John W. Norman welcomes some of the many visitors who toured the Lazy N Stables and museum of horse-drawn transporation Sunday. Also on display at the open stables were a number of award-winning, registered miniature horses. Pictured with Mr. Norman are many of the trophies won by Lazy N Stables over the past few years.

Runnels bingo election set for August 14

Bingo elections have been scheduled for Saturday, August 14, is four Justice Precincts in Runnels County. The election will give voters the option of voting either for or against legalizing bingo games for charitable purposes as authorized by the Bingo Enabling Act.

The bingo elections will be held in Justice Precinct 2 with these polling places: Voter Precinct 3, the Winters Chamber of Commerce; Voter Precinct 4, the Winters City Hall; Voter Precinct 5, the Wingate Lions Club Building; Voter Precinct 6, the Norton Community Center.

In Justice Precinct 1, the polling places will be: Voter Precinct 1, the Ballinger Courthouse; Voter Precinct 7, the National Guard Armory in Ballinger; Voter Precinct 8, the Ballinger City Hall.

For Justice Precinct 6, the balloting will be conducted at the Miles City Hall for Voter Precinct 9 and in Justice Precinct 7, the voting will be conducted at the Rowena Fire Station for Voter Precinct 10.

If the issue is approved, religious societies and non-profit organizations may apply for a license from the State Comptroller's office. If the issue is denied, the operatio of bingo games in Runnels County will be prohibited unless the games are conducted at no charge by senior citizens groups or for recreational purposes.

Runnels County Clerk Linda Bruchmiller said that anyone expecting to be absent from the county on August 14, or anyone age 65 years or older may vote absentee in the County Clerk's office in the Runnels County Courthouse until 5 p.m. Tuesday, August 10.

On the election day, Saturday, August 14, the voting hours will be between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

JUNE HAYS

June Hays named to City Council

June Hays was unanimously selected by the Winters City Council Monday to fill the vacancy on the council created with the resignation of Billie Alderman.

Mrs. Hays will serve in the appointed position until the next city elections, which will be held in April of next year.

Mrs. Hays indicated that she would seek election to the post in that election.

June and her husband Wes own and operate the Western Auto Associate Store in Winters. The new council member said that she was looking forward to serving on the council and to representing the citizens of Winters on that council.

Mrs. Hays is the second person to be appointed to that same council seat is less than a year's time. The seat was originally held by Charles Hudson who resigned the post in December of last year. The council then appointed Billie Alderman to fill the position until the next city election which was held last April. At that time she was elected to fill out the unexpired term for that position. Mrs Alderman submitted her resignation to the council several weeks ago, saying that she felt that she could not give the proper representation to the citizens of Winters due to health reasons and extensive travel plans.

The council is left with one additional vacancy to fill, one which was also created with Mrs. Alderman's resignation, a seat on the Winters Housing Authority.

The council delayed appointing the Housing Authority member until a later meeting of the council.

Festivities planned for Winters Lake dedication

Plans are being completed for an August 14 dedication celebrating the completion of the New Winters Lake. A report on the festivities was made to the city council in their regular meeting Monday. Chairman for the event is Lanny Bahlman.

A barbecue is planned and Bahlman said that one thousand pounds of meat have been secured along with 50 gallons of potato salad, 50 pounds of beans, 50 pounds of onions, and 100 loaves of bread. Bahlman also said that ice for the feast will be furnished jointly by The Pool Company, Bishop and Sons, American Well Servicing, and Winters Welding.

A number of activities have been planned for the afternoon event including a bare-foot water skiing demonstration, water ski demonstrations, water sled exhibitions, and sail boating.

A number of dignitaries have indicated that they plan to attend, including State Senator Grant Jones and other state officials, representitives of both the engineering firm that worked on the lake and the company that actually built the lake. Other officials expected to attend include Runnels County officials and representatives of neighboring counties and cities along with a large number of local and area residents.

In discussing the plans, the council noted that about the only problem that has come up is where the large number of vehicles carrying the visitors to the lake will be parked. The city officials indicated however, that the problem will be solved well ahead of the scheduled dedication program.

Council to review refuse contract

The Winters City Council, in their regular meeting this week, met with Tony Cantrell representing Tony's Disposal Service concerning the renewal of the current refuse contract.

In the meeting Cantrell told the council that if the contract is renewed his company is planning some changes in the services offered commercial accounts in the city.

Among the changes are the addition of dumpster-type refuse containers. The containers would add more storage space for refuse between pickups, but would mean an increase in the monthly charges for sanitation service. Cantrell said that initially two sizes of dumpsters would be available, three-yard and four-yard sizes. He said that if the amount of refuse exceeded the capacity of the dumpster, that more pickups could be scheduled at an additional cost.

Another item that will be considered, is the operation of the sanitary landfill. Several changes are to be considered and would include the extension of hours the landfill is open, a new schedule of charges for non-resident dumping, and a 50-50 split between the contractor and the city on all revenue received at the landfill.

One item specifically mentioned by the contractor in the preliminary meeting was the addition of fees for city businesses, county businesses, and business contractors.

The council will review completely the refuse contract in its next meeting.

Applications being taken for Head Start

Applications are being taken for the 1982-83 Winters Child Development Head Start Program. Classes will begin August 18 for four-year-olds, although some handicapped three and five-year-olds will be accepted.

Barbara Edwards will be in the office at 611 W. Pierce from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. for anyone who would like to stop by and get an application. The office phone number is 754-4325, for any questions.

Band rehearsals begin Monday

The first rehearsal of the 1982-83 Blizzard Band will be held Monday, August 9, at 7 p.m., in the Blizzard Band Hall, according to Eddie Pace, band director.

A daily rehearsal schedule for the weeks before school starts will be given to the students at this first rehearsal, with first rehearsals being used to work on learning marching fundamentals, working on music for the upcoming football season, and beginning work on the half-time performance for the first football game.

The Blizzard Band will have approximately 90 members this year, according to Pace.

Drum majors for the 1982-83 school year are junior Laura Parks, and senior DeOnn Deaton.

Phantom bank gets go-ahead

The State Banking Board last week approved the interim charter application for the Winters State Bank, giving the bank the okay to form a one-bank holding company.

The charter creates a phantom bank, the New Winters State Bank, which will exist only on paper. The phantom bank will merge with the existing bank and form the one-bank holding company, according a spokeswoman for the Texas Department of Banking.

If the Federal Reserve Board also approves the merger, the result will be one bank and a one-bank holding company in each town, The Winters State Bank and First Winters Holding Company.

There are several reasons to form a one-bank holding company. One is that the bank can receive tax advantages by acting as a corporation and disbursing profits to its owners.

The New Winters State Bank has a proposed capital of $5,000. The directors of the New Winters State Bank are Mike Odom, Bobby Airhart, Ray Alderman, Lanny Bahlman, E.J. Bishop, and Lee Harrison. The officers will include Bobby Airhart as president, Lee Harrison as vice-president, and Mike Odom as cashier.

WTU files for change in rates

West Texas Utilities Company filed Monday for a change in wholesale rates for total requirements electric service it supplies to 14 rural electric cooperatives, one municipality and one investor-owned distribution company, and for partial requirements electric service it supplies to two municipally owned electric systems.

In its filing with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, WTU proposed rates which will produce about $2.1 million in additional revenue for the Company during the 1983 calendar year. This amounts to an increase of approximately three per cent from these wholesale customers.

WTU requested that the new rates become effective January 1, 1983. Present total requirements rates have been in effect since February, 1982, and the partial requirements rates have been in effect since 1977. Except for the rate level, no other major changes were proposed.

WTU officials said the rate change is needed to bring the Company's revenues from wholesale customers to a level equal to the cost of providing service.

The following wholesale customers will be affected:

Wingate ISD to begin school August 19

The faculty of the Wingate Independent School District will report for duty for the 1982-83 school year on Monday, August 16, at 9 a.m. Teachers and aides will have three days of in-service.

Students will report for class on Thursday, August 19, at 8 a.m. Buses will run at the usual time in order to arrive at school before then.

If you have a kindergarten student who has not pre-registered, please contact the school.

County arrest clears swindling, theft, and burglary cases

Runnels County Sheriff's officers, over the weekend, took a juvenile into custody in connection with several instances of check forgery, worthless checks, at least one burglary, the theft of a pickup, and the theft of a gazebo from a Ballinger cemetery.

Sheriff's Department spokesmen said the 15-year-old Ballinger youth was turned over to authorities by his parents Monday following the weekend investigation.

Officers said the check forgery and swindling totaled about $450. The burglary charge was in connection with a break-in at a south Ballinger fireworks stand in June. The youth was also charged with taking a gazebo from a Ballinger cemetery several weeks ago, and with taking a pickup from Holland Ford in Ballinger.

Sheriff's officers said that the cases were turned over to juvenile authorities, and that restitution was expected in all the cases.

Open house

The open house at the museum was attended by a large number of residents from Winters, Ballinger, and surrounding communities.

Budget hearing set by Wingate ISD

A public hearing on the school district budget for 1982-83 will be held by the Wingate Independent School District Board of Trustees at 8 p.m. Tuesday, August 10, at the Wingate school.

Military Heroes

The last group of Texas Heroes are those of the military and include President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Lieutenant Richard (Dick) Dowling.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower

Born in Denison, Texas, Eisenhower grew up in Kansas, but upon graduation from West Point was sationed at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, remaining there until he was placed in command of Camp Colt at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania during World War I and received the Distinguished Service Medal for his administration.

In 1935 as aide to General Douglas MacArthur he assisted in expanding fortification of the Philippines, after Pearl Harbor he was Chief of the War Plans Division. In 1942 he was appointed commanding General of the European War theater, overseeing the largest military operation in history as supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force which landed in Normandy on June 6, 1944.

Later, Eisenhower served three years as N.S. Chief of Staff. In civilian life, Eisenhower was president of Columbia College until he returned to the army in 1950 to organize the NATO forces. Elected U.S. President in 1952, he served two terms in this office. Both as a military man and a civilian, Eisenhower served his country with devotion and distinction.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz

Admiral Nimitz was a native Texan with a family heritage of seeking and upholding personal freedom in pursuit of which his forebearers had left Germany. Nimitz served in World War I in the submarine force of the Atlantic fleet, where he won both the victory medal with a bronze star and a letter of commendation.

During World War II, as Commander-in-Chief of Pacific fleet and Pacific ocean areas, Admiral Nimitz defended liberty against aggressive Japan, bringing order out of chaos after the Pearl Harbor defeat, and firmly supporting the successful defense of Midway. He smashed a Japanese counterdive to isolate Australia for occupation, and moved west in the Pacific by island hopping.

Patient, thorough and humble, Nimitz won the admiration and respect of men with whom he worked, and he said before Congress the he was only a representative of brave men who fought under him in the Pacific. One of the foremost naval strategists of his country, he vindicated the freedom to which his ancestors had dedicated their lives and won a hero's status in both Texas and the nation. The Nimitz Hotel Naval Museum in Fredericksburg honors his memory.

When I visited the museum in April of 1981, it is now called "The Admiral Nimitz Center" — a different kind of museum sponsored by the State of Texas and by admirer's of Admiral Nimitz. It consists of four units: the steamboat hotel, the Nimitz Gallery of Combat Art, the Garden of Peace and the history walk of the Pacific War.

The hotel was built by Captain Charles H. Nimitz who spent his youth in the German merchant marines, before he settled in Fredericksburg. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, the captain's grandson, spent his early years at the hotel; his father died before he was born.

Lieutenant Richard (Dick) Dowling

One of Texas' Civil War heroes, Lieutenant Dowling brilliantly commanded 50 Confederates who successfully defended a fort at Sabine Pass, defeating U.S. Navy gunboats convoying 5,000 Union soldiers trying to capture the Sabine Pass railroad, push on to Houston, and seize all other railways out of Houston, thus conquering Texas.

This attack failed when two cotton-covered confederate vessels darted fearlessly out from Sabine Lake, capturing two union vessels, the "Velocity" and the "Morning Light", and driving away four other boats. The union lost two vessels and had 100 killed and wounded, and 250 taken prisoners.

One of the finest pieces of personal work known during the four years of war, preventing Federal troops from conquering Texas, this victory was recognized by President Jefferson Davis presenting a silver medal to the garrison, saying, "The history of Texas is full of heroic deeds, from the self-sacrificing band of the Alamo to the defense of Sabine Pass." Other tributes include establishment of Sabine Pass Battleground State Park, and Lieutenant Dowling's statue being placed in this park and in Hermann Park in Houston, Texas.

Letter to the editor

As President of the Area IV Association of Young Homemakers of Texas, I am writing this letter to acknowledge your support of our organization. We have just begun our Twentieth year as a State and Area Organization. As part of the Texas Education Agency, we are an education-based organization supporting the home, the individual, the church, and the community. Our area has 28 chapters and 575 members, making us the largest area in the state. We are continually growing due to the dedication of our members. We have four new chapters this year.

I would personally like to thank your paper and your community for the support given your local Young Homemakers Chapter. I'm sure your community is aware of the activities sponsored by your local chapter. Many of our chapters sponsor programs with the Future Homemakers and 4-H Clubs. Some chapters have provided funds for scholarships, school and playground improvements, and done various charity drives. Some of our chapters sponsor Beauty Pageants, Easter Egg Hunts, many Christmas activities, Bake-Offs, Arts & Crafts Fairs, and provide numerous services to the convalescent homes and hospitals. These dedicated young women are very active in church, scout work, and athletic groups. All are important to your community, their families, and especially to our organization.

As we begin our Twentieth year, we pledge ourselves anew to the purposes of our organization: to develop skills on new and improved methods of homemaking, to develop a deeper understanding of the home and community, to become better acquainted with products and information on current consumer trends, to provide wholesome social and recreational activities, to recognize and honor local members for outstanding achievements, to maintain spiritual values of the home, and to encourage democracy in home and community life.

We would like to cordially invite all former area presidents, officer and members to attend our 20th Annual Convention on September 25 at Stephenville High School, Stephenville, Texas. Registration is from 8:30 to 9:15; first session begins at 9:30. During registration, a special place will be set aside for past members to meet old friends and current members. Those who will attend need to preregister by notifying local advisors or the area president.

We appreciate your continued support of our organization. Your community should be extremely proud of your Young Homemakers Chapter and their dedicated work in your city.

Sincerely,
—Lanelle O'Neill

MRS. MICHAEL CLIFTON DAVIS

Mike Davis, Nancy Wheeler exchange wedding vows

Nancy Denise Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan C. Wheeler of Ballinger became the bride of Michael Clifton Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Miller of Winters and the late Willis Clifton Davis, in a 7 p.m. service, July 31.

The ceremony, officiated by the groom's uncle, Dr. Eugene B. Robertson of Waxahachie, was performed at the First Baptist Church in Winters before an altar adorned with brass candelabra, palm trees, and a unity candle. A large arrangement of white and 'Lavendey' roses, lavendar and white poms and English Ivy flowed from the baptistry. Votive candles and ivy flanked the arrangement.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon over taffeta, with a v-neckline in front and back, edged with ruffles and lace, with a sheer yoke of English net and high collar of lace. Bell-shaped sleeves of chiffon and reembroidered alencon lace gathered just below the elbow with a deep lace flounce. The bodice was appliqued with reembroidered alencon lace and accented with small seed pearls. The full skirt was gathered with a sweep cathedral length train. Her headpiece was trimmed with lace and seed pearls, with a long veil of tulle, accented with tiny seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanatis, gypsophelia and English ivy.

Flower girl, Deena Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hampton of Ballinger, carried a white basket of silk violets.

Maid of Honor was Anne Moeller of Waco.

Bridesmaids were Susan Voelkel and Eddie Zly, both of San Angelo, Pam Bryan of Winters, and the bride's sister, Jennifer Wheeler, of Ballinger.

Attendants wore floor length gowns of voile with lavender flowers on a white background, v-neckline with a lace-edged ruffle, elbow length puffed sleeves edged with lace, with deep ruffles at the hemline. The dresses were accented with a purple ribbon bow at the waist.

They carried a clutch of silk violets, stephantis and gypsophelia.

Best man was Carey Jobe of Winters.

Groomsmen, wearing black tuxedos, were Darrell Kurtz of Winters, Randall Kurtz of San Angelo, Jerry Willingham of Ballinger and Mark Miller of Joshua.

The groom wore a silver tuxedo.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held at the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was decorated with an arrangement of 'Lavendey' and white roses.

The groom's table held a wooden oil derrick with fall-tone silk flowers.

Members of the house party included Mrs. Bill Clifton, Mrs. Cleburne Voelkel, Mrs. Thelma Moreland, and Mrs. Clarence Halfmann, all of Ballinger; Brenda Schaefer and Pennye Springer, both of San Angelo; Mrs. Leo Minzenmayer of Winters, Mrs. Pat Hajek, the bride's aunt, of San Antonio, Mrs. R. J. Wheeler, the bride's aunt, of New Iberia, La., and Mrs. T. A. Newman of Brownsville.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held Friday night at the Winters Community Center. They also hosted a wedding dance following the reception, at the Community Center, with music provided by the Wagon Aces.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Ballinger High School, and attended Texas Tech University. She is employed by Mac Oil Field in Winters.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of Winters High School, and a 1982 graduate of Texas Tech University, with a BBA degree in Petroleum Land Management.

After a wedding trip to South Texas, the couple will reside in Winters.

Blackwell

The United Methodist Women of the Blackwell United Methodist Church met Monday morning at 10 a.m. with six ladies attending to do quilting at the fellowship hall at the church.

Those coming to quilt were Mmes. Cecil Smith, Gene Cole, R.Q. Spence, Margaret Stout, Rhoda McCarley, Bess Vest and Mrs. Tommy White.

A sack lunch and an hour of visiting were enjoyed at noon.

The ladies reported that the quilt was almost finished.

The next work day will be this Monday and others are invited to come help finish the quilt, and also work on the articles for the bazaar, which will be Nov. 22 at the Fellowship Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Chew have had as their visitors this summer their granddaughters, Karla Deneese and Elizabeth Diana from Albuquerque, N.M. They also visited with their other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Scott at Bronte.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hargrave came last weekend and they returned home with them. They also visited in Bronte with his mother and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Scott, other relatives and friends.

Mrs. T.J. Oden, Mrs. Joe Dan Oden and daughter, Sarah Joy of Albany visited last week at Douglas, Texas with Mrs. T. J. Oden's daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Goodman and children, Jennifer and Chad, other relatives and friends.

While there they also canned tomatoes and other vegetables, and also brought many home with them. They reported that some were going to waste.

Mrs. Esther Davis is a patient in the St. John's Hospital in San Angelo.

TOM LOEFFLER
Congressman
21st District-Texas

Reports from Washington

A BALANCED BUDGET IS IMPERATIVE

Congress has managed to balance the federal budget only once in the last 21 years. As a result of this failure by Congress, it is imperative that we get our fiscal house in order.

Timing has never been more critical. Fully 70 percent of government spending is uncontrollable. Without changes in law Congress can only control 30 percent of its entire expenditures. No one in business would ever follow such a practice and certainly no family nor any business would invest in a company managed so recklessly. Yet, the Federal government operates this way on a daily and annual basis.

For years, Congress pretended the decade-old law setting a debt ceiling would help restrain spending. In fact, earlier this year the ceiling was raised once again, pushing our national debt past the $1 trillion mark. What this means is that in the coming fiscal year American taxpayers will pay well over $100 billion in interest on the national debt. Most astounding is the fact that in the first 200 years of our nation's existence we ran up a national debt of $500 billion and in the last seven years alone we added yet another $500 billion to that total. This incredible rapid drain on our nation's financial resources simply must be stopped.

Because of my strong commitment to a responsible fiscal policy, I was one of the earliest cosponsors of the proposed constitutional amendment, House Joint Resolution 350. This amendment not only calls for a balanced federal budget, but also limits new tax increases by restricting future revenue levels to the rate of increase in "national income."

In the House, the amendment has over 230 cosponsors, a clear majority of the membership. Although it is now bottled up in the Judiciary Committee, a discharge petition to dislodge it and bring this vital piece of legislation to the House Floor for debate is now being circulated.

Part of the current drive for congressional action on a balanced budget amendment comes from the fact that 31 state legislatures have adopted resolutions calling for a constitutional convention to add a balanced budget amendment to our Constitution. This movement by state legislatures, began in 1975, is strongly supported by our own State of Texas. Similar action by only three more states would mean that the first constitutional convention in 200 years would be convened. However, should Congress act quickly, as I clearly hope it will, such a constitutional convention will not be necessary.

I share the great indignation of the American people, who are clearly fed up with the irresponsible spending policies of the past. It appears that Congress as a whole is finally getting the message that we simply can no longer spend money on programs we do not need and cannot afford. In the 21st District, a heavy volume of mail on this subject clearly indicates that virtually everyone writing supports an amendment forcing Congress to put its fiscal house in order, balance the budget, and keep it balanced.

Thus far Congress has refused to face economic reality and continues to expand programs without regard for the impact of the ever-growing deficit. This unconscionable behavior must stop. Because Congress has clearly demonstrated that it cannot exert needed-self discipline, that discipline must be imposed. Our past actions leave us no other choice.

UM Women met Tuesday morning

The United Methodist Women met Tuesday morning at the church with Mrs. Middlebrook presiding.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. M.L. Dobbins and the singing of "Help Somebody Today."

The program, "Gifts to Share", about persons with handicapping conditions, was given by Dorece Colburn, assisted by Odessa Dobbins and Ozie Stanley.

The meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Members attending were: Mmes. Elmo Mayhew, E. W. Bridwell, T. C. Stanley, Paul Gerhardt, W. T. Stanley, J. D. Vinson, Willie Lois Nichols, Ava Crawford, M. L. Dobbins, W. Lee Colburn, M. G. Middlebrook, F. R. Anderson and Marguerite Mathis.

Jointly financed weddings are becoming more popular — with bride's and groom's families sharing the costs more than in the past, says Cindy Wilson, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Memberships open for Hale Museum

The new year at the Z.I. Hale Museum began on August 1, and membership cards have been presented to all who have paid the five dollar fee. This includes Mr. and Mrs. Ladell Davis, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. England, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bahlman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Pace, Mr. and Mrs. John Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Poe, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thormeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Minzenmayer and Dr. and Mrs. J. Dexter Eoff of Ballinger.

Individuals with memberships are Clara Nell Moore of Houston, Jo Olive Hancock, Ouida Nichols, A. S. Henley, Lura Lee Garrett, Raymond A. Bagwell, Mrs. C.R. Kendrick, Dooley Hale, Anita O'Dell, Lillian Roberson, Frances Campbell, Myra Dorsett, Dorothy Cave, Mrs. T. C. Standley, Estella Bredemeyer, Charlsie Poe, Walter Spill, Albert Spill and John Purifoy of Ballinger.

Ruth Morgan of Ballinger gave a memorial in honor of the A. Morgan family.

Anyone wishing to pay dues or become a new member may see Estella Bredemeyer or Edna England.

Shoppers, for the best "per pound" buys, select fruits and vegetables that have only a small amount of waste, advises Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

For example, broccoli has less waste than artichokes, so "per pound", broccoli is a much better buy, the specialist explains.

750 attend open house, open stables

Record crowds of approximately 750 people, including many out-of-town visitors attended open house and dedication of the Z.I. Hale Museum and open stables at the Lazy N Shetland Pony Farm on Sunday.

"A museum is a place for memories," said Dean Smith of Ballinger, as he paid tribute to Dr. Hale's family, who presented his office to the city of Winters for a museum.

"A lasting memory — like this museum, is a fitting tribute from a man and his family whom the citizens of this area wish to honor. We, the citizens of Winters and Runnels County, express our appreciation to Nina, Martha and Dickie and hereby dedicate this museum to the memory of Dr. Z.I. Hale, and for future education and enjoyment of the generations to come!" Smith concluded.

Mayor W. Lee Colburn presented drawings and record books of the new city lake to the museum during the open house.

Members of the museum served as hostesses and directed visitors through the various rooms of the building. A number of new items have been collected since the last showing. Floral decorations were furnished by the Winters Flower Shop. Edwin Hart provided music with a victrola and old time records — some were first edition.

Refreshments were served outside under a tent, courtesy of Winters Funeral Home.

Clements receives Lions Club's "Medal of Distinction"

Governor Bill Clements has been awarded the Medal of Distinction from Lions Club International for his outstanding contributions toward drug abuse awareness and anti-drug legislation. The medal is the highest service award given by the club to a non-member.

Everett J. "Ebb" Grindstaff of Ballinger, President of Lions Club International, presented the award to the Governor in Austin recently. With strong support of the Texas law enforcement community, 14 of the 16 elements of the Governor's anti-crime and War on Drugs legislative package were adopted by the Legislature and signed into law during the 67th legislative session. Lions Clubs around the world are using Governor Clements' War on Drugs program to pattern drug awareness and education programs nationally and internationally. The program was presented at the International Lions Club convention held July 3 in Atlanta. Lions Club is the world's largest service convention, with 35,000 clubs and 1.4 million members.

The Governor has also been honored for his leadership in anti-crime/anti-drug legislation by the Texas District and County Attorneys Association, the Institute of Criminal Justice Studies of Southwest Texas State University, the Texas Crime Prevention Association, the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, the Greater Dallas Crime Commission, the Texas Sheriffs Association, the Commanders of the Regional Organized Crime Units in Texas, and the International Narcotic Enforcement Officer Association.

Drugs can cause heat reactions, TCOM prof warns

Certain drugs may expose the people who use them to greater risk of sunburn and heat exhaustion, according to a physician at Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Johannes Steenkamp, D.O., chairman of TCOM's department of public health and preventive medicine, reminds the public that drugs such as tetracycline (an antibiotic) and Thorazine (a tranquilizer) sensitize the skin, increasing the chances of sunburn.

Amphetamines, atropine-related drugs including marijuana and drugs for stomach cramps like Donnatol and Bentyl affect the heat-regulating system in the brain, he said. Drugs with diuretic (promoting the secretion of urine) effects such as caffeine also affect the way the body responds to heat. Any of these drugs can increase the user's susceptibility to heat exhaustion.

"If you think your medication may expose you to greater risks in summer," Dr. Steenkamp said, "Check with your physician."

SUMMER GARDEN CHICKEN

8 broiler-fryer chicken thighs, skinned
2 tsp. salt (divided)
3/4 tsp. fresh ground pepper (divided)
6 T. butter
1 lb. sm. red potatoes, scrubbed, peel a strip around middle of each potato
2 T. fresh lemon juice
3 green onions with tops, thinly sliced
1 C. fresh green peas
1/4 C. chopped fresh parsley
1 C. sour cream
1 tsp. crumbled dried thyme
Sprigs fresh parsley

Sprinkle 1 teaspoon of the salt and 1/4 teaspoon of the pepper on chicken. In large electric skillet, place butter and melt over medium heat. Add chicken and potatoes and cook, turning, about 10 minutes or until brown on all sides. Sprinkle 1/2 teaspoon of the salt and 1/4 teaspoon of the pepper on potatoes. Sprinkle lemon juice on chicken. Reduce heat, cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Remove cover from skillet; add green onions to butter in bottom of skillet and stir; place peas and parsley over chicken and potatoes. Cover and simmer for about 10 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease and potatoes are tender. Remove chicken, potatoes and peas to warm serving platter; keeping the three separate on platter. In same electric skillet, place sour cream, thyme, the remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt and the remaining 1/4 teaspoon pepper; stir to mix with pan drippings. Cook until hot and bubbly; stir to mix with pan drippings. Cook until hot and bubbly; pour over chicken and vegetables to serve. Garnish with sprigs of fresh parsley. Makes 4 servings.

J.A. CRAIG

Craig appointed Superintendent for Bekasap

PT CALTEX Pacific Indonesia has recently announced the appointment of J. A. Craig as District Superintendent Bekasap, Saumatra. He is responsible for the operation of production in the Kulin/Pedada, Libo, Bangko, and Bekasap areas as well as FM&R Bekasap and Well Service Bekasap areas.

Born in Bourne, Texas, Craig graduated from Winters High School and from the University of Texas with a Bachelor of Science degree in Petroleum Engineering.

In 1960 he joined Texaco as Field Engineer in Senton, Texas, and was transferred to Texaco Trinidad Inc. in December 1972 as Operation Engineer. He became Assistant Chief Petroleum Engineer of the same company in January 1975. He returned to Texaco, Inc. in Texas in August 1976 as Division Development Engineer in Midland, and was named District Petroleum Engineer in January 1977.

Before his recent appointment as superintendent Bekasap District, Craig held the position of Assistant District Manager of Texaco, Inc. in Midland.

Craig and his wife, Janice, have two daughters, Julie and Janet.

Janice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V.E. Colburn of Winters.

WHS graduate named director at Phillips University

Claude Hall, who grew up in Winters and graduated from Winters High School in 1951, has been named Director of Information Services for Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma. Hall will also be Adjunct Assistant Professor of Communications and teach journalism.

Prior to joining Phillips University, Hall spent 14 years with Billboard Magazine, an international trade weekly that serves both the music business and the radio industry. He previously owned and published his own radio trade weekly.

Hall's father, J.J. "Red" Hall, was manager of the city power plant prior to joining West Texas Utilities in Winters, where he worked for several years as an electrician.

After military service, Hall attended the University of Texas in Austin and graduated with a degree in journalism. His book, This Business of Radio Programming, is now used as a textbook in several major universities, including Syracuse University, Alabama, Indiana, Cincinnati, and Central State in Oklahoma.

He and his wife, Barbara, reside in Enid.

Baldwin reunion held August 1

The Lonnie Baldwin family had their reunion Sunday, August 1 at the Winters Community Center.

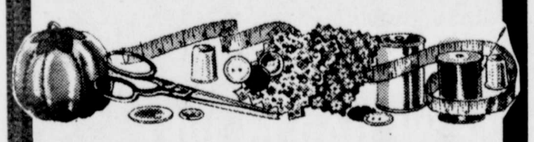

Attending were persons from Snyder, San Angelo, Kermit, Bronte, Beard, Albany, Amarillo, Van Alstyne, Georgetown, Abilene, Post and Blackwell.

Judy Robinson was elected president, and Brenda Mitchell was elected secretary-treasurer.

Everyone had a good time, and the next reunion will be held at the same time and same place next year.

Girls' All Stars defeated in Weatherford last week

The Winters Area All Star girls team was defeated in their first game at the Sectional Tournament in Weatherford last week by the same team that went on to win the tournament. The Graham girls All Star team, coached by Winters native, Jerry Dunnam, outlasted the local team to score the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning. The Graham team beat Weatherford in their second game 2-0 and beat Sulphur Springs in the Championship game 10-5. They will be playing in the state tournament at Waco this week.

Errors plagued the Winters girls in both games they played. The leading hitters in the Winters-Graham game were Tammy Belew and Heather Brown who both went 3 for 4. Lucy Lugo, left fielder for the Winters girls, made an outstanding catch in the bottom of the fifth inning with the bases loaded and two outs to get the Winters team out of trouble. However, when the Graham girls came up to bat in the bottom of the sixth, the score was 9-9. They scored the winning run after only one out to end the ballgame 10-9. Tammy Belew was the losing pitcher with 3 walks, no strike outs and giving up 10 hits. Jana Wallace was the winning pitcher with 13 walks, 4 strike outs and gave up 7 hits.

The consolation game with Fort Worth's Sabine-Jarvis, which was played at 4 p.m. in the afternoon ended with a heartbreaking one point loss for the local girls after leading the whole game. The Winters girls ran into pitching trouble and walked too many runs in. The game was cut to four innings because of the time factor, and the Fort Worth girls scored the winning run in the bottom of the fourth inning with two outs to win the ballgame 12-11.

The Winters girls team had quite a few expenses for the trip to Weatherford, with two nights lodging and six meals for eighteen girls and coaches. They are a fine bunch of girls and represented our community well. Being such little time between the district and sectional tournaments there was no time for any money-making projects to help defray these expenses. If anyone would like to help pay for some of the expenses, their contributions would be greatly appreciated. They may do so by contacting Helen Grantham or Peggy Belew.

CARD OF THANKS

Scotty and I would like to thank all the parents and fans who supported our Little League Girls softball team in the district tournament in Abilene, as well as the sectional tournament in Weatherford. We appreciate the time, the effort and the gas you spent to get your girls to all the practices.

This was really a super bunch of girls, and we enjoyed every minute of the time we spent working with them. A special thanks to John and Rhonda Joeris who helped coach, and Diana Billups and Mrs. Hill who helped chaperone the girls at Weatherford. Also a special thanks to the Little League board members who made it possible for the alternates who have worked as hard as the All Stars, to make the trip to Weatherford. Thanks also to Kerry Craig and the Winters Enterprise for his patience and understanding in getting our picture. Our jobs were made a lot easier because of all of you.

Thanks
Scotty & Peggy Belew

Most falls for older adults occur between the bed and bath, so "think safety" in these areas, advises Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing and home furnishing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Safety features that help avoid falls include grab bars and non-skid surfaces in the tub or shower. Also a seat in the shower aids disabled persons.

Funeral services Wednesday for Mrs. A. Belitz

Mrs. Adolf (Minnie) Belitz, 89, of Winters, died at 9:45 p.m. Monday in her home.

Services were held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. John's Lutheran Church, with pastor Larry Keene officiating. Burial was in the Lutheran Cemetery, under the direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Born Minnie Bredemeyer on August 15, 1892 at Bushdale in Milam County, she came to Winters with her parents at the age of seven, settling on a farm west of Winters.

She married Adolf Belitz May 12, 1912 at Winters. Following their marriage, they opened the Home Bakery, which was among one of the oldest business in Winters, being continuously operated until 1976 when she retired.

She was preceded in death by her husband on Jan. 13, 1962, a son, and four daughters.

Mrs. Belitz was a charter member of the St. John's Lutheran Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Minnie A. Belitz and Mrs. Walter Gerhart, both of Winters; a son-in-law, Merle Wright of Winters; a brother, Herman Bredemeyer of Winters; four sisters, Mrs. Emil Salge of Abilene, Mrs. Bertha Frick, Mrs. C. F. Busher, and Mrs. Monroe Kurtz, all of Winters; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Hilda Bredemeyer of Winters; seven grandchildren; and thirteen great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Jack Davis, Jr., Randall Kurtz, Richard Sauer, Walter Alvin Gerhart, Darrell Kurtz, Lester Sauer, and Elton Goetz.

Winters Volunteer Fire Department news

Final preparations are shaping up for the Annual Bar B Q. Eleven hundred pounds of prime, corn-fed, beef brisket has been secured and the potatoe salad will be home made.

The Sierra Lights dance band has been contracted for the dance following the meal.

Bill Hoppe has donated a calf for the drawing after the Bar B Q. The department would like to sincerely thank Bill for his support and generosity.

Family tickets will remain the same price, $8 and $4.

Now that the hot weather and low humidity has started, the fire department would like to caution everyone about fires. Trash burning can get out of hand pretty easily, old bottles and glass in grassy spots can also cause fires.

When reporting a fire, we ask you to be specific and give directions to the best of your ability. More fact than joke is the story of the lady that called to report a fire. When the fireman answered the call, he asked "How do you get there?" The lady replied, "The same way you get to all fires, in that red fire truck."

More next time.

Abilene, Texas

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Here it is August and some rangeland is just beginning to show the effects of a hot July summer. Ranchmen over Southwest Texas have experienced an unusually good summer with rains coming at right intervals and abundant grass resulting.

Lawrence Bledsoe, who ranches near Juno, says that area has really started to burn in the last several weeks. However, it is a somewhat isolated pocket when compared to neighboring Lake Amistad where good moisture has come on a weekly basis.

The same is true in other areas. Neel Reed of Sterling City admired the tall grass waving in the noonday wind. "We have received weekly rains since April," he said. "This is the first time the sprinkler has been on in the yard this year."

Chesley McDonald of Sterling, on the bull selection committee for the annual Concho Hereford Association Sale, says more territory is being covered this year. "But the offerings for the November sale will be much better," he added.

In Ozona the other day I visited with Dan Pullen, president of the Ozona National Bank. Over the sounds of hammers and saws in the bank's remodeling program, Dan talked about the ranching community of Crockett County. "Inflation has hurt the area and livestock markets haven't been the best this year," he commented. "But moisture has helped considerably in easing the pain."

Terrain between Sterling City and Barnhart appears in better shape than I can remember it in many summers. The same is true for Eldorado and Sonora country.

Jim Garrett of Sonora, with Cahill Inc., confirms the cutback in oilfield operations over the summer has been felt in the Sutton County area. "But this has always been basically ranching county and always will be," he said. "We enjoyed the energy segment and appreciate what it has done for our community."

Garrett reminds all of the Sutton County Days celebration scheduled for August 20-22.

From San Angelo to Abilene, rows and rows of maize can be seen ripening in the summer sun. Sprinkled in between is some beautiful cotton, too.

Pete Ewald, San Angelo based cotton buyer, says the Concho Valley cotton is maturing well. "It really doesn't need any more rain . . . all it needs is lots of hot weather," he added.

At Harriett, squeezed between the crops and dairy operations, are some small ranches. Nelson Erwin has a weekend retreat there where he looks after livestock.

The other day San Angelo attorney Tom Massey gave me a report on his ranch there. Following brush clearing last spring, Massey seeded the ranch in April. "For once, I did everything at the right time," he said. "It rained just about once a week and that grass is as high as my pickup doors in some areas. I was driving out through there the other day admiring it and ran over a log . . . bent up my fender and door pretty bad."

"When it rains, it pours!"

Moeller announces TFU support for Foley wheat plan

Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller joined with the National Farmers Union in support of legislation introduced by Congressman Tom Foley (D-Wash.) as the only feasible plan currently before Congress to aid the depressed farm economy and provide relief for hard pressed grain farmers. "The only way we will be able to reduce grain inventories and increase prices is to provide our farmers with a realistic incentive rather than the empty shell offered by the Reagan Administration," Moeller said.

The TFU was critical of the proposed 1983 wheat program announced by Agriculture Secretary John Block calling for voluntary set-asides in wheat. "For the fourth year in a row, producers are being told they will lose money and the Administration provided no feasible proposal to change that situation," Moeller noted. Latest USDA estimates show the 1982 wheat crop of 2.71 billion bushels will be nearly the same as 1981, 2.79 billion bushels, demonstrating the failure of a voluntary set-aside.

Under the Foley plan, the bill will combine an acreage set-aside with a paid diversion. Also, price support loan rates will be increased slightly for both wheat and feed grains in 1983.

Wheat provisions call for a 25 percent set-aside with a 10 percent paid diversion. The diversion payment would be $3.50 per bushel on lost production, half of which would be paid at the time the producer signed up for the program. The wheat loan rate would be increased from $3.55 to $3.80 per bushel.

For corn and other feed grains, a 20 percent acreage reduction program, including a 10 percent paid diversion, would be established in the even 1982 corn production exceeds 7.6 billion bushels. The corn loan rate would be increased to $2.71 per bushel.

The TFU, and the NFU are supporting the Foley plan as the best alternative to the previously endorsed Farm Crisis Bill which failed in the House Agriculture Committee. "The longer we delay on taking action on providing a decent price for producers while reducing the surplus, the more costly it will be for both farmers and the government," Moeller stated. "Though not as comprehensive as the Farm Crisis Bill, we hope the Congress and the Reagan Administration will get behind Congressman Foley's bill which will help raise commodity prices, reduce inventories and lessen the cost to the government," the TFU President concluded.

Clothing care — how 'good' is 'good care?'

How "good" is "good care" when it comes to clothing?

"Good care" involves several steps — in addition to reading and following instructions on care labels, says Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist.

Here are the steps she recommends:

Have garments cleaned or laundered as soon as they are soiled. Fresh spots and soils are easier to remove than long-time ones. Gritty soil is another reason why fast action is important — gritty soil acts as an abrasive, so if it's left in a garment it will shorten wear life.

Avoid direct garment contact with solutions containing alcohol. Perfumes and lotions can change the color of some dyes, so be careful about applying them after you're fully dressed.

Also, allow deodorants and anti-perspirants to dry completely before dressing. Both products can stiffen and discolor fabrics.

Don't press stained or soiled clothes. Heat will set many stains, especially those containing sugar. The result will be permanent spots.

When taking clothes to the dry cleaner, be sure to point out invisible stains, such as soft drinks, since they must be removed with water before the garment is dry cleaned.

Protect clothing from excessive perspiration. It will weaken many fibers. Garments exposed to heavy perspiration should be washed or dry cleaned as soon as possible to avoid fabric damage.

Protect clothes from prolonged exposure to direct sunlight — to prevent fading of colors and weakening of the fabric.

Keep clothes clean. Store them either hanging or neatly folded to prevent wrinkling.

Strict attention to following the above "good care" steps will help you enjoy wearing your clothing longer, the specialist says.

Store leftovers immediately after eating, and certainly don't leave them at room temperature more than two hours, cautions Mary K. Sweeten, a food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Leaving them longer poses food-spoilage threats.

Bacteria which causes foodborne illness grow rapidly at temperatures between 40-140 degrees F. — or room temperature. If in doubt about the safety of food, throw it away, she says.

"Trifles make perfection, and perfection is no trifle."

A DOG'S LIFE: Stress and Your Dog

Helpful Information From The ALPO Center For Advanced Pet Study

The pet owner, busy with problems at business or home or with children, rarely thinks that the family pet also can be a victim of stress.

Stress, however, is an important factor in a dog's life, according to veterinarians. They say it may be a detrimental factor unless it's recognized and dealt with.

A dog's internal system goes into "overdrive" when confronted with stressful situations such as car travel, long periods of being left alone or an unfriendly confrontation with another dog. Strenuous activity or hunting also can be stressful situations.

When in "overdrive," the dog's nutritional reserves are taxed. If the pet isn't in tiptop shape, stress can spell trouble. His body could be more subject to other problems.

Without a good nutrition reserve, a seemingly healthy dog can become more susceptible to illness or infection from parasites when under stress. He may exhibit behavioral problems or suffer more from the problems of aging, just as humans do.

For a new, free booklet explaining stress and how it involves your dog, send a request together with 25 cents for postage and handling to the ALPO Center for Advanced Pet Study, P.O. Box 2187, Allentown, PA 18001.

Although we know much about Socrates and his sayings, nothing survives of his writings. Much of the information we have about his life and teachings comes from the writings of others of his time.

HEIDENHEIMER'S

you and the LAW

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: Is it legal for a person to give another a large amount of money as a gift, then request that it be put into a savings account where the giver could get back the interest for himself? It seems unfair since the receiver has to pay taxes to the IRS.

A: By definition, a gift is made by a donor when the donor relinquishes control. A transfer that attempts to impose restrictions is not complete as a gift, and depending on the amount of control retained, the money may continue to be taxable to the donor.

You may be describing a gift into trust, however, in which the trustor specified use of the income. Tax liability would then be determined by reading the trust agreement and applying current tax regulations.

Q: I am thinking of drawing up a will leaving everything to a neighbor. I would like my home to be made available to this person as quickly as possible while they probate my will. How can I do this?

A: Tell your attorney to specify in your Will that your neighbor, if he survives you, can have immediate possession of your home. You might even want the neighbor to be Executor of the Estate, so he could qualify to manage everything you owned during probate. Then, once assets are valued, debts and taxes paid, the house would be conveyed to your neighbor by Deed.

Q: I have some acreage in the country. The people who live adjacent to my property have had a sewer line running through my property for seven years. They do not have my permission, nor have they paid me for the use of my land. Could I get them to pay for using my land if I take this case to court?

A: If the suit established that the adjacent property owner's sewer line has run through your property without your permission for less than ten years, you would have the right to remove the sewer line or require them to pay you to continue using the line. You could also seek money damages for at least a nominal amount for the unauthorized trespass onto your land.

Q: Can I transfer my prescriptions for glasses and contact lenses from one optical store to another? Or do I have to go back to my eye doctor for a new prescription?

A: No single optician has any rights to prescriptions. A prescription written by an ophthalmologist to correct a defect in your vision can be filled by any dispensing optician. Many opticians can duplicate your corrections without a prescription by measuring your present lenses. You could also telephone your eye doctor and ask that your prescription be re-copied out of your file and mailed to you. You should return to your ophthalmologist only as the doctor recommends or if new problems arise.

Featured attraction

The miniature horses on display Sunday at the Lazy N Stables drew a considerable amount of attention from youngsters and adults alike as they participated in the open house activities at the stables. Also on display were many, many trophies won by the stables and other breeders of the miniature steeds.

Finishing touches

New turf is being irrigated at the park area at the New Winters Lake. The park area is expected to be completed in time for the August 14 dedication ceremonies. Still to be added at the park area are picnic tables and other landscaping. The lake is almost completed and well ahead of schedule.

Applying pressure can stop bleeding

Nothing may be more unpleasant than encountering a person bleeding severely. Nothing can be more important than knowing what to do when this happens.

The Texas Medical Association says the basic rule is simple: Apply pressure directly on the bleeding area with the cleanest material available. A sterile pad or dressing is ideal, but even a towel or clothing will do in an emergency.

Use even pressure with the heal of the hand for a minimum of 10 minutes. Most bleeding will stop in that time. If bleeding resumes when the pressure is released, press for another 10 minutes.

If direct pressure does not work, apply it an inch or so away from the wound — between the wound and the heart. This can control the vessel bringing blood from the heart into the wound area. When the bleeding stops, tie the pad or dressing in place as securely as possible but not so tight that all circulation is cut off.

Here are other things to remember during treatment:

— If the bleeding person is not breathing, restore it first with cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

— While the person is lying down, elevate the bleeding area above heart level, if possible.

— Keep the victim as warm and calm as possible.

— Do not use a tourniquet except as a last resort. A tourniquet can block all blood to a part and cause permanent damage. If you must use one, loosen it for a few seconds every 15 minutes.

— Bleeding from the ear usually indicates a skull fracture. If a bleeding head wound looks indented, apply a dressing without pressure. An underlying injury could be worsened with pressure.

— After the dressing is applied to the wound, it is generally better not to remove the material that blood has soaked through. Just add more. Check the dressing frequently to make sure swelling has not tightened the wrap too much.

— As soon as an initial attempt is made to control bleeding, a person should be taken to a medical facility. Treatment also can take place on the way.

Education—Our Money's Worth?

In my travels over Texas, it has become clear that Texans rate crime, the economy, and the education of their children among their principal concerns.

This week I would like to discuss education. As the father of six children, this has long been one of my principal concerns also.

We currently spend over half our tax revenue on education, and many people raise the question to me: "Are we getting our money's worth?" The questions put to me indicate some think we are spending too much; others, not enough.

I too am concerned about the amount of money we spend on education, but I am more concerned about the quality of that education. I believe the quality of education our children receive can be improved by making some fundamental changes in the way we pay and treat our teachers.

I believe in merit pay for teachers. Frankly, I think good teachers ought to be paid more than poor teachers. A good, conscientious teacher cannot help but become discouraged and disillusioned when he or she ends the month with the same pay as one whom they know to be indifferent. The result is apt to be that they leave the teaching profession altogether.

I also think we ought to enter a system of competency testing not only for new teachers, but for those who are currently teaching. We test our kids, why not also test those who teach them?

In short, I think we ought to bear down on the basics, relieve our teachers of burdensome paper work now placed upon them, and recognize and reward our better teachers with better pay, for the sake of our children, and our future.

If you have thoughts on this subject, I would welcome them. Just write to me at 1213 W. 34th in Austin, 78705.

Heat, high humidity can be dangerous to health

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a three-part series on working in hot environments.)

Many Texas residents work under hot, humid conditions. Summer heat is a particular hazard to agricultural producers and others who must work long hours under the sun.

High temperatures and high humidity not only cuase discomfort but could be potentially dangerous to the health and safety of individuals, says a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Humans must maintain a fairly constant internal body temperature regardless of external conditions," says Dr. Gary Nelson. "A human body is like a furnace which burns fuel (food) that manufactures heat. To safely limit internal temperatures, the body must shed excess heat. It does so by varying the amount of blood circulating near the skin surface and the evaporation of moisture through the skin and sweat glands."

Nelson explains that as the brain senses an increase in blood temperature, the heart beats faster, expanding blood vessels and sending more blood to small capillaries near the skin's outer layers. This blood, circulating close to the skin surface, can then transfer excess heat to the surrounding cooler atmosphere.

If this is not enough to cool the body, then the brain senses continued overheating and signals the sweat glands to shed large quantities of fluid to the skin surface. Sweat cools the body as it evaporates from the skin.

"However, as outside temperatures approach normal skin temperatures (high 90s), body cooling becomes increasingly difficult," says Nelson. "if air temperatures are as warm or warmer than the skin, blood brought to the surface cannot shed its heat. Under these conditions, the heart continues to pump blood to the surface, but perspiring becomes the only effective means of maintaining a constant body temperature."

The body also has difficulty giving off excess heat when humidity is high. Sweating does not cool the body unless the moisture evaporates, and high humidity slows evaporation, explains the engineer. Since humid air contains a high percentage of moisture, it cannot easily absorb more. Wiping sweat from the skin also prevents cooling from evaporation.

In high heat, hard work becomes harder. The heart pumps a torrent of blood through enlarged circulatory vessels, sweat glands pour liquids and essential dissolved chemical compounds such as salt onto the skin, and below the skin's surface, the production of metabolic heat continues. Since so much blood goes to the skin, less goes to active muscles. As a result, strength declines and fatigue comes sooner.

"Working in a hot environment may also have psychological effects," notes Nelson. "Workers who must perform delicate or detailed work or operate complex machinery may find their accuracy or performance suffering. Those who must think and process information may have lower comprehension and retention."

Certain safety problems are common in hot environments. These include slippery, sweaty hands; dizziness; and fogging glasses. Hot objects and surfaces also present possible burns from accidental contact.

Accidents are more frequent in the heat due to lower physical performance and mental alertness, says Nelson. Increased body temperature and physical discomfort promote irritability, anger and other emotional states which could cause workers to act rashly or carelessly or distract them from hazardous tasks.

Meal in Minutes

This delicious Tuna-Cheese Hero Melt makes for a quick, satisfying meal. Prepare ahead and refrigerate till mealtime. All you need is a crisp green salad to round out the menu.

TUNA-CHEESE HERO MELT

1 3-1/2 ounce can tuna fish, drained
1/4 cup cubed muenster cheese
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 to 2 tablespoons pickle relish
2 tablespoons Russian dressing
1 long Italian bread (8 or 10 inches) or 2 hero rolls (5 inches)

Combine tuna, cheese, onion, relish and dressing. Split bread or rolls horizontally and remove some of the soft centers. (Reserve for later use as bread crumbs.) Fill with tuna mixture. Press top and bottom together and wrap in foil. Place on oven pan of Toast-R-Oven toaster. Bake at 400 degrees F. (no preheating needed) for 15 to 20 minutes or until cheese melts and bread is crusty. Makes two sandwiches.

AUTO TIPS

Checking Treadwear

A tire's ability to hold the road decreases as the tire's tread wears down. When the depth of a tire's groove is one-16th of an inch or less, lateral wear bars appear across the grain of the tread.

A tire that reaches this point is potentially hazardous, particularly on wet pavement, and should be replaced, according to Bill Woehrle, manager of industry standards for Uniroyal Tire Company.

The tread depth of a tire can be easily measured with a ruler, or with a Lincoln-head penny, he says. If a ruler is not available, insert the penny with Lincoln's head down; if you can see all of Lincoln's head, the tread is less than one-16th of an inch and the tire needs to be replaced.

No need for extra salt in summer

"Beware of salt tablets," warns a Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine biochemist. "Not only do they not work, but they also can be dangerous."

Robert L. Kaman, Ph.D., associate director of TCOM's Institute for Human Fitness, explains that the idea promoting salt tablets is that they replace the salt the body loses through sweating. "Wrong," he said. "While you do lose some salt, the net effect of heavy perspiring is loss of water, not salt."

If a person takes salt tablets, Dr. Kaman continued, salt will concentrate in the body in greater amounts than the water in the body is able to dissolve. The body then retains water in an effort to keep the salt dissolved. That slows the sweating process, the body's heat regulating system.

"The danger is that your core temperature could soar and result in heat shock," Dr. Kaman said.

"Because almost all of us get enough salt in a well balanced diet, the important thing to replace is water."

Keep That Sweet Tooth!

For those of us with a "sweet tooth," reducing sugar in the diet is difficult. But we know sugars contribute to the decay process.

There are ways to satisfy that sweet tooth without destroying teeth. How? By preparing sweet tasting foods without refined sugar.

Many of the foods we eat contain sugar. When sugar is combined with plaque, the colorless film that daily coats our teeth, acids are formed. These acids attack the teeth, causing tooth decay

Brushing and flossing to remove plaque are two important ways of protecting teeth. A third way is to keep sugar intake at a minimum. Here is a delicious sugarless recipe for sunny Orange Cookies to tickle your palate, compliments of the American Dental Hygienists' Association.

ORANGE COOKIES

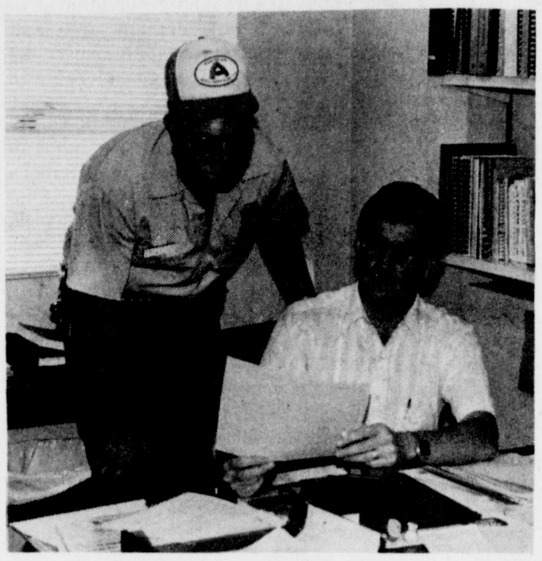

1/2 cup softened butter
1 egg
1 tsp. grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice
2 cups flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup seedless raisins

In a bowl, beat egg into softened butter. Stir in orange rind and orange juice. In another bowl, combine the dry ingredients and add to wet ingredients. Beat until well blended, then stir in nuts and raisins. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls onto cookie sheet 2 inches apart. Bake at 375 for 20 minutes until lightly brown. Cool on a wire rack. Store in a tightly closed container. Makes about 2 dozen cookies.

Over 750 visitors

Winters Mayor Lee Colburn welcomes visitors to the Z.I. Hale Museum Sunday. An estimated 750 people attended the open house at the museum and the Lazy N Stables, owned by John Norman.

Certification granted

The Winters Animal Shelter is now the only shelter in Runnels County certified by the Texas Department of Health as an animal quarantine facility. City Administrator Glenn Brown (right), and Animal Control Officer James Staggs (left) received the certificate earlier this week, following a recent inspection by the Bureau of Veterinary Public Health of the Texas Department of Health.
