Racial Riot Ends in Shooting Death

By United Press International

A white man was shot to death and a news photographer wounded Thursday night during a racial riot at a street intersection in Lexington, N.C.

State troopers were rushed to the scene to aid police in restoring order. Several police cars were damaged by the enraged crowd.

Police said the incident, apparently a carryover from a argument between groups of young whites and Negroes Wednesday night, began when about 2,000 whites marched to the intersection dividing a white and Negro section of Lexington. About 400 whites broke through a police line and started throwing rocks and bottles at about 50 Negroes who threw the objects back.

During the melee, three shots were fired at intervals, police said. One shot ricocheted off the pavement. Another struck Fred Link, 24, a white man, in the head. He died en route to a hospital. The third shot hit Art Richardson, a news photographer, in the side, but he was not believed seriously hurt.

A white man identified as William Tate, whom police said had two shotguns and a rifle in his car, was held by police for questioning in connection with the shots.

North Carolina state troopers also had to move in to help police at Greensboro, N.C., Thursday night during an antisegregatio demonstration by about 1,200 Negroes. The Negroes marched to downtown Greensboro and sat down on a street, refusing police orders to move on. Officers arrested about 300 of the demonstrators and dispersed the others.

There were these other racial developments:

Birmingham, Ala. — At a meeting Thursday between University of Alabama officials, Justice Department representatives and three Negroes, it was announced that two of the Negroes would enroll at the main university campus at Tuscaloosa Tuesday and the third at the Huntsville branch Thursday.

Oxford, Miss. — Negro Cleve McDowell began his first day of classes at the University of Mississippi Thursday amid the same quiet that greeted his enrollment Wednesday. The school's first Negro, James H. Meredith, registered for summer school Thursday and walked around the campus with McDowell.

Danville, Va. — Around 300 Negroes marched through downtown Danville Thursday and a moratorium later was called pending action by a biracial committee considering Negro integration demands.

Atlanta—An elderly white minister, who entered with two Negroes, was dragged bodily from a restaurant by the owner of the establishment Thursday when he refused to leave.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Park officials said Thursday that 17 public playgrounds would be closed

Labor Parties Demand Full Investigation

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's Labor party today demanded a full-scale investigation of War Minister John Profumo's resignation in a sex scandal that shook the British government.

The opposition party called for an inquiry in parliament into any possible breach of security resulting from Profumo's relations with a red-haired playgirl who also was friendly with a Soviet assistant naval attache.

At the same time Queen Eilzabeth waived protocol so that Profumo would not have to go through the ceremony of appearing before her to hand in his seals of office.

Leads Labor Attack

Labor party leader Harold Wilson, mounting a major offensive against the government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, demanded that the Profumo case be debated as soon as parliament is resumed on June 17.

Wilson said he would open the attack personally.

The Labor party move heightened the furor over the resignation of Profumo, who admitted Wednesday night that he lied when he told parliament last March 22 there had been no "improprieties" in his relations with Christine Keeler, 21.

Party leaders said they were particularly concerned about Miss Eugene Ivanov, assistant Soviet naval attache, at a time when she also was seeing Profumo. Ivanov was recalled to Moscow last December.

Arabs Delay Peace-Keeping Money Approval

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Approval of a U.N. plan to finance peace-keeping operations today appeared delayed at least until next week due to Arab insistence on financial penalties for "aggressor" countries.

The 56-nation Afro-Asian group argued the Arab demands in a closed meeting of the General Assembly Budgetary Committee in order to caucus again.

Most other non-Communist countries have indicated acceptance of the assessment plan worked out by a 10-nation negotiating group of rich and poor countries to stave off U.N. bankruptcy.

But the Arabs demand that countries deemed responsible for crisis situations be assessed the bulk of the costs of U.N. peace-keeping operations in those areas. This is considered an obvious reference to the U.N. Middle East operation which followed the 1956 Suez invasion by Israel, Britain and France.

The Soviet bloc also opposes the assessment plan on the grounds the Security Council, not the General Assembly, should finance the Middle East and Congo operations. The Soviet Union has veto power in the Security Council.

The plan as presented calls for 85 underdeveloped countries to pay only 55 per cent of their normal assessment after the first $5.5 million is raised of the estimated $47.5 million to keep the Middle and Congo operations going till the end of the year.

The United States and some other advanced countries were expected to make up the deficit brought on by the reduction.

The fiscal plan includes a guideline of principles for financing future peace-keeping activities but makes no mention of aggressors as the Arab nations desire.

Key Club Plans Flag Day Sales, Business Display

The Pampa Key Club has planned a special campaign to persuade Pampa homes and businesses to observe Flag Day June 14.

The regular display of large American flags before Pampa business firms will be conducted by members of the club.

In preparation for Flag Day, Key Club also will conduct a home flag sale project. Using a sound truck, and volunteer members, the high school boys' service organization will sell and install home flags Saturday, and again on Flag Day.

Barry Peterson, vice president and flag chairman for Key Club announced there would be two flag kits from which to choose. A Lawn Kit for the home lawn at $7.50 and a home kit to attach to the house at $5.00. Key Club members will install the flags for homeowners. Peterson said orders may be placed with Key Club by calling MO 4-2975 or MO 5-2824.

Joe Fischer Jr., Key Club president, also announced a summer meeting of the club today at 8 p.m. at the High School Film Room. The program will be given by Norman Burkhart who has been on voluntary missionary duty with the Papago Indians of Southern Arizona. A fellow missionary will accompany him.

Fischer pointed out that Key Club conducted a drive for food and clothing for the Papago Indians last December. It is probable that project will be repeated, he said.

Rioting Crushed

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Tehrans' military governor said today the shah's army has crushed religious rioting which flared for four days and is prepared to follow "shoot to kill" orders to keep the uneasy peace.

"I now am confident order is restored," said Gen. Nematollah Nassiri, the military governor, "but I still hold the shah's "shoot to kill' order."

Nassiri reported more trooprioter clashes at the southern city of Shiraz Thursday night. But he said the nation's casualty toll in the rioting remained 86 killed and 193 injured.

Dixon, who pleaded innocent and appealed the convictions, is an inspector for the state Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission.

Investigator Predicts Further Sugar Price Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional investigator predicted today the American consumer would be faced with another rise in sugar prices before the year's end.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, made the forecast as a House banking and currency subcommittee pressed its search for answers to the sharp rise in sugar prices.

The subcommittee today called the U.S. representative for Peruvian sugar producers to discuss the reason why Peru has fallen behind in supplying its committed quota of sugar to this country.

Vanik said he was not impressed with the argument of Agriculture Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy that the recent downward trend in prices would continue until they reached their normal level.

The Ohio Democrat said world sugar prices are up because consumers are willing to buy more sugar than the world now is producing. He blamed the underproduction partly on the sugar policy of the United States.

"We should buy sugar at the cheapest price," Vanik said in an interview, "even if it means buying all of it abroad."

More than 50 per cent of the sugar consumed in the United States is grown domestically. Vanik said that if the United States bought all of its sugar from foreign sources it would spur worldwide production to the point where supply would equal demand and prices would level off.

Vanik also had a suggestion on what American consumers could do now, buy less sugar.

"Most of us could do without so much anyhow," he said.

Blind Boy Gets To Meet JFK

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Eleven-year-old Joey Renzi won't let his meeting with President Kennedy go to his head.

"I'm not going to be conceited," he said. "I'll just tell my friends that I met the president."

Joey saw the Chief Executive Thursday—with his hands. He has been blind since birth.

The dream of a lifetime came true for Joey during the President's current tour of the West. He shook hands with Kennedy and received an invitation to visit the White House.

Joe started a correspondence with the President, using his braille typewriter, in 1961. Last Saturday, the Secret Service told him the President would see him during a visit here.

The noise of a waiting helicopter made it difficult to hear the conversation between the President and the boy, but Joey obliged later with a full report.

"I said 'Hello,' and the President said, 'Hello,'" said Joey.

"The President said, 'I hope you can come to the White House

Campus, Capital Worried By Wallace's 'Covenant'

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)— Just how far will Gov. George Wallace go to keep his "covenant" with the people to physically block any Negroes from entering the University of Alabama?

That question is causing worry on the university campus here and among administration officials in Washington.

Ostensibly, Wallace has set a collision course with federal authority over the issue. He has indicated he intends to ignore a federal court injunction against his interference with the enrollment of two Negroes here Tuesday and at the Huntsville extension campus Thursday.

A high administration source said in Washington Thursday if Wallace surrounds himself with state troopers to bar the Negroes' entrance, there would be no alternative but to counter with federal troops.

Asked for Wallace's reaction to this development, a spokesman for the governor said in Montgomery that Wallace still plans to "keep his covenant" with the people.

If found guilty of contempt for defying the injunctions, Wallace could be sent to prison for an indefinite term and fined any amount.

Federal Judge Seybourn Lynne handed down the injunction against Wallace Wednesday in a ruling which contained a personalized appeal to all Alabama citizens to maintain law and order. The injunction had been requested by the Justice Department.

Regular registration for the summer term will be held Monday but late registration will be permitted throughout the week. It had been assumed the Negroes would register Monday but later dates were announced after a meeting Thursday in Birmingham between the Negroes, their attorneys, university officials and representatives of the Justice Department. The meeting was called by Lynne.

J. Jefferson Bennett, administrative vice president of the university, said specific plans for the enrollment of Vivian Malone and James A. Hood on the main campus here and Dave McGlathery at Huntsville were discussed at the meeting.

Change Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J. today proposed an amendment to the National Defense Education Act to provide college tuition loans for "average talent" students.

Gallagher said his amendment would call for increased funds to permit lending to a larger number of students. Under the act, qualified college students may be eligible for a low interest rate loan to defray costs of college education.

Jack Lacy Speaks To 300 at Lions Club Installation

Jack Lacy, former manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, kept his audience laughing last night as he delivered the principal address at the annual installation banquet of the Pampa Noonday Lions Club in First Methodist Church.

Lacy became serious long enough to leave the message with his listeners that most of the problems of today can be resolved through acceptance of individual responsibility by the people of every community across the land.

Those installed were:

Dudley Steele, president; Max Presnell, first vice president; Dr. Harbord Cox, second vice president; George Kleeburg, tail twister; Tom Snow, lion tamer, and O. K. Gaylor, secretary-treasurer.

New directors who took office last night were D. V. Biggers, Ray Darsey, and Earl McConnell. Holdover directors are W. W. Wells, Dr. Howard Greenlee, and Lewis Hackley.

Dinner music and entertainment was furnished by Maxine Milliron at the organ, and Marilyn Milliron at the piano.

Ed Flood, outgoing Lions president, presided and presented awards to various members of the Lions Club for their services during the year. Special awards were given to Warren Hasse of KPDN and Tex DeWeese of The Pampa Daily News.

Group singing was led by Max Presnell, the invocation was given by Fred Cary, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Bill Skoog.

Following the gavel exchange ceremony the meeting was adjourned by newly-installed President Steele. Three hundred Lions club members, their wives and special guests attended the dinner meeting.

Forrest Stafford Named Manager Of Amarillo Store

Forrest Stafford, assistant manager of the C. R. Anthony store in Pampa, has been named to manage the downtown Anthony store in Amarillo. Stafford replaces Connie Harris, who resigned as manager of the downtown store and operating manager of the three Amarillo stores to retire from the company.

Stafford, 32, is a native of Roosevelt, Okla. He spent two years in Korea with the U.S. Army and joined the Anthony company seven years ago.

He has spent the last three years with the company in Pampa, having worked previously in Drumright and Woodward, Okla.

Stafford and his wife Ruby, are members of the Church of Christ. The Staffords and their two daughters, Rhonda, 6, and Janie, 16 months will make their new home in Amarillo at 1213 N. Apache.

FLY TO POLE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Cessna 180 single-engine airplanes flew to the North Pole and landed May 24 in the "deepest known penetration of the Arctic Ocean basin" ever made by light aircraft, the Navy announced Thursday.

Pilots of the planes were Robert Fischer and Cliff Alderfer, civilians attached to the Navy's arctic research laboratory at Barrow, Alaska.

Teenage Unemployment at Postwar Peak; Threatens Major Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fast-mounting teen-age unemployment stood at a postwar peak today and Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz warned it might become one of the most "explosive" social problems in U.S. history.

The jobless rate among youths under 20 climbed to nearly 18 per cent in May to surpass previous recession levels in 1958 and reach its highest point since 1940.

This helped to push up the national unemployment rate to 5.9 per cent of the labor force—a rise of 2 from April after allowance for the usual seasonal trends.

New government figures released Thursday showed 4,066,000 Americans looked for jobs and could not find them in May. This figure held steady although it normally drops by 200,000 or more at this time of year. Employment rose by 850,000 to a May record of 69,061,000.

But the spurt in teen-age joblessness—an increase of 300,000 to 1.2 million last month—was regarded by Wirtz as the critical weak spot in the economy. One of every four jobless Americans is a teen ager.

Manpower expert Harold Goldstein explained that the size of the teen labor force was swollen because the "war babies" born during or immediately after World War II now were grown up and seeking work.

This increase occurs at a time when new technology in industry is reducing the number of openings for youths who do not possess special skills, he said.

Wirtz called for broader training programs, improved schooling to cut the dropout rate and an end to racial discrimination to drive down the number of the teen-age jobless.

Showers Dot Panhandle Area

By United Press International

Thunderstorms boomed early today across the Del Rio sector of Southwest Texas. Showers dotted parts of the Texas Panhandle, the Big Bend country and the Midland-Odessa area Thursday night.

The forecast called for isolated afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms in West Texas from the Panhandle southward into the Big Bend country where Presidio recorded the hottest temperature in the nation yesterday—108 degrees.

Overnight readings ranged from 56 at Dalhart to 80 at Corpus Christi.

Trial Figure Is Victim of Gang Slaying

CHICAGO (UPI) — The central figure in an Eastman Kodak photographic equipment trial of several years ago was found shot to death in his convertible today in an apparent gangland slaying.

He had six bullet holes in his head.

Police found the body of Kenneth Gordon, about 36, slumped in his auto in a parking lot adjoining a chain store on Chicago's near North side.

Gordon was found guilty on federal charges of illegal possession of $12,000 worth of photographic equipment belonging to Eastman Kodak and he later served a prison sentence.

Gordon and Kenneth McLeod, 40, were charged with moving the equipment from Rochester to New York and then to Detroit. The U. S. Supreme Court reversed one verdict against them. McLeod was acquitted in the second trial.

Last Year's Plan May Hike Wheat Price by Millions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman may be able to add between $200 million and $300 million to the value of the 1964 wheat crop by activating a plan approved by Congress last year, informed sources estimated today.

This move would, if put into effect, soften the income blow facing wheat farmers next year following their rejection of a program coupling high price supports with mandatory production controls.

In the 1962 Wheat Act, Congress provided that farmers could be allowed to plant price-supported wheat on feed grain acreage in years when a feed grain acreage-reduction program was in effect. A 1964 feed grain program was approved by Congress last month.

The wheat law gives Freeman authority to allow the substitution if he finds if would not threaten successful operation of the wheat program.

Agriculture Department officials have not completed their studies of the probable effect of this and other steps which Freeman might take to protect 1964 wheat prices. No final decision on whether to authorize use of the wheat-feed grain interchange has been made.

After Demonstrations

Kennedy to Attend Closed Dinner

ABOARD USS KITTY HAWK (UPI) — President Kennedy, after another round of naval weapons demonstrations in the Mojave Desert, planned a carefully protected venture today in the tangled world of California Democratic party politics.

Following an overnight cruise aboard the USS Kitty Hawk, an 80,000-ton guided missile attack aircraft carrier, Kennedy was scheduled to fly ashore at 1 p.m. EDT.

His destination was the China Lake naval ordnance testing station at China Lake, Calif., a vast experimental installation on the edge of the hot Mojave Desert.

Moving again by helicopter, the President planned to hop from China Lake to the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif.

At the hotel tonight, Kennedy will attend a closed dinner given in his honor by the President's Club of Los Angeles, an organization of those whose common bond is having contributed $1,000 or more to the Democratic party this year.

The dinner will be closed to the press. Kennedy planned to visit around from table to table with the top contributors, presumably urging them to keep up the good work, particularly contributions to the party war chest for the 1964 elections.

After watching a task force of the U.S. First Fleet in action off the California coast Thursday, Kennedy was more convinced than ever that to protect the security of this country and her allies, the United States "must control the seas."

WAR IN SPACE

Nuclear Weapons in Orbit

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of four special articles by Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of the Fels Planetarium of the Franklin Institute, on the significant and timely theme, "War in Space." Based on the latest scientific information available, the four-part series considers the possibilities of such a war, the manner in which it may be waged, and — perhaps most important—how such a potentially devastating conflict might be avoided

By DR. I. M. LEVITT

The ability of the Russian astronauts to rendezvous in space indicates that they may also possess the ability to immobilize our reconnaissance satellites. And if by any chance the nuclear powers of this earth begin orbiting nuclear weapons as a deterrent, it follows that these weapons can also be immobilized.

We hear very little about orbiting nuclear weapons in space and there is good reason for this lack of comment. Our Department of Defense considers the presence of weapons in space a most irrational step. As a point of fact, the entire question of such weapons orbiting the earth is a highly provocative act and no nation would want to undertake a step so fraught with danger.

There are ways in which to get around the provocative feature of this situation. There are some planners who suggest that we might put nuclear warheads in orbit at 50,000 to 75,000 miles above the earth. These would circle the earth in 70 hours 33.5 minutes, and 125 hours 2.5 minutes. Thus, high above the earth would be warheads which would take a long time to drop from orbit to the surface. The significant point about high-altitude orbits is that they could never be used for surprise attacks because of the length of time the missiles would take to come out of the orbit to impact a target. It may be this virtue that would render these orbiting bombs non-provocative. In this case we are simply storing weapons by dispersing them in deep space.

As long as peace reigned on earth these weapons would continually circle the earth with nothing to make them come in. However, if a nation decided on a surprise attack and could successfully consummate such a "strike," the orbiting weapons could be brought in as retaliatory weapons. Within 24 hours after the surprise attack these retaliatory weapons would be impacting their nuclear warheads on the aggressor. It is generally assumed that the presence of these retaliatory weapons at extremely high altitudes cannot be considered provocative because of the long time required for them to return to earth.

Planned Provocation

However, there is another type of orbit which can be used if one nation wanted to intimidate the other. It could use a highly elliptical, synchronous orbit to send the nuclear payload deep into space and then have it come in within 300 miles of the surface of the earth at its perigee point. Such a satellite would circle the earth in 23 hours 56 minutes and, once it had been launched to orbit over a particular perigee point on the earth, this point would not vary. Thus, if an island were chosen for the subperigeal point, the warhead would regularly pass over this point once a day, every day, and then sweep out into space. It is this feature of a stable perigee over a selected target — especially if that point occurs within an unfriendly nation — which constitues a provocation of the first magnitude.

The pattern on the earth of the subsatellite point will be a figure 8 with the center of the 8 on the equator, but every time the satellite is at perigee it will be over the designated point on the earth, be that point an island or a city.

It should be obvious that deadly accuracy would be realized in a weapons system of this type. As an example, Commander Schirra brought his capsule down within three miles of the designated impact point in the last U.S. manned flight, showing how close we could come to a target from orbit. While the Russians have not indicated their impact error, it cannot be assumed to be greater than that of this country. Thus, the space powers must be fully aware of the deterrent potential of these orbital weapons.

Unlike conventional orbits which constrain space vehicles to travel with speeds of about 17,000 miles per hour, these would be a wide range in speeds for vehicles moving in a highly eccentric orbit. When the payload is at apogee, it would be 44,278 miles per hour. When it reached perigee it would be but 300 miles above the surface of the earth and at that time it would be moving with a speed of 23,100 miles per hour. Because of this wide speed variation, it might prove an exceptionally difficult object to intercept. It could prove almost impossible to attempt to rendezvous with a payload of this type of an orbit, though the destruction of this payload should not prove too difficult.

Lifetime Not Known

One question remains to be answered before any such weapons systems can be considered realistic or contemplated for use in space. The lifetime of bombs and electronic systems in orbits high above the surface is not too well known. One of the little-known results of the 109-day Mariner 2 flight is the furnishing of information concerning the longevity of highly sophisticated electronic systems after spending months in space subject to powerful shortwave radiations. At this time we know that electronic systems subject to more powerful radiations than in the vicinity of the earth are good for at least 109 days. How much more than 109 days is as yet unknown, and this unknown may prevent the realization of these space weapons in the foreseeable future.

The other not too surprising reason for doubt is that at this time the United States, even if it contemplated a weapons system of this type, lacks the giant boosters necessary to orbit a nuclear payload in the eccentric synchronous orbit.

Considerable research and development, excluding boosters, remains to be done before a system of this type becomes feasible. It is sincerely hoped that by that time the necessity for a weapons systems in space, even as a deterrent, will have vanished.

How Does Your Garden?

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — They laughed when I moved into the suburbs and announced my intentions to grow a garden.

"He doesn't even know which end of the hoe to use," they said rakishly.

But I showed them. I went out and bought myself a gardening book. It was one of the greatest adventures of my life.

A gardening book is guaranteed to give you more information than you can cope with on every phase of gardening except the one you are interested in.

For instance, the book I purchased was completely silent on the subject of which end of the hoe to use.

But I found that if you follow its instructions to the letter, you don't even need a hoe.

If you have a surveyor's transit, for measuring drainage angles and that sort of thing, and a fully equipped laboratory in your basement, you can get by quite nicely.

Remembering my own bewilderment when first introduced to the complexities of simple home gardening, I felt a twinge of empathy the other day upon reading an article in Roll Call, the Capitol Hill weekly.

Read Garden Column

A contributor to the paper, Bernie Yudain, reported that he had acquired a patch with a few rose bushes and had begun reading the garden columns to find out how to take care of them.

"One gathers you either go to chemical warfare school or forget the whole thing," he wrote. "A typical paragraph goes like this:

"Mulch your roses and be sure to guard against thrip, aphids, leaf mould, parasitical fungus, black-winged thyroids, Luxembourg beetles, red spider and widow mites. Use a solution of fledermouserane, two parts to one part quadziller Kilier No. 2, depriathain and molerouzath-quagmyre. Spray every hour for three weeks with a mixture of this, curare powder and phosgene. Don't neglect roots; insert anathoroid compound No. 3, five gallons per root and spread surface with mustard gas, cyanide and a commercial solution of strontium 90. If this routine treatment fails, the gardener might try napalm treatments. This will burn your rosebushes to the ground, of course, but it's guaranteed to get rid of those pesky insects."

Not Exaggerated Much

You think Yudain was exaggerating? Well, the day after his parody appeared, a local garden column carried the following paragraph:

"Repeated spraying may be necessary to control lace bugs effectively. When you see the first signs of injury, begin treatment at once. Malathion gives very good control of lace bugs. Sevin also gives good control. But if you spray with sevin better include dimite or delthane for spider mite control, because sevin kills the insects which feed on mites without killing the mites themselves, and the mites can do about as much damage as the lace bugs."

Dear Abby....

Half-Pint Wants Half A Menu

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Again it has happened to me. I went into a restaurant and saw they had children's size meals listed on the menu. I ordered one and they refused to let me have it because I am not a child. I am 46 years old, very petite, and am seldom hungry enough to eat an adult-sized restaurant meal. What does my age have to do with the amount I eat?

SMALL EATER

DEAR SMALL EATER: Nothing. But when dining out it is not only the "food" one pays for—but the service. Children's portions are offered for less—as a courtesy to the accompanying adults. But just try to order half a banana split because you can't eat a whole one.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is planning to attend a shower for a divorcee who is being married for the second time. My wife gave a shower for her the first time she was married. Her husband divorced her because she cheated on him. (And she had two little children at the time!) I told my wife I wouldn't give her any money to buy an immoral woman a gift, so she went ahead and used our trading stamps. What is your opinion?

N.F.

DEAR N. F.: MY opinion is that your wife doesn't have much respect for YOUR opinion.

DEAR ABBY: You hear so much about single girls falling love with married men. Once in a blue moon the married man actually gets rid of his wife and marries the single girl. But, believe me, this is rare. I am a man and have been around a lot, and would like to give you three foolproof excuses used by married men when the girl friend puts the pressure on them:

(1) I don't have any feeling for my wife, but I love my children. When they are grown and gone, we'll get married.

(2) You are too good for me. I am going to get out of your life so you can find the kind of a man you deserve.

(3) My wife is sick, and I can't leave her in that condition.

"USED THEM ALL"

DEAR ABBY: Re: the man who drinks beer out of a baby bottle and nipple:

You may be absolutely right in suggesting he see a psychiatrist, but there is another explanation:

Several years ago I gave a birthday party for my husband and made it a rather elaborate "kid" party. Our guests entered by climbing a ladder and "sliding" into the living room. There we met them with an orange blossom cocktail served in a baby bottle and nipple.

The party went into orbit so fast we were astonished. We had to confiscate all the nipples because our guests were getting so high on one or two drinks we couldn't get supper going. Later the bartender told me that sucking an alcoholic beverage through a straw—or nipple—hastens and heightens the effect. This is one of those odd bits of information a psychiatrist could go through life without learning.

MRS. SHERER FROM PHOENIX

Modern mermaids believe in comfort at the beach. This model soothes her eyes with an eye lotion (left) after sunning and swimming. Her broad-brimmed hat (center) wards off some sun but she needs sunglasses for double protection against reflected sun rays. Reading in bright sunlight, even with sunglasses, is hard on eyes. Younger beachniks need greater protection when in the sun because of greater sensitivity. This junior miss (right) is properly outfitted with sunglasses and a hat for her happy, carefree days under summertime's sun.

Old Man Sun Can Be Deceptive

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise
Beauty Editor

A famous line by Noel Coward that "only mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the noonday sun" puts your romance with Old Sol in perspective.

As more of you are drawn to water sports and basking on a beach or near a pool, it is wise to remember that the sun can punish as well as reward.

Treat it with respect and you will come away after a day of fun without looking like a lobster.

For comfort and a tan rather than a burn, take your sunning in the early morning and later afternoon hours when the sun's rays are not so direct and intense.

There are additional beauty hazards connected with being near the water. The deceptive, brilliant reflection of the sun's rays from sand and water can create headache, nervous tension and fatigue.

That "headache from the heat" that takes all the fun from your playtime comes more from the visual effects than from the heat and humidity.

The retina of the eye actually converts this radiant energy into nerve impulses. It has been called a "glorified heat spot" by researchers.

This is why it is important to include a good pair of sunglasses when you pack your beach kit.

To rest your eyes and wash out sand and irritating salt or chlorine, use a few drops of eye lotion, close your eyes for a minute or two.

Also in the kit should be a protective sun-screening lotion and moisture cream to combat dry skin.

A small brush clears sand and salt crystals from your hair, and a hair conditioner helps ward off that frazzled look.

Children are more vulnerable to the sun than adults, and should not be exposed directly to bright sunlight without protection. A sun hat, preferably with a peak, and sunglasses are a "must" for them.

Children's sunglasses, prescription or not, should have shatterproof lenses for safety.

Babies should not be placed on an open blanket to face the broiling sun. Protect them with a sun lotion and umbrella as well as a cover-up beach outfit.

Take It From Kathy

... by kathy peterson

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR KATHY: For a year, I have been dating a fellow steadily. Each time I meet one of his boy friends, an argument ensues and they break up their friendship. This has happened a number of times. I feel terribly guilty about it and am sure it's all my fault. Please help me. What do you think is wrong? — N. H. F.

DEAR N. H. F.: Do you have a tendency to flirt a little or a lot with boys in general? Some girls need to boost their egos by trying to make every boy they meet a victm of their charm.

If you feel guilty, there must be a reason and this just could be it! A loyal boy friend might feel that his pal was trying to steal you, when actually YOU invited attention.

You might think about the difference between being friendly and flirting. The sudden break in friendship must be your fault if it has happened more than once. Jealousy is the most obvious reason. Next time, try some of the thousand little ways you can get across the fact that your boy friend is the man of the hour and that you are a twosome. Once these facts have become obvious, friendliness won't be mistaken for flirting.

Nothing Scotch About Yankee Doodle Donors

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's nothing Scotch about Yankee Doodle dandies and damsels.

Rather than squeeze coppers when asked to contribute to a good cause, they tend to loosen the purse strings and pretend they are rich as Croesus—a king of Lydia in the Sixth Century B.C. having vast wealth.

Largely through the generosity of individuals, American philanthropy—private giving for public causes—last year scaled a new peak, $9.3 billion!

The American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, which says so in its yearbook — "Giving U.S.A.," reported the figure tops the preceding year's by $600 million.

Hospital Giving Rises

The major increases in giving were in the hospital and health fields—to institutions and agencies the givers might expect help from in time of their need.

"Individuals, the major philanthropic resource of America, gave an estimated $7.4 billion," the association said.

Other sources of contributions: foundations, $700 million; business $470 million; charitable bequests, $700 million.

Most of the money—51 per cent—was donated to religious institutions and purposes. Education was marked for 61 per cent of the contributions; welfare, for 15 per cent; health, for 12 per cent; others, for six per cent.

Volunteers, according to the report, are the backbone of the fund - raising efforts by the philanthropic agencies.

Volunteers Total 32 Million

A recent survey, for example, shows 35 national philanthropic agencies having a total of more than 32 million listed volunteers.

In addition, it is estimated there are upward of 18 million church workers and thousands more men, women and children who volunteer to help raise funds for local institutions.

Having hit a peak in philanthropic giving, can the average contributor look forward to a lessening of requests for donations?

Negative — is the association's answer. In fact, there are new horizons for philanthropic service.

Reasons:

—With the population growing at the rate of 1.7 per cent a year and rapidly progressing toward an estimated 214 million by 1970, the needs and opportunities for philanthropic services become great indeed.

—New building needs for higher education are estimated to continue running at $1 billion annually throughout this decade.

—Health and welfare services will require an additional $2.5 billion annually in vountary support.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Refrigeration Ends Stick-to-itiveness

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I am not mommy's willing helper very often but the other day, through an absent-minded goof, I found that if you put your transparent food wrap in the refrigerator its tendency to stick to itself is dissipated.

I also coppy mommy's recipes on two-by-four cards and hang them on a notebook ring. No more slaving to keep that card clean and readable. Just hang a cup hook on the bottom of the cupboard directly over the work space. This keeps the recipe you want in front of you, out of the way and the other cards are just flipped over.—KATHLEEN

DEAR POLLY—Put up a low clothesline and give the children panties, anklets and short garments to hang as you put laundry on the regular line. They will be delighted to help and will really save you time.

DEAR POLLY —This is in answer to Mrs. J. K.'s request for help with hourglass curtains. I find that by tapering the curtains, top and bottom from the center out to each end so that each end is about 1½ inches longer, the curtains can be pulled in at the center without causing undue tension on the rods.—MRS. D. M.

GIRLS—Getting the top and bottom hems in for the rods to go through might be a bit difficult. If so, shape a facing like the curve of the curtain to make the hem. The next, and to me, every unique suggestion would simplify the hem problem because the ends would be straight.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I find the following method is best for making hourglass curtains. Cut separate pieces for the top and bottom half of each curtain with a concave curve in the middle (or at one end of each piece) where they would be joined together. The center of the curve, plus seam allowances, would be the length of window or door and the outside edges would be longer. This permits a much tighter pull in the center and the center seam is hidden with the tieback. — MRS. C. J. W.

DEAR POLLY — Next time you are scalding a quantity of fruit for canning or freezing, try a wire bicycle basket. It is handy and large.—MRS. L. C. S.

Mrs. Jim Hannon Feted At Shower

LEFORS (Spl) — A wedding shower honoring Mrs. Jimmy Hannon, the former Betty Williams of Lefors, was held ni the Civic Center recently. The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were carried out in the decorations.

The table centerpiece was fashioned of yellow and white flowers. White bells hung from the ceiling on yellow streamers. The white cake was covered with yellow bells.

The honoree wore a corsage made from a yellow Chore Girl with flowers in the center and a miniature mop fastened to it.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. Claude Nichols, Bill Cody, Bill Crabtree, W. T. Pfeil, J. L. Bromlow, R. L. Jordan, Vernon Northcutt, Dick Bull, Mary Jones, and Misses Linda Crabtree, Mary Watson, Dana Cantrell, and Jo-Ann Rash.

Call for Canonization

Funeral Rites Begin for Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Nine days of funeral rites for Pope John XXIII began today in the basilica under which his body lies entombed.

The series of services in St. Peter's, the largest church in Christendom, will last until June 17, two days before the Sacred College of Cardinals meets to choose a successor to Pope John, who died Monday at the age of 81 from a stomach tumor believed to be cancerous.

The Pope's triple coffin was placed in the grottoes below the church Thursday among the tombs of past popes and kings, and was bricked up in a plain niche adorned only with a plaque of the Madonna.

Body Will Be Moved

It will be moved later to the Roman Church of St. John or an adjoining palace, as requested in the Pope's will.

More than a million mourners said farewell to the pontiff in the 33 hours of public viewing that preceded interment. The unprecedented turnout was a measure of the public affection for the peasant's son whose reign lasted scarcely four and one-half years.

Another sign of the warmth felt for Pope John — and of the achievements of his career as priest and pope — were the calls being made already for sainthood for the pontiff.

"Papa Santo" — the holy pope —many voices cried out during the long pilgrimage past his catafalque in the basilica. Several Italian newspapers quoted an unnamed Vatican prelate as having said: "In the early centuries of the church, the people would already have proclaimed him a saint."

In this century, there is no canonization by acclamation. It it a long and complicated process. But many of the world's half billion Catholics already feel certain they or their children will be praying to the late pontiff as a saint.

Two-Thirds Vote Needed

On June 19, the College of Cardinals, the Pope's aides and advisers during his lifetime, begin their secret conclave to elect his successor. The actual balloting starts June 20. A two-thirds majority is required.

About 40 of the 82 cardinals already are in Rome and others are arriving constantly. Of the two cardinals in Communist Eastern Europe, one is coming and the other staying behind the Iron Curtain. Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland will attend the conclave; Joszef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary will remain in the U.S. legation in Budapest.

For the first time in centuries, a non-Italian is being given a chance for election as pope by observers here. The last non-Italian was Hadrian VI, a Dutchman, who reigned in the 16th century.

Speculation centered around Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, who was born in Armenia, now part of the Soviet Union.

One Italian newspaper, Milan's Corriere Della Sera, also mentioned Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston.

Architects Forget Doors

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress may spend as much as $200,000 cutting extra doors through the walls in the new $70 million House Office Building.

Apparently, nobody noticed that an additional door would be needed in each of the 169 suites until some sample rooms in the as yet unoccupied building were put on display recently.

By that time it was too late to say "oops" and start over. The major portion of the building, a part of a $131.5 million House office expansion program, had already been completed.

When the contractor was consulted, he advised House officials that it would cost between $150,000 and $200,000 to provide doors where the blueprnts called for built-in metal filing cabinets.

Decides Against Move

The House Office Building Commission, perhaps wishing to avoid further criticism of the controversial structure, then decided against going ahead with the portal project on a wholesale basis.

However, in testimony released today by a House appropriations subcommittee, Capitol architect J. George Stewart indicated ahat the doors would be opened piecemeal for House members who requested it.

"If any member moves into the new building and wants a doorway cut through, I am sure every effort will be made to accommodate his personal wishes," Stewart told the subcommittee.

Subcommittee chairman Tom Steed, D-Okla., predicted that "most of the members are going to insist they have additional communication facilities."

Cost Near $200,000

If such is the case, then the total cost presumably would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000. It seems unlikely that cutting the doors one at a time would be any cheaper than cutting them simultaneously.

Each suite in the new building will have three rooms—one for the congressman, one for the staff and one in the middle, divided by a glass partition, for a receptionist and the administrative assistant.

There is a door between the congressman's office and the one to be used by his assistant, but there is not a door between the assistant's office and the main staff room.

Therefore, there is no way for the assistant to communicate with the rest of the staff except by going through the reception room. The extra door would provide a direct link between the two.

It seems to me that the problem could be partly solved by having the congressman and his staff change places. That, however, would create another problem by cutting the congressman off from his assistant.

"It goes to show you that not all designers of office buildings are without fault," commented Rep. Walt Horan, R-Wash.

Offhand, I would say that is the understatement of the week.

WANT TATTOOS OUTLAWED

BARROW, England (UPI)— Schoolmasters have asked the government to make it illegal to tattoo a child under 16 without parental consent.

H. Cunliffe, headmaster of Risedale secondary school, said Thursday he was shocked to find seven boys in a physical training class had tattoos, including one with "a naked woman along his forearm."

Golf Clubs Stolen From Evangelist

Evangelist Angel Martinez, now conducting revival services in the First Baptist Church, has asked Pampa police to be on the lookout for a golf-playing thief.

Martinez reported to police that sometime between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday, someone broke into his automobile on the Coronado Inn parking lot and stole a set of golf clubs and bag valued at $300.

For identification, Martinez said the clubs were Ben Hogan woods and irons.

CROP Campaign Set for South Part of County

The Christian Rural Overseas Program wheat campaign will be primarily confned to the south part of Gray County, according to Stan Friend, campaign director.

The reason for the cancellation of a county-wide campaign is due to droughty conditions and a poor expected harvest in most of the county, Friend explained.

CROP is a country-wide church appeal to aid destitute families overseas who have no harvests due to wars and disasters, the director said.

A meeting of the group to plan the drive for the southern part of the county was held recently, and a film, "Hunger", was shown of Koreans, Indians and other people throughout the world living on starvation diets.

Those attending were Miss Lou Ella Patterson and Mrs. Jaunita Channell of Gray County Extension Service; Paul Bowers, vice-chairman, Friend, Franklin Baggerman, community leader and Arneal Scott, publicity director.

Religious Leaders Concerned With Racial Tensions In U.S.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Religious leaders are profoundly concerned about the racial tensions building up in the United States, North as well as South.

Many of them feel that time is running out for achievement of a peaceful solution to "the American dilemma."

Their sense of urgency is reflected in a letter received by this reporter from Baptist evangelist Billy Graham, who is currently conducting preaching crusades in Europe.

"I am deeply disturbed about the racial situation in the United States, Graham said.

"I fear that extremists on both sides will lead us down a bloody road unless the voices of moderation, tolerance and good will prevail."

Graham said he has been "giving a great deal of time and thought and prayer" to the racial problem, and trying to decide what contribution he can make, after he returns to America, toward heading off an ugly outbreak of violence.

The same note of eleventh-hour urgency appears in an extraordinary pastoral letter issued recently by the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church.

"Present events reveal the possible imminence of catastrophe," said Bishop Lichtenberger, a soft-spoken man not given to extravagant statements. "The entire Christian community must pray and act."

He called on white Episcopalians to get involved in the struggle as allies rather than opponents of Negroes who are "today risking their livelihood and their lives in protesting for their rights."

J. Irwin Miller, president of the National Council of Churches, voiced the same view in a special message to churches last week.

"We thank God that people of color all over the United States are militantly and responsibly opposing racial discrimination," he said. "Let us pray that more white people will join them in the struggle against racism."

Roman Catholics Speak

Roman Catholic prelates have been equally outspoken. In Washi gton, D.C., Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle recently called on employers to practice "merit hiring in its fullest implications" as a first concrete step toward ending the discriminations which are "poisoning race relations" in the nation's capital. In St. Louis, Joseph Cardinal Ritter denounced housing segregation as "a grave injustice" and said the Christian conscience "can never rest" until it is eliminated.

The fear that secretly haunts many religious leaders was expressed out loud last week by Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Asserting that church and synagogue actions in the struggle for racial justice have been "too little and too late," he said:

"We must act now or bear unendurable consequences. If we religionists fail to move and speedily, we will doom all those moderates, like Martin Luther King, and we will make the success of the racists on all sides, including the Black Muslims, inevitable.

"If we cannot really put flesh on the bare bones of our pretensions about equality, we will stand accused in every community as champions of an irrelevant faith, trumpeters of empty cliches."

Baptist Revival Team to Wind up Services Sunday

The revival team of Dr. Angel Martinez and internationally known recording artist Frank Boggs are making their third appearance in Pampa at the First Baptist Church and will conclude an eight-day revival with two services Sunday.

Interest has been manifest all week as evidenced by the full pews at both morning and evening services. Dr. Martinez related his conversion in one sermon and told of his most treasured conversion — that of his mother —in another service.

Frank Boggs is in charge of music and has furnished the inspirational songs for the revival.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the church, said today he believes the church will continue to be filled to capacity at each of the remaining services. He pointed out that the building is fully air-conditioned and the seats are comfortable.

Loevinger previously was an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division.

South African Christians Celebrate Unique Rites

PIETERSBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The South African native has his own unique type of Christianity.

A large part of it is a peculiar outgrowth of tribal ritual and American Midwest evangelism.

Some innovations are highly original.

One example is the native (Bantu) minister who uses a telephone in his church services.

He tells his flock that the telephone, which stands on his pulpit, is his own private long - distance line to Heaven.

Such church leaders command the spiritual life of 1.5 million Bantu Christians in thousands of South African Christian sects and are frequently revered as prophets by their followers. Many are believed by their flocks to have miraculous healing powers.

These "prophets" also claim to possess vision in dreams through which they can foretell coming events and diagnose sickness.

One adored religious leader is Lekganyane, who has his flourishing "Zion City" near here. It is a site for annual pilgrimages. Each Easter as many as 100 busloads of worshippers come here from Johannesburg and other cities.

Followers of Lekganyane number in the thousands.

According to recent figures, there are 94 Bantu denominations with government recognition, plus 2,254 groups known to exist but without official acknowledgement.

In all, the 2,348 bodies have 1,593,939 members or "adherents." Some sects have mass followings up to 80,000. Others have no more than three dozen to the congregation.

Churches range from crude huts to rather elaborate edifices — according to the wealth of the flock. As for baptism, almost any convenient pond will suffice.

Ministers and their flock members dress in brightly - colored robes. During church services there often is loud spiritual singing, jazzy hymn chants, drum beating, handclapping and the stamping of feet.

Occasionally there also are loud confessions of sin and noisy faith healing demonstrations.

Services can last three hours or more.

The two main types of Bantu Christian sects can generally be divided into Zionist and Ethiopan. However the Zionists haven't the slightest connection with Israel, nor have the Ethiopians any affiliation with Ethiopia.

The Ethiopian sect has a loose connection with the African Methodist Episcopal Church established by American missionaries in the last century. They have strong American Negro ties, set prayers and desire to worship apart from the white man.

The Zionists are less race-conscious, have no regular prayers and are more spontaneous in their church services. The first sect of Zionists was formed by converts taught by American Apostolic Faith missionaries.

They regard Zion City in Illinois, U.S.A., as their "spiritual home." Leaders like Lekganyane sometimes make pilgrimages to the Midwestern city.

More originality in Bantu religion is shown in names they give their churches.

One is the "Holy Catholic Church of South Africa King-George-Win-The-War," and another is "The Kitchen Boys' Church."

Continued bad luck with civil rights could impose severe penalties in next year's elections on President Kennedy and on the Democratic Party.

Among the political facts of life are these:

—Only under unusual circumstances can a Democratic presidential candidate be confident of election without the electoral votes of most of the southern states.

—In the great industrial states outside the South, all Democratic candidates usually need the Negro vote to be elected.

Well - organized movements have developed in five Southern states to deprive Kennedy next year of their electoral votes. The method would be to offer voters slates of unpledged presidential electors. Election laws in Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia have been rewritten to provide for the unpledged slates. The proposal is pending in the legislatures of Florida and Louisiana. These five states represent 53 electoral votes.

South Benefits

If no presidential candidate obtained a majority in the electoral college - 270 votes - the election of a President and vice President would be thrown into the House of Representatives. In that event, each state would cast one vote. Mississippi's vote would be equal, for example, to the vote of New York or Pennsylvania. The Southerners might be able to make a deal.

The one-state-one-vote system would restore to the South some of the political leverage it lost when Franklin D. Roosevelt ordered Democratic National Convention rules changed in 1936. For 100 years the Democrats had required a two thirds majority for the nomination of a presidential candidate. In practice, the two-thirds rule gave the South a veto over presidential nominations. FDR scrapped the two thirds rule, making a simple majority sufficient to nominate. The political influence of Southern states in the Democratic party has been shrinking toward zero ever since FDR's triumphant second nomination.

Sit-Home Threat

Political trouble outside the South will fall upon the Democratic party if President Kennedy is unable soon to reverse the disenchantment of Northern Negroes with his civil rights performance. Disenfranchised Southern negroes have no muscle at the ballot box. They must take to the streets or put on the pressure with one of their sit-in maneuvers. Southern communities have been unable to cope with the sit-in technique of Negro protest.

A Northern Negro sit - home maneuver next year on election day would scuttle Democratic candidates in a great many Northern states. It could be deadly to candidates for mayor and sheriff as well as for the big shots running for President, Governor or Senator.

An election day sit - home would be a revenge technique, no more, at the moment of next year's election. But the long - range impact would be very great if major Democratic defeats in such states as New York, Pennsylvania and California could be attributed to a Negro boycott of the polls. The Democrats then would know that Northern Negroes had brought into the party leadership for keeps.

Mansura, La., was founded by ex-soldiers of Napoleon's armies who were reminded of Mansura, Egypt, by the flat prairies.

Veterans' Families to Get Increase

LUBBOCK (Spl.)—Approximately 45,000 children and 30,000 dependent parents of deceased veterans will receive an increase of about 10 per cent in their monthly dependency and indemnity compensation, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock, said today.

Authorized by the 88th Congress, the increased payments will be automatic, and will be included in the July checks mailed to reach beneficiaries about August 1, Sisson explained. There is no need to write the VA, he added.

A child, now receiving $70 a month, will receive $77 per month under the new law, he pointed out.

Two children, currently receiving dependency and indemnity to $100 per month, will receive $110 equally divided between them under the new law.

Three children, receiving $130 per month, will receive $143 per month equally divided between them. If there are more than three children, each additional child, now receiving $25 a month, will receive $28 a month under the new law.

In the case of dependent parents living together with an annual income of less than $1,000, their present payment of $50 each will be increased to $55 each under the new law.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

LOREN E. WILLIAMS, MINISTER
LAMAR CHRISTIAN CHURCH

That Darkness May Not Overshadow Their Eyes

Jimmy answered the request of his teacher and brought a neighborhood friend to Church School. Role call was taken as usual, with each giving a Bible verse in answer to his name. The visiting friend was figiting in his chair restlessly because he had not been taught any Bible verses. Jimmy answered to his name with the Verse, "He who hath ears let him hear". After this the visiting boy sat up straight in his chair and responded to his name with, "He who hath eyes let him see". Though not exactly Scriptural, this response was none the less a message from on high to those who have shut their eyes to "The Light of the World".

Men were created to be "sons of light" but for the love of darkness their children's eyes are becoming blinded to "The Light of the World".

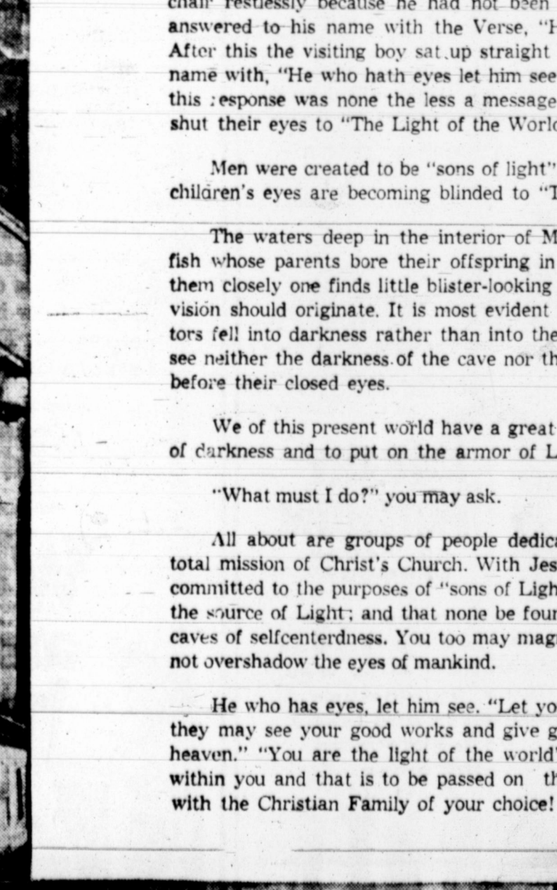
The waters deep in the interior of Mammoth Cave, Kentucky contain fish whose parents bore their offspring in utter darkness. Upon examining them closely one finds little blister-looking places on their heads where their vision should originate. It is most evident that some of their ancient ancestors fell into darkness rather than into the light. As a result their offspring see neither the darkness of the cave nor the light that it sometimes brought before their closed eyes.

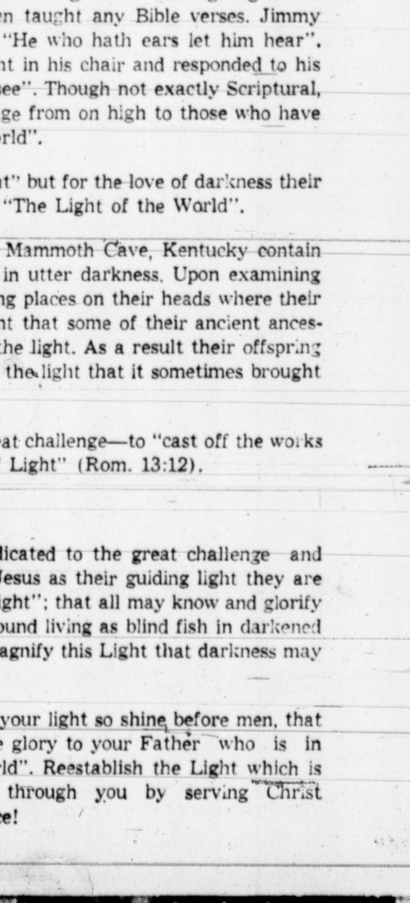
We of this present world have a great challenge—to "cast off the works of darkness and to put on the armor of Light" (Rom. 13:12).

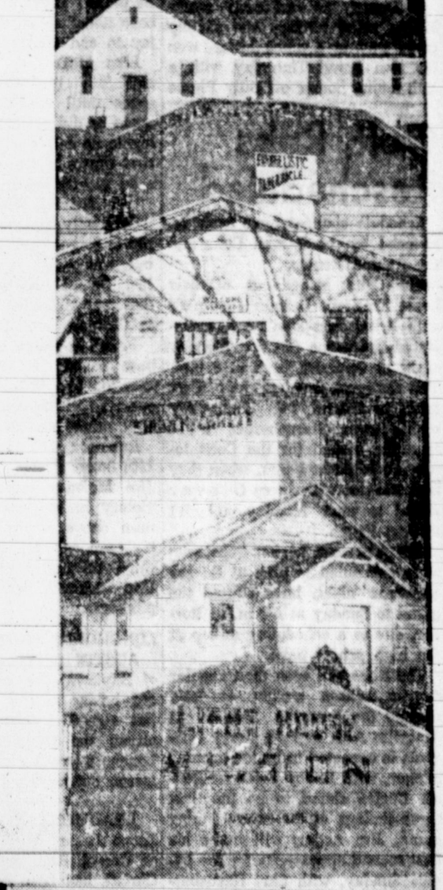
"What must I do?" you may ask.

All about are groups of people dedicated to the great challenge and total mission of Christ's Church. With Jesus as their guiding light they are committed to the purposes of "sons of Light"; that all may know and glorify the source of Light; and that none be found living as blind fish in darkened caves of selfcenterdness. You too may magnify this Light that darkness may not overshadow the eyes of mankind.

He who has eyes, let him see. "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven." "You are the light of the world". Reestablish the Light which is within you and that is to be passed on through you by serving Christ with the Christian Family of your choice!







Matson To TFF Meet In Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — The U.S. Track and Field Federation, embroiled in a fierce struggle with the Amateur Athletic Union over administration of amateur athletics in the United States, modestly opens its first national track and field championships today.

The federation was holding its top outdoor meet of the year in a high school stadium located in a town not known for its track enthusiasm.

The meet could be a big disappointment from the spectator standpoint. The USTFF held a regional meet in Houston two weeks ago with only about 400 fans dotting the 15,000-seat Jeppesen High School Stadium.

Then, too, the entry field was somewhat of a disappointment. The 38 schools entered fell some 62 short of the hundred that meet director Johnny Morriss predicted a few months ago when the meet was announced for Houston.

Several big name performers were entered among the 200-odd athletes in the meet, but some of them such as vaulters C. K. Yang, John Pennell and the Arizona State mile relay team will probably be tuckered out when their turns come Saturday night.

Yang of UCLA, Pennell of Northeast Louisiana, and the Arizona State relay squad were expected to compete tonight in the Compton Relays in Compton, Calif., then beat a hasty path to Houston Saturday.

The meet's best performances were expected in the pole vault, mile relay, the 440, shot put and the 100-yard dash.

Besides Pennel and Yang, two other vaulters who have done better than 16 feet were entered: Fred Hansen of Rice and Gerald Pratt of Texas Southern.

Arizona State and Texas Southern were expected to put on a hot race in the mile relay. The State team has twice broken the mile relay world record this year and the TSU squad could push them to another good clocking.

Adolph Plummer of New Mexico, who bettered the 440-yard dash world record two weeks ago, could also turn in a top time—if pushed.

Danny Roberts of Texas A&M, holder of the SWC shot put record with 59-6, and Randy Matson of Pampa, holder of the state Federation record of 58-8½, will meet for the first time, with a new state record expected by either the Aggie collegian or the Harvester high schooler. Matson, who has never thrown the college discus for record, but qualified for the state meet with a practice throw of 169 feet at the Federation Meet at Abilene last month, will also be seeking a record in that division. The Federation record in that class is 181'2". Matson has thrown the high school discus 199'5" unofficially, and holds the second best recognized high school mark in the nation with 193'2½".

Gary Gray of Auburn and Nate Adams of Purdue both have done the 100-yard dash in 9.3 and they could put on a crowd-pleasing race.

Finals in the javelin and hammer will be held this afternoon. Finals will be held tonight in the hop, step, jump; high jump, six mile run; 440-yard hurdles, 100-yard dash; 880-yard run and steeple chase. Eleven other final events will be held Saturday.

Houk, Hitchcock Feud As Orioles Take Lead

By United Press International

Ralph Houk and Billy Hitchcock have another feud going and this one could be a pip.

The two managers had to be separated during a sudden flare-up in New York last summer. Neither threw any punches in Baltimore Thursday night but both got in some hot-tempered conversational licks after the Orioles beat the Yankees 4-2 to take a 1½ game lead in the American League race.

"We'll win the pennant," snapped Houk, obviously smarting over the fact the Yankees lost two out of three games to the Orioles. "Baltimore won't beat us. You can bet on that and you can put it in headlines."

Cooling off a bit, Houk conceded "the Orioles have a good ball club," then hastily added, "but I think we have a better one—even with our injuries."

Apprised of the Yankee manager's comments, Hitchcock countered:

"I'm glad Houk is so concerned about the Orioles. He must really be worried about us to be so concerned."

Rally Against Williams

The Yanks fell behind early Thursday night, finally tied the score at 2-all in the top of the eighth and then saw the Orioles break the tie in the bottom of the inning when singles by Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile off loser Stan Williams capped a two-run rally.

Dick Hall, who relieved Baltimore starter Robin Roberts with one out in the eighth, hurled scoreless ball the rest of the way for his second victory, both over the Yankees.

The Yankees, who lost Mickey Mantle for at least a month when he suffered a broken bone in his left foot Wednesday night, also suffered another blow Thursday night when starter Jim Bouton was struck on the jaw by Jackie Brandt's line drive in the fourth inning.

Bouton, owner of a 7-1 record, was forced to leave the game and had to have 12 stitches taken.

Win Fourth Straight

In a ball game where there was less conversation, the Washington Senators beat the Boston Red Sox 2-1 for their fourth victory in a row and their longest winning streak of the season.

Larry Osborne's 10th homer with one man aboard off loser Gene Conley in the first inning was all the margin Dave Stenhouse needed for his third victory although Ronnie Kline had to be summoned from the bullpen to retire Carl Yastrzemski for the final out of the game.

No other games were scheduled in the American League.

BILLS SIGN PATERRA

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League have signed lineman Herb Paterra to a 1963 contract. Paterra, from Michigan State, was the 18th draft choice of the Bills.

Fannin smashed Enco, 19-5, and Pampa Hardware rolled over Cree, 13-1, in last night's Babe Ruth League games at Optimist Park.

The former Orphans have found a home, and proved it with a 12-hit assault on three Enco pitchers. Alvin Achord scattered four hits for the win, striking out two and walking nine. Jack Thompson had a perfect night at the plate for the winners, with three hits and a pair of walks.

Hardware broke open a tight ball game with a nine-run surge in the seventh inning, scoring on Cree throwing errors. Mike Stone took the win, striking out 11, walking only one and scattering four hits.

Alfred Brown and Gary Hyatt led the winners with two hits each.

Three Tied For First In National

By United Press International

Lindy McDaniel of the Chicago Cubs and George Altman of the St. Louis Cardinals, who figured in a six-player deal nine months ago, figured again today in a three-way tie for the National League lead.

The fantastic Cubs, Cardinals and slumping San Francisco Giants are all deadlocked for first place and the two men chiefly responsible for the snarl are McDaniel and Altman.

McDaniel, an ordinarily weak-hitting relief pitcher who usually gives way to a pinch hitter, won his own game Thursday with a 10th inning homer off Billy Pierce that beat the Giants 3-2 and gave the Cubs their fifth straight victory.

Third Season Win

The victory was McDaniel's second in as many days, third of the season and the Cubs' 11th in their last 13 contests.

McDaniel was as effective on the mound as he was at bat in handing the Giants their fourth straight setback. Taking over for Barney Schultz with the bases full and one out in the top of the 10th, he picked Willie Mays off second base and then struck out Ed Bailey to end the threat.

Like McDaniel, Altman didn't get into the Cardinals-Phillies game until the late innings but when he did get his chance in the eighth he delivered a pinch double that drove in the winning run in a 5-4 victory for St. Louis.

Started With Cubs

Originally, Altman began his major league career with the Cubs but was dealt to the Cardinals last Oct. 17 in the same trade that sent McDaniel from St. Louis to Chicago.

Frank Robinson and Gordy Coleman paced the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-5 and 10-5, twi-night sweep over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the only other NL games scheduled.

Robinson belted his 10th and 11th homers in the opener to help Jim Maloney register his eighth victory in the opener and Coleman drove in five runs in the nightcap as Joey Jay posted his third triumph. Joe Gibbon and Don Schwall were the losing pitchers.

LONGHORNS SIGN ONE

AUSTIN (UPI)—Don Parkhurst of Baytown, the high school record holder in the 100-yard dash, has signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Texas, Longhorn track coach Jack Patterson announced Thursday.

BEAUMONT (UPI)— Fred M. Jacob Jr., assistant football coach at Carrol High School in Corpus Christi, has been named assistant football coach at Lamar Tech, school officials said Thursday.

Colt, Rebs Rescheduled

Schedule changes have been announced by the Pampa Colts and the Pampa Rebels.

The Colts, rained out of their home Tri-State League opener with Fritch last Sunday, have re-slated the game for this Monday night at Optimist Park at 8 p.m. The semipros dropped their first game to Liberal, 7-1, Wednesday night. Royce Harnsberger will take the mound for the Colts tomorrow night at 8 p.m. when they host Borger, with Jerry Glover slated to start Monday night against Fritch.

The American Legion Rebs, who were scheduled to play at Borger tomorrow night, have shifted the game to Sunday at 2 p.m. at Borger, due to a scheduling mixup at the high school park.

The Rebs will open their regular district season tonight at 7:30, playing the Amarillo Sandies at Amarillo AFB at 7:30. Jerry Garrison is expected to be the opening pitcher, with Bobby Price or Ronnie Curlee slated to go the last three innings of the nine - inning game. Jim Arthur will make his first mound appearance for the Legion Sunday, with Carl Harnsberger slated to share pitching duties against the Bulldogs.

Lema Rained Out Of First Round Lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI)—Now you know why they call him "Tough Luck Tony" Lema.

The lanky ex-Marine from California fired a five-under-par 67 Thursday to take an early one-stroke lead over Don Essig in the Buick Open but it was wiped out by violent thunderstorms.

So Lema and the rest of the 159-man field will start all over again today in this 72-hole tournament for prizes totaling $52,000.

Tony saw the postponement as a sunny omen.

"I won the Memphis Open after it had been postponed twice by rain," the tall Californian murmured as he masked his disappointment.

Forty-eight players did not get a chance to finish their round because of nature's eruptions.

Among those who did get in 18 holes, Chi Chi Rodriguez, the tiny Puerto Rican who holed out a six-iron shot on the 507-yard 13th hole for a rare double eagle, shot a two-under-par 70. This was matched by former PGA champion Dow Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla. and Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla.

Shooting 71s were defending champion Bill Collins, Al Geiberger, Gene Flint, Al Johnston and George Knudson. Former champion Mike Souchak had a 74 and Sam Snead a 75.

Vernon Quits

Vernon was suceeded as Washington manager by Gil Hodges on May 22 but still remained with the club as administrative assistant to General Manager George Selkirk.

MacArthur Trying To Clear Up Track

NEW YORK (UPI) — The AAU-NCAA controversy sounded like an oft-repeated record today, with Gen. Douglas MacArthur reiterating his stand that the Amateur Athletic Union has sole sanctioning power in open meets and the USTFF continuing its demands for approval of the other side of the disc.

MacArthur again attempted to clear up any misunderstanding on his March 12 communique with a statement Thursday that "open meets are under the sole sanctioning power of the Amateur Athletic Union. Such meets do not require the sanction of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the United States Track and Field Federation or affiliated groups."

William Russell, president of the USTFF, said in Houston that presidential mediator MacArthur's latest directive was "nothing new" and that the five-star general had previously "clarified the dual sanction meets while he gave us authority over our athletes in meets."

Russell, with other USTFF officials in Houston for the Friday and Saturday track meet, only asked that the AAU submit a formal request for USTFF athletes to appear in the AAU championships at St. Louis, June 21-22.

"The key issue," Russell said, "is the AAU refusal to ask for approval."

MacArthur, moving to stop the NCAA from allegedly boycotting efforts to field the strongest U. S. team possible for the July meet with Russia in Moscow, has asked the collegiate organization to "refrain from any action which inhibits the free participation of any athlete" in any AAU track and field games.

The general had supposedly ironed out the differences between the two amateur groups at a January session when he asked them to present a solid front for the 1964 Olympic Games in Japan.

But the new flare-up was touched off by the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference directive that member schools shun the AAU championships, unless sanction was granted by the NCAA.

Two Yanks Reach British Semis

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI) —Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., and Dr. Ron Luceti of South San Francisco, Calif., reached the semifinals of the British Amateur golf tournament today as defending champion Dick Davies of Pebble Beach, Calif., was eliminated.

Updegraff, a 41-year-old urologist, eliminated Dick Sikes of Springdale, Ark., 2 and 1, in an all-American quarterfinal match. Luceti, a 26-year-old Army dentist stationed in Germany, defeated Peter Green of England, 2 and 1.

Davies, who won this tournament last year, was eliminated by Michael Lunt of England, a British Walker Cup star, 1 up.

The victories by Updegraff and Luceti kept alive United States hopes for an all-American final, since both are in opposite halves of the draw.

Updegraff met Lunt in the afternoon semifinals, while Luceti played John Blackwell of England. Blackwell, a retired schoolmaster, gained the semifinals by defeating young David Moffat of England, 2 and 1.

Emile Picked To Win Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ex-champion Emile Griffith, the 11th man to win the world welterweight crown twice, is favored at 13-10 to achieve a record-breaking third title triumph Saturday night in his fight with champion Luis Rodriguez at Madison Square Garden.

Rodriguez of Miami Beach, 26, wrested the title from Griffith on a unanimous but controversial decision last March 21 at Los Angeles.

Griffith would make no kayo prediction against rugged Rodriguez who never was stopped in his 53 fights, only two of which he lost. However, close friends disclose that Griffith hopes to knock out Luis about the seventh round.

Champ Kayoed In Texas Golf

DALLAS (UPI)— Dick Carson of Dallas eliminated defending champion Richard Yates 2 and 1 Thursday in the only major upset in the second round of the Texas Amateur Golf Tournament.

Carson, a railroader, pulled ahead at the third hole with a birdie and never trailed. Yates evened the match at the 10th hole but quickly fell behind by three holes.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

What's All This?

Yes, the New Frontier's legislative program has faced heavy going in Congress. Congressmen have reported that their constituents are indifferent to the proposals for broadening the scope of the welfare state. The farmers have voted against a wheat program cut to the all-powerful government pattern. It looks like Congress is in step with public opinion.

This situation enrages Sen. Joseph Clark (D., Pa.,) however, and he has launched an all-out tirade against not only the Congress of which he is a member, but against state legislatures and city councils everywhere. The reason is simply that such bodies interfere with actions which the executives want to take, and there are others who are critical on these grounds.

And Sen. Clark startles us by alleging that all these bodies of elected representatives are "The greatest menace to the democratic process."

He does this in a publication called "The Elite and the Electorate," put out by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

Sen. Clark seems to be a little confused about this subject. What he proposes is to shift the power to run the country from those who are elected by the citizens to do it into the hands of those whose job it is to administer the laws those representatives pass.

Every dictator has secured his power by doing away with such elected bodies. Hitler disposed of the Reichstag. Lenin did away with the constituent assembly. The executive and his party were given a free hand in each case. It is quite possible that a misguided majority may have supported these moves for "efficiency" at the time. But what became of democracy then?

The power of governments is almost infinite. They can seize your property, tax away more than half what you earn, put you in jail for a million reasons, and even take your life. This power is too great to be delegated without curbs to anyone, no matter how well-intentioned or able.

That's why we have checks and balances. That is why we have executives, legislatures and courts. The Russians claim to have a democracy without such independent branches today, but the American people would hardly be satisfied with that.

"By Dark Of The Moon"

Folklore and the old almanac, sturdy holdouts against the ranks of science in the matter of making planting predictions, have a new foe arrayed against them.

Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt, USAF (Ret.), and vice president of an aircraft corporation, foresees data from meteorological satellites, teamed with ground-based data, giving farmers in accurate weather picture of planting conditions a full year in advance. Furthermore, data telemetered from weather satellites will enable forecasters eventually to narrow things down to DAYS which will be best for planting.

Joining Tiros in weather snooping will be a dumbbell-shaped satellite named Nimbus and later, a third meteorological space traveler, Aeros, says Putt.

And, finally, what might be called the "green" line is coming into being—a United States-Soviet teletype circuit for exchange of weather information.

It is only fair to caution the general that it will be some time before all the almanacs are junked and gramp's predictions forgotten. If for no ther reason than they'll be fine to back the "I-told-you so" clan when space predictions go sour.

The Doctor Says

Asthma Operation Might Clue Relief of Emphysema

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Q—Could the operation for asthma that you mentioned (removal of the carotid body) also help emphysema?

A—The operation referred to does not correct the underlying allergy in persons with asthma, but does increase respiratory efficiency by releasing trapped air. It would seem logical to try it on patients who have emphysema, especially since the operation is relatively simple. I do not, however, know of any reports that this has been tried.

Q—My teen-age daughter bathes every night, uses deodorants, and never wears a blouse more than one day without washing it. But even after the blouses are washed, they still have a sweaty odor. This is embarrassing to both of us. What can we do?

A—This is a common complaint in teen-agers. The problem will become less acute as your daughter grows older.

Meanwhile, if she doesn't shave her armpits she should, because deodorants are practically useless in the presence of axillary hair. Some deodorants are better than others, so she may have to try several to find one that helps her best, but none of them will work unless used every day without fail.

Frequent bathing is recommended, but the best results are obtained when a soap that contains hexachlorophene is used.

It may help if you could get her to take a calmer view of life. Worry and anxiety can aggravate this, as well as so many other problems.

Q—I am a 72-year-old housewife. I am well except for excessive sweating day and night. My doctor cannot find any cause. Will I just have to learn to live with it?

A—Fever, exercise, and overheated surroundings are the usual causes of sweating.

In the absence of any of these, excessive sweating is usually due to some emotional stimulus such as anger, fear, or excitement. In many persons, excessive sweating is limited to the hands, forehead, armpits, or feet.

Methantheline and propantheline have benefited some persons who have had excessive sweating, but the results are variable. Such unpleasant side effects as dryness of the mouth and blurred vision may make it necessary to stop the medicine.

In severe cases, an operation that severs the sympathetic nerve roots has given good results, but most people would rather sweat it out.

Q—What is empyema? Is it caused by smoking?

A—Empyema is a collection of pus between the lungs and the chest wall. It almost always starts as an acute condition with fever, associated with some disease of the lungs. Smoking is not a direct cause.

If treatment of the disease that started it is inadequate, chronic persistent empyema may result. This is usually confined to a limited area.

Nature causes the area to be walled off to prevent spreading of the infection over the entire chest wall.

Some persons live 20 years or more after the acute episode. In these persons, the symptoms may be surprisingly mild. The treatment depends in part on the cause and the amount of involvement of the lung. In treating this condition, the infection must be controlled, after which an operation to drain or remove the empyrema sac may be necessary.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Nearly 20 Million Goes to Indonesia

The high and mighty, one may say almighty, satraps of our State Department again have thumbed their noses at Congress and carried out their aids to the enemy as they have been consistently doing since the daze of the New Deal Dynasty. One of their more recent examples of flouting the will of the elected representatives of this country, is in the generous financial aid they continue to pour out for the pro-communist regime of President Sukarno of Indonesia. A few weeks ago, Gen. Lucius Clay, as chairman of a committee investigating the foreign aid program, urged there be an end to the giving of billions of dollars to nations that are either communist controlled or intimately allied with communists or the Soviet bloc of nations. Referring to Indonesia Clay said: "We do not see how external assistance can be granted this nation unless it puts its internal house in order, provides fair treatment to foreign creditors and enterprises and refrains from international adventures."

After the Clay report was made public, the State Department and its bureau potentates who make their policies without the advice and consent of Congress, revealed that "emergency" aid of $19,700,000 has been given to Indonesia. Since that pro-communist regime has been established, the Washington largess dispensers have handed Sukarno about $700 million of your tax dollars. The alibi for the stupidity in financing our enemies is that we hoped to keep Indonesia neutral. Just how neutral it is may be better understood when we note that Sukarno and president Liu Shao-chi of Red China recently met in Indonesia. They pledged eternal friendship as comrades in arms. That means in arms against all the free world including the stupid United States that financed or greatly aided in financing Indonesia.

Before World War II the Dutch East Indies, as then called, had a stable administration. They were rich in natural resources, perhaps the richest in all Asia. They exported oil, rubber, tobacco, spices, tin and many other products. Holland's economy was linked largely with the prosperity of the Indies. Today, after several years of mismanagement and the introduction of communist methods, our State Department favorite, Sukarno, has brought the country to what may be regarded as bankruptcy. Three years ago Indonesia had a bank balance of $337 million. Now it has a large deficit, caused primarily by a military budget which takes approximately half of the nation's revenue.

The 700 million of your tax dollars, if we are to put credence in the statements of those in the State Department, is some assurance that Indonesia will remain outside the Soviet or Red China orbit. But what does Sukarno do with the millions? He has 100 jet fighters, some of the Soviet MIG supersonic fighters and bombers, for which he paid the Soviet in dollars. He also has Russian-built destroyers, at least one 19,000-ton cruiser and smaller naval vessels with some submarines, all from the Soviet. This "peaceful" potentate invaded West New Guinea and threatens to take another slice of Borneo, obviously the part with rich oil fields. Soviet and Red Chinese officials seem to vie with each other for the privilege of co-operating with Sukarno. The Communist party in Indonesia is the strongest of any except in the Soviet - controlled satellites. The country is heavily in debt to the Soviet for military equipment — over and above what has been paid for with the dollars syphoned from the United States Treasury.

This is a typical example of the manner in which our so called Mutual Security dollars — otherwise known as foreign aid—have aided international communism's designs. It further points the urgent necessity for a thorough investigation of the State Department which invariably finds some loop-hole to aid the cause of the enemy by, supposedly, bolstering the economy of a so-called neutral nation. Indonesia is almost as "neutral" as is Cuba. Incidentally the U.N., which has little money that does not come from the U.S., voted a $3 million bonus to Cuba to develop an agricultural program. Of course most of that fund is paid for by you. Will we ever learn?

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Some Voters Turning Against Subsidies

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

A couple of years ago, voters in Phoenix, Ariz., became incensed at a housing code passed by their city council. They went to work on a petition and waged a successful battle to have the law removed. This year they were faced with a slightly modified housing code and managed to defeat the law in a special election, winning by about 5,000 votes. Political experts and politicians did a little losing, also, by predicting a different outcome of the election.

On the same day, wheat farmers all over the country, voted against the controls and subsidies proposed by the national administration. The result of this election dimmed the glamour light in Washington to a dull and sullen glow. Farmers in Arizona voted against the administration about five to one and this is a democrat state. Unfortunately, socialist politicians are already making conversation about a substitute measure which may become a subject for congressional action.

There's no doubt about it, the defeat of the administration's control bill for wheat farmers provided tangible evidence of growing resentment against socialism, at least among wheat farmers. From this point on socialists, dictating the policies of both major parties will do everything they can to avoid situations which might permit voters to defeat their pet schemes. In this instance, political experts and pollsters we've written about from time to time, advised the administration it couldn't lose and they'll be in trouble for awhile.

Unfortunately, these new developments are not victories for freedom. The wheat farmers who wants subsidies and controls must bow to the rule of the majority. The citizens of Phoenix who wanted a housing code have become the victims of mob rule, democracy. Voters who turned down a housing code and wheat controls have managed to stop something temporarily but they have gained only a momentary respite. For a change, they are forcing members of the socialist conglomerate to bow to their will.

Now, let's look at this from a different point of view: All of the wheat farmers do not wish to bask in the respectable light of freedom. Almost half of them voted for slavery, doles and controls. Why not permit those who prefer to turn their own responsibilities over to government, do exactly that, at their own expense? This would make it possible for respectable and responsible wheat farmers to compete against a fascist system of totalitarianism in the market place and make no mistake about this. The socialists were doing their best to create fascist totalitarianism and I hope you remember this example the next time any uninformed expert tries to tell you that fascism and socialism are at opposite ends of the political pole.

I know this for sure: If I were a wheat farmer I would welcome a chance to compete in the market place against any and every aspect of the socialist conglomerate I might be incompetant and lazy but those who turn their responsibilities over to government are also inclined towards incompetency and laziness to an evident degree.

If I lived in Phoenix I would have no objection to a housing code for those who wanted a housing code and were willing to pay for it. I would be delighted to be responsible for my own house but the socialist planners wouldn't like that, even though I could watch their socialist planning activities happily, if I were not compelled to part with my earnings to pay for their stupidities.

The less than respectable wheat farmers and housing code lovers will continue to fight for immorality and thievery. I would like to see them have their own way at their own expense. I believe that no real progress will be made towards the road to freedom until a great many people fully understand the philosophy of freedom, in all of its beautiful simplicity.

Good luck and good health to you in freedom.

"TO RUSSIA, WITH LOVE" — A 162,000 MAN-DAY MISSILE GAP

(Warner & Swasey Ad in U. S. News & World Report)

At Cape Canaveral and other missile construction and test sites there have been 325 strikes and similar work stoppages in the past vital 4½ years, resulting in loss of 162,872 man days — 810 man years — time vital to the safety of this country; a completely free gift to our enemies.

Patriotism was flaunted, to "make work" and invent overtime. Ditch diggers collected as much as $287 a week.

Pipe fitters refused to allow the use of manifolds properly made by experts at the factory. But they "permitted" (if you please!) the use after the "workers" sat around at full pay for the time it would have taken them to do the work already done. They cynically called it "blessing the manifolds"!

Production was as low as 40 per cent of a normal day's work.

One authority believes that at Cape Canaveral alone tens of millions of dollars were wasted in such needless charges.

Remember all this when you pay your next and next and next tax bills for the rest of your life.

The American Way

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE?

By WILLIS E. STONE
Chairman, National Committee for Economic Freedom

Much has been said about our "present dangers." These dangers are much the same has have beset mankind through all of history. They can be summarized as the loss of freedom resulting from the application of tyranny.

The attack upon freedom throughout the world appears to be engineered to pave the way for the subjugation of all people. The pattern of tumult and confusion breeds mob rule.

We may be diverted by the alien nature of the conflict, or belief that "it can't happen here." Whatever the reason, we seem to be unaffected by the naked lust for power and conquest unleashed everywhere, in Laos, the Congo, Berlin, Viet Nam and Cuba.

We dare not be uninterested. It is no longer "far away." A full view of the tragedy is visible in Cuba—just 90 miles offshore.

Our Record

It is folly to assume that "we are different." We may tell ourselves we love freedom, but do we work at it? Unfortunately, the examples we set are not very helpful. Socialized countries point out we are more socialistic than they are. And we are reminded of our part in the division of Berlin, our aid to Tito, our attacks upon Katanga, and the fantastic build-up of Castro.

This is not a pleasant picture. We can not honestly expect others to adopt the kind of freedom we are showing the world.

On the domestic scene we find the federal bureaucracies have taken over 40 percent of the land area and 20 percent of the industrial capacity of the nation without any constitutional authority to do so.

We learn it costs more than half the total revenue of the federal government each year to maintain and expand these vast unconstitutional political empires.

Senseless conflicts develop between federal and state governments regarding which shall have jurisdiction over intimate local activities.

We find our entire concept of State's Rights and self determination reversed by the endless federal preemption of the State laws.

State's Rights

We learn of frantic efforts to withdraw from the States their rights to even have such things as "Right-to-Work" laws or govern person-to-person relationships.

In area after area, federal usurpation of rights and powers, from both individuals and local government, is generating enormous centralization of power — and Cuba, just 90 miles offshore, illustrates the ultimate result of this practice.

What are we doing about it? We have the capacity and ability to preserve our institutions of freedom. What we need is coordinated action.

Our freedom depends upon the maintenance of our Constitution. So long as it exists we have a powerful weapon for freedom, and we can make it work — give it full force and effect, by applying the terms of the Liberty Amendment.

The Liberty Amendment is thoroughly documented. It is pending in Congress as H. J. Res. 23. It has already been formally approved Wyoming, Texas, Nevada, Louisiana, Georgia and South Carolina.

But the federal bureaucracy is fighting back to protect their illicit empires. The bureaucratic pressures have this year been used to scare State Legislatures into doing nothing. Yet the swift growth of public support came very close to winning adoption of the Resolution for the Liberty Amendment in many States.

We Can Do It

The Liberty Amendment could have won, and should have won, in all these States with that little bit extra. That support for our own freedom was too little, and too late, but the battle is not yet over. The next round is about to start.

You might make the difference. If you want freedom and have the courage to fight for it, write the National Committee for Economic Freedom, 6314 Franklin Ave., Los Angeles 28, Calif. for details on the Liberty Amendment and what you can do for it.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Where do profits come from?"

That is a good question, because very few people understand that profits are a part of the cost of producing wealth and payment for the use of tools. If there were no prospects of profits, there would be no tools, there would be no jobs.

In many cases there are no profits. Profits are, in reality, the payment or reward for efficiency. If the entrepreneur is able to buy the raw material, hire the labor and get the man in the job he is best fitted for and reward him on a free market basis, then the entrepreneur or the stockholders are entitled to all the profits they can make, and the more profits they can make, the better off the workers, the consumers and everybody else will be. This is true because there is no way of hoarding wealth to benefit its owners without distributing it in one way or another. They either have to use their tools and wear them out in rendering a service that people would rather have than their money, or they are apt to sell their tools, or rent them, or give them away. In any of these cases, profits will be distributed. If a man attempts to hoard profits, if they are in the form of material things, they will depreciate in value by the elements and by obsolescence and by taxes.

If the profits are in the form of money and a man lends it to a bank, the bank tries to lend it, therefore circulating it.

On the other hand, if he had a million dollars in currency and buried it and didn't use it for years, he would only hurt himself. If he did that, there would be that much less currency bidding for what is produced and the people who had other money that they wanted to spend would get more for their money because he was not bidding against them.

Profits are absolutely necessary. That is one of the causes of our trouble — corporations in the last ten years have averaged only about $22 billion a year. Years before that they were averaging about $30 billion a year when there wasn't nearly as much production and the dollar would buy a lot more.

Lawrence Fertig, in his book "Prosperity Through Freedom" contends that we need to spend about $500 billion in the next ten years for tools in order to furnish full employment and raise the standard of living. And most of this would have to come from the profits of corporations that are plowed back into the business rather than distributed to the consumers to be spent.

Arabs Face Grim Plight In Resurgent E. Africa

By JACK ENSOLL

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — As native governments take over control of East Africa the position of the so-called "immigrant races"—all non-blacks—is becoming steadily more shaky.

Most emphasis in the West has been on the plight of the vastly out-numbered whites but it is black Africa's Arabs who may face the grimmest future.

The white exodus from Kenya began as a slow trickle in 1960 and has gathered momentum ever since. In the last eight months alone 2,000 white Kenyans have settled in South Africa.

Asians began to move to the coast from Uganda and Tanganyika at the time of the Uganda rich, thickly - populated regions in 1958. Today thousands of families among East Africa's 300,000 Indians and Pakistanis are ready for a quick departure.

But unlike the whites and the Asians, the third major "immigrant race" — the Arabs — have nowhere to go if they have to leave East Africa. Their roots in the black continent go back to the 7th century, when their ancestors first began to establish themselves in the "Land of Zinj."

Seafarers and traders, the Arabs colonized the East African coast from beyond Mogadishu, now the capital of Somalia, to Cape Delgado which today marks Tanganyika's border with Mozambique. Not great fighting men, they extended their sphere of influence by guile and intrigue and built up a profitable caravan trade with the around the great lakes.

With the help of their brethren from the Arabian peninsula, they beat off the Portuguese after two centuries of bloody combat and developed Zanzibar as a center for the profitable slave trade. By the 1870's slavers were handling 350,000 victims a year. When the British moved into East Africa they stopped the trading in human flesh and ended centuries of Arab dominance along the East African coast.

Today the 200,000 Arabs—bearded, mild-mannered old men, young seafarers and craftsmen, and their womenfolk wrapped in black robes —are of almost negligible political influence except on the island of Zanzibar.

In their heyday, during the 18th and 19th centuries, the Arabs regarded the whites as bitter enemies, interfering philanthropists and unbelievers who were taking away their livelihood — slaves being permitted under Koranic law.

Now the Arabs find themselves in much the same dilemma as the whites, lumped together by African leaders as "exploiters."

Oriental conservatism has tended to leave the Arabs behind as the Africans have raced ahead for power. While most evolving Africans adopt Western ways, the Arabs cling stubbornly to the ways of the East, the ways of their forefathers.

On the other hand, so much inter-marriage has taken place with African women over the centuries that many Arabs are black. Few along the East African coast bear Arab characteristics.

East African Arabs have a poor knowledge of Arabic, the language of the Arab world. Swahili, the tenth most widely-spoken language of East Africa. Even though the younger Arabs, better - educated and better - travelled, are trying to forge closer links with the Arab world, their community remains largely isolated from the mainstream of Arab life.

Working in favor of this isolation is the decline of the Arabs' trade with their Persian Gulf cousins. For centuries the great ocean-going dhows, with their high poops and lateen sails, criss-crossed the Indian Ocean, their holds crammed with fish, tiles from Indian Managalore, carpets from Persia and dates from Araby. On the return journey from Africa they carried ivory, copra, palm - frond matting and stocks of mangrove poles — used for building purposes.

But in 1960 the dhow trade dwindled abruptly, mainly because of a sharp fall in demand for mangrove poles now that the oil-rich countries of the Persian Gulf can afford steel and concrete for their buildings.

This decline in the dhow trade, in fact, mirrors the fortunes of the East African Arabs. Rapidly becoming strangers in the land of their birth, yet in many ways as different from other Arabs as Afrikaners are from Europeans, they seem ersigned to a Kismet of diminishing influence in East African affairs.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Had the United Nations, under the prodding of the United States, not intervened in Korea it is a reasonable assumption that Korea today would be totally occupied by the Communists.

Similarly, without United Nations action it also is reasonably certain that today there would be no unified Congo.

And, going back to the earliest days of the world organization, it also is a safe bet that Soviet Russia would be occupying part of northern Iran had not the pressure of world opinion been brought against it through the United Nations.

Each of these actions represented an extension of U.S. foreign policy and help to explain why, through both Democratic and Republican administrations, the United States has been willing to shoulder more than its share of the financial burden of U. N. undertakings.

Against Red Policy

Similarly, each of the above ran directly counter to Soviet policy.

Despite persistent efforts to reshape the U.N. to its own advantage, the Soviet Union never yet has won a major victory in U.N. debates.

They were boycotting the U.N. at the time of Korean intervention.

They failed conspicuously in 1960 to impose a three-headed Troika System on the secretary general's office which would have torpedoed U.N. action in the Congo.

In 1963 they are attempting to impose a "financial veto."

This means that they have refused to pay the more than $46 million they owe in back installments on U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East and have announced that henceforth they will pay nothing on any U.N. operation with which they disagree.

Altogether, some 40 U.N. members, including France, Belgium, and Nationalist China, have paid nothing on either or both the Congo and the Middle East operations.

Under U.N. rules, all are subject to losing their vote after falling two years behind in their payments.

Some are hardship cases and may be forgiven on grounds that they are behind due to circumstances beyond their control.

Face Saving Sought

As a matter of pride, the Soviets scarcely could afford to plead that they are too poor to pay.

France and Belgium, both of which strongly opposed the U.N. Congo action, are expected to find some device by which arrearages can be met without admitting a change of heart.

The main problem is the Soviet Union.

If the Soviets could reduce the U.N. to an impotent debating society simply by withholding funds there is little doubt that such would be their course.

On the other hand, it is not believed that the Communists are ready yet to abandon their place in the U.N.'s world forum, leading to a conclusion that their present maneuvers are to establish a bargaining position.

But, meanwhile, the U.N. is approximately $130 million in the red. And the prospects are that, so long as the U.S. considers the United Nations an important arm of foreign policy, it will continue to pay a disproportionate share of the world organization's costs.

Long Mercury Orbital Flight Discouraged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space agency Director James E. Webb today was reported unreceptive to Project Mercury officials' pleas for a space flight of about 100 hours.

The chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said the officials presented a persuasive argument for one more flight under Project Mercury.

But Webb said he would prefer to end the Mercury program and go ahead with the Gemini project, which calls for putting two men into orbit in a single spacecraft in about 18 months.

However, Webb indicated he had not yet made a decision on the Mercury officials' proposal.

The proposal for a flight reaching up to 100 hours was laid before Webb by Walter C. Williams, deputy director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft center and operations director of Project Mercury. They hope to top the record space flight of Russian cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev, who orbited four days last August.

The results of Cooper's flight convinced Mercury officials that the little Mercury space capsule, with some modifications, would be capable of orbiting for more than four days. Williams argued that such a mission would advance both the Gemini and the Apollo lunar landing programs.

TORTURE TEST

WRIGHT - PATTERSON AFB, Ohio (UPI) — For nearly nine months, the most ingenious scientific torturers in the U.S. Air Force kept an F-105 on their rack while they hunted for its 'breaking point.'

They hung an average Thunderchief, picked off the Republic Aviation production line, in a maze of steel rigging nearly eight stories tall — and made it "fly" every kind of fighter - bomber mission in the book under every conceivable condition of operation and combat. The F-105 thwarted its torturers for the equivalent of 5,700 flight hours, giving it a service life at least one and a half times the combat lifetime designed into it by its builders.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — ABC-TV's "Ozzie and Harriet" tried something different Thursday night. It wasn't a bad notion. Any change in this series is an improvement.

The notion was to put on a special half-hour of mostly music, and the best thing about it is that singers Bud and Travis, Jennie Smith and the Brothers Four kept the usual cast off the screen for a while. Except Harriet, who is still a nifty gal.

Unfortunately, the vocalizing also included one of the regulars, Ricky Nelson, who insists on trying to sing in public.

Arthur Godfrey is sitting in this week as host of NBC-TV's "Tonight" show while Johnny Carson is on vacation, and it wouldn't be a tragedy if Carson missed a connection on his way back.

Earlier this season, Godfrey did three eminently forgettable CBS-TV specials, and in them he laid on the commercial folksiness style to an offensive degree. But the worst thing about them was their unfairness to him: The whole point about him is that his appeal is not "special," but, as indicated here before, like that of an old shoe, with its ease.

The nights that I caught Godfrey as the "Tonight" host this week, he had shed the professional hick approach, and the result was flattering to him—and made this old Godfrey radio fan thankful, for when he is swinging free and easy, he is the old master.

The man belongs back on television on a daily, informal basis. He doesn't need specials.

The Channel Swim: Carol Channing guests on the debut of Keefe Brasselle's summer musical-variety show which subs for the Garry Moore hour on CBS-TV starting June 25.

Daniel Massey, son of "Dr. Kildare" star Raymond Massey and headliner of the Broadway musical "She Loves Me," sings on NBC-TV's "Today" show next Friday. . .On Thursday, "Today" offers a full-hour report on the desegregation in Louisville, Ky., of parks, public schools, pools, hotels and restaurants in the past eight years.

There is talk of a possible American version of the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) television show of contemporary satire, "This Was the Week That Was," and that U.S. networks are being approached. Fat chance of any of the networks allowing the really rough barbs that the non-commercial BBC lets pass.

WATER FRESHENER

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — More than 25 million gallons of sea or brackish water are converted to fresh water throughout the world every day by use of flash evaporator systems, it was estimated at the recent annual meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

"This new industrial tool will allow more flexibility in chemical plant designs and make available more plant sites which were at one time considered 'water poor,'" said R. A. Baker, Jr., of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Philadelphia.
