Battalion Arrives Under Downcast Skies

Transports Of 204th Roll In Near Schedule

Second Unit Is 197th And Soldiers Proceed To City Baseball Park

The soldiers are here!

Under murky West Texas skies and in cold misting rain the Provisional Searchlight Battalion from Camp Hulen rolled into Midland at 12:17 p.m. Thursday to begin six weeks maneuvers—"A Defense of Midland."

Transports of the 204th C. A. (A. A.) made up the first unit of the arriving contingent. They entered the city in close formation and were led by a police escort. About 60 trucks were included in the group carrying men and the full field equipment.

Only a few minutes behind schedule the long line of Army trucks sped through the city to the baseball park and campsite. The site was transformed into a whirl of activity as the men unloaded and the task of setting up camp began.

The second unit, the 197th C. A. (A. A.) was 15 minutes behind the leading group.

The Provisional Searchlight Battalion of the 33rd Coast Artillery Brigade from Camp Hulen has 746 men, including 23 officers. Approximately 150 motor trucks and cars were used to transport the soldiers to Midland.

In command is Major Claude A. Dance of the 204th C. A., who was here last spring on maneuvers with a Provisional Searchlight Battalion from Camp Hulen.

Glad to Be Here

The anti-aircraft troops camped Wednesday night at San Angelo's fair grounds. They were happy to get back to Midland where some exceptional records were made last spring.

"Out here you can begin to breathe again," one sergeant commented. "Why, down where we came from the highest point in camp is only seven feet above sea level."

The advance guard, in command of First Lieutenant Robert W. Beyer of the 211th C. A., arrived in Midland Wednesday afternoon and immediately perfected arrangements for the troops.

The Army's motor convoy was escorted by city police and military police direct to the Midland Baseball Park where the soldiers will camp during the six weeks or more of maneuvers scheduled here.

Work of preparing the camp started as soon as the troops arrived. Many Midland citizens were on hand to welcome soldier friends who were here several months ago on maneuvers.

Men of Battery A of the 197th Coast Artillery were here for the second time. Soldiers of Battery A of the 69th C. A. and the 204th C. A. were enjoying their first visit to Midland.

In command of Battery A of the 204th C. A. is Captain Henry H. Breaseale. At the head of the men of the 197th is Captain Wesley Haynes and First Lieutenant Wallace R. Langston is at the head of the 69th unit.

The executive officer on Major Dance's staff is Captain William H. Baynes of the 69th C. A.

Major Arthur M. Mulligan is surgeon for maneuvers and First Lieutenant Herman O. Dehman is assistant surgeon. The dental surgeon is Major Omar S. Meredith. Other staff officers include First Lieutenant Roy O. Klossner, First Lieutenant Beyer and Second Lieutenant M. H. Armor, Jr.

Major Dance indicated no time would be wasted and that the soldiers would start their record practice as soon as the camp is completed.

Miss Gothard Takes Secretary Position

Mrs. Lily Koon, for several years secretary to the superintendent of the Midland schools, has accepted a position with the Shell Oil Company. She ended her duties at the high school Thursday.

The position as secretary to Supt. Geo. A. Heath has been filled by Miss Nita Belle Gothard. Miss Gothard holds a bachelor of business administration degree from Texas Wesleyan College and has had a year of experience in the First National Bank at Handley; a year teaching affiliated secretarial training at Gorman high school; a year and a half as a general bookkeeper, and was secretary to the president of TWC two years.

Major Claude A. Dance of the 204th Coast Artillery commands the Provisional Searchlight Battalion of the 33rd Coast Artillery Brigade which will conduct its maneuvers at Midland.

Sinclair-Prairie Kleiner Logs Gas And Oil Showings

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor

Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company No. 1 Charles J. Kleiner, Central Yoakum County test four miles east of Plains held the wildcatting spotlight Thursday as it logged slight shows of gas and oil while drilling above the horizon in which main pay is expected.

Early Thursday the well was drilling at 5,230 feet in lime, with a break expected within the next 10 to 20 feet. It encountered a slight showing of gas at 5,140 feet and an increase in gas at 5,160 feet. First slight showing of oil was picked up at 5,225 feet. The test is located 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 436, block D, John H. Gibson survey, three and one-half miles northwest of Yoakum's Ownby pool. It is running 52 feet higher structurally than the Ownby pool discovery well.

Pipe is being pulled preparatory to abandoning Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1-13 L. H. Wright, Eastern Yoakum wildcat failure 467 feet out of the northwest corner of section 13, block D, Gibson survey. Total depth is 5,410 feet in lime, where the well had 3,500 feet of salty sulphur water in the hole. A steel line measurement corrected 5,396 feet to 5,390 feet. At 5,390 the hole was bailed down but filled 1,900 feet with water in six hours in drilling to 5,396. Drilling ahead to 5,410 feet water rose to 3,500 feet in 10 hours.

Late Wednesday, American Drilling Corporation of Hobbs, N. M. No. 1 W. T. Hufnall, Western Terry County wildcat, had drilled unchanged to 5,150 feet in lime.

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation and American Drilling No. 1 W. L. Ellwood estate, Northeastern Hockley County wildcat 15 miles northeast of the Slaughter field, is drilling at 1,525 feet in sand and red beds.

Depth of 3,770 feet in hard lime has been reached by Anderson-Prichard and Osage Drilling Company, Inc. No. 1 Pure Oil Company-A. M. Clayton, Northwestern Borden County test.

Big Ector Well

Broderick & Calvert, Inc. No. 7 Mrs. Vina Bagley, at the southeast edge of the Foster pool, set a record potential for that area and became one of the largest wells in Ector County when it flowed 7,167.03 barrels of 34.6-gravity oil on full 24-hour proration gauge. Gas-oil ratio was 200-1. The well topped pay at 4,248 feet and is bottomed at 4,370 feet in lime. It was shot with 170 quarts of nitro from 4,295 feet to total depth. It is 660 feet south of the same owner's No. 6 Bagley, a 6,372-barrel well and previous largest in the pool. Casing pressure of 32 pounds and tubing pressure of 30 pounds registered by No. 7 Bagley remained constant during most of th 24-hour test.

In Southwestern Crane County, Continental Oil Company No. 1 E. B. Jones et al, indicating opening of a new Simpson, middle Ordovician, sand pool, swabbed 175 barrels, part new oil and part oil load used in conjunction with a 2,000-gallon acid treatment, the past 24 hours and continued swabbing. Total depth is 6,015 feet, plugged back

Lewis Brings Captive Mine Strike To End

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON.—John L .Lewis announced Thursday the United Mine Workers had accepted President Roosevelt's proposal for reopening the strike-bound captive coal mines and added tne men would return to work as fast as arrangements could be made locally.

In some areas, Lewis said, the night shift may return Thursday night. Other mines, he asserted, could be reopened Friday.

Lewis made the announcement in the Mayflower Hotel room of Myron C. Taylor, former board chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, which owns some of the captive mines. Taylor was standing beside the mine workers' president when it was made and said he was "very much gratified with the broad cooperative attitude which Mr. Lewis had displayed in a difficult situation in time of great national peril."

The principal issue in the dispute, which has threatened the supply of fuel for steel mills, is whether the captive mine operators shall accept the union's demand for a union shop, under which employes would be required to join the UMW after a period of probation.

Praises Taylor

Lewis told reporters that the entire basis for the arrangement for reopening the mines had resulted from the six hour conference which he held Wednesday with Taylor. Davis also attended this session.

In an oral statement to reporters Lewis said:

"Once again Mr. Taylor and I have been able to render service at a time of great national interest in a manner that has secured the gracious approval of the president.

"It may be recalled that seven years ago in this hotel Mr. Taylor and I settled the captive mine controversy of 1934.

"In later years we substantially negotiated the contract covering the present relationship in the steel industry. At that time I stated that Mr. Taylor was an industrial statesman of far-seeing vision. I reiterate that today."

Russians Repel German Troops In Two Sectors

By The Associated Press

Russia's armies were credited in front-line dispatches Thursday with throwing the Germans back across the Nara River, some 50 miles southwest of Moscow, while on the southern front, Soviet troops were declared to have won strategic heights guarding the route to Rostov-On-Don.

Tass, the official Russian news agency, said the Germans tried repeatedly to cross the Nara but were beaten back.

Counter-attacking Soviet troops then stormed across the river, Tass said, and entrenched themselves on the south bank under heavy fire.

Slowed down in their land offensive against Moscow, the Germans sent more than 300 planes in a mass assault on the U. S. S. R. capital Wednesday, the Soviet radio said.

Nazis Claim Crimean Gains

"It was the biggest attack carried out so far but was exactly as unsuccessful as all previous raids," the radio declared, adding that 39 Nazi planes, a record, were shot down.

In the Crimea, where the invaders forced a break-through after 10 days of violent assault, the Nazi high command said Russian rear-

Urges Citizens To Aid In Responsibilities

Midland citizens from all walks of life were urged Thursday at the joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions club to assume their community responsibilities and put their shoulders to the wheel for a greater community and for a greater West Texas.

"We are busy and happy, but we have the ball and we must keep going ahead," Tom Sealy, Rotary club president and city councilman, told a gathering of business and professional leaders of the community. The meeting was open to all citizens.

"Generate a friendly spirit and show the real West Texas welcome," Mayor M. C. Ulmer urged in an address. "Let's not be too busy to dish out the courtesy to which everyone is entitled," the mayor, who is vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, continued.

"New residents of Midland are entitled to every business courtesy we can afford them."

John W. House, past president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, discussed the building of the Army Advanced Flying School and said the job of cooperating with the Army is a "job for all citizens and not for any one group or any one individual."

Fred Wemple, past district governor of Rotary, urged all citizens to "give more time unselfishly to the perpetuation of the prosperity we now have."

"Don't be too busy to give thought or vision to the future."

Paul McHargue, Lions president, who presided, told the meeting that in entertaining the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention next week Midland citizens have an opportunity to write something on Midland's record which will not be erased by time.

Work and accomplishments of the West Texas chamber were discussed by Sealy who urged all citizens to generate plenty of enthusiasm for the convention and show the visitors a real Midland welcome.

"The West Texas Chamber of Commerce today is a business institution and some of the biggest men in Texas will be here for the convention," he continued. "The organization is one of the biggest things in West Texas."

Ulmer said it should be a "real privilege" for any person to live in

Heavy Rains At Wichita Falls Send Streams Out Of Banks And Rescuing Squads Save Residents In Lowlands

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Flood rescue squads went into action here Thursday for the third time this year as heavy rains sent streams out of their banks, flooding lowland homes and interrupting highway and rail traffic.

The Kell Field airway communications service reported six inches of rain fell in 20 minutes. Rainfall in Wichita Falls was 4.38 inches for the same period.

Lake Wichita, which has been flowing over the spillway, rose 29 inches during the night and Holliday Creek, into which the spillway empties, flooded at least 100 residences and was still rising.

The Wichita River was expected to get out of its banks during the day, flooding additional homes. High water was expected to near or equal the marks reached in an early October flood which drove 2,000 persons from their homes.

To date, Wichita Falls has received 45.55 inches of rain as compared with the previous high annual record of 35-12 inches in 1925.

Accident In Minnesota Throws Pilot Out But Others Die In Flames

By The Associated Press.

MOORHEAD, Minn. — Trapped in fog and mist, a Northwest Airlines plane crashed within two miles of its objective early Thursday. Fourteen persons died in the impact and flames that immediately engulfed the wreckage. The only survivor was Captain Clarence Bates, pilot, of Minneapolis, thrown clear as the big liner struck the earth a glancing blow, bounced 100 yards and then piled up.

Captain Bates suffered only from shock but physicians would permit no one to talk to him.

The St. Paul dispatcher said he last heard from the plane, westbound from Chicago to Seattle, at 1:54 a. m. (CST). It then was over the Fargo airport, descending at 2700 feet.

Making a routine instrument approach in weather described on the surface as "thick" with a freezing temperature, the pilot next should have reported when he sighted land.

The dispatcher vainly tried to get in touch with the plane at 2:00 a. m.

Ten minutes later, police telephoned that a plane had crashed. Scene was two miles from the Fargo airport, or about one mile north of the city limits of Moorhead which adjoins Fargo.

Crashes on Prairie

The two cities are separated by the Red River which is the state line between Minnesota and North Dakota.

The crackup occurred on a flat prairie. Captain Bates, dazed, was found wandering in a field by motorists attracted by the flames. There apparently were no witnesses to the catastrophe.

Croil Hunter, NWA general manager, left St. Paul with a plane and crew to resume the westward trip started by the ill-fated liner.

A passenger list announced by NWA at St. Paul included:

Mrs. J. Packard, Atlantic City.
F. R. Lowell, Dayton, O.
R. W. Ramsey, 309 Harman, North Canton, O.
W. A. Mitzger, Royal Typewriter Co., New York.
L. C. Carr, 133 South Greeby Road, Highland Park, Ill., employe of NWA Chicago office.
A. F. Simonson, Grand Forks.
C. W. Farup, Grand Forks
Ned Wells, Fargo.
E. A. King, Fargo.
Mrs. H. Ford, Fargo.
H. H. Brown, Billings.
J. G. Klopp, 508 Rockwood, Spokane, Wash.

The co-pilot was Alden Onsgard of Minneapolis and the stewardess was Bernice Bowers of Welcome, Minn.

Sheriffs Posse Selects Barron For Captaincy

T. Paul Barron was elected captain of the Midland County Sheriff's Posse at a meeting Wednesday night and Elmer Harrington was named first lieutenant.

Other officers include Paul A. Nelson and Jay Floyd, drill sergeants; Butler Hurley, corporal; and Bill German, captain adjutant.

A corral boss will be named at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday night in the commissioners' courtroom.

Barron named the membership committee including Ed Darnell, chairman, and J. B. Crain and Ralph Geisler. A goal of 50 charter members by next week's meeting was announced.

Nine charter members paid dues Wednesday night. They are Harrington, Barron, Hurley, Geisler, Nelson, Floyd, Crain, and Darnell.

A proposed constitution and by-laws was read Wednesday night but action was deferred until next week.

Echoes Of The Past

The American-born widow of Count Johann von Bernstorff has returned to her own country to spend her declining days. She has asked that the "Countess" and the "Von" be dropped and wishes to be known simply as Mrs. Bernstorff.

The return of the native summons up many echoes from the past and recalls what frail things are power and glory and popularity. Time was when Count Bernstorff, as German ambassador to the United States, was one of the favorite figures in Washington society. He was good-looking.

Then came the first World War. Doubtless the count had to do many things which were distasteful to him, but the kaiser was the big boss and orders were orders. And there were underlings who were not disturbed by any such finer scruples. There were, for instance, the egregious Franz von Papen, the same Von Papen who now does Hitler's dirty work in various countries. Von Papen was military attache at the German embassy and undoubtedly had his hand in many cases of sabotage.

But there were other things that came closer to Bernstorff. His popularity in America slipped to the vanishing point and beyond, for he became a most hated man in this country. Nor, when he got back to Berlin, was he any more popular there. His imperial master was angry with him. For Bernstorff had repeatedly warned the German government that unrestricted submarine warfare upon American shipping would be certain, sooner or later, to bring the United States into the conflict. He added for good measure that once America came in, Germany's cause was lost. Prophets of that kind are never public heroes. Bernstorff became a diplomat without a job.

When the German republic was formed, he became one of the leaders of the Democratic party and one of the active advocates of Germany's entering the League of Nations, but he was an unhappy man. He had aged beyond his years. Upon his careworn face were marked his anxieties about the tendencies he saw gaining ground in Germany. The aristocrat in him revolted when he saw the Nazi poison slowly but surely rising to the top. He got out of the fatherland in good time by going to Switzerland in 1932. Hitler came into power in 1933.

Death came to Bernstorff as a welcome caller. The Germany he knew and served seemed gone forever. All his dreams had crumbled into ashes.

Murder Most Foul

Assassination at any time is a hideous crime that must be condemned by all right-thinking people. The men and women who grieve over the fate of France can understand the provocation, but cannot condone the killing of German army officers by desperate Frenchmen, driven to frenzy by their Nazi conquerors.

But the Hitler gangsters have committed a crime that is even greater than those committed against them. Every time a German army officer is assassinated, the Germans shoot at least 50 hostages. The victims of their firing squads have nothing to do with the crime that is being avenged. They are guilty only of being Frenchmen.

The death that is meted out to them is cold-blooded, deliberate murder. It is without sanction of law or justice as civilized men understand it.

It is under a code that dates back to the era of the Huns —a term the followers of Hitler bitterly hate, but which they are doing their utmost fully to earn.

Here's A Scoop

A baby one hour old knows all about the need of food. When he is hungry, he yells for it. If he gets cold, he bawls once more. He has sense enough to know he needs clothing. When he gets sleepy, he has ways of indicating he wants to snuggle in his mother's arms or be safely and warmly tucked in his crib.

All of which leads up to the fact that not so long ago scientists, in convention assembled, solemnly proclaimed:

"The primary needs of man are food, clothing, and shelter."

Hardly seems believable!

License Examiners Are Stationed Here

A Midland office was included among units to be staffed by driver license examiners in a re-organization of schedules, effective Saturday, the Associated Press reported.

Elephant Boss Tells Of Charge

Everything connected with elephants is ponderous, including the task of keeping them "beautified." Here are some nuggets of information on the subject from Elvin Welsh, elephant boss of Russell Bros.' Greater American Circus, whose rough-and-ready charges will unpack their trunks full of tricks at Midland Friday, west of the ball park on Highway 80.

Circue elephants have to be shaved regularly because they have sharp fire-like hairs that conceivably might make for the discomfort of the ever soscantily cladyoung ladies who mount them, as pictured above. Their whiskers defy a cutting blade so the "razor" used is an acetylene blowtorch. The process has to be as deftly manipulated as a barber's singe, for an elephant's hide, though rough and tough, is also sensitive. Flies annoy the big beasts no end; that accounts for their habit of swishing wisps of hay up over their backs.

Elephants must be pedicured, too, else they suffer ingrown toe-nails, and a toe-nail as large as a good-size clamshell can cause a lot of pain. An elephant "nail file" can be bought in any hardware store—a carpenter's rasp, the coarser the better. And to reduce the callouses and bunions that sometimes bother the padlike bottom of an elephant's foot, a keen-edged drawknife is used.

Dainty Stars Attend Elephant

Dainty feminine stars present a sharp contrast to the rugged bulk of the performing elephants with Russell Bros.' Circus.

France Forbids Listening In On Radio Broadcasts

VICHY, Unoccupied France (AP)—A new law Thursday forbade Frenchmen to listen to British and certain other radio broadcasts, including what authoritative sources said were Free French stations operating in this country.

The law prescribed fines up to $200 and jail sentences up to 2 years for listening to "anti-national" stations, "whether foreign or not."

The source explained that illegal Communist stations, perhaps not in France, also were included.

The same source said that American stations were not affected if they avoided "anti-national propaganda," defined as "severe criticism of the French government and its policy."

(From London the BBC's mysterious broadcaster, Colonel Britton, will give final instructions Friday to French workers on how to strike 15 minutes later as a protest against the German hostages in their country. The instructions will go out in nine languages.)

Kansas City Police To Furnish Drivers Whisky, Testing Meter

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Wanted: Drivers who like to take a snort or two before taking the old bus out.

The police department is going to give them all the whisky they want and start them out in automobiles to determine just how dangerous a drunk driver is.

A synthetic road, complete with curves and markers, will be set up in the American Royal Pavilion. Spectators—selected safety engineers, physicians, judges, highway patrolmen and police officers—will serve as a board of judges to grade the drivers.

At least thirty will be tested in a two-day demonstration Nov. 18 and 19, Police Chief Harold Anderson said. They will include some who rarely drink, some who drink occasionally and habitual drinkers.

Candidates first will drive the course sober. Ater a dinner each will receive two ounces of his favorite whisky. Twenty minutes later each must drive 200 feet forward, keeping the left wheels between two lines 12 inches apart, then reverse back to the starting point.

More Whisky—More Driving

Half an hour later they will receive another two ounces of whisky and each driver must follow a figure eight outlined by sixteen poles, each bearing a standard highway marker. The course will be fifty feet wide at its widest point. Time limit to cover the course is three minutes.

More whisky and more driving will follow at thirty minute intervals.

Tests with the drunkometer, a device used by police to determine whether a driver is intoxicated, will be interspersed with the driving.

The object, H. W. Johnson, police superintendent of traffic and safety, said, is to prove the efficiency of the drunkometer and to furnish evidence of how much alcohol handicaps driving ability.

Britain Decides Against Seizures

LONDON (AP)—The British government announced Thursday it had decided to waive belligerent rights to seize Axis ships which had been held in United States and other American ports if they are put into service to aid the Allied cause.

The government notified "the several American republics concerned" the decision was taken because of the benefit which Britain will obtain from the plan of the Inter-American financial and advisory committee to use Axis ships taking refuge in their harbors.

The government said that under international law it had a right to take as prizes foreign ships immobilized in American ports and put into use by the neutral country.

Texans Move To Prevent Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Texas delegation in Congress wants a stop put to strikes in defense industries.

They met in private Wednesday and adopted a resolution pledging support of "any necessary and proper legislation which will curb and prevent" such stoppages of production.

The Texans, who asserted that the safety of the country demands that there be no slow-down in the production of defense materials, named Representatives Patman, Luther A. Johnson, Kilday and West, to present the resolution to President Roosevelt Thursday.

Patman, chairman of the delegation, said the resolution was adopted unanimously with a majority of the members attending.

The resolution said that existing and threatened strikes endangered the security of the nation in the gravest crisis of its history.

Britain Fines Coward On Finance Violation

LONDON (AP)—Noel Coward, the playwright, was fined 200 lbs (about $800) and 80 lbs ($80) cost Thursday for violation of Britain's wartime finance regulations.

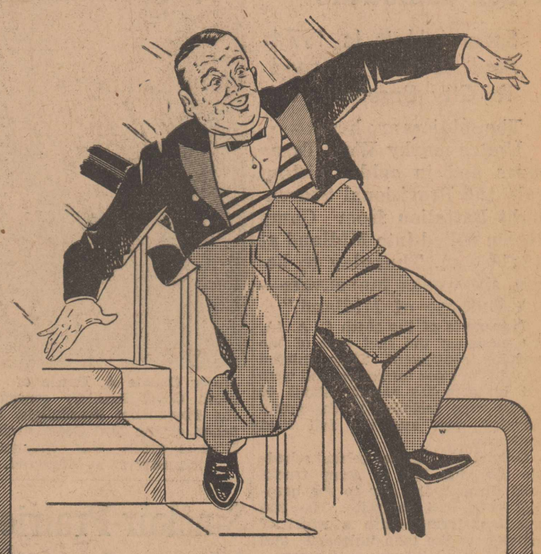

The fine was levied on the first of three summonses charging violation of defense finance regulations. The others were marked "no separate penalty."

The playwright's counsel contended that he was "morally innocent" and that, being a man who was "bored with business," he was unaware of regulations. He explained that Coward had been in England only six weeks from the beginning of the war to May, 1941.

Mrs. Ed Prichard Entertains For Alpha Club

Yellow chrysanthemums were dominant in flower arrangements and the Halloween theme was employed in other appointments for the dessert-bridge with which Mrs. C. Ed Prichard entertained the Alpha Club at her home, 501 Holmsley, Wednesday afternoon.

High score in the two tables of bridge went to Mrs. Jimmie Wilson, club guest, second high to Mrs. C. L. Bradshaw, and bingo to Mrs. Geo. Bennett.

Members attending were: Mmes. James N. Allison, M. B. Arick, Bennett, Bradshaw, A. Knickerbocker, Geo. Todd, and the hostess.

Mrs. Arick will entertain the club at its next meeting.

Mrs. Coughran Hostess To Party For Double Foursome

Mrs. R. E. Estes and Miss Frances Perlatti were playing guests when Mrs. P. B. Coughran complimented the Double Foursome Club with a party at her home, 513 W Wall, Wednesday afternoon.

Roses and chrysanthemums were floral appointments.

In the bridge games high score went to Mrs. Lloyd C. Mills and bingo to Mrs. T. J. Buchanan.

A dessert course was served to the two guests and the following members: Mmes. Houston Hill, James Lupton, Mills, Buchanan, Owen Cochran, and the hostess.

Next Wednesday Mrs. Hill will entertain the group at 400 North D Street.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

The girl who likes to wear attention-getting gadgets (and who doesn't?) will give four-star rating to the new "blackout pins" now being shown. These are miniature lamps with red or green globes, equipped with tiny batteries to make them glow redly or (shall we say?) greenly in darkness. Some one called them stop-and-go pins. Probably the selection is to be made according to one's temperament.

Anyway they are gay little nonsensical novelties to brighten up otherwise sedate jackets and coats.

Also new are the lapel pins of transparent plastic with slim high initials. The same idea is worked out in various gifts which would be welcomed by that best beau now off at camp—or even the one who is still in the old home town.

Our note of praise is sounded, too, for those colored plastic bracelets, hinged and massive-looking, to which gold initials are applied when purchased. Colors are deep enough to give a pleasing note to the winter dress tones.

And while we're speaking of transparencies, there are the acetate table mats, washable, and dainty for use at informal meals.

We're glad the Halloween season is at hand. Halloween is such a gay, hilarious holiday—when one may do with impunity all the crazy, silly things which make people look askance at one who does them during the rest of the year.

Costumes, masks, noisemakers, fortune telling and all the rest of it—why not, so long as the fun is kept free of vulgarity or of pain for others? We still insist that one of the best medicines for the burdens of this world is a sizeable dose of plain and fancy nonsense administered at intervals.

Ticket Sales For Concert Monday Going Well

Advance ticket sales on the concert to be presented here Monday evening at the high school auditorium by Isabel and Silvio Scionti, duo pianists, are going well, officials of the Civic Music Club, sponsoring organization, report. Tickets have been sold in Big Spring, Odessa, and Stanton, as well as Midland.

Pianos for the artists are being supplied by the Moreland Music Company of Big Spring and were brought to Midland Wednesday.

Three Are Guests At Club Party

Mrs. W. T. Schneider, Mrs. Burton Atkinson, and Mrs. J. E. Dickinson were guests when Mrs. Robert S. Dewey, 1210 College Boulevard, was hostess to the Tuesday Bridge Club with a dessert-bridge.

High score in the games went to Mrs. R. L. Blunden and second high to Mrs. Tom Parker, with bingo award to Mrs. Geo. G. Todd.

Members attending were: Mmes. Blunden, O. R. Champion, Parker, Todd, and the hostess.

Chrysanthemums decorated the party rooms.

Mrs. J. Harvey Herd will entertain the club at its next meeting.

Mrs. Foy Proctor Hostess At Party

Fall colors were favored in party appointments when Mrs. Foy Proctor complimented the Enigma Club and a group of guests with an afternoon bridge, Tuesday.

Four tables were appointed for the games in which high score for club was held by Mrs. Clyde Cowden and second high by Mrs. George Glass. High score for guests went to Mrs. William Simpson and bingo award to Mrs. R. M. Turpin.

A dessert plate was served to: Guests, Mmes. Turpin, Al Cowden, Simpson, Hal Peck, Roy Parks, G. E. Hall, and R. B. Cowden; members, Mmes. Harvey Conger, Fay Cowden, Frank Cowden, Guy Cowden, Glass, O. B. Holt, Allen Tolbert, M. C. Ulmer, Clyde Cowden, and the hostess.

Mrs. John Cornwall Entertains With Bridge-Luncheon

Entertaining with a luncheon in the Blue Room of Hotel Scharbauer followed by an afternoon bridge at her home, 705 N Pecos, Mrs. John Cornwall was hostess to the Tuesday Luncheon Club and a group of guests.

Playing with the club were the hostess' houseguest, Mrs. C. J. Becker of Shawnee, Oklahoma, Mrs. Phil Stuart, also of Shawnee, guest of Mrs. A. B. Cather, Mrs. Robert R. Brown of Roswell, guest of Mrs. C. P. Butcher, Mrs. Harris Eastman, and Mrs. Glenn Lewis.

Members present were: Mmes. C. P. Butcher, A. B. Cather, David S. Googins, R. W. Hamilton, J. E. Simmons, R. C. Tucker, and the hostess.

Chrysanthemums were table decorations for luncheon and the same blossoms and other garden flowers decorated the Cornwall home.

Mrs. Barron Reads "Thunder Rock" at Club Meeting

Mrs. R. M. Barron presented the program at the meeting of Play Readers Club with Mrs. B. K. Buffington, 514 W Holmsley, Wednesday afternoon. She read "Thunder Rock" by Robert Ardrey.

Guests were Mrs. Bill Bailey, Mrs. Fred Cassidy, Mrs. S. A. Debnam, and Mrs. Olive Hamlin, mother of the hostess.

A refreshment course was served to these and to the following members: Mmes. E. H. Barron, R. M. Barron, De Lo Douglas, Fred Fuhrman, Wallace Irwin, Charles L. Klapproth, W. W. LaForce, Robert Muldrow, W. T. Schneider, Fred Wilcox, Miss Geraldine Dabney, Miss Eloise Norman, and the hostess.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. R. M. Barron.

Lines Can Give Face Character

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Staff Writer

In their attitudes toward growing older, too many women are Pollyannas or Dolorosas.

Dolorosa regards thirty with anxiety, forty with plain panic. There's nothing she can do to ward off the imprint of the years, she says, and she looks defeated at twenty-eight.

Pollyanna wants to know why spend time keeping herself looking young instead of growing old peacefully as nature intended? And she, too, is very likely to look passe before she's thirty—at which age, discovering her face is fading, she expects miracles of cosmetics.

There's something in what both of them think, but each needs to limber up her sense of humor by nursing it more! That's the No. 1 prerequisite to ageless charm. If you doubt it, ask any keen-witted woman of forty whether THAT birthday wasn't fun, whereas at fifteen she looked up twenty-five as the shelf.

Cosmetics Can't Do Whole Job, But They'll Help

Such a woman learns early and easily that it's perfectly true, no elixir, nor stimulating wriggle will permanently restore a wilted contour or a creased skin—but it's also true that the cosmetic counters and the beauty salon's shelves are weighted down with things which will work wonders temporarily.

They will keep us looking fresher through the years. For instance, one characteristic of the older skin is its tendency to dryness, and just to cope with that, one outstanding house offers an extra-rich cream to lubricate both older and abnormally dry faces.

Nature, fortunately, lets most of us live far beyond mere maturity. But lend a helping hand we must if we expect to stay attractive.

So pamper yourself intelligently. If beauty routine keeps you young looking.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels; so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

AAUW Will Have Luncheon Session

Midland branch of AAUW will have a luncheon meeting in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer, Saturday at 12:30 o'clock.

Great Britain has about one billion dollars invested in German and German-occupied countries, the Department of Commerce reported.

Two Are Hostesses To Happy Hour Club

Wednesday Happy Hour Club met at the home of Miss Annie Hankla, 414 E Washington, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with Miss Alta Merrell as cohostess.

Chrysanthemums in varied colors decorated the house.

The evening was spent in the discussion of current events questions conducted by Miss Hankla and in sewing for the Red Cross.

A salad plate was served to: Misses Astrid Bratt, Verda Donaldson Dena Leonard, and the hostesses.

Next meeting will be November 12 at 411 N Colorado with Misses Lillian Carlson and Astrid Bratt as hostesses.

Bluebonnet Club Has Meeting With Mrs. Pemberton

Mrs. Brooks Pemberton was hostess to the Bluebonnet Club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Middleton on the Country Club Road.

Flowers decorated the house.

The group spent the club hours in crocheting and doing fancy work, accompanied by conversation.

Mrs. Middleton was a guest.

Members present were: Mmes. J. H. Barron, S. T. Cole, J. F. Garber, D. W. Brunson, V. Z. Wren, W. W. Wimberly, Frank Ingham, and the hostess.

Mrs. Pemberton, assisted by Mrs. Middleton, served a refreshment course.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Wren.

Hospitality Committee Makes Convention Plans

General plans for extending Midland hospitality to visitors here for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention Monday and Tuesday were made at a meeting of the hospitality committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

Detroit Player Leads Football Ground Gainers

SEATTLE (AP)—Old "open date" threw Bill Dudley of Virginia for a loss last Saturday, and Sophomore Elmer Madarik of Detroit took over individual total offensive football ground gaining honors.

Madarik, a stellar forward passer, completed 611 aerial yards and 301 on the ground for a total offensive figure of 912 yards, in 142 plays for five games.

Dudley's total offensive figure still stands at 825 yards, consisting of 376 rushing and 449 passing. He has totaled 127 plays in five games.

American Football Statistical Bureau figures showed Johnny Grigas of Holy Cross continuing as the top rusher with 573 ground yards in five games. He is followed by Frank Sinkwich of Georgia, the boy with the broken jaw, who has broken the opposing line for 538 yards.

Price Tops Punters

Owen Price of Texas Mines retained his forward passing lead with 48 completions out of 103 attempts for 481 yards. The bureau rates the passers on completions. Most passing yards have been made by Madarik—611. Highest completion percentage—.739, belongs to Jimmy Richardson of Marquette, who completed 34 of 46. Bill Sewell of Washington State, last year's leader, has had 11 interceptions to assume that dubious honor.

Price also leads the punters, with a 44.59 average, and seems headed for national punting leadership the second straight year. Howard Keating of Detroit has hauled in 20 of Madarik's passes for 236 yards to lead the pass receivers.

Cranberry Cake Sweet And Low In Cost

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

Spiced delicately, here's a food value dessert cake for the dessert budget. Cranberries provide vitamins and minerals, butter and eggs do their nutritional share, and the seasoning and spices keep the appetite up to 100 per cent enthusiasm.

CRANBERRY SPICE CAKE

Half cup butter, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, 2 cups cake fluur, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup raisins, 1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts, 1 cup cranberry sauce.

Cream butter and sugar until light; add beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients together; add raisins and nuts. Combine, alternately with cranberry sauce, to first mixture. Bake in 2 greased layer cake pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cool. Put together and cover with cranberry icing.

CRANBERRY ICING

One and one-half cups granulated sugar, pinch of cream of tartar, 1/2 cup 10-minute cranberry sauce juice, 2 egg whites, whipped stiff, pink vegetable coloring.

Combine sugar, cream of tartar and cranberry sauce juice in sauce pan and cook until syrup forms a soft ball in cold water—238 degrees F. Pour slowly onto whipped egg whites, beating constantly between each addition. Add pink coloring to give delicate tint. Continue beating until icing holds its shape. Spread between and on top of cake layers.

Another sweet nutrients:

QUEEN OF PUDDINGS
(Serves 4 to 6)

Two cups milk, 1 cup bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon preserves.
vanilla, strawberry or raspberry

Scald milk and add bread crumbs, sugar and salt. Cool slightly, add beaten egg yolks and vanilla, pour into buttered baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for about 40 minutes or until custard is almost firm. Spread top of pudding with preserves and cover with a meringue made from whites of eggs and 1/4 cup sugar. Return to oven and bake 15 or 20 minutes longer, until meringue is firm and delicately brown.

British Position In Middle East Depends On Success In Libya

Ey Edward Kennedy

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN EGYPT (AP)—Coming weeks in Egypt's western desert may answer one of war's biggest questions — whether the British have developed enough striking power to throw back German armored divisions.

At Tobruk, British island of resistence on the coast of Eastern Libya for the first time since the war started they have shown sufficient strength and skill to hold off attacks of German armored units, supported by intense dive-bombing.

Now that it has been demonstrated that the Germans can be defied, halted and frustrated, a greater test is in sight—whether they can be routed.

For this reason, experts say, any offensive which may be undertaken in the desert against the Germans, their Italian allies, may be one of the war's most significant engagements.

If the British dislodge axis troops from Libya while the main German forces, especially the air force, is tied up in Russia, observers believe there is a good prospect the Middle East can be held.

Rumanian Officers Say War In Russia Practically Ended

By Ernest G. Fischer

WITH THE RUMANIAN ARMY AT TIRASPOL, OCCUPIED RUSSIA (Delayed)—(AP) — Day and night the tramp of boots and the clatter of horseshoes echo through the cobblestoned streets of this ancient city on the Dniester as a section of the Rumanian armed forces, loaded with booty, returns home from Russian conquests.

Rumanian officers say the Russian war is over for them except for a cavalry corps, and perhaps two more corps, which will continue to represent Rumania in what they call a "common European front against Bolshevism."

(Anywhere from 100,000 to 250,000 men might be included in three corps.)

Apparently the Rumanians regard their territorial ambitions satisfied with an advance to the Bug River, from 50 to 100 miles beyond their 1939 frontier at the Dniester.

One returning contingent was strung out for approximately 20 miles and was hours passing through this city. These troops were afoot and mounted, but mostly rode hundreds of horse-drawn wagons taken as war booty in the Ukraine.

MIND Your MANNERS

T. M. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When driving through a town where you plan to look up friends who do not expect you, is it best to telephone before going by to see them?

2. Is it good manners to call up a friend when you are going through his town and say "guess who this is" when he answers the telepone?

3. Should a girl visit an Army camp if the soldier she knows there has not given her a specific invitation?

4. Would it be all right for a girl who has visited a young man at an Army camp and been entertained by him to send him a carton of cigarets when she returns home?

5. Before sending a gift to a soldier should one consider whether or not it will take up too much room?

What would you do if—

A friend of yours buys an automobile of the same make as a car that you found gave poor service—

(a) Tell him what bad luck you had with your car of the same make?

(b) Keep still about your experience, since he has already bought the car?

Answers

1. Yes.
2. No.
3. No.
4. Yes, and they would probably be appreciated.
5. Yes, that is one of the most important considerations in choosing a gift for a man in an Army camp.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b). If he had asked your advice before buying the car, then you should have told him of your experience.

Representatives Of Farm Agencies To Area Session

Midland County AAA employes and representatives of other government agricultural agencies were in Big Spring Thursday to attend a 19-county meeting at which plans for the Food-For-Freedom campaign in this area will be made. The meeting will last two days.

I. O. Sturkie, county agent, Miss Josephine Elliott, AAA secretary, M. W. Whitmire, B. T. Hale, and W. E. Pigg, county committeemen, and O. M. Fowler, FSA supervisor, left Thursday morning for the session.

J. Louis Thomas of the Midland Production Credit Association and Miss Alpha Lynn, county home demonstration agent, were scheduled to attend Friday.

The district meeting is one of 12 in the state to get the food production campaign going. It will be followed by farm-to-farm canvasses and signing pledge sheets in each county.

Whitmire, chairman of the Midland County USDA defense board, said the campaign here probably would start about Nov. 1.

Warns Nationals To Leave China

SHANGHAI (AP)—The British embassy in China Thursday night urged all British nationals in Japanese-occupied territory to leave as soon as possible because of "recent developments."

It was stated authoritatively that the British regard "the political situation in the Orient as having further deteriorated."

The embassy's action was said to have been taken after consultation between British officials in China and authorities in London.

Those who do not leave at once were advised they must "henceforth be prepared to remain where they are, irrespective of the future course of events, since no similar opportunity for British subjects to evacuate is likely to recur."

Hot Spot Revue Carnival Feature

Among the feature attractions that line the brilliantly lighted midway of T. J. Tidwell Shows, playing across from the ball park, is the show pictured above. Two others are "Miss America" and "Red, Hot and Blue". The "Harlem Southern Frolics" has its own band and orchestra. The latest riding devices, "Suicide" Simon, world's greatest fire diver, "Queenie" the educated elephant, complete a night entertainment at the West Texas outdoor show.

Morgenthau States Increased Security Tax Will Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced Thursday a program of steep increases in social security taxes would be ready for congressional consideration within the next two months.

He declined to give proposed new rates, but disclosed at a press conference that the size of the increases would be geared definitely "to mop up the extra money in people's pockets for which there will not be goods to buy."

In some authoritative circles it has been reported Morgenthau favors increasing the employe's old-age pension tax from 1 per cent to 5 per cent of his pay check. Morgenthau, however, said he was "not satisfied yet with the plans and not ready to give out figures.

Dr. Cox Reports Health Services

AUSTIN (Special) — Detailing some of the ways the State Department of Health is aiding each county in the prevention and control of communicable disease, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, revealed Thursday that the number of specimens examined and the amount of vaccines distributed free to Midland County in 1940 by the state hygienic laboratory would have cost $2482.80 if purchased through private laboratories.

"The service rendered to this county is but one of twelve organized services set up to help you," Dr. Cox added.

The other services maintained by the State Department of Health include vital statistics, food and drug inspection, venereal disease control, public health education, tuberculosis control, sanitary engineering, maternal and child health, nursing service, local health service, and administration.

The State Department of Health operates on a state appropriation of four cents per person, which amounts to $468.84 for county.

Marilyn Sidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sidwell and student Virginia-International College, is in the hospital at Bristol, Va., for treatment of injuries received when she was thrown from her horse last Saturday. She was not seriously injured, Mrs. Sidwell reported.

Leaders and husbands present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. James Lupton, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bucher, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berg, Mrs. J. C. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Zimmerly, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kotyza, and Mr. and Mrs. Steven Leach.

Retake Census Produces 442 More Students

Location of a U. S. Army Air Corps Advanced Flying School here, bringing an influx of residents was advanced as the reason for a gain of 442 scholastics in Midland public schools on a retake census completed Wednesday.

The State Department of Education recommended additional equipment and increased faculty members to handle the increase. Midland officials announced the greatest need was for classroom space.

The state department accepted 442 out of 457 names on the census re-take. John Olsen represented the department. Board of trustee members, L. C. Link, C. D. Vertrees, and Percy Bridgewater, represented the Midland system.

Find No Trace Of Blond Bank Robber

NOCONA (AP)—Northwest Texas officers Thursday had found no trace of the paper sack bandit who Wednesday robbed the People's National Bank here of more than $5,000.

They were seeking a young man, blond, who dropped from sight in a crowd of school children after outdistancing a pursuer.

Warfare . . .

guard resistance had been shattered and that German forces were "relentlessly on the heels of the defeated enemy."

Several thousand more Soviet prisoners were taken, the high command said, as Nazi troops pushed on across age-old Crimean battlefields toward Russia's big Black Sea naval base at Sevastopol, 100 miles south.

A bulletin from Hitler's East Front headquarters gave no specific details of the advance into the upper Donets Basin, where the Germans already had captured Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine."

Soviet dispatches, conceding the fall of Kharkov, declared that in taking the city the Germans had lost nearly 120,000 killed and wounded, 450 tanks, 3,000 trucks and 200 guns.

Moscow Reds Gain

Around the key Don River port of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields, the Russians said they were stubbornly resisting all Nazi attempts at a breakthrough.

"Our units are gradually strengthening and improving their positions," the Moscow radio said, referring to the Rostov front.

In the Stalino sector, 100 miles north of Rostov, Germany's Italian allies acknowledged they had been halted by Russian counter-attacks and added that they had not been given "a moment's peace and rest in eight days"—as reported by Stefani, the official Iitalian news agency.

On the Central Front, it seemed clear the German armies were stalled for the moment if not actually losing ground in the 29-day-old drive on Moscow.

A Red Army communique again noted bitter all-night fighting in the familiar sectors of Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest of Moscow; Mozhaisk, 57 miles west, and Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest.

Soviet front-line dispatches said Gen. Gregory H. Zhukov's Moscow defense forces had seized the initiative and recaptured half a dozen or more villages in three days of counter-attacks.

Walsh Concedes Bill Opposition Has Been Beaten

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Walsh (D-Mass), one of the leaders in the fight on neutrality revision, conceded Thursday the Senate probably would pass the bill next week in its present form—approving the arming of merchantmen and lifting the ban on their operation in combat areas.

"Although there are some rumors going around that we might be able to eliminate the section permitting merchant ships to sail to belligerent ports," Walsh said, "the administration usually gets what it wants in here."

Democratic Leader Barkley appeared pleased with the way debate on the measure was moving along and spoke optimistically of getting a final vote by next Wednesday.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla), an all-out administration man on matters of foreign policy, thought the opposition already had lost its spirit.

Behind The Headlines

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt MacKenzie, was written Thursday by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

Thursday's dispatches from the Volga and from Moscow permit a short but sharp glimpse of the primary reasons why the Red Armies defending the Red capital can stand today and even fight back under conditions which are fast approaching those of Verdun.

Tenry Cassidy, the Associated Press chief of bureau in Russia, a self-contained New Englander who has both shrewdness and penetration, tells the story of one of Stalin's "leap frog" factories. This one was uprooted from the Ukranian capital of Kiev shortly after the German-Russian war started and moved bodily to the Volga River country, a distance of perhaps 800 miles, where in September it doubled it Kiev output.

The censor does not permit Cassidy to say what the factory is making, but it is safe to guess that this plant and its brother "leap frogs" from Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov and other industrial cities now threatened or actually captured by the Germans are turning out the tanks ,the shells and the guns which still are killing Nazis outside Moscow—three weeks after Hitler's propagandists said that "final" battle of the year was over.

Thurday morning's early Moscow communique tells, too, of Kharkov, captured Donets Basin city where the empty rooms of blackened factories laugh hollowly at the German army of occupation.

The communique says: "Kharkov has been left by our troops for strategic considerations at a time when the Soviet command deemed it expedient and not when the Germans wanted. During this period (September and most of October all the most important factories and plants, railway rolling stock, raw material stores and other valuables were evacuated from the town in time."

This is in part a story of machines and a story of planning, for Joseph Stalin has revealed to the British Lord Beaverbrook that these "leap frog" factories were built that way.

a territory that can claim as fine an organization as the WTCC.

"It is up to us to join hands and work together for the common good of our West Texas empire. The convention will be streamlined for business. Wear your host badges and display the friendly spirit for which Midland is noted.

"Midland is noted for its friendliness and for its real West Texas welcome. We must never neglect courtesy."

He told of a recent discourteous incident to a new citizen in a retail store, said he had offered apologies and trusted such a discourtesy would never be repeated in Midland.

House recalled events which led to the building of the Advanced Flying School in Midland, and asserted it now is up to every citizen to cooperate with the Army Air Corps in its program here.

He pointed out that Midland's classification as a defense city entitled it to priorities which should make available materials needed here for further growth and expansion and suggested that a study be made of all possibilities.

Wemple told the meeting "Midland's only danger is in indifference and self-interest."

"Don't get it into your head you are going to make a fortune and move away or retire," he asserted. "You won't do either. Give more of your time unselfishly to your community. Take time from your business to perpetuate our prosperity."

Lt. Col. I. Davies, commanding office at Sloan Field, and Major H. R. Baxter, executive office, were guests at the meeting. Eugene Jones, president of Future Farmers chapter, was the Rotarian's high school student guest.

Sealy appointed Clint Lackey, George D. McCormick, and W. R. Tillman members of the Rotary program committee for November.

After Bob Hamilton extended an invitation from the American Legion post for the service clubs to participate in its Armistice Day celebration, McHargue appointed Bob Scruggs, Stanley Erskine and Bill Collyns to serve as committee from the Lions club to arrange its part in the community celebration. Sealy appointed to the Rotary committee to work out its cooperation the following: Percy Mims, McCormick and Barney Greathouse.

Mrs. Robert R. Brown of Roswell, N. M., is the guest of Mrs. C. P. Butcher.

Sanders And Harkins, Understudies For Crain And Layden, Outdo Stars In Texas Longhorns' Passing Game

By Harold V. Ratliff

DALLAS (AP) — After Texas slaughtered Rice last week one coach said: "Texas had the three best teams I've seen."

And it's understudies to the starting eleven that make Texas such an overwhelming favorite to thunder over Southern Methodist here Saturday. (Local betting odds are 4 to 1 if you like SMU.)

If understudies were supposed to be close copies of the real thing the Longhorns would be an incongruous outfit indeed. Because the first-line subs for Jack Crain and Pete Layden, Texas' mighty touchdown men, certainly do not resemble them in face and figure.

Layden, 185-pound fullback, has an understudy named R. L. Harkins, who weighs 160 pounds.

Crain, the sawed-off barrel-shaped tailback, gets relief from 195-pound Spec Sanders.

Both Harkins and Sanders have managed to steal Layden and Crain's thunder in several ways.

Layden's Passing Falls Off

In pass-receiving, one of Jack's major chores, Sanders is far ahead with 109 yards to 80, each in 12 receptions.

Layden was known as a passer before the season opened yet Harkins ranks second in the Southwest with 25 shots for 316 yards while Layden hasn't completed enough to be rated among the top seven.

In other ways Crain and Layden lead but their understudies are not exactly impotent.

Crain has run up 277 yards in 33 runs. Sanders has chalked up 156 in 20. In punt returns—Crain's forte—Sanders is doing all right with 154 yards on 9 kicks. Crain has 206 in 12 returns.

Layden has turned his attention principally to ball-carrying, leading the conference with 324 yards. But Harkins is pretty good, too, carrying 41 times for 115 yards.

Just an indication of what the Mustangs—short on reserves—have to do Saturday if they hold down the mighty Texas scoring machine.

Tootin' Bootin' Star Of Northwestern May Give Gophers Trouble

By Earl Hilligan

EVANSTON, Illl. ((AP)—He plays a mean trumpet, French horn, piano, violin, harmonica—and he's a one-man band on the gridiron.

Step up, you football jitterbugs, and meet Otto Graham of Northwestern, who runs the yard lines with as much rhythm as he does the musical scale and is tooting one of the liveliest sophomore football tunes in the school's history.

He's 19 years old. His dad is band director at nearby Waukegan, Ill., high school. His mother is a church organist and his three brothers all are accomplished musicians.

He's good at tootin'—and equally as good at bootin', shootin' and scootin' with a football, as attested by a record of three touchdowns against Kansas State, two against Wisconsin, one against Michigan and two scoring passes against Ohio State.

That kind of pigskin symphony has made him one of the sophomore backs of the year. If he hits the right pitch Saturday against Minnesota, Northwestern likely will caper to a championship key in the Big Ten race.

Baugh Increases Punting Average

CHICAGO (AP)—Sammy Baugh, the great Washington Redskins halfback, is just getting up to the defense of his National Football League punting title.

Baugh, who produced the year's longest boot — 75 yards — against New York on Sept. 28 just to prove he still is in the league, saw his average sliding downward for the three weeks previous to last Sunday. Then, against Cleveland, he delivered six punts averaging 56.8 yards and boosted his year's mark to 52.9 yards.

Only one other player has a higher standing—Norm Standlee of the Chicago Bears—but Norm has kicked only two times for his 63 yard average. Other leaders are Jack Banta of Washington, two kicks averaging 52 yards; Kay Eakin of New York, seven for 51, and Dean McAdams of Brooklyn, 11 for 50.5.

Ward Is Threat In Mexico Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP) — In the United States airplanes fly at 8,000 feet, but Mexico is starting its amateur golf championship Thursday at 8,000 feet altitude and with U. S. Amateur Champion Bud Ward already the leading threat.

Ward shot a 67, only one above the course record, in a practice round over the course which lies high above Mexico City.

He is one of 15 United States golfers here to join Mexcians in one of the few international golf matches left in a warring world.

Others in clude Wilford Wehrle of Chicago; Johnny Dawson of Los Angeles; Bobby Riegel of Houston, a semi-finalist here last year and Ward's finalist opponent for the U. S. title; Spec Stewart of Roswell, N. M., and Fred Perry, the tennis pro who says "tennis is business but golf is sport."

SPORTSLANE

—With Tanner Laine

Remember when they called a center, center-rush? E. G. Bedford, who has a truck farm north of Midland does. He was one—a six-foot-three center-rush for Centre College on its first football team. That was 1893 and 48 seasons ago. Bedford, called "Evergreen" by his teammates, was a member of Centre's team that went three seasons undefeated, before the time of Bo McMillan and the "Praying Colonels." The center for Centre, has a picture of the team, which included several men who later became well known surgeons, lawyers, etc. He kept a record of the team members.

We could say we told you so. But rather we just will relate the facts of what Windell Williams, the ex-Midland high ace, did in his first college football game. All the big 195-pounder from Midland did was score a touchdown in the Rice Institute freshman team's win 9-0 over the Texas freshmen and gain the press plaudits of every sports writer at the game. He was cited as a star of the game. We quote the Houston Post: "Williams with speed to burn, played a game at end that had the Texas followers coming to the press box to find out who he was and where he came from. He's from Midland and folks will hear plenty about him in the future." Also Williams was mentioned as among Rice frosh players Institute supporters wished had come along to Rice a couple of years ago. Williams scored a touchdown on a pass he took in the end zone. "The tackles looked good and the same can be said of the ends, with Williams of course, the No. 1 man," the story read. Windell raced to the six - yard marker on an end-around play. To top it all, William's roommate J. E. McVickers of Plainview was a standout linesman. Sportslane came to Midland late last fall and the first thing I saw that impressed me was Windell Williams running and he hasn't stopped yet. He's big, he's fast, he's smart, he's an all-around athlete, and he's headed for Southwest Conference stardom.

Are you keeping tab on J. R. Callahan, the great Wink back that's showing them how at Texas Tech? Well, here's some more data for your little black book. Callahan has scored 15 points, two touchs and three conversions; is the leading rush gainer with a net yardage of 14 in 29 carries and has lost only 12 markers. Also he is the Raiders' best passer with 10 completions out of 24 throws for a gain of 308 yards including five touchdown pegs. He's great, my friends, and the Scarlet and Black is glad to get him, don't think they aren't.

Midland has the cutest (we use that word about once per annum) and best looking coeds in the strut twirl and pep business in District 3-AA and the state for that matter. This column says you won't find fairer maidens than these bundles of personality: Ann Vannaman, 'Gina Stolte, Belva Jo Knight, Sue, Shephard, Elma Jean Noble, Mary Frances Carter, Glenna Jones, Margaret Ann West, and Betty Lou Ward. Watch 'em work Friday night! Watch 'em prance and dance.

When Brittie Neill the secretary-quarterback stuck me for a box of candy, betting, and answering sports questions with alarming accuracy, Sportslane knew something was amiss about this Irish miss. Here it is—she's kin to Jim Neill, the ex-Texas Tech back and pro-football ace, now coaching at Lamesa high. But from as far out on the limb as you can go without breaking it, we predict for Neill, Miss Kathleen Eiland, and all you Texas U. followers, some sad moments Saturday afternoon when those Red-Blue Spots get in the Eyes of Texas and the Southern Methodist Mustangs upset the Orange Wave Longhorns.

Coaches Work On Forward Wall To Stop Eagle Club

In the last hard drill for the Abilene set-to here Friday night the Midland Bulldogs Wednesday practiced on defense.

Coaches Earle Clark and Lwood Dow sharpened the defensive wits of every squad member in an effort to perfect a rock-ribbed wall to stop the Eagles.

Abilene comes to Midland in the best physical shape since early in the season. Coach Vernon Hilliard fears one thing — over-confidence. Abilene has never beaten Midland having lost in '39 and '40. The Eagles dropped the last two games played, to Odessa and Sweetwater.

Midland was at full strength in practice Wednesday with Robert Wheeler on hand. Wheeler missed the Big Spring game because of ineligibility.

The game, with no bearing on the title flag, means much to both elevens. Midland is after its first win of the season; Abilene wants to climb in conference standing.

A final tapering drill was carded for the Bulldogs Thursday afternoon.

Lufkin Will Get District Test In Buccaneer Eleven

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lufkin's powerhouse, rated the mightiest team to come out of the piney woods since Longview stormed to the 1937 state championship, gets its test Friday night.

Corpus Christi's Buccaneers, who always must be figured in when schoolboy campaigns are run, surge up from South Texas with a record second only to Lufkin.

They're calling this "the first battle of the state semi-finals," reasoning that these two teams are powerful enough to warrant the prediction they will be back in December when the title drive is at it height.

A sell-out crowd of 5,000 is forecast when the two teams battle at Lufkin—the only game in the state for the week matching unbeaten, untied elevens.

No. 1 and No. 2 in scoring—Lufkin has 296 to 6 for the opposition and Corpus Christi 245 to 19—the game should be a high-powered offensive duet.

Austin Plays Brackenridge

Lufkin is generally favored to win but Corpus Christi has a team reminiscent of the 1938 outfit that swept to the state title—deceptive, hard-blocking and air-minded.

Of the 55 contests scheduled, 32 are conference tests with the Austin-Brackenridge (San Antonio) game due to virtually determine the District 15 championship.

Pampa plays at Lubbock in a stand-out tilt of District 1. Pampa now is regarded as the major obstacle in the way of Amarillo's title hopes but a loss to Lubbock would just about leave everything to the Sandies.

This week's district schedule includes:

1—Friday: Hollis, Okla. at Borger; Saturday: Pampa at Lubbock (conference), North Side (Fort Worth) at Amarillo.

2—Friday: Quanah at Vernon (conference), Wichita Falls at Graham (conference), Childress at Olney (conference).

3—Friday: Plainview at Big Springs, Loarine at Colorado City, San Angelo at Odessa (conference), Abilene at Midland (conference), Lamesa at Sweetwater (conference).

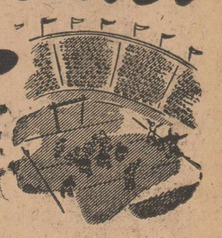

4—Friday: El Paso high at Phoenix, Ariz., Mesa, Ariz., at Austin (El Paso), Hatch, N. M., at Ysleta.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

Everybody knows that "dumb" women make poor mothers. But so do exceptionally bright women. Before you disagree, think about the women in our town who have the best brains.

Isn't it true that as mothers, many of them have these faults:

They don't consider home-making a full-time job and so try to combine it with a career. Either that, or they forego the career, only to have their restlessness lead them into taking on so many community responsibilities they might just as well have paid jobs.

They have "theories" about child training, which they follow religiously while they are popular, but throw over the minute the psychologists decide a theory is outmoded, and do a complete right-about-face. They allow the child to "express" himself one year, and the next year he is strictly disciplined—because the psychologists decide that the world is becoming more and more regimented, and that to get along in such a world a child must know how to obey orders—even though last year they thought he ought not to ever hear any orders, only suggestions.

"NO" NEVER BECOMES "YES"

When Sally begins to reform her family, they know so well that she is only being a natural adolescent that they don't have enough sympathy for her. They find her merely an amusing study, and if they have any pity, it is for themselves.

They never let their hearts rule their heads when it comes to saying "Yes" or "No" to a child — and so take away from their children the exciting hope that with wheedling a parental "No" might be changed into a "well, all right — but."

They are so good at sensibly seeing their children's shortcomings that their children often develop terrible inferiority complexes.

Sometimes they are even so smart their children recognize it and are deprived of the rightful feeling that they know more than their parents. And that is certainly hard on a child.

Dutch traders had built huts on Manhattan as early as 1613.

Make Own Halloween Decorations

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

If you want a brightly colored and humorous centerpiece for your Halloween party, make a large orange paper pumpkin with two giddy goblins dancing beside it. Follow these simple instructions carefully.

Pumpkin Decoration

Cover a wire ball frame 10 inches in diameter with strips of orange crepe paper cut 10 inches across the grain. Fold the strip in half lengthwise and cut each strip two or three inches shorter than the depth of the wire frame. Gather one end together and paste over the top ring of the frame. Then stretch the paper down to the bottom ring and paste in place. Repeat until frame is completely covered. Be sure to overlap each strip to hide the raw edge of the previous one.

GOBLIN HEAD: The head is a tube of orange crepe paper 6 1/2 inches deep and 9 inches in circumference. Stuff tube with cotton or tissue and tie with spool wire 1 inch from top and bottom. Cut features out of white gummed paper tape. Cover nose and mouth sections with black crepe paper and paste in place. Black gummed dots may be used for eyes.

HAIR: Spool wire wrapped with a very narrow strip of black or yellow crepe paper and wound around a pencil makes wonderful curls.

ARMS AND LEGS: Wrap separately three No. 15 wires, each 36 inches long, with a narrow strip of orange crepe paper. Wind each wire arount a large pencil or dowl stick to form a spiral. Leave two inches at one end of two wires unwound. Place these wires close to the surplus neck crepe below doll's head and tie all together ith spool wire. Hold arm wire at right angles to doll's body and wrap all together with orange crepe paper. Criss-cross the wrapping over and under the arms to hold them in place. Then wrap another 18-inch piece of No. 15 wire with the orange paper and insert it in one leg spiral. Wrap the one end in with the body. Bend the opposite end to form a standard on which the doll stands.

SKIRT: The skirt is a ruffle of amber-colored crepe paper cut across the grain about 5 inches wide and 18 inches long. Fold the strip in half lengthwise and shirr folded edge over a knitting needle. Slip onto a 6-inch piece of spool wire and remove the needle. Then tie in place around doll's waist.

COLLAR: Make neck ruff same as the skirt, only using a strip of green crepe paper 3 inches wide and 12 or 15 inches long.

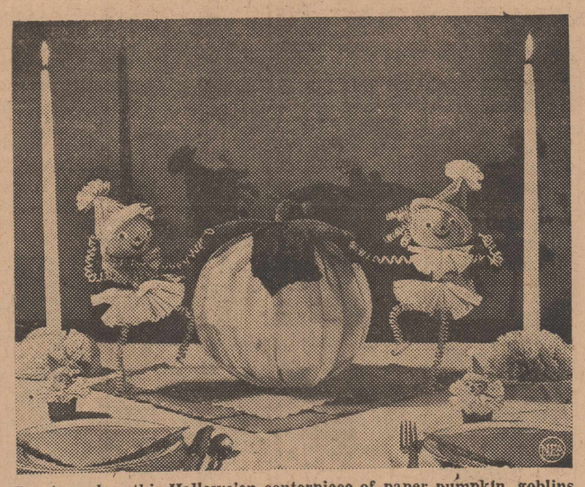

MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange and grapefruit juice, creamed codfish on toast, whole-wheat muffins, tart jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Baked beans, brown bread, cabbage and apple salad, tea, milk.

DINNER: Lamb stew with canned peas and fresh carrots, baked potatoes, hearts of celery, prune pie, coffee, milk.

Capitol Seeks To Build Confidence For Post-War Era

By Peter Edson
The Reporter-Telegram
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — In the very middle, or maybe it's only the beginning, of this confusion over readjustments of the defense effort, it may seem silly to start worrying about the readjustments of the post-war period, but since you aren't considered normal these days unless you're worrying about something, it's just as convenient to enlarge the acreage of your bald spot worrying about the future as it is to confine yourself exclusively to present predicaments. So, putting away your mournful oboe and unsheathing the piping piccolo, here are random notes about the way the readjustments for peace are beginning to be worried about in Washington.

One of the commonest plaints these days is that while these times are tough and while the depression was disastrous, the post-peace treaty panic is going to be worse than both put together—worse than any post-war slump has ever been. Almost any barber shop economist or bridge table seer will tell you so.

BAD MEDICINE LAST

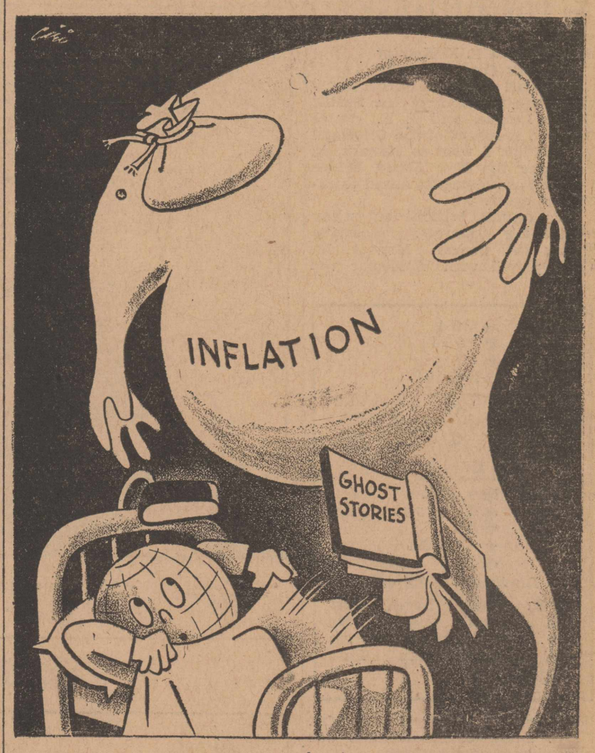

The most optimistic of these predictions is that for a couple years after the armistice, God speed it, business may be pretty good, for industry will have to do a lot of catching up producing the automobiles, refrigerators, radios, washing machines and such stuff the country will not be producing in this era of defense production. But after those few years, look out for the deluge. War debts will be terrific, employment will sluff off, all these new defense factories will have to shut down, Europe will be starving and it will be up to the western hemisphere to feed the world and rebuild bombed cities and never mind about the bill. So runs this forecast of doom .

The common assumption is that the only insurance against this doomsday now being considered by the government is the building up of a shelf of public works projects, a blacklog of WPA and PWA blueprints which can be pulled out on demand, and all the people now employed on defense work can be given boondoggling jobs till the clouds roll by. That's a dismal outlook at best, and such a prospect always brings you face to face with the reality that if the country is going to be broke by defense costs anyway, how can it possibly pay for multi-billion-dollar public works programs?

An extremist solution to this problem is that the country should be permitted to go through a period of uncontrolled inflation which would in effect permit the payment of the defense bills with cheap currency, wiping all slates clean and letting everything start all over again on a new basis. That is of course jungle law thinking, for any such program would wipe out all savings and eliminate the so-called middle class at the same time.

In the face of all such crack-pot thinking, there is in Washington a growing opinion that the world in general and the United States in particular must not feel that it is licked after the war. One of the problems is to convince enough people that there is this hope, and then build up confidence that the world's ills can be cured by something other than resort to wolf tactics—the survival of the strong and sacrifice of the weak.

Nations Shudder When Fat Ghost Of Inflation Walks--Nazis Understand

By Milton Bronner
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — As spiraling prices daily cost Uncle Sam millions in defense dollars, the boggy-word "inflation" is again on people's lips throughout the land. But of those Americans who use the word there are few who know what 100 per cent inflation means in terms of dislocation of a nation's economy.

The Germans know what it means. The word still sends cold shivers up the backs of thousands of them. The fact of inflation was one of the steps in the ladder up which Adolf Hitler climbed to his present power.

Let me set down factually how it worked in Germany in the fatal years 1923, when the German printing presses began rolling off "money." I was never in Germany when the dollar brought millions of German marks instead of a mere four. The highwater during my business visit was 60,000 to the dollar.

Now see how it worked. For the Germany it was terrifying. His salary or his wages could not keep up with the soaring prices. The laboring class fared better than others, because through their strong unions they could demand and secure more wages to try to cope with the price of things. But in that way the vicious spiral began.

Because wages went up, prices up still farther. The white collar class —clerks, teachers, government officials, salaried employees—having no unions, suffered the most. They could not enforce salary boost after boost.

Middle-class old people, who had retired, having invested their money in government bonds whose interest in ordinary times enabled them to live comfortably, now found that often a whole year's interest bought one ham sandwich. They were the first pathetic victims of inflation.

I traveled from Essen about 300 miles to Hamburg. On arrival, I took a taxi to my hotel, eight blocks away. The taxi fare was more than the railway fare. The reason: the state owned the railways. It could not raise fares as rapidly as the mark fell in value, because if it did, people could not afford to travel.

Inflation ruined many of the middle class. It helped in the already swelling army of unemployed. It played right into Hitler's hands. He appealed to both those great classes of the population, who blamed all their misfortunes on the republic. Inflation was finally stopped when the government pratically repudiated all the masses of the paper money in circulation and began again with so-called "renten marks" —also made of paper.

Thousands of American, Englishmen and Dutch, who had bought quantities of the inflation money as a speculation had their fingers burned. The main gainer was the government which had issued the stuff. And—grim aftermath—when the whole tragic situation was arrested, peddlers on the streets of London could be heard:

"Here you are. Billion-mark German notes as a souvenir. Only one penny!"

Income payments to individuals are estimated by the Department of Commerce at 90 billion dollars for this year.

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1 Is it good manners to mention names in a conversation that could be overheard by strangers?

2. Is it good manners to ridicule a religion so different from your own it impresses you as being absurd?

3. If a man asks questions of a stranger, must he raise his hat as he does so?

4. Is it rude for a woman to wait until she is actually on a street car or bus to start looking in her bag for her fare?

5. Is it rude for one entering a bus to attempt to do so before all the passengers wishing to alight are off the bus?

What would you do if—

An acquaintance says "Good morning, how are you?"—

(a) Say, "Oh, I'm not feeling so well today"?

(b) Say, "Very well, thank you"?

Answers

1. No.

2. No, keep your opinion to yourself. Better yet, try to understand what that particular religion offers its followers.

3. Yes.

4.Yes. One should have his fare ready when he boards a bus or street car.

5. Yes.

ORIENTATION OF FRESHMEN STARTED 22 YEARS AGO

HAMILTON, N. Y. (UP.)—Freshmen orientation week, now popular in many colleges throughout the country, had its beginning 22 years ago at Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia.

George Barton Cutten, president of Colgate University, said the plan was developed when ex-soldiers opposed the institution's "funny little restrictions." Cutten explained that the freshman class was made up mostly of returned soldiers who had their own ideas of personal freedom.

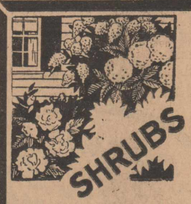

The freshmen were assembled at a private camp near the Acadia campus. After three days, Cutten said, the men understood college regulations, and never afterward caused trouble. The freshman orientation plan was continued at Acadia and later spread to the United States, where it is used by most colleges.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

With Earl Ackerman of San Francisco, vice president of the Pacific Bridge League, and I. F. (Nate) Gaffney, president of the Cleveland Whist Club, I went to Newark, N. J., where the New Jersey Bridge League was holding its mixed team-of-four event.

This contest brought out many outstanding players, especially among the women. Mrs. A. M. Sobel played with Waldemar von Zedtwitz on one team, and Mrs. R. C. Young of Philadelphia was a member of another team.

Duplicate—None vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening—♥K. 30

Here is an interesting hand I saw Mrs. Young play during the match. Sitting South, she won the opening lead with the ace of hearts. She led the three of spades and played the nine from dummy. West won and returned hearts, South ruffing the third round.

A low trump to the queen put dummy in, and also revealed the bad trump split. North led a diamond for South to win by a finesse of the jack.

Now it was useless to set up the diamonds by a third round ruff in dummy, for then East's trump length would kill the suit. So Mrs. Young boldly cashed her last two trumps, then led the club to the king.

As she had hoped, East held the ace and did not have the last heart. He could not prevent dummy from getting in for a second diamond lead that gave Mrs. Young all five diamond tricks.

The average player as declarer would lead the four of clubs trying for two club tricks. Mrs. Young wisely rejected this idea as too dependent on fortunate breaks. Most of her tricks would have to come in spades and diamonds. It was important to lose no tempos in establishing both of these suits.

Panel Front Frock

Here is a style which will appeal to you immediately if you like a pretty, flattering frock to wear at home. It has several special features which achieve a wonderfully slimming effect; the panel down the front, the darts at the waistline and the side sashes which tie in back and thus hold the dress smooth over the diaphragm. Tucks below the shoulders give a soft fullness through the bodice. Ideal fabrics for it are washable cottons, smart new rayon prints.

Pattern No. 8064 is designed for sizes 34 to 50. Size 36 takes 5 yards 35-inch material, 2 yards ric rac braid to trim.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to The Reporter-Telegram Today's Pattern Service, 211 W Wacker drive, Chicago.

All the patterns you need for a new season's sewing may be found in the Fall and Winter Fashion Book. Order your copy today.

YOU'LL never know how men go for mountain-grown coffee till you watch your husband get his first taste of Folger's! Most other coffees (up to 3 out of 4) are lowland grown. But Folger's is grown in crystal-clear mountain air, sunshine, rain and fertile volcanic soil! Acquiring such vigorous flavor—over 7,000 women say they use ¼ less of Folger's—and get better-tasting coffee in the bargain!

Small Income Requires Careful Budgeting

By Marguerite Young
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

He earns $25 a week, and she runs the house, and there are three children—where does their money go when they budget?

That gets budgeting down to brass tacks, and there's no finer way to learn how it works. So let's make a budget for that low income family.

Of course, the family is imaginary. Nobody can make a worthwhile budget for a real family except the people themselves. They're the only ones who know their personal likes and needs well enough. A budget is one of the most intimate things on earth—it is a whole plan of living. However, budgets are based on expert advice and on knowledge of what certain types of familes DO spend. By using those, and imagining the family's habits, we can make a rough pattern that a real family can easily alter to suit themselves.

"ELBOW ROOM" PROVIDES SPACE FOR MISTAKES

For purely personal reasons—but reasons—we begin by putting down $25 for "Elbow Room." We're bound to need it, unless we mean just to give the budget plan a lick and a promise. A sound budget must recognize at the outset that people are human and make mistakes, especially when their purse is slim.

Next, we allow $50 for recreation, education and church. Maybe we will "borrow" here later, but not all of it, because the budget which doesn't count in a few neighborhood - house movies may drive the budgeter into a first-run palace, where he can forget his budget utterly.

Now we list the essentials, as completely and specifically as possible. We get food, lunch money, housing, heating lights and gas, icebox, household equipment, cleaning supplies, clothes, personal incidentals, including cigarettes and an occasional manicure, transportation, health, and insurance and dues.

To estimate the first figures, for food and clothes, we consult several things. We look at Uncle Sam's table showing what people with incomes somewhere near this one really do spend. We consult a budget made by one of the country's leading home economists — a woman who has helped thousands of $25-a-week families live happily on their income.

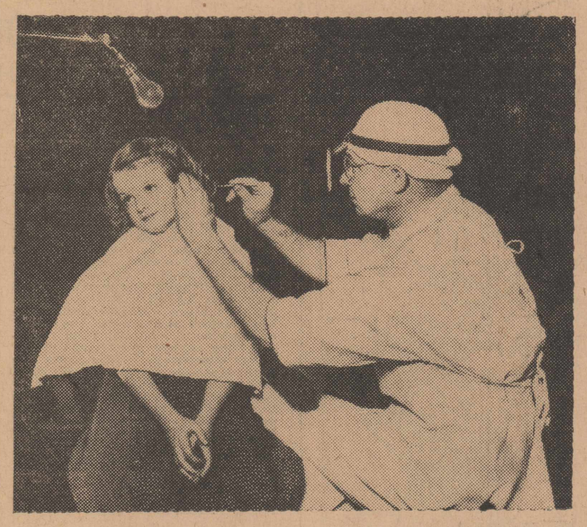

TRIMMING DOWN EXPENDITURES

We put down the dollars beside each heading, and add them up once in a while. All thirteen-hundred dollars are gone before we get to health, insurance or transportation, so scrutinize every figure again. We borrow $10 from our "Elbow Room" money, and later another $3. We borrow $21 from our recreation, education and church money.

We can't take it from clothes, because these clothes are figured to the cent, and the stocking for the girls, who are two and five, and boy of ten, and the husband who works with his hands.

Shall we put the boy to work—perhaps carrying newspapers? No, because the mother asks, how do you know how much he can earn at it and whether that sum would be worthwhile to us? Instead, we trim down the fuel allowance and also the five-room house rent and the cigarettes. We decide that health care will come from public clinics; we allow only a nickel per week for person for medical first-aid supplies.

Soon we have the budget plan below:

Public clinics offer low-income families the best solution to the problem of medical care.

Family earns $1300 a year and spends:		Part of Income
"Elbow Room Money"	$ 12.00	.92 per cent
Recreation, Education, Church	20.00	2.2 per cent
Food	461.00	35.5 percent
Lunch Money	31.20	2.4 per cent
Housing	240.00	18.5 per cent
Heat	59.50	4.5 per cent
Lights and Gas	45.60	3.5 per cent
Icebox	18.00	1.3 per cent
Household Equipment	28.50	2.1 per cent
Cleaning Supplies	4.60	.3 per cent
Clothes	183.00	14.00 per cent
Personal Incidentals (Family)	102.80	.9 per cent
Transportation	40.00	3.00 per cent
Medicine Cabinet	12.00	.92 per cent
Insurance, Dues	32.80	2.5 per cent

State Prepares To Meet Slack At End Of War

SACRAMENTO. (UP). — With business booming from a lion's share of national defense orders, California is preparing for the proverbial "rainy day' by throwing the resources of all state agencies into promulgation of a long-term state public works program designed to take up unemployment slack when the preparedness drive subsides.

Under direction of the state planning board, state departments are preparing a public works "reservoir" to cushion the shock of post-war unemployment.

The nucleus of the "reservoir" will consist of many badly-needed state improvements, now held in deferred status in the interest of national defense.

Three Objectivs Stressed.

The objectives of the 10-year program proposed by Gov. Culbert L. Olson are as follows:

1—To provide the executive and legislative branches of the state government with an orderly program for the provision of necessary improvements.

2—Permit the postponement of all non-essential construction work until after the current defense boom.

3—Constitute a reservoir of carefully reviewed propects to help cushion effects of the depression which may occur during the post-emergency period.

Doughnut Stylists Will Change Hole Size At Conclave

NEW YORK (UP)—The doughnut stylists this year will change the caliber of the doughunt hole, just as the fashion experts decree upswept or downtumbling hair-dos.

They have been doing it for years and no one has paid much attention. The standard doughnut of today, for instance, has a regulation bore of seven-eights of an inch. A year ago the micrometers measured it at 13/16 of an inch. In 1939 it was 15/16.

No one, least of all the National Dunking Association, is willing to offer a rational explanation. The association is to meet in New York, Oct. 27, and one of its sessions will decide on the proper size of the doughnut hole for the 1942 season. It has never been more than an inch and never under 13/16 of an inch, so the chances are, if you want to bet, that it will go back in 1942 to the 1939 standard, 15/16. When the association has made its ruling the nation's doughnut-making machines will be rebored to confirm.

The National Dunking Association is composed of people who have been asked if they want to join the National Dunking Association and have replied "Yes." It claims a membership of more than 1,000,000, with 300 chapters in about 300 cities. The members profess to believe firmly in dunking and are sworn to dunk whether anyone is looking or not.

ALASKA GOLD OUTPUT HIGHEST EVER IN 1940

JUNEAU, Alaska (UP)—It appears that the gold rush of '98 was only the beginning of gold production in Alaska, for which the United States paid $7,200,000.

Last year's gold production in the territory, the department of interior announced, set a new record of $6,178,000. Of this total, $7,326,000 came from lodes and $18,852,000 from placers.

The total value of all minerals produced from Alaska mines in 1940 was $28,470,000, greater than in any other year except during the 1915-1918 period. Such vital metals as tin and antimony made increases, and further development was expected this year under the spur of national defense.

The United States bought Alaska from Russia in 1867 for 7,200,000.

Current Developments To Affect Future Life

PASADENA, Cal. (UP)—The life of man for the next few decades of the post-war period will be "powerfully" influenced by industrial and scientific developments now under way, according to Dr. Robert A. Millikan, Nobel prize winner, and president of the California Institute of Technoligy.

The war, especially, he finds has brought about vast progress in certain lines including aviation and radio communication, that will modify communications and transportation greatly.

Learn The Different Tastes Of People You Dress To Please

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Staff Writer

Sometimes women glorify themselves to catch or to hold men's admiration; again they dress to impress other women. The average woman does both, by turns, without giving it half a conscious thought. And it works.

It will work even better if you think it over, deliberately dressing for specific occasions in conformity with known facts about the tastes of the people who want to please.

Of course, such generalizations can't be taken too literally. In dividuals vary, and on very many occasions your audience is mixed. You still can't please everybody always.

However, here are some A-B-C trends wherein men and women usually differ—

Women have an eye for details. If you own an exquisite, handmade blouse, no matter how old, so long as it's spotless and all in one piece, wear it to your next luncheon or bridge. It may impress discriminating women more than your new, flashy tweed.

Women appreciate whatever amuses or distracts them, or plays up to the romantic, strictly-non-utilitarian streak that's in most of them. Hence your "mad" hat vogue, your "very feminine" stiltheel. If you go in for absurdly heavy, fantastic jewelry, put it on, clank it in the ears of your most troublesome rival, and you'll feel better. You might even get a start toward discarding the rivalry, which you know is useless, anyway.

BUT MEN'S TASTES DIFFER

Most men also like frivolity — and they like flash—at a distance, and momentarily. That's why your beau or your husband may take a second look at a freak beauty, but always asks YOU why don't you wear that beautiful long, blue dress again? So why load on the mascara when you're going out with him?

He wants to see you perfectly groomed. He likes to see you meticulously fresh, soft, shining-tressed, hem straight, posture perfect and graceful, face glowingly, carefully enhanced. Men hate untidiness in a woman. They want HER to be worthy of attention, but no cynosure. So why confront HIM with pointed, purple nails?

At least, save these foibles for when he isn't there. And extend to him a neatly manicured hand—he'll hold it more contentedly, especially if your perfume, too, is subtle.

BRITAIN TRIES OUT PLASTIC ON WHITE TRAFFIC LINES

LONDON (UP) — Eight 10-mile sections of a new plastic white line have been grafted on to British roads to ease the difficulties of night driving. These permanent white lines are applied to surfaces just like grafting a newskin.

"Wear and tear and weather play havoc with painted lines, and some night lorry drivers complain about the virtual dissappearance of what they regard as their main guidance," said a minstay of transport official.

"The new plastic lines are for experimental purposes, and until the new material has been proved, paint will continue to be used."

Georgia Campaigns Against Paralysis

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Georgia medical authorities are making a new move toward curbing the epidemic of infantile paralysis.

The highly specialized services of physiotherapists from Warm Springs will be made avvailable to any patient who contracted the disease during the current epidemic, the Georgia chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has announced.

The physiotherapists, upon request, will visit the patient and advise the family on the proper massage and exercise of affected muscles

Dr. Robert L. Bennett, director of the post-graduate physiotherapy school at Warm Springs, aided by the attending physician in each of the polio cases, will supervise the new medical service.

WASHING NYLON UNDIES

The appearance of delicacy in nylon bras, panties, girdles and slips is an illusion Actually nylon has great strength and durability, and is washed the same as silk. Immerse in lukewarm suds, dip up and down with slight pressure from the palms until all soil has been removed. Then rinse thoroughly in clear water. Because nylon sheds water instead of absorbing it, all garments should be rolled in a towel before being hung to dry. Once towelled, nylon underwear dries in a jiffy, and to its original form, making ironing unnecessary. Never use a hot iron on nylon because the fabric may melt.

WRITER SWALLOWS WASP WILL USE TYPEWRITER

ATLANTA (AP)—Armp Press Agent L. P. Patterson, on maneuvers in the Carolinas, failed to see a yellow jacket on the toast when he took a large bite.

What army yriase he sings for the next few days will be on the typewriter.

Manufacturing capital outlays this year will be close to 5 billion dollars, the Department of Commerce reported.

The deepest sounding ever made in any water was 35,400 feet in Mindanao Deep, Philippine Islands, the Department of Commerce says.

John Brown's Vest Increases In Value

BRUNSWICK, Md. (AP)—John Brown wore a vest to his hanging at Charles Town, W. Va., in 1859, and thereby created a tax problem for the state of Maryland some 80 years later.

The vest, brown with red polka dots, was saved from the personal effects of the celebrated Harper's Ferry abolitionist by the Charles Town jailer, and popped up here as part of an estate.

And the demon tax collectors of Maryland proclaimed that the garment must be duly appraised and, most assuredly, taxed.

Orphans' court officials found a local historian who was willing to undertake the assignment. After some research, he set the valuation at $50—probably 10 times what J. B. paid for it.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Two murders at Paradise Lake renew the old romance between school teacher Mary O'Connor, vacationing there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Flynn, sent down from the city to cover the story. Police are convinced sophisticated Herbert Cord was killed by gangster Stush Veretti, although Cord's death at first implicated Jeanie Morris, whom he had courted for two summers only to bring Margie Dixon to Paradise this year as his fiancee. Second mysterious death was that of Miss Millie Morris, Jeanie's stern spinster aunt, who kept locked in her heart the secret of a girlhood romance with someone who signed his letters "Kit." Other characters in the story are Liza Holmes, Miss Millie's maid who stays on with Jeanie; elderly innkeeper Chris Gordon; local editor Tod Palmer, in love with Jeanie. Tod, Mary, Jeanie, and Dennis spend a pleasant evening in the city. The next day Jeanie and Mary find Liza's body hanging in the attic of the Morris home. She has been murdered.

MAUDIE ACTS!

CHAPTER XXIII

IT was a good thing that Jeanie had a full night's sleep because from then on we seemed to live in a nightmare.

Liza's death went down on the record officially as murder and the next day traffic was heavy around Paradise Lake, with curiosity seekers driving up and down the roads stretching their silly necks to look at any of us who happened to stick our noses outside.

Dr. Orway shook his head in despair. He'd dropped in that morning with a tonic for Jeanie, who looked so pale that Maudie had called him. She had gone out to his car with him after he'd left a prescription and they had a long talk.

"She'll probably stuff you with custards, beef broth and eggnogs," I said. "Anyway she's been out there talking to him long enough to come back a full-fledged nurse."

But it would have taken more than food to help Jeanie. The police were always there, either asking her questions, taking her back to the Morris house, or to the State Police Post.

And nasty rumors were going around. Denny confessed that, miserably enough, one evening when he took time off from chasing around with the forces of law and order to go rowing on the lake. Oh, yes, there was a moon and a perfect setting, but recent events didn't make for romance.

"There's so much damn gossip in little communities," he pointed out. "And so many things do look bad for the kid."

"But the police say that Stush Veretti killed Herbert Cord," I reminded him. Crime didn't fit in with the peaceful quiet of the lake. There was scarcely a ripple on the path made by the moonlight. Except for the gentle swish of the water made by the oars and the occasional soft quack of the ducks feeding over in the marshy section, there was no other sound.

"IT'S the Veretti angle that's knocked the whole picture cockeyed," he admitted. "We're sure Stush knocked Cord off. He hasn't confessed, but he'll go the hard way once the trial starts. He hasn't a chance to beat this rap.

"But then these others—as Maudie so sweetly points out—they aren't the work of the numbers boys. At least they shouldn't be because what harm could these two old women do them? Certainly if Miss Millie knew anything damaging about the Cord murder she'd have spilled it before she was knocked off. Stush Veretti was in the custody of the police before she was killed." He rested on the oars and we drifted along

"If it weren't for my conviction that Veretti's guilty I might think there was something to this talk about Jeanie Morris. Oh, I know what you're going to say," he told me before I could more than start to argue. "Sure, she's a swell kid. The picture of innocence; a nice girl, and tops with Tod Palmer.

"But I've seen some funny ones in my life. That little blond that stuck a knife between Tony Rammoff's ribs was the kind that could model for a young mother ad. And Sadie Robins looked like a gentle old maiden aunt, yet she did a good carving job on her sister."

"Well, don't talk like this to Maudie," I warned. "She's had about enough of your crime deductions."

"She's got her own ideas about these murders." He threw his cigaret in the water and we headed back for shore. "I get a kick out of the way she figures things out. I'd like to know how she sizes this business up. I know she hasn't expounded her theories and that's not like her, but maybe you were right. I mean, she probably doesn't want to stick her chin out with any wild ideas. But I bet they'd be honeys. Maudie's detective story reading should make this a field day for her."

WE had a field day sooner than we'd expected. In fact, things seemed to have hit their peak the next noon when Officer Antler arrived. Quietly and no arguing, he announced he had come to see Miss Morris. He was taking her with him, he explained.

"You're under arrest, Miss Morris. Sorry it has to be this way, but the police aren't satisfied with your answers." He wasn't too hardboiled and I think the sight of the girl's helplessness and the way her shoulders sagged made him dislike his errand. "It's just a legal move," he added. "Your attorney will handle things. It won't be so bad—"

Personally, I didn't see how it could be any worse. Maudie was of no help. She sat there and wept. Because we didn't know how long Jeanie would have to stay in jail, I managed to pack a few of her things in an overnight bag.

"But Denny and Tod will get you out," I kept repeating. "You mustn't give up. This really means nothing—"

"It means everyone thinks I killed them. It means people have been staring at me and talking about me all these days and thinking I'm guilty—"

She clung to me in the bedroom while I tried to get her to put on some rouge. "You—you don't think so, do you?"

"The ones who know you don't think so. I—I think the police just have to arrest someone. They've messed these cases up so horribly. They haven't uncovered a single clew and you know people are demanding action. The prosecutor's probably running for office this fall and he wants a chance to start something. It's always that way, Jeanie. But your attorney, he'll know what to do."

She looked lone and forlorn as she left the cottage.

"I certainly hope her attorney'll know what to do," I repeated to Maudie while we stood looking after the car.

"Well, I'm not going to wait. I'm going to do something right now," she said, while I stared at her open-mouthed.

4. No. Greeks, Romans, Eskimos, Polynesian Islanders and the English are among peoples who played football and its variations before American colleges got hold of the game.

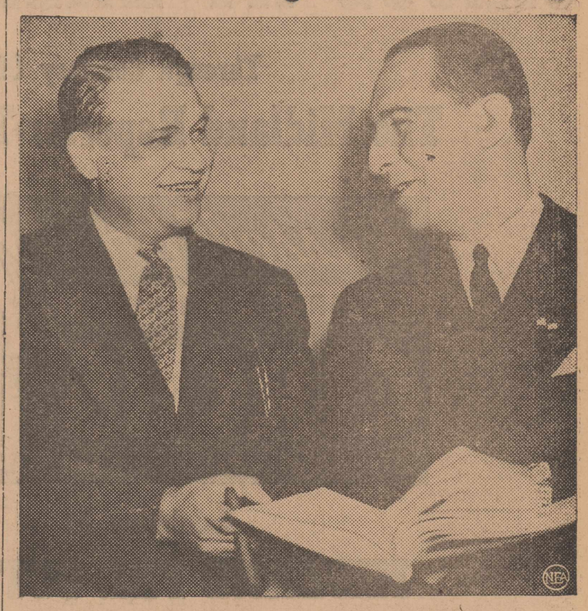

5. Football field is called "gridiron" because of cross-lines every five or 10 yards, giving it appearance of a grid.

SCARRED TRAINEE RELEASED

WALSENBURG, Colo. (UP)—Ben Padilla, whose scar criss-crossed back created a stir among army induction officers, has been released because he is past 28. At his induction examination, Padilla told army officers that the latticed scars on his back were the result of whips beaten into his flesh during the weird religious rites conducted by the secret order of the Penitent Brothers or Penitentes.

(EAGLES)

VS.

MIDLAND

(BULLDOGS)

Smarting still from a 7-6 lost decision to the Midland high Bulldogs last season, the Abilene Eagles are coming to town Friday night to attempt to avenge that district loss. The tilt at 8 p.m. on Lackey Field will have bearing on the conference standing of both clubs. Abilene has the best record. But Midland will be out to show the homefolks its best eleven put on the gridiron this season. The Eagles have won three victories and lost as many in full-season play. The Bulldogs have dropped six straight contests. Abilene lost to Sweetwater, 6-45; Midland, 0-45. Abilene won over non-conference Plainview 25-0, and San Antonio Jefferson, 6-0. They lost to Breckenridge, 0-15 and to Odessa 6-1. The Eagles beat Lamesa 6-0. Formerly the A.H.S. team was a great contender in the Texas schoolboy title chase but have not flown so high in the past few seasons. Under a "new order" coach, who understands what the Abileneans want ,the Eagles are flying again.
