MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By H. N. F.

Wichita Falls is the city that faith built and there are many interesting men on its stage of action who won their spurs and gathered their laurels in the older cities of Texas before coming to this magic city of the upper country. This was brought home very forcefully to H. N. F. while strolling along a business street and meeting by chance Judge R. H. Ward. He is a man who has helped make Texas himstory, in a political sence and in many others, during the last thirty years. He was admitted to the bar in the city of Austin, county of Travis, in 1874 when the Travis county bar had on its roster many of the noted lawyers and jurists of the Southwest. Many of these disciples of Coke and Blackstone had begun their careers just before the coming of the conflict between the states or immediately thereafter and they participated in all the memorable contests in reconstruction days which restored Texas to thise who were the champions of a white man's government and the rule of the people. Judge Ward is the last survivor of this galaxy of jurists and advocates who had made Austin the seat of law and learning when he was admitted to the practice of law. Alexander W. Terrell and Colonel Buck Walton were among those giants of other days. Terrell was admittedly the ripest scholar, the most fascinating conversationalist, and one of the most elegant lawyers Texas had ever known, and Colonel Walton was a king among the criminal lawyers of the South. Judge Ward had been a very busy man in law and politics for many years. He was the political and personal friend of Charles A. Culberson when the senior senator was attorney general and later the governor of the state. He served several terms as a law-maker and as a law-maker as well as an expounder of law and practitioner, he became widely known throughout the Southwest. In recent years he has confined himself strictly to his profession, but there was a time when he love dthe game called politics and played it as an old school Democrat. A very interesting and companionable man was the judge in the old days and his personality has lost none of its charm. There was a time when he knew every active newspaper man and every active politician in Texas and his recollections of the giants of old, beginning with his boyhood, if placed in book form should be one of the six best sellers among Texans of the old school and their sons and daughters. Austin and San Antonio were his favorite cities for years. Sam Houston made the first city possible and the mission fathers, or Franciscans, centuries ago made the Alama the mission city of heroes in other years made it the citadel of Texas liberty.

Representative Barry Miller of Dallas had his resolution adopted calling for investigation by a joint legislative committee of "alleged attempts of large companies in the mid-continental oil fields to force the smaller companies out of business by holding down the price of oil." The vote was 107 to 9. The resolution calls for the appointment of two senators and three representatives on the committee which is to work in conjunction with Attorney General W. E. Cureton. Rrepresentative Miller said that the attorney general favored the resolution and the author of the resolution in a speech urging the house to adopt it made this prediction: 'You won't find an independent refinery in Texas by the next regular session if you don't do something." The Miller resolution clothes the committee with power to make investigation in and out of the state. After the house had taken favorable action, the resolution went to the senate where it was referred to the committee on internal improvements. An opponent of the resolution asked Representative Miller, during the debate, if he thought the people of Texas cared how low the price of oil went. Representative Miller replied that the people of Texas thought enough of the income obtained from the oil tax to request a special session to distribute the five million dollars which accrued to the state from such taxes. Representative John T. Smith of Travis county was a champion of the Miller resolution. Smith declared that the big companies were in a conspiracy to prevent or tie up the development of the Texas fields. Representative Smith is a free lance and he wouldn't be happy unless he was engaged in a fight with some individual or individuals or so-called "interests." Representative Miller is one of the best known lawmakers and lawyers and Democratic leaders under Lone Star skies. A South Carolinian by birth, his parents brought him to Texas in his boyhood and Dallas has since been his home. He served in the state senate long before he was thirty. He is a man of independent means and his country home near Dallas is an ideal place. He has served several terms in the lower house and is thoroughly independent in his views. Not many years ago, Murderers' Row in the Dallas county jail was filled to overflowing with red-handed gunmen who had slain their fellows. So numerous were these criminals that the court dockets were congested. The legislature created an emergency criminal district court for Dallas county and Marry Miller was drafted to serve as its first judge. He established a new high record. In thirteen months all the cells in Murderers' Row were vacant. There were a few hangings, many life convictions and other red-handed assassins were given long terms of penal servitude. Having finished the job, Judge Miller tendered his resignation to the gov-

MINISTERS NOT AGREED ON SILESIA

Briand and Llyod George to Find Harmony in Conference to Settle Disputed Boundary.

Italian Representation Seeks to Bring About Settlement at Dinner, but Meet With No Success.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The French and British prime ministers are far from agreement upon the new line dividing Upper Silesia drawn by the experts appointed for this purpose by them Tuesday evening. Therefore, the work of the supreme council which has under advisement the Silesian problem cannot be completed for the present, nor is it possible to forecast the outcome of the differences which have arisen.

Mr. Lloyd George upon receiving the Irish reply by air courier this afternoon and finding that the Silesian situation promised new difficulties, said he would remain no longer in Paris but would return to London tomorrow for a cabinet meeting Saturday, leaving Lord Curson and the experts behind to continue work with the other members of the council.

The Italian delegates made an effort to bring about a settlement at a dinner at which Mr. Lloyd George was present tonight, but a member of the Italian delegation informed the Associated Press correspondent after the dinner that developments had reached such a point that there was very little that the Italians or any other nadiators could do to alter the situation until after the meeting of the French cabinet tomorrow. The Italian delegates in remaining in Paris in the expectation of attending another meeting of the supreme council, possibly Saturday.

GRAFT PROBE REPORT SHOWS NEFF IN ERROR

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—The joint legislative committee appointed to investigate graft and extravagance in the state capitol as charged by Governor Neff, submitted its report late today. In conclusion the report says that "we feel that there will be no financial loss to the state from any of the transactions referred to in this report and that the money in each instance will in due time be recovered.''

The report was laid on the table subject to call.

The committee makes few recommendations giving the short statement asto the financial end as their conclusion. The recommendations made are of minor character and cause no great changes in the administration of the state affairs.

The detailed report of the governor's charges of graft was given to the committee at the outset of the investigation referring to the penitentiary system; a shortage in the treasurer's office for which Lon D. Morgan ,exchief clerk is under indicment; padding of expense accounts in scholastic censuses, which the educational department is investigating; irregularities in a Houston sub-division of the health department; padding of expense accounts in the fire insurance department.

FIRES WIPE OUT CANADIAN TOWN

OTTAWA, Ontario, Aug. 11.—The picturesque little town of Aylmer on the shore of Lake Deschenes today was a scene of desolation as a result of a fire that swept it last night. ACTION MAY NECESSITATE NEW SESSION

Deadlock Between House and Senate Seems Likely to Prevent Passage of Appropriation Bills.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—The house of representatives today voted to appoint a new free conference committee to confer with the senate committee on the eleemosynary institutions appropriation bill. The personnel of the committee has not yet been named.

When the house committee appointed yesterday and instructed by vote of the house to adhere to the Pope amendment to the bill met with the senate committee today the latter body through Senator Dudley, spokesman, informed them that the senate committee would not confer with them until such instructions were abolished. The committee then returned to the house, reported the affair and after much debate and argument during which many points of order were raised the house by a vote of 103 to 23 discharged the first committee and requested the speaker to appoint a new one. The committee will be appointed tomorrow.

This action by the committee and en by committee members to necessitate another called session immediately after adjournment of the present one, as the appropriations bill not have been disposed of by that time.

The senate passed the educational appropriation bill today after substituting the original senate bill for the bill passed and sent over from the house. This bill does not contain the salary reductions added by the house. When sent back to the house that body refused to concur in the substitute and requested a free conference committee to work out an agreement.

The house refused to concur to the amendments to the senatorial redistricting bill and free conference committees were appointed in both branches to work out an agreement. The senate committee is composed of Senators Suiter, Bledsoe, Page, Parr and Richards. The house committee consists of Representatives Teer, Hill, Pollard, Lackey and Marshall.

The senate adopted today the majority report on the penitentiary request for $879,000 to run the system for the next fourteen months. The report as passed appropriates $175,000 only to pay land notes coming due about January 1.

The senate engrossed the optometry bill today.

NEGRO STAGES DARING HOLD UP IN FORT WORTH

Special to the Record News.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11.—Firing two shots as he entered the office, after which he took his time in looting the cash drawer, then forced H. M. Wallace to strip a $600 diamond ring from his finger and hand it over with an expensive watch he wore, a negro committed what officers declare is one of the most daring daylight holdups in the history of Fort Worth.

The robbery occurred in the offices of the Wallace Coal company shortly after noon Thursday. After obtaining his loot the negro tore the telephone connections out and forced the two men in the office to walk into a garage, in the rear. He locked the doors on them and left.

Officers believe the robbery was committed by the same negro who Sunday afternoon attacked a young white married woman at her home on the Keller road and later held up and robbed R. E. Forrester.

HOPE ETERNAL HELD FOR MEDICINAL BEER

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—One more hope for medical beer was held out today by Secretary Mellon.

Mr. Mellon said that should action upon his anti-beer bill be deferred by congress until after the recess, it was possible that the regulations covering the use of beer for medical purposes would be issued by the treasury.

EXTRAVAGANCE IS ASSAILED BY PARRISH

Representative From This District Declares Government Watchword Must Be Economy.

Asserts Mondell's Proclamation on Saving Is but Subterfuge Postponing Day of Reckoning.

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS,
Record News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Declaring that for the next fifty years the overshadowing national question and the national watchwords must be economy, Representative Parrish of Texas today took the Republican party severly to task for failing to reduce expenditures and revise and correct the inequalities of the present tax laws.

He characterized as subterfuge pure and simple, and as postponing the day of reckoning, the proclamation of Republican Leader Mondell, that he knew a way by which two billion dollars could be saved.

Put on Later.

An analysis of the proportion, said Parish, simply shows that it would cut this amount off in the first half of the year and would be forced to add it in the last half.

Notwithstanding the great demands for immediate revision of the tax laws which was urged by former President Wilson, and notwithstanding the fact that the republicans have had at their command every agency and power of the government, Parrish declared they have forced American business men to conduct their business in the dark for at least eight months without even knowing what part of their profits would be taken as taxes.

The business men are not complaining so much of the taxes they must pay, he said, though they are demanding relief from the present burdens, but they are complaining and justly so, at the multitudinous and brain racking technicalities and uncertainties through which they gust go in order to determine what tax they must pay their government.

Confusion Fatal.

There is nothing so fatal to successful business as to compel it to function in confusion and doubt.

You have fiddled while rome burned, you have procrastinated, debated and talked about reduction until conservative men are weak and sick at heart and now demand and insist that some action be taken speedily. Had it not been for this cry which came from every part of the country, I dare say that the present congress would have recessed and left tax revision go over until December, there was much general talk of such procedure until the people made themselves heard. More than four months were given over to the Fordney Tariff bill which, in practical results, is worse than waste. The bill is one of the most dangerous pieces of legislation that has been passed by any congress since the creation of our government and the result of such legislation will be the ruination of business, cut off our exports and choke up the channels of trade. It will relieve the favored few and oppress the masses.

INDICT BURCH FOR MURDER OF J. B. KENNEDY

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Arthur C. Burch of Evanston, Illinois, was indicted today charged with the murder of John Belton Kennedy in Beverley Glen, near here on the evening of August 5. Kennedy was killed by a charge from a shotgun in the back of his head.

Mrs. Madelynne Obenchain, of Chicago and Los Angeles, was with Kennedy at the time, also was indicted for murder.

GORED BY BULL.

DECATUR, Ga., Aug. 11.—Will Miller, 49, a dairyman, is dead, fatally gored by a bull. Miller was gored in the abdomen and about the head and shoulders when he entered the stall where the animal was confined.

GRANT BETROTHAL SETS CHURCH AGOG

Mrs. Phillip Lydig

Announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Philip Lydie, twice divorced, and Rev. Dr. Percy S. Grant, Episcopal minister of New York City, has set church circles agog. Episcopal canon law forbids the marriage of persons who have obtained divorces. Mrs. Lydie nee Rita de Acosta, was married at the age of sixteen to W. E. D. Stokes. She divorced him and later married Major Philip Lydie, from whom she obtained a divorce, on grounds of incompatability, in France in 1918.

WOMEN SARCASTIC ON LAWMAKERS

Special to the Record News.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11.—Cynical remarks concerning habits of state legislators, while they are in session and sarcastic observations of the "broad minded purposes" of law makers in their retrenchment policies, which so seriously effected the University of Texas budget were heard today at a meeting of the Fort Worth league of women voters.

A member of the league declared that no hope can be held for the attainment of a first class university until it is taken entirely out of politics.

FIVE KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS TRUCK

VICKSBURG, Miss., Aug. 11.—Charles Brown, driving a truck with a trailer behind loaded with a road construction company's workmen, attempted to cross the railroad track ahead of northbound Yazoo and Mississippi Valley passenger train, one mile north of Anguilla, Sharkey county, this afternoon and as a result Brown, another white man and three negroes were killed, and one white man and nine negroes were injured.

CANADA EXPECTS BOOZE RUNNING TO INCREASE

WINDSOR, Otario, Aug. 11.—Canadian prohibition officials expect liquor will pour across the border into the United States in greater streams than ever before, because of the court ruling here that the Ontario temperance act does not prohibit exportation of intoxicants to a foreign country.

RECOVER LOOT TAKEN FROM FREIGHT CARS

Special to the Record News.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11.—Approximately $1,000 worth of dry goods, alleged to have been stolen from interstate shipments in the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad yards recently, were recovered Thursday by county and federal officers in a raid on a house two miles north of Fort Worth.

STEAMER HITS ICEBERG

CHRISTIANA, Aug. 11.—The Norwegian steamship Bergenstjord limped into port here today from New York, having been damaged by hitting an iceberg while off Cape Race at 3 o'clock in the morning during a dense fog. The iceberg bumped the steamer below the water line and one wing of the propellor was bent so that the liner was forced to reduce its speed.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S DAD TAKES BLUSHING BRIDE AT AGE OF SEVENTY-SIX YEARS

By Associated Press.

MONROE, Mich., Aug. 11.—Dr. George T. Harding, father of President Warren G. Harding, came to Monroe today, married Miss Alice Severn, for many years nurse in his office at Marion, Ohio, and left the city before Monroe citizens had guessed his identity.

Accompanied by a younger Marion couple who refused to divulge their names, Dr. Harding and Miss Severn drove into Monroe in an automobile, reaching the city shortly after noon. They went immediately to the county court house, obtained a marriage license and asked to be directed to a Baptist parsonage. As there is no resident Baptist pastor here, the couple went to the home of the Reverend Frank T. Knowles, pastor of the Monroe Presbyterian Church, who performed the ceremony at 2 o'clock.

Following the wedding Dr. Harding and his bride left immediately in their automobile, driving south toward Toledo.

Dr. Harding made an attempt to withhold announcement of his marriage. The marriage license, obtained from Miss Beryl Snyder, a deputy county clerk, was marked "not for publication" asked by the Rev. Knowles before the ceremony if he was the father of President Harding, the Marion physician ignored the question.

Dr. Harding appeared in the best of spirits while in Monroe and talked with newspaper men and attaches of the county clerk's office on a variety of subjects. Whenever he was asked concerning his relation to President Harding, however, he ignored the question. The physician distributed cigars among the men with whom he talked at the county building and sent a box of them to the office of the local daily newspaper.

Monroe long has been known as the marriage place of Ohio couples who desire to marry in secret, as it is located but a few miles from the border.

HARDING INVITES WORLD POWERS TO DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE NOVEMBER 11

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Putting into definite terms its proposal for a disarmament conference, the United States today invited the great powers to unite in "a practical effort to remove the causes if misunderstanding," and so facilitate reduction of the world's enormous outlay for the materials of war.

In formal, identic notes of invitation forwarded to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, the American government pledged its own unstinted co-operation in such an effort and further defined as follows its own conception of the principles involved:

That there can be no hope for peace stability until the tax burden resulting from heavy armaments has been reduced.

That among these problems the Pacific and Far Eastern questions occupy a position of "unquestioned importance."

That although there is no intention to dictate the scope of the conference the discussions should touch upon matters "which have been" of international concern as well as those now admittedly controversial and, that the question of naval armaments might well be considered first, although there should be no barrier to a full consideration of armaments of every sort.

Coincidentally with the dispatch of the invitations to the four great powers, China was asked to send a delegation to take part in those discussions of the conference which relate to the Pacific and the Far East. All five nations thus invited have indicated informally that they woud accept, and formal responses are expected to reach Washington within a few days, opening the way for a more detailed preliminary negotiation on the scope of the conference.

In every respect the note of invitation follows the principles previously defined by this government in its informal conversations with the other powers, but particular attention was attracted by the suggestion that a solution of the Far Eastern situation should include "common understandings with respect to matters which have been and are of international concern." State department officials would not interpret the text of the note but the general assumption here was that under this definition a way would be found to discuss questions as Yap and Shantung which "have been" of international concern but which Japan now is inclined to regard as closed incidents.

From the start the American government has held that such subjects ought not be excluded from an honest effort to reach an adjustment in the Far East. Japan on the other hand, carried her insistence to the point of declaring in her informal acceptance of participation in the conference that she did not expect to discuss could be regarded as "accomplished facts." Whether such a qualification will be repeated in the formal acceptance of the Tokio government is a subject of conjecture, but officials here are confident of a satisfactory agreement on that subject before the conference assembles on November eleven.

Text of Invitation

The text of the formal invitation to the disarmament conference follows:

"The president is deeply gratified at the cordial response to his suggestion that there should be a conference on the subject of limitation of armaments, in connection with which the Pacific and Far Eastern questions should also be discussed.

"Productive labor is staggering under an economic burden too heavy to be borne, unless the present vast public expenditures are greatly reduced. It is idle to look for stability, or the assurance of social justice, or the security of peace, while wasteful and unproductive outlays deprive effort of its just reward and defeat the reasonable expectation of progress. The enormous disbursements in the rivalries of armaments manifestly constitute the greater part of the incumbrance upon enterprise and national prosperity; and avoidable or extravagent expense of this nature is not only without economic justification, but is a constant menace to the peace of the world rather than an assurance of its preservation. Yet there would seem to be no ground to expect the halting of these increasing outlays unless the powers most largely concerned find a satisfactory basis for an agreement to effect their limitation. The time is believed to be opportune for these powers to approach this subject directly and in conference; and while, in the discussion of limitation of armaments, the question of naval armament may naturally have first place, it has been thought best not to exclude questions pertaining to other armament to the end that all practicable measures of relief may have appropriate consideration. It may also be found advisable to formulate proposals by which, in the interest of humanity, the use of new agencies of warfare may be suitably controlled.

Disarmament Means Peace

"It is, however, quite clear that there can be no final assurance of the peace of the world in the absence of the desire for peace and the prospect of reduced armaments is not a hopeful one unless this desire finds expression in a practical effort to remove causes of misunderstanding and seek ground for agreement as to principles and their application. It is the earnest wish of this government that through an interchange of views with facilities afforded by a conference, it may be possible to find a solution of the Pacific and Far Eastern problems, of unquestioned importance at this time. That is, such common understandings with respect to matters which have been and are of international concern as may serve to promote enduring friendship among our people.

"It is not the purpose of this government to attempt to define the scope of the discussions in relation to the Pacific and Far East, but rather to leave this to be the subject of suggestions to be exchanged before the meeting of the conference in the expectation that the spirit of friendship and cordial appreciation of

IRISH REPLY DELIVERED TO LLOYD GEORGE

Message Sent From London to Paris Conference Via Airplane.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Irish situation underwent an unexpected development today when Eamonn DeValera's answer to the government proposals was delivered to Austen Chamberlain, leader of the government at London, and immediately forwarded by an airplane to the British prime minister in Paris.

Mr. DeValera had been expected to delay his reply until after the meeting of the Dail Eireann at Dublin Tuesday; hence the flutter of surprise in London has been followed by an apparent double crisis in Paris, occasioning the sudden decision by Mr. Lloyd George to return to London and convene a cabinet council Saturday to consider the Irish reply.

It is difficult to disentagle the effect of the evident inability to harmonize the opposing views of Premiers Lloyd George and Briand over Silesia from the possibility that DeValera's reply portends to an Irish crisis, or to decide which of these two has led to the sudden change in the premier's plans.

CHARGE BAKER WITH MURDER OF FATHER HESLIN

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Aug. 11—William A. Hightower, a baker, who revealed last night the grave of the Rev. Patrick E. Heslin, Colma priest, will be charged with murder, Constable A. S. Landini of Colma, San Mateo county, said today. Hightower is in jail in San Francisco. Finding the body solved the eight day mystery of the missing priest.

"I am onl yawaiting instructions from the district attorney foramlly to charge William Hightower with the murder of Father Heslin," the constable declared.

Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien of San Francisco said today:

"I firmly believe Hightower killed Father Heslin. But I do not believe he did it alone. I think there was at least one other man involved. It would not have been possible, I believe, for Hightower alone to commit the crime. Somebody must have aided him in getting the priest to the lonely spot where Father Heslin was killed."

BLAME EMPTY BOTTLE FOR FOREST BLAZE.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11.—From time immemorial bottles have started all sorts of trouble—but they were bottles filled with liquids.

And now comes an empty bottle with the charge against it of having started a forest fire.

John S. Brender, district ranger of the Wenatchee National Forest, reports a fire which started in the forest recently and that originated in an empty pickle bottle.

Brender, while cruising about in the forest, discovered a burned spot, with the bottle in the center of it. His investigation showed a bubble in the glass that had focussed the sun's rays and started the fire, according to his report sent to forest headquarters here.

HARDING PLANS WEEK-END CRUISE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Another cruise on the Mayflower is planned by President and Mrs. Harding for the coming week end. They expect to leave Washington late tomorrow or Saturday and return Monday morning.

URGES U. S. TO RECOGNIZE GEN. OBREGON

Representative Connally Demands American Administration Extend Action to Mexican Government.

Declares President Handicapped by Failure to Resume Diplomatic Negotiations.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Record News Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11—Recognition of the Obregon government in Mexico by the United States was demanded by Representative Tom Connaly in a speech on the floor of the house today.

After criticising the state department and charging that it had practically made it impossible for President Obregon to acept its requirements, Connally gave eight reasons why Mexico should be recognized.

Pointing out that Italy, Spain, Germany, Switzerland and other European countries as well as Japan have already recognized the Obregon government, Connally declared that the recognition of ... Britain was held up because of the failure of this country to act.

General Obregon, Connally said, was elected president by constitutional methods and since his accession public order has been restored to an extent not heretofore prevailing since the Regime of Porifo Diaz.

Insurrection and revolution have been put down with a firm and relentless hand.

Business Improving

The administration of the affairs of Mexico has evened a broad and liberal spirit in its dealings with foreign nations. Business conditions, according to visitors in Mexico, are rapidly improving, and it is claimed that travelers no longer are molested or annoyed.

So far can be gathered from diplomatic correspondence made public by the state department, Connally said, recognition is being withheld because of opposition to an article in the Mexican constitution of 1917 which American oil interests fear may be construed as retroactive despite assurances from both Huerta and Obregon that the article is not and must not be interpreted as retroactive or violative of public property rights.

The eight reasons given by Connally in favor of recognition, are:

Assigns Reasons

1. It is the only Mexican government since that of Diaz that had been able to maintain order and put down insurrection and rebellion.

2. It has announced a broad and friendly attitude towards American capital and Americn citizens, and President Obregon is reputed to be extremely friendly to United States and its citizens.

3. He has given assurances that article 27 of the Mexican constitution of 1917 shall not be construed retroactively.

4. The present Mexican government evows its willingness and readiness to establish a joint arbitration commission to pass upon and settle any claims by foreigners for damages sustained during the revolution.

5. American rights and American citizens can better be protected by a government which has been recognized by the United States than by one from which recognition is withheld.

6. Argentine, Costa Rica, Chile, Colombia, Guatemala, Uraugay, Spain Switzerland, China, and Austra have recognized the Obregon government, and Mexico claims that Ecudar Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, Salvador, Bolovia, Brazil, Holland, Japan and Germany, also have recognized Obregon.

7. Recognition by the United States will show friendship for the United States among all the nations of Central and South America and will promote friendship and better understanding between the United States and Mexico.

8. Because if Obregon promises the United States to amend the Mexican constitution he may secure recognition abroad but lose it at home.

MINISTER SHOOTS CATHOLIC PRIEST

By Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11—Father James E. Coyle, past of St. Paul's Catholic church, was shot three times and seriously wounded early tonight while sitting on the porch of his home.

The assailant, who gave his name as Stephenson and claimed to be a Methodist minister, surrendered soon after the shooting. He refused to make a statement.

FORMER EMPLOYES PROTEST MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Numerous former government employes protested to a house committee today against enactment of a law which would prevent them from prosecuting claims against the government until they have been ont of government service three years. Oliver P. Helps said the measure was 'the meanest thing of its kind ever drafted," and would disbar many lawyers.

TOLL OF VENGEANCE DRAWN IN BLOOD BY STAR SPY OF MINGO'S TRIGGER TRIAL

NEW YORK, Aug. ..—"Sid Hatfield Killed in Gun Fight."

A flood of memories was released by the news flash from Welch, W. Va., where the youthful ex-chief of police of Matewan, central figure in the famous "Trigger Trial," was shot dead on August 1 by Detective C. M. Lively, an equally dramatic character in the Mingo miners' murder case.

Making a "good job" of it while he had the chance, Lively also sent a bullet into the heart of Ed Chambers, the "baby" of defendants' row at the trial, which dragged along for eight weeks early this year and ended in the acquittal of Hatfield and his eighteen co-defendants.

Once more the "gat" has spoken where the law had said "not guilty."

Lively stands the avenger of the seven Baldwin-Felts detectives killed in the one-and-one-half minute gun battle at the little mining town of Matewan May 19, 1920. Among the victims were Albert and Lee Felts. What their brother, Tom Felts, head of the detective agency, failed to achieve with a long and costly trial, for which he had engaged seven of the most brilliant lawyers of the south, the bullets of his "star sleuth" have done for him.

Tom Felts, dreaded by the outlaw world from coast to coast as the most relentless man hunter, who has sent more crooks—bank robbers, highwaymen, feudists—to the penitentiary than any other individual in the United States, never tried to hide the fact that since the Matewan tragedy his whole life revolved around one all-overshadowing desire—to bring Sid Hatfield to justice.

He has had several chances to "pop" him at sight, and he has admitted to this writer that his hand twitched each time, but he added:

Hatfield Faced More Charges.

"My whole life has been devoted to heeping the law by hunting down criminals; I am not going to take the law into my own hands now. But I shall spend my last cent, the last atom of my energy, in trying to secure Hatfield's punishment."

Hatfield was under six other murder indictments growing out of the "Battle of Matewan." So was young Chambers. So are twenty other Matewan miners.

The killing of his two brothers made a broken, embittered man of Tom Felts. It robbed him of his best pals, with whom he had worked and played for nearly half a century.

A few minutes after the acquittal of the nineteen accused—there were twenty-four originally; one turned state's star witness, and the cases against four others were nolle prossed—the writer saw Felts in the latter's hotel room. He lay in his bed, writhing in pain, threatened with pneumonia. He raised himself with difficulty on one elbow and said, amid half-suppressed sobs:

"We lost. But we are coming back. No conviction of these men seems possible in Bloody Mingo. We shall try to have them tried in another county," and"—his clenched fist pounding the side of the bed with each word—"we shall convict them the next time."

Then he sank back on his pillow and turned to the wall to hide his tears.

The bloodshed, the suffering, the romance and adventure, the bitterness and the hatreds that form the background of the "Trigger Trial," and its sequel at Welch last week, and of many other tragic sequels that are sure to come, constitute a world within itself, and it is one that the great masters of fiction would revel in exploring, for it is replete with facts which are indeed stranger than fiction.

Hatfield's Uncanny Smile

Sid Hatfield himself was a character worthy of the best efforts of a Poe, a Hugo, or a Tolstoi. His personality was strangely dual. Even in his looks that duality was constantly apparent. Tall, lanky, rawboned, rosy of complexion, with hazel eyes that glowed the full, fiery intensity of his impulsive being, this typical son of the hills seemed one minute like an awkward, harmless, kindly country boy and the next like a beast of prey. He could slouch out of the courtroom looking from behind, as if he had not an ounce of "pep". He would hear a remark or feel an ever so slight touch from someone walking behind him, and wheel around with the swiftness and agility of the black panther. And always, in such moments, his large, uncouth hand, with its incongruously slender, nimble fingers, would, by sheer instinct, fly to his hind pocket—the same movement that Lively's eagle eyes caught at Welch the other day, the hash-house sleuth's sight and trigger-finger being just a trifle quicker than Sid's.

"Smiling Sid" Hatfield's smile was the most uncanny thing about him. It seldom came off; when it did the youth's face took on a wizened, withered look, and he seemed seventy years old instead of twenty-six. The Hatfield smile was more of a grin than a smile; there was no mirth in it. It was on his lips continually throughout the trial as he sat there, in the shadow of the hangman's noose, the leader and "hero" of that band of accused murderers. Witnesses of the Matewan Battle say it never left his lips during the bullet orgy. When it was over seven men lay dead in front of him, three others, Matewanians, behind him. Hatfield alone was said to have killed five of the detectives. The first thing he said was:

"They shot a hole thru mah hat and they shot one of mah guns out of mah hand. Ah recken they all was excited."

The major part of the people of Matewan swore by Sid Hatfield. He was their hero. He was known to "go through hell" for a friend and was equally intense in his antagonisms. He never forgot and never forgave. He was intensely prod in grinning, unsophisticated exterior he hid a world of shrewdness and cunning. He was intensely suspicious and jealous.

Married Mayor's Widow

By his side throughout the "trigger trial" sat his wife, a handsome young woman who had been made a widow by the Matewan battle. Her first husband, Mayor C. C. Testerman, of Matewan, was killed in that fight. She married Sid less than two weeks afterward. Opposite the Hatfield pair in the courtroom one day sat a reporter who has eye trouble. When he takes off his glasses and the light shines in his eyes they twitch. They happened to do it on this occasion.

Mrs. Hatfield whispered something to her husband. As if stung by a tarantula, Sid shot up from his seat, bent his tall figure over the table that separated him from the reporter and hissed:

"The madam says you winked at her!"

The dumfounded scribe was speechless for a moment, then merely answered: "Hell, no."

Hatfield, his face lobster-red, eyes hurling flames at the newspaperman went on:

"If you do it again I'll take you out and beat you up!"

When Sid Hatfield spoke of "beating up" he meant the only kind he knew—bullet-beating. The reporter later explained his eye trouble to the Hatfields. The latter said not a word, merely grinned. Te reporter after that chose a seat of less propinquity to the Hatfield couple.

Whatever may have been the right or wrong in the murder cases, Hatfield himself believed in his heart that he was a great man, a hero, a defender of his townspeople. He was a fanatic on two things—the miners' union and the Baldwin-Felts Detective agency.

Primeval Bitterness

The Matewan battle was the result of evictions of union miners carried out that day by thirteen Felts detectives, led by Albert and Lee Felts. Since that battle all old feuds and antagonisms in Mingo have been over-shadowed by the feud between the union miners and the Felts men. The mutual hate and craving for vengeance in this feud can be understood only by those who know the psychology of the people of that section of the country. It is almost primeval in its bitterness and intensity. It is a feud that "sees red" in the literal sense of the term.

Its all-powerful law is "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth!"

If there is one for whom the Matewan miners feel a special degree of hatred that man is C. E. Lively. The reason is that he executed a masterpiece of deception of which they—notably the accused slayers and more particularly Sid Hatfield—were the victims. For nine years he had been a member in good standing of the United Mine Workers of America, while at the same time he was reporting its plans and doings to the Felts agency, of which he was the "star" operator. The detective concern has been for years engaged in work for the coal operators. Immediately after the gun battle he was sent to Matewan to "see what you can dig up about Sid Hatfield and the rest of the bunch."

"My boss told me," he said one day to the writer, in telling his full story for the International News Service, "to try to get the inside story about the battle, to be used against those fellows at the trial. I got the confessions of each of them."

These "confessions" Lively told on the witness stand in the Mingo County courthouse. He had obtained them while running a restaurant, cultivating the patronage of all of the accused, catering to their tastes, posing as their friend and the friend of the union. If there was any evidence that might have convicted the accused miners it was Lively's. But it was discredited by the fact that he had "played both ends to the middle." He was pilloried as a "traitor" and "informer" and "union spy" by attorneys for the defense, whose eloquent pleas turned his evidence into a bomerang for the prosecution.

The Soul of a Detective

Lively's identity as a Felts detective was so cleverly hidden that no one except the prosecution knew of it until he revealed himself on the witness stand. The bombshell effect this revelation had on the courtroom crowd is one never to be forgotten.

Lively, too, is a fanatic. But his fanaticism has little if anything to do with the union or anti-union operations. These things are side issues to him; they happen to figure in the course of his duty; they interest him but little. His one obsession is—his work. He is a detective and wants to be the best detective in the country, in the world. Success in his work is his one thought, his one ideal. Men and women are pawns on his chessboard, which is sleuth work. He is filled with fiery ambition. He will suffer hunger, pain, humiliation—everything—to make good on whatever assignment he gets.

"My work is my love," he said one night in a rare hour of talkativeness. "When I made friends with Sid Hatfield and his bunch I put my whole heart and soul in it. My work is chiefly a matter of auto-suggestion. When I talk to and associate with people from whom I want information, or on whom I want to 'get' something, I talk myself into a rock-like conviction that I actually am their friend. I forget all about being a detective. I clear my mind, my whole conscious self, of every atom of realization of my real identity. Thus I quickly begin to sympathize with them, earnestly and sincerely, I share their joys and sorrows, I am for them heart and soul.

"Not until my day—or night, for I do much night work—is all ended and I am alone in my room do I remember that I had an ulterior motive, that I have been 'working.' Then"—here he smiled shrewdly—"I lock the door, pull down the shade, take my pad and pencil and write my report to headquarters."

Lively has literally flirted with death every moment of every day and night for ten years. But he knows no fear. To look at him superficially one would think him the last man in the world capable of doing what he has done. He is an underaized man of slight build, but alive with nervous energy. He is never without his two guns; that he can handle them needs no confirmation here. His gaze is unsteady; he looks at you when you are not looking; which may be a matter of training. His blue eyes are shrewd, ever vigilant. His aquiline nose gives his face a hawk-like touch.

Lively May Be Acquitted.

When Hatfield and Chambers went to Welch, W. Va., they went into an "unfriendly" county, McDowell, where the Felts men are strong. If it is true, as Tom Felts said, that no jury in Mingo will ever convict the Matewan accused it is equally safe to say that it will be difficult to find a jury in McDowell County to convict Lively.

Besides, there is the plea—all-powerful in that section of the country where boys are experts with the "gat" long before they put on their first long pants—

"I beat him to the draw!"

OWENS WELL MAKING NICE HEAD FLOWS

Connected with the tanks Thursday, and flowing through an eight-inch hole, the Ross and Tyrrell well on the Owens, Bunger district, is making nice heads, several hours apart though not yet fully cleaned out, and is still gassing heavily, according to reports from the field Thursday night.

Estimates range from one hundred to several hundred barrels, all however being agreed that the well is the most important strike since last year, when the Panhandle opened up the rich 2500 foot sand on the McCluskey, six miles west of the new Bunger pool.

Extends Invitation

"Accordingly, in pursuance of the proposal which has been made and in the light of the gracious appreciation of its importance, the president invites the government of Great Britain to participate in a conference on the subject of limitation of armaments, in connection with which Pacific and Far Eastern question will also be discussed, to be held in Washington on the eleventh day of November, 1921."

PUEBLO CONCERN BUILDS HOMES FOR DESTITUTE

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 11.—Employes of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company who lost their homes in the recent floods that swept this city and vicinity will be enabled to secure new homes as a result of action taken here by the local managers of the Rocefeller Steel works.

Announcement has been made that a contract for the erection of fifty modern six-room homes has been let, and it is expected that many more employes of the company will take advantage of the offer of the management in the near future.

The homes will be built on ground owned by the steel company and sold to the employes at actual cost, it is announced, payment being made over a long period of years.

Each new home will be designed and constructed according to the desires of the prospective owner.

The new houses will be located within easy access of the main gate of the Minnequa plant of the steel company.

Until their new homes are completed many victims of the flood who are employed by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company will continue to be cared for at the company's camp, established immediately following the flood disaster.

DEALERS ASK FIGHT AGAINST PROPOSED TAX

Stating that the congressional ways and means committee is considering favorably the proposed tax of $10 on every automobile in the United States, for whatever purpose used, the executive committee of the American Automobile Association has written from Washington to Charles H. Verschoyle of this city, asking that he, as a vice president of the association, immediately start action against the measure. Every automobile club and similar organization in Texas will be canvassed, Mr. Verschoyle declared Thursday night, following the receipt of the letter, and urged to wire or write the Texas congressmen protesting against this action.

Such a tax, Mr. Verschoyle points out, would mean many hundreds of thousands of dollars extra taxation for the people of the state of Texas, additional to the heavy taxation already assessed automobile owners.

He plans to start an active campaign in Texas against the measure through the automobile clubs, and also through individual owners. Everyone who would be affected by the measure, and who is opposed to such a tax will be requested to either write or wire their representative immediately, urging against such action.

Locally, Mr. Verschoyle plans to ask the assistance of the Automobile Dealers Association, the Rotary, Kiwanis, Wichita and University clubs, and also individuals. He was called out of the city Thursday evening, but will return at the close of the week, at which time he intends to start his campaign, he stated Thursday night.

FORTY SHIPS TO FLY OVER CITY TODAY

A fleet of 40 aeroplanes from Fort Sill on a cross country flight required by the army regulations, will spend most of Friday here in flight over the city and surrounding country, according to information received by officials of the Aerial Transportation company at Call Field Thursday.

Formation flights will be a feature of the day, according to advance information, the formations comprising about seven planes each. The local company will have two planes at the field, but they will not participate in the formation flying, being reserved for commercial service they announce.

Residents of Wichita Falls who wish to observe the flights at close range are invited to visit the hangars at the field any time during the day, according to one of the officials of the local company.

IMPERIAL POTENTATE COMING HERE

Official information that Ernest A. Cutts, imperial potentate of A. A. O. N. M. S. will arrive in Wichita Falls about the middle of September to deliver the permanent charter of Maskat Shrine, was received Thursday, according to the announcement of C. O. Fritz. Mr. Cutts is a member of the Allen Temple of Savannah, Ga., and his Texas itinerary is being mapped out by Mike H. Thomas, well known mason and shriner of Dallas.

His itinerary, which will include the ten temples of Texas, is announced as afolows: Hella of Dallas, Moslah of Fort Worth, Alzafar of San Antonio, Ben Hur of Austin, Arabia of Houston, El Mina of Galveston, El Maida of El Paso, Karem of Waco, Khiva of Amarillo and Maskat of Wichita Falls.

JONES FAVORS COUNTY AUDIT

Declaring that he believed in letting the people see what is being done, Judge J. P. Jones of the county commissioner's court, asserted Thursday that he favored holding an audit of the county books and that the proposed audit would not cost over $1000.

Judge Jones said that he had noticed in local newspapers statements quoting County Auditor W. W. Murphy to the effect that the audit would cost $10,000. This Judge Jones asserted was in error as he has, at the present time, bids on file from recognized auditors offering to hold the audit for $1000 per year or at a reasonable rate per day.

NO RABIES FOUND IN HEAD OF DOG

No signs of rabies were found in tests of the head of the dog killed Tuesday afternoon near Tenth and Polk streets, according to information received Thursday from Austin by Dr. W. P. Lowry, city physician.

The dog was reported to have bitten several children and officers feared at that time that it was suffering from rabies.

COMMISSION SHOWN VERSAILLES DREAM

PARIS, Aug. 11.—If the offices of the German Reparations' Commission is anything to go by no one need ever fear the Germans are going to forget the Treaty of Versailles.

In every office of the commission hang pictures of the chateau of Versailles and various parts of the town. A place of honor was found for a large picture of the Hall of Mirrors, where the treaty was signed, and this is surrounded by pictures of the ceremony of June 29, 1919, prominent among which are photographs of the arrival of the German delegation and the enthusiasm of French crowds after the signature. The only thing one does not see framed is the treaty itself. This probably hangs in the German foreign office in Berlin.

OPENING OF SCHOOLS SET FOR SEPT. 12

Wichita Falls public schools will open on Monday, September 12, it was announced Thursday by W. W. Brown, business manager of city schools. Most of the rural schools will also begin on this date, according to County Superintendent Burl Bryant.

By that time, according to Mr. Brown, it is expected that the additions built to the San Jacinto and Sam Houston school buildings and the newly constructed Barwise and Washington schools will be ready for occupancy. The Washington school is being built for negro students.

The district teachers institute, a partis program of which already has been announced through the Record News, is scheduled to begin Monday, September 5. Teachers from Wilbarger, Clay, and Archer counties are scheduled to attend the institute with the teachers of Wichita county.

Practically all teachers for the Wichita Falls schools have already been engaged, acording to Mr. Brown.

SEYMOUR MASONS TO HAVE CLUB

Seymour Knight Templars are planning to build a new masonic temple with rooms for a masonic club and other masonic bodies, it was announced Thursday by C. O. Fritz, following his return from a special conclave of the Seymour commandery Wednesday afternoon.

The dispensation for the Seymour commandery was granted at the Grand conclave of the grand commandery of the Knights Templar of Texas, held during April in Wichita Falls. The dispensation was issued by Grand Commander L. G. Hawkins of Vernon on June 6, and since that time 36 candidates have been initiated.

Candidates who received the degree Wednesday afternoon were: W. L. Yoe, F. H. Knight, B. W. Blocker, T. R. O'Dell and J. L. Robertson.

Visitors who attended the session were: L. Z. Timmons of Godfrey, commandery, Jacksboro and James R. Bockman and C. O. Frits of Wichita Falls Commandery No. 59.

NO. 1 FISHER RESPONDS TO NITRO SHOT

Responding satisfactorily to a third shot of nitro, the Scoot, Gates and Sheegog No. 1 Fisher, West Fowlkes, was reported Thursday as showing up for a good producer, from 75 to 100 barrels. This new well is an offset to the Gloria Oil Company's No. 1 Douglas, which opened up a new sand slightly under 1800 feet, several weeks ago.

The Scott, Gates and Sheegog got the sand around 1780 feet. It was drilled into deeper than was the discovery well, and is showing for a better producer than the Gloria, which was completed for 50 barrels in the top of the sand.

WICHITAN'S SISTER ATTACKED IN HOUSTON

Responding to a telegram from his sister, Mrs. C. Bard of Houston, that her husband, C. Bard, 58, had committed suicide Thursday morning after attacking her, C. F. Wilkins, of the Tenth street bakery, left early Friday morning for Houston.

Mr. Wilkins said that he could think of no cause to prompt Mr. Bard to take his own life, as he always seemed to be contented and doing well in his business. The deceased was in the furniture business.

According to information received from Houston the deceased, after inflicting severe injuries on his wife in her sight, cut his throat with a razor. Two neighbors of the deceased also are reported to have seen Mr Bard kill himself.

DRAUGHON TO OPEN BUSINESS SCHOOL

A branch of the Draughon Practical Business courses will be opened in Wichita Falls in the near future, according to an announcement made Thursday by representatives of the Draughon schools. The Draughon people maintain schools in 38 of the principal cities of the South, according to their announcement.

The local branch, which is to be under the management of local people, will be located in the Holbrook and Woods building, in the 800 block on Tenth street.

Day and night classes will be taught, including instruction in typewriting, boookkeeping and auxiliary branches.

PUSH WORK ON STORAGE TANKS HERE

Construction of a 55,000 barrel storage tank, bringing the total storage capacity of the Katy railroad here for fuel oil to propel its locomotives to 130,000 barrels in Wichita Falls, is being pushed to completion in the north yards here, according to an announcement from the local office. This addition to the local storage capacity will give ample accomodations for securing a reserve supply of fuel oil to carry the road during any time of scarcity of oil that might arise, railroad officials say, and also to give a storage place for oil bought from local refineries which will later be shipped to the substations along the various points on the M. K. & T. and the W. F. & N. W.

The Katy in Texas and the Northwestern in Oklahoma usese oil exclusively for both passenger and freight, having 285 engines so equipped.

With the conversion of a number of the locomotives in use on some of the Katy divisions in Oklahoma and Kansas to oil burners the Katy will be one of the largest consumers of fuel oil in the mid-continent field.

The decision of the Katy to convert as many of the locomotives in use in northern divisions to oil burners before January, 1922, is taken as a hopeful sign by independent refiners in this district and in the entire mid-continent field.

FIRST WICHITA BALE ARRIVES

Beating the best previous schedule by at least a fortnight's margin, Wichita Falls' first bale of cotton spent a good part of the day Thursday seeking a ginner, who is an equal distance ahead of the regular cotton ginning schedule.

Late Thursday afternoon, the farmer, whose name could not be learned, had not yet succeeded in getting his bale ginned.

The combination of good conditions early in the cotton season and continued dry weather during August is reported to be causing cotton to open rapidly.

BIG CLASS WILL ENTER KNIGHTHOOD

A large class of candidates are scheduled to receive the degree of knighthood at a meeting of the Bowie commandery, Friday afternoon. The work is announced to commence at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and last well into the evening.

Among Wichita Falls templars who have announced their intention of attempting the meeting are: Dr. C. E. Hartsook, commander of Wichita Falls commandery No. 59, James R. Bachman, W. Y. Hammack, Warren Smith and C. O. Fritz.

An invitation has been extended L. G. Hawkins of Vernon, grand commander of the Grand commandery of Texas, to attend the session.

END HEARING ON CLAIMS

The hearing which has been in progress before Frederick Tyler, special commissioner, regarding claims against five wells in the Frederick Delano federal receivership was completed Thursday. Agreements were ment of a large of the claims although al large number are still contested.

From the hearing which opened Monday morning in the court room of the Thirtieth District court. Mr. Tyler wil compile a report to be made to the Supreme Court of the United States, which will announce the final orders in regrad to the claims after it convenes this fall.

NAME PINKERTON CHARLIE POSTMASTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11—Willis Pinkerton, who was appointed acting postmaster at Charlie, Clay County, Texas, in May, was today designated as postmaster at that office.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of mopey back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

He Found Out, Didn't He?

"Ah jus' wanted to see if ah had enny gas and I struck a match and she jus' blazed up," said James McKnight, negro, Thursday night at 9 o'clock when the entire fire fighting equipment of the Central fire station arrived at Tenth and Ohio streets in answer to a fire call.

"You see," he said, "Ah done borrowed this heah cahr and Ah wanted to make shuah Ah had gasoline."

"An' buhleive me, Ah lef' that place," added his companion."

The fire, which was blazing up nearly two feet from the tank when firemen arrived on the scene, was extinguished without damage to the automobile, according to firemen.

METHODIST MISSIONS PLAN PICNIC OUTING

An all day rally service with dinner on the grounds will be held Tuesday, August 16, at the Marion church, by members and friends of the Wichita Falls Methodist Mission churches, according to the announcement of Rev. W. A. Betts, pastor.

The rally is to be held uned the auspices of the Annual Conference of the Board of Missions. An attractive series of pictures of foreign mission fields will be one of the features of the day's program, which is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock and last into the evening.

BULL BUFFALOES MARKED FOR DEATH.

WAINWRIGHT, Alberta, Aug. 11. One thousand buffalo in the national park at Wainwright will be slaughtered this year, according to government plans. The park contains only 5000 at present.

It could hold 25,000, but the maximum number contemplated by the government is 10,000. It is necessary to winter-feed on hay and the hay meadows of the park will not furnish much more than enough for 10,000 buffalo. Those picked for slaughter, however, will be mostly bulls. There is a large surplus of bulls in the herd and the elimination of a great per cent of them will do the herd no harm.

The slaughtered animals will be sold in the markets of Canada and the United States. Buffalo meat sells at a high price and the robes and heads will bring large sums. Mounted heads taken from a few bulls accidentally killed in the park sold last fall in Montreal for $250 apiece.

Wainwright Park is located in the heart of the old buffalo country. Buffalo blackened the prairie when the Hudson's Bay company was paramount lord of Western Canada. Now the old empire of the company has departed.

"THE LADY FROM OKLAHOMA"

Congresslady Alice M. Robertson of Oklahoma is a violent opponent of the Sheppard-Towner Better Baby bill. Miss Robertson is not an authority on babies "better or worse."

She conducted a successful cafeteria before she won a seat in congress and a cafeteria is neither a day nor night baby nursery. The lady from Oklahoma delivered herself of a speech against the bill saying that the census figures of Texas shows the state raises more than 26,000,000 chickens and produces nearly 78,000,000 eggs annually.

Now, what in the deuce have chickens and eggs got to do with legislation that will tend to produce better babies? Miss Robertson is a very amiable spinster lady, but she should be returned to her cafeteria where problems of the hour will not cause her to have sleepless nights and where the counting of chickens and eggs will be confined exclusively to those necessary to feed her delighted patrons.

Germany in the days of the kaiser enacted legislation for the protection of the women and the children of the Teutonic empire and the maternity hospitals of Germany were the first and finest in the world.

In America the law makers protect livestock but hesitate when it comes to the passing of laws for the protection of the mothers of America and for better babies the country over.

This is a fact, but, perhaps the congresslady from Oklahoma is not partial to dry fact or musty figures.

WHY NOT PLAY FAIR?

Governor Neff, on Wednesday, made a brief visit to the house while that august body was in session. An Austin correspondent says there was "no wild rush to greet the chief executive and to shake his hand, nor was he besieged by a great throng of members." Regardless of this, Governor Neff has made a gallant fight to keep down appropriations, to avoid the creation of useless jobs, to bring about the consolidation of overlapping departments and to prevent additional taxes being placed on the industries of the state. The Record News has no brief to defend Governor Neff, but The Record News is for fair play to all individuals and political organizations. Credit should be given where credit is due.

Six men charged with unlawful assembly in connection with a night visit last week to the home of Henry Adams near Matador, entered pleas of guilty and were fined $82 each, according to Matador advices. C. L. Burton, alleged seventh member of the visiting band, was killed when Adams opened fire from within his home. Adams is under bond pending official investigation of the affair. Officers of Motley county, in which Matador is situated, said the purpose of the seven men was to flog Adams, but that after Burden was shot, his companions fled. A loaded shotgun is a great equalizer. A dead regulator is a powerful object lesson. When men take the law into their own hands, when they set aside or trample in the dust the written law of the land, they must accept the consequences.

Farmers and business men of Henderson county have given their indorsement to Governor Neff's efforts to abolish unnecessary offices and curtail the expense of the taxpayers of the state. Only three persons in Henderson county declined to sign the indorsement. This is about the way the people feel the state over. They demand the strictest economy on the part of their servants. They are opposed to the creation of new jobs and they insist that those who are in office shall do a full day's work for a full day's pay.

Theodore H. Price is a writer on economics. His latest is "that the business outlook is bright;" that western civilization will regenerate all trades the world over and there is to be a re-establishment of a safe and sane government in Russia. If Russia is permitted to perish she will drag her neighbors down when she falls. There are a hundred and thirty million Russians. They should not be permitted to revert to savagery.

Michigan industries are back to about seventy-five per cent of normal. On April first, there were two hundred and seventy-six thousand men employed in the mills and shops of the states; on February, one hundred and thirty-six thousand. Normalcy is returning. Statistics tell the story.

President Harding says the revenue should have been taken up before the tariff. Is it possible that the master minds of his party placed the cart before the horse?

SENATOR DOROUGH AND WEST TEXAS.

Senator Dorough hails from Texarkana. He is the pride of Bowie and several adjoining counties. Personally he is a very amiable gentleman; politically he is classified as a Democrat. He lives on the border of Arkansas. This may warp his viewpoint at intervals. Senator Dorough did not run true to form when the redistricting bill was under consideration. Senator Wood represents a district in the heart of Texas. He is a white-haired and battle-scarred barrister and ultra-democrat. He is responsible for the Wood amendment to the senatorial redistricting bill. As drawn originally, the bill would become effective in 1922. Senator Wood had an attack of mental anguish, and all because the new bill placed four senators in east and south Texas in two districts and perhaps legislated one or two others out of office. To preven this, he insisted that all 31 senators should be elected in 1924. During the debate over the bill Senator Wood said that its passage would legislate out of office next year either Senator Floyd or Senator Darwin or Senator Doyle or Senator Woods. For this reason he asked for the adoption of his amendment postponing the time the bill goes into effect until April, 1924. In addition to cutting two senators out of ast Texas districts absolutely, the immediate enactment of the bill as a law would have forced all the present senators to run again next year.

Senator Dorough, in fighting for the Woods amendment, said:

"I can remember the time when East Texas fed West Texas, and the time will come again when drouths and poor crops will force it to do the same thing again. These same drouths and poor crops will eventuaully drive the population of West Texas back to East Texas, thus effecting another shift of population, and I hope when that time comes that the West Texas senators will show the same magnanimity in voting for another redistricting bill as we shall do in voting for this one."

Senator Bledsoe jumped to his feet and asked Senator Dorough to yield to a question. Dorough yielded.

"Are you really expressing your sentiments toward West Texas?" asked Bledsoe. "Are you merely joshing, or what?"

Dorough replied earnestly that he had not any intention of jesting, adding:

"We, in the garden spot of the state, East Texas, have shipped food to West Texas; we have helped them out there to kill out wolves and jack rabbits, to irrigate and to develop the country. And now they come back on us and demand redistricting. I warn you that the center of population will again change. The mere discovery of oil and a few good crops cannot guarantee continuance of the present condition."

Senator Dudley of El Paso arose and asked Senator Dorough if he had said the East Texans came west to help West Texas to irrigate, or whether he meant they merely came west to irrigate. He also wanted to know of Senator Dorough if West Texas had not helped East Texas to get rid of hookworm.

Senator Hertzberg of San Antonio, speaking against the adoption of the Wood amendment, charged certain senators were "in favor of redistricting as a general proposition," but that they "did not want to get their own hides scrattched." Continuing, he said:

"The people of Texas do not care whether an individual senator is returned next year to this body, even from their own districts. They simply want to see justice done, and I for one am in favor of redistricting as a matter of simple justice to West Texas, and in accordance with my duty under the constitution."

During the closing minutes of the debate, Senator Dorough, by amendment, tried to cut off the emergency clause of the bill. This would have prevented its final passage. However, this amendment was lost.

Representative Hill of Wheeler favors the acceptance of the senate substitute for his bill by the senatorial districts to remain as they were better to wait until 1924 than it is to permit the senatorial districtsto remain as they were carved out 20 years ago.

Senator Dorough is a very intelligent man. He must have surprised his friends when he made his attack, uncalled for from every standpoint, on West Texas. He should visit this section of the northwest. He should take a trip over the Panhandle and the Plains sections. He should be told that in the year 1919 more than half the cotton produced in Texas was picked in the territory in the country lying west of Fort Worth and Fort Worth is hundreds of miles west of Texarkana, the habitat of the young senator from Bowie.

Politically speaking East Texas dominated the state for decades. Politically speaking East Texas has ceased to dominate the politics of the imperial commonwealth. Long ago the gray beards recognized the handwriting on the wall. For years they defeated redistricting. They hated to surrender political or legislative power. Now they must bow to the inevitable.

Brilliant Harry Hertzberg of San Antonio sounded the slogan of right when he declared for justice for all sections of Texas, regardless of its effect upon the personal fortunes of ambitious men within or without senate halls. Taxation should be based upon representation and representation in legislative halls upon population.

West Texas has the population; West Texans are heavy taxpayers; West Texans are developers and builders of waste places.

Senator Dorough would have the tail wag the dog. This would be a tribute to the tail of the animal but a reflection on the brain of the brute and his sense of justice.

For years and years the people of West Texas and the fair minded of all sections of the state have clamored for senatorial redistricting. It is to be hoped that the senate substitute will be adopted and that partial justice at least will be done to the people regardless of what happens to the fences of five or six sitting senators and stray politicians the state over.

New York managers of vaudeville and motion picture houses have ordered a 20 per cent wage reduction. A ten per cent wage reduction has been ordered at Dallas, the theater and movie center of Texas. If the unions refuse to accept the wage reduction notice has been served upon them that their places will be filled wherever new men may be found who are willing to accept the wage scale offered. Theatrical and movie managers say that wage reductions must be made, as prices have tumbled and their patronage will not justify the maintainance of war wage schedules. Readjustment must come to all classes and conditions. This is the truth, however brutal and unpallatable, it should be told

SPEAKING OF A SALES TAX.

New York bankers say that a sales tax should be substituted for the excess profits tax. Republican leaders say that there will be no sales tax in the revenue bill. It is a pity that Secretary Mellon cannot draft the revenue bill. He would get quick action. He isn't seeking votes; he cares nothing "for the wrath of the people." He knows that the government must obtain four billions this year and it may need an additional half billion to pay the bills. The sales tax is coming some day unless the Democracy returns to power. Then a tax will be levied on the wealth of the people and not on "the backs and bellies of the people," as Representative John M. Garner is so fond of saying when called upon to discuss tax measures and tariffs of republican manufacture.

Congressman Frear of Wisconsin is a republican. He has issued warning to the leaders of his party that if they dodge responsibility in tax revision or deceive the people with false promises overwhelming defeat awaits the administration in the congressional election in 1922. "No invisible government," declares this Wisconsin republican, "has ever shown more brazen effrontry than the lobbyists for the dye monopoly in and out of congress." Senator Penrose is said to be determined that the dye monopoly shall be given the protection which its chiefs demand. Hon. Nick Longworth of Ohio is one of the chiefs.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

VERBOTEN.

I tried to buy some arsenic, to poison polar bears; around my house such beasts are thick, they gambol on the stairs; the druggist called me "foolish hick," and sprung rebukes in pairs. "The laws forbidding poison sales," he said, "are strict and tight, and there are many kinds of jails where I might rest tonight, if I should weigh out on my scales the death that you invite. If I should sell you half a ton of poison, green and blue, in yonder hoosegow, grim and dun, I'd spend a year or two; but you may go and buy a gun, and none will question you. Across the street they're selling gats, the cheapest and the best, and you may shoot the bears and rats that do your home infest, and wound them sorely in the slats, and send them to their rest." Across the street I journeyed then to buy a deadly tool; the store was full of half-baked men, and little boys from school; they bought their guns and bought again, and broke no law or rule. The salesmen all were Sunny Jims who did their work with speed, and everywhere I turned my glims some patron drew a bead, and someone shot me in the limbs to see if I would bleed. I bought a rifle long and black, of cartridges a ton, then started hobbling to my shack to practice with the gun, but someone shot me in the back, to see the sawdust run.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

RONDEAU OF A PERAMBULATING BOARD.

Go, cart! and I will quaintly scuffle
Behind thy freight of frill and fluffle,
While in the van do mince and wallow
Little dog Snap and big dog Rollo,
With proud nose shriveled like a truffle.

They know full well their comic bluff'll
Go big with tribes that sniff and snuffle;
Through serried curs that gulp and swallow
Go cart and I.

The fields! We pause here and unruffle
ur pent-up scorn. No need to muffle
The wild heart. In a leafy hollow
I pencil homage to Apollo,
And rondeau-laden, homeward shuffle
Go cart and I.

—Melampus.

Keeping house alone in an apartment is a wonderful adventure, especially when it lasts three months. For two months we tried to summon up courage to cook a mess of ham and eggs and coffee for ourself, and last Sunday, having had a full day off, we went at it. We started at 7 o'clock in the morning and began peeling the potatoes. By noon we decided we would get along without potatoes, which was a wise idea at that, potatoes being starchy and we being fat. At 1 o'clock, after resting up, we began on the ham and eggs and coffee. We wrested with this proposition until 3 o'clock, when we tried to get the eggs out of the frying pan. A portion of them landed on the ceiling and the rest stuck to the bottom of the pan, and when we had time to look at the coffee we found it had run dry and the bottom was burned out of the percolator. The only thing to do was what we did. We shut off the fire and left everything standing on the stove, except the ham. The ham was burned to the consistency of a leather belt and we saved this to take to the shoemaker for a pair of half-soles. Then we went downstairs where there is a very good restaurant and had a mess of ham and eggs. A lady of color has been wrestling with the dishes ever since, but has threatened to strike several itmes. There wasn't a clean dish in the house when she arrived. But she is almost through now and hopes to finish the job by Thursday or Friday.

ONLY THIRTY PER CENT PROFESS RELIGION

(Rev. John Roach Stratton in Dearborn Independent.)

New York is the greatest missionary field upon the face of the globe today. The moral and religious needs of the people are pathetic, and the facts are staggering.

One thing is everlastingly true; We must either Americanize and christianize New York, or New York will speedily Europeanize and paganize us! Already the breaking down of the American Sabbath, the decay of old-fashioned home ideals, the weakening of the family life through divorce and marital infidelity, the inroads of rationalism in religion, an appalling worldliness within the churches, and the red flood of radicalism and anarchy are menacing the very foundations of our Anglo-Saxon life.

Of these teeming millions, only thirty per cent are connected with any sort of religious organization—either Jewish, Catholic or Protestant. Think of that, my reader, and let the import of that tremendous fact sink some into your heart. Only thirty out of each hundred of this great, pathetic mass who give any recognition to God in any form.

If Jesus walked these streets again in the flesh, His heart would break with compassion, and once more His tears would flow as He beheld these multitudes, literally "like sheep without a shepherd."

At every opportunity, I ask my co-religionists here:

What are we, His followers, going to do about it all? Shut up our churches during the four summer months, as many do? Lower the flag-? Continue through our skeptical smeniaries to put animated question marks in the pulpits instead of true prophets of God? Preach a thousand foolish fads instead of the glorious gospel of Jesus Christ.

What are we going to do about it?

After having lived in many parts of our country, and as the result of careful observation and meditation, I give it as the profound conviction of my heart and mind that New York is the greatest religious problem of the world today. In a very real sense, New York sets the pace, and what she does is copied and followed right down the line. Only last summer, on two different trips, I made, I heard the silly, sensuous songs from Broadway being sung. The first trip was down into the mountains—a little hamlet in North Carolina. Then I jumped all the way up to Canada, and heard those same songs being rattled on the piano and sung by the young people in a Canadian home.

Yes, what are we going to do about it? For, believe me, my reader, we have got to do something about it!

Listen!

In the Times Square district of New York there are 100 blocks. Starting at 28th street on the south and running to 48th street on the north, starting with Park avenue on the east and running to Eigth avenue on the west there are just 100 squares. Within this territory there are two Jewish synagogues, four Catholic churches and 13 Protestant churches. These churches have a combined seating capacity of 16,400. An investigation was made a short time ago as to attendance, and on Sunday evening, with very advantageous weather conditions, there were only 1,817 persons in attendance by actual count in all the churches of the entire district.

What is the matter?

In this same district there are 45 theatres and 10 moving picture houses, with a combined seating capacity of 78,027. On the Sunday night when there were only 1,817 persons in all the churches, there must have been as many as 75,000 in the theatres and movies, for the attendance each week at these places is now estimated to be a million men, women and children, and the Sabbath has come to be the most popular recreation day of the week. On Sunday evening, rain or shine, long lines of people can be seen before the box offices of the New York theaters and movie houses, waiting for an opportunity to pay fancy prices to get inside and listen to silly jokes and look at lewd women, with their gaudy tights and their painted cheeks.

Once more, what are we going to do about it, we Christians?—we people who have named the name of Jesus, and who claim to be the "salt" of society? One thing is certainly true: If we continue much longer in the religious lines along which we have moved in this city in recent years, Protestantism will undoubtedly come to the end of its course. There are 107 fewer Protestant churches on Manhattan Island today than there were 10 years ago. The end, therefore, is in sight, unless radical and revolutionary changes are effected.

GIDDY-AP, NAPOLEON

Breakfast Stories

"Gentlemen"—it came from the lips of an attorney, pleading a case recently before the supreme court of Idaho. In front of him sat the judges, clothed with their judicial dignity, listening intently to the case.

The attorney had erred. Judges should be addressed "Your honors."

"Gentlemen"—repeated the lawyer, and the tiniest hint of a smile flitted across the features of the men in front of him.

Suddenly he stopped, realizing his blunder.

"I apologize for calling you 'gentlemen,'" he blurted out.

Laughter. In a courtroom is not deemed exactly proper, but a joke is a joke and Chief Justice Rice replied smilingly: "I hope you made no mistake."

"Don't tell me you can't remember things," says the systematic man. "Memory is all a matter of system. Now in what year was the battle of Agincourt fought?

A confession of complete ignorance is made by his unsystematic companion. "Exactly," says the systematic man, triumphantly. "Now how many days are there in a week?"

"Seven," comes the meek answer.

"Very well; twice seven are fourteen. Multiply by a hundred—fourteen hundred; number of days in June, thirty; half of thirty, fifteen."

"Fourteen hundred and fifteen," murmurs the other.

"Right, my boy. That's the year the battle was fought. System, my boy; that's what does it, system!"

JOURNAL SAYS 82 CAUSES ARE WORTHY OF AID

NEW QORK, Aug. 11.—There are eighty-two charitable causes worth aiding.

The general public is probably laboring under the misguided notion that there are several hundred and eighty-two "drives" deserving of their contributions.

A New York metropolitan publication has made a study of the field of wishes of her Prime Minister as to organizations appealing for public mites. It sifted the almost illimitable list down to eighty-two. It was moved to do so in the belief that the public is being mulcted regularly.

Conservation of space being a prime requisite of newspaper "make-up," this New York journal has set aside one-third of three consecutive columns of its editorial page and listed beneath the caption "Causes That Are Worth Aiding" the names of the societies and organizations to which it is fit and proper that the generous publicmight contribute. The list is divided in half ,the halves appearing on alternate days.

Arrests innumerable have been made of late of persons soliciting funds from the unquestioning passerby. Investigations have revealed that a great many of these "drives" are neither worthy nor legitimate.

Who's Who

THE MARQUIS OF LONDONDERRY.

That the government of Ulster should not be merged with the government of south Ireland until after the Sinn Feiners have proved their fitness to rule, is the attitude of the Marquis of Londonderry, one of the largest landowners in all Ireland and minister of education in Sir James Craig's cabinet.

Lord Londonderry

Lord Londonderry is a privy councillor of Ireland. L. is the most important man in the Orange party among the land owners of the north. He owns 50,400 acres of land. This is distributed between his places at Mount Stewart in County Down, Ireland, and his English seats in Rutland, Sutherland and Stockton-on-Lees. He is a major in the Royal Horse Guards, in which capacity he served during the World war.

Lord Londonderry represented an English consituency, Maidstone, in the house of commons from 1906 to 1915.

MURRAY-ORR WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Thursday at 12 o'clock, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends, the marriage of Miss Emma Margaret Murray, daughter of Judge and Mrs. John F. Murray, to Marvin Grady Orr, of Hugo, Okla., was solemnized, the Rev. A. J. Holt of the Lamar Avenue Baptist Church, reading the service, in the Murray home, 2300 Tenth street.

"Because," the prenuptial song, was sung by Mrs. George Moulder, with Miss Louise Bullitt at the piano. At the first strains of Lohengrin, the bride and groom entered the living room together, accompanied by Mrs. Fred S. Brooks, as matron of honor, and Wyatt Freeman as best man. As a post nuptial Mrs. Moulder and Mr. Freeman sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

The bride wore an autumn frock of midnight blue canton crepe, with hat and all other accessories in keeping. She carried a colonial shower bouquet.

Mrs. Brooks wore a frock of orchid and silver changeable taffeta, with black hat, and carried a colonial nosegay.

The bride's mother wore a canton crepe gown, of black with a touch of grey, and a corsage cluster of roses and orchids.

An informal reception, was held. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Ione Ballew, and punch served in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr left in the afternoon for a motor trip to Galveston. They were accompanied as far as Fort Worth by Mrs. Murray.

The bride's family has made Wichita Falls their home for several years, and though she has only made short visits at intervals of college work, and lately her school work in Durant, Okla., she has a coterie of friends, who have attended the wedding preparations and plans with much loving interest. She is a graduate of Missouri University, the family living at Columbia before coming to Wichita Falls, and is also a graduate of Sargent School at Cambridge, Mass. For the past two years she has been a member of the faculty of the normal school at Durant, Okla., and here the romance was begun, the groom being also a member of the faculty, at one time. He is now principal of the Hugo school, where they will make their home.

Present at the wedding from out of town were: Captain Loomis and Lieutenant Schulze, both of Post Field, and both schoolmates of the bride from childhood days, Miss Lone Ballew of Chickasha, Okla., and Wyatt Freeman of Hugo, Okla.

CYPHER CLUB TO DANCE AT LAKE WICHITA.

Members of the Cypher club and their friends will dance at Lake Wichita Friday evening, when the Doc Davis orchestra will furnish the music. This will be a farewell performance of the orchestra as they will leave for other places Sunday. Members of the club expressed their regrets on losing this splendid music for the remainder of the summer, and announced that they expected to try and secure their services again at a future date.

PHILATHEA AND BARACAS GIVE BOX SUPPER.

The Philathea and Baraca classes of the First Methodist church enjoyed a box supper which proved unusually entertaining at the church Wednesday evening. Delicious box lunches were furnished by the girls and sold to the boys, the proceeds amounting to $50, which will be used for charitable purposes.

Those present were: Misses Beth Scofield, Sarah Watson, Mattie Watson, Mabel Watson, Murrill Scofield, Maggie Corbell, Clara Scofield, Jewel Swith, Louise Smith, Mildred Corkhill, Ruth Meade, Ethel Andree, Anna Byman and Messrs. tv. W. Merion, J. W. Vandergriff, Era Meade, Earl A. Wyatt, Don Ross, Ernest Chafin, D. A. Shortess, Charlie Brooks, Herbert Karrenbrock, Floyd Brooks, Byren Bryans and Wilford Scofield, and the Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Pittinger.

Open Doors In Business

In Printing and Bindery Shops

Many women are pleasantly and profitably employed in the printing and bindery business. They do a great variety of things from assembling sheets of paper, to folding, coloring, pasting, boxing, "sizing, managing and inspecting. Wages range according to the education needed for the task and the skill of the worker. Most beginner wages are about $6. An average wage for the successful worker is $12 or $15. Skilled workers receive in larger shops as high as $25, $35 or even $40 a week. The latter is generally for linotype operating which must be learned in a school or a year or two served as an apprentice before one becomes skilled.

A course in a linotype school takes about three months. The worker sits before her machine and operates a keyboard much like a typewriter keyboard. It is not difficult work. As the worker is in contact with lead she should see to it that the proper precautions are made against lead poisoning, which she should investigate.

Many women linotype operators are now learning to care for their own machines, thereby receiving the same wages as men. On acount of the danger to health which may come from working in an uncleanly or poorly ventilated shop the worker should give special thought to this.

MOVIELAND

Mary Alden.

Mother roles are becoming more and more popular since Vera Gordon's unprecedented success in "Humoresque." Mary Alden is gaining notice now for her portrayal of the mother role in the Goldwyn production of Rupert Hughes' photoplay, "The Old Nest."

Miss Alden is a seasoned player, having gained her stage experience with such well known stock producers as Baldwin, Melville and Hunter. She has supported Mrs. Fiske and other well known stars. Her screen career has included Fox, Biograph, Pathe, Reliance-Majestic, Fine Arts, Arteraft, Selznick and Famous Players and a score of others.

Miss Alden was born in New Orleans, but now makes her home in Los Angeles, where she plays in Goldwyn pictures.

FILM GRADUATES

Three graduates of Mack Sennett's comedy college appear in the Paramount picture, "This Is So Sudden." They are: Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, who is the star; Mary Thurman, and Harriett Hammond.

Fatty made his debut with Keystone as extra man at $3 a day. Mary left the fold three years ago and since that time has appeared as leading woman in several films. She has the feminine lead in this picture. Miss Hammond is the latest Sennett beauty to enter the dramatic field from the pie throwing troup.

"This Is So Sudden" will be a Paramount-Arbuckle release following "Crazy to Marry," the exceptionaly funny film now snowing in Loew's State.

TO HONOR CHAPLIN

French cinema folk have arranged to place a commemorative tablet on his birthplace in France, at Fontainebleu.

Chaplin's parents were actors and he was born while they were playing in France. He's English.

TOO MUCH REALISM

Fights in movies often require a strong constitution rather than an actor's talent.

A movie extra in such a fight scene threatens to sue Thomas Meighan. He says his jaw was broken when Meighan hit him in a fight scene for the movie, "Cappy Ricks."

ABOUT "PENROD"

Marshall Neilan's next production, now that he has completed "Bits of Life" for First National, will be "Penrod," Booth Tarkington's famous boy character, with Wesley Barry in the title role. This only makes the fifty-second time we have announced this in the past year.

The Woman Citizen

Independent Citizenship for Women.

Independent citizenship for women, which is being advocated by many women's organization, rests upon the fact that a woman becomes a citizen of America according as her husband is or is not a citizen. As the law is now if her husband is an American citizen, a woman is; if he is not, she is not. This works injustice upon women and also belittles American citizenship.

A girl born in America becomes an alien if she marries an alien.

A girl born in an alien country becomes an American citizen five minutes after she lands in America if she marries an American citizen.

An immigrant man must wait five years and undergo certain tests to become a full American citizen. His sister may accomplish this in five minutes without her wish, consent, or even her knowledge, simply by marriage.

A woman marrying a husband of the yellow race loses her citizenship, and can never regain it, as her husband is disqualified to ever become an American citizen.

Though a woman may think for herself and may wish to become an American citizen, she may never become that unless her husband becomes one.

Marriage has nothing at all to do with the citizenship of a male. Women wish that woman's citizenship shall also be independent, and not affected by marriage, but gained or lost only through the woman herself, that she shall not be admitted to citizenship unless qualified, nor deprived of it unless disqualified.

ASK ME

Marion—Yes, I did keep you waiting a long time and I am sorry for it. You see there are a lot of things that even I do not know. The cast you ask for is as follows: Jane Jennings, Myrtle Morse, Richard Carlyle, William Humphrey, Edward Boulden and Charles Fang. The temporary title of the picture is "Haldane of the Secret Service."

Clarence—Ida Claire is in Europe just now. I do not know that she is making a picture over there. My guess would be that she is not. "The Gold Diggers" has not been adapted for the screen.

Margaret W.—Rudolph Valentino has been married but he is single at present. He was married to Jean Acker.

Dinnie—"The Champion" will be Wallace Reid's next starring vehicle. What has become of Grace Darmond? She will soon be seen in a new picture entitled "The Song of Life." Gaston Glass will play opposite her.

Emil—"Lulu Betts" Zona Gale's novel of small town life is to be filmed. The book was dramatized and made a hit as a play during the past season.

Sigmund—Caruso made only one motion picture. It was entitled "My Cousin." It was filmed about three years ago.

Mrs. Barrie—Irene Castle is married to Robert Treman. Her address is Ithaca, New York. As to her age she is still in her twenties. Wesley Barry is 13.

J. A. D.—Address your letter to Julian Eltinge, Eltinge theater, New York City.

Betty—You ask what has become of Dolores Cassinelli. As far as I know she has been appearing on the screen. She is to have an important role in the much talked of "Pe-Ibbetson." Oh, yes, I nearly forgot to tell you. Don't look for the picture under the name of "Peter Ibbetson." That title seemed plenty good enough for John Barrymore in his stage presentation, but it is now to be known as "Forever."

Bobs—"Tristan and Isolede" has been filmed. I believe it is a German made picture. I do not know whether or not it has been released neither do I know the names of the players.

Iowa—The daughter of William Jennings Bryan has never appeared on the screen to my knowledge. Although I believe she has written and directed a picture.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY RHYLLIS PHILLIPS

THE DARK HOUR.

Ned was stunned by Cherry's wild outburst. Yet there was no true explanation he could offer on the spur of the moment. None that the angry girl would be likely to accept. He had never seen Cherry in such a temper. The bottom had fallen out of his cup completely.

What bewildered him the most was that she should have known of his hour with Arline the night before? Had she, too, been "spying" even as she had accused him of doing? Just like a woman to see only one side of an issue—her own!

Cherry, on her side, was busily indulging in a storm of tears. Tears that seemed to tear her in two with their intensity. She felt that things had reached a crisis in her life with Ned. If he was philandering and not one whit ashamed of his conduct what was the use of going on with it all? There was still time for him to rectify his mistake. She, Cherry, would give him a divorce if he really wanted it and go back to her family. There need be no mitterness on either side. But at the thought of leaving a lump came into the agonized wife's throat, and with a sob she threw herself face downwards on the bed.

Ned, in the meantime, stalked off majestically to a remote corner of the corn field to smoke and think. His thoughts were far from happy ones. Life was bitterly disillusioning. His brain was in a whirl. There seemed no beginning nor end to the many misunderstanings he and Cherry had had of late. His thoughts suddenly reverted to their last evening at Honeymoon Hill. The sunset hour, Cherry, the Cherry of then, not now, warm, soft, close to his heart, the ecstasy of their love, the spoken words of faith in each other and the future no matter how rocky the road they might have to travel. That was it. They had possessed such a divine faith in themselves and their future. Where was it now in their dark hour?

Cherry had spoken of her fears of the new life then. Maybe she, with her woman's intuition, had sensed the unrest before them? And as he remembered her tears of regret at losing their hill and her lover of the mountain fastnesses, Ned's heart swelled within him. His girl had been everything to him then. Now she seemed to have barely time to pass him the time of day—and Arthur.

Long did he linger in his pet corn field that night, thinking and trying to reach some definite conclusions about his affairs. There seemed none, however. He bemoaned the fact that Cherry had seen the empty car that afternoon, especially as there was no reason, no good one, for her suspicions. How could a fellow tell a furious wife this, though? She had sneered and defied him. She had hardly seemed to care. Except where her own rights were concerned.

And Cherry lay on her bed of woe, weeping into the hot, unsympathetic pillows all her heartaches.

At dawn Ned stole up to his room to find his wife asleep in her clothes. His heart smote him heavily as he heard her moan once or twice. She, too, had suffered.

GIRL BUILDING

Three benevolent agencies reach out to help mothers and lovers of young girls in bringing these up to be splendid—"that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace." These are the Camp Fire Girls, the Girl Scouts and the Y. W. C. A. An inquiry to the headquarters of any of these organizations will put the inquirer in touch with the organization and bring back much valuable information which can be used in girl building.

The Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts are similar in motive and methods. Both develop womanliness and homecraft. Donning the uniform of the organization, each girl stands only on her own merits and the lessons in democracy and wholesome sincerity and simplicity are valuable. Beauty, romance, adventure and health are found in wholesome ways as life in the open is shared and emphasized, and through it the Great Spirit is recognized. The Blue Birds is a junior Camp Fire organization for girls from 6 to 12. Many educational authorities, who have had opportunity to observe the working of these organizations upon young girl life are hearty in their testimony to their value in character building.

Headquarters for the national Camp Fire Girls is at 31 East 17th Street, New York City.

The Girl Scout national headquarters is 189 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

The Y. W. C. A. has its national headquarters at 600 Lexington Avenue, New York City. The "Y" maintains here a Woman's Press, with the motive "that women shall think." It issues a number of books and pamphlets which are helpful to girls and women. Its symbol is the "holy grail" before a book. According to the legend, the holy grail lost its effulgence when approached by a person not pure and holy. In the symbol the effulgent cup sheds its radiance upon such a book as answers the test.

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Nut Bread—Three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoons salt, one cup sugar, three-quarters cup nuts, one egg, one cup milk. Mix dry ingredients first; beat into milk and add. Pour into buttered pan; let raise one-halg hour. Bake in moderate oven for forty-five minutes. (This bread is easy to make and is delicious.)

Rice Omelet—One small cup cold rice, two tablespoons milk, one tablespoon butter, three eggs, four tablespoons currant jelly, one teaspoon salt. Beat eggs well (do not separate,) add rice, milk and salt. Melt butter in a frying pan and when hot pour in the omelet. As it cooks lift it carefully from side to side and let the uncooked part run under. When it is all creamy, spread with jelly and fold. Be sure to serve on a hot platter.

ASPARAGUS DISHES

Baked Asparagus—Baked asparagus is a tempting luncheon dish for a chilly day. To make it cook the tender part of the asparagus stalks, cut into inch lengths, in slightly salted boiling water for twenty minutes. Then make a thick cream sauce. Put the asparagus in a buttered baking dish in layers with fine bread crumbs. Cover it with the cream sauce, put a layer of buttered crumbs on top and bake for twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. This dish should be well seasoned with salt and pepper, of course, before it is put into the oven.

Asparagus and Eggs—Asperagus and eggs can be temptingly cooked together. To do this cut the tender part of the stalks in half inch lengths and cook, with the heads, in salted water until tender. Drain and mix with a thick drawn butter sauce. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish—shallow and big—and break eggs carefully over it. Be careful not to break the eggs. Season the dish with salt and pepper and put it in the oven until the eggs are set.

Cold Asparagus—Asparagus is delicious served cold. Boil a bunch of asparagus in unsalted water for thirty minutes; then add a teaspoon of salt and cook until tender, but not mushy, perhaps ten or fifteen minutes. Drain carefully so as not to break the stalks. Arrange on a platter and set in the icebox to cool. Just before serving garnish the stalks just above the tips with a chopped relish, India or chutney. Cover the whole with French dressing and serve immediately.

Asparagus Salad—Asparagus is one of the most delicate of all the vegetablesc which can be utilized in salads. Cooked and thoroughly chilled the stalks can be used whole with French dressing on lettuce leaves. Asparagus tips, chilled thoroughly and drenched with French dressing, can also be used in salad. Another salad is made with the tender part of the stalks and the heads cut and mixed with mayonnaise and put into sweet pepper shells.

SMILES.

Don't eat too much water-melon
Or you'll spoil your fun and frolic,
It will hurt your tumy-tum
And will make you melon-colic.

WELCOME ASSURED.

I know I shall be welcomed home
Without perchance or may-be,
George surely will be glad I've come—
I left him with the baby!

SATIN WRAP FOR FALL WEAR

The woman who likes to be appropriately gowned for all the between seasons as well as for the four well known calendar seasons will be interested in the new evening wraps for the cool nights between summer and late fall. There are any number of styles and materials with heavy lustrous satin a favorite. Fur, of course, trims all the more expensive wraps, although there are many very beautiful models which are untrimmed save for a gorgeous lining of contrasting satin which forms the collar and facings.

Pictured here is a lovely wrap of black satin which is just the thing for September and October evenings. The early affairs of the social season will demand just such a wrap. Kolinsky forms the collar and banding on the cape or blouse effect. A bit of silk and metal thread embroidery finishes the front of the wrap. There are no sleeves in the garment, for it folds about the figure in truly wrappy style. It is pretty in gray or navy squirrel trimming.

LONDON COOL TO GERMANS.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The German ambassador has been in London for more than a year now, but until quite recently except on formal public occasions they have not had any part in social life. Once or twice at big functions a little group of serious people have been noticed talking among themselvs and sombody would cock an eye or whisper, "The Germans."

The German ambassador and his wife make it a point to arrive a trifle late—that alone may have saved many unpleasantness, for it gives their hostess time to coach unwary guests. They are good-natured in telling jokes against themselves; they do not appear in the least to object to being asked whether unpleasant incidents have occurred; and they are touchingly curious about all that has been going on in the great world of literature, art and fashion these lets five years. They are always the first guests to leave an assembly. When they are gone what a buzzing and exchange of gossip goes on. How their ears must burn as they are whirled throough te London streets back to the privacy of their house.

So, with odds against them, which seemed insuperable, this patient, cheery elderly couple are making the best of the lost social position of Germans in London society, even in homes where the heat of war prompted the common resolve never again to shake hands with a German.

WHAT TO SERVE.

Fruit may be served at every breakfast, but do not serve acid fruits, like oranges and grapes, when a cereal is served.

Serve plain foods simply cooked.

Serve home-cooked, coarse cereals with eggs.

Serve baked potatoes with creamed fish.

Serve creamed potatoes with smoked fish and lamb chops.

Serve nuts and dates or figs, with cereal, in place of meat.

Do not serve elaborate made dishes for breakfast.

Use left-overs for luncheon.

Serve a soup with waffles or griddle cakes. It will be an innovation in some families, for the waffles are even better than at breakfast.

Or serve a made meat dish, a salad, and a desert.

Serve mayonnaise with egg, meat, fish or shell fish salads. Also with the more delicate vegetable salads, as tomato, asparagus or celery.

Serve a boiled salad dressing with vegetable salads.

Serve French dressing with all green salads.

Serve plain lemon with all fat fish, as salmon, herring, mackerel—or a green salad with French dressing.

Serve a rich butter sauce or Hollandaise with the white fish, like halibut, haddock and smelts.

Tomatoes may be served with fish in place of lemon.

For dinner serve a clear soup, meat, potatoes or a starchy vegetable, like rice or hominy, a green vegetable and dessert. Or meat, potatoes, or a substitute, a salad and dessert. Or a cream soup, a made dish of meat and potatoes, and dessert.

With roast meat, serve potatoes mashed, or roasted in the pan with the meat.

With fricasseed meats, serve baked potatoes—From American Cookery.

Oh, Yesterday the Saddened Stands—Saw Base Hits Die in Fielder's Hands—Tonight You Won't Hear That Complaint—The Spuds Will Hit 'Em Where They Ain't

SPUDDERS HIT TOO MANY BALLS TO SEGRIST, AND MARINES EVEN THE SERIES, WINNING SECOND 3-1

By C. F. CARTER.

If the Marines and Spudders had battled yesterday with only eight men each, permitting the two third sackers to stay in the clubhouse and eat watermelon—if they had done that little thing, the Spudders would have walked away with the game, instead of losing it 1 to 3. But there seems to be some fool rule of baseball requiring whenever possible, at least, a third baseman on each team; it's a senseless rule, of course, and it was only passed in order to provide baseball jobs for third sackers all over these United States.

Yes, the Spuds would have won, no question about it, if the third basemen had stayed in the club house. For, every time the locals got all ready to score one or more runs some batter clouted the pill down third base way—and Segrist grabbed it without the slightest hesitation and turned what otherwise might have been a hit into a certain out. Segrist made one error, and that was almost an excusable one, but be hadled eleven chances—which is traveling some for a third baseman.

Did Tex McDonald do anything like that? Shucks, no! Tex had one putout and one assist, no more. The Marines simply refused to hit 'em at Tex, or at Buddy Tanner either for that matter—in fact, the gosh durn "devil dogs" most of the time insisted on doing a Willie Keeler, hittin' 'em where they ain't. That may be baseball, but it ain't our idea of the kind of baseball fo a visiting club to play against our Spudders—that's the style of baseball for the Spudders to play against the visitors.

Too Much Mitchell.

This chap Mitchell, Roy Mitchell, took an unfair advantage of the Spuds anyway; all the time spitting on the ball and making it hop sorter crazy like, and throwing curves and doing all sorts of dirty little tricks of a similar nature—say, how ya goin' to hit a baseball if a feller throws it crooked all the time, huh? The best the Spudders could do was to gather eight hits off Roy, and each hit was about as far apart from the next hit as the North Pole is from the South Pole.

At that, it was quite some little old pitcher's battle up to the eighth frame. For seven innings Mitchell and Rabbit Dorough battled on even terms, each twirler allowing one run and six scattered hits. The Marines got to Rabbit, however, for two bingles in the eighth and three more in the ninth, scoring one run in each of these frames and thereby winning the bridge prize. To give Rabbit full credit, it should be said that two of the Marines' blows in the ninth were extremely flukey, this being especially true of a two bagger that Segrist hit to left, the ball bouncing high over Tex McDonald's head after Tex was set and waiting for it.

Ah, well, even Willie Hoppe loses a billiard game now and then; not often, but now and then, y'know. Willie never loses one that might lose him championship, however, you'll notice—and the Spudders are much like Willie Hoppe; they lose one now and then, it's just in the book, that's all, but they're going to annex the old gonfalon just the same. Wonder if these local lumber dealers know anything about filling an order for a big flag pole? They better study up on the subject, 'cause one of 'em's going to get the order.

The Marines pushed over their first marker in the fourth frame, when Skinner led off with a single to right center, and went to third when "Bad News" Galloway followed with a one-sack blow to right. Palmer singled to left, scoring Skinner and putting Galloway on second. Robertson sacrificed both runners along, going out via the Works to Clark route. Bobby Stow flied to Jake Miller in short center, and Jim Galloway foolishly tried to score—Jake's perfect peg got Jim easily, although the big fellow registered a protest with Umpire Meyers.

The Spudders tied it up in the fifth, Kitchens leading off with a single to left and going to second on Dorough's sacrifice. Bischoff's single to center brought Frank home. Segrist threw out Tanner, and Mitchell took care of McDonald's blow.

A single, a passed ball and a two-bagger by Jim Galloway gave the Marines the run that salted the game away in the eighth. The one they grabbed in the ninth was unnecessary, as the Spudders couldn't get a break; just couldnt' soak the old apple where a fielder wasn't.

But today is another day, eh, gang? We'll say it is. And today, we've got a hunch, the boys will start socking the ball to various and sundry places where Marine fielders least expect to see it sail—and if Segrist don't watch his step one of those hot ones is goin' to undress him!

PACKING HOUSE EMPLOYES TO HOLD SESSION

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 11.—Representatives of 120,000 packing house workers will gather in Omaha, Neb., August 15 to plan the unions' course of action after the termination of the federal agreement between the packers and employees, September 15. The retirement of Judge Samuel Alschuler of Chicago, federal jude who has acted as arbiter for four years, will take place on that date, automatically endin gthe arbitration agreement.

Various packing house unions of Kansas City received notice of the conference Saturday. It w as called by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, the international union with which all packing house unions are affiliated. Each union has been asked to sen da representative.

Local officials expressed a hope it might be possible to induce Judge Alschuler to continue his service as arbiter. The workers steadfastly have held to the arbitration principle but last March the packers served notice they believed the emergency which rbought about the arbitration plan had passed and therefore did not deem it necessary.

It is expected the conference will continue for one week at least, and possibly may go on for two. Most of the big packing companies have adopted employees' representation plans, in which the workers elect one of their number for each department to represent them in plant conferences. Union leaders contend the company plan is designed to eliminate the labor organization.

$2500 GIVEN BY CLUB ON BONUS FUND FOR SPUDS

Walter Salm, manager of the Spudders, announced yesterday that the local baseball association has hung up $2500 as the opening figure on a bonus fund to be paid to the Spuds if the boys win the second half of the split season. Virgil Shepherd has been appointed a committee of one to collect individual donations to the fund from admirers of the team, and loyal Spudder enthusiasts who want to give the gang every incentive to grab the gravy in this second half.

Any amount from a thin dime to a day's run of crude will be acceptable, and an earnest effort will be made to keep the fund growing steadily so that when it is finally divided (As you can bet it will be) every Spudder will receive a real token from the fans of the city.

Fort Worth started a bonus fund some time ago, and it has grown to rather a sizable little wad—but the Cats won't get to spend theirs. The Spudders are going to win out; the whole city is behind them; they're playing championship ball, and they intend to keep it up. Nothing could be better than to have a reward waiting for 'em when the boys bring home the bunting.

All right—who's going to be the first to kick in. Let's start the ball a-rolling, and watch it grow.

RAMSEY WIRES HE IS ON HIS WAY TO JOIN THE SPUDDERS

A telegram was received by Skipper Salm yesterday from Clyde Ramsey, Oklahoma City, Western League twirler, stating that he was on his way, and would report to the Spudders immediately. Ramsey is coming to the local club on option, with the purchase price agreed upon if he makes the grade as a pitcher in the Texas loop—so let's give three grunts and a hoorah in the hope that Mister Ramsey will prove to be a winner.

COCHRAN IN SEMI-FINALS OF TRANS-MISSISSIPPI TOURNEY

By C. F. C.

Tommy Cochran, Wichita Falls' little ol' pride and joy in select golfing circles, is still more than holding his own against the greatest golfers of the South in the trans-Mississippi championship at Denver, Colo.

Tommy handed a neat lacing to L. G. (Sandy) Palmer of Denfer, 1918 runner up in the Colorado state championships yesterday, beating him 7 and 6 in a 36-hole morning and afternoon match. Only four players now are left in the big classic, and today Cochran will hook up with Larry Bromfield, Colorado state champion, in the lower bracket of the semi-finals.

If Tommy is beaten tomorrow he will have brought tto Wichita Falls an honor as great as the winning of the Texas state championship. Any golfer who can fight his way through to the semi finals of the trans-Mississippi, and who climbs to that position over the prostrate form of Harry Legg of Minneapolis, has shown himself in a class with the truly great golf players of the South.

If Cochran defeats Bromfield, and then loses in the finals—well, the honor to himself and to his native city is just so much greater. To defeat Larry Bromfield over his own course will be SOME feat in itself. The writer has played golf often with Larry Bromfield, and can testify that the youthful Denver doctor is a "tough egg." He has won the Colorado championship repeatedly, and has many times been runner-up to M. A. McLaughlin. In fact, for a number of years Mac, "the Old Master," and the youthful Larry passed the Colorado title back and forth. Bhomfield knows every blade of grass on the Denver Country club course, and his friends in Denver are legion—two itmes that will be a big help to him in repelling a foreign invasion on his golfing laurels. Cochran, on the other hand, is a more powerful player with his irons than Larry, a more deadly putter, and he has the physique and stamina to carry him through a hard-fought match.

Local golfing fans, members of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, are showing a tremendous interest in Cochran's play—and if Tommy wins the trans-Mississippi, there'll probably be a band, by golly, at the station when he comes home.

TEX M'DONALD TIES SPEAKER'S WORLD RECORD

When Tex McDonald, Spudder third sacker, hit safely 11 consecutive times on July 25, 26 and 27 last, he equalled a world's record held by Tris Speaker, according to the editor of Reach's Baseball Guide. After searching vainly through all possible records in an effort to find some basis of comparison, the sporting editor of the Record News stumbled over the following on Page 167 of Reach's 1921 guide book:

"Centerfielder-Manager Tris Speaker, of Cleveland, is the proud possessor of a new individual batting record made in 1920. This record is eleven consecutive hits made in two and one-third games against Washington on July 8th, 9th and 10th. In the first game after three times at bat without a hit, he made two hits off Pitcher Shaw; in the second game he made five successive hits off Pitchers Erickson and Schaht; and in the third game he made four hits off Pitcher Zachary, who stopped him in his last time at bat. NOBODY, SO FAR AS WE KNOW, EVER MADE 11 CONSECUTIVE HITS IN AS MANY TIMES AT BAT IN THE HISTORY OF ORGANIZED BALL BEFORE. The nearest approach to Speaker's new record was in 1897 when Outfielder Gettman of the Washington club made 10 conseculve hits in as many times at bat."

Tex's record in one sense is better than that of Speaker, as the Spudder third baseman in the course of his hittin streak worked opposing pitchers for two bases on balls also. Moreover, after Tex started, no pitcher in one game from whom he obtained a bingle was able to stop him; he was finally stopped on the fourth day in his first time up—whereas Speaker, you will note, was stopped by Zachary after he, Speaker, had collected four hits off Zach.

NAME MAN AND STEP DAUGHTER IN OLD TRIANGLE

M'PHERSON, Kans., Aug. 11.—The little town of Roxbury, in the northeastern part of this county, is aroused over the unique qualities of a "triangle," which has just been brought to light by the arrest of Arthur Bacon, a wealthy farmer of that community, and his step-daughter, Alice Elliott Bacon, following a complaint made by Bacon's wife, alleging intimacy on the part of her husband and daughter.

In a statement made by the daughter, who is 18 yearsold, to County Attorney Hendry, she admitted her relations with her stepfather, stating that the intimacy started shortly after the marriage of her mother and Bacon ten years ago. The statement, which was in affidavit form, also says that she loves her stepfather and wants to marry him as soon as the law frees him from her mother.

Bacon denies the accusation. Feeling against the accused man is running high in the little community, where the family has lived for the last ten years, and a close watch is being made to guard against any attempt to spirit him from the county jail here, where he and the girl are being held.

There are several very small states tucked away on one part of the world or another, but the tiniest of them all is Tavolora, a small island north of Sicily and south of Cape Figari, which has a population of fifty persons. Its government is very simple, but the residents maintain a representative at Rome.

SPUDS PLAY TO 96,000 UP TO PRESENT

Including Wednesday's game, the Wichita Falls Spudders have played before more than 96,000 people on their home lot, and with four more games with the Marines to be played before taking the road, will have played to more than 100,000, thereby winning Will Gray a hat, Will Gray, secretary of the association, told Rotarians at their weekly meeting Thursday. The talk on baseball finances was the principal talk on the program, and was enlightening in a number of respects to Mr. Gray's hearers.

The winning of the hat came about in this wise. Will told his fellow club members. He had the hat bet with R. O. Harvey that the club would play to more than 100,000 during the year, which it will do with considerable to spare.

Last year the Spudders played to around 130,000, leading the league in attendance. With a four game series with Fort Worth to end the season, and with the possibility of the three additional games with Fort Worth through the Spudders leading the Cats at that stage of the game, as every home rooter fondly hopes, it is possible that last year's mark will be equalled if not exceeded this year. Leading the league will be another problem, as Dallas, with the Marines in the fight for the flag, and with the recent single series with the Panthers drawing more than 26,000 through the Dallas gates, seem to have a considerable edge. The Marines will have a double header date with the Spudders next Monday, and a double header with the same club on Labor day, which should boost their average on their return from a long trip to foreign fields.

The home club makes nice money while at home, the secretary told the Rotarians, but has lost money on every road trip through poor crowds in the southern end of the loop. He estimated that the present road trip, with the southern clubs, down in the race, pulling poorly, would prove a loss of $5,000 to the local club. Both of the other long road trips have been costly, he said.

Music by the Rotary quartette, composed of R. E. Shepherd, Dan Daniels, Will Gray and Tom Burgin, accompanied by Miss Temple Bray at the piano and by Harry Bray on the mandolin again proved a pleasing feature. Four new members were welcomed into the club, Russell M. Martin, manager of the Producers Supply and Tool Co.; James P. Tarry, manager of the Tarry Transfer and Storage Company; George A. Mobley, Wichita Falls Brick and Tile Company; and George Daschner, manager Wichita Falls Cotton Oil Company.

The welcome into the club was given by R. E. Shepherd. Jim Allen, Childress Rotarian, and J. A. Johnson, a Rotarian and oil man from Bartlesville, Oklahoma, made brief talks.

With a membership of 107, representing a healthy growth during the last three months, official announcement of the raising of the local club from Class C to Class B in the Rotary classification—memberships of over 100—was made.

GUN CLUB SHOOT WILL BE HELD THIS MORNING AT 9:30

The weekly shoot of the Wichita Falls Gun club will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock, with a number of prizes for the ambitious marksmen participating. The regular events of 50 singles and 24 doubles will be shot off.

The Avis Tailoring company has offered an unusually fine fountain pen as prize for the club member shooting high gun; the Little Sporting Goods company will turn over a box of shells to the fourth high man, while the low gun shooter will receive his targets free from the gun club.

The shoot is being held in the morning, owing to the afternoon ball game between the Spudders and Marines.

SCOUTS DEFEAT IOWA PARK CLUB

Wichita Falls scouts baseball team defeated Iowa Park scouts Thursday at Iowa Park to the tune of 21 to 2. The local scout team was composed of scouts from troop six and other troops.

Dashara for the Wichita scouts poled out a home run with two on base. The game was featured by the Iowa Park scouts inability to hit or field with any success. Harris pitching for the local scouts, struck out nine men and allowed only six hits.

The same teams wil hook up again next week at Wichita Falls.

FLOUR DROPS, ORANGES RISE IN LOCAL MART

Market changes to go into effect at the opening of business Friday morning include a drop of 50 cents a barrel in the price of flour, and an increase in the price California oranges from $5.50 and $6.00 a box to $7.00 and $7.50 a box.

According to the new price of flour, extra high patent is $8.00 on the basis of 196 pounds, high patent, $7.50 and baker's flour $7.50. This is the first change in this commodity in some time, the fluctuations of the wheat market not being sufficient to cause any change in price of flour.

Outside of the changes in the price of oranges there are no changes registered in the fresh fruit markets. Fresh fruits are enjoying a good business, according to local reports, and steady prices have been quoted by the general market.

No other market changes have been posted in any of the other lines listed in this column.

The following prices were obtained at the opening of the day's business from local jobbers and can be relied upon as official, although subject to fluctuation:

N. Y. COFFEE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—An opening advance of 5 to 7 points on the steadier showing of Brazil was followed by reactions in the market for coffee futures today. The unsettled appearance of the earlier stock market probably accounted for some scattered realizing or Wall street selling, but otherwise there was not much pressure against prices and after selling off from 6.96 to 6.90 for December, the market showed no special features. December closed at 6.91 bid, with the general list showing a net advance of 2 to 3 points. Sales were estimated at approximately 25,000 bags. September 6.45; October 6.60; December 6.91; January 7.03; March 7.31; May 7.51; July 7.71.

Spot coffee steady. Rio 7's 6 7-8; Santos 4's 9 3-4 to 10 1-2.

N. Y. SUGAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—There was no change in the local raw sugar market today with Porto Ricos offered nearby at 4.86 for centrifugal, without finding buyers. Cubas were held at 3 1-4 cents cost and freight, equal to 4.86 for centrifugal. No sales were reported.

The more liberal offerings in the spot market led to rather active selling in raw sugar futures and prices showed declines of 9 to 12 points at the lowest. September closed at 3.15, December 2.94; March 2.74 and May 2.80.

There were no changes in refined sugar with fine granulated listed at 6.00 to 6:15.

There was a little more activity in refined sugar futures and prices were lower under scattered selling. September closed at 6.10; December at 6.00 and March 5.80.

SHARP BREAK FOLLOWED BY COTTON RISE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—A sharp reactions was followed by an almost complete recovery in the cotton market today. December contracts, which sold off to 13.36 or 35 points net lower and approximately 60 points below the recent high level, rallied to 13.68 and closed at 13.65 compared with 13.75 at the close yesterday. The general list closed firm, net 6 points lower to 7 points higher.

The market opened easy at a decline of nine to 18 points under scattering liquidation, southern and Liverpool selling, a continued good spot demand was reported in the Liverpool market, but futures there were lower than due, and comparatively slight early ralies in the local market on bullish reports from the goods trade and high temperatures in the southwest, were followed by renewed weakness. The unsettled feeling reported in the earlier stock market probably was reflected in some of the Wall street selling, while there was scattered local selling on prospects for cooler weather in Texas. Some stop orders were uncovered on the decline which carried October off to 12.91 and January to 13.40 early in the afternoon or about 33 to 35 points below last night's closing. The pressure then became much less active, suggestions that nervous long accounts had been pretty well liquidated, and the market advanced sharply on covering. There was also active buying by brokers who might have been operating for either western or Japanese account and which may have been partly due to late advances in the grain market. Rumors of bullish private mid-month condition figures were indefinite but probably contributed to the recovery which extended to 13.27 for October and 13.74 for January. Closing prices were within 3 or 4 points of the best. Local brokers attributed part of the earlier selling to a belief that considerable cotton was available around present prices in the south, and that hedges were beginning to reach the markets against an increasing new crop movement in Texas. Port receipts 18,452, United States port stock 1,326,341. Exports today 12,575, making 110,101 so far this year against 66,643 last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—While the cotton market was depressed during the whole of today's session it became very steady in the late trading and recovered strongly so that last prices showed net losses of only 2 to 4 net points, whereas the lowest levels, prices were 29 to 31 points under the close of yesterday. October traded down to 12.49 and closed at 12.78.

The main reason for selling was the circulation of the most vague sort of rumors of financial troubles in the north and they were all the more effective because they were so vague. Messages from New York said that the rumors had no foundation.

Opening prices were lower in sympathy with a lower Liverpool than due. After the opening the rumors came into play and later on offerings increased because of the unfavorable showing of British exports for July and a private bureau forecast of 428,000 bales as the consumption during July by American mills, in the report due from the census bureau Monday against 462,000 bales in June. Private cablegrams said that exports of yarns from Great Britain during July last year and that exports of cloth amounted to 177,500,000 yards against 395,200,000. In the late trading shorts took profits and promptly put prices up on themselves. The continued drought in Texas was at all times a steadying factor.

CASH WHEAT UP TO $1.05 A BUSHEL IN GRAIN MART

An advance of 5 cents a bushel in the price of cash wheat making the present price paid by local elevators $1.05 a bushel was posted in the local grain markets Thursday to take effect Friday morning. This rise is said to be caused to general market conditions, probably due to strengthening of the demand following the government report of a short crop this year.

WHEAT TAKES UPSWING TO HIGHER PRICE

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Wheat took a decided upward swing in price today, helped by an active demand from exporters and domestic mills at the finish, although unsettled, was 2 1-4 to 2 3-4c net higher with September 1.24 1-4 to 1.24 1-2 and December 1.27 1-4 to 1.27 1-2. Corn gained 1-4 @3-8c to 1c and oats 1-4@3-8 to 1-2 @5-8c. In provisions the outcome varied from 15c decline to 25c advance.

At first the wheat market showed a tendency to continue yesterday's fal in prices, but conditions were speedily reversed when signs began to appear that substantial buying orders were being executed both for European shipment and for the milling industry at home. Strong export demand as far ahead as November was indicated t the Gulf of Mexico. and it was reported one million bushels had been worked for export from Atlantic cities.

Highest prices of the day were reached just before the close. Corn as well as wheat was in much request for export.

Oats merely reflected the course of other grain.

Packers support did a good deal to rally the provision market from weakness due to a severe break in the value of hogs.

SPECULATORS BRING ABOUT NEW DECLINE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Encouraged by the success of yesterday's drive speculators for the short acount renewed their operations today and brought about a further decline.

An attempt at late in the day to drive the shorts to cover failed, and the closing was weak. Sales amounted to 550,000 shares.

New low prices for the year were reached by American sugar, Utah copper, American, International, general electric and leather preferred. The semi-annual earnings statement of general Asphalt, showing a deficit of more than $900,000, was the occasion for selling these shares, forcing down the common and preferred about five points each.

Sentiment was decidedly bearish but the day brought no developments to account for the trend of quotations. Trading continued to be largely in the hands of professionals.

The downward movement in sterling exchange was halted, with sympathetic improvement in all other rates.

A break of more than three points in Cuba cane sugar sevens was the feature of the bond market. Speculative selling was on a large scale in various other issues. High grade mortgages also relapsed.

Burlington joint sixes, New York Central debentures and public utilities, liens showed heaviness. Total sales, per value, $99,000.

Liberty bonds continued to move in uncertain fashion.

INVESTIGATING STEAMER LINE

By Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 11.—William B. Ryan, vice president of the United American lines, inc., arrived here yesterday in company with Richard Peltzer, director of the Hamburg-American steamship line. They told the Associated Press they were investigating conditions which would affect the Harriman Hamburg-American joint steamship service, between Hamburg and South American ports.

Shipping circles here are deeply interested in view of the recent break between Hugo Stinnes and the Hamburg-American company.

Herr Peltzer said that the Argentine trade was of a special importance to the Hamburg-American line because this was one of the few countries where operating facilities at ports had not been impaired by the war.

SHERIFF'S SALE.
STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF WICHITA.

By virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the Honorable Thirtieth District Court of Wichita County, Texas, on the 29th day of July, 1921, on a judgment rendered in said court onthe 22nd day of June, 1921, in favor of B. H. Rankin and R. F. Heflin, comprising the partnership of Rankin & Heflin, plaintiffs, in cause No. 10585-A, in said court, and against Burk-Louisiana Oil Company and Tom Wills Oil Company, defendants in said cause for the sum of ten thousand two hundred and fifty dollars and forty cents ($10,250.40), together with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from said date of June 22, 1921, and costs of suit, I, Fred K. Smith, as sheriff of Wichita County, Texas, did on the 4th day of August, 1921, levy on all the right, title and interest of said Burk-Louisiana Oil Company and Tom Wills Oil Company, and of either of them, same being a seven-eighths mineral leasehold interest in and to five acres of land out of F. W. Huseman Survey 819, in Wichita County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

East one-half (1-2) of Lot No. Eight (8) in Block No. Two (2) of Lee Tidwell's Subdivision of Block No. 819, Red River Valley Lands, according to map or plat of said subdivision recorded in the deed (plat) records of Wichita County, Texas; and on all property and equipment thereon; said lease being commonly known as the Burk-Louisiana lease; about three and one-half miles northeast of the town of Clara, Wichita County, Texas, and levied upon as the property of said Burk-Louisiana Oil Company and Tom Wills Oil Company. And on the 6th day of September, A. D., 1921, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on said day, at the court house door of said county, in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, I will offer for sale and will sell at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder, all of the right, title and interest of the said Burk-Louisiana Oil Company and Tom Wills Oil Company, in and to said property.

Witness my hand this, the 11th day of August, A. D., 1921.

By H. C. DAKAN, Deputy.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF WICHITA COUNTY, GREETING:

Whereas on the 15th day of July, 1921, J. H. Crumpler recovered in the Thirtieth District Court of Wichita County, a judgment against M. J. Saunders for the sum of $11,513.70 with interest thereon from the 10th day of April, 1920, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum and costs of suit and attorneys fees, and, whereas, the said judgment is a foreclosure of a vendor's lien on the following described property, to-wit:

Being lot No. 6 in Block No. 36 of the Southland Addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, as shown by the map or plat of said addition now on record in the office of the Deed Records of Wichita County, Texas as said vendor's lien existed on the 10th day of April, 1921, and it is ordered and decreed by said judgment that said property be sold as under execution in satisfaction of said judgment. And if said property shall sell for more than sufficient to pay off and satisfy said sums of money, the excess should be paid over to the said M. J. Saunders. But if said property should not sell for enough to pay off said sums of money, the balance due shall be made as under execution, and such order of sale shall have the force and effect of a writ of possession, and the officer executing same shall make a good and sufficient deed of same and place the purchaser of said property in possession thereof within 30 days from date of sale.

Therefore, you are hereby commanded that you proceed to seize and sell the above described property, as under execution, and make good and sufficient deed of same and to place the purchaser of the same in possession thereof within 30 days after the day of sale, and you apply the proceeds thereof to the payment and satisfaction of said sum of $11,513.70, together with the interest that may be due thereon, and the further sum of Eleven and 95-100 dollars, costs of suit, together with your legal fees and commissions for executing this writ. And if the said property shall sell for more than sufficient to pay off and satisfy said sums of money, then you are hereby directed to pay over the excess thereof to the defendant, M. J. Saunders. But if you fail to find said property, or if the proceeds of such sale be insufficient to satisfy such judgment, then you are directed to make the money, or any balance thereof remaining unpaid, out of any other property of defendant, as in case of ordinary executions.

Herein fail not, but due return make hereof within 60 days, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Thirtieth District Court of Wichita County, at my office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this 10th day of August, 1921.

District Court Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JACKSON, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE.
THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF WICHITA.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of sale issued out of the Honorable Thirtieth District Court of Wichita County, Texas, by the clerk of said court on the 11th day of August, 1921, in the case of the Farmers' State Bank of Burkburnett vs. A. E. Boger, No. 9660, on the docket of said court, on a judgment rendered in said court on the first day of July, 1921, in favor of the said Farmers' State Bank of Burkburnett and against the said A. E. Boger for the sum of Seventeen Thousand Five Hundred Seven Dollars and Ninety-one Cents ($17,507.91), with interest thereon, from the 1st day of July, 1921, at the rate of 10 per cent per annum and costs of suit, with a foreclosure of an attachment lien on the following described property, to-wit:

20 acres in the form of a square out of the southwest corner of Block 2, J. A. Kemp's Wichita Valley Farm lands. Also an undivided one-half interest in and to west one-half of subdivision 18, 20 and 21 of S. I. and H. M. Munger Block 25, J. A. Kemp's Wichita Valley Farm lands situated in said county.

Also an oil and gas lease on the northeast one-half of Block 17, of S. I. and H. M. Munger subdivision of said J. A. Kemp's Wichita Valley farm lands situated in Wichita and Archer scounties, said northeast one-quarter being 40 1-2 acres, being all of the interest of said A. E. Boger of said oil and gas lease on the said 40 1-2 acres.

All of said property being situated in Wichita County, Texas.

As said attachment lien existed on the 6th day of December, 1920, and levied upon as the property of A. E. Boger and that on the 1st Tuesday in September, 1921, the same being the 5th day of said month, at the courthouse door of Wichita County, Texas, in the town of Wichita Falls, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. I will offer for sale and sell, at public auction, for cash, to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of the said A. E. Boger in and to said above described real estate.

Witness my hand this the 11th day of August, A. D., 1921.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF WICHITA COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon Laura A. Atchley by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Seventy-eighth District court of Wichita County, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September, A. D., 1921, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D., 1921. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 2nd day of August, A. D., 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 11280-B wherein J. W. Atchley is plaintiff and Laura A. Atchley is defendant and said petition alleging, that plaintiff and defendant were married on or about the 10th of January, 1882; that they continued to live together until on or about the 5th day of June, 1921, that plaintiff during their married life has endeavored to make defendant a good and faithful husband, working hard at all times for the maintenance and support of defendant and their family; that he has at all times provided defendant with all the necessaries of life to the best of his ability. That defendant unmindful of her obligations towards the plaintiff began a course of cruel treatment towards plaintiff many years ago. The defendant would become mad and angry at the plaintiff for no just cause on his part and would for weeks and months live in a disgruntled state of mind and pout and refuse to speak a kind word to this plaintiff during said time; that such conduct continued from year to year until it finally culminated in their permanent separation on the date above alleged; that plaintiff was compelled to sleep away from home some time before their final separation. That on account of the cruel and outrageous conduct of the defendant towards the plaintiff their further living together has been rendered insupportable.

Wherefore, premises considered, plaintiff prays for citation to issue to defendant by publication as the law provides, citing her to appear and answer this petition and on trial hereof he have judgment against defendant, dissolving the bond of matrimony between plaintiff and defendant and that he be awarded absolute divorce from the defendant, and for all costs in this suit expended and have whatever further relief, in law and equity, he may show himself entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 3rd day of August, A. D., 1921.

A. F. KERR, Clerk
District Court, Wichita County, Texas.
By EUNICE JACKSON, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS.
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF WICHITA COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon Tom W. Gresham by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Seventy-eighth District court of Wichita County, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September, A. D., 1921, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 2nd day of August, A. D., 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 11279-B wherein Roscoe Homan and Manhattan-Texas Petroleum Company are plaintiffs and Tom W. Gresham is defendant and said petition alleging that on January 1st, 1920, and now plaintiffs were lawfully seized and jointly possessed of the 7-8 working interest in and to the oil and gas lease and leasehold estate covering the following described property: Beginning at a point which is 799.4 feet south and 330 feet west of the northeast corner of Block 88 Red River valley land subdivision, for the place of beginning: Thence west 330 feet thence south 2.6 feet, west 330 feet thence south 25.6 feet, north to the place of beginning. That defendant Tom W. Gresham unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiffs therefrom and now unlawfully withholds same from plaintiff to their damage of $5000.00. The plaintiff further shows to the court that their assignors and vendees, the then owners of the leasehold estate above described on or about the 1st day of May, 1919, entered into a conditional contract with H. C. Bluhm and the Missouri Oil Co. for the development of the above leasehold, wherein said Bluhm and Missouri Oil Co. were to have an undivided interest therein conditioned upon the faithful compliance of said contract; that after drilling said well to the approximate depth of 200 feet, they abandoned same and surrendered all their right to same. That during the time said Bluhm and Missouri Oil Co. were at work on said lease with full knowledge of said contract, the defendant, Tom W. Gresham contracted with them to render certain service and labor whereby said Bluhm and Missouri Oil Co. became indebted to him in the sum of $117.00. That account of Gresham was thereafter fully paid by said Bluhm and Missouri Oil Co. but that in the meantime said Gresham made and filed his affidavit together with said account with the County CVlerk of Wichita County, Texas, whereby he sought to fix a laborer's lien on the aforesaid premises to secure said indebtedness, but all of said items in said account had been rendered more than 30 days before the filing of said lien. Wherefore same is voide that said account and affidavit although void constitute a cloud upon their title to said premises.

Wherefore plaintiffs pray that defendant be cited by publication to appear and answer herein as the law directs, for judgment for title and possession of said premises; that the affidavit and account herein be cancelled and the cloud removed from their title for cost and for general and special relief.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 3rd day of August, A. D., 1921.

CLEAN UP SQUAD WILL COME HERE

A "Clean Up" squad, representing the war risk insurance bureau, will be in Wichita Falls Monday and until 2:20 p. m. Tuesday for the purpose of taking up the cases of ex-service men of this and adjoining counties who are due government aid of any description, it was announced Thursday by Zeb V. Nixon, adjutant of the American Legion.

Ex-service men and women who are entitled to compensation, hospitalization, treatment, vocational training or any other form of aid by the government, are urged to be present and confer with the members of the committee while here. They will have their headquarters in the American Legion club rooms, 812 1-2 Ohio avenue.

Former service men and women of Wichita, Denton, Archer, Montague, Wise, Jack, Clay, Young, Throckmorton, Baylor and Wilbarger counties are urged to be present at this meeting in order that their cases may be taken up.

In the squad to visit Wichita Falls will be a medical, compensation, claim and insurance man, a representative of the Red Cross and a publicity man.

A special meeting will be held Monday night at which time the members of the squad wil advise ex-service men and women as to the provisions under the existing laws.

READJUSTMENT HITS LARGER POSTOFFICES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Post-war readjustment at the larger post offices throughout the country is to begin at once, according to detailed instructions that have been sent to about 10,000 postmasters by the post office department. These instructions called attention to the acute financial condition of the country and to the urgency of meeting the desire of the president for economy in public expenditures as far as possible in the postal service.

While aiming at extravagant and expensive methods which crept in during and immediately after the war, positive instructions have been given to postmasters to keep constantly in mind that the service must not be curtailed or impaired.

Plans for the reduction in expenditures at post offices, which will amount to approximately $5,000,000 out of the $15,000,000 to be saved in postal expenditures for the current fiscal year, have been under way for several months. Careful comparisons of expenditures with the receipts and business transacted have been made. Business and receipts at many offices doubled and trebled, incident to the war, and clerical and carrier forces were increased accordingly, including extraordinary expenditures for auxiliary and substitute service, as well as for overtime. The general survey of postal conditions shows that, while this emergency has long since passed, and with population and business greatly lessened at many of these larger offices, there are few that have made any appreciable curtailment in expenditures or voluntarily surrendered any clerks or carriers. On the other hand, the general survey shows, expenditures for auxiliary help have continued unstinted, overtime has apparently been unnecessarily employed, and repeated requests have been made for additional clerks and carriers.

Postmasters are asked to consider the revision of schedules of clerks and carriers; the shifting of forces from one section to another, according to the volume of work, and to arrange the work of the office so as to avoid the necessity for overtime work, as well as to carefully scrutinize all miscellaneous expenses of their offices.

Public participation in this effort to save at post offices is suggested by use of mail receptacles at residences and business houses. Early mailing, facing of mail, use of precanceled stamps and simple routing of mail by heavy users of the mail are urged as an aid to economy, as well as in the quick dispatch of mail.

COURTHOUSE HAVING DULL PERIOD NOW

The dullest period of the year is now being enjoyed at the courthouse. Vacations and outside business has taken about half the county and state officials out of the city and very little business is being caried on by those remaining.

In the district courts Judges H. F. Weldon of the 30th District court and Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th District court are away on vacations and will not reopen their courts until September. Judge Ed Napier of the 78th District court has returned from a vacation but will set no cases from his docket until the new term opens in September.

Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law is absent on a vacation the little business of the court being handled by special judges. In the justice courts R. V. Gwinn is also vacationing, J. F. Maxwell doing the work of both justice courts.

Sam Holliday, assistant district attorney and Wayne Sommerville, assistant county attorney, who have their offices in the courthouse are gone on vacations of two weeks. During the last two days District Attorney Wilson and County Attorney Fulton have been out of the city on official business. They will return before the end of the week. Several other county officials are out of the city.

The federal office is closed, officials being out of the city at present.

RAILROAD REVENUES FALL OFF

That people are travelling less on passenger trains this year than last year is shown by figures compiled by the management of the M. K. & T. railway, which shows that in face of an increase of $43,497 in freight revenues for the first six months of 1921 over last year, the gross operating revenues of the road were $2,715,074 less than during the first six months of 1920. It is seen that the decrease in earnings are due to a falling off of passenger traffic, the report says.

Encouragement, both for the railroad and the public, is seen in the fact that operating expenses wer $3,472,221 less during the first six months of 1921 than during a similar period in 1920.

DEPOPULATION OF FRANCE TO SHOW IN CENSUS REPORT

PARIS, Aug. 11.—In anticipation that the final returns of the March census will show a notable decrease in the population of France, Deputy Georges Bonnefous proposes to ask Parliament to reduce the number of deputies at the next general election, due to be held in 1924, by ninety-five seats.

Including representatives from Alsace and Lorraine and French colonies, the last election of November, 1919, sent 616 deputies to Parliament. M. Bonnefous also suggests that no bye-elections be held between now and the general elections of 1924 unless a constituency loses all its representatives, either through death or resignation or any other cause which would keep them away from the Chamber of Deputies.

The net figures for the population of France will shortly be at hand and those already known, especially in the case of large towns, a considerable decrease has been shown, except possibly in the case of Marseilles. The population of Paris is much lower than in 1911, though on the other hand the suburbs which in France figure as separate communes show a notable increase.

As a means of instilling confidence, the girl patrons of the Y. W. C. A. swimming pools at Toronto, Canada, are encouraged to learn trick swimming, and as a result they have a great variety of water stunts to show.

—Building up your health is the most pleasant work you will ever encounter. If you look out after your health today, it will look after your interests tomorrow. If you attempt to let tomorrow's health look after itself, your procrastination may bring you illness and remorse. This is a cheerful store to visit.

CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Drug.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee: Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick, I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.
