NEED MORE ROOMS TO HOUSE LEGION CROWD

Chairman W. L. McDivitt of the room committee for the Legion convention states that the response to the appeal for extra rooms in residences has been wonderful but that many more rooms will be needed if the weather remains good and people can get here over the highways. The rooms will be needed for one night only, Saturday, March 21. Legionnaires and Auxiliary members expect to pay for these rooms, so if you have a room which has not been listed call Mr. McDivitt at the LaMaster Realty Co., giving number that can be cared for and amount wanted for same. Reports from over the district and from neighboring towns in Oklahoma and Kansas indicate that the Perryton convention will be the largest district meet ever held in the entire state.

DOWSERS

That certain men can find underground water by means of a forked twig, preferably of witchhazel, is a belief which is held so persistently by so many people that scientists, unable to explain it, are investigating it in the hope of discovering the principal back of "dowsing." The dowsers do succeed oftener than they fail is certain, whatever the reason.

A scientist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who recently witnessed an exhibition of water-finding by a German dowsing, has revived interest in the subject. The explanation which he suggests, and which some other scientific men believe is possible, is that the radium emanations or rays which are constantly coming out of the earth, have a definite effect upon the nervous system of certain persons who are highly sensitive to them, and that when the direct path of these rays is obstructed by water the result is a contraction of the dowsing's muscles and a movement of the forked twig or "diving rod."

Other suggested explanations are that a good dowsing is sensitive to the faint vibrations caused by running water; another that the minute trace of dampness in the earth immediately over a subterranean stream affects him. Whatever the answer, it seems as if there is something in the ancient belief.

VILLAGES

A Yale professor recently remarked that there was no reason whatever for the existence of most small towns. The editor of the New Milford, Conn., Times has "called" the professor, pointing out that it is only in the villages that people live a community life which is at once comfortable and free from the annoyances of life in the cities.

Small towns today offer everything of real importance that any city offers to its inhabitants, and a great deal that the city cannot give. One can buy in the village stores everything that the great city department stores offer, except, perhaps, the flashy jewelry and extravagant furs which the city stores are always tempting people who cannot afford them to buy. In the village movie theater the same pictures are shown that are seen on Broadway, and usually before Broadway sees them. Nobody but the very wealthy can afford to keep an automobile in New York; few village families are without one. It is only in small towns that most people can afford to own and live in their own houses. And nowhere but in the small town can one have neighbors who are really neighbors in the old, friendly sense of the word.

STIMULANTS

Alcohol, morphine, cocaine, all of the habit-forming drugs, owe their popularity to the fact that for a short time, they enable their users to do things which they otherwise would not have the energy or the courage to do. Coffee and tea are stimulants of less powerful effect. Every race of people has developed some sort of stimulant which speeds up certain physiological processes for the time being.

In the light of this world-wide human demand for additional sources of bodily energy, scientists have been working for years in the effort to discover some substance which will accomplish the desired purpose without the disastrous mental and physical reactions which follow the use of the ordinary stimulants when the first effect has worn off.

During the war a German chemist found that small doses of acid sodium phosphate increased bodily energy without apparent ill effects, and this drug was used to enable workers in German coal mines to do extra labor. Research since the war has failed to disclose any serious bad effects from the use of this drug, and there is ground for the belief that this or something similar may become as popular as tea and coffee and much more useful than alcohol.

FRAUDS

The Federal Radio Commission has refused to renew the broadcasting licenses of certain stations which have been used to perpetuate palpable frauds upon the public. There is still too much of that sort of thing going out "on the air" however.

I listened in the other night to a broadcaster describing a wonderful electric machine which would cure almost everything, according to him. Of course, he was lying, deliberately trying to get ignorant people to spend money for a worthless device. I heard another broadcast, as astrologer inviting people to send her money to have their fortunes told. She was lying also. There is no possible basis of truth in the claim of any person to be able to read the future, whether by consulting the stars or the tea-leaves in the cup.

Frauds like these are prohibited by law in most states, but the radio cuts across state lines. Reputable newspapers do not permit palpable fakes to advertise, but the radio seems to be running wild in the perpetration of fraud.

DEPRESSION

How serious has the much-talked-of business depression actually been? Not nearly as serious nor as far-reaching in its effects, I believe, as the drought, about which much less has been said and written.

According to one authority, business as a whole is only about 9 per cent off the normal for this time of year, employment is 95 per cent off normal, retail sales are only about 3 per cent, taking the country as a whole, grocery sales are about the same as last year, regular interest and dividends are being paid as usual and thirty million families are living on almost the same scale of expenditure as they were in the height of "flush times."

It is the fashion to "talk poor." Cash is not circulating as rapidly as it was, but credit for those entitled to it is easier than for years. The chief sufferers are the victims of over-production, who are mainly the farmers.

James Eller of Covington, Ind., has asked for an annulment of his recent marriage charging that his wife had a habit of knocking him out of bed onto the floor and that she misuses his pension money.

At Chevrolet Meeting

A. J. Kelly and Five Salesmen Will Attend Zone Meeting At Amarillo

Local participation in a move to bring business back to the level of previous years is to get under way today when A. J. Kelly, local Chevrolet dealer, leaves for Amarillo with five members of his organization to attend a novel retail sales convention being held there for all Chevrolet retail salesmen in the Amarillo Zone.

More than 400 are expected to attend the convention, which opens with a luncheon at the Herring Hotel and consists of a full afternoon of instruction at the Municipal Auditorium. A feature of the luncheon will be the installation of officers of the "100-Car Club," a star salesman's honorary organization.

A carload of special scenery, and other theatrical equipment including talking motion pictures, has been engaged to put on the presentation, which is said to be the first and largest of its kind to be staged in the automobile industry for retail salesmen.

Business sessions in the convention will take form of playlets, in which the factory officials will take the part of actors and show by actual demonstration the correct procedure in any given situation. Instead of lectures, the class of dealers and salesmen will have points under discussion emphasized by seeing them presented in a dramatic and effective manner. Every phase of the automobile industry as it affects the retail salesmen will be included in the program.

The meeting is one of 52 to be held throughout the United States during March.

"The object of the meetings," Mr. Kelly explained, "is to give our retail salesmen a better appreciation of our product which is better and priced lower today than at any time in our history, and to make them better and more energetic salesmen, which, in turn, will add to the good will of our business and our product, as well as increase our volume."

"By participating in this meeting we feel that we will be better equipped than ever to get a larger volume of business from this territory than it yielded last year. Already business is picking up, and by taking advantage of every extra means of adding to our volume we hope to make this spring one of the best years here that Chevrolet ever had."

"The move of our local field officials," he continued, "ties in with the aggressive policies adopted by the Chevrolet Motor Company to bring back business to normal. The automobile industry is the largest user of raw materials in the world, and by bringing out the 1931 Chevrolet nearly two months ahead of the annual schedule, the company was able to put mills to work which had lain idle for months, and to start the ball of general activity to rolling. The iron miner, steel worker, cotton picker and mill hand, the lumberman and glass blower, and the many other employees identified with industries which lean heavily on the automobile to use their products, felt the effects of the early announcement in greater and increased output."

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

Christ Died. Why?

During these days of Lent Christians throughout the world are thinking earnestly of the suffering and death of their Savior. Never has anyone endured such sorrow, pain, and agony as did Jesus from the time He entered the Garden of Gethsemane until nailed to the cross on Calvary. He cried out: "It is finished!" Jesus, whose birth was heralded by angels singing "Glory to God in the Highest," this same Jesus hanged as a common criminal! What a contrast!

Why? Why was Christ crucified? Every member of the Lutheran church knows the answer to this question. Based on the Bible, the confession of every member of the Lutheran church is: "I believe that Jesus Christ, true God, forgotten of the Father from eternity, and also true man, born of the Virgin Mary, is my Lord, who has redeemed me, a lost and condemned creature, purchased and won me from all sins, from death, and from the power of the devil; not with gold or silver, but with His body, precious blood and with His innocent suffering and death, that I might be His own and live under Him in His kingdom in everlasting righteousness, innocence and blessedness."

Based on Christ's words (John 12, 32): "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." The subject of the sermon Sunday morning at 10:30 will be, "The Light and Magnetism of the Cross." A German service will be held at 3 p. m. Mid-week Lenten services on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Hear the Lutheran Hour over the Columbia network every Thursday at 9 p. m. We shall be pleased to welcome you at any service.

H. W. Harterberger, pastor.

When Jacob Ganz of Lynn, Mass., discovered that his automobile was ablaze, he hopped into the driver's seat, drove to the nearest fire station and had the flames extinguished.

Carmen Barnes, 18, of Chattanooga, who is already a painter, sculptor, dancer and writer, is now going to enter the movies.

Instead of paying $10.50 cash for a 1931 automobile license, a farmer living near Jefferson City, Mo., has offered the secretary of state "two good cows."

Like Tea . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

EVEN the Japanese maiden who laboriously picks the tea leaves knows that before you sip the delicate beverage from your cup, leaves of another type of tea must be added, for the best tea invariably are blended.

When the tea merchant takes a quantity of Japanese tea, a bit of China tea, and a touch of Ceylonese, then blends them according to the dictates of his expert knowledge, he parallels the making of CONOCO Gasoline. For this is a blended gasoline. It is blended because this is the only method which brings together in one fuel the desirable properties of several types of gasoline. No one type of gasoline can contain them all.

CONOCO refiners use: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock properties.

There is no secret formula covering the elements which compose this triple-test gasoline. The secret is in the knowledge behind the blending. Knowing how makes one tea blend better than all others . . . and knowing how places one gasoline in a distinct quality class. Experience the performance advantages of CONOCO Balanced-Blend Gasoline. You'll find it wherever the CONOCO Red Triangle is displayed.

Bellinger-Minor

The following clipping was taken from the Monday Amarillo Daily: Homer lived in Ochiltree a number of years with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Britain, and he has many friends here who wish him success and happiness.

A wedding of unusual interest was solemnized Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Vaughan, 3704 Fountain Terrace, when the beautiful and impressive ceremony spoken at 11 o'clock united in marriage Mrs. Pearl Belcher Bellinger of this city and Mr. Homer Eugene Minor of Plainview, the Rev. G. I. Britain, grandfather of the groom, officiating. Ferns and cut flowers were used in the decorative effects.

The bride wore an exquisite ensemble of midnight blue crepe with accessories of the same tone. Her corsage bouquet was fashioned of dainty pink and white sweet peas. There were no attendants and only a few intimate friends and relatives were present at the ceremony. Later Mr. and Mrs. Minor left on an overland honeymoon trip to South Texas points before returning to Plainview.

The bride is a native of Almo, Ky., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Belcher of that city. Her early education began in the public schools of Almo, and later she attended the University of Kentucky and also the College of Music and Arts at Bowling Green. Several years of her life were spent in the state of New Mexico, where she homesteaded a section of land in DeBaca County during the administration of Calvin Coolidge and recently Mrs. Minor has been actively interested in the oil regions of New Mexico.

The groom is one of the most outstanding business men of West Texas, having built and actively managed one of the largest magazine subscription and holiday card agencies in the Southwest. He has resided in Plainview a number of years.

International Sunday School Lesson
for March 22
THE USE AND ABUSE OF
GOD'S GIFTS
Luke 12:16-21, 41-48
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Though the lesson text does not deal directly with the subject, the quarterly temperance lesson must be pressed with special earnestness. Therein we have one of the liveliest topics of the day. Test this out by reading the daily paper for a week seeking down to date news on this subject.

In parable form Jesus tells the people in Perea about the man who thought only of his personal gratifications and desired to do as he pleased regardless of any influence on others. In story form a rich gormand was portrayed. This man was headed for the gout, judging by his objectives in life. He had productive fields which yielded far more than enough for his needs.

When the climax was reached all were startled by the question which Jesus asked. What will you do with mere things when thy soul is required of thee this night? That inquiry brings each one face to face with the Judgment Seat of God.

Peter brought forth the next story and we have the parable of the steward who was unfaithful to his trust while he thought the owner was far away. Thinking power was taken away by the indulgence in strong drink. When in that condition the supposedly trustworthy man harmed his fellow servants and also himself. Society can never be safe when right-mindedness is taken away by any habit forming drug. The corrective is made very clear in the Golden Text: "Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the spirit." Ephesians 5:18. The Government will increasingly effect in stopping commercial violations of the law. The Sunday School must meet the non-commercial violations through education.

Veal Recipes

Veal is not a good every-day meat. But it is most certainly a delicious once-in-awhile meat. And if it is thoroughly cooked it is quite wholesome.

Roast Veal

Select a piece of veal from the loin and have it boned. Fill with bread stuffing seasoned with onion. Dredge with salt, pepper and a little flour and place in roasting pan with three slices of salt pork laid over the meat. Start cooking in a hot oven and continue in a moderate oven, allowing twenty minutes to the pound—more if the roast is small. Baste frequently. Serve with gravy made from drippings in the pan.

Corn With Peppers

Two cups canned corn, nine tablespoons of grated cheese, six tablespoons of cracker crumbs, six green peppers, six slices tomatoes, one and one-half tablespoons butter.

Mix the corn with the salt and pepper and one-third of the cheese. Have ready the peppers which have been washed and the tops removed. Also the seeds and pulp. Fill the cavities with the corn mixture and sprinkle cheese on top. Arrange in a shallow baking pan with about one inch of water. Bake for ten minutes, beating several times. While this is being done, dip the tomatoes in the cracker crumbs and brown in the hot butter. Serve the peppers and a slice of tomato with each.

Fried Almonds

Twenty rounding tablespoons of flour, four tablespoons of butter, four rounding tablespoons of sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of vanilla, one-quarter cup of grated almonds. Stir together, roll, cut into almond shape and fry in hot oil. Drop into sugar-mixed with cinnamon.

Hickory Nut Kisses

Whites of six eggs beaten to a stiff froth, one pound and one cup of powdered sugar, one cup of hickory nut meats chopped and a pinch of cream of tartar. Drop in spoonfuls on buttered pans and bake.

Hermits

Three eggs and one-half cup of sugar, one cup of butter, one-half teaspoon of soda, a pinch of salt, nutmeg, one and a half cups of seeded raisins, one pound of English walnuts, both chopped, and two and a half cups of flour. Drop from spoon and bake in quick oven.

Cocoanut Cream Candy

One tablespoon butter, three-quarters cup milk, two cups sugar, one-half cup grated cocoanut, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract.

Melt butter in saucepan, add milk and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved, heating slowly; boil twelve to fifteen minutes; remove from fire and add cocoanut and vanilla, beating until creamy. Pour into buttered tins and cool.

For chocolate cocoanut cream candy add three ounces unsweetened chocolate to other ingredients before boiling.

Every Farm Should Be Self-Supporting Unit Producing Needed Food Supplies

Recently W. R. Beattie, senior horticulturist of the bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture, in a nationally broadcast radio talk on the farm garden, stated that in every economic crisis through which the agriculture of any section of the country has passed the home garden and other sources of home food supply have saved the day.

When the boll weevil struck the cotton sections, Mr. Beattie pointed out, one of the first steps taken was to start a campaign for vegetable gardens, poultry, pigs and cows on every farm so that the land would at least provide a means of livelihood. Things haven't changed much and the same principles apply today. The farmer, however hard times may be for him, who plants and cultivates his own garden has a form of insurance against privation that is denied the city worker. In this respect he is far better off than the thousands of unemployed in the cities, many of whom left the farm at the time of industrial prosperity and are now looking wistfully back at the land.

"If everybody engaged in farming", Mr. Beattie said in his address, "will produce plenty of fruits, vegetables, milk and butter, poultry and eggs, home grown and cured pork, also fresh meats to some extent, they can at least have a good living at home and that is more than a lot of people who are out of employment have today. 'But,' says the pessimist, 'that will only increase the difficulty and reduce the market for foods that are grown in a large way for sale.' Perhaps, provided the farmer has the money with which to buy the food, but suppose he does not have the money, what then? As a matter of fact, it is good business and economy to produce most of the living for the farm family and the hired help right on the farm."

In all parts of the country there are farsighted agricultural leaders who are in agreement with Mr. Beattie in preaching the advantages of making the farm as much as possible a self-sufficing unit; not only in these times of agricultural and general economic depression, but as a permanent agricultural policy. In South Carolina, Virginia, Arkansas and other states, statewide campaigns to bring about the planting of farm gardens are being actively pushed. In these campaigns the agricultural colleges and the states' home demonstration agents are taking a leading part.

A well planted and cared for half-acre garden will produce more vegetable than the average family can eat, during the period when the crops are maturing. Carrots, late cabbage, beets, onions, parsnips, potatoes and turnips can be grown and stored for use during the winter, thus cutting the winter food bills. One acre of garden was worth as much as 65 acres of cotton on a farm in Texas last year whose owner figured that the acre yielded a profit of $400.

It is not only from the point of view of cutting the family food bills, however, that the vegetable garden deserves a place on every farm. So much has been said and written about vitamins during the last few years that practically everyone knows they are essential to good health. Fresh, green vegetables are among the best sources of these invaluable vitamins, but entirely too frequently the farmer, busy with his money crops, feels that he has no time to bother with a garden even though his wife and the older children may easily be able to take care of it once it is ploughed.

The result is that in many instances the farm diet is too much restricted to meat, potatoes and bread. Green vegetables, one of nature's best preventive medicines, have little place on the menu. The various deficiency diseases have a chance to creep in, breaking down health and stamina. Investigators have found that a large proportion of ill health in rural districts is traceable to the absence of a well balanced diet. No diet can be called well balanced that lacks an abundance of fresh, green vegetables.

A vegetable garden planted this spring will return ample dividends in health and in helping to make the farm family self-sufficing, able to weather any economic storm.

SIDELIGHTS

By Marcy B. Darnall

A tip for timid business men is given by Publisher Curtis of the Saturday Evening Post, who spent a million dollars for advertising last year and will spend double that amount during 1931. He says: "In a period of depression we must run as fast as we can to stay where we are."

Educated toes enabled Mrs. Chas. Mathews of Northumberland, Pa., to save her 4-year-old daughter from burning to death. When the child's clothing caught fire, Mrs. Mathews, who has no arms, stripped the blazing garments off with her toes. This was not difficult for her, as she makes a specialty of even harder feats as a circus performer.

Falling 15 stories would upset the appetite of most persons permanently. In the case of Giuseppe Zavarano of Brooklyn, who obeyed the law of gravity to that extent, it had only a temporary effect, if a press dispatch is to be believed. Two days later he took light nourishment in the form of a plank steak, four eggs, spaghetti, assorted vegetables, chicken, lobster salad, mince pie and three cups of coffee.

Al Demaree, who digs up interesting sport items of bygone days, tells how Charley Moran, pitching for Nashville Academy against Vanderbilt University, once struck out nine men in one inning, a world's record. Yet in that inning Vanderbilt scored six runs. The explanation is that Moran's catcher let six third strikes get by him.

A tip for timid business men is a novel use for her vacuum cleaner, but caused a neighborhood row over it. She kept the motor running during the evening hours because its purring soothed her baby to sleep. Neighbors complained that this mechanical lullaby interfered with their radio reception and she was forced to substitute vocal crooning for the more modern method which she had discovered.

A good many fear that Lindbergh will fly once too often and meet with disaster. Still one can never tell what may happen, or how. Bobby Leach went over Niagara Falls in a barrel unharmed, and later slipped on an orange peel in the street, receiving injuries which caused his death.

Hold-ups and practical jokes do not go well together. At least they made a fatal combination for Ernest Fields of St. Louis, a former soda dispenser who had turned bandit. Fields held up and robbed 11 persons in a drug store and then made them each drink a soda which he served them. While playing his little prank four policemen arrived and shot him to death when he offered resistance.

Farnsworth To Hold Centennial Celebration of Reaper, March 26

Working model of the first reaper, invented by Cyrus Hall McCormick in 1831, to be shown at Farnsworth on Thursday, March 26 in connection with the Centennial Celebration.

This is the year that marks the centennial of the reaper, that famous machine invented by Cyrus Hall McCormick in 1831. As a fitting means of commemorating this unusual event, the Service Store, McCormick - Deering dealer at Farnsworth, has arranged a full day's program for Thursday, March 26, at Farnsworth. This entertainment is for the enjoyment of every farmer and his family in this community.

A full-size working reproduction of the original 1831 reaper will be on display. Seeing this machine would in itself be worth a great deal for its educational and historical value. But there will be much more of interest to you. There will be thousands of feet of mighty interesting motion pictures, short talks on subjects of interest to every farmer, and a free lunch at noon for every one.

As a special feature of the centennial program, a five-reel motion picture, "Romance of the Reaper," will be shown. This picture was especially filmed to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the invention of the McCormick reaper.

"Romance of the Reaper" is not a "staged" picture taken on an imaginary lot with built-up scenery. It was actually filmed on Walnut Grove Farm, the old McCormick homestead, near Steele's Tavern, Virginia. Scenes showing the building and assembling of the world's first reaper were taken inside and outside of the log forge shop; the bellows and forge, and the old equipment used 100 years ago are shown. The homestead pictured

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, It has pleased our Supreme Master to call our worthy brother, T. J. Morgan from labor here to rest in the Celestial Lodge on high, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Morgan we lose a worthy member of our lodge, a just and upright Mason, and a good citizen.

Brother Morgan departed this life full of years—ripened with age and experience; he was worthy and well qualified and duly and truly prepared for admission into the Celestial Lodge above where our Supreme Grand Master presides; and he will be properly vouched for by his Lord and Master, whom he loved and served on earth.

We sympathize with his widow, relatives and his friends and neighbors who mourn his departure; but we can only remind them that he is not dead, he is only asleep—resting after a long and well spent life here; he cannot, and would not if he could, return to us; we can, if we will, go to him. Let us so live and perform our duties here as to insure a joyful reunion with those who have gone before, and a happy life in the great hereafter.

T. J. MORGAN

In the passing of T. J. Morgan, Ochiltree county has lost one of its honorable and highly respected pioneer citizens. It is a historical fact that he was the first citizen of this county to plant and raise wheat on a commercial basis, this was in the year 1906 when he broke with a steam engine some fifteen hundred acres and planted it to wheat. Several years prior to this, however, some of the earlier pioneers, B. S. Ellis, J. T. Fryer and J. R. McMillen and others had planted small patches or fields of wheat as an experiment and which was used mostly for calf pastures. It may justly be said for Mr. Morgan that he pioneered and blazed the way for small grain production in this county which has conclusively proven to be the Banner Wheat County of Texas. He brought the third threshing machine into this section of the county preceded only by Henry McCurdy and T. J. Atchley, respectively.

During his twenty-seven years residence in this county he always stood for and championed the higher and better things of life. He contributed liberally to the Masonic Building fund donating outright two hundred and fifty dollars to the splendid Masonic Temple in this city. Some two months before his death he gave one hundred dollars to the new Methodist church standing at the time he made the donation that he expected to give more. He also contributed to the Baptist and Christian churches of this city.

was actually the home of the McCormick family, built by Cyrus' father in 1822. The building is still in excellent condition. Many of the characters are Virginians—direct descendants of the families who were neighbors of the McCormicks witnesses of the development and testing of young Cyrus' reaper. Carriages used in the picture are old carriages that were really in use in 1831. As near as it was possible to determine, the scenes showing the first public test of the reaper were taken in the identical location where the original machine proved its worth to a doubting crowd of onlookers.

During the evening, at the Farnsworth Gym, is an epilogue picturing of the evolution of modern grain harvesting machines, from McCormick's reaper, the Marsh harvester-thresher of today. You will see the old self-rake reaper, the Marsh binder, the wire binder, the twine binder, the modern tractor binder, and a fleet of harvester-threshers harvesting 640 acres a day. Never before has so many real history been packed into a single film of this kind.

From this first scene to the last, "Romance of the Reaper" is authentic. It is interesting and educational; it is romantic; it is thrilling.

The Service Store invites all farmers and their families to spend the entire day Thursday, March 26 in Farnsworth. A full day's entertainment has been planned—a morning meeting, noon lunch, and afternoon program.

The deceased was born in Chambers county, Alabama, July 3, 1857, being near 74 years of age at his death. He moved with his parents in 1867 to Waco, Texas. He received his last schooling at Baylor University and after finishing college moved to Mart, Texas, where he engaged in raising cotton. In the year 1903 he purchased the old Rush place near old Ochiltree, that being the land on which his wheat raising project began. He was married in December, 1913, to Mrs. Agnes Newton who survives him in death, as does Mrs. Frank Dodson Jr., step-daughter, whom the deceased loved as his own child. He was very fond of Mr. and Mrs. Dodson and their children and delighted in doing them kindly Christian acts.

He was a member of Ochiltree Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons which body conducted its impressive ceremony at the grave, led by W. C. Teague, Canadian. He became a Mason at Mart, Texas, forty-six years ago.

Services were conducted at the Methodist Church Friday afternoon under the able and sympathetic direction of the Wilson Funeral Home, Rev. Willis and Rev. Watson officiating. Beautiful vocal renditions were given by Mrs. Carl Ellis and the quartet composed of Mesars. Jas. E. Barbour, C. W. Claybaugh, Addison Cutter and A. K. Wooten. The honorary pall bearers were Geo. M. Perry, R. L. Keith, Wm. Deck, W. W. McLarty, L. H. Lance, J. F. Klapp, C. E. Forbes and J. H. Norwood. Carl Ellis, W. B. LaMaster, A. C. Witt, Clyde Cofer, J. W. Richardson and George Rupprecht were the active bearers.

Many were his good characteristics. One old timer said of him that he never went back on his word or a promise and when made were carried out without fail. When the first Methodist church in the county was built some twenty-five years ago at old Ochiltree, Mr. Morgan purchased a bell for the church at a cost of some four or five hundred dollars, hauling it overland some sixty miles. When the church was moved to Perryton the bell was brought with it, being the one which Bill McLarty rang for one hour a few hours after Mr. Morgan passed away in keeping with a promise to that effect made nearly a quarter of a century ago.

Many more good things could be said of this sturdy pioneer citizen who now rests in peace in the Silent City. In the years hence, the memory of this unselfish life will be a guide to many.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dyatt and daughters and Mrs. T. D. Moss and daughter were Amarillo visitors Friday.

Scrubwomen

One hot day, when the business depression was worst, I visited two of the largest corporations in the world.

I talked with the treasurer of one and with the chairman of the finance committee of the other—and these are men, I may tell you, in whose make-up sentimentality plays very little part.

They had been looking at red figures until their eye-balls burned. They were entirely unwilling to predict when their industries would improve.

But each of them uttered the same fervent exclamation: "If only we can pull through without having to cut wages."

When you stop to think about it, that is an astonishing phenomenon. Twenty-five years ago, men in similar positions would have said immediately: "Business is off ten per cent, cut wages twenty per cent."

The same sort of executives who used to assume that the way to cure depression was by cutting wages, are now convinced that the way to cure it is not to cut.

That is one principal fact which makes the current depression different from its predecessors. That is progress!

History has a curious way of upsetting contemporary judgments. Many of the events which seem important to men and women while they are living, prove insignificant in the eyes of the ages. And some very little things later loom large.

Who was king of Spain in 1666? I do not remember. But I do recall that in 1666 an apple fell and hit Isaac Newton.

What was Warren Harding? Who were Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover? Some future school-boy may be puzzled by those inquiries.

But unless I am very much mistaken every future history book will lay emphasis on two developments which have taken place under our very eyes.

They will tell that a boy named Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic Ocean.

And that a man named Ford announced that he would pay all workers, even scrubwomen, a minimum of five dollars a day.

The idea that high wages make prosperity, that the key to good business lies not in the safe deposit boxes of millionaires, but is carried in the pocket of every worker—this is something entirely new.

It holds the hope of the future. Whatever else may have to be discarded, American business must not surrender that American idea!

Declaring she lives "th life of a goldfish" Miss Caroline Penniman, superintendent of a girls' reformatory in Middletown, Conn., has asked for a private residence instead of her present quarters in the crowded building.

Galli-Curci In Concert

Noted Soprano Is A Musician Of Many Abilities; At Amarillo Friday Night

CALLI-CURCI

The Panhandle Music Festival will be staged in Amarillo on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, March 19, 20 and 21. Besides the contest feature which makes the festival one of the greatest conventions of musicians in the middle west, there will be two great artist attractions under the direction of Emil F. Myers of the Amarillo College of Music.

On Thursday night the famous Fisk Jubilee singers will appear in a concert. These singers have devoted their lives to the collection and preservation of Negro spirituals, the money made by them to aid in the maintenance of Fisk university, of which they are all graduates. They are the greatest and original exponents of Negro Spirituals in the world today.

On Friday night music lovers from the entire Panhandle section will hear the most noted soprano in the world, Galli-Curci, herself. She has just returned from a tour of England where she sang to 9000 people in Albert Hall London for six nights making 54000 people in all, within little more than a weeks time. Each of these was sensational in that the people were riotous in their applause and the lights had to be extinguished at the close of the program before the people who were calling for more would leave. This was done only after she had sung encore after encore. Her encores include "My Old Kentucky Home," "Swanee River" and "Home Sweet Home."

The Panhandle Music Festival contests this year will be conducted on the same big scale as in the past. There being over 300 pupils who have entered in piano solo alone from the classes of teachers over the entire territory. A score of bands and orchestras will compete with each other for honors as well as many choruses and glee clubs.

Winners in Search for "Beauty and Brains"

Richard Loosley

Marian Storgaard

A Hollywood motion picture producer had the original idea that intelligence as well as good looks might be useful in the case of screen actors, so started a "Beauty and Brains" hunt at the University of California and found Marian Storgaard, 20, and Richard Loosley, of the same age, both sophomores and both blond. Some day before long you'll see them in the cinema.

The Panhandle Music Festival was started in the spring of 1914 by Emil F. Myers and has continued to grow until it has become so large that it takes the help and active assistance of practical every teacher in the country to handle the many details of the event. The contests are under the direction of the Panhandle Music Teacher's association of more than 100 members. Mr. Myers sponsors the great imported artists for the event. Many from Perryton will attend the festival.

The Family Doctor

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

A Peptic Ulcer

A man sixty years old came into my office about three months ago. He was short, "tubby" in build, and complained of full stomach, shortness of breath on exertion, and vague, neuralgic pains that flitted about through his lungs when he ascended the stairs. He said the symptoms were sometimes relieved by eating a little; that most of his "fullness" was felt when he was sure the stomach was empty. He was disabled from work by reason of this thing which had been creeping on him for something like a year.

He had been studiously eating "roughage," as well as every sort of "health food" that he could hear of; had avoided meat, believing that it was deadly poison for him. In fact he had arrived at the point when he was suspicious of all foods.

Without resorting to X-ray, I diagnosed ulcer of the stomach; in fact, I did not even pump out and analyze the gastric content. I simply put him on SMOOTH diet, telling him boiled or stewed meats would do him no harm. I gave him a slightly astringent antiseptic powder to take between meals, and forbade all articles of food that even hinted at irritation of the stomach lining. I gave him a gentle liver stimulant.

That man came into my office less than an hour ago, and declared himself free from any unpleasant symptoms, had been so for two or three weeks; every complaint had been corrected.

"Roughage" of any sort works harm in many, many cases of disordered digestive tract, especially so in peptic ulcer. I am getting farther away from the "roughage" idea, as evidence accumulates against it. Self-diagnosis and self-treatment.

almost invariably lead the patient to try "roughage," when every symptom calls for "smoothage."

If I should be fortunate enough to have a physician in my audience, I believe he will agree with me. I feel sure he will, if he has become bold enough to forsake a worn-out idea.

Police of Milwaukee began a search for a thief who "stole an operation" when Dr. J. H. Sum told them he found forceps and other instruments lying in a wash basin with additional evidence that an operation had been performed.

ARMY BRINGS BACK THE ALLIES MYSTERY SHIPS

Created during the war as one of the many desperate attempts of the U. S. Navy to counteract the U-boat menace, "mystery ships," or "ships," as they were also known, were officially credited with sinking more than 200 or so German submarines that succumbed to the Al-lly "mystery ships" varied from big 100-ton passenger steamers to little 10-ton motor launches. Each one, however, was cleverly concealed in false hulls or behind folding bulwarks, and as the war progressed the U-boats were fitted with more powerful guns, the innocuous-looking "ships" likewise mounted bigger weapons.

From the first these vessels followed a regular program upon the appearance of the enemy submarine. The "mystery ships" dressed to resemble regular merchant sailors, abandoned ship with much haste and confusion, leaving, however, naval gun crews hidden aboard. When the submarine came close to sink the "ship" by shell-fire, the false coverings were dropped and the guns were poured into the unsuspecting U-boat.

England and France share the credit for inventing the "mystery ships," each set one afloat in November of 1914, shortly after the outbreak of hostilities, and it will be a surprise to many to learn that the United States had one "mystery ship," the U. S. S. "Sanderling."

The honor of first bringing the "mystery ship" to the talking screen was given to John Ford, Fox movietone director, whose latest offering, "The Seas Beneath," coming March 20 to the Ellis Theatre, deals vividly with America's part in the campaign against the U-boat. In this picture, in which George O'Brien and Marion Lessing play the leading roles, a schooner is equipped with a concealed gun, and in company with an American submarine, stalks a German submarine off the coast of America.

Two U. S. underwater craft, the "Sanderling" and the giant fleet submarine "V-4," were used for the production, and both American and German naval men saw to it that the technical details of the hunt and battle were authentic.

FAY WRAY in "The Conquering Horde" A Paramount Picture

Mervyn Le Roy, ace of younger directors, who last screened "Little Caesar" with such success, was entrusted with the direction of the story and, according to advance word from the coast studio, has turned out one of the best films of the year in this type of entertainment.

The production teems with realism throughout and the picture is said to abound with many gripping episodes of underworld locale that leave little to the imagination in the way of sordidness and grim tragedy.

The cast is rounded out by Louis Wolheim as Gilbert's brother, Marie Prevost as an underworld wisecracker, John Miljan as a rival gangster, George Cooper as Wolheim's personal gunman, and by Ferike Boros, Ralph Ince, Frank Reicher, Paul Porcasi and Tenen Holtz.

Presenting a modern naval battle in the talkies for the first time, "The Seas Beneath," which makes its local bow Friday night at the Ellis Theatre, is said to be a remarkable and absorbing film of the campaign against the U-boats during the war. George O'Brien and Marion Lessing, the Viennese actress, have the leading roles, and the cast includes Warren Hymer, John Loder, Gaynor Pendleton, William Collier Sr., Walter McGall and Mona Masris. John Ford directed.

Guy R. Sheets transacted business in this community the first of this week.

M. A. Pearce and family were dinner guests of L. M. Bell and family Sunday, March 18.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Williams, Edward Beck and wife, formerly Miss Veina Williams, and L. W. Austin and family were dinner guests in the W. M. Deck home Sunday.

Rev. Sibley, pastor of the Baptist church, Perryton, will preach at the school building, March 22, at 2:30 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to come and hear Bro. Sibley.

Song books were ordered for the Bible Study hour and will possibly be here for the next afternoon meeting.

On a cold day recently while sitting around the fireside, W. J. Campbell, father of Mrs. L. W. Austin, formerly a cowboy and ranchman in the West, penned these lines:

"Just a Chat"
Come on you old time cowboys,
Let's have one more pleasant chat
Just talking over by-gone days
I'm sure we'd all enjoy that.

We've rode the range together,
We've plodded up the trail,
We've heard the rattlers' hisses,
And heard the coyotes wail.

We've heard the thunder roaring
And seen the lightning flash,
We've had to sing our halleluys
To get them quieted down at last.

We had to swim the swollen rivers
And poing them straight across
But we took them to their destination
And never had a loss.

We attended the great fall round-ups
We knew our bosses brand,
We had our cutting horses,
We made our boss a hand.

Yes, we cut those long horn doggies,
We got them one by one,
But we never left the roundup
Until all the work was done.

We got along with our comrades
And we had lots of fun,
But what I'm trying to tell you is
That those days are past and gone.

We are living in a different country
And we sing a different song,
Just waiting for the last great roundup
And boys it won't be long.

We will have a different foreman
And he will have a different brand,
It won't be run with red hot irons,
Nor made with human hands.

So, boys, we'd better read our brand book,
We know it's printed true,
It tells just what our brand must be
And just what we must do.

Now, boys, I'm going to be there
And I want to see you all,
So just have your mounts all ready,
When you hear the last great call.

L. B. HURN
Leslie Boone Hurn was born near Pocahontus, Arkansas, March 18, 1871, and died at San Angelo, Texas, March 19, 1931, at the age of 59 years, 11 months and 10 days.

He came to Texas 33 years ago and was married to Miss Eliza Landers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Landers, July 17, 1898. To this union four children were born, all of whom were present. Mrs. Myrtle Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. Blanch Sanders of Perryton, Texas, and Mrs. Mable McAdoo and Mrs. Leone Boone of Higgins, Texas. Mrs. Hurn died August 3, 1929. He has three grandchildren living in Higgins and has three brothers and two sisters: L. D. Hurn of Higgins, Tom F. Hurn of San Angelo, both present, and J. W. Hurn and Mrs. Will Floyd of Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, and Mrs. Mollie Vandergrieff, of Lipan, Texas.

Mr. Hurn, familiarly known as "Dick," has been in the barber business in Higgins for thirty years and has been an active member of the Methodist church most of his life, serving as a member of the board of stewards of the Higgins Methodist church for many years. After the death of Mrs. Hurn, Mr. Hurn began to decline in health and after several months of illness, went to San Angelo hoping to be benefited, but he did not improve as rapidly as could have been wished and his illness became acute, for several weeks it being evident that death was drawing near. The end came March 10, 1931. The body was accompanied home by his children and his brother, T. F. Hurn.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, March 13, 1931, at the Methodist church, Rev. R. R. Gilbreath conducting the services. Interment was made in the Higgins cemetery.

Another old resident has passed into eternity. There is sadness in the homes of his children, and his brothers and sisters and friends deeply feel his loss. The barber shop that has known his presence for many years, will never again see him there for "Dick" Hurn is no more in the flesh and his going has left a vacancy in our community that can not be filled.—Higgins News.

Watch for the Announcement of Perryton's 5th Dollar Day—Wed., April 8

BLODGETT ITEMS

Guy R. Sheets transacted business in this community the first of this week.

H. A. Pearcy and family were dinner guests of L. M. Bell and family Sunday, March 16.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Williams, Edward Beck and wife, formerly Miss Velma Williams, and L. W. Austin and family were dinner guests in the W. M. Deck home Sunday.

Rev. Sibley, pastor of the Baptist church, Perryton, will preach at the school building, March 22, at 2:30 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to come and hear Bro. Sibley.

Song books were ordered for the Bible Study hour and will possibly be here for the next afternoon meeting.

On a cold day recently while sitting around the fireside, W. J. Campbell, father of Mrs. L. W. Austin, formerly a cowboy and ranchman in the west, penned these lines:

"Just a Chat"

Come on you old time cowboys, Let's have one more pleasant chat Just talking over by-gone days I'm sure we'd all enjoy that.

We've rode the range together, We've plodded up the trail, We've heard the rattlers' hisses, And heard the coyotes wail.

We've heard the thunder roaring, And seen the lightning flash, We've had to sing our lullabies, To get them quieted down at last.

We had to swim the swollen rivers, And poing them straight across, But we took them to their destination, And never had a loss.

We attended the great fall round-ups, We knew our bosses brand, We had our cutting horses, We made our boss a hand.

Yes, we cut those long horn doggies, We got them one by one, But we never left the roundup Until all the work was done.

We got along with our comrades, And we had lots of fun, But what I'm trying to tell you is That those days are past and gone.

We are living in a different country, And we sing a different song, Just waiting for the last great roundup, And boys it won't be long.

We will have a different foreman, And he will have a different brand, It won't be run with red hot irons, Nor made with human hands.

So, boys, we'd better read our brand book, We know it's printed true, It tells just what our brand must be, And just what we must do.

Now, boys, I'm going to be there, And I want to see you all, So just have your mounts all ready, When you hear the last great call.

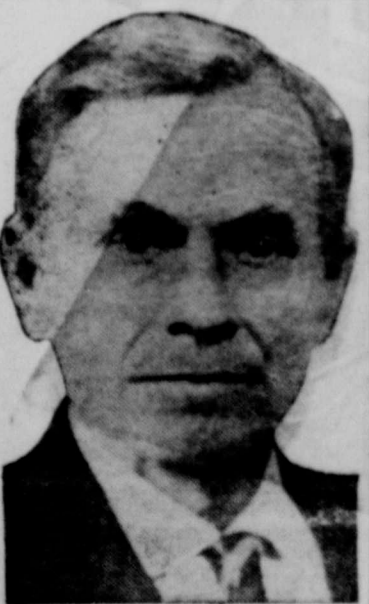

Charles Morgan, brother of the late T. J. Morgan, returned to his home at Endee, New Mexico, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Highland and children left Saturday for Canyon. Mrs. Highland will enter Teachers college for the Spring term. Mr. Highland returned Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Black and Mrs. J. C. Beever were Shattuck, Okla., visitors Sunday.

"Sargon Turned Tables For Me"

"I suffered day and night for fifteen years, until this wonderful Sargon turned the tables for me," stated G. B. Beatty, 514 Page St., Ft.

G. B. BEATTY

Worth. "Stomach trouble, with awful gas pressure, and constipation, dizzy spells and headaches tormented me all the time. I'm sixty-two years old, and I'd about lost all hope of getting well, but Sargon seemed to take right hold of my troubles. I believe I could digest anything now; my constipation yielded to Sargon Pills at once, without the least sickness; I'm free from headaches and dizzy spells and have gained eleven pounds. That's not bad for a man of my age."

L. B. HURN

Leslie Boone Hurn was born near Pochontus, Arkansas, March 18, 1871, and died at San Angelo, Texas, March 19, 1931, at the age of 59 years, 11 months and 10 days.

He came to Texas 33 years ago and was married to Miss Eliza Landers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Landers, July 17, 1898. To this union four children were born, all of whom were present.

Mrs. Myrtle Ricks of Long Beach, Calif., Texas, and Mrs. Mable McAdoo and Mrs. Leone Boone of Higgins, Texas. Mrs. Hurn died August 3, 1929. He has three grandchildren living in Higgins and has three brothers and two sisters: L. D. Hurn of Higgins, Tom F. Hurn of San Angelo, both present, and J. W. Hurn and Mrs. Will Floyd of Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, and Mrs. Mollie Vandergriff, of Lipan, Texas.

Mr. Hurn, familiarly known as "Dick," has been in the barber business in Higgins for thirty years and has been an active member of the Methodist church most of his life, serving as a member of the board of stewards of the Higgins Methodist church for many years. After the death of Mrs. Hurn, Mr. Hurn began to decline in health and after several months of illness, went to San Angelo hoping to be benefited, but he did not improve as rapidly as could have been wished and his illness became acute, for several weeks it being evident that death was drawing near. The end came March 10, 1931. The body was accompanied home by his children and his brother, T. F. Hurn.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, March 13, 1931, at the Methodist church, Rev. R. R. Gilbreath conducting the services. Interment was made in the Higgins cemetery.

Another old resident has passed into eternity. There is sadness in the homes of his children, and his brothers and sisters and friends deeply feel his loss. The barber shop that has known his presence for many years, will never again see him there for "Dick" Hurn is no more in the flesh and his going has left a vacancy in our community that can not be filled.—Higgins News.

Stewart of this city, district president of the Legion Auxiliary, will have charge of the Auxiliary session which will meet at the Legion hall.

On Saturday afternoon starting immediately after the parade, a Forty and Eight "Wreck" will be put on by the Perryton Vulture with the assistance of the Pampa Wrecking Crew. This is a past degree of Legion work and is to the Legion like the Shrine is to Masonry. It is called the playground of the Legion and only the very active Legionnaire is eligible to membership. H. I. Hudson, Chief de Gare of the Perryton Vulture, states that candidates from three states will take the initiatory work here. The "Wreck" will be over at 9:00 p. m.

Miss Luella Wilson, St. Joseph, Mo., came in Saturday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. P. T. Sherman, and with her brother, G. R. H. J. and J. W. Wilson. From here she will go to Colorado Springs to visit with another sister.
