WHERE THEY HIT—Early this morning Allied troops began landing on the Northern coast of France, and several hours later the official announcement came from the headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower tersely announced "The long awaited invasion of Europe's fortress has started.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 6. — Allied forces landed in Northern France early today in history's greatest overseas operation, designed to destroy the power of Hitler's Germany and wrest enslaved Europe from the Nazis.

The German radio said the landings were made from Le Havre to Cherbourg, along the north coast of Normandy and the south side of the bay of the Seine.

Allied headquarters did not specify the locations, but left no doubt whatever that the landings were on a gigantic scale.

Ringing in their ears, the American, British and Canadian forces who made the landings had these words from their supreme commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower:

"You are about to embark on a great crusade. The eyes of the world are upon you and the hopes and prayers of all liberty-loving peoples go with you . . .

"We will accept nothing less than full victory."

The German radio filled the air with invasion flashes for three hours before the formal Allied announcement came at 7:32 a. m. Greenwich Mean Time (2:32 a. m., Lubbock time).

It acknowledged deep penetrations of the Cherbourg peninsula by Allied parachute and glider troops in great strength.

The assault was supported by gigantic bombardments from Allied warships and planes, which the Germans admitted set the coastal areas ablaze.

A senior officer at Supreme headquarters said rough water caused "awful anxiety" for the seaborne troops but that the landings were made successfully, although some soldiers were undoubtedly seasick.

The sun broke through heavy clouds periodically this morning after a daybreak shower. The wind had blown fairly hard during the night but moderated somewhat with the dawn. The weather outlook remained somewhat unsettled.

Supreme headquarters' first communique was this single sentence:

"Under the command of General Eisenhower, Allied naval forces supported by strong air forces began landing Allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France."

It was announced moments later that Britain's Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, hero of the African desert, was in charge of the assault.

Godspeed Wished Troops

Eisenhower himself wished godspeed to the parachutists who were the first to land on the enemy-held soil of France.

For three hours previous to the Allied announcement the German radio had been pouring forth a series of flashes reporting that the Allies were landing between Le Havre and Cherbourg along the south side of the bay of the Seine and along the north coast of Normandy.

This would be across the channel and almost due south of such British ports as Hastings, Brighton, Portsmouth and Bournemouth.

The Germans also said parachutists had descended in Normandy and were being engaged by Nazi shock troops.

In a special order of the day issued to all soldiers, sailors and airmen under his command, Gen. Eisenhower said:

"We will accept nothing except full victory."

Eisenhower told his men they were "embarking on a great crusade toward which we have striven these many months," and warned them that they were facing a tough, well-prepared enemy.

Berlin said the "center of gravity of the fierce fighting was at Caen, 30 miles southwest of Le Havre and 65 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Caen is 10 miles inland from the sea, at the base of the 75-mile-wide Normandy peninsula.

Heavy Fighting Reported

Heavy fighting also was reported between Caen and Trouville.

One of Berlin's first claims was that the first British parachute division was badly mauled.

Thousands of battle-trained American, British and Canadian troops hurled themselves at Hitler's western defenses after months of preparation.

Huge troopship armadas slipped out of English ports in the darkness and sped toward Europe where four years ago almost to the day Britain brought back the last battle worn defenders of Dunkerque.

The Germans also declared that Calais and Dunkerque, immediately across the English channel from Britain, were under heavy air attack.

The German radio gave the first reports of the invasion while correspondents were hurriedly summoned from bed to supreme press headquarters and locked in a press conference room until the communique was released several hours after the landings were made.

It was made known at SHAEF that the supreme command felt it necessary to yield the initiative in the war of words to the Germans in order to retain the initiative on land and keep the German high command in the dark as long as possible.

The great Allied armadas dwarfed anything yet seen on the sea.

Huge transport planes filled with paratroopers and pulling airborn troops in gliders roared over the German westwall to drop their cargos in the rear.

Berlin said that masses of Allied parachute troops bailed out over Normandy, trying to seize airfields.

Just before taking off in the darkness the paratroops were wished godspeed by the lanky Kansas supreme commander, Gen. Eisenhower.

Eisenhower Tense But Confident

He was accompanied by several other of his commanders and his face was tense but confident as he strode down the long lines of fighting men.

All night long London and England resounded to the roar of thousands of airplanes some carrying bombs, some carrying men. Returning RAF bombers met big fleets of Flying Fortresses on their way out.

The forces thrown into operation were by far the greatest ever used in an amphibious operation. They had to be. An estimated million German troops waited in their fortifications for the great onslaught under crack Nazi field marshals, Runstedt and Rommel.

It was reported earlier this week that Adolf Hitler himself had a special train ready to rush him to France to take over personal command as he did on the east front.

Despite these reports Allied military men expected Rommel to be the main tactician on German defense but on the Allied side were the team of Eisenhower and Montgomery—the men who chased Rommel from Africa.

Surprise Element Unknown

Although amphibious attacks are the most difficult in war, a quiet feeling of confidence characterized the Allied generals.

Just what element of surprise, if any, the landing troops achieved was not immediately announced by Supreme headquarters. There was no chance to hide the great convoys with only about five hours darkness on the channel.

In a special order of the day issued to all soldiers, sailors and airmen under his command, Gen. Eisenhower said:

"We will accept nothing except full victory."

Embarking On Great Crusade

Eisenhower told his men they were "embarking on a great crusade toward which we have striven these many months," and warned them that they were facing a tough, well-prepared enemy.

Berlin said the "center of gravity" of the fierce fighting was at Caen, 30 miles southwest of Le Harve and 65 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Caen is 10 miles inland from the sea, at the base of the 75-mile-wide Normandy peninsula.

Heavy fighting also was reported between Caen and Trouville.

One of Berlin's first claims was that the first British parachute division was badly mauled.

General Montgomery, hero of the African desert, was leading the assault of the Allied liberation Army.

No Other Commanders Announced

No other Allied commanders were announced, for the thousands of battle-trained Allied troops, although Gen. Omar Bradley has been in command of American ground forces in England for several months. Bradley participated in the Tunisian victory.

People Urged To Follow Orders

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Forces, Somewhere in Britain, Tuesday, June 6—Text of a statement by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower broadcast to the people of France and Europe:

People of Western Europe:

A landing was made this morning on the coast of France by troops of the Allied Expeditionary force. This landing is part of the concerted United Nations plan for the liberation of Europe, made in conjunction with our great Russian Allies.

I have this message for all of you.

Although the initial assault may not have been made in your country, the hour of your liberation is approaching.

All Have Part To Play

All patriots, men and women, young and old, have a part to play in the achievement of final victory. To members of resistance movements, whether led by national or outside leaders, I say "follow the instructions you have received."

To patriots who are not members of organized resistance groups I say: "Continue your passive resistance, but do not needlessly endanger your lives until I give you the signal to rise and strike the enemy. The day will come when I shall need your united strength. Until that day, I call on you for the hard task of discipline and restraint."

Proud of French

Supreme Commander Issues Order Of Day

"We Will Accept Nothing But Full Victory!" . . . Eisenhower

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower issued the following order of the day to his invasion troops today:

Soldiers, sailors and airmen of the Allied Expeditionary force:

You are about to embark on a great crusade. The eyes of the world are upon you and the hopes and prayers of all liberty loving peoples go with you.

"In company with our brave Allies and brothers in arms on other fronts you will bring about the destruction of the German war machine, elimination of Nazi tyranny over the oppressed peoples of Europe, and security for ourselves in a free world.

"Task Not An Easy One"

"Your task will not be an easy one. Your enemy is well trained, well equipped and battle hardened. He will fight savagely. But in this year of 1944 much has happened since the Nazi triumphs of 1940 and 1941.

"The United Nations have inflicted upon the Germans great defeats in open battle, man to man. Our air offensive has seriously reduced their strength in the air and their capacity to wage war on the ground, our home fronts have given us overwhelming superiority in weapons and munitions of war, and have placed at our disposal great reserves of trained fighting men. The tide has turned and free men of the world are marching together to victory.

"I have full confidence in your courage, devotion to duty and skill in battle. We will accept nothing less than full victory. Good luck and let us all beseech the blessing of Almighty God upon this great and noble undertaking."

Prayer Service Conducted Here

Bearing the burden of concern for the welfare of their loved ones, perhaps then engaged in one of the greatest physical struggles of all history, approximately 100 Lubbock persons of all faiths and creeds gathered this morning for a prayer service in First Methodist church to ask that God watch over "our boys" on the invasion beaches.

The services had been planned by all city churches to take place at whatever time the news of the invasion was announced. Fire department sirens of both stations heralded the news, but it was believed that the sound of the sirens did not carry to many parts of the city, and thus many people may not know of the final blow until this morning when they pick up their newspaper or turn on their radio.

Organ Is Played

Appropriately, Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, church organist, opened the service with a soft rendition of "Nearer My God To Thee." She continued to play softly as people filed into the church auditorium.

Women dabbed handkerchiefs ta their eyes and now and then sobs were audible here and there in the stillness of the building. It was a terrible uncertainty that they faced. They had no way of knowing if their sons or brothers or husbands were in the first invasion waves. The men were grim and they were wondering, too.

Prayers were spoken by Reverends H. G. Gantz and Dr. H. I. Robinson. At the altar and on every bench there was silent communion with the Almighty.

On the streets quiet prevailed. Nothing was to be seen nor heard that would suggest that it at last was here.

One or more additional services were planned this morning at the church. And throughout today nearly every other city church will be open for meditation and prayer.

Sect's Injunction Is Dismissed In "Flag Salute" Controversy

By virtue of defendant's motion for dismissal, the case of M. R. Free and others against Lubbock Independent School district Board of Trustees and others, a suit for injunction to restrain defendants from enforcing "flag salute" regulations, was dismissed in Monday afteronoon's session of Federal District court in Lubbock by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

The motion, as read by George W. Dupree, of the defense counsel, pointed out that on May 31, 1944, the board of school trustees of the Lubbock Independent school district adopted a resolution, under the terms of which no pupil may be denied the right to attend schools conducted by the Lubbock Independent school district by reason of any failure on such pupil's part to take the pledge of allegience or to salute the flag, but insisting that each pupil must remain at attention during the flag ceremony.

Board members said Monday night this was more or less a test case and their (the board's) sets a pattern which will probably be followed by others in similar cases which are likely to arise in the future throughout the nation.

Regulation Set Out

The resolution as adopted by the school board provides that at periodic intervals and not less frequently than once each week during the school terms," the pupils of the schools under the jurisdiction of the board" shall be assembled either in their classrooms, or in the general assembly hall of the school which they are attending, and that on each such occasion there shall be brought in and displayed before the pupils the flag of the United States.

The resolution further provides that at each such assembly either the superintendent, principal of the school, or the teacher of the class shall read aloud to the pupils the pledge of allegiance. Each of the pupils in such assembly as may desire to evidence their adherence to such pledge may do so by repeating the pledge as it is read, holding their right hand over their heart during the reading of the pledge, but no pupil shall be compelled to pursue this form of observance.

It also provides that as the flag is brought into the assembly hall or classroom by the color guard, and during the reading of the pledge, and until the superintendent, principal, or teacher in charge shall direct the pupils to be seated, all the pupils present shall stand at attention and with decorous and respectful demeanor maintain perfect quiet during the entire ceremony. By standing is meant that the pupil shall stand erect with his hands at his side and with his eyes turned toward the flag. Such of the pupils as desire to do so may show their respect for the flag by saluting same, but no pupil shall be required to make such salute.

Named as plaintiffs in the case were: M. R. Free, Myrtle Free, Darlene Free, Doyle Free, George Dodge, Linnie Dodge, Ora Dell Dodge, Lillie Worthington and L. C. Worthington, all members of a religious sect know as "Jehovah's Witnesses."

Defendants were: Lubbock Independent School district Board of Trustees, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president; R. W. Matthews, superintendent of schools operating with said board, and all other officials, teachers and servahts of said school board, and R. F. Bayless, secretary of the board.

Judge Makes Comment

In dismissing the case Judge Davidson commented from the bench:

"In connection with the court's action in this case, we can scarcely refrain from making a few observations. It is within the lifetime of men now living that the public school system has taken on its present proportions. In the lifetime of our fathers there were no public schools in most states. However, 100 years before then there was a man sowing the seeds that brought forth the public school. That man said in these words:

"The ignorant voter with the ballot in his hand is more to be dreaded than the muskets of foreign lands.'

"This man was the man that drafted the Declaration of Independence. That man was the author of the statute of religious liberty of the State of Virginia. It was his idea that we had more than one enemy, that free government had more than one enemy. One was the musket in the hands of our enemies and the other was an ignorant voters exercising the right of sovereignty, guiding his country into channels he knew not where because of his ignorance. In order to obviate that situation he was one of the first to see the advantage of public schools.

Jefferson's Idea Explained

"At that time most men who were able gave their children an education in private institutions, and those that were not able gave them some kind of an education, although there were many in ignorance. But it was the idea of Mr. Jefferson that we should have a system of schools so that before a man cast a vote he should be sufficiently intelligent to know why he was casting it. In order to have that degree of intelligence, he should be a reading man. It therefore necessarily follows that Mr. Jefferson had in mind that he should be able not only to read, but the right kind of material should be read and the right kind of impression should be given forth, and if that is not done, that the entire system of education falls flat and the purpose of it is lost.

"A man never has a conscience that hurts him unless he has a standard of measurement. Those South Sea Islanders that are cannibals, their conscience doesn't hurt them if they catch one of their nighbors's children and barbecue it, because they don't know that it is not all right. If a boy is not taught that it is wrong to steal, his conscience doesn't hurt him when he steals. I have had young men before me guilty of crime, guilty of misappropriating other people's money, that were not conscious that they had done wrong; nobody had taught them.

"Must Have Lessons"

"If you are to teach the child what is good and what is bad, you have to have some lessons, some books, and a teacher whose ideas will be whetted to impress it upon the child. If we do not have those things, education, so far as turning out a better citizenship is concerned, is a failure, because an educated man that has no conception of right or wrong is more dreaded than an ignorant man.

"At this time there are people who can look at the nation's flag—you had one here before you today that suffered in the South Sea Islands—but some people can look at the flag of their native land and say, 'I am neutral; I am not interested in this war.' That is to say, 'I have no interest in our government and its free institutions.' A man that is neutral should have independence enough not to put his child in a public school; a man that will not salute the flag that gives him protection ought not to send his child to the public school, and the school ought to have courage enough to prescribe a course of study that will train citizens intelligent enough to cast the ballots to carry it on.

"The case will be dismissed."

Battle Needs for Gasoline Come FIRST

THE reasons are simple: Our military machine—mightiest in history—gets first call on the nation's available gasoline, of course. You wouldn't have it otherwise. And that vital need is tremendous . . . FOUR times greater than in 1942, and increasing in direct ratio to our intensified military activity.

Remember what the papers had to say the other day about a 4000-plane raid on Hitler's Berlin? That mission alone took more than 5 million gallons of high octane aviation gasoline—and it's only one small phase of an ever increasing military tempo. An armored division requires 25,000 gallons to move one hundred miles; to train a pilot requires 12,500 gallons—enough to last the average automobile 18 years. It takes more than a ton of gasoline to "deliver" a one-ton bomb.

After these tremendous military needs are met, there simply isn't enough gas left to keep civilian cars running "as usual." The only way to make the available supply go around is through rationing. The importance of a gasoline rationing system that really works is going to be increasingly great as the military needs for gasoline continue to multiply. Unfortunately, we have to face that fact. Rationing is no fun—but a failure of our present system would have dire results. It is to your interest as a good American citizen to fight the "black market" and help make rationing succeed. This is the only way you can be sure of gasoline for your own use in the months to come.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP: Don't apply for more gas than you really need. Get into a ride-sharing club and stick to it. Endorse all your gas coupons now. Don't take extra coupons from or offer them to anyone.

Twenty More Jap Ships Are Sunk By Yank Subs, Planes

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

TWENTY more ships have been blown out of Japan's vanishing merchant and fighting fleets by American torpedoes and bombs.

Night-flying Liberators sank a destroyer and damaged two other ships Saturday night in the Halmahera sea, on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's path from New Guinea to the Philippines, Southwest Pacific headquarters announced today. Two direct hits left another destroyer dead in the water and probably sinking off Manokwari in western Dutch New Guinea where a small freighter was sunk.

Destruction of 16 more ships by submarines and two by Central Pacific bombers were announced by the Navy yesterday.

18 Planes Downed

Eighteen Japanese planes were shot down in air battles Saturday —seven over Truk in the central Carolines where one Liberator was lost, and eleven over Biak sland in the Schouten group off the Dutch New Guinea north coast.

One column of U. S. Sixth Army troops was halted on the Biak beach. But a second force, fighting over the ridges north of the beach, flanked the Nipponese defenders and began driving toward Mokmer airdrome. This field is one of three on Biak within bombing range of the Philippines.

Six transports and ten cargo vessels were sunk by submarines. The Navy announcement did not indicate whether any of the transports were laden with troops. Since Pearl Harbor, United States submersibles have sunk 589 Nipponese ships.

Japs Hard-Pressed

Tokyo is so hard-pressed for cargo space, another Navy announcement indicated, that naval patrol vessels are being pressed into service as freighters. A single Navy bombing plane caught a convoy of the little craft in the Caroline islands west of Truk Friday. It sank one and heavily strafed the others. An auxiliary was sunk and another damaged inside Truk lagoon Saturday by a Central Pacific search plane.

Six separate Japanese columns, battering their way slowly toward the Hunan provincial capital of Changsha; have achieved new gains at the expense of heavy casualties, and fighting raged on a wide front, with American planes ceaselessly harassing the enemy, the Chinese high command announced.

A communique declared the Chinese had scored successes in the western Hupeh area north of Hunan, but Japanese activity there has been looked upon as a screen for the more important Hunan offensive drive.

North Burma Action

Air-borne Chindits are continuing their attacks from the south of the besieged Japanese North Burma base of Myitkyina, and within the city itself Chinese and American forces have gained more than 200 yards in their slugging drive through the southeast portion, Southeast Asia, Allied headquarters announced.

Fleeing Nazis Hotly Pursued

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, June 5—Allied armor and motorized infantry roared through the Eternal City today, crossed the Tiber, and proceeded with the grim task of destroying two battered German armies fleeing to the north.

Flashing forces of Allied fighter-bombers spearheaded the pursuit, jamming the escape highways northward with burning enemy transport and littering the field with dead and wounded Nazis.

The enemy was tired, disorganized and bewildered by the slashing character of the Allied assault, which in 25 days has inflicted a major catastrophe on German forces in Italy and liberated Rome almost without damage to the historic city.

Joining the relentless program of destruction, 500 American heavy bombers blasted railyards at five points in northern Italy between Venice and Rimini along which the Germans might attempt to move reinforcements and equipment to bolster Marshal Albert Kesselring's beaten armies.

Clark Enters City

Today Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the victorious Fifth Army, entered Rome in a jeep and drove to the city hall, where he formally proclaimed the Allied occupation and praised the valor of his troops.

The inhabitants' reception to the troops approached hysteria as the day wore on. Little damage to the city was visible, the Nazis having limited demolitions to a few installations of no artistic or religious importance.

The speed of the enemy's flight, once his lines before Rome burst, was evident in the great quantities of war material left behind, stockpiles sufficient to equip several divisions. An Allied spokesman expressed the official opinion that the tremendous pressure exerted by the Allies in the final phase of the battle for Rome had forced the enemy to flee beyond the capital rather than make a protracted fight for the city itself.

(A British radio correspondent reported that Pope Pius XII appeared during the morning on a Vatican balcony and looked down on the people.)

Just 24 hours after the first Allied troops made their way through dense minefields and broke into the southeastern suburbs of the city at 8 a. m. yesterday, and the leading elements the capital and the last German sniper had been killed or captured.

Hour after hour the Allied warplanes swept down on highways leading northward and tore the fleeing enemy apart.

Gov. Stevenson Urges Lake Safety Measures

AUSTIN, June 5. (AP) — In the wake of the drowning of four persons in Marshall Ford lake, Gov. Coke Stevenson said today that if there are not now adequate laws governing the safety of pleasure boats on Texas' inland waters, there should be.

The governor's comment referred specifically to the drowning of L. C. Brooks of Abilene and three children at Marshall Ford lake when a small rowboat holding eight persons was swamped by high waves.

Only one of the bodies, that of Elaine Brooks, 4, has been recovered. Others who died were Curtis Brooks, 8, and Billie Strandtmann, 11, of Austin. Four persons were rescued.

The Lower River Colorado authority which controls Marshall Ford lake, Lake Roy Inks and Buchanan lake, has no police powers under the statutes creating it.

WOULD it break the habit of jingling coins if those addicted to that curse could get jobs as bank cashiers and build up and tear down stacks of coins throughout the day?

PERSONALITIES: Master T/Sgt. Frank Tolbert, son of Mrs. Frances Lee Tolbert of Lubbock, is editor of the overseas edition of The Leatherneck, Marine magazine and it takes seven lines to address him at his office in Honolulu, T. H.

Another son, Lt. Bill Tolbert who has been "sweating out" his thirtieth mission cabled his mother Monday, "I dood it." "I don't particularly like slang and I don't listen to Red Skelton, remarked Mrs. Tolbert," but that cable sounded all right anyway."

AMONG the citizens we regret to lose are Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Prickett who sold their Lubbock home and moved to San Antonio. Mrs. Prickett avoided saying goodbye when possible and says she is coming back here to spend her old age, if not before.

Just before their departure, Mr. and Mrs George P. Kuykendall had the Pricketts over for dinner and later in the evening about fifty guests called for a surprise party. Mrs. Prickett had said she didn't want anyone to give her a going-away courtesy so that seemed the only way to do it.

The guests of honor were presented with a gift from the hosts and motion pictures were shown after greetings were over. Hosts were the Kuykendalls and Messrs. and Mesdames R. F. Hinchey, W. O. Daniels, D. M. Henderson, A. D. Brown, and Jess C. Levens.

REMEMBER THE SKIPPER

EVEN in war times, it's the little things that count. We all know that one of the greatest morale boosters for our men in service is a word from home. Each one of them can better face the bombs and mud and jungles when he knows he's remembered. And Fathers day this year carries a new importance for Dad is the skipper of the family whether he drives the helm on the fighting front, or in camp or in civilian life.

In these important war days when the little things mean so much, can we afford to let Fathers day go by without giving the family skipper a token of appreciation?

• • •

Despite these strenuous days when everyone is urged to do all he can on the home front, we think many people are suffering from ergophobia, the morbid fear or hatred of work.

QUEER DUCK

WHEN all but one of a hatching of ducks were pecked to death, Mrs. Clayton Carter, 603 Thirtieth street, was in a quandary as to what to do with the little fellow. Finally she put him with the kittens and now he plays with them and snuggles down near the mother cat when night comes.

Not long ago the Carters were given four baby ducks and tried to persuade Donald to play with his own kind but he refused to desert his adopted family.

50 Per Cent Rise In Living Standard Seen

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., June 5 (AP)—Beardsley Ruml, author of the pay-as-you-go income tax plan, today had expressed his belief that the American postwar standard of living would be raised by 50 per cent "over anything we've ever known," if the right conditions prevailed.

Ruml, in an interview yesterday with Cedar Rapids Gazette, said also he believed federal postwar taxes could be reduced by "more than half."

The "right conditions," he asserted, would be a postwar national income of $140,000,000,000 annually based on employment of 55,000,000 persons working 40-hour weeks.

Ruml said he predicted a national budget of $18,000,000,000 a year, exclusive of social security and debt retirement, but including interest on public debt, which "will run between $5,500,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 annually."

"Our tax structure would bring in $40,000,000,000 a year, at current rates, on a $140,000,000,000 national income so it could be possible to reduce federal taxes "in the aggregate by more than half," he added.

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Many materials for the petroleum industry will continue in tight supply through July, August and September, the Petroleum Administration for War reported today.

The scarce items include steel plate, lumber for scaffolding, drill pipe, internal combustion engines, heavy trucks, tractors, bearing, wire rope and manila cable.

PAW said the industry had been alotted sufficient raw materials but that shortages would continue for some time in the finished articles because they are used in the manufacture of military equipment.

Mixtures Of Roses, Bullets Greets Doughboys At Rome

By KENNETH DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, June 5.— The mountaineers came down out of the mountains yesterday and moved into Rome along a road dyed red with roses and their own blood.

Bleared, eyes bored deep into their faces from sheer fatigue, they came down from the Alban hills to fight into the suburbs where machin-guns, mortars and tanks of the enemy were holding up the advance.

Fought Through Mountains

They call themselves the mountaineers because they have fought through the mountains, these kids who have behind them the battles of Salerno, Altaville, San Pietro, the Rapido river and Cassino.

They may not have been the first to enter the city—that may be the source of a million arguments for years—but they deserve the honor for they are the ones who infiltrated thousands strong through the last main German line before Rome and struck the enemy from the rear.

I came in with them yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock and two German tanks on the last lap of the ancient Roman road made it plain nobody had been there before us.

So did the snipers and machine gun nests which pinned us down for three hours before we were able to move on into Rome.

Great Rome Handicap

They had just come from this great, decisive infiltration move in which they had shifted thousands of men three miles behind the German lines beyond Velletri with almost no casualties.

When the race of all diviisons in this area, all reconnaissance outfits—all everything—started toward Rome yesterday it looked at first like the lads who made it possible might be lost in the shuffle.

But when the Germans cut loose in the suburbs the guys who were running the great Rome handicap—jeeps and command cars—naturally called back for the infantry.

And so naturally the mountaineers came up, this time riding in trucks, hopped out, and took to the slopes, sloughs and draws where the snipers, who had killed or wounded more than 20 in the company I accompanied, were hidden.

On Skimpy Rations

Some of them were unfed for nearly 48 hours, others had been living on only one canteen of water for two days, but they kept on going and dozens were mowed down.

Between such tragedies they stuck into their helmets roses handed them by Italian families along the way, drank the water poured by other friendly natives, and moved on into the city they had been hoping to occupy for the past nine months.

It is a strange commentary on the capture of Rome that the doughboys were met by some people throwing flowers—and others throwing lead.

STUBBORN CASE OF CONSTIPATION GONE

"No more salts, oils, every day," writes ex-sufferer

Want to stop dosing—and yet keep regular? Then read this unsolicited letter from Mr. Lowe.

"I am 71 years old. Today I'm in the best of health. But, for 15 years I had a stubborn case of constipation—had to rely on salts or castor oil every day. Got so weak I could hardly walk. Five months ago I read one of your ads and my wife advised me to try your ALL-BRAN. After first week my passage was normal. For 5 months I have been eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and haven't taken a laxative. Thanks for ALL-BRAN'S grand relief." Frank Lowe, 4303 S. W. 9th St., Des Moines, Iowa.

You'll be interested in knowing exactly how KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN helps so many people—how this wholesome cereal gets at a common cause of constipation—lack of certain dietary cellulosic elements. You see ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements—which help the friendly colonic flora to fluff up and prepare wastes for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative, it is a "regulating" food.

If your constipation is this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly—and drink plenty of water. See if it doesn't help. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Big Production Jobs Still Ahead

DETROIT, June 5. (AP)—Americans were advised by Donald M. Nelson today to think less of war production cutbacks and more of a "big war production job" that "still remains ahead."

Declaring that industry's outlook on cutbacks and contract cancellations was "entirely out of proportion to the facts," the war production chief said that arms output must exceed its current rate in order to attain next November's scheduled peak.

Nelson told the economic club in a prepared address that the "probabilities" indicate a "considerable period of intensive war production ahead of us."

Corrects Impression

"There is so much postwar talk going around that many people seem to have got the impression that war production schedules are being reduced," Nelson said. "I want to correct that impression."

Munitions production currently is 14 per cent above the average 1943 monthly rate with April 1 schedules calling for nearly 69 billion dollars in arm production for this year, Nelson said. He added that the 69 billions would represent an average monthly rate of 20 per cent over last year.

More Than 1943

Giving what he called a "realistic view" of the war contract situation, Nelson said the government's outstanding obligations for goods yet to be delivered totaled about 75 billion dollars, or "considerably more" than 1943 production.

A "second big fact," he said, is that "out of 210 billion dollars in prime contracts placed by the government since June, 1940, the face value of contracts terminated up to April of this year totaled only 22 billions."

"And most of these cancelled contracts," he said, "were swiftly replaced by contracts for other products of different models of the same product. . . . The vast majority of contract terminations have not freed any significant number of workers or plants for civilian work."

Dozen Cases Completed On First Day Of Federal Court

Sentences of from six months to three years were assessed in criminal cases at the opening sessions of the June term of federal court for the Lubbock division of the northern district of Texas here Monday. Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson is the presiding judge for the term.

Of the 13 criminal cases heard during the day, only one was not completed. Testimony in the case of the United States against Jimmy Leroy Pennick, 22, an Bill Lambert, 30, charged with forcibly entering a national bank "with intent to commit larceny therein, to wit, the crime of robbery," was completed but imposition of sentence was withheld by Judge Davidson, pending appearance before the court within the next three days of reputable citizes to testify in behalf of the defendants.

Both Plead Guilty

Both defendants pleaded guilty to the charges Monday morning as read by Clyde O. Eastus, U. S. district attorney.

The defendants were sentenced early in 1942, for the robbery of the First National bank in Sdan, to serve five years in the state penitentiary, but both were released after serving only two years and nine days of their terms.

One case which drew attention was that of the United States against Jess A. Bruner, 37, former postoffice clerk in Slaton who was charged with taking for his own use more than $2,000 of postal funds belonging to the United States.

Two Character Witnesses

Of fifteen character witnesses in the court room only two were called to the stand. These were J. H. Brewer, Slaton insurance man, and Lubbock county Sheriff Tom Abel. Both testified they had known the defendant for a number of years and had always found him to be honest and upright and as good a citizen as could be found in the community.

Imposition of sentence was withheld and Bruner was placed on probation for one year. In making the decision in the case Judge Davidson said that in view of the defendant's good record as vouched for by the two witnesses and the presence of 13 other witnesses ready to testify in his behalf, he was inclined to "let him off light," but added a note of warning that a heavy penalty would be imposed if he violated his probation.

Other criminal cases heard during the day were as follows:

Cecil T. Hines, 28, charged with unlawfully wearing the uniform of an enlisted man in the United States Navy, was assessed a fine of $100. He entered a plea of guilty.

Archie M. Cook pleaded guilty to charges of disposing of personal property in violation of the Emergency Relief appropriations act of 1941 and was sentenced to 13 months in the federal correctional institute in Texarkana, the sentence being probated for two years, provided he pay back the $1456.70 he received for the personal property at the rate of $100 per month.

Rationing Coupons

John E. Hall, jr., 23, pleaded guilty to charges of unlawfully having in his possession 25 serially numbered "T" gasoline rationing coupons and two valid A-10 coupons which were unattached to any regular folder or book as provided by ration order 5-c, none having been issued to defendant by any war price and rationing board. He was fined $25 and given six months in jail, the jail sentence being probated for three years.

Imposition of sentence was withheld in the case against Marvin Chester Harper, 29, who pleaded guilty to all of seven counts in the indictment charging him with possession and transfering of gasoline ration coupons equivalent to 7,500 gallons of gasoline. In commenting upon his decision, Judge Davidson pointed out he was withholding imposition of sentence in the case due to the fact that Harper served with the Marines on Guadalcanal in the service of his country and had received a medical discharge from the Navy hospital recently. He said, "Those boys on Guadalcanal went through purgatory."

Negro Pleads Guilty

F. A. Stephenson, negro, charged with purchasing from Laverne Jones two new passenger type tires for the sum of $60 and without surrendering tire certificates issued by a war price and rationing board, pleaded guilty to the charges. He was assessed a fine of $25.

Laverne Jones, negro, entered a plea of innocent to the charge of unlawfully selling to F. A. Stephenson two grade-one passenger type tires without having and obtaining in exchange therefor tire rationing certificates as required by ration order 3-a as amended. He was sentenced to six months in federal correctional institute in Texarkana or similar institution.

Jones, who was without benefit of council, testified in his own behalf. He denied the charges that he sold the tires to Stephenson, adding that he merely saw some "kids pushing the tires around and then went back and told Stephenson about them. He then went back with me to the spot where we found them in the weeds. There was no mention of money." Jones testified that he borrowed $40 from Stephenson but did not receive any money for the tires.

Story Said Unbelievable

Judge Davidson, in announcing his decision of "guilty," said that Jones' story was unbelievable.

A 17-year-old boy, facing a juvenile delinquency charge, growing out of the alleged robbery of the postoffice at Gilpin in Dickens county on April 2, 1944, was sentenced to three years in "some school." The boy's home is in Camden, N. J.

Soledonio Rodriguez, 29, who entered a plea of guilty of charges of cashing a postoffice money order made out to another person and keeping the money for his own use, was placed on probation for one year.

Doctor Is Sentenced

Dr. John Lawrence Kirby, who pleaded guilty to charges of obtaining 25,000 one-half grain morphine tablets on government order blanks for the satisfaction of his own desire, was sentenced to 18 months in the prison hospital at Lexington, Ky., on the first of 10 counts. Suspended sentences were given in the other nine counts.

Judge Davidson withheld imposition of sentence and placed on probation for one day Dr. Irby W. Fires, of Throckmorton, who pleaded guilty to charges of writing prescriptions for small amounts of morphine without having registered or paid federal tax entitling him to that privilege. He was also charged with illegal possession of narcotics.

A sentence of six months in the federal correctional institute in Texarkana was given Ralph Roberts who pleaded guilty of charges of transfering gasoline rationing coupons equivalent to 3,000 gallons of gasoline to one Douglas Bowman, and of possessing four loose A-10 gasoline rationing coupons not having been issued to him by any war price and rationing board.

James R. Allison, 21, pleaded guilty of charges of driving a passenger automobile without the use of gasoline coupons and with possession of one mileage ration "T" coupon and 2 loose "A" coupons which had not been issued to him by any war price and rationing board. He was sentenced to six months each on the first two of the three counts in the federal correctional institution in Texarkana or some institution of that type, the sentences not to run concurrently. Imposition of sentence was withheld on the third count.

The civil case of M. R. Free and others against Lubbock Independent school district board of trustees was dismissed.

Other criminal cases will be heard at today's sessions which open at 10 o'clock this morning. Two civil cases have been set for hearing today. They are: Eugene Wilson against Ben H. Davidson, trespass and to try title and to recover one-third of profits, etc.; and R. C. Kennedy against Eldredge M. McCombs, trespass to try title. In the former civil case a motion for dismissal will be heard today, with the trial date set as Tuesday, June 13.

Search Continues For Lost Houston Girl

HOUSTON, June 5 (AP)—The police homicide department today ordered a thorough search for clues that might tell the story of an attractive 17-year-old girl who vanished nearly two weeks ago.

Object of the search was Anna Mae Todd, who disappeared between 11 p. m. and midnight on May 23 after leaving a party of three young friends to walk one block to her mother's home.

Believing she might have been carried into nearby woods, police ordered the search centered there. The girl's mother and sister, assisted by friends, said they already had searched the woods vainly.

War Writers Find Rome Not Badly Damaged By Germans

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, during his tour of battlefronts in 1943 assigned Reynolds Packard, veteran war correspondent and manager of the former Rome bureau of the United Press, to reopen the bureau at the first opportunity. Packard, with his wife and assistant, Eleanor Packard, one of the few women reporters covering an active battlefront, arrived in Rome to carry out that assignment, last night while fighting still was continuing in the city.)

By REYNOLDS AND ELEANOR PACKARD
United Press War Writers

ROME, June 4.—Just 20 minutes after the last enemy tank had rolled past, we reached the center of Rome tonight and found that the Germans had left the city 95 per cent intact.

A few fires set by the Germans still were burning and railway yards were in ruins as result of Allied raids; but Rome as a whole was surprisingly little changed from the time we left it for an internment camp two years and 25 days ago following the United States' entry into the war.

Three Tanks Ahead

Our jeep was fourth in line in the first Allied column entering Rome at 8:30 p. m. The three tanks ahead of us sped off in pursuit of eight German Mark IV tanks while we headed for the bar at the grand hotel for a drink of Italian cognac.

The Italians at the bar at first thought we were Germans and would not drink with us, but when Peter, the bar man, and the manager of the hotel recognized us, the atmosphere changed abruptly.

Five minutes later, the American Stars and Stripes and the British Union Jack were flying from the hotel's flagstaffs over the doorway—the first Allied flags to fly in Rome since the United States entered the war.

Never Kissed So Much

Our trip through the streets of Rome and its suburbs had been in the nature of a triumphant tour. Never before had we been kissed so often or so much. Men and women alike overwhelmed us with their kisses.

Eleanor, wearing a steel helmet and khaki trousers, was kissed on the face by men who apologetically shook her hand when they discovered she was not a man. The women wanted to kiss Eleanor more than the men, while the men felt free to lavish their welcome on Reynolds.

We had to restrain our jeep driver, Pvt. Delmar Richardson, of Fort Wayne, Ind., from taking a punch at some of them.

"We don't welcome people like that in Indiana," he grumbled.

Bad Case Of Jitters

We had a bad case of jitters getting into Rome. At least six times we lost our nerve and turned back, only to talk ourselves into turning around and heading for the capital again.

The sniping and shelling was so bad that sometimes we felt like minesweepers. Once or twice, we got ahead of the tanks leading the column.

Once inside Rome, Italians waded knee deep through water spilled by a broken water main to greet us. Though well dressed and neat, the women told us they had been suffering from malnutrition for more than two years and had had no meat for the past four months, no eggs and no gas.

Roses Strew Path

Clapping, cheering Italians threw armsful of roses on to the American tanks and into our jeep as we rumbled through the streets.

Although the bolder Italians sought to kiss or shake hands with us, many seemed only to want to touch us as if it would bring them good luck.

Once the tank in front of us stopped and the officer in charge came back and asked if we had a map of Rome as he was supposed to go to the railway station and was not sure of the route.

When the Italians surmised what was wanted, there was a torrent of excited and contradictory advice. A score offered to hop on the tank and direct the crew, while others made such a din that it was nearly impossible to concentrate on map reading.

Want Children To See

Though German snipers were lurking nearby, many parents led or carried their children into the dark streets to see the American procession as they felt it was an historic occasion which the children would remember all their lives.

The crowds of Italians got bigger and noisier as the night progressed, despite the blackout.

The hotels we passed all appeared untouched and as intact as the Grand hotel in marked contrast to dynamiting of buildings in Naples by the Germans.

Ask About Outside World

In the Grand hotel bar, Italians came from all parts of the lobby to ask about the outside world. Most of them wanted their imprisoned relatives sent home immediately, as if by magic carpet. Most agreed that the Fascist government had dispersed, though the greater part of it was at Brescia in northern Italy while Benito Mussolini is at the famous villa of Gabriele D'Annunzio on the shores of Lake Gardone.

In some of the suburbs through which we passed, Italian volunteers were maintaining order. Many were communists who gave us the clenched fist salute as we passed. Many paraders inside the city carried communist flags.

LORENZO PASTOR: Rev. H. J. West, above, recently took over the pastorate of Lorenzo's First Baptist church. He went to the Crosby county community from Phillips, near Borger, in Hutchinson county.

Six Charged In Levelland Bills

LEVELLAND, June 5. (Special) — Five indictments naming six persons were voted by a Hockley county grand jury which reported today to District Judge Daniel A. Blair.

Separate indictments were returned against Harlan Miller and Jimmy Burney in connection with the burglary March 19 of a Levelland filling station operated by Perry Smith, in which a dozen tires and over 60 innertubes were taken.

Three persons were indicted on charges filed after the residence of Tom Lawson and the irrigation pump house of Jack Mullin were broken into May 26.

Named were Douglas Watson, R. E. and J. L. Comer, brothers. The Comers were named jointly in one indictment.

One Forgery Case

Another indictment named Robert Lee Broughton for forgery of the name of E. S. Smith of Pettit to a $20 check.

The jury asked the court to keep in effect bonds set in connection with burglary complaints naming L. A. and L. J. Crawford and E. D. Brookshier, alleging burglary of the Cole Bros. wholesale oil and gas company office in Levelland, pending assembly of more evidence. The jury stated its intentions of looking into the case at a later date. A large number of gasoline coupons were taken in the burglary.

T. A. Woolam of Smyer was jury foreman.

Socialists Seek To Raise $100,000 For Thomas' Campaign

READING, Pa., June 5. (AP) — The Socialist party sought today to raise $100,000 to defray the cost of a nation-wide campaign by Norman Thomas, of New York, and Darlington Hoopes, Reading, Pa., its presidential and vice presidential candidates, selected unanimously in national concention yesterday.

More than $8,000 in cash and pledges was raised among delegates at the last convention session.

Thomas, 59-year-old veteran of Socialist campaigns, former minister, and four times head of his party's national ticket, said he accepted a fifth nomination only because of the unusual times and the opportunity to combat what he called the "imperialistic" peace aims of Allied leaders.

Lt. Maurice Hughett Is Prisoner Of Japs

Lt. Maurice G. Hughett's two-year silence has been broken.

He is a prisoner of the Japanese government.

A telegram from the acting provost marshal general at Washington, D. C., to Mr. and Mrs. Hughett, the parents, of Gatesville, disclosed the former student of Texas Technological college who lived in Lubbock 12 years was "well."

The telegram read:

"Following shortwave broadcast from Japan has been intercepted. Quote . . . I am taking this opportunity of sending a radio message to you. I want you to know I am in excellent health, but am worrying about all of you at home. As officer, I do not do any manual work. I am a supervisor, don't smoke so am able to buy more fruit and other luxuries than other officers. I made an allotment in care of Pauline (his sister). If you need any of it I hope you will use it, otherwise I will certainly be able to use it. Have become an expert bridge player. Nothing would mean more to me than a long letter from home. Regards to all my friends and my two little nieces. Please inform Kay Donahue (Sweetwater girl he often was seen with when in Tech) I'm O. K. Signed: Lt. Maurice G. Hughett."

Lt. Hughett enlisted in the U. S. Air corps in 1939. He was attached to the 17th Pursuit squadron and had been in the Philippine islands eight months when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor. One day he and Maj. (then Capt.) Harold Cocanougher of Lubbock were talking at a base on one of the islands. Thirty minutes later there was a flight mission from which Lt. Hughett did not return.

Neither the parents, a cousin, Odell Hughett of 2024 Ninth street, nor anyone else known to relatives had heard from him until the Washington telegram quoting the broadcast.

Rationing "Breather" To Be Continued Indefinite Time

CHICAGO, June 5. (AP)—Walter F. Straub, director of the OPA food rationing division, said today the nation would enjoy its current "breathing spell" in food rationing for an indefinite period, and that "no man knows" just how long it will last.

In a prepared speech at the 46th annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers, Straub said the nation now was "in the midst of the most quiet and peaceful period" in the industry since rationing began.

No One Knows

"Just how long this breathing spell will last no man knows," he declared. ". . . The best rationed are the least rationed, and as long as conditions warrant it we shall continue on the same or an even more relaxed basis. When and if the supply situation changes, rather than face the hysteria and the unfairness to all of panic buying, needless hoarding . . . we may have to return to the rationing of 1943 and early 1944.

"It is my earnest hope that this may be avoided."

Other Assertions

Straub made the following other assertions:

1. The decision to remove pork from rationing May 3 resulted from big hog runs, corn allocations and an imminent feed shortage, approach of warm weather when buying declines, and a shortage of freezer storage space.

2. Lamb was not plentiful nationally but was over-supplied in various regions, and rather than set up a regional ration point system, it was removed from the list.

Compete With Pork

3. Less desirable beef cuts were removed from rationing so they might move normally against choice pork cuts.

4. Major canned vegetables were removed from rationing because the supply of the 1943 pack in retail, wholesale and processors' hands was sufficient to last until 1944 goods comes in.

5. It is still necessary to ration sugar. The total amount allocated to OPA by the War Food administration for 1944 will permit less than 80 pounds per person.

Paratrooper Leaps And Then Goes Up Instead Of Down

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—The young paratrooper leaped from his plane, yelling "Geronimo" like all good paratroopers, but he didn't go down. He went up.

He watched his buddies swing in diminishing pendulum toward the ground and gazed anxiously as his airplane faded into the distance as he personally floated higher and higher.

"With no more control over his movements than a wisp of thistledown," relates the official service magazine Air Force "the paratrooper was tossed about on the point of a thermal wave.

"He spent half an hour watching his outfit fighting a fierce mock battle on the ground. In time, the thermal wave released the young man and he came down to join his battalion as a fresh reservist."

The magazine said the peculiar voyage took place at Fort Benning, Ga.

Navy Spending $1,000 A Minute On Planes

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—The Navy is spending more than $1,000 a minute to keep its planes in the air—knocking down enemy fliers, bombing enemy bases and moving supplies and men about the world.

This was disclosed today in a compilation of statistics by Rear Admiral William Brent Young, chief of the bureau of supplies and accounts.

The admiral reported that for all purposes, including aviation, Navy fuel purchases amount to $2,000,000,000 a year.

Young, addressing employes of the bureau which handles most purchases of naval supplies, also reported that each week the Navy spends $11,500,000 for clothing.

Club Plans For Visit Outlined

Lubbock county 4-H club boys who produced enough food on the farm to feed a fighter in 1943 were told at a week-end meeting of plans for handling the crowd of boys who will be in Lubbock next Thursday and Friday as guests of South Plains Army Air field.

Jason O. Gordon, county agent, said that the Lubbock county 4-H club boys would be hosts to the visiting boys when they arrive at the county agent's office, 1320 Avenue Q.

Highest Producer

Of the 34 boys who produced enough food to feed a fighter, the highest producer was Edwin Powe of the Shallowater club who produced 20,000 pounds of cotton, 1,232 pounds of pork and 2,340 pounds of beef, or enough to feed 29 fighters during the year.

The following is a list of the 34 boys, together with the number of soldiers fed:

WE'RE GLAD TO SERVE

The U. S. Treasury recently issued a statement to the press praising the work of the banks in the war effort. It was pointed out that 13½ billion dollars—over 80% of all bonds sold in the 4th War Loan—cleared through banks. Banks did this job at their own expense. They received no remuneration. They paid out large sums for salaries, overhead and advertising. We appreciate this recognition, but seek no special praise. We welcome the opportunity to help win the war.

Hemphill-Wells, ABC Cop Junior Baseball Openers

Mound Stars Whiff Total Of 28 Men

Bill Cope's Hemphill-Wells nine came from behind in the seventh inning to win a 6-to-5 thriller over Sears and Roebuck in the National League opener of the junior baseball play at Chapman field Monday evening. The winners trailed from the first inning to the last, but took full advantage of the breaks in the last inning to win the game.

It was a great pitching duel all the way, and both Bob Galey, the Hemphill-Wells ace, and Charles Pressley, Sears and Roebuck mound star, pitched wonderful ball games, each turning in a five-hitter while Galey whiffed 16 men and Pressley eased the third strike past an even dozen.

Pitching Is Good

Both pitchers worked smoothly all the way with Galey starting off rather rockily and all five hits off him came in the first four innings of the ball game and produced all five of the Sears and Roebuck runs.

A walk to Johnny Trout, David Coursey's triple and a single by George Brewer provided the first two runs for Sears and Roebuck, and sent them into a lead they held until the final inning. In this inning, Galey fanned the first two and the final out.

In the second inning, Galey struck out the first man, walked the second, struck out the next, then forced home the third run with three straight walks before whiffing another to run his string of retirements to six strikeouts.

Brewer Hits Homer

George Brewer opened the third inning with a lusty homer for the fourth run. In the fourth, Sears and Roebuck closed it's scoring as Noel Sikes walked, stole second and scored on Johnny Trout's single.

For the last three innings, Galey retired them in order, adding two strikeouts an inning to his record.

Pressley was greeted by a rousing triple off the bat of Clinton Benefield in the first inning, and Benefield came in on a fielder's choice for the first run.

Pressley struck out the last batter in the first inning, whiffed three in a row in the second and added two more in the third before Bill Cope broke the string with a long home run.

Benefield Hits Again

Hemphill-Wells pushed across another in the fifth on Benefield's single, a walk and a wild pitch, then coasted into the last inning trailing by two runs.

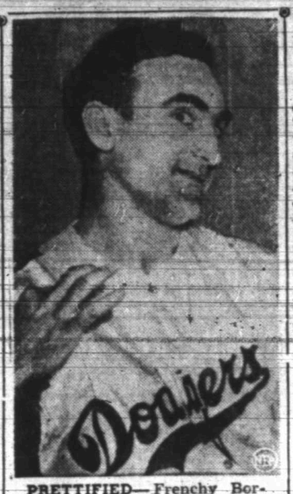

Benefield opened the "lucky seventh" with a long double and moved down to third on Cooper's single. Pressley struck out Galey and forced Cope to hit a bounder to first and Benefield and Cooper both scored when Bumpass threw wild to third. Cope scored the winning run a few minutes later on an infield error.

The West Texas Gas nine and Montgomery Ward play the second opener of the league this afternoon at 6:15 o'clock at Chapman field. Hemphill-Wells will try for its second win of the campaign Thursday afternoon, clashing with Montgomery Ward while Sears and Roebuck will try to even the count against West Texas Gas Wednesday evening.

Galehouse Finds Foes Hit Sunday Pitch On Sunday

ST. LOUIS, June 5 (U.P.)—Denny Galehouse, the St. Louis Browns Sunday pitcher, debated today on how to stop the rest of the American League from hitting his "Sunday pitch."

Galehouse, who commutes from Akron, O., to St. Louis to pitch first games of Sunday doubleheaders when the Browns are at home, dropped his second game yesterday when the Philadelphit Athletics edged him, 4-3.

The big fight hander leaves home Saturday night at eight and arrives in St. Louis early Sunday, after hurling the opening game, he leaves St. Louis at 6 p. m., has his berth made up early and arrives in Akron at 6 a. m. Monday.

Yesterday he said the "A's" hit his Sunday pitch when he least expected it.

"You can't win all the time," he said. "I haven't got any alibis, they just hit me when I wasn't looking."

LOMBARDI WEDS

NEW CANAAN, Conn., June 5 (AP)—Ernie Lombardi, New York Giant's catcher, and Miss Bernice Marie Ayres, both of Oakland, Calif., were married here today by Probate Judge Lawrence P. Frothingham. He gave his age as 36 and she as 43.

Game Iced Away In Wild Fifth Frame

After battling on nip and tuck terms for four innings, the American Business Club baseball nine "exploded" in the fifth inning and when the dust had cleared from around home plate had pushed across 15 runs and iced away the American League opener over the Junior Chamber of Commerce nine, 25 to 9.

The two teams see-sawed back and fourth in lively fashion during the first four innings of the ball game with the JCC nine taking the lead three times and tying the ball game up again in the fourth, only to have the ABC nine come back in their half of the inning to regain the lead.

Coming out in the fifth inning, Mickey McCollum, ABC chunker, retired three men in order, the only time during the ball game that a team failed to score.

ABC then bunched four hits with eight walks and a number of errors in their half of the fifth inning for the 15 run deluge, then Umpire McCabe called the ball game because of darkness.

Skipper Royce Ellison paced the attack for the winners, smashing out four hits in five trips to the plate for the hitting honors of the evening.

Lefty Jack McCabe and Joe Scales divided the pitching honors for the losers, with both chunkers having trouble finding the plate. They gave up a combine of only nine base hits between them but were never able to stem the flood of runs.

Mickey McCollum went the route for the winners and hung up his first victory of the season with a four hit piching performance, but he was also bothered with wilderness to mar his pitching job.

Scott-Nova Battle Reclassed As Draw

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 5 (AP) The Oklahoma City Athletic Commission today ruled that the Buddy Scott-Lou Nova fight here last Friday night, awarded the latter on a 10-round decision, was a draw.

The commission issued a statement in which it said it "is standing behind the judges it appointed and correcting an error of the announcer."

Eddie Sears, Scott's manager, protested the decision being awarded Nova when it was learned one judge and the referee called the match a draw while the other judge awarded the bout to Nova.

However, since Nova won the most rounds when the score cards of the three officials were taken collectively, the announcer awarded the bout to the Californian. The cards showed 12 rounds for Nova, eight for Scott and 10 even.

The reversed decision breaks Nova's string of 11 straight victories on his comeback trail this year.

FIGHTERS REMATCHED

TULSA, June 5 (AP)—"Nova won the fight and got the decision, and no action by the Oklahoma City Commission can change the facts," was the comment of Frank Paccassi, manager of Lou Nova, when told of the belated Oklahoma City ruling that it was a draw.

Paccassi said he had accepted terms to box Buddy Scott, Nova's opponent in the disputed Oklahoma City fight, 10 rounds in Galveston June 20.

"That will tell whether it was a draw or not," said Paccassi. "Lou will knock him out next time."

St. Louis Nines Set Dizzy Pace

NEW YORK, June 5. (AP) — St. Louis showed them how it's done in both major leagues with the Cards and Brownies pacing the West to decisive intersectional victories in the second East-West series which ended with Sunday's doubleheaders.

Billy Southworth's Red Birds played .615 ball in taking eight of 13 starts as the National invaders captured 28 and lost 24 in their tour of the east, a tabulation today shows.

Yanks, Sens Flop

The New York Yankees and Washington Senators flopped badly on their first long jaunt and not a single Eastern club in the American was able to win as many as it lost.

Although the Yanks had a two and a half game lead when they headed West, they lost eight and won only five in sinking into second, a game and a half back of the Brownies who took 10 of 15 for a giddy .667 pace.

Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis handed the visitors a bad shellacking, 33 games to 23, only the Indians failing to manage a .500 clip.

Chisox, Tigers Rally

While the Browns took over first, Detroit had a seven game streak and Chicago spun a six-game skien that has not been broken.

Pre-season dopesters labeled the Eastern clubs as the class of the American league and the West tops in the National. So far, they have been right. The senior loop has been dominated by St. Louis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh but the Harridge circuit has only the McCarthy crew from the East in the first division. Washington, an early choice, plummeted to the cellar by losing two Sunday but the race has been so tight that a couple of ball games could shuffle the standings.

Cleveland Boss Now Feuds With Kennedy

CLEVELAND, June 5. (AP) — Pitcher Vernon Kennedy of the Cleveland Indians remained "suspended indefinitely" despite a conference today with Manager Lou Boudreau.

Charging Kennedy with "insubordination and conduct detrimental to the club," the Cleveland manager imposed the penalty between halves of a double header with the New York Yankees yesterday.

"Kennedy is still indefinitely suspended and that's all I have to say about it."

The Indian manager added he did not know when the suspension would be lifted.

Kennedy gave his version of the incident. He said he was sent to the bullpen about the seventh inning to get ready but "Harder got out of trouble and I sat down. Then Lou signaled for a left hander and another right hander to get ready so I stayed where I was."

Kennedy said Boudreau approached him after the game and demanded "Do you want to pitch?" When he answered, "Sure I want to pitch," Kennedy said the manager replied "It doesn't look like it to me. Get dressed and leave the park."

"That's all I know about it. Nobody told me I was suspended or what," the hurler added.

Bill McKechnie has seen longer service than any manager with the Cincinnati Reds. He's now in his seventh season.

Stan Hack Reported Headed Back To Cubs

CHICAGO, June 5. (AP) — Stan Hack, Chicago Cub veteran, will leave his Oregon ranch and take up third base duties with the club in about a week, Jim Gallagher, Cub vice president, said today.

Hack, who batted .289 last year—his 12th with the Cubs—decided to stay on his ranch this season and announced his retirement from baseball. However, the Cubs had been reported to be keeping in touch with the 34-year-old 1943 team captain with the hopes of luring him back.

Hack's reappearance should help settle the club's troublesome third base spot, where Tony York, Roy Hughes, Eddie Stanky and even Jimmy Foxx have seen service this season.

ODESSA, June 3 (AP) — A. V. Patterson, assistant coach at Odessa High school, has resigned to accept a position with the Gulf Oil company.

Four Teams Repeat Wins In LAAF Loop

Four winners from the opening round repeated Monday afternoon in the Lubbock Army Air field softball league race as Flight B, Finance department, Section E and Flying Officers won in the second games of the league race. Another winner of last week, Hangars, was knocked from the charmed circle by Flight A.

The games Monday were close and well played with two of the games being shutouts and another going into extra innings.

Hayes pitched hitless ball for four innings, then went on to win his game for Flight B's second win of the season, blanking Section F, 6 to 0. Smith pitched the Finance department to victory No. 2 with another shutout, winning 8 to 0 over Section B.

Vyatel won his second victory of the season as he pitched Section E to a 7 to 6 win in 10 innings over Section A. This was a pitching duel with Clow, who hurled for the losers.

Lt. McDonald outpitched Lt. Koteh and Maj. Potter for a 5 to 3 victory for the Flying Officers over the Administrative Officers, and the second win of the season.

Flight A upset the Hangars 4 to 1 with Hollis outpitching Lovell for the honors.

Mel Ott drew 95 bases on balls in 125 games last season or an average of one walk every fifth time he went to the plate.

ANSWERS SENATOR

Editor, The Avalanche: A few days ago an article appeared on the front page of your paper quoting Senator Reed of Missouri as complaining about the extravagances of the Postoffice department in paying its employees needless overtime.

First of all, we postoffice employees should like to inform the public of a fact that we do not believe is common knowledge; we draw less per hour for all time in excess of eight hours than we do for the first eight of the regular work day, although time and one half for overtime pay is recognized as a basis throughout industry and by Government Labor commissions. We have no bargaining power, or the right to strike which is prohibited government employees. We can only urge our legislative bodies to adjust compensation satisfactorily.

In commenting on the increase and misuse of postoffice funds for overtime payment to regulars, Mr. Reed seems not to have taken into consideration that the armed forces have made great inroads in our personnel, as deferments are not asked or expected by us. Due to the fact that the rate of pay for substitute employees is less than such persons can make during war times at other jobs, and since no added inducement of permanent employment can be given those not actually on the civil service eligible list, it is difficult to secure competent temporary help. Those substitutes who are employed are working as many hours as they can consistently without staying on the job interminably. It takes several months for a new employee to become familiar enough with the work to turn out a creditable performance. Thus as vacancies occur the only solution is for the regulars to work overtime whenever it is deemed necessary by our supervisors, in order that no serious interruption in the mail service may take place.

Another thing we should like to call favorable attention to is that the Postoffice department did not show a deficit in 1943, but rather showed a surplus of receipts to expenses for the year. All this in spite of the fact that more mail was handled than ever before by a smaller force under extremely adverse conditions.

A bill, H.R. 4501, is now in the hands of the Postoffice and Post Roads committee, which proposes to grant postal employees time-and-one-half for all time in excess of 40 hours a week. The bill must be favorably reported out of the committee, passed by the House and Senate and thence to the President for his signature before it can become a law.

We somehow do not believe the public at large will consider the provisions of the bill as exorbitant demands, nor will our good Senator Reed, if he but ponders the situation from all angles.

Yours for a more efficient, courteous postal service, with a cooperative, understanding public.

Sincerely,
Glenn Ridge,
Lubbock.

(Dear Mr. Ridge: Thanks for your letter. I am sure it contains much welcome information for the general public. However, the senator to whom you refer is not from Missouri, instead, he is a Republican from Kansas. Missouri's senators are New Dealer Harry Truman, Oldline Democrat Bennett Clark. Cordially yours, The Editor.)

Dempsey Nomination In New Mexico Seen

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 5. (U.P.)—Gov. John J. Dempsey, today seemed assured of renomination in tomorrow's Democratic primary election as the Albuquerque central labor union announced, after study of questionnaires sent all candidates in the election, that it had voted to indorse Dempsey for reelection.

The governor is opposed in tomorrow's voting by Mrs. Edna Peterson, Albuquerque housewife and former state employe.

Although Dempsey has declined to campaign, his lady opponent has stumped the state charging Dempsey with waste and with creating a political machine through unlimited use of gas and tire rations and state jobs.

Ray Rodgers, chairman of the New Mexico Democratic party, predicted "party harmony" and a lack of major contests would tend to reduce heavily the total of 64,000 ballots cast by the state's Democrats in the 1942 primary. He estimated the total Democratic vote Tuesday would not exceed 33,000 votes.

June Old Age Pension Checks Are Mailed

AUSTIN, June 5. (U.P.)—Old age pension checks, totaling $3,729,187, are being mailed to 175,196 persons for an average payment of $21.29, six cents above the May payment, Director John Winters of the Public Welfare department said today.

There were 733 less old age pension recipients than in May, Winters said. Checks to 4,685 dependent blind totaled $114,024 for an average of $24.34.

June payments to 10,806 families with 23,662 dependent children aggregated $227,524, making the average amount $21.06. The rolls gained 319 families and 608 children in May, Winters said.

"The Solid South" Again!

THE New Deal again has treated the South like an abused political stepchild in attempting to defeat the so-called Bankhead cotton amendment to the Price Control bill now pending in the United States Senate.

The amendment, which was proposed by Senator Bankhead of Alabama, is somewhat involved in its phraseology. In brief, it would require the OPA to readjust price ceilings on cotton textiles every 60 days so as to conform to fluctuations in the prices of cotton.

In other words, if the price of cotton should go up within any 60-day period, the ceiling on textiles would be raised. If the cotton price should go down, the textile ceilings would be lowered. Under this system, the difference between cotton prices and textile ceilings would remain about constant. The Textile industry, which has lead the fight against the Bankhead amendment, would have nothing to gain from trying to force the price of cotton downward.

Under the existing system, the textile manufacturer has much to gain from keeping cotton prices as low as possible. At the present time, textile ceilings are more or less stationary. The ceilings remain the same, or approximately so, regardless of the price of cotton. Thus, the less the textile manufacturer has to pay for his raw material, which is cotton, the greater is his profit.

Consequently, congressmen from Northern and Eastern textile states have fought the amendment. Those from the South have supported it. The New Deal is with the textile states, and against the South, in the fight. Why?

It is really because of the pretended belief that the amendment would be an "inflation breeder"? Or are the reasons political? Let's consider:

New Deal politicians are entirely confident that, come what may, the South will support administration candidates next November. So they have no fear of political consequences if they hurt and offend the South.

But Northern and Eastern states are different. They are "doubtful" politically. If they get mad at the New Deal, they may go Republican. So the New Deal politicians handle those states with gloves. If it is necessary to deny something to the South in order to keep the doubtful textile states in a good humor, then the South is just out of luck. The South gets a kick in the pants like that the New Deal has tried to deliver in attempting to defeat the Bankhead amendment.

Happily, these administration efforts have failed thus far. The amendment still is pending. It may be passed, though no one should bet on it. If it is passed, the New Deal will be due no thanks. It will be in spite of, and not because of, the administration.

A Disturbing Condition

THE Treasury department's statement the other day that nearly 40 per cent as many Series E War bonds were redeemed as were sold during May certainly was disturbing, if not actually alarming.

Sales were reported as $713,807,992 and redemptions as $271,714,318, with the total of redemptions still incomplete. The record was the worst, by far, of any month since War bonds were placed on sale.

The extremely unfavorable record was emphasized further by the absence of satisfactory explanations for the high ratio of redemptions. Last March, when many War bonds were cashed in, it was obvious that the necessity of paying income tax was chiefly responsible. Payments of first installments of 1944 income tax with declarations due April 15 might have explained a high ration of cash-ins during that month. Neither of those reasons will explain the record during May, though it is proabable that the tax payment squeezes during March and April were not reflected fully in War bond redemptions until May. Doubtless there were other contributing reasons, too.

Whatever the reasons may have been, it is extremely important to find out what they are, and without any loss of time.

Not only must the reasons be discovered, but methods must be devised of removing or correcting the causes for wholesale redemptions. Otherwise, public confidence in the stability and security of War bonds might be shaken to a degree that would prove fatal to the continuation of this method of helping to finance the war.

The One Minute Sermon

And it shall come to pass, if thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to observe and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day, that they Lord thy God will set thee on high above all nations of the earth:

And all these blessings shall come on thee, and overtake thee, if thou shalt hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God.

Blessed shalt thou be in the city, and blessed shalt thou be in the field.

Blessed shalt be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle, and increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep. — Deuteronomy 28, 1 through 4

THE MOST COSTLY WIVES IN THE WORLD

The Sabeu women of Manipur, India are the most costly wives in the world. They are bought from the father, as is customary in the East. But the purchase price must be paid every year, anew. If the husband fails to pay the annual purchase price (renewal), his wife is lost to him and she may be resold to another male. She is never fully "paid up," and one year's failure in payment will result in the woman being replevined by members of her family.

Hit The Rivet Sister

BY ANN PENDLETON

Copyright, 1943, Howell, Soskin, Inc.; Distributed, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

The real-life adventure of a society girl who goes to work in a war plant.

• • •

Chapter 1

Just what the well-dressed applicant for a riveter's job should wear, Simpson's ("Get a Good Job in Aircraft") hadn't told us.

With that happy facility I have for hitting the wrong combination, I had chosen, on that hottest of all hot days of May '42, a pre-war, real wool suit. Warm when the 6 a. m. train had started me off from New York, I had grown warmer as I neared Moore City. By the time I had arrived at "Moore City's Finest Defense Plant" I was beyond the stage of being warm; my impression is that the guards of Kerry Kraft saw me first as an animated hot shower.

Personnel's waiting room was not air-conditioned, and it was only when the clouds of steam which I generated would shift that I could watch my fellow applicants. We had been there since nine in the morning and most of us now, in the afternoon, had finished our intelligence and aptitude tests. What we were waiting for next, we didn't know. Interview, I supposed; I had been through the mill before and knew the procedure.

It had been a little different, though, those other times. We'd been taken out in a clump from Simpson's, with Mr. Symes herding us along and booming out to everyone that we were "the pick of the first graduating Simpson women."

Wright's would take me, to be an Inspector. It seemed such an achievement to have convinced them that, though born in France, I was "native-born," that I almost signed up. But fortunately I remembered, pen in hand, that inspecting propellers wasn't drilling. Drilling was, and still is, my passion.

• • •

"For Pete's sake, Miss Pendleton, don't tell them that," my instructor had told me, "only a very low mentality wants to drill; tell them you want to rivet like all the others.

"That is, if you won't apply for Inspecting as you ought to," he had added. Inspecting, it seemed, was pretty much white-collar, and therefore desirable. It was also likely to be "sitting-down work" and altogether more elegant than manual labor. That I didn't want an elegant sitting-down job, that I might possibly have been able to get one without taking a six weeks' course in Aircraft Mechanics, seemed beside the point. I could read a micrometer without being baffled by the ten-thousandths, and I should be an Inspector. Simpson's had it all clear in their minds. So did Curtiss-Wright. Now, waiting here in Personnel, I had an uneasy feeling that Kerry Kraft had it too.

I was right. When at last the guard came out from the inner office and called my name, when at last Kerry Kraft hired me, it was for Inspection. "You'll be on Final Assembly. We need girls who know something about rivets for Inspection there," Mr. Curtin told me. Before I could get my protest into words he had said, "Come in Monday at eight," and our interview was over.

Monday. This was Friday afternoon. I had the rest of that day to find myself somewhere to live, and the week-end to pack up my apartment, say my farewells to New York, gather up my dog, my suitcase, my typewriter, my book box, my trunk—would I have any use, I wondered, for city clothes? —gather up my courage, give a thought to the war, to the need for planes, and set out for Moore City.

As an Inspector?

I was already back in the outer office, almost through the gate where the guard sat at his little wicket. Suddenly, to everyone's delighted astonishment, I whirled around and charged back to Mr. Curtin. I didn't want, oh I didn't want to be an Inspector. Please, please, and please, couldn't I be a mechanic instead? Couldn't I . . . I suddenly remembered my instructor's advice and stopped short on the word "drill." Couldn't I rivet? Couldn't I just be a filer? Or even burr holes?

Mr. Curtin was looking at me as, no doubt, the about-to-become-historic camel looked at the thousand and first straw. It wouldn't be possible for him to classify me any lower in the mental scale, I decided, and heard myself, in a strange tragedy-queen voice, give my heart's cry, "What I want to do is drill!"

Mr. Curtin, I think, was sick to death of me. Mr. Curtin was longing for the bright flowered blouses, the rayon slacks of my fellow-applicants. Mr. Curtin, I realized afterwards, didn't really give a damn. And what Mr. Curtin's voice was saying was, "Okay, sister, okay. But you start in Inspecting. Then you can change over and be a riveter."

A riveter!

I had won my point. Not only my dog and my suitcase must journey with me but my new green toolbox, my shining and splendid tools! Friday now. Monday was hardly soon enough.

Man Starts Term For Killing Tulia Soldier

JACKSON, Miss., June 5. (AP) — Aaron Heffner, Yalobusha county pool-room operator, of Coffeeville, was scheduled to begin a life sentence for the murder in April 1943, of Jimmie Deskin, Camp McCain soldier and a resident of Tulia, Texas, following the state supreme court's overruling of a suggestion of error.

Heffner, charged along with A. J. Shaw, jr., Coffeeville mule dealer, was convicted of the murder of Deskin after Mrs. Margaret Hunt, Coffeeville, third party in the case and a material witness, had testified that Heffner and Shaw hit Deskin over the head with a tire tool, then ran over the body, on a road near Coffeeville. The decision of the circuit court had been affirmed several weeks ago by the supreme court in ruling on an appeal.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

JUST like Gimbel knows what Macy sells, just so do I read the columns of my contemporaries (that's the literary term for competitors).

Many a time I feel like an awful dunce when I see Sokolsky and Mallon and Lipman and Westbrook Pegler get stark mad about some world-important problem, wave their hands and their fountain pens or typewriters, scare the life out of you and holler that the world is coming to an end—and what do I do?

I talk to you about dogs and flowers and my mother-in-law.

• • •

Take last Sunday, for instance. Everybody else was talking about the invasion and post-war plans and using great big words, getting himself all hot and bothered.

And I—what do you think I did?

I was sitting in my garden watching a mother chipmunk and her husband taking their four baby chipmunks out for their first walk.

If you ever saw a cuter sight in your life, I didn't.

• • •

FIRST Papa came out of his hole. He looked all around to see whether the coast was clear.

Then he stuck his head into the hole and gave the signal. Mama came out next and pretty soon a tiny head came out, a second, a third and a fourth.

Papa went scampering off, but the mother stayed with her children who were huddled close to her.

When I moved, the whole bunch disappeared like a lightning, each turning a somersault before it dashed into the hole—at least so it looked.

I tiptoed into the house, got by field glasses and a glass of something else and for almost two hours, I watched them play and eat and have one heck of a good time.

Overhead a bomber was winging its way to I don't know where—maybe Italy, maybe England.

The chipmunks didn't pay the slightest attention to the plane—that danger was none of their affairs.

I don't know when I had so much fun just watching those tiny creatures — creatures not much less tiny in the general scheme of things than you and I.

Maybe I'm just a dope, but it made me feel good when I had a letter from a reader in Temple, Texas, this morning.

"I, too love dogs and people and piffle," he wrote, "and your column to me is easily worth the price of my paper. May it live long."

So I guess I'll just keep on being a dope.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE Anglo-American High Command has chalked up Hitler's insistence on defending central Italy, particularly Rome, as another of the fatal strategic blunders of the Axis powers. Although eventual United Nations victory became inevitable when Uncle Sam entered the scrap, Adolf's Teutonic stubbornness in this sector may shorten the conflict.

Mussolini's erstwhile province lost most of its military advantage as soon as the Allies drove the Germans out of North Africa, seized Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica and occupied the major air fields near Foggia.

In view of the present range of our heavy and light bombers—Fortresses, Liberators, Mitchells and Marauders—Foggia is quite as useful for strafing Bavarian, Austrian and even French industries as would be runways north of the Eternal City.

• • •

DIFFICULT: The unsuccessful attempt to repel us below Italy's capital forced Der Fuehrer to maintain approximately 25 divisions in that country. Had he accepted his General Staff's advice, and retired to a line along the Po river, he might have been able to detach at least 10 divisions for service on the western or eastern fronts.

He would have kept in reserve a great mass of materiel. Now it appears that his decision may cost him thousands of men as well as a formidable array of tanks, artillery and small weapons.

He has also enabled our side to gain a great phychological triumph that has heartened the troops in England awaiting the order for the final grand assault on Europe.

The forces which smashed the Germans in Italy — American, British, Dominion, French and Polish fighters—have demonstrated to the world that they can whip the Nazis' finest warriors on terrain far more difficult than they will find in Denmark, the Low Countries and France.

• • •

REVERSES: The "intuitive" master mind in Berlin did not know it, but Gen. George C. Marshall's greatest worry until now was that the enemy might steal a march by withdrawing his main body from below Rome to the Po or the Alps.

Such a "Hindenburg" retreat would have left the Allied forces stranded and stymied in their present area. It would have required many valuable weeks to advance soldiers, heavy weapons, ships and supplies to the new northern combat zone.

Hitler's policy, of course, was based on diplomatic rather than strategic considerations. He feared the effect on the satellites and neutrals if Rome, the cultural and spiritual center of so many millions of people on both sides of the conflict and the first Axis capital to face seizure by the democracies, should fall to the liberators.

He sought to frighten his Balkan puppets into continued loyalty. By transforming Italy into a hell-hole of misery and want, he tried to give them a sample of what their lands would become if they deserted him.

He has missed out on all counts. He will soon suffer both a military and diplomatic catastrophe—a word now banned from Nazi communiques and newspapers.

Battlefield reverses may approach the magnitude of those he sustained before and after Stalingrad. And the United Nations have scored their most important statecraft successes in Turkey, Spain and Sweden since we established the Italian front last January.

• • •

PAY: The Southern coal operators' prospective acceptance of the retroactive features of the Ickes-Lewis wage raise agreement was dictated by second, prudent thought. Although the concession will cost them approximately $6,000,000, more or less, it may save them many more million in the long run.

Their refusal to dish out the back pay, which amounts to $18,000,000 for the whole industry and about $40 per worker, had caused them industrial and financial embarrassment.

Some companies, for instance, own mines in both the North and the South. The fact that they had capitulated with respect to their Northern properties occasioned dissatisfaction among men in fields below Mason and Dixon's line.

Worse still, some Southern firms abided by the contract while adjoining mines did not. There have been threats of strikes which would have damaged nonpaying operator's pockets far more heavily than the amount they must shell out under the terms of the present proposal.

The Supreme court held in an iron ore case that travel time was pay time. Litigation involving John L. Lewis' miners is now heading toward the same tribunal. Should the jurists hand down a similar decision, corporations which have not signed would become liable for sums far in excess of the Ickes-Lewis tribute.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Lemah

REGARDLESS of the hands-across-the-river oratory at recent Inter-American get-together conferences, New York businessmen back from below the Rio Grande disclose that ill will to Uncle Sam is mounting.

The United States faces a cocoa shortage occasioned partly by the cupidity of Brazilian growers who are haggling over the price of their new crop which moves to market this month.

They become indignant when told that North American processors cannot meet their figure because of current OPA ceilings. There is talk of smashing the monopoly by our drawing on British stock piles from West Africa.

• • •

RESENTMENT: Mexico is rife with bad blood over the collapse of the mercury market. In an effort to accumulate this vital war commodity, the USA at one time paid $2.06 a flask.

But we woke up to discover that more than a year's supply had been stored and the amount was reduced to $1.16. Contracts were canceled with United States firms and prices to Mexican mines were lowered.

The rub is that the drastic curtailment decrees were issued without warning and caught our Good Neighbors off first base. Private investors in Mexico had advanced their own capital to open pits and construct processing installations. They were told that we needed quicksilver badly but they had great difficulty in getting equipment from us.

In some cases large plants have just been completed—and will never produce a pound of mercury. Promotors are facing bankruptcy. In a nation having a mining economy, the resentment of this influential group is a foreign policy problem to be reckoned with.

• • •

HARDSHIPS: Our prestige has suffered south of the border by reason of our handling the critical lumber situation.

One branch of the administration begged for wood for Army packing cases. Some of the most important political figures in Mexico put their own money in timber. But when they asked for machinery, road materials and other supplies—without which large-scale cutting is impossible—another unit in Washington turned them down.

An example of the way bureaucrats without knowledge of a subject can blunder and create bewilderment among Latin American industrialists, is told by a member of a firm which sent here for saw sections. Its officials were informed by a bright young man in Washington to reduce their order by 60 per cent—in other words to cut trees with saws that had less than half their teeth.

Enmity in Bolivia is the result of our slashing the price of antimony without proper notice. Swift cutbacks are familiar in this country but abruptness is not understood to the south of us. Assurance of steady employment is essential in a primitive industrial system where sudden cancellations cause hardships.

Here And There In Texas

Texarkana To Lead Nation In Fifth War Loan Drive

HISTORIANS of the Southwest should get ready to add a new D-Day to the lengthy list of epochal dates in the colorful annals of this storied land — that list graced by such memorable occasions as the beginning of the Battle of the Alamo, Santa Ana's downfall at San Jacinto, the Oklahoma land rush, the discovery of oil at Spindle Top, and Lily Langtry's visit to old Judge Bean, "the law west of the Pecos," down on the border.

The forthcoming new peak in news out of the Southwest will be reached on Civilian D-Day — Monday, June 12—on which Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and other celebrities will join with Texarkana in officially opening the Treasury's Fifth War Loan.

Far from casting around the event any veil of secrecy such as military men are wont to drape about their D-Days, Texarkana is anxious to tell the whole world about Civilian D-Day and to invite the nation to help make it a resounding success. It's a national proposition, not just a Texarkana or Southwestern affair, the sponsors point out—one pregnant with very bad news for a certain pair of gentlemen who aren't gentlemen at all, Hitler and Hirohito.

• • •

Enthusiasm, Plus Prayer

Texarkna is preparing for Civilian D-Day with enthusiasm and with a prayer. Clubwomen of the city gave striking utterance to the spirit in which the day is being approached. At a rally called to map participation by half a hundred clubs in advance bond purchase solicitation, the women's leaders recited this pledge:

"We realize the seriousness of the hour, and that in unity there is strength. It is our common desire to join all women of America in this Fifth War Loan drive. The lives of our fighting men and the memories of our missing sons are too sacred for idle hours. With God as our helper, we enter prayerfully into the task for a victory that will be felt throughout the world."

The plege was writeen by Mrs. I. N. Williams of Texarkana, whose husband is an associate justice of the Sixth Court of Civil Appeals of Texas.

• • •

SECRETARY of the Treasurery Morgenthau is coming to Texarkana to play a prominent role in the Civilian D-Day program. Texarkana is preparing for him a surprise package which the Secretary doubtless will unwrap with a great deal of pleasure, since it is expected to contain an announcement that the $4,675,000 Fifth War Loan bond quota for Miller county, Arkansas and Bowie county, Texas, in which this interstate city is located, was subscribed in full even before the drive opened.

The war finance chairmen of these two counties, Willard Simmons and James R. Bryant, are largely responsible for the selection of Texarkana as the Civilian D-Day scene. They put the proposal up to the Treasury department months ago through Congressman Wright Patman.

"Here is a typical American community," they said. "It is divided by a state line, but it is united by love of country. It is an ideal place to give one of the war loan drives a 'grass roots' start. Say the word and we will have a Civilian D-Day that will provide the nation with inspiration and enthusiasm and confidence."

The treasury said the word.

• • •

It's Typically American

A radio broadcast originating here, with Orson Welles as its producers, Secretary Morgenthau a star actor, and some radio and motion picture topnotch artists as participants, will culminate the program. Earlier on June 12 there will be a military and war-bond-worker parade.

The flavor of genuine Americanism is pronounced hereabouts.

Indians for long years frequented a great campground in the vicinity where warbusy Texarkana now stands. A huge spring supplied them with pure, cool water; towering oaks and pines shade the scene. It was a stopping place on the redskins well traveled Southwest Train

Came explorers, including DeSoto, then colonist and traders, and eventually the railroad builders. Tracks of the Cairo and Fulton were pushed down across Arkansas, and the rails of the Texas and Pacific met them. At the meeting place, Texarkana was founded.

Very American, therefore, is the city's origin, well fitting it for the June 12 Civilian D-Day role of "typical American community" responding with an outpouring of patriotic fervor to the $16,000,000,000 "Back the Attack! Buy More than Before" call of the Fifth War Loan.

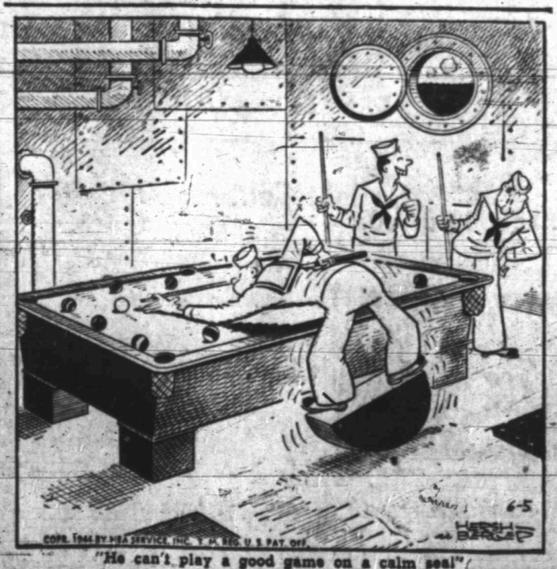

• • •

PREPARING the small town for aviation will be discussed at the first annual aeronautical conference to be attended by representatives of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico at Texas A. and M. college June 14-16.

Speakers will discuss "The Airplane as a Significant Factor in American Community Life of Tomorrow," "The Place of the American Community in the National Airport Plan," "The Weather and Its Influence on Postwar Flying and Use of the Airport," and "Aviation and Its Unlimited Horizons."

The conference will be held by the School of Engineering in cooperation with Region Four of the Civil Aeronautical administration.

19-A—Poultry & Supplies

USE SEA POWER TO GET HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S 20% PIG RATION

Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding—to pigs from 2-3 weeks of age on up.

MANAMAR

In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

B-G PLUS

Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

Wall Street . .

SELLING DRIVES PRICES DOWN
NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—"Selling on the good news," a long-established custom in Wall Street, gave today's stock market a definitely lower tilt.

While the fall of Rome was highly encouraging to the financial sector, this eventuality apparently had been well discounted by the recent average price advance to a 5-year peak. Sentiment was dimmed to some extent by the Supreme court fire insurance company ruling which held these concerns operated in interstate commerce and were subject to anti-trust laws. Profits, consequently, were cashed all along the line by those who, while bullish for the long pull, hoped for more favorable buying opportunities. Belief corporate securities would be neglected during the coming Fifth War Loan drive was a restraining factor.

Trends began to waver after a fairly steady start and leaders generally were down fractions to more than a point at the close. Low-priced motors, most of which got nowhere, accounted for most of the activity.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .3 of a point at 52.9, widest dip since May 12. Transfers totalled 858,990 shares versus 819,300 in the preceding full session.

Park and Tilford was one of the few heavier issues, dropping 4½ points.

Reorganization rail bonds backed away. Laggards in the curb included Aluminum of America, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Carrier Corp., Electric Bond and Share and American Light.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, June 5 (AP) — Cotton futures made new highs for the season here today on mill price fixing, short covering and Washington reports that the administration probably would agree to a higher loan rate in order to avoid Senator Bankhead's textile "escalator" amendment to the price control bill. Closing prices were steady $5 to $1.05 a bale higher.

NEW YORK FUTURES
NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—Cotton futures rose as much as $1.15 a bale today on broad covering and new commission house buying but late profit-taking pared final values to gains of from 75 to 95 cents a bale.

The advance into new seasonal high ground was attributed by traders to reports that compromise price control legislation might be introduced to support higher cotton prices.

Commission house buying in distant months was influenced by support of Stabilization Director Fred Vinson for the Bankhead amendment raising the cotton loan rates from 90 to 95 per cent of parity. This advance was aided by local and New Orleans short covering while near positions gained on aggressive mill price-fixing against textile awards.

Pershing Statement Cites Valorous Sons

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing, who commaded American armies in France in World war I, issued the following statement following the announcement that a new expeditionary force had landed in France.

"American troops have landed in western Europe.

"As the overmastering military might of the Allies advances it will be joined by the men of the occupied countries, whose land has been overrun by the enemy but whose spirit remains unconquered.

"Twenty-six years ago American soldiers, in cooperation with their Allies, were locked in mortal combat with the German enemy. Their march of victory was never halted until the enemy laid down his arms in defeat. The American soldier of 1917-1918, fighting in a war of liberation, wrote by his deeds, one of the most glorious pages of military history.

"Today, the sons of American soldiers of 1917-1918 are engaged in a like war of liberation. It is their task to bring freedom to peoples who have been enslaved I have every confidence that they, toegther with their gallant brothers-in-arms, will win through to victory."

Series Of Feints Precede Invasion

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 6. (AP)—It can now be revealed that the Allies have been conducting a series of feints in advance of the invasion today.

These feints were predicted sometime ago by Prime Minister Churchill, and were designed to lull the Germans so they would never know when the blow was coming.

Stafford Quits Post With City

Resignation of W. W. Stafford as city sanitation superintendent was announced at the city hall Monday afternoon soon after garbage truck drivers and crewmen who "walked off" the job Saturday morning returned to duty.

In announcing the resignation, city hall officials emphasized that it was entirely voluntary on Stafford's part. It was in no sense a dismissal, they explained.

Uncertainty Had Ruled

City Manager Marlin R. Smith and Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, had been uncertain as to Stafford's status since he reported Saturday that members of his department had refused to take the garbage truck out for the usual collections. The officials said then they were "under the impression" Stafford had quit, but this was not confirmed definitely until the city manager reached the resigning superintendent Monday afternoon.

It was no secret at the city hall that Stafford was dissatisfied with his salary, which was increased from $200 to $210 per month in the new city budget adopted by the city commission recently. In addition, Stafford has received the "cost of living" bonus paid to all city employes which has amounted to $28.80 per month during the last several months. Stafford's dissatisfaction was increased by the fact that several other department heads were given salary boosts larger than his when the new budget was approved.

Successor Not Named

His successor has not been selected, the city manager reported. However, an appointment probably will follow the next meeting of the city commission, which may be called into special session today to hear a report by a special committee named last week to investigate wages and hours of all city employes. Members of the committee are Commissioners Hub Jones and J. Ray Dickey and the city manager.

Mayor O. W. Ribble said that the commission will meet when the committee is ready to report. Members of the committee said they had not completed their work last night, but they may finish today.

Caution By Officials

The garbage department employes who refused to work Saturday returned to their jobs Monday after being cautioned by the city manager and the health officer that no promises were made to them concerning what the commission might do in connection with their wages. The city manager told them further that he did not want any man to return to work unless he intended to remain, regardless of the city commission's action.

Garbage truck drivers received approximately $145 per month and crew members approximately $135, including the cost of living bonus. They have asked an increase of $10 monthly in all wages.

Eisenhower Appeal

liberation of their homeland. Because the initial landing has been made on the soil of your country, I repeat to you with even greater emphasis my message to the peoples of other occupied countries in Western Europe. Follow the instructions of your leaders. A premature uprising of all Frenchmen may prevent you from being of maximum help to your country in the critical hour. Be patient. Prepare.

As supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary force, there is imposed on me the duty and responsibility of taking all measures necessary to the prosecution of the war. Prompt and willing obedience to the orders that I shall issue is essential. Effective civil administration of France must be provided by Frenchmen. All persons must continue in their present duties unless otherwise instructed.

Traitors To Be Removed

Those who have common cause with the enemy and so betrayed their country will be removed. As France is liberated from her oppressors, you yourselves will choose your representatives, and the government under which you wish to live.

In the course of this campaign for the final defeat of the enemy you may sustain further loss and damage. Tragic though they may be, they are part of the price of victory. I assure you that I shall do all in my power to mitigate your hardships. I know that I can count on your steadfastness now, no less than in the past.

The heroic deeds of Frenchmen who have continued their struggle against the Nazis and their Vichy satellites, in France and throughout the French empire, have been an example and an inspiration to all of us.

This landing is but the opening phase of the campaign in Western Europe. Great battles lie ahead. I call upon all who love freedom to stand with us. Keep your faith staunch—our arms are resolute — together we shall achieve victory.

Varied Weather For Attack Encountered

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—The sun broke through heavy clouds at times in the Dover Strait area this first day of the Allied invasion of Western Europe.

After a daybreak shower there was sunshine, but later banks of heavy clouds swept up from the northwest. There were further sunny periods, although the outlook was less settled.

The wind had blown fairly hard during the night, but lost some of its strength after dawn. A moderate sea was running.

It is estimated that U. S. citizens in 1942 wasted more food than was needed by the armed forces and lend-lease requirements.

France Is Again Battlefield As Allied Troops Hit Coast

munique was relased several hours after the landings were made

Nazis Have Initiative In Words

It was made known at SHAEF that the supreme command felt it necessary to yield the initiative in the war of words to the Germans in order to retain the initiative on land and keep the German high command in the dark as long as possible.

The great Allied armadas dwarfed anything yet seen on the sea.

Huge transport planes filled with paratroopers and pulling airborne troops in gliders roared over the German westwall to drop their cargos in the rear.

Berlin said that masses of Allied parachute troops bailed out over Normandy, trying to seize airfields.

Just before taking off in the darkness the paratroops were wished godspeed by the lanky Kansas supreme commander, Gen. Eisenhower.

He was accompanied by several other of his commanders and his face was tense but confident as he strode down the long lines of fighting men.

Thousands Of Planes In Action

All night long London and England resounded to the roar of thousands of airplanes, some carrying bombs, some carrying men. Returning RAF bombers met big fleets of Flying Fortresses on their way out.

The forces thrown into operation were by far the greatest ever used in an amphibious operation. They had to be. An estimated million German troops waited in their fortifications for the great onslaught under crack Nazi field marshals, Runstedt and Rommel.

It was reported earlier this week that Adolf Hitler himself had a special train ready to rush him to France to take over personal command as he did on the east front.

Rommel Probably Main Tactician

Despite these reports Allied military men expected Rommel to be the main tactician on German defense but on the Allied side were the team of Eisenhower and Montgomery—the men who chased Rommel from Africa."

Although amphibious attacks are the most difficult in war, a quiet feeling of confidence characterized the Allied generals.

Just what element of surprise, if any, the landing troops achieved was not immediately announced by supreme headquarters. There was no chance to hide the great convoys with only about five hours darkness on the channel.

Correspondents With Great Fleet

On several occasions thousands of troops, even with correspondents abroad, sailed out in great fleets to almost within shell range of German defenses in Europe as though they were going to attack while Nazi reconnaissance planes closely checked convoys.

These feints have been carrie dout on widely separated points.

The supreme command made no bones about its intention to attack but the surprise was that the Germans did not know where the main blow was coming.

In four previous big amphibious landings to date the Allies obtained tactical surprise three times—at Anzio, Sicily, and North Africa. At Salerno the Germans guessed the landing spot and were waiting.

During the 48 hours previous to the landings RAF and American bomber fleets dropped a stupendous tonnage of bombs on the West Wall's defenders.

Todt Fortifications Turn To Flames

A canopy of American and British bombers and fighters turned the Todt fortifications on which Hitler had pinned his hopes into a jumping, jagged mass of flames.

On the fringes of the attack big gray battlewagons of the sea slipped through the channel waters, awaiting any challenge from the battered Nazi fleet.

The western front opening climaxed years of patient preparation by the top military minds of America and Britain, and hard work in factors and munitions plants by millions of Americans and Britons.

The plan of attack was the same which General Eisenhower had when he came to England in June, 1942, but which was shelved during the improvised North African operation.

This morning the sweat and toil of the factory workers of America and Britain, and the cool planning of the military men of both continents has proved its worth since Pearl Harbor was in the hands of the fighting men of the United Nations.

What success they would meet no one could say with certainty.

No Such Attempt Ever Made Before

No such attempt has been made in warfare before on such a huge scale—to storm a continent from the sea against fixed defenses.

Eisenhower and the Supreme Allied staff had left as little as possible to chance.

Several weeks ago all the air forces in the United Kingdom were placed under the strategic command of SHAEF to pave the way for the landings.

The Strategic Air forces under Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz were assigned the task of smashing the German aerial reserves by bombing aircraft factories deep in Germany. Theirs was the job of making the Nazi Air force's once mighty fleet incapable of sustained effort against our ground forces. The Fortresses and Liberators also were given the task of breaking up the rail system of Western France.

RAF Targets Are Railroads

The RAF under Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris was given a similar order, only its primary targets were railroads.

The Ninth Air force under Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, along with the Second RAF Tactical Air force, was assigned selected targets along the West Wall itself.

The Allies did not hope to knock out everything from the air, but to cripple and hamper German troop movements.

This morning a shattering barrage such as reduced the defenders of the Mediterranean island of Pantelleria last summer was laid down by the combined air forces.

Naval Warships Add Their Part

Added to this barrage was the thunder of naval warships off the coast behind the advancing naval craft. The Royal Navy had been waiting for months for this moment, while light and heavy units of the American Navy quietly gathered in British harbors for the same task.

The American coast guard was there, too, manning landing craft, transports and rescue ships. A small number of American Army planes also took part.

In the landing craft were men who knew the beaches on which they were to land like the back of their hands. For months in English camps they had drilled down to the finest details for their task. They had been formed into combat teams, some of a dozen men, some of several thousand.

Don't Let Germans Fool You; Rely On Allied Reports!

WASHINGTON, June 6. (UP)—Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, today warned the American public that the German radio may be trying to build up a reputation for accuracy in their news reports of the invasion so "they can put one over on the Allies later."

Davis asked Americans to remember that "Mr. Goebbels is in business for his health—and not for theirs."

Rely On Allied News!

"The enemy radio is broadcasting reports in their own interests and not ours," the OWI chief said. "What they have said thus far may be entirely true. I don't know because I haven't been following it but the only information on the development of the invasion that can be relied on will be issued by Allied headquarters.

"The Germans may be trying to build up the reputation for accuracy during the early period of the invasion so that they can put one over later."

Davis, sitting at his desk in rolled-up shirtsleeves, listened to Gen. Eisenhower's message to the European people and commented on the fine radio voice of the invasion chief.

Davis had arrived at his office shortly after midnight.

King Haakon Speaks To Norway Patriots

Allies In Deadly Pursuit Of Battered Nazi Hordes

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Fanning out fast north and west from liberated and rejoicing Rome, Allied armies are in fast and deadly pursuit of battered and breathless German divisions and still intent upon annihilation of the enemy in the field.

SIMPSON

Far ahead roved the Allied air attack. Bombs fell upon critical rail yards even north and east of the Livorno (Leghorn) - Florence-Rimini short line nearly 150 miles above Rome, for which the Germans are presumably racing in desperate flight. There is no other apparent strong natural front of limited length below that peninsular waist-line position where more than Nazi delaying rear-guard action seemed probable.

Only Two Routes Open

Only two escape routes along the Tiber estuary were still open to the Germans. Highway No. 1 and Rome-Liverno railroad converge north of the Tiber to follow the coast line most of the way. Both are under Allied naval gunfire as well as in close reach of Allied bombers.

It is east and northeast of Rome, however, that the main Allied entrapment effort seems slated. Loss of the Rome rail and hub road serving the German divisions deployed across the peninsula to the east and southeast has placed them in a critical position. There is no estimate of the number of German troops in the mountain bulge to Castel De Sangro in the depths of the high Apennines. All of them must funnel swiftly back through the Rieti and Terni traffic gateways to the north before the Allied assault rolls up the Tiber, Nera and Velino vallies to cut them off, however, or be forced eastward for a round-about escape up the Adriatic coast to the Liverno-Rimini position.

Allies Nearer Than Nazis

The joined Fifth and Eighth armies in the upper reaches of the Sacco valley are in a position to drive northeastward against both the Rieti and Terni key junctions.

Those Allied spearheads of entrapment have less than 40 miles, air line to go through flat or rolling foothill country to reach either objective in comparison to the 75 miles German forces still in the Castel De Sangro to the southeast must travel to escape.

There can be little doubt that the Allied break-through up the Via Casilina to reach Rome came so swiftly and with such great power that it caught the German command in Italy napping.

Nazi 14th About Out

General Clark's remarks in Rome to his Fifth Army officers and trops, indicate his belief that the Nazi 14th army is no longer capable of sustained major action. It is 14th Army elements that are in momentary danger of being completely cut off in the Tiber delta to finish its disintegration.

Part of the Nazi 10th Army has seen little real action in the present campaign, however. That portion of it formerly holding the line from Cassino to the Adriatic coast below Pescara has been virtually idle since its limited withdrawal from the Sangro bulge just before the Allied master offensive from Cassino to the sea was launched.

New President For Tech To Be Studied In Meeting Today

The selection of a president for Texas Technological college will be discussed for the first time officially at a meeting of the directors of the college in Fort Worth today. The resignation of President Clifford B. Jones was accepted with the boards regrets in mid-April.

Members of a four-man committee of the board have been discussing presidential possibilities since Doctor Jones' resignation, but there has been no full meeting of that committee, or of the directorate as a whole, since it became certain that a new president must be found. Members of the committee charged with investigating possible selections are Board Chairman Charles Thompson, of Colorado City; Mark McGee, Fort Worth; C. E. Weymouth, Amarillo, and A. G. (Pat) Mayse, of Paris.

At today's Fort Worth meeting, board members hope to see in person several men whose names have frequently cropped up as possible successors to Doctor Jones. Among those expected to confer with the board are Lt. Col. E. J. (Jody) Howell, on leave as registrar of Texas A&M college and stationed in a Louisiana Army camp; Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso; Dr. Law Sone, president of Texas Wesleyan college, Fort Worth; Dr. J. C. Dolley, professor of economics at University of Texas and an advisor to the Dallas District Federal Reserve board, and Dr. L. H. Moore, of the faculty of North Texas State Teachers college.

No information was forthcoming from officials sources Monday regarding how many others might be interviewed by the college directorate or how many of the men expected might be interested in the post.

The board will look after various matters of routine business at the meeting today, winding up the day's work with the presidential discussions. President Jones, who has agreed to remain at his post until a successor is named—after which he shall become Texas Tech's president emeritus—left by train Monday to attend the session.
