MX Missile Site Hearings To Be Held Monday In Amarillo

Hearings have been set for 1:30 and 7 p.m. Monday, April 20 in Amarillo's Civic Center for discussion of the MX Missile site locations. The meetings are part of a series throughout Texas set up by the Air Force.

Two separate hearings are scheduled in each location, says U.S. Congressman Kent Hance, so that the maximum number of persons may have the opportunity to testify.

Format of the hearings will be:

An Air Force judge will moderate. A court reporter will transcribe the proceedings and all sessions will be video-taped.

All persons desiring to make a statement must register at the door prior to the start of the hearing. Elected officials will speak first followed by individuals. Heads of organizations will be allowed five minutes; individuals will be given three minutes. Written comments will be accepted and entered as part of the record.

The hearing will open with an Air Force statement followed by a briefing on the MX Missile System. Questions and answers will follow with public testimony closing each hearing.

"These hearings do not mean that West Texas has been selected as the site for the MX Missile," Hance says. "The hearings are rather to offer the public an opportunity to express, for the record, their feelings about the MX. I urge you to attend."

'Christian Fathering' To Be Shown

Slashing the REA loan program would not reduce the federal budget

It would spur inflation in rural America

The plan of the White House economic planners is being sold in the name of cutting the federal budget.

The truth is that the proposed changes in the Rural Electrification Administration loan program would not reduce the federal budget or curb inflation - the stated goals of the White House.

They would raise electric rates to millions of farmers and other rural residents.

The proposals for REA are inflationary and should be dropped.

Their Facts Are Wrong

In announcing the proposals on February 18, the White House said, "Customers of REA financed utilties receive power and telephone services at rates that average 8-12% below customers of non-REA financed utilities."

Exactly the opposite is true. Government reports as of January 1, 1980 show that electric co-op rates nationwide average 12% more than those of other electric utilities.

The Purpose of REA

Consumers, rural or urban, want reliable electric service at reasonable costs. Rural people didn't have that years ago. It simply wasn't profitable for power companies to serve all rural America. It isn't profitable today.

That's why REA was created. That's why REA is needed today.

With the help of REA loans, people in communities across the countryside formed non-profit, consumer-owned elecrric utilties -- mostly cooperatives, which today are serving more than 25 million people in 46 states.

It Doesn't Make Sense

A change in the REA Loan program in 1973 completely removed it as a budget item. Since then, all capital funds advanced by REA Have consisted of insured or guaranteed loans from sources completely outside the federal budget. The loan repayment record is second to none.

The administration's economic package would eliminate or drastically revise this system. It would force rural electric cooperatives to pay higher interest rates and raise electric bills. It would spur inflation and it would not increase employment or productivity.

Swisher Electric and other R.E.C.s in Texas are eager to inform all Texans of the facts. Contact us by phone, letter or in person. We need your help to inform our government officials that Rural Electric Cooperatives pay their way and do not receive grants.

Public Notice

The Hart Independent School District tax office is currently accepting applications for residence homestead exemptions. The deadline for filing is April 30, 1981. Applications should be filed as early as possible to avoid inconvenience to the homeowner.

Two types of homestead exemptions from school taxes are available to taxpayers who owned their residence homesteads in this school district on January 1 of this year. First, the general homestead exemption is available to all homeowners and exempts $5,000 from the market value of the homestead.

Second, any person who is 65 years of age or older or who is disabled can be exempted an additional $10,000 from the market value of the homestead. Proof of age or disability may be necessary.

"Disabled," in this case, refers to the definition found in the Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Act under the Social Security Administration. Disability is defined as inability to engage in any substantial gainful employment which exists in the national economy, or, in the case of someone who is 55 and blind, inability by reason of such blindness to engage in the employment in which he was previously engaged. THE PERSON CLAIMING DISABILITY DOES NOT NECESSARILY HAVE TO BE DRAWING BENEFITS FROM SOCIAL SECURITY.

Homeowners age 65 or older who apply for their exemption will be granted a tax freeze. If application is not made, the tax freeze will be lost for this year.

Application forms were mailed earlier to all homeowners who qualified for a homestead exemption in 1980. If you did not receive an application, or if you have questions about qualifying for exemptions or filing application forms, contact the school tax office at 938-2143.

Application forms may also be picked up at the tax office at Hart High School, Box 487, Hart, Texas 79043.

MRS. DANNY SMITH

new little daughter, Carie, seven weeks.

Becky was a fifth grader when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. King, moved to Hart. She graduated from Hart High School and attended West Texas State University. Danny, too, grew up in Hart and received his schooling there. He farms with his father, Harold Smith, and brother, David. They have lived on the sandhills farm south of Olton almost five years.

The Smiths are members of First Baptist Church. Becky worked with the Acteens until taking a leave of absence before little Carie was born. She helps with a Sunday school class for freshmen and sophomores.

A former member of Olton Young Homemakers, Becky helped with the illustrations in the recently released cookbook that organization compiled. Charming little "mouse people" in appropriate settings provide a special touch to divider pages of the book.

Becky likes to paint but finds so little time for that pleasure. She likes most crafts, especially stitchery. She also enjoys making things for her home - curtains, pillows and such.

With the arrival of a second little daughter, there's plenty of reason for Becky to sew. She enjoys "trying," she says.

Making their own place in the household are two pets; Smokey, a gray poodle, who believes he's a real member of the family, and Jake, a St. Bernard-Doberman puppy.

RURAL POWER RATES HIGHER THAN OTHERS

Serving rural America isn't easy or cheap. It never has been. Rural electric systems average only 4.6 consumers and $2,887 in revenue per mile of line, compared with 35.8 consumers and $36,652 per mile for electric companies.

Actual figures for the calendar year 1980 at Swisher Electric are 2.4 consumers and $2,402 in revenue per mile of line.

The White House has said, "Customers of REA financed utilities receive power and telephone services at rates that average 8-12% below customers of non-REA financed utilities."

Texas	$44.75	1000	$43.87 Texas

THEIR FACTS ARE WRONG

On February 20, 1981 the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA) furnished its members with data obtained from the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) and the Department of Energy (DOE) concerning Average Residential Bills as of January 1, 1980. Keep in mind that these are, of necessity, weighted averages and are typical electric bills.

Although the report covers each state we are limiting the data used to Texas and our neighbor states of New Mexico and Oklahoma. Shown is the $ amount received for kilowatt hour (KWH) sales.

New Mexico rural electrics show to be generally cheaper than other utilities in the state while Oklahoma and Texas are definitely the reverse, 7 of the 15 rural electrics in New Mexico (47%) are higher than other utilities, as shown in additional data supplied by NRECA on March 27th, 1981. 21 or 84% of Oklahoma rural electrics and 53 or 74% of Texas rural electrics have higher rates. Nationwide, 61% of the 883 rural electric systems have higher rates than their neighboring utility.

THE PURPOSE OF REA

The Rural Electrification Program was established so that rural Americans could utilize and enjoy the benefits of electric power. It was a godsend during World War II as mechanical devices were developed and made use of to replace man power that was unavailable. Since the war, the program has had a solid impact n industry and certainly has contributed to the increase in food and fiber production.

The program has been revised several times since its inception and those revisions were either completely acceptable or were revisions that could be lived with and still maintain the intent and purpose-to supply adequate, low-cost electric service to rural America. A job that was not and still is not profitable for the power companies to perform.

IT JUST DOESN'T MAKES SENSE

To change the 1973 REA loan program which completely removed it as a budget item. The drastic proposals of the Administration would force rural electric cooperatives to pay higher interest rates-and it naturally follows that rates for electric service would also be higher.

If paying higher interest rates would improve the federal budget-cut government spending-improve the economy-halt or slow inflation, articles such as this and the advertising placed elsewhere in this paper would not be necessary.

Mrs. Garnett Holland of Dimmitt visited Saturday with Myrt Loman.

SATURDAY VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Myers and Karen visited Saturday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dalton.

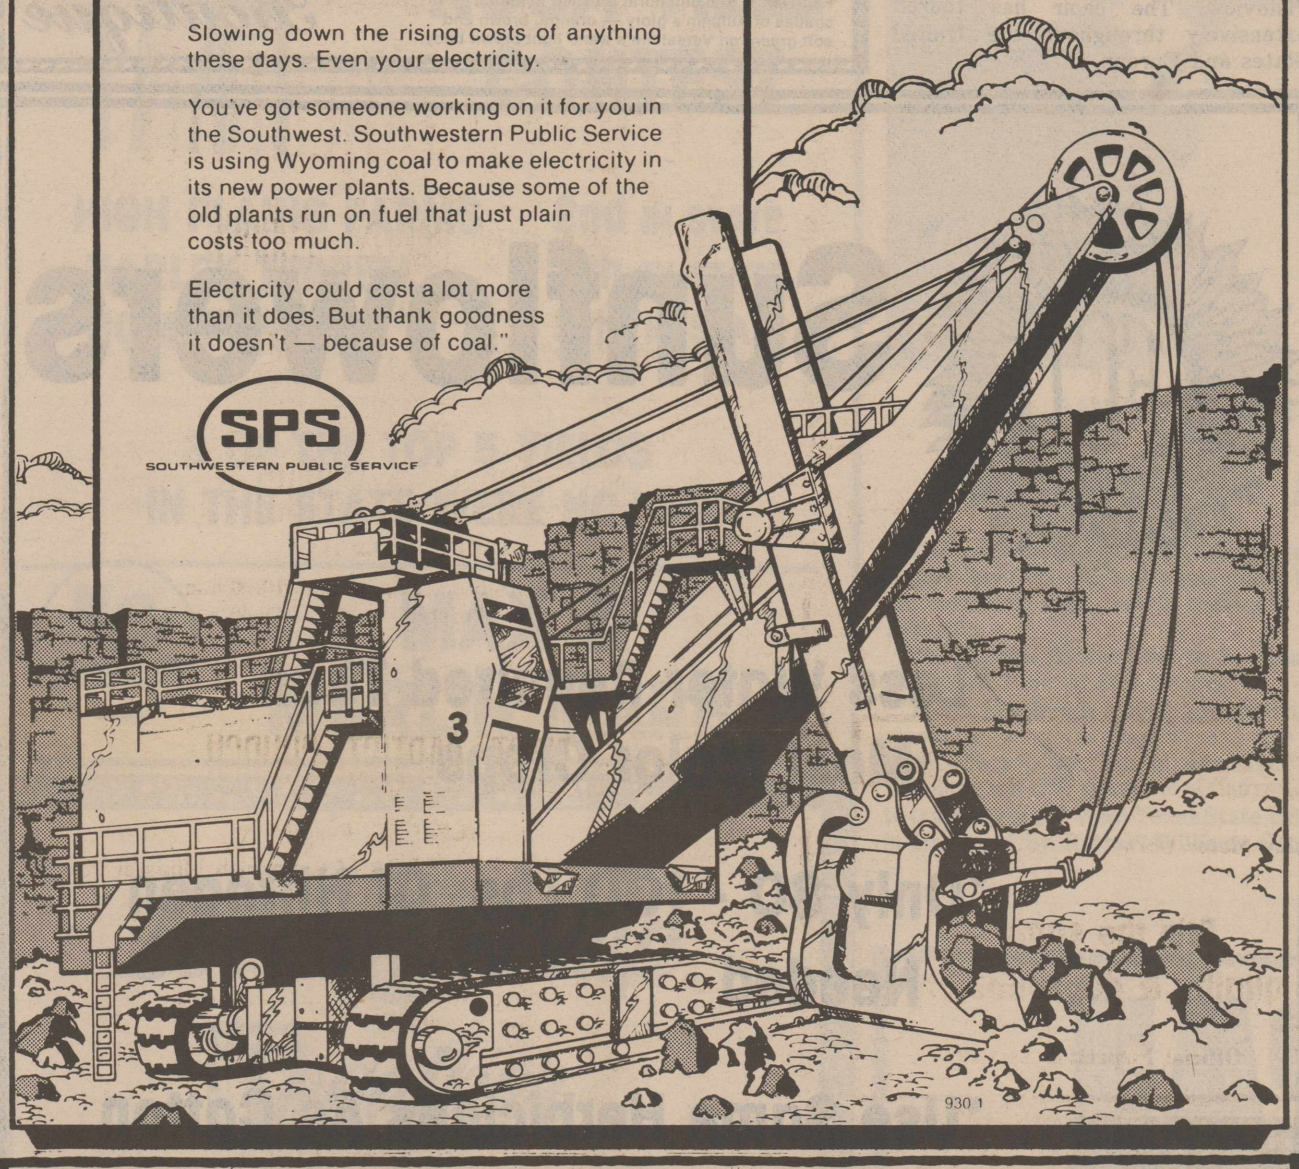

"IT'S A BIG JOB . . .

Slowing down the rising costs of anything these days. Even your electricity.

You've got someone working on it for you in the Southwest. Southwestern Public Service is using Wyoming coal to make electricity in its new power plants. Because some of the old plants run on fuel that just plain costs too much.

Electricity could cost a lot more than it does. But thank goodness it doesn't — because of coal."
