Dulles Blasts Russia On German Question

Russia's Cold War Returns, Official Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—"The failure of the Geneva conference has brought the cold war back," a top-level administration leader said today.

He said that "in the light of this, the administration is re-examining its programs, and is prepared to make any changes that are necessary."

The policy maker, declining to be quoted by name, said that budget-balancing aims would be subordinated to "necessities" of the developing new situation.

He said that cuts in foreign aid spending are "not now contemplated . . . There may be some shifts, and changes in emphasis, in the foreign aid program, but there won't be much difference" between this year's and next year's outlays.

"The administration's policies are flexible, and they will be shifted as needed," he added.

The administration leader unqualifiedly termed "a failure" the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting ending today at Geneva.

He said "the tense situation in the Middle East" is further concrete evidence that "the cold war is back."

What this will mean in terms of the administration's aim to balance the budget this year and keep it balanced is not yet clear, the official indicated.

In September, John B. Hollister, head of the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid, told reporters after a trip to Europe that the situation had improved so much there that some cutdown in foreign economic aid outlays could begin immediately, and be carried over into next year.

Now, it appeared from the administration policy maker's views based on Russia's intransigent attitude at Geneva and developments in the Middle East, any savings on economic aid may have to be spent on increased military assistance abroad.

Current programs for the year ending next June 30 contemplate spending of $1,750,000,000 for economic aid abroad and $2,150,000,000 for military aid.

The Defense Department has already indicated that defense outlays are on the way up.

Defense spending programs, like all others, the administration leader indicated, will be reviewed in the light of the new situation.

But even with increased outlays, the administration could still balance the budget if tax receipts increased sufficiently.

HE'S THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT—Adlai Stevenson, who was the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952, waves after he announced in Chicago, that he seeks the nomination in 1956.

Acheson Hits U. S. Program Of Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new attack on the government's loyalty-security program came today from former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who charged the Eisenhower administration has magnified a "grave mistake" of President Truman into Moscow-like purge tactics.

Acheson, a close friend of the former president, says in a new book—"A Democrat Looks at His Party'—Harper & Bros. $3—that Truman intended his 1947 order setting up the security program to be carried out "with fairness and restraint" but that the opposite has happened.

"It's warping effect,' Acheson declared, "has gravely affected the liberty of the individual in and out of government to think and speak as he pleases and to live and work in the creative atmosphere of freedom and respect."

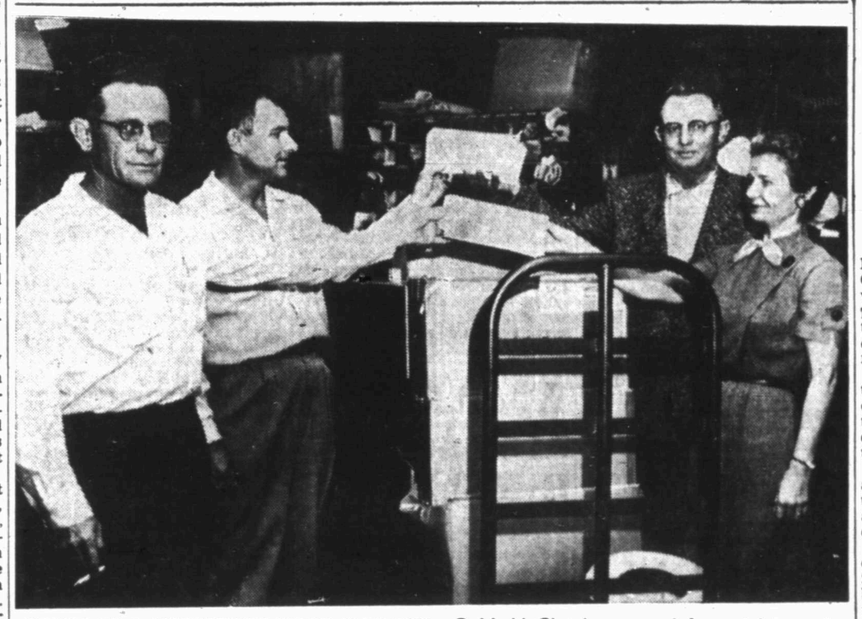
Acheson, as Truman's secretary of state from 1949 to 1953, was in the center of the communism-in-government controversy. His widely quoted remark that he would never turn his back on Alger Hiss added fuel to the flames of that controversy.

The former State Department head, now in private law practice, does not discuss the case of Hiss, a one-time State Department official who has served a prison term for perjury involving the leakage of official documents to a pre-World War II Soviet spy ring.

Acheson says the Eisenhower administration has sought in many instances to impose "thought control" on federal workers and he says the attitude of Atty. Gen. Brownell "is unhappily typical of the authoritarian mind."

Brownell, in a comment not linked directly to Acheson's criticism, said yesterday he favors changing the employe security program by removing the mandatory requirement that a worker under investigation be suspended pending a hearing.

He said the suspension, which he will recommend to Congress, should be discretionary with the heads of departments and agencies.



START OF A JOURNEY TO YOUR MAILBOX—C. V. McClatchy, second from right, president of the Scurry County Tuberculosis Association, and Mrs. Emon Clark, executive secretary of the association, are shown handing the first bundles of letters containing Christmas seals to employes of the post office here. The letters are being mailed to 4,444 families in Scurry County, and contain in addition to the seals, a letter explaining the arrival of the association's local organization. The postal employes from left are John Portis, and J. C. Williamson. The decorative seals this year bear a picture of a boy and girl on a blue and green background. Purchase of the seals will support the fight against tuberculosis being made in Scurry County by the association. (Lee Watson photograph)

Geneva Meeting Is Flop

GENEVA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told the final session of the Geneva conference today that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin apparently had sent Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov here with orders not to discuss seriously," the reunification of Germany.

Dulles blamed Soviet resistance to reuniting Germany through free elections on fear that such an action would threaten Moscow's hold on the Communist satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

Dulles spoke after the Big Four agreed without argument to break up the present conference without any specific time or place for another meeting.

They did this by accepting a communique which they agreed to issue later today. It was a very brief document registering by implication the total failure of the meeting to provide solutions or make substantial progress on any of the great East-West issues and particularly on Germany.

The communique was described as reporting only that the foreign ministers had met as their chiefs directed them to at the summit conference in July, that they had covered their assigned problems in their discussions, that they would recommend that the future course of their discussions be settled through diplomatic channels.

Dulles, who is to report to President Eisenhower tomorrow, said the President has "closely followed this conference on a day to day basis.'

Eisenhower, he added "will evaluate its results against the background of his vast knowledge and abhorrence of war and his dedication to the cause of a just and durable peace."

Dulles said he thought the Geneva meeting had not been "wholly barren." And he expressed hope for better results in the future, saying that after long years in international diplomacy he is not "easily discouraged."

Wintry Blast Strikes Texas

By The Associated Press

A speedy norther raced through Texas early Wednesday plummeting the temperature as much as 20 degrees and setting off widely scattered showers.

The cold wave at dawn Wednesday extended from south of Texarkana through Lufkin, San Antonio, Cotulla and Del Rio. It was due to reach the coast by mid-morning and drive deep into south Texas.

A flurry of snow was reported at Amarillo when the front rolled into that area Tuesday night. It touched off a heavy shower in downtown Dallas and at daybreak rain was falling at Lufkin and Victoria.

The lowest minimum temperature was 9 degrees at Dalhart. Amarillo had a reading of 11 degrees. Lubbock 20 degrees, Wichita Falls 23, Dallas 32. Ahead of the front Beaumont reported 73 degrees and Brownsville 76.

The norther dropped the temperature 21 degrees in an hour's time as it raced through Dallas in the early morning hours. Similar temperature drops were reported at a number of other points.

Generally skies were clear behind the front and cloudy ahead of it.

Winter played a preview over a large section of the nation today as an area from the northern and central Rockies eastward through the Missouri Valley was locked in the grip of a cold wave.

The Weather Bureau at Chicago issued special cold wave warnings for most of the Midwest with Wednesday night temperatures expected to hover around the zero mark. Meanwhile, the cold air early Wednesday continued to spread eastward and southward toward the Ohio Valley and the Gulf of Mexico.

Temperatures were as much as 40 degrees lower Wednesday morning from southern Colorado through Oklahoma and about 25 degrees below normal over the Middle West. St. Louis for instance dropped from a balmy 81 Tuesday to 30 degrees during the night. Chicago dipped from 71 degrees to 29 overnight.

Ice and snow struck Kansas City during the night. Conditions in the area were blamed for three deaths as an automobile skidded on the ice and toppled over a viaduct. It was 12 below zero at Imperial and Valentine, Neb., early Wednesday with subzero temperatures recorded over much of the state.

Snow depths of from two to eight inches were reported over the northern Plains and from one to two inches southward into Kansas.

Money Sack Stolen From Snyder Store

Theft of a bank deposit money sack containing a total of $40.70 in cash and checks from the Levi Kruse Venetian Blind Co., 1917 Twenty - sixth Street, yesterday, was reported to police.

The bag contained $28 in cash and the rest in checks.

Police are also investigating the theft of a pair of mens trousers and a corduroy coat from a car parked at the post office yesterday afternoon.

The clothing was stolen from a car owned by M. C. Morris, Box 121, Snyder.

Bridge Work Slated Soon

A contract to build a new bridge across the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos River on the Snyder-Clairemont road is scheduled for letting early next week.

Bids will be opened in Austin by the Texas Highway Department for the new bridge, which will replace one which washed out in a big rain during the summer. The washed-out bridge was still fairly new and was valued at more than $100,000.

Reports are that plans for the new bridge call for raising it higher than the old one and making it longer as part of prevention of a recurrence of washouts from rises like that this summer. Construction on the bridge may begin within a month.

Rainfall totalling 11 to 12 inches farther up the river from the bridge caused the big rise, which completely demolished the bridge. That bridge had recently replaced an old "swinging" bridge.

Although there is now no bridge across the river at that point, the river can be crossed. The river bed was built up so traffic could cross.

Jurors Picked In Clark Trial

FORT WORTH (AP)—Two jurors were selected in the murder trial of Mrs. Mary Clark yesterday as an important defense witness was located on military maneuvers in Louisiana.

The selection of a jury was ordered Monday but the judge said that unless the witness, Willie Wilson, Jr., a Negro private serving with the 3rd Division on maneuvers at Ft. Polk, La., could be located and brought to Fort Worth, the jury would be discharged and the case postponed.

Dist. Atty. Howard Fender yesterday told the court that army authorities had located Wilson, had granted him permission to testify, and that he will be ready to leave for Fort Worth this afternoon.

Defense attorneys said that he will be a key witness for Mrs. Clark, charged with hiring gunmen to kill her wealthy oilman husband, William P. Clark, in May 1953.

The first two jurors—a bachelor mail carrier and the mother of a teen-age daughter—were picked yesterday afternoon. They were selected from 21 veniremn questioned during a tedious day-long session.

They are R. T. Roberson and Mrs. Marie Malone.

County United Fund Campaign Hits Snag

The game is not over until the final gun sounds.

That is the type of reminder officials of the Scurry County United Fund issued this morning as the 1955 campaign developed a distinct lag.

In the absence of Campaign Chairman Stanley Noah, a report was issued by Lyle Deffebach, president of the United Fund. It showed that $5,130 is needed to put the current campaign over the top. The goal is $29,500, which will be used to support nine particiating agencies.

Deffebach said progress of the drive had definitely tapered off during the past few days. Earlier it was hoped that the goal would be reached soon, possibly by the end of this week. Now, however, it appears that the campaign must go on, at least through next week and possibly longer, unless the drive gets a "shot in the arm."

All campaign workers who have not completed their assignment were urged to do so as soon as possible. At the same time an appeal went out to all residents, urging them to make their contributions to the campaign if they have not done so.

Officials said it was inevitable that some people would be missed by campaign workers. However, contribution may be made in person or by mail at the campaign headquarters located in the old bank building on the northwest corner of the square.

"We are asking every one in Snyder and Scurry County to cooperate, because we hope to avoid a prolonged dirve," Deffebach concluded.

One Person Killed By Churning Winds

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Powerful winds—possibly tornadoes—churned a path through north Arkansas yesterday. One person was killed, 15 persons were injured, and 22 houses and two churches were demolished. Seven small towns were hit.

Heavy rain and hail came with the storm.

Mrs. Clara Lambert of Hutchinson was killed. Witnesses said her house was blown away.

Dulles Plans East Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles, returning from Geneva tomorrow, is expected to start arranging promptly a trip to the Far East.

Its primary purpose, it was learned today, would be to attend a third meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization Ministerial Council. The date would come sometime during January, February or March.

A site will have to be selected for the early-1956 meeting.

The eight pact members—United States, Britain, France, Philippines, Pakistan, Thailand, Australia and New Zealand—would work this out through diplomatic exchanges in the normal order of making arrangements.

Ike, Weeks Conference Is Postponed

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Poor flying weather canceled a conference today between President Eisenhower and Secretary of Commerce Weeks. But tomorrow the chief executive will see Weeks and start work on his 1957 budget.

Fog and rain weathered in the Gettysburg airport.

As a result Eisenhower will have no official callers today and has put off until tomorrow moving into his new office in the Post Office building.

His growing work schedule probably will take him to meetings of the Cabinet and the National Security Council next week.

As things stand now, Weeks, Budget Director Rowland Hughes and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams will fly from Washington tomorrow morning. Adams was to have been in on today's talks.

With Hughes, Eisenhower will open a discussion of the federal budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. A series of similar conferences will follow until the budget is ready for submission to Congress shortly after it comes back on the job in January.

The spadework on the budget has been going on for months at lower echelons of the government.

Tomorrow Secretary of State Dulles is due here for two days of conferences with the President on the foreign ministers conference at Geneva.

Dulles is expected to reach Washington around 4 p.m. EST tomorrow and fly immediately to Gettysburg.

Egypt Closes Up Blockade

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—Egypt has closed in her blockade of Israel to within a mile and a half of the southern Negev port of Eilat, Israeli sources said today.

All Israeli shipping to and from the East now is completely cut off. Air transit to the East also is blocked and the only air or sealane for commerce is across the Mediterranean to the West.

First news of the tightened blockade came yesterday when an Israeli military spokesman said an Israeli plane circling over Israeli territory at Eilat was fired upon by an Egyptian frigate anchored at Tabah — a tiny base along Egypt's Sinai coast on the Gulf of Aqaba and only a mile and a half from Eilat.

Eilat, the port which Israel built opposite Jordan's Port of Aqaba, is on the site of ancient Ezion Geber, where Solomon's treasure ships brought in gold.

Israel has no warships in the Gulf of Aqaba to keep her sealane to the East open. They could not get in through the narrow strait of Tiran, 110 miles to the south, where shore batteries on the Sinai coast and two Egyptian islands control the channel into the Red Sea.

The Suez Canal is still completely closed to Israeli flag shipping.

Israel Gives U. S. Arms Request List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel's Ambassador Abba Eban today submitted to the State Department a list of defensive arms his country seeks from the United States to balance Communist arms shipments to Egypt.

Eban, accompanied by two aides, called on Herbert Hoover Jr., acting secretary in the absence of Secretary Dulles at the Geneva conference.

"I have come to submit the list of defensive arms my country wants the United States to provide," Eban told newsmen as he arrived for his appointment with the undersecretary.

With Eban were his minister, Reuven Shiloah, and his military-naval-air attache, Col. Katriel Salmon.

George V. Allen, assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs, entered Hoover's office to participate in the conference.

Dulles has promised "sympathetic consideration" of the list. However, officials insist no decision can be reached until full consideration has been given the items requested, the weapons being received by Egypt and Israel's requests for arms to other countries, like Britain and France.

The Israelis emphasize they want defensive weapons—antitank guns, submarine chasers and the like, to offset the guns, tanks, jetplanes and submarines Egypt is reported getting from Communist Czechoslovakia in an 80 million dollar deal.

While officials have indicated willingness to consider Israel's arms want list, this country is reported unwilling to meet the Israeli request for an immediate American guarantee against possible Arab attack.

This country has previously offered to join others in guaranteeing the borders of both Israel and her Arab neighbors if they agree on the boundaries and settle other long-standing disputes. President Eisenhower renewed that offer last night. Neither side has yet accepted.

Top American officials believe that the immediate guarantee Israel is asking, in advance of any Israeli-Arab agreement, is unnecessary even though Egypt is building its armed forces with big quantities of Russian-made tanks, planes, artillery and other weapons.

Israel's security from sudden aggression, in their view, is already taken care of through an American-British-French declaration on the Middle East issued in May 1950. This pledges the three governments to "immediately take action, both within and outside the United Nations," against anyone who seeks to violate frontiers or armistice lines in the area.

At most, the Eisenhower administration might join Britain and France in solemnly reaffirming this declaration in the event a Mideast war seems imminent. But, unless conditions change radically, no American-Israeli security treaty is being contemplated according to these informants.

This view, however, is to be examined anew when Secretary of State Dulles returns from Geneva this week to launch a sweeping review of the government's Middle Eastern policy.

Russian Exiles Try To 'Liberate' Man

PARIS, France (AP)—A band of Russian exiles tried to "liberate" Alexander V. Vlasov, dismissed architect of Moscow, when he arrived in Paris last night from America, but his companions and Paris police prevented it.

The Russian exiles declared Vlasov was being taken back to Russia against his will and tried to get a statement from him. But members of his group kept the crowd away.

Vlasov visited the United States as a member of a delegation of architects looking at American housing developments. While there he was advised that his government had dismissed him as chief architect of Moscow on the grounds he had gone in for expensive skyscrapers instead of more useful building.

White To Keep Out Of Quota Dispute

AUSTIN (AP)—State Agriculture Commissioner John White said today his department has no jurisdiction in the federal cotton crop quota controversy.

A spokesman for Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd also said the state is no way involved and that the attorney general's department will not represent the State Agricultural and Conservation Commission.

Four farmers yesterday at Houston sought a federal court injunction to stop the ASC from setting quotas they said would be unfair to West Texas.

"It's a Benson-appointed committee," was all White had to say about the suit. He referred to U.S. Agriculture Secy. Benson, a frequent target of criticism by White.

Farmers File Acreage Suit

HOUSTON (AP)—Climaxing a long standing dispute between cotton growers, four West Texas farmers yesterday sought a federal court injunction here against the yet unannounced 1956 county cotton acreage quotas.

The petition asked that the State Agricultural Stabilization and conservation Committee be enjoined from setting quotas unfair to the West Texas area.

Members of the committee could not be reached immediately for comment.

Earlier this year the first skirmishes of the battle took place when farmers in West Texas heard reports that their acreage was to be cut more than that of farmers in East and Central Texas. If the report is true, it means the state to reverse the trend of greater ASC committee will be attempting allotments to the western growers.

The state ASC committee has refused to discuss its proposed 1956 allotments which are to be announced this month after approval in Washington.

The petition filed here yesterday alleges the committee plans to set a quota which will not be "realistic or in keeping with the true facts in West Texas."

The petition was filed by Willis A. Hawkins of Castro County, Ralph White of Howard County, Floyd Smith of Martin County, and George J. Smith of Jones County.

The petition names as defendants Robert G. Shravner of Moore County, committee chairman, and Fred C. Chandler, Jr., of Pecos County, C. A. Danklefs of Fort Bend County, C. Otto Moser of Bowie County and G. G. Gibson of Brazos County, commission members.

The plaintiffs allege recent cotton quotas have been discriminatory against West Texas, an area which they describe as having excellent growing and crop possibilities. The plaintiffs maintain that West Texas quotas should be increased and those in other areas less attractive to growing cotton should be reduced.

Texas Turncoat Returns Home Asks Chance To Clear Himself

JACKSONVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Lewie Griggs returned today to the green hills and red clay of East Texas asking only that his home town "give me a chance to prove I was not a traitor."

Tense and nervous the 6-foot-2 turncoat, accused of-choosing Communism to his home country after capture in Korea, was met on the outskirts of Jacksonville by his mother, Mrs. Elsie Griggs, a vocational nurse.

In the sunlight on the edge of the highway where the two met they embraced dry-eyed but warmly.

"I don't expect any hostility in my home town, the 23-year-old Griggs said. "I'm a Texan, I'm proud to be a Texan and I haven't met any hostility any place yet."

Griggs said he and the two other ex-POWs who came back through Hong Kong are dedicating their lives to a fight against "godless Communism."

How would Jacksonville receive him?

"I would suggest a wait and see attitude" said Mayor R. C. Buckner. "We are a freedom loving, Christian nation and I think we should consider this and similar cases in that manner."

Griggs himself said in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press:

"Thank God this is a free country. No one has to like me. Everyone has the right to feel toward me as he wants to."

Griggs, a shy, quiet-spoken man got visibly excited as he approached the town of his birth in a private car after being driven from Dallas where he landed early today by plane from San Francisco.

"Look! A possum," he said, pointing to a small animal that had been run over by a car. "There are lots of possums around here. And look at that red clay. How often I have thought of that red clay."

The wooded hills of East Texas ablaze with autumn colors and leaves floated slowly down from thinning branches.

"You know, I've dreamed about this many times."

Griggs said that he never intended to stay in Red China—that he never actually spurned repatriation in Korea.

I got sort of messed up. I was confused. And the Reds had me smoking marijuana.

"I wanted to come out but they told me I would be terribly persecuted if I came home. They even forcibly held me when I wanted to be repatriated."

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Strike Indicated In East Fisher

An indicated discovery, an outpost to a two-well field, and a discovery offset have been reported in Fisher County.

A Noodle Creek lime strike was indicated at Cannon Drilling Co. Abilene, No. 1 A. M. Elvans in in Fisher County.

Drillstem test from 3,009 to 3,926 feet, open one hour, recovered 540 feet of oil, 300 feet of mud-cut oil and 240 feet of alt water. Gas flowed in 15 minutes, with no volume reported. Five and a half-inch casing has been set at 3,069 feet. Completion attempt will be made through perforations.

Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of northeast quarter of section 49, block 1, HT&B survey, three miles south of McCaulley.

The Chicago Corp., Abilene, will dig No. 1 H. L. Hammit and others one location south of same operator's No. 1 Ben Hartgrove, Noodle Creek discovery two miles west of Rotan in Northwest Fisher County.

It is 2,310 feet from South and 990 feet from west lines of section 168, block 2, H&TC survey, and slated for a 3,800-foot bottom.

Sun Oil Co. staked No. 2 J. A. Criswell one mile east of the two-well Ocho Juan (Strawn and Canyon) field of Northwest Fisher County, 10 miles west of Rotan.

Slated for a 6,300-foot bottom, it is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 210, block 2, H&TC survey.

Dan Purvis, San Antonion, No. 1 J. C. Fumagalli is a new 3,000-foot wildcat in Northeast Garza County.

Drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 26, block 8, H&GN survey, 13 miles northeast of Post.

Operations are to start at once.

Trice Production Co. of Midland and Longview No. 1-A Birdwell, northeast offset to the opener of the Ride (Cisco lime) field, in Southwest Scurry County, drilled to total depth of 6,800 feet.

It encountered a little oil, and some water. The oil was not sufficient to make a well and the project has been abandoned. The location was 660 feet from south and east lines of section 1, block 97, H&TC survey. It was eight miles southwest of Snyder.

W. A. Stockard, Houston, No. 1 R. D. Hooper, wildcat four miles southwest of Girard in North Kent County, developed sulphur water in the Strawn lime.

Two - hour drillstem test from 6,643 to 6,651 feet, recovered 3,100 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas.

Drilling continued below 6,675 feet.

Site is 660 feet from north and east lines of northwest quarter of section 49, H&GN survey.

Honolulu Oil Corp. was making hole below 7,479 feet in lime in No. 1 Spires, project in Southwest Nolan County, after straddle packer drillstem test in the Ellenburger.

Seven-hour test from 7,358 to 7,384 feet, surfaced gas in 10 minutes, and recovered 1,092 feet of oil, 540 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, and 450 feet of mud-cut water. The water was not salty.

Flowing pressure was from 850 sure in 30 minutes, 2825 pounds, to 2,650 pounds, and shut-in pressure.

Location is in the Nena Lucia (Strawn) field, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 124, block 1-A, H&TC survey, eight miles west of Maryneal.

Former Snyder Man Arrested In Lamesa

Harold S. McCormick of Lamesa former Snyder used car dealer, was arrested in Lamesa today on a Scurry County warrant.

McCormick is charged here with swindling by worthless check. He is wanted at Sweetwater on a similar charge. He was to be returned today.

Snyder Group To Parade In Abilene Event

The Snyder High School band's twirling staff will go to Abilene Saturday to participate in the second annual "Parade of Twirlers," which will be sponsored by the McMurry College Indian Band at halftime of the McMurry - Missouri Valley grid game.

The game will be at 8 p.m. Saturday at Indian Stadium.

Going from here will be Karen Crooks, head majorette, Sittie Harrell, Jo Ann Miller, Toni Best, Linda Ramsey, Barbara Taylor, and Adalene Soles. Mrs. Rex Miller will accompany the group.

Melvin Montgomery, high school and director here, said each of the visiting twirling group will perform with a twirling number on the football field at halftime, with the McMurry band furnishing background music. The visiting twirlers will join the McMurry twirlers earlier, a 4 p.m., for a downtown parade in Abilene and will be guests of Indian band members the remainder of the day.

Raymond T. Bynum, McMurry band director, said twirling groups from Snyder, Anson, Winters, Ballinger, and Abernathy have already accepted invitations to the event and that others invited are expected to accept this week. Drum major Jerry Tate of Abilene and the band's featured twirler, Jerry Turner of Ballinger, will also appear in the exhibition, as will the band's five Maidenettes.

Wheat Is Held At Standstill By Cold, Rain

AUSTIN (AP)—Lack of moisture and cold held wheat to a standstill in northwest Texas last week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

The USDA said that winter range and pasture feed prospects were materially improved in southern Edwards Plateau and South Texas counties during the same period by rains that ranged from one to two inches.

In the area from San Antonio southward dry planted oats were germinating, but the low rolling plains and the balance of the state eastward got no beneficial moisture.

Meanwhile, the State Water Board reported yesterday that most Texas streams were flowing at record or near-record lows, and that October was a month of sharp moisture contrasts.

Record flood peaks were reached on streams tributary to the Pecos, but there was little runoff benefit since the floods were of short duration.

There was a continued rainfall deficiency in South Central Texas; average rainfall for the state for the entire month was about half of normal; water levels in test wells increased somewhat but was still at near record lows.

Many rivers and smaller streams were mere trickles but there were also record-smashing floods on the Pecos and heavy floods on the Red, Brazos and upper Colorado.

Comal Springs at New Braunfels showed a small increase over September but their output was still near the lowest of record.

Total storage in the major reservoirs increased only 2 per cent despite high water that filled some lakes.

Many small reservoirs filled and overflowed and Lake Kemp on the Wichita River reached the second highest level since storage began in 1922, the Water Board's monthly review of the water situation found.

Although many textile mills have moved to the South, New England still has 170,000 workers in its mills.

FBI SAYS HE CONFESSED SLAYING — Arthur Roy Brown, 30, above, has confessed to the kidnaping and slaying of Wilma Allen, wife of a wealthy Kansas City, Mo., auto dealer, an FBI agent revealed in San Francisco, Calif., in a hearing before the U.S. Commissioner. Brown, manacled, was being taken to the hearing when this picture was taken.

Work Slated On Giant Dam

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Workmen will begin pouring concrete tomorrow for India's Bhakra Dam, the giant project which may be the world's highest dam when it is finished in 1961 or '62.

Pouring of concrete is scheduled to continue nonstop for four years until the dam stands more than 700 feet—possibly 750 feet—above the bed of the Sutlej River. Hoover Dam in the United States now is the world's highest at 726 feet.

Bhakra Dam is the key in a 327-million-dollar irrigation and power project. It is in the Himalayan foothills 225 miles north of New Delhi.

India is footing the total bill. American engineers, led by Harvey Slocum of Alhambra, Calif., have been employed by the Indian government as advisers. Some 30 to 40 Americans have assisted in the preliminary construction and planning the past three years.

Large Crowd Greets Sultan After Return

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Sultan Sidi Mohamed ben Youssef today returned to his palace after a two year exile. An estimated 100,000 Moroccans swarming around the walls shouted a thunderous welcome.

The Sultan's name rang through the city of Rabat in one long deafening shout of Nationalist rejoicing at his return and the promise of greater independence from France.

The 41-year-old Sultan landed from his special plane shortly before noon and drove through an unparalleled Moroccan welcome to his palace. He stepped from the plane amid flowers thrown by young girls as a dozen escorting French fighter planes swept overhead.

Almost every prominent dignitary among Moroccans was on hand for the climactic ending of the exile which started two years ago when the French whisked ben Youssef away because of his Nationalist leanings.

On his return, French troops and an honor guard saluted smartly.

In the tinderbox atmosphere, violence was just beneath the surface but the initial critical moments apparently passed off well.

The Sultan mounted a specially built platform in the thronged palace courtyard and made a short speech. He omitted politics and afterward the crowd responded surprisingly well to appeals to disperse.

In a calm, restrained voice ben Youssef thanked the Moroccans for their "faithfulness" in his absence and exhorted them to maintain their Moslem religious beliefs.

"We, too, have been faithful," the Sultan said. "Praise God who in his mercy has put an end to our trial."

The airport was decorated with a huge portrait of the Sultan inscribed with words from the Koran "Allah will give you a gift with which you will be satisfied."

A crowd outside the airport gate cheered. The women began their shrill chant of "You . . . You . . . You" that has often marked bloody rioting in the past but was a sign of rejoicing today.

Quiz Of Jury Panel Slated In Tyler Trial

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Questioning of prospective jurors was to continue today in the trial of D. C. Chapa charged with misappropriating $1,421.66 in Duval County's Benavides School District funds after defense motions to delay the case were denied.

The state yesterday qualified 32 of the prospective jurors in four hours of examination. However, defense attorney Percy Foreman of Houston said he would take more time than the state did when he questions the veniremen today.

Judge Otis T. Dunagan said he would hold night sessions if necessary to obtain a jury.

Judge Dunagan yesterday denied four of the five defense motions asked by Foreman. He also denied a motion for continuance asked by Foreman.

Judge Dunagan ruled for the defense on the first motion in which Foreman declared Chapa was being subjected to double jeopardy because he was under two indictments for the same offense. Judge Dunagan ruled that the original indictment against Chapa was thrown out and that he was being tried only on the reindictment.

On the other four motions, Judge Dunagan ruled against the defense, saying that the trial will be held in Smith County, that Dist. Atty. Sam Burris of Alice and Asst. Atty. Gen. Sam Ratliff of Austin would be allowed to take part in the trial, and that the defense would not be allowed to look at a check that had been questioned or at any other state evidence.

Bomb Boosts Racial Tension

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A tear gas bomb has added to the racial tension over school integration here.

The bomb was dropped by an unknown person at a meeting last night of the Chattanooga School Board and its new interracial advisory committee, composed of 28 white persons and 16 Negroes.

The meeting was scheduled to consider procedure for conducting public hearings on the Supreme Court's decision banning racial discrimination in public education. The School Board announced in October that it would comply with the decree but said integration would not come this year.

More than 150 persons at last night's meeting became so emotional that Committee Chairman Raymond Witt called for adjournment before any plans could be made.

After the motion to adjourn, an unknown spectator broke a tear gas bomb, forcing evacuation of the room and leaving virtually everyone present with smarting eyes.

WOMEN

american designer pattern

David Goodstein's three piece costume is one of the season's great successes, combining as it does, the typical American air of casualness with all the current high fashion news. The jacket with its gently bloused back has a waistband that starts at the waist then is shaped to set lower towards the hipbone. The skirt, with double darts at the top of each gore, has a high-cut front pleat. Make the tuck-in blouse in a fabric that contrasts in texture with that of the jacket and skirt, repeating the outer fabric as trim, or keeping it monotone. It has a back neck closing as well as a side zipper which insure excellent fit. Choose tweed, worsteds, novelty wools for the jacket and skirt, jersey for the blouse. This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 12 requires 1⅛ yards of 54-inch wool jersey for blouse. Skirt requires 1½ yards of 54-inch material. To order Pattern No. 1238, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. S-13, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25c extra. Nutrition Discussed At Planview Club

"Nutrition and a better breakfast" were the topics of Miss Ruby Butt's talk to the Plainview Home Demonstration Club, on Tuesday, in the home of Mr. J. M. Rossom, Route 2.

The group of 10 played tic-tac-toe, using the elements of good nutrition as the point winners; fruit juice, milk, meat, green and yellow vegetables and fruit or salad. Miss Butts pointed out these elements make up the requirements of a good daily diet. Four women present checked every item.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. Odel Graham at 2 p.m. Each member is asked to bring a guest to this Christmas party and to help pack a box for the State Hospital in Abilene.

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5456.

With fresh red apples and sweet potatoes both plentiful this is a good time to enjoy a variety of wonderful-tasting dishes which combine the two. Today's salad, for example, may evoke memories of your favorite Waldorf for it stars apples, celery and chopped nuts. With the addition of cubed, golden sweet potatoes, however, this salad takes on new taste as well as different texture and appearance and daubles as a salad or vegetable with your dinner. Delicious apples are tops for this salad, not only for flavor but because you can use these apples without peeling and enjoy the bright red color.

Another appetizing way to serve these two foods is to cook and mash the sweet potatoes and serve stuffed into the apple shells.

APPLE & SWEET POTATO SALAD

Sweet potatoes, cooked and diced to make 2 cups
1 cup celery, sliced
Delicious apples, cored and chopped to make 1 cup
1-3 cup chopped walnuts
2 tbsps. lemon juice
2 tsps. sugar
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup mayonnaise

In a large salad bowl combine potatoes, celery, apples and chopped nuts. Add lemon juice, sugar and salt to the mayonnaise and mix well. Pour over the apple-potato mixture, toss lightly until well mixed. Serves 4.

APPLE STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

3 Rome Beauty baking apples
½ cup brown sugar
Sweet potatoes, cooked and mashed to make 3 cups
3 tbsps, butter or margarine
3 tbsps. cream
Salt & pepper to taste

Cut apples in half crosswise and remove core. Sprinkle cavities with half the brown sugar. Place apple halves in shallow pan containing small amount of water and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 to 20 mins. or until almost tender. Scoop out pulp, leaving shell about ½ inch thick. Reserve apple pulp.

Add apple pulp to mashed sweet potatoes, butter or margarine and cream. Season to taste and beat until fluffy. Pile sweet potato mixture lightly into apple shells, place in shallow pan and sprinkly with remaining brown sugar. Pour a little melted butter over tops and heat under broiler or in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until lightly browned. Serves 6.

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Elize Ledbetter were her brother, James Watson and Mrs. Watson and children of Midland.

Mrs. Paul Trendfield of Higgins, is visiting with Rev. and Mrs. I. T. Huckabee.

Margaret Beta McPherson of Abilene was home for the weekend.

A wedding shower honoring Mrs. Bill Hawthrone, formerly Janice Poweledge, was held Monday in the Methodist Church.

A joint Thanksgiving service, with the Baptist and Methodist Churches sponsoring the program, is to be held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday night, Nov. 23. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Hogue spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hogue.

Sunday night visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Woodson were her sisters, Mrs. Minnie Griffin of Inglewood Calif., Mrs. Larue Davis of Irving, Mrs. Frank McClure and Mr. McClure of Floydada and a brother, A. C. Newman and Mrs. Newman of Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Martin of Slaton, visited Sunday with Mrs. J. B. Adams. Miss Ella Adams, who has been visiting her, returned to Slaton with them.

Mrs. J. B. Adams is visiting this week with her children at McCamey and Rankin.

Although no one knows how many American children are living in institutions, experts believe the number is smaller than the 95,000 recorded in 1950.

And None Too Soon

A rather complacent and time-marking West, alarmed at Geneva last week by Russia's bared claws, is taking steps to place its house in order before it is too late.

France has now joined the U.S. and Britain in warning all Middle East nations that whoever starts a war in that region will be held strictly to account. This may or may not cool off the threatened war there, but Egypt and other would-be trouble makers don't just go around all day ignoring stern warnings from three powerful nations who are in position to hurt them to death, in more ways than one.

Week before last the Saarlanders turned down Europeanization by overwhelming vote. Then Molotov spoke his piece at Geneva, jarring the West with the remainder that any possible German unification must be on the Russian model.

Europeanization or neutralization of the Saar is essential to French-West Germany accord, and the continued close cooperation of West Germany and the rest of Free Europe is essential to European defense against Russia. So today France and Germany are trying manfully to patch up the Saar rift, with a view to keeping that disputed area from shoving them farther apart.

Also, thanks to Russia's intransigence at Geneva, West Germany has taken the first real step toward building a 500,000-man West German army under NATO. The first 100 officers and men were sworn in before the echo of Molotov's words had died away, and what ten days ago seemed like certain extinction of the West German army before it got born has now turned into reality—at least in token form.

In spite of turmoil and dissension at home, France has been smart enough—it's odd how much a good scare will do to unify people—to recall the Moroccan sultan it had ousted two years ago, and placed him on the symolic seat of power.

All these were steps in the direction of placing the West's House in order—and none too soon.

Survival In Jet Age

Release of a story telling how a British flier had bailed out of a supersonic plane and lived to tell the tale last Saturday probably sparked the release a day later of the first instance of the kind, with an American as the star performer.

The American story began more than eight months ago, but details were not disclosed until last Sunday. George Smith, a 31-year-old North American Aviation Co. test pilot, ejected himself from a super-Saber jet at 35,000 feet when his "stick" went dead. He woke up five days later in the hospital, spent months recovering from his injuries, and is now ambitious to fly a plane at 2,000 mph.

When he took to the silk Smith weighed 215 pounds. The jump had subjected him to a decelerative force 40 times the force of gravity, which means his weight increased to 8,000 pounds measured in G's. When he was fished out of the sea most of his clothing — shoes, socks, helmet, mask — had either been torn off completely or reduced to tatters. His tight-fitting gloves were pealed off, and so was the ring on his finger. The whites of his eyes were so bloodshot he was stone blind for days, and liver sustained permanent impairment.

The similar later accident to the British flier at 700 mph fractured an arm and pelvis and blacked both eyes.

So, an answer to a question that has bothered flight surgeons ever since the advent of supersonic flight has at last been answered in the affirmative—men can survive a bailout at supersonic speeds. From George Smith's experience will come other answers on how to survive future bail-outs of the kind.

The human body is a pretty rugged contraption, with built-in survival and recovery factors just now beginning to be realized to the full.

Such incidents also serve to remind the public, too often prone to forget, that the men who go up into the wild blue yonder to defend the country do so at the imminent risk of life and limb, in peace as in war, every time they pull the trigger of a jet.

Said The Turkey To The Eagle

Textbook Publisher Believes Children Must Discover Human Values Themselves

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—A wild yell broke from the grandstand. "He's Flash Foster's brother, all right!" the boys shouted. "Boy, what a catch!"

But Joe Foster knew he hadn't caught the ball. It had popped out of his glove as he fell, far out in right field, with his back to the other players.

Even Specks Sloan, who had hit the long fly, didn't realize that Joe had dropped the ball and then scooped it up again.

The spectacular catch would have won the final tryout game for Joe's team and assured him a place on the regular camp team. Joe knew Flash would have caught the ball. And making the team and living up to his brother's reputation had become the most important thing in the world to Joe.

"All he had to do was keep quiet. And what did it matter, anyway? He had almost caught the ball."

The world's largest textbook publisher thinks that what Joe does next matters a great deal indeed; that it even may have a lot to do with whether he is later to become involved in juvenile delinquency.

Further more, the American Book Co. believes that through such people as Joe Foster schoolchildren can find their own answers to questions involving moral character.

It is on this premise that the company announced today that a new set of readers for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be published Jan. 3.

To be known as the "Golden Rule Series," the books will seek to build character in school children by helping them to discover basic moral, spiritual and human relations values for themselves.

The idea of building character through school readers is not new. It was a basic premise of the famed "McGuffey's Eclectic Readers" of the 19th Century. There is, however, a basic difference in the way the "Golden Rule Seies" goes about accomplishing its purpose.

Nowhere in the new books is the flat statement made that something is right or wrong. Instead, boys and girls are faced in familiar settings and then confronted with situations involving moral character.

"The material is so written," say the publishers, "that the child inevitably is drawn to form for himself the proper conclusion, both while reading the story and in class discussion later."

Dr. Ullin W. Leavell, who directed preparation of what he calls "the modern McGuffey readers," emphasizes that they seek to help the child himself to "discover moral principles instead of having them thrust upon him."

"A child has learning to do, in morals as well as the three R's," says Dr. Leavell, who is professor of education and director of the McGuffey Reading Clinic at the University of Virginia.

A partner in preparation of the books was the Palmer Foundation, which was established by Col. and Mrs. Clyde E. Palmer to "foster and promote through the public schools basic principles of morality." Palmer is head of a group of newspapers and radio and television stations in Texas and Arkansas.

The three books consist of stories, biographical sketches,poems and plays based on 11 major moral themes. The themes and the number of stories to which each applies are:

Co-operation 9; courage 25; fairness 11; friendlines 8; honesty 13; kindness 34; patriotism 11; perseverance 12; responsibility 20; reverence 7; unselfishness 40.

How are these themes carried out? Well, to get back to the example of Joe Foster, after he had picked up the ball:

"The only umpire out there on the field is Joe's own conscience," says the publisher in an aside to teachers. "But in your classroom there are as many umpires as there are pupils, all of them passing judgment on Joe.

"They know full well what Joe should do, and they also know full well what Joe is tempted not to do. No matter how fully they sympathize with his temptation, they will judge him morally on the basis of his honesty."

So what did Joe Foster do?

To summarize, he admitted dropping the ball, thereby conceding the other team a home run and the ball game. Then he learns to his great surprise that he has made the camp team anyway; the coach not only admires his honesty and sportsmanship, but actually prefers Joe's own steady play to the more flashy prowress of his brother.

Pushbutton Era In Hotels Will Be A 'Golden Time'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The pushbutton era is just dawning in the hotel industry — but what a glorious dawn!

It promises a golden time a-coming when the weary wayworn traveler will be less dependent on the sometimes frigid hospitality of an officious desk clerk, or the tired courtesy of an overworked bellhop.

In the electronic age now coming to flower, a hotel guest will be able to lie in bed and by pushing a series of buttons in a panel accomplish the following things:

Summon a valet without having to go through the switchboard downstairs.

Order fresh ice and glasses or the morning newspaper, which will pop into the room via a pneumatic tube.

Lock or unlock the door.

Turn the lights off or on throughout the room.

Dictate business letters at night and find them typed and ready for signature at his bedside in the morning.

Control the temperature and humidity in the room—and determine what the weather is like outside.

Open or close the window shades.

Get the latest radio news or watch a television program in the panel of one of the walls.

Set a clock that will waken him with soft chimes at any hour he chooses.

Protect him or any other guest against fire. An automatic alarm will detect and signal the location of fire anywhere in the hotel.

These pushbutton servants on a bedside console ar just a few of the revolutionary gimmicks designed by the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co. and shown here at the recent convention of the American Hotel Assn.

Another time-saving idea was an electronic brain device called "the computer center-registration desk."

Some of its possible functions: automatic registration of guests, assignment of rooms, transmission of mail and messages to guests, and computing of bills.

The machine can even make change. It probably could be taught to say "thank you," too—except who even dreams any more today of being thanked when he pays a bill? Most people today are grateful if they get all their fingers back.

But desk clerks and bellhops need have no fear that the spread of automation to the hotel field will wipe out their jobs. The completely automatic hotel might be a technical possibility, but it isn't in the cards now.

All a veteran traveler hopes is, they'll improve everything but the Gideon Bible. It's fine as it stands.

Nation's Legislators, Relatives Nearing The End Of 'Touringest Year' In History

By WILLIAM F. ARROGAST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The touringest year in history is drawing to a close for senators and members of the House—and for some wives, children and at least one mother-in-law of a legislator.

Since Congress adjourned in midsummer, and in some cases earlier in 1955, some 200 legislators have journeyed abroad—to Europe, to the Far East, just about everywhere that Americans are permitted to travel.

One Republican, Sen. Malone of Nevada, even jumped the gun on travel restrictions, visiting Bulgaria before the State Department lifted its ban on travel to Iron Curtain countries.

What all this costs is perhaps the most carefully guarded secret in Washington, but whatever the figure is most of the lawmakers will assure you the taxpayers get their money's worth. Their reasoning is that members of Congress educate themselves through what they see abroad in such a way that they can save far more in federal spending than their trips cost.

All the same, nobody is saying what the junketing—as everybody calls it—does cost.

Most of this year's travelers financed their trips with congressional funds and counterpart money—that is, foreign currency funds set up by foreign nations which receive U.S. aid.

A few of the travelers say they paid their own expenses while many say they paid at least the expenses of relatives accompanying them.

The law says congressmen using the counterpart money, which they get from U.S. embassies, must make a complete report on its use to the House Administration Committee or the Senate Appropriations Committee.

So far the House group hasn't received any such reports. The Senate committee says the financial accountings, if and when received, are confidential.

What about the State Department, which hands out the foreign currency? It says it has no authority to disclose the figures.

Key congressmen in a position to demand an accounting from the State Department politely decline requests that they do so. "Too many colleagues may be embarrassed," they say.

Eventually the House Administration Committee probably will make public reports on how many American dollars, appropriated from House contingent funds, have been spent by traveling House members. There is the expense of providing transportation in military planes, of dining and frequently wining visiting legislators out of foreign service funds, of providing limousines, and furnishing hotel suites.

Returning travelers speak freely about counterpart funds being dished out lavishly.

A foreign service informant said most traveling congressmen draw the equivalent of $100 daily—in some countries as much as $300—for personal expenses.

A House returnee told of a colleague who, he said, "bought $2,000 worth of rugs, and I know he didn't use his own money."

Such purchases, whether paid for with a traveler's own funds or counterpart money, customarily are not taxed when brought back to the United States. Congressmen generally are accorded "the courtesy of the port" — which means they don't have to go through customs.

All sorts of reasons are advanced for this year's big exodus to foreign climes. The travelers profess to have been proving everything from defense programs to soil conditions.

Paris, Rome, Berlin, Geneva, Helsinki, Hong Kong and Tokyo were among the more popular ports of call. From June to September, 13 senators and 37 representatives dropped in at Weisbaden. In a single week, 40 congressmen and attaches visited Rome.

An Associated Press poll of congressional offices showed at least 206 senators and representatives wither have traveled outside this country or plan to do so this year. There probably are more, since some offices were closed and others refused to comment.

At least 70 said they were or would be accompanied by their wives. Some took their children, while one took his mother-in-law.

The poll showed that only one state, New Hampshire, would not have a representative abroad this year.

Here are the travel plans of members from Texas, including those who have returned and those who plan to take off before Congress returns in January:

Rep. Brooks to South America; Rep. Poage to Europe and South America; Rep. Thornberry to England; Rep. Ikard to England; Rep. Rogers to Russia; Rep. Mahon to Europe; Sen. Daniel to Geneva; Rep. Thompson to Okinawa.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Two Governor's Wives From Carolinas Meet

By JANE EADS

POINT CLEAR, ALA. — Most everybody knows what the governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina — "It's a long time between drinks." But do you know what the wife of the Governor of North Carolina said to the wife of the Governor of South Carolina?

"Howdy Neighbor. It's a long time — between bridge games." At least that's what Mrs. Luther Hodges, distinguished, beautifully-groomed First Lady of North Carolina said to slender, brunette Mrs. G. B. Timmerman Jr., First Lady of South Carolina, when they met recently at the Southern Governors' Conference.

They told me they didn't often meet, but they were always glad to get together and both enjoyed playing bridge.

I talked to the ladies at an elegant luncheon given for them at a lodge near Alabama's famed Bellingrath Gardens by pretty Mrs. Jim Folsom, young wife of the Governor of the host state. We were driven the 40 miles by dashing Alabama highway patrolmen and dined on rock cornish hen, fresh Gulf shrimp, hot popovers and other southern fare, served with champagne. As we tore through downtown Mobile behind screeching sirens of a motorcycle escort, Mrs. Caleb Boggs, handsome wife of the Republican Governor of Delaware told me the last time she had been in such a precession was the the Eisenhower inaugural of '52 The Governors and their wives stayed in separate cottages. A golf course, yacht basin, fishing camp, fishing pier, tennis court, bathing beach, and numerous other luxury recreational facilities were provided.

In addition the host, Governor "Big Jim" Folsom lavished on the visitors literally a truck load of fabulous gifts from his state, handsomely monogrammed bath sets, blankets, sheets, ceramics, three fifths of whiskey, two quarts of champagne, Victorian side chair with matching coffee table, two bolts of cotton fabric, fruit cake, canned seafood, cosmetic products, pajamas, shirts and socks for the men, nylon nighties, negligees, and stockings for the wives and toys for the children.

Safety Groups Join To Halt Hunting Accidents

By DION HENDERSON
The Associated Press

You stand up and say you're a hunter, and pretty quick there's another fellow who says he's there to tell you how to go hunting without shooting someone else in the process.

The national campaign for hunting safety has grown to about those proportions. Safety groups, gun clubs, sportsmen and conservation officials have joined in an effort to reduce the statistical expectations that there will be somewhere around 1,500 gun accidents—and 200 deaths—among 15,000,000 hunters this year.

That's all to the good, but it's only one side of the educational picture. The other, of even more personal and immediate concern to hunters, is some information on how to go hunting without getting shot yourself.

In the general view, this may be a selfish and unworthy matter, but it's of intense interest to anyone who's had his hat shot off by some guy who apologized by saying, "Sorry, when I saw that red coat I thought you were a deer."

There is a maxim that says how if you want to know a man, you should hunt with him. But since hunting and fishing philosophers can whip up a good maxim faster than they can good story, turn that one end-for-end and it still comes out pretty good. If you want to hunt with a man, not only know him, but know what he's drinking.

For this is a true thing, that when the supply of bottled goods gets low in a hunting camp, some hunters think they can see antlers on a porcupine.

Most hunters—aside from those who shoot themselves—are shot by companions and on purpose rather than accidentally. That is, they're mistaken for game, and the game they're mistaken for ranges from woodchuck and turkeys to deer and bear.

Woman Planning To Join Her Family In Geology

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Stanley is threatening to enter college because she's tired of dusting rocks. If she's going to dust them, she wants to know what she's dusting.

She's a little weary of her husband and five children informing her, when planting shrubs, that she's planting them in "black adobe that is residual soil from Austin chalk which is a cretaceous formation." She wants to find out what they're talking about.

If she carries out her threat, she'll study geology.

Her husband and four of the children are geologists and leave the rock samples around for her to dust. A fifth, Eddie, 14, is in high school and expects to study geology.

Each child, Mrs. Stanley explains, was taken by her husband on hikes when they were small and told about rocks they found. That set their interests toward geology.

Stanley is an independent geologist and "will drill for anything," says Mrs. Stanley. The youngest geologist, Donald, who received his degree last spring, works with his father.

Ann, the only child away from home, is a stratigrapher, or expert on rock strata. She works for the Atlantic Refining Co. in Casper, Wyo.

Peggy is a geologist for Larson and Thomas in Dallas. "I get out in the field during weekends to inspect the drilling," she says.

Herbert Jr., a former Marine, supervises "mud sniffing" for Atlantic Refining. Herbert explains that "this means the chemical logging process to detect hydrocarbon particles in drilling mud or fluid signifying the presence of gas and oil."

"Back in the old days, you actually grabbed a handful of mud and sniffed it," his father explained. "Now they do it with the machines."

All the geologist children get their degrees from the University of Texas. The father is a Stanford graduate of 1917.

Michigan Requires New Accident Report

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Under a new Michigan law any motorist who does $100 or more damage to another's car, regardless of whether anyone is injured, must make a report to the secretary of state. The new report is in addition to a police report required, as previously, in injury accidents.

The new law also requires a motorist to have insurance or be able to post security of $10,000 for one bodily injury claim and $20,000 for two or more claims.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan memos:

One thing that's hard for a Hollywood reporter to get used to: the ethereal nature of some New York TV stars.

For instance, when this innocent asked about an interview with Arthur Godfrey, the shocked reply was: "Oh, he never talks to anyone."

Except maybe the unemployment office? . . . .

Marilyn Monroe, girl producer, may get into the TV field. She dropped the hint that her Marilyn Monroe Productions might dip into the TV market, though it's doubtful if she would be in the productions. . . .

New York TV circles exhibit little concern about the move of many shows to California. Industry workers say the main reason for the westward trend is the lack of facilities here. . . .

Show time: Best of the new plays is "Diary of Anne Frank." It's beautifully staged with humor and humanity and ornamented by a gem of a performance by Susan Strasberg . . . "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter" has a lot of good laughs, especially for Hollywood ears. Although brightened by Orson Bean and Jayne Mansfield, it's mighty slim stuff. . . .

"Damn Yankees" and "Fanny" are the musicals, together with the long - running "Pajama Game." Gwen Verdon of "Yankees" is the sexiest dancer since Salome. . . . Wonderment: Why a motionless musical like "Silk Stockings" has lasted a year and still draws standees. . . .

You'd think there would be some notice outside the theater when a star like Ezio Penza is out of a show. The announcement was merely made from the stage before "Fanny" began. . . .

"No Time for Sergeants" is about as funny as a show ought to be. The latrine scene is the biggest laugh on the stage since Ensign Pulver walked onstage in a billow of suds in "Mister Roberts". . . .

Oddest sight to a California boy: Looking out the hotel window and seeing something flaky in the air during a rainstorm. Too big for smog. It must have been snow.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

NORTH AMERICAN BIRDS OF PREY. By Alexander Sprunt Jr. Harper.

Once persecuted almost universally as "vermine," hawks and owls are getting more and more recognition from conservationists, and hunters too, for controlling rodents and improving the breed of game birds by enforcing the law of the survival of the fittest.

Now a well known ornithologist has brought their natural history up to date in a hansomely printed and illustrated book. He makes a strong case for these fierce predators which once graced the wrists of kings. There are more different kinds of them than you might think. Sprunt lists 61 hawks, including subspecies, and 48 owls for this continent. Of the screech owl alone, incidentally, there are a dozen subspecies.

Loaded with odd as well as essential information, the book calls the great horned owl, rather than any hawk or eagle, the ultimate in fierceness among North American birds of prey.

LOUISIANA BIRDS. By George H. Lowrey, Jr. Louisiana State University Press.

This is a slick, 555-page addition to the nation's supply of regional bird books, and worthy of Louisiana as one of the top bird states in the nation. Dr. Lowrey has written an ornithological history of the state, dating back to Audubon and beyond, and supplied a chatty summary on each of the state's 377 species. The illustrations by Louisiana's own R. E. Tucker are colorful and attractive if not in the very first rank of such art. Some of the photographs are outstanding, and a chart showing the seasonal residence of each species should be extremely useful.

HITLER'S PRIVATE LIFE

Hitler Influenced By Lloyd George

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the series on the private life of Adolf Hitler as told by his personal valet who has just been released after 11 years in a Russian concentration camp.)

By HEINZ LINGE
Hitler's Personal Valet
(WORLD COPYRIGHT 1955)

BERLIN. — Adolf Hitler, whom I served 10 years as valet and bodyguard, spoke no language but German. Except for Italy, he visited no foreign country except those occupied by the German army. His knowledge of affairs and opinions outside the German Reich came to him secondhand. And it is my belief that some views on foreign affairs held by Hitler, which he expressed in the privacy of the map room or bedroom from time to time, may have had their origins in a mistranslation. A case in point involves Lloyd George, the great British statesman.

During the war and later during my 11 years in a Russian prison camp, I had heard it said that Joachim von Ribbentrop was the man who convinced Hitler that Great Britain would never again go to war with Germany in defense of the smaller countries of Central Europe, and thus paved the way for Hitler's march on Czechoslovakia and Poland.

From remarks Hitler made, it is clear to me that Lloyd George, intentionally or inadvertently, led Hitler to believe Britain had had enough of wars in Europe and would be prepared to put up with almost anything rather than fight again.

The occasion was in 1937. Lloyd George came to Berghof to visit Hitler. I can recall the scene as they stood talking, the ex-corporal and the ex-Prime Minister, in front of the window with its view over the far horizons of Austria.

I overheard a part of the discussion, but what remains most clear in my mind is what the Fuehrer said to me about it afterward. They were talking about the first World War.

"Lloyd George told me," Hitler said, "that there was a considerable period during the war when England was on the point of surrendering.

"I told Lloyd George I believed this and that the disaster for Germany was that we surrendered at 'five minutes to twelve.'

"Lloyd George agreed with me that we gave in too soon," Hitler continued. "But I told him that if ever there is another war between Germany and England, Germany will fight on until twelve minutes after twelve o'clock, so long as I am the Fuehrer.

"Had Germany known then what Lloyd George has just told me, things might have been different for Germany today."

Now whether or not that actually was what Lloyd George said, it was the impression he left implanted very firmly in Hitler's mind on that day in 1937.

I rather doubt had Hitler received a different impression from the interview with Lloyd George that it would have changed his determination to dominate the whole of Europe. But of this I am sure: had his impression been different, he would have changed his tactics. Lloyd George convinced him that he could do what he liked in Europe, so long as he did it a little bit at a time.

Nor do I believe the story that Unity Mitford and Sir Oswald Mosley helped to convince Hitler about the average Englishman's attitude toward war.

Hitler met Unity Mitford when she was studying art in Munich, and there was a period when he showed a keen interest in her. They used to meet in a cafe called the Osteria Bavaria, and I used to stand in attendance while he watched and waited for her arrival.

Hitlers early interest in Unity Mitford was his desire to be seen and to be with an attractive girl. Later, I believe he thought he was using her, as well as other various visitors from England, to convey to the British people his own view. But after his talks with Lloyd George, he was no longer so concerned with sounding out the British viewpoint as to take any opinions from Unity Mitford or Oswald Mosley.

My opinion about von Ribbentrop, and I base it on various of Hitlers remarks, is that he merely confirmed the ideas which Lloyd George had already put in his mind.

Of course, von Ribbentrop was bound to have an influence on Hitler's assessment of Britain's attitude toward Germany.

It was at von Ribbentrop's villa that plans to gain control of Germany were drawn up by Hitler and his early followers. The champagne salesman who became foreign minister was at the Fuehrer's side almost day and night in those days. Later as Hitler's Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, he kept his finger on the pulse of London.

In 1935, von Ribbentrop negotiated the pact with Great Britain which provided that Germany could build a battle fleet up to 35 percent of the strength of the British fleet.

After this diplomatic triumph, Hitler gave him his highest personal appraisal:

"He is my man, that Ribbentrop!"

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

TOMMY HART, BIG SPRING scribe, vows that Snyder fans won't let him or any other outsiders on the Tiger band wagon."

Hart, in his column Monday, writes:

Climbing on Snyder's band wagon isn't as easy as I had anticipated. An outsider is about as welcome as a Stevenson man would be at a convention for Allan Shivers. Think what might have happened, though, had I expressed the belief that Snyder might not have the best AAA team in the state."

Hart had prefaced the above statement by saying:

"Snyder fans obviously think their football team is going 'all the way' in the state football race this year but it's apparent they don't want observers from other areas using such terms in discussing their athletes."

"John Conley and his cohorts have been as nervous as expectant fathers, when the possibility was mentioned by this writer and others in the area."

In addition, Conley's Boswell, Buck Francis of the Snyder Daily News, reacted like a wounded fawn when this window quoted Roy Baird of Big Spring as saying that Sweetwater might have beaten Snyder several weeks ago, had the Mustangs changed their defense in the second half."

Hart isn't fooling anyone, though, of the past "kind" remarks he has put in print about the Tigers.

The Big Spring scribe actually, deep down, (and we're sure he'll admit it) thought Big Spring was going to beat the Tigers last Friday night.

He predicted the Steers to win as did six of the other eight football "experts" at the Big Spring Herald who participate in the weekly "grid guessing game" for that paper.

Hart Quiet Now On Tigers

If Hart wants on the Tiger band wagon now, then we're positive that Snyder fans will welcome him aboard with open arms." He hasn't, however, praised the Tigers a single time since the Tigers' fine performance Friday night.

It's hard to understand why Hart was "sold" on the Tigers before the game with Big Spring and not now. He may be sold on the Tiger's now but he hasn't committed himself.

It boils down to the fact that he was trying to get his own club (the Steers) fired up for last Friday's game with the Tigers by throwing in those complimentary remarks about the Bengals.

Anything he wants to say about the Tigers, now, though we can feel assured that it is coming from the Heart."

As for the Roy Baird statement concerning the Sweetwater game, we just thought it was rather odd that a coach of one school would second guess the coach of another, especially when the two schools are in the same conference or district.

Knowing Baird personally (we played college baseball with him at McMurry) we don't believe he intended Hart to quote him on his statement that Sweetwater should have beaten the Tigers.

It's only natural for one on the sideline to second guess the coach or manager of a team but when it comes out in print, the "second guesser" usually leaves himself open to a lot of criticsm.

Who knows, the Tigers may have beaten Sweetwater worse than they did if the Mustangs had changed their defense in the second half.

We figure Big Spring has just as stout of a defense, if not stouter, than Sweetwater, yet the Tigers scored 26 points against each team.

We don't know what the difference of the defense setups employed by Sweetwater and Big Spring in the games against Snyder but it appears to us that if Baird had it figured out how Sweetwater could have stopped the Tiger offense, then why didn't the Steers succeed in halting the Tiger ground and passing game.

Baird also said that Snyder wouldn't get far because it didn't have a passing attack.

Mebbe so, but against Big Spring the Bengals completed three of six passes for 52 yards including one touchdown pass.

Levelland Has Speed To Burn

We certainly hope the Tiger band wagon doesn't "break down" this week.

The Tigers have a tremendous task before them and we're sure the players realize this fact.

Levelland appears to have the "Texas A&M" type of ball club, that of being "opportunists."

You can't make many mistakes and expect to beat the Lobos.

Levelland has speed to burn with Joe Kennedy and Jesse Sudderth furnishing most of the speed.

Getting back to Hart, the Big Spring scribe says when we charged the Big Spring Junior High team with slugging that it was an indictment against the whole system at Big Spring.

Don't know where he gets his reasoning on this. If a boy is guilty of slugging in junior high football, then he should be reprimmanded right then and there. A boy needs to learn how to play cleanly as well as learn the fundamentals of of the game which is the fundamentals of the game which is the principal job of a junior high coach.

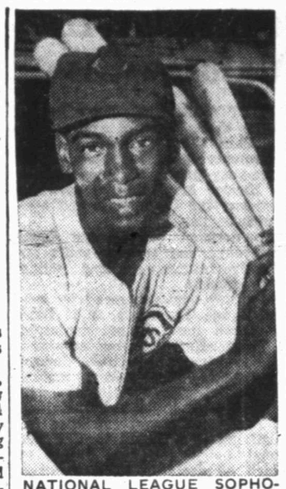
Hart hasn't explained, through, the slugging act of Jerry Barron in the varsity game Friday night. We're sure that no one was more upset over this incident than Steer Coach Carl Coleman. But it happened, neverthless.

Coleman, by the way, has denied the rumor that had him saying "Big Spring may not beat Snyder but the Tigers won't be in condition to beat Levelland."

It certainly didn't sound like Coleman and we're glad to hear it was only a false rumor.

Surprise Flowers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The University of Louisville homecoming queen is arranging her own coronation. Miss Doris Goodknight, 19, named queen Monday, happens to be chairman in charge of arrangements for halftime ceremonies at Saturday's game with Toledo University. "I had no idea I was ordering flowers for myself," she said.



NATIONAL LEAGUE SOPHOMORE OF THE YEAR—Ernie Banks, Chicago Cubs shortstop, was named the National League's Sophomore of the Year by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Banks hit 44 home runs, more in one season than any other shortstop in the history of baseball.

Tiger Frosh, 'B' Play Here Tomorrow Nite

Snyder High School's "B" and Freshman teams will host similar teams from Stamford in a doubleheader at Tiger Stadium tomorrow night.

The Freshman teams of the two schools will open the program at 6:30 with the B teams to follow immediately.

The games will wind up the season's slate for both Snyder teams.

The Tiger Frosh suffered its first loss of the season last week after winning the first eight games. Sweetwater Frosh ended the streak with a 21-20 victory.

The Snyder B team overpowered Colorado City B last week, 67-13, for its sixth win in eight starts this season.

Snyder's two junior high teams wound up their season's schedule two weeks ago. The eighth grade went unbeaten for the season with an 8-0 record. The seventh grade won five, lost two and tied one.

After tomorrow's twinbill here, all local schoolboy teams will be through for the season with exception of the Tigers. The Tigers meet Levelland Friday night and then close out their regular schedule against Lamesa Thanksgiving Day, both games carded for Tiger Stadium.

Ira Quintets To Meet Highland Tomorrow

Ira's varsity basketball teams in both boys and girls will meet Highland at Ira tomorrow night instead of Fluvanna as was published in yesterday's edition of the News.

Only the B girls team will meet Fluvanna. The B girl game will start at 5:45; the varsity girl game at 7:00 and the varsity boys game at about 8:15.

Buck Didn't Duck

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The trophy mounted over State Trooper Elmer Lowe's fireplace came from a buck that couldn't duck. The buck wandered onto a highway yesterday and was hit by a truck. The truck overturned and blocked the road. When Lowe arrived to unscramble the traffic jam, he found the motorists had carved off chunks of the meat. All that was left was the head.

Spikes Reaches 850 In Rushing

Berry, Taylor 1-2 In Passing Game

Jack Spikes soared past the 800 mark in net yards rushing in the Big Spring game Friday to take over the lead among the Tiger ball toters.

Spikes gained 134 yards against Big Spring to push his season total to 850 yards in eight games, an average of 106.2 yards per game.

Spikes replaces Joe Baxter as the leading Tiger rusher. Baxter, however, didn't play a down against Big Spring due to an injury.

Baxter has gained 730 yards in seven games and, like Spikes, has averaged better than 100 yards per game. Baxter's average per game is 104.3.

Baxter continues to lead in yards-per-carry with 9.5 in 77 totes. Spikes has averaged 7.4 in 113 carries.

Powell Berry and Jerry Taylor continue to run neck-and-neck in passing. Berry leads with 12 completions in 22 attempts with Taylor close behind with 10 out of 22.

Milton Ham continues as the top receiver with 10 catches for 157 yards.

Baxter, although he missed Friday's game with Big Spring, held his scoring leadership with 68 points. Spikes follows with 42.

In overall figures, the Tigers have gained a net of 2,290 yards rushing in 349 carries, an average of 6.5 per carry.

In total offense (rushing and passing) the Tigers have gained 2,681 yards in eight games, an average of 335 yards per game.

The Tigers have scored 205 points for an average of 25.6 points per game.

The opposition has scored 48 points against the Tigers for a 6-point average.

License Too Late

CLEVELAND (AP) — Toolmaker Victor Doubek, 50, and Mrs. Ruth Zajowski, a 43-year-old widow, got a marriage license yesterday at Lakeside Court House. Shortly after they drove away in Doubek's car, it slowed and came to a stop against a utility pole. Doubek had died of a heart attack.

The 13-0 victory scored over Vanderbilt this year was Mississippi's first shutout against the Commodores in a football series that dates back through 33 games since 1894.

H-SU Among Aerial Leaders

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Hardin-Simmons is one of the leading colleges in the nation in forward passing—which should be no surprise.

The coach of the Cowboys is the master passer of gridiron history, Slingin' Sammy Baugh.

Baugh set passing records in professional football with the Washington Redskins for 16 years.

Now, in his first season as head coach of the Cowboys, Baugh has produced a team that's averaging 163.9 yards in the air per game. That per-game average is second only to Navy.

Ken Ford, Henry Lyle and Gene Sauer are the boys who throw the pigskin. Together they have completed 112 of 203 passes for 1,311 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Swink Is AP's 'Back Of Week'

By The Associated Press

Jim Swink of Texas Christian, latest of the many storied backfield aces to emerge in the Southwest Conference, today was named the Associated Press Back of the Week.

If the 6-1, 180-pound junior halfback from Rusk, Tex., had any detractors he did a great job of sending them sprawling last weekend in his one-man show against Texas. The Horned Frogs, closing in on the Cotton Bowl, didn't need any more than Swink to bring the ambitious Longhorns back to earth.

It was a 47-20 ball game and Swink went across for four touchdowns. Only one was commonplace, coming on a 1-yard plunge. The others were true Texas spectaculars — with Swink swinging along on runs of 62, 57 and 34 yards. In 15 plays, he piled up 288 yards—the top one-game total of the season for major college play.

Among other things, he also booted two conversions, giving him a total of 26 points for the game as TCU handed Texas its worst conference whipping of all time.

TCU Coach Abe Martin, who's had to come up with new adjectives for Swink each week, didn't have any doubts that it was the "greatest exhibition of ball carrying I ever saw."

Hard-hit Ed Price of Texas termed Swink one of the best, if not the best, backs in the country. His performance not only was the greatest individual show I've ever seen, but also the best I've ever heard of."

Last weekend's game afforded great opportunities for many backs but none approached Swink's brilliance.

Among other receiving nominations from observers across the nation were Oklahoma's Tommy McDonald, Maryland's Ed Vereb, Washington's Steve Roake, UCLA's Kim Decker, Oregon State's Sam Wesley, Ohio State's Howard Hopalong Cassady, Arizona's Art Luppino, Hardin-Simmons' Chuck Massegee, Virginia Tech's Billy Cranwell, Princeton's Royce Flippin, Texas A&M's Lloyd Taylor, and Arkansas' Preston Carpenter.

Wolverines Meet Buckeyes For Crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan and Ohio State will meet for the Big Ten football championship Saturday but it might well turn out to be a battle between Ohio State's Howard Cassady and Michigan ends Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz.

While Coach Bennie Oosterbaan lauded his two great ends to Chicago football writers via telephone yesterday, Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State was equal in his praise of Cassady. He called him the "greatest football player I've ever seen."

Oosterbaan said he has never seen two greater ends than Kramer and Maentz on one team.

The Wolverines need Saturday's game to clinch the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl. A loss or a tie would give Ohio State the title and allow Michigan State to represent the Big Ten in the New Year's game at Pasadena.

Hayes praised his team for its great comeback after losing to both Stanford and Duke and still being able to move towards a title game against Michigan.

We were being compared to the great 1954 Ohio State team," Hayes said, but our boys worked hard and managed to improve. The turning point was the Wisconsin game (Ohio State 26, Wisconsin 16) where we were considered a team that could go on its own."

We've been accenting our strength and minimizing our weakness," said Hayes when asked why his team didn't pass more often. But, he added, wait until Saturday to see if we can prove it."

Dick Dunkel's COLLEGE FOOTBALL POWER INDEX

EXPLANATION — The Power Index ratings are past performance averages. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team, against equally rated opposition.

ARMORED CARS FOR RANGERS—A fleet of five armored cars have been added to the fighting arsenal of the Texas Rangers for riot duty and to rout out fugitives. Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples, on the turret, explains the car's operation to Col. Homer Garrison, right, State Police director and Joe S. Fletcher, assistant director, at a showing in Austin.

Ramsey Endorsed By Chairman Of Democratic Advisory Group

DALLAS (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey today had the endorsement of the chairman of the Democratic Advisory Council of Texas as the party's national committeeman from Texas.

Byron Skelton of Temple, the council chairman, yesterday wired Paul Butler, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, that the Texas council had given its stamp of approval to Ramsey. The national committee is gathering for a meeting in Chicago at which it is to consider the appointment of Ramsey.

Skelton's action followed in the wake of considerable speculation that there would be opposition to Ramsey by the council because Gov. Allan Shivers was one of the men who had a hand in picking Ramsey for the national post and for other reasons.

Skelton said that the council's endorsement of Ramsey was not to be considered an affiliation with Shivers' forces.

The council has been active in Texas since it was organized by the national committee and House Speaker Sam Rayburn following the break between Shivers and the party organization in 1952. Shivers refused to support the Democratic presidential nominee and Texas has been without a national committeeman on the national committee since Wright Morrow, who bolted the party with Shivers to support Eisenhower, resigned.

Morrow's resignation was accepted by the national committee but the regular state organization, controlled by Shivers forces, refused to accept his resignation until recently.

It was then that Ramsey was appointed with the endorsement of Rayburn, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, and Shivers.

Skelton in his telegram said there were three reasons for the council's endorsement of Ramsey. They were: "Ramsey's loyal support of the Democratic nominee in 1952, his publicly announced promise to support the Democratic nominee in 1956, and his agreement to work for a Texas delegation to the national convention in 1956 that is pledged to support the nominees of the convention."

There have been reports that groups in Texas have filed protests with the national committee over Ramsey's nomination. In his telegram to Butler yesterday, Skelton said that such protests did not come from anyone with official status in the council.

Although Texas, with the seating of Ramsey, will have full representation in national Democratic affairs, the council will continue to function in the state.

Ramsey and Skelton are due to meet next Monday at Whitney when the council sponsors an appreciation banquet for Sen. Johnson.

Paris Editor Will Observe 91st Birthday

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock Judge A. W. (Sandy) Neville will climb the 24 steps up to the editorial room of the Paris News.

He will sit down at his desk, roll a Bull Durham cigarette, go through the exchange papers on his desk and then turn to his worn typewriter and punch out the day's editorials and his daily column, "Backward Glances."

To Editor Neville it will be just an ordinary day. But to his many friends, his family and his co-workers on the News it will be a little more special. The dean of working newspaper men of the nation will be 91 years old.

Neville has spent 53 of his years on the staff of the Paris News. Last September 1, he began his 54th year on the paper.

His family will observe the event with a birthday dinner but that probably will be the extent of the celebration. That's the way he wants it.

He will receive the usual handshakes and well wishes of his many friends and co-workers but there will be a tinge of sadness on this birthday. One handshake will be missing.

Gone from the scene is his friend A. G. (Pat) Mayse, late publisher of the Paris News, who died in September.

Neville and Mayse had been close friends since the late publisher and his associates bought the paper in 1929.

Many papers have rolled off the press since Alexander White Neville joined the News September 1, 1902 with years of printing experience behind him that started in 1880 when he was 16.

Neville rarely ever misses a day of work. He is hardly ever sick and never takes a vacation. Monday prior to his birthday he will receive his weekly check from the News for the 2,767th consecutive time.

When he first joined the News he set ads and did other mechanical work until 1904 when he became editor. When a local stock company bought the paper in 1920, Neville was named superintendent and assistant to the publisher.

When Mayse and associates bought the paper in 1929 Neville was retained as proof reader and feature writer. Gradually editorial writing was added and proof-reading eliminated. He was named editor in 1936.

Neville was born in Salem, Va., Nov. 17, 1864 and came to Paris in 1879. He married Miss Jeannie Walker in 1888. She died in 1952.

Three of his children went into the newspaper field. Miss Maude Neville is now regional editor of the Paris News. Mrs. Paul Harison was secretary to the managing editor of the New York Post and later a special Hollywood writer for NEA. His only son, the late J. W. Neville, worked on the Paris News and newspapers in Houston and Amarillo.

Through the years, Neville has written two books, "History of Lamar County," published in 1937 and "The Red River Valley—then and Now," published in 1948.

United States Supply Of Oil In Good Shape

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The oil industry is in good position to help keep this country supplied with energy fuel until the advent of atomic energy and sun power, the American Petroleum Institute (API) was told.

Twenty years from now, the daily production of crude oil probably will be about 11 million barrels daily, nearly twice the current rate, said Austin Cadle of the Standard Oil Co. of California.

By that time, he added, the country's population likely will be around 215 million as against 165 million now and its fuel energy requirements in terms of crude oil will be around 56 barrels a year for each person, compared to the present 40 barrels.

Besides the domestic crude oil production it will take imports of about 2 million barrels daily, plus natural gas equivalent to 1.4 million barrels of oil, and coal enough to equal 8.2 million barrels as well as other present forms of energy and the expected new forms to come later, Cadle reported, to supply the total expected demand.

Oil reserves, Cadle said, have kept pretty well ahead of demand but great expansion in domestic production will be needed.

Many geologists are optimistic that the added oil needed will be found in the offshore areas of the Gulf of Mexico and off California, Cadle said.

Six Idaho Hunters Trapped By Storm

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Six Idaho hunters trapped by a sudden snowstorm were found yesterday but nine others in Utah still awaited rescue.

The nine hunters were stranded in a Forest Service ranger station east of here in northern Utah's Wasatch Mountains. A plane droppedbed rolls and food yesterday and a snowmobile was expected to bring them out today.

Three Idaho hunters were found early yesterday. Then later in the day a pair of cowhands found the others in an abandoned ranchhouse about 22 miles southeast of Idaho Falls.

U. S. Security Chief Quizzed

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scott McLeod, the State Department's security chief, was called back to a Senate hearing today to tell "who actually made the decisions" in denying three disputed passports.

Chairman Hennings (D-Mo) asked for the information yesterday as McLeod appeared before the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights.

McLeod, whose duties include general supervision over the Passport Division, said he didn't know. He was told to find out and report back.

He told reporters later he did not know whether he could furnish the information, if he found out, because of a presidential order holding certain matters in the executive department confidential.

The cases involved are those of Dr. Linus C. Pauling, California Institute of Technology scientist and Nobel Prize winner; Judge William Clark, former chief judge of the Allied High Courts in Germany; and Martin D. Kamen, professor at Washington University in St. Louis.

The subcommittee said denial of passports was one of the specific points it wanted to study when it set out this week on a planned three-week series of hearings on "areas of erosion' in the freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution.

McLeod said in the first 10 months of this year, 473,703 passports had been issued or renewed. A total of 401 have been refused, he said. Of these, 300 were denied because of lack of proof of citizenship and others on various grounds such as Communist activities, mental illness, criminal record or previous conduct abroad such as to bring discredit on the United States.

Since Aug. 1, he said, a new set of regulations on procedures for granting, or denying a passport have been set up.

Clark testified before McLeod took the stand. He said his passport was lifted after he publicly had criticized the "high-handed manner" of German authorities in arresting and jailing American citizens. He got another passport, he said, after he had gone to court trying to force the department to give him one.

Pauling said he feuded with the Passport Division for almost three years. Not until last fall, when he had won the Nobel Prize, did he get a passport. The State Department had told him, he said, that evidence showed he had followed the Communist line. Pauling said he never was a Communist of any sort.

Kamen did not appear at the hearing.

Calls For Prison

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A man who claimed he was "looking for a place to make a telephone call" was convicted yesterday of breaking into a drug store. Robert Hardison, 32, Louisville, drew a three-year term.

Kansas has 439 miles of railroad.

No Decision Is Reached In Matusow Case

FORT WORTH (AP)—Three judges of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit yesterday heard arguments for the reversal of a three-year prison sentence assessed Harvey M. Matusow, one-time card-carrying Communist and self-confessed liar.

No decision was handed down yesterday. The appeals court ordinarily returns opinions within three weeks.

Matusow was sentenced by federal Judge Thomason at El Paso in March for criminal contempt of court after Matusow admitted he lied when he testified Clinton E. Jencks, labor leader, was a Communist. The testimony was given during the Jencks trial at El Paso. Jencks was convicted for falsifying an affidavit for the National Labor Relations Board in which he declared he was not a Communist.

Judge Thomason considered Matusow's first testimony as the truth and held him in contempt for filing an affidavit in which he said he had given false testimony. The judge ruled that the affidavit was false. It was filed about the time Matusow's book was published.

In sentencing Matusow, Judge Thomason declared he had conspired with others "to obstruct justice for personal gain and notoriety to assist in the sale of his book."

Matusow is the author of a book entitled "False Witness" in which he describes his activities as a Communist.

Defense attorneys Stanley Faulkner of New York City and Joseph A. Calamia of El Paso argued yesterday that Matusow, now free on $10,000 bond, should not have to serve the term because perjury itself is not contempt. The attorneys also argued that contempt must be committed in the presence of "and under the very eyes of the court."

They also claimed that in previous cases only six month sentences have been given for contempt and that the three-year sentence is "cruel and unusual punishment."

U. S. Dist. Atty. Holvey Williams cast doubt on Matusow's now being a reformed Communist and referred to his actions in the Jencks case as "an overt and fraudulent attempt to make the court his tool for personal achievement."

Movie Studio Gets Money From Oil Well

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A movie studio which let an oil company drill on its back lot is netting more than $1,000 daily.

Universal Consolidated Oil Co. says it has completed seven producing wells on the 20th Century-Fox lot. The wells produce 3,000 barrels of oil a day, worth $7,890, and six million cubic feet of natural gas, worth about $1,000.

The studio's cut under an 11 2-3 per cent royalty deal is $1,031 a day.

Doctors Described As Too Impersonal

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The public's main gripe against doctors and hospitals is that they don't seem to be human enough, says a new study of people's feelings.

Only a fifth of the people interviewed thought physicians charged too much. Most did think hospitals cost too much.

Their main criticism was a feeling that doctors and hospitals gave an impression of not caring deeply about the human patient, said Dr. Earl Lomon Koos, professor of social welfare, Florida State University, Tallahassee.

He said the remedy seems to be better human relations.

The survey covered 1,000 persons interviewed in a northeastern U. S. industrial city of 350,000, anonymously called "Metropolis."

Only 19 per cent throught doctors' fees were too high, Dr. Koos said in a talk prepared for the American Public Health Assn.'s 83rd annual meeting.

But half criticized doctors for "being unwilling to make house calls" or insisting that patients, unless severely ill, come to their offices or to the hospital. About as many objected to long waits in doctors' offices.

And 64 per cent indicated that modern doctors, concentrating on techniques to find and combat illness, "lacked the human warmth of the old-time general practitioner (who possibly knew less about medicine but more about his patients)," Dr. Koos said.

He quoted one woman as saying, "If we could feel that we mean something to Dr. Blank, I'd be happy with him. But I 'm sure he has to look at baby's history, or have his nurse tell him who we are, so he'll know what to call me . . . It's like running through an assembly line to go to his office . . . I'm sure, though, that he knows his medicine."

Eighty-two per cent thought hospital costs too high, and 71 per cent thought hospital care unsatisfactory, Dr. Koos continued.

He said the hospital, as well as the doctor, "is caught in the coils of an advancing medical technology, as well as faced with pressing problems of labor and economics."

"But it is also necessary to state our belief that many of the ills current in hospital-patient-family relations are present simply because, as the respondents imply, the patient has been somewhat forgotten in the course of hospital progress."

Blooming Crazy

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Hope Coggins may have a confused pear tree. She said weather in the 70s prompted the tree to burst into bloom yesterday.

Grandmothers May Pass On Cold Germs

By FRANK CAREY

HOUSTON (AP) — Television and grandmothers could be indirect and innocent causes of recurrent "colds" in some children, the Southern Medical Assn. was told today.

Many kids watch TV while "lying on a rug," and mold and dust from a rug can touch off an "allergic" type cold in children sensitive to such material, Dr. Almon F. Halpern of Dallas told the group's 49th annual convention.

He said chemicals are available for spraying rugs and overstuffed furniture in the TV room, and these can "quite effectively control" harmful airborne materials.

As for grandma, he said while she might be up and around and apparently "healthy," she might also have chronic bronchitis which could make her a "healthy carrier" of germs which her grandchild could catch.

Halpern, speaking of certain children of preschool age who get a respiratory infection "about once a month," put it this way:

"The presence of a 'healthy' individual in the child's environment may be the sole cause of a recurring acute respiratory infection.

"This person may be a mother with a 'chronic sinus,' a grandmother with a chronic bronchitis, or an older sibling brother or sister who attends schools and who has frequent colds.

"In some instances we have had to treat the entire family with vaccine or sulfadiazine prophylactically before successfully controlling the child's infection."

He said the "vaccine" referred to is the so-called "cold shot" vaccine which includes various types of bacteria.

Chrome-Plated Fire Hydrant Installed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—This city now has one chrome-plated street fire hydrant.

It replaces one that was painted yellow, like all the others, in front of the La Jolla home of Dr. Edward Courtney, a dentist.

Dr. Courtney thought the yellow one was unsightly. He negotiated with the city water and fire departments to send the hydrant to the plating company.

The job cost him $200, plus a $22.50 city charge.

Man With Five Wives Enters Guilty Plea

FARMINGTON, Utah (AP) — Carl E. Jentzsch, 54, Farmington electrician accused of having five wives and "at least" 20 children, pleaded guilty to charges of unlawful cohabitation yesterday.

Dist. Judge Charles A. Cowley set sentencing Nov. 22.

Jentzsch is one of four men recently arrested in Utah's new crackdown on plural marriage.

Planes Evade Radar Network

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—The United States learned a sharp and realistic lesson today about the vulnerability of its cities to atomic attack by jet bmobers.

A comparaive handful of swift bombers, streaking inland at low altitude, evaded an elaborate radar warning system and waiting interceptor planes and aimed simulated nuclear bombs at air bases located in Southern states from Florida westward through Louisiana and northward as far as Virginia.

They were "enemy" aircraft participating in the giant Exercise Sagebrush, a "tactical" maneuver to test application of modern ground and Air Force weapons and tactics to battlefield fighting.

When the aggressor planes set off this mock war with their strike last night, defending forces had ample warning that trouble was coming. Only the time of attack remained a surprise. Yet initial reports indicated that a substantial number of the attacking planes foiled radar warning systems and suddenly appeared over target airfields before fighters could raise to intercept them.

Radar did pick up the images of some of the fast-flying bombers and there were some interceptions. But, for the peace of mind of defense planners of the nation, the first reports suggested that too many of the enemy succeeded in their mission.

Struggle Still Continuing In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's anti-Peron government and Peronista labor leaders were still locked in a struggle for supremacy today. Thousands of workers obeyed the Peronistas' general strike call, but other thousands ignored it.

The new provisional government headed by Maj. Gen. Pedro Aramburu, which took over Sunday after ousting Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi from the presidency, arrested 146 persons in the Buenos Aires district alone for inciting people to strike, capital police said.

The Aramburu regime met the strike challenge in a showdown fight with the big General Confederation of Labor (CGT), which was the main support of Juan D. Peron, Argentina's former dictator. The government declared the strike, which started at midnight Monday, "is failing."

But the fact remained that the walkout hit hardest in some of the more essential industries, such as meat packing, metal working and petroleum.

The question seemed to be who could last the longer — the government faced with steadily dropting stocks of meats and other supplies, or the workers who are losing more pay every day.

The armed forces, which are guarding key points in industrial centers of the country to prevent any outbreaks of violence, were posted last night in the big Retiro railroad station in downtown Buenos Aires. Firemen also were assigned to the station. Unconfirmed reports said the railway workers would join the strike today.

The government outlawed the strike, and warned that those inciting the walkout would be jailed.

Those arrested were said to include high officials of CGT. They were held incommunicado.

Mitzi Gaynor Gets Impounded Money

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A financial nest egg that has been accumulating since she was a minor has hatched handsomely for screen star Mitzi Gaynor. The 24-year-old actress picked up $16,250 yesterday from County Clerk Harold Ostly. The money represented 10 per cent of her earnings impounded under a 1947 court order.
