Woman Found Murdered in Mobile Home

Suspect Still At-Large

Hereford police today were continuing their investigation into the murder of 50-year-old Lillie Mae Walker, who was found lying on her bed in a mobile home at 725 Ave. H.

Police were withholding information about several details of their investigation, pending arrest of a white male suspect who reportedly was living with Mrs. Walker in the mobile home.

Mrs. Walker was pronounced dead on arrival at Deaf Smith General Hospital after she was discovered by an unknown caller around 2 a.m. Tuesday. Police said Mrs. Walker had been struck several times on the head with a blunt object but declined to release the official cause of death until results of an autopsy are received.

Police said a warrant has been issued for the arrest of the suspect, who reportedly left the murder scene in Mrs. Walker's brown, 1974 Plymouth station wagon.

"We are withholding other details of the crime at this time--until we can get our suspect in custody," Detective Dale Morgan told The Brand.

"I don't think this should cause much of a scare in Hereford since we know who did it. There's no reason for the women in Hereford to think a crazy person is running loose," Morgan said.

Police said the unknown caller Tuesday morning reported that a shooting had occurred at the mobile home. However, investigators said that a gun apparently was not involved.

Services for Mrs. Walker are pending with Gililland-Watson Funeral Home.

Coming to Deaf Smith County in 1958 from Lazbuddie, she married W.J. Walker Nov. 18, 1951 in Truescott, Tex. He preceded her in death in 1969. She was a member of the Greenwood Baptist Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Helen Stone of Amarillo; two sons, William J. Walker Jr. of Lubbock and Thomas L. Walker of Hereford; two brothers, Herbert Cockrum and Thomas L. Cockrum, both of Hereford; two sisters, Nellie Faye Gilliland and Helen Hill, both of Hereford; and three grandchildren.

When one door of happiness closes, another opens; but often we look so long at the closed door that we do not see the one which has been opened to us. -- Helen Keller

o0o

ABOUT THIS TIME each year, many of us sit down to sort out our priorities and make resolutions for the coming year. Some of those resolutions are well-meant, but seldom kept while others are whole-hearted attempts to improve ourselves.

Perhaps one of the most memorable pieces ever written is the "Desiderata", found in old St. Paul's Church in 1692. Although hundreds of years old, its message still carries a timely meaning and it might well serve as a resolution for all of us during the coming year.

"Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be: on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quitely and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant: they too have their story.

"Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter: for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.

"Keep interested in your own career, however humble, it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism.

"Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical above love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grass.

"Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things to youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

"You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

"Therefore, be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul.

"With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy."

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL.

First of Year, Decade

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilburn, 1500 Brevard, are the proud parents of a 5-pound, 11¾ ounce baby girl and are doubly ecstatic since the tiny infant was Hereford's first baby of the new year. The girl, who was still unnamed as of this morning, was born at 5:07 a.m. on New Year's Day. On top of that, she is the first new arrival at Deaf Smith General Hospital in this newest decade. Secretary-General, Iran Minister Meet

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim talked with Foreign Minister Sedegh Ghotbzadeh for nearly three hours today, but there was no sign of a speedy release for the American hostages, now in their 60th day of captivity.

"We had an exchange of views over the hostage crisis," Waldheim said afterward. Ghotbzadeh told the secretary-general at the end of their session, "Your ideas have helped," but did not elaborate.

This afternoon Waldheim was scheduled to visit a museum of atrocities allegedly committed under the regime of the ousted shah.

"I've come to see what I can do," the secretary-general told a reporter as he arrived at the Foreign Minister for his first meeting with Ghotbzadeh.

Waldheim told Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's foreign minister and others on his arrival Tuesday: "I hope to find the means and the ways to solve the crisis." But he added: "You cannot expect from such a first visit to solve immediately all problems. You have got to be realistic."

He cited U.S.-Iranian relations, "the grievances of the Iranian people in relation to the previous regime," and the seizure of the U.S. Embassy and its staff, among "the very serious problems that will have to be discussed if the way can be paved for the solution of the crisis."

Ghotbzadeh reiterated before Waldheim's arrival that he considered the secretary-general's visit a fact-finding mission only, to hear Iran's case against the United States and Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, and not one of the mediation and negotiation. Although Waldheim said he had information indicating Khomeini would receive him, there was no indication from officials in Tehran that this would happen.

Meanwhile, the students who seized the U.S. Embassy on Nov. 4 reiterated their unchanging position - that the hostages would be freed only if President Carter returned the shah to Iran for trial. They said they would not talk with Waldheim unless Khomeini told them to and that he would not be allowed to see any of the captive Americans.

The government TV service coupled its pictures of Waldheim's arrival on a split screen with an amputee and two dead children it said were victims of SAVAK, the shah's secret police.

"This is a New Year's gift offered by the TV staff on the occasion of Mr. Waldheim's arrival," the announcer said.

The U.N. Security Council gave Waldheim a new mandate Monday to try to win the release of the hostages - put at 50 in number by the State Department, 49 by their captors and 43 by three U.S. clergymen who visited them over Christmas. But if he fails to get them freed by Jan. 7, the council will meet then to vote on a U.S. resolution now being drafted to impose limited sanctions against Iran.

The Soviet government was one of four that abstained in Monday's U.N. vote. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said on Tuesday that the U.S. "steps to impose an economic blockade on Iran give rise to the profound indignation of the Iranian public." But thousands of Afghan residents of Iran demonstrated outside the Soviet Embassy in Tehran and the Soviet Consulate in Mashad Tuesday, protesting the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan. They hauled down the Soviet flag and burned it, but Iranian revolutionary guards drove them off when they tried to invade the embassy.

Russians Fight To Eliminate Resistance by Afghan Guerrillas

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) - The Soviet invasion force in Afghanistan was reported today to have launched an all-out drive to eliminate resistance as the United States mobilized a diplomatic offensive in response to the Russian intervention in the Central Asian country.

Karachi's English-language newspaper Dawn quoted informed sources in Islamabad, Pakistan, as saying the Soviets are on the move to clear pockets of guerrilla resistance, block escape routes, and crush all opposition to the puppet regime the Russians installed in Kabul last week.

The Soviet troops are engaged in a massive anti-guerrilla movement in the provinces of Nuristan and Kunar, which border the Chitral district of Pakistan and where the Soviets suspect the Moslem guerrillas are operating, the paper said.

Up to last week's Soviet-led coup in Afghanistan, the two provinces were inaccessible to Afghan government forces. But now the well-equipped, modern Russian army units are fighting to make major headway there, the report said.

The Soviet occupation forces are using steep-climbing mechanized columns to battle the anti-government forces, which are operating from the mountainous regions with small and outdated arms, the newspaper added.

It also said the Kremlin regards this winter as crucial in its offensive against the Moslem guerrillas, who lately have gained both in numerical strength and captured territory.

The few Western reporters in Kabul, the Afghan capital, were not being allowed to send any information out. But in the wake of the Soviet-supported coup last Thursday which installed Afghanistan's third communist government in 20 months, Soviet troops have been reported under attack in the northern, northeastern, western and southern parts of the country.

No confirmed estimates of casualties were available. Diplomats in New Delhi or Afghan rebel sources in Pakistan reported 250 Soviet troops killed or wounded in Kabul during the coup; more than 200 Soviet soldiers and 63 Moslem guerrillas killed in fighting in the Konar district, facing Pakistan's historic Northwest Frontier; 35 Moslem guerrillas and a number of civilians killed in Soviet air attacks in the northeast, and 400 guerrillas, a Soviet general and large numbers of Soviet and Afghan troops killed in fighting last Saturday in the northern province of Takhar, on the Soviet border.

The Pakistani newspaper Jang said the Moslem rebels claimed the capture of a military base at Chighai Serai, on the Pakistanmi border near the Khyber Pass.

52 Portuguese Die In Azores Earthquake

PONTA DELGADA, Azores (AP) — U.S. airmen worked with Portuguese troops, police and civilians in rescue and relief operations today after a major earthquake devastated the Azores island of Terceira.

Disaster relief temas from the U.S. Air Force's Lajes base on Terceira reported 52 Portuguese killed and more than 300 injured in the quake Tuesday afternoon, which measured 7 on the Richter scale. But the Azores regional government in Ponta Delgada reported 29 confirmed dead by early Wednesday, including 25 on Terceira and four on the island of Sao Jorge.

There were no American casualties, and damage to the base was minor, the Air Force said in Washington.

Damage was heavy elsewhere on Terceira, the second largest of the 10 Portuguese islands in the mid-Atlantic. Damage was also reported in more than half the villages on Sao Jorge, and lesser damage was reported on the islands of Pico and Faial.

About 70 per cent of the houses on Terceira were reported destroyed. The old quarter of Angra do Heroismo, the island capital, was wrecked. Some churches and public buildings collapsed. Electricity and water were cut off in many areas.

An official spokesman in Ponta Delgada said an estimate of 300 injured was "not exaggerated. There could be more in the end."

The Portugese air force began flying in relief supplies, and the navy ship Jacintgo Candido ferried medical personnel and supplies from Ponta Delgada to Angra. President Antonio Ramalho Eanes flew from Lisbon to the islands early today, accompanied by medical teams and supplies, military health officials and bedding.

Police, volunteer firemen and mititary personnel started clearing roads, sifting the rubble for bodies and setting up aid stations. U.S. medical teams assisted the staff at Angra Hospital, and the U.S. Air Force was providing blankets and other supplies.

The president of the regional government, Joao Mota Amaral, declared three days of mourning in the islands and appealed to the 292,000 islanders to remain calm.

It was the worst quake in the archipelago since the 1950s. The U.S. Geological Survey's Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., said it occurred along the eastern edge of the North Atlantic Ridge, a north-south line in the Atlantic Ocean where two great crustal plates are pulling apart.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one whole number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.

Price of Gold Soars In Biggest Jump Ever

LONDON (AP) — Gold soared to $562 an ounce by noon today in the biggest advance ever seen in a single day's trading.

Gold was up $37.50 an ounce and silver jumped $8.

Bullion dealers in Europe were unwilling to predict where the price bonanza would halt.

The buying fever was attributed by dealers to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and the continuing Iranian crisis, making the world appear less safe than it has for years.

"There's no limit in sight," said one London dealer as gold hit $562 at noon. Monday gold closed here at $524.50.

Silver rose to a record $40 from $32 at Monday's close. Copper, tin, lead and zinc prices also climbed sharply.

"It's very, very difficult to see anything turning this market now — there's a distinct lack of sellers," said a dealer at Sharp Pixley Ltd. In London.

"The problems in the Far East are making everybody go for precious metals. Silver has nearly doubled in the last month," he said.

The biggest buyers of gold bullion during the 1979 boom were Mideast oil producers.

To put today's gold advance in perspective, it was recalled that the metal sold for just $35 an ounce for some 30 years before 1970.

When President Nixon took the United States off the gold standard in 1971, the price began a climb that saw it break through the $200 barrier in the summer of 1978, $300 a year after that, $400 last Sept. 28 and $500 last week.

The price more than doubled in 1979, gaining $298.125 in London.

The dollar, meanwhile, opened mixed in Europe.

State Death Toll For Weekend Below Estimate

At least 29 persons have died on Texas roads and highways since the grim holiday count began, but the total was still far below the Department of Public Safety estimate for the 102-hour period that ended at midnight Tuesday.

DPS officials, using statistics from past years and current trends, predicted 56 persons would be killed on Texas highways during the holiday weekend.

The DPS put every available trooper on duty and emphasized keeping drunken drivers off the roads, said DPS spokesman Richard Grimmett.

Seals Poster Girl

Shot in Celebration

SAN ANTONIO, Texas)AP) - An eight-year-old girl selected as 1980 national poster child for the Easter Seals Foundation was in fair condition at a San Antonio hospital after she was shot during a New Year's celebration.

Police said Jeanette Alvarado, daughter of Mrs. Helen Alvarado of San Antonio, was outside the home of her grandmother early Tuesday watching fireworks when she was shot in the head.

Alice Alvarado, 31, an aunt, was shot in the neck moments later. She was also hospitalized in fair condition today.

Homicide detectives were investigating the case today.

Officers said they have been unable to determine exactly what happened and have not been able to determine a motive for the shootings.

Police said they have not been able to determine the caliber of the weapon or where the assailant may have fired from.

The Alvarado girl, a paraplegic suffering from a congenital spinal cord condition, was selected as national poster child for 1980 for the Easter Seals campaign at a convention in Philadelphia last November.

India Candidate

Seeks Soviet Withdrawal

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - The Soviet invasion of Aghanistan and reports that the United States will sell arms to Pakistan are getting some last-minute attention as the Indian election campaign ends.

Caretaker Prime Minister Charan Singh, considered an underdog in the voting Thursday and Sunday for a new Parliament and government, summoned the Soviet ambassador Monday to voice India's "deep concern" over the invasion. He asked that Russian soldiers withdraw from Afghanistan "as soon as possible."

Singh also criticized the expected supply of U.S. arms to Pakistan, Afghanistan's eastern neighbor and India's traditional foe. "We know they will be used against us," he told a campaign rally.

Other leading candidates took up the new issues, but after two months of campaigning they were not expected to have much influence on the 361 million voters, more than 80 percent of them illiterate. Many observers believe former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi has the best chance of winning the election because of the issue she is campaigning on - shortages, rising prices and the breakdown of law and order since her 1977 defeat.

Teachers Union

Boss Rejects Order

CLEVELAND (AP) - The president of the Cleveland Teachers Union has urged members to defy a judge's back-to-work order and refuse to show up for classes today unless a contract settlement is reached.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Frederick M. Coleman had ordered Cleveland's teachers, who walked off the job on Oct. 18, to report back to their classrooms this morning. The 92,000 pupils in Ohio's largest school system are to report to classes on Thursday.

"Despite everything, our legitimate request has not been met," union president Eugene G. Kolach said Tuesday night. "The membership has told us repeatedly that it will not return until an honorable settlement has been achieved.

"If an agreement has not been reached by Wednesday morning, we will continue our strike."

In issuing his order Monday, Coleman said he expected teachers to return to work and said he was uncertain what he would do if they disobeyed his order.

477 Persons Die

In Weekend Accidents

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents during the four-day New Year's weekend took 477 lives - a toll exceeding advance estimates by the National Safety Council.

The highest toll for a New Year's weekend of the same length was 481 in 1969.

The safety council had estimated 360 to 440 persons might die on the nation's streets and highways between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday.

During a non-holiday weekend of the same length at this time of the year, 480 deaths could be expected, the council said.

A year ago, 355 people were killed during a three-day holiday period.

Afghan Students

Occupy Embassy

BONN, West Germany (AP) - Thirty Afghan students occupied the Afghan Embassy property in Bonn for one hour today to protest the Soviet invasion of their homeland, police said.

There were no reports of damage to the building.

Police said the students did not resist when they were taken into custody and driven to police headquarters for identity checks.

Burns Cause Worry

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The freak flash fire hadn't missed much.

The searing flames spared the young Marine's feet and ankles, thanks to heavy leather combat boots. They missed most of his face and neck, desperately shielded at the cost of his arms and hands.

But the rest of his body was covered in second-and third-degree burns - one of the most traumatic injuries a human body can sustain. There were also internal inhalation burns, making his chances of survival even slimmer.

It was a nasty case, even by Brooke Army Medical Center standards.

Infection by microscopic "bugs" would be the constant concern for Brooke's famed burn specialists in the ensuing weeks, even as the wounds were closed - first by temporary grafts of "freeze-dried" donor skin and later by the victim's own skin.

The wounds were cleansed daily and trimmed of all dead tissue, then covered only with a special infection-fighting burn cream that Brooke researchers helped develop 15 years ago. Bandages are seldom used anymore - they proved to be little more than lush breeding grounds for the bugs.

If the severely burned Marine survives the bugs and the grafts, the center's social workers and physical and psychological therapists then take over to prepare the permanently scarred teen-ager for as normal a life as possible.

The Marine has no name. He is simply a composite of the most serious cases Brooke specialists faced when 38 severely burned young Marines were airlifted here after a freak fire during a typhoon at their Japanese base on Oct. 19.

One died en route. Col. Basil Pruitt, commander of what is one of the world's most advanced burn centers, predicted three days after the fire that more of the 19 in critical condition would die. As of Tuesday, Pruitt's prediction had been proved right - eight times.

"Such severe burns are the most serious injuries to the body. Not only does it destroy the skin, it affects every other system and organ in the body. The body also is weakened against infection," said Pruitt. "Inhalation injuries, which are caused by inhaling fire or toxic fumes, increase the motality rate."

Brooke's burn unit, established in 1947, has been in the forefront of the battle against such extensive injuries. Brooke researchers were instrumental in developing the anti-infection cream, as well as the use of the "biological dressing" - temporary skin grafts.

"The cream represents one of the real advances in burn care in the last 15 years. Before the creams were developed, about 60 percent of all who died from burns died of infection in the wounds," said Pruitt.

After a month, when much of the infection threat is past, the wounds are covered with sheets of donor skin flown in from a Navy tissue bank.

"You literally add water," Pruitt said, displaying a small glass tube containing a rolled-up sheet of skin. "It's kind of like instant skin."

The temporary grafts are replaced every five days so the body doesn't have enough time to reject the alien skin. When the supply of donor skin is exhausted, doctors turn to pig skin.

The two breakthroughs have resulted in a 50 percent improvement in the survival rate of victims with burns covering 20-60 percent of their bodies.

"We treat every victim as a survivor. We don't give up on anybody. There's been a significant increase in the survival rate of patients under age 60," said Bruitt.

Yugoslavia is a federation of six republics — Serbia, Crotia, Slovenia, Montenegro, Boznia-Herzegovina and Macedonia.

Kansas City Firemen To Be Back at Posts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - After suddenly deciding to end their 12-day work slowdown, Kansas City firefighters were set to return to the bargaining table and their jobs today, providing the city with its first regular fire protection in five days.

"We are ready to resume negotiations immediately, and we respectfuliy urge the city to join with us in negotiations to resolve the current impasse," John Germann, president of the International Association of Fire Fighters Local 42, said late Tuesday at a hastily called news conference.

Germann said firefighters would report for the 7 a.m. shift today, resuming the firefighting duties 700 National Guardsmen and 550 police officers took over last Thursday.

Germann said the union's executive committee voted unanimously during a five-hour meeting Tuesday to return to work and acknowledged that the threat of fines and jail sentences for contempt of court from the Jackson County Circuit Court prompted the decision.

The circuit court issued a temporary restraining order Dec. 24, calling for the firefighters to end the job action they began Dec. 21 after they reached an impasse with the city over contract negotiations.

The city sought contempt of court citations against 70 firefighters, including the union officers.

A hearing on the citations began Friday and was scheduled to resume today with 26 firefighters to appear.

Despite increasingly heavy pressure from the city - including firings and suspensions of firefighters and talk about rebuilding the fire department - the firefighters steadily escalated the job action.

Tuesday morning, at the height of a "sickout" they began Dec. 26, only 14 of the 190 firemen scheduled to work appeared.

The shortage of trained firefighters left seven of the city's 32 fire stations closed New Year's Day. Seventeen were manned by police and guardsmen while five were run by battalion chiefs and guarded by police. Only two stations were manned by firefighters. Fire facilities at Kansas City International Airport were manned by a private firm.

From 6 p.m. Monday until 11 p.m. Tuesday, there were 45 fire calls, none of them major, police said.

Chicago covers an area of 227 square miles on the southwest shore of Lake Michigan.

Cabby Survives Trunk Ordeal

HOUSTON (AP) — A 68-year-old Galveston man says he was locked in the trunk of his taxi by two bandits for four days without food or water, surviving near-freezing temperatures before he was rescued.

Earl Blue Sr. was pulled from his cab about 1 p.m. Monday after service station owner John Karlis became curious about the taxi parked on his lot since Thursday afternoon, authorities said.

"I was fixing to close for two days when I found him," said Karlis.

"When I opened the trunk, he (Blue) was just lying there. I was kind of scared. We carried him into the station, gave him a grape soda and some cookies and lit a cigarette for him.," said Karlis.

"He just went crazy, he was so hungry ... he was starving," said Karlis.

Blue told his wife his ordeal began about 6 p.m. Thursday when he picked up two men at the Galveston bus station.

"They told him they wanted to go to Texas City, but once they got in the cab they forced him to drive to Houston. He told me they stole $150 in cash and locked him in the trunk to die," said Mrs. Blue.

Blue told Karlis he had "screamed and hollered and knocked on the trunk" trying to attract attention. But Karlis said he heard nothing.

Blue tore the rubber weather seal from the trunk to keep from suffocating. Temperatures dipped into the mid-30s over the weekend, and a chilly, wet rain fell in Houston on Friday.

Deaths Blamed On Heater

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Officials say an unventilated space heater may have caused the deaths of four persons, including two children, and left a fifth person hospitalized in poor condition.

James Bernard Satterwhite, 14, discovered the four bodies Tuesday and found his mother unconscious after he climbed through a window at his mother's one-story frame house because he was unable to rouse anyone inside.

Bobbie Fay Satterwhite, 30, was rushed to the hyperbaric chamber at Brooks Air Force Base's School of Aerospace Medicine, where she was listed in poor condition Tuesday.

"We found a small gas heater burning in the living room. It should have been ventilated outside, but it wasn't," said arson Capt. Dan Davila.

The victims were identified as Roy T. James, 33, Guadalupe Rodriguez, 23, and her two children, Lisa, 7 months, and Bonnie, 3.

Davila said Mrs. Satterwhite probably survived because she was on the floor. He explained that heated gas rises.

after a three-day battle in which an Afghan army brigadier general and nine other officers deserted to the rebels.

The paper reported fighting between Soviet and Afghan army troops at Barikot, also near the Khyber Pass, and said Soviet forces recaptured a post in Badakshan province, near the Soviet and Chinese borders after 90 hours of fighting and heavy casualties on both sides.

A Western diplomat in New Delhi said he had reports of clashes between Soviet and Afghan troops in Kandahar, in southern Afghanistan; Jalalabad, between Kabul and the Pakistani border, and Herat, in the western part of the country, where at least 60 Soviet troops were killed in an uprising last March.

Estimates of the number of Soviet troops in Afghanistan ranged from 35,000 to 45,000, with 26,000 more waiting on the Soviet side of the northern border if needed.

The Soviet government poured forces into the country and then replaced the communist government that had been in power only three months. President Hafizullah Amin was executed, and Babrak Karmal, another communist, was called home from exile in Czechoslovakia to replace him.

Amin, who was prime minister before he ousted President Nur Mohammad Taraki in September, was replaced because he had been unable to put down the rebellion by Moslem Fundamentalists that broke out after the communist overthrow of President Mohammad Daoud in April 1978.

Roloff Hearing Set

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals today set a Feb. 6 hearing on evangelist Lester Roloff's appeal of a contempt order that shut down his three children's homes.

The court earlier had dismissed the appeal but later reinstated it.

State District Court Judge Charles Mathews entered the June 18, 1979, order finding Roloff in contempt for continuing to operate the homes without a license. He imposed $22,850 in civil penalties and ordered the closing of Roloff's Rebekah Home for Girls in Corpus Christi as well as his Lighthouse for Boys and Anchor Home for Boys.

Roloff went through the motions of closing the homes last summer, including an emotional send-off for girls who ostensibly left the Rebekah home.

The homes since have been reopened under the auspices of Roloff's People's Baptist Church in Corpus Christi.

In his appeal, Roloff says state witnesses failed to prove there were any children under 18 living in the homes without their parents — a major criterion for determining whether a license was required.

"The complete absence of any evidence showing that the Rebekah Home for Girls was operating as a 'child care facility' ... for each day from March 18, 1978, to June 13, 1978, makes it abundantly clear that the trial court's judgment was based on something other than the evidence," Roloff's brief says.

The brief contends there was "something very close to 'vigilante justice' by the trial court and the state's attorney" as well as "some emotional involvement" on Mathews' part.

The state's reply contends a court of civil appeals has no jurisdiction to hear appeals from contempt orders, citing 1956 and 1978 legal precedents.

Attorney General Mark White's brief tells the court it "can be inferred from several pieces of evidence" that children under 18 were in residence at Roloff's homes. White also said Roloff declined to place in evidence any testimony to dispute state witnesses who contended they saw youngsters at the Roloff homes.

UIL Transfers To Go to Court

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals announced today it will hold a Feb. 6 hearing on the constitutionality of the University Interscholastic League's transfer rule.

With few exceptions, the rule prohibits a high school student from playing varsity football or basketball for a year after transferring to a new school.

Joe Sullivan filed the class action suit when his son, John, was declared ineligible to play varsity basketball for a year after the family moved to Austin from Vermont in March 1977.

State District Judge Harley Clark granted the Interscholastic League's motion for a summary judgment upholding the rule.

The Sullivan appeal brief, filed by the Texas Civil Liberties Union, said the rule violates the Sullivan family's constitutional protection against the taking of liberty or property without due process of law. The brief contends the family's right to privacy and freedom to travel among the states were violated.

The UIL contends the transfer rule is "rationally related" to deterring recruitment of high school athletes.

Settlement Evacuation Postponed

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government today easily defeated four no-confidence motions over its decision to delay evacuation of a settlement on the West Bank of the Jordan River. The settlement had been declared illegal by the Israeli Supreme Court.

Two of the votes in parliament were 60-43 in the government's favor, a third was 58-24 and a fourth no-confidence motion brought by the Communists failed in a show of hands.

Tandy Widow Services Held

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A funeral for Anne Burnett Tandy, the widow of Tandy Corp. founder Charles David Tandy, was held today at the All Saints Episcopal Church here. She was 74.

Mrs. Tandy, who carried on the tradition of her West Texas pioneer family by managing the fabled 6666 Ranch in Northwest Texas, died of cancer in her home after a long illness.

She personally supervised the 207,895-acre 6666 Ranch that surrounds Gutherie in King County, and the two Triangle Ranches in Wichita County and the Panhandle.

The ranches were founded by Mrs. Tandy's pioneer grandfather, Capt. Burk Burnett, who came to Texas from Tennessee with his family as a small child during the 19th century. The town of Burkburnett, in Wichita County, is named after him.

Mrs. Tandy was director of the First National Bank of Fort Worth, director of the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show, a trustee of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame, a trustee of the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, honorary vice president of the American Quarterhorse Association, and honorary vice president of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association.

She was also beneficiary of the Samuel Burk Burnett Estates and the Thomas L. Burnett Cattle Co.

Her late husband, a founder and chairman of the board of the Tandy Corp., which owns the Radio Shack chain of retail stores, died Nov. 4, 1978.

She is survived by a daughter, Anne Burnett Windfohr Phillips, and a granddaughter, both of Frisco.

Holiday Keeps Police Moving

Hereford police kept busy on New Year's Day, investigating several offenses, including a al offenses, including a shoplifting incident, making four arrests and working five minor traffic accidents.

Seven-11 Convenience Store, U.S. 385 and Park Ave., reported that a man had tried to steal some cigarette tobaco Tuesday morning. Officers arrested a 60-year-old subject.

Police also arrested two persons for driving while intoxicated and another for public intoxication.

Susie Enriquez, 212 Higgins, reported that someone broke her windshield while her car was parked in the 500 block of, Ave. H.

Someone stole a tool box from the bed of a pickup owned by Buck Betts, of Adrian. The incident occurred at 628 W. 1st.

Officers were called to investigate a break-in at Hereford Grain Corp., Dairy Rd., Tuesday. According to police, someone entered the building by breaking a window and tried to break open a soft-drink machine. Nothing was reported stolen, however.

Police also investigated an harrassing telephone call and wrote 23 traffic citations.

ACCIDENT RATES

GENEVA (AP) — An increase in the automobile accident death rate among the 15- to 24-year age group has been reported in a recent study by the World Health Organization.

The agency says the study was based on statistics from 30 nations. It says that while mortality rates from auto accidents are rising for all age groups, the increase for the 15- to 24-year-old group is "disproportionately high" with rates "more than doubling" in 15 years.

CHANNEL SWIMMER

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — James Counsilman, 58, said the jellyfish didn't bite him when he successfully swam the English Channel from England to France last September.

He became the oldest person ever to complete the feat, crossing in 13 hours, 15 minutes. Counsilman, the former coach of Mark Spitz, said, "I swam into the jellyfish, but they obviously thought I was probably tasteless."

Suspect Arrested in Fire

CHAPAIS, Quebec (AP) - A young man was arrested after a fire at a Lions Club New Year's Eve party killed at least 42 revelers. "It is definitely a criminal matter," police said.

The 21-year-old was toying with a cigarette lighter near Christmas decorations that burst into flames near the club's entrance, survivors told investigators.

Constable Rene Fortin of the Chapais municipal police told reporters he did not know when the charges would be lodged. The suspect was not immediately identified.

Police said many of the bodies were stacked against a rear door of the club, the Opemiska, and that 50 other partygoers suffered serious burns and smoke inhalation as the fire roared through fir branch decorations.

Police said there were approximately 350 persons in the club when the fire broke out about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday. Thirty children lost parents in the blaze, and one family lost five relatives.

One of the survivors, Norman Bedard, said when the fire broke out many of the guests continued dancing. Then there was panic, and people fleeing through the blazing front door "were like walking torches as their nylon clothing burned," he said.

Another survivor, Luc Marceau, 24, said he saw several men try to put out the fire with a portable extinguisher and that when he realized they weren't going to succeed, he fled with his girlfriend.

Outside he tried to help the injured. "I saw a girl on the snow. She had no hair, no clothes on. She called, "Luc, help me." I had to ask her name because I didn't recognize her. It was someone I had gone to school with."

Marceau's 19-year-old brother Gilles, was trapped inside the club for a while. "The smoke kept dropping down from the ceiling," he said. "I didn't know what to do."

Gilles escaped through a fire exit at the front of the room, but his clothes were on fire. His face was blistered, his hair and beard were badly singed, and his hands, chest and shoulders had to be swathed in bandages.

Bernard Coulombe was in the hotel he owns about 100 yards from the club when one of the survivors staggered in, his clothes afire, and cried for help.

"I called the police, then went outside," Coulombe said. "The flames were spreading quickly, and there were a lot of people trying to get out through one exit door at the back."

He said the man who ran to the hotel "looked like he had been burned alive ... there was not much skin left on his body and his clothes were still on fire.

"When the man stumbled in, somebody started ripping away the burning clothes and I put out the flames with my hands. What skin was left was hanging from his body and all his hair had been burned off, leaving him bald."

One resident said he saw a man throwing people to safety through a window of the club's kitchen, but then the man was trapped by flames and perished.

Deserted Shrimp Boat To be Moved from Dock

CAMERON, La. (AP) — The Lady Olga was to be moved today, whether or not the 61-foot shrimper's two-man crew returned to the unloading dock where it has been since before Christmas, the dock's owner said.

The boat — the object of a Coast Guard sea and air search after its owner in Galveston, Texas, reported it missing Dec. 26 — has been at the Steed Shrimp Co. dock since Dec. 21, said Mrs. Edna Steed, owner of the company.

That was the day it left Freeport, Texas, according to the Coast Guard. But Mrs. Steed said there has been no sign of the two crewmen.

"The boat has our unloading facilities blocked out," she said. "I have tried phone calls to Galveston, trying to get in touch with the owner, but I haven't had any luck."

"What I'm hoping for is that the two men aboard it will show up all jollied up and rested," she said, adding. "But this surely is the strangest thing."

The shrimp boat of Galveston, its operator Larry Carnes, 32, and another crewman were due back in Freeport on Dec. 26 at the latest, the Coast Guard said.

When it failed to show, owner John W. Place, of Freeport called the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard began looking for the boat, and even launched an air search.

Coast Guard Chief Petty Officer Claude Otto said the boat carried 2,200 gallons of diesel fuel when it left Freeport.

"The owner said that was enough fuel for them to get back to Freeport. They were scheduled to fish between Morgan City and Cameron, trawling offshore along the 25 to 30-fathom curve," Otto said.

Carnes, the operator, was described by the owner as a reliable man with 15 years experience, Otto said.

So far, the boat has been nothing but trouble, Mrs. Steed said.

"We were going to move it Friday, but the sherff's department asked us to let it go. At one point it was starting to sink, so they had to put pumps aboard it and keep it from sinking," she said.

Cameron Parish deputy Charles Smith said he found the boat when the sheriff's office was notified that it was sinking.

"I talked to Galveston a couple of times yesterday, trying to get hold of the owner, but he doesn't seem to have a phone," Smith said.

He said he checked the vessel over while looking for registration papers and could see no sign of foul play.

"It just doesn't sound right," Smith said.

Bartender to Get Bridge to Kentucky

VULCAN, W.Va. (AP) — John Robinette, a 42-year-old bartender who wanted a bridge linking this tiny community to Kentucky so badly he asked the Russians for help, is seeing his dream come true.

After the former carnival barker's highly publicized plea for Soviet help two years ago, the state announced it would build the bridge, reconnecting the tiny Mingo County community with the outside world.

Vulcan's turn-of-the-century, wooden footbridge over the Tug Fork to Kentucky collapsed in 1974, leaving the community of about 50 families with no public route in or out. They have been using a railroad right-of-way ever since.

"It didn't dawn on me until they began pouring concrete," Robinette said recently as he stood by the railroad tracks and gazed at the nearly complete single-lane bridge. "I was driving up the road and it hit me. I just pulled to the side of the road and cried."

Although cold weather has temporarily halted construction, the $1.3 million span is expected to be finished next year. Robinette says it was a struggle.

Saying he was inspired by a 76-year-old local woman who "said she'd like to see a bridge across the river before she dies," Robinette began a campaign in 1976 to get a bridge built.

But tiring of refusals from the state highways departments in West Virginia and Kentucky and the federal goverment, he turned to more drastic measures.

Headlines splashed from Morgantown to Moscow when he wrote letters to the Soviet Union and East Germany asking for financial aid to build the bridge.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 2, the second day of 1980. There are 364 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Jan. 2, 1929, the United States and Canada agreed to preserve Niagara Falls.

On this date:

In 1788, Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1900, the "Open Door" policy in China was announced by Secretary of State John Hay.

In 1921, the first broadcast of religious services was made as KDKA in Pittsburgh carried a local church's regular Sunday service.

In 1942, Britain, the United States, Soviet Union, China and 22 other allies pledged not to make separate peace with Germany.

In 1974, President Richard Nixon signed into law the 55 mile per hour speed limit.

Ten years ago, Israel said it literally lifted a Soviet-made radar station in Egypt and hoisted it across the Suez Canal into Israel.

Five years ago, in an apparent reaction to slow gold sales in America, gold prices slumped to a 10-month low.

One year ago, it was reported that a civilian government had been formed in Iran as the embattled shah tried to head off the revolution.

IN WASHINGTON

Donald F. Graff

Briefly noted . . .

We are indebted — as is frequently the case — to The Wall Street Journal for an interesting insight into our changing society.

The nation's largest newspaper (it is that now) recently carried a brief to the effect that fewer medical students are now opting for that once most glamorous of specialties, psychiatry. The share of the student population has dropped from 12 percent in 1968 to 4 percent currently, according to a survey of the American Psychiatric Association.

The development would appear to invite several possible explanations. Among them that we are mentally healthier as a nation than we were a decade ago and there just isn't that much business around anymore.

Or it could be that we are coming to be regarded as a hopeless case.

For Elvis fanatics only

More from the Journal, it's difficult at this late date to find anything newsy in memorabilia of the late Elvis Presley, flooded as the market is with everything from greatest hit albums to performer lookalikes created by plastic surgery.

But an entrepreneur in Italy has come up with something overlooked by American competitors — a wine. Called "Always Elvis" and featuring a genuine color photo on the label, it is reported being marketed in some 20 states.

The taste is said to be like a potato chip in that it "makes you want to take another sip." Which could be good or bad, depending upon how one feels about potato chips.

But in another sense of the word, the taste is all bad.

Style is again in style

Meanwhile, Uganda continues the struggle to return to normality after the overthrow of Idi Amin.

Rescinding one of the puritan laws for which the ex-dictator was almost as noted as his cruelty, parliament has made wigs, miniskirts and split skirts again legal attire.

If the gesture doesn't do anything for the country's limping economic activity, it should at least liven up the social variety.

Live it up but stay alive

And to close on a serious note, an American firm is again providing a holiday service initiated as the result of a tragedy.

As a consequence of a fatal auto accident three holiday seasons ago, Pickwick International, Inc., and Fingerhut Corp. of Minnesota began reimbursing taxi fare for any of the firms' 10,000 employees whose partying may have left them in no condition to drive home.

In addition, all employees are encouraged to advance cabfare to anyone they judge should not be driving, with company reimbursement guaranteed.

"Take a Taxi on Us" is more than an unusual fringe benefit, it is a potential life-saver.

Ann Landers

Just a Housewife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just finished reading the letter saying no woman is "just a housewife." She described herself as a cook, nursemaid, chauffeur and laundress -- the list went on and on. It also said if she were paid an hourly wage, she would be worth about $18,000 a year.

If a plain housewife is worth $18,000, then a working woman and mother must be worth at least $100,000.

I read recently that housewives are trying to get Social Security benefits because their husbands work. I'm sick and tired of people leeching off my paycheck. I am supporting enough welfare people now without adding a group of women who can work but prefer to sit at home. Staying at home is their privilege, but they should not expect the same benefits as a working person.

Face it, "Housewife" -- you ARE "just a housewife." You are not a nurse, lawyer, secretary, factory worker, doctor, vet, street cleaner, postal worker or anyone who works. What you do all day is what the women listed above have to do when they get home from work. I am a -- Full Time Secretary And Housewife From Bowling Green, Ky.

DEAR FULL-TIME: Because I am a career woman who doesn't have to do a darned thing at home, I am not qualified to respond to your letter. I welcome responses, however, from the millions of women out there who are on both sides of the fence.

If there ever was a letter for which there are pros and cons, you've written it, sister.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is the most difficult letter I have ever written, but I need to express what I feel.

Our two-year-old son drowned recently. He was in a coma for three days before he passed away. It was especially heartbreaking because he didn't have to die. The person who was supposed to watch him simply didn't.

I am writing to you because people need to know what to say at a funeral when a child dies in an accident. The worst thing (and we heard it dozens of times as we stood in the church) is, "It was God's will."

No parents wants to believe God could be so cruel. In our case, we know our little boy died because someone was careless. We don't want to kid ourselves. It is important that we be realistic. Please let us.

You wouldn't believe the stupid things people say to mourning parents, Ann. Please tell them they don't need to say anything. But they DO need to listen. It is the best therapy for grief. -- Florida Heartache

DEAR FLORIDA: Thank you for a letter that will teach millions of readers something they need to know. It was worth the effort, Dear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You once printed a definition of success. I carried it so long it fell apart. Will you please run it again? -- Petaluma Fan

DEAR PET: With pleasure. The author is Harry Emerson Fosdick.

To laugh often and much; to win respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you lived. This is to have succeeded.

(Got those wedding bell blues over cost ... guest list ... what to wear ... and other details? Ann Landers' completely new "The Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send a dollar, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (15 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.)

Displaying Books

The Deaf Smith County Library distributes new books every Monday for the following week. These include fiction, nonfiction, biographical, educational and others. Some of the new books distributed this week are "Memories of Another Day" by Harold Robbins; "Wings Against the Sky" by Richard Hough; "Tales from the Big Thicket" by Francis E. Abernathy; and "Confession and Avoidance" by Leon Jaworski. Above library aid Margie Scroggins is putting several of the new books on display. [Brand photo by Denise Smith]

Nominations Sought For Woman of Year

Nominations for the "Outstanding Chamber Woman for 1979" will be accepted at the Chamber of Commerce office until 5 p.m. tomorrow, it has been announced by Mary Herring, Women's Division president.

The award, presented annually by the Women's Division, will be bestowed on a worthy member during the installation banquet on Tuesday, Jan. 8 at the Community Center.

Any individual may submit a letter of nomination for consideration. The submitor need not be a member of the Women's Division and the letter does not have to be signed. Nominations should include written qualifications naming the reasons why the person named should be considered for the honor.

The award recipient will be selected by an anonymous committee with the chairman being the only individual to know the outcome of the secret ballotting. The final vote will be validated by the executive director of the Chamber of Commerce.

The award presentation is generally made by the "Outstanding Woman" from the previous year. A sheath of roses and an engraved silver cup will be given to the honoree.

In making a nomination, one should emphasize activities done for and on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as community work, volunteer work, church involvement, youth work, etc. Nominations should not cite activities for which the individual is paid to do in her regular job.

Fund Established For Local Teenager

Funds have been established at both local banks for contributions to defray the medical expenses of 13-year-old Kody Ruland, son of Kenny and Karren Ruland.

The local teenager has been hospitalized in Amarillo for more than a month and is apparently suffering from kidney failure.

Donations are also being accepted on the youngster's behalf by members of Hereford Elks Lodge and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Declining World Ag Output is Foreseen

WASHINGTON - For the first time in seven years, world agricultural output declined in 1979. Global output of agricultural commodities, excluding the People's Republic of China (PRC), dropped about 2 percent from 1978, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In a summary of the World Agricultural Situation, released by the Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service (ESCS), USDA economists reported that production in the development countries, including the USSR and Eastern Europe, fell almost 3 percent in 1979, while output in the developing countries held nearly steady.

Agricultural output fell in all major industrialized countries, except in the United States. The USSR's reduced grain crop cut their overall agricultural production by 12 percent in 1979. U.S. agricultural output was up by 5 percent. Among the developing countries, output increases in East Asia, Latin America, and Pakistan offset declines in India and West Asia.

Total 1979 world food production declined 2.5 percent. The output of developed countries dropped approximately 3.5 percent while production in the developing countries held almost stable. Per capita food production decreased by 3.3 percent. The 1979 declines in food output, on a per capita basis, were approximately equal in both the developed and developing countries. Population continues to grow about 2 percent annually in the developing countries while remaining constant or increasing minimally in the developed countries.

Economic activity worldwide in 1980 is expected to slacken. Growth in major developed countries may slow to 2 percent with higher inflation and unemployment anticipated. This slowdown in the developed countries may influence the developing countries. Rising oil prices and general inflation will be major factors impacting global economic activity.

World grain production for 1979/80 (wheat, coarse grains, and milled rice) totaled 1.38 billion tons, 4 percent below the previous year. As a result of record carryin stocks, supplies this marketing year will be down less than 2 percent from 1978/79. World consumption is likely to hold near last year's record level. To maintain consumption will require a 31-million-ton drawdown in global stocks to 195 million tons and a 10 percent increase in world grain trade. Virtually all the increased trade will be with the Soviet Union.

World production of protein meals, fats, and oils in 1979/80 is expected to continue increasing. U.S. soybean production was up 20 percent in 1979. The South American crop, which will be harvested in early 1980, is currently forecast to increase sharply from the last 2 year's drought-reduced level.

World cotton production will be up 7 percent in 1979/80 to a record 64.2 million bales. Slowing gains in consumption will probably lead to a stock buildup of 0.8 million bales.

Beef and veal production in major producing countries has declined in recent years and will probably continue to decrease in 1980. However, larger pork and poultry production will continue to offset this decline. Global milk production has continued upward this year, although a sharp drop in the USSR's output limited the overall 1979 gain. World milk output in 1980 will continue to exceed use, and dairy surpluses are expected to remain in major producing nations.

Sugar output worldwide is expected to decrease this year. Rising consumption will contribute to reduced stocks and stronger prices. Coffee output in 1979/80 is up somewhat, but consumption is rising and stocks may be reduced during the year. The freeze earlier this year is having little impact on 1979/80 production; it may, however reduce 1980/81's potential crop.

Limited supplies and transportation difficulties in some exporting countries will probably result in the United States providing much of the increased grain trade for 1979/80. The U.S. remain the only major supplier of soybeans and meal in the world until March 1980, when new-crop Southern Hemisphere soybeans and products reach the market.

These factors indicate another strong export year for U.S. agriculture. Exports of farm products in fiscal 1980 are expected to reach about $38 billion, up a fifth from a year ago. Although price increases will account for some of the gain, export volume is anticipated to increase 16 percent. Agricultural exports in fiscal 1980 could total between $35 and $40 billion, depending on weather, demand conditions and transportation developments.

U.S. agricultural exports to Iran have virtually ceased. Given the situation in that country, the International Longshoreman's Union has refused to load ships destined for Iran. In recent years, Iran has purchased from the United States roughly 25 percent of its total agricultural imports, including the bulk of its grains, oil meals, and vegetable oils. However, some imports from the United States slowed this summer as a result of Iran's efforts to diversity its supplies.

Iran's wheat and rice supplies may be sufficient for the short term, but any slowing or stoppage of imported vegetable oils, feed grains, and soymeal would have an immediate effect.

The loss of imported feed grains and meals would adversely impact Iran's poultry industry.

Young Farmers Meeting Set Thursday Night

The meeting is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Committee assignments and work schedules will be arranged for the stock show and final details on overall conduct of the show will also be worked out.

In addition, members will consider nominees for chapter honors during the annual Young Farmers-Young Homemakers Awards Banquet scheduled for February.

AAM Meeting Is Saturday

District I of the American Agriculture Movement of Texas will host a buffet dinner and meet the candidates dinner Saturday at the Hereford Community Center.

The buffet dinner is set to begin at 6:30 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 7:45.

Featured speakers will include Congressman Jack Hightower of Vernon, Jim Hightower, candidate for the state Railroad Commission and Gerald McCathern, candidate for the state's 31st senatorial district seat.

Ag Exports Improve Trade Balance 18%

WASHINGTON - U.S. farm exports hit a record $32 billion in fiscal 1979, improving the country's agricultural balance of trade by 18 percent, Department of Agriculture economists report.

This was a 17 percent jump over the cash value of exports for the previous year -- also a record-breaker.

Robert Tontz and Thomas Warden, economists for the department's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service, said the exports gained mostly in feedgrains, wheat, wheat products, soybeans, hides and skins, protein meal and cotton. The 1979 fiscal year ended Sept. 30.

In volume, the nation's farm exports rose nearly 4 percent over the year -- to 137 million metric tons.

Agricultural products coming into the country also gained, up 16 percent in dollar value to $16 billion. There were increases in all major noncompetitive products -- cocoa powder was an exception -- and in all competitive products as well, except poultry and sugar.

Noncompetitive imports such as coffee, bananas and cocoa beans were valued at $7 billion, an 8 percent increase over the previous fiscal year. Imported meat products jumped 25 percent to more than $9 billion.

The U.S. farm trade surplus -- exports minus imports -- hit an all time high of $15.8 billion, exceeding the 1978 total by 18 percent.

Delegation to Attend Farm Bureau Meeting

WACO - More than 100 Texas Farm Bureau members are planning to attend the 61st annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation Jan. 6-10 in Phoenix, Arizona.

The Texas Farm Bureau this year will send 18 voting delegates -- largest number in history from this state -- to help decide national Farm Bureau policies for 1980.

Among the proposals to be considered are the recommendations adopted at the TFB convention in McAllen in early December. Delegates from the 49 state Farm Bureaus (all except Alaska) and Puerto Rico, who represent the 3.2 million member families in the organization, will participate in the business session on the final two days of the meeting.

Several well-known leaders will address the annual meeting.

Speakers include Allan Grant, AFBF president; Sir Nicholas Henderson, British Ambassador to the U.S.; Ambassador Reubin O'D. Askew, U.S. Trade Representative; and Dr. Murray L. Weidenbaum, director of the Center for the study of American Business.

Comedian Bob Hope will entertain at the annual recognition and awards program on Tuesday evening, Jan. 8.

TFB President Carrol Chaloupka will head the 18 delegates from Texas who comprise the president TFB Board of Directors and four former directors. Chaloupka will also preside at a cotton conference on Monday, Jan. 7.

TFB Board members serving as voting delegates are: Jack Osborne, Pampa; S.M. True Jr., Plainview; Marvin Phemister, Weinert; Joe F. Fisher, McKinney; A. Wayne Cranfill, Hooks; Vester Smith, Loop; Roy Johnson, Desdemona; Calvin Rueter, Clifton; Bill Guidry, Nacogdoches; J.R. (Bubba) Day, Uvalde; Donald Hebert, Walker; George O. White, Harwood; and James R. Adams, Odem.

Former directors who will attend as delegates are Reed Lang, Rio Hondo; T.L. Roberts, Wills Point; Doyle Condra, Talpa; and Milton Harborth, Seguin. Alternates selected by the Board are two former directors, Henry Burton of Lufkin and Bill Reid of Lamesa.

Among the major recommendations approved by the TFB convention and forwarded to the AFBF convention are these:

-- Favor extension of present farm program for two years -- until 1983. Price support levels should not create artificial incentives for overproduction and should be indexed to increase at same rate as inflation.

-- Support legislation restricting or regulation non-resident alien ownership.

-- Opposed to federal beef referendum program, and also federal check-off program for wheat. Support voluntary program for beef.

-- Opposed to a national grain board.

-- Recommend that ban on 2,4,5T be lifted.

-- Until repeal can be accomplished, budgets of OSHA and EPA should be cut by 98 percent.

-- Favor increased research to develop improved vaccines for brucellosis for adult cattle and calves.

-- Favor reinstatement of Mirex to combat fire ants.

-- Agricultural producers should be given the highest priority in the allocation of energy resources.

-- National education program should be conducted to speed up our energy independence.

-- Opposed to a "windfall" profits tax.

-- Favor deregulation of the trucking industry.

-- Recommend a decrease in the welfare budget each year for four years, using the 1978 budget as a norm.

-- Favor federal legislation to provide for class-action suits against striking unions to recover financial losses of third parties incurred because of a strike.

-- Favor a comprehensive multi-peril crop insurance program administered by the private sector with re-insurance provided by USDA, as opposed to a federal crop insurance program.

-- Recommend enactment of a law to require that all food products be labeled as to the country of origin.

-- Recommend use of integrated pest management methods, including the use of beneficial insects and biological controls where feasible.

Corn Growers Set Referendum

AUSTIN - Texas corn growers in seven Plains counties will have the opportunity to vote February 27 on a ½-cent-per-bushel assessments to be used for improving research, promotion, education, and marketing of their product.

Counties included in the referendum are Bailey, Castro, Deaf Smith, Hale, Lamb, Parmer, and Swisher, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. Under the Commodity Referendum Law, the Texas Department of Agriculture certifies the referendum and subsequent election of board members.

The Department also works with the organization on various projects.

Brown stated that if approved by producers, the assessments will be collected at the first point of sale. A six-person commodity producers board will administer proceeds of the assessments.

The county courthouse will serve as the voting place. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Absentee ballots may be obtained from the county agent or the Texas Corn Growers Association (105 East Bedford, Dimmitt, Texas 79027). Absentee ballots must be mailed in the self-addressed envelope before midnight February 24.

Any person in the seven counties engaged in the business of producing corn for commercial purposes is eligible to vote, including owners of farms and their tenants and sharecroppers, if such persons would be required to pay the proposed assessment.

The Soviet Union is expected to spend $2.3 billion on U.S. farm products this year — 20 percent more than last year.

Cougars Get Help "From Above" in 17-14 Victory

DALLAS (AP) - It took help "from above" to get a last-gasp touchdown that gave the Houston Cougars a 17-14 victory over Nebraska just when it appeared they would be disappointed in the Cotton Bowl for the second year in a row.

"Somebody upstairs was watching out for me on that pass and for the UH team all season," said a jubilant Eric Herring after the junior flanker caught Terry Elston's a tipped 6-yard pass for the winning touchdown with 12 seconds to play Tuesday afternoon.

The Southwest Conference champions saw a 34-12 lead disappear last year in the final seven minutes as Notre Dame charged back for a 35-34 victory as time expired.

This time, Nebraska claimed a Houston fumble on the Cougar 31 and quarterback Jeff Quinn - after an abortive trick play - hit tight end Jeff Finn for a 6-yard touchdown pass and a 14-10 lead with less than four minutes to play.

But backup quarterback Elston - the game's offensive Most Valuable Player - saved the game with a 13-play, 66-yard drive he wrapped up with a clutch, fourth-down, needle-sharp pass through two Nebraska defenders.

Elston hit Herring three times for 10, 11 and 15 yards to give the Cougars a first down at the 9. On fourth-and-goal from the 6, with 19 seconds left, Elston called "R-Flex 333-Hook," dropped back and saw Herring drifting across the middle.

Nebraska safety Russell Gary and cornerback Ric Lindquist were all over the 6-3 junior flanker, and Elston admitted:

"Nebraska had real good coverage; it was real thick in there. But it was fourth down and I had to throw it."

Elston rifled the pass under the arms of Gary and Lindquist. The ball caromed lightly off Lindquist's right arm and into Herring's hands for the touchdown.

"He couldn't have thrown a better pass if he'd put it on a string," said Herring. "The ball sailed under one of the guy's armpits, hit my arms, bounced up and I caught it coming down."

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said he "saw Herring juggling the ball in the end zone and I didn't know what happened. But I knew it was something good when everybody around me started jumping up and down."

It was the seventh time in an 11-1 season that the Cougars came from behind to win.

Nebraska marched 85 yards on second possession to take a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, but Elston replaced starting quarterback Delrick Brown to spark the Cougars to life in the second quarter.

He went 9 yards on his first carry, got 15 more yards on a facemask penalty before hitting flanker Lonell Phea for a 27-yard pass to the 15. Elston skirted right end for 7 yards, then left end for 8 yards and the touchdown the next play.

Houston got only one first down and Nebraska none in a sluggish third quarter but Kenny Hatfield kicked a 41-yard field goal to put the Cougars ahead 10-7 with 8:25 left in the game.

Nebraska got new life when Houston's John Newhouse fumbled on his 31 and defensive tackle Bill Barnett recovered with 6:06 to play.

The Cornhuskers, who used a guard-around play in an identical 17-14 loss to Oklahoma for the Big Eight championship, pulled two more tricks from their bag.

With third-and-2 on the 23, Quinn gave the ball to running back Jarvis Redwine, who passed to Quinn for a 13 yards and a first-and-goal at the 10.

Two plays later, with third-and-goal from the 6, the Cornhuskers broke from the huddle but only Quinn ran to the ball — situated on the right hashmark, along with the Cougar defenders.

The other Nebraska players lined up on the left side of the field as Quinn picked up the ball and lateraled it across field to Redwine, who raced across the goal for an apparent easy touchdown.

The play was wiped out when officials ruled illegal procedure against Nebraska and offsides against Houston, and Quinn passed to a wide-open Finn on the next play for a more traditional six points.

"We put in the Swinging Gate play for just this game," said Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne. "I had talked to the official and explained it before the game and they said it was all right. But when we ran the play, they said it wasn't continuous motion."

Houston linebacker David Hodge, named the game's defensive MVP, said the Swinging Gate play "didn't come as a surprise. We had heard they had been working on it." Hodge made eight tackles, three of them unassisted.

"The way the defenses had been playing, I thought 14-10 would be enough, but Houston came back and I give them credit. We were just six points away from being national champs," said Finn, referring to the three-point losses Nebraska suffered to Oklahoma and Houston in its final two games to finish 10-2.

Osborne, comparing Houston with Oklahoma, said the Sooners probably run better "but Houston just might be better defensively. I don't think there's that much difference between between us, Houston, Oklahoma and Arkansas. They're all fine football teams and deserve to be rated among the best in the nation."

Elston completed 9 of 16 passes for 119 yards and the TD and led Cougar runners with 87 yards on 22 carries. Newhouse added 61 yards and Terald Clark 44 for Houston.

Quinn hit 10 of 19 passes for 78 yards, including five to wingback Kenny Brown for 30 yards. Redwine gained 58 yards and Andra Franklin 40 for the Co nhuskers.

Sooners Say Worry Over Florida St. Was Only Diplomatic

MIAMI (AP) - The Oklahoma Sooners kept saying all week long that they were worried about fourth-ranked Florida State, but after their convincing 24-7 Orange Bowl victory, the Sooners admitted they were just being diplomatic.

"I didn't want to go into it during the last week, because I knew the media would take it and play it up the wrong way, but we felt sure that Florida State couldn't beat us," quarterback J.C. Watts said.

"We felt the only way we would lose would be if we beat ourselves - making mistakes, putting the ball on the ground," he said.

"Man for man, they were better than we were," agreed FSU's All-American nose guard, Ron Simmons. "Their offense is extra tough, especially when you have excellent athletes like Billy Sims and Watts."

The Seminoles, 11-0 and playing in their first New Year's Day bowl, opened a 7-0 lead and had the ball at the Oklahoma 2 early in the second quarter before the Sooners erupted.

"I felt like we were just kind of dead through the first quarter. We knew we could move the ball against them. Over on the bench, I said, 'Let's get it going,'" said Watts, the game's most valuable offensive player after gaining 127 of the Sooners' 411 rushing yards.

Two delay-of-game penalties moved them from the Oklahoma 2 back to the 12, and then holder Rick Stockstill muffed the snap from center on a field goal attempt. Watts followed a 25-yard Sims run with a 61-yard touchdown jaunt to tie the game at 7-7, and safety Bud Hebert returned his interception of a Jimmy Jordan pass 25 yards to the FSU 10 on the next series.

That set up Stanley Wilson's 5-yard touchdown run, and after FSU's Rohn Stark shanked a 14-yard punt, the Sooners tacked on a 24-yard Michael Keeling field goal for a 10-point lead that was never threatened.

"When we jumped out to that 17-7 lead, that took the sting out of them," Watts said.

"If we had scored and had a 10-0 or 14-0 lead, I think it would have given us the momentum to have made a difference," said Coach Bobby Bowden, disappointed that the fourth year of his remarkable turnaround of the once-lowly FSU program ended sourly.

"I was very disappointed in the outcome because I thought we were more ready than we were going to be. I thought we'd beat them, because I thought we would take it more seriously than they did," Bowden said.

FSU went five straight possessions without a first down. Wally Woodham replaced Jordan at quarterback late in the second quarter, but missed on his first five passes. After Woodham finally got the Seminoles moving in the third quarter, Hebert, who later added another interception of Jordan, made a diving grab of a Woodham pass at his own 22 to stop the drive.

SMART CYCLISTS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Motorcycle riders in this state, though not required by law to wear safety helmets, apparently are "smarter" than their counterparts in many other parts of the country, according to the Motorcycle Safety Foundation.

A new survey by the national non-profit organization shows that since Maryland repealed its law requiring such protection, more than 68 percent of its cyclists still wear helmets, as compared to the national average of 50 percent.

The foundation, whose goal is the reduction of motorcycle accidents and injuries, neither supported nor opposed the repeal of Maryland's mandatory helmet law.

USC's White Becomes Hero in Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Charles White threw up at the bench just before the game. Afterward, he appeared in the Rose Bowl's underground interview room, looking like Joe Frazier after the Battle of Manila.

A bandage covered an open wound on the bridge of his nose. His boyish face showed ugly bruises. He wheezed and coughed as if he couldn't get his breath.

He was the battered but not the beaten hero of the 66th Rose Bowl football game, his last-gasp dramatics giving the Southern California Trojans a 17-16 victory over No. 1-ranked, undefeated and untied Ohio State.

Professional scouts by the dozens came to the historic oval to look at the 6-foot, 185-pound Los Angeles native who had run for an astronomical 5,998 yards in his four-year career and had swept the Heisman Trophy from the 1978 winner, Billy Sims of Oklahoma.

They were filled with skepticism.

"Too small for the pros," most of them said.

"He'll go in the first round of the draft but about midway down, 14th or 15th," said Gil Brandt, astute personnel director of the Dallas Cowboys.

"He's a fine player," acknowledged O.J. Simpson, one of the greatest of the impressive parade of line-splintering tailbacks to come off the Southern Cal assembly line. "But he needs to get with a team that won't have to use him on the first-down situations. He'd be great for the Steelers."

They came to critique the Heisman winner but they stayed to drool over a tall, leather-tough Ohio State quarterback, Art Schlichter, whom they can't touch for two years.

For 50 minutes, the gangling sophomore Houdini electrified the 105,000 crowd and countless TV viewers with his ball-faking magic and mighty arm, hitting on 11 of 21 throws for 297 yards and putting the Buckeyes ahead 16-10 with the clock winding down.

Then, with 5:21 remaining and Southern Cal backed up its 24, then handed the ball to White and said, "OK, Charlie, you've done it in the past. You gotta do it again."

Whoosh! Like a lightning flash, over right guard for 32 yards. Whish, bam, bop, 28 more around end, red Buckeye jerseys strewn in his wake. Teammates pick up short yardage. Then back to White.

Three over right guard. Then five. Then two. The red shirts know he's coming, but there's nothing they can do. By now the ball is on the one. One more shot. White dives over for the touchdown.

Score: Southern Cal 17, Ohio State 16. Final victory. The guy who is too small for the pros had done it again.

Baylor Routs Clemson Tigers

ATLANTA (AP) - Baylor's Bears came out of the Southwest on the wing and with a prayer, and left with the Peach Bowl championship.

The 19th-ranked Bears had thrown only six touchdown passes in 11 games this season. They went to the air for three touchdowns in their 24-18 conquest of the 18th-ranked Clemson Tigers in the nationally televised bowl game on Monday.

Freshman quarterback Mike Brannan threw two touchdown passes, including a key 24-yarder to Robert Holt.

"It was just a Hail Mary deal," said Brannan, who was knocked out of the game with a knee injury and still was voted the outstanding offensive player.

"As soon as I threw it I wished I had it back, because I could see interception all the way," Brannan said.

Boilermakers Out-Dazzle Volunteers, 22-21

HOUSTON (AP) - Pressure-proof quarterback Mark Herrmann remained determined and his teammates confident they could recover from a dazzling Tennessee comeback that left the Boilermakers trailing 22-21 with time running out in the 21st Bluebonnet Bowl game Monday.

"When I saw Herm Herrmann walk on the field the only thing I didn't know was how many plays it would take," said Purdue center Pete Quinn. "He is so cool under pressure. I knew we'd go down the field."

Herrmann guided the Boilermakers 80 yards in 10 plays and tossed the final 17 to Dave Young to secure the 27-22 victory with a mere 1:30 left on the clock.

"We knew we had to be on the money and hit pinpoint passes to do it," said Herrmann. "We kept our poise because we knew we could come back and win the game."

An ecstatic Purdue Coach Jim Young echoed the self-assured response of his team.

"We've won the last seven games by fighting down to the end," he said. "We always seem to play just well enough to win."

Playing well enough included building a 21-0 lead on a 6-yard scoring jaunt by Ben McCall and touchdown passes of 12 and 12 yards from Herrmann to Bart Burrell and Young.

However, the lead evaporated when Tennessee quarterback Jimmy Streater ignited the volunteers. He hit Glenn Ford with an 8-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter and engineered a couple of fourth-quarter scoring drives that left the Vols on the brink of an upset.

Dreams of a miracle finish faded for the Vols when Herrmann found Young on a crossing pattern.

"They were playing a man-to-man and whenever anybody plays a man-to-man we look to Dave since he's such a great target," said Herrmann.

"I can truthfully say I have never had a football team come back from the depths the way this one did. We could have been run out of the stadium ... but we came back with great courage," said Majors.

"We are disappointed in not winning, but we are not embarrassed," said Majors.

Crimson Tide Awaits AP's Vote On College Football Championship

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - For the third year in a row, Alabama is sweating out the vote in The Associated Press college football poll.

But if the Alabama and Arkansas players were doing the voting, there would be no doubt about college football's national champion.

"Alabama deserves to be No. 1," Arkansas quarterback Kevin Scanlon said after the second-ranked Crimson Tide trounced the sixth-rated Razorbacks 24-9 Tuesday in the Sugar Bowl. "If you don't vote for them as No. 1, you've got to be crazy."

But Alabamians feel they have been burned enough times - including runnerup finishes behind Notre Dame in 1977 and Ohio State in this year's final regular-season poll - not to take anything for granted where the ratings are concerned. Still, there was unbridled joy in the Alabama team's hotel Tuesday evening after third-ranked Southern California edged top-rated and previously unbeaten Ohio State 17-16 in the Rose Bowl and fifth-ranked Oklahoma trimmed No. 4 and previously undefeated Florida State 24-7 in the Orange Bowl.

The television set in Bryant's room was tuned to the Rose Bowl, but the legendary 66-year-old coach insisted he wasn't "paying any attention" to it. But you had to know that he was.

When someone broke a long gainer, he exclaimed, "Nobody'd run through us like that." And eventually he conceded that "from what I've seen so far, I think we're No. 1." When the final gun sounded and Ohio State had lost, he said, "That's about as good as it can be for us next to a tie."

All Alabama can do now is await the result of The AP poll at 6:30 p.m., EST, tonight to see if the Crimson Tide has won its second consecutive national championship. If not, they will have to be content with a 12-0 record - Alabama's first perfect mark since 1966 - and a 21-game winning streak, longest in the national as well as an Alabama record.

Alabama's Don McNeal fumbled the opening kickoff away at his own 24, but Arkansas had to settle for Ish Ordonez' 34-yard field goal. For the most part after that it was all Alabama. Major Ogilvie, named the game's outstanding player, scored on runs of 22 yards and 1 yard in the first period and set up Alan McElroy's 25-yard field goal with a 50-yard punt return late in the second quarter. Ogilvie's first touchdown capped an 82-yard drive and the second, less than 3 minutes later, came after linebacker Thomas Boyd recovered a fumble by Scanlon at the Arkansas 22.

Arkansas controlled the third quarter, scoring on Scanlon's 3-yard pass to Robert Farrell to end an 80-yard drive following the kickoff, but Alabama stormed right back with a magnificent 98-yard, nine-play drive in the final period, ending in Steve Whitman's 12-yard touchdown run.

"I feel that we are deserving of the honor of being No. 1," Bryant said. "If someone votes us No. 1, I will consider us national champions."

There were 261 major college basketball teams listed by the NCAA at the start of the 1979-80 season.

John Wooden won 10 NCAA basketball championships as head coach at UCLA.

Robinson Thinks His Trojans Deserve Bid for No. 1 Team

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Southern Cal Coach John Robinson was flinging superlatives around with abandon, calling the game one of the greatest, Charles White the best football player he's ever seen, and the class of Trojan senior players the finest in the history of the school.

Robinson would not, however, call his Rose Bowl-winning Trojans the best college football team in the land.

"We deserve consideration for No. 1," Robinson said Tuesday after third-ranked Southern Cal's dramatic 17-16 victory over top-rated Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. "Alabama deserves consideration. We are two great football teams."

Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce, who saw a perfect season and a possible national championship fade away when the White-led Trojans scored the winning touchdown with 1:32 remaining in the contest, remarked, "I said all along that the winner of this game should be the national champion."

Buckeye quarterback Art Schlichter, who turned in an outstanding performance in the losing effort, said, "I can't vote in the poll, but USC played a great game and deserves to be No. 1."

White, the Trojans' Heisman Trophy winning tailback who gained 247 yards and scored Southern Cal's final touchdown on a 1-yard dive, said diplomatically, "I hope we're No. 1. I'll just wait and see. I don't want to say anymore because it will just show up in the paper."

"All the players on the team feel that we're No. 1," said Trojan quarterback Paul McDonald, who provided Southern Cal's other touchdown with a 53-yard scoring pass to Kevin Williams. "We've come back so many times against adversity and that's the sign of a champion.

The Associated Press national poll of sports writers and sportscasters will be tabulated today and released Thursday.

Wherever the 11-0-1 Trojans finish in the final poll, they must surely rank at the top as far as confidence goes. Down 16-10 to the 7½-point underdog Buckeyes with just 5:21 remaining in the game, Southern Cal took the ball at its own 17-yard line and marched cooly down the field for the winning score.

White began the decisive drive with a 32-yard burst, ran for another 28 yards on the next play, then finally capped the thrust by somersaulting into the end zone. Eric Hipp then kicked the point-after for the winning margin.

"I didn't feel like I was carrying the load on the last drive," said White, who had a total of 39 carries in the contest, with both that and his rushing yardage Rose Bowl records. "If they were going to stop us, they were going to have to stop 11 of us.

"That's our game, to wear the other guy down. Although we were six points behind, we were still very confident."

"We've been in that situation before," said McDonald, who completed 11 of 24 passes for 234 yards. "We put together a drive that will be remembered for a long time by a lot of people. Our only real concern at the last was getting the ball back with enough time to make the drive."

Sister Administers to Houston's Poor

HOUSTON (AP) — In an area where filth and squalor are commonplace and hot water a rarity, the flashing white robes of Sister Helen Gaye seem almost surreal.

"Just bring them to me and I will feed them," she says. It is a promise to the 600 families in Carverdale, a jarring pocket of poverty in northwest Houston, that she has kept for the past 13 years.

Sister Gaye, helped by local churches and driven by an indominatable belief in the Bible, has turned away from what she called the "frivolous" life she once led and plunged elbow-deep into the misery that is the constant companion of the poor.

"I had a maid and kept myself well-manicured and living in lovely surroundings," says the former teacher and beautician. Her mother, a scrubwoman in Beaumont, wanted her to be a nun, but she went to college and found she wanted to enjoy the "good life."

"Now I've gone from high fashion to scrubbing sores," she says. "Before, I couldn't stand dirt; now I relish the work — it's my duty and responsibility."

And she takes on responsibility in awesome chunks. At her Mission of Yahwah, built eight years ago by members of a Sunday School class she spoke to, she takes in battered women, pregnant girls and abandoned children.

The single mission has grown to five small buildings that currently house more than 50 women and children. There is always room for one more.

"One day," says Mildred Mooney, a local church member who helps Sister Gaye with her work, "I came over to visit ... and before I could sit down, she came rushing out and asked me to pick up a battered woman who was at a local bus stop."

"Someone had told her about the place and she called out of the blue, but that's the way it always is out here."

Men also are not immune to her considerable powers of persuasion.

Walter Collins, a member of the First Baptist Church of Spring Branch, walked into her church one Christmas carrying some baskets for the needy.

"Your're the man who's going to help me with my work. You're the one," said Sister Gaye, pointing a finger at Collins.

He is now called "Brother Collins," and says it only took one incident to persuade him he should lend a hand.

Sister Gaye received a call for help just after she spoke to Collins. "I went along with her and saw some things that I never thought could have existed in this area," he says.

"I saw a sick mother of six fatherless children lying on filthy sheets with a newborn infant. Two of the children appeared to be in an advanced state of starvation."

At that point, Collins gave the woman food and formula, but didn't want to get more involved. However, he thought Sister Gaye might make an interesting guest at his Sunday School class. It was his class, of course, that decided to build the mission for her.

Collins was named president of the board of directors that purchased the two lots the mission and the other four buildings are built on.

Things like that seem to happen to Sister Gaye. Clad in her white robe with "God Bless You" embroidered on the front, she promises food she doesn't have and money she can't get, but the promises always seem to be fulfilled.

In the nearby Memorial area, one of Houston's wealthiest sections, she would often go from house to house, rummaging through garbage cans. After residents began recognizing her, they saved things for her to pick up at the door. Now, people from all walks of life stop by the mission to donate time and money.

She never turns anyone away, regardless of age or condition. Local agencies often refer people to her, and the police occassionally send over vagrants who are looking for a place to stay.

"You know," she said, "some of the transients have been what you would call 'fighting women,' women who carry knives. But I tell them all that they are in God's house and I have never had any trouble."

Her robe is a constant swirl of motion in the mission. Telephone calls, visitors and a battered woman who tells Sister Gaye she must go back to her husband.

Sister Gaye nods in agreement and calls the friends who dropped the woman off the night before. "In my work, I have had to learn that people must find the answers themselves," she says. "They can't do what I tell them or want them to do."

She is planning now to expand her mission by building a dormitory that will house 25 women, a dining hall and a kitchen. With the new addtion, she will be able to accomodate about 75 women and children.

She says the death of her mother triggered her ambition to help people, adding her work "speaks for itself."

"It's strange," she muses. "Sometimes I've thought about leaving Carverdale because it's so filthy and shacky and the kids were dirty and sick. But I decided this was where I was needed the most."

Economists Predicting Still Greater Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time when Americans on election eve or New Year's eve were satisfied with the promise of change to come. They didn't complain very loudly either when the promises were forgotten.

But now the times seem to demand the real thing, at least in regard to personal economics. For many families the squeeze is on: Their credit is used up, and their paychecks don't match up to the expenses.

After listening to a panel of labor authorities from corporations, unions and academe, The Conference Board, a private sector research and educational organization, predicted today that American wage gains in 1980 will be erased by continuing high inflation.

The panel estimates that while first-year wage and benefit hikes in major contracts will average 9.5 percent in 1980, inflation will jump 10 percent to 12 percent, producing a decline in real wages.

"People simply won't stand for this," said Frank P. Doyle, General Electric vice president. Promises, that is, won't do. Americans dislike reducing their living requirements; it isn't an acceptable option.

Rather than do so, they will examine alternatives, including cost-of-living contracts. The Conference Board's panel expects plenty of COLA pressure, even on smaller companies that have so far avoided them.

But small companies and large ones too are complaining that they also need relief, and you know how they intend to get it: through price increases, lots of them, big ones and small.

When prices go up it adds to inflation; inflation takes back those new pay raises; COLA reinstates the raises; that forces more pay increases. In other words, the same old treadmill of promises.

During the decade of the 1970s, families faced up to the situation — or avoided it, if it suits your perspective — by using a number of devices:

—They borrowed — on their houses, on their good name.

—They went out to work in record numbers. Wives who hadn't held a job for years went back into the labor force.

—They improved their skills. Adult education, especially that which enhanced job skills, became an urban way of life.

—They turned over some of their expenses to group plans. Companies could buy life, medical, and dental insurance more inexpensively than could individuals.

—They cut into the budgetary fat.

But now these and other devices have been tried, and probably to the limit. Where do families go from here, especially in view of the the dismal outlook of the labor panel, which the board summarized as:

"One of ervasive pessimism due to zero economic growth, zero increase in productivity, falling real wages, and continuing high inflation."

Sex Films Cause Unholy Uproar

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Explicit sex movies produced and filmed by ministers are causing an unholy uproar within the United Methodist Church.

Screenings of the 10 films — intended for sex counseling — are all right if the viewers are carefully selected, says the Nashville-based Board of Discipleship. But some church leaders and members disagree; they want the films discontinued.

The denomination counts nearly 10 million members in more than 38,000 churches. Debate has been churchwide, and particularly sharp in Nashville — which has about 700 United Methodist churches — since a sex forum was offered here.

A national task force was set up to study the films and sex forums, which have been used in some parts of the country for up to seven years. The task force recommended in October that use of the films be continued as long as audiences were strictly limited.

When the Board of Discipleship approved the recommendation, five Nashville churches were so unhappy they sliced their autumn apportionments to the board.

In addition, the United Methodist Laymen of Nashville voiced opposition, and Nashville's bishop and the West End Methodist Church of Nashville have appealed to the General Conference, the highest authority in the United Methodist Chruch, to override the board.

The General Conference, composed of lay people and church leaders, holds its quadrennial meeting in April in Indianapolis.

Robert Sullins, a leader of the West End church, served on the task force and voted with the minority to halt use of all but two of the sex films. He said he was also disappointed with the board's decision to back the task force.

"I felt as though the films were contradictory to the principles of the United Methodist Church, and the films were not, nor were the forums, biblically based," Sullins said.

"The films showed ... men and women through the act of masturbation, and they also showed male and female homosexuality. Each one of these movies was from beginning to end — from the point of undressing to the point of climax."

Dr. Melvin Talbert, general secretary of the board, defended its decision. He said the human sexuality forums in which the films are shown are intended only for people who will be counseling others.

"The forum is not open to the general public," he said.

Talbert said in an interview that the board had demonstrated its concern in October by asking the church's standing Committee on Family to review the forums and films.

The family committee begins its review in February and should report to the board or its executive committee by next October, he said.

The Rev. Dr. Ted McIlvenna, director of the National Sex Forum in San Francisco, is the Methodist clergyman who made most of the films.

He said some Methodist leaders objected to the films from the beginning. "When we established the program, they wouldn't even say, 'homosexual.' They said, 'H-people.'

"They just assumed that anything that is sexually explicit is pornography. The films were shot and produced by Methodist ministers," he said.

In a telephone interview, McIlvenna said that at least 300 people participated in test groups before the forums were started seven years ago and since then some 78,000 people have seen the films in Methodist churches on the West Coast. He said that most major Protestant denominations and many medical schools and universities use the films.

In response to a statement by Sullins that he was worried that the footage shown in the forums might end up in pornographic movie houses, McIlvenna produced a contract that all film purchasers must sign.

The contract requires that the films "only be shown in religious or educational settings. The films are not sold or shown commercially," McIlvenna said.

Despite such assurances, the controversy seems to be growing, with the General Conference likely to feel pressure to settle the issue.

The Rev. J. Robert Parks, pastor of Connell Memorial United Methodist Church in suburban Nashville — one of the five which withheld funds from the board — said, "We feel that we can no longer stand by in the name of Christian stewardship and support those agencies now lobbying against basic Christian morality."

And Bishop Earl Hunt, who has already appealed to the General Conference, issued a statement saying he was gathering support from other bishops to oppose the Board of Discipleship and use of the sex films.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—State Capitol halls were decked out in the Christmas spirit last week, but government slowed to an idle as employees left for the holidays. While taxpayers are mulling the benefits of one week of "less government," they can also enjoy a couple of Christmas presents from the state.

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding announced the treasury received an extra $189 million from interest earned during the fiscal year ending Nov. 30. It was a nice present for Harding, too, since he campaigned on a theme of better money management practices and increased earnings from state cash funds.

Another half-plus for citizens is a State Insurance Board staff proposal to lower premiums on credit life, accident and health insurance.

If the proposal becomes policy, premiums would drop 14 percent on credit life and 10 percent on credit accident and health. Consumers could save $25 to $120 on a typical 2- to 5-year loan, the staff said.

Radioactive "Incidents"

A Department of Health official last week said Texas has had about 300 "incidents" involving radioactive materials, with about 45 involving transportation of the materials.

Ed Baily, administrator of the Radiation Control Branch, defined an "incident" as a case of overexposure of radiation, improper packaging of radiation source shipments, loss of such materials, or anything "out of the ordinary" that calls for special investigation. Baily spoke at a seminar to inform users, shippers, transporters and receivers of such materials about regulatory requirements.

Baily said reporting of transportation incidents was "very good," but that some licensees were hesitant in reporting incidents from fear of bad publicity.

He also said he thought the handling of radioactive materials was better regulated than hazardous chemical wastes.

Special Session

Gov. Bill Clements, concerned about the recent large buildup of radioactive waste in Texas, said creating a nuclear waste storage dump in Texas may be the fourth topic for the special session he intends to call in March or September.

Clements has also said he supports the creation of such a dump in New Mexico, not Texas.

In general, debate on the controversial subject is not centered on the need for a dump, but on its eventual location.

Clements' late concern is an apparent turnaround from his statement last year that Texas was willing to accommodate a nuclear waste dump. Some 2,000 55-gallon drums of waste per month brought into the Galveston area this fall have caused many state officials to rethink the issue.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby thinks any special session would be a waste of tax money. Interviewed on the Capitol Eye radio-television program, Hobby slammed all of Clements' reasons for wanting to bring the Legislature back to Austin:

—Hobby thinks initiative and referendum is a bypass of the legislative process of examination and compromise. Clements is a strong advocate of I&R.

—Hobby thinks wiretapping is an intrusion of government into the lives of private citizens and that controls should be increased. Clements is the state's strongest advocate of increased wiretapping of narcotics traffickers.

—Clements wants broad tax relief measures. Hobby argues that Texas is "one of the lowest-taxing states," and that Texas education already will need more money because of an increase in children in the public school system.

Hobby, who presides over the Senate, and House Speaker Bill Clayton both see no need for the promised special session. Should Clements go ahead and call the legislators back to their chambers, the resulting fireworks may be visible both in Mexico and Oklahoma.

Clements: Defeat Carter

When President Jimmy Carter comes to campaign in Texas, Clements may well toss a rubber chicken onto his presidential dinner plate, just as he did to former Attorney General John Hill, Clements' gubernatorial opponent.

The Republican governor has never been more outspoken in his opposition to the president as he was at a gathering of petroleum officals last week.

Clements urged the petroleum industry to work to defeat Carter at the polls.

And responding to a query about his policy differences with Sen. Edward Kennedy, Clements said: "I'm not sure what Kennedy knows. He certainly didn't know his way to the ferry, did he?"

Later that evening Clements said he was willing to study the establishing of a state aid system in Texas to allow parents to send their children to private schools.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Needlepoint gathers dust

DEAR POLLY — I put needlepoint on the seats and back of two antique chairs and they are now beginning to look dusty. I hope you or one of the readers can tell me how to clean them. — DEE

DEAR DEE — If the needlepoint is only dusty I would go over it with the soft upholstery brush attachment to the vacuum. If it is dirty you might sponge them with a solution of water and a cold water detergent for fine washables and woolens. Do not soak and be very careful to only dampen the top. Test first unless you are sure your colors are fast. The needlepoint shop that advised me of this method said that, of course, the ideal way is to have a professional upholstery cleaner do the job. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Put a wide rubber band around large bottles or jars, such as oil or mayonnaise come in, to keep them from slipping out of your hands when they are dry or wet. — HOPE

DEAR POLLY — With Chrismas not too far away the following may prove useful. Tissue paper can prove to be quite expensive when used in quantities such as needed when packing around a small gift. I save all the tissue that comes around any gifts I received and am saved the cost of buying so much fresh paper. (Polly's Note: The tissue that comes in dress and suit boxes should also be saved for this.)

I use an old half slip as a nightie when the weather is warm. Pull the elastic over your chest and have a pretty, very cool and comfortable nightgown. — M.B.B.

DEAR POLLY — A quick and easy way to skim the grease off the top of homemade soup is to drop a lettuce leaf in the pot and leave until the grease is absorbed. — E.N.

DEAR POLLY — After peeling onions I remove the odor left on my hands by using a bit of toothpaste when I wash them. — JUDY

DEAR POLLY — I need extra storage space in my kitchen and would like to use a metal cabinet that has been in the basement for about 14 years, but it is rusted and peeling in spots. What can I do to make it presentable looking? — MRS. A.Z.

DEAR MRS. A.Z. — You could use a wire brush or heavy sandpaper around a brick to remove the rust and peeling paint. When all is smooth apply a metal primer and then paint it a color that will look well in your kitchen. If you would like to do it quickly and easily try heavy adhesive-backed paper to cover the cabinet after it is sanded smooth. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I would like to tell Louise that I cleaned my crystal chandelier with a solution of electric dishwasher detergent and water that I put in a spray bottle. This liquid and a soft cloth did a good job with no spotting or smearing. — DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY — When I visit my deaf aunt I take along a child's magic slate. I write what I want to say on the slate and she answers verbally. I lift the page to erase what has been said and continue to write something else so we are able to carry on a conversation without my having to yell and her having to pretend she heard what I said.

I save all TV dinner trays and then when I have several leftovers I fill the compartments to make my own frozen diners. It is surprising how good they taste after a couple of weeks or so. I heat such dinners in a 400-degree oven for 40 mintes or so. — SHIRLEY

DEAR POLLY — My pantyhose and knee-highs always get holes in the toes, especially those with sandal feet. I sew above such a hole with a short zigzag machine stitch and make a curve at each end. Then I cut off the hole leaving a one-eighth inch seam. Turn the hose and they are good as new. — KAY

DEAR POLLY — I bought an antique chest of drawers and the outside was completely stripped and refinished but my problem is with the inside and the drawers. I have thoroughly washed it and used various commercial deodorizers but to no avail. This chest is to be used for baby clothes and I want it to smell as fresh as possible. I plan to use scented drawer liners but would like to get rid of the musty odor first. — CARLA

DEAR CARLA — Try to get some cedar shavings from a lumber yard and then loosely fill an old nylon stocking: Leave these for a time and hopefully the chest will smell like a cedar chest.

Each drawer could be filled with crushed newspaper and left closed for a couple of weeks if that is easier for you. Charcoal in an open container is another possibility. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I do not use much milk but I do like to have some on hand for my coffee. Having it spoil so often caused me to try freezing milk in ice cube trays. One cube is just right for a cup of coffee and I am no longer stuck with sour milk. — LOU P.

DEAR POLLY — When we were living in Hawaii I learned to wash my black lacquer pieces with a strong solution of tea, then wipe dry with a soft clean cloth and shine to a high luster. I do not know if this will be of help to Estelle who has a ring on her lacquer table left by a vase but it would not hurt to try.

I freeze pureed tomatoes in ice cube trays and then store the cubes in plastic bags in the freezer. When a little tomato flavor is needed for soups, etc. I just pop out as many cubes as needed. — EVELYN

Names in the News

DENVER (AP) - Henry Fonda will be honored by the American National Theatre and Academy tonight as part of the week's opening festivities for the newest part of the Denver Center for the Performing Arts.

Fonda's tribute, which will include a banquet at the Denver Country Club, will the seventh such award by the ANTA. Past recipients included Helen Hayes, Rosalind Russell and Fred Astaire.

The ceremony will follow a performance of Moliere's "The Learned Ladies."

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Following up on his assessment of ERA supporters as "moral perverts," former Michigan Gov. George Romney says the legislation will "legitimize" homosexuality.

Romney is a member of the Mormon church, which opposes the Equal Rights Amendment. Last month, he labeled its supporters moral perverts.

"Surely this resolution and its supporting statements are designed to legitimize sex and social relationships other than those that form the basis of divinely ordained marriage, parenthood, family and home," he said in a letter printed in Tuesday's Deseret News.

To become law, the ERA must be approve by 38 states. The ratification deadline is June 30, 1982. To date, the amendment has been approved by 35 states, but five have since rescinded approval.

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., combining politics with health service, substituted for some staff members at Milwaukee area hospitals and nursing homes to give them a holiday off.

After supplying the 36 residents of St. John's Home and Tower with beverages on New Year's Day, Proxmire apologized to a white-uniformed staff member for mixing up the items on a serving counter. Then it was off to a nearby table for some relaxed banter with his constituents.

Chatting with three ladies who had just finished eating, Proxmire agreed that the weather in Wisconsin had been unusually warm. But he said he knew the reason. "I brought the hot air in from Washington. We have a lot of hot air there."

Generic Products Gain Favor With Price-Conscious Buyers

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A growing number of consumers are asking "What's in a name?" as generic or "no-name" grocery products spread across the shelves of the nation's supermarkets.

For some shoppers, the answer seems to be: Not much, except a higher price.

The generics — standard or low-grade items in plain packages — were introduced in this country almost three years ago. Today, according to a recent report in the National Food Review of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, they are available in about 11,000 stores operated by 125 grocery firms.

"Generic is the low-price label that is here to stay," the magazine said.

The USDA said individual generic lines range up to 150 food and non-food products. As a general rule, the non-foods have been most popular. In the food area, the best sellers are kernel corn, green beans, peas, whole tomatoes, fruit cocktail, ketchup and peaches. "These products are generally used as ingredients in other dishes where color and quality are not considered critical," the USDA noted.

Generics now account for from 5 percent to 15 percent of sales and, according to the USDA, some industry executives expect that by the end of next year, up to one grocery dollar in four may be spent on the bare-bones items.

The primary appeal of the generics is their low price. They are, on the average, about one-third cheaper than national brands and from 10 percent to 15 percent less expensive than private-label items.

Savings come from a variety of factors. Canned fruits and vegetables are standard grade rather than fancy or extra fancy; they have the same nutritional value as the more expensive items, but are often irregular in appearance. Tissues are unscented. Packages are simple — a plain white wrapper with black lettering may be all you get. There is little or no advertising. Coupons and bonus promotions are rare.

It is important to shop around and test products. Some generics may be perfectly acceptable. Others may fall short. A low-price detergent, for example, is no bargain if you need twice as much of it to get your clothes clean.

The USDA checked the prices of 13 food items in the spring of 1978, comparing national brands and generics. It found that the generics were from 8 percent to 42 percent cheaper than the name products.

When it checked the same items a year late, it found that the price gap had widened. The average price of the generics, said the USDA, increased by 4 percent. The average price of the national brands rose by 10 percent.

SOCIAL SECURITY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 34.6 million Americans collected Social Security benefits in 1978, the American Council of Life Insurance notes.

The council says this was up 500,000 — or 1.5 percent — from a year earlier.

The cost of these benefits rose 9.8 percent, it says, as benefits topped $92.8 billion in 1978, up from $84.6 billion in 1977. A major reason for the increase is the cost-of-living escalator built into the Social Security program that adjusts benefits upward to keep pace with inflation.

Ex-Miner Expert on Westerns

POCAHONTAS, Va. (NEA) - The talkative, white-haired man doesn't look at all like a collector of movie relics.

He sucks constantly on a corncob pipe right out of Dogpatch. His floppy hat and overalls make him look like a yawning oldtimer content to hang around the wood stove all day, deciding nothing more substantial than whether snuff or Red Man will be his afternoon companion.

Yet the retired coal miner with only a few working teeth boasts probably the world's largest collection of cowboy movie posters from the silent film days.

Edgar Shew figures he has more than 350 cardboard and paper posters promoting the films of Tom Mix, the Hoxie brothers, Fred Thomson, William Boyd, Buck Jones and many other cowboy types whose careers flourished from around 1915 until 1928, when the dastardly talkies became commercially profitable.

"Haven't been any decent pictures made since the start of the Depression," says the grizzled oldtimer who looks for the world like the inevitable sidekick in all those cowboy movies. "I reckon that's why I haven't been to the movie show in 50 years."

Shew is a purist — cowboy silent films or nothing.

"To me, no other kind of movie has any plot to it," the overalled film critic says.

Shew knows of some cowboy posters that collectors have bought for upwards of $150 each. And he figures his only known poster of Bronco Billy Anderson is worth even more than that.

"But I can't see me selling any of my collection though," he says with a grin, "because then I wouldn't be able to look at 'em."

Shew is a historian as well as a collector.

When he's not hoeing or harvesting on his 13-acre farm, he is scrounging for information on old Westerns. He has made many contacts with other collectors over the years and often has swapped old guns for posters and vintage Zane Grey books.

He has laboriously researched every silent Western ever made and tells anyone who wants to listen about the actors, the plots, the film studios and the locations where the movies were filmed.

A highlight of Shew's collection is his Tom Mix memorabilia.

"He was the greatest," says Shew of the star of "Riders of the Purple Sage" and other classics. "People can talk about John Wayne all they want to, but for my money Tom Mix was better."

Shew can tell you that Mix was once a bona fide Texas Ranger who hit the silver screen by accident.

"He heard there were some strange goings-on at the movie set, so he rode over to investigate," Shew recounts. "The camera happened to pick him up coming in on that big horse and I guess you could say a star was born that very minute."

Shew was injured in the coal mines in 1952 — about the time mechanization was beginning to spell the end for pick-and-shovel boys like him — and he finally called it quits three years later.

It was then his interest in the silent-screen Westerns intensified.

Though Shew has only a sixth-grade education, he helped establish a newsletter that is distributed to lovers of stagecoaches, six-guns and cowboy cliff-hangers. And he is acknowledged in at least one book on the subject.

"I only wish I could have been one of those cowboy actors," he says. "Of course, in the '20s I was always too busy digging coal to think about doing much else.

"I'm afraid I never got to see Tom Mix or Hoxie or Boyd or any of 'em in person, either."

But Shew saw his favorites many times inside the theaters that dotted the coalfields in those days.

"I got most of my posters from outside the old movie houses and sometimes, I'm ashamed to admit, I swiped some of the posters before the particular picture ever left town."

If Shew saw a poster he wanted, no risk was too great. Take the time in 1927 when he was riding the train from the mines to his Pocahontas home.

"Trains were slow in those days, about 14 miles an hour or so," he recalls. "Anyway, while I was riding the rails one day I spied a cardboard poster of Tom Mix on a telephone pole by the track.

"Now you just didn't see cardboard posters in those days, so I got real interested in grabbing hold of that little item. We got a little closer and I decided it was either then or never, so I jumped off the train and pulled the poster from the pole.

"I ran like a wild man, and a mile or so later I caught up with the train and finished my trip."

Shew is one of those fellows who likes to concentrate on one field of endeavor. He has no vehicle. And no wife.

"I ran after the women for a spell but then I thought better of it," he grins. "But I don't have any regrets about that or not having a car or about anything else except when the fools took all the saloons out of the coal towns."

So the fellow with the long Southern drawl keeps the cowboy tradition alive inside the simple white frame house that rests on top of a mountain.

Shew lights his corncob pipe and takes another pull from his corn liquor bottle. Then he looks fondly at a smiling poster of Tom Mix.

"Times were true back in those days," he says as a frown displaces his normally happy countenance. "Even the bad guys were good guys in their own way."
