original beef recipes than any other state in the nation. Let's get those recipes out and compare them to the best of the other states."

The rules for entries must be followed exactly. A recipe must be original. It must use no more than eight ingredients (excluding salt, black pepper and water). Garnishes must be made from those ingredients. Preparation and cooking times, including marinating time, must be less than 60 minutes. The beef cut selected must be appropriate for the recipe. It must use at least one pound and no more than two pounds of beef.

Robin Bonifay Hill of Arlington met all those qualifications in 1993 with a sirloin recipe called Calypso Steak. Her recipe received high marks from the judges for its simple preparation, appealing ingredients and convenient cooking method. As a result, Hill won third place, the highest finish for a Texan in the history of the national indoor cook-off competition.

Texas CattleWomen hope that among this year's entries are a few recipes that add enough judge-pleasing qualities to take Texas to the championship. Brown says judges choose recipes that are adapted to contemporary lifestyles. Other characteristics that judges appreciate are healthful ingredients, convenient preparation times and balanced flavors.

"As one judge says, the key to success is to test the recipe over and over," Brown says. "Get other persons' opinions too and then send the recipe to BIC. While you're waiting on the national competition, work on the food's presentation. Judges see the food both as individual portions and on a large platter, so make sure it looks good."

The grand prize "Best of Beef" award will receive $25,000, second place, $10,000 and third place, $5,000. Two honorable mention contestants will receive $2,500 each.

"Remember that the idea has to be original," says Brown. "But don't overlook sources of ideas for your recipes like cookbooks, magazines and restaurants. Then develop them into recipes with award-winning potential to send to the National Beef Cook-Off. It's time to bring the championship to Texas."

Project Aquatic WILD workshop is scheduled

A Project Aquatic WILD workshop is scheduled for March 12, 1994 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Lake Brownwood State Park in the Group Recreation Hall. The workshop is free and daily entrance fees will be waived for the participants.

Project Aquatic WILD workshops are an extension of the Project WILD environmental education training programs for teachers and youth leaders sponsored by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Aquatic WILD educational materials are an invitation to explore and understand the worlds of water and the aquatic habitats they support.

Kathryn Hampton, State Aquatic Facilitator from Austin, will be the workshop leader. Bring your own lunch. Drinks will be provided. Wear comfortable shoes and clothing. Contact Judy Brummett at Lake Brownwood State Park, (915) 784-5223, for registration materials.

Hotline benefits victims of multiple sclerosis

Area residents with multiple sclerosis can take part in a new 1-800 hotline survey sponsored by the Multiple Sclerosis Association of America.

By dialing 1-800-860-7922, participants can leave a one-minute message to describe new services or ideas MSAA can add to its list of patient care programs. Officials indicate the survey will run until mid-April and anyone with the disease is welcome to respond.

"The focus of MSAA is to bring immediate care and relief to those with MS," said MSAA President John Hodson, Sr. "This survey is an excellent way of achieving this goal by reaching out to MS patients from coast to coast and getting a direct pulse on their needs. Once we tally the results we'll work in implementing many of the most popular requests."

The MS Association of America, headquartered in New Jersey, offers current members a wide variety of patient care programs including peer counseling, support groups, free loan of equipment, barrier-free housing, symptom management through micro-climate cooling, newsletters and a host of referral services. MSAA is not affiliated with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society but, according to MSAA officials, welcomes Society members to respond to the survey with their particular needs or interests.

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system, affecting over 300,000 American men and women. Its symptoms range from blindness to complete paralysis. At present there is no known cause, cure or prevention for MS, which strikes those mainly between the ages of 20 and 40.

Golf team places 10th

by:Audra Lee McAnally

Colorado City's boys varsity golf team placed 10th out of 15 teams in the Snyder Invitational Golf Tournament on Monday, February 28. It was a strong field of mostly 4A and 5A Junior Varsity teams. Scoring for the Wolves: Cole Lindsey, 90; Ashton Weatherly, 90; Bronc Fleming, 93; Drew Finch, 99 and Rusty Blair, 102. Odessa Permian placed first with a team score of 325, followed by area schools such as, Abilene Cooper, 335; Big Spring, 338 and Snyder, 349.

First individual medalist was Jerry Caddell from Permian scoring 79. Placing second with a score of 77 was Robert Hickson from Big Spring.

"Our team learned much about playing on a tough golf course at WTC and getting better at staying competitive throughout 18 holes of golf. We are constantly improving and will only get better every day," said Coach Spradlin. "Cole Lindsey and Ashton Weatherly did good jobs leading the team again this week. Drew Finch had excellent back nine to come back from a 55 to a 44 to break the century mark. Bronc Fleming had a tough day being forced to take a 10 on number 3 but fought it back to help the team. He will be a good player for Colorado City this year. Rusty Blair played his first competitive round of the year and will sharpen as the season continues."

The next tournament is dated for March 12 in Kermit. It will be the opening of six district rounds (round robins), with each team in the district hosting a tournament.

Bridal shower honors Farrar

Rebecca Farrar, daughter of Sharon and Donnie Gilbreath, was honored with an old fashioned bride's shower Saturday, February 19, 1994 in the home of Carolyn and Larry Don Watlington.

The shower's theme was dedicated to marriage 100 years ago. Wedding mementos of the 1800's were displayed, including a silk wedding purse, a prayer book, and an 1881 book entitled, The Royal Path to Life, given to Mrs. Watlington's great grandmother, Sarah Stegall Arnett on her wedding day in the early 1800s. The book was customarily given to new brides by their parents and tells what to expect out of life and marriage. Also on display were several mementos from weddings of 50, 75 and 100 years ago.

The antique serving table was covered with a Battenberg lace tablecloth belonging to Jo Ward, a gift to her on her wedding day from her mother, Mary Jane Fields.

The punch was served from an antique porcelain wash bowl and pitcher, mints were served from a green crystal tray given to Mrs. Watlington as a wedding gift from Margaret Hudson, who had also received it as a wedding gift in the 1930s. All other refreshments were served in antique dishes and all had been wedding gifts several generations of friends and family.

This old fashioned afternoon was enjoyed by several guests, who in turn described their own wedding days and the customs of the times in which they were married.

Rebecca's wedding to Scott Aaron Jones was scheduled for March 5 at Park Row Church of Christ, Arlington.

Hardin-Simmons bands to perform March 8th

The Concert Band and Cowboy Band of Hardin-Simmons University will present a concert on Tuesday night, March 8, in Behrens Chapel.

W. Scott Mather, director of both bands, said the public is cordially invited to the program, which begins at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Chris Sanchez of Colorado City plays in the percussion section of the Hardin-Simmons band.
