Erns Lose Game

Perryton club went on a losing streak in the Sunday game with Canadian. It looked as if they had to see how many errors a team could make in a single game. Just one of those days that a team, good or bad, will lose in a while. Even if they are in piling up a grand total of errors in one game, we know that the Perryton team is a bunch of ball players in the Battery for Perryton, and that they are not.

SHIPS CARLOAD LAMBS FRIDAY

L. R. CONNER & W. W. GROOM SHIP 140 HEAD EARLY SPRING LAMBS TO MARKET

L. R. Conner, Farnsworth, and W. W. Groom, near Texhoma, shipped out a car load of early January and February spring lambs, Friday morning from Farnsworth, for the Kansas City market.

The car was composed of 140 lambs which were sold on the Monday morning market. The amount paid for the lambs in Kansas City has not been learned.

The territory around Farnsworth in Ochiltree county, is fast becoming noted for its sheep raising, two car loads of wool being shipped out of that community last week, totaling 72,000 pounds. Ochiltree county farmers and ranchers are finding sheep raising a very profitable undertaking.

E. C. CUDD SURPRISED ON SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

E. C. Cudd, pioneer citizen of Ochiltree county, was very much surprised when almost a hundred relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at his home on last Sunday afternoon in honor of his seventieth birthday.

Mr. Cudd lives in the New Hope community in the northwest part of the county. It is the custom in that neighborhood to have a big basket dinner following the Sunday school in the morning. Then in the afternoon they have a preaching service. After the afternoon services, Mr. and Mrs. Cudd went to their home, accompanied by Rev. J. S. Huchabee, Mrs. Huchabee and her father. Shortly after their arrival at the Cudd home the others commenced to come and soon there was almost a hundred present. Then a monstrous birthday cake, bedecked with seventy candles was brought forth with many freezers of ice cream.

Mr. Cudd had four children and eleven grand-children present. To say that he was surprised is putting it too mild but the writer hopes that he may enjoy many more such surprises. Those present were as follows: Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Huchabee and father, Jess Cudd and family, Milan Cudd and family, Chas. Cudd and family, W. G. Yearly and family, Grandpa Yearly, John Cook and family, A. R. Cook and family, Ernest Tindle and family, Tom Hogland and family, Roy Hogland and family, O. E. Carter and family, John Budock and family, Grandma Budock, J. L. Jones and family, Grandma Sandy, Mrs. Erickson, A. W. Cline and wife, L. J. Withers and family, Ben Jones and family, Fred Furnish and family, H. G. Riley and family, R. E. Moon and family, Evelyn Glaspie and Mrs. Hammons and daughters of Hammond, Oklahoma.

After a dainty two course luncheon, several hands of auction bridge were enjoyed by the following guests: Mrs. R. W. Binford, Mrs. J. R. Kershaw, Mrs. Jack Kellam, Mrs. O. E. Blank, Mrs. W. D. Tenney, Mrs. Sam Hergert, Mrs. C. B. Rogers, Mrs. Chas. Hutchinson, Mrs. Haskell Holland, Mrs. Stanley Key, Mrs. Frank Caradine, Mrs. Geo. Peltcher and Mrs. Van W. Stewart. Lovely prizes were awarded the holders of high and low scores, and the guest of honor.

Independence Day

So much has been said and written of that memorable day upon which our forefathers signed the Declaration of Independence that it is difficult to write without entering a field which has repeatedly been covered, yet one cannot be reminded too often of the valuable lesson contained in the struggle of that little band of patriots to establish a republic in which their descendants could live secure and obtain the most from life. The ideals embodied in that famous document have served as an inspiration, a standard by which this country has attained its present heights. In the fight for independence that followed shortly after the signing of that document the colonists were victorious for their cause was just and founded upon right motives.

In the decades that have followed, the growth of the United States from a few colonies, dependent upon the English Crown, to one of the world's most prosperous and powerful nations has been practically uninterrupted, and today ships flying the Stars and Stripes carry American products to every port, and prosperous conditions are noted on every hand.

In such prosperity and uninterrupted progress there lies a danger—the danger of complacency. There is likely to be a tendency on the part of the citizens to become too confident that the government will continue to function properly and maintain its position and progress.

A general lack of interest in public affairs on the part of the citizens is certain to follow such self-confidence, and that condition has caused embarrassment to many institutions and nations. This danger constitutes an ever menacing foe to be guarded vigilantly against. In order to do this it must be the paramount duty of each individual, each voter, to assure himself that the public offices are properly filled by those whose efficiency and loyalty cannot be questioned, and that the different departments and organizations of which the government consists maintain a high standard and function properly.

Let each American be inspired with genuine patriotism, not the patriotism that flares only during the time of national danger from an outside enemy, but patriotism that steadily burns through all time; hold sacred the ideals set forth in that immortal document, the Declaration of Independence, signed by our forefathers on July 4, 1776, let its tenets ever be the standard by which one's efforts are guided, and strive to retain unblemished the flag which was born during the struggle for freedom, that it may ever represent democracy, liberty and justice.

Post Office Closes

Incoming Mail Will Be Put in Boxes But Windows Will Be Closed for Fourth

According to Mrs. Fannie Mae Black, post mistress of the Perryton post office, the windows will be closed all day, Monday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day.

Incoming mail will be placed in the boxes but no other services will be rendered during the day. Mrs. Black reports that there is a big demand for boxes at the present time and that unless box rent is paid promptly, that some of the present holders will be forced to relinquish their boxes. Today is the final day for paying box rent.

A number of friends and neighbors of W. T. Eads of the Fairview community surprised him last Saturday evening, June 25. This was Mr. Eads' birthday. Rorabaugh; Clair Rorabaugh, Juanita Jacobson, Luella McMullen, D. R. McBride and son, Jesse Skeen and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Eads and family.

Mrs. Tom Carver, Canadian, is visiting in the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. J. M. Grigsby.

SUFFERS SEVERE BURNS FROM ESCAPING STEAM

Mrs. Stanley D. Key was severely burned on her arms and hands on last Friday morning by steam that escaped from a steam pressure cooker. Mrs. Key attempted to remove the lid from the cooker without first opening the safety valve. Mrs. Key was confined to her bed for several days from the burns and the shock but she is now reported to be getting along very well.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richardson entertained at dinner Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson, Mrs. J. S. Talley, Arch Talley, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Key, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cheatham, Mr. and Mrs. Mood McMullen, Lindrieth, N. M., and Mrs. Will Ellison, Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McLarty returned Sunday from Follett where they have been visiting in the home of Mrs. McLarty's parents for the past few weeks. William's many friends will be glad to know that he is recovering from the rheumatism attack which has kept him away from the store for a number of weeks.

J. O. Lee returned Tuesday from Ness City, Kansas, where he has been for some time at the bedside of his mother, who passed away and was buried a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LaMaster and family returned Tuesday from a months visit with relatives and friends at their old home in Kentucky.

Attorney Walter Allen and son, Jack, Stinnett, were Perryton visitors last Monday.

No Concert Friday

Band Will Not Play This Week But Will Give Concert Friday, July 8

According to Geo. L. Hyde, director of the Perryton Municipal band, that organization will not give the regular weekly concert this Friday evening, the next concert being on July 8.

It was found necessary to put off the program because so many of the members of the band are busily engaged in harvesting and could not get off this week.

The band stand is being screened this week and will be all enclosed by the time of the next program. A screen door has been fitted at the entrance way, which will help the musicians by keeping out the bugs which are attracted by the lights in the band stand.

Miss Etta Meese was pleasantly surprised last Sunday, when her parents and her brothers and sisters came in with well filled baskets, to help her enjoy her birthday. They met at the home of Joe Meese in the west part of town. Those present were Judge and Mrs. H. D. Meese; Miss Elsie Meese, Kay and Woodrow Meese, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meese and Grandma Kile, all of Beaver, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chase, Farnsworth; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Meese; Miss Mabel Phoebus and W. R. Caylor.

Rev. and Mrs. Dean, Morgan, Texas, are visiting in the home of their daughter, Mrs. R. C. Johnson. Rev. Dean had charge of the services at the Baptist church on Sunday morning. He delivered a wonderful sermon on "Atonement."

Rev. Roll, Follett pastor, had charge of the music.

ONLY WATER BAILED FROM BURTON WELL IN OCHILTREE AREA

For weeks there have been rumors that the W. G. Burton and others' No. 1 Strickler in section 579, block 43 of the H. & T. C. survey, and in Ochiltree county, was showing some oil.

Efforts to confirm the well were difficult and finally a party of oil men and scouts went to the well. They sat on the well, figuratively speaking, for 72 hours and reported that casing was set at 3,801 feet, 69 feet off bottom, and it filled 600 feet with fluid.

The hole was bailed and only water was bailed from the hole.—Amarillo News.

FRUIT ADAPTED TO PANHANDLE

COUNTY AGENT G. R. SHEETS MAKES TRIP TO WOODWARD TO FIND TREES FOR OCHILTREE

G. R. Sheets, county agent of Ochiltree county, made a trip to the experiment station at Woodward, Okla., last Friday, to gather information concerning fruit and shade trees adapted for growth in the Panhandle.

Many interesting facts were learned by Mr. Sheets on the trip and in his examination of the large experimental farm maintained at Woodward by the United States department of agriculture and the state of Oklahoma, jointly.

The main object of the trip was to select fruit trees that would seem particularly fitted for planting here. Among the ones selected were the following:

Cherry—Early Richmond, Mount Morencie, Morelo.
Plums—Hansons Sand Cherry Hybrids of the following three varieties, Opala, Wanita, Kahinta; Compas Cherry Plum also has good possibilities and so has Poole's Pride.

Grapes—Headlight, very early; Cleota, early; Beacon, early mid-season, also the Delaware; Armalaga and Extra, mid-season; Ellen Scorr and Lenoir, late; Catawba, very late.

In the shade trees tried at the experiment station, the Chinese elm was found, after twelve years growth, to produce the best results. The Mulberry was highly recommended as a windbreak, especially around orchards, as the birds will eat the fruit from the Mulberry trees before they will eat the cherries or plums.

"Although conditions may vary to some extent," Mr. Sheets states, "between Woodward and Ochiltree county, yet I believe that the trees that I have listed can be successfully grown here, as I selected the ones that seem best adapted to this country. An effort should be made to plant more trees in Ochiltree county."

G. O. Lord, New Orleans, was here the fore part of the week looking after his land interests in the southwest part of the county. Mr. Lord's daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bultman and children, were also here.

Make Comedy War Film

"Lost at the Front" Is Hilarious Recital of Adventure on Russian Line

To be lost at the front in war times is an experience that might be regarded as decidedly serious. In fact it nearly results fatally for George Sidney and Charlie Murray, co-stars of the lively First National comedy, "Lost at the Front," which comes to the American theatre as a special Fourth of July feature, also for Tuesday.

The humorous side of the big show is one that must be reckoned with. In fact a lot of those who participated in the conflict prefer to remember only those phases that were humorous.

And audiences will scream with mirth at the antics of the two comedy stars who get badly tangled in the meshes of the advancing Muscovite forces during the World War. Back to the ankle-length skirt! That is the style adopted by Natalie Kingston, First National leading lady. But it was only for her role in "Lost at the Front." The story harks back to 1917, and feminine styles that look as absurd to the flapper of a decade later as the hoop skirt looked to our wartime lassies.

Perryton merchants and business men will observe Independence day, Monday, July 4th, by closing their respective places of business for the day. Banks, elevators, and practically all the business houses in town will be closed.

The following is a list of those who have signified their intentions of closing, up to Wednesday evening. Others may decide to close.

Bryan & Son, Perryton National Bank, First National Bank, People's Supply, McLarty Mercantile, Perryton Land Co., Barnett Bakery, W. B. Douglas Grain Co., Sharon Grain Co., Stewart Printing Co., Perryton Meat Market, Murphey's Cash Mercantile, Purcell's Store, Allen Brothers, J. A. Jones Furniture Store, Hurn Dry Goods Co., Perryton Bakery and Holt Brothers.

Cafes, restaurants, garages, drug stores, and filling stations will probably be closed part of the day, but because of the nature of their business, cannot close for the entire day.

Mrs. Guy Handcock of this city received word Monday of the death of her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Irwin at Earlsboro, Oklahoma. Her son, Clyde Beougher, took her to Shamrock to take train.

PLAY BALL AT CANADIAN SAT.

PERRYTON CLUB TO CROSS BATS WITH CANADIAN AT ALL-PANHANDLE RODEO SATURDAY

Canadian, Texas, June 30.—The Fifth annual rodeo and cowboys' reunion that is to be held at Anvil Park Lake July 2, 4 and 5, will not be an exhibition, but will be a real competitive contest of cowboy sports, where the participants do not receive a guarantee of any sort; in fact, every one pays an entry fee and their own expenses, and no one receives money unless adjudged the winner in the various events. This contest will be judged by association rules, and any cowboy winning a prize can proudly say he won it under the fairest and hardest set of rules governing any association rodeo.

Every event on the program is a real thriller and is open to all who can qualify under the rules. Playing on the square and giving the contestants a voice in the management of the show have been the rules of the management. It is not a hired performance conducted by a few hired showmen, but a real contest participated in by the talent of the entire Panhandle.

M. F. McLain of Sun City, Kansas, has arrived to arrange the preliminaries before the show. Mr. McLain is this year's manager, and will make every effort to give the public a snappy program, and one run off in the proper order. Accompanying him is Oscar Wolcott, the announcer, who with his fog horn voice, will inform the guests of the different events that will be run off in the show.

Harry Coffee, of Miami, with his riders, rode out each bucking horse a few days ago, and each horse was given a grade. They ranged from 65 to 100 per cent, the largest majority was in the 90 and 100 per cent class. "Timberline" was given a grade of 100 per cent "and then some," according to the competent judge doing the grading. "Who da thot it;" "Tequila;" "Texas;" "Budweiser;" "Red Bird;" and "Jimmie" were all given a grade of 100 per cent. There is the largest array of bucking horses in the southwest assembled for this show, and the public will get some thrills from the spectacular riding on these days.

There will be a ball game each day of the celebration. Perryton will play Canadian, Saturday, and the games Monday and Tuesday will be with Strong City, Oklahoma. Canadian plays Booker, Texas, Sunday, the third.

Ochiltree County Town Leads

FARNSWORTH IS WOOL CENTER OF ENTIRE NORTH PANHANDLE

FIRST SALE HELD ON FRIDAY, JUNE TENTH WILL BE ANNUAL EVENT. BUYERS AND SHEEP MEN WELL REPRESENTED SELL 72,000 LBS. WOOL

During the past few years the sheep business has grown to such an extent in the North Panhandle that some place had to be selected as headquarters for the buying and selling of wool. Farnsworth, located on the Santa Fe about twelve miles southwest of Perryton, has been selected by the wool buyers as the logical place for this wool center. The greater part of the sheep in this part of Texas are owned by ranchmen who live in the Farnsworth trade territory.

On Friday, June 10, the first wool sale ever held in the North Panhandle was held at Farnsworth. Wool buyers from all over the southwest were present and thousands of dollars were paid out for Boston, Mass. The wool brought a good price, running from 19c to 23c per pound.

Among those who sold their clips were E. W. Rogers, C. V. Ellzey, L. R. Conner, Tom Hogland, Ray Chase, D. B. Stump, A. C. Witt, Herman Hargrove and C. W. Barker. These gentlemen are all in the sheep business in a big way and have found it to be a very profitable. Ochiltree county and the surrounding territory is adapted to raising sheep on a money making basis. Every farm should have its flock.

Mr. E. W. Rogers, who is associated with his brother, F. P. Rogers, president of the First National bank of Perryton, in the farming and ranching business, is one of the many who have proven that sheep can be raised very successfully in this section. Mr. B. L. Rogers, proprietor of the Service Store at Farnsworth, is another man who has done much to push the sheep business. He has preached the doctrine of more sheep incessantly and it is largely through his efforts that Farnsworth is now on the map as the sheep center of the Panhandle.

WIND WRECKS OIL DERRICK

BEAVER COUNTY BONNER WILD CAT TEST OIL RIG GOES DOWN WHEN TWISTER HITS COMMUNITY

High winds east of Beaver Sunday afternoon blew over the derrick of the wild cat test well and damaged buildings on the Culver ranch, it is reported.

The new derrick had been recently set up on the R. A. Maple ranch, east of Beaver on the north of the Beaver river. The crew was just well when the Colorado storm came at the time of the test well. As yet, the derrick has been reconstructed. No damage done at the Maple ranch, machinery and boilers, at the well to start drilling, were not harmed by the falling structure.

The wind was in the form of a gust, came to earth on the Maple ranch and travelled eastward. Building at the old Culver ranch in the path of the storm were blown by the wind, according to reports reaching here.

The storm blew up about 6 o'clock Sunday evening and huge clouds of dust were rolled up in Beaver by driving wind. A shower followed the dust and small twisters were set at intervals.

It is thought that the derrick will be reconstructed and set up when Bonner returns from Boston, he has been called by the illness of his son.—Beaver Herald-Examiner.

Starts New Townsite

Rock Island to Establish Riverside City Near Range and Three Way Test

Riverside City has been selected as the name for the new city that will be open in the near future. The town will be located on the Rock Island road that is now being constructed to Liberal, Kansas, and will be on the Beaver river where the railroad will have a crossing. The site of the town is said to be nine-tenths miles east of Guyman and twenty-five miles south of Liberal.

Riverside City will be located in a very rich wheat producing area, and the new town will be a real benefit to the farmers over that way who have been compelled to haul their products several miles to other towns on the railroad. Not far from the new town will be the Range district which is already one of the best advertised places in the section of the Panhandle, and here too the people are experiencing some of the benefits received from the oil development. The Three-Way test is not very far from the new townsite, and the well is flowing wet gas, and promoters of the test are expecting to bring in a good well.—Texoma Times.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunlavy returned the latter part of last week from a short vacation trip to Colorado.

The 10-foot EMERSON-BRANTINGHAM GREAT PLAINS One-Way DISC PLOW

NOT AN EXPERIMENT—This tool was developed from the famous Emerson-Brantingham tractor disc plow and disc harrow thereby insuring a substantial one-way disc that has proved to thousands of farmers by actual demonstration that it meets every requirement. Its 20-inch, heat-treated discs, spaced 6 1-2 inches apart, pulverize all of the surface soil thoroughly to a uniform depth and leave the furrow bottom perfectly flat.

The Great Plains Plow is ideal for preparing the seed bed for small grains, for summer fallow and wheatland, and for destroying Russian thistles and cutting up cornstalks. SAUL CHOSEN KING
 Lesson Text—1 Sam. 9 to 11

The people of Israel, desiring to be like the nations around them, had demanded of their prophet Samuel a king who should go before them. It was God's purpose to give them a kingdom upon which should rest His presence and favor, but the people insisted upon keeping ahead of God's clock. Although warned, through Samuel, that if they were given a king at that time, they would rue the day (1 Sam. 8:10-22), they were loud in their demands.

God granted their prayer in such a way as to teach them that a kingdom erected and maintained in a spirit of insubordination to His will could bring them no satisfaction in the end. He let them have a ruler possessed of all the natural attractions and martial qualities which they admired in a king—a man who, at the time, reflected their religious standpoint and also represented their national failings.

In Saul they had a strange combination of religious zeal with utter want of real heart submission to God. His history is a summary and a reflection of that of Israel. It is the old story of enterprises undertaken in rebellion against the direct will of God. There is at first remarkable success, and then, under the test of trials, an utter collapse.

Saul, the son of Kish, was a stately and commanding figure, just such a man as would be an ideal king to an Oriental people (9:2). His father's asses had gotten loose. What has that to do with a kingdom? Saul is chosen to go with his father's servant to seek the asses. Samuel meets them in the search. Great issues often spring from small affairs.

Two days they seek in vain, and when about to give up, finding themselves near Ramah, decide to consult Samuel, the prophet. How trivial, we might say, and what has it to do with filling up a throne? Yet all was part of a divine plan and fitted in with a communication made to Samuel.

What was true of him is true of all. The seemingly trivial and unimportant things conspire together in working out the purpose of God. The slightest incident may be its prime factor. There are no accidents in His plans. But there had to be a man who knew the voice of God. Let us covet that nearness to God which Samuel had so that He may speak to our ears as a man man speaks to his friends (9:15, 16).

Saul is told that he need not worry about the asses, for they are safely at home, and then he gets an invitation out to dinner with the prophet and many prominent guests. The young Benjaminite accepts, little prepared for what is to ensue. Then there comes a private interview upon the housetop at evening.

The next morning the conference was renewed, and as they walked together Samuel opened to Saul the Word of God (9:27). Drawing out a vial of oil, the aged prophet crowned the event by anointing the bent head of Saul and announcing that he was captain over the inheritance of Israel. The day's incidents were foretold by the prophet, and as Saul saw them come to pass, one by one, all doubt must have been removed from his mind (ch. 10). True to Samuel's word, the Spirit of God came upon Saul, transforming the simple countryman into the deliverer of Israel. "God gave him another heart" (v. 9), in Old Testament language meaning that he was as to his feelings and purposes turned into another man. New thoughts, aims and desires possessed him.

It is important to grasp the point of this. He was not given a new heart in the New Testament sense of being born of the Holy Spirit and receiving the abiding presence and eternal seal of the Spirit. In the Old Testament we read of those who received an overpowering influence of the Spirit for the accomplishment of some work appointed of God, later being abandoned by the Spirit. Even though we see in Saul some apparent solicitude for God's honor assumed on occasions, yet his whole history should make it clear that he knew nothing of being renewed in the spirit of his mind or of being thoroughly renovated by the Holy Ghost. As Dr. Hanna says: "There may be an influence of the Spirit that moves a man to many a good work on earth, yet it may not be that unction of the Holy One which guides into all truth and holiness, and seals us unto the day of eternal redemption. How much may a man get from heaven, how far may he be carried on, and yet break down!"

Saul was met by a company of prophets, the Spirit came upon him and he prophesied with the others, greatly to their astonishment (10:12). Evidently he had not been known as a young man who had shown zeal for the glory and worship of God. Alas, men may utter prophecies and sing songs with great emotion, and still have no enduring spiritual life!

The people were called together by Samuel at Mizpeh, the most conspicuous spot in the whole country round, commanding a view of Jerusalem itself. It was well named "Mizpeh, watch tower." Drawn from his hiding place, Saul was presented by Samuel to the assembled nation with words of generous commendations. Shouts of "Long live the King," rent the air. Samuel then told the people "the manner of the kingdom" (10:25), and wrote out a royal charter or constitution according to which Saul was to administer the government under Jehovah, the supreme King. Long before, God had anticipated Israel's demand for a king, and provided for it in the civil code given through Moses (Deut. 17:14-20). Perhaps it was this very chapter of regulations which Samuel rehearsed on this occasion and placed in the national archives for Saul's guidance. Thus the first prophet, standing before Israel's first king, let him know that he was not an absolute monarch ruling for his own glory, but responsible at all times to God.

Soon the new monarch (who was content to abide his time for acquiring the admiration of his people) got his opportunity to give signal proof of his ability as a leader. The Ammonites, a fierce tribe of the north, and the Moabites, to the south united by a tie of common descent from Lot, began to oppress Israel. By a symbolical act, well fitted to impress an Eastern people, he rallied them. He slaughtered two of his own oxen and cut them in pieces. Messengers carried the pieces throughout the land, proclaiming, "Thus it shall be done to the oxen of every one who followeth not after Saul and Samuel."

There was a ring of triumph in his words and actions, and the people rallied to his standard (11:7). The raising such an immense army—its march over difficult roads, and the complete victory in so short a time far surpasses anything in modern warfare. Thus the valiant Saul won the undying gratitude of the people who crowned him king, while they sacrificed peace offerings before the Lord and rejoiced.

A more promising beginning could scarcely be imagined. Saul appears full of high and noble feelings, and at the same time, modest and distrustful of self. His first act had been to rescue Israel from threatened bondage, and his second was to turn an opportunity for vengeance (11:12,13) into one of forgiveness.

His after history presents a mess of errors, ending in mournful suicide. Why should the pen of inspiration give us the history of such a wreck? To remind the strongest and most promising of us how dangerous an ocean it is we have to traverse; how treacherous the coasts along which it lies. We do not lack for warnings. Men who seem to be the rising hope of their generation may, through disobedience to God, become the most helpless and tragic figures in a nation's history.

The higher the promise of virtue, the greater the momentum of the man who falls from his integrity—the farther he goes into evil.

PITH AND POINT

Stubborn prayers may sometimes be answered—with a judgment thrown in to boot.

We are not fit to undertake the work of God without being instructed in the word of God (9:27).

Humility is necessary to exaltation before God (Lk. 14:11) and also to keeping it (cf. 1 Sam. 9:26).

There is a time to be still and a time to be up and doing (1 Sam. 9:26).

The anointing power of the Spirit is received only when we stand still and receive the word of God (1 Sam. 10:1).

Compromising Christians are blind on one side (1 Sam. 11:2).

An index to character is the hero a man worships. It was chiefly "good looks" Israel wanted.

Speed the day when the world shall recognize her true King (Rev. 19:16).

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS
 What is the meaning of the name "Saul?" ("Asked for") (cf. 1 Sam. 8:5, 6).

While Saul began by consulting one of God's seers (1 Sam. 9:9), whom did he consult in the end? (1 Sam. 28:7).

Why did God let Israel have Saul? (1 Sam. 9:16).

To what may we compare Saul's housetop communion with Samuel? (1 Sam. 9:25; cf. Matt. 6:6).

What were the differences in circumstances under which Saul later consulted a witch? (cf. 1 Sam. 9:25, 26 and 28:8).

What terms did the Ammonites intend to make with the men of Jabeshgilead? (1 Sam. 11:1-3).

Before we part with the right eye of faith, what should we all do, and why? (1 Sam. 11:3; cf. 1 Cor. 10:13)

Though we are faced with the very powers of hell, what can make us safe? (1 Sam. 11:4; cf. Eph. 6:11-13).

What did the Jews later say of God's own King? (Lk. 19:14; cf. 1 Sam. 11:12-15).

IBANEZ REFUTES OLD COLUMBUS' DISCOVERY

According to the Dearborn Independent, Henry Albert Phillips, in writing about Vicente Blasco Ibanez who wrote 'The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse,' quoted the Spanish author as follows:

"You will not like some things I have to say—you Nord Americans. For instance, after eight years of research, after I have examined all the reliable documents of the period, I am convinced that Christopher Columbus never stepped foot upon—never even saw—any part of the continent of America! I can prove it."

"No, my friends, Columbus never got to America. He died before he could make the trip. It was Vespucci—Amerigo Vespucci of Seville, who discovered your country! Ah! they all thought they would go to India, but none thought they would discover America."

THE OLDEST FIRE

What is supposed to be the oldest fire in the world, excepting volcanoes, is in a coal mine at Summit Hill Pa. The fire has been burning since before the Civil War. It was started through the careless handling of live embers in 1859. From these embers the fire spread to the timbers and then into the coal deposits, where it since has been smoldering. It has destroyed 14,000,000 tons of coal and $3,000,000 has been wasted in futile efforts to extinguish it.

It is one of the most striking examples in existence of the dire results that often come from carelessness in little things—Thrift Magazine.

Chevrolet Enlarges Plant

Adds $2,000,000 Development to Big Factory at Flint, Michigan; Office Building

With production running at the record clip of more than 5,000 units daily and demand for the product constantly attaining new levels, the Chevrolet Motor company, today, announces a $2,000,000 development of its properties at Flint, Mich., to relieve congestion brought about by steady increases in production. This will include two buildings, a three story office building and a new parts building. The new buildings will be completed Oct. 1, according to Charles F. Barth, vice-president in charge of manufacturing.

On the completion of the new buildings, the present office and parts buildings will be razed and a modern factory building erected in their place, Mr. Barth declared. The new parts building will be a three story structure, 530 by 122 ft. and of concrete construction. The new office building, of brick and concrete construction, will be 260 by 60 ft.

Completion of the project will provide additional manufacturing facilities to a plant that is already one of the finest in the automotive industry.

Crop Prospect Reduced

Winter Wheat in United States Will Be Ninety Million Bushels Under Last Year

Winter wheat prospects in the United States shrank 57 million bushels in May, according to the department of agriculture's June report. Insect damage, insufficient moisture and lowered vitality as a result of spring freezes accounted for material losses in the southeastern part of the wheat belt, while there was a moderate impairment from excessive rain in the more eastern regions.

Forecast of production, based on conditions July 1, was 537 million bushels, a decrease of 57 million from the May forecast and 90 million less than the final estimate last season. Compared with the short crop of two years ago, there was an increase of about 135 million. The official report was about 30 million bushels under most of the private estimates issued last week.

Condition June 1 was 72.2, a decline of 13.4 points in May and 4.3 points lower than the June condition last year. Acreage this season is 38,701,000 acres, or 4.8 per cent more than last year.—Kansas City Star.

MAN AS A DEAD ANIMAL IS WORTH NINETY-EIGHT CENTS

By Thos. A. Buckner, Vice-President, New York Life Insurance Co. Dr. Allen Craig made the American College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago sit up and think the other day when he told them that man for man their drug store value was ninety-eight cents.

"A man's body," said Dr. Craig, "in its basic elements, contains enough lime to whitewash a fair sized hen coop, sugar enough to fill a small shaker, iron enough to make a ten-penny nail and some water.

But put life spirit and imagination into that same body, and you get a hundred and fifty pound man, whose worth to society may run into thousands, even into millions of dollars.

Play Safe! Be Sane!

Here's a three-day extra vacation—where you going to drive? Roads are great, fishing and bathing dandy. Let's go!

But—wait! What's the use of counting on a good time if your friends have to stand at the side of the road while you get warmed up and dirty changing tires?

The other cars will go buzzing by and your trip will be ruined if you have tire trouble. And the best way to insure a fast ride with no delays is to—

See That Your Tires Are Right!

Come over to this Goodyear Service Station and let us look over your tires. Perhaps you've been putting off buying a new tire for two—or a good spare. Now is the time to do it.

This three-day sale of Goodyear Tires gives you a chance to enjoy a glorious 4th and chase away tire worries for the rest of the summer.

All brand new Goodyear "firsts," with a tire at the price you want to pay—Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cords, made with safety in mind, for the man who wants the best and Goodyear-built Pathfinders for the man who wants the best tire at a low price will buy.

SWAP YOUR OLD TIRES FOR NEW GOODYEARS

Think of it! We'll take off your old, worn tires and put on stout, brand-new Goodyears that are fresh from the factory and make you a fair allowance for your old tires. You can have one, two, three, four, five—yes six! Why not do it? You don't wait until your car is ready for the junk pile before you trade it in do you? Why not get something for your old tires and be all through with worry for months to come? With heavy traffic on the highways you really ought to have good, thick treads on your tires for safety's sake. Play safe! Be sane! Swap your old tires today.

Why jump every time you hear a fire-cracker? Let the other fellow have the blowouts that will add to the celebration.

There isn't a doubt about Goodyear Tires! More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind and that means you can trust them. Why take a chance on "unknowns"?

CHAPTER X
Parson Kennedy, Charles Lowell, Arthur Still, George Armstrong, John Armitage, Phillip Gardner, James Fogarty, Phillip Schmidt, Wallace Henderson, Frederick Skinner.

The WG, Washington, NK, New York, Rd, Richmond, Bn, Boston, PA, Philadelphia.

It seemed strange to her that there had ever been any mystery, J-WG-A, that meant John (Washington) Armitage—the man's name and his headquarters.

She idly counted the names—and instantly became animated. Again she went over the list.

Including Parson Kennedy, there were but ten names, and there had been eleven men that night! Oh, she had counted them with particular care—eleven, always eleven. Morgan had missed one.

Having lost the certificate, the eleventh name—the initials—had passed from her recollection.

Meantime, Armitage's telegrapher had restored communications and his command was saved.

It was Parson Kennedy who brought information of the Confederate trap. He had stumbled upon this information by the merest luck. He had left his comrade back there, dead.

"Who?" asked Armitage.

"Gardner."

The two, sent out to feel the way from headquarters, had run plump into a scouting party of the enemy. The two never hesitated; hesitation would be to invite death. They struck the astonished group before they thought to raise their carbines broke through and went on, followed by a storm of bullets. The younger man twisted oddly in his saddle. A mile or so beyond, he called out in agony. Kennedy was beside him almost as soon as he fell.

"Gardner, boy?"

"Parson—if you ever see her again—"

Armitage, with compressed lips and frowning eyes, listened to this vivid recital. Six gone: Armstrong, Fogarty, Schmidt, Henderson, Skinner and Gardner—six brave and gallant officers. Clark, the telegrapher, had told him it was a woman who held him up. Six comrades were dead; but Jeanne Beaufort lived! and she was free besides. He stiffened in the saddle, and the lines in his face grew hard. He would find Jeanne Beaufort; and woe to her when he did!

The ragged army had settled down for the winter. The living-room was temporarily deserted, the chief in command and his staff having gone on a tour of inspection.

Beyond the window the camp-fire blazed brightly.

The door opened and closed softly, and Morgan stood with his back to it for a while, absorbing the lovely picture Jeanne presented. "You are lively tonight," he said.

She did not reply. She could not hate this man. She vaguely wondered what her attitude would have been had he been less handsome.

"Have you ever paused to think, Jeanne, that a man falls in love involuntarily? That it is instinctive on his part to elude it as long as possible?"

"Between you and me, Major, love is taboo," she said, rising.

"Ah, you may draw that taboo line as much as you please; but I am always bound to cross it. You made a confession to me one night, under stress."

"You are under my roof, Major." "A Yankee!"

"Still, an honorable man." "And yet his name was on that list I gave you. Will you not tell me, not as woman to man, but as comrade to comrade, what this list means?"

"No. Besides, there were eleven, and you brought me the names of but ten."

"Eleven? I secured what I could. Didn't I tell you I got them in Parson Kennedy's room? I didn't have much time. You can be like granite sometimes."

"If our meetings are unpleasant, you have only yourself to thank. I do not love you; but there was a time when I respected you, admired your courage and resourcefulness."

"You hit straight. Well, a thousand times you have signed John Armitage's death-warrant." He spoke without apparent anger. "All I want is Armitage in front of my sword. I wish to conquer him before I kill him."

"The death of John Armitage will in no wise alter my sentiments in regard to you, Major. You ought to realize that."

He reached for his hat, but did not put it on his head. For two troopers entered, wheeled right and left and stood at attention. A man followed them, blinking. Two more troopers came after him. Then came the staff.

John Armstrong and Jeanne Beaufort looked into each other's eyes once more. He took off his hat.

"Do you know this man, Major?" Morgan was asked.

"Yes, General; he is Captain Armstrong of the Federal Secret Service, one of the eleven I have often told you about."

"He was found within our lines,"—grimly. "He shall be shot at dawn."

"Did you find any papers on him?"

"No."

Jeanne walked to the farther door, opened it and passed out of the room; but she remained close to the door, her brain awhirl. After several minutes she heard Morgan speak again. There was no doubt of the hatred in her heart now.

"He has left his dispatches or his notes elsewhere. Perhaps I had better go and look over the ground where you found him."

Presently Jeanne heard the men filing out. She opened the door cautiously. Armitage was seated before the fire stretched out in his chair, his chin in his collar. He was alone. The guards had been stationed outside. Jeanne entered and approached within a few feet of him. He heard her, turned and rose.

"Jeanne Beaufort!" he said quietly.

"Yes; this is my home, Captain Armitage."

"Do you know why I am in this room tonight? I disobeyed orders for the mere sake of seeing you once more. In the back of my watch are my notes of observation."

"You tell me this!"—horrified.

"Yes. You played with me, you sought my love to break it. Well, here they are, love and life. Break them. I was there that night, as you know. Take your revenge. They will have me shot anyhow."

"I do not want your life. God forbid!" she cried brokenly.

"I have ceased to regard it as anything very valuable. I have stamped upon this love, but it is too strong for me. So here I am, contemptuous in my own eyes and doubtless in your own."

"You forced me to play traitor!" He leaned toward the fire and spread out his hands.

"Will you give the name of the man I married that night?"

"Say that I was the man and let it go at that."

"It is impossible, because you are the man who first stepped out."
"On my word of honor, I was not that man."
Should he tell her that it was Morgan, Morgan, whom she trusted? He doubted if she would believe him; so he let the opportunity pass.

"You will not tell me the truth?" Armitage smiled into the fire.

"Suppose I tell you that I did not play with you, that I admired you beyond all other men?"

"I'm afraid of you, Jeanne Beaufort," was all he said.

"Then God help us both!" And with this passionate cry she ran from the room.

The cry lingered in Armitage's ear for a long while. He fought against it resolutely. She was a consummate actress; but all her arts were useless now, of no avail.

Morgan came in, smiling. "So here we are at last."

"At least it will not be murder." "You and the Parson were in my way. Lord, how I fooled you all!"

"Not recently, Major." "Alice Trent—there was drama for you. How she laughed behind your back!"

Something impelled Armitage to say, "You lie!"

"I have stirred you, then?" There was a sentry outside the window, one on the veranda, three more distributed around the house. Armitage had made careful note of this. A great many things might happen within an hour.

"Suppose we play a game of piquet to while away the time. We used to try our hand at that."

"I shouldn't mind in the least." Armitage instantly formed a purpose. He believed he saw a way out. There was a chance of a bullet missing his back tonight but no chance of a dozen missing his saber." He dealt a hand.

Armitage led.

Banter of a deadly character began to pass between the two men. One was sure of the situation; the other was watchful and ready to seize up on the slightest advantage.

"Armitage," said Morgan, finally. "I hate you more than anything else on earth. But you are a brave man."

"I pass the compliment back—only, I do not hate you, Morgan. I despise you."

"That renegade, Parson Kennedy will mourn for you."

"But he has my dispatches, by this time. For two nights I have been inside your lines. If I lost my head, it was because I wanted to make sure that Jeanne Beaufort did not play fast and loose with me. She will never be yours either, Morgan."

"No?" Morgan gazed at his enemy with half closed eyes. "If, as they say, the dead come back—"

Long experience gives you these extra miles

DON'T think for a minute that the surplus of miles which you find in Summer Conoco Gasoline just happens to be there. Far from it. Conoco's extra miles are the result of over forty years' experience.

The reputation and experience back of the Conoco name are your guarantee that Conoco is an unusual gasoline—the gasoline that is packed with extra miles.

Allis-Chalmers TRACTORS

Read What This Texas County Farmer Says About His Allis-Chalmers Tractor

"I have plowed 1,170 acres of wheat land, five inches deep with my new 20-35 Allis-Chalmers and a ten foot one way plow, making an average of forty acres per day and a cost of 29.02 cents per acre including the fuel, oil and the operator to whom I am paying $5.00 per day, or in other words a total of all operating expense for entire outfit and my tractor is running as good as it ever did. I do not think there is another kind of tractor built that will do this job in this length of time and as cheaply and if I needed another tractor it would be an Allis-Chalmers. My address is M. H. Freeman, Texhoma, Oklahoma, and would be glad to have any one call and see or write me about this tractor."

Yours truly,
M. H. FREEMAN
