Robertson-Kimbro Wedding to be Solemnized This Evening At Methodist Church. Bridal Party Entertained.

The marriage of Miss Muff Robertson and Kenneth Kimbro will take place at the Methodist church this evening followed by a reception at 9:30 at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. E. Vickers.

Miss Robertson Entertained Wedding Party at Dinner

Miss Robertson entertained the members of her wedding party with dinner at the Tech Cafe Monday evening.

The appointments for the dinner were exquisite, as has been the case in all the charming affairs given for her since the announcement of her engagement to Kenneth Kimbro early in the month. The center table decoration was a heart shaped arrangement of sweet peas and fern. The place cards were oblong outlined with silver, with monogram formed of the letters R and K. The nut cups were waxed rosebuds.

A delightful banquet was served, the courses carrying out the color motif to be used in the wedding.

After dinner the young people went to the Methodist church where the wedding was rehearsed.

Those present were Mrs. Joe Flair, Mrs. John Herd of Post, Miss Muff Robertson, Miss Frances Hoffman, Miss Ruth Slaton, Miss Mary Alice Johnson, Miss Helen McDavid of Abilene, Miss Evelyn Posey, Messrs. Kenneth Kimbro, Frank Jones, Ross McWhorter, Sug Robertson, Wade Robertson and Lewis Price.

Church Doors to be Opened at 7:30

Mrs. Robertson has requested in the announcement be made that the doors of the church will be opened this evening at 7:30. Mrs. Joe Flair will begin the musical program at 8 o'clock, and the guests will be expected to be seated by that time. No one will be admitted to the church after the wedding party arrives. The ceremony will take place at 8:30.

How to Stop That Weakening Cough

Why let a heavy, stubborn cough wear you down when you can get speedy relief and often break it up completely in 24 hours through a remarkable new method based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs?

Here is the method: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. It has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So with the cause removed the worst cough soon disappears.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

NOTICE TO CLUB WOMEN

Miss Elizabeth H. West has on file in the college library a number of year books which are available to the club women of Lubbock for reference. These are some of the most attractive year books arranged by clubs in the Texas Federation, and Miss West will be glad to show them to any who are interested.

Just at this time the clubs are thinking of courses of study for the coming year and the calendar committees are busy planning the year books. There is no reason why the prize for the best year book should not be won by a Lubbock Club this year if the requirements of the state federation are followed. Miss West has awarded the prize for several years.

Just a word about year books. To be considered, they must measure five and one-half by seven inches; must include Federation Day program, art program, and Texas day program, and the name of the town and district must be on the back.

In addition to these requirements the books should be attractive and the programs well arranged. It is absurd to think that a year book printed in ordinary news-paper type would rank equally with one in clearer, better form.

After the district roster is formed, Mrs. W. B. Price, President of the Seventh District T. F. W. C. will place the year books she has received from the clubs this year in the files at the college. If this custom is followed for several years this should make one of the most interesting files in the library.

Charles Snyder of Barberton, O., is 7 feet 4 inches tall.

The City Plant Is Your Plant

You are a partner in the ownership of the City Light plant. All citizens who own property in Lubbock are part-owners of this plant. You contribute in many ways to the success of the plant by securing service from it.

If, at sometimes, your service is not up to a certain standard you have in mind, just remember that it is serving one of the fastest growing cities in the Southwest; that hundreds of new patrons securing service from this plant in a very short time burdens the power and that such emergencies are met by increasing always the power of the plant, as quickly as time permits.

Legion Meets to Honor Washington

The American Legion must help perpetuate the patriotic sentiment built up around George Washington's life and deeds, Robert Higgins told the local post last night in a meeting in the Leader building. Charles Whiteacre explained the 1927 Paris convention trip, and F. D. Rupe gave overseas experience.

C-C MEETING

be taken as the strongest endorsement that has ever been accorded a single organization by all of the towns of the South Plains, more than three thousand delegates assisted by five bands and two specially trained musical organizations having gathered there to sanction the work that has already been done by the world's greatest commercial club and to assist in formulating plans for its future activities.

Littlefield was well prepared to entertain the delegation. Flags were seen flowing from atop all of the buildings in the city, business was all but suspended as more and office managers formed themselves into one great committee to see that all delegates were shown every courtesy, the streets were filled with automobiles throughout the day and the convention sessions were so well attended that despite the spacious places provided for the three sessions was difficult to take care of the crowds.

The morning session, which opened soon after the arrival in Littlefield of some fifty automobiles from Lubbock bearing no less than three hundred boosters from this city who were headed by committees from the board of city development and the junior chamber of commerce, was held at the Palace theater, with Hon. Arthur P. Duggan, announced candidate for the presidency of the organization this year, and V. P. Littlefield presiding.

Following invocation by Rev. C. A. Duggan, Hon. E. A. Bills, prominent Littlefield attorney and president of the chamber of commerce delivered the address of welcome. He declared that Littlefield owes much of the growth that has been made to the assistance and co-operation of other South Plains towns and declared that the large number of delegates that had already arrived there was but evidence of the continued existence of that fine spirit that has entered into the development of the plains section to a point that it is being recognized among the highly productive sections of the southwest.

Colonel Smyth Heard Col. R. P. Smyth of Plainview, one of the best known leaders in development work in west Texas, responded to the remarks that had been made by Mr. Bills. He declared that the force of progress that has been developed through the chamber of commerce had not only worked much good in that immediate community, but through linking their efforts with those of the officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Littlefield business men have rendered splendid service to all of west Texas and particularly to the Panhandle-plains country.

Hogs Needed Col. C. French, of the Fort Worth Stockyards Company and who represents the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in its work to assist in restocking the farms of west Texas with pure bred brood sows, declared in a five minutes address before the delegates that chambers of commerce over the plains can do more constructive work than to see that their program is advanced in every possible measure, and to cooperate with those farmers who are not financially able to restock their farms in working out some program whereby this program can be accomplished.

Diversification Urged Hon. R. Q. Lee of Cisco, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, whose ambition is to have diversification become the general practice of all farmers of west Texas, among those attending and it is but natural that he took advantage of this opportunity to advance further argument on the necessity of every farmer becoming a part of the development forces in west Texas by carrying out on his farm, just as many features of the general diversification program as possible.

News Man Speaks F. H. Whitehead, publicity manager of the West Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the importance of district conventions, such as was entertained by Littlefield, pointing out that through holding these district conventions the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is broadening the scope of its service to the general public, while on the other hand the public of each district is given an opportunity to see wherein it can better shape its policies and programs to harmonize with the general program of development sponsored by the organization as a whole.

LACOSTE WINS INDOOR TENNIS TITLE OF U.S.

By United Press SEVENTH REGIMENT ARMORY, NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Whenever two young Frenchmen meet on the courts or in other sports, they think of Verdun, and so it was a matter of 28 games before either Jean Borotra or Rene Lacoste would yield in the first set of their finals match in a pinship.

Borotra, the flaming basque who won the title in 1925 and conquered "Big Bill" Tilden last Friday, weakened first and Lacoste, the steady, won the set 15-3 and finally won out the match and became the indoor champion.

The remaining scores were 6-3, 2-6, and 6-3, a grueling and desperately fought finals as ever has been played on the armory courts.

When Borotra carried Tilden to 24 games in the first set of their match last week, he showed grit and stamina but in the even longer first set Monday he needed more than these to beat Lacoste. The latter's steady base line work and volleying, remarkably free from outs and nets, won from him against the occasionally more brilliant head game of Borotra.

Whereas the singles finals were "all-French" the doubles finals were "all-American."

William Tilden II and Fred Anderson won the national title from Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter of New York 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, and 12-10, quite a gruelling affair in its own right.

Tilden played in excellent form and justified the hope that he would defend his national outdoor title next spring despite the rise of the French trio and their signal success indoors.

WEST COAST GIRL WINS DIVING TITLE TEMPLE TERRACE COUNTRY CLUB, Tama, Florida, Feb.—Betty Becker Pinkston of Los Angeles won the National fancy diving championship in the official A. A. U. women's meet here Monday.

Miss Pinkston's score was 121.62 Helen Henry, 1925 title holder, was edged out of competition by doctors at the last minute, she is suffering with an inflamed ear.

Evelyn Feh of Detroit was second with 115.50 points and Kathryn Brown of New York third with 103.30 points.

The Detroit yacht club team won the 200 yard junior championship relay, the only other official A. A. U. event scheduled. The time was 2:8.25 seconds. A new world record was set in a 50-yard freestyle handicap swimming feature by Ethel Lackie the sensational speed mermaid of the Illinois A. C. Ethel flashed over the 50 yards in 27.25 seconds, winning the race from scratch position. The former world record was 27.35 seconds set by Eleanor Garrett of California in 1925.

OLD MISSION FATHERS WERE HEARTY EATERS By United Press BERKELEY, CAL., Feb. 22.—Mission fathers of early California days were not frugal eaters, but were fat from hearty eating and did not believe in starving the body to aid the soul, according to Prof. George H. Henry, agronomist of the University of California here.

Complete menus of the tables set in the old missions have been read by Prof. Henry from adobe bricks of which the old churches were constructed.

Dismissing the adobe, the professor found remnants of the following foods eaten by the padres, in such plenty that much was thrown away and made into bricks.

Horse meat, beef and lamb, frijole beans, horse beans, peas, onions, pepper, melons, apples, peaches, apricots, plums, cherries, wheat, barley, maize, oranges, figs, grapes, citron, pomegranate, olives, dates, carrots, cheese, lettuce.

COMPETITION & MONOPOLY

Texas atmosphere is subcharged with the boom spirit. Five hundred Chambers of Commerce are filling the air with the idea that Texas' hour is come. It is exhilarating and contagious. Our merchants and manufacturers are solicited to show their advantages to an anxious world. Vivid pictures of California and Florida and the fortunes made over night are used as a basic prophesy for Texas. No one wants to be disappointed nor will the statement of facts be experienced do any good. It must run its course.

At the afternoon of the evening and the city reports in its arrival for the town, and among these three merchants looking for location. As the city grows in its jobs, new retailers come in. Increased population brings increased competition and the struggle brings just a little harder for the majority of business men. This is inevitable nor is there any need to protest against it. However, there is one series of property outside the competitive field. There is just so much land and its quantity cannot be increased but its price can. That is one kind of property that we all must use whether we own it or not and the more of us that want a particular piece of property the higher the price. The merchants and manufacturers will do most of the boosting and pay the bill that will tempt new competitors to come. The landowner can sit tight and reap the harvest. We want our state to grow in prosperity and content of our people. We want every man now here or who may come here to enjoy the fruits of his labors. There is abundance of room for millions more than there is now here, but they cannot enjoy the fruits of their labor so long as the land monopolist stands in the way. Let us free industry from all taxes and men and money will flow in as never before. There will be no need to advertise our resources. The whole world would recognize our advantages and would want to share them. This is but a little common sense applied to State affairs.

LEAGUE'S CAMPAIGN AND THE ARMS INDUSTRY

The fact that the constitution of the United States fails to give the federal government any control over private industry in the different states will probably afford the much desired pretext sought by the rest of the world for refusing to establish any governmental control over the private manufacture of war material. As a result of this situation in the United States, a questionnaire has just been sent by the Secretariat of the League of Nations to all of the rest of the nations in the world asking them if their constitutions present obstacles to the conclusion of international agreements for the control of the private manufacture of war material. As it is generally conceded that there is no nation in the world at the present time that is at all anxious to curtail its private industry and commerce in this respect, it is frankly expected that the great bulk of the nations will be able to reply to the Secretariat in an affirmative manner on the subject. The League of Nations is in the somewhat embarrassing position of being obliged under the Covenant to see what it can do about controlling the private manufacture of war material. The Covenant contains a clause declaring that such private manufacture is open to "grave objections" and most pacifists, including certain commissions of the League itself, have been loud in declaring that one of the principle causes of war are the great war material producers such as Krupp, the Schneiders and others who have every interest in seeing that wars are provoked and maintained the longest time possible in order to create a market for their output. Incidentally the United States now ranks as one of the world's largest producers and exporters of war material. It is largely because of the position the United States now occupies in this respect, that the other leading nations in the matter of the private production of war material, have made known to the League that they cannot impose on their private manufacturers any restrictions which are not accepted by the United States. To do so would be merely to create for America a world-monopoly on one of the largest items of international production and exportation. On the other hand, the United States has made known to the League that it has no constitutional authority for interfering with private industry in the various states making up the Uncle Sam's Union. Under the circumstances the League has deemed it advisable to find out whether an analogous situation exists in other countries, and hence the questionnaire that has just been addressed to all of the governments of the world. The replies to this questionnaire are to be sent into the League before June 1, so that the regular meeting of the council on the first Monday in June will be in a position to know just how far it can go in attempting to establish some sort of international control over the private production of war material. In general, League circles already accept the fact that about all that can be done will be to launch an international protocol pledging all signatories to send in to the League for publication full annual statistics on their manufacture, exportation and purchase of war material.

"COOLIDGE LUCK"

When the coal strike settled itself, a political bugaboo was removed from the national arena and now the Washington wise acres are pointing to it as another example of the much-discussed "Coolidge luck". Not only did the settlement cause gasps of relief at the White House and in congress but it brought forward Secretary of Labor James J. Davis as the potential governor of Pennsylvania, made more secure the candidacy of Senator George Wharton Pepper to succeed himself and inquired the claims of Governor Gifford Pinchot for either the 1928 Republican presidential nomination or the senate—at least that is the way the interpreters of Washington view the situation. All around it was a victory for the administration. Congress was just beginning to bark at the chief executive for action. Agitation had been begun against his policy of refraining from interference with the situation with Roosevelt vim and bearing both sides into agreement. Democrats say that if the strike had lasted a month longer sentiment would have been stirred up throughout the country which would have had an important effect upon the November congressional elections. But all that was obviated when the anthracite miners and operators, encouraged by the playing of Davis and former Governor Sprout of Pennsylvania came in a sudden and unexpected agreement. The break for Mr. Coolidge caused politicians in congress to reel in the manner in which he was nominated as vice president in the Republican National convention of 1921 at Chicago and the good fortune that brought him the presidency. At Chicago he had no opposition and no one had a claim on him for the vice presidency until Wallace McCamant, now an Oregon judge, suddenly jumped to his feet and placed Mr. Coolidge in nomination. Plans had been made by leaders for nomination of Senator Irvin Lenox, Republican, Wisconsin, but they miscarried at the important moment and Mr. Coolidge obtained the nomination.

IS HOOVER PLAYING POLITICS

"When Hoover 'howls' about a British rubber gouge he's talking as a politician not as a business man," said Sir Alfred Mond, one of Britain's captains of industry, in an exclusive interview recently with the United Press.

"Informed circles in Britain," added Sir Alfred, "are positive the outcry in the United States regarding the high price of rubber is purely a political move. Whether we have fathomed the move or not I am not in a position to say. But tell your countrymen that prominent American business men have apologized to me for the ravines now taking place in your country."

"Now look at the other side of the picture," continued Sir Alfred. "There prevails in the United States an arrangement between the various copper concerns which keeps the price of that commodity low—due solely to powerful competition. Supposing they got together and raised the price. Believe me, Britain wouldn't 'howl'. We wouldn't consider that our American friends had taken advantage of our position. We would consider it as merely a business move in the ordinary way."

"American business is more or less all combinations and trusts. Why even now you're responsible for the high price of wheat."

Let me attempt to clarify the position," continued Sir Alfred. "The price of rubber—as with all other commodities—is largely a matter of supply and demand. At the time the Stevenson scheme was introduced, rubber was being produced at a loss, and the industry was in a very bad condition. The Stevenson restriction project was agreed to by all parties concerned—producer, manufacturer and consumer alike—as necessary for the existence of the industry."

"Consumption has grown much more rapidly than production. This has produced a world shortage, with a consequent rise in price. This will be corrected in time by new capital being introduced into the industry and new plantations being developed."

"The world's cotton industry has passed through similar crisis. Not many years ago the price of cotton was extremely low. Cotton growers immediately left their cotton plantations and began to grow maize. Suddenly the price of cotton rose. The cotton growers of former years began to grow cotton again."

"Let me tell you," asserted Sir Alfred, "those responsible for the production of rubber are acting on the best of advice as to what is and what is likely to be the world's demand. In my opinion, the increased price is largely due to the demand for automobiles in the United States."

"There has been no deliberate effort on the part of the British Government to raise prices. It so happens that nobody has been more surprised at the increased price of rubber than the plantation owners. Anyway Britishers are paying more for their rubber, so why all the fuss."

"No," concluded Sir Alfred, "politics and business don't mix. It creates illfeeling."

According to a Government report, the material needed for a woman's dress has shrunk in the last few years from an average of fourteen yards to four yards. Nothing was said regarding any shrinkage in price.

The appeal for 100,000 more French troops for Morocco does not indicate any immediate peace. In Syria the Druses are determined to secure their natural national rights, and independence, appealing to the League for this recognition.

Our Pet Peeve

SO THINK WE

We think that General Panglow might have made his long history of Greece more interesting if he could have said something about her spot market values.

We think that an ounce of prevention is worth a million gallons of adjustment cures or water.

We think it a most remarkable thing that the coal strike should come to such a sudden end just at the time the ice man makes his appearance on the scene.

We think the President seems to have thought that he settled the coal strike by having nothing to do with it.

We think when we get the taxes back down to where most of the wage earners do not have to pay any income tax, we should quit juggling them, and go on down the line in the even tenor of the way.

We think some time that some fellow's idea about a good fellow is the one who dogs not expect it to be paid back.

We think there is liable to be a good sand market for a long time. The number of windshields that are broken out will require a terrible lot of sand to make the glass to replace them.

We think that Lynch Davidson has practically admitted that he is going to run for the office of governor again.

We think that possibly the reason that so many children do not have any respect for the lectures that the parents gave them, on the respect of the laws of the country is because they know that said parent is violating the laws every day himself.

We think that some of the ladies are entirely too enthusiastic in their aspiration for a school girl complexion, and they just simply spread it on too thick.

We think that the fellow that stated that if Methuselah has saved his money he would have left a large estate when he died, but the paragrapher probably lost sight of the possibility of the old man being a spend thrift like some of our debtors, who spend $50 hundred dollars a month more than they earn.

We think that possibly there is no higher honor than doing your duty.

We think that if we would make more of the things that bind us together in this world instead of making potent the things that divide us, more harmony would prevail.

We think a lot of folks have good aim in life, but they never pull the trigger, hence they bring in no game.

We think that if Jesse James had had the advantage of some of the pictures shown in some of the movies, he would certainly have made a better desperado than he did.

We think that the more satisfied people are with themselves the more fault they find with others.

We think that if we had our lives to live over, a large percentage of them have been helped out of a tight.

We think that politics usually results in a shake up and a set down.

We think it is strange that so many criminals become desperately insane after talking to a lawyer. Wonder if that is only applicable to criminals.

We think that when we hear of a man who is just returned from Florida or California, we usually wonder what route.

We think prosperous times might be recognized when nobody cares how the other fellow "gets his."

We think the reduction in the price of automobiles will assure one thing—it will be harder to get across the street.

We think it took the world quite a long time to discover what knockknees might be used for, but when the Charleston came along the mystery was no more.

We think that usually the face that wears a frown might be in the class of "uneasy lies the head, etc."

We think this thing of experience works both ways. Some are made better by experience while others are made tougher.

That one man says he gathers three hundred eggs a day in his poultry yard. Just picks up the wealth by the dozens.

That a Lubbock man recently had his head X-rayed, but the doctor said he could find nothing in it.

That a man was seen on the streets yesterday riding in an old fashioned buggy and driving a horse. It attracted considerable attention.

That one of the young men of the town was wearing an eye in mourning Saturday. He separated from one of his dear friends he said.

That several of the fellows who signed up hotel notes, thinking the hotel would not be built have recently received a communication from a certain legal light informing them that this hotel is being built, and they will have to dig up.

That a new style is coming into the country of wearing stockings with holes in the knee. That style will not prevail long, for that will bring into use many hundreds of second hand stockings which will hinder the market and that will never do.

MODERN SURGERY NEED NOT BE FEARED

By DR. E. D. McCLINE
Member Gorgas Memorial Institute
(Written for United Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Are you afraid of an operation? Most people are. If you are afraid have you ever analyzed your feelings to find out why? Perhaps you are afraid that you will be hurt—afraid of pain.

Pain has been probably one of the most valuable agents in the preservation of the race as well as the individual. It has taught us that we must not touch hot stoves, put fingers in cog wheels, drink boiling hot

GREAT BRITISH COAL STRIKE CERTAIN TO COME NEXT MAY ANNOUNCES MINERS' LEADERS

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
LONDON, Feb. 22.—"A conflict in May between the Government and the miners is inevitable," said A. J. Cook, first miners' leader, in an exclusive interview with the United Press today.

"The big government majority, together with the present stubborn attitude of the mine operators, excludes the possibility of a compromise."

"The Government is absolutely conversant with the position, and should know that a meeting is hopeless until the owners withdraw their present proposals."

Cook then outlined the three points which he said must be cleared up before a meeting could be considered.

First, abolition of national agreements. "This," said Cook, "would mean that the whole of the coal mining industry would be treated as a single unit, thus eliminating sectional differences and guerrilla warfare. It would certainly eliminate cut-throat competition. The present system creates inefficiency. It is vitally necessary to bring the industry up-to-date or 'get out.'"

Second, longer hours.

"To this the miners will never agree," asserted Cook. "At present 300,000 miners are idle. Longer hours would mean that another 100,000 would be walking the streets. If there was a huge demand for coal it would be another matter. It is a fallacy to think that an eight hour shift instead of the prevailing seven would increase production, because the greater majority of the miners are on piece work. It is not a question of the length of the working day, but the intensity of it. Piece rates since the war have not been changed, and naturally each miner wants to earn as much as possible, therefore he is 'all in' at the end of seven hours."

Third, lower wages.

"This question is one again that liquid, allow sand or foreign body to remain in our eyes or fish bones in our throats.

Our great regret should be that pain is not the universal danger signal of all things harmful to us. One of the greatest causes of death beyond middle life is cancer and unfortunately pain is not an early symptom.

If overeating and intoxication produced pain instead of sleepiness our race today would be a very different one and the individuals would be ages ahead of our present state, physically. It took ages to find out what different pains meant and to realize that many pains are danger signals of internal disorders or derangements of inner machinery—conditions which can be corrected if the danger signals are heeded and the proper diagnosis is followed.

Appendicitis still ranks high as the cause of death—because of slow response to the warning pain, in seeking expert attention.

Pain may be your greatest friend in that it is a warning signal—it may be faint or excruciating. It does demand for your own sake, that you find out what ails you.

Now in answer to the opening question: Are you afraid of an operation? If that fear is of pain, put your mind at rest for you will feel no pain. Anesthetic has made operations absolutely painless, whether this be with local anesthesia or general anesthesia. Do not let yourself become overpowered by the fear of pain. First that vague instinct, fear of pain—which has been handed down to us for thousands of generations.

If at any time you find it necessary to have an operation, an operation necessary to save your life, or an operation to prolong or make your future life more comfortable, try to abolish fear from your mind.

It is wrong if it only breeds trouble and never helps.

POWER OF LOVE
A farmer's boy was walking down a lane one evening when he came upon a friend sitting on a log by the roadside.

"What are you sitting there for," he asked, "is anything the matter?"

"No," replied the other, "I'm just waiting for Dolly Smith to come along. I'm going to take her to evening class."

"But the evening class isn't until tomorrow night."

"I know, but when a fellow's in love he doesn't mind waiting."

WILLING
Customer—Do you mind if I steal a kiss?
Waitress—Not in the least, provided you don't steal it from me.

nobody knowing the facts would for a moment consider," continued Cook. "During the lock-out of 1921, the miners were beaten in the struggle to maintain conditions, and lost with a bump what all other trade unions gained. All war conditions were lost. The wages of the miners at present in round figures are about 45 per cent above pre-war, which is about 30 per cent below the cost of living. The position then is such that the miners have been pressing for an increase so as to at least equal 1914 conditions. In relation to other workers, especially in view of the nature of their toil, the miners are dissatisfied. In recent years, owing to the industry, the miners leaders have been restraining the men from putting in for an advance until the industry is improved. But in view of the operators' attack the leaders cannot keep it up."

The position, therefore, is that there will be a lock-out unless the owners withdraw their proposals or the Government continues to subsidize the industry. When May 1 dawn the miners will be given their quitting notice, which have never been withdrawn since last July, but only suspended. We are determined to maintain the present status quo, with a wage based on living conditions."

Referring to the American anthracite strike, Cook said that the miners' international Federation was discussing the situation.

"For our part," said Cook, "Britain is prepared to carry out any decisions the American miners may deem necessary to assist in the struggle. We have been in constant touch with the American miners and have acted upon their instructions. 'I further declare,' added Cook, "that despite the position in Britain, the Miners' Federation here is prepared, if the American miners desire, to restrict the importation of anthracite coal into America. We are awaiting instructions."

TEXAS

By J. MARVIN NICHOLS

BIRTH OF SAN ANTOE

Upon the heira of the Spanish northward, and in those now far-off days, Don de Leon was so charmed with the country that he established a Mission. He placed Fra Marquet in charge and called it San Francisco de Tejas. Don de Leon, who succeeded Don de Leon visited this Spanish possession in 1691 and changed the name to San Francisco de la Espada (St. Francis of the Sword). It was near the site of the present ruin that bears that name. In "Espada" is seen the whole purpose of the fortress-church—the saint and the sword. The tower is in the shape of a sword-hilt.

Between the years 1690 and 1720 the Spanish Catholics established many missions along the Texas border. Among the earliest of these are: San Francisco, on the Lavaca River; San Bernard, on the Bay lower down; San Juan, on the Rio Grande; San Fernando, San Juan, San Jose, Espada, Conception and the Alamo, all on the San Antonio River; the Missions near Nacogdoches; the Mission of Aes, near San Augustine; Dolores, on the west of the Sabine River, and many others.

In those far-off days this Texas territory was the region that Spain claimed, both by right of discovery and the conquest of Mexico. To defend this territory against the Mexicans on the south, and to enlarge the Spanish domain by converting the Indians on the north, the Franciscan monks built the San Antonio Missions. They stretched from the Sabine to the Rio Grande.

Matadors Drop Contest to Wild Cats

LAST GAME FOR BULL FIGHTERS TONIGHT WITH A. C. C. WILD CATS AT STOCK JUDGING PAVILION

In one of the hardest contested cage tilt shown on the Tech floor the A. C. C. Wildcats pounced to victory taking the Bull Fighters for a loss with the final check up 34 to 21. At times the score was very close and afforded the fans much excitement throughout the entire contest. Many South Plains fans were in attendance to support the South Plains lads that were on both clubs. Several Ralls fans were here to boost their former star Powell who was one of the outstanding players for the Wildcats.

Lubbock was honored by having one of her sons as a member of the visiting club in George Brown, son of P. F. Brown of this city. Brown, too, was a mainstay of the Abilene club playing consistently throughout the contest. Several times he leaped into the Tech offense machine to turn the ball back to his team mates to march into the offense.

Walker, captain of the Matadors, rolled in 15 of the Tech's total of 21, being high point man for the game. His long shots were spectacular and were greeted by the fans with rousing cheers. He was at all times in the main play of the floor, was on the offense and on the defense, was marching the ball back

Post City Golf Champions To Meet Lubbock's Best in Match On New Improved Golf Course

South Plains golf champions secured to oppose winners of Lubbock Municipal Golf Association qualifying tournament. Charlie Quail and Scotty Sampson, both of Post, Texas, and recognized as the plains' best have agreed to play any two men who may be selected by elimination. For this purpose the association is now arranging a qualifying tournament to be played on the newly improved course within the next four weeks. The winners of this tournament will then be qualified to represent Lubbock against the Post entries.

Forty-eight memberships have been secured to this time and many more are expected to sign up before March 1. The membership limit is set at 100 and those who have already paid in their membership fees are making possible the much needed improvements now being made on the course. Practically all of Monday was spent in leveling greens and nine men were employed in order to get this course in the best possible condition by March 1. The officers of the association assure the members and those who would like to become members, that every possible effort is being put forth in order to have the course completed by March 1. The tournament being planned to select those who will represent Lubbock is in the hands of J. O. Smith, Lee Duggan, Marvin Hart, Buddie Stewart and Floyd Bowen. A schedule is being arranged and will be posted in a conspicuous place for the use of possible entries at an early date.

DE PAOLO BREAKS WORLD RECORD IN FLORIDA

FULFORD SPEEDWAY, Fla. Feb. 22.—Peter De Paolo raced to a new world's record of 129.29 miles an hour in winning the 300 mile automobile race in the speedway here Monday, winning by two laps over Harry Hartz who finished an easy second at 127.89. De Paolo did not make a single stop in winning the race, nor did Hartz.

Earl De Vore was given the green flag but was forced to the pits to refuel and Bob McDonough beat him out for third place. McDonough averaged 125.32 miles an hour.

The little Italian was given a tremendous ovation for his victory. He took the lead shortly after the 200 mile mark was passed and his Duesenberg's roared to the final with an every increasing lead, setting a new world record at 250 miles.

De Vore tried gamely to come back after a stop at the pits and once regained second place.

De Paolo won $12,000 and the Fisher cup.

Amateur Hunter to another: "What is the name of the animal you shot?"

HERE AND THERE IN LOCAL SPORTS

Old "Woman" may be old and stiff but nevertheless he is more interested in the great American game than ever before. We are wondering if he will take sprinting workouts before the season this year in order that he might be able to reach second on a fence ball.

Many of the West Texas towns are planning baseball clubs this year already indications reach this office that Bledsoe, Hereford, Amarillo, Floydada, Plainview, Lamesa, Tahoka, Post, and others—so it looks like that Lubbock will have a good time—or least a full season.

Daily Skipper Allen is receiving letters from ball players over the Panhandle and South Plains and even from Colorado inquiring as to the baseball club for Lubbock this season. Many of these players refer to the possibilities of a club that would be gotten together similar to the last season's club.

Uncle Underhill, ace hurler of the Lubbock club last season, writes that the high school club of Rotan, of which he is a member, is setting their eye for the baseball championship of Texas in high school circles.

Sled has already acquired one of the fastest and best outfields in West Texas with Jackson at left, "Red" Galther at center, and Alex Henzley in the right garden. These three make one of the fastest combinations that can be found in West Texas. They are all pretty fair batsmen, also.

Pinky Lowery, coach of the high school Western club, says that the material available for this year's track team is far superior to that of the past years. Pinky is striving hard to produce one of the best teams that he has in the past. He is working not only with the running events but with the field contestants.

After the series with the A. C. C. cagers here Tuesday night the Matadors will close their basket ball season; afterwards which the coaches and athletes will turn their attention to baseball and track.

Plans are under way for the Lubbock high school track aggregation to meet the Plainview Bulldogs in a duel meet here in the early part of March.

Soon you will hear the old sayings of "Frighten up Shep" "Get 'em like a biting shout" "Make 'em look like a sick kitten on a hot rock" "Throw the ball right" "Old packing house" in fact some of the fans are already searching sporting papers for new phrases to throw up to the competing teams that will come to Lubbock this summer.

Old Shep and Jack will be seen soon on a back lot tossing a pill at one another with the ambition to do one again in the old uniform for work outs.

We can see no reason why Alex Henzley will not be able to hit the apple this season for he was recently awarded two of the best timbers to use this season by old head—Sammie Langford, the donor.

The Matadors gave the Wild Cats a good game, was almost even with them at one time—but they got aw / the Matador defense actually got his eye on the basket and tossed a field goal. It was a great surprise to the Tech fans and greeted the goal with much enthusiasm—even "White" gave cheers to himself.

George Brown, local lad in attendance at the Abilene Christian College, rather showed his former high school mates a little taste of basket ball last evening. He was the mighty defense power of the Wild Cats.

Captain Walker, pilot of the Matador Cagers, was certainly having his night with the Wild Cats, he tossed six field goals and threw three free shots making a total of 15 points of the Tech's 21.

Sixteen Out For Giants Training

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 22.—Sixteen athletes responded when Roger Bresnahan sounded the call Monday for the first training drill in the Giant camp. The only one who did not respond was Heinie Groh who exercised his prerogative to refrain from starting until the other regular infielders arrive and went golfing instead.

The sixteen who ran through a single session were Art Nehf, Jimmy Ring, Kent Greenfield, Fred Fitzsimmons, Fay Thomas, Chick Davies, Tim McNamara, Chick Wisner and Gus Lindberg, pitchers. Hugh McMullen and Melvin Ott, catchers; Elbert Slayback and Fred Harkbarth, infielders and Al Moore outfielder. The boys played catch, fielded bunts, pursued fungoes and ran around the park once, after which they called it a day and went tanning or swimming as their castes dictated.

Carl—The average woman's clothing weighs about eight ounces.

Joe—It's a shame they wear such heavy shoes.

The famous German raider Moewe is now a fruit boat, carrying bananas from the West Indies to Liverpool.

Mr. Woodward Tells Something of Interest to Lubbock Folks. There's nothing more convincing than the statement of someone you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Woodward of Broadway, should be mighty helpful here in Lubbock.

A dull back-ache came on me and at times, such sharp pains cut into me, I could hardly stoop. I felt miserable until I used Doan's Pills. Doan's benefited me and the benefit has been lasting."

Only Small Percent of Science Students Dropped From T. U.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 22.—Only 31 students of the college of arts and sciences of the University of Texas were dropped from the rolls at mid-term examinations, because of failure to pass the required number of courses, according to Dr. E. T. Parlin, junior dean of that college. In view of the fact that 3,283 of the 4,861 students registered in the university are enrolled in the college of arts, the number is considered very small. Of the 31, this number, there were thirteen freshmen, sixteen sophomores and one junior. Eight were women and 23 were men students. "Ninety-four students were placed under special observation," said Dr. Parlin. "These have failed to pass the required number of courses for the first term, they will be placed on final grade. After that time they will be given six weeks in which to make up their work or they will then be dropped from the rolls. Fifty students are now in final trial. There were only seven enforced withdrawals at the end of the fall term. "Eight hundred and two students were reported by the dean after mid-term examinations for failure in one or more courses. This is five less than the number reported last year.

MUSSOLINI CAN'T REFORM CHURCH SAYS POPE

By United News
 ROME, Feb. 22.—Pope Pius XI repudiated the fascist government's right to enact ecclesiastical reform legislation. During recent months there have been persistent rumors that an accord between Mussolini and the Vatican was in the making, but the pope's repudiation contained in a letter to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, indicates that reports of compromise on the part of the church were without foundation.

His Holiness addressed Gasparri regarding ecclesiastical legislation which soon is to be advocated by the government regarding legislation which "belongs to the sacred power of God," wrote the pope, "we declare that on such subjects we can not recognize in others any right to legislate unless through convenient negotiations and legitimate agreement with us."

ACTRESS OUTDOES SELF AS DRESSER IN NEW FILM PLAY

Mae Murray, appearing at the Palace Theatre, starting Wednesday, in the role of Erich von Stroheim's production "The Merry Widow" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is topping her own record established as the best dressed woman on the screen.

It will be remembered that "The Merry Widow" when presented on the stage was a sensation, and the complete Merry Widow mode of dress came into vogue, most popular of all being the large sailor capeau, called the Merry Widow hat.

The picturization of this story affords even greater opportunity to bring to the notice and fancy of the world at large unique and attractive clothes.

The wedding dress and lingerie should be given especial mention. The former contrary to present day trend is very full and falls almost to the ankle, being of a very exquisite ivory color lace. The underskirt of crepe de chine hangs just below the knee and the lace bodice is lined with the same material. The whole gives a most graceful, yet a dignified effect and might well be adopted for off-screen wear.

A trunk load of negligees, one more gorgeous than another is a big feature of Miss Murray's "Merry Widow" wardrobe. One in particular is a trousered suit of black lace which clings tightly to the figure and features a coat of black georgette and lace collar with ermine.

Miss Murray's own individuality is visible in everything she wears, the black gown of the widow for instance though suitable for real "widow weeds" in its very simplicity is a creation of delight and should be the mode adopted by all youthful widows.

In the picture, Mae Murray appears first, as the star dancer of an American troupe stranded in a small Balkan kingdom, and later, as the immensely wealthy widow of a baron in the Empire. Never has she had such opportunities to wear new and striking creations, it is said, and never has she appeared in such rare and beautiful costumes. From a simply but effective dressed American, she changes to a bizarre, ultra smartly gowned European. And Miss Murray utilizes her knowledge of costume designing to its fullest possible effect with surprising results, those in the know claim.

John Gilbert, co-featured with Miss Murray in "The Merry Widow" plays the part of the dashing Prince Danilo. The supporting cast includes Roy D'Arcy, Josephine Crowell, George Fawcett, Tully Marshall, Dale Fuller, Count Conti, Sidney Bracey, Don Ryan, Hughie Mack, Edward Connelly, George Nichols and Lon Poff.

"The Merry Widow" was adapted to the screen and scenarized by Erich von Stroheim and Benjamin Glazer from the famous Henry W. Savage play by Franz Lehár, Victor Leon and Leo Stein.

The Blueweed Eradication and Progress Made

In parts of west and southwest Texas the blueweed, a close relative of the common sunflower, becomes a troublesome pest when the land is in cultivation. Experiments were conducted by the Texas agricultural experiment station, at the Lubbock station 1917 to 1919 looking to the control of this pest and the results were published in bulletin No. 909. This publication proved very popular and the edition was quickly exhausted so that it has been necessary to reprint this bulletin and any one interested can secure a copy now by writing Dr. B. Youngblood, director, Texas agricultural experiment station, College Station, Texas.

The experiments showed that the weed propagates itself largely from the underground stems which live over from year to year and are very persistent and although the weed produces a large seed crop, the seeds are of very low viability and therefore do not seem to be very much, if any, reproduction from this source.

SCREEN VERSION OF FAMOUS STAGE HIT SOON HERE

The widely heralded Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture "The Merry Widow" is coming to the Palace Theatre on Wednesday. It presents one of the most magnificent combinations effected for the screen. It unfolds a picturesque romance of a gallant prince and a popular American dancer in a small continental kingdom, and in the hands of Erich von Stroheim, ideally suited to stage such a thing, the production is said to be all that which was expected of it.

The title role, entrusted to Mae Murray, furnishes this piquant actress with the best role of her career, and gives her full opportunity to display the charm, vivacity and talent for which she is so justly famous. John Gilbert who co-stars in this picture with Miss Murray gives a performance that brings him still further to the front as a popular idol. Von Stroheim has a recognized genius for selecting types that are remarkably fine actors, and then inspires them to do the best work of their careers. The result is that each character stands out like a rare intaglio. The cast includes such favorites as Roy D'Arcy, Tully Marshall, George Fawcett, Dale Fuller, Josephine Crowell, Estelle Clark, Don Ryan, Hughie Mack, Edward Connelly, George Nichols and Lon Poff.

"The Merry Widow" is a screen version of the famous stage play by Victor Leon, Leo Stein and Franz Lehár as produced by Henry W. Savage. Erich von Stroheim handled the adaptation and continuity for the picture in collaboration with Benjamin Glazer.

The tests showed conclusively that the blueweed can be killed out completely in two seasons by plowing at intervals of about two months during the growing season. Plowing seven inches deep proved more efficient than plowing four inches. Listening or cutting the weed at the surface with a hoe proved less effective as a means of eradication and would require a longer time for eradication than plowing. A combination of deep plowing, smother crops and clean tilled row crops will prove effective on the larger and more thin infested areas. The badly infested patches should be uncropped and the weed eradicated by more intensive measures. Reports received at the experiment station indicate that liberal use is being made in sections of west Texas of the methods of blueweed eradication described in this bulletin.

I've got mine, Boys!

YOU'LL say so when you discover what a perfect peach of a home-rolled cigarette P. A. makes. Pull up a chair and pull down your vest and get an earful of this sweet music about a better cigarette tobacco. We're talking about Prince Albert, you bet.

First off, P. A. rolls easier. It's crimp-cut and stays put. All of it goes into the papers . . . every fragrant, nut-brown grain . . . not into your lap or all over the floor. It burns better for the same reason. Doesn't go out as soon as you lay it down.

And you won't lay it down often when you discover that wonderful taste of real tobacco. Cool. Fragrant. Friendly. The Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch pos-i-tive-ly. Get a tidy red tin or a tippy red bag today and you've got the best there is for cigarettes.

This goes for pipes too. If you've envied the fellows who have found pipe-contentment, just see what a wonderful difference P. A. makes in the bowl of a jimmy-pipe. Pipe or cigarette, your tobacco troubles are over when you sign up with Prince Albert.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tins and tippy red bags. And always with every bit of love and pride reserved by the Prince Albert process.
