Alabama Negroes Enroll; Wallace Not Interfering

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two Negro brothers entered school with white children today and brief disorders broke out at the elementary school where they registered.

Dwight and Floyd Armstrong, accompanied by four Negro men, entered the Graymont grammar school through a side door. They enrolled and 10 minutes later left by the same door.

They became pupils in the fifth and sixth grades — the first Negroes in Alabama to enter an elementary school with white children.

Demonstrations by about 100 white persons who had gathered early on the sidewalks about the school followed. Police brought in riot squads armed with carbines and rifles.

The white segregationists yelled "let's get those niggers out of there" and "nigger lovers."

They chanted, "two, four, six, eight, we don't want to integrate."

Using a megaphone, police Capt. George Wall offered to let one of the group advance and talk things over. The crowd shouted back, "We're going to stay here until they close the schools."

At least three white men and one Negro man were arrested. Police broke up crowds of Negro spectators on a corner facing the demonstrators.

After about 25 minutes of yelling and placard waving, the white group led by officials of the National States Rights Party filed back in cars in a nearby parking lot and departed.

Gov. George C. Wallace, who Tuesday sent hundreds of state troopers, wildlife rangers and other special officers into the city, maintained silence at the executive mansion in Montgomery. The state forces did not show up at any of the three schools ordered desegregated by a federal court.

The governor's press secretary said:

"The governor is continuing to fight this integration on the school system of Alabama and he's continuing to fight the overpowering force of the federal government because he thinks it's destroying liberty and freedom in this country and it's leading to a military dictatorship."

A total of 93 schools opened in Birmingham today with enrollment expected to exceed last year's record 72,000. Negroes did not appear as scheduled at the West End and Ramsay high schools.

A group of about 50 states rights-ers appeared at Ramsay. They waved Confederate flags and protested a police barricade. Some wore gestapo-type uniforms.

In the gulf coast city of Mobile, two young Negroes accompanied by two city policemen registered for the 12th grade at the Board of Education office. There were no incidents. No other pupils were present.

At Montgomery, Wallace continued to decline comment after desegregation had been accomplished.

The Negroes went into the school shortly after white pupils began enrolling.

At the time, Wallace's press secretary said the chief executive was in his mansion in Montgomery, 100 miles away.

The Negroes entered the building at 8:05 a.m. to climax what had appeared to be an impending showdown between Wallace and both federal and local authorities, who had asked him not to interfere.

He apparently decided to accede to that request, but there was no immediate statement from him.

White women picketed on the sidewalk in front of the school as the Negro pupils made their historic walk through a doorway on the east side of the red brick building about 100 yards away.

Their enrollment was the first public school desegregation below college level in Alabama, where the 100 mile state in 1956 and again last June when the federal government faced down Wallace at the University of Alabama's door.

Some white spectators and small groups of Negroes watched from street corners as white parents, mostly mothers, led their children to school.

Some of the pupils and parents were balked by the pickets. Others brushed past the pickets and went into the school for enrollment.

Three other pupils were to enroll at the white schools in the city, but they had failed to do so as the hour approached.

About 15 minutes after the Negroes got into the Graymont school, the National States Rights party, with Confederate flags flying and horns blowing, began a motorcade along the highway which runs in front of the school.

80 Lives Lost In Air Crash Near Zurich

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP)—A Swiss twin-jet airliner exploded in the air today shortly after taking off from Zurich and crashed in flames dangerously near Duerrenaesch, killing all the 80 persons aboard.

Shredded wreckage dotted the countryside for eight miles of the final flight through an early morning mist. The tremendous impact of the crash scattered parts of the French-built Caravelle and human remains over a square mile.

The plane had been bound for Geneva and Rome. It narrowly missed Duerrenaesch, situated between two small lakes about 30 miles west of Zurich, and slashed a huge crater in the earth just west of the village.

The worst air disaster in Swiss history, the crash took the lives of 74 passengers and six crew members. It was the first major air tragedy in Switzerland since World War II.

Swiss air authorities announced one American, a Mr. Glauner, was among the eight foreigners who perished. They did not have his first name or home town.

All the 66 other passengers and the crew were Swiss nationals. Among them were 4 persons from a single village, Humlikon. Making up a quarter of Humlikon's population, they were flying to Geneva on a trip organized by a farming cooperative.

The disaster struck at 7:20 a.m. Four minutes before, officials reported they had lost contact with the Caravelle.

Farmers in the village of Bettwil, eight miles northeast of Duerrenaesch, said they saw a glowing fire moving at great speed through the mist, accompanied by a loud roaring sound.

Duerrenaesch villagers said they heard an explosion, looked up and saw the blazing plane coming down over their houses. Some said the big craft grazed the roof of two farm buildings before smashing into the earth and disintegrating.

A Swissair spokesman said there was no indication of the cause of the accident.

Swissair was checking over copies of tickets to establish a complete passenger list, expected to be issued later today. Under new international regulations, companies are no longer obliged to keep complete passenger lists for each flight.

The passengers were believed to include 22 married couples from the Swiss hamlet of Humlikon who were on a trip organized by a farming cooperative. Most of the other passengers were believed to be Swiss.

Rescue workers found debris and bodies scattered over an area of several hundred feet.

The posse has pledged $100 a year for three years to the fund and Tuesday's check was for the initial payment.

Police Seek Venezuelan Terrorists

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police swarmed over Central University today looking for pro-Castro students believed to have been involved in a bloody, daring raid on air force headquarters in downtown Caracas.

Four terrorists, apparently bent on stealing the pratroop guards' submachine guns, shot up the headquarters Tuesday, killing a guard and wounding a passerby. One terrorist was reported wounded.

Police traced the terrorists' getaway car, driven by a woman, to the university campus. They seized two students and a cache of arms in a dormitory for foreign students.

Officials said the raid was staged by members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), a Communist organization trying to topple President Romulo Bentancourt before the presidential election in November.

Befancourt says Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba sponsors the terrorists.

Interior Minister Manuel Mantilla ordered a complete search of the university. Because it enjoys traditional rights of autonomy, the university has become a sanctuary for Communists.

Guards had been posted outside the campus to prevent terrorists from retreating to its safety. Police obtained warrants to enter the grounds and began a thorough search of every building.

In other acts blamed on the FALN, gunmen robbed a Caracas real estate office of about $4,000 Tuesday and terrorists set fire to a cultural center in Maracaibo, the oil center in western Venezuela.

Police at Barcelona, 150 miles southeast of Caracas, arrested a high school student and accused him of leading a band that dynamited three American-owned oil pipelines in the past two weeks.

Senate Committee Claims "Treaty Risks In Favor"

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee assured the Senate today that the "balance of risks" is in favor of ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

In a formal report recommending approval of the ban on atmospheric, underwater and outer space testing, the committee said U.S. strategic capability is such that "a nuclear attack against the United States on any scale would assure the devastation of the Soviet Union in a retaliatory blow."

"The committee finds the balance of risks weighted in favor of the treaty," the report asserted.

"It is possible by testing underground that the Soviet Union will greatly erase the technological lead the United States possesses in some critical areas of nuclear development.

"But it is equally true, as the hearings indicated, that this gap could be closed much more rapidly if unrestricted testing were continued."

It added that the treaty would slow the rate and significantly increase the expense of Soviet weapons progress by confining tests to the underground area where the United States has a broad advantage.

"In that light," the report continued, "now would seem to be a good time to stop."

The report, approved by a 16-1 committee vote last week, will be the basis of debate starting on the Senate floor next Monday.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield asked his colleagues today to avoid the "tragic obsession" that continued nuclear testing would enhance national security.

Urging the Senate to ratify the limited test ban treaty, Mansfield said the only insurance further testing could provide was that "if our civilization is put to the final torch by hand, others will be consumed in the same stupendous blaze."

Mansfield, in his speech, acknowledged there were risks "but I remind the Senate that there are also risks in failing to venture, in standing still in a world which does not stand still for us or any nation."

Mansfield said the international agreement is similar to one proposed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and he added:

"It is conceivable that one president of the United States may have misjudged the American interest in this highly significant matter, although I do not for a moment suggest that such was the case with President Eisenhower.

"But I find it most difficult to believe that two presidents in succession would be guilty of negligence or poor judgment on precisely the same question of national interest."

Red Cross Session Set For Thursday

A special meeting of the Scurry County Chapter of the American Red Cross which will be open to the public has been scheduled here tomorrow.

He will conduct a discussion of aims, purposes and structure of the American Red Cross and the Scurry County Chapter.

The session has been set for 10 a.m. tomorrow in the community room of West Texas State Bank.

All civic clubs have been asked to send representatives to the meeting and other persons interested in learning more about Red Cross activities will be welcome, said Mrs. Sis Jones, who heads the Scurry County Chapter.

Encephalitis On Downward Trend

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Infectious encephalitis, which reached near epidemic proportions here last month, appears to be on a downward trend.

Dr. J. T. Marshall, county health director, said this week that incidence of the disease has declined. He has not received reports of any new cases of the malady, often called "sleeping sickness" since Aug. 29.

Since June 1, a total of 60 cases, including two resulting in deaths, has been clinically diagnosed in the county. A 2-month-old boy died in June and a 67-year-old man died in July.

New York Negro Parents Try For School Enrollment

MALVERNE, N.Y. (AP) — Racial imbalance in the public schools of this Long Island community will be challenged today by Negro parents seeking to enroll their children in two predominantly white schools.

"Another group will picket the predominantly Negro Woodfield Road school in an effort to discourage parents from enrolling their children there," a Negro spokesman said.

The two mostly white schools are the Lindner Place and Davison schools. Negroes attend the Malverne and Lynbrook schools.

The school board has filed that no child is to be admitted to any school other than the one to which he is assigned. Civil rights leaders said the board had hired guards to enforce the decision.

Bayard De Noie, school board president, and Lewis Bejarano, a board member, were served Tuesday with papers ordering them to appear in State Supreme Court today why they should not institute a desegration order of Dr. James E. Allen Jr.'s state commissioner of education.

Dr. Allen ordered the board in June to end racial imbalance by bussing Negroes from Woodfield Road to the other two schools.

The board submitted an alternate plan to reduce the percentage of Negroes in the Woodfield Road school from 81 per cent to 41 per cent and to increase Negro enrollment in the two other elementary schools.

A State Supreme Court order has temporarily blocked the board's plan. A hearing will be held on Sept. 13.

Involved in the dispute are two organizations — the United Committee for Action Now, the civil rights group, and the Malverne Taxpayers and Parents Association, which opposes any plan which would destroy the neighborhood concept.

Charles W. Reardon, hed of the Parent-Taxpayers, has accused Commissioner Allen of favoring "career racists and knuckling under to political pressure from professional lobbyists."

Dr. Lloyd Delany, a Negro psychologist who heads the United Committee, has vowed that his organization will accept nothing less than the commissioner's plan to have Negro students bussed to the predominantly white schools.

Officers of the Woodfield Road school PTA resigned, in a body Tuesday to protest the school board's failure to carry out Allen's order.

3,792 Are Enrolled In Schools Here

Snyder Public Schools were populated by 3,792 pupils by the end of the first day of classes Tuesday.

Although there were no exact comparative figures, it appeared that total enrollment would at least equal, or possibly surpass that of last year. The first tabulation last year came at the end of the first week of school and listed a total of 3,811 pupils enrolled.

A big jump in enrollment at the senior high school topped the reports today. The senior high has 589 pupils, compared to a peak of 623 at the end of the first week a year ago.

Lamar Junior High enrollment was up from 39 to 421. West Elementary was up from 507 to 521, and Stanfield Elementary was up from 287 to 310 in the comparative figures.

Travis Junior High had 429 enrolled the first day of classes compared to 470 at the end of the first week last year while North Elementary was down from 204 to 186. East Elementary was down slightly from 372 to 363. Northeast Elementary was down from 297 to 275 and Central Elementary was down from 480 to 427.

The Abraham Lincoln School had 173 enrolled Tuesday, compared to 177 at the end of the first week last year.

Large Texas Schools Integrate Today Without Incident

By The Associated Press

The two largest cities in Texas stepped up their school integration materiall Wednesday, while a third big city integrated for the first time—under federal court orders—without incident.

Thus virtually all Texas schools convened this week without racial trouble, although more than 50 integrated for the first time.

The increase in numbers integrated took place in Houston and Dallas.

Houston, moving into its fourth year of integration on grade-a-year program, had 135 negroes enrolled in 10 predominantly white schools. Last fall the figure was 66 in six schools.

Dallas, where civil rights backers campaigned with Negro parents to persuade them to enroll their pupils in white schools, found 160 Negroes attending predominantly white schools in the third year of a stair-step plan.

Last year, Dallas had only 16 Negro pupils in overwhelmingly white classrooms. The first year of integration—1961—saw 18 enrolled.

Fort Worth reported 11 Negroes pre-registered for the first grade in white schools of an estimated 85 eligible under school board rules.

Fort Worth Superintendent Elden Bushy said more Negroes may be registered during the week.

All the other cities ranked through the top nine in population have been integrated for years.

Beaumont, listed 10th in population, started a grade-a-year plan this year. Parents of fifteen Negroes sought to enroll their children at Beaumont white schools Wednesday but were turned away peacefully because the children all were in grades higher than the first.

Top number of Negroes enrolled Wednesday in any one formerly all-white schools was in Dallas was 63.

Superintendent W. T. White said the sharp increase in numbers in Dallas this year showed "more than good faith" compliance with federal court orders calling for integration.

Reform Pleas Fall On Deaf Viet Nam Ears

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The government of South Viet Nam has turned a deaf ear to President Kennedy's pleas for reforms to rally public support for President Ngo Dinh Diem and win the fight against Communist guerrillas, government spokesman reiterated Kennedy's pledge of continued U.S. aid in the anti-Communist war, he said Tuesday the President's criticism of Diem's domestic policies was "quite wrong" and "based on inadequate information."

U.S. officials in Washington privately voiced disappointment over the negative reaction to Kennedy's plea for reforms. The Saigon stand was considered a blow to a solution of deteriorating U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

The American President appealed to the Vietnamese government Monday to rally public support by changes in policy and perhaps in personnel.

He apparently had in mind Diem's brother-adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu. Washington believes [illegible] was responsible for the anti-Buddhist crackdown Aug. 21 when martial law was imposed in South Viet Nam. Another secretary to Diem has denied Buddhist charges of religious discrimination.

The Vietnamese government spokesman noted that "Kennedy said the United States should not withdraw its support of Viet Nam, and that is heartening." U.S. military and other aid to Viet Nam is running $500 million a year.

Washington reacted sharply to a story published in Saigon that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had plotted to overthrow the Diem government with the help of dissidents in South Viet Nam.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips denied the charges which appeared in a government-backed Vietnamese newspaper, the Times of Viet Nam. He likened the story to a fiction thriller.

The State Department acknowledged that the U.S. embassy in Saigon had rejected a formal request from South Vietnamese authorities for custody of three Buddhist monks who took refuge in the embassy Sunday.

The three include Thich Tri Quang, top organizer of the Buddhist anti-government movement.

The embassy turned away a fourth monk who appealed for asylum Tuesday. "We're just too full," an embassy official explained.

The situation was complicated further by reliable reports that one of the refugees, Le Mau Chi, was a Vietnamese secret police agent for nine years before he became a monk.

In another development, South Viet Nam's government radio said a leading Buddhist monk, Thich Thien Hoa, is satisfied that Diem has shown "great benevolence and generosity" toward Buddhists, and granted their just demands.

Apartments Once Owned By Estes Sell

PORT NECHES, Tex. (AP)—An agreement has been reached for disposition of Woodcraft Apartments of Port Neches, formerly owned by Billie Sol Estes.

The agreement was reached Tuesday between Melvin Tegge, operator of the apartments, and Dr. Harold Lindley of Pecos, one-time associate of the West Texas promoter.

The apartments, consisting of 15 buildings, were built during World War II to house rubber plant workers.

Under the agreement, Lindley purchased the properties for $5,000 at a trustee sale. Tegge will retain possession of the apartments with an option to buy the properties at a later date.

Lindley has been attempting to foreclose on the properties in an effort to satisfy a debt owed by Estes. Tegge, who bought a half interest in the apartments in 1955, filed three injunction suits.

The third suit was filed Tuesday, but was dismissed a short time later after a friendly understanding was reached.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We had a little damage to our roof (rain and high winds) and the insurance company man said to get an "estimate" on the cost of repafring it. I asked around, and a neighbor gave me the number of a roofing company. A man came right out, looked at the roof, and said it would cost $200 to fix it. I told him it sounded fair to me, but I'd talk to my husband. Then I signed something, but was in too big a hurry to read all of it. I only wanted an estimate, Abby.

The next morning at eight o'clock I heard pounding and hammering on my roof. Three men were up there working. I told the head man I had only signed for an "estimate," but he showed me where I had signed a CONTRACT. They were finished in three hours and demanded their $200. I was dumbfounded. I had to go to the bank and draw out the money because the contract said CASH. My husband said I was a moron. Abby, I'm sick. Can people do business this way and get away with it?

SICK

DEAR SICK: Yes. And they specialize in people who are in too big a hurry to read something, but sign it anyway. My advice to you (who a little late) and to others, is to sign nothing without having first talked it over with your husband and - or a lawyer. P. S. I hope you reported the "roofing company" to the Better Business Bureau.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere along the line I've lost control of my seven-year-old son. I've had complaints from Tommy's school teachers, the neighbors and now our dentist refuses to see him again. I had Tommy to the dentist and it took him from 1:30 until 3:30 to fill one tooth. The boy screamed so loudly the dentist glamped his hand over his mouth and Tommy bit him. The dental assistant came out and told me to please find another dentist next time. She suggested that I give him tranquilizers (for a seven-year-old) or take him to a psychiatrist. I admit he is hard to handle, but do you think he is a case for a psychiatrist?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I don't know, but the only way to find out is to take him to one.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My wife tells me that in some states there is a law stating if a couple has been married 25 years or more, they cannot get a divorce unless they both submit to mental examinations. Is this a fact? If so, in which states?

RUTH'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: There is no such law, but I think there ought to be.

Family Made Home In Auto

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother and her four small children, who have been living in an automobile on a beach, now have a temporary home.

They were taken during the night to the Salvation Army's emergency lodge.

The mother, Mrs. Betty Mitchell, 29, came to Chicago from Clearwater, Fla., with her husband, Ronald, also 29 and their young sons, Timothy, 6, Kathy, 4, Cindy, 3, and Gregg, 2.

She told a reporter her husband had expected to get a job in Chicago and when he didn't, they decided to sleep in the car because they were short of money.

She said the automobile has been their home since July 1.

Mrs. Mitchell said her husband went to work Aug. 7 and, when she went to pick him up on his first pay day, Aug. 22, she learned he had received his check and left. She said she hadn't seen him since that day.

Fishermen who frequent the area provided food, blankets and money. Several fishermen notified a newspaper and the story today brought the family's plight to public attention.

Accused Boy Seeks School Enrollment

CISCO (AP) — Nathan Curry, 17, who is charged with beating a woman church secretary to death in 1961, seeks a court order enabling him to enroll at Cisco high school.

Supt. T. M. Roach of the public school system refused to let the youth register Tuesday.

John Watts, Odessa lawyer representing young Curry, then filed a motion for a district court order to force enrollment of his client. A hearing is set for 2 p. m. Friday.

County grand jurors indicted Curry after his 17th birthday in the slaying of Mrs. Florence Hussey, 53, a divorcee and secretary of the First Baptist Church here. She was found beaten to death in her home.

His trial on the murder charge is scheduled Oct. 14 in Palo Pinto County, where the case was transferred on a change of venue.

Roach said he refused Curry admission to high school classes in the view his decision was in the best interest of the schools 700 students.

"We may not be able to keep him out legally," the superintendent said, "but we will go as far as we can. I'm sure the school board will back me."

Lake Drained In Search For Body

CROSSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A crowd of about 200 gathered early at a private lake in the mountains near here Tuesday. Some brought lunches. They came to see officers drain the lake in the search for Mrs. John Reed.

At a pauper's corner in the local cemetery, no one showed up for the burial of her two children —4-year-old Rose Marie and 2-year-old John Anthony. Their bodies were found Sunday in a septic tank near the lake, not far from the tumbled-down Waldensia resort hotel, vintage 1900.

Investigators said the children apparently were strangled months ago, weighted down with a 40-pound stone tied between them and thrown in the septic tank.

A search is under way for the 19-year-old mother and her last known companion, Sammy Earle Ammons, 30, of Knoxville. He is wanted on bad check charges in several counties.

Mrs. Reed was a baby sitter for Ammons. She, Ammons and his wife were reported seen several times in the area near the lake.

Agent E.C. Hale of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification said investigators will have to work under the assumption that Mrs. Reed is alive.

"Some of the officers were sure her body was in the lake," Hale said, "but you can see there's nothing there but mud and turtles and fish."

Letter Sorter Is "Sorter" Disloyal

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—All the post office's robot letter sorter is guilty of disloyalty. He refused to handle the Queen's mail.

A.L.F. stands for Automatic Letter Facer.

When working properly, ALF can sort, stack letters and cancel stamps at the rate of 12,000 envelopes an hour.

"With almost human perversity," said a post office spokesman, "the robot has refused to handle items marked O.H.M.S."

O.H.M.S. stands for "On her Majesty's Service."

All government letters carry the royal stamp—along with the words official paid, plus a replica of the crown of Queen Elizabeth II.

"We have been experiencing a lot of trouble with official mail," said the spokesman, "and we've finally traced it to ALF.

The automatic letter sorter in its present form has been in operation in some postal stations for several months.

All efforts of electronic engineers to persuade ALF to handle O.H.M.S. failed. The trouble seems to be the design of the royal stamp. So, said the spokesman, a change on the official design became imperative."

The O.H.M.S. stamp is a lightly inked circle with the crown inside the circle. This won't go through the sorter.

Then now on, the O.H.M.S., the replica of the Queen's crown and the words official paid, will be enclosed in a rectangular frame, with heavily-inked rounded corners.

Tests with the new design show all handles it faultlessly.

Kennedy To Name Members On Rail Panel By Friday

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to announce today or Thursday his selection of three neutral members to serve on an arbitration panel in the railroad work rules dispute.

Under legislation enacted hurriedly last week to avert a nationwide railroad strike on Aug. 29, he has until Saturday to name three neutral arbitrators to the seven-member panel which will rule on two prime issues in the dispute.

A high government source indicated today the President probably would announce his selections before Friday. That's the day on which Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz meets with rail and union representatives in discussion procedures for arbitration of the issues of locomotive firemen's jobs and train crew makeup and for resumption of negotiation of other issues.

"It would be presumptuous to hold the meeting Friday without having learned who will serve on the arbitration panel," the source said.

A list of possible arbitrators is to be added to four recently selected by the White House for further study by Labor Department officials and White House staff members.

Indications are that two of the neutral arbitrators will be experts in the transportation field. The third member, who would serve as panel chairman, the source said probably would come from the general public.

Under the emergency bill enacted last week, hearings in arbitration of the issue must begin within 30 days. The board would have 90 more days to make a decision and would make it public in another 60 days.

Negotiations on other issues such as wage structure, interdivisional runs and combination of road and yard work would have to be carried on at the same time.

Regardless of whether agreement is reached on the issues to be negotiated, the award of the arbitration panel is to go into effect within 180 days of Aug. 28, the day the bill was signed. The award would be effective for two years, but there is nothing to prevent a strike on the other issues should the two parties fail to come to agreement.

Arbitration panel members representing the carriers will be J. E. Wolfe, their chief negotiator, and Guy W. Knight, a Pennsylvania Railroad vice president.

The unions will be represented by H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and R. H. McDonald, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Gasoline Fire Victim's Condition Unchanged

Mrs. D. R. Hearn, who received burns over an estimated 50 per cent of her body in a flash fire Tuesday morning was reported to be still in "serious" condition this morning at Cogdell Hospital.

The attending physician said that her condition was "unchanged" since yesterday. Mrs. Hearn was burned when gasoline with which she was cleaning a floor at the Beavers Trailer Park at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue E caught fire.

Mrs. Hearn's daughter, Linda, 14, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of less serious burns on her hands and feet. She is reported to be in good condition.

Port Extension To Galveston Seen

HOUSTON (AP)—A new member of the Port Houston Commission said today the port eventually should be extended to Galveston Bay.

There are 12 to 15 miles of shoreline for wharves on the bay," said R. H. Pruett, former mayor of Baytown.

Pruett said 30 miles of Cedar Bayou and Goose Creek shoreline near Baytown also are available for port expansion.

When the time is ripe, I'll recommend that both shorelines be made part of the district, he said.

Then our port will be second only to Houston, including New York," he said.

She Believed In His Fantastic Dream

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Lee Breedlove worked nights as a waitress, and payed the household expenses with her tips so that her intense young husband, Craig, could tinker with his car in the garage.

In the winter when the garage was cold and days were too short Craig brought parts of his car into the living room — its 10-foot airducts, for instance.

And when Lee got home in the wee hours she crammed her 106-pound frame into these narrow ducts and rubbed down the inside fiberglass with steel wool.

There were four years that she and the five youngsters stayed home and did without, and no one complained. The car's needs, all agreed, came first.

The car dominated their lives, but nobody drove it. Occasionally when slim, tan Lee needed to transport the children, she borrowed another from a friend. As for Lee and Craig, they got around on a motorcycle.

No Installments

Certainly their car outdid the best of status symbols in their West Los Angeles, Calif., community. Its cost is estimated at $250,000.

Yet the neighbors never saw it until Craig wheeled out his three-ton "Spirit of America" for its very important journey. Then crowds swarmed around the strange, streamlined thing. With three wheels long nose and a cockpit, it resembles a wingless jet plane, and indeed is jet powered.

With Craig at the wheel the car shot across the sand dunes of the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah on August 5, setting a world land record of 407.45, returning the speed title to America after 35 years, and justifying the unwavering faith of the Breedlove family.

Ball of Speed

Quiet, poised Lee remembers precisely that precious moment when their lives changed.

"I was at the timing stand watching a tiny ball in the distance growing larger and larger quickly as if somebody had thrown it towards me fast. Suddenly it was there, huge and noisy, and then gone. I was in a trance thinking, 'Oh, how beautiful,' and then the timer said, 'Well, that's the record both ways.'

"I began to laugh, and I was crying too. I must have been in shock."

When Lee numbly reached the halted car, she found Craig descending the cockpit ladder, issuing orders to his crew as matter-of-factly as if he had pulled into a gas station.

Photographers, reporters, radio and TV men converged, and everything was to be different from then on in.

Her Dream, Too

Reared with tree brothers, Lee was a born tomboy, loving horses and cars. Even as a toddler she rode the course of a Fresno, Calif., speedway in her cousin's lap. She grew up understanding grease monkeys and speed.

When she met Craig she not only understood but believed in his dream of a car with a 500-mile an hour speed potential, one that could outstrip the 16-year-old record set by John Cobb of England in 1948. "I have always believed in it," she says simply.

Other people didn't. After their marriage, Craig raised $10,000 by selling some property and other racing cars for his dream, but this was soon gone. He tried without success to borrow from friends and relatives.

Discouraged, he abandoned his garage workshop and took a job. But he didn't give up. Eventually, he developed a brochure and a model, and some convincing arguments about research that brought an oil company and a tire corporation to his financial rescue.

"I can't say I didn't worry," Lee says of that important day when Craig entered the cockpit to travel faster than any man on earth. "But I really didn't believe that Craig would drive the car if it were not all right."

Now looking at the Breedlove name in big, bold headlines, and her husband's handsome, smiling picture in hundreds of newspapers Lee says she has seen them all before, in her mind.

"I used to dream about how it would be for him someday, but I didn't think anyone would ever want to interview me."

ODD CAR IN THE GARAGE . . . Lee Breedlove, wife of the driver who set new land speed record after 16 years, displays a model of the three-wheeled jet car that was a family project for four years. It carried Craig Breedlove 407 mph, but its potential is 500 mph.

Auto First Aid Kit Handy Item For Car Pools

Now that schooltime is here again, the family car probably is an integral part of a school car pool; therefore, it is particularly advisable to take this safety precaution: Keep a small auto first aid kit handy.

Mothers who are herding three-four and more youngsters to and from school every day can't be too careful. Compact and complete auto kits are inexpensive, fit easily into the glove compartment and contain all the essentials needed for effective first aid, should an emergency arise. In addition, the kit has a new 41-page first aid guide which details the proper and most up-to-date treatments for injuries, including the new mouth-to-mouth and mouth-to-airway resuscitation techniques.

Irish May Protest Reunion

THE CELEBRATION- By Mary Deasy.

Every professional Irishman will probably dislike the book, but, if he comes from a large clan, he'll also find portrayed therein characters uncomfortably like some of his own relatives.

The story revolves around a three-day homecoming of the Cournane family to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the only priest it produced, Father Michael.

The Cournanes are a wild, proud, talented tribe who bring most of their woes — and they are many — upon themselves by being too self-righteous, too unforgiving, too hypocritical or by abandoning their religious principles in the pursuit of fleshly desire.

At the heart of the tale is the downfall of brilliant and charming Jack Cournane, whose love for a young girl ruins his political career, turns him into an alcoholic bum, and all but wrecks the life of his daughter Amy.

Most of the troubles of the Cournanes seem to stem from each one's stubborn attempt to make a world of his own, instead of taking life as it is.

As Dolly, a widowed daughter of Jack Cournane, observes: "Oh, we live in such a queer old world, where you can't lift your finger for your own pleasure without stirring grief into someone else's cup."

One of the memorable characters — worthy of Charles Dickens — is Father Michael's nosy and mean - minded housekeeper, Thressa Dawes, who finally gets her comeuppance at the hands of the kindly, long - suffering priest.

Told in a series of personal narratives and flashbacks, this novel is acutely preceptive, warmly human, full of the ache of starved aspirations, highly readable — and guaranteed to raise the blood pressure of professional Irishmen, who are bound to insist the Irish aren't really that way at all, at all.

A quick and pretty cover - up for any cake (your own, packaged, or purchased) is Fluffy Honey Frosting. Here is the recipe:

1 egg white
½ cup Honey
Dash of salt

Beat egg white with salt until stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Pour Honey in fine stream over egg white, beating constantly until frosting holds its shape. Makes about 2 cups frosting.

Add a little mustard and Worcestershire sauce to mashed blue cheese and use as a filling for "stuffed" hamburgers. Men usually like this combination.

Vary canned tomato soup by adding finely diced celery; another time add a bay leaf as you heat the soup, then remove the spice before serving.

Guarded Albanian Border Is Another "Wall" For Refugees

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the fascinating frontiers in today's world is that separating Yugoslavia and Albania. This is a report from a reporter who two years ago became one of the few Western newsmen allowed to enter Albania.

By CARL E. BUCHALLA

PRISTINA, Yugoslavia, (AP)— In daytime, heat waves shimmer over the treeless mountains on the border between Yugoslavia and Albania deep in the south of the Balkans.

At night the stony land awakens with military watchfulness.

Soldiers patrol both sides. Occasionally a flare arches overhead. On some nights rifle shots or the chatter of a machine gun pierce the stillness.

"In 1962, our authorities apprehended 415 agents and spies," a recent official Yugoslav statement says. "Of the total, 84 were armed terrorists of the Albanian security police."

Another official report in Belgrade tells of more than 600 severe border incidents involving Albanians and Yugoslavs in the past few years.

Last June 28 an agent "armed and equipped by the Albanian authorities" was shot by Yugoslav border guards as he tried to cross the border. Another man was arrested.

Only a week before that incident, the Albanian government announced that a group of American and Yugoslav agents had been convicted in the city of Kukes, a few miles from the border. Three were reported sentenced to death. No names were given.

Radio Tirana asserted the condemned had been in contact with American agents who once parachuted into Albania to organize an uprising against the Stalinist regime of President Enver Hoxha and were operating in Yugoslavia against Albania.

Incidents on the border started in 1948 when Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito broke with Stalin. Hoxha, a loyal follower of Stalin, became Tito's most bitter enemy.

The recent reapproachment between Tito and Khrushchev and Hoxha's adherence to the Chinese Communists have enflamed the bitterness.

Even without ideological differences the border area is a natural trouble spot. About 600,000 Albanians live on the Yugoslav side. This is about one-third as much as the population of Albania.

Like the residents of Albania these Albanians call themselves Skipetars and have their own republic—the autonomous district of Kossovo and Metohia, or "Kosmet" for short.

The Kosmet is the most underdeveloped region of Yugoslavia. Tito's government is increasing efforts to develop resources, build plants and roads and fight illiteracy.

Pristina, capital of Kosmet, is a town of 40,000. New apartment houses and modern buildings contrast with old mosques and minarets.

The official language, Skipetar is taught in schools, broadcast by Radio Pristina and used for the daily newspaper Rilindja.

Albania charges that the Yugoslav Skipetars are oppressed by Tito. "Even the Albanians do not believe that," an official in Pristina said. "They know we live much better and have more freedom than they have under Hoxha."

In recent years hundreds of Albanians fled to Yugoslavia.

"Now Hoxha's guards have tightened the border, so only an occasional refugee gets across," an official said.

Two years ago this correspondent saw the border from the Albanian side. There a restricted zone is set off with watchtowers, barbed wire and patrols along more important sectors of the 300-mile border.

The Yugoslav side has no barbed wire, no restricted zone and only an occasional patrol. An official explained: "None of us wants to go over there!"

Junior Editors Quiz on STORMS

QUESTION: How are cyclones formed?

• • •

ANSWER: Cyclones are violent storms with winds which spiral around a center where the air pressure is low. The wind blows in the opposite direction from the movement of a clock's hands—counterclockwise. These winds are caused by unequal heating of the earth, making some masses of cold air and some of warm. As our picture shows, cyclones tend to move across the U. S. from southwest to northeast. In (1) there is a mass of cold air edging one of warm. In (2) the cold is pushing under the warm. In (3) the cold air has pushed a tongue of warm air out which is spinning around in a cyclone, helped by the twisting force of the earth's rotation. In(4) the air masses have equalized again.

Hurricanes are large cyclonic-type storms which form over tropical seas and often move up the West Indies, usually curving to the northeast as they approach the American coast. Tornadoes, although affecting a smaller area, are the most violent cyclones. A dark funnel drops down, destroying everything it touches.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Warm masses of air are "warm fronts; cold ones, "cold fronts." Learn more about these and you will understand the weather predictions on the radio and in your newspaper.

Phyllis Diller Top Standup Lady Comic

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Phyllis Diller, who dresses to look like an ostrich on a three-day binge, is perhaps the only woman in America with five children who also wore white, blue and rose-colored contact lenses.

"My goal is to be a gracious woman," she remarked matter-of-factly. "But I decided that if I was to be an idiot broad, I might as well make it pay."

Miss Diller certainly has made it pay. As "the female Bob Hope," master of the one-line quip, she has become a reigning queen of the night club circuit.

"Last year I paid taxes on $260,000," she said. "This year I hope to make a half million."

Then, she is confident, she will go on to a million, two million, etc., etc.

"But progress is mathematical," she declared during a rest between her frantic nightly chores at the Hotel Americana's Royal Box. "There is no point in being impatient."

A good standup lady comic is a rarity in show business, and Miss Diller is currently the most successful in the field.

"It sounds like a housewife's dream—to have a roomful of people listening to her," she said. "And it is.

"But most women wouldn't stick to this line of work. They'd get too hurt emotionally. But to me it's a form of therapy."

Eight years ago Phyllis, then 37, was just another working-housewife—she had a radio writing job—who got a big kick out of entertaining other women with her zany antics.

Her husband, Sherwood, kept urging her to turn professional. She did finally—with considerable qualms.

"I had to give up a $100 a week job, an expense account, and a car to become an unemployed comic," she said.

Billed as "Phyllis Diller, the homely friendmaker," she landed a $60 a week job in a San Francisco club with an outlandish act in which she set about stuffing a turkey—through the beak.

"It took me years to work up to $110 a week," she said.

Rigorously self-disciplined, she makes up most of her own material.

Miss Diller, now 45, doesn't worry about an improvident old age. She has a land investment program.

"I have a piece of land in Idaho 40 miles long and one inch wide," she said. "I use it now to store string."

DENNIS THE MENACE

Davis Keeps Bums Rolling

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Davis, trying to become the first National League batting champion in a decade to retain his title, lost ground to Dick Groat in his latest effort but kept the Los Angeles Dodgers wheeling toward their long-awaited pennant popoff.

Davis collected only one hit Tuesday night, but it was a clutch single in the 10th inning that drove in the winning run in a 4-3 victory over Houston and maintained the Dodgers' six-game bulge over second-place St. Louis.

Davis, a 24-year-old right-handed swiner, trudged off the field last October with a .346 average and the batting title, after the Dodgers lost the third and deciding game of the pennant playoff with San Francisco.

Now the Dodgers are heading for the champagne popoff they missed last year and Davis is struggling to become the first repeat batting champion since Stan Musial of St. Louis in 1950-51-52. Davis, hitting .322, is tied with Vada Pinson of Cincinnati for second place.

Groat, batting king at Pittsburgh with a .325 mark in 1960, is hitting .327 this year while playing shortstop for St. Louis. He went 2-for-4 as the Cardinals ran their longest winning of the season to six games by walloping Pittsburgh 10-5.

Juan Marichal joined the 20-victory club as third-place San Francisco blasted the Chicago Cubs 16-3, Philadelphia's Ray Culp shut out Milwaukee 2-0 on two hits and Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall blanked the New York Mets 5-0 on three hits.

Detroit knocked off the American League leading New York Yankees 3-2 in 15 innings, Baltimore edged Boston 4-3 and Kansas City downed Minnesota 3-2. The other clubs were not scheduled.

The Colts scored in the top of the 10th on Rusty Staub's run-producing single before pinch hitter Moose Skowron got the Dodgers started with a single in the bottom half. A single by Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon's sacrifice fly got the tying run across. Gilliam then stole second, Davis singled and reliever Ron Perranoski, 14-2, had another victory. Dick Farrell, 10-13, took the loss.

Ken Johnson started for the Colts and shutout the Dodgers for seven innings on three hits before a sore elbow forced him out. The Colts led 2-0 at the point, scoring single runs in the second and sixth against Don Drysdale, but the Dodgers tied it in the eighth with Ken McMullen's single and Davis' sacrifice fly driving in the runs.

Trailing 3-4 going into the sixth, the Cardinals tied the score on an error by reliever Roy Face, and moved out front to stay on a passed ball by Jim Pagliaroni before Tim McCarver's three-run eighth inning homer clinched it. Bill White also homered for St. Louis, hitting a career high with his 23rd.

Bob Bailey and Ted Savage homered for the Pirates. Face, 3-6, took the loss with Bobby Shantz, 5-3, the winner after pitching three perfect innings in relief.

Marichal, 20-8, became the fourth NL pitcher to hit the 20-victory circle with Billy Hoeft's no-hit relief for two innings.

The Giants amassed a 16-hit attack against Cub starter Larry Jackson, 14-13, and his successors, putting the game out of reach in the second inning with seven unearned runs. Six singles and three errors by third baseman Ron Santo did the damage. Home runs by Orlando Cepeda, Tom Haller and Felipe Alou added to San Francisco's lead.

Culp, 12-11, allowed only a third-inning double by Roy McMillan and a single by Hank Aaron in the fourth. Don Demeter provided Culp with the only run he needed when he homered in the fourth inning off Denny Lemaster, 11-9.

Marty Keough, subbing for slumping Gordy Coleman at first base, led off the fifth for the Reds with a homer off Tracy Stallard, 6-13 and that was all Nuxhall, 13-6 needed. Keough also drilled a two-run single in the ninth.

WATERMELONS VANISH—Watermelon slices vanished rapidly last night as the Snyder Quarterback Club feted football players in the Towle Memorial Park Pavilion. Quarterbackers were hard pressed to keep pace with their slicing chores as scores of footballers passed rapidly through the serving lines.

Tiger Team Shaping Up

"Cautiously optimistic" is one of those trite phrases that pop up every year about this time when football coaches are pressed for statements about their teams' prospects.

The phrase may be applied to the outlook of Horrace Bostick, Snyder High School head coach, as he looks ahead to the 1963 season if you want to deal in general terms. Yet, Bostick is more optimistic than cautious if you boil his squad down to a healthy nucleous. It's mostly a matter of depth where the caution comes in.

There are a few more "comers" who should be able to bolster the team strength as the season progresses, but for the most part reserve strength looms as the No. 1 problem.

Bostick is particularly pleased with the attitude of the squad.

There are no loafers, he emphasized, but some simply have not had the experience to step into 3A competition, and of course natural ability varies as always.

Who would be in the starting lineup for the Tigers if they had to play a game tonight?

It would be fairly definite, except for one position. Bostick probably would not decide on his quarterback until just before game time.

Jimmy Wilson and Jim Marcum both are doing fine at the man-under spot. One may appear better one day and the other the next. Both are seniors, and there's not enough difference in their weights for that to be a factor, with Wilson weighing 156 and Marcum 153.

Kenneth Dower and Billy Stewart are the top ends at this state. They weigh in at 163 and 161, respectively. Reed Robinson at 180 and Larry Lee at 226 would be the starting tackles if the Tigers had a game tonight, and the guards would be manned by Terry Williamson, 150, and Jackie Stewart, 178. John Finke, 154, would be at center.

Danny Aycock, 175, is the No. 1 fullback, and Les Brown and Tom Kincaid are the leading operatives at the halfback positions.

There are half a dozen boys who are pushing various starters and being counted on to get in plenty of playing time. There's Jerry Kincheloe, 183 running at a guard spot; Rob Hall, 150-pound halfback; Jay Williamson, 150-pound halfback; J. B. Murphy, 146-pound guard; Jerry Owens, 180-pound tackle, and Phil Moore, 132-pound end.

There are others who may "come around" and many of them undoubtedly will get in some playing time.

Meanwhile, Bostick keeps his fingers crossed.

"Maybe this will be the year when the major injuries will pass us by," he said hopefully.

If so, don't sell the 1963 Tigers short, he advises.

Star Back At Trinity

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Victor Castillo, quarterback and passer who led San Antonio Brackenridge to the Texas Class AAAA football title, worked out in uniform Tuesday with Trinity University.

Castillo, 17, had signed a letter of intent earlier with Kansas State.

A Trinity spokesman said, however, he has been accepted as a freshman at Trinity on a football scholarship.

Coach Bub McElhannon quoted Castillo as saying he entered Trinity because he wanted to stay close to home.

Freshmen can play on the varsity at Trinity, a member of the new Southland Conference.

At Manhattan, Ka., Coach Doug Weaver said of Castillo:

"He has accepted a scholarship and signed a letter of intent to attend Kansas State University and I am hopeful he will honor it."

Casualties Plaguing SWC Pilots

By The Associated Press

With fall practice hardly well begun, casualties already are plaguing Southwest Conference football coaches—who are troubled as well by the hazards of heat prostration.

Texas Christian lost guard Frank Waltermire for the season Tuesday. Doctors prescribed surgery for a shoulder injured the day before. He had been held out of action last fall.

Hot Weather gave the TCU Frogs a scare as second string end Bill Bowers was unable to take part in an afternoon workout. He soon perked up, however, and took part in a half-hour skull session.

Sandy Sands, senior fetterman, leaped high for a pass and broke a foot as he descended in a Texas drill. He'll be out of action until midseason or longer, physicians said.

Because of 100-degree heat in Austin, the Texas Longhorns cut the length of workouts down 15 minutes. Two players sent to a hospital for heat prostration Monday—James Brooks and Kenneth Brooks, both of Texas City—were expected to rejoin the squad Wednesday.

Dwain Heath, first string defensive end, banged up a knee in a Baylor scrimmage, but coaches expected him to be back in action after a few days. Three sophomores—guard Mickey Kennedy, end Tommy Smith and halfback Max Emfinger—were working in full pads again after missing one practice because of mild heat cases.

Dallas Team Trims Its Squad To 40

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League cut their squad to 40 by releasing one veteran and three rookies.

Offensive end Hugh McInnis, acquired in a trade this year from the St. Louis Cardinals, was among those turned loose Tuesday.

The rookies are Lance Poinbeouf, Louisiana Tech kicking specialist; Jim Price, Auburn linebacker, and Paul Holmes, Georgia defensive end.

Preview Of Grid Teams Set Thursday

The Snyder Quarterback Club staged its first event of the season last night and immediately announced plans for another to be held within the week.

The "Pigskin Preview," a pre-season introduction of all football players in the school system, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Tiger Stadium.

First announcement of the "Pigskin Preview" was made during the annual watermelon feast last night in the Towle Memorial Park Pavilion.

Members of football squads and coaches from both junior high schools and the senior high school were guests of the Quarterback Club for the watermelon serving.

Horrace Bostick, athletic director and high school head coach, introduced members of the 1963 Tiger squad and then presented coaches of the various other teams, who, in turn, assembled their respective squads.

Ed Schulz, Quarterback Club president, presided at the session, and Roy Meador, club secretary, led the invocation.

All members of all football teams in the school system will be introduced individually at Thursday night's "Pigskin Preview." This event has been staged annually for several years by the Quarterback Club to introduce players to local sports fans before the playing season actually begins. However, Thursday night's event will be the first to be held in three years, since the previews in 1961 and 1962 were rained out.

John Boren will be master of ceremonies for the Thursday night event.

4 Schools Form New Conference

ABILENE (AP) — Four Texas colleges and universities, all independents, have formed a new athletic conference.

They are McMurry college and Hardin-Simmons University, both in Abilene; Midwestern University at Wichita Falls and Tarleton State college at Stephenville.

Dr. D. L. Ligon, vice president of Midwestern and president of the unnamed conference, announced its formation Tuesday. He said the schools will begin competition with spring sports during the academic year just starting.

Conference members will be required to take part in football, basketball, track and field. Baseball, golf and tennis will be optional.

Ligon said the conference will be affiliated with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. It will be named at a Sept. 26 meeting in Stephenville.

He said the conference will adopt a ceiling of 65 scholarships for each school, including 33 football and 12 basketball.

Ligon said more schools will be added to the new conference.

Grosscup Gets Ax; Stephens Reprieved As Pros Cut Down

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lee Grosscup got the ax and Sandy Stephens got a second chance.

The two quarterbacks were the key figures in separate professional football maneuvers in the United States and Canada Tuesday, Grosscup being dropped in a mandatory cut by the National and American Football Leagues, and Stephens being claimed for a paltry $350.

Grosscup, a former reserve quarterback for the New York Giants and Minnesota Vikings of the NFL, was lopped off the roster of the rebuilding New York Jets of the American Football League.

Stephens, All-America at Minnesota in 1961, was claimed on waivers by Toronto of the Canadian Football League with the waiver price of $350 going to Montreal, the team that suspended him last week.

Otherwise, veteran linemen and a flock of rookies were the chief targets of the paring knives as the NFL cut to 40 players and the AFL to 33.

The articulate Grosscup, an outstanding passer in his college days at Utah, came to the Giants in 1959 as their top draft choice. He spent three seasons with the Giants, almost all of its on his own special folding camp chair.

He was traded to Minnesota a year ago, released by the Vikings and signed by the then New York Titans, forerunner of the Jets. He had a brief, outstanding career with the AFL team before being sidelined by a knee injury.

Jet coach Weeb Ewbank was apologetic about his release, one of 12 by the Jets Tuesday.

"I'm sorry we had to let Lee go," Ewbank said. "I was certain last spring he would be our quarterback. But he didn't move the team well enough in the exhibition games."

Stephens was one of the most widely sought players in the country when he signed a three-year, no-cut contract, reportedly for $70,000, with the Montreal Alouettes in 1962.

He was unimpressive in his rookie season with the Alouettes and in the AL's first two games this season. He was benched for being overweight two weeks ago, suspended last week and placed on waivers, Tuesday.

Toronto general manager Lew Hayman said the Argos will not have to purchase Stephens' salary from Montreal.

"We have no obligations at all as far as his previous arrangements were with the Montreal team," Hayman said. "We will simply deal with him as we would any newcomer."

Among the top players placed on option by the NFL teams were tackle Gene Gossage of the New York Giants and end Hugh McInnis, Dallas, each in his fourth year, and veteran end Steve Jucker of Washington, in his sixth year in the league.

NFL champion Green Bay traded guard Ed Blaine, a second-year man, to Philadelphia for a draft choice and placed former St. Louis Cardinals Frank Mestnick and Doug Hart on waivers.

Other veterans placed on waivers included offensive tackle Reed Bobovich of Cleveland, defensive tackle George Hultz of Minnesota and tackle Paul Ward of Detroit.

Some of the top players trimmed in the AFL included veteran tackle Tony Sardisco of Boston, tackle Bob Kelly of Houston and defensive end and linebacker Bob Leo of Buffalo.

Texas Loop Race In Heated Climax

By The Associated Press

They're battling, literally, right down to the wire in the Texas League.

A one-run scrap emptied both benches and caused the banishment of two players as league-leading San Antonio beat runner-up Austin 8-2 Tuesday night. Austin now trails by three games with five to play.

Third place Tulsa slipped to six games off the pace as Amarillo, mired in the cellar, won 4-2 and snapped a six-game losing streak. El Paso overpowered Albuquerque 7-1 and pulled within a game of cinching a playoff berth as the fourth place finisher.

Home runs by Ed Olivares and Jerry Grote plus five-hit pitching by Ray Cordiero moved the San Antonio Bullets a step nearer the regular season championship.

Fireworks erupted in the fifth inning after Olivares' homer with the bases loaded. A pitch by Bruce Brubaker of the Austin Senators flew a foot over the head of the Bullets' Charley Harrison, who charged the mound.

Harrison landed a left hook to Brubaker's head before other players smothered the tangle. Umpires sent the two to the showers.

Amarillo's Gold Sox used a four-run seventh frame to beat the Tulsa Oilers, whose scoring was limited to a two-run single by Bill Bethea in the second. A walk, Shorty Raudman's double, an error, Ralph Holding's two-run triple and a single by winning pitcher Dick Burwell decided the issue. Burwell hurled a five-hitter but required a ninth inning lift from Roy Peterson.

Solo home runs by Jerry Robinson in the second inning and by Randy Hundley and Julio Linares in the eighth provided all the runs El Paso needed and boosted the Sun Kings' output to 202 for the season. The Albuquerque Dukes collected five scattered hits off El Paso hurler Luis Penalver.

Lombardi Says Packers Are Ready

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Coach Vince Lombardi thinks his National Football League champion Green Bay Packers are ready for their bid for a third straight title.

"I'd say we're ready and if we stay healthy we'll be okay," Lombardi said Tuesday while discussing Monday night's 24-17 exhibition victory over the New York Giants, the team the Packers defeated in the last two title showdowns.

"That was as good a football game as you'll see in the league season," said Lombardi.

"The Giants are still one of the real great defensive clubs," said Lombardi, "and we moved against them."

The Packers rolled up 286 yards running and passing to 182 for the Giants. It was the seventh straight Packer victory over the New York club.

The Packers have won four straight exhibitions since they were upset 20-17 by the College All-Stars in their initial start. Green Bay makes its last exhibition start against the Washington Redskins in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Saturday night and will begin the regular season entertaining the Chicago Bears Sept. 15.

Baseball Tourney Comes To A Close

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Three weeks of rough-and-tumble baseball comes down to the wire tonight when Ponchatoula, La., and the Wichita Dreamliners battle for the championship of the National Baseball Congress.

The Dreamliners are the defending champions. Ponchatoula won the 1961 edition of the national non-pro tournament. A $10,000 prize is at stake in the tournament's 6-3 game. Thirty - two teams from throughout the country started the double-elimination playoff on Aug. 16.

The Louisiana champions gained the finals with a 2-1 victory over Fairbanks, Alaska, Tuesday night, scoring both runs in the second inning with a single and a squeeze bunt.

Wichita moved into the championship game with a 4-2 victory over Grand Rapids, Mich., the 1960 champions and the favorites this year.

Froehling's Big Chance To Leave Doghouse Comes Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Frank Froehling III is a long drink of water out of Coral Gables, Fla., who is battling to get out of the tennis doghouse and back into the Davis Cup picture.

His big chance comes today—against Roy Emerson, generally rated the best amateur tennis player in the world.

"If I beat Emmo," Froehling said, referring to the second-seeded Queenslander by his nickname, "I figure they can't overlook me. If I lose—well, it's back to the dungeons for me."

Ranked No. 2 nationally behind Chuck McKinley and a Davis Cup team member last year, the gangling Florida youth with the divot-digging service has been given the cold shoulder this year.

He wasn't seeded in this tournament. He was overlooked when the U.S. Davis Cup squads were named for the Mexican and Venezuelan matches.

"Part of its is my fault—I've been off my game. Part of it is because I am in their doghouse," Froehling said. "They haven't liked me because I used to act up as a kid—but that was a long time ago. They shouldn't hold that against me now."

Froehling pulled off one of the big victories Tuesday in a dizzy day of swirling winds and staggering upsets. Three of the men's seeded players went to the sidelines and one of the seeded women, Robyn Ebbern of Australia.

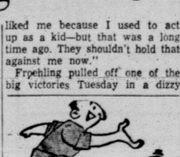

The 6-foot-3 Froehling knocked out Antonio Palafox, one of the two stars of Mexico's Davis Cup teams, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4. He gave an overpowering performance.

A couple of brazilians and a skinny, spindly legged Californian pulled off the shockers in the men's third round.

Ronnie Barnes, the Pan-American champion from Brazil, pulled the biggest coup when he eliminated fifth-seeded Ken Fletcher, one of the men Australia is depending on to keep the Davis Cup down under. It took him seven match points to put over the clincher 6-8, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Another Brazilian, 18-year-old Thomas Koch, ousted seventh-seeded Gene Scott of St. Jmaes, N.Y., 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and slender Dave Sanderlin of Los Angeles, a student at UCLA, put out Ham Richardson of Dallas, 1-6, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Ebbern, No. 8 in the women's competition, bowed to Mrs. Yola Ramirez Ochoa 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

I have never expressed myself publicly before, but I think it is time someone did. How much longer are the RS&P officials going to wait? How many more lives are to be taken, or people crippled at the Thirty-seventh Street crossing.

I have in mind four accidents at this location. One resulted in death just three months ago. Three of the cars were traveling west, the train south and all near 8 a.m.

My husband has watched this crossing and 30 seconds after the signal lights begin to flash the train crosses the road. This may be plenty of time for a car traveling 30 MPH to stop, but most of the cars travel 50 to 60 miles per hour on this street. That doesn't give enough time to stop. A lot of trucks use this by-pass and they need even more time.

Soon our high school students will be traveling this road around 8 each morning. How much time and expense would be involved to move the signal switch down the tracks just 20 yards or more? How many lives would be saved?

Mrs. Z. W. Davis

To The Daily News:

Yes, we are being sold up the river. A horrible thought, but if people could only realize this we could still do something about it.

If all the people who really love their children and grandchildren could realize our predicament and write to their senators and representatives, we could still save our great nation.

Our congressmen want our views. They want to stay in office and they want to please the people.

So why not write them and tell them if you are against disarmament and that you are against receiving all the communist visitors with open arms and aiding their government.

Our forefathers did all in their power for our freedom. Can't we do the same for our future generations. Please act before it's too late.

A Real Ball Began After Ball Was Over

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)— After the ball was over, the rampage began.

That's how police in this fashionable Long Island community described the wind-up of the weekend coming-out party for Fernanda Wanamaker Wetherill.

The party itself was termed a huge success. It was after the twist-dance party, police said, that 127 socialities, age 18 to 22, went on a rampage in a nearby ocean front mansion that had been rented as a guest house.

Chief Donald J. Finlay of the village police said damage estimates ranged up to $10,000.

The debutante's ball broke up at 7 a.m. Sunday. At 4 p.m. that day police rounded up 30 young men who were still at the house. No charges were placed.

Say Moscow Has Altered Strategy

By JOHN ROSKOVICH

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's tour of Yugoslavia has convinced many here that Moscow has changed its strategy for dominating the Communist world.

In every speech, Khrushchev insistently argued the necessity and advantages of economic cooperation among Communist countries.

Students of Communist affairs believe a primary goal of Khrushchev's visit was to draw Yugoslavia into closer economic ties with the Soviet Union and other countries of the Eastern bloc.

In Stalin's day, Moscow controlled its satellites and other communist parties by tough discipline. The situation has greatly changed in the past few years.

Yugoslavia escaped from Moscow's orbit in 1948, the only Communist nation to do so up until Stalin's death.

Since then, Albania and Asian Communist nations led by Red China have adopted independent and anti-Soviet lines. Signs of disobedience also have recently appeared in Romania.

Observers now believe Moscow is trying to regain control through subtle economic means.

The idea is to dominate Comecon, the Communist answer to the European Common Market. By centralized planning of production, Moscow could impose its will and ultimately wreck the economic independence of its members. This idea is behind Romania's discontent. It resented being assigned to a largely agricultural role in Comecon.

If one country under Comecon's so-called "socialistic division of labor" specializes in a certain product or line of products, it will become fully dependent upon the Soviet Union and its neighbors for those items it does not produce. Export possibilities to the West also would appreciably diminish with the curtailment of variety in goods produced.

The loss of economic independence would mean the restoration of Moscow's political domination.

Khrushchev's speeches in Yugoslavia repeatedly stressed his desire for Yugoslavia to join in this cooperation.

Yugoslav Communists made it clear they want an observer post in both Comecon and the Common Market.

Yugoslav trade is almost equally distributed among Western, Communist and nonaligned countries of Asia and Africa. The emphasis is on developing further trade with new nations and continuing the upward trend with Western countries.

MARRIED—Charlayne Hunter, 21, first Negro girl to attend and graduate from the University of Georgia, and Walter Stovall, 25, white Douglas, Ga., journalism student, revealed they have been wed since spring. (AP Wirephoto)

Mixed Marriage Said Illegal By Georgia Law

ATLANTA (AP) — The marriage of Charlayne Hunter, 21, first Negro girl to enter and graduate from the University of Georgia, to a white Southerner is void in Georgia, says Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook.

Miss Hunter disclosed Monday in New York that she secretly married Walter Stovall, 25, of Douglas, Ga., last spring. She said they are expecting a child in December.

"They are not married under Georgia law," Cook said Tuesday. "It's unlawful for a white person to marry anyone except a white person, and any marriage in violation of this law shall be void."

The couple declined to give the exact time and place of the wedding, but said it was in the North.

Cook said any marriage solemnized in another state by "parties intending at the time to reside in this state" shall have the same legal consequences as if they were solemnized in Georgia.

The attorney general said he had called the Bureau of Vital Statistics in New York to forward him a copy of the marriage certificate "if in truth the marriage was consummated there."

Cook said he would submit his findings to the solicitor general and a grand jury to determine if the couple may have lived in violation of Georgia's criminal law.

Mrs. Stovall graduated from the university in June with a journalism degree. Stovall lacked only one quarter of work to get his journalism degree.

University officials expressed shock at the marriage. President O. C. Aderhold said that neither of them would be permitted to enter the university again.

"Interracial marriage is prohibited by Georgia law, and secret marriages are contrary to University of Georgia regulations," Aderhold said in a statement. "Dismissal rules would have applied to Charlayne Hunter and Walter Stovall had the fact of their secret marriage been known."

Rumors that they were secretly married, which began to circulate early in the summer, were denied flatly by the couple. Miss Hunter was asked by The Associated Press at least six times if the rumor was true. She said no each time.

Stovall, who worked as a summer reporter at the Atlanta Journal, was called into editor Jack Spalding's office and asked if the reports were true. He said no.

William Tate, dean of men at the university Board of Regents, said, "I am only one regent among 15 but it would appear to me that they got their diplomas under false pretenses and they should be revoked. University rules bar secret marriages."

Hot; Dry Skies Due To Linger

By The Associated Press

It's probably going to get still drier in rain-shy Texas before the state's late summer heat siege abates.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy in all sections Wednesday with no appreciable moisture in prospect.

Briefly torrential downpours provided an exception to the statewide weather pattern late Tuesday near Laredo on the Mexican border. Water rose a foot deep in the streets at Marando City, east of Laredo, and creeks ran bankfull from Laredo south to Zapata.

Widely scattered light showers teased other areas. None received enough to be of benefit.

Month - end Weather Bureau reports accented the severity of continuing drought over Texas. August rainfall measurements varied from a scant .02 inch at Dallas up to 3.93 at Amarillo.

Moisture totals at various weather stations were generally far below normal. Deficits for the first eight months of the year included Beaumont 15.40 inches, Dallas 10.70 and Austin 9.64.

Totals since Jan. 1 were above normal only in the Panhandle-Plains sector with plus .98 inch at Lubbock and plus .12 at Amarillo.

The Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy skies in most sections through Thursday and a few thundershowers in the Texas Panhandle and South Texas. Temperatures were expected to stay about the same — generally hot.

New Long range forecasts called for temperatures averaging around normal to several degrees above through the weekend and little or no moisture.

The mercury climbed to 100 degress Tuesday at Austin, Longview and Laredo. Dalhart was the coolest point with a high of 86.

Much Decorated Frenchman Dies

METZ, France (AP) — Robert Schuman, 77, often called the father of European unity, died today after a long illness.

Schuman laid out the plan for the European Coal and Steel pool, a production and marketing organization linking France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The same countries later formed the Common Market, or the European Economic Community. Promoters of European unity hope the Common Market will develop into a Europe welded together politically as well as economically.

Schuman became seriously ill last month and received the final rites of the Catholic Church. He was suffering from a stroke and respiratory trouble.

Death came at Schuman's estate near this city in eastern France.

A native of Luxembourg, Schuman was schooled as a lawyer and entered public life shortly after World War I. His goal soon became European unity, which he pursued as virtually his sole passion in a lonely, secluded life.

He had been in failing health since early in 1961 when he collapsed while walking through the hills near his estate. He spent the winter night lying helplessly on a hillside and was found the next morning by a search party.

After a long recuperation, he suspended his political activity and finished an autobiography. It is expected to be published soon.

An ascetic bachelor, Schuman became premier of France in the early years of the unstable Fourth Republic established after World War II. He served as premier for about seven months, beginning in late 1947, and again for only three days in late 1948. Later he was foreign minister for more than four years.

Schuman was a member of the Catholic Popular republican party when it was a political power.

He was twice finance minister [illegible] and brought his almost monastic way of life to the ministry. He cut out numerous telephone lines and was sometimes seen going through ministry offices putting out lights. He didn't own a car and frequently traveled about Paris on public buses.

Schuman grew up in Metz and as a deputy becamde a specialist in German affairs, particularly as related to the French provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, recovered from Germany after World War I.

During World War II, his anti-Nazi attitude led to his deportation to Germany. He escaped and returned to unoccupied southern France where he hid in a Benedictine monastery as a lay brother.

Much decorated by foreign governments, Schuman also held honorary degrees from a number of foreign universities, including Harvard.

Dumas Man's Body Found In Ore Oven

DUMAS (AP)—A workman fell into a chute carrying ore to a drying oven and was killed today at the American Zinc Co. smelter.

The victim, George Rhoades, 22, of Dumas, apparently suffocated. Justice of the Peace R. E. Sims returned a coroner's verdict of accidental death.

Two co-workers discovered what had happened about 2:30 a. m. when a conveyor mechanism stopped automatically and they checked for the cause. They found the badly burned body in the oven, used to dry raw ore in the first step toward refining it.

Total ginnings by counties to date are Cameron 109,484, Hidalgo 114,975, Willacy 44,154, and Starr 3,824 bales.

Alabama Negroes Enroll; Wallace Not Interfering

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two Negro brothers entered school with white children today and brief disorders broke out at the elementary school where they registered.

Dwight and Floyd Armstrong, accompanied by four Negro men, entered the Graymont grammar school through a side door. They enrolled and 10 minutes later left by the same door.

They became pupils in the fifth and sixth grades — the first Negroes in Alabama to enter an elementary school with white children.

Demonstrations by about 100 white persons who had gathered early on the sidewalks about the school followed. Police brought in riot squads armed with carbines and rifles.

The white segregationists yelled "let's get those niggers out of there" and "nigger lovers." They chanted "two, four, six, eight, we don't want to integrate."

Using a megaphone, police Capt. George Wall offered to let one of the group advance and talk things over. The crowd shouted back: "We're going to stay here until they close the schools."

At least three white men and one Negro man were arrested. Police broke up crowds of Negro spectators on a corner facing the demonstrators.

After about 25 minutes of yelling and placard waving, the white group led by officials of the National States Rights Party filed back in cars in a nearby parking lot and departed.

Gov. George C. Wallace, who Tuesday sent hundreds of state troopers, wildlife rangers and other special officers into the city, maintained silence at the executive mansion in Montgomery. The state forces did not show up at any of the three schools ordered desegregated by a federal court.

The governor's press secretary said:

"The governor is continuing to fight this integration of the school system of Alabama and he's continuing to fight the overpowering force of the federal government because he thinks it's destroying liberty and freedom in this country and it's leading to a military dictatorship."

A total of 93 schools opened in Birmingham today with enrollment expected to exceed last year's record 72,000. Negroes did not appear as scheduled at the West End and Ramsay high schools.

A group of about 50 states rights-ers appeared at Ramsay. They waved Confederate flags and protested a police barricade. Some wore gestapo-type uniforms.

In the gulf coast city of Mobile, two young Negroes accompanied by two city policemen registered for the 12th grade at the Board of Education office. There were no incidents. No other pupils were present.

At Montgomery, Wallace continued to decline comment after desegregation had been accomplished.

The Negroes went into the school shortly after white pupils began enrolling.

At the time, Wallace's press secretary said the chief executive was in his mansion in Montgomery, 100 miles away.

The Negroes entered the building at 8:05 a.m. to climax what had appeared to be an impending showdown between Wallace and both federal and local authorities, who had asked him not to interfere.

He apparently decided to accede to that request, but there was no immediate statement from him.

White women picketed on the sidewalk in front of the school as the Negro pupils made their historic walk through a doorway on the east side of the red brick building about 100 yards away.

Their enrollment was the first public school desegregation below college level in Alabama.

Since June 1, a total of 34 cases — two resulting in deaths — have been reported diagnosed in the county. A 2-month-old boy died in June and a 67-year-old man died in July.

80 Lives Lost In Air Crash Near Zurich

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP)—A Swiss twin-jet airliner exploded in the air today shortly after taking off from Zurich and crashed in flames dangerously near Duerrenaesch, killing all the 80 persons aboard.

Shredded wreckage dotted the countryside for eight miles of the final flight through an early morning mist. The tremendous impact of the crash scattered parts of the French-built Caravelle and human remains over a square mile.

The plane had been bound for Geneva and Rome. It narrowly missed Duerrenaesch, situated between two small lakes about 30 miles west of Zurich, and slashed a huge crater in the earth just west of the village.

The worst air disaster in Swiss history, the crash took the lives of 74 passengers and six crew members. It was the first major air tragedy in Switzerland since World War II.

Swiss air authorities announced one American, a Mr. Glauner, was among the eight foreigners who perished. They did not have his first name or home town.

All the 66 other passengers and the crew were Swiss nationals. Among them were 4 persons from a single village, Humlikon. Making up a quarter of Humlikon's population, they were flying to Geneva on a trip organized by a farming cooperative.

The disaster struck at 7:20 a.m. Four minutes before, officials reported they had lost contact with the Caravelle.

Farmers in the village of Bettwil, eight miles northeast of Duerrenaesch, said they saw a glowing fire moving at great speed through the mist, accompanied by a loud roaring sound.

Duerrenaesch villagers said they heard an explosion, looked up and saw the blazing plane coming down over their houses. Some said the big craft grazed the roof of two farm buildings before smashing into the earth and disintegrating.

A Swissair spokesman said there was no indication of the cause of the accident.

Swissair was checking over copies of tickets to establish a complete passenger list, expected to be issued later today. Under new international regulations, companies are no longer obliged to keep complete passenger lists for each flight.

The passengers were believed to include 22 married couples from the Swiss hamlet of Humlikon who were on a trip organized by a farming cooperative. Most of the other passengers were believed to be Swiss.

Rescue workers found debris and bodies scattered over an area of several hundred feet.

The posse has pledged $100 a year for three years to the fund and Tuesday's check was for the initial payment.

Encephalitis On Downward Trend

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Infectious encephalitis, which reached near epidemic proportions here last month, appears to be on a downward trend.

Dr. J. T. Marshall, county health director, said this week that incidence of the disease has declined. He has not received reports of any new cases of the malady other than sleeping sickness.

Police Seek Venezuelan Terrorists

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police swarmed over Central University today looking for pro-Castro students believed to have been involved in a bloody, daring raid on air force headquarters in downtown Caracas.

Four terrorists, apparently bent on stealing the pratroop guards' submachine guns, shot up the headquarters Tuesday, killing a guard and wounding a passerby. One terrorist was reported wounded.

Police traced the terrorists' getaway car, driven by a woman, to the university campus. They seized two students and a cache of arms in a dormitory for foreign students.

Officials said the raid was staged by members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), a Communist organization trying to topple President Romulo Betancourt before the presidential election in November. Betancourt says Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba sponsors the terrorists.

Interior Minister Manuel Mantilla ordered a complete search of the university. Because it enjoys traditional rights of autonomy, the university has become a sanctuary for Communists.

Guards had been posted outside the campus to prevent terrorists from retreating to its safety. Police obtained warrants to enter the grounds and began a thorough search of every building.

In other acts blamed on the FALN, gunmen robbed a Caracas real estate office of about $4,000 Tuesday and terrorists set fire to a cultural center in Maracaibo, the oil center in western Venezuela.

Police at Barcelona, 150 miles southeast of Caracas, arrested a high school student and accused him of leading a band that dynamited three American-owned oil pipelines in the past two weeks.

Senate Committee Claims "Treaty Risks In Favor"

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee assured the Senate today that the "balance of risks" is in favor of ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

In a formal report recommending approval of the ban on atmospheric, underwater and outer space testing, the committee said U.S. strategic capability is such that "a nuclear attack against the United States on any scale would assure the devastation of the Soviet Union in a retaliatory blow."

"The committee finds the balance of risks weighted in favor of the treaty," the report asserted.

"It is possible by testing underground that the Soviet Union will slowly erase the technological lead the United States possesses in some critical areas of nuclear development.

"But it is equally true, as the hearings indicated, that this gap could be closed much more rapidly if unrestricted testing were continued."

It added that the treaty would slow the rate and significantly increase the expense of Soviet weapons progress by confining tests to the underground area where the United States has a broad advantage.

"In that light," the report continued, "now would seem to be a good time to stop."

The report, approved by a 16-1 committee vote last week, will be the basis of debate starting on the Senate floor next Monday.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield asked his colleagues today to avoid the "tragic oiseau" that confirmed many fear would happen if the treaty is not ratified.

Urging the Senate to ratify the limited test ban treaty, Mansfield said the only insurance further testing could provide was that "if our civilization is put to the mortal clear torch by hand, others will be consumed in the same stupendous blaze."

Mansfield, in his speech, acknowledged there were risks "but I remind the Senate that there are also risks in failing to venture, in standing still in a world which does not stand still for us or any nation."

Mansfield said the international agreement is similar in one proposed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and he added:

"It is conceivable that one president of the United States may have misjudged the American interest in this highly significant matter, although I do not for a moment suggest that such was the case with President Eisenhower or President Kennedy.

"But I find it most difficult to believe that two presidents in succession would be guilty of such a gross or poor judgment on precisely the same question of national interest."

New York Negro Parents Try For School Enrollment

MALVERNE, N.Y. (AP) — Racial imbalance in the public schools of this Long Island community will be challenged today by Negro parents seeking to enroll their children in two predominantly white schools.

Another group will picket the predominantly Negro Woodfield Road school in an effort to discourage parents from enrolling their children there," a Negro spokesman said.

The two mostly white schools are the Lynbrook Primary School on Davison Avenue and the Malverne-Lakeview District. The school board has ruled that no child is to be admitted to any school other than the one to which he is assigned. Civil rights leaders said the board had hired guards to enforce the decision.

Bayard De Noie, school board president, and Dr. Irving Dix, a board member, were served Tuesday night with an order to show cause in State Supreme Court today why they should not institute a desegration order of Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education.

Dr. Allen ordered the board in June to end racial imbalance by bussing Negroes from Woodfield Road to the other two schools.

The board submitted an alternate plan to reduce the percentage of Negroes in the Woodfield Road school from 81 per cent to 41 per cent and to increase Negro enrollment in the two other elementary schools.

A State Supreme Court order has temporarily blocked the board's plan. A hearing will be held on Sept. 13.

Involved in the dispute are two organizations — the United Committee for Action Now, the civil rights group, and the Malverne Taxpayers and Parents Association, which opposes any plan which would destroy the neighbor school concept.

Charles W. Reardon, hed of the Parent-Taxpayers, has accused Commissioner Allen of favoring "career racists and knuckling under to political pressure from professional lobbyists."

Dr. Lloyd Delany, a Negro psychologist who heads the United Committee, has vowed that his organization will accept nothing less than the commissioner's plan to have Negro students bussed to the predominantly white schools.

Officers of the Woodfield Road school PTA resigned, in a body, Tuesday to protest the school board's failure to early out Allen's order.

3,792 Are Enrolled In Schools Here

Snyder Public Schools were populated by 3,792 pupils by the end of the first day of classes Tuesday.

Although there were no exact comparative figures, it appeared that total enrollment would at least equal, or possibly exceed, that of last year. The first tabulation last year came at the end of the first week of school and listed a total of 3,811 pupils enrolled.

A big jump in enrollment at the senior high school topped the reports today. The senior high has 689 pupils, compared to a peak of 623 at the end of the first week a year ago.

Lamar Junior High enrollment was up from 394 to 421, West Elementary was up from 307 to 321, and Stanfield Elementary was up from 287 to 319 in the comparative figures.

Travis Junior High had 429 enrolled the first day of classes compared to 470 at the end of the first week last year while North Elementary was down from 204 to 186, East Elementary was down slightly from 372 to 363, Northeast Elementary was down from 297 to 279 and Central Elementary was down from 480 to 427.

The Abraham Lincoln School had 173 enrolled Tuesday, compared to 177 at the end of the first week last year.

Large Texas Schools Integrate Today Without Incident

By The Associated Press

The two largest cities in Texas stepped up their school integration materiall Wednesday, while a third, big city integrated for the first time—under federal court orders—without incident.

Thus virtually all Texas schools converted this week without racial trouble, although more than 50 integrated for the first time.

The increase in numbers integrated took place in Houston and Dallas.

Houston, moving into its fourth year of integration on grade-a-year program, had 155 negroes enrolled in 10 predominantly white schools. Last fall the figure was 66 in six schools.

Dallas, where civil rights backers campaigned with Negro parents to persuade them to enroll their pupils in white schools, found 160 Negroes attending predominantly white schools in the third year of a similar step plan.

Last year, Dallas had only 16 Negro pupils in overwhelmingly white classrooms. The first year of integration—1961—saw 18 enrolled.

Fort Worth reported 11 Negroes pre-registered for the first grade in white schools of an estimated 85 eligible under school board rules.

Fort Worth Superintendent Bilden Busby said more Negroes may be registered during the week.

All the other cities ranked through the top nine in population have been integrated for years.

Beaumont, listed 10th in population, started a grade-a-year plan this year. Parents of fifteen Negroes sought to enroll their children at Beaumont white schools Wednesday but were turned away peacefully because the children all were in grades higher than the first.

Top number of Negroes enrolled Wednesday in any one formerly all-white schools was in Dallas was 83.

Superintendent W. T. White said the sharp increase in numbers in Dallas this year showed "more than good faith" compliance with federal court orders calling for integration.

Reform Pleas Fall On Deaf Viet Nam Ears

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The government of South Viet Nam has turned a deaf ear to President Kennedy's pleas for reforms to rally public support for President Ngo Dinh Diem and win the war against Communist guerrillas.

While a government spokesman welcomed Kennedy's pledge of continued U.S. aid in the anti-Communist war, he said Tuesday the President's criticism of Diem's domestic policies was "quite wrong" and based on inadequate information."

U.S. officials in Washington privately voiced disappointment over the negative reaction to Kennedy's plea for reforms. The Saigon stand was considered a blow to a solution of deteriorating U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

The American President appealed to the Vietnamese government Monday to rally public support by changes in policy "and perhaps in personnel."

He apparently had in mind Diem's brother-adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu. Washington believes Nhu was responsible for the anti-Buddhist crackdown Aug. 21 when martial law was imposed in South Viet Nam. A Roman Catholic, Diem has denied Buddhist charges of religious discrimination.

The Vietnamese government spokesman noted that "Kennedy said the United States should not withdraw its support of Viet Nam, and that is heartening." U.S. military and other aid to Viet Nam is running $500 million a year.

Washington reacted sharply to a story published in Saigon that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had plotted to overthrow the Diem government with the help of dissidents in South Viet Nam.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips denied the charges which appeared in a government - backed Vietnamese newspaper, the Times of Viet Nam. He likened the story to a fiction thriller.

The State Department acknowledged that the U.S. embassy in Saigon had rejected a formal request from South Vietnamese authorities for custody of three Buddhist monks who took refuge in the embassy Sunday.

The three include Thich Tri Quang, top organizer of the Buddhist anti-government movement.

The embassy turned away a fourth monk who appealed for asylum Tuesday. "We're just too full," an embassy official explained.

The situation was complicated further by reliable reports that one of the refugees, Le Mau Chi, was a Vietnamese secret police agent for nine years before he became a monk.

In another development, South Viet Nam's government radio said a leading Buddhist monk, Thich Thien Hoa, is satisfied that Diem has shown "great benevolence and generosity" toward Buddhists, and granted their just demands.

Apartments Once Owned By Estes Sell

PORT NECHES, Tex. (AP)—An agreement has been reached for disposition of Woodcraft Apartments of Port Neches, formerly owned by Billie Sol Estes.

The agreement was reached Tuesday between Melvin Tegge, operator of the apartments, and Dr. Harold Lindley of Pecos, one-time associate of the West Texas promoter.

The apartments, consisting of 15 buildings, were built during World War II to house rubber plant workers.

Under the agreement, Lindley purchased the properties for $5,000 at a trustee sale, Tegge will retain possession of the apartments with an option to buy the properties at a later date.

Tegge has filed suit attempting to foreclose on the properties in an effort to satisfy a debt owed by Estes. Tegge, who bought a half interest in the apartments in 1955, filed three injunction suits.

The third suit was filed Tuesday, but was dismissed a short time later after a friendly understanding was reached.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We had a little damage to our roof (rain and high winds) and the insurance company man said to get an "estimate" on the cost of repairing it. I asked around, and a neighbor gave me the number of a roofing company. A man came right out, looked at the roof, and said it would cost $200 to fix it. I told him it sounded fair to me, but I'd talk to my husband. Then I signed something, but was in too big a hurry to real all of it. I only wanted a estimate, Abby. The next morning at eight o'clock I heard pounding and hammering on my roof. Three men were up there working. I told the head man I had only signed for an "estimate," but he showed me where I had signed a CONTRACT. They were finished in three hours and demanded their $200. I was dumbfounded. I had to go to the bank and draw out the money because the contract said CASH. My husband said I was a moron. Abby, I'm sick. Can people do business this way and get away with it?

SICK

DEAR SICK: Yes. And they specialize in people who are in too big a hurry to read something, but sign it anyway. My advice to you (tho a little late) and to others, is to sign nothing without having first talked it over with your husband and - or a lawyer. P. S. I hope you reported the "roofing company" to the Better Business Bureau.

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere along the line I've lost control of my seven-year-old son. I've had complaints from Tommy's school teachers, the neighbors and now our dentist refuses to see him again. I had Tommy to the dentist and it took him from 1:30 until 3:30 to fill one tooth. The boy screamed so loudly the dentist clamped his hand over his mouth, and Tommy bit him. The dental assistant came out and told me to please find another dentist next time. She suggested that I give him tranquilizers (for a seven-year-old) or take him to a psychiatrist. I admit he is hard to handle, but do you think he is a case for a psychiatrist?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I don't know, but the only way to find out is to take him to one.

DEAR ABBY: My wife tells me that in some states there is a law stating if a couple has been married 25 years or more, they cannot get a divorce unless they both submit to mental examinations. Is this a fact? If so, in which states?

RUTH'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: There is no such law, but I think there ought to be.

Family Made Home In Auto

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother and her four small children, who have been living in an automobile on a beach, now have a temporary home.

They were taken during the night to the Salvation Army's emergency lodge.

The mother, Mrs. Betty Mitchell, 29, came to Chicago from Clearwater, Fla., with her husband, Ronald, also 29 and their youngsters, Timothy, 6, Kathy, 4, Cindy, 3, and Gregg, 2.

She told a reporter her husband had expected to get a job in Chicago and when he didn't, they decided to sleep in the car because they were short of money.

She said the automobile has been their abode since July 1.

Mrs. Mitchell said her husband went to work Aug. 7 and, when she went to pick him up on his first pay day, Aug. 22, she learned he had received his check and left. She said she hadn't seen him since that day.

Fishermen who frequent the area provided food, blankets and money. Several fishermen notified a newspaper and the story today brought the family's plight to public attention.

Accused Boy Seeks School Enrollment

CISCO (AP) — Nathan Curry, 17, who is charged with beating a woman church secretary to death in 1961, seeks a court order enabling him to enroll at Cisco high school.

Supt. T. M. Roach of the public school system refused to let the youth register Tuesday.

John Watts, Odessa lawyer representing young Curry, then filed a motion for a district court order to force enrollment of his client. A hearing is set for 2 p. m. Friday.

County grand jurors indicted Curry after his 17th birthday in the slaying of Mrs. Florence Hussey, 53, a divorcee and secretary of the First Baptist Church here. She was found beaten to death in her home.

His trial on the murder charge is scheduled Oct. 14 in Palo Pinto County where the case was transferred on a change of venue.

Roach said he refused Curry admission to high school classes in the view his decision was in the best interest of the schools and students.

"We may not be able to keep him out legally," the superintendent said, "but we will go as far as we can. I'm sure the school board will back me."

Lake Drained In Search For Body

CROSSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A crowd of about 200 gathered early at a private lake in the mountains near here Tuesday. Some brought lunches. They came to see officers drain the lake in the search for Mrs. John Reed.

At a pauper's corner in the local cemetery, no one showed up for the burial of her two children — 4-year-old Rose Marie and 2-year-old John Anthony. Their bodies were found Sunday in a septic tank near the lake, not far from the tumbled-down Waldensia resort hotel, vintage 1900.

Investigators said the children apparently were strangled months ago, weighted down with a 40-pound stone tied between them and thrown in the septic tank.

A search is under way for the 19-year-old mother and her last known companion, Sammy Earle Ammons, 30, of Knoxville. He is wanted on bad check charges in several counties.

Mrs. Reed was a baby sitter for Ammons. She, Ammons and his wife were reported seen several times in the area near the lake.

Agent E.C. Hale of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification said investigators will have to work under the assumption that Mrs. Reed is alive.

"Some of the officers were sure her body was in the lake," Hale said, "but you can see there's nothing there but mud and turtles and fish."

Letter Sorter Is "Sorter" Disloyal

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Alf, the post office's robot letter sorter — is guilty of disloyalty. He refused to handle the Queen's mail.

A.L.F. stands for Automatic Letter Facer.

When working properly, Alf can sort, stack letters and cancel stamps at the rate of 18,000 envelopes an hour.

"With almost human perversity," said a post office spokesman, "the robot has refused to handle items marked O.H.M.S."

O.H.M.S. stands for "On her Majesty's Service."

All government letters carry the royal slug—along with the words official paid; plus a replica of the crown of Queen Elizabeth II.

"We have been experiencing a lot of trouble with official mail," said the spokesman, "and we've finally traced it to Alf."

The automatic letter sorter in its present form has been in operation in some postal stations for several months.

All efforts of electronic engineers to persuade Alf to handle the O.H.M.S. failed. The trouble seems to be the design of the royal stamp. "So," said the spokesman, "a change in the official design became imperative."

The O.H.M.S. stamp is a lightly inked circle with the crown inside the circle. This won't go through the sorter.

From now on, the O.H.M.S., the replica of the Queen's crown and the words official paid, will be enclosed in a rectangular frame, with heavily-inked rounded corners.

Tests with the new design show Alf handles it faultlessly."

Kennedy To Name Members On Rail Panel By Friday

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to announce today or Thursday his selection of three neutral members to serve on an arbitration panel in the railroad work rules dispute.

Under legislation enacted hurriedly last week to avert a nationwide railroad strike on Aug. 29, he has until Saturday to name three neutral arbitrators to the seven-member panel which will rule on two prime issues in the dispute.

A high government source indicated today the President probably would announce his selections before Friday. That's the day on which Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz meets with rail and union representatives to discuss procedures for arbitration of the issues of locomotive firemen's jobs and train crew makeup and for resumption of negotiation of other issues.

"It would be presumptuous to hold the meeting Friday without having learned who will serve on the arbitration board," the source said. "Then our part will be second guessing."

A list of possible arbitrators to be added to four already selected — two by the railroads and two by the unions—apparently was under study by Labor Department officials and White House staff members.

Indications are that two of the neutral arbitrators will be experts in the transportation field. The third member, who would serve as panel chairman, the source said, probably would come from the general public.

Under the emergency bill enacted last week, hearings on arbitration of the case must begin within 30 days. The board would have 60 more days to make a decision and would make it public in another 60 days.

Negotiations on other issues such as wage structure, interdivisional runs and combination of road and yard work would have to be carried on at the same time.

Regardless of whether agreement is reached on the issues to be negotiated, the award of the arbitration panel is to go into effect within 180 days of Aug. 28, the day the bill was signed. The award would be effective for two years, but there is nothing to prevent a strike on the other issues should the two parties fail to come to agreement.

Arbitration panel members representing the carriers will be J. E. Wolfe, their chief negotiator, and Guy W. Knight, a Pennsylvania Railroad vice president.

The unions will be represented by H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and R. H. McDonald, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Gasoline Fire Victim's Condition Unchanged

Mrs. D. R. Hearn, who received burns over an estimated 50 per cent of her body in a flash fire Tuesday morning was reported to be still in "serious" condition this morning at Cogdell Hospital.

The attending physician said that her condition was "unchanged" since yesterday. Mrs. Hearn was burned when gasoline with which she was cleaning a floor at the Reavers Trailer Park at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue E caught fire.

Mrs. Hearn's daughter, Linda, 14, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of less serious burns on her hands and feet. She is reported to be in good condition.

Port Extension To Galveston Seen

HOUSTON (AP)—A new member of the Port Houston Commission said today the port eventually should be extended to Galveston Bay.

"There are 12 to 15 miles of shoreline for wharves on the bay," said R. H. Pruett, former mayor of Baytown.

Pruett said 30 miles of Cedar Bayou and Goose Creek shoreline near Baytown also are available for port expansion.

"When the time is ripe, I'll recommend that both shorelines be made part of the district," he said.

"Then our port will be second only to Houston, New York City," he said.

Guilty Plea Heard

Dale Kelly of Snyder pleaded guilty to a theft charge in 132nd District Court Tuesday.

He was sentenced to two years imprisonment.

Kelly recently pleaded guilty in county court to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and was fined $500 and sentenced to one year in prison. The two prison terms will be served concurrently.

Dallas Man Found Slain In Office

DALLAS (AP)—J. J. Margules, 60, owner of the Southwest Fruit and Vegetable Brokerage Co., was found shot to death in his office today.

Police said no weapon was found. Margules was shot once in the head. Investigators said he had more than $100 on his person.

Rusk Sheriff Cleared

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Rusk County Sheriff Pete Gibson was cleared Tuesday of accusations that he misappropriated county funds.

County grand jurors issued a public statement that no evidence had been found of misappropriations alleged by county officials to have occurred the past several weeks.

The panel said it made the statement because of widespread rumors.

Wreck Victim Is Returned

Doyle Buchanan who lives at the Lion Oil Camp, was returned Tuesday from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock to Cogdell Hospital in Bolger Ambulance Service.

Buchanan was injured Monday Aug. 26 when his car collided with the engine of a train. He had been taken to Lubbock for knee surgery.

Buchanan's condition is said to be satisfactory at this time, although further surgery on the knee is expected to be necessary.

She Believed In His Fantastic Dream

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Lee Breedlove worked nights as a waitress, and payed the household expenses with her tips so that her intense young husband, Craig, could tinker with his car in the garage.

In the winter when the garage was cold and days were too short Craig brought parts of his car into the living room — its 10-foot airducts, for instance.

And when Lee got home in the wee hours she crammed her 106-pound frame into these narrow ducts and rubbed down the inside fiberglass with steel wool.

There were four years that she and the five youngsters stayed home and did without, and no one complained. The car's needs, all agreed, came first.

The car dominated their lives, but nobody drove it. Occasionally when slim, tan Lee needed to transport the children, she borrowed another from a friend. As for Lee and Craig, they got around on a motorcycle.

No Installments

Certainly their car outdid the best of status symbols in their West Los Angeles, Calif., community. Its cost is estimated at $250,000.

Yet the neighbors never saw it until Craig wheeled out his three-ton "Spirit of America" for its very important journey. Then crowds swarmed around the strange, streamlined thing. With three wheels long nose and a cockpit, it resembles a wingless jet plane, and indeed is jet powered.

With Craig at the wheel the car shot across the sand dunes of the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah on August 5, setting a world land record of 407.45, returning the speed title to America after 35 years, and justifying the unwavering faith of the Breedlove family.

Ball of Speed

Quiet, poised Lee remembers precisely that precious moment when their lives changed.

"I was at the timing stand watching a tiny ball in the distance growing larger and larger quickly as if somebody had thrown it towards me fast. Suddenly it was there, huge and noisy, and then gone. I was in a trance thinking, 'Oh, how beautiful,' and then the timer said, 'Well, that's the record both ways.'

"I began to laugh, and I was crying too. I must have been in shock."

When Lee nimbly reached the halted car, she found Craig descending the cockpit ladder, issuing orders to his crew as matter-of-factly as if he had pulled into a gas station.

Photographers, reporters, radio and TV men converged, and everything was to be different from then on in.

Her Dream, Too

Reared with tree brothers, Lee was a born tomboy, loving horses and cars. Even as a toddler she rode the course of a Fresno, Calif., speedway in her cousin's lap. She grew up understanding grease monkeys and speed.

When she met Craig, she not only understood but believed in his dream of a car with a 500-mile an hour speed potential, one that could outstrip the 16-year-old record set by John Cobb of England in 1948. "I have always believed in it," she says simply.

Other people didn't. After their marriage, Craig raised $10,000 by selling some property and other racing cars for his dream, but this was soon gone. He tried without success to borrow from friends and relatives.

Discouraged, he abandoned his garage workshop and took a job. But he didn't give up. Eventually, he developed a brochure and a model, and some convincing arguments about research that brought an oil company and a tire corporation to his financial rescue.

"I can't say I didn't worry," Lee says of that important day when Craig entered the cockpit to travel faster than any man on earth. "But I really didn't believe that Craig would drive the car if it were not all right."

Now looking at the Breedlove name in big, bold headlines, and her husband's handsome, smiling picture in hundreds of newspapers Lee says she has seen them all before, in her mind.

"I used to dream about how it would be for him someday, but I didn't think anyone would ever want to interview me."

ODD CAR IN THE GARAGE — Lee Breedlove, wife of the driver who set new land speed record after 50 years, displays a model of the three-wheeled jet car that was a family project for four years. It carried Craig Breedlove 407 mph, but its potential is 500 mph.

Auto First Aid Kit Handy Item For Car Pools

Now that schooltime is here again, the family car probably is an integral part of a school car pool; therefore, it is particularly advisable to take this safety precaution: Keep a small auto first aid kit handy.

Mothers who are herding three, four and more youngsters to and from school every day can't be too careful. Compact and complete auto kits are inexpensive, fit easily into the glove compartment and contain all the essentials needed for effective first aid, should an emergency arise. In addition, the kit has a new 41-page first aid guide which details the proper and most up-to-date treatments for injuries, including the new mouth-to-mouth and mouth-to-airway resuscitation techniques.

Irish May Protest Reunion

THE CELEBRATION. By Mary Deasy

Every professional Irishman will probably dislike the book, but, if he comes from a large clan, he'll also find portrayed therein characters uncomfortably like some of his own relatives.

The story revolves around a three-day homecoming of the Cournane family to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the only priest it produced, Father Michael.

The Cournanes are a wild, proud, talented tribe who bring most of their woes — and they are many — upon themselves by being too self-righteous, too unforgiving, too hypocritical or by abandoning their religious principles in the pursuit of fleshly desire.

At the heart of the tale is the downfall of brilliant and charming Jack Cournane, whose love for a young girl ruins his political career, turns him into an alcoholic bum, and all but wrecks the life of his daughter Amy.

Most of the troubles of the Cournanes seem to stem from each one's stubborn attempt to make a world of his own, instead of taking life as it is.

As Dolly, a widowed daughter of Jack Cournane, observes: "Oh, we live in such a queer old world, where you can't lift your finger for your own pleasure without stirring grief into someone else's cup."

One of the memorable characters — worthy of Charles Dickens — is Father Michael's nosy and mean - minded housekeeper, Thressa Dawes, who finally gets her comeuppance at the hands of the kindly, long - suffering priest.

Told in a series of personal narratives and flashbacks, this novel is acutely preceptive, warmly human, full of the ache of starved aspirations, highly readable — and guaranteed to raise the blood pressure of professional Irishmen, who are bound to insist the Irish aren't really that way at all, at all.

Some college rooms and dormitories can be mighty drab, especially for the co-ed away from home for the first time. One way to personalize the room and combat homesickness, is to give the student an arrangement of cut flowers or a homey green plant.

Add a little mustard and Worcestershire sauce to mashed blue cheese and use as a filling for "stuffed" hamburgers. Men usually like this combination.

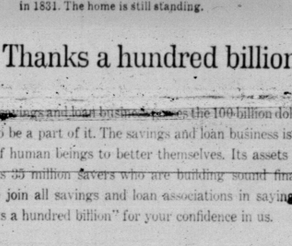

Very canned tomato soup by adding finely diced celery; another time add a bay leaf as you heat the soup, then remove the spice before serving.

Guarded Albanian Border Is Another "Wall" For Refugees

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the fascinating frontiers in today's world is that separating Yugoslavia and Albania. This is a report from a reporter who two years ago became one of the few Western newsmen allowed to enter Albania.

By CARL E. BUCHALLA

PRISTINA, Yugoslavia, (AP)— In daytime, heat waves shimmer over the treeless mountains on the border between Yugoslavia and Albania deep in the south of the Balkans.

At night the stony land awakens with military watchfulness.

Soldiers patrol both sides. Occasionally a flare arches overhead. On some nights rifle shots or the chatter of a machine gun pierce the stillness.

"In 1962, our authorities apprehended 415 agents and spies," a recent official Yugoslav statement says. "Of the total, 64 were armed terrorists of the Albanian security police."

Another official report in Belgrade tells of more than 600 severe border incidents involving Albanians and Yugoslavs in the past few years.

Last June 28 an agent "armed and equipped by the Albanian authorities" was shot by Yugoslav border guards as he tried to cross the border. Another man was arrested.

Only a week before that incident, the Albanian government announced that a group of American and Yugoslav agents had been convicted in the city of Kukes, a few miles from the border. Three were reported sentenced to death. No names were given.

Radio Tirana asserted the condemned had been in contact with American agents who once parachuted into Albania to organize an uprising against the Stalinist regime of President Enver Hoxha and were operating in Yugoslavia against Albania.

Incidents on the border started in 1948 when Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito broke with Stalin. Hoxha, a loyal follower of Stalin, became Tito's most bitter enemy.

The recent reapproachment between Tito and Khrushchev and Hoxha's adherence to the Chinese Communists have enflamed the bitterness.

Even without ideological differences the border area is a natural trouble spot. About 600,000 Albanians live on the Yugoslav side. This is about one-third as much as the population of Albania.

Like the residents of Albania these Albanians call themselves Skipetars and have their own republic—the autonomous district of Kossovo and Metohia, or "Kosmet" for short.

The Kosmet is the most underdeveloped region of Yugoslavia. Tito's government is increasing efforts to develop resources, build plants and roads and fight illiteracy.

Pristina, capital of Kosmet, is a town of 40,000. New apartment houses and modern buildings contrast with old mosques and minarets.

The official language, Skipetar, is taught in schools, broadcast by Radio Pristina and used for the daily newspaper Rilindja.

Albania charges that the Yugoslav Skipetars are oppressed by Tito. "Even the Albanians do not believe that," an official in Pristina said. "They know we live much better and have more freedom than they have under Hoxha."

In recent years hundreds of Albanians fled to Yugoslavia.

"Now Hoxha's guards have tightened the border, so only an occasional refugee gets across," an official said.

Two years ago this correspondent saw the border from the Albanian side. There a restricted zone is set off with watchtowers, barbed wire and patrols along more important sectors of the 300-mile border.

The Yugoslav side has no barbed wire, no restricted zone and only an occasional patrol. An official explained: "None of us wants to go over there!"

Junior Editors Quiz on STORMS

QUESTION: How are cyclones formed?

• • •

ANSWER: Cyclones are violent storms with winds which spiral around a center where the air pressure is low. The wind blows in the opposite direction from the movement of a clock's hands—counterclockwise. These winds are caused by unequal heating of the earth, making some masses of cold air and some of warm. As our picture shows, cyclones tend to move across the U. S. from southwest to northeast. In (1) there is a mass of cold air edging one of warm. In (2) the cold is pushing under the warm. In (3) the cold air has pushed a tongue of warm air out which is spinning around in a cyclone, helped by the twisting force of the earth's rotation. In (4) the air masses have equalized again.

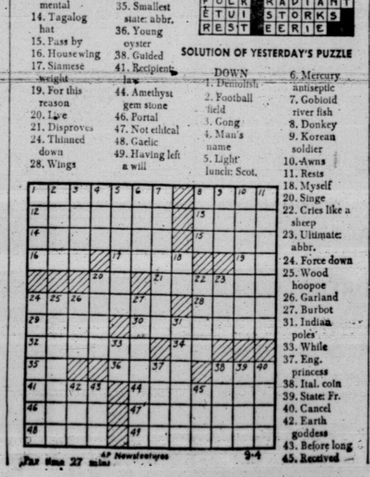

Hurricanes are large cyclonic-type storms which form over tropical seas and often move up the West Indies, usually curving to the northeast as they approach the American coast. Tornadoes, although affecting a smaller area, are the most violent cyclones. A dark funnel drops down, destroying everything it touches.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Warm masses of air are "warm fronts;" cold ones, "cold fronts." Learn more about these and you will understand the weather predictions on the radio and in your newspaper.

(Sharon Baker of Fort Morgan, Colo., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

Phyllis Diller Top Standup Lady Comic

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Phyllis Diller, who dresses to look like an ostrich on a three-day binge, is perhaps the only woman in America with five children who also wore white, blue and rose-colored contact lenses.

"My goal is to be a gracious woman," she remarked matter-of-factly. "But I decided that if I was to be an idiot broad, I might as well make it pay."

Miss Diller certainly has made it pay. As "the female Bob Hope," master of the one-line quip, she has become a reigning queen of the night club circuit.

"Last year I paid taxes on $260,000," she said. "This year I hope to make a half million."

Then, she is confident, she will go on to a million, two million, etc., etc.

"But progress is mathematical," she declared during a rest between her frantic nightly chores at the Hotel Americana's Royal Box. "There is no point in being impatient."

A good standup lady comic is a rarity in show business, and Miss Diller is currently the most successful in the field.

"It sounds like a housewife's dream—to have a roomful of people listening to her," she said. "And it is.

"But most women wouldn't stick to this line of work. They'd get too hurt emotionally. But to me it's a form of therapy."

Eight years ago Phyllis, then 37, was just another working housewife—she had a radio writing job —who got a big kick out of entertaining other women with her zany antics.

Her husband, Sherwood, kept urging her to turn professional. She did finally—with considerable qualms.

"I had to give up a $100 a week job, an expense account, and a car to become an unemployed comic," she said.

Billed as "Phyllis Diller, the homely friendmaker," she landed a $60 a week job in a San Francisco club with an outlandish act in which she set about stuffing a turkey—through the beak.

"It took me years to work up to $110 a week," she said.

Rigorously self-disciplined, she makes up most of her own material.

Miss Diller, now 45, doesn't worry about an improvident old age. She has a land investment program.

"I have a piece of land in Idaho 40 miles long and one inch wide," she said. "I use it now to store string."

Davis Keeps Bums Rolling

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Davis, trying to become the first National League batting champion in a decade to retain his title, lost ground to Dick Groat in his latest effort but kept the Los Angeles Dodgers wheeling toward their long-awaited pennant popoff.

Davis collected only one hit Tuesday night, but it was a clutch single in the 10th inning that drove in the winning run in a 4-3 victory over Houston and maintained the Dodgers' six-game bulge over second-place St. Louis.

Davis, a 24-year-old right-handed swinger, trudged off the field last October with a .346 average and the batting title, after the Dodgers lost the third and deciding game of the pennant playoff with San Francisco.

Now the Dodgers are heading for the champagne popoff they missed last year and Daivis is struggling to become the first repeat batting champion since Stan Musial of St. Louis in 1950-51-52. Davis, hitting .322, is tied with Vada Pinson of Cincinnati for second place.

Groat, batting king at Pittsburgh with a .325 mark in 1960, is hitting .327 this year while playing shortstop for St. Louis. He went 2-for-4 as the Cardinals ran their longest winning of the season to six games by walloping Pittsburgh 10-5.

Juan Marichal joined the 20-victory club as third-place San Francisco blasted the Chicago Cubs 16-3, Philadelphia's Ray Culp shut out Milwaukee 2-0 on two hits and Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall blanked the New York Mets 5-0 on three hits.

Detroit knocked off the American League leading New York Yankees 3-2 in 15 innings, Baltimore edged Boston 4-3 and Kansas City downed Minnesota 3-2. The other clubs were not scheduled.

The Colts scored in the top of the 10th on Rusty Staub's run-producing single before pinch hitter Moose Skowron got the Dodgers started with a single in the bottom half. A single by Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon's sacrifice fly got the tying run across. Gilliam then stole second, Davis singled and reliever Ron Perranoski, 14-2, had another victory. Dick Farrell, 10-13, took the loss.

Ken Johnson started for the Colts and shutout the Dodgers for seven innings on three hits before a sore elbow forced him out. The Colts led 2-0 at the point, scoring single runs in the second and sixth against Don Drysdale, but the Dodgers tied it in the eighth with Ken McMullen's single and Davis' sacrifice fly driving in the runs.

Trailing 5-4 going into the sixth, the Cardinals tied the score on an error by reliever Roy Face, and moved out front to stay on a passed ball by Jim Pagliaroni before Tim McCarver's three-run eighth inning homer clinched it. Bill White also homered for St. Louis, hitting a career high with his 23rd.

Bob Bailey and Ted Savage homered for the Pirates. Face, 3-8, took the loss with Bobby Shantz, 6-3, the winner after pitching three perfect innings in relief.

Marichal, 20-8, became the fourth NL pitcher to hit the 20-victory circle with Billy Hoeft's no-hit relief for two innings.

The Giants massed a 16-bit attack against Cub starter Larry Jackson, 14-13, and his successors, putting the game out of reach in the second inning with seven unearned runs. Six singles and three errors by third baseman Ron Santo did the damage. Home runs by Orlando Cepeda, Tom Haller and Felipe Alou added to San Francisco's lead.

Culp, 12-11, allowed only a third-inning double by Roy McMillan and a single by Hank Aaron in the fourth. Don Demeter provided Culp with the only run he needed when he homered in the fourth inning off Denny Lemaster, 11-9.

Marty Keough, subbing for slumping Gordy Coleman at first base, led off the fifth for the Reds with a homer off Tracy Stallard, 6-13 and that was all Nuxhall, 13-6 needed. Keough also drilled a two-run single in the ninth.

WATERMELONS VANISH—Watermelon slices vanished rapidly last night as the Snyder Quarterback Club feted football players in the Towle Memorial Park Pavilion. Quarterbackers were hard pressed to keep pace with their slicing chores as scores of footballers passed rapidly through the serving lines.

Star Back At Trinity

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Victor Castillo, quarterback and passer who led San Antonio Brackenridge to the Texas Class AAAA football title, worked out in uniform Tuesday with Trinity University.

Castillo, 17, had signed a letter of intent earlier with Kansas State.

A Trinity spokesman said, however, he has been accepted as a freshman at Trinity on a football scholarship.

Coach Bub McElhannon quoted Castillo as saying he entered Trinity because he wanted to stay close to home.

Freshmen can play on the varsity at Trinity, a member of the new Southland Conference.

At Manhattan, Ka., Coach Doug Weaver said of Castillo:

"He has accepted a scholarship and signed a letter of intent to attend Kansas State University and I am hopeful he will honor it."

Tiger Team Shaping Up

"Cautiously optimistic" is one of those trite phrases that pop up every year about this time when football coaches are pressed for statements about their teams' prospects.

The phrase may be applied to the outlook of Horrace Bostick, Snyder High School head coach, as he looks ahead to the 1963 season if you want to deal in general terms. Yet, Bostick is more optimistic than cautious if you boil his squad down to a healthy nucleous. It's mostly a matter of depth where the caution comes in.

"We can put eleven men out there today who should not be pushed around by anybody," Bostick declared.

There are a few more "comers" who should be able to bolster the team strength as the season progresses, but for the most part reserve strength looms as the No. 1 problem.

Bostick is particularly pleased with the attitude of the squad.

There are no loafers, he emphasized, but some simply have not had the experience to step into 3A competition, and of course natural ability varies as always.

Who would be in the starting lineup for the Tigers if they had to play a game tonight?

It would be fairly definite, except for one position. Bostick probably would not decide on his quarterback until just before game time.

Jimmy Wilson and Jim Marcum both are doing fine at the man-under spot. One may appear better one day and the other the next. Both are seniors, and there's not enough difference in their weights for that to be a factor, with Wilson weighing 136 and Marcum 153.

Kenneth Dower and Billy Stewart are the top ends at this stage. They weigh in at 163 and 161, respectively. Reed Robinson at 165 and Terry Lee at 236 would be the starting tackles if the Tigers had a game tonight, and the guards would be Jimmie Ray Terry Williamson, 150, and Jackie Stewart, 178. John Finke, 154, would be at center.

Danny Aycock, 175, is the No. 1 fullback, and Les Brown and Tom Kincaid are the leading operatives at the halfback positions.

There are half a dozen boys who are pushing various starters and being counted on to get in plenty of playing time. There's Jerry Kincheloe, 183 running at a guard spot; Rob Hall, 150-pound halfback; Jay Williamson, 150-pound halfback; J. B. Murphy, 146-pound guard; Jerry Owens, 180-pound tackle, and Phil Moore, 132-pound end.

There are others who may "come around" and many of them undoubtedly will get in some playing time.

Meanwhile, Bostick keeps his fingers crossed.

"Maybe this will be the year when the major injuries will pass us by," he said hopefully.

If so, don't sell the 1963 Tigers short, he advises.

Casualties Plaguing SWC Pilots

By The Associated Press

With fall practice hardly well begun, casualties already are plaguing Southwest Conference football coaches—who are troubled as well by the hazards of heat prostration.

Texas Christian lost guard Frank Wallermire for the season Tuesday. Doctors prescribed surgery for a shoulder injured the day before. He had been held out of action last fall.

Hoi Weather gave the TCU Frogs a scare as second string end Bill Bowers was unable to take part in an afternoon workout. He soon perked up, however, and took part in a half-hour skull session.

Sandy Sands, senior letterman, leaped high for a pass and broke a foot as he descended in a Texas drill. He'll be out of action until midseason or longer, physicians said.

Because of 100-degree heat in Austin, the Texas Longhorns cut the length of workouts down 15 minutes. Two players sent to a hospital for heat prostration Monday—James Brooks and Kenneth Brooks, both of Texas City—were expected to rejoin the squad Wednesday.

Dwain Heath, first string defensive end, banged up a knee in a Baylor scrimmage, but coaches expected him to be back in action after a few days. Three sophomores—guard Mickey Kennedy, end Tommy Smith and halfback Max Emfinger—were working in full pads again after missing one practice because of mild heat cases.

Dallas Team Trims Its Squad To 40

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League cut their squad to 40 by releasing one veteran and three rookies.

Offensive end Hugh McInnis, acquired in a trade this year from the St. Louis Cardinals, was among those turned loose Tuesday.

The rookies are Lance Poimboeuf, Louisiana Tech kicking specialist; Jim Price, Auburn linebacker, and Paul Holmes, Georgia defensive end.

Preview Of Grid Teams Set Thursday

The Snyder Quarterback Club staged its first event of the season last night and immediately announced plans for another to be held within the week.

The "Pigskin Preview," a preseason introduction of all football players in the school system, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Tiger Stadium.

First announcement of the "Pigskin Preview" was made during the annual watermelon feast last night in the Towle Memorial Park Pavilion.

Members of football squads and coaches from both junior high schools and the senior high school were guests of the Quarterback Club for the watermelon serving.

Horrace Bostick, athletic director and high school head coach, introduced members of the 1963 Tiger squad and then presented coaches of the various other teams, who, in turn, assembled their respective squads.

Ed Schulz, Quarterback Club president, presided at the session, and Roy Meador, club secretary, led the invocation.

All members of all football teams in the school system will be introduced individually at Thursday night's "Pigskin Preview." The event has been staged annually for several years by the Quarterback Club to introduce players to local sports fans before the playing season actually begins. However, Thursday night's event will be the first to be held in three years, since the previews in 1961 and 1962 were rained out.

John Boren will be master of ceremonies for the Thursday night event.

4 Schools Form New Conference

ABILENE (AP) — Four Texas colleges and universities, all independents, have formed a new athletic conference.

They are McMurry college and Hardin-Simmons University, both in Abilene; Midwestern University at Wichita Falls and Tarleton State college at Stephenville.

Dr. D. L. Ligon, vice president of Midwestern and president of the unnamed conference, announced its formation Tuesday. He said the schools will begin competition with spring sports during the academic year just starting.

Conference members will be required to take part in football, basketball, track and field. Baseball, golf and tennis will be optional.

Ligon said the conference will be affiliated with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. It will be named at a Sept. 26 meeting in Stephenville.

He said the conference will adopt a ceiling of 65 scholarships for each school, including 33 football and 12 basketball.

Ligon said more schools will be added to the new conference.

Froehling's Big Chance To Leave Doghouse Comes Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Frank Froehling III is a long drink of water out of Coral Gables, Fla., who is battling to get out of the tennis doghouse and back into the Davis Cup picture.

His big chance comes today—against Roy Emerson, generally rated the best amateur tennis player in the world.

"If I beat Emmo," Froehling said, referring to the second-seeded Queenslander by his pet name, "I figure they can't overlook me. If I lose—well, it's back to the dungeons for me."

Ranked No. 2 nationally behind Chuck McKinley and a Davis Cup team member last year, the gangling Florida youth with the divot-digging service has been given the cold shoulder this year.

He wasn't seeded in this tournament. He was overlooked when the U.S. Davis Cup squads were named for the Mexican and Venezuela matches.

"Part of it is my fault—I've been off my game. Part of it is because I am in their doghouse," Froehling said. "They haven't liked me because I used to act up as a kid—but that was a long time ago. They shouldn't hold that against me now."

Froehling pulled off one of the big victories Tuesday in a dizzy day of swirling winds and staggering upsets. Three of the men's seeded players went to the sidelines and one of the seeded women, Robyn Ebbern of Australia.

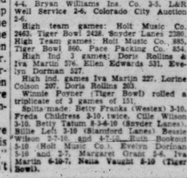

The 6-foot-3 Froheling knocked out Antonio Palafox, one of the two stars of Mexico's Davis Cup teams, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4. He gave an overpowering performance.

A couple of rasilians and a skinny, spindly legged Californian pulled off the shockers in the men's third round.

Ronnie Barnes, the Pan-American champion from Brazil, pulled the biggest coup when he eliminated fifth-seeded Ken Fletcher, one of the men Australia is depending on to keep the Davis Cup down under. It took him seven match points to put over the clincher 6-8, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Another Brazilian, 18-year-old Thomas Koch, ousted seventh-seeded Gene Scott of St. Jmaes, N.Y., 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and slender Dave Sanderlin of Los Angeles, a student at UCLA, put out Ham Richardson of Dallas, 1-6, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Ebbern, No. 8 in the women's competition, bowed to Mrs. Yola Ramirez Ochoa 6-2, 3-6, 8-3.

Grosscup Gets Ax; Stephens Reprieved As Pros Cut Down

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lee Grosscup got the ax and Sandy Stephens got a second chance.

The two quarterbacks were the key figures in separate professional football maneuvers in the United States and Canada Tuesday. Grosscup being dropped in a mandatory cut by the National and American Football Leagues, and Stephens being claimed for a paltry $350.

Grosscup, a former reserve quarterback for the New York Giants and Minnesota Vikings of the NFL, was lopped off the roster of the rebuilding New York Jets of the American Football League.

Stephens, All-America at Minnesota in 1961, was claimed on waivers by Toronto of the Canadian Football League with the waiver price of $350 going to Montreal, the team that suspended him last week.

Otherwise, veteran linemen and a flock of rookies were the chief targets of the paring knives as the NFL cut to 40 players and the AFL to 33.

The articulate Grosscup, an outstanding passer in his college days at Utah, came to the Giants in 1959 as their top draft choice. He spent three seasons with the Giants, almost all of its on his own special folding camp chair.

He was traded to Minnesota a year ago, released by the Vikings and signed by the then New York Titans, forerunner of the Jets. He had a brief, outstanding career with the AFL team before being sidelined by a knee injury.

Jet coach Weeb Ewbank was apologetic about his release, one of 12 by the Jets Tuesday.

"I'm sorry we had to let Lee go," Ewbank said. "I was certain last spring he would be our quarterback. But he didn't move the team well enough in the exhibition games."

Stephens was one of the most widely sought players in the country when he signed a three-year, no-cut contract, reportedly for $70,000, with the Montreal Alouettes in 1962.

He was unimpressive in his rookie season with the Alouettes and in the AL's first two games this season. He was benched for being overweight two weeks ago, suspended last week and placed on waivers Tuesday.

Toronto general manager Lew Hayman said he hopes will not have to purchase Stephens' salary from Montreal.

"We have no obligations at all as far as his previous arrangements were with the Montreal team," Hayman said. "We will simply deal with him as we would any newcomer."

Among the top players placed on option by the NFL teams were tackle Gene Gossage of the New York Giants and end Hugh McInnis, Dallas, each in his fourth year, and veteran end Steve Jucker of Washington, in his sixth year in the league.

NFL champion Green Bay traded guard Ed Blaine, a second-year man, to Philadelphia for a draft choice and placed former St. Louis Cardinals Frank Mestnick and Doug Hart on waivers.

Other veterans placed on waivers included offensive tackle Reed Bohovich of Cleveland, defensive tackle George Hultz of Minnesota and tackle Paul Ward of Detroit.

Some of the top players trimmed in the AFL included veteran tackle Tony Sardisco of Boston, tackle Bob Kelly of Houston and defensive end and linebacker Bob Leo of Buffalo.

Baseball Tourney Comes To A Close

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Three weeks of rough-and-tumble baseball comes down to the wire tonight when Ponchatoula, La., and the Wichita Dreamliners battle for the championship of the National Baseball Congress.

The Dreamliners are the defending champions. Ponchatoula won the 1961 edition of the national non-pro tournament. A $10,000 prize is at stake in the tournament's 6-3 game. Thirty - two teams from throughout the country started the double-elimination playoff on Aug. 16.

The Louisiana champions gained the finals with a 2-1 victory over Fairbanks, Alaska, Tuesday night, scoring both runs in the second inning with a single and a squeeze bunt.

Wichita moved into the championship game with a 4-2 victory over Grand Rapids, Mich., the 1960 champions and the favorites this year.

Texas Loop Race In Heated Climax

By The Associated Press

They're battling, literally, right down to the wire in the Texas League.

A one-run scrap emptied both benches and caused the banishment of two players as league-leading San Antonio beat runner-up Austin 8-2 Tuesday night. Austin now trails by three games with five to play.

Third place Tulsa slipped to six games off the pace as Amarillo, mired in the cellar, won 4-2 and snapped a six-game losing streak. El Paso overpowered Albuquerque 7-1 and pulled within a game of cinching a playoff berth as the fourth place finisher.

Home runs by Ed Olivares and Jerry Grote plus five-hit pitching by Ray Cordiero moved the San Antonio Bullets a step nearer the regular season championship.

Fireworks erupted in the fifth inning after Olivares' homer with the bases loaded. A pitch by Bruce Brubaker of the Austin Senators flew a foot over the head of the Bullets' Charley Harrison, who charged the mound.

Harrison landed a left hook to Brubaker's head before other players smothered the tangle. Umpires sent the two to the showers.

Amarillo's Gold Sox used a four-run seventh frame to beat the Tulsa Oilers, whose scoring was limited to a two-run single by Bill Bethea in the second. A walk, Shorty Raudman's double, an error, Ralph Holding's two-run triple and a single by winning pitcher Dick Burwell decided the issue. Burwell, buried a five-hitter but required a ninth inning lift from Roy Peterson.

Solo home runs by Jerry Robinson in the second inning and by Randy Hundley and Julio Linares in the eighth provided all the runs El Paso needed and boosted the Sun Kings' output to 202 for the season. The Albuquerque Dukes collected five scattered hits off El Paso hurler Luis Penalver.

Lombardi Says Packers Are Ready

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Coach Vince Lombardi thinks his National Football League champion Green Bay Packers are ready for their bid for a third straight title.

"I'd say we're ready and if we stay healthy we'll be okay," Lombardi said Tuesday while discussing Monday night's 24-17 exhibition victory over the New York Giants, the team the Packers defeated in the last two title showdowns.

"That was as good a football game as you'll see in the league season," said Lombardi.

"The Giants are still one of the real great defensive clubs," said Lombardi, "and we moved against them."

The Packers rolled up 286 yards running and passing to 182 for the Giants. It was the seventh straight Packer victory over the New York club.

The Packers have won four straight exhibitions since they were upset 20-17 by the College All-Stars in their initial start. Green Bay makes its last exhibition start against the Washington Redskins in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Saturday night and will begin the regular season entertaining the Chicago Bears Sept. 15.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

I have never expressed myself publicly before, but I think it is time someone did. How much longer are the RS&P officials going to wait? How many more lives are to be taken, or people crippled at the Thirty-seventh Street crossing?

I have in mind four accidents at this location. One resulted in death just three months ago. Three of the cars were traveling west, the train south and all near 8 a.m.

My husband has watched this crossing and 30 seconds after the signal lights begin to flash the train crosses the road. This may be plenty of time for a car traveling 30 MPH to stop, but most of the cars travel 50 to 60 miles per hour on this street. That doesn't give enough time to stop. A lot of trucks use this by-pass and they need even more time.

Soon our high school students will be traveling this road around 8 each morning. How much time and expense would be involved to move the signal switch down the tracks just 20 yards or more? How many lives would be saved?

Mrs. Z. W. Davis

To The Daily News:

Yes, we are being sold up the river. A horrible thought, but if people could only realize this we could still do something about it.

If all the people who really love their children and grandchildren could see our predicament and write to their senators and representatives, we could still save our great nation.

Our congressmen want our views. They want to stay in office and they want to please the people.

So why not write them and tell them if you are against disarmament and that you are against receiving all the communist visitors with open arms and aiding their government.

Our forefathers did all in their power for our freedom. Can't we do the same for our future generations. Please act before it's too late.

A Real Ball Began After Ball Was Over

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)— After the ball was over, the rampage began.

That's how police in this fashionable Long Island community described the wind-up of the weekend coming-out party for Fernanda Wanamaker Wetherill.

The party itself was termed a huge success. It was after the twist-dance party, police said, that 127 socialites, age 18 to 22, went on a rampage in a nearby ocean front mansion that had been rented as a guest house.

Chief Donald J. Finlay of the village police said damage estimates ranged up to $10,000.

The debutante's ball broke up at 7 a.m. Sunday. At 4 p.m. that day police rounded up 30 young men who were still at the house. No charges were placed.

Say Moscow Has Altered Strategy

By BORIS BOSKOVIC

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's ouster of Yugoslavia has convinced many here that Moscow has changed its strategy for dominating the Communist world.

In every speech, Khrushchev insistently argued the necessity and advantages of economic cooperation among Communist countries.

Students of Communist affairs believe a primary goal of Khrushchev's visit was to draw Yugoslavia into closer economic ties with the Soviet Union and other countries of the Eastern bloc.

In Stalin's day, Moscow controlled its satellites and other communist parties by tough discipline. The situation has greatly changed in the past few years.

Yugoslavia escaped from Moscow's orbit in 1948, the only Communist nation to do so up until Stalin's death.

Since then, Albania and Asian Communist nations led by Red China have adopted independent and anti-Soviet lines. Signs of disobedience also have recently appeared in Romania.

Observers now believe Moscow is trying to regain control through subtle economic means.

The idea is to dominate Comecon, the Communist answer to the European Common Market. By centralized planning of production, Moscow could impose its will and ultimately wreck the economic independence of its members. This idea is behind Romania's discontent. It resented being assigned to a largely agricultural role in Comecon.

If one country under Comecon's so-called "socialistic division of labor" specializes in a certain product or line of products, it will become fully dependent upon the Soviet Union and its neighbors for those items it does not produce. Export possibilities to the West also would appreciably diminish with the curtailment of variety in goods produced.

The loss of economic independence would mean the restoration of Moscow's political domination.

Khrushchev's speeches in Yugoslavia repeatedly stressed his desire for Yugoslavia to join in this cooperation.

Yugoslav Communists made it clear they want an observer post in both Comecon and the Common Market.

Yugoslav trade is almost equally distributed among Western, Communist and nonaligned countries of Asia and Africa. The emphasis is on developing further trade with new nations and continuing the upward trend with Western countries.

MARRIED—Charlayne Hunter, 21, first Negro girl to attend and graduate from the University of Georgia, and Walter Stovall, 25, white Douglas, Ga., journalism student, revealed they have been wed since spring. (AP Wirephoto)

Mixed Marriage Said Illegal By Georgia Law

ATLANTA (AP) — The marriage of Charlayne Hunter, 21, first Negro girl to enter and graduate from the University of Georgia, to a white Southerner is void in Georgia, says Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook.

Miss Hunter disclosed Monday in New York that she secretly married Walter Stovall, 25, of Douglas, Ga., last spring. She said they are expecting a child in December.

"They are not married under Georgia law," Cook said Tuesday. "It's unlawful for a white person to marry anyone except a white person, and any marriage in violation of this law shall be void."

The couple declined to give the exact time and place of the wedding, but said it was in the North.

Cook said any marriage solemnized in another state by "parties intending at the time to reside in this state" shall have the same legal consequences as if they were solemnized in Georgia.

The attorney general said he had called the Bureau of Vital Statistics in New York to forward him a copy of the marriage certificate "if in truth the marriage was consummated there."

Cook said he would submit his findings to the solicitor general and a grand jury to determine if the couple may have lived in violation of Georgia's criminal law.

Mrs. Stovall graduated from the university in June with a journalism degree. Stovall lacked only one quarter of work to get his journalism degree.

University officials expressed shock at the marriage. President O. C. Aderhold said that neither of them would be permitted to enter the university again.

Interracial marriage is prohibited by Georgia law, and secret marriages are contrary to University of Georgia regulations," Aderhold said in a statement. "Dismissal rules would have applied to Charlayne Hunter and Walter Stovall had the fact of their secret marriage been known."

Rumors that they were secretly married, which began to circulate early in the summer, were denied flatly by the couple. Miss Hunter was asked by The Associated Press at least six times if the rumor was true. She said no each time.

Stovall, who worked as a summer reporter at the Atlanta Journal, was called into editor Jack Spalding's office and asked if the reports were true. He said no.

William Tate, dean of men at the university Board of Regents, said, "I am only one regent among 15 but it would appear to me that they got their diplomas under false pretenses and they should be revoked. University rules bar secret marriages."

Cotton Harvest Short In Rio Grande Valley

MERCEDES, Tex. (AP) — Farmers are near the end of the 1963 cotton season in the Lower Rio Grande Valley with total ginnings far below last year's 426,459 bales.

The Valley Farm Bureau reports that only 15,512 bales of cotton were ginned in the area last week to put the total bales thus far at 272,427.

Total ginnings by counties to date are Cameron 109,484; Hidalgo 114,975; Willacy 44,154; and Starr 3,824 bales.

Hot; Dry Skies Due To Linger

By The Associated Press

It's probably going to get still drier in rain-shy Texas before the state's late summer heat siege abates.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy in all sections Wednesday with no appreciable moisture in prospect.

Briefly torrential downpours provided an exception to the statewide weather pattern late Tuesday near Laredo on the Mexican border. Water rose a foot deep in the streets at Marando City, east of Laredo, and creeks ran bankfull from Laredo south to Zapata.

Widely scattered light showers teased other areas. None received enough to be of benefit.

Month - end Weather Bureau reports accented the severity of continuing drought over Texas. August rainfall measurements varied from a scant .02 inch at Dallas up to 3.93 at Amarillo.

Moisture totals at various weather stations were generally far below normal. Deficits for the first eight months of the year included Beaumont 15.40 inches, Dallas 10.70 and Austin 9.64.

Totals since Jan. 1 were above normal only in the Panhandle-Plains sector with plus .98 inch at Lubbock and plus .12 at Amarillo.

The Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy skies in most sections through Thursday and a few thundershowers in the Texas Panhandle and South Texas. Temperatures were expected to stay about the same — generally hot.

New Long range forecasts called for temperatures averaging around normal to several degrees above through the weekend and little or no moisture.

The mercury climbed to 100 degress Tuesday at Austin, Longview and Laredo. Dalhart was the coolest point with a high of 86.

'Charros' To Visit U.S.A.

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Colorful groups of Mexican "charros," members of several private organizations, will participate in Sept. 15 festivals scheduled to take place in at least two U.S. cities.

Ten charro women and 40 representatives from the National Federation of Charros, with their horses, will go to Chicago.

Twenty representatives from the Metropolitan Association of Charros will go to New York.

The "charro" is the Mexican equivalent of the U.S. cowboy.

September 15 and 16 are the national independence holidays of Mexico.

Much Decorated Frenchman Dies

METZ, France (AP) — Robert Schuman, 77, often called the father of European unity, died today after a long illness.

Schuman laid out the plan for the European Coal and Steel pool, a production and marketing organization linking France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The same countries later formed the Common Market, or the European Economic Community. Promoters of European unity hope the Common Market will develop into a Europe welded together politically as well as economically.

Schuman became seriously ill last month and received the final rites of the Catholic Church. He was suffering from a stroke and respiratory trouble.

Death came at Schuman's estate near this city in eastern France.

A native of Luxembourg, Schuman was schooled as a lawyer and entered public life shortly after World War I. His goal soon became European unity, which he pursued as virtually his sole passion in a lonely, secluded life.

He had been in failing health since early in 1961 when he collapsed while walking through the hills near his estate. He spent the winter night lying helplessly on a hillside and was found the next morning by a search party.

After a long recuperation, he suspended his political activity and finished an autobiography. It is expected to be published soon.

An ascetic bachelor, Schuman became premier of France in the early years of the unstable Fourth Republic established after World War II. He served as premier for about seven months, beginning in late 1947, and again for only three days in late 1948. Later he was foreign minister for more than four years.

Schuman was a member of the Catholic Popular republican party when it was a political power.

He was twice finance minister of France.

Oilfield Worker Hurt

E. G. (Levi) Garrett, 201 Thirty-third Street, received what were believed to be minor injuries at about 1:30 Monday afternoon.

Garrett reportedly fell from a ladder on the W. R. Sterling lease west of Ira where he was engaged in oilfield work.

He was taken part-way to the Cogdell Hospital by private car, and transferred to a Bolger Ambulance for the remainder of the trip.

Dumas Man's Body Found In Ore Oven

DUMAS (AP)—A workman fell into a chute carrying ore to a drying oven and was killed today at the American Zinc Co. smelter.

The victim, George Rhoades, 22, of Dumas, apparently suffocated. Justice of the Peace R. E. Sims returned a coroner's verdict of accidental death.

Two co-workers discovered what had happened about 2:30 a.m. when a conveyor mechanism stopped automatically and they checked for the cause. They found the badly burned body in the oven used to dry raw ore in the first step toward refining it.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ruiz Eleventh Street are the parents of a 6 lb. 2 oz. baby boy born at 10:39 p.m. Sept. 3 at Cogdell Hospital.

Your family's silent partner

Lying there on the doorstep, it can't speak. Or move. Or hear. But open it in your hands and it becomes a living, powerful partner in daily living. In the decisions you make, the opinions you form.

It takes you to the highest chambers of government. It takes you to the bloodiest streets of warring countries. It takes you to the heart of history in the making. In short, it tells you what in the world is happening and why.

But people depend on it for needs beyond the need to know. It's where families turn when something's to be bought or sold. It's where hints on health, cooking, religion, amusements, dressmaking, etiquette, marriage are found.

It's where charities first turn for help, and a place where a letter to the editor is published. It's where campaigns are fought and lost dogs are found. It's where criminals are exposed and newlyweds applauded. Where birth and death meet on the same page.
