Mayor Proclaims Community Improvement And Beautification Week June 16-21

PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS — The economic prosperity of Floydada is directly affected by the physical appearance and the environmental condition of the community; and,

WHEREAS — The health, safety, and welfare of the city must be maintained to a high degree by the recognition and concern of its inhabitants; and,

WHEREAS — An attractive and well-maintained community will provide a more pleasant and desirable place in which to live and raise a family; increases the value of property; more ably attracts industry as a site for new plants; appears more inviting for tourists to visit and stay; conveys an asset instead of a liability to future generations; and,

WHEREAS — City Ordinance #396 provides for the establishment of an annual clean-up campaign for the purpose of clearing weeds, removing trash and refuse from lots within the City of Floydada; and,

WHEREAS — It is the special interest and desire of the City of Floydada and the Floydada Chamber of Commerce to encourage local businesses, clubs, youth organizations, and residential homeowners to improve and beautify their property.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Parnell Powell, Mayor of the City of Floydada,

Texas, do hereby declare the week of June 16 through 21 and designate the same as Floydada Community Improvement and Beautification Week to be observed by all citizens of Floydada, and urge that special attention of the declarations above named be made.

/s/ Parnell Powell, Mayor

It's The Law!

In conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce "1975 Community Improvement and Beautification Week," the City of Floydada has started its weed and rubbish removal program which calls for all property in Floydada to be in compliance with City Ordinances #396 and 487.

Both ordinances make it unlawful for anyone to permit any rubbish, brush, or other objectionable, or unsightly matter to accumulate or to be present on any parcel of land within the city. These legal ordinances also prohibit anyone from permitting weeds and grass to grow to a height greater than twelve (12) inches. The basic intent of the ordinances is to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Floydada by eliminating definite health and safety hazards. It is also pointed out that overgrowth of grass and weeds provides excellent breeding areas for mosquitoes and other insects.

The Chamber of Commerce would like to thank the City of Floydada for its cooperation in the city-wide beautification campaign. The City will be available to make special pick-up of full alley containers; and will demolish houses and remove debris (with written permission from owner), and pick up large amounts of litter. There will be no charge for these services. For home owners who would like to have their weeds mowed, the City will cut weeds for a nominal $5.00 per lot.

For any of these services call the City Offices at 983-2834.

Clean-Up Week Parade!

Something different will be added to the Floydada Community Improvement and Beautification week program Monday. A parade will officially begin the week's activities.

The parade will start at 9 o'clock Monday morning in front of city hall, travel to Main street, then south to California, around the square and west on Missouri to Second street.

Then the column proceeds south to the Matador highway and down it to the Silverton Highway, then north to Della Plains school and west to tenth street, then proceeding south to Missouri, then right to Wall street, right again to Virginia and left to city hall and there disperse.

Several different and interesting "floats" are scheduled for the parade, according to Art Ratzlaff, parade marshal. Everything is designed to call your attention to the task at hand: cleaning, painting and generally beautifying Floydada. "We'd like to call everyone's attention to the program the Floydada Chamber of Commerce is trying to promote. Floydada needs more business and we can't expect people to want our products if they don't look desirable," he said. "If you want to be in the parade, come on down, bring your garden tools for decoration if you like, and join the fun."

Mackenzie Awaits Summer Rainfall

Mackenzie Water Authority board members have reversed the old adage, "Pray for sunshine but be prepared for rain," as they wait hopefully for the area's traditional heavy summer showers.

Recently completed Mackenzie Dam is not receiving any water now except from springs, say Lon Davis Jr. of Floydada, Authority president, adding "The reservoir will never fill until we get some rain."

Water now in the dam is 30 to 35 feet deep in the deepest part, John Tole of Tulsa, temporary manager for Mackenzie, reports. He said 50,000 catfish and 15,000 other fish, including two kinds of trout, have been placed in the lake.

But don't get out the old fishing pole yet. No fishing is allowed. "There will be no activity at the lake until we get sufficient rainfall to fill it," Davis emphasized, "and the lake will not be open to the public until we secure proper fresh drinking water and restroom facilities."

Need More Water

"The fish are not old or large enough to provide successful fishing anyway," Davis added. "It is important for more water to be in the lake, giving the small fish a wider range and possible faster growth."

Davis stated the Authority is asking for a feasibility report from an engineering firm concerning installation of a sewage system. He also said lots are being platted but so far the Authority does not know what size they will be.

"We are now trying to hire a permanent manager," explained Davis, "and we expect in time to build him a residence at the lake."

"We are not going to build a water treatment plant at this time."

Tole said West Texas State University students in cooperation with the Texas Wildlife Department are making examinations of the water

I ALWAYS LIKE to hear a man talk about himself because then I never hear anything but good. Will Rogers

THE LION BOSS'S Boss was a guest at the Floydada Lion luncheon Thursday. Eleanor Hendrix was present to see her husband Bill officiate as president for the last time before the installation of new officers.

Installation of new officers was a hilarious program from start to finish. Outgoing president Bill was roasted before he could get out of office.

Dr. Charles Craig started the roasting with a twist on Bill's comments "half do the work, half do nothing" and "Andrew Jackson said it is a poor man who can't spell a word more than one way ... and it's a poor Lion president who can't pronounce a man's name more than one way." President Bill responded to this with "Thank you and sit down, Dr. Croog."

Tony Whitfill told about the time Bill wrote his wife a note that he was gone to the store and would be back in 15 minutes. Bill returned from the store, read the note and sat down to wait 15 minutes. Tony said another time Bill called Eleanor from Lubbock to come get him. Eleanor asked where in Lubbock he was. Bill looked out the phone booth at the street sign and replied, "I'm at the corner of walk and don't walk."

Lion Art Ratzlaff pulled an Aggie riddle on Bill, which he couldn't answer. Lion Ed Wester got off on the longest bull story you ever heard, and I'm not sure about the punch line except the bull and a ferry boat sounded alike.

Lion Ray McDonald told about the time Bill was in the hog business. He passed by one afternoon when Bill was feeding the hogs. Ray asked Bill, "don't you waste a lot of time just feeding hogs?" Bill replied, "naw ... what's time to a hog?"

To top off the roasting Lion Dallas Ramsey presented a certificate to Bill with all his achievements listed while serving as president. Bill accepted the plaque, glanced at it and found it was completely blank.

I think Jimmy Willson summed up the roasting well when he said to Bill, "Bill, what we're really saying is, you're a great guy, and we appreciate your service and dedication to our club."

It's Dairy Month... Pecan Prospects... Crops Continue to Progress.

TENT CATERPILLAR, walnut caterpillar, or webworms are causing damage to pecan trees and other trees in many parts of central and south central Texas. But in spite of this and recent wet weather, the pecan crop continues to make progress.

A survey was made recently of the pecan producing areas in West Texas by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Pecan trees in commercial orchards in that area total 401,900. Commercial orchards included in the survey each had 20 trees or more.

The 401,900 trees are on 7,520 acres in 19 West Texas counties. This represents an average of 53.4 trees per acre.

Growers intend to plant about 1,250 trees during the rest of this year. Virtually all West Texas pecan trees are under some type of irrigation.

Counties involved in the survey are Andrews, Brewster, Crane, Culberson, Ector, El Paso, Glasscock, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Ward, and Winkler.

WHILE COTTON AND SORGHUM planting for the state is nearing completion, harvest of wheat and oats is well underway. Rains have delayed harvest to some extent. Harvest thus far is only about half that compared to a year ago for wheat. Oat harvest is less than a fourth completed; a year ago about half that crop had been harvested. Flax harvest is complete.

Rice planting is finished; soybean planting has passed the halfway mark; peanut planting is also more than 50 per cent complete.

Keeping Rural Areas Freer Of Crime

WASHINGTON, June 3 — Crime in small towns and rural areas is inching upward just as it is in big cities. But the rate of crime in big cities makes the rural crime rate look small by comparison.

Take burglary. The chance of your home being burglarized is 2.5 times greater in urban areas than it is in a rural community. Car theft is seven times greater in cities. And your chance of being robbed in a large city is nearly 14 times greater than it is in rural neighborhoods — in New York City it's 49 times greater.

These comparisons come from FBI reports. What is not explained is why rural and small town regions are safer and freer of crime.

One recent Ohio study found that 60 percent of those caught for committing crimes in rural areas were from cities and that 74 percent of those caught

Appeal To Texas Farmers To Return Farm Census Report Forms

Letters appealing to 99 thousand Texas farmers to return completed report forms for the 1974 Census of Agriculture are being mailed by the Bureau of the Census. In January, 323 thousand forms were mailed to Texas farmers and residents associated with agriculture and so far, 69 percent have been mailed back or otherwise accounted for.

Bureau officials say this is the last in the planned series of follow-up letters, as collection of census data is scheduled to be closed out June 30. In addition, telephone calls are being made to selected farmers who have not yet returned the forms in order to obtain information about their 1974 agricultural operations.

Everyone who received a form should return it, even those not actively engaged in farming, such as landlords or those no longer farming. That information can be noted on the form which should be mailed back in the envelope provided.

Response to the census is mandatory by law. By the same law, all information about individual farms is confidential and can be used only for statistical purposes.

Farmers can refer to farm business records for many of the figures called for in the form. When records are not available, reasonable estimates are fully acceptable. Bureau officials say. Return of the completed forms is essential in order that published statistics on agriculture for each county and for the State will be accurate.

Results of the census will affect farmers in many ways. Major agricultural suppliers and marketing organizations base their decisions on census statistics. Thus, they can affect the availability of goods and services in many farming communities.

Any future allocation were less than 30 years old. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Will Erwin believes there are two basic reasons why people in small towns and rural com-programs for such critical production inputs as fuel and fertilizer will bear a direct relationship to the crop acreages and animal units reported in the census.

Leadership Lab June 17-19

LEVELLAND — Nearly 200 young leaders from 4-H clubs in 20 South Plains counties will participate in a district leadership lab June 17-19.

Site of the three-day summer workshop is South Plains College, according to Doyle G. Warren and Sharon Hillis, County Extension agents with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A team of older teens will assist with conducting sessions throughout the lab.

The youths, supervised by 4-H adult leaders and agents, will perform a variety of activities ranging from group learning and discussion sessions to game tournaments and special morning and evening ceremonies. Emphasis will be on a human relations approach to communications skills.

Activities will be geared toward helping the young leaders learn to express themselves and their ideas, and to develop solutions to problems through group processes. Time for relaxation and fun will provide the teens with opportunities to make new friends.

The annual leadership lab helps 4-H youth to develop skills for working with younger club members and provides opportunity for them to broaden their friendships and develop leadership qualities.

Those 4-Hers attending from Floyd County are: Curtis Smalley, Jim Kelly, Rodney Ratheal, Jeff Berrand, Darlene Broseh, Leeta Adams, Leanne Ferguson, and Carla Burleson.

Soybean Pitch For Austrians

HUDSON, Iowa — The ability of the United States to provide a steady supply of soybeans for overseas customers will be stressed to members of a team of Austrian animal nutritionists who will visit this country during the latter half of June.

The study trip, arranged by the American Soybean Association (ASA) in cooperation with the USDA Foreign Agricultural Service, will also focus on the improvement of livestock and poultry production through the use of modern soybean meal-based rations, according to Dr. Keith Smith, ASA animal nutritionist.

Smith explained that Austria relied heavily upon soybean imports from the United States prior to the July 1973 export embargo on soybeans, but that the embargo prompted the Austrian government to look elsewhere for the country's oilseed needs.

"We hope to convince these men that the embargo was a mistake our government will not repeat and that the United States can produce an ample supply of soybeans for both domestic and foreign customers," said Smith.

The team includes an official of the Austrian Ministry of Agriculture, a college agriculture professor and two officials of a major mixed feed producing firm.

In the Amarillo, Tex., area, they will review cattle feeding on the High Plains and visit Producers Grain Corporation. In the Plain-

The Floyd Philosopher Takes A Look At Mal-Practice Problem And Goes Off In All Directions

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reviews the mal-practice situation this week, in his own way.

Dear editor:

While it may be true that a bunch of writers went on strike one time and nobody noticed, I'm still having difficulty realizing that doctors have now taken up the strike weapon. But it's true of course, as everybody who are taking only emergency cases until something is done about the high price they have to pay for mal-practice insurance.

It just occurred to me that while they're on strike they might use some of their spare time to weed their ranks of the people who're causing their high insurance rates — their mal-practicing members. No use following the legal profession's custom of generally not disbaring any member until he's spent at least two months in the penitentiary. This is in contrast to the writing profession, which has no standards for admittance and no by-laws for kicking anybody out. Makes no difference, you can continue writing in or out of jail. Sew up a story with a sponge left inside and nobody sues you.

But speaking of mal-practice was just wondering, you're something somebody is going to sue you for insurance against mal-teaching here you spend all that time sending a kid to school and comes out about as ignorant as some of them even have trouble learning to read? And that's some teachers who ought to be themselves against a damage by-laws either for barring forever hear of a teacher losing a certificate because a pupil graduated to read? And that's thousands of graduates who've having passed courses in a few and not 2 per cent of them. Thousands of them spent two French, for example, and if pictures couldn't even understand postcard.

Speaking of insurance, do you a person can buy some insurance higher insurance rates?

High Plains cotton farmers, struggling to sharply disappointing production and prices in the going mostly uphill for 1975 and maybe Criswell of Idalou, President of Lubbock-based Growers, Inc., "but there are now signs we'll if we just hang on."

Criswell made this observation on his return annual National Cotton Outlook Conference in D.C. May 29-30. The Conference, sponsored by the Cotton Foundation, of Memphis, Tennessee, "future-oriented" program with participation cotton, textile, chemical, machinery and representatives from USDA and the Rockefeller Foundation. Attendance was limited to about 70 invited researchers and officials from across the nation.

Speakers representing farm suppliers virtually adequate machinery, fuel and chemicals would meet foreseeable needs, but gave no hope for lower costs, the PCG President reported. He quoted Ray Wright, Director of the American Institute's Refining Department, as saying "diesel, gasoline and other fuels are almost a certainty this part of the program, along with state Conference by agricultural researchers that could about reached their maximum for the time being to observe that "With per pound production instead of down, our only salvation for the higher market prices and/or greater price government programs."

Four cotton producer representatives appeared on a panel to discuss production trends as composite of their views generally agreed with feeling that 1975 U.S. cotton acreage will fall to projected 9.9 million acres. As others have speculated U.S. acreage at between 9.3 and 9.8 million greatest reduction below earlier planting intentions the Mid-South and Southeast.

Texas acreage was estimated at 4.6 million by Dan Davis of Lubbock, who also said High Plains fall in a range from 2.3 to 2.6 million. Donald May, Director of Economic Information American Textile Manufacturer's Institute, said 75 slump in demand for textile products bottoming, predicted a gradual upturn in demand subsequent increase in cotton consumption. Criswell May also said rising prices of natural gas and oil boost the price of synthetic fibers, making competitive textile fiber.

TEXAS BOATING INCREASING

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department registered over 453,000 boats last year and department field offices are reporting an increase in 1975.

Revenue from these new boats, renewals, transfers of title and duplicates of registration totaled over $1,708,800.

The increase of new boat owners and operators along with the seasoned boaters have created some problems on area lakes and conditions for boating accidents become evident. The P & W department keeps records of all boating accidents that occur or are reported in Texas and this information is sometimes surprising to the department and state boaters.

"For the first quarter of 1975, we have already reported 22 boating accidents with 11 fatalities," Joel Block, water safety coordinator said today.

"It is apparent the young boat operators are not as dangerous nor do they cause most of the accidents," Block continued. "The 26 to 50 year old operators are involved in the majority of the accidents and most of these boaters have over 500 hours of experience."

Most of the accidents occur on a clear, calm day with a light wind from 12 noon to 7 p.m. in boats with high horsepower engines.

If you are involved in a boating accident and there is a death or an injury that requires professional attention or property damage exceeds $50, you are required to submit a written report within 30 days to the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department.

If you are involved in a boating accident, you must stop and render such assistance as practicable and necessary with due regard for your boat and other persons.

Courtesy on the water is just as important as courtesy on the highway and in some instances, it is required by law.

Shower Honors

Sheri Roberts

A shower June 7 in the Lockney home of Mrs. Bill McCarter honored Miss Sheri Roberts, bride-elect of Jerry Miller. The couple will be married July 5 in the Farwell Church of Christ.

Miss Roberts wore a corsage of pink gladiolas. With her in the receiving line were her mother, Mrs. Lynn Roberts of Farwell, and Maureen Thompson, aunt of the groom, from Wichita Falls.

Miss Kay McCarter and Miss Kathy Hunter assisted in displaying gifts.

Refreshments of frozen punch, assorted cookies and nuts were served by Miss Janie Carter. The serving table was covered with a solid pink cloth with white fringe, centered with fresh cut flowers in a milk glass container. Pink candles in milk glass holders, milk glass punch bowl, cups and plates completed the table decorations. Napkins were pink, with the names of the prospective bride and groom in silver.

Hostesses were Meses. Dee Copeland, Martin Bradley, Wilbur Mize, Wayne Bramlet, Bryan Smith, R. W. Smith, Joe Zorger, Omar Burleson, R. L. Knox, Harvey Ward, Lloyd Wolford, Jerry Cawley, and

Mrs. Faye Holmes, all of Lockney. Mrs. Guy Peoples, Plainview, Miss Glenda Cooper and Miss Janie Carter, Lockney. The hostess gift was a nine-piece set of Faberware.

A special gift was presented by employees of Lockney Elementary School. A quilt square was hand painted or appliqued by each individual, and Mrs. Raymond Watson put the squares together to make a quilt top.

Mrs. R. K. Reynolds, the former Kit Martin, and her 18 month old baby, in company with Denise Chadwick of Floydada, left Lubbock Saturday morning, June 14, for Dallas, then to New York where they emplaned to Transval, Republic of South Africa. Mrs. Reynolds has been in Floydada visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Martin, at the same time as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin and Dwane of the Hilton Natal, Republic of South Africa.

The Fred Martins will remain here for a longer visit before returning home. Dwayne plans to attend college in the states this fall and work as a counselor in a summer camp.

Miss Chadwick plans to visit in Transval with Kit and family several weeks before returning to Floydada.

Janet Watts Receives Degree In Nursing

Janet Sue Watts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. (Red) Watts of Floydada, who has been attending the University of Texas School of Nursing at San Antonio, was among 421 candidates receiving Bachelor of Science Nursing degrees at the University of Texas in Austin last month.

Miss Watts, a 1970 graduate of Floydada High School, graduated with honors, maintaining a grade average of 3.47 out of a possible 4.0.

She is presently employed in general surgery at Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

Homebuilders Meet In Williams' Home

Homebuilders Home Demonstration Club met June 10 in the home of Mrs. Raymond Williams for a program on "Cook It Right" and "Take A Weed To Lunch." Mrs. Bill Smith gave the first portion of the program and Mrs. Ian Moore, the second part.

Mrs. Ruth Trapp presided over the business session and the devotional was read by the hostess.

Mrs. Smith opened the program by stating that frozen meat can be cooked very successfully by allowing one and a half times the normal cooking time. Place frozen meat in a large roasting pan which has been lined with foil. Leave a generous overlap on each side making a tent, fold across top, leaving sides open. This way the meat will stay juicy, letting steam escape. When one-third of the cooking time has elapsed, brush the meat with seasoned oil and cover as before. When two-thirds cooked, turn back foil completely so meat can brown. Brush frequently with oil.

In cooking green vegetables, Mrs. Smith said the best results was to use a small amount of boiling water — not more than one-half inch in bottom of pan. Cook first three minutes uncovered to allow acids to escape in the steam. Remove vegetables from the pan when they are slightly underdone. They will finish cooking from their own heat, retaining all the food value and vitamins possible.

Mrs. Moore's program was most informative as she displayed and told of edible and nutritious weeds adaptable to our area. The dandelion, (the smooth and serrated leaf), wild onion, oxalis, (or sorrell), purslane (pursley), poke salad, lamb's quarter, the hen-bit and the dock can be found abundantly, and are most nutritious to us as well as our pocketbooks, Mrs. Moore said.

She gave some of her past experiences saying "if it were not for some of the wild greens, my survival would have been impossible during war time."

Mrs. Moore said the milk weed, pig weed, prickly pear, Russian thistle, sun flower and watercress are also palatable. Most cooked greens should be pre-boiled, but know your weed before you add it to your menu, Mrs. Moore stressed.

Meeting adjourned to reconvene June 24 in the Moore home.

Mrs. Williams served refreshments to Meses. Doris Huckabay, Elmer Norrell, Ernie Widener, Ruth Trapp, Bill Smith, and Ian Moore.

YARD OF THE WEEK Chosen by the Women's Division, Commerce, is that of Mrs. Bob Muncy. The first person in the experiment with replacing grass plots with gravel, rock and cactus Muncy has proven how compatible this can be with the traditional shade-tree yard. "I have collected my big rocks from wherever I have said Mrs. Muncy, as she pointed out a rock from John Wayne's ranch of lava from Hawaii. A petrified log that has been in her family for rocks brought to her by friends and relatives, are spaced attractively large and small cactus and shrubs. The rest of the yard is beautifully shade trees, bufordi holly hedges, ivy beds, big pots of geraniums, and bed of bright flowers. Mrs. Muncy cares for her yard and enjoys it mention goes to Mr. and Mrs. Mal Jarboe. STAFF PHOTO

Early Services Begin At First Methodist

This is for the convenience of people who want to attend church early and go on with other plans during the day. The service will be informal, casual dress is suggested.

RENAISSANCE MUSICAL GROUP COMING TO METHODIST CHURCH

Renaissance, a group of ten college age Christian musicians who combine the familiar with the contemporary, will appear in concert at First United Methodist Church of Floydada on Thursday, June 19, at 8:00 p.m. The group, directed by John Merrell of Dallas, is made up of young people from California, Oregon, Michigan, Texas, and Kansas. They first recorded on the Tempo label as "The New Californians." A subsequent Tempo album earned them a Special Merit Award from Billboard Magazine.

Since its beginning, Renaissance has performed more than 1500 concerts in the United States, Europe and the Bahamas. In addition to their evening concerts, these musicians are active in special day-time presentations including school assemblies and service clubs. They were the feature group on the CBS "Newcomers Show," the summer replacement for Carol Burnett, where they were selected from more than 2,000 professional groups who auditioned.

Renaissance is undoubtedly the only group of its type in the world to incorporate a puppet show into its performances. The puppets participate by presenting some humorous musical numbers, a different view of some familiar Bible truths. The musical stylings of the Renaissance promise repore with the audience. Their variable program includes patriotic numbers, contemporary songs, spirituals, and the old hymns selected and arranged by San Diego composer, Otis Skillings.

According to Webster, the word "renaissance" means "revival" or "rebirth." John Merrell says that the purpose of the group is indeed renaissance, not only in music but in the Spirit. Renaissance has one goal; to present the good news of Jesus Christ in such a way that those who hear will be reborn.

The Renaissance concert, sponsored by the Methodist Church and its youth department, is free, and the public is invited.

Lockney Gets New Doctor

Dr. Larry Reed will be associated with Lockney General Hospital and Clinic beginning June 30.

Reed, 35, was born and reared in Dallas, graduated from high school at age 16, graduated from the University of Texas, was accepted at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at age 19 and graduated at age 24. He did a rotating internship at Methodist Hospital in Dallas and served in the U.S. Navy from 1964 to 1968 as a flight surgeon. He attended flight surgeon school at Pensacola, Florida and was stationed near Phoenix for two years and in California for a year.

He returned to Dallas until January, 1971, when he and his family decided they didn't wish to live in a large city and wanted to move to a smaller area. They moved to West Texas, where Dr. Reed has been associated with the Hale Center hospital.

Reed is 35 years old, plays tennis, and is taking music lessons. Both he and his wife like to hunt, and both are white-water canoeing enthusiasts.

Mrs. Reed (Gwen), 33, attended Texas Tech University but grew up in the Dallas area. She lists among her hobbies sewing, macrame, and needlepoint. She is bilingual and enjoys working with Spanish-speaking students who need help in school to improve their English.

The Reeds have one son, Chance, who will be 12 years old in August. He is also interested in tennis and canoeing and is a Boy Scout.

The Reeds say they hope to buy a small farm in the Lockney area and build a house.

Dr. William J. Mangold, Jr. will leave the staff of Lockney General Hospital June 24. Mangold will finish residency training in general surgery and plastic surgery in Norfolk, Virginia.
