Unemployment Insurance Move Nears

Famous Writer Is Called To Testify

Mrs. Gouverneur Morris Quoted As Telling Friends She Bet Man Would Kill Self

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14. — A reopened inquiry into the mystery pistol shooting of Reid Russell two months ago—which bared allusions to a "suicide bet"—centered today on prospective statements by Gouverneur Morris, noted writer, and his wife.

The couple, at whose beach estate the 28-year-old jobless salesman's body was found Sept. 25, promised voluntarily to appear at the district attorney's office today, Captain Clyde Plummer said.

The case had been closed as a suicide by police when Mrs. Victoria Russell, the dead man's mother, expressed doubt her son had taken his life. This led to the renewed investigation this week.

Plummer said Mrs. Morris, whose husband had befriended young Russell, revealed a "suicide bet" she made with Guy Tano, Italian restaurant proprietor, prior to the tragedy, in these words:

"Reid had been talking about killing himself because he lost his job as an automobile salesman. More for a joke than anything else, I wagered $10 that he would.

"Reid told me, after he had heard the bet had been made, that he guessed he'd have to commit suicide so I'd win the money."

Tano informed Plummer that he recalled Russell's demeanor was melancholy throughout the week preceding the shooting and several times he expressed a suicidal intent. The restaurant man said he did not recall the wager.

Turkey Strike Relieved Only Slight Degree

Small Raisers, Needing Cash, Drive Flocks To Market, But Others Adamant; Support Is Wired From Other States

(By The Associated Press)

GONZALES, Nov. 14. — Hard-pressed small raisers of turkeys drove flocks to market today but large producers stood firm in their refusal to sell, cheered by reported pending federal investigation of a "uniform market," and a spread of their strike.

Little men, corn destroyed by floods, cashed their turkey crop at the prevalent 12-cent a pound price. Observers estimated 15,000 of the county's 250,000 birds went to buyers.

In Washington a justice department spokesman for Attorney General Homer Cummings said a widespread investigation to find if turkey buyers were conspiring to fix prices was under consideration.

Oklahoma Investigates

Farmers here and in Oklahoma joined by the Oklahoma state board of agriculture, asked the probe, alleging violation of anti-trust laws. Texas assistant attorneys general conferred with growers here in mid-week. Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma ordered today a similar investigation.

Tension increased as growers noted the Monday morning deadline for Thanksgiving shipments to the east. Several said they would sell if buyers posted a few cents per pound advance. Last year the market hiked at the last minute.

Farmers' organization presidents from Oklahoma City and Duvall county, Florida, wired their support to growers.

LA GRANGE, Ky., Nov. 14. (AP)—Evidence yielded by the grave of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor established today that the socially prominent blue grass beauty met death the night of Nov. 6 from one bullet which struck her in the breast although two shots were reported to have been heard.

The autopsy report, filed at the county clerk's office late today, gave a technical description of the wound in the chest, briefly described a "bruise on the right inner thigh," and disclosed that Mrs. Taylor had undergone an abdominal operation "some years before."

At Louisville, meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, accused of murdering the attractive widow, conferred with attorneys preparatory to his examining trial at New Castle next Friday.

MADRID, Nov. 14. — Fascist aviators killed 53 persons and wounded at least 150 today in sudden bombardment of a crowded capital plaza where workers had gathered to discuss the defense of Madrid.

Today's raid was one of the most disastrous to the capital and damage was widespread.

Dead and wounded lay about the streets. Panic swept the crowd.

FASCISTS FORD RIVER?

WITH FASCIST TROOPS OUTSIDE MADRID, Nov. 14. (AP) — Unconfirmed and unofficial reports late tonight said fascist troops had reached the edge of Madrid after fording the shallow Manzanares river.

The insurgents were said to have crossed the stream between the Toledo and Princess bridges, south of the city.

Government guns were almost completely silent in the region south of Madrid today.

One bomb crashed through a supposedly bomb proof subway.

Reprisal Demand Heard

In an angry demand for reprisal, Military Governor Joe Miaja exhorted his troops to "wipe out 50,000 of the enemy. Smash through them. Wipe them out."

The so-called "international legion" — composed of foreigners fighting on the side of the Spanish government — repelled an attempt by the fascist to enter Madrid over the Los Franceses railroad bridge across the Manzanares river, which skirts the capital.

The two forces fought a bloody machine gun battle before the insurgents were thrown back.

The mass meeting of workers had been called for 8 a. m. at the Glorieta Atocha plaza. Organizers cancelled the meeting at the last minute but hundreds gathered in the huge plaza on the south side of the capital unaware of the change in plans.

Suddenly a roar of motors sounded above. Three tri-motor bombers flying low swept over the square.

Before the crowds could scatter, five bombs exploded in rapid succession. They were believed to be 225-pound projectiles filled with high explosives used for blasting fortifications.

Bodies of men, women and children were hurled to the streets beside the carcasses of mules and horses killed by the explosion. Many bodies were maimed beyond recognition.

Dozens suffered shrapnel wounds. They lay moaning for help, unable to move.

Those uninjured scrambled pell mell through side streets opening on the plaza.

Oen of the bombs ripped a hole in a subway and broke electric transmission lines and water mains.

Roosevelt And DuPonts Will Patch Feud; Junior And Ethel See To That!

Political Truce May Result; Surprise Is Indicated

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A post-election announcement that marriage would unite two families decidedly at odds in pre-election activities—the Roosevelts and the Du Ponts—created a flurry of excitement tonight in social Washington.

It could not be said that the word from Wilmington that Miss Ethel DuPont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene DuPont and Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., son of the president, were engaged, came as a complete surprise.

They had been seen together for months at various functions, while the heads of the clans battled it out politically and Washington gossips, always with an eye on the land's first family, had devoted many conversations to speculation whether a wedding might not be in the offing.

Much Twittering, Chirping

And tonight, with the surprise element lacking, there were numerous "I told you so's," wherever Washington society was gathered.

But at the White House, there was, outwardly at least, nothing but silence. Mrs. Roosevelt was out of town. President secretaries said there would be no comment from the president.

The DuPont-Roosevelt political feud, growing with the development of the New Deal program, reached its climax in the recent presidential campaign. Leading members of the famous Delaware family contributed heavily to Republican campaign chests.

Fought With Money

Previously they had furnished the principal financial support for the American Liberty League, an organization which for two years has been sharpshooting at New Deal methods and measures.

The league last winter gave a dinner which was to become famous in current political history. With 12 DuPonts seated at the table, orators, principally Alfred E. Smith, hammered away at the New Deal and its leader, Mr. Roosevelt.

Franklin D., jr., fourth child of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, was 22 last August 17. He and his younger brother John, are the only ones of the five Roosevelt children who are not married.

Warning Sounded To Protect Aged From Gyp Racket

PERSONS who are eligible for Texas old age assistance pensions were warned Saturday by R. S Williams, field worker for the old age assistance staff, to beware of "unscrupulous" persons seeking to obtain a part of pension funds.

The warning was issued after a Lamb county man had paid $25 annual premium on an insurance policy, sold by an agent who said such a policy was necessary to obtain a pension.

Williams, in checking the company, said he found no rating for it.

"Before persons seeking pensions go into anything like that, they are invited to contact some member of the old age assistance staff," said Williams.

"The only requirements for a pension," he continued, "are for the applicant to be eligible in age, residence, and in need of assistance."

Williams, who has headquarters in Plainview, said a Lubbock county office would be opened "probably in the next week or 10 days" in the Lubbock county courthouse.

Warrants Will Fund Pensions

Board Of Control Will Accept Bids On Deficiency Warrants Nov. 19 For $3,000,000 And Will Assume Obligations

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—The board of control moved today to bolster by $3,000,000 funds to pay old age pensions.

It called for bids Nov. 19 on $3,000,000 in deficiency warrants, authorized by the legislature for payment of pensions until state taxes begin to come in.

Bidders were required to furnish the entire amount or any part of it at times and in amounts the board seemed necessary. Interest cannot exceed 2 1-2 per cent per year.

Name To Be Removed

Meanwhile, Orville S. Carpenter, acting old age assistance director, reiterated that persons now on the rolls would not be cut off summarily.

"Re-investigations are now being made in each district of all people on our rolls who possess income or property," Carpenter said. "Their cases are being studied with the object of determining whether they are eligible under the new assistance law. But until they are found ineligible, they will continue on the rolls."

White Slave Traffic To Get Wide Investigation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—J. Edgar Hoover disclosed today that federal agents tracking down white slave rings have uncovered evidence necessitating expansion of investigating activity as far west as the Pacific coast.

Recent arrests for white slavery have been in the East, South and middle west, but the chief of the bureau of investigation said information now in the hands of his men required activity from Maine to California.

"Frankly, I don't know where or when our next 'break' will come," Hoover added.

"Our investigations in some cities may not come to a head at all but mature suddenly somewhere else. We seldom know very far in advance."

In an interview, Hoover emphasized that federal agents are not conducting either a "drive" or "roundup."

"Use of either of those words carries an implication that

Gold Showers Predicted For Working Class

Shareholders, Too, Promised Many Millions; Industry Of America Providing Bonuses And Extra Dividends

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — Several hundred million dollars will be swept into the pockets of workers and shareholders in American industry before the end of the year by a golden tide of wage boosts, extra dividends and Christmas bonuses.

A survey today showed wage increases totaling upwards of $100,000,000 annually for more than 1,000,000 workers in steel, motor, textile, meat packing, and rubber industries.

Thousands of shareholders in seven big corporations will get about $162,000,000 from the year-end shower of extra dividends and workers nearly $25,000,000 in bonuses.

And That Isn't All

These figures will be augmented by pay and dividend increases from the treasuries of scores of smaller corporations.

The autumn pay and dividend tide, gathering headway the last two weeks, has attained the widest sweep Wall Street has seen in years.

It is expected to continue. It was pointed out in business quarters that wage increases tend to become infectious, as indicated by the spread the last few days from steel to other industries.

Thirty-five barrels of fluid, oil, water and possibly cavings, headed from Amerada No. 1-A Averitt, Gaines county wildcat northwest of Seminole, Saturday, it was reported. No estimate was made of the probable proportion of oil and water.

Stanolind's No. 1 Dewey Davis, south of Seminole, was shut down for orders. It was reported that an increase of salty sulphur water was gauged and that the test may be abandoned.

Cascade-Honolulu-Devonian No. 1, Cochran county pool opener, still was cleaning out. The well has been making about 120 barrels of oil daily, it was reported.

Protection Of State's Labor Will Be Goal

Proposed Budget For Rest Of Year Mailed To Washington; Half Million Working Men Would Be Benefitted

Employers To Pay

One-Per Cent Levy On Amount Of 1936 Payrolls To Be Due In January; Federal, State Governments Interested

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—The new unemployment insurance commission hopes to get started next week on the enormous task of providing security for more than a half million Texas workers.

R. B. Anderson, chairman and executive director, today mailed his proposed budget for the remainder of the year to the social security board at Washington. He hoped for approval of the budget about the middle of next week, after which state headquarters and field offices could begin to function.

Employers Tax Due Soon

A tax on employers of one per cent of their 1936 payrolls, the first levy for the jobless compensation fund, will become due in January. Nine-tenths of that will go to the state for unemployment benefits starting January 1, 1939, and the other one-tenth to the federal government.

Anderson said that since both the federal and state governments were interested in collecting the tax from each employer of eight or more persons, they could work in close co-operation in an effort to make certain that no one escaped the levy.

Several Offices Planned

The director estimated the state organization would have around 100 employes. "Four or five" field offices will be established in the principal industrial areas, he said.

"Our employes," he stated, "will have to be experienced, skilled persons and salaries necessarily will be higher than the average state department. Accountants and all other personnel will be hired strictly on an ability basis."

High Salary Given

Anderson will receive a salary of $7,500 a year, more than any other state official except the governor and attorney general. His two colleagues will be paid $5,000 each. Wallace C. Reilly, executive secretary of the state federation of labor, will be labor's representative on the commission. Governor Allred was expected to name the employers' representative early next week.

The federal government will bear

American Embassy Orders Investigation Into Death Of Missionary To China

Japs Rumored To Be Cause

Minnesota Clergyman Said To Have Died After Eviction By Japs From His Home And At Time When He Was Ill

(By The Associated Press)

PIEPING, Nov. 14.—Investigation of the death at Kalgan of Karl Benhardt Olsen, American missionary of Gully, Minn., was ordered by the United States embassy today on the basis of reports he had been driven from his home by Japanese troops when ill of smallpox.

Representatives of the embassy were dispatched into North China to inquire into Olsen's death, to determine the whereabouts of two other American missionaries, and to gather first hand information on reports of fighting in Suiyuan province.

Eviction Reports Circulated

Olsen died at Kalgan early today. Reports received at the embassy here declared his death followed eviction by Japanese troops from his home 80 miles northwest of Kalgan.

Japanese military circles here denied knowledge of the report and at the same time called it "patently absurd."

The embassy said it was informed Japanese military authorities northwest of Kalgan had desired for several weeks the property of Olsen's independent mission for their use. Recently they took over his tiny chapel, refusing to permit the missionary to conduct services for his Mongol converts, an embassy spokesman declared.

Japs Wanted Property

Shortly afterward, Olsen was taken ill with smallpox. When he was lying ill within his home, next door to the confiscated chapel, Japanese officials demanded the house for military purposes, the embassy report asserted.

They forced him, despite his illness, his wife and three children to vacate the residence, the spokesman said he was informed.

Evicted, the refugee family managed to reach Kalgan where Olsen was reported to have died as a result of hardship and lack of medical attention.

Jap Regular Soldiers In Suiyan Province

KALAGAN, Hopeh Province, China, Nov. 14. (AP)—One thousand regular Japanese soldiers were reported to have arrived today at Pailingmiao, northern Suiyuan province.

Chinese sources declared the presence of the Japanese regulars was indicative of Japan's participation in Mongolian invasion of the northern area and projected extension of Manchoukuoan influence westward.

Only Chinese Reports

(Invasion of Suiyuan has been reported only from Chinese sources, however, while such a movement has been denied unofficially by the Japanese.)

Considerable airplane activity in eastern Suiyuan also was declared to have been observed.

Dispatches reaching Kalgan described highways between Pailingmiao and Kweisu as blocked by large numbers of Japanese army trucks hauling supplies into the area.

New State Tax Plan Explained

National Banks That Receive Mortgages, Such Instruments Exempt From Levy, Attorney General Says In Ruling

AUSTIN, Nov. 14. (AP)—Attorney General William McCraw ruled today that national banks receiving mortgages and similar instruments were exempt from the new state tax on such instruments. The levy is 10 cents on each $100 of the instrument in excess of $200.

"The statute," McCraw said, "expressly exempts from its provisions instrumentalities and agencies of the United States. Even if the exemption had not been included in the act, such agencies nevertheless would be exempt since the state legislature may only levy taxes upon instrumentalities of the federal government in the manner expressly authorized by congress."

Interpretations Made

When more than one instrument securing the same indebtedness is registered with the county clerk, the tax must be paid on each instrument, the opinion said.

Interpretations of other provisions of the note tax included:

Mortgages given to secure past due payments on original loans and also to better secure the original loan are subject to tax on the full amount of the new mortgage.

Mortgages executed prior to effective date of the law November 1 but recorded after the law became effective, are subject to it.

Renewals Not Subject

Renewal of a mortgage is not subject to the levy, although new notes might have been executed in the renewal agreement, provided that no additional advancement is made.

Mortgages and other liens executed but not recorded are not subject to any tax.

New York Stock Exchange Firm Investigated After Manipulation Charged

Denials Made To Commission

Company And Broker Alleged To Have Created Appearance Of Falsity In Active Trading; Tack Company Target

(Special To The Avalanche)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. — The heads of a firm on the New York stock exchange today met securities commission charges of manipulating shares on the "big board" with an observation that "it seems the commission thinks there is a manipulation whenever a stock goes up or down."

In its first accusation against operators on the metropolitan exchange, the commission charged W. E. Hutton and Co., and H. H. Michels, Oakland, Cal., broker, with creating a "false and misleading appearance of active trading" in the common stock of Atlas Tack corporation.

Denials Issued

Joined in his denial by statements from the firm and from Michels, James M. Hutton, sr., president of the firm, declared in Cincinnati:

"We never manipulated the stock. We never had any reason to manipulate it. There was no motive on our part for anything like that."

Threatening expulsion from their exchange memberships in various cities, the commission called on the New York firm and the Oakland broker to explain activities which it said pyramided the stock's market price from $9.50 in November, 1935, to $30.25 in Febuary, 1936.

Atlas Tack, described by Wall streeters as a stormy petrel known as wide fluctuation of price in recent years, was traded yesterday at around 16 7-8 on the "big board."

Rise Of Man From Savagery Will Be Shown In Picture

"The Human Adventure," a motion picture showing the history of man from savagery to civilization, will be shown at the Lindsey theater Tuesday under auspices of the Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women. Tickets are being sold by members, under direction of the fellowship chairman, Miss Jonnie McCrery, at ten cents for children 12 years old and under, 25 cents for high school and college students and 35 cents for adults.

The picture is a story of 14 University of Chicago expeditions led by the late Professor James H. Breasted into the Near East. Members of the expeditions are known as the Oriental Institute.

According to material sent to Miss McCrery from the national A.A.U.W. headquarters, concerning the findings of Professor Breasted, it is generally agreed that the Near East is the best area for the study of man's past since, while Europe was still suffering from effects of the ice age, the area between the Mediterranean sea and India had a favorable climate and developed from savagery to an organized civilization.

Children above the fifth grade, who are eligible for ten-cent admission, will be dismissed from classes to attend a morning matinee beginning at 10 a. m., Supt. K. E. Oberholtzer has announced.

"No Medicine The Equal Of Gly-Cas"

Declares Mrs. McCann After She Is Relieved Of Years Of Suffering; Neuritis Pains Gone, Indigestion Eliminated, Able To Eat And Sleep Good Again

"Every suffering person should lay down their prejudice and give Gly-Cas the opportunity to restore their health," said Mrs. Sadie McCann, 1910 Rincon Street, Corpus Christi, Texas. "For two years I had practically been unable to do my own housework, at times was almost past going. Indigestion, filled my entire system with poisons. My health was a "complete wreck." Then neuritis pains settled over my body keeping me in constant misery. I was weak, tired and without strength to do my work. I did not know what a good nights sleep was. I was up four and five times every night with my kidneys, gas formed and I bloated after every meal and the sharp stabbing pains over my body were almost more than I could endure. Of all people I was most miserable, I had more than my share of suffering but there was little I could do about it— until Gly-Cas was finally brought to me—it was wonderful."

MRS. SADIE McCANN

"I bless the day Gly-Cas was called to my attention," she continued, "For I am now enjoying the best health I have known in many years. All that suffering has left me, I sleep fine, eat and enjoy the foods I wish without the least ill effects afterwards. The soreness and swelling has gone entirely, the pains are a thing of the past—why shouldn't I praise Gly-Cas—it has meant the difference between horrible suffering and good and glorious health for me."

Training For School Given

Industrious Young Men Over Country Being Encouraged; Training For West Point Is Being Allowed

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—To encourage "promising, industrious young men who aspire to become the nation's future army officers," officials at Eighth Corps headquarters here say, the army permits them to enlist for a year with a view to obtaining appointments to the United States Military Academy.

This type of enlistment makes the recruits eligible to the West Point preparatory schools conducted under direction of Maj. Gen. H. J. Brees, commanding the Eighth Corps area. The largest of four such schools is maintained at Camp Bullis, 18 miles north of San Antonio, and the others at Fort Sill, Okla., Fort Bliss, Texas, and Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo.

Divided Into Sections

The cadets are divided into two sections, each occupying separate barracks. While one is in the class room the other studies in barracks under supervision of a commissioned officer. The subjects taught are mathematics, algebra, plane geometry, ancient and United States history, English, grammar, composition, and English and American literature.

The men spend three hours a day in class recitation and two hours in the supervised study hall. Each also is required to participate for an hour and a half each day in some sport.

The material covered in the three months course at the prep school is equal to that ordinarily covered in a year's academic course elsewhere. For this reason the prestudents are located at Camp Bullis away from distractions of a city, and none is permitted to be absent from the camp during the week. The school is under direction of Lieut. S. R. Stewart, Air Corps, and aided by five lieutenants-teachers.

Devote Time To Study

"It is interesting to note that the men are so interested in their work they devote much more time to study than is required," says one officer.

In preparation for the strict discipline at West Point, Lieut. Stewart requires the barracks quarters be kept immaculate and orderly. Bunks must be made up before classes begin, and demerits are given for infractions. Daily inspections are made.

The 52 students surviving from the 91 enrolled when the school began in September are working toward the decisive preliminary examinations Dec. 2, which will decide the fate of this year's cadre of enlisted men toward reaching West Point.

Thirteen men will be selected from the four schools to continue study, beginning Jan. 1, for the entrance examinations in March. The high 13 will come to Fort Sam Houston for the final three months instruction.

Of the 1,960 cadets to be admitted to the military academy each year, 180 are enlisted men of the regular army and national guard. Admission to the academy, however, is not assured to any of the 13 selected from the Eighth Corps prep schools, as they first must pass the entrance examinations for West Point before being accepted as cadets.

Mystic Number Studied For Links To Person Who Mailed Baby's Body

Mystery surrounded the gruesome discovery, made yesterday in the dead letter office where the heavily-wrapped cardboard box had been held since Wednesday.

A microscopic examination disclosed a Chicago cancellation mark on the 31 cents in postage A possible clue to the origin was seen in the figures "1431," printed in the center of the cancellation. Postal inspectors said they might be a Chicago sub-station postmark. It first was thought the package was mailed in Oakland, Calif.

Extensive Program Of Investigation And Research Into Clay Deposits Of State Is Being Started

AUSTIN, Nov. 14. (AP)—Millions of dollars of buried wealth in the form of clay deposits has been the object of investigation by the Texas planning board the past several months.

Through its mineralogist, Charles W. Walker, the board started an extensive program of investigation and research calculated to develop the clay industry in the Lone Star state comparable with other states.

Of the $8,970,000 total value of clay products in the United States last year, only $274,000 worth was produced in Texas. California, Georgia and Illinois lead the nation in this classification of industry.

Deposits Analyzed

Deposits in this state were analyzed and found to be of equal or superior quality to those of the biggest clay-producing states. Rich beds abound in almost all of the 254 counties, and all varieties, except ball clay, were discovered.

J. D. Kerr, railroad geologist, predicted that within a dozen years Texas should have a monopoly of the pottery industry due to the fact that other states' deposits are becoming depleted. Texas has only 10 pottery manufacturers, the majority of which are small shops.

The state scarcely has scratched the surface of a potentially tremendous brick manufacturing industry, say members of the board's mineral resources committee. Where it now has 51 plants there is room for many times that number. Five of these manufacture chimney brick; 42 common brick, 28 face brick, 24 fire brick and four paving brick.

Huge Quantities

Texas possesses brick, stoneware, tile, slip, porcelain, kaolin, china, paper, refracting and pottery clays. Mineral wool, fuller's earth and bentonite also are present in huge quantities.

The clay is manufactured into sewer pipe, drain tile, chemicals, asbestos, munitions, tobacco pipes, modeling clay, toy marbles and other useful articles.

The planning board is preparing a pamphlet detailing the diversified types of clay found in the state, their locations and estimates of the deposits. The sizes of the deposits, in many instances, are unauthentic due to the lack of funds with which to conduct thorough-going surveys.

If the board deems it advisable it may recommend revised legislation reducing taxes on the clay industry to encourage development. Among other things, the board promotes building of railroads into large deposits and seeks to aid in locating state highways through such areas.

Sassafras trees have three distinct leaf forms and all three may often be found on the same twig.

Farmers Will Make Studies

Evening Schools To Be Opened By Vocational Teachers In Area As Soon As The Cotton Harvest Is Ended

As soon as the cotton harvest is out of the way, evening schools for farmers will be started by many vocational agriculture teachers.

The adult schools are conducted weekly and a series of 10 or more lessons are conducted on each enterprise studied. Last year the Lubbock vocational agriculture department, assisted by the senior students in the department of agricultural education at Tech, put on 11 schools of 10 lessons each.

In the 10 lessons on one subject the information is slowly and thoroughly presented. The farmers prefer to dig into the subject matter thoroughly and from every angle. There is enough knowledge among the group of farmers to solve any of their many problems if they will get together and work them out. In evening schools every farmer is given a welcome opportunity to express his opinion and recount facts that he has observed. The schools are practical and deal with the farmer's most urgent needs. The vocational agriculture teacher leads the discussion and supplies technical information for the group.

Many improved practices of the Plains farms are due directly to evening schools.

INITIATION PLANNED

Thursday night the Lubbock County Future Farmers will meet at the Lubbock High school building. Initiation of all Greenhands will be conducted by the C. Luker Collegiate Future Farmer chapter of the college. Raising the Greenhands to Future Farmers, the third degree in the organization, will be conducted by the Lorenzo chapter for all Lubbock county boys eligible to advance.

TALKS ARE HEARD

Thursday night 60 members of the local Future Farmers chapter met and hear talks from O. T. Ryan, area supervisor of vocational agriculture, and from Ray Chappelle, teacher trainer at the college. Ryan told the boys of the area convention which will be held in Lubbock this year for the first time. It will be held in April and will embody public speaking contests, one act plays, debating, and chapter conducting contests.

Chappelle told the boys that they are "babied" too long and gave interesting stories to back that up.

In addition to the talks the chapter enjoyed music and singing by Keith Black, Leroy Swift, Warner Alexander, and John Roberts, and tap dancing by Billy Brown and Julian Fairly.

GRANGE ORGANIZING

The National Grange, the oldest and most influential farmer's organization, is fast organizing in this section. The Grange was brought here by vocational agriculture teachers to give the farmers a vehicle to work through in securing the better things they are entitled to, and which come only from united efforts. The Grange sponsors agriculture education, social life, and agricultural legislation.

It is fast becoming a factor in Texas farm life and will become more influential as it spreads its scope. Lubbock county has 3 Granges and will soon be completely organized as will several adjoining counties.

CHICKS ARE STUDIED

For several weeks the second year vocational agriculture class studied a unit on broiler production. To make a complete study the class bought 500 baby chicks and borrowed a battery from the Standard Milling company and are brooding the chicks. When they are old enough to sell they will be dressed and marketed by the class.

The boys are learning to brood chicks with the intention of becoming commercial poultrymen. In a fast developing center of population as Lubbock is, there is a demand for quality poultry and eggs. The demand, coupled with an abundance of feed and desirable climate, makes this region the greatest potential poultry center in the Southwest.

Many of the boys will build their own battery brooders in the farm shop.

BURDETTE IS SPEAKER

Monday night R. L. Burdette, vocational agriculture teacher, spoke to a group of Ropesville farmers on improved farm practices and farm income. Thirty-two farmers attended. The meeting was called by Herbie Davis, vocational agriculture teacher at Ropesville, who also spoke briefly.

For entertainment the Future Farmers chapter here sent a singer, Leroy Swift, and two dancers, Billy Brown and Julian Fairley.

TO TALK PROBLEMS

Monday night farmers of Southwest Ward will meet to discuss farm problems. R. L. Burdette will lead the discussion.

There also will be a short program given by the school children of Southwest Ward school. Mrs. Leonal Cole, teacher, will direct the program.

Thoughts Of Kiddies Are Turning To Old Santa As Christmas Season Nears

With Christmas only five weeks and five days away the youngsters are thinking more and more about the jolly old character, Santa Claus.

One of that group was Little Durwood Flanagan, 2005 Twenty-sixth street, who last week penciled two letters to St. Nick. One was for Durwood and one for "my little sister—she is 2 years old."

Durwood indicated a typewriter, a streamlined train, candy, and nuts would please him. His sister, he wrote, wanted a doll buggy "and toys."

Senator Will Talk In City

Senator Robert M. LaFollette Will Speak On "The Washington Scene" At Senior High Wednesday

Senator Robert M. La Follette, son of the late Robert M. La Follette, who initiated much progressive legislation, will speak on "The Washington Scene" Wednesday evening at the Senior High auditorium at 8 o'clock. The program is under the auspices of Texas Technological college artist course.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., has been a center of public interest in the senate for years. His leadership has brought him constant attention in the daily newspapers of the country, and respect has been paid him as a deep thinker and profound economic student.

Forceful Address

Under the subject, "The Washington Scene", Senator La Follette is said to give a forceful and brilliant address, interspersed with his usual broad humor and understanding. It is said of him that he is one of the few men whom the senators like in private person and respect in public character.

The late Clinton Gilbert, keen observer of affairs at Washington, said of him in an article: "Alongside of Mr. Borah as leader stands young Bob La Follette. I do not know anyone else who combines in himself so many of the qualities that get one on in the world of politics as he does. He has the most level head in the senate. He always sees things exactly as they are. He is moderate, he is extremely likeable. He is conciliatory in his manner, but firm in his opinions. He always knows what he thinks. He never becomes excited, never loses his poise, takes defeat in good part and is never made vain by success. He is aware of the virtue of hard work."

Admission will be 75 cents; reserved seats, $1. Tickets will be on sale at Bewens Drug store on Broadway from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Led By Lubbock County, Four Proximate Counties Are Up With Or Over Amounts Set For Campaign Donations

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—Led by Lubbock county, four counties in the 19th Texas Congressional district exceeded or equaled their quotas in contributions to the Democratic national campaign fund, Roy Miller, state director, announced today.

Lubbock county, with a quota of $1,696, remitted $1,874.95; Lamb county far overshot its $670 quota by contributing $1,638.50; Dawson county exactly made its quota of $638; and Lynn county, with a quota of $604, contributed $636 to the Roosevelt cause. The district as a whole, however, fell below its quota, $12,118, by raising a total of $7,921.17 in contributions.

More Funds Needed

Those counties, however, which failed to reach the figures set for them in the pre-election drive for funds will be given an opportunity to do so in a new post-election campaign for $50,000, or 10 per cent of the $500,000 needed to put the national party organization "in the black." State headquarters books for the first campaign were closed November 7 and funds received since that time are being credited to the contributing counties' quotas but applied to the new campaign fund.

Consolidation Of Schools Is Issue

Voters of County Line and of Abernathy school districts are to vote Wednesday, November 18, on consolidation of the two districts.

The election was called by the county judges of Hale and Lubbock counties, on a petition signed by more than 20 qualified voters of each district.

W. E. Connell has been named to direct the election at County Line. He will appoint judges and clerks.

The election is on consolidation of the two schools. It is not a high school grouping, it was said.

THE NEW 60-HORSEPOWER FORD V-8

It is natural to ask why a 60-horsepower engine is added to the Ford line for 1937. The answer is simply that the smaller engine makes possible a saving in weight — a car that costs less to run — and a lower price.

The 1937 Ford with the new 60-horsepower engine is for those who want maximum economy with good performance. It offers the smoothness and quietness you expect of a V-8 — even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy.

New "60" Meets Many Needs

This Economy Car in the Low-price Field makes the Ford more than ever The Universal Car. It will appeal to families with small budgets. To salesmen who drive their own cars and want to pare expenses to the last penny. To farmers who need a rugged, inexpensive car for bad roads in all weathers. To fleet owners who must hold mileage costs down. To women whose cars are a part of the daily round of family or business duties. To two-car families as a general utility car . . . and to many others.

Improved 85-horsepower V-8

For those who want maximum performance with good economy, there is the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine. It delivers the flashing speed and acceleration that more than three million Ford V-8 owners are already enjoying on the road. Yet improved carburetion enables it to give its thrilling performance with unusually good gasoline mileage.

You are invited to see the New Ford V-8 Cars for 1937—in two engine sizes but only one body size—at the showroom of the Ford dealer nearest you.

Arkansas Routs SMU To Take Circuit Lead; Aggies Win Third Game In 8 Days

Porkers Smear Aerial Circus And Then Some

Jack Robbins And Company Go To Town In Big Way As SMU Hopes For "Repeating" Are Blasted In 17-0 Shutout

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Nov. 14. (AP)—Long Legged Jack Robbins and his bold Arkansas playmates made the fall of mighty Southern Methodist complete today with a 17-0 rout that rocketed them into temporary leadership of the Southwest conference scramble.

Not one good break slipped by the rangy Ozark hills giants as they intercepted two wild Methodist heaves for touchdowns and converted a recovered fumble into a field goal that shoved them off ahead.

Six-foot, two-inch Robbins and his halfback companion, Bobbie Martin, stormed all over the premises behind a stout line to outclass a Methodist team that only a week ago absorbed a shellacking from Texas A. and M. in what was regarded an upset.

The score wasn't indicative of Arkansas' superiority. They smothered the Mustangs' celebrated "aerial circus" by rushing the passer and intercepting wild throws and fooled the enemy with a smashing ground attack featuring Robbins, Martin and Sloan.

Kenneth Goodson, Southern Methodist's dashing junior halfback and club "goat," played his role well again today.

Early in the second period Goodson, who had been reeling off tackle thrusts for the Methodist's only threats, fumbled on his own 16 and Woodell, Porker center, landed on the ball. Robbins contacted Benton with a short pass on the Methodist seven and tossed a shovel pass that Rawlings took to the four. Three line smacks failed but Owen, one of those "in and out of the game" placement kickers, hurried in and booted a field goal from the ten-yard stripe.

Five minutes later Goodson fell into ill luck again. Backed up to his own 24-yard line, the rangy halfback drew back and hurled a flat zone pass intended for Dewell, Methodist end. Bobbie Martin, tearing into the Mustang backfield, snagged it far behind the Methodist scrimmage line and ran, unmolested, across the goal line. Owen booted the extra point.

Still another Methodist miscue cost them in the fourth period. Goodson hurled a wild pass that Woodell, his old nemesis bagged on the Methodist 45. Martin tacked on two first downs with tackle slices to the 19 and Robbins then hurled a hard pass, Rawlings drew in on the 13 and carried on across with a sparkling bit of sidestepping. Owen again obliged with the extra point.

For Goodson, the youngster who tossed the fatal pass that cost the Methodist the Pordham game earlier in the season, the game was a nightmare. He started well enough with driving runs off tackle and great kicks that backed the Porkers into their own backyard, but he fumbled twice and threw two costly, aimless passes to ruin his day.

Robbins today proved his triple-threat ability. He was on the heaving end of a varied assortment of passes that bagged 100 yards, kicked expertly and was the chief ground gainer of the day from scrimmage. Martin's groundwork and heads-up defensive play vied with Robbins' work.

Rugged Johnny Sprague, Methodist quarterback, was the whole show for the Methodists—unless he should share defensive honors with his younger brother, Charlie, stormy center. Sprague plowed the line, batted down dangerous Arkansas aerials and tackled fiercely. He was the No. 1 man of a Methodist team that failed to advance past the Arkansas 21 stripe.

The Arkansas line rushed Methodist passers in much the same manner as the Texas Aggies did last week-end. Benton and Hamilton, rangy ends, played fine defensive and offensive games.

L. S. U. Remains Unbeaten At Expense Of Auburn; 19 To 6

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 14. (AP)—Louisiana State's unbeaten Tigers crushed Auburn, 19 to 6, here today before 25,000 fans in a game featured by a 90-yard sprint for a touchdown by Jess Milner, Tiger left halfback, in the final period.

Auburn drove to a touchdown in the closing seconds after most of L.S.U.'s regulars had been relieved.

Baylor Scores Late And Wins

Bears Put Over Two Touches In Fourth Period To Down Oklahoma Aggies, 13 To 0 On Cowboy Gridiron

(By The Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 14—Baylor university's Bears rammed ove two touchdowns in rapid succession in the final period, after being held scoreless for three quarters, to whip the Oklahoma Aggies, 13 to 0, in the annual "parents day" football game today.

Led by Captain Dormer Browning, Coach Ted Cox's Aggies put up a gallant stand most of the afternoon although they didn't make an offensive threat in the ball game.

"Statue Of Liberty"

The Bears finally resorted to the old "statue of liberty" play to score their first touchdown. On the second play of the final period Lloyd "Crooner" Russell, captain and quarterback of the Bears, sprinted behind Billy Patterson, took the ball from his outstretched hand and galloped 26 yards across the goal line.

Clarence Germand kicked the extra point.

The Aggies took to the air in the closing minutes of the game. They tried to pass in their own territory and Germand intercepted a heave by Allie Reynolds on the Aggie 42-yard line.

The Bears opened up with a barrage of laterals and fakes but their drive was halted at the 9-yard line when Germand fumbled.

Bears Have Tricks

Coach Morley Jennings' Bears lived up to expectations, dumping forwards, laterals, spinners and reverses from their bags of tricks and mixing in an occasional fumble to add to the excitement.

Coach Cox hurled a five-man line at the Texans, stopping their vaunted passing attack early in the game but leaving the way open for the running spree which spelled victory eventually.

Bob Hale Joins Hole-In-1 Club Here Yesterday

The name of Robert Hale went up on the "hole-in-one" membership roll yesterday.

Playing in a three-some with Hugh Anderson and Arthur Yagey, Hale canned his tee shot on the No. 14 hole at Meadowbrook. Swinging a mashie niblick off the tee, Hale saw his ball ride high over the lake and settle down on the green, 149 yards away, then roll into the cup.

It was Hale's first ace, the eighth to be carded on Lubbock courses this year. He is a former Lubbock High athlete, now of Texas Tech.

Sam Sets Pace And Frogs Bat Gents 26 To 0

Baugh Tosses Couple Of Six Pointers And Retires From Game As TCU Goes Ahead To Trounce Centenary

BY P. D. ELDRED

FORT WORTH, Nov. 14. (AP)—In one period of brilliant offensive play, Sam Baugh threw two touchdown passes today and then retired to the sidelines to watch his inspired Texas Christian university teammates trounce the Centenary Gents, 26 to 0.

It was the worst licking the tricky Gents, for many years the nemesis of Southwest conference teams, had taken this season.

The same ruthless scoring tactics the Horned Frogs featured in all their recent games gave them two touchdowns on Baugh's passes within ten minutes after the opening kickoff.

Take To Air Quickly

Taking the ball on their 48-yard line, the Horned Frogs went to the air on the first play. Baugh rifled a bullet pass to Walls for 18 yards. The big, rangy end took the throw in the wide open flat zone, without a Centenary man close to him.

Roberts and McCall battled through the Centenary line to the 25-yard line and then Baugh cockend his arm, heaving to Walls, wide open again.

Walls twisted through the Centenary secondary and lunged across the line. Roach kicked the point from placement.

Three minutes later the Horned Frogs were hammering again at the Centenary goal line. They again gained the ball on their 48 and Baugh passed to McCall for nine yards. The next play McCall slipped off tackle for 16, putting the ball on the rattled Gents' 23.

Baugh completed the route by passing over the goal to McClure for the touchdown. Roach missed the kick for extra point.

Coach Dutch Meyer jerked the big back and most of the other first stringers, sending in his "hold 'em" squad, led by tiny quarterback Davey O'Brien.

O'Brien Carries On

This 145 pound triple threater, being primed to step into the graduating Baugh's shoes next season, never let up on the disorganized Gents. O'Brien's crew passed and ran in vain during the second period but, in the second half, they drove across for two more touchdowns.

Bowerman was forced to kick out on his 49 after the third period kickoff. O'Brien opened up with passes, connecting with Walls over center. Walls snagged the throw on the Gents' 30 yard line and

Hardin-Simmons Wins From Yellow Jacket Team, 31-0

ABILENE, Nov. 14. (AP)—Held to a field goal for three quarters, the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys went on a ruthless fourth period stampede this afternoon to crush their old rivals from Howard Payne college, 31 to 0.

Jack Hinrichs kicked a field goal in the second period, and Hardin-Simmons, fumbling away the few other chances given it by a stubborn Jacket defense, had to be satisfied with its three point lead until the fourth round was half spent. Then Ed Cherry, rampaging fullback, broke loose on a fake to run 36 yards for a score, and three more touchdowns, each followed by extra point, came in the next eight minutes.

Rice Uses 'Shock Troops' To Down Sam Houston 34-7

HOUSTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Rice reserves who had warmed the bench week after week went into action today and whipped the game Bearkats of Sam Houston State teachers college, 34 to 7, before a crowd of around 4,000. It was a ragged game, neither team taking advantage of the breaks or being able to get in any spectacular play.

Aside from Jake Schuehle, the Rice backfield was composed entirely of sophomore reserves and Schuehle played only 5 minutes. Steen, right end, was the only Owl regular in the line. None of the remainder of the usual Rice starters played. Coach Jimmy Kitts saving them for the Texas Christian battle next week.

The Bearkats scored on their only sustained thrust, a forward, Callahan to Kivell, bringing a touchdown after Callahan engineered a line drive from midfield to the 14. Rose converted.

The Owls came alive then and scored twice in the period.

TULANE GOES DOWN

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14. (AP)—Tulane's Greenies fumbled their way to a 6-12 defeat at the hands of an oft-beaten but gallant band of Bulldogs from Georgia university here today before a homecoming crowd of 18,000.

Gophers Grind Texas Beneath 47-19 Victory

Texas Longhorns Score More Points Against Minnesota Than Any Team In 4 Years But Gophers Go Easy

(By The Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 14. — Minnesota bull-dogged the Texas Longhorns in typical Bierman fashion today and when the sun had set on Memorial Stadium 45,000 spectators saw the brand of a 47-19 defeat on the invaders from the Southwest.

Stampeded for most of the game while the Golden Gophers were scoring seven touchdowns, the Longhorns fought gamely back to score two of their three counters in the last five minutes, one of them the result of bad judgment by Minnesota, when the lineup was spotted with reserves. The Texas passing attack was completely stopped by Minnesota while the Gophers worked laterals to great advantage.

Line Stops Steers

Minnesota's great line, the sensational play of Buhler, fullback, and Alfonse, half, outclassed the Texans throughout the game but to the invaders went the distinction of scoring the most points against a Gopher defense in four years.

Hugh Wolfe, Texas fullback, thrilled the dads day crowd with a 93 yard runback of the kickoff in the third period for the first Longhorn score without the aid of much blocking. A barrage of passes in the last minutes of the fourth set the stage for a pass on the Minnesota 15 yard stripe, Atchison to Arnold, for the second counter. Texas scored again when Wrightson, reserve halfback, let the kickoff touch his foot on the goal line and failed to fall on the ball. Atchison dove on the oval over the goal line as the Minnesota player looked on.

The Gophers had started early to pile up a big score. Alfonse counted from the 15 in the first three minutes. Alfonse scampered 28 yards for another marker after gathering in Uram's lateral at the line of scrimmage.

Buhler Runs 87 Yards

Buhler bulled his way 87 yards for another touchdown in the second period. He exploded through tackle, bounced off two Longhorn players, cracked into Sheridan with his head to knock him out of the way and was away. Three blockers escorted him the last 50 yards.

Twice more the Gophers crossed the line in the third, and in the fourth.

Naiser, guard, and Launey, end, stood out in the Texas line while Lawson, half, played brilliantly on defense against Gopher passes. Wolfe was the best offensive player for the Longhorns and made good two of three placekicks after touchdowns. Minnesota's smashing attack dwarfed the invaders' showing by marking up 467 yards to 114 for

Irish Get Breaks And Notre Dame Trounces Army, 20 To 6

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—The old Army game still can't fool the Irish of Notre Dame.

Before 80,000 shouting spectators the Irish rode the Army mule to the very precipice of disaster today and then tamed him with a decisive 20 to 6 victory.

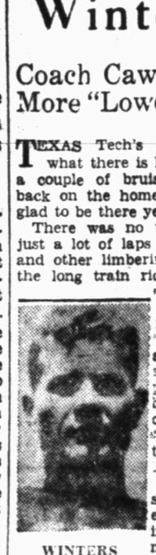

Irish luck and alertness gave Coach Elmer Layden's men their most lop-sided victory over the Cadets since 1932 when they corraled the Army mule, 21 to 0. Every break in a game jammed with breaks went to the Irish and they cashed in as calmly as a bond broker.

Tech Gridmen Are Home To Prepare For DePaul; Winters Star On Coast

Coach Cawthon, Calm, Composed, Presents More "Lowdown" On Loyola Lions And Heat

TEXAS Tech's Red Raiders, or what there is left of them after a couple of bruising games, were back on the home sod and mighty glad to be there yesterday.

There was no vigorous workout, just a lot of laps around the track and other limbering up work after the long train ride from Los Angeles. Line Coach Dutch Smith conducted a brief "trial workout" in an effort to locate a wingman to replace J. W. West, but after a period of running and "duck-walking" the squad was turned loose.

WINTERS

Workouts will start again in earnest Monday in preparation for next Friday's game here with the DePaul university Blue Demons of Chicago.

Enroute to Lubbock, the Demons are stopping in Arkansas for a game with Arkansas Tech Monday. They may come straight to Lubbock, or go by Dallas to visit the Centennial.

A Tie Last Year

The Demons and the Raiders have been foes for two years. Tech walloped them soundly in 1934, on the local field, but could do nothing better than a scoreless tie in Chicago's Soldiers Field last year.

It is generally understood in and around Chicago that the Demons are much more powerful than they were last year. A former Tech star, Mule Dowell, now playing pro ball for the Chicago Cardinals, has observed the Demons play this year, and has written Coach Cawthon that "they're really good." DePaul has lost but two games this season, one by three points to University of Illinois and by five points to Catholic U.

KATROLA

The game will be Tech's last on the home schedule. Two games remain, the Turkey Day game at New Orleans with another Loyola team and the post-season tilt at Tucson with University of Arizona.

First Class Alibis

The Raiders will be seen for the last time by the home folks Friday afternoon.

Quite naturally, there was a lot of grief at Los Angeles and enroute home. The "funeral train" bringing home the Raiders and their fans after a crushing defeat by Loyola at Los Angeles arrived yesterday morning.

J. BROWNING

Coach Pete Cawthon had a lot to say about the game, including two iron clad alibis, and alibis are all right when they're based on fact. Calmly and at ease on the bench yesterday while his athletes trotted around the field, Cawthon discoursed as follows:

"We thought we were ready for the game. We loafed along going out, stopping all day in Flagstaff. Got to Los Angeles Tuesday, put up at a fine hotel in Santa Monica and nobody bothered us, because they didn't know where we were. We took things easily, got to Los Angeles and the stadium in plenty of time.

"Were We Burned Up!"

"Then we nearly burned up, and I mean it literally. Boy, it was 87 in the shade, and there was no shade. The heat got us, and I don't mean perhaps.

"We got along just fair for the first quarter and part of the second. Then we began to wilt. When J. W. West got his leg broke, we really wilted. That took something out of us that we couldn't put back, and Loyola mauled hell out of us.

HOLCOMB

"We had to play with Charley Duval on the bench. Tox Wiginton, center, couldn't play much, and Louis Jones was too crippled to play. So was Red Ramsey, who hasn't gotten over the Wichita in-

Westerners To Clovis Friday

Lubbock High Team To Make Last Trip Of Season This Week; Meets Plainview Here In Final Game Turkey Day

With two games to go on the 1936 football schedule, Lubbock High school's Westerners divide the time between the home field and a road trip, between Texas and New Mexico.

Coaches Chapman and Keyes take the Westerners to Clovis Friday for the annual tussel with the Wildcats, and it promises to be more than a mere tussle.

Plainview Here Next

That'll be all until Thanksgiving, when Lubbock tangles with Plainview in the final District 1 game and the season's windup.

The Westerners emerged from last Wednesday's game in good physical condition, considering the licking they took, and should be ready for the Clovis Wildcats, what with the extra time to rest and recuperate from the Armistice Day tragedy.

Memories of that game, in which Amarillo took sudden and definite honors, linger with disappointed fans, who continue to hope, however, that there'll be a day of accounting.

Expected Better Showing

Most disappointed and disillusioned of all was Coach Chapman, who has not had much to say.

"I knew, of course, that Amarillo had the better team," Chapman sadly recalled, "but I thought our boys were going to give a better account of themselves. I thought they were mentally ready for the game, and fired to give the Sandies a load of trouble. I had no hopes of winning, few hopes anyway, but I surely thought we'd make it tougher for them. Our boys did everything but play football. They were nervous and jittery, I realize, but they sure didn't play football."

Chapman hinted that a different lineup might start in the last two games. He plans to take several members of the Cowhand team to Clovis, hoping they'll hop to the chance of replacing some of the "regulars." In workouts, the hustling Cowhands have at times made the "varsity" look rather ill.

As the line failed to function Wednesday, so did the backs fail to get loose, and Lubbock's backfield stars, at least one of whom was thought to be virtually as dangerous as Amarillo's best, never had a chance to show his stuff.

But the Westerners, from the coach on down, are anxious to make amends for the disappointing showing. They plan to cut lose against Clovis and wind up the season with a sixth victory at the expense of Plainview. They'll be out for blood in the Turkey day game, remembering last year's defeat there.

University Of Washington Is Almost Sure For "Bowl" Bid

SEATTLE, Nov. 14. (AP)—The University of Washington virtually clinched the Western bid to the Pasadena Rose Bowl game New Year's Day, bowling over the University of Southern California, 12 to 0, today to move within one game of the Pacific coast conference football title.

The worst the Huskies can face in their final conference battle with Washington State college here Thanksgiving Day is a tie with the Cougars for the title.

Touring Cadet Team Trounces Utah U., 20-7

Homer Pitner Shows Way For Home-Bound Aggies, Doing Honors On Ground As Air Raid Hits Defense

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 14. — Texas A. & M.'s touring gridders outpointed Utah University's football stalwarts in a rugged battle in Ute bowl today, 20 to 7.

The victory was the brilliant Texans' third in eight days. Last Saturday they drubbed Southern Methodist and Armistice Day University of San Francisco fell victim to a sensational passing attack.

That vaunted Texas aerial circus had an off day against the Indians, however, but a human dynamo, Homer Pitner, 185-pound halfback, more than made up the difference.

Rivalling Pitner for individual honors was Karl Schleckman, giant Utah tackle.

Seven Minutes To Score

It took the Aggies only seven minutes to reach touchdown soil. Accepting a punt on their 26, the Aggies reeled off a series of first downs to Utah's 20. Southpaw Jim Shockey whipped an aerial to Quarterback Richard Vitek for first down on Utah's 7. Pitner squirmed through center to score. William Boyd, halfback, was rushed in to placekick the extra point.

The Indians, thanks to a 27-yard punt return by reserve quarter Newell Call, romped to a first down on Texas' 14 near the end of the first period, but Owen Rogers, reserve halfback, intercepted a pass.

Pitner ripped a hole through Utah's line in the second period, raced 30 yards to midfield. Shockey bolted through another gaping opening to Utah's 18 and Pitner dashed to the Utes' two-yard line. Pitner crossed standing up.

Deware Shags One

Five minutes later, Utah tallied its lone touchdown on a freak. Tacklers swarmed over Quarterback Milton Mecham on the Texas 45. He flipped a wild pass. Halfback Sterling Jensen stole the ball as it bounded out of a dozen eager hands, and sprinted 25 yards to pay turf. Bernard McCarry's placement was good.

After a hapless third period, the Texans opened up in the final quarter for their final points.

Center Charles Deware intercepted a pass on Utah's 38. Pitner made first down in two tries, then added another to place the ball on Utah's 10. Pitner lateraled to Shockey, who crossed standing up. Boyd once more hurried in to add the extra point.

The lineups:

TEXAS A. & M.	Pos.	UTAH
Stages	LT	McDonough
Young	LG	McGarry
Routt	LT	Seibold
Deware	C	Todd
Phythian	RG	Page
Whitfield	RT	Schleckman

Pitner	LH	Snow
Shockey	RH	Jensen
Cummings	FB	Crandall

Periods:

Texas	7	6	0	7	—20
Utah	0	7	0	0	— 7

Texas scoring: Touchdowns: Pitner 2. Shockey. Points from try after touchdown: Boyd (sub halfback) 2 (placements).

Utah scoring: Touchdown: Jensen. Point from try after touchdown: McGarry (placement). Referee, Don Reddish (Stanford); umpire, Roy Cahoon (Utah); head linesman, Al Williams (Cornell).

Galveston Ball Club Sells Tickets For Season Of 1937

GALVESTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Galveston's fight to remain in the Texas Baseball league advanced in a big way today.

Fifteen hundred books of tickets, each good for 60 home games, were off the press and on sale.

Roy J. Koehler, acting president of the club, headed a drive to sell 1,000 of the books. He reported that "the response has been highly enthusiastic."

New Mexico State Defeats University Of New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 14. (AP)—New Mexico State college's Farmers eked out a one-point 7 to 6 victory over the University of New Mexico Lobo eleven here today in a bitterly fought Homecoming day Border conference contest.

Five times the Aggies swept inside the Lobo 20-yard line before they were able to score on the first play in the fourth period.

Lubbock School Grid Team Seeks Two More Games

The Lubbock High school Cowhands, only one of Lubbock's football teams which did not suffer defeat last week, is hunting opposition.

Coach Walker Nichols' boys, who went to town against Littlefield and other Class B teams, is seeking a game for next Friday and still another for Thanksgiving.

"We'll play any class B team, anywhere," Njchols said, backed up by E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic business manager. "If there's a team willing to play us on either date, we would be glad to hear from it."

Lubbock Riders Who Oppose Wichita Falls Team

Daredevil Motorcycle Riders Clash At Ball Park Today

Motor Polo Is Main Event At Baseball Park

Wichita Falls Greyhounds To Challenge Lubbock Champs In Regulation Game; Race Is Added Attraction

Motorcycle polo, one of the fastest growing popular sports in America, is to be presented to Lubbock fans again this afternoon when well trained, well mounted riders from Wichita Falls clash with the recent national champions of Lubbock.

The game starts at 3 o'clock at the Lubbock ball park, located just off College Avenue at Second street.

As added attractions expert riders of each side will compete in time trials and a ten-lap race around the polo field. These short track races, conducted on a flat surface, are also sweeping the country as important sports attractions.

Races will not be featured today, unless the crowd wants more of them after the feature race, but if reaction of the fans warrants it, more races will be scheduled in the future.

The main event today is motorcycle polo, a sport in which Lubbock has excelled for five years.

Not since they bought a rule book and learned the game by themselves five years ago, then invited other and longer practiced teams here to play, have the Lubbock riders been defeated in official competition. Only way a Lubbock team has ever been beaten at the sport was when members of the squad scrimmaged against each other.

Captain Stewart Champlin, who runs the team from the center position and who is one of the most expert motorcycle handlers in West Texas, says his team is ready to defend that record. They'll square off at 3 o'clock against the Greyhounds from Wichita Falls, who contested Lubbock's right to national honors in a couple of hard games two years ago.

The Lubbock starting lineup is to be Dugan Wheeler and Grisham May, forwards; Captain Champlin, center; L. G. Thuett, read guard, and Gomer Custer, goal guard.

Les Myers, captain and manager of the Greyhounds, has announced his starting lineup as follows: Ed Fry and Corky Benson, forwards; Myers, center! Jack Voss, rear guard and Jimmy Smithson, goal keeper.

Motorcycle polo is played on a rectangle 300 feet long by 200 feet wide, with goal posts 20 feet apart at each end, similar to football goal posts. The game is a combination of basketball, hockey, football and polo, and requires hard and fast riding, accurate kicking and a well conditioned physique.

In Lubbock's last start, played before an almost capacity crowd at the ball park, the Redshirts took an 8 to 2 victory from Amarillo.

Haddock, Gene La Belle Meet

Danny And Dale On Same Card But McShain Not Ready To Sign For Main Go With The Circuit's Ruler

Promoter Sled Allen was unable to get Danny McShain on the dotted line with Dale Haddock for his main event wrestling show this week, but he got just about the next toughest opponent available for the Haddock man.

Grouchy Gene La Belle, the bearded Frenchman from Canada, will go against Haddock in the main event Wednesday night at the Auditorium, and fireworks are promised.

La Belle is not one of the most consistent winners in the circuit, but the grizzly faced "foreigner" is by no means a pansy when it comes to the mat business. He's rough and tough, and can take it.

Danny McShain is on the card, but he was unwilling to sign up, at this time, for a go with Haddock. The wild Irishman from Oregon fights Bob Cummings, the scientific grappler from San Francisco, in the semi-final.

Herb Parks, who ruled the circuit during Haddock's absence, is back in the loop, and will engage Buck O'Neil, pudgy Chicago Irishman, in the preliminary.

Skeet Shoot Announced For Local Traps Today At 2:30

Walter Shields announces a skeet and trap shoot at Lubbock Skeet and Gun club traps this afternoon.

The shooting at clay pigeons begins at 2:30 o'clock, and with fair weather prevailing a large crowd is expected.

Sportsmen who anticipate the duck and quail seasons and who wish to improve their markmanship will find skeet and trap shooting good practice.

Pittsburgh Downs Nebraska At Lincoln In 19 To 6 Battle

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 14. (AP) — Pittsburgh's mighty power cracked Nebraska's football barriers today and generated the momentum for decisive victory over the Cornhuskers, 19 to 6.

A crowd of 36,000 fans watched the Panthers come from behind in a spectacular second period, score twice within the last two minutes of the half as they capitalized the "breaks" and thereafter maintain complete command of the game.

SPORTSTER by COLLIER PARRIS

AFTER A DISMAL week of local athletics, we should welcome the chance to see a winner play today.

As the Amarillo Sandies are to Amarillo high school football, so are the daredevilish Redshirts to Lubbock motorcycle polo. They're back on the field this afternoon, and if you like to follow winners, follow the Redshirts to the ball park. They play the Wichita Falls Greyhounds, at 3 o'clock. There'll be racing, as an added attraction, the number of races depending on the fans.

OF course it's no cast iron cinch that the Redshirts will win today. The season is full of upsets, but the last word in upsets would be a Wichita Falls victory. The Greyhounds expect to give Lubbock their toughest competition since the Redshirts copped the national pennant. And they may do it.

We had a pretty cocky letter from Les Myers, captain and manager of the Wichita Falls team. The visitors at least are not afraid of the Redshirts and their reputation.

Amarillo's yellow-shirted Rough Riders, who played Lubbock a good game a few weeks ago, are seeking a return game. If good weather continues, they may be with us in another Sunday or two.

But just now we're concerned with the Greyhounds and their polo. Some of the Wichita Falls riders have challenged the locals to some racing, and motorcycle racing on a one-fifth mile track has its thrills. It's flat track racing, and full of dangerous possibilities. There'll be time trials after the polo game, the four winners to compete in a ten-lap race.

Now the racing is thrown in as a free, added attraction. The main event is polo. If fans turn out and if they're enthusiastic over the races, there may be more and better races, with purses worth the best efforts of the best racers in this section.

THE FOOTBALL LINEUP for this week is not without glamour and stirring possibilities.

Headlining the card in Lubbock is the Texas Tech-DePaul game, booked for Friday afternoon at Tech Stadium.

Coach Jim Kelly's Chicago team is coming after blood. They almost got it last year at Soldiers Field, where Tech played a lethargic 0-0 tie, but the Blue Demons haven't forgotten the awful pasting they got here two years ago, and Kelly has sent advance information that that's the game his lads will have in mind.

It's Tech's final home game of the season. Regardless of your feelings after the Loyola bebacle, you should plan now to give the Scarlets a hail and farewell next Friday.

At the same time, the Lubbock Westerners will be playing their next to last game, going to Clovis for the annual tilt with the Wildcats. The Westerners should pick this game up, also the finale on Thanksgiving with Plainview, and it will have been a good season, six victories in nine games, and an even break in another.

TECH'S FRESHMAN gridders made it a perfect week—for Lubbock's opposition—by dropping a Homecoming game at Altus Junior college Friday night.

Judging from the report, the Picadors had everything but goal line punch and a pass defense. Glen Bufkin, former Amarillo High star, was the big gun for Tulsa, tossing for almost as many touchdowns as Altus made first downs. Statistics showed the Picadors to have a ground offense in midfield. Takes quite a lot of running to pick up 300 yards and 15 first downs. But they fumbled and stumbled at crucial moments, and when the football week was over, Lubbock teams stood this way:

Junior High Cowboys 6; Big Spring juniors 7.

Lubbock High Westerners 0; Amarillo High 34.

Texas Tech 7; Loyola at L. A. 26.

Tech freshmen 7; Altus Jr. college 28.

That week should be something to remember when future fight talks are offered. It'll take time to erase memory of last week's Lubbock football.

". . . And if you don't apologize, right pronto, we're gonna whip the holy hell out of you and string you to the nearest goal post!"

Yes sir, that's what some Lubbock High football players are going to do to this representative of the press if he doesn't make amends right quick for them there rash statements in Friday's colyum. They told us so, right to our face—and they can do it, too! So maybe we'd better back up, because the supply of reserves on this sports staff is about as scarce as reserves on the Lubbock High team.

WE are aware, also, that those big fearless boys on the Lubbock team wouldn't have much trouble manhandling this department, in fair fisticuffs or rough-and-tumble, even if they can't make any impression on eleven similar sized boys from Amarillo High. So we'd better start feelin' sorry. We're no big, bad Blondy Cross when it comes to this here choosing up, or doubling in right crosses.

To get the other folks straight, let it be explained that an "indication" corps of four husky athletes and a father-in-law called on us Friday night and pointed out in no uncertain terms the error of our ways in criticizing certain Westerner players through the col'm. Of course, one of the prominent spokesman of the group was one of the lads indirectly referred to in the column, a lad whom we have praised to the skies in former "write-ups" both for his football ability and his boxing prowess. They demanded immediate retraction of inferences, etc. So rather than take a chance of getting our non-too-handsome features further marred, here goes the apology:

We're sorry, boys, to have upset

Navonod Takes First In Rich Waggoner Race

C. E. Davison Horse Sprints Down Stretch To Win From Tempestuous And Favorite In Arlington's Feature

BY WILLIAM T. RIVES

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Nov. 14. (AP)—Navanod, sleek star of the C. E. Davison stable, bolted like a startled deer at the finish line to defeat 14 rivals and take the plum of Texas racing, the $15,000 Waggoner Memorial handicap, here today.

A crowd estimated at about 25,000 persons, shrieked in surprise as the overlooked campaigner overtook Tempestuous in a thrilling battle down the stretch, setting a new track record for the mile and a furlong of 1:50 3-5.

Tempestuous, Mrs. T. Stevenson's ace, was beaten down only a few feet from the end. Navanod poked his nose ahead in a leap at the line to defeat Tempestuous and Star Shadow, another favorite which finished strongly, but a length and a half behind the place horse.

Pays $66.40 To Win

Navanod returned $66.40, $33.70 and $8.60 to a few lucky persons. Form prices were rewarded backers of Tempestuous, which paid $6.10 and $3.90, and Star Shadow, A. A. Baroni veteran, which returned $2.50.

Navanod's startling upset was accomplished by a great display of endurance and a great ride by dexterous Jockey H. Hauer. Hauer kept his mount well in the rear during the early running, pulled up slowly to sixth place at the three-quarter mark, drove to second position near the line and bore ahead vigorously to overtake the tiring Tempestuous at the finish line.

Frenship Girls Win Fourth Straight Basketball Game

WOLFFORTH, Nov. 14. (Special) Frenship High school's girls basketball forces added to their winning column Friday night by taking two games from Cooper High, the senior girls winning 42 to 5 and the juniors copping a 9 to 6 victory. It was the fourth straight victory for each Frenship team.

In the senior game, Helen Alexander chalked up 21 points to lead in scoring. Oleta Graston and Louise Welch were helpful teammates. The guards, Oden, Bailey and Hinson, were so effective that not a single field goal was registered by the Cooper forwards. In four games, the seniors have scored 143 points to 40 for the opposition.

The Frenship Seniors defeated Idalou earlier in the week, at Idalou, 25 to 23, in a close contest, while the Juniors took a 9 to 4 victory. Helen Alexander scored 23 of Frenship's points.

Only Polo Game Here Today Is Motor Polo; Horses To Be Ridden In Game Nov. 22

Recent announcement of a polo game schedule between Lubbock horsemen and another team was premature, a representative of polo interests said yesterday.

A game is being planned for Next Sunday, Nov. 22, Claude Huribut, local enthusiast, said, not for today.

Rebel's Labor Bloc Pleases

Followers Of John Lewis Encouraged At Results Of Two Skirmishes; One Plan To Be Abolished

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Followers of John L. Lewis rejoiced today in the results of two preliminary skirmishes against an employee's representation plan in the agricultural implement industry and against the proposed flexible pay scale in steel.

On complaint of the United Automobile workers, a member of the Lewis camp of industrial unionists, the national labor relations board moved to demolish the "harvester industrial council plan" in operation at the Fort Wayne, Ind., plant of the International Harvester company.

The board held the workers' representation plan was a "creature" of the company that the company dominated it and that it gave workers only a "shadow" of collective bargaining.

Labor Opinion Announced

The other encouragement to the Lewis forces was Secretary of Labor Perkins' opinion that employee representatives of the Carnegie-Illinois steel company had no authority under the company's employee representation plan to sign a wage agreement on behalf of fellow workers.

Two employee representatives in "revolt," George A. Patterson and Elmer J. Maloy hoped to present a petition to President Roosevelt asking his help in their fight against the wage agreement. They said the petition did not pertain to the angle covered by Miss Perkins' opinion, but they declined to discuss its contents.

jury yet. We were playing then with only two backs and three linemen, in good shape, off four first team. The Browning boys did fine jobs at tackles, and Pete Owens played a whale of a game at guard. Ramsey did his best, but couldn't go hard enough to catch passes.

"The star of the whole game," and here Cawthon became eloquent, "was George Winters. Boy, he played some ball game, backing up the line. He made nearly every tackle we made all day. If we made 100 tackles, old George made 95 of them. When the game was over, Tom Lieb, the Loyola coach, came around to George, complimented him highly and wanted him to tell how he did it. Yes sir, that Winters boy played himself a ball game.

"Our punting was poor, our passing pretty terrible. Neill was not himself, fell far below his usual standard. Baze played a nice game.

Holcomb And Pedro

"Bill Holcomb and Pete Owens played mighty good ball. It was the first time this season Holcomb has been fired up, and he went to town. The other tackles did good work."

The team now is in a bad way for a right halfback, Duval being on the questionable list and Ed Smith being injured. "Without Duval in there to block, our offense wasn't so much. With West, Wiginton and Jones had to quit, our team was practically shot, because they're mighty important."

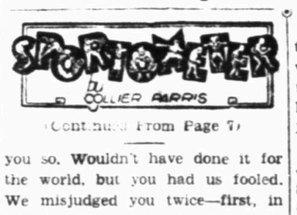

Line Coach Smith was giving a couple of backs, a guard and a tackle a going over yesterday trying to find a right end. The group was weeded down to the linemen, who are Bull Katrois, tackle, and Jim Brown, guard, both of the reserve team but plenty potent.

Goings-On At George M. Hunt School Would Surprise Non-Visiting Group

you so. Wouldn't have done it for the world, but you had us fooled. We misjudged you twice—first, in thinking you were good enough to carry out the teachings of your coach, who is, in our estimation, the best informed coach in the state, put the teachings with your physical attributes and give Amarillo a little trouble; and, second, in thinking you could "take it" when it came to justifiable criticism.

Now let's see what manner of men you are. You see, YOU are the ones who owe apologies.

It might interest you boys to know that while only five of you, including a father-in-law, expressed your indignation, before and after your visit no less than a dozen persons, including a few students, a faculty man and some of your staunchest town fans, called by telephone to commend our criticism, and more than that number stopped us on the street to make personal observations in favor of such criticism. But in no case was the caller or talker critical of Coach Chapman, nor in any way ready to "give up" on Lubbock High. On the other hand, all of them were ready to do what they could to "help Lubbock beat Amarillo."

Larry Kelly Leads Elis To 26-23 Win Over Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14. (AP)—Larry Kelley, who recently said "there can't be an All-American team without me" led Yale to a spectacular 26-23 victory over Princeton today before a capacity crowd of 57,000 who saw the Blues, rallying sensationally around their inspirational leader, come from behind twice to overtake the Tigers.

Kelley, was completely bottled up in the first half, but the Tigers relaxed their vigilance in the second half and that was all the Williamsport, Pa., wizard needed.

Paintings Of Tech Man Are Placed On Downtown Display

Six water colors by Robert Lockhart, assistant professor of architecture and allied arts at Texas Technological college, were placed on display Saturday in a window of Sansom Paint and Paper company, 1218 Avenue K.

The exhibits are arranged by Mrs. W. D. Girand, sr.

Dr. Jackson Of Tech Speaks Before Society At Midland

Dr. D. D. Jackson, associate professor of education at Texas Technological college, addressed members of Delta Kappa Gama, national Educational honorary society, at a quarterly meeting in Midland Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Jackson substituting for Dr. Bradford Knapp, Texas Technological college president who was unable to attend because of illness, spoke on "Basic Educational Philosophy in a New Social Order."

Mrs. J. A. Haley, member of board of regents for Texas Technological college, spoke briefly.

To parents who did not avail themselves of the opportunity to visit Lubbock primary schools during the past week, an account of what has been going on in George M. Hunt school may sound strange.

For instance, on Friday in Mrs. Josephine Ballenger's room, John Sam Lewis had a birthday party, and it was included in the school day's program. The party worked into the room's program because it was a Centennial party, and this particular room has just finished the construction of their own West Texas Centennial. Seventeen pupils from other rooms in the school were invited and were entertained by the room's orchestra and program committee.

Mexican Market Created

Mrs. Pearl Watson's room has been constructing a Mexican market during their study of Mexico, while Miss Margaret Bell's room spent the final days of the week completing their pet picture show made during their study of pets. Miss Evelyn Jones' room picked the fall season to begin a study of science that includes investigation of leaves, worms, cacoons, roaches, and pine burrs.

One thing has led to another in Mrs. Shaver' second year room. First the children began making money to build a midget city. Then, when their pennies began to pile up, they felt the need for a bank, so they arranged for one. They have begun investigation into lending and borrowing, dealing in mathematical problems which will create twice the interest of one found in a printed book.

Creative Frienze Modeled

An autumn creative frieze is being made by students in Miss Katie B. Crump's room. Miss Mildred Booke's students have made their own exhibit on transportation, including models of wood and clay, drawings, reading charts and even a picture show. Models of the first five trains made are the pride of the room.

Students in Miss Edith Whitlock's room began studying a circus unit, and by the time they had completed it they were so interested in modes of transportation used by the circus and company that they have begun and cooperation are being stressed.

Miss Susie Shipp's students are working in groups, with some children working on transportation, others on creative drawings, sand tables, etc.

Organized Play Presented

Assembly at Hunt school on Thursday was presented by Miss Mittie Jones' room, giving an original play on farm life.

Safety, courtesy, health, kindness, an cooperation are being stressed in a study for a trip being made in Mrs. L. C. Ellis' room. Mrs. Dorothea Hodges' pupils are making a floor picture of the first Thanksgiving as well as a shadow picture for the Thanksgiving assembly program.

Miss Ruby Hill's room has practically adopted a dog they call "Wahu". "Wahu" first attracted the children's attention when he was found looking both ways at corners for automobiles. He has become a safety mascot for the children, and they are now engaged in building him a house.

Buddy, shown below in a purely domestic pose, carries a market basket with orders enclosed to the corner grocery every morning, delivers the laundry, and generally leads a pretty useful life.

Whisky, Army Mule, Inspires Kick Of Reverence; Mercy Bullet Fired

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 14. (AP)—The men of the 28th infantry mourned a mule today but, they hasten to assure you, he wasn't an ordinary mule.

He was whisky.

No man in the regiment recalls whence he came. He survived a war, a bandit hunting trip, an order to kill all old mules—but he couldn't beat old age.

Some of the regiment's oldsters say Whisky was with the 28th's mule corps at Fort Snelling, Minn., in 1910. He was on the Mexican border and hauled a gun into Vera Cruz. He went to France with the regiment, sniffed the smoke of many battles.

Experts in muledom placed his age at 22, and that was why, when the order went out a year ago to destroy all old and surplus animals in the service, the 28th trembled for Whisky.

A unanimous protest won him an exemption, but Whiskey was on the downgrade. He couldn't get on his feet, his teeth were gone, he moved feebly if he moved at all.

So Private Walter Moskal, the 28th's best shot, stroked Whisky's bullet-like head, scratched him behind the ears—and shot him this week.

Whisky sleeps in the shadow of the post hospital at Fort Niagara. The grave is unmarked, but the 28th intends to do something about that.

A 30-year-old Lubbock county man was held for a forgery investigation.

J. B. Vickery of 2011 Avenue R said an overcoat valued at $4.50 had been taken from his automobile downtown.

Three of five persons held for investigation into burglaries here Wednesday night and Thursday morning were released during the day.

Distribution of social security forms to Lubbock employers is scheduled for Monday, said Postmaster Amos Howard.

The blanks are to be distributed to every firm that has in its employ one or more persons less than 65 years old.

Exceptions are for persons in self-employment, employes of railroads, agricultural workers, domestic servants in private homes, casual labor not in the course of the employers trade or business, sailors and officers, government employes of state or federal service or any municipality, and employes of religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational associations or organizations.

All forms are to be returned not later than November 21. Later, forms for employes to fill out will be distributed.

Resuming Traffic Control On Her Rivers, Germany Kicks Versailles Treaty In Face And Spurns Commissions

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 14. — Germany shook off another of her World war "peace shackles" today by resuming control of traffic on her rivers and repudiating international governing commissions set up by the Treaty of Versailles.

Signatories of the Versailles pact were advised that Germany considers the internationalization clause to assure foreign traffic equal rights with German shipping is no longer valid.

Henceforth river traffic and the strategic Kiel canal will be subject to only German regulation, the third reich announced.

Traffic Control Possible

A foreign office spokesman said the step was a "mere shaking off of Versailles control" but that traffic would not be affected, although renunciation of the internationalization clause put Germany in a position to restrict foreign traffic on the upper Rhine if it should be fortified or on any other river in the event of emergency.

The newest break from World war treaty restrictions followed by eight months rearmament of the Rhineland, also in violation of the Versailles pact and a step that roused France to vigorous protest.

WHAT IS PUPIL DILATION AND HOW IS IT PRODUCED? Nature provided muscles to regulate the size of the pupil to control the amount of light entering the eye in proportion to the intensity of the light. Excessive light is very injurious. Reaction of the pupil is to contract, reducing the amount of light entering the eye. Light of less than normal intensity necessitates more light entering the eyes, to maintain normal or near normal vision. These muscles act involuntarily.

Fixed abnormal pupil dilation is produced by a drug instilled into the eyes which paralyzes the muscles, hence Nature is interferred with, preventing the regulation of the size of the pupil as required by light stimulation. In this condition, eyes cannot be used for near work. Remember this, no drug can refract light or the human eye. Our Modern Scientific Optometrical Eye Examinations Are Safe and Free From Pupil Dilation.

Activities To Be hown

A panorama of scout and cubbing activities will be unfolded both nights of the circus. The entire program, in costume and with completed paraphernalia, will be practiced Tuesday, including; Opening pageant, grand entry, presentation of special guests, tenderfoot investiture, whip-cracking, cubbing, fire building, first aid, flying trapeze, contests and games, Indians and totem pole parade, communications, bicycle parade, airplanes, camping, pioneering, and closing campfire circle.

Committees reaching into civic clubs, church groups and business circles of the area for members have been at work approximately two months in behalf of the circus. The last committee group to start in action began a ticket sales campaign during the past week.

Proceeds To Troops

Proceeds will go to scout troops on a percentage basis according to the number of tickets sold and to defray costs of the circus. Scout, cub, and adult groups are sponsoring ticket selling campaigns over the area, with general admissions at 25 cents. Reserved seats for 25 cents additional are to go on sale Monday. General admissions will cost 35 cents if bought at the gate.

Because of anticipated throngs expected at the Tech gym both nights, officials have announced that Friday has been designated Lubbock night, and Saturday, "out-of-town" night.

London had a fog which was practically continuous from November, 1879, to February, 1880, the longest period of fog ever recorded there.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Slipping tendencies again prevailed in today's abbreviated stock market session as traders evinced some misgivings over the possibility of federal legislation to stem the foreign buying rush in American securities. Brokers also theorized the sharpness of the post-election advance may have had something to do with the "corrective" reversal.

After a fast opening the volume dwindled appreciably.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .3 of a point at 70.9, its fourth successive day's setback. Transfers totalled 1,194,330 shares against 1,746,280 last Saturday, which was the largest two-hour turnover since February.

Mining shares again led the retreat with declines of 1 to 2 points.

Others behind as much as a point or more were U. S. Steel at 74¾, Bethlehem 70½, General Motors 73¾.

FEEDING OUT SHEEP

ABERNATHY, (Special)—James Bledsoe, local feeder, and W. G. Murray, have received about 5,000 head of sheep from New Mexico. Mr. Bledsoe received 12 carloads and Mr. Murray eight cars.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14. (AP)—The cotton market today failed to hold its early gains and ended net unchanged to a point higher.

First prices were the best for the day and the remainder of the session was occupied by a gradual decline down to levels prevailed at the close Friday.

Dec. ended at 11.70, Jan. at 11.56, March at 11.55 and Oct. at 11.66. The average price of middling spot cotton was 12.03 cents a pound.

Most of those sections where cotton still remained to be picked reporting higher temperatures and no rain, the market was bearish.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Foreign buying accounted for early advances in cotton today but prices reacted under hedge selling and week-end liquidation. March declined from 11.64@11.56 and closed at 11.59, with prices generally ending unchanged to 3 points net higher.

Opening advances of 6 to 8 points were in response to firm Liverpool cables.

A record October domestic cotton consumption of 646,499 bales, against 629,727 last month and 552,840 last year attracted some of the buying.

Southern offerings were fairly liberal and December liquidation was more in evidence.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP)—In a market that climbed today from first to last, Chicago wheat dealings ended strong showing December contracts at the highest weekly close this season.

Wheat closed firm, ⅝ to 1⅛ cents above yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.18⅝@1.18¾, May 1.14⅝@1.14¾, July 1.00⅝@1.01; corn ¼ off to ¼ up, Dec. 1.02⅝@1.02½, May new 95⅝@96, July new 92⅝@92⅞, oats ⅛ to ⅜ advanced, Dec. 43⅜, and rye showing 1 cent to 1⅞ cents bulge, Dec. 90. Provisions results varied from 2 cents decline to 20 cents gain.

Corn prices were inclined to sag, despite wheat strength. Receipts and country offerings were somewhat larger, and weather conditions favorable.

Rye and oats sympathized with wheat. Both December and May rye reached new peak prices for the season.

Provisions averaged higher, reflecting demand from shorts.

Jackson, Mississippi, Man Is Reelected By Gin Association

DALLAS, Nov. 14. (AP)—G. M. Lester of Jackson, Miss., again headed the National Ginners' association today.

He was re-elected at convention sessions yesterday. Also re-elected were John C. Thompson of Dallas, vice-president, and Carl Williams of Jackson, Tenn., secretary-treasurer.

Lester told delegates cotton picking machines would pick cotton but that doubt remained as to their practicability.

NEARS 4,000 MARK

SPUR, (Special)—Six gins here, up to November 11, had ginned 3,711 bales of the 1936 crop, a check showed. McAdoo gins had turned out 330 bales; Dickens 300. Local ginners expect 5,000 bales by the first of the year, and a probable total of above that, some placing the final at 8,000 bales.

Las Leales Members Receive In Overton Home Saturday With Four Hundred Guests Calling For Tea

AN attractive affair for collegians this week-end was Las Leales open house honoring new members Saturday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock in the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Overton, 1808 Broadway.

Decorations of white and green, club colors, were used throughout the house with autumn flowers and leaves of the season.

Mrs. Barton Gives Principles To Guide Parents In Choosing Books

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The theme for Children's Book Week, "Books to Grow On — The Modern World for Young Readers," does not mean that the dear old standbys that Mother and Daddy used to love need be neglected; yet it calls attention to the fact that modern books by brilliant and sympathetic authors, both fiction and non-fiction, should play a big part in every child's library.

Don't let this word, "library," frighten you. Even one book can constitute a library. "Mother Goose" alone contains the wisdom of the ages.

But, if the child is reasonably careful, soon he has quite a little family of books. What they are, depends largely on the judgment of mothers and relatives. So I think that a good rule to follow in buying is to vary selections. For every old favorite, classic if you like, that rings familiar, add one of the modern books.

What if you don't know the author or recognize the name? Look it over and say to yourself, "This is different. It seems to be lively and alert." Or at least try to see it through the child's eyes rather than your own, and say, "How he will enjoy this!"

Before I go into the matter of the newest books, I am here giving memory a nudge. You and I can easily forget the names of some that are not so far past.

Perhaps it was Milne's "Christopher Robin" you could not think of, or Kipling's "Jungle Book" or "Just So Stories." Maybe Joel Chandler Harris's "Nights with Uncle Remus." It couldn't be Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," because nobody

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

THE colored servant had been with the family for years. The family moved to a pent house and after some of the furniture had been moved in, the old servant came up to look things over, it being her first experience with high up rooms.

"My, my," she my, my'd, "they used to build these things for pigeons, and now people live in them."

CONCERNING INSOMNIA

OF a woman who is gaining some fame as an actress we read: "Troubled with insomnia, she stays up all hours of the night. She can spin the most entrancing tales to keep her guests until dawn, and when they finally depart, she wanders off to bed, tossing until sunrise and then sleeping soundly until noon (when she isn't working)."

We're glad they added that parenthetical expression, else we'd have had a theory exploded — that a working person never is troubled with chronic insomnia. Oh, you'll find those who are unable to sleep regularly due to a cold or some other little disorder, but the majority sleep their eight hours and groan when the alarm clock sounds. We've known only two persons who were bothered with sleepless hours at night. One was a woman, who has since died of cancer, who arose at shortly after midnight and sat in her porch swing waiting the dawn. What her tortured thoughts were during those many nights before the disease claimed her no one knew. The other is that inimitable Dutch Mantell of Amarillo.

Dutch rides with the patrol car, haunts night workers and telephones his sleeping friends night after night and then takes cat naps all during the day.

PLAYGOERS LEAGUE PLAY

MEMBERS of the Playgoers League will be interested in learning that since the election is over, Benjamin Franklin, who seems to be a chairman of the national organization in New York City, promises that he will send a play our way in the near future. That will close the season. His plans are not to open a membership here next year. It appears that we are so much off of the beaten path that it costs too much to bring the best talent they have. (Well you don't have to believe that!)

At any rate hadn't you rather wait and get a better play than that first one, for instance, than to rush them? We'll let you know as soon as we learn anything definite.

SCATTERINGS

THE title of James Hilton's new novel, which is announced for spring publication, is "We Are Not Alone." . . . Beautiful Emilie Mae Bass, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Bass of Port Worth, who is to be presented with other debutantes at a Steeple Chase ball late this month, attended Texas Technological college last year. She was a member of Las Chaparritas club. . . . Many are looking forward with pleasure to the appearance of Robert LaFollette here Wednesday night at Senior High school auditorium. He appears here as a member of the Tech Artists course. He is said to be remarkably like his late father, one of the most gifted of politicians. . . . The latest recipe for longevity comes from a North Carolinian who attributes his attainment of 101 years to "working hard and drinking plenty of buttermilk." Well it's impossible to work very hard immediately after drinking buttermilk. . . . Dallas political gossipers are mentioning Elliott Roosevelt's name as a possible Texas gubernatorial candidate in 1938.

ALAS AND ALACK!

JUST to show you how one must suffer for her ideals, we quote from a paragraph in the Gaines County News, written by the editor, Willard Bright: "If we could just get the Avalanche's Margaret Turner's mind off Robert Taylor, we might add her to variety's vast fan following. That reminded me of something! Here I have finished No. 3 and waiting for lesson 4 on 'How to Fascinate Women in Five Easy Lessons,' and that Seminole Flapper still swears Robert Taylor is her 'dream man'! Heck! Thain't no justice!"

Well, we're sorry Mr. Bright but we can't get our mind off of Mr. Taylor. Why waste your time and money on studying lessons on how to fascinate women. Why not go to see Robert Taylor and learn in one? With Mr. Taylor's methods you might surprise the Seminole Flapper.

The forum is planning to use the proceeds for charity tonsilectomies. Tickets were given to members Tuesday and approximately 42 tables have already been sold, Mrs. Marshall said.

Play On Broadway Is To Be Reviewed For Tech Society

The Tech Book Reviewers club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the lounge of the women's dormitory to hear Miss Eron Gafford review, "Dead End" (Kingsley), play showing on Broadway for the second year. This is a drama showing how boys who live in the slums learn of gangster life. Miss Gafford, a sophomore student from Panhandle, is majoring in speech.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McClellan, newlyweds, were honored at a shower given Friday night by young people of Cumberland Presbyterian church in the church basement. Sixty-six persons attended.

Mrs. McClellan, before her marriage, November 7, was Miss Mabel Hudson.

Tunics Are Favorites For Winter

The tunic design is a big favorite in both frocks and jackets this season. Here it appears in a trim street dress of deep blue acetate crepe finished with black wood buttons and link belt. A silver fox cape, blue felt off-the-face hat and black suede shoes and bag make the frock ready for street wear.

J. Sam Lewis, Jr., Seven, Is Honored On His Birthday

John Sam Lewis, jr., whose seventh birthday was November 12, was honored when his mother, Mrs. J. Sam Lewis, entertained Friday afternoon in the Little Theater at George M. Hunt school. Guests were pupils of the second grade and th teacher, Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, and several other children and teachers.

A Centennial program, which children of the second grade room previously had presented, was part of the entertainment. It included: "Amaryllis" and "The Eyes of Texas", played by the Jack and Jill orchestra, directed by Billie Arnold Campbell; "Home On the Range" played by the orchestra with John Sam as soloist; costume pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags" with the following portrayals:

Master of ceremonies, Travis Elliott; Indian, Jackie Houk; Frenchman, Billie Arnold; Spaniard, Mary Fay Bonds; Mexican, James Donald Pruitt; Texan (under flag of republic), Edna Mae Fullerton; citizen (under flag of United States), Clarence Earton; Confederate, James Coy Hamilton; statue of liberty, Jewell Fay Ince. Piano accompaniments were played by Miss Margaret Bell.

Vera Evelyn Hill and Frances James assisted in the serving of refreshments in the music room. A Centennial motif was featured in decorations. The cake was decorated with a U. S. and a Texas flag and red candles.

After the gifts were opened, the group went to the second grade room which for several weeks has been decorated in Centennial motif as a project. Miniature "buildings" like those on the Central Centennial grounds line the walls. At the "motors building" John Sam and Travis passed out small cars and planes as souvenirs. At the "foods building" Joyce Elliott gave lollipops to each guest.

Other children of the room attending were John Wilson Arendall, Jimmie Davis, Billy Dick Graves, Kenneth Moore, Richard Tivis, James Toler, Peggy Adams, Billy Sue Blackburn, Betty Jo Bragg, Merle Dew, Bobby Sue Emery and Betty June Hardt.

Other guests were Ruth Cobb, Betty Lou Williams, Elizabeth Knox Craig, Paul Laverty, jr., Harold Wall, Martha Jane Bucy, H. B. Earthman, jr., Mary Jane and Jack Hinchey, Darlyne and Venton Doughtie, Don Lyle and Billy Joe Meyers, Miss Mary Meador, Mrs. L. C. Ellis, Miss Juno Glasscock and Mr. Lewis.

From Lou To Louella

Brief Bits Of News And Gossip About Folks' Comings, Goings And Doings

DEAR Louella: Don't you just love this time of year? This gorgeous weather, and all the interesting things that are going on?

In the fall, it is so much fun to give a party. As soon as one holiday is over one can begin decorating with the motif of the next one. Week before last saw the last Halloween decorations, last week the red, white and blue finale and now next week's parties will feature the turkey and puritan motif. After that its the jolly old Santa season.

By the way, did you notice where the WTCU is waging a campaign against loading St. Nick down with cans of beer and whisky bottles in advertisements. I guess their idea is to keep his memory as the "spirit of Christmas" rather than the "spirits of Christmas". Anyhow, the temperance women are right in every way except one. Where do they get the idea that Santa is the patron saint of just children?

I'm Getting Excited

Already the Christmas spirit is manifest about the city. I have heard a number of people say they have finished their shopping. (Imagine!) and even I have bought but not addressed my greeting cards. Everyone is talking about benefits. They are getting the spirit to give early. It ought to be a good year.

There will be two benefits Tuesday. The A. A. U. W. is sponsoring an educational movie Tuesday at the Lindsey theater and it is recommended so highly that Dr. K. E. Oberholtzer saw fit to dismiss school for children above the fifth grade long enough to attend the morning matinee. Tuesday night the Lubbock Woman's forum is giving a bridge party to make money to further their charity tonsilectomy project. Tickets will be on sale soon for the Junior Welfare league charity ball in December. Money from that goes to the Milam orphanage.

ANOTHER thing about Christmas that is casting its shadows this far ahead is the wedding fever. Have you ever seen anything like it, or is it like this every year? The most exciting thing, in my opinion, is the secret marriage that threaten any day to get announced. I just learned Friday of a secret marriage that had been going on for three years. It defeats me to know so much and be on my word of honor not to tell.

There is a popular young man about town who is going to be very much envied during the Christmas holidays. He is to accompany about six charming Tech co-eds to New York City. One of the gals is going to visit her fiance, a Tech graduate who is studying interior decorating up there. Does that give you a lead?

Kin To Shirley

I heard that Mrs. M. D. Temple who is visiting here from Los Angeles is a distant relative of the famous Shirley. I thought I would ask her if it were true when I met her the other day, but I decided to be original, and didn't. I think it is true, though.

It was my good fortune to get acquainted with Mercedes Libby, a charming young native of Porto Rico of Bostonian and Porto Rican descent. Armistice Day. She and her mother moved here about five or six weeks ago to be near her two brothers, students at Tech, and sister, Mrs. A. B. Strehli. She says she likes Lubbock people better than any she has seen in this country, and she is widely traveled.

THE same day I met another interesting person, a fellow scribe—Miss Louise Evans of Amarillo—who is the sort of news reporter I thought I'd like to be when I was in journalism school. According to those who've seen her in action, she's the type of feminine reporter that the motion pictures have glorified: Quick witted, adept at writing, attractive to look upon and fully capable of handling the bad tempers of disgruntled readers and jibes of newspapermen.

Marion Aderton, 21-2 month old daughter of the Bud Adertons, spent part of the afternoon of Friday the thirteenth getting passed from one inkstained reporter to another and a few bystanders such as Bo Sexton. The occasion was her first visit to the office and it almost caused a riot. Wayne, her mother, who used to be one of our co-workers, stood by and let 'em all argue over the correct way to hold a baby. When Marion first arrived she was dressed spotlessly and delicately in pink and white. She has deep blue eyes and a pug nose like Bud's.

Ruth Hurmence Green sent word from Los Angeles that Ross Watson, a former Tech student who is working out there now, was to get married Tuesday (of last week). The bride was Miss Jewerlyn (the best I could make out Ruth's handwriting) Ware of Mineral Wells. Ruth said Ross was excited and didn't care who knew it.

Incidentally, Marion Hurmence was among those football fans who went to California last week.

Yours, Lou.

Legion Meet Is Postponed

Meeting Of 19th District Of American Legion Is Delayed Until Dec. 5-6; Leaders Will Be In City

Meeting of the 19th district of the American Legion has been postponed until Dec. 5-6 in order to have two state and one national legion leaders here, said W. O. (Dan) Daniels, commander of the Lubbock post.

The convention originally was scheduled for Nov. 20-21.

Meetings Coincide

The advance date oincides with the meeting of the 18th district convention in Amarillo. Drury Phillips, commander of the Texas department, Huntsville; Fred E. Young, departmental adjutant, Austin, and Bryan H. Keathley, national chaplain, Mineral Wells, will appear at both conventions, said Daniels.

J. I. Kilpatrick is general chairman of the arrangements committee for the meeting here.

Additional plans for the convention will be made at a regular legion meeting in the hall, at 910 Texas avenue, Monday night, Nov. 23.

The 19th district has about 1,500 ex-service men who are members of the American Legion, said Daniels.

Hundreds Attend School Exercises

Although a complete check had not been made on all adult visitors in Lubbock schools during American Education week through Friday afternoon, a check at mid-day Friday revealed that 1,980 visitors had been in the schools up to that time. All schools in the city were holding open house while they continued with their regular studies so that parents and patrons of the school might view the institutions just as they are all during the year.

Dupre school reported the largest number of visitors, with K. Carter second.

Probably the largest turn-out was on Monday evening when Dupre, K. Carter and George M. Hunt schools held open house. Junior High school had the next largest group of parents at one time on Friday afternoon when various groups presented culminating activities. Sanders school had 75 parents attend its Parent-Teacher meeting on Thursday evening, as well as 50 other visitors during the week. At Guadalupe 60 parents and patrons visited the school on Tuesday evening when open house was held. Central Ward did not have a special visiting time, but parents visited at their convenience to see various activities. Parents of children in Senior High school probably felt less free to visit their school, or received less encouragement from their "grown-up" children. However, many parents of Senior High students visited during vocational guidance group programs on Thursday morning and the special assembly program on Thursday afternoon.

Christian Council Group To Have Luncheon Monday

A covered dish luncheon, book review and stewardship program are scheduled for the educational department of the First Christian Woman's council Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the church annex. Mrs. W. R. Blake is luncheon chairman.

"My Great, Wide, Beautiful World" (Juanita Harrison) will be reviewed by Mrs. J. A. Frazier and Mrs. H. W Moore will sing.

In cooperation with the church finance committee and other organizations, the council is sponsoring the stewardship observance.

Wife Is Freed

Children's Books

ever forgets that.

Let me go on and mention just a few more. "Wind in the Willows," by Kenneth Grahame (Scribners); E. Nesbit Bland's "Five Children" (familiars in collective form) (Coward-McCann); "Little Lame Prince," by Craik (Harper), and the Lucy Fitch Perkins "Twin Books" (Houghton Mifflin). I am, of course, not going too far into the deep past, because some of these mentioned are not so old, as I said. But mother was a girl only a very few years ago, you see, and Daddy a lanky boy.

The list of these treasures is endless, so I am almost tempted to give up this reminiscence. There are, for the bit older child, Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer"; and the ageless ones of Stevenson, from his "Child's Garden of Verses" to "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped." There are the "King Arthur" stories arranged for both younger and older children. Fairy tales, expurgated and original, for children of all ages. Choose the simpler ones for the young child. The "Doctor Doolittle" stories, and "Heidi," and "Hans Brinker." There they all are, ready to shake hands.

Books on hobbies, history, science, biography and natural history. Some old—a lot new. Do go to the shops and browse around. It will do you good whether you buy or not. But, please don't carry a prejudice with you against anything new or that you've never heard of before. Don't say to yourself, for instance, "I won't buy anything but Louisa Alcott for Betty." Alcott by all means. Girls love her. But keep an open place on the shelf for perhaps a newer Alcott who knows girls and their problems as they are today; and whose books your girl may be buying someday for her own youngsters.

Members of the attendance, reception, registration, luncheon, program and pledge committees are preparing the program and working toward a record attendance, the department has announced. Plans are being made to serve lunch to 100 persons.

Salary Hikes Are Revealed

Fresh Flood Of Income Being Poured Into Nation; Wages For Thousands Of Workers Are Being Boosted

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. (AP) — To a fresh flood of income for workmen in various parts of the nation was added today a wage boost of seven and a half cents an hour to warehousemen on the west coast.

Their strike against San Francisco and Oakland grocery wholesalers was ended last night with an agreement whereby their pay was raised from 62 1-2 cents to 70 cents an hour. The announcement came in the wake of dozens of other upward revisions in compensation of workers employed by firms representing a cross-cut of American business and industry.

Thousands Boosted

The Packard Motor Car company announced at Detroit yesterday increases of five cents an hour for 10,579 hourly wage employes and $10 a month for 511 salaried workers receiving less than $200 a month. The aggregate payroll increase, said President Alvan Macauley, would be $1,250,000 a year.

Other pay hikes have been announced by the Du Pont Rayon company; E. I. DuPont De Nemours and company at the Old Hickory units at Nashville, Tenn.; the Lorraine Manufacturing compay at Pawtucket; other cotton or woolen plants in Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island and Maine; the footwear factory of U. Gossip Of Filmland

And Now They've Found One Girl To Fill The Shoes Of Eleanor Powell

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14.—FOUND: A girl who can successfully fill Eleanor Powell's shoes. And you can take it from me that filling the shoes of this dancing star is SOME job.

However, young Maxine Nagel, the lucky girl, has no ideas about competing with Miss Powell for screen honors. Rather, she's going to help Eleanor ascend even higher.

Maxine's job is to break in dancing shoes for Eleanor, both girls having exactly the same size feet. And she's taking a lot of pride in her work. "I have to wear each pair of shoes for eight hours before they are turned over to Miss Powell for her dancing," she explains. "And I am paid the same salary I received as a chorus girl."

Judy's Just A Kid

JUDY GARLAND, the bright-eyed songstress of "Pigskin Parade," was made up and dressed up to look 18.

Judy Garland

Judy didn't like that. No woman wants to be older than she is. Judy is 14, or rather she will be next January 10. "The picture was swell, but I looked terrible," comments Judy.

Nor did Judy's studio like her appearance. M. G.M. loaned her to 20th Century, without specifying how she should be dressed. In fact, M.G.M. didn't have a great deal of interest in Judy until reports came back from 20th Century about her. Judy's studio wants to keep her as young as it can; the studio biography says she's 12.

Football Bets

WHENEVER football season rolls around you'd think picture making was a secondary condition in Hollywood. Even the bets made on games sometimes sound like the budget for a new film. One of the oddest wagers we have discovered though was made by John Wayne and Trem Carr on the coming Thanksgiving day game between U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. If the former wins, Carr has to go for an entire week without shaving. And if the latter wins Wayne has to caddy for Carr and Bill Spaulding, U.C.L.A. coach, through three rounds of golf.

Only A Fishing Trip

IF you start hearing more rumors about trouble between Errol Flynn and Lili Damita, pay no attention to them. They soon are to be separated for a few weeks—but only because Errol is going to the South Seas on a fishing trip and Lili much prefers the comforts of Hollywood.

Dry Hollywood

UNLESS the maritime strike, which now has every Pacific port tightly closed, eases up pretty soon, Hollywood is going to be as dry as the Sahara. Local liquor dealers are now sending quantities of "fire water" to San Francisco night spots who are willing to pay fancy prices for it. But the supply here can't stand that kind of a strain for long.

Cruel Slayer Being Sought

Ruthless Attacker Leaves A Young Girl With Her Throat Cut And Bleeding To Death In School Yard

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP)—Squads of policemen pressed a city-wide search today for a ruthless attacker who left five-year-old Antoinette Tiritilli with her throat cut and bleeding to death in a school yard where she resisted his advances.

A hasty transfusion of blood from her mother proved futile and the little girl died in a hospital last night.

No Description Given

Antoinette, almost incoherent from fright, and pain, was unable in a short period of consciousness to describe the slayer, except that he was white.

"I was playing in the school yard when he came up and grabbed my hand and offered to get me some candy," she sobbed.

"I was afraid and tried to get away, but he pulled me around to the back of the school. He swore at me and took out a knife. I screamed and he hit me across the neck with the knife and ran away and left me on the ground."

The child staggered from the alley, moaning, and was noticed by Romeo Torsillo, 17, and his cousin, Santon Callendo, 17. They carried her to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tiritilli.

Antoinette's mother, Anna, 38, stopped a truck and the driver raced with the dying girl and her mother to the hospital.

Tiritilli, employed by the PWA as a charity worker, and his wife have two other daughters, eight and two years old.

DIAMOND RUSH

AKRA, Gold Coast Colony (AP) — This lonesome bit of the British empire is having a miniature "diamond rush" of its own, with upwards of a thousand African natives, working as family groups in discovering an average of 6,000 carats of the gems each month.

in India, the common estimate sets it at more than $5,000,000,000.

Public Offered Chance To Gaze At Bright Stars

The brilliant combination of planets in late autumn may be observed through a telescope on the Texas Technological college campus Wednesday night, providing skies are clear.

Dr. R. S. Underwood, professor of mathematics and amateur astronomer, will place a telescope southeast of the engineering building at 7:30 o'clock that night. Depending on the number of visitors, the telescope will remain in place until 8:30 or 9 o'clock.

"On the evening of November 11, Venus passed slightly to the east of the less-brilliant Jupiter," said Doctor Underwood, "and for the remainder of the winter it will be a conspicuous evening star.

"Monday evening the crescent moon will be close to Jupiter. The early setting of both will make the apparent near grazing of Jupiter by the moon invisible here, although it will be seen on the western coast," the professor continued.

"In lower latitudes," he said, "the moon actually will pass in front of Jupiter, and the light of the latter will appear to be blotted out instantly, due to the moon's lack of atmosphere."

Observations Wednesday night first will be of Venus, and later of the crescent moon, Doctor Underwood said.

Brief Bits Of News About Automobile Dealers, Sales And Activities Of The Industry In Local Circles

NEW MODELS SHOWN

With few exceptions, dealers on the local Row were proudly demonstrating 1937 model automobiles last week.

First public showing of the new Ford V-8 was conducted Saturday, and the Lubbock Auto company showroom was fairly crowded all day as three new Fords and a Lincoln Zephyr went on display. The new deluxe Ford — the company is presenting two engine models this year, one in a still lower price field —resembles to a certain extent the outward appearance of the Zephyr, and there is not a lot of difference in wheel-base measurements.

Ten members of the Lubbock Auto company staff returned Friday from Dallas where they saw a preview of the new Fords, returning with the three models allotted their station. A shipment of the lower priced Ford, which will be a V-8, is expected soon. They are being assembled at the Dallas assembly plant.

CROWDS ATTRACTED

New Chevrolets, Buicks, Packards, Dodges, Plymouths, Nashes and Plymouths have been on display for nearly a week, and showrooms continued to attract large crowds yesterday.

Grimes Motor company anticipates arrival of new Oldsmobiles this week, and it is rumored that the new Olds will show something new as one of General Motors' feature cars. Chrysler Airflows and the new Royal Six have been seen here. A shipment of Royal Eights is expected soon. First new Chrysler Airflow was to have been delivered yesterday.

NEW TRUCKS EXPECTED

Hufstedler & Sons, agency for G. M. C. trucks, anticipates arrival of two carloads of new trucks this week. Notice of shipment has been received.

Weiss Motor company, International truck agency, likewise expects to show a new truck this week.

LITTLE TALK OF SHOW

There was little talk on the Row regarding the annual Auto Show here. The Lubbock Automobile Dealers association has not met to consider dates and details for a show, but it is believed a show will be staged, probably at the Auditorium, late this month or early in December.

SALES ARE BOOMING

Sales boomed considerably last week, several companies having received full early quotas of new cars and delivering them on previous orders.

Kuykendall Chevrolet company reported sales of twelve new jobs, including five commercial vehicles. The company sold nine used cars. New car sales:

Pickup to E. C. Hodges of Shallowater; truck to L. M. Simmons of Crosbyton; truck to W. A. Campbell of Wellman; deluxe town sedan to Cicero Smith Lumber company; deluxe town sedan to John C. Bray; master town sedan to Leroy Johnson; deluxe town sedan to R. L. Maxey of Hobbs, N. M.; master town sedan to J. C. Blair; master sports sedan to C. E. Roper of Tahoka; pickup to Lubbock Sash & Door company; deluxe coupe to Ed Foreman of Idalou, and a truck to Paul Hufstedler.

TERRAPLANES DELIVERED

Three new Terraplanes and one new Packard were delivered by Clyde Ragland Motors, the Packard, one of the new sixes, going to J. E. Robinett. A Terraplane deluxe brougham was delivered to Helen Rogers, a Terraplane deluxe touring sedan to Carl F. Evans and a Terraplane super touring brougham to Mrs. S. M. Laird. The company moved seven used cars.

OLDSMOBILE PURCHASED

Lee Pierce of Shallowater took delivery on a 1936 model Oldsmobile Six touring sedan, through Grimes Motor company, which sold one used car.

Plains Body & Fender Works, agency for Willys cars, sold three new cars, one to J. R. Neely of Roby, another to Mrs. Bynum of Brownfield, and the third to Marvin Craft.

LANGFORD GETS NASH

A new Nash Ambassador Eight sedan was delivered to J. T. Langford by Bill McCarty Car Sales company. Seven used vehicles were moved.

PLYMOUTHS MOVED

Two new Plymouths and a Chrysler were sold by Hub Motor company, the Chrysler agency, a four-door touring sedan, went to B. J. McGee, a Plymouth two-door touring to J. B. Clark and a Plymouth four-door touring to A. I. Glassman. Six used cars were sold.

Hub Motor company announced that another shipment of new Plymouths would arrive this week.

FIVE BUICKS SOLD

Five new Buicks were sold by Scoggin-Dickey Motor company. Jack Rogers purchased two Buick sedans, W. Stewart another; B. A. Battenfield bought a club sedan, and a similar model went to Crawford Barrier. Seven used cars were sold.

A party from Ropesville, including Ray Dopson, J. W. Keeling Mrs. Dopson, and Grayford Head, left late last week for Flint, Michigan, to take delivery on a new Buick, purchased through the local agency.

Albert Purdy, formerly with Grimes Motor company as shop foreman, has become service manager at Scoggin-Dickey Motor company.

SUPPLY EXHAUSTED

Beasley Motor company's supply of new Dodges and Plymouths was virtually exhausted at the end of the week, most of the cars going to branch dealers over the territory. A Dodge pickup went to Union Compress and Warehouse company of Slaton, and a Plymouth touring four-door sedan to Bill Johnson.

A Dodge pickup, a Plymouth touring four-door sedan, a Dodge coupe and a Dodge four-door touring sedan went to Arnett Motor company of Lamesa; a Plymouth touring two-door sedan, a Dodge pickup, a Lodge four-door sedan and a Dodge coupe went to Teague Motor company of Brownfield, and Gaignat Motor company of Tahoka, another branch dealer, took delivery on a Plymouth four-door sedan.

The Meters—Here To Stay

ALTHOUGH the much discussed parking meters constitute probably the most widely disliked innovation in Lubbock's history, in our judgment they are here to stay.

Whether they prove necessary, popular or even helpful, or not, makes no difference. They are here to stay because psychology is in their favor and no one has ever heard of any tax being discontinued once it is begun.

Psychology is on the side of the meters' retention because, after 90 days, the average citizen will be used to them and will accept them as part of his load to bear, just as he accepts head colds, stomachaches and hay fever. The parking meter company that did such a beautiful job in slipping the meters in for a "trial" when nobody was looking, knows its business. The company knows that once in, the meters have a nine to one shot to stay in. They remember the rush to traffic lights and how they have been kept working year after year in hamlets which have absolutely no use for them.

The tax angle is another thing that will help keep the new-fangled "hitching racks" on our all but deserted main streets. After the Oklahoma City Meter company pulls its hand out of Lubbock's pocket—with $20,000 in it—the hand of the city will still be there. By the time the 90-day "trial period" has joined the pages of history, and the city is getting $50 to $75 per day from the gadgets, who in officialdom is going to suggest that if they aren't needed we take 'em out? As far as The Avalanche-Journal can remember, no successful tax has ever been kicked into the ash heap by any governing body, whether it be city, county, state or federal. Things just don't work out that way.

After the meter company gets its money, the city government, no matter whether it is the present administration or one to come, will find some place to put this additional tax on the automobile owner. In spite of the fact that we are and always have been forever reminded that city is in wonderful financial condition and that "the light plant pays the city's bills", there will always be a place to sock an extra $1,500 or $2,000 per month.

Of course it is possible that the parking meters will prove their own efficacy; that after a two-hour limit is put into effect in the now over-crowded areas adjacent to the main business section, thus pushing the unbridled parkers four to six blocks from where they want to park, everything will be hunky-dory.

But we still think the problem could have been better solved, once and for all, if the same parking spaces painted off for the meters had been painted off for two-hour parking and the law enforced to the letter. Certainly a larger proportion of business men would have been pleased, shoppers would have been given an extra hour in which to attend to business and the present necessity of spending nickels at every turn would have been avoided.

Talk of a buyers' boycott and possible moves for injunction to the contrary notwithstanding, it looks to us like the parking meters decorating our streets today will be here until somebody else with a Bright Idea works out a new kind of gadget to more efficiently harass the public.

We shall see what we shall see.

EARLY REFLEXES

Some 30 years ago there were intelligent mothers who let baby cry himself out after making sure there were no loose pins about. They did not know that they were collaborating with the great Russian physiologist Pavlov in establishing the truth of conditioned reflexes, but so it now appears.

To spoil a child is to endow it with conditioned reflexes, according to an address by a prominent medical man. The conditioning may begin at the early age of two weeks. "The infant cries and immediately afterward receives some treatment he enjoys, such as being taken up, being rocked, or being carried about. The infant memorizes a sequence of events. He learns to put forward the cry to earn its just and due payment."

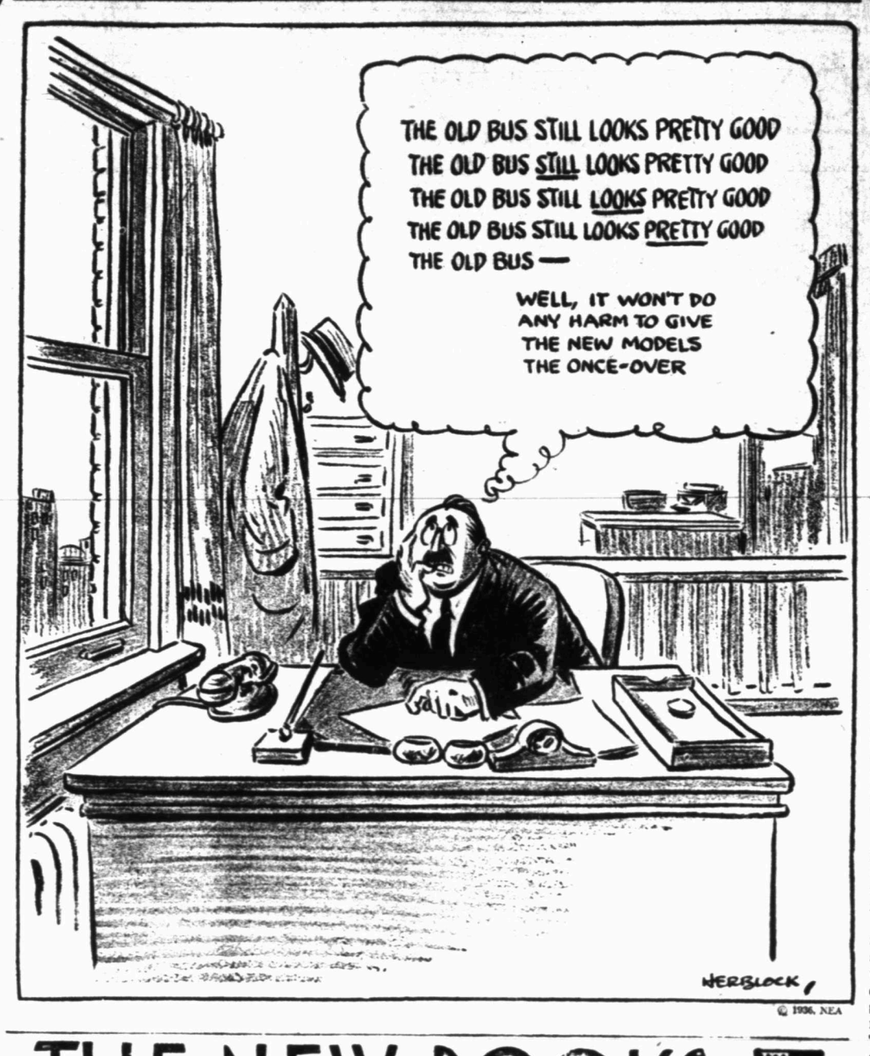

If the Swedish authorities had begun by splitting the Nobel Prize in medicine several ways, as they do now, Pavlov might have divided his Nobel Prize with many thousand advanced young mothers just 30 years ago.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Fear thou not: for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness.

Behold, all they that were incensed against thee shall be ashamed and confounded: they shall be as nothing; and they that strive with thee shall perish.—Isaiah, XLI: 10-12.

Very Good Post-Armistice Day Exercise Would Be Reading John W. Wheeler-Bennett's "Wooden Titan;" Early Suggestions For Christmas Book Shoppers Also Are Offered

"Wooden Titan: Hindenburg In Twenty Years of German History: 1914-1934," by John W. Wheeler-Bennett. (Morrow).

ONE very good post-Armistice Day exercise is, it seems to this department, the reading of John W. Wheeler-Bennett's "Wooden Titan."

One day, in the ticklish summer of 1932, Mr. Wheeler-Bennett was with friends at dinner in Berlin. Hitler was waiting in the wings of the German stage; Dr. Bruning had resigned the chancellorship to be succeeded by that strangest of German figures, von Papen; the Reichstag had been dissolved and the public had been informed by Hindenburg that full liberty would be granted the electorate for the forthcoming elections.

This last assurance had relieved everybody's mind, says the author of "Wooden Titan." But suddenly a retired naval officer declared:

"Hindenburg's record is a bad one. Ludendorff won his battles for him, and he betrayed Ludendorff; the Kaiser made him a Field-Marshal, and he betrayed the Kaiser; the Right elected him in 1925, and he betrayed the Right; the Left elected him in 1932, and he has betrayed the Left. Were I Lobe (President of the dissolved Reichstag) I would not put too much faith in Hindenburg's promises."

At the moment this seemed blasphemous to Wheeler-Bennett. But it also seemed a challenge, so that at once he began research and conversation with persons who could help him assay the person and mind and actions of Hindenburg. His long but fascinating book shows that although it is possible to reduce the Hindenburg legend to the blunt terms outlined above, these represent an over-statement.

The author sees Hindenburg as a sincere man of service, stupid, easily convinced by the wrong people of his "right" course, inclined to follow this course blindly until deflected by circumstance or a cleverer mind. Hindenburg always "played the part of a facade," says the author. This giant wooden front could be, and was, turned about and used as a shelter by many from Hitler down. It had the further advantage of losing itself in the background.

Wheeler-Bennett is English, neither pro-Semitic nor the opposite, calm of mind and frank. His book is a joy.

For Christmas Shoppers

Some early suggestions for the forehanded Christmas shopper.

IT IS considered exactly the thing, especially by book publishers, for uncles and aunts to give nephews and nieces books for Christmas. Here are some suggestions—

For the Very Young there is a book called "What to Do About Molly" (Houghton Mifflin), which is written by Marjorie Flack, and illustrated by her and Karl Larsson. It's about two little boys and one little girl who went fishing, and what they had for supper. And the pictures, especially, are charming.

For the next age, which roughly is from six to ten, Mary Graham Bonner has done one called "A World of Our Own" (Dutton). It's a delightful tale about Freddy and Betty, who live on the edge of town, and contrive for themselves a life all their own. Miss Bonner is known to millions through her famous Puddle Muddle characters; William Kolliker has helped this time by drawing a large number of amusing illustrations.

The thirst for information begins around the tenth year and sometimes rises to alarming heights. Two people who can write informatively for young minds without codescension have done "Fresh and Briny" (Stokes), which is nothing more than the story of water and its uses—for bathing, power, drinking, irrigation, erosion and whatnot. They are Frances Rogers and Alice Beard, and even uncles and aunts may find some things in the book they do not know.

If we had any young friends cooped up in city apartments, we should like them to read something like Christine Noble Govan's "Judy and Chris" (Houghton Mifflin). The book is an accurate picture of life in a small Southern town, and especially useful as an indication of the sort of relation that can exist between young whites and young blacks—and almost never does outside the true South. Some uncles and aunts may remember that Mrs. Govan already had written a book about these same children—"Those Plummer Children," it is called. Alice Caddy, who is Ben Lucien Burman's wife on stage, did nic illustrations for both.

Grant Brought To Life

"Hamilton Fish: The Inner Story Of The Grant Administration," by Allan Nevins (Dodd, Mead); "General Grant's Last Stand," by Horace Green (S.ribners).

THE unhappy General Grant has been brought to life twice in the last few days, to serve the literary ends of two biographers. Actually Allan Nevins is writing the life of Hamilton Fish, Grant's secretary of state. But he is using Fish as a mirror to reflect the history and the scandals of the Grant administration throughout.

If Mr. Nevins were a lesser man, he might have had some difficulty getting his "Hamilton Fish" published. Editors might have said that Hamilton Fish was long forgotten; that nobody would care that it was he who had struggled to keep the land in balance when Grant and Grant's shockingly chosen friends almost overthrew it. And five years is a long time to devote to the study of a forgotten statesman.

The book is rather hard on Grant. It shows Fish keeping him out of the Dominican republic, which Grant was determined to annex. It shows him forcing an intelligent arbitration of the Alabama claims, which last might have set Britain and America at each others throats. It shows Grant almost crippling the Whisky Ring prosecutions, mistreating the defeated South, surrounding himself with unsavory and sometimes deliberately crooked associates.

The fact that Fish stuck by Grant through all this and much more is partly explained by his own statement that he considered Grant the most scrupulously truthful man he ever had met—a statement many readers will have difficulty reconciling with the record as Professor Nevins sets it down. In any case, for all its length, the book is fascinating.

Horace Green's "General Grant's Last Stand" is a less astute job, many readers will feel. It is an attempt to tell the story of Grant's last days at Long Branch, and by a generous use of the flashback method, to summarize his life. It is based on some new material, not all of which Mr. Green has used, however.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt has carefully concealed his plans for submitting a constitutional amendment authorizing federal regulation of industry and agriculture if he has any. But his aides predict that he will proceed with extreme caution.

Head Brain Truster Felix Frankfurter has advised against an amendment, suggesting that the President depend upon "progressive interpretation" of the constitution by the court to give him the power he desires. Other ear-whisperers profess to believe that the justices will, as Mr. Dooley said, "follow the election returns". Some predict that two conservative members who had hoped to outlive Mr. Roosevelt—legally, of course—may resign in deference to November third's mandate.

Still another consideration bespeaks caution. The court's decision on major New Deal legislation now on the calendar may reflect a more liberal attitude toward Rooseveltian philosophy. In that event the President can afford to defer drastic reforms, and that seems to be his preference at the moment.

SHOVERS: Two powerful pressure groups may force a clash between the White House and the Supreme court. Representatives of labor and agriculture have jarred some New Dealers with their demands for reenactment of legislation which the tribunal has outlawed.

The administration secretly hoped to satisfy the farmers with a rounded program embracing soil conservation, farm tenancy, rural rehabilitation, proper land use and crop insurance. But when farm leaders conferred with Secretary Wallace they insisted upon a return to the kind of crop control knocked out by the court. What they fear is that overproduction will result in low prices within a few years.

Labor staged a similar revolt. In addition to such laws as the Guffey Coal Control bill, the Walsh-Healy act and the National Labor Relations board, they demand restoration of federal control over all wages, hours and working conditions. It begins to look as if Mr. Roosevelt's political friends will shove him into a head-on collision with the court, whether he wants it or not.

PAPER: President Roosevelt's failure to fill about 30 important posts has been attributed to his desire to dangle them before the politicos' eyes until after the election. Actually, many of the vacancies may never be filled.

Mr. Roosevelt's committee on government reorganization has framed a tentative plan for revolutionary abolitions of jobs, consolidations of bureaus and functions, elimination of appendages. Instead of concentrating on a reshuffling and combination of emergency agencies, as expected, they are performing a major operation on some of the oldest departments. They would lop off many lucrative posts, including some which the President hasn't filled.

The Byrd committee, meanwhile, is aiming to combine and abolish the so-called New Deal agencies. There wouldn't be a job left for a hungry politician if the President and Congress accepted the joint recommendations for governmental reform and economy. But the history of such reorganization movements is that they never get further than the paper they're written on.

ATTACK: One ballyhooed functionary whose head may be lopped off by the executioneer is the Comptroller General of the United States. The tip-off on the proposed abolition of this office lies in the harsh words New Dealers emit with respect to the recent occupant of that post—John R. McCarl.

If you can believe his critics, in all his 15 years he did not save as much money as the total cost of his establishment over that period. That indictment applies to his handling of the funds of regular agencies, not to his control of emergency expenditures. In stopping the shelter belt project—temporarily at least—he blocked a $100,000,000 expenditure. Another criticism of Mr. McCarl is that, because of red tape and other delays, thousands of contractors' claims against the government for work performed have not been settled.

Transfer of the duties of the Comptroller General to financial officers in each department—the old system—would require Congressional action. But the men on Capitol Hill have often expressed resentment against the Comptroller General's handling of constituents' claims. There would be no regret there if the office were abolished.

LILLIPUT: New Deal nobility has locked in a bruising struggle for the only prerogatives which a democracy permits—possession of a District of Columbia automobile license number below 1,000. Never before, the police say, was there such rivalry for a low-numbered tag.

The higher-ups—White House, cabinet members, under secretaries—automatically get a license below the magic 1,000 number. For years certain "cliff-dwellers"—socially prominent people who served under previous administrations—have been accorded the same honor. But the tremendous influx of minor Rooseveltians has increased the demand far beyond the supply. For a supposedly proletarian administration the situation strikes everybody as a bit comic.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

IT is already becoming painfully evident that labor problems will be featured in FDR's second term. Unions of all kinds are gleefully seizing upon the theory that his victory was their victory as a justification for presenting fresh demands.

Take the railway brotherhoods for instance. They have been calm and quiet and apparently reasonably satisfied ever since their depression paycuts were restored. Now they have suddenly decided that the November 3 landslide is their cue to launch a new drive for the six hour day (instead of eight hours) with no reduction in pay.

A bill to bring this about is certain to be introduced early in the next Congress. The railroads will of course contend fervently that such an increase of wage costs spells their irrevocable ruin.

COMPROMISE?: New York will keep a careful eye on the White House attitude towards this proposal as affording a vital clue to the administration's labor policy in general.

Exceptionally informed sources prophesy that Mr. Roosevelt will seek a compromise solution instead of either endorsing or opposing six hour day legislation flatly. It is probable that the railroads and their workers will be encouraged to negotiate an agreement with each other and leave the government out of it, if possible. But it's doubtful that the unions will be willing to let Congress and the administration off that easy.

As a matter of fact, some rail leaders would privately not object to a seven hour day if the brotherhoods would give them a quid pro quo by abandoning mileage as a basis for pay. They figure that schedules could be speeded up (freight as well as passenger) to enable them to save enough employe hours to keep their total wage bill about the same as it is now. The unions, however, are expected to insist on some arrangement that will increase total employment.

WASTE: Among those most disappointed by the election outcome are conservative Democrats who stuck by the party ship in the expectation that Mr. Roosevelt would squeeze through by a greatly reduced margin.

They were all prepared to read him the riot act about how he must take his waning popularity—as indicated by the expected vote—as a mandate to turn to the right.

Now all the lovely speeches they had prepared will go to waste.

Being An Essay With Moral And Philosophical Sides

BY JESS MITCHELL
Editor, Muleshoe Journal

SEVERAL hundred years ago a nomadic nation traveling toward a new country wherein it expected to make its home, sent a dozen men ahead to prospect the lay-out of their contemplated homesteads and to bring back reports. Ten of them, in nervous manner, declared this new country was occupied by people of enormous stature, and advised against entering the land. So large were these folks, they said, they made them feel like grasshoppers in their presence. Perhaps there were not so many of them; but their enormous size made up for the lack of quantity, and the spies became frightened.

I have often noticed that the larger an animal is the less numerous is its kind. There are very few elephants in the world; but a great many snakes. There are a million mice to one lion, ten million ants to one eagle, and an unaccountable number of grasshoppers to one giant.

MULESHOE'S MITCHELL
. . . Deals In Figures of Speech

Here Are The Figures

A female grasshopper in the fall will back up to the side of a road where the ground is hard, and, making a gimlet of her abdomen, bore a hole into the earth in which she will deposit from 200 to 300 eggs, all of which will hatch out in the spring; but there is not a single instance on record where a giant father was ever presented even with twins by his wife.

So I learned long ago, that in the various walks of life and accomplishments of earthly careers where there is one intellectual giant there are several hundred people with a mentality of the grasshopper calibre. Where there is one social, political or religious giant, there are apt to be a lot of insectile creatures of the same kind. There is one captain of industry to every thousand day laborers, one financier who earns his living through cerebral cogitations to every thousand that must get theirs by the sweat of their brow, or else they depend upon the government for a living, some going so far as to declare the government owes it to them.

WHILE it is true we do not all possess the same talents and some have certain talents in pronounced abundance, it also seems a fact there are many who do not improve to any great extent the talents inherent within them. Some time ago I formed the opinion that any person who felt like and acted like a grasshopper was generally considered, more or less, by his fellowman as a grasshopper. I am not here advocating egotism; but rather self-confidence. There is a considerable difference between the two.

If a man have no self-respect, he has no right to expect others to respect him, and there are plenty of people of small stature in the world who, in other respects, are towering giants, while on the other hand, there are boasting geniuses who act like imbecilic idiots. I am constrained to believe that courage is as essential in giant-making as is a given quota of intelligence. The experience of every giant, no matter in what department of life's activity, is there are always a lot of little grasshoppers jumping and flying about him in bothersome manner, and he must exercise the greater determination and ambition to overcome these pestiferous little insects.

Winning Versus Whining

When a giant starts winning, there are always a lot of grasshoppers that start whining. Jealousy is a bitter grasshopper; but seldom a biting one. Most giants appreciated the ability of grasshoppers; but it's rather difficult for the grasshopper to return the compliment. Grasshoppers often have bitter tastes left in their mouths when they take the name of giants on their tongues, while the derision of fools and mud-slinging sore-heads is a standard penalty every big man has to pay for his ambitions.

Distinction in the world is only gained through a bold and positive course. Assumption of power always invites slander and malice. It starts the grasshoppers to buzzing and kicking dirt. The man who would be a giant in this world cannot escape misrepresentation. Nonentities never get talked about. They are like grasshoppers that do a little nibbling, some buzzing and a lot of jumping. A grasshopper can jump a thousand times its length; but the trouble is it just keeps on jumping. It never stays long enough in one place to grow up into a giant. It uses its legs more than its brain. It can spit plenty of tobacco juice; but that is about all. I have no doubt but God, Himself, thinks even more of the industrious, accomplishing ants He created than He does of scared grasshoppers.

COURAGE plus intelligence is what makes giants, and plenty of the latter is necessary before the former is applied. Occasionally grasshoppers will recognize a giant because of what he does. Most grasshoppers are interested in their own physical condition, frequently fattening themselves upon the fruits of some giant's labor. They don't know how to do a given thing themselves; but because they become beneficiaries, they at least appreciate the giant's wisdom. Sometimes not because they

Problems And News Concerning Those Old Favorites

WIDESPREAD interest in checkers and chess over the South Plains area has prompted this "corner" of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal's editorial page. Several score persons are actively engaged in chess play and chess clubs; several hundred belong to checkers clubs and play that grand old favorite.

Here is the latest checkers and chess news, along with problems and comment.

The Checker Board

An interesting session by the local players was held Tuesday evening, Nov. 10, at the Hilton. Those present included Chas. Graves, Wayne Ashley, B. J. Greer, Leonard Ware, H. A. Cooper, and Phillips, a new man in the checker circle here. Tuesday is the regular meeting night, and we expect a live bunch for the next session.

First answer to last week's contest came again from a newcomer. This time G. W. Pruiatt, Post, wrote in to note that a move was left out of last week's game, and he wondered if that affected the solution. In checking over, the eighth move was omitted, but it was unintentional.

The contest last week was to pick a winning move in a game played by correspondence to a draw between H. A. Cooper, Shallowater, and Alfred Nelson, Amarillo. We give the game again, including the move left out: 11-15, 24-20, 12-16, 20-11, 7-16, 22-18, 15-22, 25-18, 8-11, 29-25, 4-8, 25-22, 8-12, 28-24, 16-20, 23-19, 9-14, 18-9, 5-14, 22-17, 11-15, 32-28, 2-7, 30-25, 3-8, 26-22, 15-18, 22-15, 7-11, 26-23, 11-18, 19-16 12-26, 31-15, 10-19, 24-15, 14-18, 17-14, 1-5, 14-10, 6-9, 10-7, 8-12, 7-2, 12-16, 2-6, 16-19, 6-13, 19-23. Drawn.

Our analysis shows that Black missed a win at 26th move by playing 15-18. If 8-11 is played at that point instead, the result leads to a win for Black. Second letter received to the above game came from Wm T. Smith, Amarillo, checker columnist for the News-Globe. He contends a White win at 25th move by playing 17-13, instead of 25-22. A White win at this point seems too uncertain, and we are asking him for play on it, because a Black win looks logical.

Smith also writes that Black missed a win at 38th move by playing 1-5 instead of 8-12. He gives the following play that seems to stand up: 8-12, 15-11, 12-16, 21-17, 16-19, 17-13, 1-5, 11-8, 19-23, 8-3, 23-32, 3-8, 32-27, 8-11, 27-23, 11-15, 23-16, 15-22, 20-24, etc. Black wins.

The problem for this week is also given as a contest. It is so startling in the windup that you'll get a laugh if you solve it. Checker columns will be mailed to the first out-of-town solver and also to the first correct local solution. Mail solutions to H. A. Cooper, Shallowater.

Here's the setting, author unknown: Black men on 3, 23, king on 1. White men on 9, 12, 24; Black to move and win.

Wheat Farmer, Fighting Off Drouth, Devises Successful Damming Machine

Novel Gadget Proves Worth

Machine Hailed By Many As Revolutionizing The Wheat Growing Industry; All Of His Crops Good

BY JOHN JAMESON

ARRIBA, Colo., Nov. 14. (AP)—Because Charles T. Peacock has harvested wheat crops when his neighbors' fields were barren, thousands have visited his farm in this dust bowl area, inspecting his novel damming lister implement and deep furrow planting, hailed by many as "revolutionizing the wheat growing industry."

Fields of stubble where wheat was cut, the only stubble seen for miles, is evidence of the success of Peacock's system.

In 1934 he grew 18 bushels of wheat to the acre while drouth burned adjoining fields to a crisp and the district was smothered in billowing clouds of dust.

Gets Good Crop

In 1935 he had a promising stand of wheat but a horde of jackrabbits devoured the plants, the only green stuff growing in the area. This year he raised 17 1-2 bushels to the acre while his neighbors again harvested little or no crop.

Peacock's system is one of storing the small amount of rain that falls and planting the wheat in deep furrows to protect it from the incessant wind, which whisks topsoil from around the plants, killing them.

After years of experimenting with methods of improving cultivation of wheat in this high, dry plains country, Peacock used for the first time in 1929 the damming lister which he devised. This machine throws up a dam across the furrow every 14 feet, creating a small basin, which holds the water that falls.

Here's The Method

The fields are cultivated in this manner as soon as the frost is out of the ground and if necessary to cultivate again because of weeds and other growth, the field is worked a second time and new dams are thrown up.

Each of these small reservoirs will hold 55 gallons of water and there are more than a million such basins on a section of land, thus providing a storage place for 55,000,000 gallons of water a square mile.

Six inches of rain had fallen for the year when a recent test was made on Peacock's farm and moisture was found as deep as five feet below the surfacing.

In planting, Peacock splits the lister rows and plants two rows of wheat six inches apart in each furrow, covering the seed to the depth of an inch to an inch and a half. A tamping wheel running between the rows lightly covers the seed. The dams also are wiped out in the planting process so that a combine can be used in harvesting the crop.

Furrows Protect Grain

The sides of the furrow protect the wheat from the wind by cutting down soil blowing and helping to prevent death of plants by static electricity.

In a recent demonstration on the Peacock farm, at which time he exhibited his machine along with similar devices manufactured by implement companies, more than 3,000 farmers turned out.

Some said they believed the system "would revolutionize wheat growing on the high plains." Others thought the cost of cultivation would be so much greater there would be no profit in growing wheat.

Deep Furrow Planting Proves Success In Dust Bowl

DAMS

Rainfall-conserving dams are thrown across furrows every 14 feet by a new type of lister developed by Charles T. Peacock, Colorado farmer. Small reservoirs result.

DEEP FURROWS

When planting time comes, Farmer Peacock splits the lister rows and plants the wheat in deep furrows. The dams are wiped out in the process, but they have served their purpose of holding the moisture. The deep-furrow planting, in which this machine is used, protects the wheat from the wind, which otherwise might cut top soil from around the plants and kill them.

Farm Tenants At Ropesville Doubling Income; Report On The Project Given

More Than $900 Set As The Average For This Year

DALLAS, Nov. 14 (AP)—Thirty-three farm tenants at Ropesville are doubling their income this year as the first stage in home ownership under the Resettlement program, says D. P. Trent, regional director of the R. A. here. The majority, he says, were share-croppers and farm hands last year, and their average income was $412.50. This year they will average more than $900.

These families moved to 120-acre farms at Ropesville last January

Ranging in age from the 21-year-old husband who is getting an early start toward home ownership to the older man who has "cropped his way to Oregon and back", and from the veteran who spent last year in a CCC camp to the third-and-fourth tenant who had most of his equipment, these families are considered a fair cross-section of the 286,000 farm tenants in Texas. They were chosen from more than 1,000 applicants.

Without Supplies

Most of these families came to the project without teams, tools, or supplies, and an average of $952 was loaned to each for equipment and subsistence. They also owned an average of $63. An inventory made this month shows the total assets of these families are now $462 in excess of liabilities. Their average assets, $1,477; average liabilities, $1,015. In the meantime, they have lived and fed their livestock for the year.

These families are living on land bought for resale to them, but they will not purchase the land until after a five-year probation period. During that period the prospective owners will have time to study the proposition which Resettlement is offering, and the Resettlement administration will have an opportunity to decide whether these families are qualified to become owners. This also will give the families time to accumulate the fifteen per cent down payment required before exchange of land can be effected.

$25 An Acre Paid

Approximately $25 an acre was paid for the 4,000 acres purchased. While families were being selected and improvements erected the land was operated as a unit, and showed a net operating profit of $7,581.40.

Improvements constructed included the house, barn, poultry house, and sanitary outhouse; and a complete water system furnished from individual wells and windmills.

While forty years is the maximum age for heads of families, this project is primarily one of young farmers. The men's ages average 30 years and the women's 26. All have lived on the farm during most of their lives, and the families average two children, one of which is of school age. Plans for farming include a strict live-at-home program, and the value of home-grown and preserved food and feed is given an important place in the program.

Until the purchase contracts are executed, the land is rented on a third-and-fourth basis, with the stipulation that a maximum of $360 will be paid in rent.

Feed Lot Program Started By Panhandle 4-H Members

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 14. (AP)—Four-H club boys throughout the South Plains have started a feed lot program, proposed by C. B. Martin, Hale county agent, that is expected to climax in shipment of a train load of calves and lambs to the Kansas City market next April.

The program, sponsored by agricultural agents in 20 counties, provides for feeding calves in lots of one to a carload, and lambs in groups of five to a carload.

"Heretofore county agents encouraged boys to feed club calves and look to neighboring towns to furnish them a market," Martin says, "but those towns do not offer a representative livestock market. We fail unless we go all the way with club boys from feedlots to terminal market. Club boys should know how to market their finished animals as well as how to feed them."

A "club day" will be held at Kansas City and the animals fed by the Four-H boys sold at auction.

TOBACCO CROP SUCCESS

CLARENDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—The Panhandle's first tobacco crop is called successful by P. O. Naylor, farmer, who brought seed from Cana, N. C. He says the tobacco is of fine grade.

Six hundred eggs that will develop into mature flies in two weeks can be produced by a single house fly.

Fifty-Eight FFV Members In Meet

LORENZO, Nov. 14.—Fifty-eight Future Farmers of America attended a three-chapter meeting in the high school building here recently with fathers, the school board, and Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education at Texas Technological college, as special guests.

The Wilson chapter team initiated 22 green hands for the Lorenzo chapter, and the Lorenzo team raised four green hands from Abernathy to the grade of Future Farmer. The Wilson chapter gave a program of vocal and instrumental music.

Erlene Dowell was elected chapter sweetheart. She won over Mabel Mabry and Polly Fry.

The committee on mapping farms disclosed most farms have been mapped to scale, showing soil types, subsoil, amount and kind of erosion, of crops on the land at the present time, and a farming program for the next three years.

Chappelle, teacher-trainer in vocational agriculture, made a brief talk emphasizing the necessity of future planning in the farming industry.

Herd Of 600 Steers Reminds Of Early Days On Rangeland

WHITE DEER, Nov. 14. (AP)—Early days of the Plains were recalled here when a trail herd of 600 Hereford steers passed south to winter range.

The herd belonged to John McClellan and J. W. Jordan, and was moved from the vicinity of Skellytown to Ashtola, near Clarendon. A chuck wagon preceded the head, which was driven by five cowboys.

Veteran of the outfit was Jim Wilson, who worked 40 years on the famed JA ranch.

Lowly Blackeye Peas Good For Tummies And Soil, And Crop Becoming More Favored

AUSTIN, Nov. 14. (AP)—Blackeye peas are becoming more important in East Texas, says Mrs. Clara H. Lewis of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"One of the most successful vegetable crops grown for canning purposes in the eastern areas of the state last season was the green blackeye pea," she says.

Growing and harvesting of this crop require relatively small cost and labor output compared with the production of most other vegetables grown for canning.

Mrs. Lewis says this type of legume tends to build up soil fertility.

Two corporations that were heavy buyers of peas the past season will seek contracts for at least 5,000,000 pounds for next year's pack, she says. A plant was established at Nacogdoches this year especially for canning peas, and large quantities were packed at Marshall by a company operating in Texas for the first time, she says.

Contract For Remodeling Of Dickens Courthouse Is Let

DICKENS, Nov. 14 (Special)—W. P. Nugent and son, Spur, was awarded the contract to remodel the Dickens county courthouse, by the commissioner's court. Amount is not to exceed $15,000.

The old roof will be taken off, the walls of the second floor lowered and a new roof installed. The east wall is to be extended 20 feet and a new jury room and an office added. The front end of the second story is to be remodeled, giving more office space.

During the remodeling, county officials will have their offices in various locations over town. The present courthouse building is one of the oldest structures of its kind west of Fort Worth, having been built in the middle 1890's. It is of stone.

Farms Number Reflects Hike

Census For 1935 Shows More Owners And Part Owners Of Farms, Less Sharecroppers Than In 1930

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 14 (AP)—Figures from the federal farms census of 1935, cited by Dr. C. H. Hamilton of the division of farm and ranch economics, Texas agricultural experiment station, reflect some increase both in the number of farms and in farm tenancy in Texas during the five year period, 1930 to 1935.

Figures are cited on three different classes of farm population: Share croppers, third-and-fourth tenants, and owners and part owners. Third-and-fourth tenants farm the land of others for a two-thirds of the corn and a three-fourths of the cotton produced.

Share Croppers Decrease

In 1930, share croppers (on 105,122 farms) made up 21.2 per cent of all the farmers in Texas, and in 1935 (on 76,468 farms) 15.3 per cent. These figures might be taken to mean a decrease in farm tenancy, but they do not reflect the true situation. There is considerable shifting in the ranks of share croppers, some go up the farming scale to higher classes, and some become laborers. This is an erratic and unstable class and not a true measure of farm tenancy.

In 1930, the third-and-fourth tenants made up 39.6 per cent of all the farmers in Texas, and in 135. 41.9 per cent.

Owners, Part Owners Increase

In 1930, owners, and part owners made up 38.5 per cent of all farmers in Texas, and 1935, 42.1 per cent.

In 1930, there were 86,063 negro farmers in Texas, and 71,785 in 1935, representing a 16.6 per cent decrease in the five years.

In 1930, there were 495,489 farms in Texas and 501,017 in 1935, representing an increase of 1.1 per cent. The figures show actually a slight decrease in farm population, from 2,353,272 in 1930 to 2,332,693 in 1935, 41.9 per cent.

About 36.6 per cent of tenant farmers (share croppers and third-and-fourth farmers) move from one farm to another annually. Of the share croppers, 45.7 per cent move every year.

Children Increasing

Studies show that farm people are producing about 50 per cent more children than is necessary to maintain the present farm population. In contrast, city population is falling short from 15 per cent to 30 per cent in birth rate necessary to maintain a static population. Increasing urban population suggests the cities are drawing young people from the rural sections as replacements. The opinion was expressed that boys are going to the cities from the farm now as rapidly as prior to the depression.

Bossy To Give Yellow Milk And Electric Eye Grades It

SEATTLE, Nov. 14. (AP) — Bossy, the cow, will give yellow milk this season and an electric eye will grade the color.

Dairymen, not content with bossing bossy around to increase the quantity and quality of her output, explained at the Pacific coast dairy products congress they were trying to make the cow conform to this newest style trend by giving yellow milk.

"The yellow color looks chic," Charles Spears of New York City said.

A colorimeter, which grades the milk according to color and which may help develop desirable color traits in dairy herds, was demonstrated before a group of dairymen.

Mechanization Of Cotton Picking Would Retire Negroes Into Little More Than Atmosphere Of The Past

BY MYRON McCORMICK
Textile Engineering Student

Negroes in the cotton fields may be only an art-gallery picture if the mechanical cotton picker is adopted as the Rust brothers hope it will.

Reared on a cotton farm owned by their father, John and Mack Rust early dreamed of a mechanical cotton picker. John went to work in a Kansas wheat field, Mack was graduated in mechanical engineering from the University of Texas.

After John quit his job with a farm implement company, where he was employed after leaving the wheat harvests, he and Mack began assembling their first cotton picker. It was completed in 1928, and since that time they have planned its production and marketing.

The Brothers Rust contend their machine really is field-worthy, and that it easily is far better than any cotton picker yet devised. And it has shown its worth in various types of cotton and under different conditions.

Won't Break Stalk

The machine consists of an endless belt carrying 1,300 smooth steel wire spindles, each being about 6-inches long. The belt is about 16 spindles wide. The belt passes along the row of cotton and the rotating spindles enter the plant to remove the cotton.

The belt turns backward at about the same speed as the machine moves forward. The spindles, therefore, are almost stationary with respect to the stalk and will, therefore, not break the stalk.

As the spindles, to which the cotton is adhering, turn around with the belt, they pass a pan from which suction causes the cotton to drop into a container.

Theory Not New

The theory of the Rust machine is not new, but the brothers have an innovation which has been disregarded by all others.

The Rust inventors wet the spindles. As the belt turns, each spindle contacts a wet sponge which is kept moist from a water container above the machine. The moisture causes the cotton to adhere more readily.

The Rust mechanical picker has its limitations. It can be used only where a tractor is available. It is more satisfactory on level land than on hilly terrain.

High Hopes Held

Since tractors and cultivators have, in many instances, replaced the negro and the mule, and since money already is spent each year on fertilizers and insecticides, it appears that the picker may become a commonly used implement. To meet competition, cotton raisers will add the equipment to their tractors and cultivators.

The Rust brothers have indicated they will place their machine on the market in such a way that it will replace gradually hand labor. A few machines have been sold in Soviet Russia.

They have announced they plan to lease the machines to responsible persons — planters who will not release tenants because of the machine. They plan to charge $1,000 the first year, $400 the second, $300 the third, and $100 for each succeeding year. The lessee is to replace broken parts and provide upkeep for the machine.

Would Replace Laborers

Thus, the Rust brothers hope slowly to replace the laborers wit' machinery. They have said they hope to have 10,000 pickers in the cotton fields in 10 years.

Acreage reduction has cut production to such an extent that cotton is being imported.

Both imports and synthetic fibers compete with southern cotton. The Rust machines, therefore, may enable the southern planter to keep in the competitive race. It has been estimated that cotton can be produced 20 per cent more cheaply by use of the machine.

Won't Lower Cotton

Many have wanted to know whether the mechanical picker will lower the quality of the cotton. The Rust brothers answer negatively. Extra leaf and trash gathered with the machine can be, they say, eliminated.

The added moisture likewise may present a problem in ginning. Cut cotton at the gins, may be a result. That objection, however, can be overcome with the installation of dehydrating plants at the gins, some of which already have that equipment. Dehydrating has increased the value of cotton $2 to $7 a bale, it has been estimated.

It seems that the cotton farmer cannot ignore the labor, time, and money saving device. Nor can the mill afford not to install new and improved machinery to make the picker more efficient.

At present, it seems that the Rust cotton picker might revolutionize cotton production without a violent economic upheaval.

Winter's Outlook For Ranges Good

AUSTIN, Nov. 14 (AP)—The United States department of agriculture's bureau of economics reported winter outlook for Texas ranges and livestock was good.

Cattle and sheep ranges were reported as of Nov. 1 to be 86 and 92 per cent of normal, respectively, and as likely to carry a good supply of grass for winter grazing.

Condition of cattle as of Nov. 1 was 86 per cent of normal, and of sheep, 87 per cent. Condition of goats was 88 per cent of normal.

Both livestock and range conditions compared favorably with the average over a 10-year period beginning in 1926, the bureau said.

"Spotting" Areas To Aid In Erosion Control Surveyed

AMARILLO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Assistant county agents in eight Panhandle counties where wind erosion has been most severe are conducting surveys to "spot" areas where blowing is likely to start next spring, says K. J. Edwards, district agent for the Texas Extension service.

"We are making preparations to combat wind erosion at its outset this winter," Edwards says. "Contour lines will be run on these areas the next few months and when the blowing starts we can immediately put equipment in the fields, listing them on the contour."

The work is under way in Deaf Smith, Moore, Hartley, Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb counties.

CATTLE MOVED OUT

SKELLYTOWN, Nov. 14. (AP) — Drouth conditions on the range in this section have caused removal of nearly 1,000 head of cattle to better pastures.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, No. 97

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

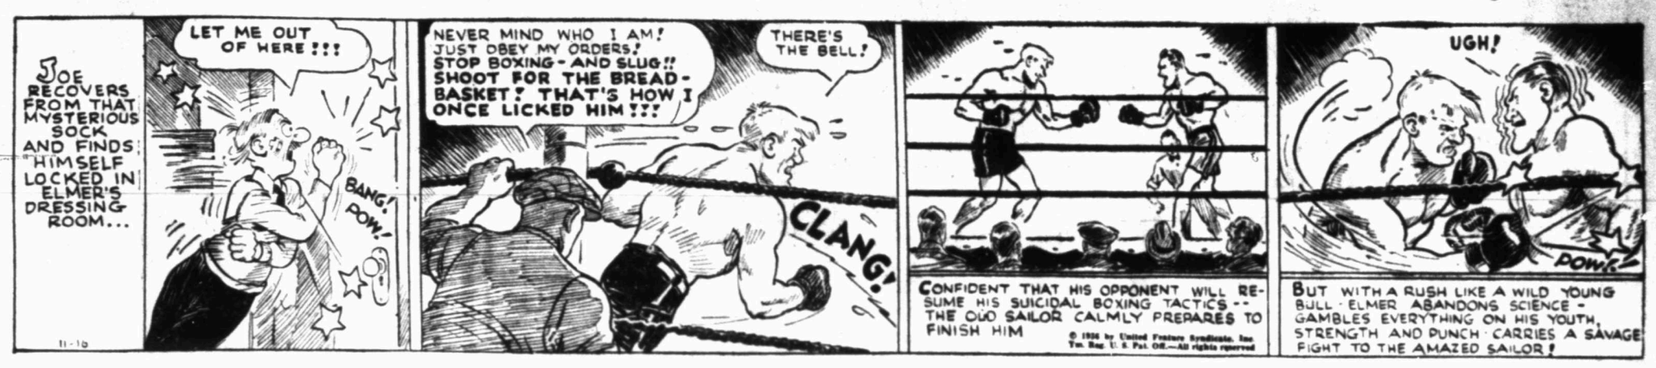

From his perch atop the palisade, Tarzan peered down upon the sentry. Suddenly he launched himself in a zooming dive. At the instant he landed on his victim's shoulders, his knife struck. The guard of the gateway died silently, except for a low, gasping grunt.

But as the body fell, it became entangled with the warrior's spear. The shaft of the weapon broke with a sharp crack. Another sentry, hidden by the shadows, turned and saw the intruder rushing towards the gates. Then, from his throat issued a frantic cry of alarm.

At the same time, the second sentry charged, his sharp spear fixed to impale the ape-man. And already Tarzan heard wild yells answering the call of alarm. Instead of preparing to receive the charge of his shrieking antagonist, he calmly cut the ropes on the gates.

The Leopard Clan sentry dashed forward with a cry of triumph on his thick lips. His quarry could not escape through the gates, for the strength of five men was required to move those giant portals on their rusty hinges. He knew the lone invader was doomed.

Turkey Brands Protect Birds

Modern Turkey Rustler Being Fought With Tattoo Marks And Burglar Alarms By The Ranchers Of West

BY ROBERT GEIGER

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 14. (AP) — Western ranchers who fought old-time cattle rustlers with branding iron and six-gun today combat the modern "turkey rustler" with tattoo mark and burglar alarm.

Nearly every turkey in Colorado has been branded in an effort to protect a record crop of gobblers from a record crop of thieves.

Wait Till Fattened

"Turkey thieves wait until the growers fatten the birds for market before they start stealing them," says Ben H. Cook, field organizer for the state director of markets.

"Then they have no cost whatever except to pick them up and carry them to market."

Large growers have installed burglar alarms in their pens but the smaller raisers permit their turkeys to graze and roost in the "wide open spaces," where they are easy prey to night-riding rustlers who steal by the truckload.

"Brands" Help

The "brands," first resorted to several years ago, have been effective in stopping some of the rustling, Cook said. Each grower is assigned a number which is tattooed to the turkey's wing under the feathers. Produce houses check these numbers against records kept in the market office when they purchase birds.

Cook said this year's crop would probably equal the 1934 record when Colorado shipped 220 carloads — about 400,000 dressed birds — to market.

Thanksgiving Birds Will Be Priced Lower In California

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. (AP) — Thanksgiving turkeys will have an added appeal for California's millions of consumers this year—they will be priced low.

George Makins, general manager of the California Turkey Growers association, announced opening prices for the Thanksgiving trade would be 21 cents to wholesalers for young toms, and 23 cents for hens. In Los Angeles prices will be 1-2 cent higher.

Prices to consumers, which will vary considerably in various stores, are expected to run from 27 to 30 cents at most retail outlets.

TO REFUND BONDS

DICKENS, (Special) — Notice has been given by James Cloud, county judge of Dickens county, that the commissioner's court on December 14, will pass an order authorizing issuance of $15,000 in refunding bonds of the county. Bonds to be refunded are courthouse improvement bonds.

Grasshoppers

really want to; but rather because circumstance compels them. they have come to realize a captain is larger than his ship, because he manages it; that an engineer is bigger than his engine, because he runs the thing; that a little electric motor no larger than one's two fists will do more work than a ten foot windmill located on a tower on top of a hill that one can see five miles away.

If anyone thinks size depends upon bulk, let them get in front of a hornet sometime, and they will think they have been hit either by a giant or else struck by their mother-in-law driving an automobile at 75 miles an hour. This happened when President Franklin Delano Roosevelt was swept into office by an unprecedented landslide majority for another term. It is the one outstanding instance when grasshoppers and giants joined hands to continue the increasing welfare of a nation through the leadership of its proven Master Giant!

TEXAS LADY FEELS LIKE NEW WOMAN; VAN-TAGE STOPS 18 YEARS MISERY

Mrs. Cogswell Had Awful Indigestion And Swelled With Gas So Bad She Could Hardly Breathe—Was Headachy, Nervous And Constipated — Now She Tells How Van-Tage Relieved Her And Says "It's Wonderful. I Feel Like New!"

"I've Changed Into a New Woman Since I Took VAN-TAGE! This Medicine is All They CLAIM."—MRS. C. T. COGSWELL, 4200 Lemon Ave., Dallas, Tex.

Thousands of people here in Lubbock and general vicinity are now taking—and praising!—the "Amazing Mixture of Nature's Roots and Herbs and other splendid Medicinal Agents", known as VAN-TAGE, which is now being introduced to crowds daily in this city by a Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from the Van-Tage Laboratories, at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway. And at the same time, many local men and women—some of the Best-Known Residents of Lubbock and section, are coming forward daily with Remarkable Statements, publicly endorsing Van-Tage in the newspapers. Druggists say they never saw anything like this before. Never in history, they state, has any medicine received so many voluntary endorsements from Widely-Known People in this section. Among the many Texas people who praise Van-Tage, none is more enthusiastic about this Great Medicine than Mrs. C. T. Cogswell, of 4200 Lemon Ave., Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Cogswell is a Long-Time Local Resident with friends throughout this vicinity. Read what she says.

Had 18 Years Of Awful Stomach Gas And Bloat

"I had so much suffering from an upset stomach condition that I don't know how I ever stood it," said Mrs. Cogswell. "None of my food would agree with me but caused terrible spells of indigestion and I would bloat and swell with gas until I could hardly get my breath and had awful gas pains all through my stomach organs. This gas misery even extended up into my chest and caused an awful burning around my heart and sometimes I felt I could just scream from all this suffering. I couldn't sleep at night because of the misery I was in and felt exhausted all day long and had such headaches that I thought my head would surely split open. To add to my suffering, I was badly constipated all the time and had a coated tongue and sallow color and just felt terrible.

Now Like A New Woman, Thanks To Van-Tage

"Well, that's the condition I was in and it certainly was an awful thing to have to endure all the time, and then recently I found Van-Tage and it has GIVEN ME RELIEF. It cleared the gas and bloat from my stomach organs and now for the first time in 18 years, I enjoy my meals and have no gas pains or suffering afterward, and can go to bed and sleep soundly all night. This medicine also has a fine action on a person's bowels and my constipation is relieved and headaches are gone. I've simply changed into a new woman since I took Van-Tage and I know that it is all they claim and gladly give this statement, endorsing it to all who suffer as I did.

21 Great Natural Herbs In The Van-Tage

VAN-TAGE contains 21 Great Herbs and nearly a dozen other Splendid Ingredients. They cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys, relieve awful rheumatic and neuritic pains caused by these sluggish organs. Van-Tage acts as a carminative, laxative, cholologogue and diuretic. Miserable people write us they soon feel different all over. Due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of this Amazing Compound is reasonable. So don't hesitate. Get Van-Tage—TODAY.

A Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from the Van-Tage Laboratories, is now at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway, Lubbock, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this Remarkable Compound.—Adv.

Unique Program Is Offered Here By KFYO Trio

New Songsters Are Presented

"The 4 Tones", Negro Quartet From Centennial, Comes To City In New Program; They Similar To Mills Boys

Although the combination of pipe organ, steel guitar, and vibraphone, is not particularly new, the Rainbow Trio, heard daily over KFYO, offers a type of music that is unique.

The personnel includes Russ Magnus, vibraphone; Sam Koki, steel guitar; and Eddie Eben, organ.

Their selections are drawn mainly from the realm of old popular favorites, as they figure the dreamy presentation, most adaptable to the group, to fit these type melodies best. However, they DO swing it occasionally.

New Program On

A new program, "The 4 Tones," made its first appearance over KFYO, Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

"The 4 Tones," a quartette of dusky-hued lads, comes to Lubbock and KFYO direct from the Texas Centennial in Dallas, where they worked three months in the radio studios.

Some five years ago, the boys, then students in Lane college, Jackssonville, Tennessee, decided they liked to sing, formed the quartette, and worked their way through school via the vocal route.

Compared To Mills Brothers

Because they are frequently compared to the famed Mills Brothers, The Tones do everything possible to "sound different."

Ira Harvey, head of the group, explains his "Tones" are definitely different from the "4 Boys and a Guitar," in that their "arrangements are more complicated."

Sherrod Bros. will sponsor the group in a series of programs over KFYO, every evening at 6.

Williams On Regularly

Cecil Williams, "The Red River Rambler," will be heard regularly over KFYO on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock.

STILL IN U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Despite the record-breaking Atlantic crossings of the Normandie and Queen Mary, naval records show the United States still holds the ocean speed mark. In 1928 the aircraft carrier Lexington, en route from Honolulu to San Francisco, made 768 miles in a single day for an average speed of 30.66 knots. The Queen Mary's best day was 766 miles, the Normandie's 754.

Chic Sale, for four years star of a musical comedy, "Gay Paree," does not sing nor dance.

Still The 'Tops'

Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone, who in private life is Mrs. Benny, are still "tops" on the air waves for light comedy and musical varieties. Popular for several years, the Benny-Livingstone team continues to "wow" a big slice of Sunday night radio millions.

Stewart-Warner Radios Boast Exclusive Feature; Chimes Of Big Ben, Plane Signals Brought In Smoothly

The new photo-tone speaker with a Ferrodyne chassis, which is an exclusive feature of the Stewart-Warner radio, enables the world of air-wave listeners to hear airplane conversations, ships at sea, and police calls as well as the chimes of Big Ben over Britain's House of Parliament.

The Ferrodyne chassis combined with metal tube is designed to give a greater range. Metal casing for tubes assures a better vacuum, longer life, and fewer inherent tube noises. The new tubes are a distinct advantage for short-wave work since they can be constructed much smaller in size than can glass tubes, Stewart-Warner has designed a new chassis which is planned to match the characteristics of the metal tubes and get the utmost efficiency from them.

Advance In Sales Made

Stewart-Warner radios have made an advance in sales of 227 per cent over last year and is one of the first five advancing corporations and the only radio listed among the first five corporations that paid dividends.

"Our total expense on service since August has been less than $3," said J. D. Carnett, local dealer for Stewart-Warner. He explained that the new metal tube equipment, Ferrodyne chassis, automatic station register, Dual Tone Control, and new Diffusalite Magic dial aided in making the radio almost without expense to the owner.

RATTLESNAKES BAR DOOR

RULETON, Kas. (AP) — For once the pupils at District No. 17 school had no desire to dash out the school room door—seven rattlesnakes had crawled into the entry way.

As soon as the snakes were sighted the farm youngsters grabbed books and everything else at hand and pelted them at the snakes. They killed four of the rattlers and the other three escaped.

PRISON POPULATION DOWN

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) —Prison population in New Zealand is decreasing, according to Dominion's prisons department annual report.

The number decreased by 370 during the year 1935-36, and since 1931 the yearly decrease has been 34 per cent.

The daily average of 1,212 in custody is the lowest figure for years.

Modernity Is Keynote Of New Model Zenith Radios; New Features Shown

Good Director

Although he reached radio fame with his golden voice and famous Connecticut Yankees band, Rudy Vallee has become one of the industry's leading program directors. He's still singing every Thursday night and directing his band and program, too. Vallee's success as a director promises to keep him before the mike long after the Yankees have disbanded and his famous croon has grown husky.

Modernity is the keynote of the Zenith for 1937, which is handled by Sherrod Brothers Hardware Co., according to B. Sherrod, manager.

"We feature a complete line of radios, ranging from automobile sets through table models and consoles," Sherrod said. "All the latest mechanical refinements are present in all models, and competing with them for first interest are the distinct and breath-taking beauty of design of the handsome new cabinets. The dials and controls of many of the more daring models are being set in the top."

Features Individual

The performance features of the new Zeniths are individual because of the improved receptivity, sensitivity, and tone quality. The new black dials are "squared circles," surmounted by a "target tuning" device.

Among the mechanical features of the new Zenith are a secret volume governor, a privacy plug-in, permitting attachment of a second speaker in another room, and a new acoustic adapter giving that "best seat in the house" effect. A private headset is provided for the hard of hearing, and high fidelity controls and split-second relocation for short wave reception.

The Zenith company also manufactures battery sets for farmers and ranchers. The Zenith windcharger provides a source of power at practically no expense at all.

Coming Year Being Forecast As Radio's Best

Silvertone Is Sears Product

Automatic Flash Tuning Will Find Favor Here, Says C. S. Purcell, Local Manager Of Nation-Wide Concern

The American Radio industry will sell six million receiving sets during the coming radio season, C. S. Purcell, manager of the local Sears, Roebuck and Co. store, predicted today in announcing the arrival of the 1937 Silvertones.

Convinced that the coming year will be the greatest in the history of the radio industry, and knowing that every dealer will make a particular strenuous bid for his share of the business, Sears' engineers set to work many months ago to develop a new line that they were determined would be the equivalent of any on the market, Purcell said.

"Radio enthusiasts will this year demand perfect reception obtained with the minimum amount of effort. With this in mind Sears' engineers incorporated in the 1937 Silvertone the first really new development in radio in several years. It is known as 'automatic flash tuning.'

"By means of this innovation the persons operating the set merely turns the dial to his favorite station. The call letters then flash into view and the station comes in perfectly tuned. Automatic flash tuning eliminates noise between stations, which means that there will be no coughs, hisses or squeals and other objectionable noises."

Bass Is Compensated

Other features of the Silvertone are its "automatic bass compensation" which makes up for the loss of bass notes as the radio's volume is decreased, and variable tone control. By means of the latter a Silvertone may be adjusted to the tone which will suit both the listener's ear and the acoustices of his home.

"This is the first time to my knowledge," Purcell said, "that the 'automatic bass compensation' has been incorporated in an inexpensive radio."

Purcell said he believed that the high quality of network programs planned for the coming months and increased interest in short wave broadcasts due to the tense European situation would stimulate radio sales.

New all wave sets which get all American broadcasts, police, aircraft, amateurs, ships at sea and both American and foreign short wave broadcasts, in a large selection of both console and table models with beautiful walnut cabinets, are now on display at the local Sears store.

Although the musicians' union doesn't recognize Bob Burns' bazooka as a musical instrument the comedian is a musician. He can prove it by playing the piano, banjo or mandolin. Years ago when Bob and his brother Farrar comprised the team of Burns Brothers, travelling troubadours, they performed on these instruments, singing to their own accompaniment.

Guest Star

Jack Arthur, well known baritone of musical comedy fame, is to be heard on KFYO's "Musical Moments" program, by Chevrolet, next Tuesday at 7:45 p. m., which features the music of Rubinoff and his violin. "Musical Moments" is a regular feature of the Avalanche-Journal station.

Orchards Invaded By Herds Of Deer

RED BLUFF, Calif., Nov. 14. (AP)—Wild deer, protected from harm by state law, are eating many California farmers out of their profits and in some cases out of their homes.

J. J. Deuel, director of the law and utilities department of the California Farm Bureau federation, says "deer have become so bold that they invade and ruin orchards and even the gardens of fine homes within 40 miles of the Los Angeles city hall."

The penalty for killing deer unlawfully ranges from a minimum of a $100 fine to a maximum of a $500 fine plus six months in jail.

"The law permits a farmer to shoot a deer on his own land, but he must haul it to the nearest game warden who in turn must give it to a public institution," Deuel said.

"Adequate fencing is economically out of the question in most cases, for a deer can clear even a high fence and can break through those of weak construction."

WEEVILS EAT STALKS

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — C. H. Brannon, North Carolina State college extension entomologist, says boll weevils thrive on cotton stalks left standing in fields.

Crosley Gives 1937 Features

Fifteen Years Of Experience Culminated In New Models, Says Noel Stalnaker, Head Of Hodges Radio Dept.

"Crosley has them all" is the slogan of the new 1937 Crosley radio, handled by Noel Stalnaker, manager of Hodges Brothers store here.

The complete culmination of the past 15 years of Crosley pioneering and leadership is expressed to the highest degree in the 1937 Crosley radios, Stalnaker said. "The distinctive beauty brings exclamations of delight. The superior performance is recognized the moment a Crosley is tuned in. A comparison of any Crosley model with any other radio of the same price class proves that here is the finest quality at the most attractive price for everyone," he said.

Different Models Offered

"The new Crosleys are built in table models with five, six and seven tubes with five to six inch speakers," Stalnaker said. "Console models have 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15 tubes with 8, 12 and 15 inch speakers."

Other features are the auto-expressionator, mystic hand, bass and treble tone compensation, six-step fidelity control, high fidelity, metal tubes, cardiamatic unit, new magnaceramic dial, vibracoustic floating sounding board, and giant curvilinear speaker.

Wells-Gardner Radio Is Successful Through Many Features, Plus Beauty

Success of the Wells-Gardner radio is attributed by Powell McWhirter, manager of Southern Auto Stores, 1012 Main street, to clarity of tone, distinctive beauty, and long, trouble-free service.

In the performance, according to McWhirter, Wells-Gardner radios incorporate a fidelity and clarity of tone that is outstanding among fine receivers. Sturdy assemblies, precision engineering, and high safety factors assure the long trouble-free service.

Beauty Is Individual

"The distinctive beauty of Wells-Gardner radios is an element that is quite individual. The cabinets are gracefully designed with the finish hand-rubbed to a satin polish," McWhirter said. "All internal components show an unusually high calibre of workmanship."

In addition to these features, Wells-Gardner is one of the few manufacturers making all radio and intermediate frequency coils, which are the heart of the radio set, thus controlling their characteristics and quality. Wells-Gardner coils, condensers, input and output transformers are baked, boiled in wax and receive an outer coat of wax for moisture and weather proofing, McWhirter stated.

The new Wells-Gardner phantom light dial is uniquely desirable development from both the standpoints of beauty and ease of operation. Beams of light indicate station setting as well as the position of the tone and volume controls. The usual external moving hands have been eliminated. Micrometer logging indicator and electronic tuning indicator supplement the beauty of the etched glass dial.

Don Voorhees, Allentown, Pa. . . . Conductor Harold Sanford, Northhampton, Mass.

Bradley Barker, the actor who impersonates animals on NBC programs, discovered his peculiar talent when a small boy. He imitated the bawling of a calf so successfully that cows used to come to him on his grandfather's farm. Later, becoming a movie actor, he astonished Hollywood by stealing like a frying egg when the sound effects men fell down on the job.

Ward's Offers 1937 Airlines

New Dialing Method Featured With Two-Speed Tuner Will Sell More Sets, Says Local Montgomery Ward Manager

More radios will be sold this year by Montgomery Ward and Company than any other retailer in the world, predicted A. H. Maas, manager of the local store. Their new line of radios for 1937, the Airline, offers many innovations which make it easy to understand, he said.

The most outstanding feature of the Airline Radio is the "Movie Dial," a sensational improvement which has been hailed by many as the outstanding improvement of all time. When the two-speed tuner of the Airline Radio with a Movie-Dial is turned, the world of call-letters whizzes by, with letters so big they can be read standing up. All uncomfortable stooping is ended; there is no need for spectacles or a magnifying glass, because you can read these letters across the room. Distance fans will especially be intrigued by the ability to see, at a glance, what city and station you are tuned to, without the bother of waiting for station announcements.

Short-Wave Section, Too

Airline radios also have a short-wave section which are more than just a dial. They are almost a map —a perfect travel guide to what goes on in every wave band — and where and how to get it.

The Movie-Dial eliminates overlapping of stations. There is more space between stations than ever before (actually 20 times as much as in the 1936 dial). The Airline is called "the easiest tuning instrument in all the history of radio."

There are no numbers to remember (or forget) on the dial. Stations can be found by letter, or city, or number—just as the user prefers. The numbers are there, however, in case the more conservative listeners want them. The wave band can be chosen by touching a button—long, short, or foreign — and only one shows at a time.

Other features of the Montgomery Ward Airline Radio are the cathoderay tuning eye, all metal tubes, 2-speed tuning, adjustable high fidelity, automatic bass booster, curvilinear tone chamber, built-in voltage regulator, alloy dynamic speakers, and the lighted dial in battery sets.

Ward also carries a complete line of battery radios, gasoline engine chargers, guaranteed Super-Airline tubes, and dated batteries.

Ox Team Elevates Texan Off Relief

GILMER, Nov. 14. (AP) — An ox team pulled the R. F. Brown family of nine from the relief rolls and rooted it into East Texas soil.

Three years ago, Brown, now 41, faced economic ruin and despair when the lumber mills with which he had worked 14 years closed down.

Brown did odd jobs and finally turned to relief work. Then he rented a small piece of land, although he knew little about farming.

He moved his family to the five-acre farm. He swapped his hand saw for a 4-month-old steer and a few days later traded his plane for a second young ox. Then he started work.

This fall he is harvesting cotton, corn, sweet potatoes and other products from his now 22-acre farm and the family table is loaded with good things to eat.

HIGH ROCK, Pa. (AP)—Joyce Durham of York, visiting her grandparents, lost a gold initial ring. Relatives reported her grandmother went to bed and dreamed she found the ring under the spice cupboard in the kitchen.

'CLEANSING' DRAMA

STEPHENVILLE, Tex., (AP)—Cadets in a dormitory at John Tarleton college here will stage a "cleansing" drama.

The cadets decided to let the aspiring actors among them stage a play and charge for it. The boxoffice net will go for a washing machine for cadet use.

A Movie Star—And A Movie Dial

Armstrong Is Grunow Agent

Local Firm Also Is Sentinel Dealer; Teledial Features Grunows And Operates Like Dial Phone System

Armstrong's at 1111 Avenue K are local dealers for Grunow Electric radios and Sentinel Battery radios.

The Grunow line of radios for 1937 features five sensational models, according to E. H. Armstrong, manager, consisting of a 5-tube table model, an 11-tube console, two 12-tube consoles, and a 15 tube console.

The Teledial is an outstanding feature of the three larger models by Grunow. This method of tuning is more accurate than manual tuning and gives 15 prominent stations at finger-tip control, he said.

Operate Like Telephones

"Teledial is operated like a dial telephone except it is much easier to use," Armstrong said. "Select your station; pull dial down to the center. That's all. The station you select comes in instantly, tuned to perfection."

All console models are full all-wave receivers with circuits designed by Commander Sneil, U. S. Navy, world's outstanding short-wave engineer, according to Armstrong.

Sentinel Has 29 Models

The Sentinel line of battery sets consists of 29 models, ranging from four to eight tubes, in 2-volt and 6-volt series. The Winchariger is used with the 6-volt radios to keep the battery charged and may be used to furnish electric lights for the house.

"We carry a complete line of both Grunow and Sentinel radios at our showroom, located just across the street east of Hotel Lubbock," Armstrong said. "We also maintain a complete service department for all makes of radios."

Firestone Has Sets For Cars

Stewart-Warner Radios Shown In City; Are Made For Use In Automobiles But Offer Finest In Reception

A complete new line of Firestone automobile radios made to special Firestone specifications by Stewart-Warner to enable service dealers to retail ultra-modern radios at popular prices has been announced by C. A. Pauliger, local manager of Firestone stores.

Included in the new line of radios are models for both cars and for the home store or office. Firestone Stewart-Warner auto radios have long been known for their special merit under the difficult radio conditions formerly so trying in a car. With this new model auto radio, the reception is said to be equal to that of the best home radios.

Many Features Included

In this popular priced car radio, all of the features ordinarily associated with expensive sets are found, according to Pauliger. In addition to clear reception, the Firestone Stewart-Warner auto radio has tone control in the head, a 6 1-2 - inch dynamic speaker, iron core coil and finest shielding in a beautiful, durable case. Dash mountings are offered at no extra charge.

"Our home radio is called the Airchief, and it's all its name implies," said Pauliger. "There's a choice of three models, each a gem in its class. These three models give a choice of four tubes, five tubes and seven tubes." Modern features found on new model home radios plus a number of exclusive features are incorporated in the new 1937 line of Airchiefs, Pauliger pointed out. He is anxious to have

This opinion has been handed down in the reversal of a $12,430 judgment awarded Caroline Monen who brought suit against O. T. "Request Hour" Is New Offering Of KFYO

Program Is To Last One Hour

Avalanche-Journal Station Is To Play For Listeners Each Sunday Afternoon; Postcard Or Letter Is Needed

According to popular demand, Radio Station KFYO today will begin a regular weekly "request hour," during which musical numbers will be played for listeners asking for them.

Beginning today and continuing until further notice, the "request hour" will be held between 3 and 4 p. m. on Sundays. Here-to-fore, KFYO has been off the air between 2 and 4 p. m. each Sunday but starting today will entertain listeners during those hours and continuing until 6 p. m. Broadcasting begins on Sunday at 8 a. m.

Will Play Anything

"We will play any sort of a musical selection asked for during 'request hour'," Ollie Cook, KFYO's program director announced yesterday. "We'll play hymns, hillbilly selections, swing music, 'hot' jazz—anything the people select."

Telephone requests, however, will not be met.

"The only stipulation," Cook said, "is that requests must come to the station in the form of postcards or letters so that we'll have time to arrange for the selections. All a listener has to do is drop a line to KFYO, giving the name of the selection wanted, together with the name of the person requesting it."

No set program has been arranged for the hour between 2 and 3 p. m., Cook said. Later announcements will be made concerning that time.

East Texans Use Geese On Cotton

CANTON, Tex., Nov. 14. (AP) — Geese last summer were put to work by East Texas farmers who report them "capable hard working farm hands."

The fowls—an estimated 25,000 are employed in Van Zandt county alone—pluck weeds and grass from about cotton plants. Experience has convinced farmers the feathered farm hands are worth the little care they need.

Goose farming involves a minimum of employer-employe relationships. The fowls are simply set loose and down the rows they waddle "chopping cotton." They eat grass and weeds but never touch the tough fibrous cotton plant.

Owners estimate five geese can do the work of a good farm hand.

Story Discloses Gridster Grange No 'David Harum'

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. — Harold "Red" Grange, famed "Galloping Ghost" of football and now an NBC star, recalls with amusement the time he almost traded his reputation with an admirer for an apple, a bad one at that. It was when Grange was playing pro football with the Chicago Bears.

A young fruit vendor, lacking the price of admission, offered Grange

one of his finest apples for a ticket. According to the law of supply and demand and relative prices, that was hardly a fair trade but Red decided to make it anyway.

Well, Red didn't get off on any of his long runs, and when the game was over he felt very much out of sorts. As he was leaving the field he told his young bargainer that the apple he received was rotten.

"Well, then we're exactly even," the youngster bit back.

Grange is heard over the NBC-Red Network each Friday at 10:40 p. m., E.S.T., with prognostications on football games of the following day; on Saturdays over the same network at 7:00 p. m., E.S.T., with football scores, and on Mondays over the NBC-Blue Network at 9:00 p. m., E.S.T.

Early activities of some NBC personalities: anny Ross earned his first dollar as a grocer's delivery boy. . . . Robert Simmons worked his way through prep school clerking week-ends in a Marionville, Mo., general store.

Beauty And Radio Pose Together

One beauty appreciates another, and this radio fan has her heart set on the new General Electric "Focused Tone" console radio with which she is pictured. This beautiful set is equipped with 8 metal tubes, 3 broadcast bands for the reception of domestic and foreign programs and many distinctive features new to radio design and reproduction.

New RCA Victor Sets, With "Magic Brain, Magic Eye," Are On Display By Meinecke Brothers, Local Dealers

The Magic Brain, an exclusive RCA feature, acts as a nerve-center, controlling all the functions of the radio set, just as the human brain controls the functions of the body. A brand new coil system this year gives even better performance than ever. New "Air-Trimmers" with plunger type cores are used to maintain permanent factory adjustment of all high frequency circuits. More stations—less noise—better tone — easier tuning — all these are the features which make RCA Victor "the Stradivarius of radio."

Meinecke said he believes that RCA Victor offers radio's greatest value at any price, stressing the fact that the radios come in a wide range of prices and styles.

The Magic Voice, another exclusive RCA Victor triumph, removes the only serious obstacle remaining before complete naturalness of voice and music as heard over the radio can be achieved. It absolutely eliminates the "boom," the effect of talking or singing into a rain barrel, that mars many a fine program and destroys the illusion of reality. By contrast, the Magic Voice produces tones as pure and clear as spring water.

In all Magic Voice RCA Victor instruments the speaker is enclosed in an acoustically sealed chamber, which contains five organ-like pipes—scientifically designed and carefully placed in relation to each other and the speaker. These pipes complete the acoustical sound chamber of the Magic Voice—proportioned, designed, and vented as scientifically as a rare old Stradivarius violin.

Foreign Tuning System Is Being Given Praise

Philco Models Are Described

Streamlined Beauty Features New Sets; Tuning Now Done Automatically; Davis Says 1937 Sets Finest Ever

The foreign tuning system, automatic tuning, and streamlined beauty are the main features of the new 1937 Philco radio, according to D. A. Davis, manager of the Household Supply Co., dealers here.

"This is the supreme achievement in battery sets," Davis said. "It is a cabinet of imposing dignity with its large instrument dial set in a panel of butt and sliced walnut. The hand rubbed finish adds beauty that will enhance the attractiveness of any room. It receives European programs as easily as standard broadcast. The features include a spread band dial with foreign stations names, inclined sound board, shadow tuning and a host of other features too numerous to mention."

Philco Well Known

The Philco "38" series is well known to tens of thousands of radio fans as the finest performing, most economical, most dependable battery radio ever built. In the new "37-38" series the finest performance that money can buy is in the straight American receiver, according to Davis. These new receivers are still more powerful, have still better tone, and many other improvements over the earlier models.

"Over seven million Philco owners have made Philco the world's largest selling radio," Davis said. "For seven straight years, Philco has led the world in radio sales, each year increasing their lead still further until now Philco makes and sells almost as many radios as all their competitors combined. Such success can come only through diligent research in the world's largest radio laboratories, and from real craftsmanship in the manufacture of high quality, long life receivers."

PROLIFIC VINE

CLAY CENTER, Kas. (AP)—A cucumber vine on the Thomas Stone farm near here could really take it. Only one of fifty vines to survive the drouth, it revived with fall rains and produced 35 quarts of pickles and enough cucumbers for the table.

Mrs. Claudine Macdonald, for many years director of NBC's Woman's Radio Review, has had a varied career. She has been a social settlement worker, a director of women's clubs, a teacher and a dramatic coach and actress, among other things. Mrs. Macdonald is a native of Chicago and a graduate of Northwestern university.

Noctiluca, microscopic animals that live in the sea, would live forever if they could avoid injury, it is said.

Air Troubadour

Now with Paul Whiteman, in the "King's" Sunday night program is that favorite tenor, Frank Parker, once the big song man of the Benny hour. Frank, above, is still one of radio's most popular songsters.

Thomas Young, English scientist of 1773 to 1829, read the Bible completely twice before his fourth birthday.

G-E Featuring 'Focused Tone'

Visible Tuning, Finest Tone Production, Fine Cabinets Backed By New Engineering Advances Back Product

Focused tone, the new marvel of radio that brings studio sharpness and tone color into the home through faultless reproduction, is only one of the several features that are incorporated in the new General Electric "Focused Tone" metal tube receivers now on display at Sherrod Brothers Hardware store, 1014 Broadway, Paul Sherrod has announced.

The new sets, products of the engineering which developed the famous metal tubes, are a new conception of the radio art and represent the highest degree of perfection in radio creation.

Has "Colorama" Dial

Perfect tuning is assured with the colorama dial, an amazing new development that automatically flashes from red to bright green when program reception is at its peak. An automatic frequency control instantly snaps the tuned circuit into "focused tone" position. A local station personalizer provides "custom-made" station identification by flashing in green light the call letters of the station tuned in. Switching from one station to another is done in absolute silence by means of a silent tuning control. These and other distinctive features bring clear, life-like reproduction to the finger tips of all who want radio entertainment as it sounds in the studio.

Realism Stressed

Domestic programs, or foreign broadcasts from the Antennine to Australia, through "focused tone" reception are given a realism never before attained.

Cabinet designs, influenced by changing styles in furniture and interior decoration, employ selected woods and finishes of rare beauty to blend with any decorative scheme. The cabinets were designed by General Electric's stylist and are the products of the country's master craftsmen.

Kern's Music To Feature Tuesday

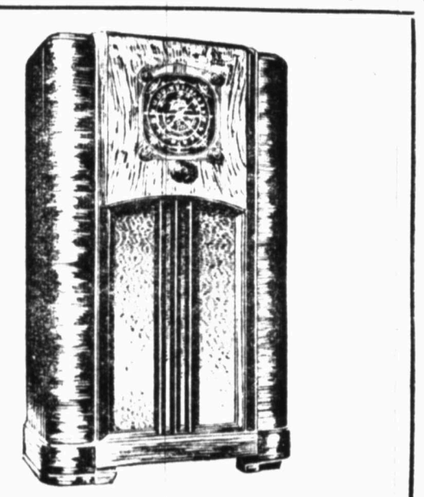

The music of Jerome Kern will be featured by Rubinoff on the "Musical Moments" program to be broadcast from station KFYO next Tuesday at 7:45 o'clock as a presentation of local Chevrolet dealers through World Broadcasting System. The famous maestro's violin solo is to be "The Way You Look Tonight," from the recent screen success "Swing Time." Jack Arthur, musical comedy baritone, will be guest star. The orchestra, headed by Rubinoff himself, will play "A Fine Romance," from "Swing Time," and "A High Hat, A Piccolo And A Cane."
