The Operator Is A Computer Now

computer's voice is now greeting distance callers at coin telephones.

computer's voice, which is not a recording but a voice produced by a computer, is part of the new Automatic Call Service (ACTS) being introduced by Southwestern Bell.

Female-voiced computer is programmed to tell coin telephone customer the amount of money needed to complete 1-plus Long Distance calls, said Southwestern Bell spokesman Jim West, Manager.

"The computer also tells customers when the initial calling period is over and how much money to deposit for longer calls," West said.

"The computer is programmed to calculate the cost of a call and verbalize that calculation to the customer. And, like operators, the computer is polite, saying 'please' and 'thank you'," West said.

"The system was designed to provide faster coin telephone service and help us hold down costs," he said. "Increasing call volumes normally require the addition of operators from one year to the next, but ACTS will help reduce the number of new people we need to hire."

ACTS also will free telephone operators for other duties, such as handling 0-plus Long Distance calls. Operators will take over from ACTS should there be difficulties in placing 1-plus calls.

"Since the computer system can't hear—it can only talk—we've made it possible for customers to contact an operator simply by depressing the switch hook on coin phones," West said.

He added that the ACTS computer has the capacity to handle some 240 coin calls simultaneously and also will notify residential and business telephone customers of time and charges for Long Distance when requested.

Training Session For Census Enumerators Completed

BY GAYLE JACKSON

Floydada was the site Monday and Tuesday of training for fourteen census enumerators who will begin working this week in Floyd and Crosby counties.

Households which returned census forms that had been received in the mail will not be visited by the enumerators.

Households which did not receive a census questionnaire and households which did not return a questionnaire will be visited by an enumerator.

Receiving training at the Floyd County extension office meeting room were the following Floyd County residents: Carolyn Burton, Sally Green, Diana Prock and Phyllis Reeves, all of Floydada; Bettye Jackson, Sally Reyes, Owen and Kathleen Thornton, all of Lockney. Grace Zabielski of Roaring Springs will be working one area of Floyd County.

Crosby County residents who were trained as enumerators include Lorene Blagg of Crosbyton, Bonnie Gallegos and Diana Vasquez of Lorenzo, Minnie Torres and Sylvia Vasquez of Ralls.

Training was directed by Gayle Jackson of Lockney, enumerator crew leader for Floyd and Crosby counties. She stressed that enumerators have been sworn not to reveal census information to anyone but their supervisors. "The enumerators have been trained to be courteous and to complete the questionnaires in the least possible time. We would appreciate the cooperation of the public in completing the census quickly."

Provision for taking of the census was made in the constitution of the United States. Apportionment of seats in the U.S. House of Representatives is made using the population totals made by the Census Bureau. Texas is expected to pick up two more representatives this time. It is especially important that rural Texans be counted so as to retain representatives in the less-populated counties.

Wenonah Thompson Receives National Recognition

Wenonah Thompson, a teacher aide in the Remedial Reading Program at R.C. Andrews Elementary and teacher of English as a Second Language in the Adult Education Program in Floydada has received national recognition for a bilingual project she designed for teaching English as a second language. "Learning Economics With The Lopez Family: A Bilingual Economic Education Experience. This project depicts the Lopez family as a Mexican American family living in the United States and helping to make the economic system work.

During the summer of 1978 Wenonah attended a workshop in economics at L.S.U. in Baton Rouge, Louisiana directed by Dr. Robert Smith. While in class she became excited about the possibility of integrating economic education into her teaching assignment.

The project was designed and used with non-English speaking students at R.C. Andrews during the 1978-79 school year. This was done in her spare time. Vocabulary development, original games, simulations, skits and drama were used to achieve the following goals:

1. To teach the simple principles of economics as a part of our everyday life.
2. To help the students to understand unlimited wants and limited resources.
3. To teach the concept of opportunity cost.
4. To teach the difference between need and luxury.
5. To teach students how to use money and the bank.
6. To help the students to become effective consumers and good citizens.

Her project received one of only twelve awards in a category which had eighty-five entries from around the nation and will be published in abstract form in Economic Education Experiences of Enterprising Teachers, Volume 17. It has gone to the press at this time. This publication will be distributed economic educators, libraries and educational leaders throughout the nation.

The project has been placed in the National Economic Education Resource Center at Illinois State University where it will be made available to educators throughout the nation on a borrowing arrangement through the inter-library system.

Wenonah was presented an attractive plaque and was sponsored by the L.A. Council Economic Education Louisiana State University with an all expense trip to Atlanta, Georgia where the award winners were honored at a reception on Saturday night, March 29 and a breakfast and luncheon, March 30 in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development. At a special session award winners made presentations describing their innovative projects.

While in Atlanta, Wenonah had reservations at the Peachtree Plaza Hotel, the world's tallest hotel, a multifaceted reflecting cylinder which towers 70 stories above downtown Peachtree Street and contains 1100 guest rooms and suites. Peachtree Plaza is actually two buildings in one. The concrete base houses the public and convention areas. This central area is magnificent with a bridged lake as its floor.

Wenonah was accompanied from Baton Rouge to Atlanta by her daughter Wanda and one of the highlights was when they rode the glass elevator to the Sun Dial Restaurant 723 feet above the guest rooms and had dinner as they revolved around the city. It was fantastic!

Forty states were represented at this meeting.

Letters To The Editor

Pete Looney
Box 892
Ralls, Texas 79357
April 8, 1980.

Dear Editor and Citizens of Floyd County,

As we survey the energy situation and the economy, we tend to wonder just what the rural towns and communities have before them. We could grow discouraged, or we can look forward with anticipation to the future. This is one of the very greatest things that God has done for us, in that, we cannot foresee the future with any great degree of success.

However, I will assess the picture of the price of gasoline, the economy, and then we will look at what this could mean for Floydada and Lockney. Since the price of fuel has gone up, we will plan our trips more carefully, everything we need done in one trip, instead of going to Lubbock several times a week as we have in the past. We will find, that since it takes $10.00 worth of gasoline to go to Lubbock and back, that frequently, we can buy what we want at home and save money. Although the Federal Government will not allow us to deduct it, they recognize that it costs 32 cents per mile to operate the average car today. Couple that 32 cents per mile to a minimum of 120 miles when we go to Lubbock and back, we see that expense is not just $10.00 for our gasoline, but a total of $38.40. This makes the expense of going to Lubbock to save a few bucks prohibitive in cost.

Then if we recognize the cost of going to Lubbock, we can appreciate the merchants of our towns that provide us with needed goods and services. We can take that same $38.40 that we would have spent going to Lubbock and apply it to or expenses, enjoy a meal or two out a week, and still be able to come out ahead.

Floydada and Lockney merchants should begin to gear up and plan to be able to handle this new increase in local business, and put on part time people to be training so that when the time comes, they will have a trained staff to take care of the customers. The workers in a place of business are an extension of the owner or manager's ability and capacity to do work. Just as a piece of farm machinery enables a farmer to farm more land, employees in a store enable the merchant to wait on more customers and move more merchandise. The 40 hour week was designed to give more people more jobs so that all would have more money to spend and less would be on welfare. The Holy Scripture tells us of this in Proverbs where Solomon stated "Where there are no oxen the crib is bare." Where there are no workers, there is no work produced, no income, and no need for anything to be in the crib. There is a need in these small towns to develop the working force. We have the greatest talent in the world, but much of it is latent. It is going to waste for a place to use it.

I hear merchants say, "I can't find anyone that wants to work." The problem may not be with people not wanting to work, but that there is some condition that needs to be reminded so that working conditions could be more satisfying and appetizing to the needed employees.

The future is great for the cities of Floydada and Lockney at this time, for it is no more economically feasible to go to Lubbock for a $5.00 part or a $30.00 bill of groceries or just to go to Lubbock to eat.

The attitude of the merchants and residents of these communities will do more to determine how great the economy is in the '80s than any other factor. The question is, "How bad do we really want business?" Do we want it bad enough to plan, advertise, and go after it?

It can be done, you know it can.

Yours,
Pete Looney

New Home For Media Center

After suffering pains for a number of years, the media center at the First Baptist Church in Floydada has recently moved to more spacious quarters.

Now located across the hall from the church offices, the media center is more accessible and spacious.

This is the third space to house the library, which was named the Norma Allen Memorial Library in 1956, in memory of the daughter of former pastor, Dr. R. Earl Allen. Dr. Allen and his wife retain an interest in the welfare of the library. A prolific writer and pastor of Rosen Heights Church in Fort Worth, Dr. Allen sends copies of his books to the library.

Referred to more often now as a media center, the library reflects the growth in the concept of providing many forms of media. The current collection includes cassette tapes, records, filmstrips, and books. A church library might be more properly referred to as a "selection" instead of "collection" because the media is selected to encourage Christian growth.

Basic to the purpose of the church library or media center, is the provision of teaching equipment and printed media for the educational program of the church.

Open to the community, the media center may be used during business hours by asking the church for assistance. Staffed by volunteers, the media center offers a diversity of reading and instructional and devotional materials. While Bible study is the major selection, the center recognizes the need for materials relating to the varied interests of users. There are books on family living, antiquities, biographies, fiction and more subjects.

Each summer the church sponsors a reading program beginning during the month of June. The theme for this year's program will be "Book Trek" and children will be encouraged to find the "Lost Planet."

Incorporated into the media center is a materials area, containing the tools and leaders need for preparing Media Center staff members provide instruction in using visual aids.

With the exception of players, projectors and visual equipment not loaned building unless a staff member is present to operate the equipment.

The media center is through the church budget memorial gifts. Special gifts possible many of the 400 250 cassette tapes, 400 records and 100 audio equipment.

Don't Do It, Son!

So you were stopped for a traffic violation and were discovered in possession of pot. And you were convicted of possession—a felony—and received a suspended sentence. Do you think that's the end of it, son?

Not quite! You also lost your right to vote, to own a gun, or to run for public office. You lost the opportunity of ever becoming a doctor, dentist, certified public accountant, engineer, lawyer, architect, realtor, osteopath, pharmacist, school teacher, barber, or a stockbroker. You can't ever hold a job where you must be licensed or bonded and you can never work for the city, the county, or the Federal government. You can't be admitted to West Point, Annapolis, or the air force academy; but you can enlist in the military service...and be assigned to a labor battalion.

"Son, take it from some guys with a lot of mileage behind them: to you—with a lot of mileage still ahead of you—it just isn't worth it! Don't do it!"

LOFTY WAYS WITH EGGS

The egg is the cement that holds the castle of cookery together. The leavening ability of stiffly beaten egg whites imparts an airy lightness and tender goodness to many popular items—omelets, souffles, meringues, popovers, muffins, angel food, sponge and chiffon cakes.

As the whites are beaten they literally fill up with tiny air bubbles. When gentle heat is applied to the mixture, the air bubbles increase in size, the product rises, and the albumen of the whites becomes firm causing the product to hold its lofty shape.

Separate eggs as soon as you remove them from the refrigerator since cold yolks are less likely to break. To store the yolks cover with a small amount of water and return to the refrigerator.

Let the whites stand at room temperature about 45 minutes before whipping. Egg whites whip to a larger volume when at room temperature.

The leavening power of egg whites depends on the amount of air beaten and retained when preparing the food. For best results, beat the egg whites until they are just stiff enough to stand in peaks that fold over ever so slightly when the beaters are removed. They should appear moist and glassy, not dry. Over-beating beats out some of the air bubbles and creates a product with less volume, which may also divide into layers with the heavier ingredients settling to the bottom. Under-beating produces a coarse, uneven texture, and the whites will lack strength to billow up and hold any added ingredients.

Combine beaten egg whites and other ingredients with a folding, not a stirring motion. Mix thoroughly, but only enough to blend ingredients well.

Cooking temperature is critical. If it's too high, the protein thickens and coagulates before the air bubbles have fully expanded and the product will be heavy. It may also be overdone on the outside before the interior is set.

Regardless of size, eggs are usually a good buy. A dozen large eggs weigh 24 ounces or 1 1/2 pounds. One serving (two eggs) weighs 1/4 pound and costs only 13 cents when eggs are 78 cents a dozen. At this price one pound of eggs costs 52 cents. This is very reasonable when compared with meat, cheese and other high-quality protein foods.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or origin.

Libraries have come a long way since Ben Franklin founded the first subscription library in this country in 1731. Today many libraries do more than just house books in Des Moines, the public library sponsors cooking classes to introduce the children to different types of food," says Pat Rehder, the children's librarian. "And for the younger children, we frequently have story times where we read books that mention certain foods, and then we all prepare the foods."

In Oklahoma City, the local library produces a number of cable television series on such subjects as "Money and You," "Medicine and You" and "Creative Crafts."

"This year, some of our programs will include discussions with local authorities on how to start a small business, growing flowers and vegetables and credit rights and responsibilities," says Barbara Williams, the library's media coordinator. "No longer are libraries just a place to check out books. The services of a library are limited only from lack of staff."

GI Loan Eligibility

Due to the recent increases in home mortgage interest, many veterans are now expressing sudden concern about their entitlement to GI home loans. According to D.G. Ayres, Service Officer for Floyd County, a veteran's GI loan eligibility remains good until it is used. There is presently no deadline date for veterans to use their home loan entitlement.

Eligible to participate in the GI home loan program are veterans with honorable military or naval service during World War II, the Korean Conflict or the Cold War and Vietnam Era. For GI loan purposes, World War II extended from September 16, 1940 to July 25, 1947; the Korean Conflict began June 27, 1950 and ended January 31, 1955; the Cold War period commenced February 1, 1955 and ended August 4, 1964; the Vietnam Era dates from August 5, 1964 to May 7, 1975. Also eligible are persons service 181 days or more (honorably) during the Post-Vietnam Era, which began May 8, 1975, and continuing until such time as the Congress changes the laws.

Also eligible to participate in the GI Home loan program are the widows of persons who died on active duty and of veterans whose deaths are shown to be caused by service-connected conditions.

Taxpayer Can Extend Their Filing Deadlines

Taxpayers who need more time to complete their Federal income tax returns may request an automatic 2-month extension of time to file by filing a Form 4868 with the Internal Revenue Service.

Taxpayers who receive the extension must use the Form 1040 and must compute their own tax. The IRS said that the extension applies only to the time for filing the return and not to payment of the tax. Any tax due must be paid at the time the Form 4868 is filed.

Later, when the actual return is filed, the amount of tax previously paid with the Form 4868 should be entered on the appropriate line of Form 1040.

If the amount of tax paid with the Form 4868 does not cover the taxpayer's total liability, the taxpayer is required to pay interest on the remaining tax due. In addition, if the unpaid tax is over 10 percent of the total tax bill, the law provides for levy of additional penalties on the taxpayer, the IRS said.

U.S. Citizens outside the U.S. or Puerto Rico on the date of their tax deadlines can receive an automatic 2-month extension of the filing deadline without filing Form 4868, the IRS said. This provision applies both to taxpayers whose deadline is April 15 and to those who file returns on a fiscal year basis. Taxpayers who qualify for this type of extension must attach a statement to their tax return when they file stating they were outside the U.S. or Puerto Rico on the date of their filing deadline.

Taxpayers who expect to qualify for exemption of (or deductions from) income earned abroad for special tax treatment can get an extension of time to file. These taxpayers should use Form 2350, Application for Extension of Time to File U.S. Income Tax Return.

Additional extensions are granted only under unusual circumstances, according to the IRS. Taxpayers can apply for such extensions by letter or by filling out Form 2688, Application for Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. The statement must include the reasons why the additional extension is necessary.

The IRS cautioned taxpayers to file requests for additional extensions early enough to be able to file their return on time if the request is rejected.

Miss Jimmie Kay Sales, daughter of Jim and Claudia Sales was selected "Miss Floydada" at a pageant sponsored by the FHS senior class in the high school auditorium Saturday night.

Sophomore Kathy Green was selected first runner-up and Junior, Nila Bryant was selected second runner-up.

A well known Floyd County farmer, civic leader and emcee for some years for the annual meeting of the Lighthouse Electric, succumbed to a lengthy illness Monday night, April 14. Ned Bradley, 66, died at 7:15 p.m. at Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

Four members of the Floydada Junior Historians and their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bell, attended the state meeting in San Antonio, April 11-13, and came home with two awards and an honorable mention. Members attending were Brenda Jackson, Darla Assiter, Terri Kinard, and Tammy Payne.

10 YEARS AGO

FHS Football, Track, Golf, Volleyball District Champs! For the first time in several years, the Whirlwinds came home from Clon with the district track crown, giving them two major championships this year.

Chowning Graduates Gunner's School

April 10 (FHTNC)—Navy Gunner's Mate Seaman Billy D. Chowning, son of Leroy and Betty Chowning of 625 Missouri St., Floydada, Texas, was graduated from Basic Gunner's Mate School.

During the 16-week course at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., students received an introduction to the weaponry currently installed aboard Navy warships. They studied the operation and maintenance of missile and rocket launching systems and naval guns, including the electrical, mechanical and hydraulic systems of each. Additionally, they studied the use and safe handling of ammunition, fuses and pyrotechnics.

He joined the Navy in June 1979.

Merchant of the week is Tommy Assiter, Southwestern Life Insurance agent. Asked about the future of Floydada, Assiter said, "Wonderful—we have the best town, the best people, anywhere...I'm an optimist—I believe in Floydada."

The Floydada I.S.D. hereby announces that all persons are entitled to receive an exemption of $5,000 from the market value of their residence homestead for the purpose of school taxes. In addition, all persons who are 65 or older or under a disability for purposes of payment of disability benefits under Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance are also entitled to an addition exemption of $10,000 from the market value of their residence homesteads for the purpose of school taxes. Also all persons owning land that is currently devoted principally to agricultural use for at least five (5) of the preceding seven (7) years may file an application of agriculture land use. To qualify for these exemptions, an application must be filed with the school district tax office by April 30, 1980. Application forms are available at the School Tax Office:
