Odessa Boy Drowns At Lake Thomas

A seven-year-old Odessa boy, Rocky Cooper, drowned shortly before 11 o'clock Saturday morning in Lake J. B. Thomas.

The boy, who lived at 2907 Catalina Drive, Odessa, with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Wilson, reportedly was wading with two other youths near Boyd's Lodge. The other two youths, who were not immediately identified, were reported suffering from shock.

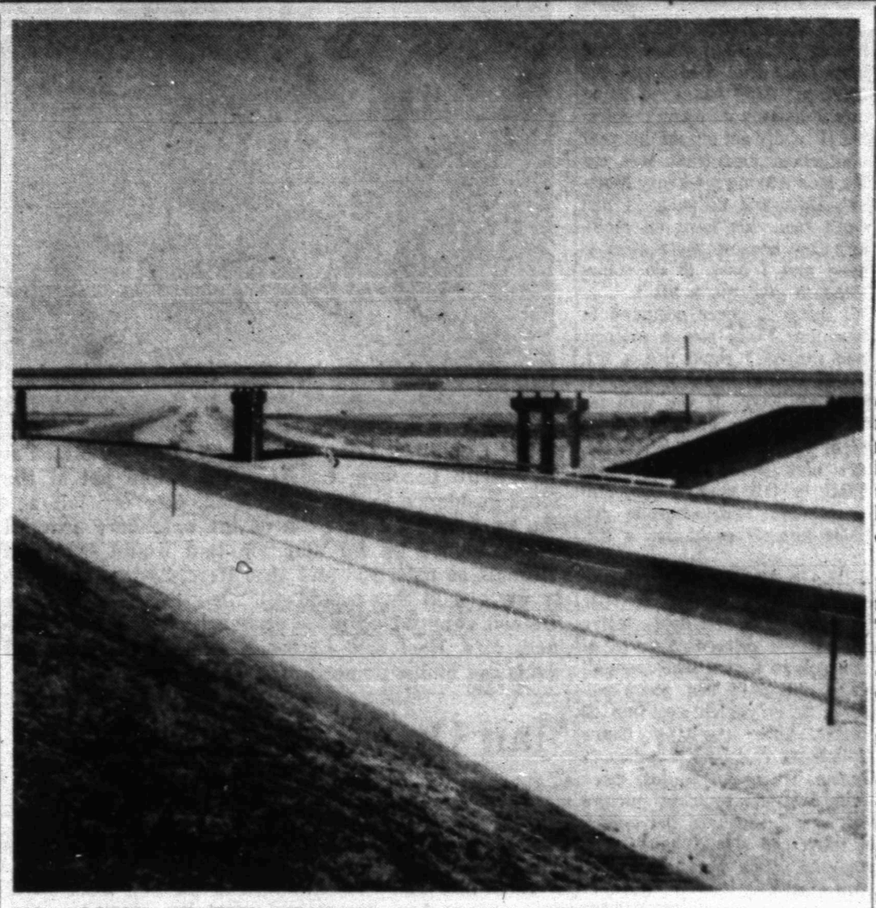
A Bell-Seale ambulance from Snyder brought the young victim to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Efforts were made to revive him throughout the trip to Snyder and after he reached the hospital at 11:50 a.m.

The other two youths were brought to the hospital by automobile.

The drowning is the 22nd recorded at Lake Thomas since it was opened some 10 years ago.

Killed In Crash

BEAUMONT (AP)— Herman Sullenger, 19, died Saturday after a car accident one mile east of Vidor. Police said he apparently fell asleep driving.



TO ACCEPT TRAFFIC MONDAY—These twin highways, part of the new U. S. 84 project, will be opened to traffic Monday. The scene above shows the bridge which takes northbound traffic on old U. S. 84 across the new road southeast of Snyder. The new road proceeds around the east edge of Snyder, following a course east of the Santa Fe Railroad.

New Highway Project Opening Set Monday

Another 10-mile segment of the new U. S. 84 four - lane, divided highway will be opened to traffic Monday.

The area involved extends from the present north terminal of the new road four miles southeast of Snyder to a point six miles northwest of town, or or from the Ezell - Key feed plant to the Basin Wax Products Co. plant.

This portion of the U.S. 84 project was started in January of 1962 and has been completed under four separate construction contracts at a total cost of approximately $2½ million.

Homer Ray, resident engineer here for the Texas Highway Department, said crews would begin removing barricades and uncovering signs along the new segment at 8 p.m. Monday and that traffic would be turned on to the new road at about 10 a.m.

The road leaves the present U. S. 84 route at the south end of the new segment and proceeds around the east edge of Snyder. It crosses the Santa Fe Railroad via overpass southeast of town and continues east of the railroad for the remainder of the way.

Major arteries connecting Snyder with the new road intersect at the junction with old U. S. 84 southeast of town, at the intersection with U. S. 180, at the southeast edge of town, at the intersection with Avenue E on the northeast corner of town, and at the intersection with Texas Highway 208 (Clairemont Road or Avenue S) on the north side of town. Also, the old U. S. 87 route from the north will be maintained by the highway department from the Basin Wax Products Co. plant into town on the present route.

Work on U. S. 84 contracts are now underway from a point one mile north of Dermott to the Garza County line. This project, about 8 miles in length, will cost about $550,000.

Plans and specifications are now being prepared for the six miles between Basin Wax Products Co. plant and the current project beginning north of Dermott. This will be the last segment in Scurry County, and it is expected to be up for a contract late in 1965.

Alert Is Cancelled As Cyprus Tension Eases

By THOMAS A. REEDY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) —The latest Turkish invasion scare ebbed today and the government called off an alert that nearly 30,000 Greek Cypriot home guards on uneasy watch through the night. All returned home by noon, leaving behind only normal pickets.

The rumors were that Turkey planned to dispatch its armed forces for protection of the Turkish Cypriot minority. The showdown was reported avoided by the intervention of President Johnson.

Greece also had put its armed forces on emergency alert.

"The Cyprus crisis has been pushed into a grave phase by the Greek Cypriot administrators," a Turkish Cabinet spokesman said.

A ranking Turkish informant said, however, that Turkey had given up the idea of landing on Cyprus "for the time being."

Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, flew to Ankara unexpectedly Friday. He met with Gen. Cevdet Sunay, Turkey's chief of staff, and with Premier Ismet Inonu.

The Turkish source said U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare gave Inonu a note from President Johnson inviting Inonu to the United States, and explaining that the President was unable to leave the country.

Johnson and Lemnitzer examined the possibilities of a Turkish landing on the island, the Turkish source said.

In Washington, the White House refused comment on any Johnson intervention in an invasion but said he did suggest to Inonu "the possibility of visiting Washington if convenient, but this matter is still under discussion."

Nicosia was filled with rumors that Turkey had six ships cruising off the north coast of Cyprus.

Cyprus sources also said the U.S. 6th Fleet was maneuvering somewhere near the area, as it often does.

The sources said 30,000 National Guardsmen had been called into action to defend all coastal areas.

Troops were concentrated on the northern coast, especially in the Mansoura area west of Morphou Bay. That section is where the Greeks claim Turkish Cypriots have been importing arms from Istanbul.

Turkish Cypriots showed no unusual activity, despite reports that any Turkish invasion would be combined with an attack by Turkish Cypriots on strategic points northward from the capital to the coast.

RIGHTS DEBATE

Showdown Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A showdown on shutting off the Senates marathon civil rights debate was postponed today after agreement was reached to vote on three important amendments the first of next week.

Senate leaders delayed the filing of a petition to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule when no objection was raised to voting on the three amendments. The cloture petition would have led automatically to a vote Tuesday on whether to continue or shut off debate.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, acting for a group of Republicans, had proposed delaying that action pending a vote on the amendments. His proposal required unanimous consent, which was given.

The agreement cleared the way for a weekend break in the long debate, and the Senate recessed until noon Monday after a session of less than two hours.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern senators battling the civil rights measure, said he would not object to Hickenlooper's request even though he had concluded there was "very little chance of my winning anything out of this situation."

Russell said that if the Southerners rejected the request, they would antagonize some Republican senators who want a chance to discuss and vote on key issues before cloture is attempted.

On the other hand, he said, by consenting to the agreement the Southerners probably would make it easier for Senate leaders to obtain the required two-thirds majority for limiting debate.

Hillsdale Strike Settlement Made

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Negotiators working all night in Gov. George W. Romney's office reached agreement today on terms to end a violent 99-day-old strike at Essex Wire Corp., in Hillsdale.

The meeting, fourth all-night session since Romney declared a state of emergency in Hillsdale and called out the National Guard to keep the peace, began at 10 p.m. Friday night.

James Carey, national president of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers, flew from Washington for talks with the governor.

With Carey's decision to come to Lansing, Romney also summoned Essex President Walter Probst and local company and union officials.

The settlement was announced at 8:37 a.m.

Negotiators, among them President James B. Carey of the International Union of Electrical Workers, met at Romney's offices at the capitol.

Gov. Romney's exact role was not clear. The talks were private. However, it was evident the governor was taking an influential part.

IUE Local 810 of Hillsdale walked out Feb. 28 in a dispute over terms of a first contract with Essex Wire.

Carey had asked Romney to close down the reopened plant. Romney made no comment on that score in a reply but said he was hopeful that negotiations would bring a settlement. He had allowed the plant to reopen after it had been closed for five days. Non-union help was employed.

Other officials gathering at Romney's office for Friday night's meeting were Essex Wire President Walter Probst and Vice President Frank Gallucci, chief counsel for Essex, and George Gould and Robert Klingensmith of the IUE.

The talks followed an opinion from State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that Romney had a legal right to close the plant again.

Chief issues in the negotiations reportedly were pay rates under an IUE-Essex contract and union demands for a union shop, plus the number of strikers to be rehired after a settlement.

Essex Wire opposed reinstatement of strikers who it said were "guilty of violence" or had destroyed company property. The union demanded that all strikers be returned.

Essex Wire pays an average $2.43 an hour. Other Essex plants outside Michigan pay 40 to 60 cents more than this. The IUE has demanded up to $3.

Goldwater, Nixon Accept Invite To Governor's Meet

By JACK BELL

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon today accepted invitations to meet with the nation's governors in their 56th annual conference.

Circumstances surrounding their acceptance indicated that an informal summit conference of Republicans was in the making. Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and George Romney of Michigan are expected to attend.

This would bring together most of the men who have been mentioned as possible Republican presidential nominees.

Gov. Paul Fannin of Arizona announced that Goldwater, leading in the contest for the presidential nomination, would arrive Monday to attend the session that night which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will address.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho arranged a Tuesday morning breakfast for Republican governors to which Nixon, the 1960 party nominee, was invited. Nixon planned to arrive at the conference after addressing a fund-raising dinner at Muskegon, Mich. Monday night.

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes took the lead in getting invitations issued to Goldwater and Nixon.

As a favorite-son candidate, Rhodes heads an Ohio delegation that easily could deliver a majority of its 58 delegate votes to Goldwater on the first ballot at the GOP convention if there were a stampede.

Eisenhower, who recently described the kind of progressive Republican he would like to see nominated, cut the ground from under party liberals by saying newsmen who interpreted his statement, and not he, had read Goldwater out of consideration.

While the former president will serve as a television commentator at the nominating convention, it was learned that he will be represented on the convention floor by his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower of Baltimore. The latter has accepted a place on the Maryland delegation.

Most Republican strategists think Gen. Eisenhower would like to see Scranton become the presidential nominee. But Scranton has been so reluctant about entering the contest that few think he can be developed in the remaining time as challenger to Goldwater.

Republican governors, who have had to reassess their thinking about their own renominations because of Goldwater's victory over Rockefeller in Tuesday's California primary, scheduled a get-together today with Rep. William E. Miller, GOP national chairman.

With Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, Miller hoped to assess strategy for the campaigns to elect Republicans to the 25 gubernatorial races this year.

There were numerous denials that the Republican gathering would be utilized to organize a stop-Goldwater movement.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY There is this real good-looking guy I'll call "J". I have seen him around for about a year, but I never thought I had a chance with him. Well, all of a sudden "J" called me up and asked me for a date. He is 21 and I am 18, but I'm very mature for my age. On our first date we got along swell. "J" is the kind of guy you can get acquainted with real fast. He told me he loved me, an said that maybe he would ask me to go steady, but first I had to "prove my love" (if you know what I mean). How can I hold him without proving my love? I would give my right arm to get this guy.

FALLING IN LOVE

DEAR FALLING: Lose him. He's not worth your right arm. What he needs is a right hook!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who goes fishing every Mother's Day and leaves his wife alone with the children? This has been going on for as long as I can remember. I finally got fed up this year and asked him what was the big idea leaving me every Mother's Day, and he said, "I just can't face this town on Mother's Day because my mother is dead and I have to do something to give me a lift."

I guess it never occurred to him that I am also a mother, and maybe I could use a lift.

NOT LIFTED IN ROANOKE

DEAR NOT: If you wait for the obvious to occur to some men, you will wait a long time. It's high time it occurred to YOU to tell your sentimental sweetheart that someone besides himself could use a lift.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I asked my girl what she wanted for her birthday and she said, "Give me a big colored picture of yourself in a real nice frame." Like a dope I had some pictures taken which cost me 22 bucks. Then I got a frame which set me back another 12 bucks. We broke up last week and this girl sent my picture back, but she kept the frame. I think she should have given me the whole works. What do you think?

SEYMOUR

DEAR SEYMOUR: You got the "works" all right. But you did GIVE her the picture and the frame as a gift, so it all belongs to her. (Maybe she's framing somebody else now.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter signed "TWENTY - TWO AND MISERABLE." She was the young bride whose husband informed her shortly after their marriage that he had spent $500 on an investigation of her past, and he took great pleasure in throwing up to her a "mistake" she had made.

Tell her to ask her husband what a $500 investigation of HIS past would have turned up. It's strange how, when a girl makes a mistake it's a crime, but when a man makes the same mistake 30 or 40 times, it's just an incident. When I became engaged, my husband asked me if I was "pure." I told him I was just as "pure" as he was, and he married me anyway.

Man On Moon Will Put Superman In The Shade!

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Able to jump over tall mountains with a single leap—soar over deep craters—hover over jagged canyons—is it superman?

Nope! It's an astronaut on the moon wearing his one-man rocket propulsion device, designed to give the lunar explorer a greater range in examining the moon.

A $70,000 study has just been completed by Hamilton Standard, a subsidiary of United Aircraft Co., Windsor Locks, Conn., on the one-man propulsion unit.

Wooden mockup models were constructed to give manned spacecraft center officials an idea of how the units would look.

They resemble an overstuffed arm chair without the seat or legs—just the arms. The astronaut controls the device with hand leavers. Rockets at the four corners provide power.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency were hampered in their search for a one-man unit because of special conditions. It couldn't be a back pack model, because the astronaut's back would be loaded down with life support equipment.

The moon's one-sixth gravity posed another problem. Space platforms were ruled out because of bulkiness.

There are several one-man propulsion units in use now. A man at the New York World's Fair amazes visitors by soaring into the sky.

He uses a back pack model, and it is designed for earth's one "G" gravity. The same power used on the moon would put the wearer in orbit.

Richard F. Hergert, program manager for the one-man propulsion unit at the Manned Spacecraft, said devices built for zero-gravity or weightlessness, didn't have enough power to cope with the moon's gravity.

Hamilton Standard constructed two models, after studies showed a single unit would weigh too much, one for free space and one for lunar exploration.

Operator reversed out 26 barrels of oil and recovered 100 feet of oil-cut mud from below the circulating sub. Flowing pressure ranged from 298 to 1,825 pounds and two - hour final shutin bottomhole pressure was 2,389 pounds. The project is drilling below 7,869 feet on an 8,500-foot contract.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 404, block 97, H&TC survey and is one location west of the pool opener.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1 Mid Seale, Ellenburger prospect in Garza County, swabbed 72 barrels of new oil, 77 barrels of load oil and 23 barrels of unidentified water in 14 hours.

The fluid came from perforations between 8,798 and 8,809 feet after a 500-gallon mud acid wash. Swabbing on completion tests continues.

It is five miles east of Southland, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 1302, Jasper Hays survey and ¾ miles northwest of the one - well Simms, Southwest (Glorieta) pool. It is 19 miles north of the northernmost established Ellenburger production in the Permian Basin which is in the Texas, North multipay field.

Kentucky bluegrass seeds sprouted and grew for 10 days in Antarctica before dying. Only algae, mosse, and lichens had been found to grow so far south before.

Ike Readied For D-Day Failure

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's plans for the invasion of France 20 years ago today included an alternate announcement, for use if necessary.

"Our landings in the Cherbourg-Havre area have failed to gain a satisfactory foothold and I have withdrawn the troops."

The supreme Allied commander didn't need the precautionary, penciled announcement he wrote the night before the attack and carried in his wallet that historic day.

The Allied force landed, hammered through German defenses and began the push to the Reich.

The magazine, Army, tells how Eisenhower, realizing how critical could be a Normandy landing in face of a huge German force and array of fortifications, wrote out the text of a communique in which he would have accepted responsibility for failure.

The article—"Could The Germans Have Won?"—is written by Martin Blumenson, civilian historian in the Army's Office of the Chief of Military History. It includes a photographic copy of Eisenhower's handwritten memo, with a few words scratched out by the general as he phrased the announcement he might have to use. After the opening sentence concerning failure and withdrawal of forces, Eisenhower wrote:

"My decision to attack at this time and place was based upon the best information available. The troops, the air and the Navy did all that bravery and devotion to duty could do. If any blame or fault attaches to the attempt, it is mine alone."

Eisenhower recalled the note during a taped television interview shown on the Columbia Broadcasting System network Friday night.

He said he would have assumed all blame, "because if it did fail, you know this, I was going into oblivion anyway, so I might as well take full responsibility."

Blumenson writes that a number of things could have defeated the invasion:

Bad weather at the start could have continued and complicated the amphibious landing of the 150,000 troops the first 24 hours and upset airborne operations further. If that had happened, the "cross-Channel attack would have foundered."

The Germans' 15th Army, strongest in Western Europe, was deployed for anti-invasion —but at the wrong place, thanks to a deceptive plan of the Allies.

"Had the Germans moved the 15th Army to Normandy instead of keeping it in the Pas-de-Calais (to the north and at the narrowest part of the English Channel) for an invasion that never came, they might well have won the battle of D-Day," Blumenson writes.

Adolf Hitler had conflicting advice from two top commanders. Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt, commander in Western Europe, said a strong force should be kept in reserve, to be moved to whatever point the Allied landing appeared.

But Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, army group commander in the invasion area, wanted the reserve force immediately behind the beaches because he feared a central reserve force would be unable to move to a menaced point due to Allied air power.

Hitler hadn't decided which plan to accept when the landing started.

Krush, Tito Plan Visit

MOSCOW (AP) —Soviet Premier Khrushchev will meet President Tito of Yugoslavia in Leningrad next week, Tass said today.

The official Soviet news agency said Khrushchev had invited Tito to come to Leningrad at the end of the Yugoslav leader's current state visit to Finland. The visit ends Monday.

The Tass announcement did not give the day of the meeting. It said Tito would make a "short visit" to the northern Soviet City.

The two last met in the fall of 1963 while Khrushchev was on a "working vacation" trip to Yugoslavia.

Tito was last in the Soviet Union in 1962.

A major item on the Leningrad agenda was certain to be the Soviet-Chinese power struggle, and the role Tito plays in it.

LBJ PLEASED

US Employment Picture Lauded

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says record high employment and a four-year low in the jobless rate are strong evidence that the recent tax cut is stimulating the nation's economy and creating new jobs.

"I am greatly encouraged," Johnson said after the Labor Department announced Friday that unemployment dipped sharply to 5.1 per cent in May while employment climbed to an all-time high of 71.1 million.

But Johnson and the department cautioned tht the situation could worsen this month as millions of youths leave classrooms and go job-hunting.

Johnson said the teen-age unemployment rate of about 16 per cent was "extremely serious." "We must and will make further progress in this area," he said.

He also plugged for his anti-poverty legislation before Congress, saying: "It will provide both training and job opportunities for our young people and thereby strike at one of the basic roots of poverty."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the high jobless rate among youths was intensified because "more teen-agers are competing for a smaller number of jobs—low-skilled jobs."

The bureau said one month was not enough to predict a trend, but the May figures indicated the nation may finally be moving off the high unemployment level of 5.5 per cent or more for about seven years.

The 71.1 million jobholders in May was an increase of about 1.2 million from April and about 200,000 more than had been expected.

"This is a further heartening evidence that the tax cut is working as expected—and that its economic stimulus is being translated into new jobs," Johnson said in his statement.

Texas Traffic Deaths Continue To Rise

AUSTIN (AP) — State police said Saturday 1,083 persons have died on Texas roads this year, compared to 937 last year.

Snyderite On Maneuver

FORT BUCKNER, Okinawa—Army PFC Donald T. Deere, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Deere, Snyder, is participating in Exercises LIGTAS, a combined amphibious - airborne maneuver in the Philippines by member Nations of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), May 12-June 10.

LIGTAS, the Philippine word for "rescue," is designed to improve tactics and techniques for coordinating difficult amphibious-airborne operations and to develop close working relationships and understanding among the armed services of SEATO member countries.

Deere, regularly assigned to Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion of the 173d Airborne Brigade's 503d Infantry on Okinawa, arrived overseas in November 1963.

A graduate of Snyder High School, Deere attended Ranger Junior College.

Garden Expert Ashamed Of US Capitol Grounds

WASHINGTON (AP)—A garden expert took a sharp-eyed stroll through the grounds of the majestic U.S. Capitol and reported today he found a neglected landscape "no credit to either building or country."

The situation, as pictured by Washington Post garden writer Tom Stevenson, would drive a suburban weed-fighter to nervous distraction.

"Dying trees, patchy lawns studded with weeds, shrubs crowded by pesty vines" — all this and more Stevenson said he observed during his walk.

There is even one area on the Senate side of the Capitol, Stevenson wrote,, that is eroded from broken sprinkler heads where "probably not even crabgrass would grow."

"In two places poison ivy abounds. A quick count showed 42 plants, other shoots of the noxious stuff creep up tree trunks," he reported.

Stevenson drew a rebuttal from Paul Pincus, 37, chief Capitol landscape architect.

Pincus contended some of Stevenson's findings were wrong and others unfair.

They did not take into account the difficulties of tourist traffic and a limited staff, Pincus contended.

One of Pincus' superiors, Philip L. Roof, executive assistant to the Capitol architect, blames much of the disarray on the small staff.

He says 38 persons—including nine gardeners and two tree surgeons—are assigned to Capitol grounds work, exclusive of cleanup jobs. And he points out they have a lot of ground to cover.

They are responsible, Roof says, for the grounds of the Capitol, Supreme Court, congressional office buildings, Library of Congress and the mile-long stretch from the Union Station to a power plant south of the Capitol.

The appropriation for the current year's operations is $480,500.

In approving the outlay, the House Appropriations Committee noted in its report that: "There is some feeling that the Capitol grounds are not as well maintained as they should be and that the reason is not altogether a matter of insufficient personnel. The committee thinks the grounds ought to be well maintained."

Sprinter George Aldredge of Dallas Highland Park and hurdler-high jumper Johnny Morriss of Houston Jones lead the Texas schoolboy all-state track and field team selected by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Aldredge, who ran the 100 in 9.4 and the 220 in 20.9, and Morriss, who high jumped 6 feet 6½ inches and ran the high hurdles in 13.7, were the only double leaders.

Only one performer of 1963 failed to repeat. He is Brian Woolsey of Fort Worth Castleberry, a top miler who switched to the 880 running only two of the longer races this season.

There are four juniors on the team — Aldredge, Port Arthur sprinter Dale Bernauer, Houston San Jacinto's Conley Brown in the quarter-mile and Barry Noble, high jumper from Jourdanton. One sophomore, Abilene pole vaulter Larry Smith, landed on the team.

The team:

Hansen Breaks World's Record

HOUSTON (AP)— Fred Hansen, son of a Texas turkey raiser, roared down a wet runway Friday night, and using a fiberglass pole, vaulted higher than any man in history.

The young man from Cuero, Tex., catapulted 17 feet, one inch on his ninth try at the U.S. Track and Field Federation district championship meet.

He climbed a fourth of an inch higher than the pending world record of 17-¾ by John Pennell in 1963.

It was Hansen who loaned Pennel a fiberglass pole which Pennel used in his first record assault over a year ago at Memphis, Tenn. Pennell used the pole several more times as he raised the mark past 17 feet.

Hansen brushed the bar Friday night, but it stayed up as he watched from the foam rubber pit. He started at 15 feet and cleared that on his first try.

Then, he cleared the bar on every second effort at 15-7, 16-1½ and 16-6¼.

The standard was raised to 17-4, but he fell into the bar on his 10th try. He missed twice again and gave it up.

The history-making vault puts Hansen squarely in the Olympic picture and another 17-foot vault in the trials would clinch a trip to Tokyo in October.

The former Southwest Conference champion from Cuero, Tex., competed unattached. His eligibility at Rice University expired last year.

Before Friday's meet, he had the best vault in the nation this year, a 16-4½ at the Modesto, Calif., Relays two weeks ago.

Hansen had predicted he would clear 17 feet after his 16-4½ in the California Relays. And Friday night, after his mighty effort, he remained optimistic.

"You gotta have confidence," he explained. "I even thought I'd make that 17-4 tonight. Well, I know I can make 17-4 or even 17-6."

H will get his chance next Saturday in the Olympic development meet in San Diego, Calif. After that, he wants to vault in all the big pre-Olympic meets.

While Hansen downed a soft drink after his effort, his former coach at Rice, Emmett Brunson said: "With a little more drive he could've made 17-3¾.

"He had four inches of air between him and the bar, but he was too pooped. He barely came down on it.

"He just needed a little more drive," Brunson nodded, "just a little more drive."

Track Star Is Lucky To Be Alive

By JERRY SCARBROUGH

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — About a month ago Mark Brady was an Olympic track hopeful. Today he's lucky to be alive.

The 23-year-old former University of Oklahoma high jumper had just completed work on his master's degree and he was jumping higher than ever before. His thoughts naturally turned to the Olympics.

Brady was becoming fairly consistent at clearing around seven feet in practice. He knew competition at the Olympic trials would be rough, but he felt he had a chance.

Then disaster struck.

While warming up to compete in a meet at Nashville, Tenn., Brady suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. Brady complained of a numbness in his arm and prompt attention was credited with saving his life.

He was rushed to a hospital and lapsed into unconsciousness. It was almost a month before he was removed from the critical list.

His recovery has been amazing. From a state of almost total paralysis, Brady has recovered to the point he can walk with the aid of crutches. He was unable to speak, but now talks slowly but surely.

"He's gained just tremendously," said his mother, Mrs. Edgar Brady of Oklahoma City.

He was flown home from Nashville a week ago.

"He'll be under a doctor's care for some time," said Mrs. Brady.

He requires physical and speech therapy constantly.

Mrs. Brady said the doctors were pessimistic about his chances for recovery at first, but "now they just can't believe he's progressing so fast."

The miracles started in the operating room, she believes.

"The nearness of a hospital probably saved his life. Then, when they took him to the operating room, they thought he'd have a blood clot on his brain, but they were able to take out the damaged vein with a needle because there was no clot," she explained.

"One doctor told us he might be fine by Christmas," Mrs. Brady said. "We're praying for that."

Brady's friends at the University of Oklahoma have helped out. When he was stricken, the university's O Club started a drive for funds to help defray medical expenses. The fund now contains more than $1,300 and contributions are still arriving.

8 Runners Break 4-Minute Mile

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Writer

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) —A record eight runners, led to the tape by Dyrol Burleson, cracked the once-fabled four minutes in the mile Friday night, and unheralded Bob Schul broke the American record in winning the 5,000-meter run at the Compton Invitational Track Meet.

Schul, from Miami University of Ohio, defeated New Zealand's star distance runner, Bill Baillie in 13:38.0, with Baillie well behind at 13:40.0.

Schul and Baillie staged a thrilling duel on the final lap, with the veteran Baillie unable to gain any ground.

The mile again turned into a battle between Burleson and youthful Tom O'Hara of Chicago's Loyola University with Burleson, from Oregon, winning in 3:57.4. O'Hara's time was 3:57.6.

The next six finishers were clocked in this order:

Archie San Romani, 3:57.6; Morgan Groth, 3:57.9; Jim Grelle, 3:58.5; Bob Day, 3:58.9; Cary Weisiger, 3:58.9 and Jim Ryun, the Wichita, Kan., high school junior, 3:59.0.

Ryun thus became the first schoolboy ever to break the four-minute barrier.

A year ago the Compton mile had a record six runners under four minutes, which went down as a record for the once-magic number in one race.

Ron Larrieu, another dark horse from the Los Angeles Track Club, finished third in the 5,000-meter run and the 17-year-old high school sensation, Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash., fourth.

Larrieu was timed in 13:43.0, and Lindgren in 13:44.0.

The American record of 13:43.8 was set by Bruce Kidd in this meet June 2, 1962.

Mele Says He Is Not After Scalps

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam Mele says he isn't after anyone's scalp. Chuck Dressen, however, may have to keep a close watch on his.

Mele, manager of the Minnesota Twins, apologized Friday night for a bean-ball threat made against Baltimore pitcher Steve Barber, then watched his club win a gopher ball battle from the Orioles 11-5.

When the teams met in Baltimore two weeks ago, Twins' rookie Tony Oliva was beaned by a Barber pitch. At the time, Mele was quoted as saying, "The next time we get a chance to throw at Barber, he is going down."

Barber is due to pitch for the Orioles today, but Mele has cleared the air.

"I was darn mad at the time," he said in apologizing, "but I shouldn't have said it. We just want to beat Baltimore."

Dressen's having trouble beating anyone. His Detroit Tigers went out and lost their sixth straight, 4-3 to the Chicago White Sox, just hours after Dressen said the pat on the back he received f omrlc ubd owner John Fetzer was not a vote of confidence.

Dressen met with Fetzer Friday to talk about the Tigers, currently languishing in eighth place, 11 games out of first. After the session, Dressen said:

"I'm the manager of the Detroit Tigers and there's little more I can say, except that it wasn't a vote of confidence. I don't like votes of confidence and I'm glad Mr. Fetzer didn't word it as such."

And that's where Charley stands today.

The White Sox stand in first place, their victory shooting them to the top spot in the American League, 23 percentage points ahead of the Orioles.

Elsewhere, Dick Stuart hit his third grand slam of the season as Boston crushed Kansas City 14-7, the Los Angeles Angels nipped the New York Yankees 3-2 and Washington defeated Cleveland 5-3.

In the National League, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 5-3 in 11 innings, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 5-4, the Chicago Cubs downed Milwaukee 5-2, the New York Mets blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-0 and Pittsburgh nipped Houston 4-3.

Zollo Versalles, who had hit only one homer in 47 previous games this season, hit two for the Twins, driving in three runs. Jimmie Hall also hit a homer and collected three runs-batted-in as Minnesot snapped Baltimore's six - game winning streak. Three Orioles hit homers, Brooks Robinson, Jackie Brandt and Boog Powell connecting against winner Lee Stange.

The White Sox penetrated Detroit's ragged defense for four runs in the first three innings and that was it. The White Sox scored twice in the second as third baseman Jake Wood contributed a wild throw and let a fly ball drop between him and shortstop Dick McAuliffe. Al Weis scored Chicago's final run on Ed Rakow's wild pitch after getting to third on an error.

Stuart and Lee Thomas, starting his first game since he was acquired from the Angels, hit homers in a nine-run second inning that put the game away for the Red Sox. Thomas also collected two singles. Rocky Colavito, George Alusik and Ed Charles homered for the Athletics. Colavito's was his 14th.

Lou Clinton, acquired by Los Angeles in the Thomas trade, also collected a homer and two singles for his new mates. Jim Fregosi drove in the deciding run for the Angels with a sixth-inning sacrifice fly after Yankee starter Ralph Terry threw home on a bunt, trying to nail Ed Kirkpatrick. Kirkpatrick, however, had never left third. Fregosi brought him home.

Jim King hit a two-run homer in the fourth, putting the Senators ahead to stay and they clinched it by scoring two more in the seventh with the aid of a throwing error by Max Alvis. Vic Davalillo homered for the Indians, his first of the year.

Poor Time To Pose For Pictures

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— The man was punching holes in the street window of the Southern Jewelry Co. when free lance photographer Robert Hunter happened on the scene.

"I could not believe my eyes" Hunter told police later, as he saw the man calmly stuffing his pockets with wrist watches.

Hunter went into a nearby store, adjusted the lens of his camera, then casually returned to shoot the man's picture.

"I didn't seem to bother him," Hunter said.

The man strolled down the street amid dozens of pedestrians.

Five minutes later police arrested Andrew Gonzales, 30 emerging from a tavern with watches in his pockets. He was charged with burglary.

Sports Car Rallye Set For Sunday

The Snyder Sports Car Club has scheduled a rallye for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In addition to local members of the club who will participate, a number of out-of-town cars are expected to be entered.

Invitations have been extended to sports car clubs in Odessa, Midland, Lubbock, Abilene and Big Spring.

The cars will leave from the Highland Park Shopping Center parking lot. The route, which will cover around 100 miles, will be run on paved secondary roads and short distances on primary highways.

Drivers are judged on their ability to pass sheck points at the right times based on the distances of the various legs and the speeds assigned to the legs. All assigned speeds are well below legal limits.

Members of the Snyder Citizens Band Radio Club will man the check points to radio the contestant's check-in times as well as to stand by to render help if necessary.

Rallyemaster will be Jeb Long of the Snyder Club.

Anyone who drives a sports or foreign car is eligible for membership in the local club, and are invited to participate in the rallye.

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)— Sheriff's officers made a house by house search Friday and found Wanda Gatlin, 15, to tell her family a rabid dog may have bitten her in West Texas.

Wanda, the daughter of Frank Goodrich, was tracked down at the request of police in Andrews, Tex., formerly the family home. They arrived Thursday to live at nearby Highway City.

Andrews police said it was feared a neighbor's dog, later found to be rabid, bit Wanda shortly before the family left Texas. She will undergo rabies vaccination.

Slaughter Is Poor Host At His Parties

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sterling Slaughter sounds as if he should sit behind a huge desk at the First National Bank during the day and throw society cocktail parties at night.

Slaughter, however, works for the Chicago Cubs where the only parties he throws are pitching parties.

The Milwaukee Braves are convinced he's a poor host.

Slaughter, in only his second year of professional baseball, stopped the Braves on six hits, 5-2, for the second time in a week Friday night.

The victory, his second without a loss, marked the first time he's completed a game in the majors. He came out of the bullpen for his first start last Saturday and held the Braves to one hit in seven innings before getting relief help in the eighth. The Cubs won the game 2-0.

The 22-year-old right-hander was signed last June off the Arizona State University campus where he earned a spot on the College All-America team. He pitched for Amarillo and led the Texas League with his 3.00 earned-run average.

His latest performance reduced his Chicago ERA to 1.73 and helped the Cubs to their eighth victory in 10 starts since losing to the New York Mets 19-1, May 26.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco squeezed by Philadelphia 5-3 in 11 innings, the Mets blanked Los Angeles 8-0, Pittsburgh nipped Houston 4-3 and Cincinnati edged St. Louis 5-4.

In the American League, Chicago outlasted Detroit 4-3, Minnesota trounced Baltimore 11-5, Boston trampled Kansas City 14-7 and Los Angeles got past New York 3-2.

Slaughter struck out eight and walked three as the Cubs handed the Braves their sixth loss in seven games. Billy Williams increased his league-leading average two points to .413 with two singles in four at bats.

Billy Cowan belted three singles and drove in two runs while Joe Amalfitano slugged a two-run homer in the third for the Cubs.

Harvey Kuenn's single and Chuck Hiller's triple knocked in two runs for the Giants in the 11th against Jack Baldschun. Orlando Cepeda's sixth homer had tied the game 3-3 in the eighth.

Cookie Rojas scored all three Phillies' runs, two of them after hitting doubles in the first and the third.

Galen Cisco pitched his first complete game victory since Sept. 21, 1961, limiting the Dodgers to four hits. It was his first decision since losing the 23-inning game against the Giants last Sunday.

Ron Fairly's error on Cisco's grounder led to seven unearned runs in the third. Ed Kranepool and Charlie Smith hit back-to-back homers in the inning, Kranepool's coming with two on.

The Pirates rallied for three runs with two out in the ninth, the winning run scoring on Roberto Clemente's single. Donn Clendenon and Manny Mota each sigled home a run before the winning hit. Al Spangler's two-run single had put the Colts into a 3-1 lead in the fifth.

The Pirates' rally spoiled Don Nottebart's chance for his first victory after seven losses.

The Reds also came from behind in the ninth. Deron Johnson slashed a two-run pinch single, climaxing a four-run outburst. The Cardinals contributed two errors to the rally.

Glen Hobbie, acquired three days ago from the Cubs, had a four-hit 4-0 shutout until the eighth when Vada Pinson singled in the Reds' first run. Hobbie and Bill White homered for the Cardinals.

Cards, Indians Win In LL Play

In Little League action Friday night the Cardinals stayed on top of the heap in the National by defeating the Giants 5 - 2, while in the American the Indians rode Gary Harless' one-hitter to a 10-0 shutout over the Yankees.

The Cardinals won their fourth in five outings, nailing down the victory with four runs in the 6th, after having led 1-0 until that point. The Giants staged somewhat of a rally in the bottom of the 6th, scoring two runs on three singles and a walk. The rally ended when winning pitcher Glen Rambin got the last man to face him on a strikeout.

Gary Harless had a bid for a no - hitter going until Orville Schwartz singled in the 4th. The Indians had three scoring innings, getting three in the 2nd, five in the 4th, and two in the 5th.

Texas League Batting Led By Linares

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Julio Linares, El Paso's 22-year-old third baseman from the Dominican Republic, put on a sensational batting surge last week to move from 10th to the top in the Texas League.

He replaced Larry Stubing, an El Paso teammate who had led the league in hitting for six straight weeks, and he pounded 17 hits in 27 times at bat to do it.

Linares jetted his average to .390 by hitting safely in 17 of his last 18 games.

Stuing got only seven hits in 29 times at the plate and skidded to .361 and second place.

But Stubing held on to four specialized departments: He leads the league in total bases with 110, doubles with 17, home runs with 12 and runs batted in with 56.

Brack Bailey of Albuquerque leads in triples with nine.

Two San Antonio aces, starter Chris Zachary and relief specialist Don Bradey, lead the league in pitching victories. Each has won six games.

Bradey is the hardest pitcher to score on. In 30 innings he granted just two earned tallies for a 0.60 earned run average.

Zachary leads in strikeouts with 78.

El Paso has a 10-point lead in club batting over Albuquerque with .289. Tulsa and Albuquerque are tied for the lead in fielding at .966.

Narvaez In Narrow Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Frankie Narvaez' winning streak has increased to 14 but even the New Yorker's most ardent rooter has to admit he's a long way from being ready to take on lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz.

Narvaez, the seventh-ranking lightweight contender was lucky to gain a majority decision over bouncy Johnny Bizzarro, a pesky type of fighter from Erie, Pa., at Madison Square Garden Friday night. They're virtually set for a return bout at the Garden July 17 or 24.

"I should have thrown more uppercuts," wailed Johnny after losing by a shade in his Garden and television debut as a main eventer.

If he had thrown as many earlier in the fight as he did in the last two rounds, he would have romped off with a decision over the 2-1 favorite.

Bizzarro, the No. 2 contender in the 130 - pound junior-lightweight division, elected to fight at long range and he had the squat little Puerto Rican battler chasing him for most of the 10 rounds.

Referee Petey Della, by 5-3-2 and judge Leo Birnbaum, by 5-4-1, voted for Narvaez. Judge Johnny Dran had it a draw, giving each five rounds and five points. The AP card had it even, 5-5.

Narvaez' record now is 20-1-1. Bizzarro's is 46-8-2. Narvaez outweighed his foe, 135 to 132½ pounds. A crowd of about 2,000 saw the televised bout.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankeees starts the 1964 season with a .309 lifetime batting average.

Texas Fisherman Choose Right Spot To Drop Bait

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

Fishermen seem to be dropping their bait in the right spots.

George Lauderdale of Dallas didn't even have to leave the city limits for his big catch. He just went down the street a few blocks, dropped his line in White Rock Lake and caught a 66-pound yellow catfish.

Jordan Trollinger, also of Dallas, went fishing at Platter Flats and brought in one of the finest black bass strings of the year. Included in his catch, which average 6 pounds 1 ounce per fish, was an 8¼-pound giant.

At Lake Texoma, Billy McDonald of Sherman, landed a 5¼-pound black bass, one of the largest bagged at a barge this year in that lake.

Samuel Craft of Austin, was not as successful but probably much more surprised at Austin's Town Lake. He reeled in a seven-inch long squid.

No one knows how it got into the fresh-water lake, but it had the fishermen guessing.

In hot weather, if the talk's not about fish, snakes may enter the conversation.

At Pattonville near Paris, a highway crew found a non poisonous snake, 7 feet 6 inches long and as thick as a man's wrist.

And also in Northeast Texas, near Bonham, the cast of characters almost came to life as a group of 150 Camp Fire girls watched a program of poisonous snakes. After a slide was shown on the screen of a copperhead snake and discussed at length, some of the girls almost stepped on a live one as they returned to their cabins.

Wayne Hanselka of Victoria, a student at Texas A&M, can probably tell snake stories to top them all, however. A wildlife major, he's making a detailed study of the skulls of poisonous snakes.

Where does he get them?

"I caught the rattlesnakes in Llano and Calhoun counties, and the others in the College Station area," he said. Copperheads were the easiest to find, he added.

The National Sand Bass Tournament has been set for June 14-20 on Lake Texoma. Prizes total more than $5,000, with one tagged sandie bringing $1,000 if caught.

The North Texas Water Safari is set for June 13-14 from Garza-Little Elm Dam down the Trinity River to Dallas. The 40-mile race, being held for the second year, includes among its entries last year's champions, University of Houston students Ken Hurd and Richard Johnson.

From W.R. Long of the Parks and Wildlife Department comes these words to outdoorsmen:

"When the family dog, or the camper himself, get involved with a skunk, the odor may be removed by a sponge bath of two cans of tomato juice. Follow with a soap and water bath."

Or, if you've been cleaning fish, Long says, that odor may be eliminated "by a generous application of any ordinary tube of toothpaste."

Southern Cal To Defend 1963 Title

OMAHA (AP) — Southern California, winner of more college baseball World Series championships than any other school, will be defending titlist in the 1964 double elimination tournament, which starts Monday and runs through Friday.

The Trojans have won four championships, and finished a very close second once — in 1960, when Minnesota edged them 2-1 in 10 innings with the winning run walked home.

Minnesota also is back again, after its third series title in as many appearances. The Gophers won it in 1956, in addition to '60.

Southern Cal opens series play this year in the opposite bracket from Minnesota. The Trojans' first opponent is Mississippi, at 7 p.m. EST Monday.

Top players on the Trojan squad are Walt Peterson, coaches' All-America pitcher; shortstop Gary Sutherland, hitting leader at .365, and slugging second baseman Daryl Wilkins.

The series opens with Seton Hall vs. Maineatno on,followed(Hall vs. Maine at noon, followed by Texas A & M vs. Minnesota at 3 p.m., Southern California-Mississippi and Missouri vs. Arizona State at 9:30 p.m.

Texas Golfers Hold Honors In NAIA

FORT WORTH (AP)— Texas schools held most of the honors in the NAIA Golf Tournament today.

Texas Wesleyan won the team title with a four-man score of 1,197 for 72 holes. It was 23 strokes better than runner-up Appalachian of Boone, N.C. East Texas State was third with 1,226.

Texans hogged the individual title. East Texas' Craig Metz won it with 294 and Nickie Brice of East Texas was second with 295, while Charles Meisner of Texas Wesleyan was third with 297.

First baseman Lee Thomas of the Los Angeles Angels has a weekly radio sports program in St. Louis during the winter.

Putts Age Tony Lema

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—"I am 30", said Champagne Tony Lema, "going on 40, from standing over those pressure putts."

Lema fixed it so he wouldn't age over a putt on the 18th green Friday. He chipped the ball into the hole from off the edge for an eagle three.

That gave Lema a birdie eagle finish in the second round of the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Tournament, a 67 and a 36-hole total of 135, two strokes in front.

Champagne Tony overhauled Ken Venturi and Mike Souchak more than three hours after they had posted halfway totals of 137 and were in the lubhouse of 137 and were in the clubhouse telling all about it.

Souchak had 68 Friday and Venturi a 70 as the field toyed with the short, 6,573-yard Westchester Country Club course. Par is listed at 72, but par shooters were lucky to get a starting time for today's third round.

The field was trimmed to the low 96 players, and it took 149 to get in.

Six players were tie dat 138, including Paul Harney who was beaten by Arnold Palmer for the $20,000 top prize last year in a playoff.

Palmer, despite "some of the worst iron shots I've ever hit in my life," scratched out a 71, and was among seven players tied at 139.

Included in that group were U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, who said he is getting sharper every day with the Open coming up in two weeks, and first-round leader Jerry Magee.

Boros had 67, while Magee skidded to a 73, largely on a three-over par seven on the 11th hole. That was a disaster from tee to green.

Jack Nicklaus, also tuning up for the Open championship, had a 69 for a 142 total, but he still wasn't satisfied with his game.

Lema galloped into the lead with a 32 on the back nine. He finished 3-4-3-3-3.

Amateurs Move To Semifinals

TYLER (AP)—Richard Yates of Corpus Christi meets Benny Castloo of Mineola and Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur clashes with Randy Geisiman of Austin today in semifinals of the Texas State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Gone were such worthies as medalist Spec Goldman of Dallas and last year's runner-up, Mike Glover of Dallas, as the tournament neared its close.

Goldman was knocked out by Glover Friday but the latter then ran into Yates, the 1962 champion. Both were 1-up victories, the latter in 20 holes.

Castloo beat Pat Thompson of Austin 2 and 1 to reach the penultimate round, while Fleckman got there with a 2 and 1 triumph over Don Wilson of Mineral Wells.

Yates projected himself as the man to beat as he laid down a one-under-par 70 over the Willow Brook Country Club course. He was champion in 1952.

Angelo Boy Outstanding Tennis Star

AMARILLO (AP) — Johnny White of San Angelo, the Class AAAA state champion, is winner of the outstanding Texas tennis player award of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

Putt Powell, sports editor of the Amarillo News and Globe-Times and chairman of the selection committee, announced the honor.

White beat the 1963 champion, Lamar Roemer of Houston Lamar, for the 1964 championship.

He was the first champion for San Angelo since Tut Bartzen took the title in 1944. White said he will go to Texas Christian University.

Cliff Richey of Dallas was the 1963 award winner. He was not in school this year because of a world tour.

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce honors athletes in the various sports and has only baseball left for this school year.

Previously honored were Linus Baer, San Antonio Lee, football; Jimmy Dale Lenox, Clear Creek, basketball; Ricki Massengale, Jacksboro, golf, and George Aldredge, Dallas Highland Park, track.

Colts Nosed Out

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for three runs in the ninth Friday night and it beat the Houston Colts 4-3.

The Colts had gone ahead 3-1 in the fifth on Al Spangler's twrun single with the bases full.

Houston got a run in the first on Walt Bond's triple but Willie Stargell homered in the fourth to tie it up.

Roberto Clemente drove in the deciding Pirate run with a single after two were out in the ninth.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

TEOTIHUACAN, Mexico — Here among the ancient pyramids the government built a classy, streamlined museum. Regional items on display such as woolen garments they weave in Toluca and wooden spoons and bowls from Ixtapan.

This was once the center of civilization. A nice one, however, with no cars, cops nor elevators.

Actually, Teotihuacan was a sort of transition center. Mortals who qualified for such positions were changed into gods by some process still unknown.

Archeologists have varying opinions on the age of these structures. Some report the pyramids were built 1,200 years ago. Others date them back to 2,000 years. A tourist guide confided they were 12,000 years old. Everyone agrees they are pre-Cortes, pre - Aztec, pre - everything.

The museum is sparkling and sharp. Signs say "Press The Button." You press it and a panel of colored transparencies light up. A technicolor view of everything located around the Teotihuacan real estate.

Beneath each picture is a lettered explanation of what you see. And after walking through the museum you have a pretty good idea that there was a lot of work involved in building the ancient city of gods.

With such an elegant display of history on hand, the vendors moved in and put up shops. Everything from silver jewelry to hand carved yo-yos.

In the old days we considered Teotihuacan merely a collection of abandoned stone out in the sticks. You parked your can in the dust and climbed the Pyramid of The Sun, which apparently got its name because it goes halfway to the sun.

Today there are paved streets and Mr. Cesar Balsa was thoughtful enough to install a plush bar and restaurant atop the museum. Everything glassed - in so you can view the landscape and all the activity.

The government has around 600 gentlemen exeavating new sites in the area and reconstructing time - tumbled structures. The tab on this restoration work will come to an estimated $1.2 million but officials plan to make it a prime attraction.

So sitting in Mr. Balsa's canTine sipping a tequilla sour you can gaze out the picture windows and watch the eager beavers climbing the big pyramid.

I climbed it about 26 years ago and swore I would never do it again. Unfortunately, I got trapped into doing it several times more, the last time being about half an hour before I sat down in an easy chair here and swore never again.

For me, the climbing ladies and gentlemen are a depressing sight. Reminds me of what could happen if I'm not cautious. So I stay in a comfortable chair and contemplate the stone corral around the lesser temples in front of the museum.

At any age, the sight is inspiring from the cantina - restaurant. And I keep thinking what it will be like when the official gentlemen get things back like they used to be.

Maybe I'll come out and change myself into the God of Sapphires. Depending, of course, on whether or not the rejuvenated city works properly.

'Mattress' Show Goes Fine On TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Once Upon a Mattress," the bright Broadway musical comedy of five seasons ago that exposed the inside story of the princess and the pea legend and made Carol Burnett a star, manged the difficult journey from stage to television screen.

A lively adaptation occupied 90 minutes on CBS Wednesday night, with Miss Burnett in her original role given every opportunity to clown and sing tuneful songs.

The original tale makes a sweet bedtime story for children but the more sophisticated musical comedy was better — far better — suited to adult ears which explains the rather late hour at which the network scheduled the production.

The book amplified the background of the fairy tale of the princess who proved her royal sensitivity by being made sleepless by a pea placed under 20 mattresses. It was a perfect setup for Miss Burnett's talents. In spite of this, actor Jack Gilford came close to stealing the show away from her. He was a delight as the mute king, silenced by a sorcerer's spell and able to express himself only by playing a game of "Stump The Stars."

The production was excellent, the dancing imaginative, the music charming and the dialogue often sly and amusing. But the frequent lengthy interruptions for commercials had the distressing effect of destroying, time after time, the audience's mood and the whole spirit of the fantasy. If the poor king needed a spell-breaker he had a great one in the sponsor's earnest sales pitches.

ABDUCTS PRINCESS—Hassan (Tab Hunter), intrepid young adventurer of Damascus torn by strife, abducts the beautiful Princess Jamila (Rossana Podesta) in one of the action-filled scenes of "The Golden Arrow." The new MGM release in color is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here Wednesday, June 10.

Carl Reiner Downgrades His Talents

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm a hack doing hack work. But to other hacks, I'm a good writer."

That is Carl Reiner's analysis of his talents. Majority opinion in Hollywood does not concur. Reiner, onetime second banana to Sid Caesar, has emerged in recent years as the most versatile and successful writer in town.

His status was confirmed at the Television Academy awards, when "The Dick Van Dyke Show," Reiner's creation, took top honors with five Emmies. His first screenplay, "The Thrill of it All," was a top money-maker of 1963.

Reiner also wrote a novel, "Enter Laughing," which was converted into a Broadway hit. Add to this his television and record dates with the "2,000-year-old Man" — Mel Brooks—plus hosting the weekly "Celebrity Quiz" on CBS.

"Look, I've got a way with comedy," he says. "I've got the kind of a mind that if you drop a situation into it, I can come up with a scene that will play and get laughs."

He was especially happy with Dick's selection over four dramatic actors as best series actor. "I'm glad people finally realize the worth of a comedian-actor," he said. "It doesn't happen often; Chaplin never won an Oscar, nor has Cary Grant. Yet what they do is just as difficult as dramatic acting, or more so."

Reiner, a normally buoyant man, has only one concern for the Van Dyke Show at the moment:

"We're on top. And no matter who you are, that's when they start to carp and snipe at you. I've told the whole gang to get ready for it. Next year they'll be aiming for us."

AN ANGRY GENERAL — Burt Lancaster portrays General Scott, a top ranking, highly decorated officer in "Seven Days In May." The new suspense drama from Paramount opens Sunday, June 14, at the Palace Theater here. As General Scott, Lancaster is head of a military plot to overthrow the U. S. Government by force.

Thief Makes Haul In Cold, Cold Cash

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A Las Vegas housewife told police a thief raided her icebox and got away with $1,600 in cold cash.

Mrs. Stella Horton said Friday a neighbor had suggested putting money in an envelope in her refrigerator.

The theory: It would be safe from fire there and, besides, thieves never look in refrigerators for money.

The catch: They get hungry, though.

Willson's Newest Is Simple Song

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — On his television special Wednesday night Meredith Willson introduced a new song, one which may endure as long as his "76 Trombones."

It is one of the simplest songs ever written by the music man, yet it proved the most difficult to compose. Five months of labor went into its composition.

The whole project was started by two words on the telephone. A half-year ago, Willson received a call from Frank Loesser, the noted tunesmith who publishes Willson's songs. Loesser told him he should write a marching song.

"And then he told me two words that made me fall on the floor," recalled Willson.

The words were: "Ask not."

With President John F. Kennedy's assassination still fresh in his mind, Willson hesitated. He suggested Loesser should undertake the project—"after all, you wrote a pretty darned good song called, 'Praise The Lord and Pass The Ammunition.'" But Loesser said he felt Willson could handle the job better.

So Willson began.

"I worked and reworked the theme," he said. "No matter what I combined with the wrods, "ask not what your country can do for you,' it didn't sound right.

"After weeks of effort, I decided on the form of a Negro spiritual. Why did I need other words? After all, the title is repeated three times in 'He's Got The Whole World in His Arms.' Then for a closer, the line is used again. And my closing line was already written for me: 'As', what you can do for your country.'"

The composer added a verse about "13 Puny Little Colonies" to be sung to the alternating snap-rattle of field drums, plus a Willsonesque rundown of American occupations.

All this was done in absolute secrecy. When he decided to introduce the song on the first of his three summer television specials, he held the music back from the cast until just before final rehearsal. The music business being what it is, he didn't want to risk pirating of the idea.

The show Wednesday night marked the first of three specials Willson will be doing on CBS this summer, his first regular television performing since 1949.

"I did four shows in New York that year," he recalled. "I came back to California with the conviction that television was just a flash in the pan that would soon disappear."

Both television and Willson grew in the following years, the latter succeeding against great odds in getting his "Music Man" before an audience. Two other bonanzas, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "Here's Love," followed in due course.

USAF To Disband Texas Units

WASHINGTON (AP —Eight reserve units in Texas will be disbanded by the U. S. Air Force, the Pentagon said Friday.

The eight Texas units are part of 131 units to be disbanded across the nation. They were organized originally as recovery outfits to help in maintaining military planes in event of attack on the United States.

"There is no foreseeable future military need for these units," the Air Force said, adding that deactivation would be completed by Aug. 31.

The units, located in 45 states other than Texas, number 40 recovery groups and 91 squadrons.

The total authorized field strength of 61,000 under the Air Force reserve program will not be affected. A spokesman said some of those in recovery units would be assigned to other reserve organizations or into units yet to be formed.

The Texas units to be discontinued include:

8503rd Recovery Group, San Antonio; 8505th Group, Dallas; 8511th group and 9418th Squadron, Houston; 9408th Squadron, Longview; 9417th Squadron, Austin; 9419th Squadron, Beaumont; and 9420th Squadron, Galveston.

Richard Boone Is Off For Hawaii

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's goodbye Hollywood, for Richard Boone.

The moving vans have pulled up before his westside home, his cars have been shipped, and next Monday he shifts to his new residence on the island of Oahu, Hawaii.

After 14 years as a Hollywood actor, including service in three television series, Boone is moving his wife and 10-year-old son to the islands. That doesn't mean he's relegating himself to a life of ease among the palms and pineapples.

"I am not capable of retiring," he explained. "I'm merely shifting my base of operations to a place that is only 4½ hours away from Hollywood by jet. I expect to be here often, if producers call me, and I hope they do."

He also hopes to be working in the islands. He has an ambitious plan in mind.

"I think I've learned the production side of our business pretty well—I'd be pretty stupid if I hadn't," he said. "I want to establish a film studio in Hawaii with the purpose of producing features and television series and providing a base for other movie companies that come to Hawaii for locations.

"The idea would be to build two sound stages—one for shooting and one where sets would be prepared—plus an office complex. It would have to be on Oahu because of transportation. Also, the film lab is there, and the four television stations can provide tape and other facilities.

"The studio would be a boon for film locations. It would give companies cover sets to use in case of bad weather; within two hours they could be shooting indoors. Time lost by weather can be murder on a budget."

Boone has rented a house near Honolulu for 15 months, then will decide where he wants his permanent home in the islands. There can be no doubt as to his pulling up stakes. He has shipped his fishing boat to Hawaii, and his son Peter is registered at the famed Punahou School.

The rough-hewn actor admitted that his son was a factor in his decision to leave Hollywood.

"I think it will be a good thing for the boy," he explained. "In this town kids are subjected to the wrong kinds of pressures."

Boone said that his friends in the islands are from all walks of life. But are there any actors in Hawaii?

"I hope not," he replied with a burst of Paladin-like laughter.

Yarborough Says Phone Was Tapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough says he had reason to believe during the recent primary election campaign that his Washington telephone was tapped.

The senator, due in Dallas today, denied, however, that he had accused federal agencies of making the tap. He made his remarks Friday in a statement distributed by his office. Aides would not elaborate.

"Investigators called in by me found strong electronic signals on my phone," the statement said, "but did not have equipment to locate the tap."

"Through appropriate authority in the Justice Department," the statement continued, "I requested that a check be made of my phone." The senator did not say what the Justice Department check revealed.

Yarborough denied a columnist's report that he had complained to a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that federal agencies used electronic devices to spy on members of Congress.

New Teen-Fad Of Long Hair Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because White House females set fashion trends, it's safe to predict that many young American girls will go "long hair" before long.

President Johnson's daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, will have been responsible. They showed up Friday t the inaugural meeting of "Young Citizens for Johnson" wearing upswept hairdos.

Their coiffeur, Jean Louis of Washington, described the styles as "in the romantic line" with a chignon on top. He didn't need a hair piece to do it, either.

Kansas Gets Allowable Cut

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Kansas oilmen have asked for and received a production cut of 23,000 barrels of oil daily and are now operating under a 280,000-barrel allowable, an industry leader says.

"That represents a cut of about 8 per cent," Clinton Engstrand, president of the Kansas Independent Oil and Gas Association said Friday.

"Everyone is beginning to realize," Engstrand added "that we independent producers are in serious trouble and we've got to do something about it."

He said the Kansas association anticipated a Texas request made by Tom B. Medders Jr of Wichita Falls a few days ago. Medders is president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

The Texas group asked for a cut of 5 per cent in production in seven southwestern states to relieve surplus supply.

Big Noise Points To Trouble In Communist Camp

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

It's a safe assumption that spying goes on regularly on both sides of the world, but whenever the Soviet army brass makes a big noise about it there's usually more behind the fuss than meets the eye.

Red Star, journal of the Soviet armed forces, is beginning to make the familiar noises again. Past experience indicates that when the generals are involved in this sort of thing, it reflects strains in the Soviet power structure.

Ingredients for trouble are plentiful. It could be that the approaching showdown in the world Communist camp on the issue of how best to get on with Red expansion is making the Soviet brass restive. There's been a good deal of itchiness among the military leaders anyway, for a variety of reasons, not the least of which concerns division of opinion on modern war strategy.

In addition, this is a U.S. presidential year. In view of the variety of pressures on Premier Khrushchev, it might be considered a good time for a new move on the international stage to prove to world communism that the Kremlin is truly interested in hastening the world revolution.

Red Star complains that Western diplomats, particularly Americans, are always poking around looking for secrets. This was in response to U.S. charges made public a month ago, that traveling U.S. Embassy personnel had been drugged. The interesting thing is not that there is objection to these charges, but that the military newspaper jumped into the act so forcefully.

Throughout the postwar years, when Soviet military organs whipped up a storm about a spy menace and the need for vigilance among the citizenry, it has been a reflection of unusual circumstances on the home front.

It was true when Stalin was cooking new schemes for new purges in 1949 and 1952. It was true just before Georgi M. Malenkov was fired as premier. It was true just before the 20th Communist party congress, at which Khrushchev destroyed the Stalin legend.

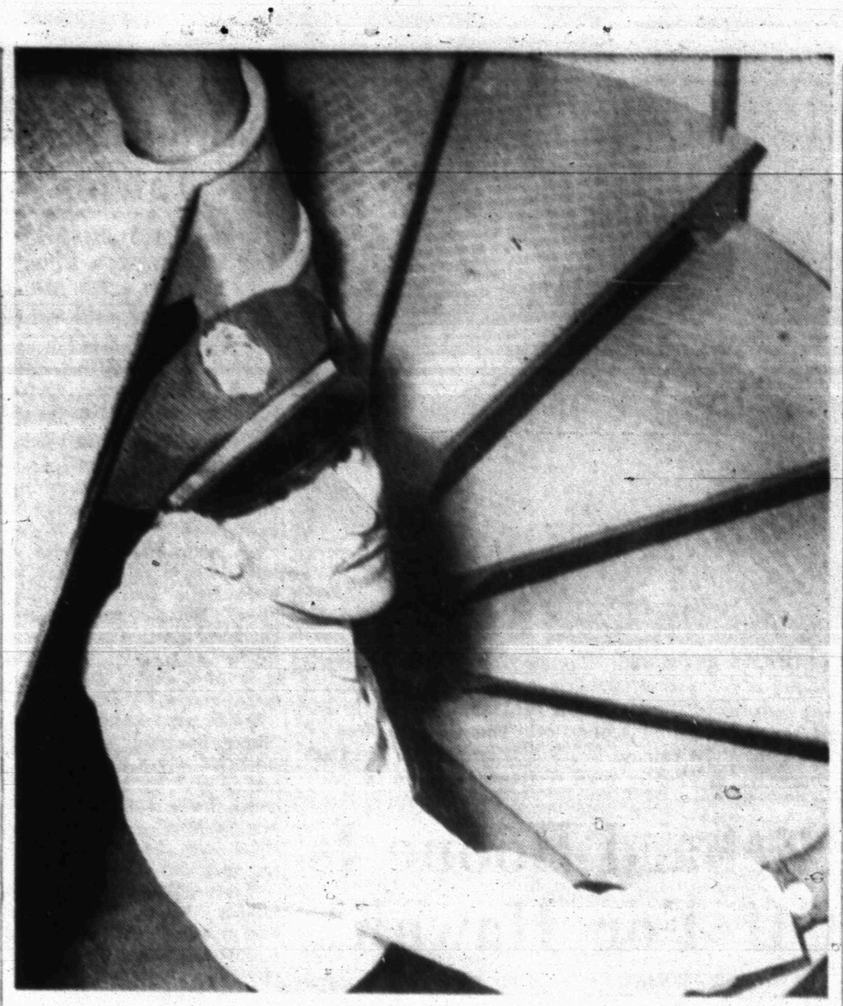
It was true twice in 1957—first before Khrushchev beat off an attempt to depose him in the celebrated "anti-party group" episode, and again just before Khrushchev disgraced and banished the World War II hero, Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

The most recent spy scare and vigilance campaign was just about a year ago. The Soviet military had been shaken by the case of Oleg Penkovsky, a former colonel and an official of a sensitive scientific agency, who was shot for passing rocket secrets to the West.

Only two weeks later, at the height of the vigilance campaign Red Star announced in a curiously off-hand way a change in the Soviet high command. A Khushchev man, Marshal Sergei S. Biryuzov, had been elevated from commander of rocket forces to chief of the general staff.

At about the same time last year, the Italian Communist newspaper L'Unita reported in a Moscow dispatch that Khrushchev was "living in a delicate political moment" and was facing "grave problems."

The grave problems remain. Perhaps another delicate political moment is bothering Khrushchev.



NOW THE POLE HAS STEPS—Fire Chief Warren Boyd is shown climbing the circular stairs which come up from the dormitory room of the new fire station. In the old fire station, a pole connected the upstairs room with the engine room. There is still a pole, but since the firemen have to go up instead of down when the alarm blows, steps on the pole were necessary.

Irate Irish Farmer Says Dog's A Dandy Driver!

COLLAN, Ireland (AP) — An Irish farmer who let his dog sit behind the wheel of his car after he had lost his driving license was haled into court today as a road menace.

Peter Duff of Mountfortescue, Collan, County Louth, was arrested by traffic officer Pat Devin, who told the court:

"I was motorcycling toward Collan when I saw a car with a trailer, traveling very slowly ahead of me. I could not see anyone behing the steering wheel of the car. When I came level with it I saw that the defendant (Duff) was in the front passenger seat, and steering the car from this position. Sitting in the driver's seat was a sheep dog.

"Duff told me," officer Pat continued, "that he was not driving at all—that the dog was driving. I thought Duff was joking but he kept insisting that the dog was driving."

The court heard other charges against Duff—no driving license, no insurance, driving a defective vehicle, driving dangerously and driving while under the influence of drink.

District Judge Henry McCourt called Duff's physician, Dr. William Irwin, as a witness. The doctor testified that Duff also told him his dog was a driver who "not only steered but operated the pedals with its paws." Duff was indignant that anybody questioned his story and insisted that the father of his present dog also had been a motorist.

Duff told the court he felt his driving license had been revoked unfairly and that he'd taken a vow never to drive "as long as water runs, the grass grows and the holly is green." So he put his dog in the driver's seat.

Judge McCourt dismissed the drunk-driving charge and suspended judgment for six months on the other charges to give Duff "an opportunity of consulting with doctors."

Says Estes Innocent Of Evil Intent

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for Billie Sol Estes told a federal court again the West Texas financier had no intent to defraud when he built up a financial empire with mortgages on non-existent fertilizer tanks.

His father and son legal team, John and Hume Cofer, told the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Friday the basic issue in the Estes case is the existence of an "evil and fraudulent intent."

Estes, appealing a federal conviction of mail fraud and conspiracy charges, did not appear in court. He is free on bond.

The federal indictment accuses him of transporting mortgages for the anhydrous ammonia tanks through the U.S. mails.

The court took the case under advisement.

John Cofer said the farmers named in the federal indictment against Estes were not hurt because they received $2 million from the once wealthy promoter.

He recalled the testimony of a defense witness at Estes' trial as saying the farmers had known the fertilizer tanks were non-existent.

"The loan companies, also alleged victims of the Estes plan, were not defrauded, either," John Cofer said, "because there was evidence that they, too, knew there were no tanks."

Marshall T. Golding, an attorney for the Department of Justice, said evidence shows Estes entered into a conspiracy and obtained credit under false pretenses.

"The farmers and the loan companies were left holding the bag to fight it out between themselves," he said.

Deliveries Of Water Set Record

Deliveries for May set new records for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

During the month, CRMWD pumped 1,176,209,198 gallons, an increase of 33.8 per cent more than for a year ago. Member cities experienced a robust consumption, drawing 887,156,000 gallons from the district, or 33.25 per cent more than a year ago. Oil companies took 289,053, 198 gallons or 35.5 per cent more than they did in May of 1963. Most of the oil companies held steady with a year ago, but the Sun Oil contract was new and almost equalled the 75,000,000 - gallon increase by the companies.

Odessa required 511,900,000 gallons, a gain of 26.53 per cent over May of 1963; Big Spring took 287,589,000 gallons, a gain of 40.03; Snyder drew 87,667,000 a gain of 57.14 per cent. Snyder is now selling treated water to the Rotan water district.

For the year, the district has now delivered 4,404,798,588 gallons, nearly a billion gallons more than for the first five months of a year ago. The percentage gain for the period is 21.08.

Should the heavy summer months approximate their previous averages, the district is pointed toward another year of record production. Last year CRMWD delivered over 10½ billion gallons of water, and present trends make it appear that a 11½-billion to 12 billion gallon year is not improbable.

De Gaulle believes neutralization is the only answer to the problems in Southeast Asia.

CONCENTRATION WAS EVIIDENT as next year's cheerleaders from Snyder and surrounding schools attended a cheerleading school here this week. Barry Harrell, standing, conducted the class which included practice on old yells, the learning of new ones, and also the techniques of cheerleading.

LECTURES AND "LEARNING BY DOING" were both used in the cheerleading school. Here Hermleigh High School cheerleaders are preparing themselves to cheer the Cardinals on to victory this fall. From front to rear are Nancy Campbell, Jervia Bullard, Kathryn Helm and Cecile Hall.

Henry Family Reunion Is Held Sunday At Union

UNION — The Union Community Center and the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Murray Kay were the scene May 31 of a reunion of the family of the late Walter and Amanda Henry.

Mrs. Kay is one of the daughters. The original home of the family was at Desdemona.

Sunday was the first time the family had been together in 14 years, and even this time several grandsons and granddaughters were unable to attend.

Lunch was served at the Union Community Center and after lunch the group gathered at the piano to sing. The whole group sang several hymns, and then there were duets, solos and other special numbers.

A short sketch of the Henry family was given by the Rev. W. H. Henry, the oldest son. The sketch revealed that the members of the family are descendants of a brother of the famous Patrick Henry.

The main table was decorated with purple flower arrngements and a miniature house which was designed by Rev. Kay. The house had a placard above which proclaimed, "Love Built This Home."

After the invocation by Rev. Kay, the group went outside for pictures.

Sons and daughters attending were the Rev. W. H. Henry and wife of Wetherford, A. J. Henry and four children of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry of Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Henry of Merkel, Mrs. Maudie Land of DeLeon, and Rev. and Mrs. Kay.

Grandchildren present were Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Derden and two sons of Dallas, Mr. nd Mrs. S C. Gregory and four children of Odessa, Mrs. Marjorie McCulloch and two daughters of Wetherford, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Henry of Ranger, Mrs. Bob Tramel and daughter of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henry and four children of San Diego, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Wymon Gouche and daughter of Grand Prairie, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Browning of Brownwood.

Also visiting was Frank Kay, father of Rev. Murray Kay, of DeLeon.

The group voted to have its next reunion at the Church of God camp ground at Weatherford.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Each new gardening year we become more convinced about the value of buying seedlings in individual peat pots or starting them in the handy little containers.

Setting the pots in your garden as soon as the soil warms up not only eliminates much of the transplanting shock, but the disintegrating peat helps build the soil and hold moisture. Addition of essential nutrients to the pots now adds to their value.

Another new twist is multiple pots — strips of indiviual pots fastened together at the rim for use in seed sowing and transplanting. Placed in light trays, they may be handled as single units until you want to separate them for transplanting outdoors.

Your garden shop also has lightweight, sturdy composition trays which will reduce the danger of damping-off diseases sometimes carried by the old, oft-used wooden flats in which you start seedlings.

If you start your own seedlings, a tested planting medium is one - third clean sand, one-third peat moss and one-third good garden loam, thoroughly mixed. When the plants have attained a size at which they may be handled without danger of being broken, transplant to individual pots in which they eventually may be sunk in the garden.

Keep the tray and pots in good light and keep the soil evenly moist. You can harden the seedlings by moving them to a protective cold frame before setting them in the garden.

We have had good results with petunias started in peat pots. The big blue Capri is one variety we plan to raise this year. Last season we planted some of the cascading type petunias. Without a convenient planter or window box from which to let them hang, we planted them near branching shrubs to support them aloft and decorate the front yard.

A cascading variety new this season is Sugar Daddy, which has four-inch blooms. For bedding, try the dwarf, compact Pink Lace, a fringed hybrid. Plum Double is a compact double form of Sugar Plum. A new yhite is the double Snowbird.

Last season we planted impatiens for the first time and found them a welcome and satisfactory newcomer for shady locations. They are available in red, orange and pink.

Potato Dumplings

6 medium (2 pounds) potatoes
Boiling water to cover
1½ slices close-textured white bread
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large egg, well beaten
2 teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon ground nutmeg
2-3 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup cornstarch

Cook unpeeled potatoes in boiling water to cover until tender; drain; cool and skin. Mash or rice potatoes. Refrigerate, uncovered, overnight or 5 to 6 hours. Cut bread slices into ½-inch squares. Fry in butter until golden; set aside. Stir beaten egg, salt and nutmeg into potatoes. Add flour and cornstarch. Shape into 12 balls. Poke 2 fried bread cubes into the center of each ball. Drop dumplings into boiling salted water, so that they are uncrowded in one layer. Use 1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart water. Cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Remove dumplings with a slotted spoon. Drain well.

A few weeks ago we discussed the pros and cons of using the words "asking price" when putting a house on the market. We pointed out that more and more real estate brokers were against use of the term and wondered what our readers thought about it.

We were hardly prepared for the avalanche of mail that descended upon us. Nor were we prophetic enough to anticipate that 98 per cent of those writing in would be opposed — in many cases, bitterly opposed — to the asking price method of starting negotiations. One per cent saw no harm in the practice and thought it didn't make any difference what words were used in quoting a price. The remaining one per cent felt that an asking price established a base for bargaining and were in favor of its use. One of the latter, Paul R. Heydt, said in part:

"The added incentive that he maybe able to wangle a very good deal will ofttimes bring a buyer into a bargaining session. Personally, I'm a sucker for that little phrase. I always vision a terrific bargain in the offing."

From Mrs. C. W. Young came the comment that she doesn't like bargaining over prices, "be it a steak or a home." Fred Signoracci said an asking price label immediately puts him "on guard for a hidden gimmick." William Mann thought we "should do away with horse trading in this country once and for all."

Frank H. Jones said he would not reply to any advertisement "for real estate or any other type of merchandise that quotes an asking price." He alo struck out at real estate brokers who take a prospect to a house and quote a price, but who make it plain the seller will take less. Jones called this "weak and miserable selling."

Everett M. Roberson Jr. posed this question: "I often wonder if a person should come up to a seller and offer to pay the asking price, if he would be informed he is really paying more than what was actually expected?"

R. O. Witte called the asking price system "an evil" and added "like most other business practices, I suppose that the public as a whole prefers it that way."

Two of the letter writers injected a touch of humor into their replies. Mrs. L. Gold, after saying she didn't mind seeing an asking price in an ad if she were the prospective buyer, added: "However, when I advertise something, I do not like to use an asking price because, although I like to bargain with other people, I can't stand it when other people presume to bargain with me." Charles E. Smith favored the seller giving the exact and proper price, but said a real estate broker told him most buyers "wish to get a good deal by reducing the asking price." Smith concluded:

"But it all seems to work out the same. The seller meets a lot of people, the brokers get to talk plenty, the buyers feel happy with a bargain, and I waste my time watching TV and reading your column."

Sardine Toasts

1 can (3¾ ounces) brisling sardines
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 tablespoon chili sauce
¼ teaspoon onion powder
1 cup minced celery
4 slices toast
¼ cup minced parsley

Mash sardines with their oil; mix with the mayonnaise, chili sauce, onion powder and celery. Spread sardine mixture on toast and sprinkle with minced parsley. Cut each slice into 4 squares. Use this spread shortly after preparing.

Some good cooks rub meat—beef, veal or lamb — with salt, pepper and dry mustard before roasting.

QUESTION: A bottle of ink was recently spilled on our marble living room table. I have washed it repeatedly with water, but haven't done much more than lighten the stain. I have been tempted several times to use a scouring powder or some similar product, but have refrained for fear of spoiling the marble. Can you tell me whether this stain can be removed and, if so, how?

ANSWER: Get some blotting paper, denatured alcohol and ammonia. Clean the area with water. Saturate a piece of blotting paper with alcohol and press it down against the marble for several minutes. Remove it and do the same thing, but this time with blotting paper saturated with ammonia. Keep repeating this alternate blotting, once with alcohol, once with ammonia, until the stain is gone. It may take 10 or 20 such applications to do the job. However, if the stain was caused by a particular type of ink known as metallic ink, it may be necessary to spread some sodium hydrosulfite crystals on the stain, sprinkle with water and let stand for about 20 minutes. Follow with a cold water rinse and a solution of sodium citrate.

½ medium green pepper, chopped
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1-3 cup grated Parmesan cheese

In a 10-inch skillet that may be put into the broiler, heat a couple tablespoons of the butter; fry eggplan over moderate heat, one layer at a time, until cooked through and browned on both sides; use all but a tablespoon of the butter adding it as needed. Return eggplant to sauce; sprinkle with cheese. Broil until very hot and lightly browned. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

MRS. RICHARD LEE BOWMAN

Candle-Light Rites Unite Miss Neal And Mr. Bowman

A double ring candle - light ceremony at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in the First Baptist Church of Snyder united in marriage Miss Donna Jeane Neal and Richard Lee Bowman of El Paso.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Neal, 2311 Avenue G, and Mr. Bowman's parents are Roy M. Bowman and Mrs. Mildred Graham of Florida.

The Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of Ridglea Baptist Church in Fort Worth, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a bridal gown of white nylon tulle and hand-clipped Chantilly lace over taffeta. The costume had been worn by her two sisters, Mrs. Don Gray and Mrs. Henry Gafford at their respective weddings. The fitted bodice of lace was designed with a guimpe of pleated tulle overlayed in lace. The fitted sleeves of lace were tapered to petal points at the wrists with motifs of lace embroidered in pearls. The flared skirt of nylon tulle layers featured lace applique on the front and extended down the sides in a sweep train. Her veil was of silk illusion attached to a double crown traced in pearls.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of Frenched white carnations atop a prayer book, accented with a white cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Don Gray, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a champagne beige dress of lame, fashioned with an empire waist which flared into an "A" skirt. She wore a matching cabbage rose hat and covered shoes.

The flower girl was Belinda Kay Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Everett Jr. She wore a white cotton brocade dress fashioned with an empire waist and carried a bouquet of glamellias in a white satin basket.

Bridesmaids were Ralphene Neal, sister of the bride, Kay Shelburne of Snyder, and Marilyn Mitchell of Winters. Their costumes were identical to that of the matron of honor. All of the bride's attendants carried cascading clusters of talisman and orange-ade toned glamellias.

Mrs. Neal, mother of the bride, wore a royal blue dress with white accessories, with a white gardenia corsage.

Gregory Gafford, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. He carried the ring on a heart-shaped pillow of white satin.

Joseph W. Cangey of New Castle, Pa., was best man, and groomsmen were Galen O. Sabean of Nova Scotia, Canada, Jon A. Kintz of Lake Arthur, N.M., and Salvatore Aronica of Los Angeles, Calif. Ushers were Henry Gafford and Don Gray, brothers-in-law of the bride.

The altar of the church was centered with an eight - foot tree candelabra holding 33 tall white burning tapers. Matching brass tree candelabras were on either side holding 18 tapers. Emerald green foliage was used in the background decorations.

Miss Kathleen Mott sang "Because," "I Pledge My Love," and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Virgil Mott.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony. Mrs. Henry Gafford, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book.

Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Murray Watkins of Snyder, Mrs. Bobby Smith of Lubbock, Mrs. Neal Dennis of Brownfield, Mrs. Howard Gray of Snyder, Mrs. Fred Cross of Snyder, Miss Patricia Stafford of Roscoe.

The couple will live in El Paso.

Mrs. Bowman is a graduate of Snyder High School and of Hardin - Simmons University. She is a teacher in the El Paso Public Schools.

Mr. Bowman is a graduate of Edison High School in Miami, Fla. and is employed by Eastern Airlines. He is now stationed at Fort Bliss in El Paso.

All Right - Let Us Judge All Religions By The Bible.

The above suggestion is a good one. It is true that not every one in the religious world accepts the BIBLE as the sole authority, but nearly all religious people would contend that the BIBLE does not conflict with their tradition and doctrine. Let us make a list of what we practice in religion and then find the verse in the BIBLE that supports that practice. If there is no such Scripture, then our religions have fallen — the BIBLE bding the judge.

The BIBLE does not need to mention a religious act by name, but the act must be found recorded on the pages of the New Testament. All men will accept the names of such acts as "the "m a s s," "baptism," "sacrament," "confirmation," "penance," "holy orders," "Lord's Supper," "Lord's Day" — or any other names, if the practice can be found in the BIBLE.

Try the above list. Does the BIBLE teach that all men should be baptized? (Mark 16:15, 16; Acts 2:38). Is the mass, "a sequence of prayers and ceremonies" in which the literal body and blood of Christ appears on the altar to be sacrificed again, taught in the BIBLE: (Where is the text?) Does the BIBLE teach that the bread and wine of the Lord's table will become literal flesh and blood to those who eat at the table? (Where is the text?) Does the BIBLE teach that matrimony is a rite to be celebrated by the clergyman of only one denomination and that all other marrages are merely adulterous unions? (Where is the text?) Does the BIBLE teach that certain clergymen alone have the right to give "holy orders"? (Where is the text?) Does the BIBLE teach that Christ or the apostles committed the power of forgiveness of sins of any man living today? (Where is the text?) Does the BIBLE teach that Christ appointed any man as His personal representative on earth? (Where is the text?)

If the layman cannot understand the BIBLE and if it must be interpreted by the clergyman, then why even pretend to try to find any of the above verses?

Christ never did say that ALL HIS TEACHING would have to be filtered through some Church before any man can go to heaven. YES, Christ does say that HIS teaching is to be found in the Book. Jesus said: "The WORD that I spake, the same shall judge him in the last day" (John 12:48). "But these are WRITTEN that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ —" (John 20:31). The BIBLE was written to be circulated and read by all men. Faith comes by hearing the WORD (Rom. 10:17). The BIBLE reveals a perfect law of liberty (James 1:25). A curse is pronounced upon all who would trifle with the words of the BIBLE (Rev. 22:18, 19).

All right let us judge by the BIBLE. With the BIBLE in one hand and our beliefs listed separately, try to find our doctrine in the BIBLE.

Slice a small onion thin and cook it with green peas — fresh or frozen. Good flavor change—if your family likes onion.

Springtime baked ham: surround the meat with slices of pineapple whose edges have been dipped in minced parsley.

Ethel K. Fain's Kipfeln

1 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 egg yolks
2 envelopes active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¾ cup evaporated milk, undiluted and at room temperature
1 tablespoon white vinegar
3 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Melted butter, brown sugar, cinnamon, chopped nuts and white raisins.

Cream butter and granulated sugar; beat in egg yolks. Dissolve yeast in warm water and add. Stir together evaporated milk and vinegar; beat in. Add flour and salt; beat in until smooth. Divide into 3 portions. Roll out one portion into an 8-inch round; brush with melted butter; sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon, nuts and raisins; cut into 8 wedges; roll up each wedge from wide end to point. Form into crescent shape. Roll out and form remaining portions of dough the same way. Place a fw inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

YOUR CHILD AND MUSIC—
By Max Aronoff, Director
The New School of Music
Philadelphia, Pa.

Preparing your child to love music is one of your most important responsibilities as a parent. Every child is musical: the vital question is whether you as a parent are willing to take the trouble to train his ear, develop his sense of rhythm, and, above all accusom him to beautiful musical sounds.

I see scores of young children in our preparatory courses each year. The amazing difference is quite evident between a youngster who is growing up in a musical environment and the one who comes from a home where music is never performed and rarely heard. Early exposure to classical music is extremely important, more important than parents generally recognize.

When new parents come to members of our faculty for advice, we urge them to continue playing classical music on their phonographs, radios or home instruments while their infants are in the nursery. Make the first sounds your baby can distinguish musical sounds. A little later, as he grows bigger, play rhythm games with him — even the traditional Pat-a-Cake can develop his feeling for musical rhythms. Sing to him, play to him, and encourage his own tiny attempts to sing or to exercise the family piano.

All kinds of homemade instruments can be improvised for the toddler's delight and instruction. If mother can stand it, pots and pans make marvelous practice drums. Incidentally, if the mother is a pianist herself, there is definitely no reason why she should not help her young child explore the keyboard.

Giving a youngster his own phonograph records is another excellent psychological maneuver to foster his interest in good music. When my son was four, I started presenting him with his own recordings of Mozart, Bach, Beethoven and the other great composers. The records were worn - out specimens from my library, but my son coveted them and developed a lasting appreciation of music that was once considered "unappealing" to the young.

If children are accustomed to good music, they can also appreciate concerts at a surprisingly early age.

Maybe Your Bargain Gems Are Fake

TORONTO (AP) — Beware the jewelry bargain. Things are not always what they seem in the world of gems.

Even a jeweler can be fooled, says Jonathon Fraleigh, Toronto gem expert.

Sometimes outright fakes are sold as real gems. Diamonds, emeralds and other stones can be artificially manufactured. Cultured pearls can be made to look better than they are. And real gems can be doctored to increase their apparent value in ways which get past the people who buy and sell them.

"Doublets are imitations which are not wholly imitations," Mr. Fraleigh says.

They are a combination — one part real, the other phony — cemented together to look like a single stone. The upper half, known as the drown, is real stone and the lower part, the base, is usually a paste of similar or darker color.

"This way the color of the doublet is deepened, the total weight is increased and the upper part most exposed in wear is hard because it is the natural stone. When mounted in jewelry the joining line of the two sections is hidden and is therefore far from obvious."

Mr. Fraleigh says shoppers on vacation trips are particularly prone to getting stung picking up gems as local bargains.

"I would advise anyone who is not familiar with gem stones to deal only in reliable establishments and, if they suspect any problems as to value, to have them checked by a gemmologist."

When you do buy, he says, choose deeply colored stones, free from obvious internal flaws. If you are buying a diamond, look for a good cut and a clear, white stone.

Any jewelry valuable enough to be insured should be reappraised and reinsured every five or 10 years, Mr. Fraleigh says.

"The value of precious stones has almost doubled in 10 years," he adds.

Mr. Fraleigh said people do find unexpected treasure at home sometimes, perhaps in grandmother's jewel case.

"I have looked through many boxes of so-called junk and found gold of antique value and gem stones of rare vintage, You never know what you are going to find."

His most startling find was a ruby worth $4,000 but that was an exception. In most cases old pieces turned up are worth $20 to $40.

First Lady Says Family Has Lease On Excitement

EDITOR'S NOTE — After six months in the White House, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson finds life as the nation's First Lady an exciting experience. She has traveled 31,000 miles on missions ranging from representing the President at the funeral of the King of Greece to taking a look at poverty in Kentucky. In the following interview she sums up her feelings, including her reaction to criticism.

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sees life in the White House as a short-term lease on an exciting experience.

And she says "one would have to be born yesterday" not to have something in his life open to criticism.

In a wide-ranging interview—the first of this kind she has given in the White House—Mrs. Johnson said the walls there close around the First Family and they feel there are "only four of us" who really can share and understand it.

She told how she and daughters Lynda, 20, and Luci, 16, share the criticism and the decision-making burdens of the presidency and try to help the man of the house.

And, she said, she thinks the President is "in very splendid health and being real sensible within the limits of the demands of his office."

Mrs. Johnson notes that "being the wife of the President does qualify as a job."

"You could regard it as a tool which can be used, which I want to learn how to use wisely and energetically," she said.

She finds the White House a place where you touch base with "a parade of interesting minds" and "uncertainty is more likely than order" in the daily schedule.

When it comes to criticisms—and she's had her share—Mrs. Johnson said you have to explore your own conscience: "If I don't think there was anything wrong in it, I'm not going to worry about it."

"Foolishness," is the way she characterized complaints about Johnson pulling the ears of his pet beagle dogs and turning off lights at the White House.

"If you don't turn out the lights that aren't necessary, that's plain neglectful," she commented.

And, she termed Republican allegations about "deplorable poverty" among families on her Alabama farm land something of "a publicity gimmick" that "I just don't want to comment about."

Mrs. Johnson reiterated that she had let these farm families remain on her land although it would have been financially more prudent to turn from cotton farming to timber.

"It would make much more sense to put the land into pine trees as far as income goes," she said, "but I do not want to tell people that they have to leave."

Asked if she hadn't anticipated that someone might raise this issue when the President embarked on a nationwide war on poverty, Mrs. Johnson quickly replied:

"No. I don't think anyone could search his background to find out everything that might be attacked. One would have to be born yesterday with nothing to attack."

Marking her first six months in the White House, Mrs. Johnson granted a two-hour interview to two news service reporter who have been covering her activities.

With typical Southern hospitality she provided a luncheon setting in the pretty blue and white dressing room of the famed "Queen's Bedroom" in the White House family quarters.

While two waiters served a light salad luncheon, she answered queries ranging from what she thinks of her husband's dancing to evaluating her own business acumen.

"I think he's a real good dancer," she said of Johnson. With a touch of humor, she added, "Lynda says his repertory is a little limited."

When the Johnsons came to the White House, Mrs. Johnson placed in trusteeship the million-dollar radio-television enterprise she launched at station KTBC in Austin, Tex. Much has been written about this venture and Mrs. Johnson was asked to give some insight into her business operations and whether she considers herself "a great businesswoman."

"I only say I've got good judgment about people," Mrs. Johnson replied. She said she had picked good people to run her station and "I left the decisions to them."

When it comes to White House business decisions, Mrs. Johnson indicated she is called on by her husband for advice and consultation. "I wouldn't say he comes to me for an okay," she said with a smile. "We talk about it and I infiltrate."

In exploring and getting reactions and judgments on national and international decisions, Johnson turns to his wife, too. "Alas poor man," she said, "after much more learned people than I have advised him, then he ultimately has to come up with the answer."

In her own job, Mrs. Johnson said she decides what public appearances to take on primarily on the basis of what "I have an earnest natural interest in."

"It's nutty to go some place you don't have an involvement in," she added smiling.

Mrs. Johnson likes best trips like those she made to the space center at Huntsville, Ala., and the antipoverty projects she visited in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Kentucky.

Her reasons for going:

1—"I can serve some use to my husband in telling him what I saw, my feeling about it in learning from people rather than statistics."

2—"It can possibly be of some use to draw back the curtain to awaken and alert people to reasons why Lyndon has got this poverty project."

And, with a laugh, she said the third reason was: "It's an education for me."

Mrs. Johnson described the family routine and praised her daughters for the way they are handling their life in the spotlight.

Lynda, she said "did dandy" in acompanying the President on a recent six-state poverty tour.

"She has a naturally inquiring mind and also wanted to give her daddy the feeling he had another soldier. . .somebody in the family who cared."

And, she was equally approving of Luci's performance.

"She has an almost painful sense of obligation to being our daughter and the role she's supposed to play. She hears she's supposed to be an American model for youth. She takes it seriously."

Asked if she sets any ground rules about White House dating, Mrs. Johnson said "that has kind of long been understood" by the girls. "I can't say I pry or make demands on exactly when they get in. I believe they have a good understanding," Mrs. Johnson said. "I frequently go in and see them when they get in and curl up on the bed and it's one of the best moments."

Junior Editors Quiz on CALORIES

QUESTION: What is meant by calories in food?

• • •

ANSWER: "Calorie" comes from the Latin "calor," heat, and so a calorie is a unit used to measure an amount of heat. Used in chemistry, it means the amount of heat energy needed to raise the temperature of one gram of water by one degree centigrade. (Centigrade is a different scale of temperature from the one used in household thermometers, which is Fahrenheit.) Calories used in this way are called "small calories."

The most familiar meaning of the work calorie refers to a unit of measuring heat energy in food. This is the "large calorie," the amount of heat needed to raise the temperature of one pound of water four degrees Fahrenheit. It is said that about 100 such calories would give a person the energy to climb a hill about 1,640 feet high. This energy comes from certain foods such as carbohydrates and fats which act as fuel in the human body. The heat is produced by the union of the food with oxygen. Carbohydrates give us heat energy because of the starches and sugars they contain; such foods include cornstarch, sugar, flour and honey. Fat energy comes from butter, margarine, lard and various oils.

FOR YOU TO DO: Use some of your calories to take a good long walk or climb a hill. But don't try climbing up rock faces like the men in our picture—that's a job for a specially trained mountaineer. 6-6
