TEAMS test scores show improvement

Results of the 1990 Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) tests show that Colorado City students have made steady progress in mastering the skills measured on the examinations given at grades 3, 5, 7 and 9 since the tests were first administered four years ago.

Don Nimmo, CISD assistant superintendent, said since the TEAMS tests were first given in 1986, the percentage of students passing all sections of the examination has increased and reflect growth and improvement in student performance over that period.

"When we're comparing the same kids to the previous testing period, we see an increase in the three areas tested," said Nimmo, adding that beginning in the 1990-91 school year, the Texas student assessment program will shift from a minimal skills testing program to one which will emphasize and measure higher-order skills, such as critical thinking and problem solving.

Results of the California Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) tests also show an increase in student performance, said Nimmo.

"There are more peaks and valleys in the CTBS results, but they indicate an advancement of achievement in the district," said Nimmo.

However, Nimmo said that the school district has placed more emphasis on TEAMS and mastering the essential elements rather than the achievement test.

A summary of the TEAMS scores shows that this past year's fifth grade students showed higher percentages of mastery in all three areas - math, reading and writing - compared to when they first were tested in the first grade.

The same trend was reflected by the seventh, ninth and 11th graders.

Fifth graders improved in math scores with an 86 percent mastery compared to 83 percent when they were in the first grade. Reading improved from 52 to 85 percent and writing jumped from 68 to 82 percent.

The seventh graders showed a marked improvement in math, with 92 percent of them passing the test compared to 59 percent when they were in the third grade and 77 percent when they were in fifth grade. The seventh graders' reading percent mastery increased to 90 percent this past year compared to 64 percent when they were in the third grade and 76 percent in the fifth grade. Seventh grade writing percent mastery was 70 compared to 42 percent as third graders and 65 percent as fifth graders.

This past year's ninth graders jumped to a 91 percent passing rate in writing compared to 56 percent as fifth graders and 72 percent as seventh graders. Reading jumped from 77 percent to 91 percent and math increased from 75 to 88 percent.

By grade, the percent of students passing the tests for the 1989-90 school year, includes:

- Third - math, 85 percent; reading, 83; writing, 72
- Fifth - math, 86 percent; reading, 85; writing, 82
- Seventh - math, 92 percent; reading, 90; writing, 70
- Ninth - math, 85 percent; reading, 91; writing, 91

TDA advises against 'turn row' grain sales County Agriculture

(AUSTIN)—The Texas Department of Agriculture is warning grain producers who are in the midst of harvest to be leery of "turn row" buyers who offer to buy their crops straight from the field, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said.

"Some Texas producers don't have trucks to haul their wheat or grain sorghum to the elevator. That makes them prime targets for turn row buyers who literally offer to pull a truck up onto the turning row on the perimeters of the field, load the grain and haul it away," Hightower said. "At first glance, such a service may seem like a dream come true, but in too many cases—often after it's too late—it becomes clear that such a business arrangement was a costly nightmare.

"Producers who have loaded a year's work on the trailer truck sometimes never see a red cent. Other producers eventually get a copy of a scale ticket showing the weight of the grain, but since there are never scales available in the fields, there's no guarantee they got credit for the entire load. Sometimes a portion of the load gets dumped prior to the weighing.

"Certainly not every trucking firm that offers this service is unscrupulous, but there are enough of them out there that it's worth reminding producers that the best way to protect their investment is to avoid sales of this nature," Hightower said.

TDA's Grain Warehouse Assistant Director Bob Tarrant offers these tips to Texas producers:

- Sell only to a licensed grain elevator. Many elevators have trucks available to haul the grain to their place of business. Others can provide names of reputable firms.
- Always get an official scale ticket for grain sold to a grain elevator.

- Keep official scale tickets in a safe place since they are evidence of ownership.
- Upon completion of harvest, always request a grain warehouse receipt. Receipts are negotiable documents of title and can be used as collateral.

• Report anyone suspected of attempting to make "turn row" purchases to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Any licensed grain elevator should have a TDA license clearly displayed in the place of business. If the license is not displayed, a call to TDA's grain warehouse program before the sale can alleviate any questions.

Grain elevators are required to be licensed and bonded by TDA to cover the grain stored in case the warehouse goes bankrupt. The state has about 685 licensed grain warehouses.

Questions about whether or not an elevator is licensed or other grain warehouse matters should be directed to Tarrant at (409) 542-3691.

NOTES

by BRYAN LIMMER
County Extension Agent-Ag

Texas beef cattle producers and industry leaders will want to mark their calendars for August 14-15 and travel to Texas A&M University for the upcoming 36th Annual Beef Cattle Short Course.

This year's short course will be held in Kleberg Center with live animal demonstrations being conducted in the Louis Pearce Pavilion on the Texas A&M campus.

The program traditionally has started on a Monday, but it has been changed to begin on Tuesday this year. This change will allow people to travel to the campus on Monday, August 13, rather than over the weekend, register for the conference and visit with faculty and industry leaders during an open house and media day activity before the program.

Highlights of the short course program will include discussions on:

- *Expected Progeny Differences, or EPDs, including basic knowledge, predictability of next year's calf crop, use of the method to improve the herd, and a producer panel discussion on use of the method for genetic advancement in their herds. Research in gene markers for value-based marketing will be discussed by animal scientists.

- *A cow-calf nutrition program will start with the basics and cover major mineral programs, micro-mineral programs and diagnostic techniques for identifying problem areas. An in-depth discussion of recent Texas cattle mineral problems with copper will be included.

- *A total management session will use a multi-disciplinary approach of plant-animal relationships, pasture-forage-hay programs, calving season, heifer development, managing the heifer before calving and other management practices.

- *One afternoon will be allocated to a live animal session at the Louis Pearce Pavilion. Topics to be covered will include ultrasound for evaluation of carcass traits and reproduction characteristics, animal identification ranging from tattoos to computer micro chip implants, DNA fingerprinting, health and vaccination techniques and live animal visual selection application.

Another feature will be a trade show that includes from 30 to 50 beef industry commercial representatives who will exhibit products and be on hand for discussions during the program breaks.

In addition, educational booths and research information will be displayed by Texas A&M departments, educators and researchers. Participants will have an opportunity to visit with scientists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station on various areas of research and education.

A registration fee of $40 will be charged for producers and $20 for spouses.

Warning given against fraudulent pesticide sales

(AUSTIN)—Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has warned that some unregistered and illegal pesticides are again being marketed in Texas.

"We put an end to a similar scam a year ago, when we traced the illegal products to a boiler room operation in Florida," Hightower said. "But the temptation for these operators is apparently too great with the high costs of farming. These out-of-state telephone solicitors are once again trying to undercut sales from legitimate licensed dealers.

"Every year about this time, Texas farmers and ranchers get phone calls from salespeople offering pesticides that are supposedly just like commonly used products, but at reduced prices.

"After comparing the costs, however, the farmer discovers that he or she has paid an exorbitant price for the product—particularly when the product turns out to be almost useless," Hightower said.

Hightower said most of the products are improperly labeled and do not provide the type of pest control promised by the salespeople.

In the latest series of incidents, Texas farmers have received calls from Capital Farm supply, of Coral Springs, Florida. The sales representative, calling himself J. J. Johnson, offered a product called "Corral," claiming it to be a cure-all herbicide that is safe for all uses from fence rows to field crops.

The product is not registered with TDA or the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

All pesticides sold in Texas must be registered with TDA and EPA. Both agencies have strict labeling requirements.

Sale or use of this product is illegal. Most of the complaints received by TDA so far this year have been in the Panhandle, Hightower said.

In 1989, TDA ended a similar sales scheme after a four-month investigation that included help from the Florida Department of Agriculture, United Parcel Service, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and EPA.

"The easiest way to beat this scam is to buy only from established, well-known businesses," Hightower said. "Texas producers should immediately be suspicious of any telephone sales of pesticides."

Persons with questions or information about possibly illegal sales of pesticides should contact their nearest TDA district office.

Mission experiencing growth

By Rev. Jon Farris
Pastor, St. Luke United Methodist Church

Many area residents have been wondering and asking if the Community Mission was no longer working and open. Such is not the case! The Community Mission of Colorado City is alive and well and experiencing new and healthy growth. Recently the Community Mission board was presented with the opportunity to appoint two temporary directors to oversee operation of this locally supported Christian ministry of outreach to transients and local poor. The Mission is happy to announce its new directors are Wes and Wilma Coleman. Mission official Emie Lelek states that the Colemans are off to a great start. The new directors are working diligently to tidy up the Mission and offer an overnight home to those who come Colorado City's way.

With much of the recent re-organizational process being over, supporters of the Mission became excited about getting the Mission back into full operation. Last Saturday, a work day was called to further improve the conditions of the Mission's building complex. Two storerooms were cleaned, the supply of donated clothes was straightened and organized, a new door and shutters installed, the entry door was fixed and a general outside cleanup all took place, just to mention some of the hard work that was done. A dryer was donated to the Mission, for which they are indeed thankful. An air conditioner, donated by Mrs. T.J. Goss, was also installed Saturday. Sharing in the cheerful task of the cleanup were Community Mission directors Wes and Wilma Coleman, Emie Lelek, Gene Parham, George Witten, Leon Light, Rev. and Mrs. Walter Bartholf, Bob and Cheryl McNeal and David and Betty Kline. Christian Temple Womens Ministry provided lunches for the volunteers.

The Mission would also like to thank Community Mission board president Elmer Martin for all of his diligent work in the past months and for his help in this Community Mission work day.

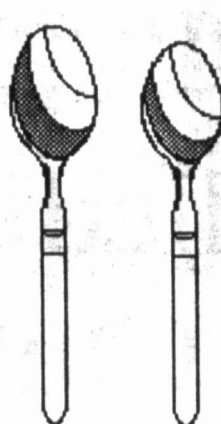

The Community Mission will next be meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 26, at the mission located at Third and Elm streets. All are encouraged to come. The Mission needs your prayers and help to be a ministry for Christ in Colorado City.

New officers installed for C-City B&PW Club

Molly Bruce was installed as president of the Business and Professional Women's Club during its regular monthly dinner and business meeting on June 12 in the Civic Center.

Margaret Oyler was installing officer and as each new officer was escorted to the front, she charged them with the duties of their office and presented each a colored flower symbolizing a point of the club collect.

Other officers installed for the 1990-91 year are Lovess Curlee, first vice president; Mildred Free, second vice president; Pauline Light, recording secretary; Margaret Ann Conway, corresponding secretary; and Patsy Ritchey, treasurer.

Guest speaker was Sherri Webb from Loraine and a student at Texas Tech University. Webb has been accepted as an exchange student through IFYE (International Foreign Youth Exchange) and will be spending the next six months in Finland. She will be living with a Finnish family and taking part in their work and activities.

Six members of the local club have registered for the state convention to be held in Corpus Christi June 22-24.

It was announced that Candy Hudson, graduating senior, was recipient of the Business and Professional Women's scholarship.

In other business, different projects were discussed, and Mollie Bruce, incoming president, outlined goals and ideas for the new year.

Eighteen members and one guest were present.

Scholarship funds said available

Over $100 million in scholarship funds went unclaimed last year because students and parents did not know how to tap into these resources.

A national company, using computer matching, is now making this possible.

Scholarship Research Group has more than 200,000 sources of aid representing $14 billion in financial aid. Begun in 1981, Scholarship Research group helped over 35,000 students last year by supplying them with financial aid information. With college costs ranging from $35,000 to $60,000 and cutbacks on educational funds, more students and their parents are finding college is out of sight.

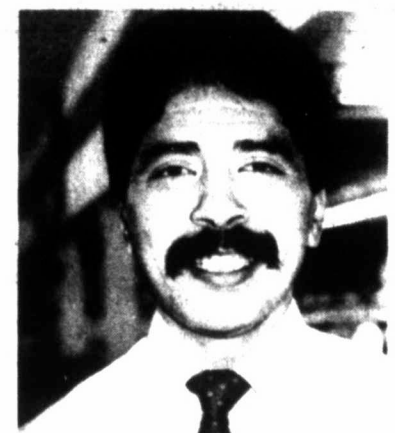

Virtually all families, regardless of income, can qualify for scholarships and other forms of financial aid. Although grades count in some areas, many grants and awards do not consider a student's GPA when awarding funding.

Using the information supplied by a student, SRG will send a printout listing the awards that match the student's qualifications and needs. The printout will list the name of the award, its value, whether it is renewable, address of the provider and why the student was matched to this source.

For information Write Scholarship Research Group, 3220 "N" Street, NW, Executive Suite 318, Washington, DC, 20007. Or call toll-free at 1-800-334-3881.

Letters to the Editor

Celebration explanation

TO THE EDITOR: As chairperson of the Registration Committee of Project Celebration, I felt that I should offer some kind of explanation to Mrs. Parker in response to her letter concerning the students who were turned away at the gate on the night of the party.

Four years ago the pioneers of Project Celebration, the Senior Class of 1987, decided that one of the top priorities of the project was to get students to commit early that they would remain drug- and alcohol-free on the night of the party. They felt that our community, which donates so much time and money to the cause, should have a pledge from each and every student, and that that pledge should be made before the night of the party. Those rules have been the same for the past four years.

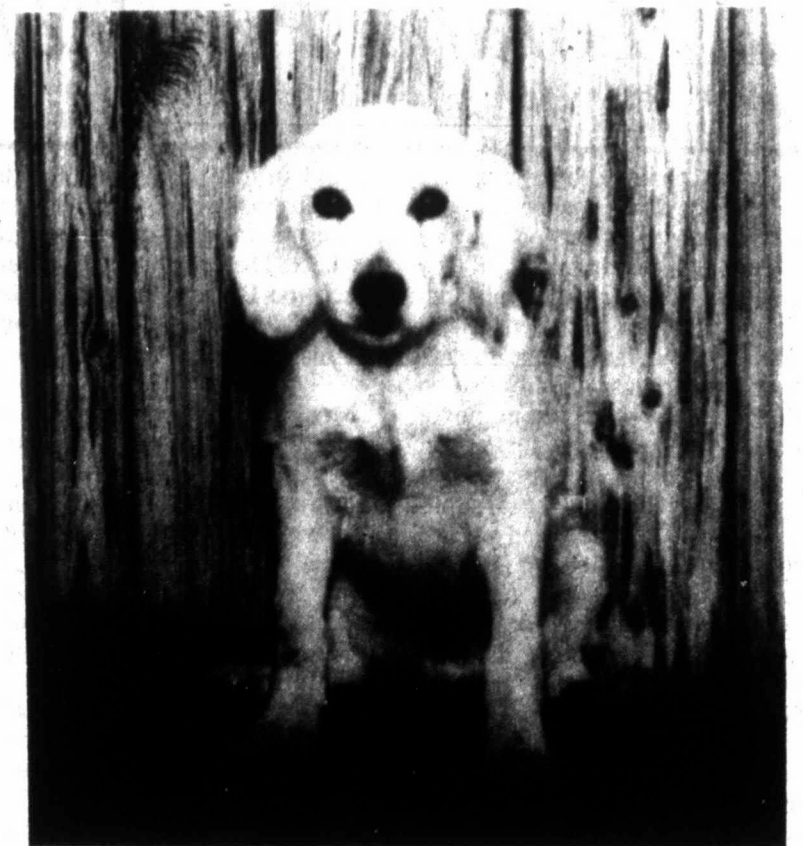

This year, the early bird deadline was May 25, 1990. Any student in Mitchell County could have registered himself and his guest(s) for only $5 (any senior in the county who registered by that date was admitted free). From that date through Thursday, May 31, 1990, at 6 p.m., any student who wished to attend had to pay $15. There was not, nor has there ever been, a provision for a student to pay at the gate on the night of the project. All of these rules were explained at the individual schools where sign-up occurred.

Another reason we do not accept "show up and pay" students, besides the one listed above, is that normally, Colorado High faculty members work the gate on the night of the project. There is no way that we could possibly recognize all students from Loraine and Westbrook. We must have some kind of checkpoint, or undesirable people could come in and "crash" the party. Obviously, this is not what the people of Mitchell County want for their young people.

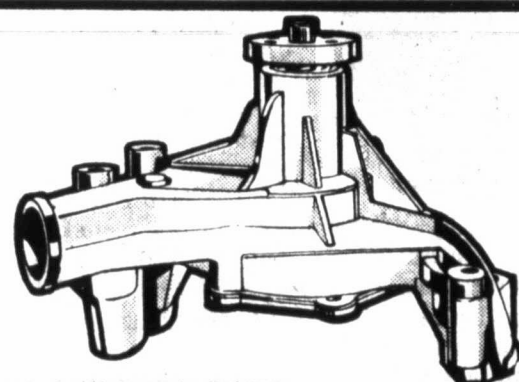

For any lack of communication to our young people in Westbrook and Loraine, I accept full responsibility. There was never any attempt to keep any students from attending Project Celebration; in fact, this year we had more Westbrook and Loraine students in attendance than ever before, and we were very happy about that. For those few who did not get the word, I apologize. In the future, the Registration Committee will make a greater effort to print deadlines in the Record and make announcements on KVMC/KAUM. Perhaps next year, an even greater number of Mitchell County students will make the early commitment to remain drug and alcohol free.

Sincerely,
Kitten Arthur

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

Last Thursday afternoon our emergency alarm sounded and we all moved to whatever job we should do. When I got to City Hall, the city secretary was standing outside. We discussed what it could be and I made the remark that I hoped those children out on that highway were not some of ours.

Of course we would have felt sorry even had they been strangers. After a while I heard someone say "Mike and Lavin are in Abilene and they have not yet located them? Then I knew and so did Chrystene that we were not dealing with strangers but some of our very own.

You know the rest of the story, that Randi Kay and Justin are still in Lubbock being well seen after. Bonnie is also up there, but just to be with the rest of her family. She was not hurt very badly, that is physically.

We are very thankful that they are improving at this time. May God bless all the Herrington's and all those who have helped in anyway. Family needs family, friends need friends and communities need each other in times like these.

Shawn and Brian Key of Lubbock are in Loraine this week visiting grandparents and helping out in the store. It's always good to see them busy. Brian works in the butcher shop and Shawn helps out in the rest of the store, good help too.

Gene and Chrystene had supper guests Saturday night. Harold Britton, Gene's brother from Lodi, CA., their mother Verna Britton and their sister Mildred of Sweetwater were there.

Also Chrystene's mother Edna Fowler and her sister Betty Marsh both of Loraine. Mrs. Fowler, we are so happy that you are doing so much better now.

Scott Aston, grandson of Gene and Chrystene Britton made the President's List for last semester at Schriners College at Kerrville.

Iris Preston met her grandsons, Matt and Ben Wednesday. Ben returned with her and entered the West Texas PGA Junior Tour Golf Tournament at Sweetwater Country Club on Thursday where he won third place. Congratulations Ben.

Susan Preston and Ben spent Father's Day with Dr. Joe Terry.

Ronald and Nelda Bruce spent the weekend in Lubbock with their son and his family. They also helped out where they were needed with the Herrington family. All home folks know that Nelda and Ronald have been Randi Kay's babysitter most of her life as her mom and dad are both teachers. There is lots of love between the Bruce's and that little girl. Of course they love Bonnie and Justin also.

Mrs. Charles Bowen is home from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock following major surgery. She says she is very glad to be in her own house even though she had real good care at Methodist. I know that is true because her daughter Brenda Bowley is an RN at Methodist. Brenda has two beautiful children.

The other daughter is also an RN at West Texas in Lubbock. She is head of OCCU med there. She is married to Jack Gonzales. He was a star offensive line man at the University of Mexico. They have no children. Mr. Gonzales works as a government agent.

Visited with Mason and Trudy Richburg Saturday at the DQ. They had their lovely daughter with them. They were in Colorado City to mow and hoe and clean up his mother's place and to decide what to do with everything.

You know they buried his mom Ethel Long Richburg recently. Enjoyed seeing them.

Harley and Verla Owens have returned home from Arizona recently. They stayed at K.P. Campgrounds at Alpine, Arizona and visited cousins 16 miles up in the mountains.

Saw Jack and Mary Love Albright one day last week eating in town with her mother Syble Walker.

Edwin and Dorris Harris and daughter Cinda and granddaughter Nicole from El Paso came to see Nannie Hallmark last Thursday.

Randy Hallmark, his wife Linda and their children Chris and Amanda of Sweetwater came to visit Nannie last Saturday.

Raymond and Betty Hackfeld went to Wichita Falls last weekend to attend a family reunion of the Draper family.

Others going were Auther and Jennifer, Larry and Sherry and Cindy. The kids came home after the reunion but Raymond and Betty went to East Texas to visit two of her brothers and to Dallas to visit another brother. They reported a nice, but very hot trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Feay of San Angelo spent a couple of days last week visiting friends, Raymond and Betty Hackfeld.

Saw Auther and Margarette Yarbrough in town one day last week. They had lived in Andrews for several years but now they call Lake Brownwood home. They really do look well and happy. Margarette will be remembered as Margarette Peterson in her growing up years in Loraine.

The Beatys came to Loraine for a short Father's Day visit on Saturday. We went to Colorado City for lunch.

Sandy and Chris joined us there with their company, Michael and Kyle Moore. Donnie came in from the golf course and we enjoyed our visit even if it was all about baseball and golf and such. We had four baseball players and five golfers.

The Beatys also visited his mom Elba Mae Evans and sister Patsy and Jackie Walker.

Wilda Price has been to Louisiana for a medical check-up and will go back soon. She seems to be doing well. We sure hope she is soon on the mend and can spread out her treatments. Her daughter Sue Finley went with her on her trip to see her doctor.

ATTENDS WORKSHOP - Ann Nobles of Colorado City, a 1990 home economics graduate of Texas Tech University, was one of 25 home economics teachers and extension agents from across the state to attend a one-day workshop June 6 at the University of Texas at Permian Basin, Odessa. The workshop sponsored by TU Electric was entitled "Energy Trends for '90s" and was designed to meet the needs of secondary home economics teacher and other home economics professionals. Public Notice

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Claim Forms And Additional Information

Those customers who think they may be entitled to a refund or who desire more information must call 1-800-782-3026, 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write to WATS Refund Pool Administrator, One Bell Plaza, Room 670, P. REQUESTING A WATS REFUND INFORMATION PACKAGE DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU IN ANY WAY.

All claims for a refund must be received by the Refund Pool Administrator by Friday, October 5, 1990, and all rejections of the settlement (that is, requests for exclusion from the class action lawsuit) must be received by the Court by Wednesday, September 5, 1990. Robinson and Jarod Epperson tied with 27, and Cooper and Pierce tied with 8.

Robinson led the way in scoring runs with 34. Respectively, Espinoza and Pierce had 26 and 25. Scoring 18 and 13 runs were Jeremy and Jarod Epperson.

This year's pitchers were Frank Espinoza who posted a record of 7-0, while striking out 73 opponents in 33 innings. Cooper also had an excellent season with a record of 5-0. Cooper had 51 KO's in 31 "outings."

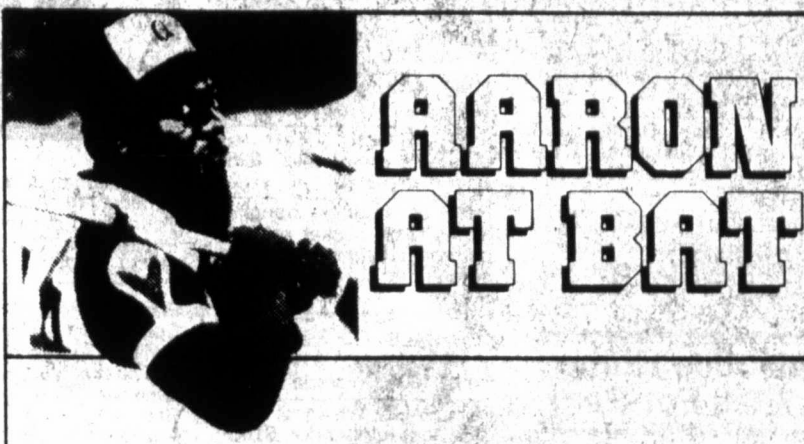

Property tax rule change benefits farmers

(AUSTIN)—"A recent rule change by the State Property Board's Special Committee on Agricultural Land Appraisal comes as a breath of fresh air to thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers who are already burdened with a mountain of bureaucratic red tape," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has said.

"This committee has chosen to do the right thing by adopting a rule which forbids tax appraisers from requiring landowners to submit personal income information in order to qualify their land for an agricultural property tax exemption," Hightower said.

"As a result of this new rule, most producers will only need to send a written sworn statement to their local tax assessor to ensure their property is taxed according to its agricultural productivity, as opposed to its market value. Prior to the committee's rule change, many of Texas' 165,000 family farmers and ranchers were required to provide their income tax returns, income statements, lease agreements, and other personal information to the local chief appraiser to receive the agricultural exemption. This appraisal status ensures that farm and ranch property is taxed at its agricultural value and not at some inflated commercial land value," Hightower said.

The Special Committee on Agricultural Land Appraisal reports to the State Property Tax Board whose membership includes appointees of the governor, the state agriculture commissioner, the state comptroller, the attorney general, and the general land commissioner. Hightower's designee on the committee, Deputy State Agriculture Commissioner Mike Moeller, made the motion to adopt the new rule which eliminated the requirement of income tax returns and other personal financial data for appraisal applications. The motion was approved unanimously by the committee.

League Differences

What are the real differences between the National and American leagues? Of course there are some very basic differences, the biggest being the American League allows a designated hitter. But there also are some other, subtle differences.

The designated hitter is a real "star saver" for American-League teams. Because designated hitters bat for pitchers, American-League teams get more innings out of their pitchers and, consequently, don't have to carry as many pitchers on their rosters. Hitting burns out pitchers faster in games and in years. If there had been designated hitters when Mickey Mantle was playing, he probably could have played a couple more seasons.

Having a designated hitter certainly makes for better offensive play, and the fans like that. They want to see a lot of runs scored.

I played all but two of my years in the National League. The last two I played for the American-League Milwaukee Brewers as a designated hitter. Making the transition from playing the whole game to being just a designated hitter was not easy. I was used to getting into the whole rhythm of the game, shifting from defense to offense and so on. Suddenly, all I had to do between trips to the plate was think about that last time I was up with bases loaded and popped up!

But I found the real difference in league play to be the strike zone. The umpires in the American League call the strike zone higher and a bit bigger than they do in the National League. Because there is much more of a target to throw to, American-League pitchers work the ball around the plate more than they do in the National League.

Believe it or not, a big reason for the differences in the strike zone is that National-League umpires wear their chest protectors on the inside of their jackets while the American-League umpires wear their chest protectors on the outside of their jackets. Wearing their chest protectors on the outside prevents American-League umpires from squatting down as low as the National-League umpires. Other than that, the umpiring from league to league is basically the same.

There are a lot of older parks in the American League and not as many AstroTurf fields. Still, there is a popular notion that the National League is the more "traditional" of the two leagues. I disagree with that idea. Baseball is traditional. It is a game steeped in tradition, and the few rule changes they've made over the years have not changed the game much at all in either league.

What I'd like to see is a uniform brand of baseball. If they're never going to get the designated hitter in the National League — and I don't think it ever will happen — then get rid of it in the American League. I think that would be best for the game, and although they might miss the better offense, I think that's what the fans want. I'll
