Live Oak Buys Land For Future Expansion

Live Oak State Bank of Rockport has acquired an additional 64,125 square feet of land for future expansion.

The acquisition of the property was announced Monday, July 21, by Bank President George Cone, who noted that the title closing -- done at 10 a.m.

Monday at Stewart Title Company -- took place 10 days before Live Oak State Bank celebrated its sixth anniversary.

No definite plans have been finalized for the newly-acquired tract of land located on the north property line of the bank. The property fronts 150 feet on Highway 35 North, 300 feet on Jenkins Street and 142.5 feet on Broadway.

"The board's (the bank board of directors) decision to acquire the property is based on the growth of Aransas County," Cone said. Negotiations for the land have been underway for about six months.

Cone also noted that this past week has been an "excellent" one for Live Oak State Bank, with the purchase of the additional land, the successful bid on the $400,000 Aransas County road bond issue for the Highway 35 By-pass and notification from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation that the bank can exercise its recently-obtained trust powers.

What this means, Cone added, is that the bank can now offer trust services as executor and administrator, trustee, guardian and agent.

Live Oak State Bank received its charter in September, 1973, and opened its doors for business in Rockport on July 31, 1974. Opening day deposits were $149,626.58.

At the close of business on June 30 this year, bank deposits totalled $20,200,879.10.

Cone added, "The directors, officers and employees of Live Oak State Bank want to say thank you to the community for your continuing support which has made this growth happen."

Fowler Named CP&L Manager In Refugio

Jim Fowler, formerly office manager in Central Power & Light's Rockport office, assumed duties as CP&L manager in Refugio effective Saturday, July 19. Fowler replaced Refugio manager H.C. (Herb) Caraway who is retiring Thursday, July 31, after 46 years of service with CP&L.

Fowler, an employee of the utilities company for 19 years, is a native of Corpus Christi, a graduate of W.B. Ray High School, and attended Del Mar College and the University of Texas. He served as internal auditor and traveling auditor for CP&L before moving to the Rockport office.

While in Rockport, Fowler was active in community work serving as president and drive chairman of the United Fund, charter director of Sea Fair and president of the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association.

Fowler has also served as president of the Aransas County unit of the American Cancer Society and as a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church of Rockport. He and his wife Annette have two children, a son and a daughter.

Caraway, who has been manager in Refugio since 1950, is also a former Rockport resident and is a charter member of the Lions Club and a past secretary of the Rockport Lions organization.

Caraway also served as a president of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and

Drowning, Offshore Accident Claim Two

A drowning in Peninsula Oaks and an offshore accident claimed the lives of two persons Sunday, July

The drowning victim was Jason Allanson, age two and a half, of Jacksonville, North Carolina, who was staying with his grandparents of Peninsula Oaks.

Killed in the offshore drilling accident was Tony Land, 21, of Chipley, Florida.

The drowning occurred about 3:16 p.m. Sunday according to Chief Paramedic Bill Aston.

Aston said the child was found by his parents on the bottom of a private pond behind his grandparents' home at 507 Alexander Street.

Two ambulances, six paramedics and Dr. Fred Warren responded to the call and worked on the child for two hours before he was pronounced dead at the scene.

Also on the scene were units from the Aransas County Sheriff's Office, Texas Highway Patrol and Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The drilling rig accident occurred about 4:30 a.m. Sunday when Land was helping move pipe from a crewboat onto the Triton No. 4 drilling rig about 80 miles from Rockport.

Aston said a rack of pipe fell on the man.

Three Aransas County paramedics were flown to the site of the accident by a Corpus Christi helicopter service and the body was

Plans Taking Shape For Sea Fair

A decorated tug and barge from Brown & Root will definitely be in this year's Sea Fair Boat Parade -- and Sea Fair goers may get a look at a 100-foot yacht once owned by a famous gangster.

Those possibilities were announced by Dick Lilly, chairman of the boat parade, during a meeting of Sea Fair VI chairpersons Tuesday, July 15, at the home of Entertainment and Special Events Chairman Gene Matthews.

Land Parade Committee Chairman Larry Boone reported a steady receipt of entries for the land parade, including several floats and beauty queens from area towns. A riding club from Corpus Christi may also be among participants.

John Behee reports the Air-Sea Rescue demonstration -- always a favorite at the October Sea Fair -- is all lined up for that Saturday and Sunday. He is also trying to obtain a Coast Guard Cutter to be on hand for Sea Fair goers to board.

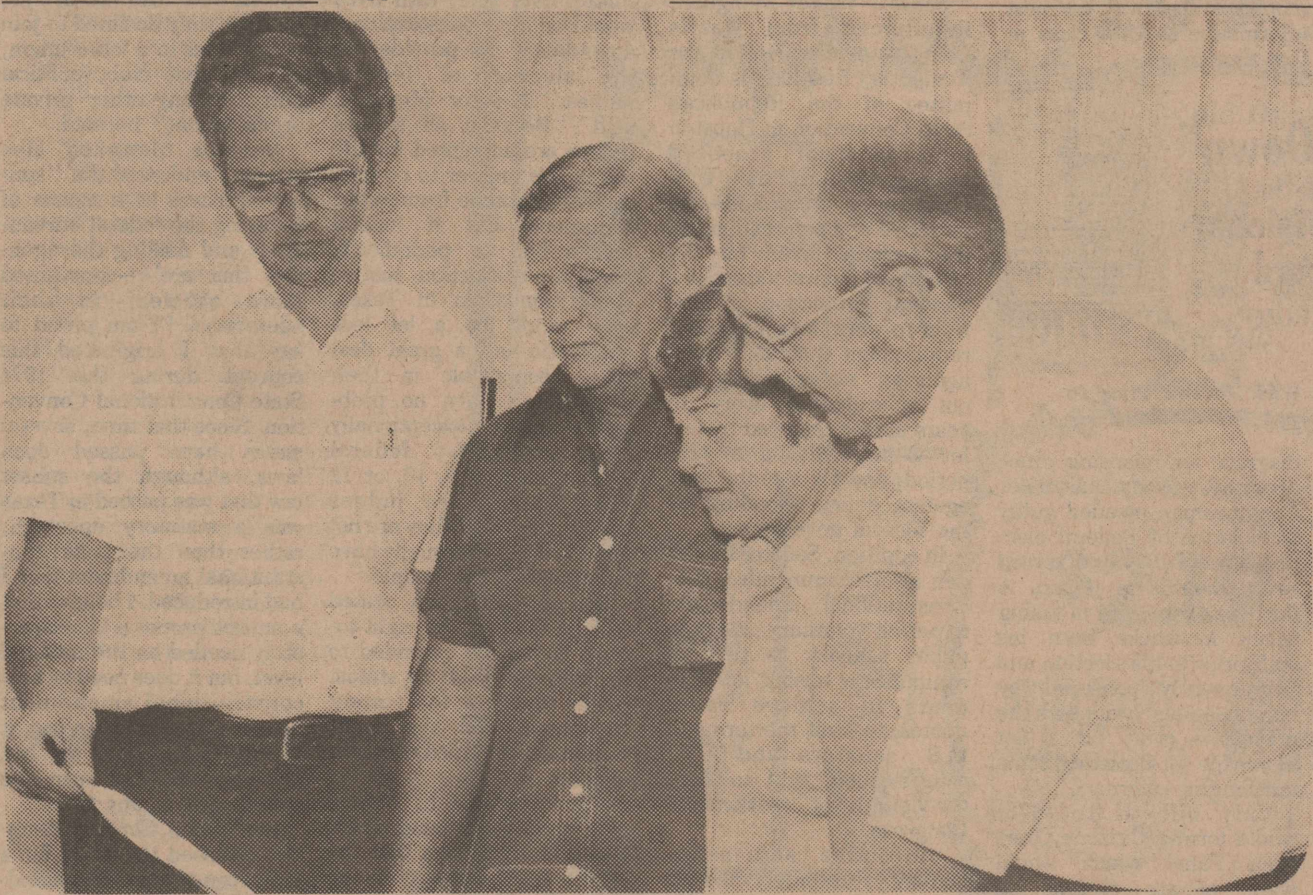

Another highlight of the annual Sea Fair is the Gumbo Cook-off. Committee Chairman Ed Setterbo reported he is still receiving entries for this event and there should be some "outstanding" gumbo again this year.

Auctioneer Dan Adams has lined up the professionals who will make the announcements and the general public address pater this year, and Roland Zapata has made arrangements for four bands to provide music during the two-day weekend event.

Plans are still being coordinated for other entertainment and special events, including a sailing regatta, water ski show, crab races and information on the proposed Maritime Museum.

General Chairman Bob Bernardy urges all Aransas County residents to show their support of the community and organizations working on Sea Fair by attending this year's festivities.

TITLE CLOSING

Cy Richards, Richard and Ruth Tegenborg and Larry Boone finalize the paperwork for Live Oak State Bank's purchase of another 64,125 square feet of land. Stewart Title Company handled the transaction, which was completed Monday, July 21.

Chlorine Sends Two To Hospital

A chlorine leak at the Sandollar Restaurant sent two persons to the hospital, a third was treated and at least nine others had "minimum contact" with chlorine fumes Sunday evening, July 20.

The incident happened about 7:40 p.m., according to Aransas County Sheriff Bob Hewes, who said a bottle of liquid chlorine being stored in the restaurant corroded through and began leaking.

Hewes said the leak was discovered when people began smelling the chlorine. Sheriff's deputies, Aransas County paramedics and units from the Fulton Volunteer Fire Department were called to the scene.

Chief Paramedic Bill Aston said Monday that two persons were taken to Lyman-Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass for treatment and were released from the hospital Sunday night. A third person was treated at the scene.

Hewes said another nine persons came in contact with the chlorine fumes.

He added "a lot of the chlorine" leaked onto the floor and was contained with sand.

Members of the Fulton Fire Department carried the bottle to the east side of the Bay where it was turned over to employees from Dupont Chemical Plant in Ingleside for disposal.

Hewes said the Sandollar used to use liquid chlorine in the swimming pool but this was "discontinued years ago" in favor of the chlorine crystals which are safer.

However, he said, one chlorine bottle remained on hand. This was the one that

And he ran the ad in The Pilot.

It worked, he reported. "I didn't keep any statistics but we got a lot of response," Anders said. "It brought the people in."

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

As tourists, we frequent museums and learn about others. Our own museums tell us things about ourselves as well as about others.

Conner Museum in Kingsville is worth a mini-vacation anytime. An exhibit being developed in one whole wing of the museum tells the history of South Texas chronologically. The history is told in artifacts, printed facts and pictures. Jimmie Picquet, curator of the museum, is hoping someone in the Coastal Bend will help fill in the gaps. The greatest need is for objects and pictures from the Mexican and Spanish Colonial periods.

Pictures from any era can be taken into the museum and copied without delay. You don't lose your picture. In fact, if it is deteriorating, the museum staff will probably make a new photograph for you.

The museum has been named a regional historical depository. With this designation, the staff has been able to copy the county records in all the counties of the Coastal Bend, records which are obsolete from a legal point of view and otherwise might have been destroyed.

These county records are a part of a section of the museum available to those who are working on genealogy. A microfilm viewer is at hand, and records not in the museum can be ordered from other regions within a few days at no cost. There are no fees or admission charges at the museum.

An archeological exhibit is being developed, with junior curators this summer at work cleaning bones and taking part in the reconstruction. Another special emphasis is on economic history up to and including today's technology. For instance, a detailed model of a recently built refinery gives an understanding of the complexity of the process of producing various products that are petroleum related.

While permanent exhibits grow, special exhibits move in and out. An Edison anniversary will be celebrated with a special exhibit beginning Aug. 31. Exhibits include more than objects to view. They include discussion sessions. During the Edison festival, there will be sessions to learn how Edison arrived at the point of more than 1,000 inventions, of how his inventions changed our lives, of what our priorities are in the use of time conserved by use of his inventions and in making choices if energy conservation means reassessments.

This museum and others in the Coastal Bend interpret South Texas to a large number of Winter Texans who spend considerable time here. Winter Texans not only gain from the museum experiences, they contribute. One man, retired after a working lifetime in a photographic laboratory in Rochester, New York, worked in the museum photo laboratory on days last winter when weather did not permit fishing.

Winter Texans make up a large percentage of those who attend brown bag lunches at the museum during the winter, discussing issues that exhibits raise. Museum visitors come from a surprisingly wide area. Homes listed by those signing the register in recent months include 43 states and 18 foreign countries.

As many programs of the museum are designed for children as for adults. Teachers of school classes anywhere in the Coastal Bend can call and arrange museum tours with the particular emphasis that will be most informative to that class at that time.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

ABSCAM SPURS MISCONDUCT BILL

Representative Charles E. Grassley (Iowa) "...The Abscam scandal that has dazed Capital Hill recently has plunged public confidence in our country's legislators to rock bottom. The public has been shocked at allegations of videotape payoffs to Congressmen. But there is a growing body of evidence of illegal congressional conduct in the past decade and, I fear, a growing public perception of a system of congressional ethics that appears to tolerate rather than defer such crimes..."

"The talk of reform among many Members, however, has been far less enthusiastic in the cloak-room than on the House floor..."

"Today, I am reintroducing legislation that I have proposed previously in the 94th and 95th Congresses. Since that time, one Member of Congress has resigned in disgrace for misusing office account money. Another Congressman pleaded guilty to violation of Federal election laws in 1977 and served seven months in prison. A third was convicted of taking salary kickbacks from his staff prior to his election and subsequently censured by his colleagues. It appears the present is every bit, if not more ripe for initiating some meaningful reform."

"My bill (H.R. 7673) would form a Citizens Oversight Panel which would allow private citizens to accept complaints concerning conduct of Members of Congress and their staffs. If, after a preliminary investigation, the majority of citizens on the panel determined the ethics code might have been violated, the panel could direct the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct to investigate."

"I believe this bill would help place elected officials under closer scrutiny and would force Members of Congress to be more diligent in weeding out unethical behavior..."

"With renewed pressure from the electorate we should pass this legislation into law, restoring public trust and confidence in Congress and improving citizen access to Congress in case doubts are raised about an official's conduct."

(H.R. 7673 was cosponsored by Donald J. Pease (Ohio); Bruce F. Vento (Minn.); Benjamin A. Gilman (N.Y.); Jim Mattox (Texas); and John L. Burton (Calif.)

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Citizen apathy could be the death of H.R. 7673. Unless the sponsoring Congressmen hear from their constituents, and others, it's unlikely the Bill will get out of committee.

Mengden Testified Before Committee

Senator Walter Mengden, Republican from Harris County, testified before the Temporary Resolutions Committee of the Republican State Convention in Houston in support of proposed amendments to the U.S. Constitution to provide for initiative and referendum on the national level; for the election of federal judges; for national protection of the right-to-work; for a "sunset" requirement that all federal agencies automatically go out of existence every 10 years unless renewed by law for no more than a 10 year period; and for a prohibition against deficit spending by the federal government.

In addition, Senator Mengden also recommended U.S. Constitutional amendments to permit voluntary prayer in public schools; to prohibit compulsory busing of students to achieve racial quotas; to limit the terms of U.S. senators and U.S. congressmen; and to limit the length of sessions of Congress.

"Initiative and referendum is definitely needed on the state level here in Texas, but it is even more imperative that the people have this right at the federal level," Senator Mengden said. "The Congress is so physically and philosophically removed from the people that its decisions on most issues fail to even approximate the feelings of the people. And yet, most citizens are not aware of how their congressman votes. And for an opponent to effectively communicate this information in a political campaign, it usually costs hundreds of thousands of dollars, which is obviously beyond the reach of almost all challengers. That's why most incumbent congressmen are re-elected every two years and why the legislative process in the Congress does not do a good job of reflecting public opinion."

"As you may know, Congressman Jack Kemp of New York is the sponsor of national initiative and referendum in the House of Representatives and Senators Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Alan Simpson of Wyoming are the cosponsors of it in the Senate. I would strongly urge support of their vital proposals," Senator Mengden said.

"Another important means for the people to gain control over their own lives would be for a constitutional amendment to provide for the election of federal judges," Senator Mengden said. "Because all federal judges are appointed for life terms and answer to no one, they are immune from public sentiment. But if federal judges had to periodically stand for re-election, just as state judges do in Texas, they would be a lot less autocratic and a great deal more responsible in their decisions. I have no problems with even exceptionally long terms for federal judges, such as 8, 10, or 12 years, but these judges should know that they are not gods and will eventually have to answer to the people."

Senator Mengden stated that he felt that the right-to-work should be extended to the citizens of all 50 states, rather than just the current 19 states, and this right should be protected constitutionally.

"For any man or woman who works for a living, there can be no question that the right-to-work belongs in the U.S. Constitution because the right-to-work is, at least, equally as important as the freedom of speech, religion, press, and petition. Compulsory unionism is wrong because it destroys the freedom of choice. No one should ever lose his/her job because they declined to join or pay dues to a labor union, church, civic club, political party, or any other private organization," he said.

Senator Mengden also strongly endorsed the "sunset" process as a means of reducing the federal bureaucracy and making the agencies that are re-constituted more efficient in their operations. "I am proud to say that I originated this concept during the 1974 State Constitutional Convention. Since that time, several states have passed such laws, although the sunset law that was passed in Texas was a statutory approach, rather than the state constitutional amendment that I had introduced. I believe that a sunset proposal is desperately needed on the national level, but it does need to be a constitutional amendment because, if it is just a law, it is only as strong as the last law passed and can be superceded at any time."

In addition, Senator Mengden stressed the need for a U.S. constitutional amendment to prohibit deficit spending by the federal government, except for emergencies when authorized by a 4/5th majority of the membership of both houses of congress.

"Of all of these proposals, the right of initiative and referendum is, by far, the most important because, if we have this, all of the rest will follow. Numerous national polls have shown overwhelming majorities of the people favor the right-to-work, a constitutional requirement for a balanced budget, prayer in schools, election of federal judges, sunset laws, and a prohibition against forced busing," he said. "Initiative and referendum is a means that we can use to translate the conservative philosophy of the people of the United States into reality."

The Legal Way

Q. I paid a dealer a $200 deposit on an $11,000 truck, but the bank rejected my loan application. Now the dealer refuses to return my deposit until the truck is sold. Can he legally hold my deposit? I live in New Jersey.

A. The Uniform Commercial Code, adopted by New Jersey and all other states (Sec. 2-705) says a seller may retain "a reasonable deposit" as damages when the buyer is unable to pay the purchase price.

The only question is whether $200 is a reasonable deposit. If you cannot compromise with the dealer, only a court may decide after reviewing evidence of how much the dealer lost in the transaction.

Dear Mr. Carter,
I would like to take this opportunity to express my pleasure and appreciation of the fireworks display on Key Allegro on July 4th.

Contrary to some thoughts, this display was paid for by Mr. Jerry Wendell. My friends and I think Mr. Wendell deserves a large vote of thanks and appreciation for a job well done.

Thanks a lot, Jerry!
Sincerely,

Melcher, Calahan Exchange Vows

Miss Kimberly Kay Melcher and Mr. Michael Dwayne Calahan were united in marriage Sunday, June 15, 1980, at half past seven in the evening at First United Methodist Church of Sugar Land. Rev. William E. Dugger performed the double ring candlelight ceremony.

Music was provided by the Delta Singers of Delta Delta Delta Sorority, Texas Tech University, who sang "We've Only Just Begun", "Candle on the Water", and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Victor Melcher of Sugar Land and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Melcher of El Campo and Mrs. Hugh S. Thompson of Rockport.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Andrew E. Garihan of Sugar Land and the late Mr. Lawrence H. Calahan. He is the grandson of Mrs. Harry J. Calahan of Houston and Mrs. Earl W. Day of Sugar Land.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a formal designer gown of white silk organza and re-embroidered Alencon lace fashioned by the House of Bianchi. The fitted bodice, lavishly embellished with lace and pearls, featured a Queen Anne neckline and tapered sleeves of Alencon applied sheer English net.

From an empire waistline

the gathered organza skirt, deeply bordered in jeweled lace, draped to slipper length and, from the back, swept to a chapel length train.

Completing her ensemble, she selected a fingertip veil of English illusion and re-embroidered Alencon lace. A single layer of sheer illusion was bordered in lace in a scalloped pattern and secured by a laticed cap.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white orchids, tulips, lilac and agapanthus.

Miss Donna Batten of Sugar Land was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Karin Davis; Susie White; and Vicki Melcher, cousin of the bride; all of Houston; Suzanne Sykes; and Mary Calahan, sister of the groom, both of Sugar Land. Junior bridesmaids were Shawn and Sherri Stanley, cousins of the bride, of Rockport.

Ed Swaney of Yoakum was the best man and the groomsmen were Kelly Calahan, brother of the groom; and John Melcher Jr., brother of the bride, both of Sugar Land; Galli Cribbs and Michael Howard, both of Huntsville; and Mike Merrigan of Houston.

Ushers were Dean Wright; Charles Newton, both of College Station; Terry Garihan, stepbrother of the groom, of Houston; and Robert Shaw of Tennessee Colony.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dance were held at Sugar Creek Country Club, where music was provided by the band, Eclipse.

Members of the house-party were Betty Lubojasky of Sugar Land and Lisa Curry of Missouri City.

Both the bride and groom are senior students at Texas Tech University. The bride, a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority, is majoring in Elementary

Young, Wright Wed

Beverley Sue Young of Victoria and Wayne E. Wright of Brenham exchanged wedding vows

July 12 at Saint Mark United Methodist Church in Victoria. The Rev. Carl E. Westbrook officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Young of Rockport. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright of Willis.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white moonbeam over charmeuse, with lace overlay on the bodice and cuffs accented with pearl buttons at the end of the long sleeves.

Pearl beads were hand sewn on the high neckline of the floor length dress and train.

The wedding gown was the bride's own creation.

Her Juliet cap was of white daisy lace, accented with beaded pearls and a three-fourth length illusion veil. She wore pearl earrings from China, a gift from the groom.

The bride's bouquet held a nosegay of daisies and baby's breath.

DeLois Young, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Ophelia Smith of Lubbock served as bridesmaid.

Scott Westbrook of California was the best man, with Neal Sakima of Houston and Hawaii as groomsmen.

The maid of honor wore a peach-colored shadow play sheer capelet over her solid peach crepe floor length dress. The bridesmaid wore solid crepe with a solid peach shadow play sheer capelet.

The attendants carried white, yellow and butter-scotch daisies on a white ceramic butterfly.

The mother of the bride was attired in a peach enchantment mid-length dress and the groom's mother wore a pale green Qiana mid-length dress.

Both mothers wore white, yellow and butterscotch daisy corsages.

Music was provided by Mrs. Car Van Marel, pianist; Mrs. William Bauer, organist; and Mr. Bill Prante, flutist. Soloist Mrs. William

Prigg sang "A Common Love" followed by Mrs. Gail Albrecht singing "God, Woman and a Man" and "O, Perfect Love."

The ushers were Richard Wright of Odessa and Thomas Wright of Willis, brothers of the groom; Robert Buchholz of Victoria; and Thomas Ozembo of New York.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall following the service.

House party members were Carol Carey, Joy Lynn Van Marel, Mrs. Raine Jones, Mrs. Marsha Rogers, Mrs. Bruce Kaiser and Mrs. Bobby Stary.

Other members were Miss Marjorie Alex of Houston and Debbie Roth of Willis.

Valerie Van Marel, Kelli Westbrook and Yvonne Aikman passed out peach rice bags and memory scrolls.

Mrs. Edward McKibbin presided over the guest register.

Mrs. Catherine Jones of Castor, Louisiana, and Mrs. Mildred Jones of Victoria were special honor guests.

Many friends and relatives from Carlsbad, New Mexico, Dallas, Pasadena, Yorktown, Rockport, Houston, Corpus Christi and other areas attended.

After a wedding trip to the East Coast, including New York, Washington D.C., and the Boston area, the couple will return to Brenham to make their home.

Beverly attended school in Rockport-Fulton and Texas Woman's University in Denton and was employed as a visiting nurse with Victoria Home Health Agency.

The groom attended Willis, Taft and Watertown, Connecticut schools before studying at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge. He is now employed as an engineer with Schlumberger Well Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Calahan

AM I COVERED?

"My insurance policy on both my home owner's and my car confuse me somewhat in that I would like to know that If I run into my house with my own car would either policy cover the expenses of repairing the house and the car?"

Fishing Institute Trap Regulations

The Sport Fishing Institute, a Washington, D.C. based organization, passed several resolutions dealing with government regulation of fishing in the United States at its recent annual meeting.

One of these resolutions involved the gulf coast and said in part that the SFI Directors "petition the various Coastal States having substantial reef fish populations in their territorial waters, and the South Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico Regional Fishery Management Councils having responsibility for preparing plans for reef fish management in the fishery conservation zone, to develop appropriate regulations governing construction and use of fish traps that would require:

- (1) incorporation of biodegradable panels and/or hinges,
- (2) individual identification of the traps by buoys attached so as to survive severe sea conditions and
- (3) the placement and operation of fish traps in such manner as to preclude overfishing local stocks of reef fishes."

Part of their reasoning for passing the resolution was that wire fish traps were very efficient and inexpensive and, if not tended and emptied frequently, resulted in the destruction and waste of many reef fish.

FlagsClue To What's Available

AUSTIN—Visitors to the Texas Gulf Coast may wonder about the white or black flags flying from bait houses.

A white flag indicates that live bait shrimp are available; a black flag means only dead shrimp are on hand.

Fortunately for anglers visiting the coast during the summer months, live shrimp usually are available, although the price is a bit steep at about $8 per quart.

Most of the shrimp purchased for bait in June are brown shrimp. The brown shrimp supply usually dwindles during June when shrimp in the bays begin migrating to the Gulf of Mexico, according to biologist Lynn Benefield of Seabrook.

What Would You Do In Case Of A Boating Accident?

Article by Jeffee Palmer

How well you handle an emergency aboard a boat may mean the difference in whether or not you survive a boating accident.

Anyone can have an accident—sooner or later—but do you know what to do if you have one?

The most common accidents are: man overboard, capsizing, taking on water during squalls, collisions and fires.

If the boat is underway, swing the stern quickly away from the person in the water. If he is close to the boat, stop the motor so he won't get cut by the prop. Even though he can swim, throw him a life preserver (but don't hit him with it), extend him a paddle or throw him a line. Act quickly and do what the situation demands.

When the boat and victim drift apart and it is necessary to return to him, if time and conditions permit, move downwind and let the water action carry him to you. This procedure is especially important in rough water, as a boat approaching the victim upwind might inadvertently run him down.

If the victim needs help, another person should don a life preserver with a line attached to the boat and enter the water to assist. The boat operator should leave the boat only as a last resort.

Stay with the boat; don't try to swim for shore unless there is a good reason to do so. Modern boats will hold up passengers even when full of water. Remember, it is easier to spot a large boat than a swimmer's head in the water.

Put on and fasten life preservers if not already wearing them. Look around and gather anything that will help keep you afloat. Look under the boat for equipment you can use which might be trapped or attached to it, such as rope.

A rope tied to a cleat on one side can be thrown across the hull and used on the other side for better hand holds than can be found on the slick sides of a boat.

An unconscious person also can be secured to the boat with a rope, freeing others of the responsibility of keeping the victim afloat and near the boat.

Coolers, gas can and water containers can be used to help keep you afloat; towels and extra clothing can be used to protect you from sun and wind; and paddles can be used to wave for rescue, to rig shelters or to reach people in distress.

If you are not using something that has future potential, stow it under the boat to keep it from floating away or secure it to the hull.

Unless the water is cold, it is usually best not to try to climb onto the boat. But if necessary, try to climb on from the stern. One rope attached to the bow, or two ropes tied to bow cleats and carried across the hull, can be used to give the climber leverage. Be careful when trying to climb on the hull as it is easy to slip and get hurt or dislodge other people.

The three most important things to do are to hold on, keep calm and wait for help to come.

Everyone aboard should put on a life preserver and fasten it. Once this is accomplished, get on the bottom of the boat or as low as possible. Secure all movable objects and bail out water as fast as it comes in. Head for shore or the lee side of an island if it is not too far away or the water is not too rough.

When it is impossible to make shore, use your motor to keep headed into the wind with just enough power for steering; don't waste gasoline. Don't use an anchor unless the motor quits, and then only from the bow.

When the hull is rammed, stop or reduce speed immediately. Stuff anything available into the opening to stop water from coming in—blankets, clothing or cushions. Rip up floorboards if necessary to find the damaged area.

Rockport's Party Line

By Betty Paul

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kester feted Mr. Kester's father "Grandpa" with a farewell party at the Sweet Thing. Grandpa is spending the summer in Illinois with his daughter, Lois Van Oeghem.

The Kesters and Grandpa will join each other later in the fall in Fairfield Glade, Tennessee. Eighteen guests attend this affair.

The What-A-Burger Breakfast Crew in our local restaurant was honored at a small dinner banquet in Corpus Christi by the Marketing Department of this company for its efficiency and cleanliness. There is a plaque in the What-A-Burger to prove this.

A lot of credit goes to Dan T. Oliver for being such a good manager and "boss."

John Street from San Antonio is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Vi Street, for two weeks.

Margaret and Paul Gill are so glad to welcome their daughter Paula Gill Lane (who is a graduate lawyer) and son-in-law, Rev. John Lane, the pastor of South Park Presbyterian Church, and granddaughter Stephanie (who celebrated her first birthday here with her grandparents July 7). The Lanes are from Buffalo, New York.

Mrs. Carl Hoit has changed positions and is now working with Century 21 Myers of Portland. Her children, William and Lisa Ann Davenport from Dallas, are visiting her.

Lisa Ann celebrated her birthday July 14 while she was here.

Martha Lewis and Ron Hoover have been "bird-sitting" with an orphan cardinal. It was last seen flying West.

The Youth of the First Baptist Church of Fulton returned from a trip to Lake Mathis. The church and the children financed this trip to their own camp for the first time. They had a wonderful, spiritual time while they were there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gimler went to Milwaukee to visit Mrs. Gimler's mother, Gladys Uhen, and Mr. Gimler's mother, Catherine Gimler.

They made a stop in St. Louis while on this trip and said the town looked dead as there was not a soul on the street because of the heat in that part of the country.

Congratulations! Billie Blackshare and Raymond L. Cotton were married July 12 in the minister's study of the First United Church in Rockport. It was a small family wedding and after the ceremony a dinner was held in their honor.

Coach Brian Connolly wrote a very funny yet serious letter to all the boys that play football at Rockport-Fulton High School.

Mrs. Charles Pervier and Mrs. Arnold McCraw gave a "Going Away" luncheon for Mrs. Jim Allen and Mrs. Lynn Miller. Mrs. Allen and her family are moving to Corpus Christi and Mrs. Miller and her family are moving to Alvin.

Wyatt Raps Military Policy At Rotary Lunch

"The United States is rapidly becoming a second-rate military strength in the face of the Soviet Union's relentless drive to outstrip us in conventional and atomic capability," U.S. Representative Joe Wyatt declared at a luncheon meeting of Rockport's Rotary Club at the Cattleman's Restaurant at the Sandollar Tuesday, July 9.

Wyatt pointed out that the Soviets already surpass us in conventional military capability such as manpower and most military hardware, including guns, tanks, and planes.

Their seapower is growing rapidly and will soon equal our naval strength, if it doesn't already, he continued.

The Soviets are ahead of us in some aspects of atomic capability and their research and development activities in all military fields are improving rapidly in quality and scope, Wyatt maintained.

At present the Soviets are outstripping the United States in this vital area, he added.

U.S. military manpower quality is deteriorating quickly under our present volunteer program, he said. Last year only 36 percent of the recruits joining the armed services were high school graduates. Five years ago 75 percent of them brandished diplomas.

Despite lower standards today, the Army fell 20 percent short if its 1979 enlistment goal and the Army Reserve component was 30 percent below their projection, according to Wyatt.

U.S. military supply services have neither the equipment nor the qualified manpower to equip troops in the field in case of an emergency, the Congressman declared.

He claimed that the only remedy is to increase our military spending to provide the manpower and the equipment needed to at least maintain parity with the Soviet Union's growing strength.

He said we cannot possibly maintain all the politically popular social programs that are consuming an ever-increasing percentage of the nation's budget if we are to continue to play a leadership role in the world.

Wyatt declared we have too many programs spending too much money and we simply cannot afford it.

He spoke of the growing popular demand for decreased government spending and pointed out that Congress has passed a balanced budget resolution for the first time in 12 years.

However, he sees little possibility of this being achieved with the current rapid growth in unemployment and the pressing need for higher military expenditures.

Of first importance is an increase in the salaries of military personnel, Wyatt said, adding that the current military pay scale is 20 percent lower than comparable civilian compensation.

He pointed out that the armed services are losing essential skilled personnel at an alarming rate due to this pay deficiency.

On the economic front, Congressman Wyatt criticized the attitude of the State Department on foreign trade, charging that too often people in that department appear more interested in the economic welfare of other countries than that of the United States.

He said the State appears to maintain special desks and departments to protect the interest of foreign countries, but no one appears to be concerned about America.

Wyatt said he is basically for free trade, but not when foreign business firms receive subsidies from their own governments that permit them to undercut prices in the States.

As examples, he cited the case of Mexican shrimpers who get fuel oil from their government at a fraction of what American shrimpers pay, and the special advantages available to Japanese manufacturers who sell in the United States.

Who Is Affected By Hot Weather? Warning Signs

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS — Thousands of people have been stricken by heat exhaustion during the worst heat wave in the country's history. Many victims could have been spared this physical trauma, however, if they had followed a few simple precautions. Who's most affected by heat? People who work outdoors, such as construction workers, city service employees, firemen, window washers, painters and gardeners are primary victims. But anyone who undergoes physical exertion when the temperature soars above 90 degrees F. is susceptible -- and this includes joggers, bikers and even sun bathers. Of course, the elderly must observe every precaution for heat exhaustion. According to researchers at Wagner Thirst Quencher, a drink designed to replace and stabilize body fluids lost through heat, the most common warning signs of which everyone should be aware are:

- clammy skin;
- profuse perspiration;
- tiredness, weakness;
- headaches, cramps;
- nausea, dizziness (possible vomiting);
- fainting (the victim will regain consciousness when he falls down and blood rushes to his head). In event of heat exhaustion, the following corrective measures can be taken for relief:

- Give the victim sips of salt water (1 teaspoon of salt per 8 ounce glass, half a glass every 15 minutes, over the period of one hour) or a drink formulated to replace body fluids.
- Have the victim lie down and raise his feet off the ground 8 to 12 inches. •Rest in a shady or air-conditioned area and loosen clothing. •Apply cool, wet cloths and fan the victim. •If the victim vomits, do not give him any more fluids. As soon as possible, take him to a hospital where he can be given intravenous salt solution. People seriously afflicted with heat exhaustion should rest for several days and avoid exposure to abnormally warm temperatures. Keeping your body properly hydrated is as important year-round as it is during the summer. Balanced and adequate body fluids are crucial to good health and well-being, especially while working and exercising.

Explorer Post Members Capture Medals At Olympics

FT. COLLINS, COLORADO -- Explorer athletes from Post 49 of the Gulf Coast Council, Boy Scouts of America, returned home with one Silver, one Bronze and a fourth place in the Consolation bracket of the Volleyball competition, marking victories in three different events at the recently-concluded National Olympics.

More than 2,000 young men and women, ages 14 through 21, competed on the campus of Colorado State University in 29 sports ranging from archery, basketball and canoeing to wrestling, water polo and weightlifting.

The program had the backing of the U.S. Olympic Committee, the AAU, and more than a score of national sports organizations.

Silver and Bronze medal winner from Post 49 was President Ernest Gonzales.

The girls' volleyball team, which consisted of Loretta Vega, Sara Solis, Sylvia Solis and sisters Melissa, Clarissa and Suzanne Ramirez, received a fourth place in the Consolation bracket out of 130 teams competing.

Ernest Gonzales, David Ramirez, Ernie Lara, Richard Nava and Edward Vega all got into the finals in several of the Track and Field events.

Michael Sanchez entered Wrestling and won his first match.

Donna Garcia was in the Cross Country.

In addition to the athletic events themselves, the week-long Olympics provided various sports clinics and demonstrations conducted by specialists in such areas as basketball, swimming, diving, court handball, team handball, bowling and running.

Post 49 members entered Track and Field competition, canoeing, rifle and pistol, volleyball, weightlifting, physical fitness, swimming, archery, wrestling, bowling, cycling, table tennis, tennis and cross country.

Famous personalities that Post 49 members met and talked to were Olympians Dick Buerkle (running), Donna deVarona (swimming), and Bob Mathias (decathlon), as well as Fred Lewis, number two ranked court handball player.

H.E.B. People are People Like You H.E.B. Everyday Prices are Low Prices

"Soup of the evening, beautiful soup," reads a line in Alice in Wonderland. People often prefer a simple soup or stew to fancier food, and special favorites need not be reserved for the family. Guests are equally receptive to honest hearty fare and Fine Fish Chowder makes an everyday meal memorable. Seasoned with an envelope of butter-milk salad dressing mix, the dish takes on a delicate, yet distinctive flavor and is ready in a matter of minutes.

FINE FISH CHOWDER

2 bacon slices

SOUP IS SPLENDID FARE

2 medium onions, chopped (1 cup)
2 medium potatoes, sliced (2 cups)
2 medium carrots, sliced (2/3 cup)
1 package (16 oz.) frozen fish fillets
2 cups water
1 envelope Good Seasons buttermilk farm style salad dressing mix
2 cups milk

Fry bacon in large saucepan until crisp; drain and crumble, reserving 1 tablespoon fat. Sauté onions, potatoes and carrots in bacon fat until tender, about 6 minutes. Move vegetables to side of pan; add fish and water. Bring to boil; reduce heat, cover and simmer for 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork, turning once. Break fish into pieces.

Meanwhile, combine salad dressing mix and milk, mixing thoroughly. Stir into fish and vegetables. Bring to boil; reduce heat, cover and simmer for 5 minutes. Add bacon. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Makes 6-1/2 cups or 6 servings.

Note: Chowder may be frozen. To thaw, place in saucepan and heat over low heat, stirring constantly. To prepare vegetables in food processor, chop 2 medium onions, cut in quarters.

Change blade and slice 2 medium potatoes, cut in quarters, and 2 medium carrots, cut in chunks.
