Resolution Says Injustice Would Be Done People Of Section Unless They Obtain Right Representation

A RESOLUTION urging that the legislature be petitioned to pass the congressional redistricting bill, and asking the free conference committee, which now has the bill under consideration, "to compromise their difficulties to the end that the people of Texas be granted their constitutional rights," was adopted by the convention work committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in session last night.

The resolution the only one passed by the committee thus far, will be presented to the general convention of the organization Friday morning.

Wired To Solons

The resolution, pointing out that under the 1930 census figures Texas is entitled to three more congressmen, and that "great injustice will be done the people of this section and they will be deprived of their constitutional rights unless they obtain the representation in congress to which they are entitled," was wired to Gen. Julian P. Greer of Kemp, and Rep. Penrose B. Metcalfe of San Angelo, members of the free conference committee.

The resolution follows:

Whereas, it is provided in the constitution of the United States that representation in the lower house of congress shall be based on population; and

Belasco Answers Last Curtain Call

DAVID BELASCO

Famous Producer Of American Stage Is Dead

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 14.—David Belasco died today, ripe with the labors by which for more than 50 years he helped to shape the course of the American stage.

Two months short of his 77th birthday the little grey dean of Broadway succumbed to a heart attack in the hotel suite which had been his solitary home many years. At his bedside were his only child Reina (Mrs. Morris Gest) and his two physicians.

Pneumonia Attack

Several months ago an attack of pneumonia caused him to be brought home, seriously ill, from Atlantic City where he was trying out a new play. It was feared he was fatally stricken then, and he missed the Broadway opening of his play—the first he had failed to attend. But he recovered, returned to his sudio 73 steps above the sidewalks of Forty-fourth street, and had been active again until this morning. Even until a few minutes before his death at 4:15 p. m. his chance of recovery seemed good and he kept within an arm's reach the heap of plays from which he hoped to select two or three for production this fall.

The career he chose as a lad of 14, when he wrote and produced "The Regulator's Revenge," he pursued without abating to the last day of his life—and the career outlived its creator, for his 400th-odd and last production, "Tonight Or Never," is a current Broadway hit.

Was Sure of Self

Of Portuguese-Jewish parentage, Belasco came to Broadway in the late '70s. A sallow, bashful lad, he was sure of himself and his greatness and fired with a passion for the theater.

Atune with the tempo of that florid and melodramatic day he had not long to wait before New York paid heed to his work. In the

Brooks Rites Will Be Read In Waco Hall

Simple Services Are To Mark Last Tribute To Dr. S. P. Brooks, Baylor U. President For 29 Years

(By Associated Press)

WACO, May 14.—As he requested before his death early today, Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, president of Baylor university, will be buried tomorrow after simple funeral rites in Waco hall at the university, to be marked by as little ostentation as he himself manifested in life.

Classes at the university were suspended until Monday and Mayor Tom Bush had asked all Waco business houses to close during the time set for the funeral services, in respect to the man who for 29 years was head of the oldest higher learning institution in Texas. Every activity on the campus ceased.

Former Governor Pat M. Neff, who had remained at his friend's bedside to clasp his hand until death came, was requested by the family to preside at the funeral, both because of his official capacity as president of the board of trustees and as the late president's most intimate friend. The body will lie in state in Waco hall, with men from the senior class serving as a guard of honor.

Dr. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Dr. Brooks was a member, will deliver the principal address at the funeral; Dr. J. B. Tidwell, chairman of the Baylor Bible school, will offer a prayer; and Miss Roxy Grove, chairman of the school of music, will direct a brief musical tribute.

It was announced late today that Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church in Dallas, would not be able to reach Waco from Birmingham, Ala., where he

De Silva told police he was sentenced to die on a murder charge in Beaumont in 1922, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, and he was pardoned by Mrs. Miriam A. Suspension Of Sentence Wins Senate Voting

Measure Would Allow Courts To Grant Suspended Sentences To Liquor Law Violators Above Age Of 25

Passed By House

Talk Is Heard In Legislative Halls Of Extending Session After May 22; Sterling Is Said To Favor

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 14.—Voting 19 to 9 the senate late today passed the Weinert liquor law violators suspended sentence bill.

The bill would allow courts to grant suspended sentences to liquor law violators above the age of 25. The bill was passed by the house. Reported adversely, the bill was brought before the senate this week on a majority report. The senate ordered it printed.

Attacked In House

It was the object of a scathing attack in the house and was characterized as "dripping wet."

All hopes for passage of the Johnson delinquent tax collections bill were wiped out as the senate refused to reconsider the vote by which it voted down a motion yesterday to print the bill on a minority report.

Extension Sought

The delinquent tax bill would have eliminated the necessity of court action in making delinquent tax collections and allowed portions of properties to be sold to satisfy delinquent claims against them.

There was more talk about legislative halls about extending the session beyond May 22. Governor Sterling joined in, stating he believed the legislature should remain with its work another week after May 22.

Both houses received reports from

LIKE the Kentucky Derby, which also runs Saturday, the favorite may not win. Emerging last night from the field of potential candidates for the 1931-32 presidency of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce were two favorites. Neither of them was receptive however—and it may be that a dark horse will come under the wire at the directors Saturday morning election breakfast.

The Equipoise in the WTCC Presidential derby is Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The Twenty Grand of the race is Houston Harte, San Angelo, who has a lot of say-so in a string of enterprising newspapers of his home city, Abilene, Corpus Christi, Sweetwater, Harlingen, Paris and Big Spring.

Among the informed around hotel lobbies last night, the agreement of opinion was that either Mr. Carter or Mr. Harte can have the presidency—but both are admitted unwilling starters. Carter thinks it would be bad politics to elect a Fort Worthian, while Harte, present first vice-president of the organization, indicates that he, himself, is not in a position to consider the presidency this year and insists that Carter is the man for the job.

Pageant Tonight

Fort Worth Special With A 35 Piece Band Latest Arrival Thursday Night; Bands Will Parade In Afternoon

WITH throngs of people milling in the hotel lobbies and on downtown streets Thursday night and special trains and automobile caravans scheduled to bring in hundreds more this morning, Lubbock will be the mecca of all West Texas Friday, the second day of the thirteenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

And while hundreds continued to pour into the city, officials prepared for an even greater day of business for three problems of vast importance to most of West Texas oil and gas development, agricultural development and productions loans repayment—are due for discussion in the three group conferences this afternoon.

Pageant scheduled

With the historical pageant with representatives from practically every town in the territory taking part scheduled for this evening at 8:30 on the athletic field at Texas Technological college, the peak of attendance at the convention is expected. Officials of the college have prepared to take care of more than 10,000 people at the pageant.

The general attendance of the convention might not be as large as at former sessions, but the attendance at the group conferences Thursday was larger, in keeping with the business platform of the administration. Officials are expecting even larger attendances at the group conferences this afternoon.

Range To 3,000

Estimates on the number of out of town visitors in the city last night ranged from 1,500 to more than 3,000 people. With the arrival of the Fort Worth special and a large number of cars from nearby towns later in the evening, this number could possibly have been greater. Officials in charge of the

Veteran District Clerk Under Five Charges Following Probe

Claude Ray, Of Gilmer, Faces Charges Of Forgery In Connection With Investigation Of Witness Certificates

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 14. — Claude Ray, veteran district clerk at Gilmer, was under five charges of forgery here tonight in connection with the state's sweeping investigation of forged witness fee certificates.

Charges were filed this afternoon after Ray had confessed to Bruce Bryant, first assistant attorney general. He admitted he had been forging witness fee certificates and making claims for fictitious case transcripts for three or four years or perhaps longer.

Admits False Claims

The five complaints alleged the forgery of certificates aggregating only $256 but Ray admitted false claims totaling considerably more than that amount. Ray confessed to forgeries this year aggregating $858, R. G. Waters, assistant attorney general, said. All the alleged forgeries charged in the complaints occurred this year Bryant estimated the forgeries over the three or four years amounted to $2,000 or more. This was the third case of alleged forgeries uncovered and the other cases involved a considerably larger loss to the state. The other instances were in Dallas county and in a group of East Texas counties around Crockett. One man committed suicide and another was indicted on nine counts of forgery in connection with the Dallas county case. The alleged Crockett forger committed suicide.

Losses Are High

In each of these cases the losses to the state were estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000. State officials planned to continue their investigation, expressing the belief that other instances might be discovered The discovery of Ray's alleged forgeries was made by the department of George Sheppard, state comptroller. Ray was arrested at

Outlook For Democratic Success In 1932 Bright Though United Party Is Needed, Connally States

"THE outlook for Democratic success in 1932 is brighter than it has been since the first election of Woodrow Wilson," Senator Tom Connally of Marlin, declared here Thursday in an interview on the political outlook and matters which will come before the next session of congress. Mr. Connally is here attending the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention and will be heard in an address Saturday morning in the general convention hall.

"However, we must have a united and militant party to achieve success," he continued. "I am opposed to effects of a certain group of Democratic leaders in the east to make the repeal of the 18th Amendment a party issue. This group, if they really want Democratic success and harmony, ought to abandon the movement to make that question a dominant issue."

Citing the short comings of the administrative party, Mr. Connally said: "the failure of the Republican administration and the Republican congress to successfully deal with problems of foreign trade, unemployment and other questions which have been presented in this tragic period of depression proves their incapacity and utter lack of leadership. Under their policies American exports within a single year have fallen one billion dollars. Six million idle men have been anxious for work which they could not secure. Amarillo's Bid For Session In 1932 Based On Population Growth; Delegation In Today

Famous Old Gray Mare Band And Motorcade Of 350 Persons Coming; Parade Staged At 10:30 Today

Amarillo's bid for the 1932 convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is based on the Panhandle city's population growth from 16,000 to 50,000 in ten years and a corresponding increase in facilities required by a convention.

O. V. Vernon, manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, said that Thursday afternoon. Amarillo can accomodate a convention as large as that of the regional chamber, he said, as the Potter county seat has 3,000 hotel rooms, and has meeting places of all kinds.

including a municipal auditorium which will seat about 3,000 persons.

Party To Total 350

The greater part of Amarillo's delegation, expected to total 350, will reach here this morning as motorcades.

Led by the municipal band, descended directly from the 142nd infantry's Old Gray Mare band, the Amarilloans will parade at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Directed by A. W. Upchurch and consisting of forty pieces, the band will be headed by the traditional Old Gray Mare. The famous musical organization recently was moved from Brownwood by authority of the United States government, Mr. Vernon said.

Representatives to Parade

Miss Zuma Vance Cotten and Miss Jane McCullough, who will represent Amarillo as princess and maid-of-honor in an historical pageant tonight at Technological college athletic field, will be in the parade.

The official Amarillo delegation includes Mr. Vernon; Wilbur C. Hawk, manager of the Tri-State fair; E. M. Broome of the chamber of commerce, and H. M. Luna, who is in charge of the district No. 1 exhibit prepared by the Amarillo chamber.

Mr. Hawk, Thursday, was elected chairman of the executive board of district No. 1 and Mr. Vernon was re-elected as chairman of the district advisory board.

Refers To Other Cities

While others of the advance guard from the City of Rose distributed placards and unfurled banners announcing its candidacy, Mr. Vernon referred to the other cities seeking the 1932 meeting of the West Texas chamber.

"Mineral Wells, Sweetwater and Dallas are all our friends," he said, as he sat in Amarillo headquarters at the Lubbock hotel. "But we realize that we are the biggest city west of Fort Worth asking for the convention, and we are asking for it because we can care for it."

To Stage Parade

The Amarillo spokesman asked that all Amarillo representatives assemble at the Lubbock hotel at 10:30 o'clock this morning to participate in their parade.

Probable route of march, he said was: North to Main street, east of Avenue G, south to Broadway, west on Broadway to the Lubbock hotel.

A band concert will be given by the Amarillo organization tonight at the Lubbock hotel, and another parade will be conducted by the Panhandle group Saturday morning, he said.

Fire Damage $300 In City Thursday

Two fires of undetermined origin caused damage of more than $300 here Thursday.

A two-room house was destroyed near Fifth street and Avenue C shortly afternoon.

It virtually was razed when firemen arrived, although occupants had saved some furniture, Fire Chief W. E. Twitty said. Loss on the house was estimated at $300.

The fire was the fifth at that address in about four years, the fire department head said. Thursdays blaze may have resulted from a makeshift stove, he said.

A neighbor woman entinguished fire in an automobile at 2022 Main street by throwing soda on it before fire-fighting apparatus arrived. The automobile, which was in a garage, belonged to R. E. Strickland of the Main street address. Damage was negligible.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton Arrive In City By Airplane

Arrivals at municipal airport Thursday included Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls and Arnet Darbank of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton flew here in a chartered plane guided by a commercial pilot. Mr. Darbank flew his own plane.

A factory representative landed at the Lubbock field and remained several hours Thursday.

Pictures Of Palo Duro Are On Display At Headquarters

An exhibit of pictures of Palo Duro canyon is on display at convention headquarters, 1106 Main, by Roy V. Davis, official photographer of that park and recreation center. You South Plains folks ought to be interested in the canyon," Mr. Davis said. "We open Sunday."

Frank P. Holland Declares Texas Will Plant 1,112,000 More Acres This Year Than Ever Before

Texas will plant 1,112,000 more acres this year than ever before in corn, grain sorghums, barley, and oats Frank P. Holland of Farm & Ranch magazine said here.

Mr. Holland was chairman of the breeder-feeder group-conference on Thursday afternoon's program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. He came here form San Angelo where he addressed the Texas Bankers association on the same subject. A resident of Dallas, Mr. Holland is president of Holland Publishing company.

"Based on a ten year average, this is enough to feed 750,000 calves for 150 days, at the proper rations, or an equal quantity of hogs, lambs, chickens, turkeys. If the farmer does not feed it out, what will he do with it?"

Mr. Holland pointed out that the only way a farmer can profitably market his feed crop is "on the hoof," adding that if cotton farmers reduced their acreage, they had only feed crops to turn to.

"Oats at my farm was selling last week at 31 cents a bushel," he said. "I was offered oats at that price. Corn, I am told, is selling for 38 cents a bushel.

"The only way the farmer can get his money back for his feed crops is by feeding livestock. He can make better than a market price if he does that.

IT WAS HARD TO BELIEVE

When Fulton's first steamboat navigated the Hudson river at a speed greater than a sailing vessel, or faster than a horse or man could walk, the crowds lining the river bank said, "It is only a fad and nothing will come of it."

Man could never fly through the air, said the public, though many had tried to do so for generations. Yet the Wright brothers made a heavier than air machine that first soared into the air at Kitty Hawk a brief quarter of a century ago.

Edison made lightning (that others had harnessed) burn in small globes and thus give light to the darkness.

Take history from the beginning. And all important achievement, in any field of science, has been beyond the conception of most people.

Today we do not seem to realize that tomorrow will announce something that will make our present day ideas old and out of date

Like all new developments, unveiled before you, we take pleasure in presenting an automobile tire that will do the unbelieveable.

You are invited to come and see this outstanding achievement of our manufacturers.

COME!

COME TODAY

IT'S HERE THE TIRE THAT BREATHES AND HAS THREE LIVES

Seiberling

TRIPLE TREAD TIRE

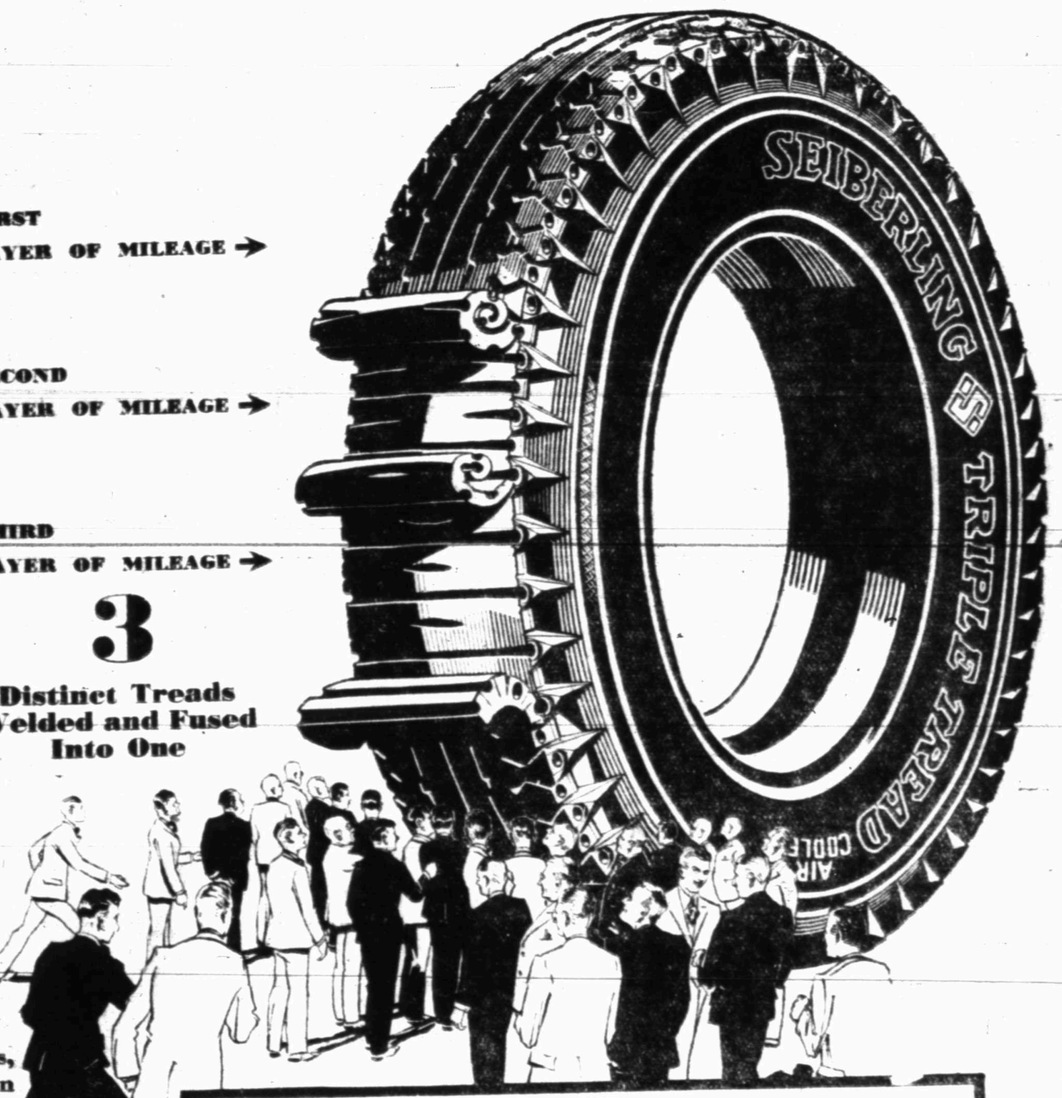

AIR COOLED

FIRST LAYER OF MILEAGE →

SECOND LAYER OF MILEAGE →

THIRD LAYER OF MILEAGE →

3 Distinct Treads Welded and Fused Into One

We have the newest, latest and best tire the world has ever seen, ready for you now. ● It will outlast any other tire on earth. It will deliver 50% to 100% more mileage. ● It will give you safe, sure anti-skid traction through one after another of THREE tread lives. 200% more anti-skid mileage than any other tire. ● It has two to three times as much rubber in the tread as any other tire built. ● The most nearly PUNCTURE-PROOF and BURST-PROOF pneumatic ever made. ● ●

Seiberling—builder of more than 50,000,000 tires, inventor of more advances in tire construction than any other man—sponsors this greatest triumph since the advent of the modern balloon tire. ● In either passenger car or truck duty this new Seiberling—which costs most to make, most to buy—proves itself—THE WORLD'S LOWEST COST TIRE PER NON-SKID MILE! ● We guarantee you will be more interested than you ever have been in any tire before. In our show windows and display rooms now.

The triple tread thickness and triple strength which air cooling thus permits, makes possible for the first time a construction so rugged that this tire is virtually puncture-proof and also most nearly burst-proof of any tire made.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE Crosbyton Ukulele Cadets came breezing in with a little melody for the Avalanche-Journal staff this morning and it sounded good to those of us who had to stay indoors doing a mundane routine while the distant roll of drums could be heard in almost constant procession down nearby streets.

The ukulele quintet was exuding a lot of friendliness when the girls got here and their snappy songs woke up an office staff that had settled into mid-morning lethargy after street men had cleared out for assignments. The girls are in uniform and probably will be a gay note for a convention. Anyway, a lot of people will know that Crosbyton is represented.

SIDELIGHTS

WE get some interesting sidelights on a convention staying inside a newspaper office. There was the little conference of out-of-town correspondents over in my corner this morning during which representatives of press services decided to agree upon attendance figures for the convention "so that we won't look like fools when the stories are compared", as they put it.

At this early date there are no actual counts and everyone has an estimate of his own. This group got together and did some mathematical calculations out of the various estimates and, past attendances to arrive at a conservative figure for the press to use. As one put it, "we had better go under on figures and then later find that there is a larger attendance than has been expected than to say a lot about a large attendance only to have the actual count much smaller."

However, from the looks of downtown crowds on opening days, the attendance will meet expectations.

THANKS FOR THE PENCIL

SIDELIGHTS aren't all we get down here. Wakishaka Camp Fire girls are selling pencils for their group fund but they came in just now to give me one. I had been warned that a gift was forthcoming from that group but had been left guessing as to the nature of the favor.

There are few things I use more often or more constantly than a pencil, even though there is no one who can translate the hieroglyphics I draw on copy paper. If the notes aren't transcribed almost immediately, I have difficulties, too, in knowing what the pencil scratches represent.

Newspaper reporters have no greater boon than a typewriter. There is a tradition that reporters use the hunt and peck system and, most of them do, yet they write out thousands of words day after day, with a speed that would surprise the average layman. Most of us can't think with any continuity unless we record these thoughts in type. We don't "take our pen in hand" to begin a composition, we slouch before a machine.

USING OUR EDUCATION

TODAY we were discussing the general inability of people to spell correctly. Maybe there has been something wrong with our schooling. I remember learning to spell portecochere and daguerreotype somewhere back in the grades and as far as I can tell, this is the first use I've had for that knowledge. I've learned to spell Waxahachie and Nacogdoches since I got on a newspaper staff, as well as discovering the difference between council and counsel, principle and principal.

Recently I had a note from a music teacher telling of a recital she was having and Mendelssohn was misspelled. Lots of businessmen complain because their stenographers have little knowledge of spelling.

THE Panhandle Press association had a spelling bee in Plainview recently at a convention and discovered that even the editors couldn't spell simple words. Someone gave us a "crying towel" today and in one sentence printed on it suggested that their town was "alright."

Are Firestone Tires Too Good?

THIS question has been asked of Harvey S. Firestone many times, particularly by stockholders and customers who have received unusually long mileage. His answer has always been the same; "No article can be made too good. The better you make it and the cheaper you sell it the more profit you make. This is what builds good will and success for a business." The good will and success of his own company surely bears out this statement of policy.

Mr. Firestone realizes, too, that there is another important reason why Firestone Tires can not be made too good. Thousands of men and women and little children—whole families in a single car—entrust their safety and even their lives to the tires on their cars This becomes truer every day, especially with high powered, high speed cars and broader, better roads. It is vital that you do not have a blowout, or skid on slippery pavement. You must be able to stop in an emergency. Your wheels will stop if your brakes are working right: But unless you have the best Non-Skid tread your car may not stop.

This is the reason why Mr. Firestone developed the first rubber Non-Skid tire. That, too, is the reason why he pioneered and developed the balloon tire. Always he had in mind: to make motoring at high speeds safer and more comfortable.

To provide greater safety he developed the patented process of Gum-Dipping—coating every fiber in every cord in his tires, with pure liquid rubber. He knew that heat was the greatest enemy to tire life. So at the expense of millions of dollars he perfected the Gum-Dipping process which adds strength—reduces internal friction—increases flexing life of cords 58%—increases tire life by from 25 to 40%—and practically eliminates blowouts. Just figure the added security and safety from this one development alone.

But he did not rest satisfied with all this. When speeds were stepped up and more powerful motors took to the road, he set about developing the double cord breaker—two extra cord plies right under the tread—which results in a 56% stronger union between the tread and the body of the tire; and stops four out of five of all objects that cause punctures.

Mr. Firestone has always been a leader in keeping quality high and cost low. For example, when the British put a restriction on the export of rubber from their colonies which raised the price of rubber as high as $1.23 a pound he fought this Restriction Act until it was removed.

He always had the firm belief that Americans should grow their own rubber; he began planting rubber trees on a million acre tract of land in Liberia. He was planning far ahead so that every American motorist might be forever free from exorbitant prices for rubber tires.

Firestone have their own men select and buy rubber direct from plantations and have their own rubber preparation plants and warehouses located on the waterfront in Singapore for direct shipment to Firestone factories all over the world. These direct methods save millions.

Take cotton, too. Firestone buys in the primary markets at the lowest prices, then ships direct to his own bonded cotton warehouse where he can store fifty million pounds. Firestone owns most efficient cord fabric mills, one of them the largest in the world, saving millions.

All of which means simply this: every economy in buying, manufacturing and distributing is used to give you more value for your dollar.

Mr. Firestone is not only a great pioneer in rubber and rubber tires but now he is the pioneer and has invested with his tire dealers over twenty-five million dollars in establishing a great distributing and standardized service system. Through this system of warehouses and service stores, twenty-five thousand Firestone service dealers get fresh stocks of tires, tubes, batteries, brake lining and accessories within a few minutes to a few hours' time.

Firestone tires are sold only by Firestone service dealers and service stores and under the Firestone emblem of quality, bearing the Firestone name. Mr. Firestone has never made tires just to "sell." He never has, and never will, make "Special Brand" tires for mail-order houses, dry goods stores, oil companies and others to sell at a profit without giving the service so necessary for the convenience and economy of the car owner.

Every Firestone tire bears the Firestone name and is doubly guaranteed, by Firestone and by us. Every one is sold by a reliable, service-giving dealer, who pays local taxes and is interested in you and your community. And yet our prices on Firestone Tires are as low as, and lower than, those of Special Brand tires of unknown manufacture.

We are proud to have Firestone Products to sell and service to our customers. Nowhere else can you find such values; this we know: This we can prove. We have cut cross sections from Firestone Tires and cross sections from competitive tires. Come in and let us show you that Firestone definitely has better quality and greater value. More rubber volume—more plies—more width—more thickness. All we ask is this: Come in and compare.

Best Equipped On The South Plains

Beacon Master Service Station, is a leader in it's field in Lubbock and on the South Plains.

The largest assortment of high grade oils to be found at any one service station on the South Plains is that of the Beacon Master Service Station, 13th at Ave. L, says Mr. L. B. Sloneker, owner and manager.

We have, he says, Quaker State, Pennzoil, Mobiloil, Valvoline, Alemite, Texaco and Conoco Gem Processed Oils. We realize that the motoring public have a very wide difference of opinion in choosing their oils, and that is why we have such a complete line of fine oils to choose from.

This was the first and only one stop service station on the South Plains to install a complete brake service department. Last year there were 35,000 people killed and 365,000 people injured in automobile accidents which according to authorities 80% of these accidents and deaths could have been avoided if the automobiles brakes had of been properly adjusted. We have installed $2,200.00 worth of this equipment and you may have your brakes tested free at any time on this wonderful machine.

All of our men are trained for their job. One of them, Mr. D. G. Hale just returned from the factory at Akron, Ohio, where he spent seven weeks training in the Firestone school for dealers and their employes.

Our car washing department is the most complete in town, using 400 pounds of pressure on the chassis to remove the mud and a fine mist on the body of the car, insures you that no damage can be done.

The one stop service station was developed through the vision of Mr. Firestone who had only one idea in mind, that was so you might utilize your time more profitably by trading at one place and eliminate the time and bother of going to several shops to get your car serviced.

There are today 26 000,000 motor vehicles in operation in the United States, at least 50% of these cars are used in commercial service and by some one who's time is very valuable, on an actual check of the average operation of a car in this class of service the driver can save one hour a week by getting his car serviced at a "one-stop-service" station.

If your driver's time is worth only one dollar an hour you will save $52 each year, with the 13,000,000 cars saving this each year it means that as a whole these car owners will put 13,000,000 extra hours into useful service each week and will mean a saving to the American public of $676,000,000 each year.

Mr. Firestone told Mr. Sloneker a few years ago that good management did not have to bother with trickery for it knows that fundamental honesty is the keystone to the "arch of success". It knows that you will fail if you think more of matching competitors than giving service, it knows that you will fail if you put money or profits head of work, and there is no reason why you should succeed if what you do does not benefit others.

That is the reason the Beacon Master Service Station has been so well equipped and are trying to render a real service that you want and need. Adv.

WE INVITE YOU TO VISIT OUR STATION DURING THIS GREAT

W. T. C. of C. Convention

WE WILL SHOW YOU

Facts of Firestone Leadership!

Thirty-one years ago Harvey S. Firestone, began making tires in a little shop in Akron, Ohio. That little shop could make only a dozen tires a day. Firestone now makes 75,000 Firestone Tires a day. All bearing the name, "Firestone," and sold only through service-giving dealers.

One other large Rubber company makes 27 different brands of tires for others to sell under a name which does not identify the maker to the public.

WHO MAKES THE TIRE YOU ARE USING?

FIRESTONE is the only large tire manufacture who does not make tires for mail order or special brand houses to sell under private brands. When a tire dealer boast about how many tires his company makes, ask him how many tires his company makes with their own name on them.

The record of Firestone is the march of the Tire industry. Firestone pioneered and developed ....

THE FIRST STRAIGHT-SIDE TIRE
THE FIRST RUBBER NONSKID TREAD
THE FIRST COMMERCIAL DEMOUNTABLE RIM
THE FIRST AND ONLY GUM-DIPPED CORD TIRE
THE FIRST BALLOON TIRE

What happened when Firestone brought out the balloon Tire? Other Rubber companies thought that Firestone had gone crazy with his low pressure idea, but soon realized that the original intent for a pneumatic tire was to cushion a vehicle, and brought out the semi-balloon tire, and advised you to keep your old wheels. Later they brought out a balloon tire with large blocks of rubber on the tread and have constantly changed their tread design until today they have as near what Firestone started with as they can possibly make.

Firestone has the same tread design today that was on the first balloon tire, their development has been under the tread. The patented GUM-DIPPED DOUBLE CORD BREAKER gives you two extra plys of cord under the tread, lessens road shocks and punctures—with 56% stronger union between tread and cord body which insures longer tire life and greater safety. This development found only in Firestone tires. The ultimate test of leadership is performance.

FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRES

—hold all world's road and track records for safety, mileage, speed and endurance.

—for eleven consecutive years they have won the 500-mile Indianapolis Endurance Race.

—were on the winning cars in the Pike's Peak Race—where a slip meant death.

—were on the two-ton GMC truck that hung up the coast-to-coast endurance record.

—were on the Studebaker car which on a board track at Atlantic City in 1928 went 30,000 miles in 26,326 minutes.

—ran 71,351 miles on a Detroit taxicab, before the first tire was replaced.

Such are the facts of Firestone leadership—evidence unmistakable that the best tire is Firestone

WTCC Leaders For 1931-32

ACCREDITED electors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce tomorrow will select officers to serve during the coming year. Theirs is a problem of first magnitude. Upon their choice very largely rests the fate of the regional organization during the months which are to come.

Without any attempt to dictate to the electors, or to sway opinion in their decision, The Morning Avalanche makes bold to express its own view—namely, that aggressive leadership, from president on down, is essential to continued growth and prestige of the WTCC.

The president and his supporting officers must be men of vision—untiring men who can and will give their time and their best thought to the organization's welfare. They must be men who are used to tackling big jobs and putting them over. They must be men to whom "it can't be done" is a totally foreign expression.

Growth of the organization during the fiscal year 1930-31 stands as a mute testimonial of what can be done, even under conditions which are at times unfavorable. The increase in membership and affiliation, secured by the administration of President Coombes and Manager Bandeen during the year just completed, shows that forward strides still can be made and should be made for the good of the entire territory.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, we believe, must continue to elect its officers upon the basis of ability and willingness to serve—must continue to select men who will serve "in the harness" rather than to "pass the honor around" and choose them geographically so no part of the territory will be overlooked.

The call today is for big men, well-rounded, energetic men whose experience will permit them to go on building a service organization. We hope and trust that electors' ballots will be cast on that sort of a yardstick.

IMPORTANCE OF SUBORDINATES

A magazine writer, discreetly anonymous, has taken up the subject of efficient management of the boss. In all the varied literature on scientific management which he took the trouble to search he could find not one word about how to manage an immediate superior.

Plenty of carefully worked out plans for improving every phase of industrial enterprise exist, but there is not a single treatise on directing the energies of the boss to the greatest good of the business and his clever subordinate. The boss can study principles of handling those under him, but on the art of handling the boss the assistant has nothing to guide him but instinct and experience.

It is not likely that the list of works on this delicate subject will ever number hundreds. Management downward is taken for granted. Subordinate workers are well aware that at least occasionally they are lazy or careless or rebellious, and they assume that some one is going to discipline them and make them work. This frank acknowledgment makes it easy for the upper ranks to be tactless, even ruthless, in management of the lower. But the man in the interior position who has devised his own scheme for molding the boss's opinions and activities cannot on any account afford to reveal the wisdom he has acquired. His contribution to the science of management must be posthumous if it is made at all.

Doubtless, there are countless executives who owe their success to a candid or tactless subordinate, to the plain talk of a discharged employe or to eavesdropping on the office staff when it is panning the boss.

Practical Health Problems

MINERALS IN FOOD BUILD BONES

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

There are 10 important minerals involved in human nutrition. Among the most important of these is calcium. There is some evidence that the minerals taken into the body must be balanced in relationship to each other unless harm is to result.

Prolonged giving of calcium to children is not advisable unless the calcium is accompanied by a physiologic equivalent of phosphorus. The dangers of a deficiency of calcium in the body have been proved to be real.

In addition to calcium, the diet must contain iodine, iron, copper, magnesium, phosphorus, sulphur, chlorine, potassium and sodium. Each one of these mineral substances is definitely associated with certain conditions of growth, development and resistance to disease. The choosing of a proper diet is not a matter of chance.

In laboratories of research, attempts are being made through the feeding of animals to determine the relationships of the important ingredients to each other, but all of the experiments must then be carried over to actual feeding of children and of adults in order to determine just how these factors are concerned in the human being.

The human being does not make his diet out of a mixture of elementary substances: instead he eats foods which are grown by nature and which have been found through hundreds of years of experience to be suitable as a part of the diet. Were it not for the fact that nature builds these food substances successfully, there would be far more disturbance than there now is from diet deficiencies. For this reason the safest advice for anyone at the present time is to eat a widely varied diet, including both raw and cooked quantities of all of the common food substances.

The mineral substances are essential not only for the building of bone and for the replacement of degenerating tissues, but also for the stimulation of the formed elements of the blood, for aid in the metabolism, supplying proper combinations leading toward the excretions of undesirable substances and finally for acting to promote nutrition generally.

Only a beginning of the necessary knowledge concerning the actions of minerals in the body has been secured, and with intensive research on this subject much more should be learned in the coming years.

Hoover Has Hard Time

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Charges of looting by United States marines in Managua following last March's earthquake are unlikely to hold water, according to the best information I can obtain from Latin-American sources in Washington—sources not at all friendly to the leathernecks' presence in Nicaragua; consequently willing enough to believe anything within reason to their discredit.

Henry W. Temple

The point which these critics do make is that the accusations recently published by El Universal of Mexico City, largely on the authority of Professor Vincente Lombardo Toledano of the University of Mexico, are certain to be widely accepted as gospel from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn.

They would not think Uncle Sam would like this a bit, the Latins remark (they are mostly diplomats, who cannot afford to be quoted), and several of them strongly stress the undeniable fact that it would be impossible if the marines had not been there.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S announced policy is to get them out of the little republic as soon as he can, to be sure, and that also raises a howl—not from the Latin Americans but from a formidable element among the president's own countrymen.

It evidently is difficult for a president to suit everyone.

Anyway, remarks Chairman Henry W. Temple of the house of representatives' committee on foreign affairs, Uncle Sam's last dispatch of marines to Nicaragua was a different proposition from most of his other interventions in the smaller new world countries' affairs.

Nevertheless, argues Chairman William E. Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, it was bad business, and the marines ought to be withdrawn immediately; from the very first this has been Senator Borah's position.

The Idaho lawmaker and the Pennsylvanian, Representative Temple, are the chief congressional authorities on America's international policies.

SENATOR BORAH'S views already are well known. Congressman Temple, as a comparatively new committee chairman (he only graduated into his present post following Chairman Stephen G. Porter's death toward the end of the last session), has not been so fully heard from.

"It is fair to consider," points out the Keystone representative, "that we took a hand in the Nicaraguan situation at the request of the folk on both sides of an armed conflict which was raging in the republic at the time—not at all the same thing as intervening of our own initiative, a course which undoubtedly does create something decidedly in the nature of a protectorate.

"Having acted upon invitation, still by invitation we supervised a fair election, and then were asked by the winning party, speaking as a givernment, to leave the necessary force of marines to keep order while a Nicaraguan national police force was being trained to take over the task."

"THE WASHINGTON administration now assumes the attitude," continued the congressman, "that the Nicaraguan guard is equal to the required duty and wants to withdraw our marines.

"The question of the moment is one of fact. Has Nicaragua, in reality, a force capable of maintaining order? If so, our work is finished."

The Pennsylvanian, however, did not answer his self-implied query. "Is the Nicaraguan 'guardia' actually up to specifications?" "We must wait and see," was the inference, but he failed to express it.

BY INVITATION, though, it was that President Coolidge originally sent the leathernecks to the Caribbean, the remainder of the western hemisphere widely resented it, and it hurts trade if nothing worse. Some Americans declare there ought to be an all-around organization of the new world republics to decide on interventions when they seem unavoidable, taking the responsibility and unpopularity for them from Uncle Sam's lone shoulders.

"Perhaps," conceded Chairman Temple, "it would be wise for Washington to consult certain of the Latin American nations in such emergencies, but I think a formal organization, under a written agreement, would be too inflexible.

"Besides, our relations with our new world neighbors should be so uniformly just and friendly and so free from any tinge of imperialism as to prevent the least suspicion of our motives from ever arising."

A BEAUTIFUL IDEAL!—but hopeless of attainment. Hopeless for Uncle Sam to attain; hopeless of acceptance by Latin America as a reality, if he attained it.

Cuba? "I'd rather not discuss it," smiled the congressman.

A Presbyterian clergyman once, later a college professor of history and political science, and one of the foremost authorities in international law in America, with a fine record of progressive Republicanism, Representative Temple has an equipment few man can equal for his foreign relations chairmanship. Nevertheless I was sorry he sidestepped the new world's most threatening prospect of the near future—Cuba.

FALL AND PRISON

If a jury of the people as a whole were to sit in the case of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, would it require the aging, dying man to pay the penalty imposed upon him for his part in the Teapot Dome affair?

This question rises in many minds as it becomes apparent that only executive clemency can save him from spending a year in prison. The $100,000 fine imposed upon him the government cannot collect because Fall has nothing.

Were the public disposed to show the suffering old man mercy, it would probably be due in large part to that travesty of justice which freed the two rich conspirators who paid the bribe while convicting the tempted public official. Under our criminal code the giver and receiver of a bribe are equally culpable.

But the Fall case now stands on its own merits. If sending him to jail—probably to die there—would deter others from betraying public trusts, or would exert a reformative influence upon the malefactor, then the sentence should be served. But the former secretary of the interior will not live long enough to sin again and it is doubtful if punishing Fall will have a deterrent effect upon others in whose minds the acquittal of Sinclair and Doheny is still fresh.

The voice of the people in these times seems to say only "Gimme."

MOULAI-IDRISS—THE SACRED CITY OF THE MOHAMMEDANS.—Idriss I, the patron saint of Morocco, who died in the 9th century while inhaling the deadly fumes of a phial of perfume sent to him by his kinsman the Kalif Harun al Rashid, was buried at the place which now bears his name, Moulai-Idriss. The green-tiled tomb of the saint, known as the Zaouia of Moulai-Idriss, is one of the most sacred spots in the Mohammedan world. In 1,100 years the town of Moulai-Idriss, a tumbled mass of houses clustering around the sanctuary of the saint, has never sheltered an unbeliever within its walls overnight. The precinct of the temple was forbidden ground to me. The stern countenance of its guardians discouraged even a glimpse of the famous tomb.

HAMMOUCH BEN HADJI RAN 70 MILES IN ONE NIGHT.—During the French conference with the Riff delegates in Oudjda in April, 1926, Abd el Krim, chief of the Riff, dispatched the 67-year-old Hammouch ben Hadji with this brief message to Si Mohammed Azerkane, his representative. "No peace without autonomy." The old Riff warrior covered the distance of 70 miles between sunset and sunrise in a single night. I have seen the rough terrain over which the old warrior traveled and considering his advanced age I believe this to be a most remarkable marathon feat.

MAD LAUGHTER

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION—COPYRIGHT, 1930

CHAPTER 42

Dick heard voices passing within a few feet of where he stood. One of the men had entered the main cellar, and was rummaging in pile of broken wood. He went out again after a few minutes, and Dick could hear preparations for lighting the furnace. Very soon there was a crackling, and Dick guessed that the fire had taken hold.

"That's right, let it burn up a bit, Arthur," said the man whose voice he had already recognized. "We'll get a good fire burning, then melt the metal before Ben gets here. He won't be very long now."

"Lucky he got in before this storm came on," replied Arthur. Dick was not so sure of the voice this time, but he guessed that it belonged to the one of the Margate Jetty who had scarcely spoken half a dozen words. "What time did you get the message, Ted?"

"About nine o'clock, just before I came round to fetch you. The Rosalie got into Poole on the tide, about six. Ben will come by train from there to Masbury, and walk the rest of the way here. He's on the road now, I expect. Stoke up the furnace a bit, mate. It's blasted cold in here. I shan't be sorry to get back to that pub in Bristol."

The two men relapsed into silence, and Dick, in spite of his terror, which refused to be shaken off, found himself trying to fathom the meaning of their conversation. One thing seemed pretty clear. These two men had been waiting in Bristol, in different places, since Ted had "fetched" Arthur, for a message that the Rosalie had reached Poole. They had come to the rendezvous, where Ben was to meet them.

Since there could be no reasonable doubt that all three were members of the Funny Toff's gang, it was pretty certain that their business was in some way connected with the Hatton Garden robbery. It began to dawn upon Dick that he had allowed his imagination to run away with him after his last visit to the wharf at Coldharbour Point. He had been right in his observation; the safes had certainly been loaded there on to some sort of craft, the Rosalie. But he had been too quick to assume that her destination was the Dutch coast.

The Rosalie had reached Poole at six o'clock that morning, roughly sixty hours from the probable time of her departure from Coldharbour Point. Had she been the seagoing motorboat of Dick's imagination, she should have covered the two hundred miles from port to port in considerably less than half the time. Besides, since his conversation with Sir Edric, a special lookout was probably being kept for a craft of that type. No, the Rosalie was probably an ordinary London barge, a type of craft so common in all the southeast ports that her arrival in Poole would attract no attention. And two hundred miles in sixty hours was just about the rate of progress to be expected from a barge, given fair weather and a favorable wind.

What had actually happened slowly became clear to Dick. The Rosalie had no doubt loaded a perfectly genuine cargo for Poole, at some point on the river above Coldharbour Point. She had then dropped down to the wharf, remained there long enough to take the safes on board, and proceeded on her voyage. At some favorable opportunity the safes would be cut open, the stones taken out, and the safes thrown overboard. On the Rosalie's arrival in Poole, she would proceed to discharge her genuine cargo, while Ben proceeded to the lead workings with the stones. Dick had little doubt that Ben would turn out to be the bargee of the Margate Jetty.

He had just reached this conclusion when Arthur spoke again.

"What are the orders about getting rid of the stuff?" he asked.

"I had a message from the Boss," replied the man addressed as Ted. "A messager is to come here and fetch it. He will ask for Professor Cobbold. That's all I know. The Boss isn't one to say more than he need."

"I say, Ted, have you ever seen the Boss?" inquired Arthur, in a low and awestruck voice.

"No, I've heard him, and that's enough for me," replied Ted emphatically. "Once you've heard the Funny Toff you aren't likely to want to ask him questions. Besides, it pays you better to do what he tells you. Start to double-cross him, and you find yourself as stiff as Pussy Herridge. And don't you make any mistake about that, my lad."

"You don't catch me playing any tricks!" exclaimed Arthur, fervently "I shan't forget that evening down by the river in a hurry. I can see

Self Reliance Speaker's Urge

Secretary Of Labor Doak Makes Address Before Annual Gathering Of Trainmen At Houston

HOUSTON, May 14. — W. W. Doak, United States secretary of labor, warned members of the Brotherhood of railroad Trainmen against "yielding to the lures of associations or societies of high sounding titles, claiming to be the true saviors of the downtrodden workers of America." He urged, instead, in an address before the brotherhood in triennial convention here, "self reliance."

Many of these societies, the cabinet member said, teach "that only the intelligentsia can save you from economic and social ruin."

"Their theories of conduct and procedure would lead labor into a slough of confusion and despond."

"There are influences abroad in our land which tend toward the socialization of all kinds of activities. These forces, in our struggle to preserve the freedom of the organized labor movement from the destruction of restrictive legislation in the days through which we have passed only a few years ago, were in the main in opposition to us. They have changed only in the degree that they have been forced to recognize organized labor as a factor, and as such they now seek for self interest to have the movement united with them under the guise of friendship.

"If we have succeeded without them," the secretary went on, "in fact despite them, why should we now unite with them after we have demonstrated our ability to get along without them? We here, with propriety I think, may suggest some of the tendencies of the times. In the world today we have the example of a new republic which, while it succeeded an absolute monarchy, had no sooner obtained a foothold than it developed a scheme of action fraught with deadly danger to real freedom, because it undertook to socialize everything, not excepting religion."

President Coombes Has Plea For Continuation Of WTCC's Work; Praises Cooperation

Leader During Past Year Expresses Desire For Increased Activity; Work Of Year Is Reviewed

BY HARRY MONTGOMERY

Continuation of the expansion program which is bringing many new cities and counties into the organization, strengthening of the district organizations created during the last year, and more effective use of the referendum by which member cities can prescribe activities of the regional group were recommended by President Charles E. Coombes in his address before the thirteenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Thursday morning.

In keeping with the president's address, the committee on elections immediately reported that 17 new towns had become affiliated with the organization during the year.

"When Texas Tech was established, many said it was being located on the border where only New Mexico people would profit," President Coombes said in his address. "But we find now that only three counties in Texas are without representation in the student body.

and that 46 new directors had been added, bringing the total to 113. There are 101 cities now affiliated.

Others Available

President Coombes said there were at least 75 more towns in the area that should be taken into the organization.

"Whenever a problem arises in any city in West Texas, the chamber should have machinery available that would be effective in handling it, all the rest of the regional organization lending its support," the president said. "When we have perfected such an organization—and we are rapidly approaching that goal—a West Texas city can not afford not to become a member."

Urges Co-op Support

Coombes urged continued support of cooperative marketing, but said he believed the federal farm board should devote more of its time toward providing new outlets for farm products rather than asking acreage reduction.

He praised Progressive Texans, Inc., and said the new organization had unlimited possibilities.

Coombes enumerated among the achievements of the year the taxing of university lands in West Texas counties, the strengthening of land titles, an educational survey to determine the rights of institutions in the area, corrections in the public school geographies that referred to West Texas as a "semi-arid" region, an organized fight against a tax on natural resources, drouth relief work, and the establishment of an information bureau at Fort Worth and a branch office at Plainview.

The chamber's efforts were chiefly directed toward farm relief in the drouth stricken areas of West Texas, Coombes said.

Coombes Gets Laugh

The president got a laugh from the assembly when he said: "We spent half the year trying to convince textbook publishers that this was not a semi-arid country, and the other half getting relief for drouth-stricken farmers."

A resolution was adopted making Col. R. L. Penick of Stamford honorary vice-president, "in view of the long service rendered as a charter member, as an organizer and a director."

Wells Presided

Spencer Wells of Lubbock presided at the opening session. The address of welcome was made by W. O. Stevens of this city, and the response by Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield, former president.

Telegrams from a dozen legislators and state officials praising the work of the chamber were read by President Coombes. Many expressed regret that tney could not attend the convention. Among the senders were Sen. Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock, Sen. Clint Small, and Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt.

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco concluded a congratulatory wire by saying, "May I further state that notwithstanding any newspaper to the contrary, the people of Waco and Central Texas glory in the West Texas spirit and value their friendship."

After reading it, President Coombes called for a round of applause.

Referring to the conference on industrial development this afternoon, Coombes said Texas' taxation policies were "building a barrier that is keeping industries out of the state." He recommended that Texas industries get together and draft a uniform tax measure to be presented to the next session of the legislature.

"If they don't somebody is going to get hurt," Coombes said. "So much lobbying is going on at Austin that the legislators are groping about in the dark, seeking a uniform plan."

Tribute Paid

Word of the death of Dr. S. P. Brooks, Baylor university president, was received soon after the morning session opened. Responding to a suggestion made by Clifford B. Jones of Spur, the assembly stood with bowed heads in tribute to the "educator and statesman."

At separate meetings of the ten districts in the morning, the following executive directors were named, one from each district:

District one, Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo; district two, Clifford B. Jones, Spur; District three, Frank Kennerley, Quanah; District four, Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth; district five, O. P. Thrane, Snyder; district six, Clarence Scharbauer, Midland; district seven, R. L. Malone, Roswell N. M.; district eight, John Perkins, Alpine, district nine, Walter Yaggy, San Angelo; district ten, Chester Harrison, Brownwood.

These men make up the executive committee and will act as chairmen of the district organizations.

Explosion Cause In Oklahoma Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 14. (AP)—Newly developed oil fire fighting equipment quickly brought under control yesterday a fire in the Oklahoma City oil field started by an explosion in a battery of 1,000 barrel tanks.

The fire spread to eight tanks, each of which contained only a small quantity of oil, before being brought under control.

Fire Chief George Goff perfected a "rammer" with which chemicals were injected into the burning fuel.

The force of the explosion blew the top of a tank across a street and tore a hole in the corner of a house.

The tanks were on a lease of the T. B. Slick estate close to the residential section.

This wonderful antiseptic, known all over America as Moone's Emerald Oil, is so efficient in the treatment of skin troubles that the itching of eczema often stops with one application.

A few applications and the most persistent cases of Eczema often are healed never to return.

Moone's Emerald Oil is safe and pleasant to use and it is so powerfully antiseptic and penetrating that even old stubborn cases have yielded to its influence.

Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle is dispensed by pharmacists. Bowen's Drug and Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy always have Moone's Emerald Oil on hand—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks. Adv.

Brown Speaks To Graduates

Former County Judge In Address Before Students Wednesday Evening At Foster School House

An address by Judge P. F. Brown, former county judge, to the graduating classes of the seventh and tenth grades and the presentation of the four cups won by the school the past year, marked the closing of the school term at Foster school, Wednesday night. The term has been the most successful in the history of the school it was said.

The exercises were held in the school auditorium. The graduating classes welcomed the parents and guests with the song, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which D. B. Williamson, member of the board, gave the invocation.

Herman Payne, a "straight A" student, welcomed the visitors; Estelle Eades gave the class prophecy and Billie Hopper a farewell address.

Members of the seventh grade graduating class, who participated in the program, were: Leota Painter, Purnis Wassom, Jessie Payne, Myrl Pruitt, Raymond Eaves and J. C. Pointet.

Judge Brown in the graduation address, urged the students to continue with their training and to seek to prepare themselves for the best things of life.

Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent, spoke briefly before presenting the cups won by the school this year. The cup for first place in Class C won by the boy's team, was received by Herman Payne, captain. Cups for first place in Class C, first place in Class B and runner-up in Class A, were given to the captain of the girl's team, Ruby Lee Hitt. Miss Murfee also gave to the boys' basketball team a poem "The Honor of the Playing Field." She asked that the poem be hung in the class room. Foster has won more cups this year than any other school in the county.

Diplomas were given by D. M. Moore, president of the school board, to the graduating class. He also presented attendance certificates to, Ralph Williamson, Dorotha Hitt, Dorcas Hitt, Chester Alexander and Nellie Ann Hitt.

D. B. Williamson briefly outlined the accomplishments of the school the past year and expressed to members of the faculty the cooperation they had given and the leadership they exercised.

E. F. Dawkins, principal, in the closing address, thanked the patrons for their cooperation, on behalf of himself and of the school faculty. He also commended Herman Payne and Vernon Payne, debaters, who won second place in the county. Miss Watson and Miss Hancock, teachers, also spoke.

Following the program three one-act plays were given. "Please Pass The Cream," "A Bachelor's Baby," and "His Wife's First Husband."

Abilene Youth Is Near Death

Young Bell Boy In Hospital In Critical Condition After Shooting In Attorney's Office Wednesday

ABILENE, May 14. (AP) — Buddie Rutherford, 18, bell boy at a local hotel, was fighting for life in a hospital here today, and Cleota Moxley, 22, elevator girl at the same hotel, was at liberty under $1,000 bond on an assault to murder charge as a result of a shooting late yesterday in an attorney's office, where the pair said they went for legal advice on marriage.

Rutherford, in a statement from the operating table, told officers that an argument followed his statement that he was too young to marry, and that as he turned to leave the room, he was shot in the back. The bullet lodged near the spine just below the heart, and doctors today had not attempted to remove it due to the patient's weakened condition.

The girl has made no statement.

MAN SURRENDERS

LONGVIEW, May 14. (AP)—Fred Allen, 30, who said his home was in Bradley, Ark., surrendered today to Sheriff Martin Hays in connection with the fatal shooting of H. M. (Doc) Greene, 28, last night in a Kilgore barber shop. Allen would make no statement. He said he came to Kilgore from Cleveland, Okla.

How One Woman Lost 102 Lbs. of Fat

Almost Unbelievable—Nevertheless True

Dear Friends:

You advertise Kruschen Salts for reducing, so I finally tried them and when I started I weighed 219 pounds and when I took them for a year and 3 weeks, I lost exactly 102 pounds.

I am 23 years old and I look at least 5 years younger now than I did when I was fat. I have a picture of myself before and after so if you want to see them let me know.

I am always telling my friends about the wonderful salts. I am always advertising them.

I took 2 bottles every month for a year and 3 weeks. It amounted to $25 for reducing 102 pounds but it was worth it.

If I can be of any help to you let me know.

Yours truly, Miss Nellie Simpson, 1903 Wayne Street, Swissvale, Pa., Oct. 31, 1930.

The Modern Safe Way—Right Way To Lose Fat

Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

You can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, pastry and fatty meats.

Unlike other Salts, Kruschen doesn't reduce by rushing food thru your system. Rather it's an ideal blend of 6 separate mineral salts which help every gland, nerve and body organ to function properly.

Women everywhere are overjoyed with this marvelous reducing treatment. Frequently pound by pound of surplus fat leaves and soon you possess that trim, slender figure you've always craved.

An 85c bottle of Kruschen (lasts 4 weeks) is sold by leading druggists the world over—so start this SAFE method to lose ugly fat TODAY! Bowen's Drug, Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy, the City Drug, the Lubbock Drug or Mark Halsey Drug. Adv.

Ely Supports State Highway Bonds Project

Chairman Of Highway Commission Is Speaker In Group Conference; Parks Talked By Other Speakers

The solution of West Texas' road building problem lies in the passage of a state-wide bond issue, such as was recently submitted to the state legislature, Judge W. R. Ely, of Abilene, chairman of the state highway commission, told delegates attending the highway and tourist development conference yesterday afternoon.

Terming his talk as "just a friendly, neighborly chat with neighbors, Judge Ely discussed the proposed bond issue and the effect the passage of such issue would have on West Texas.

Just Beginning

"You people in West Texas are just beginning to build roads," he said. "The state-wide issue would give you a unified system of highways such as you now are planning to build at a saving of many years' time. From the Bankhead highway north to the state line, you have very few miles of paved roads. West of Lubbock, and we might say the western Panhandle, your roads are unpaved," he said.

The highway commission is laboring against an assumed antagonistic attitude of some members of the state legislature, the chairman of the commission said. "Some members of the legislature will tell you that the highway commission is an autocratic body, following the distates of its own members," he continued. "This is untrue. If for no other purpose, I appreciate the opportunity of visiting meetings of the people of Texas to assure them that the commission is a democratic organization, striving to shape its work in such way as to benefit the state as a whole."

Reprimands Committees

Judge Ely mildly reprimanded some of the smaller communities for not being able to "see farther than the filling station at the turn in the road."

Touching the bond issue again, he said he believed it inadvisable to refund the counties for funds spent on highway constructions. Refunds such as have been suggested would cripple the general fund to such extent that it would be impossible to undertake a comprehensive road building program, he said. "So do not cripple this fund." Judge Ely said in conclusion. "Get your legislators to submit the bond issue to the people, regardless of the attitude of some members of the legislature toward the highway commission."

Others On Program

Other speakers on the conference program were Sam Braswell, of Clarendon, Dr. Wallace R. Clark, dean of the West Texas State Teachers college, Mrs. W. W. Carson, of San Angelo, and representatives of six of the ten districts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory, who reported on road conditions and tourist travel in their respective districts.

Four proposed resolutions were approved by the highway group and will be drafted for submission to the general resolutions committee of the convention.

The resolutions approved follow: To endorse the plan for obtaining federal designations for as many West Texas highways as possible; to urge the continuance of federal highway aid and the completion of highways to the West as soon as possible; to request the final passage of a bill pending before the state legislature appropriating $25,000 for the erection of a museum building at West Texas State Teachers college, at Canyon; and to endorse a movement for the restoration and preservation of West Texas' places of historical interest.

Braswell Talks On Parks

Mr. Braswell, a member of the state park board, discussed the state park situation in Texas. While provisions have been made for the development of Texas industries and resources, little effort has been made to develop the state's recreational facilities, he said. The principal work of the highway board to date has been in making Texans "park minded," the conference delegates were told. Mr. Braswell said he felt confident the legislature would approve the plan submitted by Texas Major Parks, inc., as soon as the state was financially able to back the movement.

The plan calls for the establishment of state parks in the Davis mountains, Guadalupe mountains, Palo Duro canyon and at Caddo Springs, he said.

Dr. Clark of Canyon told of the activity of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and the development of the society's museum at Canyon. He described briefly some of the collections now found in the museum. This historical data has gained recognition in all parts of the United States, he said.

Describes Museum

Mrs. W. W. Carson, of San Angelo, described the development of the Fort Concho museum. She advocated the passing of a resolution urging the restoration of the old fort as a state museum.

Highway reports were made by the following:

District No. 1, W. W. Chilton, Amarillo; district No. 2, D. L. Granberry, Spur; district No. 3, Frank W. Kennerly, Quanah; district No. 6, W. A. Wilson, Lamesa; district No. 7, Victor L. Minter, Carlsbad, N. M., and district No. 8, H. T. Fletcher, Alpine.

H. T. Fletcher, of Alpine, acted as chairman of the meeting. He appointed W. W. Chilton, of Amarillo, and Victor L. Minter, of Carlsbad, as members of the resolutions committee, headed by L. S. Kinder, of Plainview.

Consumption Of Products Of Texas Urged In Conference Session; To Map Program

Col. Bill Talbot And Lucius Wilson Present Urgent Pleas For Greater Patronage Of Home Industries

The manufacture-at-home and buy-at--home creed was the theme of Thursday afternoon's conference on industrial development, presided over by P. W. Campbell of Abilene. The first two speakers in particular drove this doctrine home with enthusiastic arguments that started a siege of animated discussion among their listeners. The speakers were Col. William E. (Bill) Talbt of Dallas, and Lucius Wilson of Austin, the letter representing Progressive Texans, Inc.

Talbot, wearing the first pair of dress shoes manufactured in Texas, told the 75 members of the industrial group that the way to increase payrolls in Texas, and to equalize the distribution of wealth is to create a demand for Texas-Made products.

"We Have Everything"

"We have the raw materials; we have the power; we have the fuel; we have the factory sites," he declared. "We've everything—everything but the will to buy at home. It isn't a matter of deliberately passing up Texas products. Lots of our retailers and thousands of consumers don't realize that goods of every description are manufactured in Texas, and can be had merely by ordering them."

Talbot quoted figures to show that Texas is 39th in capital wealth among the states, but leads in the production of 31 commodities.

ALFALFA for shipment, said the best place to feed cattle in in West Texas."

D. Burns, of the national cottonseed products association, pointed out that "Texas is fast becoming a grain growing state," he said "In the United States, Mr. Burns said, "consumption of beef per person has dropped from 64 pounds to 50.1 pounds a year. "Thirteen pounds less beef a year is being consumed," he added. He urged those present to go home and put on a quality meat campaign."

Barnes Outlines Co-op Work

G. W. Barnes, loaned to the federal farm board by the state to organize cooperative cattle marketing associations, outlined the organization and purposes of the Texas Livestock Marketing association, "organized by a committee of livestock men." Breeders can secure loans on cattle and sheep from the board, but not on hogs.

Texas breeders have heretofore sent their cattle into corn states John N. Simpson, livestock specialist of the T-P railroad said. Last year, he said, a census by the state college showed 40,000 cattle on full feed; this year between 80,000 and 100,000 and "we will get many more than that next year."

Mr. Simpson pointed out that the possibilities of Texas cattlemen shipping via the gulf ports to the Atlantic coast ports of the north or to Europe, at least cost than from middle-west corn states to the Atlantic.

Stangel Presents Chart

W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech, presented a chart showing results of a sheep feeding experiment conducted in 1929-30 and in 1930-31 at the school here. He said the basis of the experiment was the use of limestone in the diet, as developed by R. E. Dickson, of the Spur state experiment station.

S. C. Evans was the last speaker on the scheduled program. He declared ranchers and feeders would always find their county agents stood ready to make available all information they have on feeding."

Mr. Eudaly told of finding a farmer in Crosby county who "made money feeding cattle this year." "He followed his cattle with hogs" said the speaker. "It is truly said the hog is the mortgage lifter."

C. T. Watson told of the results of feeding at the federal station at Big Spring. The station lost money as did four out of 20 club boys. The merchants of Big Spring bought the club calves at better than market prices "and Big Spring had the best steaks they have had in the five years I have lived there."

O. B. Martin spoke briefly on the work, urging farmers to help in the program. Marsh Holland, brother of the chairman also made a short talk.

bankers at San Angelo. "It has been only in the last three or four years that we felt that we could feed cattle. In the banks of the north they feel free to loan the full amount the purchase of cattle if the farmer has the feed."

Boesen Explains Method

P. E. Boesen, Sudan and cattle feeder, told of his feeding program the past winter. He had three lots of cattle, one of 120 calves, another of 120 cows and 45 calves and a third of 240 coming three year old steers. "I lost money on all three lots," he admitted.

"We have learned a lesson," he went on. "We must buy our cattel down on a basis where we can make a profit." In the Sudan territory some 3,500 head of cattle were fed this past winter. Cottonseed meal came from Lubbock and the grain sorghum from the territory around the town.

D. A. Adam, county agent of Lamb county, was called upon to tell of the feeding of 4,500 head of cattle in the county. He said there were 30 farmers and 15 club boys who fed from 15 to 80 head. Only three commercial feeders were in on the program. "Most of the men were like Mr. Boesen, but ten of them will feed cattle again this fall," he added, "We are building a bigger and better feeding program."

Mrs. Tom Padgett, a ranch woman of Coleman, used charts to illustrate her contentions that in order to increase the consumption of meat, a demand must be created among the women. Meat forms an important part in the diet of the American people if a balanced diet must be maintained, she said.

Spud Hurler Tangles With Santone Skipper In Ninth

Three Batters Hit And Robby Attacks Hillin

But Spudders Win, 6-3; Cats Average Galveston Beating; Beaumont Downs Dallas With 9 Hits For Each Team

WICHITA FALLS, May 14. —The Wichita Falls Spudders deefated the San Antonio Indians, 6-3, here today. Ash Hillin, had pitched a three hit game for the Spudders until the ninth when he weakened and hit Edward to load the sacks, and followed by hitting Flaskamper, forcing in a run.

Uncle Robby Robertson, after Hillin had hit Flaskamper rushed from the dugout and attacked Hillin. The latter did not fight back, but held Robertson, a small man, at arms length, and the San Antonio skipper presented the ridiculous sight of wildly waving his arms about trying to punch Hillin on the nose.

Finally he resorted to kicking tactics before members of both teams separated them.

Under the new league ruling propounded by Alvin Gardner, the players were allowed to fight it out without fear of being bounced from the park. Pressnell finished the inning for the Spuds.

Campus Track Meet Tuesday

Four Teams Of Tech Intramural Tracksters Engage In Four-Sided Meet For Championship Of Campus

To expedite the season and make room for more football training, the Texas Tech intramural track schedule will come to a close Tuesday afternoon with an inter-league playoff in which the championship track team of the campus will be determined.

The meet will start at 4 o'clock on the Tech field and will include track stars of each of the four leagues, Liberal Arts, Aggies, Engineers and Army. Varsity track men, veterans of other seasons, have acted as coaches as well as players for the four teams this season due to the fact that track has been temporarily suspended as an intercollegiate competitive sport.

A regulation "conference" track meet will determine the championship of the college, with all regular events included in the program. Some of the best college sprinters in this section attend Tech college and would probably be going in the varsity Matador team if such existed this season.

It is planned to revive track as a competitive sport next season and those who would have otherwise been ineligible next season as a result of playing their final year this season will be accepted as representative members next spring.

West Texas' Best Golfers To Enter WTGA Tournament Here

Dixon White Of Dublin To Make Big Stand For Lavender's Title; Qualifying Rounds Begin On Thursday

Golfers ambitious to wear the West Texas Golf Association crown away from Lubbock following the annual W. T. G. A. championship tournament here next week will find a number of stumbling blocks in the way, no matter how great his ambitions and aspirations. One of the men to give the field of approximately 750 golfers plenty of trouble is J. Dixon White, of Dublin. White has for the last two years been runner up in the championship tourney, losing to Glint Busey of Lubbock in 1929 and to Dennis Lavender, Abilene, last year.

White has been practicing hard this spring at home and in various tournaments over his section. A youthful wielder of clubs, White looms as one of the favorites to place high in the tournament here. He has been picked by critics, local and out of town, to win the championship this year. Shooting par golf this spring, he has attracted the notice of a number of state observers.

Lavender, recently moved to Dallas, may not be here to defend his crown, but golfers may be assured of plenty of trouble should the champion leave the title open. From approximately 30 cities over the area embraced by the W. T. G. A. golfers of the first water will be here to contest for the highest golfing distinction West Texas can offer.

The Lubbock Country club, host member of the association, has spared neither time nor money in efforts to entertain the visitors next week. The club's course has been repaired and polished almost to the point of perfection and yet the course has been left in such shape that almost every kind of shot known to golf may be employed.

Qualifying rounds begin next Thursday, after which four flights of 32 men will begin match play. The qualifying round and preliminary match rounds will consist of 18-hole play, with a 36-hole final being slated for Sunday.

Greece expects a 1931 building boom.

Hubbers To Open Season With Lamesa Here Tod

Series Opener To Start At 3 O'Clock Today

Club Which Defeated House Of David To Represent Lubbock As Independent Team; Opens With Lamesa

The baseball season opens in Lubbock today.

Merrill Park, in southeast Lubbock, will be the scene of the first of a two game series between the Lubbock Hubbers and the Lamesa Loboes at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The second game will be played at the same time tomorrow afternoon. The series compose special entertainment features on the West Texas chamber of Commerce convention program.

Under new management and playing only as independent club, under no outside influence and bearing amateur standards, the New Hubbers open their season with one of the best lineups of this section against another strong amateur independent organization.

The Hubbers of last year played in the South Plains league, managed by "Dutch" Leuenberger, president of the Lubbock City League, and finished low in the league standings at the end of the season. This year the managers report that "things will be different," with the Hubbers having no outside ties and under no obligations to anyone except the team immediately engaged at game time.

New Management

Joe Chism and "Dirty" Waller, local sportsmen and formerly connected with organized baseball in larger circles, will act as co-managers of the Hubbers this season with Paul Carter, circulation manager of the Alavanche-Journal, serving as business manager and booking agent. The club plans to match games with other strong independent clubs of West Texas and New Mexico, bringing teams from Big Spring, Amarillo, Roswell and other larger centers here and playing return games with them.

With but two changes the team to meet Lamesa this afternoon will resemble the personel of the Lubbock team which deefated the House of David team, the most famous traveling independent club in the world, here last Friday night.

College Men On Team

Lawrence "Shorty" France, the Tech backfield ace, will lead off in the batting order and play short field on the defense. Clarence Hodges, another Matador football player, will follow and play at second base. Ed Hambright, with the South Plains League Hubbers last season and formerly and recently connected with Texas League baseball, and Raymond Marshall, another former Tech player with big league aspirations, will bat next and play right and center field respectively. Del Morgan, Tech coach and pitcher for the Hubbers last year, will start at first base. Buddy Brothers, Tech star, will patrol the left garden and "Dirty" Waller will hold down third base. "Red" Gaither will be held in reserve or may start at the third sack.

The battery will be composed of Blackie Hoyle on the mound and "Big" Galey behind the bat. Hoyle pitched for Lubbock last year part of the time and is considered to have more "stuff" than nearly any other pitcher of the section. He held the usually hard slugging whiskered David boys to five clean hits last Friday night, pitching the first night game of his career. Galey is without doubt one of the best catchers to play here in recent years and his long home run last Friday night branded him an able hitter.

Tommy Loughran To Clash With Vic Campolo Tonight

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia's master ring workman, will face in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night the last heavyweight between him and the top notch place he held before he tackled Jack Sharkey one summer night in 1929.

The road back to the top has been rough but straight for the former king of the light heavyweights. He has whipped Ernie Schaaf, Max Baer, Dick Daniels, Tuffy Griffiths, and a half dozen lesser lights until now only Victorio Campolo, the leaning tower of the Argentine, stands between him and his former rank with Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, and Young Stribling.

The match is scheduled for ten rounds.

C. M. Chamber Re-Elected As Mayor San Antonio Tuesday

SAN ANTONIO, May 14. (AP)—C. M. Chambers was re-elected mayor Tuesday. He and the entire administration ticket were swept into office with majorities ranging from 7,672 to 4,181 out of a total of approximately 41,000 votes.

Chambers received 23,573 votes to Guy McFarland's 17,378 for mayor.

Other officials elected were: street commissioner, Paul Steffler; police and fire commissioner, Phil Wright; sanitation, parks and public property Commissioner, Jacob Rubiola, and tax commissioner, Frank Bushick.

Above is the official schedule for the Lubbock City baseball league. Places of games are not designated but teams listed across the top are home teams. The season opens next Tuesday, sites of games yet to be named.

City League Season To Start Next Tuesday With Two Games Scheduled

The Lubbock City baseball league will open its season next Tuesday afternoon with two games scheduled on the opening date. According to the schedule released yesterday by President J. R. "Dutch" Leuneberger, the season will begin May 19 and end August 28. It is likely that a split season will be employed, the division to occur about July 18.

Two games will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays with one game scheduled for Wednesdays and Fridays. No games will be played on Sunday, Monday or Saturday. While two playing fields have not been designated yet, it is thought that Merrill Park will be used for some games while Lions Park probably will be put in shape for other games. Places of the games will be announced later.

The league was first organized with eight member teams but two consolidated, two withdrew from competition and another was added to the original list. As the membership now stands the teams and their managers are as follows:

Avalanche-Journal, Hollis Payne; Rainbows, M. D. Newton; Texas Utilities, A. D. Chase; Wholesalers, Virgil Goodman; Santa Fe, Bill Hargrove, and American Legion-Lubbock Lions, managed jointly by O. B. Conley and Vaughn Wilson.

Lawyers Still Fighting For Heavyweight Boxing Crown

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—The law reached into the heavyweight box right business again today and decreed that another world championship battle must first be fought by a couple of squads of lawyers.

David Fischer, an insurance agent, thru his attorney, J. H. Mellen, in the Cleveland court of appeals, sought an injunction to prevent the July 3 match between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling in Cleveland.

He was ready to argue that the bout is a prize fight and that prize fighting is illegal in the state of Ohio. Judge Manuel Levine refused to accept his petition on the ground that his court had no jurisdiction, but Attorney Mellen promptly filed his plea again in the court of common pleas.

Gangland Speaks And One Is Dead

CHICAGO, May 14. (AP)—Gangland spoke again yesterday.

One man was slain while another escaped unhurt after three attempts had been made to assassinate him.

The dead man was Harry Hyter, described by police as a minor figure in the organization of Alphonse Capone the gang chief. He was found shot to death in a wooded section near suburban Cicero. Apparently he had been slain elsewhere and then removed by automobile to the spot where the body was found.

The intended victim who escaped was James L. Quigley, reputed to be a member of the southside beer gang of Edward "Spike" O'Donnell. Thrice shots were fired into his home last night, but no one was hit.

Don't Give Up: Test Konjola!

Profit By The Experiences Of Those Who Know Of The Worth Of This Remarkable Medicine

No medicine ever made good by accident. Surely Konjola has proved its worth when it is a fact that seven million bottles were used in two years.

Would you see how Konjola works? Then read the statement of Mrs. Ella Cooper, 509 W. Richmond street, Ft. Worth, who declares: "I had neuritis for fifteen years, and for several months was helpless. My nerves were shattered and my stomach out of order. I became sick after meals. But almost immediately Konjola began to ease the pain. Today I have no neuritis; my nerves are normal, kidneys are fine and I sleep well. Konjola certainly went to the spot. I can eat anything."

Mrs. Ella Cooper

And see what Konjola did for Mrs. P. F. Cook, 309 Hagerman street, Houston. Read what she says: "I suffered for fifteen years with rheumatism in my hips and legs. I was constipated and had dizzy spells, and bloated after meals. But two bottles of Konjola have greatly relieved the rheumatism, and I no longer have any of the other ills. Konjola surprised me; I did not expect such relief".

Mrs. P. F. Cook

And now read the grateful words of Mr. William Casey, 6800 Washington avenue, Houston: "For fifteen years I had stomach trouble, with gas causing pain and heart palpitation. My kidneys were out of order, causing severe pains in my back, which kept me from my work. Then four bottles of Konjola did the work. Stomach and kidney troubles are gone, and I am better in every way".

Mr. William Casey

The same splendid story when Konjola is put to the test, even though other medicines tried have failed. Try Konjola . . insist on it, and do not accept a substitute. Konjola is sold by all good drug stores everywhere. Adv.

Cotton Decline After Cotton Rally — Livestock Better Action On Fed Steers — Grain Grain Prices Show Decline

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. (AP)—Trading was moderate in cotton today and prices fluctuated without any real definite trend. After opening easier on poor cables prices eased off on good weather in the belt and lower stocks losing 10-11 points in early trading. The market later rallied on the fairly bullish census report on April domestic mill consumption the lowering of the Bank of England money rate and the increase in Liverpool spot sales to 12,000 bales. Shorts covered and there was some trade buying, prices recovering 11-13 points from the lows. The market was slightly easier after mid-session losing 4-5 points from the highs. The market eased off sharply in the late trading owing to a break in stocks and the active months declined 13-16 points from the highs to new lows for the day. The close was steady and a shade above the lowest showing net losses for the day of 10-13 points.

Five Charges

Gilmer yesterday by Robert G. Goss, Ranger, and Goss and Sheppard returned him to Austin early today.

Ray had started serving his sixth term as district clerk, having occupied that position for more than ten years.

No Bond Asked

Bryant stated he would seek to have Ray's bond set at $1,000 in each case. No application for bond has been made.

The Travis county grand jury was in session and it was considered likely the charges would be investigated before it adjourned.

Each of the complaints charged passing a forged instrument as well as forgery.

The state auditor's office, the attorney general's force, the state comptroller's department and the legislature had carried on the investigation.

Henry Brooks, district attorney, today ordered subpoenas issued for 17 state witnesses for the trial June 1 of John W. Bowen of Dallas, indicted on nine counts of forgery and passing a forged instrument.

Bowen was at liberty under $13,500 bail. The first of the Sherman riot cases also had been set for trial on the date in the court of J. D. Moore, district judge, so one of the cases will have to be postponed.

Engineers' Show

Also some of the drawings were made by members of the faculty in their student days.

The electrical engineering show is also being held here. Mechanical engineering shops on the first floor and in the basement are open.

In the textile building is found the textile show. Carl D. Brandt is the faculty man in charge and W. A. Wardell the student head.

To alleviate the tedious trips through the show, students have arranged some original entertainment that is the cause of considerable amusement. Manufacture of home made electricity, a mechanical dog, some "hot air," a patent vacuum test, a personality test, and welding of wire by electricity are some of the stunts."

Stocks Labor Under Heavy Handicap And Losses Average Some Two Points

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—Stocks labored under the heavy handicap of friendless rail market today and although the decline tended to be selective, net losses averaged considerably more than 2 points in a turnover of 1,400,000 shares.

Professional sellers unloaded a large volume of United States steel common which made another bear market low of 108 1-8 off 2 3-8. Most of the rails went to new minimum levels for several years back, with substantial declines in New York Central, Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio and New Haven. The range of losses for this list was 2 1-2 to 5 1-8 points, Missouri Pacific preferred lost 6 1--2.

WTCC Politics

chamber usually are not drafted, as the honor is one of the greatest that can be bestowed in the far-flung economic empire, but this year it looks like conscription may be resorted to. The situation, however, may clear itself this morning when both Carter and Harte arrive to attend the conclave.

Others Talked

Four other names were prominently talked last night as the 'big shots' gathered in unofficial circles to talk over the situation, unparralleled in W. T. C. C. history. They were Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls oil man, who has been a wheel horse in the organization for many years; C. M. Caldwell, Abilene, now second vice-president; Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo, director and chairman of District One; and Judge James D. Hamlin, of Farwell.

Caldwell, however, has definitely removed himself from the presidential picture, authorizing the following statement:

Makes Statement

"I am temperamentally unsuited for an executive position, such as the presidency of the WTCC, and this convention is only one year removed from Abilene—which in itself should remove any Abilene candidacy."

A difference of opinion existed whether or not Cline would allow his name to be put forward actively. He, himself, laughed off talk of his candidacy, saying he was "up to his eyes in the oil business," but many of his friends said he would not head off a boom if it developed. Cline is immensely popular personally, his work in Rotary circles having made him known throughout the territory as a brilliant leader.

The Amarillo leader, Wilbur C. Hawk, while a practical newcomer to WTCC harness work, has distinguished himself during the past year as a director of the organization. As president of the Amarillo Tri-State fair and in Panhandle business circles he has established himself as a doer of big things and his friends were predicting that, should he be elected, his administration would be outstanding. Observers believed he would likely be elevated to an officership, whether or not he was a presidential candidate.

Judge Hamlin's name has been put forward at every convention, but never has reached the nominating stage. With the possible exception of Clifford Jones, of Spur, he is probably the most popular individual who attends these conventions—the embodyment of "what a typical West Texan is supposed to be—or at least, ought to be," as one of his friends said last night. He is a bon vivant, raconteur, an epicure, if you get what we mean; and on top of all those, he is a sound thinker and hard worker. Chances are he will scotch his own candidacy if it grows serious.

Regardless of the size, color or identity of the new president, the 1931-32 managership is "in the bag" for D. A. Bandeen. To use a trite phrase, this convention is ringing with praise for Bandeen's expert administration. He has pulled the organization out of the hole financially, installed a new accounting system, unified the work in every particular and has put new morale into the territory. It is thought likely that Bandeen will make no important changes in the present headquarters and branch offices organization, all members of which are specialists.

Belasco Dies

decades that followed he became a starmaker and a pace-setter in the theater. He made a star of Mrs. Leslie Carter in "The Heart Of Maryland" and "Zaza." His "Darling Of The Gods" made Blanche Bates famous; David Warfield was to follow in "The Music Master," and Ina Claire, Fay Bainter, Lenore Ulric, Holbrook Blinn, Willard Mack and a score of other stars in scores of plays no less famous.

Proud Of Stagecraft

Yet he was even prouder of his stagecraft than of his stars. He spent $25,000 a year on a laboratory to experiment with stage lighting, and he gave to the stage many of its modern electrical refinements, including the "Baby Spot" which singled out a figure without flooding the stage with light.

The stories about him are myriad—how he spent thousands of dollars on some bauble which he needed to lend authenticity to a setting; how he read 12 manuscripts a night for weeks upon end, in search of a new play, then finally threw them all away and wrote one himself, dictating it to a stenographer at breakneck pace and acting it out in detail as he dictated.

He liked to surround his own life with the drama in which he dealt. His cleric's collar was part of his dramatization of himself—he wore it throughout his mature lifetime. He surrounded himself with soft lights in his theater studio, piled high and cluttered with rich relics of the plays he had produced—a lock of Napoleon's hair, a tile from the Alhambra, a ring that belonged to the Borias.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, May 14. (AP)—Cattle trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by a little better action on fed steers and yearlings with slight strength developing at some centers on the light weights of steers and yearlings. Country demand for replacement stock has been narrow all week but with supplies meagre values have not weakened to any appreciable extent. Aggregate receipts estimated at 23,700 were 4,500 less than a week ago.

Hogs found a fairly active outlet at prices steady to 10 higher than Wednesday's late trade, several markets reporting an especially good tone on the close. Total offerings were around 74,000 against 82,527 last week.

The shep approximating 56,500 was 21,000 short of a week ago trade was dull on killing classes at values weak to unevenly lower, springers and fed lambs receiving a jolt of 25-50.

Hob-Nobbing

here frequently.

Hobbs Picking Up

"We have about 4,000 to 5,000 people now in Hobbs, after losing about 10,000 people", O. C. Goodwin, secretary of the Hobbs, N. M., chamber of commerce, who was here yesterday to attend the W. T. C. C. convention, said.

"Hobbs is settling down now," he continued. "We have a substantial citizenship, those who are remaining are of a very high type. While we got rid of the floating population we also lost a lot of good people."

Business conditions are improving, he added. There is now an increase in irrigation work and agriculture around the town is taking on new life.

Praises Plains Country

"This country up here on the caprock is certainly wonderful," Otis Fowler, secretary of the Denton chamber of commerce, said today. "I came up on the train and from Post on to Lubbock it semed to me that just about all the farm land was being utilized." Mr. Fowler is on his first trip to Lubbock and the South Plains. He said the magnitude of the territory and the apparent agricultural area had surprised him.

"Lubbock is a mighty clean city," he added. "I do not recall having been in as clean a city as this in a long, long time."

Portales Ed Meets Friends

J. G. Graves, editor and publisher of the Portales Valley News of Portales, N. M., was among the arrivals for the convention Thursday. Mr. Greaves, in newspaper work for the past 32 years, was around meeting old friends. A delegation of more than fifty people besides the Portales high school band is attending the session from that territory.

Bottomless Pit Thrills

In the Tech science show visitors saw the bottomless pit, one of the scariest places of the entire Tech show. A siren was sounded at intervals and most of the girl visitors absolutely refused to go through the dark place unless they could hold the hand of some boy.

Women, Here's A Tip

Women of the city who fear their husbands have been over alcoholically prescribed during the past two days should take them to the alcholohic testing apparatus in the Tech chemistry building. Each visitor is asked to blow in a glass tube which contains liquid. According to Warren Poole who was in charge yesterday afternoon, if the liquid becomes cloudy after one has blown into the tube, it's the sign that it's now the day after the night before.

Mrs. William Dingus of the Latin department at Texas Technological college was to deliver the commencement address at graduation exercises of Bledsoe High school Thursday night.

England has an auto-gliding craze.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, May 14. (AP)—Cash grain demand fair.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard $1 1-4 to $1 3-4.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 66 1-2 to 67 1-2. No 2 white 70-70 1-2; No. 3 yellow 70-70 1-2.

Oats, No. 2 red 35-36.

Barley No. 2 55-56.

Sorghums, No. 2 Yellow Milo per 100 lbs. 1.36 to 1.38; No. 3 white kaffir 1.35 to 1.36.

Home Products

commodities into manufactured goods, and sell to Texans," he declared.

The speaker urged that surveys to determine the market for various commodities in Texas, the extent of natural resources, the possibilities for manufacturing plants in various sections of the state, and in other fields pertaining to the industrialization of Texas be made.

"Buy your home town products. If your home town doesn't make what you want, buy Texas products. If these are not available buy Southwestern products. If you must go further afield, buy United States made goods. The idea is, buy as close to home as you can.

Can Compete Against Anybody

Talbot insisted that Texas goods can compete against goods made anywhere.

"I'm not asking you to do this out of sentiment," he said. "But when good Texas sugar, good Texas neckties, good Texas oranges, good Texas cotton goods are available, why shut your eyes, buy something made in Georgia, or Connecticut, or Illinois?"

The Dallas man also praised the textile experiments being conducted at Texas Tech, and predicted that the time is not far off when Texas will stop shipping wool to Boston—"grease, dirt and all" — and shipping worsted suits back to Texas. "We'll make our own clothes," he declared.

Outlines Objective

Mr. Wilson outlined the "double-barreled" objective of Progressive Texans, Inc.,—a definite campaign to increase the sale of Texas products, and an intensive advertising drive in the newspapers of this and border states, to acquaint consumers with the fact that Texas products are available and hold their own in competition with commodities from other states.

"The printed word is needed to affect the market of any commodity, or group of commodities, in a large way," he declared. "Progressive Texans will spend $100,000 a year in this advertising campaign.

Mr. Wilson also said that his organization will sponsor the "Texas Week" idea among Texas retailers. "We will urge merchants to set aside weeks for the display of Texas-made goods, and in this way hope to bring it home more forcibly to the consumer what Texas commodities are available."

Success in industry has always been attendant upon mental skill, which includes salesmanship, plus manual skill, he said. He cited the examples of Bridgeport, Conn., where "brass is made by skilled artisans, perhaps some of it from El Paso copper and zinc smelted at Amarillo. Why is Bridgeport the brass center? Because of the mentally and manually skilled artisans. Brass might just as well be made in Texas. And why is Detroit the automobile center of the world? Not because of any natural advantages, because of mental skill, including salesmanship, coupled with mechanical skill, developed by mechanics in the early day automobile machine shops."

Area To Be Represented

Following Mr. Wilson's talk, it was suggested by Wilbur C. Hawk that P. W. Campbell, chairman of the conference and the new president and manager of the chamber select the five West Texas directors of Progressive Texans who, along with the president and manager of the regional group, will represent this part of the state in the new organization. The suggestion was made a motion, and was carried.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Texas Tech school of agriculture, was booked for some remarks on wool marketing and textile possibilities. He introduced two other members of the Tech faculty, C. D. Brandt, head of the textile department at Tech, and J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of agricultural economics.

Mr. Brandt explained the possibilities of establishing the textile industry in West Texas. The two main drawbacks, he said, are the hard water which must be softened before the wool can be scoured, and the variable humidity of the atmosphere which interferes with spinning.

Can Be Overcome

"However, both of these difficulties can be overcome by the installation of the latest type of plant and equipment," he said.

He pointed to the successful operation of Herbert Jones' cotton mill at Post as an example of what can be done in the way of textile manufacturing in this section.

Mr. Ellsworth declared that it costs Texas $900,000 annually in freight rates to ship raw wool to Boston. Half of this, he declared, is for the "grease and dirt" later removed. He said it is estimated that the total freight charges for shipping the wool east and returning the finished fabrics and garments to Texas is $1,600,000, "much of which could be saved if Texas developed the textile industry."

Sterling C. Evans, district agent of the agricultural extension service at College Station, spoke on the building of creameries and milk plants in Texas. He explained how extension service workers supplied data and advice on such projects, and declared that mistakes in building plants in communities that could not support or supply them, are gradually becoming fewer.

Explains Movement

He explained the creamery cooperative movement in the Middle West which, in the last month, has resulted in the consolidation of 11 concerns handling $20,000,000 worth of products annually. This move, he said, was sponsored by federal agencies, and has resulted in a tremendous saving to the companies, as well as an increase in the quality of the product.

Following Mr. Evans' talk, the conference was thrown open to informal discussion. Many questions were asked, and some of the speakers took the floor again to explain more fully some of the points they made.

A resolution committee made up of D. H. Berry of San Angelo, W. W. Rix of Lubbock, and J. W. Browne of McCamey, will meet with Mr. Hawk, a member of the industrial group as well as of the convention work committe, to draft resolutions to be presented to the convention Saturday.

chamber secretary, presided.

As a business man, C. M. Caldwell of Abilene commended the group insurance plan for chamber of commerce employes. Mr. Caldwell is a director in the regional body.

A committee appointed to negotiate a contract with an insurance company conferred Thursday afternoon with representatives of insurance companies.

Members of the committee present were:

Carl Blasig of Brady, John Hendricks of Sweetwater, C. T. Watson of Big Spring, Sim O'Neal of Coleman, and Claude Simpson of Roswell, N. M. A. B. Davis, also a member, was not present.

Mr. Bandeen and Maury Hopkins, assistant manager of the West Texas chamber and convention manager, also attended the conference.

Because policies are provided and payments made in sizeable blocks, companies are able to sell policies on the group plan for less than 50 per cent of the rate to individuals, Mr. Bandeen explained.

creased until it appears that the treasury deficit will amount to almost on billion dollars. In these times of distress the administration has shown no constructive policies but has pursued a course of waiting and of hesitation, timidity and fear."

"A united democracy has wonderful opportunity in 1932 to return the government to the control of the people and restore our foreign trade, to reduce government expense and to give to the people efficient government, law enforcement and just laws to control or restrain the monopolies and trusts which have grown up and have fostered under the past ten years of Republican rule. In the next congress I am opposed to a general tax increase as suggested by some Republican leaders. We are seven years ahead of schedule on the retirement of the public debt. Rather than to increase federal taxes in these hard times, I would much prefer to temporarily divert such funds to the expenses of the government."

"In the next congress," Mr. Connally said, "parties will be so evenly divided, it may be possible for the Democratic and progressive and liberal Republicans to enact remedial legislation, unless it is vetoed by the president. In any event the Republican majority will be so narrow it will be difficult if not impossible to enrich their favorites at the expense of the people. I am looking forward to a most interesting and perhaps exciting session of congress in December."

Whereas, great injustice will be done the people of this section, and whereas they will be deprived of their constitutional rights unless they obtain the representation in Congress to which they are entitled.

Now therefore, be it resolved that the state legislature, now in session, be earnestly petitioned immediately to relieve this situation by the passage of a congressional redistricting bill that will justly accord the proper representation to the people of Texas, and we request the free conference committee, which now has this matter under consideration, to compromise their differences to the end that the people of Texas be granted their constitutional rights.

The document was approved by the following members of the convention work committee:

Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls, chairman; Clifford B. Jones, Spur; L. S. Kinder, Plainview; J. D. Hamlin, Farwell; Chester Harrison, Brownwood; Henry F. Fletcher, Alpine; Wilbur C. MAKING Making Way For the NEW Goodrich Tires 58% Better

FROM THE TESTING ROOM COMES A TIRE . . . 58% Better

The Goodrich purpose hasn't changed. Test, test, improve, WEAR tires out—Discover their faults! Get the facts, overcome their faults, and weaknesses—the result! In five years the durability of the Silvertown has been increased 58 per cent.

In the Goodrich factory is constructed a testing machine that will wear out tires ten times faster than use on automobiles. This testing machine is a large wheel, higher than a man's head, and on the rim, deep cleats of steel stick out.

Under pressure of 1,500 pounds, a tire is forced against the cleated rim. A lever is pulled, and the steel monster begins to turn.

Faster and faster. Another lever is pulled—and the tire is skidded on the cleats of steel, every cord fiber strained and stretched.

This is released and the tire is whirled at 18,000 revolutions an hour. 450 times a minute the steel cleats strike it, each time with a blow of 10,700 pounds.

And on midnight roads ten speeding cars gleam if you should happen to see them. Millions of American people will recognize them, if they should happen to see them, as the Silver Fleet which two years ago startled the country by its 30,000 mile record-making test of Silvertowns.

The Silver Fleet still lives, new cars of course—and some new drivers. But still the Silver Fleet.

The Silver Fleet travels a more limited course but a tougher schedule. It is on the road 24 hours a day. Driving 650 miles per day, per car. Ten cars make 6,500 miles of tire testing each day between sun and sun-up.

There under the relentless eyes of science, Goodrich Silvertowns run the gamut test on the steel wheel in the factory—and 24 hours the ten Silver Fleet cars grind 650 miles, and after five years of testing, testing and proving, building and testing again, you are presented a tire that has a tried and tested record of 58 per cent improvement.

"AND YOU CAN BUY THE GAMBLE-PROOF SILVERTOWN, THE 58 PER CENT BETTER SILVERTOWN, AT THE PRICE OF ANY STANDARD TIRE."

To the people of the South Plains we present to you a greater new improved quality for your driving needs and safety. We are thrilled to say more tire safety for the tire dollar.

Woman Relates Drowning Pair

Declares That When All Food Gone From Home She Decided To Take Two Children To River And End It All

EL PASO, May 14. (AP)—Mrs. Merced Rivas, 27, confessed to police today she recently drowned her two small children in the Rio Grande river because she was unable to find work and believed they would starve.

The confession cleared up a week old mystery of the deaths of two children whose bodies were found on the banks of the Rio Grande near Guadalupe, Chihuahua, Mexico, and who at first were believed to have been drowned in a flood.

Mrs. Rivas told Ignacio Ramirez, mayor of Guadalupe, and M. H. Jones, immigration patrol inspector stationed at Fabens she had sought work unsuccessfully for many weeks and when all food in the house was gone she decided to kill her children. On May 4 she took them to Rancho Provencio, near Guadalupe, she said, and held them under waters of the Rio Grande until they were dead.

She was held at Guadalupe pending filing of charges.
