Reagan: Action sends message to terrorists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said Friday the U.S. military operation to capture the pirates who seized an Italian cruise liner and allegedly murdered an American passenger sent a message to terrorists everywhere: "You can run but you can't hide."

But the president refused to say whether the Navy planes that forced down the Egyptian jetliner carrying the Palestinian hijackers would have fired on the unarmed aircraft if it had refused orders to land in Italy.

"That's for them to go to bed every night wondering," Reagan said.

Reagan told reporters the United States was asking for extradition of the accused hijackers from Italy because "they could be tried in both countries," in Italy for piracy of an Italian ship and in the United States for murder.

"What we want is justice done," Reagan said, indicating the United States would not object if the Italian government chooses to try the captives first.

■ American passengers on their way home, Page 2A

White House officials acknowledged later the Palestinians could not be charged with murder in the United States because the crime occurred elsewhere, but said they could be tried for hostage-taking, a federal crime that carries a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

There were these other developments Friday:

• The prosecutor's office in Genoa, Italy, where the Achille Lauro began its Mediterranean cruise, charged the four Palestinians with premeditated murder, kidnappings, hijacking of a ship and possession of arms and explosives, news agencies reported.

The four men believed to have carried out the hijacking and murder of American tourist Leon Klinghoffer were reported in the custody of Italian military police somewhere outside the Sigonella NATO base where the plane carrying them was forced to land.

• American passengers from the cruise ship flew out of Cairo en route to the United States. U.S. Embassy officials, confirming the departure, said the special military charter flight was bound for either Newark, N.J., or New York after a planned refueling stop at the U.S. Rhein-Main Air Base at Frankfurt, West Germany.

• Two Palestinians who were with the four pirates, reported to be escorts from the Palestine Liberation Organization, remained on board the plane at Sigonella as diplomatic consultations continued regarding their fate.

Italian Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti said Italy probably would release the pair, identified by Israeli army radio as Mohammed Abbas, head of the Front for the Liberation

Teen-aged gunman opens fire; Ten teens injured

DETROIT (AP) — A 17-year-old gunman armed with a rifle or sawed-off shotgun opened fire in a McDonald's restaurant crowded with lunchtime patrons Friday, wounding 10 teen-agers, none critically, police said.

The gunman and two other male teen-agers, ages 17 and 18, were arrested within an hour of the shootings, said Deputy Police Chief Richard Dungy, who refused to release the suspects' names.

The shooting at the restaurant, on a commercial strip across from Detroit Cody High School, apparently was the culmination of a dispute between students at the school and non-students, Dungy said.

"It appears this altercation stemmed from an argument over alleged damage to one vehicle," Dungy said. "All the victims were under 18 so we're assuming they all were from Cody."

Some of the wounded "probably were innocent bystanders," he said.

Dungy said he could not confirm earlier police reports that the violence may may have been gang-related. "The three individuals we have in custody, we have no record of them being involved in gangs," he said.

The gunman was arrested several blocks away, said Dungy. He would not say where the other two were arrested.

Three of the injured, boys ages 14, 15 and 16, were taken to Oakwood Hospital where they were in stable condition with "open abrasions," said hospital spokeswoman Pat O'Dowd.

She said the wounds didn't appear to be from gunshots. "It could be some fragments," she said.

Seven people, ages 14 to 18, were taken to Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit, but only three were admitted, said hospital spokeswoman Virginia Calihan. An 18-year-old victim was reported in serious condition with a gunshot wound in the chest and an irregular heartbeat, while a 17-year-old boy was in serious condition with a gunshot wound to the abdomen. A 15-year-old boy was in satisfactory condition with extensive wounds to the arm. All were expected to recover.

A 21-year-old Detroit man who declined to give his name said he was eating lunch when he heard shots,

Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee leader dies in bombing

Alex Odeh

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — A bomb ripped apart the office of the American Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee on Friday, killing the group's local leader, who on television the night before had called the chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization "a man of peace."

No one claimed responsibility for the blast, which injured eight people, none seriously, at the three-story stucco office building.

The organization recently told the FBI it had received harassing telephone calls, bureau spokesman John Hoos said in Los Angeles. Anti-terrorist police were among those called to investigate.

Killed in the blast around 9 a.m. was Alex Odeh, 41, the West Coast regional director of the 13,000-member organization, which works against what it sees as discrimination against those of Arab lineage in the United States and the Middle East. It has worked actively for a negotiated settlement to the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Odeh, interviewed by KABC-TV news Thursday night, defended the PLO's role in negotiating for the end of the hijacking of the Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro. A dissident offshoot of the PLO had taken responsibility for the hijacking, in which one American was killed.

"I think the media mistakenly linked this incident to the PLO," Odeh said, according to an ABC-TV transcript of the interview.

"As far as I know Arafat did an excellent job and we commend Arafat for his positive role in solving this issue," Odeh said. "The media ought to give the PLO and Arafat recognition, inform thepublic about the PLO as a political organization and Arafat in particular as the chairman of the PLO, who is a man of peace."

The anti-terrorist division of the Los Angeles police joined the investigation, as did Santa Ana police, the FBI, and the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, said Santa Ana police Lt. Mike Mitchell.

He said the terrorist detail was called in "just in case," and added that no suspects had been identified. Mitchell said eight were injured, although official earlier had counted seven injuries.

In Washington, former Sen. James G. Abourezk, national chairman of the American Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee, expressed "shock and outrage at this criminal act."

Abourezk said the victims "are being made scapegoats for an act committed by four people in the Middle East with whom they have had no connection whatever."

Radio station KFWB reported that a man had walked into the office shortly before 9 a.m. and delivered a package containing the bomb. It exploded and fatally injured Odeh when he opened it, the station said.

Santa Ana police Sgt. Bob Ensley said he could not confirm the report.

Dale Forbes, who identified himself as a structural engineer, said he had heard an explosion from his office in the building next door.

"I thought it was something in the floor breaking because of vibration in the floor," he said. "We saw smoke coming out the back side of the building...We saw the glass broken all over the place, one victim across the street already."

Forbes said a woman apparently had been thrown out of the building by the force of the blast.

"Some of us in the office thought it was the big earthquake or a sonic boom," said Joe Butuza, who works across the street. "It really shook us up."

"It sounded maybe like a large semi or something smashed into the building," said Pat Borden, who worked in the building. "The windows rattled, then a great big boom and the girls who were sitting near the window saw showers of glass. There were big billows of gunpowder smoke coming out of the office."

The area of the explosion was roped off after the 9 a.m. blast, and authorities investigated gingerly for fear of another explosion.

"We've had some type of device explode," said fire Chief William Reimer. "As you know, there is no (two-way) radio communications being done at all because of the potential of a device being in there that a radio signal could set off."

Pat Gaal, a spokeswoman for Western Medical Center in Santa Ana, said the cause of Odeh's death had not been determined.

In Washington, the American Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee identified Odeh as its West Coast director.

Seven of the injured were treated at Western Medical and released, said Ms. Gaal.

Majid denied new trial, plans appeal

By RAMONA NYE
Staff Writer

Muhammed Majid, convicted of hiring a man to kill his sister-in-law, was denied a new trial Friday and will now go to an appellate court in El Paso with his request.

"I would beg your honor, in the name of the almighty God to give me a trial — a new trial where I can be given an interpreter," the Bangladesh native pleaded with Judge Vann Culp during the second day of his hearing at the 238th District Court.

Majid, 28, was sentenced to 45 years in prison on July 26, for attempting to hire an undercover officer to kill his brother's ex-wife. His elder brother, Khalid Majid, and Lisa Bell of Abilene were fighting for the custody of their 3-year-old daughter at the time.

Majid's attorney, Harris Kerr, argued that Majid should be granted a new trial because he did not have competent representation with his former attorney Ed Garza.

Majid said even though he requested to have his trial moved, Garza never applied for a change of venue. Majid also said Garza didn't obtain a tape used as evidence against him and Garza failed to object against an improperly seized piece of evidence.

Teacher resigns after being suspended for showing V D film

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Oscar Villa, the 33-year-old elementary schoolteacher who was suspend from his post for showing a film on venereal disease to first-, second- and third-graders in Midland, resigned his job on Friday.

"It's just personal," Villa said of his resignation. He declined to elaborate.

Villa, who was into his first year of teaching in the Midland Independent School District, was suspended with pay after he reportedly had shown the film in physical-education classes at Santa Rita Elementary School on Sept. 26.

The film was designed for showing to junior high and high school students.

MISD Superintendent Dr. Joe Barentt said Villa's "resignation was totally voluntary."

"I think it (the resignation) resolves the problem," he said. School officials were investigating the incident.

Bill Jackson, president of the MISD board of trustees and a former schoolteacher and principal, and other trustees this week had viewed the 15-minute film.

"The film was well done for the level of kids it was supposed to be shown to," Jackson said. "The film was not appropriate for elementary kids."

Jackson said Villa had obtained the film, approved for and "explicitly" labeled for viewing by junior and senior high school students, from the West Texas Education Center at Midland Regional Airport. The film was obtained through regular channels, he noted.

Before joining the MISD, Villa had been employed as a teacher by the Marathon Independent School District.

Americans on their way home

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — American passengers of an Italian cruise ship held captive by Palestinian gunmen flew out of Cairo Friday in a special U.S. military charter. Among the homeward-bound victims was the widow of an American invalid, killed during two days of terror on the Mediterranean Sea.

U.S. Embassy officials said the special charter was bound for either Newark, N.J., or New York after a refueling stop at the U.S. Rhein-Main Air Base in Frankfurt, West Germany.

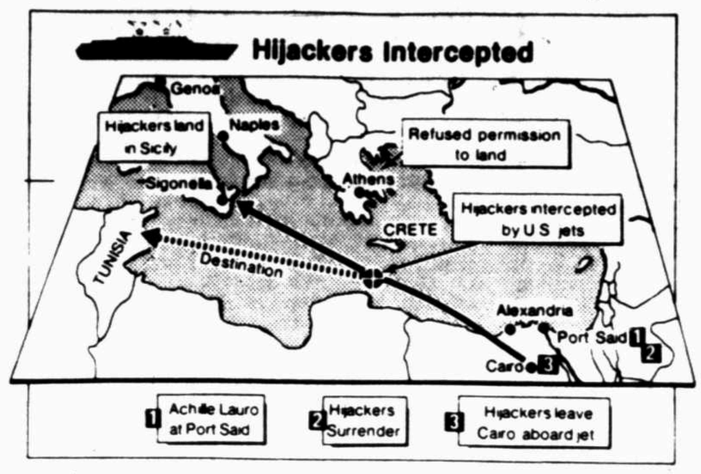
Operations officers at the air base said the plane was due to land at 3:30 a.m. today (10:30 p.m. Friday EDT) and would take off for the United States immediately after refueling. William Cahill, a spokesman for the Newark International Airport, said he had received a memorandum from the Pentagon that the Americans would arrive in New Jersey at 9:45 a.m. today.

Before he left, Frank Hodes of Springfield, N.J. was asked where he and the other passengers were headed. He replied, "Home honey, wherever they take us, USA."

Eleven of the American passengers from the Achille Lauro had been in Cairo since early Friday awaiting departure. They were joined at Cairo International Airport by six other Americans who had left the ship Friday in Port Said.

The six Americans had wanted to continue their Mediterranean cruise to Israel, but Egyptian authorities, without explanation, refused to let the ship sail from Port Said, where the vessel was anchored.

Most of the Americans were aboard the ship when it was commandeered Monday by four Palestinian pirates, who surrendered Wednesday to PLO officials in Port Said.



On Friday, the prosecutor's office in Genoa, Italy, charged the four with murder in the slaying of a crippled American passenger, Leon Klinghoffer, 69, of New York.

Klinghoffer's widow, Marilyn, appeared dazed and under sedation when reporters saw her entering a bus at a Cairo hotel for the drive to the airport.

U.S. Embassy officials said the plane would try first to land in Newark, but if local air traffic were too dense, it would land at Kennedy International Airport in New York.

Earlier Friday, U.S. Embassy officials said the Americans were expected to depart today aboard commercial airliners. There was no official explanation for the change in plans.

But American sources, speaking on condition they not be identified, said the change was in the interest of security and to downplay any tension between Egypt and the United States.

Tension arose Thursday night after U.S. warplanes intercepted an Egyptian plane carrying the four Palestinian hijackers to Tunisia and forced it to land in Sicily, Italy, where the gunmen were arrested.

"We wanted to get them (the passengers) out as soon as possible," one U.S. source said. "There was some concern about adverse reaction."

U.S. sources confirmed the embassy had advised some Americans to stay at home Friday after the U.S. operation had been reported in the Egyptian media.

In Port Said, where the Achille Lauro had been docked since early Thursday, dozens of passengers, including Austrians, West Germans and Spaniards, were leaving the ship, uncertain when it would sail.

Capt. Gerardo de Rosa said Egyptian officials revoked his permit to sail for Israel on Friday. Italian officials said the reason they were given was that the Egyptians were still investigating the hijacking and Klinghoffer's death.

Italian officials said they had no evidence the revocation was in retaliation for the U.S. action in diverting the Egyptian plane and the hijackers to Italy. However, they said there was no indication when the vessel would sail.

Several of the American passengers were not aboard the vessel when it was hijacked, but had been scheduled to get on board at Port Said. They spent one night on the ship after it arrived in the Suez Canal port and then left for Cairo with the former hostages.

One of those who missed the hijacking said he applauded the U.S. action in forcing the hijackers to Italy and Italian justice.

"I think it's very good," said Neil Kantor of Metuchen, N.J. before his departure. "Finally the United States has decided to take some action and I think that in accordance with international law these people should be punished." His wife was among the hostages.

In Tel Aviv, about 500 passengers who got off in Alexandria, Egypt, before the hijacking, were stranded and awaiting word on whether the Achille Lauro would sail back to Israel.

Capt. Fausto Vignali, managing director of the Lauro Company which owns the ship, told The Associated Press in a telephone interview he was "frustrated and angry" about Egypt's refusal to allow the ship to leave Port Said.

He said if he did not get word by this morning that the ship had left Egypt for Israel, he would book charter flights for that afternoon to take the passengers back to Rome. The passengers, who were on a shore excursion when the ship was hijacked Monday, were flown to Italy and then to Israel on Thursday.

of Palestine to which the hijackers claimed to belong, and Hani Al Hassan, the senior aide to PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat.

A U.S. State Department official told the AP that return of the Egyptian plane was being held up by Egypt's insistence that the two Palestinian officials who accompanied the hijackers be returned to Cairo.

Reagan, who nearly five years ago had promised "swift and effective retribution" against terrorism, said he could not refuse to approve the mission "with what was at stake."

"I don't know whether a decision like that can ever be called easy," the president said of his order to scramble American warplanes to intercept the hijackers. "But I had complete faith in our forces, and the opportunity was there."

Reagan's national security adviser, Robert C. McFarlane, said the plan for the operation was proposed by his deputy, Navy Vice Adm. John M. Poindexter, and that Reagan approved the essential elements of it standing in a holding room between speeches in the Chicago area, where the president was stumping for his tax overhaul plan.

McFarlane said Reagan asked for regular updates on the situation as officials waited for confirmation the Boeing 737 was going to take off from Egypt and approved the interception as he flew back to Washington aboard Air Force One, not yet certain the Egyptian aircraft had left.

But before the Navy pilots closed on the airliner, McFarlane and other officials said, the White House was virtually certain the four hijackers were aboard.

Reagan, however, denied that either Egypt or Italy was brought in on the plan.

"Knowing that we could not risk a leak of any plans of this kind, this plan was ours," he told reporters at a hastily assembled briefing in the White House press room.

McFarlane flew to New York for a previously scheduled meeting with former President Richard M. Nixon, leaving management of the operation in the hands of Poindexter and the Pentagon.

The president praised Italian Premier Bettino Craxi, whom he called "courageous in his insistence that those apprehended shall be subject to full due process of law," and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia for his "forthright decision to refuse the entry of the fugitives" to Tunisia, where the PLO is headquartered.

Without mentioning President Hosni Mubarak personally, Reagan expressed gratitude to the government of Egypt.

looked up and saw "fire coming from the gun. I heard the shots and put my head on the floor.

"After the shots, everyone was breaking for the door. It looked like Vietnam, everybody was running for their life," he said. "I didn't see who had the gun, I just saw the fire."

The gunman used a sawed-off rifle or shotgun and drove away after the shooting, Deputy Police Chief Joseph Areeda said.

A student from Cody High School, who declined to give his name, said the same people involved in the shooting had fought earlier in the day at the high school.

Jermaine Mosley, 14, of Detroit said he was walking by the restaurant when he saw a fight involving several people going on inside. He said he heard someone shout "Why did you shoot up my car?," followed by shooting.

Bunton to rule in Weddel, Hammond case

By FRANK TROMBLEY
Staff Writer

U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton, who is scheduled at noon Monday to sentence Ector County Commissioner Willie Hammond Jr. and former Odessa City Councilman Keith Weddel on arson-conspiracy charges, will consider motions to either dismiss the charges or grant a new trial.

Hammond and Weddel were found guilty Sept. 21 by an El Paso jury on two counts each of arson and conspiracy to commit arson in connection with the fire that damaged the O'Michael Building Nov. 25, 1981. Hammond was also convicted on two charges of perjury in connection with depositions he gave concerning a civil lawsuit involving insurance on the building.

In Andrews Friday, 45-year-old John Peterson of Odessa, an ex-convict who was a key government witness in the Hammond-Weddel trial, was found guilty on a charge of burglary and sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Peterson's court-appointed attorney, Richard Davis of Odessa, said the jury deliberated about an hour and 15 minutes to find Peterson guilty. The burglary charge grew out of the Jan. 27, 1982 burglary of an Andrews residence.

Peterson's brother, Lawrence "Cotton" Peterson earlier drew a 50-year sentence in connection with the same burglary. The Peterson brothers, who admitted their involvement in the O'Michael Building arson, were granted immunity from prosecution by the federal government.

In the motion for dismissal or new trial filed Oct. 8 by Hammond's attorney, Warren Burnett, Burnett said, "There is no evidence linking Hammond to the fire. And the only evidence linking Weddel was that at the time he was part owner of the building, which is clearly insufficient.

"Maybe the time is coming in federal court," Burnett went on to say, "when the word of a government informant, regardless of credibility, defines guilt, so speaks this verdict," said the Odessa attorney.

Lubbock attorney Travis Shelton, who represents Weddel, filed a similar motion Oct. 8.

The motions filed by Burnett and Shelton question whether Bunton should have transferred the trial to El Paso when neither defendant requested he do so.

Hammond and Weddel faced trial on the same charges in Midland in February. Bunton declared a mistrial when the jury deadlocked, unable to reach a verdict.

At the end of the El Paso trial, Burnett and Shelton both said they plan to appeal the conviction of Hammond and Weddel to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

MAJID

Majid also said he did not know he had access to an interpreter during the trial.

"If I really knew that I would have been given an interpreter, sir, I would have asked for one," Majid said. Majid is fluent in English, but said his native tongue is Bengali, the official language of Bangladesh.

Garza, testifying Friday, said he thought Majid had a better chance at a fair trial in Midland.

The pre-trial publicity had been favorable and Midland County jurors have a higher intellegence level, Garza said, about his decision not to request the trial's relocation.

During the first day of his hearing on Wednesday, Majid testified that several jurors were prejudiced after overhearing in the courtroom hallway that he had pleaded guilty in return for a 15-year sentence. On the second day of the July trial Majid accepted a 15-year plea bargain that was later rescinded by District Attorney Al Schorre.

Garza said he was never told about jurors learning of Majid's plea bargain acceptance.

"That statement was never told to me, because I know what I would have done," Garza said.

Garza said he discovered later in the trial that a portion of the tapes used as evidence against Majid were missing. Tape recordings of the alleged murder plot discussion between Majid and an undercover police officer were used as evidence at the July trial. However, Garza said this missing tape was not important to his trial strategy because all the tapes seemed continuous.

The jury foreman, William Davis, District Attorney Al Schorre and Khalid Majid also testified at Friday's hearing.

Snake handler at El Paso Zoo says his interest 'just came naturally'

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — To Jerry Davis, the words "don't bite the hand that feeds you" are more than a cliche.

Davis' hand feeds several varieties of snakes and a few alligators.

The hand has had some near-misses.

"We have some really aggressive snakes," said Davis, caretaker of the reptile house at El Paso Zoo.

"Cobras, puff adders, rattlesnakes. You have to feed them through a little hole in the display. Sometimes they shoot out the hole."

Davis explained that the snakes are really after the food — usually a dead mouse — but they can come pretty close to the feeder's hand.

"We really have an unprecedented record for safety, though," he said. "We have one of the best records for safety for a reptile house in the country."

Davis could remember only one attendant who had been bitten "years ago."

No zoo visitors have been bitten, he said.

Davis has been working at the zoo six years and at the reptile house the past two years.

He's been interested in reptiles since he was 6.

"I don't know why," he said. "It just came naturally. Why do people race cars or parachute or climb mountains? I myself don't feel threatened by snakes."

Most people seem to have a strange fascination with snakes, Davis said.

"People like to get a little scared. It's like riding the rides in an amusement park." But sometimes the fascination has a negative effect.

"You've always got people beating on windows," he said. "The snakes strike at the windows and sometime damage their teeth."

Davis said that because snakes can't hear, people might as well just be waving at the snakes.

While the snakes are the most popular creatures in the reptile house, Davis has other charges, including three alligators that used to stay in the reptile house but are now in an outdoor pond.

Davis said the reptiles are caged away from the zoo's birds, most of which run free.

"But sometimes you get a dumb pigeon that gets too close," he said.

Alligators and snakes don't require much feeding. Snakes need to be fed about once every two weeks, and alligators are able to go as long as six months without food.

The turtles under Davis' care don't need much food, either. "They're omnivorous, so they usually just eat the leaves that fall into their pool," Davis said.

"The snapper can bite pretty hard, but it's pretty easy to get away," because of the lethargic animal's lack of speed, Davis said.

Many of the reptiles are donated to the zoo. The alligator snapper turtle came that way.

"Some kid had him and went away to college. When the guy came back, he (the snapper) had taken over the family swimming pool," Davis said.

Demand for luxury cars growing in Europe

The growing demand for luxury cars in the United States also is taking place in Europe, according to Jaguar PLC. The firm says it plans to establish independent distribution networks in France, Spain, Italy, Holland, Luxemburg, and Belgium to satisfy increased demand.

Recruits to bedischarged for having AIDS antibody

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Air Force plans to discharge two Lackland Air Force Base recruits whose blood tests showed signs of the AIDS antibody, a military spokesman says.

The two were among 1,682 Air Force recruits whose blood was screened between Oct. 1 and Oct. 7, Wilford Hall Medical Center spokesman Cliff Enloe said. They were to be discharged by this weekend, he said.

"The two recruits will be medically evaluated and counseled," Enloe said. "Then they will undergo a nonpunitive processing and be advised to see a private physician."

The screening is part of a nationwide effort by the military to check recruits for the AIDS antibody, whose presence means an individual has been exposed to the AIDS virus. The antibody in the blood could trigger development of acquired immune deficiency syndrome, but experts say its presence does not mean the individual has AIDS.

A positive test result means the person has a 5 percent to 20 percent chance of getting the fatal disease, according to the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Air Force recruits are required to take two blood screenings at Wilford Hall. If those two tests are positive, the blood is sent to a private laboratory in Burlington, N.C., for a third test. If the final test is positive, the recruit is given a "non-punitive discharge."

Since 1981, about 100 AIDS cases have been confirmed in the armed forces, defense department spokesman Lt. Col. Pete Wyro said.

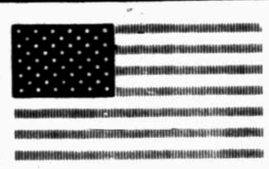
House votes to begin debates on legislation to raise national debt



NATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The autumn epidemic of deficit fever hit the House of Representatives Friday as lawmakers overwhelmingly embraced the spirit but not the specifics of a balanced budget plan passed by the Senate.

The Democratic-controlled House voted 327-50 to begin bargaining with the Senate on legislation to increase the national debt limit above $2 trillion and an accompanying amendment embraced by President Reagan to revise the federal budget process and place statutory limits on the government's red ink.

In addition, the House voted 354-15 in favor of a procedural motion by House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois to instruct the House bargainers to "provide mechanisms for deficit reductions, including specific and mandatory budget goals for achieving a balanced budget within the next six years."

With the negotiations, likely to begin the middle of next week, has come a debate over who has now captured the political high ground on the issue of federal budget deficits.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., said the amendment the Republican-led Senate passed this week has put House Democrats on the defensive and sent them scrambling to catch up.

Rep. Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo., said the balanced budget plan adopted by the Senate marked "the end of the supply-side Reagan revolution."

During debate before the House votes, Democrats pointed out that the national debt Reagan inherited when he took office in 1981 was $935.1 billion and now, despite promises to balance the budget by 1984, Congress is now considering legislation that would peg the national debt at $2.078 trillion.

Research center does quality check on flowers

STANTON, Minn. (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of flowers cover hundreds of acres at the Northrup King research center in what amounts to one of the largest gardens in the state.

"We have field corn, vegetable crops like cucumbers, squash, pumpkins, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, we have forage crops like alfalfa, we have sorghum and sunflowers and soybeans," said Bruce Wiese, the research center manager. "And we have the flowers. We put the flowers out by the road, where they'd catch some attention."

"This is not a breeding patch, this is purely a quality assurance program for checking the seed to make sure it's running true to type," said Ted Lamm, the research center's operations manager. "You know, if we advertise a package of red petunias, we don't want them coming out white."

And, he said, the research center is not even involved much in producing the flowers.

"The work on the flowers is really done up in Minneapolis," he said. "Down here, we just grow them."

The research center's plants appear as well tended as a master gardener's backyard plot. Not only is the soil some of the best around, but the entire 412 acres is irrigated.

Row after row of flourishing squash plants flash white and golden-yellow fruits at passers-by, thousands of cucumbers curl snugly under their deep-green vines.

What happens to it all?

"Most of it is just plowed under," Lamm said.

Wiese said that while some of the crops are used for further seed experiments, others can't be sold because of the way they are grown.

The research center, he said, is often attempting to learn as much as it can about a certain plant or a certain crop, and doesn't want to deal with the common problems of the backyard gardener.

Therefore, the center may, under controlled research conditions, use special pesticides in a manner that would make the vegetables inedible.

It's all part of the effort necessary to stay a leader in the huge plants and seeds market — a market where an ounce of petunia seed may bring $10,000. "But there are an awful lot of seeds in an ounce," Wiese noted.

"We've just about finished an expansion that will cost about $3 million," Wiese said. "There are 13 computer-controlled greenhouses, 11 growth chambers with controlled environments, and 47 employees, including seven with Ph.Ds."

Non-drinkers make wine ad

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — John Lechner of Lincoln doesn't drink, but he'll be holding a glass of Gallo wine on network television later this year.

The 30-second commercials will air in local markets and on network television between Oct. 23 and Christmas.

Lechner, who is a part-time announcer for KOLN-TV, said that in the commercial he plays one of two young executives who are meeting their boss for the first time.

None of the three men on that commercial drink, "but we held wine glasses all day," Lechner said.

"They spent a ton of money and treated me like a king," he said.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The U.S. Navy base on Adak Island in the Aleutians is under a Big Mac attack. McDonald's is establishing a fast-food beachhead on the treeless, windswept island some 1,200 miles southwest of Anchorage.

The company expects the restaurant to be in business by December, officials say.

"It's definitely a remote location," said Robert Thompson, who oversees construction of McDonald's restaurants in the Pacific Northwest. "I was out there three weeks ago and they had just got HBO (Home Box Office cable television). That was the big craze on the island."

Anti-apartheid group says camps have been built to hold activists

WORLD

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — An anti-apartheid group said Friday that the white government may have built special camps to hold opponents of the race law system who have been arrested this year under sweeping security laws.

Police headquarters in Pretoria reported rioting in 11 black areas late Thursday and early Friday, and said a patrol killed a black man who ran a roadblock in Soweto. Most of the incidents occurred near Cape Town, Johannesburg and Pretoria.

Headquarters said 4,960 activists had been arrested under a state of emergency imposed July 21 in 36 black districts, and 1,006 still were in custody Friday.

The Detainees' Parents Support Committee said 1,168 people had been picked up since January under other security laws allowing indefinite detention without charge, and 441 still were in jail at the end of September.

"There is some evidence that detention camps have been established to accommodate the large numbers" of people held, the committee said.

Non-emergency detentions during the first nine months of the year already exceed the total for 1984, it reported. Last year's number of detentions was the highest since 1976 riots that began in Soweto, the huge black city outside Johannesburg.

Emergency powers were invoked after nearly a year of violence against apartheid, the official race policy that reserves privilege for South Africa's 5 million whites and denies rights to its 24 million blacks.

It was the first emergency declaration since 1960, when a black uprising began after police killed 69 demonstrators at Sharpeville, south of Johannesburg. More than 11,000 people were arrested then.

The emergency enables police to arrest people without warrants, declare curfews, seize property and seal off areas.

Painting couple enjoys being their own bosses

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — Since giving the brush-off to working for other people, Sandra and Jim Dyke drawn one conclusion about Lufkin: every house has wasp nests.

It is the kind of thing one notices when one spends hours perched atop a ladder balancing a full can of paint.

The Dykes should know. They are a husband and wife team who work together painting just about anything — interiors, exteriors, furniture, and industrial projects. They launched their local business, called Jim and Sandra Dyke Paint Contractors, last spring after moving here from Oklahoma.

A can of wasp spray is standard issue for them now, but weapons don't necessarily win the war. Confronted with 10 wasps flying in battle formation recently, Jim Dyke beat a hasty retreat. He dropped his can of poison spray and it rolled off the steep roof.

Reduced to squirting them with Windex, he kept edging backwards. He said he would have fallen off the roof if he hadn't backed into the chimney.

Such is the life of a painter. It is a life they say they enjoy very much. "We enjoy working together and we enjoy working outdoors," Mrs. Dyke said.

Their paint-splattered white clothes could almost serve as a scrapbook with different colors representing different jobs. Each new undertaking offers the variety that is another part of what they enjoy about their chosen vocation.

Some days are quiet and some are more lively. "It's very peaceful, painting. Especially when you're painting off to yourself," Mrs. Dyke said. "Usually he works off on one side and I'm on the other. We can work all day and only see each other at break and lunch."

To liven up things, they sometimes listen to the radio and Mrs. Dyke will dance on her ladder. Dyke said he doesn't dance on his ladder because, "I'm scared I'll fall."

What he enjoys most is the feeling of accomplishment when a job is going well. Always conscious that time is money, he said that he is happiest when they make good time.

They made the decision to become self-employed because it allows them to make more money per job. The drawback is that jobs aren't guaranteed. Mrs. Dyke said, "Nothing is ever sure...You don't have that steady income."

All in all, though, they still prefer to be their own bosses. "I think we have a better family life. On a rainy day we can be with our daughters. We don't have to worry about losing our jobs if an aunt dies and we want to go to her funeral," Mrs. Dyke said.

Working together calls for mutual respect. "I don't think we would get along if he tried to be my boss or I tried to be his," she said.

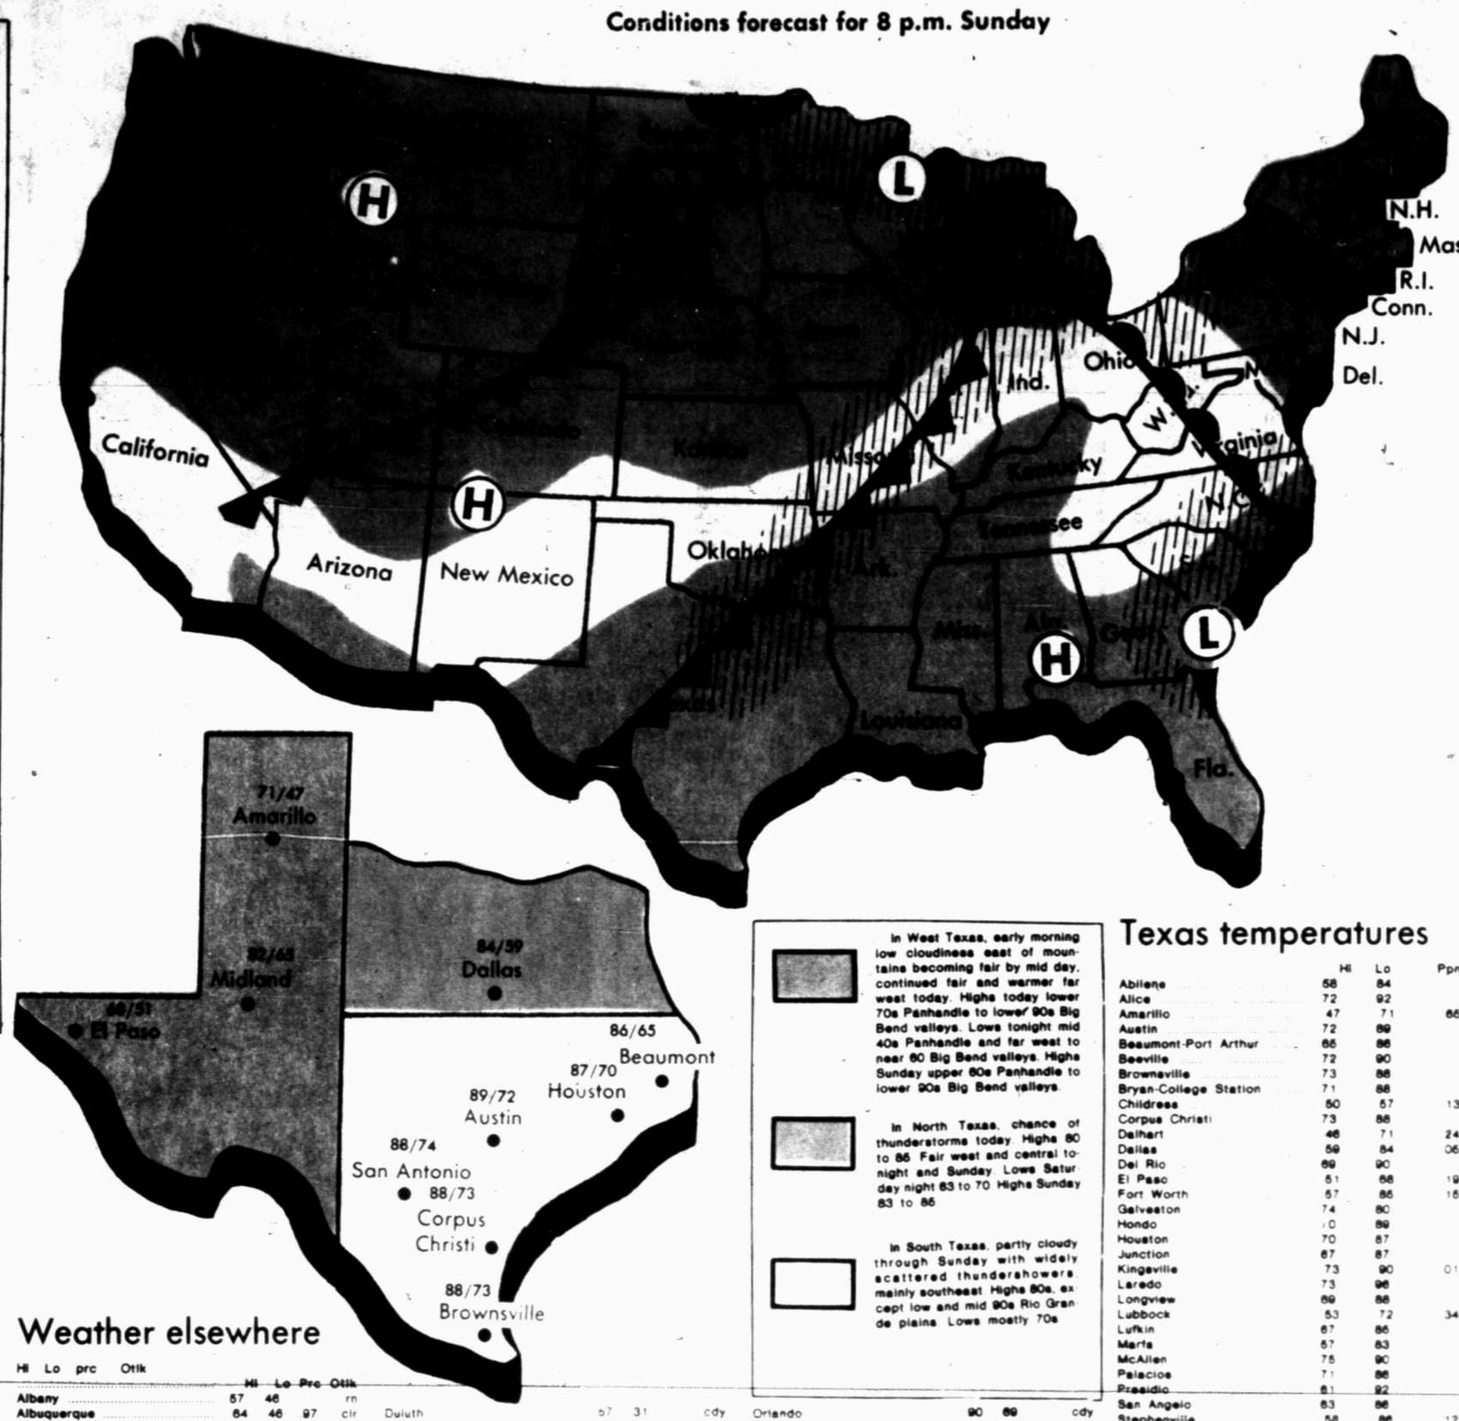
Conditions forecast for 8 p.m. Sunday



Fair, warm conditions expected

From Staff and Wire Reports

Foggy weather was to greet early-morning risers today.

But the low cloudiness was to dissipate, and the day is to turn fair and warmer, according to the weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

The high today is to be in the mid-80s, and winds are to be southwesterly at 10 to 20 mph and gusty.

For tonight, the weatherman is calling for a low in the low 50s.

Sunday is to be sunny and fair. The high is to be in the mid-80s.

Friday's peak temperature was 82 degrees, and the record high for an Oct. 11 is 94 degrees in 1979. The overnight low was 65 degrees. The record low for an Oct. 12 is 40 degrees in 1946.

STATE

Most of Texas was under the influence of warm, moist south winds Friday night as a weak warm front pushed slowly toward the north.

An upper level disturbance across West Texas continued to trek slowly east and that triggered a line of thunderstorms from the Trans Pecos region across the South Plains, the National Weather Service said.

Another area of showers developed along the upper Gulf coast in moist onshore winds. Except for those few showers, skies across the state were fair to partly cloudy.

Measurable rainfall on Friday was light and confined to portions of North and West Texas with total accumulations of less than a half inch.

Today should be fair across the north and west with widely scattered thundertorms elsewhere. Highs saturday will be mostly in the 70s and 80s except for 90s across the Big Bend and far South Texas, the weather service said.

NATION

The Great Plains, already drenched from days of rain, took in more showers Friday as Kansas Gov. John Carlin issued disaster declarations for six flood-stricken counties.

A band of showers and thundershowers reached from northwest Texas through central Kansas. Several rivers were above flood stage from northern Oklahoma through northwest Missouri due to the heavy rainfall of the past few days.

Rain also extended across northern Colorado, southeast Wyoming and much of Nebraska. Light rain, drizzle and fog were widespread across Oklahoma and the mid-Mississippi Valley.

Midland statistics

WEATHER FORECAST

Some early-morning low cloudiness today. Otherwise, fair and warmer today with a high in the mid-80s. Winds southwesterly at 10-20 mph and gusty. Fair tonight with a low in the low 50s. Sunny and fair on Sunday with a high in the mid-80s.

Odessa levels Midland in 42-21 rout

Bulldogs suffer second district defeat

By BOB BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

ODESSA — Midland High may have scored first, but didn't score second, third or fourth as Odessa High fought back quickly to jump on the Bulldog defense enroute to a 42-21 District 4-5A victory at Ratliff Stadium.

The Bulldogs' high-octane aerial attack clicked perfectly on the second play of the game from scrimmage when quarterback Matt Marcum hit wide open split end Michael Eaden for a 76-yard touchdown pass. Bobby Williams kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead, but the game was a long, long way from over.

After both teams dug in defensively to stop the other on the next exchanges, the Bronchos took the ball on their own nine-yard line and drove the length of the field for the first of three straight touchdowns, using long ground-pounding tactics and quick strikes to score.

Gary Powell capped a 16-play, 91-yard drive with a five-yard run with 1:01 left in the first quarter and Billy Wenger knotted the game at seven with the PAT. On the next possession, Powell ended a 16-play, 63-yard drive with a two-yard run. Ed Lewis scored the third TD from 17-yards out, one play after Donnie Jerkins recovered a Marcum fumble.

The Bulldogs put themselves back into contention on the ensuing kickoff when Eaden fielded the ball on the 12, worked his way up the middle, picked up some crucial blocks and outran the Broncho defense to the endzone for an 88-yard TD run. Williams' PAT cut the margin to 21-14.

Eaden's second score was quickly negated. With time running out in the half, Broncho Tracy Blaylock intercepted Marcum and returned the ball to the Bulldog 30. One play later, quarterback Shawn Gillham took the keeper into the end zone. Wenger made it 28-14 at the half.

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

RUSHING: Midland: Matt Marcum, 7-minus 30; Jake Madrid, 6-16; Anthony Adkinson, 3-22; Tyrone Oliver, 5-25-1; Mark Johnson, 10-44; Bobby Williams, 1-6. Odessa: Shawn Gillham, 16-93-1; Ed Lewis, 11-49-1; Gary Powell, 18-84-3; Tracy Blaylock, 11-61; Jeff Wright, 3-27; Terry Powell, 4-43; Marrison Rice, 2-10; Julio Diaz, 1-1; Darryl Corzine, 1-minus 2.

PASSING: Midland: Matt Marcum, 17-4-2-88-1; Jaime Madrid, 1-1-0-0-0. Odessa: Shawn Gillham, 2-1-0-15-0; Gary Powell, 1-0-0-0-0; Jeff Wright, 3-0-0-0-0.

RECEIVING: Midland: Jake Madrid, 1-5; Anthony Adkinson, 1-6; Robbie Harbrider, 1-12; Bobby Williams, 1-9; Michael Eaden, 1-76-1. Odessa: Tracy Blaylock, 1-16.

"I have to take the blame for this one," said Midland High head coach Doug McCutchen. "We weren't ready to play and it's my responsibility to see that the players are prepared. I've also got to give Odessa High a lot of credit. They did the things they had to do to win the ball game."

THE FINAL points of the game came in the third quarter and again it was a Marcum turnover that gave the Bronchos the score when Blaylock intercepted the MHS quarterback for a second time and took it 71 yards into the end zone with 10:29 left in the period.

Six minutes later, Midland High was finally able to take advantage of a Broncho turnover, converting Powell's fumble into seven points on a 10-yard Tyrone Oliver TD run and Williams PAT.

Powell got the points back with 36 seconds left in the quarter, capping an eight-play, 63-yard drive with a 25-yard scoring run. Wenger booted the PAT, making it a 6-for-6 performance on the night.

"They did a heck of a job running the double lead," said McCutchen. "The line was coming off the ball well and the backs did a good job hitting the holes. We knew Odessa had some great speed going into the game and they used it against us."

In all, the Bulldogs' offense was held to very little after the 76-yard TD pass to Eaden. Marcum completed only 4-of-17 passes for 98 yards total while the MHS ground game was held to a mere 77 yards.

It was a different story on the other side of the ball. The Bronchos, led by Gillham with 93 yards and Powell with 84, amassed 388 yards rushing and 15 passing for a 403 total.

On the TD pass to Eaden, McCutchen said, "We were walking our tight end over to try and cause them some problems early and it did, but they made adjustments. We thought the play would be open but you never know before a game. It happened that it was more open than we thought it would be."

Unfortunately for the Bulldogs, it was the only time. Now, Midland High has to regroup its forces to try and overcome a two-game losing skid that has dropped its 4-5A record to 1-2, 3-3 overall.

Royals bounce to win, 6-5

By BEN WALKER
AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Steve Balboni broke out of his slump. So did Dick Howser. And so did the Kansas City Royals.

"This puts us back in it," Howser said Friday night after the Royals rallied and went on to beat Toronto 6-5, cutting the Blue Jays' lead in the best-of-seven American League playoffs to 2-1.

Kansas City had lost 10 straight postseason games and Howser's teams had dropped 11 straight.

But they wound up winners when Balboni ended his 0-for-11 playoff slump with a bloop single to center with two outs in the eighth inning that drove home George Brett from third base with the game-winner.

"He was bound to get a hit sometime," Howser said. "A blooper, a home run, something. He had too many RBIs to shut down."

WHILE Balboni got the game-winning hit, Brett was once again the hero for the Royals.

Brett went 4-for-4, including two home runs, a double and a single that started the eighth-inning rally. And he threw out a Toronto runner at home after grabbing a hard grounder down the third base line.

"This was probably the most important game that I've played that well in in a long time," Brett said. "We were a complete underdog, and if we'd played the way we had in the first two games, we would have lost in four straight."

Brett lso said he was glad to help end Howser's losing streak.

"It's a burden off his back," Brett said. "It's not all his fault. He's a good manager, and we've lost a lot of games for Dick in the playoffs by not playing well."

Game 4 was scheduled for Saturday night in Kansas City, pairing the first-game starters — winner Dave Stieb for Toronto and loser Charlie Leibrandt of Kansas City.

Balboni, who was hitless in his last 16 playoff at-bats dating to last season, got his game-winner off loser Jim Clancy, who entered the game in the eighth. Steve Farr pitched shutout relief during the final 4 1-3 innings for the victory.

KANSAS CITY had to win this game, and had its ace Bret Saberhagen on the mound. Brett homered in the first and doubled and scored in the fourth.

But Toronto knocked out Saberhagen with five runs in the fifth, and seemed headed toward an even more commanding lead in the series.

The Royals, however, did not quit and first scrapped back to tie, and then went on to win.

Rangers fourth period TD push repels Wall, 22-14

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

GREENWOOD — The Greenwood Rangers mounted a 96-yard, fourth quarter scoring drive here Friday night to pull out a 22-14 win over the winless Wall Hawks and it left Ranger coach Joe Longley sighing with relief.

"We were just lucky to survive out there tonight because we were our own worst enemy," said Longley before adding, "Still, we have to be proud of the way our kids hung in there to come back and take the win."

The contest was the District 8-2A opener for both teams and the Rangers have to feel like they are a step ahead of last season when they started 8-2A play with a loss to the Hawks, who went on to the state playoffs.

The Rangers are now 5-1 on the season while Wall fell to 0-6, but Wall, playing a tough schedule was in a similiar position last year and gained a playoff berth, finishing the season at 4-7-1.

With the game tied at 14-14, Wall's Randy Krupala put Greenwood in a major hole at the four-yard line with a dead-eye punt. It was from there the Rangers had to mount the longest drive of the night — maybe the season — when Steve Popham ended the 96-yard march after 11 plays by busting up the Wall middle for a 20-yard TD. Greenwood quarterback Chad Longley then passed to Tommy Lawson for some added insurance and the final 22-14 margin.

"A 96-yard drive isn't bad when you need it," joked Longley after the game. "I'll take it anytime."

Popham, a junior, had his best night in a Ranger uniform with 141 yards rushing and the clinching touchdown. He has had only one other game this year with more than 100 yards rushing.

"We've kind of kept him hid," said Longley. "He's just a junior and didn't play football last year. He has a lot of potential. I think you will be reading a lot more about him in the future."

Popham's 20-yard TD romp left a trail of would-be tacklers in his wake, carrying Wall's Randy Gully and Sonny DeLaGarza into the end zone with him. However, he refused to take the credit for the winning TD after the game.

"The blocking was there. Abel Mireles and Steve Heryford had great blocks that opened the way for me. That's the reason I scored," said Popham.

Popham also had gains of 22 and 12 yards earlier in the drive and quarterback Longley had a big 32-yard romp.

Greenwood struck first on its first possession of the night, marching 58 yards in 11 plays with Longley getting the final two on a quarterback sneak behind the blocking of guard Don Rose, but the Rangers didn't connect on the PAT.

Wall charged back on its first possession with a 65-yard drive with DeLaGarza getting the final 11 and Krupala kicked the PAT for a 7-6 lead.

In the second period, Greenwood got to the Wall 13 before Gully intercepted a Longley pass at the three. But Greenwood came right back and Longley picked on Gully again, this time connecting with Mark Graham from 27 yards out. Longley then hit Graham again for the two-point conversion for a 14-7 lead.

Wall struck quick in the third quarter, scoring again on its first possession with a 63-yard, 14-play drive with DeLaGarza getting the final eight. Krupala's PAT tied the game at 14-14 with 6:27 left in the third period.

It looked at that point that the game would end in a sisterly kiss, especially after Krupala put the Rangers in a deep hole. It was a hole, however, that the Rangers could climb out of and their first step in 8-2A warfare became a victory.

Mitch Russell had added 67 yards rushing to the Popham totals for the Rangers as Greenwood rolled out a 263-156 edge in yards rushing. Greenwood's Longley also outpassed Wall's Krupala by a 47-36 margin.

DeLaGarza led the Wall rushers with 80 yards and Mike Alewine had 46 yards.

TED BATTLES

Sooners choice over Steers

Since they are both undefeated, one of them is going to come out of Saturday's game with a black eye.

And it won't be the first time it has happened. Texas has handed Oklahoma its first defeat of the season 19 times and the Sooners have returned the courtesy 11 times.

Even though it won't be on network TV this year, on the surface it's a typical OU-UT weekend in Dallas, a game that provides the winner with the first, and perhaps, most rung toward a national championship.

And as much as I deplore the state of big time college athletics today, the mockery it makes of the values it is supposed to impart, I'm still a sucker for the hoopla and hype of a Texas-Oklahoma game.

It's the Southwest's answer to USC-notre Dame, Alabama-Georgia, Michigan-Ohio State...and what Army-Navy once was.

This year, however, one has to wonder if a couple of paper dragons might be squaring off in the Cotton Bowl Saturday. Despite the unbeaten status of the combatants, it's best not to examine them too closely.

Texas is 3-0 and its victims are a combined 1-10. The Longhorns beat Missouri by four, same margin as Northwestern beat the Tigers. Much was made of UT's offensive punch in a 38-34 win over Stanford, the same Stanford team that was dissected by San Diego State, 41-22, a week later.

The Sooners also are a trifle suspect with a 13-7 win over Minnesota, a team that could be emerging from the Big 10 shadows under Lou Holtz and the win over Kansas State wasn't all that impressive.

Oklahoma minus seven over Texas- This may be the year Barry Switzer gets some revenge. Then again, no one knows for sure what Fred Akers may have up his sleeve.

Last week, we were 8-5 against the spread.

The SWC...

Baylor plus six over SMU- This could have been the game of the week until the Mustangs went to Arizona thinking they were playing a juco team from Tempe, and come to think of it, it still may be the game of the week.

TCU minus 2 1/2 over Rice- Before the season this looked like a mismatch. Now it's almost a tossup.

Arkansas minus 13 1/2 over Texas Tech- If Raiders couldn't stay with Baylor, they can't be expected to stay close to Hogs.

Houston plus seven over Texas A&M- I can't resist the points, but I'll be sorry in the morning.

The others...

Navy plus seven over Air Force- It's at sea and Falcons may be emotionally unstable after yet another win over Notre Dame.

Tennessee plus eight over Florida- Vols had their let down last week in squeaker over Wake Forest...still it's at Gainesville.

Iowa minus 10 over Wisconsin- Anything less and Hawkeyes should be stripped of their No. 1 ranking.

Oklahoma State plus 5 1/2 over Nebraska- Cowboys' attitude the key. OSU usually goes into this one just hoping to keep the score from getting out of hand.

The Pros...

Steelers plus 6 over Dallas— If it weren't the Cowboys, I wouldn't touch this game. Both teams coming off supreme efforts a week ago. Which has the most left? Dallas to win, but not by much.

Denver minus 5 1/2 over Colts— I'd pick Northwestern and give points against the Colts. Of course, I'd be sorry.

49ers minus 4 against the Bears— Nobody is going to go undefeated and this one is in San Francisco.

Vikings plus 3 1/2 over Green Bay— With extreme reluctance.

Giants minus one over Bengals— Jersey must bounce back after close loss to Cowboys.

Cards minus 4 over Eagles— St. Louis packs more punch.

Bobcats 17, Abilene 0

From Staff Reports

ABILENE— The San Angelo Bobcats jumped back into the thick of the District 4-5A football race here Friday night with a key 17-0 win over the Abilene High Eagles.

The victory left San Angelo with a 2-1 4-5A mark while Abilene High fell to 1-1-1. The San Angelo victory also left Odessa Permian (2-0-1) in sole possession of first place in the league race.

San Angelo quarterback Mario Martinez lead the victory with a one-yard TD run while passing to Charlie Good for 26 yards and another score. Neal McSpadden kicked a 35-yard field goal.

San Angelo scored 10 points in the second period and seven in the third to take the win. San Angelo hosts Midland High Friday while Abilene High tests the new found strength of 2-1 Odessa High.

From Staff Reports

BIG SPRING — Despite 405 yards of total offense and a 7-0 lead at the half, the woes of the Big Spring Steers continued here Friday night in a 27-15 loss to the Abilene Cooper Cougars.

The loss leaves Big Spring with a 0-3 District 4-5A mark and a 1-5 season record with sole possession of last place in 4-5A. Cooper, winless heading into the game, is now 1-2 in league play.

David Nowlin sparked Cooper to victory as he scored four second half touchdowns on runs of 35 and 26 yards and on pass receptions of 24 and 28 yards from quarterback Bill Dehlinger.

Big Spring now faces the task of rebounding against an angry Midland Lee team, which fell 13-7 to Odessa Permian Thursday night. Cooper gets the task of facing league leader Odessa Permian Friday.

Big Spring took a 7-0 lead in the first period when Phillip Mathews scored on a 56-yard run, but didn't score again until just 55 seconds were left in the game.

RANKIN — The Rankin Red Devils ended non-conference football play here Friday night with a romping 53-0 shutout over the Klondike Cougars.

Rankin jumps into the thick of District 6-A action next weekend when they take on league favorite Iraan. Rankin is 4-2 on the season and Klondike is 0-6.

Halfback Randy Fulton led Rankin rushers with 86 yards on just seven carries as the Red Devil bench got a lot of action. Fulton scored two touchdowns, including a 44-yard romp in Rankin's 21-point first quarter.

George Abalos, Jim Lee, Mic McGravey, Doug Braden and Chris Beemann all scored touchdowns while quarterback Shane McCutchen hit Ronnie Thomas with a six-yard scoring toss for Rankin's last score with 6:55 left in the game.

Rankin had an upset win over Class 2A Greenwood last weekend and the Red Devils now appear ready to face the challenge of a powerful 6-0 Iraan team.

Moon wants more time

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers quarterback Warren Moon says he's got the arm but not the time.

"I think I can throw the football with anybody if I've got the time to set up," said Moon, one of the most blitzed and sacked quarterbacks in the National Football League.

Oiler quarterbacks — mostly Moon — have been dumped 26 times for 206 yards in losses this season, including an NFL record-tying 12 times by the Dallas Cowboys.

Moon expects to get more of the same Sunday when the Oilers host Cleveland, unless the Oilers can burn the Browns early.

"I think we'll be able to handle it this time," he said. "Our guys have seen everything that could be thrown at us so I think we'll be ready."

Moon says the Oilers slowed down the blitzes in last week's 31-20 loss to Denver.

"I think because we did some things good against the blitz last week, that's going to scare people, knowing they have to cover people like Butch (Woolfolk) or Mike (Rozier) out of the backfield with a linebacker," Moon said.

"Those type of plays will scare teams out of the blitz."

The Oilers will go into the game with the least productive offense in the NFL and much of their problems the past two weeks have been an inability to contain the blitz.

Through it all, Moon has kept his composure. It hasn't been easy.

"I have my ways of telling guys what I want to get across and I just do it in my way," Moon said. "Another guy might want to yell and scream but that's not my way to get it done."

Moon will be throwing into the No. 8-ranked total defensive team in the league. The Browns are third against the rush and 14th against the pass.

Moon has injured fingers on both hands and played last week's game with a sprained ankle. His confidence, he says, is still intact.

"There are cetain times when you get hit early in a game that you might start thinking about the blitz coming," Moon said. "But I'm still confident that I can do the things I'm capable of doing.

"It's just a matter of getting the time to do it and getting my feet set."

Cowboy-Steeler feud still smokes

IRVING, Texas (AP) — There's still some fire left in the Pittsburgh-Dallas rivalry as far as Tex Schramm is concerned.

"I don't like to have teams sitting out there we haven't had a lot of success against," says Schramm, the club president of the Cowboys. "I don't like teams who have had a winning edge over us."

Pittsburgh has beaten the Cowboys five straight times. Richard Nixon was President the last time the Cowboys defeated the Steelers, 17-13,in 1972. In the latest meeting, the Steelers downed the Cowboys 36-28 in 1982 on Monday Night NFL Football.

The loss snapped the Cowboys' NFL record of 17 consecutive opening victories.

The Cowboys go into the game a seven-point favorites. Dallas is 4-1 while the Steelers are 2-3.

"I don't think we'll be overconfident," says Schramm. "There's too great a history and heritage when we play the Steelers. They represent class and respect."

The Cowboys' Tony Dorsett needs 31 yards to become the NFL's sixth 10,000-yard rusher.

"Nobody on our team has ever beaten Pittsburgh," says Schramm. "They always try to play us physically. Maybe it's time we returned the favor."

In his nine-year career, Dorsett has had 42 games of 100 yards or more but none against the Steelers. The Cowboys have 40 victories in Dorsett's century games.

Dorsett, a native of the Pittsburgh suburb of Aliquippa, Pa., gained 96 yards against Pittsburgh in Super Bowl XIII but the Steelers always set their defenses to stop him.

"We feel you have to try to shut Dorsett off to beat Dallas," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll. "Stopping the Dallas running game is stopping Tony.

"He has just grown in strength during his career. He has a great sense of running. He may be a little on the small side but talent in the NFL comes in different packages and he has a lot of talent."

Dorsett, who won the Heisman Trophy and led the University of Pittsburgh to a 12-0 national championship season in 1976, has 12,644 career yards.

ROYALS

The Royals, perhaps feeling themselves slipping into a hole that would be nearly impossible to climb out of, managed to rally and tie the game in the sixth. And, as has been the case so many times in the past, Brett was the man who delivered the biggest blow.

Jim Sundberg hit a solo home run with one out in the fifth that made it 5-3 and Willie Wilson led off the sixth with a single.

Brett followed with a high drive and both left fielder George Bell and center fielder Lloyd Moseby took off in pursuit. But they ran out of room at the 385-foot mark and had to watch the ball sail over the fence for a two-run homer that tied the game 5-5.

Saberhagen did not appear early in the night to have the same kind of stuff that produced a 20-6 record during the regular season. And in the fifth, the Blue Jays finally caught up with him, first battering the 21-year-old pitcher with their hitting and then bruising him as they batted around for five runs.

Ernie Whitt led off with a single and Jesse Barfield followed by lining a 1-2 pitch into the right field seats to knot the contest 2-2.

Steady rain that caused flash floods around Kansas City during the last three days stopped about an hour before the game.

Crane 32, Sonora 13

SONORA— Crane's Golden Cranes bounced back from a 16-0 loss to McCamey last week to beat Sonora 32-13 in a District 7-3A opener.

The win gives Crane a 5-1 record for the season while Sonora slips to 4-2.

Crane travles to Coahoma next week while Sonora will host Ballinger.

2-4A
Pecos 21, Andrews 7

ALLEN TURPIN

ANDREWS-A win looked bleak for the Pecos Eagles as they traveled to Andrews to play the Mustangs in a key 2-4A contest. Andrews looked impressive last week in a win over Lamesa while Pecos was still looking for their first district victory, but the Eagles used ball control and momentum to outlast Andrews 21-7 here Friday night.

Pecos controlled the first quarter with field position and strong defense by not allowing Andrews a first down until almost halfway through the second quarter. The Mustangs held off many long drives by the Eagles until early in the second stanza when, after starting a drive on the Mustangs 39, Pecos took seven plays to cover the distance with Lance Windham going the final four.The PAT was good. Pecos was up 7-0.

Andrews finally got in gear with half the second quarter gone when they started a drive at their own 25 and drove the length of the field aided by a 26 yard pass from Quarterback Danny Neighbors and a key fourth and two conversion inside the Eagles 25.After getting inside the 10,the Pecos defense tightened up and the 22 yard attempt by Cayetano Rios was wide left.The halftime score remained 7-0.

Andrews started its first drive of the second half on its own 37 and with the help of David Criswell's consecutive runs of 19 and 22 yards,and Neighbors' fourth down pass to Mike Moisant for a first and goal on the Eagles 2,the Mustangs finally got on the board with Neighbors diving in from the one.The PAT was good and it was all tied 7-7.

Pecos then showed their own brand of driving the ball on the next possesion by going 73 yards in only six plays capped by a 37 yard yard toss from QB Gary Beadle to a wide open Talamantez for the score.Again the PAT was good.Pecos 14-7.

Two key fumbles by Andrews in the last Quarter sealed the victory for Pecos as Neighbors coughed it up deep in Eagles territory and on the next Pecos punt,Jim Payne fumbled and Pecos recovered on the Mustang four.Three plays later, Windham punched it in from the three and Pecos controlled the clock the rest of the way and went home winners 21-7.

Oosterveen will play Per-ola Anderson, UT-Tyler, in the semifinals today.

Hoch storms into Disney tee lead

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Scott Hoch stormed into a two-stroke lead Friday by tying the course record with a 9-under-par 63 on the shortest of three layouts used in the $400,000 Walt Disney World-Oldsmobile Classic.

Hoch, who has won three times in his six-year PGA Tour career, fired the 63 on the Lake Buena Vista course at Disney's Golf Resort despite the painful recurrence of a shoulder injury.

"On the last nine holes, I was just trying to get in, but I kept hitting the ball close and making birdie putts," Hoch said. "I never got excited because I was thinking about my shoulder."

Hoch said his weak right shoulder frequently goes numb after rounds and he usually applies ice to the joint immediately after playing.

While his mind was on the injury, Hoch was firing birdies on four of the final five holes to complete the round with nine birdies and no bogeys.

That 63 combined with the 69 he shot in Thursday's opening round on the Palm course to leave him at 12-under 132 halfway through the 72-hole event.

Gary Koch, who shot 68 Friday on the Palm course, was all alone in second at 134.

Six players, including first-round leader Clarence Rose, shared third place at 135. Rose, who opened with a 64 on the Palm course, shot a 1-under 71 at Lake Buena Vista.

The Lake Buena Vista layout measures 6,655 yards, the Palm course is 6,917 and the Magnolia course is 7,150 yards. But Rose maintains that length isn't the most important factor in the difficulty of the courses.

"(The Lake Buena Vista course) has got to be the hardest of the three courses," Rose said. "The greens are hard and fast. They're three times faster than at the Palm and Magnolia courses."

Craig Stadler, Lanny Wadkins, Gary McCord, David Frost and Mike Donald also were at 9-under 135.

Roger Maltbie, Don Pooley, Chris Perry, Mark Pfeil and Larry Mize were at 136. And defending champion Larry Nelson shot a 70 at Lake Buena Vista to fall eight strokes behind the leader.

Hoch's 63 tied the course record set in 1982 by Pfeil and Hal Sutton in their second rounds of the tournament. Sutton went on to capture the championship that year.

The third round continues Saturday with the 132 touring pros playing with three-man amateur teams. Hoch is to play the Magnolia course, the site of Sunday's final round for pros only.

Cards still worry LA's Madlock

By PAUL LeBAR

ST. LOUIS (AP) — At least one member of the Los Angeles Dodgers has seen too much of the St. Louis Cardinals to count them out of the National League playoffs because they're down two games.

"They're a lot better team than what they've been playing," third baseman Bill Madlock said, looking toward Saturday's third game of the best-of-seven series. "They're capable of winning four games in a row. They've got to go out and do what they always did."

So far, however, Los Angeles has been doing pretty much as it wanted while carving out 4-1 and 8-2 victories which were as notable for what St. Louis was unable to do.

Dodgers right-hander Bob Welch, 14-4, who had a 2-0 record against the Cardinals with two complete games during the season, will attempt to extend the Dodgers' supremacy when the scene shifts to Busch Stadium for Game 3 starting at 12:05 p.m., CDT. His opponent will be right-hander Danny Cox, 18-9 overall but 0-2 against Los Angeles.

"Those two games there were their games. Everything we did seemed to be wrong," shortstop Ozzie Smith said of the Cards' losses Wednesday and Thursday nights in Los Angeles.

"We tried. Now let's see what happens when we get home. You want to win. You want to show everyone we can play," St. Louis center fielder Willie McGee said. "But when you don't, you tip your hat to the better team. That's the sign of a professional."

The Dodgers in two games have hit .309 with four doubles and a home run compared to the Cards' .250 team batting mark. Tommy Herr's two doubles were their only extra-base hits.

During the season, St. Louis topped the NL with .263 hitting and scored the league's most runs. The Cards also stole a team-record 314 bases during the season but have succeeded only once in four tries during the playoffs.

St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog, while saluting the accurate throwing of Los Angeles catcher Mike Sciosia, suggested the fault might lie with the Cards' baserunners, most of whom have the OK to steal on their own.

"We had a couple of guys who were a little anxious. We have to run on certain counts. People are going to pitch out against you," Herzog said of unsuccessful attempts by rookie Vince Coleman and McGee in the first inning Thursday night. "Why they were anxious, I don't know. Maybe they wanted to win too bad."

The Dodgers, after capitalizing on Madlock's bad-hop double to take a lead they never surrendered in the opener, mauled 21-game winner Joaquin Andujar and three relievers for 13 hits in Game 2.

Andujar's errant attempt to pick off Steve Sax with one out and the Cards leading 1-0 in the fourth inning was pivotal, Herzog said. Andujar, apparently rattled, surrendered a chop single by winner Orel Hershiser's on a 0-2 count.

Cards catcher Darrell Porter was baffled by Andujar's abrupt reversal of form, eventually leading to six of Los Angeles' runs through the middle innings.

"I thought he threw all right. I don't know what to say about him," Porter said. "He had pretty good stuff. I can't explain what happened."

Hershiser, after falling behind the count on 10 of the first 13 batters went the distance on an eight-hitter.

"I felt like I wanted to be Dwight Gooden and throw the ball past people," Hershiser said.

"It's still a seven-game series. I think it's a big help when you're two games up, but you've got to guard against over-confidence," Madlock said. "They're made for their home park with their speed. We've got to take it one game at a time."

Monahans 27, Lamesa 6

From Staff Reports

MONAHANS — The Cinderella story of the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes is quickly fading as the midnight hour approaches in District 2-4A as the Tors dropped a 27-6 decision to the Monahans Loboes here Friday night.

Lamesa rolled out of the gate with three straight non-conference victories only to fall to 0-2 in 2-4A play after consecutive losses to Andrews and Monahans.

Monahans took a 14-0 lead over the Tors in the first half before Lamesa got a one-yard TD from Greg Hogg, but Lamesa didn't score again as Monahans added 13 second half points.

Monahans fullback Dana Amos proved to be tough on Lamesa as he scored on two one-yard TD runs and a TD romp of 66 yards. Jimmy knight also kicked a pair of field goals of 19 and 30 yards.

Lamesa is now 3-2 on the season while Monahans is 4-0-1 on the season and a perfect 2-0 in 2-4A play.

Sweetwater 41, Lakeview 10

SAN ANGELO — The Sweetwater Mustangs, defending District 2-4A champions, improved its district record to 2-0 here Friday night with a 41-10 win over the Lakeview Chiefs.

Lakeview is now 1-1 in loop play and 2-3 on the season. Sweetwater is 4-1 on the season.

Lakeview held a 3-0 lead through one period after a 22-yard field goal by Rickey Green, but Sweetwater scored 21 points in the second period to squash the Chiefs' uspset bid.

Tom Hargrove got Sweetwater going with TD runs of four and one yards in the second period and quarterback Neal Hoover's seven-yard run made it 21-3 at the half and the Mustangs coasted to victory despite the fact that Lake View closed the gap to 21-10 on a 32-yard interception return by Randy Young.

Snyder 10, Fort Stockton 0

SNYDER— Snyder handed Fort Stockton its second straight District 4-4A loss here Friday night with a 10-0 triumph. The Tigers, as a result of the win, squared their record at 1-1.

Snyder, now 2-4 for the season, shut down a sputtering Panther offense. The visitors have managed more than one touchdown only once, a 34-10 win over Alpine, and have been blanked three times. Last week Monahans beat Fort Stockton, 16-0.

Snyder, beaten by Sweetwater 35-6 last week, travels for Lamesa next week while Stockton hosts Lake View.

ETSU's Hawkins plans to retire

COMMERCE (AP) — Ernest Hawkins, East Texas State University head football coach for 22 years, will retire at the end of the season.

Hawkins' departure was announced Friday by Vince Gonino, university athletic director.

Hawkins, 58, said he told members of the team before the season started that it would be his last as head coach, but he would remain with East Texas State in another as yet-unannounced position.

Gonino said the announcement of a replacement would be made at a later date.

Oberkfell okays four-year pact

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta Braves infielder Ken Oberkfell has agreed to a four-year contract, the National League club announced Friday.

Oberkfell, who became a free agent after the 1985 season, was eligible to sign with any club. Terms of the contract were not released.

The left-handed hitter batted .272 with three home runs and 35 runs batted in during the 1985 season. Oberkfell appeared in 134 games, starting 101 at third base and 12 at second base.

Mavs waive Jennings

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks waived three players Friday in anticipation of the Oct. 24 deadline to get the team to 12 players.

Bubba Jennings, a 5-foot-11 guard who was a fourth-round draft choice from Texas Tech; Dennis Nutt, a 6-foot-1 guard who was a free agent from Texas Christian; and Eddie Smith, a 6-foot-5 forward who was a free agent from Arizona; were waived on Friday. The Mavericks now have 15 members.

Patriots lose third draft pick

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots lost their third-round choice in next year's draft Friday for violating National Football League rules by placing wide receiver Derwin Williams on injured reserve last year.

The club announced that the NFL notified it of the penalty Friday.

Williams, now active with the Patriots, spent all last season on injured reserve, reportedly with a concussion. He had been quoted as saying that Ron Meyer, the coach at the time, told him to pretend he was hurt.

By putting Williams, a seventh-round draft choice last year, on injured reserve the club was able to keep him rather than cut him or another wide receiver.

Michaels relieved Cosell won't be around

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC baseball announcer Al Michaels says it was a relief to hear that his commentary on this year's World Series games won't be interrupted by the observations of Howard Cosell.

Cosell, who has been the color commentator on ABC's Series coverage for four years, was removed from the team this week, shortly after publication of a book in which he lambastes his teammates from the "Monday Night Football" show. Network officials said they offered to let him anchor the pre-game show, but Cosell declined.

"A lot of people won't say anything, but I think everyone involved feels a sense of relief and new interest for the World Series now," Michaels said in an interview published Friday by the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. He was interviewed Thursday during the National League playoff game at Dodger Stadium.

Former players Jim Palmer and Tim McCarver will join Michaels in the booth this year.

In his book, "I Never Played the Game," Cosell downgraded the work of other ABC announcers and praised their competitors from CBS and NBC. The Herald Examiner, quoting an unnamed ABC official, said bad blood created by the book was the reason Cosell will not be on the network's Series team.

Michaels said he has had problems when working alongside Cosell. When they worked the baseball championship last year, Michaels said, "I was just very uncomfortable during the playoffs. I was upset and angered by the way that (when Cosell spoke about unrelated subjects) the broadcasts had gotten away from the game.

"Things were happening in the booth and I was trying to get the broadcast back to the game. I found it next to impossible," Michaels recalled.

Bears-Ponies in biggie

Tech hosts Arkansas tonight

By TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

Texas-Oklahoma will be playing to its 40th straight sellout today, if they count the no-shows who thought the kickoff was at 2 p.m. in the Cotton Bowl.

Meanwhile Baylor-SMU meet across town in Irving's Texas Stadium at 7:30 p.m., in one of the key games in the Southwest Conference race.

Each has managed a major surprise already this season, Baylor upsetting USC three weeks ago in Los Angeles and SMU losing a week ago to Arizona in a game that wasn't even close.

It will be interesting to see how the Mustangs react to the 28-6 loss to the Wildcats. The NCAA ruled SMU out of the bowl scene for flagarant recruiting infractions before the season's start and Arizona eliminated the Ponies from national championship contention.

The loss also ended the nation's longest collegiate winning streak, eight, and ended a string of four consecutive games in which Reggie Dupard and Jeff Atkins each gained 100-or-more yards.

Still, UT-OU, despite being ignored by network TV, is the glamor game. Both are ranked in the top 20. Only four times since 1950 has at least one of the teams not been ranked among the AP's elite.

Elsewhere in the Southwest Conference, Texas Tech will host Arkansas at 7 p.m. in Jones Stadium. The Raiders are 3-2 and come off a 28-27 loss to Texas A&M in which a gamble for two in the final minutes failed. Arkansas is 4-0 and looking to move into the top five.

Texas A&M, 3-1, faces Houston this afternoon at College Station. The Aggies escaped with a one-point win at Lubbock last week while defending SWC champion Houston was throwing a scare into Baylor.

TCU, 2-2, and Rice, 1-3, meet at Houston in a TV game. In addition to seven lost starters, the Frogs' plight is further complicated by the loss of quarterback Scott Ankrom, out for the year after suffering an ankle injury in the 41-0 blowout at the hands of Arkansas.

SWC short takes...UT and OU realize $600,000 each, minimum, from the annual shootout and with pay-TV, the sum probably will go over $1 million...In nine of the last 13 meetings between Baylor and SMU, the winner has been decided by a touchdown or less. Last year, in a driving rain at Waco, SMU scored two touchdowns in the last three minutes to win a 24-20 thriller...In four of the last five meetings, the winner has gone on to claim at least a share of the SWC championship....When Tech lost to A&M, it was the third time in five games that the outcome of a Raider game was decided in the last minute...The only time Tech has beaten Arkansas at Lubbock was in 1966, 21-6, in the game called the National Upset of the Year....A&M's offensive average per game dropped from 513 yards to 480, but fullback Roger Vick had his second straight 100-plus game with 134 yards....UH quarterback Greg Landry, 13 of 21 for 174 yards against Baylor last week, is listed as probable....Bet you didn't know Houston coach Bill Yeoman would be returning to an alma mater today. Yeoman, an All-America at Army, attended A&M for a year before transferring....If you go to Irving tonight for BU-SMU, don't leave early. In seven games since 1975, the winning TD has been scored with 4:42 or less on the clock...

Head-to-head Top 20 matchups spice college card

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Nature's changing hues are breathtaking in many parts of the country . . . and to accompany all that colorful foliage is one of the most attractive college football schedules in quite a while.

There are six head-to-head matchups between members of the Associated Press Top Twenty and when Saturday's shootouts are over there is certain to be some shuffling in the rankings.

Two games feature Top Ten pairings — ninth-ranked Nebraska at No. 5 Oklahoma State in a night game and 10th-rated Alabama at No. 8 Penn State. If that's not enough, try second-ranked Oklahoma vs. No. 17 Texas in their annual battle in Dallas, fourth-ranked Florida State at No. 12 Auburn, No. 14 Tennessee at seventh-ranked Florida and No. 19 Baylor at No. 16 Southern Methodist under the lights.

Rounding out the Top Twenty, No. 1 Iowa visits Wisconsin, No. 3 Michigan plays at Michigan State, sixth-ranked Arkansas is at Texas Tech for a night contest, San Diego State visits No. 11 Brigham Young, No. 13 Air Force is at Navy, Indiana at No. 15 Ohio State, No. 18 Georgia vs. Mississippi under the lights in Jackson and No. 20 LSU at Vanderbilt for a night game.

SELDOM has a team dominated a series like Nebraska has against Oklahoma State. The Cornhuskers have a 22-2-1 lead and haven't lost since 1961.

Asked whether the Cowboys have a phobia about Nebraska, Oklahoma State Coach Pat Jones replied, "I don't think so, but we're getting awfully close to it."

They're also getting close to knocking off the Cornhuskers. Nebraska trailed 10-7 at halftime two years ago before winning 14-10 and was down 3-0 after three periods last year before prevailing 17-3.

"Our kids left Lincoln last year feeling we had a legitimate shot at winning the game," Jones says. "We feel good about playing at night and in front of our fans. I think our fans can make a difference in the game."

Alabama-Penn State pairs two 4-0 teams rebounding nicely from disappointing 1984 campaigns.

D.J. Dozier, Penn State's top running back, has been sidelined with a hamstring pull but Coach Joe Paterno says he "should be ready to play. He's going to be a little rusty, but he's still a big plus for us."

Dozier will be running against a defense which Paterno says includes "five players who are as good as any players at their position in the country. There defense is as good as it was under Coach (Bear) Bryant. This defensive team is as good as the 1978 (national championship) team, which I thought was great when it was healthy."

College Roundup

Alabama's top defender, linebacker Cornelius Bennett, may return to action after missing two games with a knee injury.

LAST YEAR, Auburn won a wild 42-41 shootout with Florida State and the Tigers' 11-1-1 series record is among the best of any FSU opponent.

"This is one of those games up in my neck of the woods," says FSU Coach Bobby Bowden, who hails from Birmingham. "I've still got a lot of family and friends up there in Alabama. They all come out to the game when we play Auburn and I never have been able to do very good for them. It just seems like Auburn's been one of those teams that has had our number. The last two years we were just one play away from winning, but they managed to come up with the big play and we didn't.

"I don't like the idea of going in there ranked higher than them, either. I'd rather that be the other way around."

Although Auburn demolished Ole Miss 41-0 last week and outgained the Rebels 606 yards to nine, Coach Pat Dye is concerned because an open date gave Florida State an extra week to prepare.

"That gives them three or four more days to work on their game plan repetition," Dye says. "It also gives them more time to get their banged-up people well, and they will come into the game as healthy as they have been all year. Florida State is ranked No. 4 in the country and I think they are right where they belong."

Florida has been awaiting Tennessee's arrival ever since the Southeastern Conference presidents stripped the Gators of their 1984 championship. Tennessee was one of the ringleaders and the Vols are likely to find anything but Southern hospitality awaiting them in Gainesville.

The coaches, of course, aren't especially concerned with that. Florida's Galen Hall warns that "Tennessee is very dangerous on offense" while the Vols' Johnny Majors calls the Gators "one of the more impressive defensive teams I've seen."

Iowa is No. 1 for the second week in a row — barely. The Hawkeyes, who trailed 24-13, needed a 2-yard bootleg by quarterback Chuck Long — who also passed for four TDs and 380 yards — with 27 seconds remaining to overtake Michigan State last week and Coach Hayden Fry is trying to prevent any looking ahead to next week's clash with Michigan.

"Michigan's next week; it's Wisconsin this week," Fry says. "The general fans and people, they don't have to suit up and they do have a tendency to overlook real good opponents like Wisconsin. But there's no way our players can afford to.

"The biggest disadvantage we have is that our players can't study Wisconsin's film without seeing Michigan (the Wolverines beat the Badgers 33-6 last week). That's bad. All you've got to know is Wisconsin can win, and that's no secret."

TCU's Davis rebuffed

NEW YORK (AP) — All America running back Kenneth Davis, trying to turn pro after being thrown off the Texas Christian University football team for accepting money from boosters, was rebuffed Friday by the National Football League.

And the NFL, responding to a threatened lawsuit by Mike Trope, Davis' agent, challenging its rule which prohibits athletes from playing both in college and the NFL in the same season, filed a suit of its own in Fort Worth asking a Texas State Court "to confirm the legality" of the bylaw.

"We're not seeking any injunction. We're not looking for any monies," Joe Browne, the NFL's director of information, said. "We're just asking the court to make a declaratory judgment."

Last Tuesday, Trope and Davis, in a meeting with NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, sought to convince the league to exempt Davis from the so-called "Red Grange Rule" and to hold a supplemental draft.

Playing Stallone, 'Rambo' second nature for Dallas man

DALLAS (AP) — Rambo came stalking into the office the other day, a formidable bow hooked over one arm, a quiver of arrows strapped to his powerful back. Camouflage pants and combat boots concealed his lower body; from the waist up, it was strictly biceps, triceps and brawn.

He looked big. He looked broad. He looked Ram Tough.

Women came from every corner of the building to gawk at this live-action Rambo, a character seemingly plucked from the silver screen and dropped into an ordinary downtown conference room. Clearly, it was Rambo, but was it...could it also be...Sylvester Stallone?

No, ladies, it was Jade Roberts, a 26-year-old Dallas nightclub bouncer who has looked like Stallone all his life, but until "Rocky" made Stallone's voluptous face and beefy bod a familiar one, nobody noticed the resemblance. After "Rocky," people started staring.

In 1981, while studying pre-med at Auburn University in Alabama, Roberts entered a contest at the local Holiday Inn and won $25 for looking like Rocky. Two years later, in Dallas, he entered another contest: This time, he won $100 and a contract with Ron Smith's Celebrity Look-alikes, the Los Angeles-based agency. A few gigs, including an interview on "PM Magazine," followed.

Then came Rambo, this summer's mega-hit. The movie already is pop-culture phenomenon: It has spawned books, posters, toys and weaponry. There are Rambo jokes (X-rated, most of them) and Rambo quotes ("Murdoch, I'm coming to get you!"). Rambo is, to President Reagan and other right-thinking Americans, a hero.

And, for Roberts, he's money in the bank.

Roberts not only makes personal appearances as Rambo — on television talk shows, at conventions, golf tournaments and benefits — he has found yet another way to exploit his Rambo-ness. Since July, Roberts has been delivering Rambograms at $75 a shot. About five times a week, Roberts dons his Rambo gear and shows up to wish somebody a happy birtyhday or happy anniversary in some public place.

Jade Roberts, a night club bouncer, takes advantage of his Sylvester Stallone-like looks by making appearances and delivering "Rambograms."

"I don't sing the message," Roberts notes. "I talk it. I say whatever the customer wants me to say, plus I might add a line or two from the movie."

Because another Rambo look-alike recently tangled with the law while delivering a Rambogram in New York, Dallas' version lets the police know when he's traveling with any of his arsenal — the bow-and-arrows, a knife or an automatic weapon.

"It's neat that I can represent such a popular character," said Roberts. "And I feel obligated to portray him as an upstanding citizen."

That's partly because kids are his biggest fans. Roberts said two 7-year-old girls regularly call him to say, "We love you, Rambo...but only as friends."

"Most kids want an autograph or a kiss on the cheek," Roberts said, pointing out that he cannot identify himself as Sylvester Stallone nor can he sign himself as Sylvester Stallone nor can he sign autographs as Stallone. He signs "John Rambo."

Unlike some look-alikes, who tend to identify very closely with their famous counterparts, Roberts remains firmly rooted on planet Earth. "I realize I'm not Sylvester Stallone," he said. "I don't have $3 billion in the bank. Hey, I gotta be realistic here."

At 6-foot-1 and 205 pounds, Roberts is taller than Sylvester Stallone and less beefy than the star was in "Rocky." Although he was born in Michigan and grew up in Florida, Roberts easily falls into the "dense" and "dose" vernacular of Stallone's native Philadelphia. Roberts' "Rocky" voice differs noticeably from his "Rambo" voice.

Roberts considers himself an all-around good immpressionist and proved it by doing some other voices in his repertoire. He did Pee Wee Herman ("Rambo's my name, don't wear it out") and Ronald Reagan ("This is Ronbo"). It was a bizarre performance, this he-man in his black tank top impersonating a septuagenarian president and the country's biggest nerd.

Still, Roberts must depend on Stallone, and his continuing popularity with moviegoers, for his livelihood. Roberts' personal manager, a Hollywood stuntman and local model named Ski Lawrence, hopes to get his client a job as Stallone's double. And, if something should happen to Stallone?

"God forbid," said Lawrence. "But if it did, we'd be rich."

Moscow says Reagan preparing for summit failure

MOSCOW (AP) — The Reagan administration's reaction to the new Soviet arms-control proposal indicates it may be preparing Western public opinion for failure at next month's Geneva summit, a Soviet spokesman said Friday.

"We see it as an attempt by the American administration to gain some ground in the propaganda war," Vladimir A. Morozov, deputy Foreign Ministry spokesman, said in an interview with The Associated Press.

In a related area, both Morozov and influential Moscow commentator Valentin Falin said any U.S.-Soviet agreement on Star Wars would necessarily have to allow basic research. But they reaffirmed Soviet opposition to U.S. proposals for fully developing such space-based missile defenses.

In a U.S. television interview last Sunday, the White House national security adviser, Robert McFarlane, criticized the Soviet arms-reduction proposal, saying it would actually strengthen the Soviets' ability to launch a "first strike" that would devastate the U.S. land-based missile force.

He was referring to the three-way balance that a new U.S.-Soviet arms treaty would set among the land-based missiles, submarine-launched missiles and bomber-carried warheads of the two superpowers' nuclear arsenals. American strategists say the current Soviet preponderance in land-based missiles enables them to contemplate a disabling first strike against the United States.

Morozov complained Friday that McFarlane was raising an issue intended to be kept out of the public arena.

"He surprised us when he began discussing things that the representatives of the U.S. administration say should be discussed only at the negotiating table," the Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

Of McFarlane's statements, Morozov said, "one could think it is a preparation for failure — to assign blame before Western public opinion if the summit talks do not succeed."

Kremlin leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who meets with President Reagan in Geneva Nov. 19-20, has said publicly only that the new Soviet offer at the continuing arms talks in that Swiss city calls for a 50 percent, across-the-board cut in the two countries' strategic nuclear launchers.

Only since McFarlane's comments have the official Soviet media confirmed that Moscow also made a proposal on the three-part balance — suggesting that the land-based share be kept to 60 percent of the total number of warheads.

That would represent a slight reduction from the current 66 percent share of ICBM warheads in the Soviet arsenal, but the United States has long sought a major reshaping of the Soviet force.

Morozov also objected to McFarlane's omission of U.S. medium-range missiles in Western Europe when discussing the strategic equation.

"To people in the U.S.S.R., it would be as bad to be killed by a hydrogen bomb brought by a strategic weapon as by Pershing 2s or cruise missiles based in Europe," he said, speaking English.

In a separate interview, Falin, a Communist Party official and leading editorialist on the government newspaper Izvestia, sounded pessimistic about the potential for an arms agreement.

Referring to recent critical remarks on the Soviet proposal by McFarlane and U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, Falin said, "if this is the philosophy ... I don't see any basis for closer positions or any kind of agreement."

Morozov was asked whether the Soviet Union is conducting laser and other research applicable to space-based defenses against missile attack, as reported by the U.S. administration.

"Of course we carry on fundamental work in development of lasers and so on, but to make such statements as some in the Pentagon have made, one should have proof," he replied. He asserted the Soviets were not moving ahead with development of such defensive weapons, as Reagan proposes to do in the United States.

"The Americans can't say we tried and succeeded in shooting down a warhead the way they did," the Soviet official said. In a test last year over the Pacific Ocean, a U.S. rocket intercepted a dummy U.S. nuclear warhead in space.

The Kremlin says it opposes research, testing and deployment of "space strike weapons." But the two Soviets acknowledged that any agreement to restrict development of Star Wars, as it is popularly known, would have to allow research to continue, since it would be impossible for one side to verify whether the other was obeying a ban on basic research.

"It's a question of defining what research is," Morozov said.

Said Falin, "research shouldn't go beyond the walls of the laboratory. Any test is not research."

Queen visiting Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II of Britain landed here at sunset Thursday, and was greeted first by government officials and later by opposition protestors carrying signs critical of Prime Minister Lynden Pindling.

The queen arrived at 6:55 p.m. wearing a sunshine yellow dress, hat and shoes. She shook hands quickly with the beleaguered Pindling before chatting with members of the crowd, who waved and cheered while uniformed and plainclothed security officials watched warily.

Outside the airport 400 opposition protestors waved anti-Pindling signs at the motorcade on its way to the royal yacht, Brittania. They chanted "The chief is a thief!" but were cordial to the queen, returning her waves. There were no arrests or incidents.

Pindling has been criticized by the opposition for corrupt business deals and allegedly allowing drug smugglers to use the island nation 50 miles off the Florida coast as a waystation between South America and the United States.

Workers had whitewashed the stones along the road to the capital city Friday, hung colorful bunting and wired floodlights in preparation for the visit of the queen and heads of 40 Commonwealth governments.

The queen, on a 26-day tour of nine Caribbean nations, arrived from Belize, where she had spent three days.

Homes and businesses were splashed with new coats of paint along the freshly-cleaned road from Nassau International Airport, the first sight of the queen's week-long visit here.

The Bahamas have been an independent nation of islands for 12 years, but many Bahamians still feel loyal to the royal family and looked foward to the visit.

Valderene Fraser, a Nassau resident who was not yet a teen-ager when the Bahamas gained independence in 1973, mounted a paper Union Jack on the aerial of her car and put a Union Jack pin on her dress.

"She was our queen for such a long time," said Ms. Fraser, 23. "Independence doesn't mean she isn't a part of us."

The queen last visited Nassau in 1976.

In Belize, the queen capped her visit with lunch at a camouflaged, international airport camp where British forces are posted to defend the tiny, frequently threatened Central American nation.

Belize, once British Honduras, gained its independence in 1981. It has never been free of threats from neighboring Guatemala, which claims sovereignty over Belize.

Earlier, the queen was flown 39 miles north to the town of Orange Walk, in the center of the nation's sugar cane belt, in a Belize defense force plane commonly used to spot illegal marijuana fields.

Much of the remote, swampy land around Orange Walk now is planted in illegal marijuana, known as Belize Breeze, which some officials say has surpassed sugar cane as the country's biggest cash crop.

Also Friday, the queen's press secretary denied a story in the Times of London describing her welcome to the island as "the most subdued in her 33 years of touring commonwealth countries."

"Absolute nonsense," said press secretary Michael Shea. He said that the queen's welcome "has, in fact, been extremely warm — magnificent."

Britain maintains a force of about 1,800 soldiers, sailors and airmen in Belize, but the Commonwealth's politicians complain nonetheless that the country is often ignored in London.

However, virtually all 40,000 residents of Belize City turned out to greet the queen when she arrived Wednesday. But observers noted the crowds seemed subdued.

Wilfred Green, an elderly resident of this shabby port city, said, "We were just trying to be well behaved for her majesty."

Next Tuesday, the queen will open the biennial Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting and hold audiences for as many as 41 heads of government, including British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Indian Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

The queen also is expected to sail to Andros Island, where she will visit the tiny Bahamian settlement of Fresh Creek, as well as a U.S. Navy installation where top-secret underwater weapons and sound-detection equipment are tested.

She will be joined Wednesday by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Some terrorists have vanished; Others have served only short terms

By NESHA STARCEVIC
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Terrorists who have carried out many of the most notorious attacks in recent years have vanished or served only relatively short terms in prison.

The four gunmen who seized the Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro were forced into the hands of justice by U.S. fighter planes, and both Washington and Rome are preparing legal charges.

But many of the terrorists who carried out some of the bloodiest attacks have vanished into the anarchy of Beirut or were given haven in countries like Libya and Iran.

Even Israel has released convicted terrorists in exchange for Isrealis held prisoner.

The Sept. 5, 1972, Munich massacre graphically demonstrated the frustrations in dealing with terrorists.

Nine Israelis and five terrorists were killed in a scene of flames and gunshots at an airport near Munich and three Arabs were captured.

On Oct. 29, 1972, the three were released after Black September Palestinian terrorists seized a Lufthansa airliner. The three were flown to Libya and given heroes' welcomes.

However, unconfirmed reports in newspapers and books have said that the Israeli secret service hunted down and killed the three and the unidentified masterminds of the attack.

West German commandos stormed a hijacked Lufthansa airliner in Mogadishu, Somalia, in October 1977 after the three hijackers killed the pilot and held 91 passengers hostage for three days. Two hijackers were killed in the raid and the third, a 20-year-old woman, injured and captured.

The woman, Suhaila al-Sayeh, was later sentenced to 20 years in jail by a Somalian court, but West German authorities say she has since been released and her whereabouts are unknown.

Sometimes, terrorists have been freed in huge numbers.

Many of those convicted of terrorism by Israel were among 1,150 prisoners freed by Israel on May 20 in exchange for the release of three Israeli prisoners of war held by a Palestinian faction in Damascus.

Often, Middle East terrorists are never captured at all.

No arrests were ever made in the Shiite terrorist car-bombings of the U.S. embassy and the bases of the U.S. marines and the French peacekeeping forces in 1983 that killed a total of more than 300 people. The drivers of the vehicles died in the explosions and those who sent them on the missions have not been brought to justice.

The most famous Palestinian terrorist who escaped justice is Leila Khaled, who was set free as a result of a huge multiple hijacking.

She hijacked a TWA plane to Damascus on Aug. 29, 1969, and was captured while trying to hijack an El Al flight from Amsterdam to New York on Sept. 6, 1970. Israeli armed guards killed her companion and captured her, turning her over to British authorities when the plane landed in Britain.

She was held for three weeks until she was freed in exchange for more than 300 airline passengers who had been hijacked in American, British and Swiss airliners and taken to the Middle East.

Miss Khaled has been reported several times since then as involved in PLO operations.

Five terrorists were arrested after an attempted missile attack on an El Al plane in Rome on Sept. 9, 1973. Two were released on bail and disappeared, the other three were released and went to Libya in March 1974.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Norris giving recital

Tony Norris will present a Centennial Organ Recital in the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas Ave., at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 10. Norris is the new organist for First Presbyterian.

Born and raised at Polo, Ill., a small farming community about 100 miles from Chicago, Norris began his early music lessons with his grandmother before taking formal lessons when he was nine under Pauline Grant. He then took organ lessons and played his first church serives on Pentecost Sunday in May of 1969. Since that time, he has been involved in church music.

During his high school years, he continued piano lessons while studying organ under Paul Waters at Court Street United Methodist Church in Rockford, Ill. In addition, he played regularly for two churches, Polo United Methodist, his home church, and First Presbyterian, Polo. At the same time, he also played at a local roller skating rink three nights a week.

Norris attended Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington, Ill., where, for two years, he majored in sacred music and studied organ with Dr. David M. Gehrenbeck. After transferring to the Indiana University School of Music in Bloomington, Ind., in 1978, Norris completed his bachelor of music degree in organ performance in 1982. His organ professor was Dr. Oswald G. Ragatz, now retired. While at IU, Norris also studied carillon with Linda Walker and received the honor of performing on a recital given at the 1981 National Congress of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America, held in Rochester, Minn.

Norris spent two years working several jobs including First Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, Bloomington, and Tabernacle Presbyterian, Indianapolis. Last fall he began work toward a masters degree in organ performance, which he completed in August. His teacher was concert artist Dr. Marilyn Keiser.

He also received an associate instructorship to play weekly carillon recitals and teach carillon students. Other performing opportunities have included solo organ recitals in Indianapolis and Bloomington and accompanying choral performances of Benjamin Britten's "Festival te Deum" and "Rejoice in the Lamb."

Norris is a member of the American Guild of Orghanists, Royal School of Church Music in America, the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America, Presbyterian Association of Musicians, Choristers Guild, Hymn Society of America, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a professional fraternity for musicians, and the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers.

Zoning variance has been granted in Guam for the location of a 24-hour shortwave broadcast center sponsored, in part, by the Midland Seventh-Day Adventist.

"Only the rains stand in the way of construction," says Jerry Oster, pastor of the Midland church. "As soon as the sun shines at least three days in a row, we'll be able to start the road."

Approval by the Territorial Planning Commission culminated two months of hearings and interviews by the full commission as well as subcommitteess, Oster says. The federal Communications Commission had already granted the construction permit 10 months ago, when permission was granted by those in Washington in charge of military communications.

Capable of broadcasting the gospel message to all of Asia from Siberia to Sri Lanka, the station is being funded by Adventists around the world. Even Third World congregations gave sacrificially for this united project, which cost $5 million, Oster says.

Church members are now giving toward an endowment to fund yearly operations.

'The Russians' perform

"The Russians" will be at Midland Foursquare Church, 415 Alta Ave., at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

For over 18 years, Peter and Mikolai Pankratz, known as The Russians, lived in various cities and regions of the USSR while their parents attempted to migrate to Germany with their six children. Today they have no desire to return.

"I wouldn't live anywhere else (the United States)," says 26-year-old Peter. "The freedom here is just incredible. Already, I have traveled all over this country just for the joy of being able to do it."

The Russians have worked and performed with some of the best known Christian music groups in the United States and have appeared nationally on such television shows as the 700 Club, Pat Robertson, Old Time Gospel Hour, Jerry Falwell, The Blackwood Brothers Shows and secular shows.

The two brothers have two albums to their credit, "Believe It Like It Is" and "Love Forever More" and are working on a third.

They have established a ministry to the Russian people by way of radio.

"We believe we are in America to preach the Gospel behind the Iron Curtain," Peter says. "And, while we are here, we thank God for the opportunity to share our life stories with the Americans that need to hear them."

The performance is free, but a free-will offering will be taken. The public is invited to attend.

'Best things aren't free'

ODESSA — The seminar "The Best Things in Life Aren't Free" will be presented by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Oct. 26 at the Odessa Texas Stake Center, 2011 N. Washington St.

The seminar will be conducted by Lucille Johnson, who has conducted family enrichment seminars throughout Europe and the Orient. Mrs. Johnson, who has been the keynote speaker for numerous conferences including the National Right to Life Conference, has her master's degree in social work from the University of Maryland.

"One of the great purposes of life is growth," Mrs. Johnson says. "Growth does not come about without a willingness on our part to pay the price required. There is a price to be paid for all successful human relationships. Success in marriage, parenting, friendships comes by design, failure comes by default.

"If we would increase our spirituality, we must obey the laws that govern the increase," she says. "The best, most worthwhile things in life are not really free."

The public is invited to attend. Tuition is $3 if paid in advance and $4 at the door. For more information call Janeen Pilkington, 697-4244.

Centennial lunch slated

The reservation deadline for a luncheon and special program being held Oct. 20 to highlight the centennial year observance of Midland's First Presbyterian Church is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The luncheon, which is open to all members, will be held in the Fellowship Hall following the 11 a.m. worship service. Tickets may be purchased at the church office.

Several former members of the congregation, including R. Matthew Lynn, Robert Boynton Smith of Oklahoma City, Forrest K. Whitworth of Waco and Lewis O. Waterstreet of Longmont, Colo., will attend and participate in the festivities.

Luncheon arrangements are being handled by Mrs. Murray Fasken and Mrs. John W. Starr. The program has been arranged by William H. Pomeroy, Mrs. Fasken, Mrs. Starr, Hamilton E. McRae, Mrs. Lynn Durham Sr., Henry E. Meadows, Mrs. Courtney Cowden, Carol Hobbs and W.H. "Bill" Collins.

It was on Oct. 19, 1885, that the Presbytery of Dallas appointed a commission to organize, "if the way be clear," Presbyterian churches at Midland and Big Spring. The panel included the Rev. O.F. Rogers and Dr. P.C. Coleman of Colorado City and the Rev. E.P. Palmer of Abilene.

The mission was accomplished and Midland's First Presbyterian Church was organized formally Dec. 22, 1885. J.C. Peoples, J.C. Kerr and Lee Thompson were elders. J.C. Shear and Henry Peoples were deacons. Members included Mrs. S.N. Peoples and Dr. and Mrs. M.E. Peoples as members.

The congregation has grown to 1500 members. The Rev. Kenneth Mauldin is interim pastor.

Other centennial events will be presented during the year.

Music ministry at chapel

The Music Ministry of First United Methodist Church will present Ruthann Boles of Dallas and Brad Kisner, director of music ministries at First UMC, in a concert of favorite Biblical stories at 7:15 p.m. Sunday in the Glass Memorial Chapel, Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

She is assistant to the music librarian at SMU and is a member of the Music Ministry staff of Highland Park United Methodist Church. She has been a featured soloist in several Dallas oratorio productions and has presented vocal master classes in Texas, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Kisner received his bachelor of music education degree from Oklahoma State University and his master of sacred music degree from SMU. Along with his wife, Jane, he coordinates and supervises the 10 choirs which comprise the Music Ministry of First UMC.

He is serving as dean of the West Texas Chapter of the American Guild of Organists and is the Texas State Representative for the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers.

This anthem was written especially for the church's 100th birthday by Eugene Butler, a nationally known arranger and composer. The anthem comes from the text of the 26th Chapter of Isaiah which reads: "In that day this song will be song, sung in the land of Judah! We have a strong city, he sets up salvation as walls. He sets up salvation as bulwarks and walls. Open the gates of the city so the righteous may come in."

Direction of the 100 performers will be provided by Thomas R. Roberts, minister of music, Susan Roberts, handbell director, and Tony Norris, organist, all of First Presbyterian Church.

The public is invited to attend.

The Rev. J.E. Meeks, pastor of Alamo Heights, invites the public to attend.

Catholic lay ministers could solve priest shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Catholics want their church to solve priest-shortage problems by hiring lay ministers and non-priest clergy, including more women, rather than struggling to recruit many more priests, a new survey says.

Catholic University sociologist Dean Hoge, who described his findings this week, said, "Clearly, anyone studying the priest shortage of the 1980s and 1990s needs to take seriously the strength of the viewpoint."

The church's American leaders — all ordained, celibate males — are among the most concerned about declining numbers of priests, judging from statements and reports at recent meetings of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

They have been worried enough to launch studies aimed at finding out why young Catholics aren't flocking to seminaries. They also want to find ways to attract them — short of changing church rules against married or female priests.

In his survey of adult Catholics, large majorities said they wouldn't settle for less than ordained priests when it comes to Sunday Mass and critical sacraments such as last rites.

However, the tone was different when they were asked, assuming there is a shortage of priests, whether the church should "first of all recruit many more priests" or "first of all think of new ways to structure parish leadership, to include more deacons, sisters and lay persons."

Fifty-four percent voted for restructuring and spreading out leadership, 32 percent for more priests and 14 percent said they couldn't choose.

Doctor links smoking, birth defect pattern

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A previously unidentified pattern of birth defects including mental retardation, abnormal facial features and heart defects may occur in infants of women who smoke two packs of cigarettes or more per day during pregnancy, a researcher says.

Smoking has long been known to produce smaller-than-normal babies. But the new study is the first to suggest the possibility of a consistent pattern of defects comparable to the so-called fetal alcohol syndrome produced by heavy alcohol use during pregnancy, said Dr. Bryan Hall of the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

Furthermore, he said he has found that not only are the babies of heavy smokers small at birth, they remain small.

"Many of these children did not catch up as long as they were followed, sometimes for five or six years," Hall said Thursday in an interview during a meeting of the American Society of Human Genetics, where he reported his findings.

Infants born to moderate smokers usually catch up to normal size in a year or so, said Hall, who established and directs the genetics and birth defects program at the University of Kentucky.

Such things as increased numbers of stillbirths, poor general health at birth and abnormal blood counts have been seen in infants born to smokers, he said.

But he said that in his preliminary study of 25 infants of mothers who smoked two to five packages cigarettes a day he has found unique abnormal facial features.

Because he has looked at only 25 cases, he is not yet certain that the fetal tobacco syndrome is real, he said, so he is collecting more cases from other doctors.

In the infants he studied, lower jaws and mouths were small. Their noses were blunt and upturned; the bridges of their noses (between their eyes) were unusually flat. Skin folds above the eyes that should disappear at two to four years of age persisted.

The more serious defects include smaller-than-normal head size, which usually is associated with retardation; heart defects; and, in males, malformation of the penis.

They also were at increased risk of elevated blood sugar and convulsions.

Halls said he feels the fetal tobacco syndrome does exist, but because of his small sample he studied "it's not yet saleable because I can't prove it.

Peace prize group started five years ago

BOSTON (AP) — The group that won the Nobel Peace Prize on Friday was born just five years ago out of the trust that developed between a Soviet and an American doctor who sought a way for physicians to tell the world the dangers of nuclear war.

"We now instantly, in a sense, have a worldwide audience," said Peter Zheutlin, director of public affairs for International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War.

The Boston-based international federation, which claims 145,000 members in 40 countries, began when a longtime professional relationship between two of the world's leading cardiologists, Bernard Lown of Boston and Yevgueni Chazov of the Soviet Union, turned to discussions of the effects of nuclear war.

Each brought two colleagues to a December 1980 meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, and the group was founded. They said its mission was to convince other doctors they have a "professional duty to address the greatest threat to human life."

"We are not an organization that has been around for decades. We are an organization that five years ago didn't exist," Lown said Friday. "It's just something extraordinary."

Lown was in Geneva, where he was attending a United Nations conference. And the nine full-time employees at the group's headquarters said they would wait for his return to Boston before celebrating.

John Pastore, IPPNW secretary, said the group hopes to use its prize money, about $225,000, to sponsor a "global tour" of physicians from the East and West.

Lown, 64, is a Harvard University cardiologist who helped invent the heart defibrillator to restore a lost heatbeat with electric shock. Chazov serves as chief of the medical team that treats Soviet Politburo officials. The two, who met in 1960, are co-presidents of the International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War.

Lown and Chazov, also a cardiologist, collaborated on a joint research in the 1970s in Moscow on the mechanisms of sudden death, a colleague said.

Other founders were Dr. Eric Chivian, a staff psychiatrist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. James Muller, an assistant professor at Harvard Medical School; Dr. Mikhail Kuzin, director of the Institute of Surgery of the Soviet Academy in Moscow, and Dr. Leonid Ilyin, head of the Institute of Biophysics and chairman of the U.S.S.R. Committee on Radiation Protection.

"It crosses national boundaries, and I think that's why it won the Nobel Peace Prize," said Muller, 42, of Wellesley.

Chivian, 43, said the Nobel Prize was "a tremendous vote of confidence to the anti-nuclear movement internationally. It's a tremendous move toward emphasizing the importance of the East and West working together."

"It was clear at the beginning that we had to put aside our political and philiosophical differences," he said.

"It's a shock because it's the pinnacle of accomplishment and recognition," staff member Norman Stein said of the award. "One always has a doubt that the rest of the world recognizes your presence and accomplishments, and we're humbled by such recognition."

Lown's associates said the organization's efforts will be greatly enhanced by the prize.

"I couldn't be more elated," said Dr. Sidney Alexander, a cardiologist and president of the group's American affiliate, Physicians for Social Responsibility. "I hope this will serve as a marvelous catalyst" for President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev at their summit next month.

He said Lown was the main force behind the international group, but said of Chazov: "I think we owe him a great debt, too, because I don't think it was easy for him in the Soviet Union to develop the kind of government suport needed."

The IPPNW conducts a worldwide informational campaign that includes speaking tours, publication of books, journals and articles and television and radio appearances by its member physicians.

In 1982, it sponsored a "historic television broadcast in the Soviet Union" that featured three American and three Soviet physicians in an open, unedited discussion of the medical aspects of nucelar war.

It has held five international congresses, including one in Budapest, Hungary, attended by more than 800 physicians last June. The group received the 1984 Peace Education Prize from the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Oganization.

NATION IN BRIEF

Girl shot in shoulder with arrow

LAKE PARK, Fla. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy, apparently angered by an incident on a school bus the day before, shot a 12-year-old girl from close range with an arrow, police said.

The boy, an eighth-grade student at Jupiter Middle School, was charged with aggravated battery and placed in a juvenile detention center, said Sgt. Gary Hill of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office.

Cindy Singletary, a seventh-grader at the school, was treated at a hospital Thursday for a 3-inch-deep wound just below her left shoulder, said her mother, Alma Singletary.

Other students who were waiting for the bus told authorities the boy claimed he wanted to kill Cindy because of an embarrassing incident on the bus the day before. The students said they thought the boy was joking, Hill said.

The boy told authorities that he wanted only to scare Cindy, but his hand "became slippery" and he lost his grip on the bow string, Hill said.

Cindy said she didn't know the boy. She said she had apologized after bumping into him Wednesday on the bus, but some students jokingly hit him.

San Diego mayor will resign after conviction for perjury, conspiracy

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Two days after he was convicted of perjury and conspiracy in a campaign-financing case, the mayor of the nation's eighth-largest city said Friday he will step down in one week.

Roger Hedgecock, 39, had faced automatic ouster from office when he is sentenced on the felony convictions. Sentencing is set for Nov. 6, a year to the day after he won overwhelming re-election to the ceremonial office despite being under indictment.

"I have concluded that, in the best interests of the city, I should resign as mayor...I believe it is most important that San Diegans refocus their attention on the issues and the real opportunities facing our city," he said in a statement at City Hall.

He said he will remain in office until Oct. 18 to provide an orderly transition of power to City Councilman Bill Mitchell, the deputy mayor.

Hedgecock was found guilty Wednesday in a retrial on 13 counts stemming from a plot with political backers, including financier J. David Dominelli, to illegally finance his 1983 election.

He also was convicted of covering up the scheme by lying on state-mandated political disclosure forms.

Hedgecock faces a maximum prison term of eight years. Prosecutors would not discuss what, if any, sentencing recommendation they would make to Superior Court Judge William Todd.

Deleware quake registers 1.9

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A minor earthquake that sounded like a sonic boom shook an area north of Wilmington, but there were no reports of any damage, officials said Friday.

Kenneth Woodruff, associate director of the Delaware Geological Survey in Newark, said the earthquake hit around 9:40 p.m. Thursday and registered about 1.9 on the Richter scale.

Residents in the Alapocas Woods housing development west of the reservoir felt the tremor and flooded police and radio stations with calls. There were no reports of damages or injuries.

Banks wants convictions overturned

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — Lawyers for Dennis Banks will appear before the state Supreme Court Oct. 22 in Aberdeen to ask that the American Indian Movement leader's convictions from the 1973 Custer County Courthouse riot be overturned.

Banks, 48, left prison last month on work release after spending about a year in prison for the riot and assault convictions, but his lawyers are seeking to have the convictions wiped off his record.

After Banks was convicted in 1975 on charges of rioting with a dangerous weapon and assault with a dangerous weapon without intent to kill, he fled the state and remained a fugitive for nine years.

He turned himself in last year, however, and was sentenced to three years in prison. He began work as an alcohol and drug abuse counselor at the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation about two weeks ago.

Transvestite poses as female babysitter

Richard A. Gilbert

DALLAS (AP) — In a case that police are comparing to a horror movie, a transvestite masquerading as a female babysitter has been charged with injury to a child in the scalding of a 4½-month-old infant.

"It's like an Alfred Hitchcock movie or a Stephen King movie," University Park police investigator John McDonell said Friday.

McDonell said Richard Arthur Gilbert, who goes by the name of "Jean" Gilbert, has apparently been posing as a woman babysitter for at least a year.

"I know of several places where (Gilbert) has applied for a job as a babysitter and was turned down," McDonell said.

Gilbert, 29, was arrested Sept. 26 after a University Park baby boy suffered second- and third-degree burns from the waist down, McDonell said. Gilbert is being held at Lew Sterrett Justice Center on $100,000 bond.

McDonell said doctors told him the infant appeared to have been dipped in a scalding liquid, probably water.

"(Gilbert) insists it was an accident," McDonell said.

McDonell said Gilbert got the babysitting job through a classified advertisement.

"(Gilbert) answered an ad in the paper for a nanny or a babysiter. The victim's mother put an ad in the paper," he said.

McDonell said Gilbert, who is about 6 feet tall and weighs about 190 pounds, gave references which police later discovered were fake. He said Gilbert has also worked as a pedicurist and a hair dresser.

He said Gilbert had been babysitting for the University Park family for several weeks prior to his arrest.

On the morning of Sept. 26, Gilbert called the baby's mother and said the child had been accidentally burned, McDonell said.

"The mother asked what happened and 'Jean,' the baby sitter said, 'I've spilled hot water on the baby. The skin is coming off the bottom of his feet,'" McDonel said.

He said the mother rushed home and she and Gilbert took the child to a local hospital, where emergency room personnel transferred the baby to the burn unit at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

McDonell said the infant is still hospitalized and was burned over 40 percent of his body.

"We're looking at years of surgery," he said. "It's very sad..."

McDonell said investigators are now trying to determine what other babysitting jobs Gilbert has held. He said he has had inquiries from several other area police agencies about the case.

He refused to reveal the identity of the victim or his family.

Kennedy urges revitalization of oil, gas industry

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., visited Texas Friday, saying he wanted to see old friends and meet new ones. He also urged revitalization of the oil and gas industry.

Kennedy had no announcements about his political plans in 1988, a presidential election year and one in which his term ends.

He also had little to say about claims by Texas Republicans that Democratic Gov. Mark White longed to join Kennedy on the next presidential ticket.

"I made light today at our luncheon that Mr. White had indicated he didn't support a Kennedy-White ticket, at least in that order," Kennedy told a news conference after meeting with about 100 politically prominent Texans who paid $500 a plate for stuffed veal.

Later, Kennedy planned to join White in touring an industrial plant at Houston.

Friday night he was the guest of honor for about 30 people at the Houston home of former state Democratic Party chairman Billy Goldberg. The cost was $5,000 a couple.

A spokesman for Kennedy said the proceeds from the two Friday events would go to Kennedy's Senate reelection committee and a fund to help all Democrats in Senate races.

"I have indicated that the least well-kept secret of mine is that I'd like to be president some day," Kennedy told reporters, "but we have only barely gotten away from the last election. At some appropriate time in the future, I will make known my plans for my future."

"In the meantime," Kennedy said, "I will be much involved in the U.S. Senate and helping and supporting the Democratic candidates around the country."

Kennedy said he had talked with Texas Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple, who was not present at the luncheon, and Temple had come to see him in Washington about oil and gas deregulation.

"I pointed out to him and others that we can't have the protection that consumers need in my state unless we have a strong oil and gas industry in Texas," Kennedy said.

"The policies of the past, which were made at a different time, obviously must be re-evaluated and reconsidered, and I welcome the opportunity to work with others in the party and the Senate, and Gov. White, Commissioner Temple, Sen. (Lloyd) Bentsen (D-Texas), and the congressional delegation from Texas to see how we are going to see a srong restoration of the oil and gas industry," Kennedy said.

He said his constituents had found "they do not want to be reliant on foreign imports to heat their homes and fuel their industries."

Hosts for the Austin luncheon were former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes; Shannon Ratliff, White's campaign treasurer; Jack Martin, former top aide to Bentsen; and Ed Wendler, Austin developer and lobbyist.

Those attending the private luncheon included Barnes; State Treasurer Ann Richards; State Land Commissioner Garry Mauro; Texas Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez; Pike Powers, White's former executive assistant; and former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas.

STATE IN BRIEF

Boy drowns in creek

CANYON (AP) — Locally heavy rains were blamed in the drowning of an 11-year-old Canyon boy who fell into a swiftly moving creek, officials said.

Justin Harold Reed was pronounced dead at Palo Duro Hospital after he was pulled from a tributary of Palo Duro Creek Thursday night, said Randall County Sheriff's Lt. Joel Richardson.

Reed was playing with a friend, Mark Byassee, 11, of Canyon, when he lost his footing on the muddy bank of the tributary, which is located about a mile west of Canyon near U.S. Highway 60, officials said.

Officer's killer sentenced

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — An oil field worker has been sentenced to die by injection for the shooting death of Kevin Williams, the only Huntsville police officer ever killed in the line of duty.

Jurors in State District Judge Erwin Ernst's court deliberated about three hours Thursday before deciding on the death penalty for Patrick Curtis Havard, 23, of Onalaska.

Williams, 28, was shot with a 22-caliber rifle while responding to reports of a domestic disturbance call at the apartment of Havard's estranged wife, Elaine Havard.

Havard claimed he thought he was being attacked when he shot Williams.

Man gets ride of his life

ABILENE (AP) — All John Vester Willoughby wanted was a ride across town.

What he got was a free ride to state prison in Huntsville, and six years to think about why he didn't just call a cab.

Two Abilene undercover narcotics officers said they were parked near an Abilene nightclub June 27 when Willoughby approached their unmarked car and asked for a ride to northeast Abilene.

The officers said no, but when Willoughby offered to "make it worth your while," and pulled out a plastic bag of marijuana, they decided to give him a ride after all.

While one officer drove, the other purchased a quantity of marijuana from Willoughby for $40. The officers then identified themselves as police and took Willoughby to jail, the Abilene Reporter-News said.

Explosion burns workers

ARLINGTON (AP) — Two construction workers remained hospitalized Friday with burns suffered when a gas main was accidentally cut and exploded.

Ruben Alvarez, 25, of Euless, suffered burns on his face and body and was in serious condition at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas after the Thursday morning accident.

Another worker, Vicente Zuniga, 33, of Euless, was in fair condition at Methodist Hospital with burns on his face, back and arms.

More than 4,000 students try out for 400 roles in Dangerfield film

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Minuscule parts were enough to draw more than 4,000 University of Wisconsin students to audition for 400 roles in "Back to School," a Rodney Dangerfield movie to be filmed on campus this fall.

"We only expected 1,000 people," casting director Bill Dance said Thursday as he auditioned people hoping to become extras.

Dance also was looking to fill four slightly bigger parts: two security guards, a bookshore cashier and a drunken fraternity member who throws up in the bushes.

"I've walked around campus and it (UW) is a great school," Dance said. "Being here is refreshing. The people are all very real."

More than 4,000 University of Wisconsin-Madison students await word about whether they would be among the 400 chosen to be in "Back to School," a Rodney Dangerfield movie to be filmed on campus next year.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Comedian Joan Rivers gets serious in talking about AIDS in a series of public service announcements being distributed to local television stations.

Rivers

"Can you believe that some people actually think that talking to a gay man will give them AIDS? Grow up!'" Ms. Rivers chides in one of the ads. "AIDS is not just spread by casual contact, nor is it just a gay disease."

The commercials are part of the Minnesota AIDS Project's public education campaign. Ms. Rivers donated her time to the project while she was performing Aug. 18-19 at the Carlton Celebrity Room in Minneapolis.

We chose her because of the 'Can we talk?' phrase" that is the trademark opening of her act, said Eric Engstrom, acting executive director of the AIDS Project.

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — When historian C. Vann Woodward speaks of his native South, he wants its known that he doesn't mean the Sunbelt — an improbable designation that lumps Richmond, Va., and San Diego in the same region.

I deplore this tag, which is a Yankee notion of some Northern scribbler," Woodward said Thursday at the University of Georgia. "In the first place, it's the wrong metaphor. The South has the greatest precipitation in the country, and the more precipitation the more clouds, so it could logically be called the cloud belt."

Woodward, 76, professor emeritus of history at Yale University, has studied the South for a half-century. He came to Georgia to speak at a two-day symposium sponsored by the university and the Georgia Historical Society.

He said advances in civil rights and economics of the last three decades have made way for a new order "that I hope will not simply be a landslide of a Northern flight from weather and depression and deteriorating industry. ... I hope it won't merge the South into an undistiguishable extension of what is up North."

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — The late Rock Hudson smiled and cracked jokes with former co-star Doris Day during the last television appearance he recorded before public confirmation that he had AIDS, which led to his death.

Miss Day and Hudson starred together in several comedies, including "Pillow Talk" in 1959, "Lover Come Back" in 1962 and "Send Me No Flowers" in 1964.

"I miss those laughs we used to have," she said on a program recorded in June and scheduled to be shown Sunday on the Christian Broadcasting Network.

"Me too," Hudson said. "I haven't had a good laugh like that since."

"We really had fun making movies. Didn't we?" she said.

"Yeah, I wish we'd made more," Hudson said.

"We should do it again," she said.

"Yeah, we should," Hudson replied.

"It was a heartbreaking time for me to see him," Miss Day said in an introduction she recorded Monday, six days after Hudson's death, for her program "Doris Day's Best Friends."

"He didn't talk about his illness, not one time."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former astronaut Thomas P. Stafford and former World War II bomber pilot Lloyd C. Lubensky have been elected to the board of directors of Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., the company said Friday.

Stafford went into space Dec. 15, 1965, in the Gemini VI capsule, commanded by Walter M. Schirra Jr. They orbited the Earth 16 times and made a rendezvous with Gemini VII before returning Dec. 16.

Stafford later commanded the Gemini IX mission and he and Eugene A. Cernan made 44 orbits during June 3-6, 1966. He is now vice chairman of the aerospace consulting firm Stafford, Burke and Hecker Inc. of Alexandria, Va.

Lubensky, president of American Jet Industries Inc. of Van Nuys, Calif., piloted B-26 bombers in World World II.

CONROE, Texas (AP) — A Montgomery County grand jury has indicted four men already charged in the Feb. 22 shooting deaths of folk singer John Vandiver and his girlfriend.

Indicted Thursday on two counts of capital murder each were Tom Mathes, 31; Cecil Covington Jr., 31; Joe Makosky, 21; and Dennis Holland, 24.
