Farm Federations Record Opposition To Moody Proposal

Federated Agricultural Association of State Frown On Project Offered By Governor's Committee

Favor Bond Issue

Sheep and Goat Men, Cattle Men, Cotton Men and Wheat Men Hold Conference Friday In Austin

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Dec. 14.—A state highway program substituting the one adopted recently by Governor Moody's advisory committee of 31, will be offered to the 41st legislature by the Texas Federated Agricultural association, composed of the heads of agricultural producers organizations to the state, and said to represent 100,000 farmers.

This was decided on at a meeting of the association today. The substitute plan, in the form of proposed legislation, will be drawn up soon by the presidents of four constituent organizations of the agricultural association. They are the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association, the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, the Texas Wheat Growers association and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

R. M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi, president of the last named organization and to the main body, said the substitute plan will be based on the principle of the state road bond issue plan, which was passed in 1925. Kleberg said his association does not think the Moody committee program has "gone far enough" in the offering bond plan to realize the possibilities of relief in it for farmers who are already faced with competing local bond issues.

Coolidge As Senator Is Possible, Stewart Says

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and The Avalanche
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—No one in Washington is strong enough to expect Calvin Coolidge to tell, a split second in advance, what he means to do with himself after March 4 next.

That he intends to go back to Northampton to live is assumed from the fact that he has bespoken a post presidential residence there.

However, it is a very little concerning his future activities. He is not deemed likely to vegetate. Work is exceedingly necessary to him, as all who have known him in the White House must realize. Leisure haunts him. True, he did say something once

The Woman's Day
By Allene Sumner

Little Gloria Caruso has already been given more than a million dollars royalty money from the records of her famous father. Enrico Caruso's mother is watching her small daughter's throat as closely as her rights to her father's money. It's rather possible that if given her choice she would prefer Gloria to really have her father's voice. As many say she has, than to be able heir to his fortune—not only because such a throat is a fortune but because it would be a real and immortal continuation of Caruso himself. Dorothy Caruso's more or less recent biography of her husband rather indicates that she would like that immortality in their daughter.

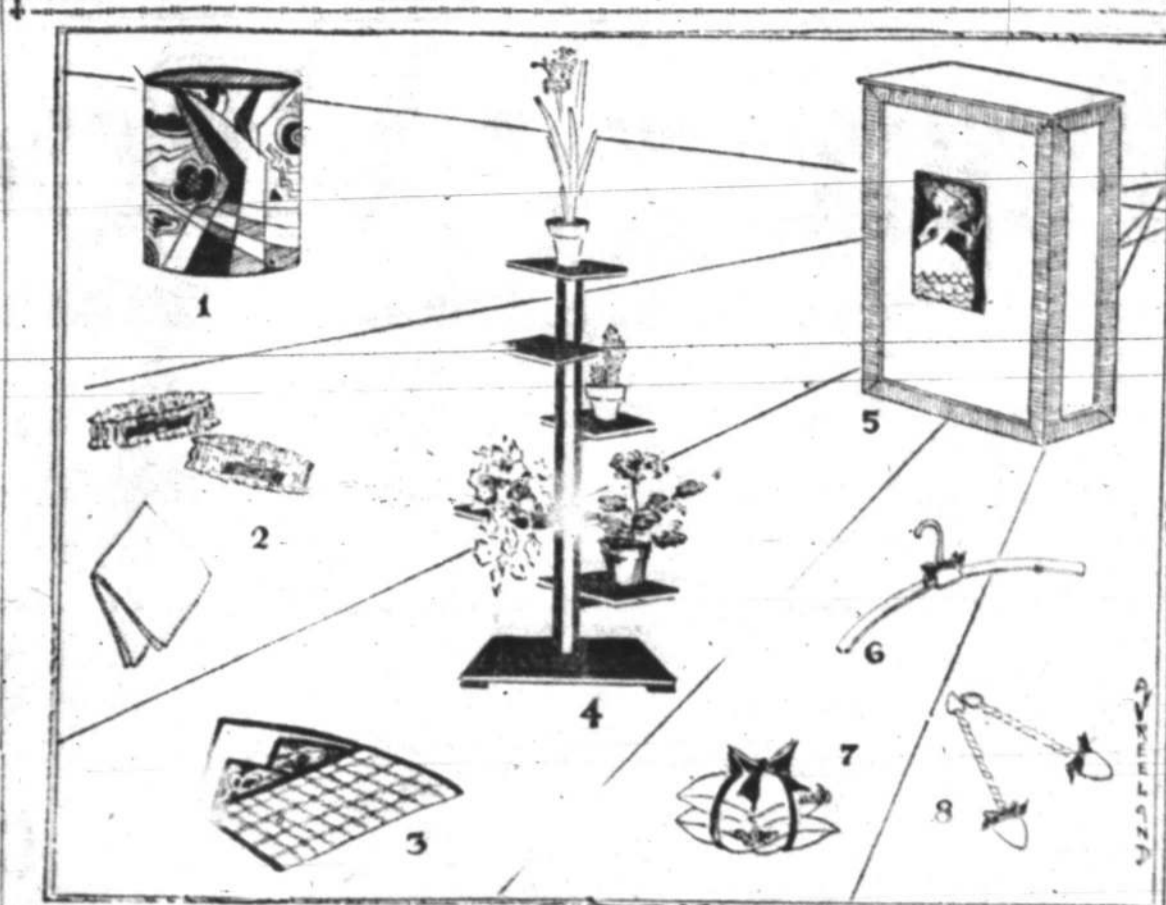

POOR WENCH!
A German kitchen wench posed as "Princess Margareta of Prussia" cashed phony checks right and left, charged bills everywhere, and really lived like a princess for weeks before caught and given a two-year jail sentence. Maybe it was worth it. Here's hoping!

WOMEN ON ZEP
The Graf Zeppelin is booked for a North Pole trip in the spring of 1930, according to Commander Byrd. Here's wishing that literally hundreds of women have clamored for the chance to go as cooks and chambermaids and newspaper reporters and biologists and everything that such an expedition demands. And here's wishing that not one shall get on, even though her qualifications are exactly as imposing and more so than those of male competitors for the berth.

We talk about the modern woman and the modern woman, but the first analysis she has to go through is hard to cash in on our own capacities as her mother and grandmother did.

WHAT OF IT?
Charges that communism is being taught in the schools of the country provoked a heated battle at the annual convention of the American Federation of La-

Children's Fingers Design Presents of Merit

There is wide variety in the gifts little hands can make, which include (1) a decorative waste basket; (2) fancy garters and a colorfully edged linen hanky; (3) oil cloth stove holders in an oil cloth case; (4) modernistic flower stand; (5) paste board box covered decoratively to hold Sister's finery; (6) covered clothes hanger, with sash attached; (7) lavender sachets for Grandmother, tied with royal purple ribbon and (8) party shoe trees, with decorative bows.

bor. Several colleges were mentioned by name for the inclusion of communism in the curriculum. And what of it? Personally, whatever my convictions on the worth or worthlessness of communism, anarchy, socialism, or any ism, I certainly would not attend any institution of learning which insisted that I be kept in ignorance of theories and philosophies which the school believed were not worth while.

HOW LONG SINCE?
How long since schools have sponsored the worth of every philosophy, every scheme of logic, every social panacea, every economic scheme taught on the campus? Education trains a mind to be capable of dealing with facts and sifting the dross. Why should communism be taught, as well as the difference between the republicans and democratic parties?

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Young America today needs a renaissance of the real Christmas spirit. That evaluates gifts not by their cost, but their heart value. Instead of spending so lavishly that the family budget collapses, children should be encouraged to create their own little gifts. They will enjoy using their hands to make father, mother, grandmother, sisters, and brothers presents. And, giving of themselves, they will taste the joy of the olden Christmas days when it really was more blessed to give than to receive.

Little To's "Can Do"
There are literally hundreds of presents for children to make. Even little kindergarten tots can make favors for the Christmas tree that would delight mother. Little nut dishes, bags of candy, book markers, place cards, and so on. Their share can be to string the cranberries for the tree or the turkey's necklace. The smallest child's heart can be warmed to a Christmas glow by being allowed to participate.

For the little girl or boy in the first few grades of school there is wide choice in home-made gifts. If pottery, basket making, weaving and sewing are taught in school, there can be candlesticks for mother, or a basket for sewing, or letters, little rug to stand under the lamp or a bread board. They can make colorful door-stops by pasting decorative crepe paper over bricks and shellacing them, covering them with paper, or heavy upholstery or merely painting them gaudy colors. Wash cloths can be edged with color or initialed.

For children over eight there are marble bags, bean bags, and softie playthings they can make for each other. Or doll clothes, little play aprons or other bits of sewing if the recipient is a little girl. For younger children they can make bibs of oil cloth, edged in color, padded backs of colorful ads pasted on colored sash, can mend and repair old toys—to look like new or even make and gift rag dolls, dogs or other toys.

For grown-ups gifts little Master and Miss 8-14 can do any of the following: paint coffee, tea and sugar canisters bright blue, pink or yellow to fit into the kitchen's color scheme; make a modernistic flower stand at school and paint it or paint one bought in the rough; paint little patent clothes pins the color of the bedrooms to be used to hold back the curtains at night; make soft cushions, holders to be used at the kitchen stove, bridge sets, luncheon cloths, needle cases, laundry bags, cover ten cent waste baskets with decorative crepe paper to live in the corner of father's room or actually make such little pieces as bread boards, book racks or foot stools.

Variety For Older Ones
Older children, both boys and girls, can make a tremendous variety of things. Lingerie, an oil cloth cover for the cook book, a decorative cover for books one reads going to and from work, shopping bags, couch covers and daily things for the wardrobe are among the girls' choices.

Boys can make lamp shades, magazine stands or actually make things or a set of trays for Sunday night suppers a sewing rack for Mother, a shoe-shine box for Dad, a piece of colorful pottery, picture frames and a wide variety of other useful and pretty things. To be sure it is more trouble for Mother when children make their presents. But, considering the real joy they get from it, the larger view of the Christmas spirit that is theirs because of their love ideas, and above all the saving for the whole family when children grow up making their gifts, it seems time well spent on Mother's part.

How to Achieve Beauty

Most mouth habits are nervous tricks that we are infinitely better off without. I make this observation from my certain knowledge that indulgence in "nerves" tends to make the condition more firmly rooted and difficult to correct.
So, for the sake of your own peace, do try your best to control the habits that simply ruin the good looks of your mouth.
How often I have seen a nicely mannered, nicely groomed woman biting away at her lips in a manner that seemed to me nothing short of cannibalistic! And how much I regretted the beauty of line and texture she was sacrificing to a nervous habit!

Do stop to think once in a while of the simple and absolute fact that dry, cracking, unpleasant looking lips come almost entirely from bad habits and not a natural source.
Setting the jaws, pursing the lips, passing your tongue over your lips—they are all habits that menace mouth beauty. Set a guard on your actions. If you don't the time will come when you pay for your carelessness in prominent lines, wrinkles and swollen lips and a dozen other results of mouth maltreatment.
In closing let me say just a few words about the cigarette habit. I am modern and I am continental. So, of course you realize that the way an old story to me while it was a sign of women cigarette smoking still a novelty in America. I have also had time to observe certain indisputable facts about the habit. Such facts, for instance, as stained teeth, and lips which lose their firmness from being habitually closed over a cigarette. Mind you, I am not making smoking a moral issue of smoking. But from the beauty standpoint—truly, do you think it pays to sacrifice beauty to a not-too-attractive habit?

Abilene And Port Arthur Win Way To Finals In Interscholastic League

Phelps Goes Wild To Lead Abilene To 20-6 Victory

Abilene held to a 7-6 lead through the first three periods, unassisted an offensive in the fourth round that put across two touchdowns and fully rewarded the 7,500 spectators who had gathered to witness the fourth state semi-final game in which these same teams have battled.

Phelps scored the first touchdown of the game in the initial period with an 11-yard carry around end. Smith booted extra point. The visitors came back in the second period to score on an end-around play from the six-yard line, Peyton going over. Goal was missed.

Phelps Stars
Early in the fourth quarter Phelps slipped a 13-yard pass to Salkeld and the Eagle captain raced 20 yards for his team's second touchdown. Two minutes later Phelps slipped through a hole at left guard, twisted by the secondary defense and romped 75 yards down the sideline for the score. The galloping Red Head was aided in his brilliant run by Kincaid, who cut down the safety man.

Paavo Nurmi Due To Arrive Today

Celebrated Finn Expected To Remain An Amateur For Time Being; Various Predictions Made

By ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi is due in tomorrow but the boys who have been scanning the newspapers for the celebrated Finn won't believe it until they see him. Even then it may not be possible to fight away to determine whether Nurmi intends to run here as an amateur, professional or perhaps try both in the order named. Paavo has always had a habit of keeping his affairs to himself and there is no reason to suppose he had become any more communicative than before, when he did little or nothing, but a lot of eloquent foot-racing.

Wholesalers And Grocers Winners

Wholesalers and Piggy Wiggy emerged the winners of games played last night in the City Basketball League. Taking the lead at the outset, the Wholesalers trounced the Avalanche-Journal five by the score of 23 to 12 and the Piggy Wiggy five nosed out Montgomery Ward, 15 to 14.

It was the first contest won by the Grocers and the second lost by the newspapermen. Piggy Wiggy had previously lost to the Wholesalers and the Teachers. The Avalanche-Journal quintet were nosed out by the National Guard, 19 to 18, in their first game.

DUNDEE UNDESIRABLE
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The state athletic commission closing its book for 1928 today by electing a new secretary, training permits for next year to all boxing clubs now in good standing, and unofficially placing Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, in the "undesirable" class in California.

Strolling Down Sports Lane

With Allan Carney, Avalanche Sports Editor

If Captain Ransome Walker leaves Tech soon after the Christmas holidays as he now plans to do, the local institution will be denied the services for another year of one of the greatest backs the state has ever known and undoubtedly the outstanding athlete that ever wore a Tech uniform. Coming to Tech from State University after the football season of 1925, Walker is eligible for one more year of varsity football here, but from all indications he will enter the University of Southern California or University of Florida next year.

Walker has been the main-spring of the Matador football attack for the past three seasons and during the season just past has been the only consistent ground gainer for the Scarlet and Black aggregation. Recognized throughout the state as one of the most dangerous triple-threat backs, Walker has seldom met his peer on the college gridiron. Fast, powerful and always on the aggressive, Percy has made his presence felt in every game in which he has appeared throughout his college career.

Capable of passing the oval with uncanny accuracy and speed and equally as able at kicking, Walker has been the main power around built. His sensational runs for long which the Tech offense has been missing during the season just past, opposing teams have made him a marked individual in every game the Matadors have played. But despite the fact that he is continually watched by the enemy gridlers and handicapped by raged interference, Walker has played his game. On many occasions he has crossed the enemy goal line by outstripping his own interference and the entire opposing team.

A check-up on the individual scoring for the past season gives one an opportunity to see the part played by "Handsome Ransome" during the season just past. Scoring every touchdown registered by the Matador eleven but one, Walker ran up a total of 36 points as compared to the 47 scored by the team during the nine game season. The 11 points scored by other members of the team included a touchdown scored by Sid Knowles after a recovered fumble, a field goal by Chubby DeWitt and two points after touchdowns by DeWitt.

Walker's touchdowns were scored against Schreiner Institute, St. Edwards, T. C. U. and Canyon. He failed to register against Texas, Daniel Baker, McMurry, A. C. C. and Simmons. But even in the contests where Tech lost, he managed to get loose for long gains, oftentimes without the slightest semblance of interference. Playing with the big-time 20, Walker's performance will be boys in the East-West game on Dec. 20, closely watched by football fans of this section.

Working on the assumption that each regular in the Matador backfield is equally as capable as Walker, Tech would have scored 144 points this season if each had come up to the standard set by his captain. In have outscored their opponents by 64 points. If the other regulars in the Matadors would share had scored half as many points as Walker, Tech would have outscored their opponents by 10 points. As in most instances, however, the "H" in this case is altogether too large.

Needless to say, Walker will be sorely missed by the 1929 Matadors if he is not back in a Tech uniform next season. Filling his shoes will be the hardest task facing the Matador coaches. His successor may come from the freshman squad or from the returning varsity gridlers, but the one who is assigned the job will have a hard struggle to come anywhere near to the brilliant standard he had set.

Letter Men Are Announced At Big Banquet Staged In Honor of 1928 Lubbock High School Westerners

Galp Affair Enjoyed by A Large Gathering of Local Football Fans; Appreciation of Support Expressed

Coach Henry Frnka of Lubbock High school announced the 1928 letter men of the Westerner football squad at a banquet given in honor of the high school gridlers by Lubbock fans at the Logan Cafe last night. The announcement of the squad and the presentation of the recipients came as a fitting climax to a spirited celebration following the most successful season the locals have enjoyed in many years.

With more than fifty Lubbock football fans gathered around the banquet table in a demonstration of loyalty shown by local sportsmen during the past season, football players, coaches, business and professional men expressed with one accord their appreciation for the general cooperation manifested by all parties concerned toward the success of football in Lubbock High and pledged continued support for all years to come.

Spicy Program
Following the feast, which was served by members of the Home Ec. Club of the high school, the gathering plunged into a spicy program, which brought the major personalities of the city into action and furnished the eighty-five on hand with two hours of merriment and entertainment.
C. E. Madson, team manager, started the fireworks by going by podium and each member of the football squad with his individual characteristics. A harp trio served further to lend harmony to the affair. Sam Henry, Carl McCaslin and Cherry Luman were the accomplished musicians.

Mayor Speaks
Mayor Harley D. Woods was the first speaker of the evening. The city's chief executive spoke on "The Layman's Viewpoint of Football," pointing out the value of the game and emphasizing the desire of the average fan for clean sportsmanship and extended his thanks to the superintendent of the city, M. H. Dunn, who has made possible the successful football season just past. Lubbock has supported the Westerner in the manner in which the City of Lubbock is exemplified in the fact that we made money at every home game and lost on every game played away from home," Duncan said.

Coach Henry Frnka expressed his appreciation for the support given the club during the season and pointed out the higher ideals connected with the coaching game. "I know of no greater service one can render than that of molding the character of boys during formative years," Frnka stated. "There is a great deal more connected with the game of football than winning games."

Business Men Talk
Other local men who spoke are: Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president of the school board; Chas. A. Guy, managing editor of the Avalanche-Journal; Spencer Wells, of Hemp Hill-Wells Dry Goods Company; Neil H. Wright, local insurance agent; Judge Homer Finley; James H. Goodman; Dr. Sam G. Dunn and B. Sherrod, of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Outgoing members of the squad who spoke are: Co-captains Whacker Barton and Ernest Dowell and Horace Buckingham, center of the 1928 eleven.

Coach Frnka announced the following letter men, sixteen in number: Raymond Barton, Ernest Dowell, H. A. Castleberry, Robert Rich, Greer Frizzell, Charlie Wilson, Vance Price, Elmer Calhoun, Horace Buckingham, Milton Watkins, Ovie Teal, W. D. Lawson, Joe Powers, Moody Smith, George Pierce and Edward Pangburn.

Major-Minor Meet Fails to Mature

Majors Turn Thumbs Down On Proposal of Joint Meeting At West Baden On Jan. 10

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The American and National League club owners have played havoc with the minor leagues' hopes of formulating a reconciliation program at West Baden, Ind., January 10. Instead of lining up with the minors' proposition of a peace meeting in January, the majors, in their joint meeting here turned thumbs down on the proposal. As a result, present much debated major-minor there will be no meeting and the agreement will have to do for another year.

The minors' failure to outline a definite plan of reform at Toronto was given by the majors as the reason for deciding against sending a committee to the conference. They did give minor league proponents of the plan an opportunity to explain why there should be a conference, but when the vote was taken not a supporter of the minors could be found among the club owners.

Marshall Unable Get Started In Friday's Battle

Yellowjackets Get Synthetic Victory As Result of Penetrating Beyond 20 Yard Line-Three Times

(By Associated Press)
MARSHALL, Tex., Dec. 14.—Although fought to a scoreless tie, Coach Tom Dennis' Port Arthur Yellowjackets progressed to the finals of the state Interscholastic League football chase at the expense of the Marshall Mavericks here today.

Play In Final
As the result of today's synthetic victory, Port Arthur will clash with the Abilene Eagles in the final game next week. It was thought probable the fray would be held on a neutral field.

For the first time in twelve games this season, the Mavericks found themselves unable to get started in today's game. Their bright particular star, Ralph Murff, was held to a total of 19 yards gained from scrimmage by the fast-charging Port Arthur forwards. Two men stayed on top of him every minute and even his passes were so effectively rashed they were for the most part inane.

Mavs Threaten
The Mavs threatened in the first quarter when they reached their opponents' 10-yard line twice, but after that they were checked. They missed their best chance to score in the fourth period when Reeves took a 30-yard toss from Murff and had a clear field ahead, only to stumble and fall.

Port Arthur's heavy backs, plough through the Marshall line for constant gains all afternoon, registering 16 first downs to 4 for the locals. The Marshall line always stiffened and held when shoved into its own territory, however.

WACO, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The McGregor High team upset the dog here this afternoon in defeating the State Home team of Corsicans for the Class B bi-district title, the McGregors by a score of 7 to 6 winning the championship of sections 13 and 14.

McGregor will play Caldwell next Friday, site not yet determined.

The Nut Cracker

Many Christmas fund boxing shows are being carded here and there. Well, it has been a tough season for most of the boys.

Mickey Cochrane, Mr. Mack's catcher, toots the saxophone professionally during the winter. Inasmuch as Mr. Cochrane is one of the best salaried men in baseball, the home town sheet is perfectly justified in dragging out the headline, "Local S A A Player Makes 'Good.'"

Practically the entire freshman squad are expected back for varsity football next season. Within the ranks are a number of stars who will likely make the competition hot for candidates for the Matador eleven in 1929.

Playing the first season of freshman football for Tech, the Pledgers met three opponents, winning from the Simmons University reserve, "B" to N. M. M. I. of Rowell N. M. and playing an 18-18 tie with the Canyon Yearlings.

SUMMARY

Market down seven to ten points net. November consumption figures were not as heavy as expected and the season was marked by spurts of active trading and by losses of almost absolute inactivity. Liverpool was better than due on the expectancy of a very bullish report. Immediately after the issuance of this report the American markets sagged some ten or twelve points only to stage a recovery that carried prices within reach of Thursday's highs. The remainder of the day trading was dull and the close was around the low marks of the day. Norman Mayer & Co. wired, "Reported big western and northern interests have taken hold of market. Consumption shows large gain in spinde activity. Advising buying on dips."

New Orleans

Domestic cotton goods markets active. Spinner's takings for this week were 470,000 bales vs. 400,000 bales last year and 522,000 bales year before last. Total takings since August 1 this year 4,720,000 vs. 4,905,000 last year and 7,162,000 year before last.

Brought into sight the week ending Friday Dec. 14, 1928, 678,817 bales in 1928; 615,000 in 1925. Brought into sight for 126 days to date; 10,662,490 bales vs. 9,972,573 last year; 11,294,889 year before last and 10,894,362 the same time in 1925.

Call money dropped back to six per cent and the stock market was generally steady.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Department of Labor reports many cotton mills worked over time during December.

Stocks of cotton on shipboard: Houston 80,100 bales vs. 44,918. Galveston 101,500 bales vs. 109,800 and New Orleans 71,322 bales vs. 39,500. Total spot cotton sales: yesterday, 36,262 bales vs. 18,280; for the week, 242,322 bales vs. 86,817. Exports: all ports; today 118,779 bales vs. 62,819; for week 259,330 vs. 162,314 and for the season to date 4,117,304 bales vs. 2,410,700.

WEATHER
The weather map early showed some rain in the east but was mostly dry in other portions. At noon cloudy, the central belt was generally clear and the western belt was mostly clear. Eastern: generally fair and colder. Western: generally cloudy with possibly local rains. West Texas. Unsettled, possibly rain and colder in north and west portions Saturday.

FT. WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Dec. 14.—(U. S. D. A.)—Trade in all classes cattle ruled slow, most sales steady to lower. Butchers and low-cutters at prices about steady. Bulk of the cutters and low-cutters sold at $4.75 to $5.50. Only one car slaughter steers held up until the noon hour, these sold at $8.35. Yearlings and heifers, a few bids denoting small declines. One carlot of sausage bulls sold at $6.85, about in line with yesterday's prices. No stock or feeding cattle of consequence noted in the day's receipts.

Slaughter calves very slow, most bids showing declines of a quarter to half dollar. One car heavy slaughter calves sold to shippers at $10.00; mediums at $10.00 and $10.10. Sold prices five cents higher for good rail butchers, while truck hogs and one load of rail hogs to small killers sold 15 cents to 20 cents higher. She load of 300-pound butchers made a top of $8.75 and 2 loads of good medium butchers sold up to $8.65.

Practically all sheep and lambs for today's trade on through billing and no sales of consequence reported.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14.—(U. S. D. A.)—Opening hog trade around the 11-market circuit was slow at steady to 10 cents higher prices and on the close several points reported values weak to 15 cents lower than early. The days top of $8.80 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings were around $4,000 a decrease of $5,500 from a week ago but $2,000 more than the corresponding day last year. Chicago set the pace in the sheep market realizing strong to 25 cents higher prices on fat lambs and securing a 25 to 30 cent advance on fat ewes. Killing classes at other centers ruled steady to strong. Chicago had a top on fat lambs of $14.85; the supply approximated 26,000 as compared with 24,501 last Friday and 26,774 a year ago. Although aggregate receipts of cattle estimated at 8,900 were around 5,500 short of a week ago and 4,000 less than a year ago, trade at most points where supplies were sufficient to test market conditions ruled very slow at the weeks uneven and sharp decline; eastern dressed beef markets were in a sluggish condition with some centers showing additional declines; one load of Christmas yearling steers at Kansas City scored $17.80.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(U. S. D. A.)—Trade reports this week point to the interplay of seasonal trends, with retail business bulking larger volume has tended to taper off, while wholesale and jobbing trade kept the small specialties of a filling-in character are concerned. Industry, also, has slowed down slightly as the period of inventory-taking approaches, although in the case of the single maker of small autos a notable expansion is reported within the past few weeks. In the three divisions of production in distribution, however, the indications at most cities favor distinctly more doing than was noted a year ago, when industry, especially, was receding sharply and lack of employment tended to render buying a difficult buyout that normally. The week it may be added, has seen considerable more distributed in the form of Christmas savings funds, and this has undoubtedly been an important influence in swelling the volume of filtering down through the various sales of holiday specialties, which, divisions of trade distribution, have resulted in a slightly better trend of reports as to collections. Weekly bank clearings $14,307,842,000, an increase of 32.7 per cent over a year ago.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(U. S. D. A.)—A few violent upswings in the high-price issues enlivened a dull day on the stock market today, total sales dwindling to 3,003,500 shares. There was still little disposition to open operations until the stability of the market is more definitely tested. The drop of about $219,000,000 in brokers loans and a call money renewal rate of 7 per cent for the first time this month largely were cancelled as bullish influence by an increase of 1-8 of one per cent in the bankers acceptance buying rate, and the continued firmness of time money. Call money again dropped to 6 per cent during the session, and was available in the outside market at 5 1-2.

The abundant supply of call money was attributed to the shifting of balances incident to the treasury refinancing, and nothing developed to change the prospects for extraordinarily tight money over the holidays. Wall Street talked of the possibility of a 30 per cent rate before January 1. The week's new bond offerings dropped off to about $51,000,000 from nearly $129,000,000 last week, but there were several large stock offerings. Weekly trade and industrial reviews reported that the December inventory-taking slump in industry is comparatively slight, and that the holiday trade is developing in highly satisfactory fashion. The steel industry has maintained unexpectedly brisk activity, but the Bethlehem Steel Co., announced that the current prices for bars, plates and structural shapes will prevail for first quarter delivery. Pennsylvania crude oil prices were advanced 25 cents.

Radio again fluctuated wildly, leaping to 352 1-2, up about 44 points, and closing at 350. It was nearly 27 points in Victor Talking Machine. Rumors were rife that the projected combination of Radio and Victor would be announced shortly. Radio generally made good headway, Chicago Great Western touching another new peak at 25. American Radiator shot up about 9 points and closed more than 3 higher on disclosure of negotiations to acquire Standard Sanitary Manufacturing, which gained about 2 points.

Houston oil was again a weak spot, recording a new low at 79, off 13 points, and closing at 84 1-2. Houston earnings this year are less than half its earnings of 1927. National Tea dropped 20 points, and closed 13 off, and Philadelphia Company lost nearly 15. Continued heaviness of the old line favorites tended to discourage trading. General Motors touched 182 3-4, off more than 3 points, and a new low for the current month. The American Can was heavy, ment. U. S. Steel, General Electric, In the commodities, cotton improved about 50 cents a bale on bullish November consumption report, while grains were firm in dull trading. Foreign exchanges were quiet and steady.

West Texas Buses Change Schedules

Three Routes Change Rates And Time; Lubbock Gets New Lines In Territory; Concho Reduces Fare

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Dec. 14.—Reduction in fares on three routes and changes in schedule of motor buses operating in West Texas were authorized today by the railroad commission, according to Mark Marshall, director of the motor bus division. Applications of the Concho Coaches to reduce fares 15 per cent on the route between Sweetwater and Stamford and of Frank Robinson and W. B. Black to cut $1 from the through rate on the Cisco-Eastland-Waco line were approved. A fare reduction also was authorized between Vernon and Plainview. Black was authorized to establish through service between Cisco and Waco. Changes in schedules were authorized on lines between Abilene and Ballinger; Odessa and McKinney; McKinney and Midland; Big Spring and Pecos; Big Spring and Lubbock; Lubbock and Roswell, N. M., and Eastland and Dublin. The West Texas Coaches with-

Seventy-five Thousand Coins Are Taken In Laredo As Two Men Were Transferring It to a Bank

(By Associated Press)
LAREDO, Dec. 14.—Seventy-five thousand gold pesos, the largest seizure in the history of the United States customs office here, were seized today when officers arrested two men said to have been transferring the gold from an automobile to a bank. Officers said they believed the gold had been brought across the Rio Grande at Eagle Pass. They held the two men, asserting they operated in Eagle Pass and San Luis Potosi. The transfer to the bank was being made after banking hours. No charges were filed. The largest seizure of gold heretofore had been 53,000 pesos.

Conference For Considering Purchase Of Oklahoma-Texas Toll Bridges Set For Dec. 20th In Dallas; Law Likely

Highway and Legal Agents Of Two States Gather To Rule On Cases; War Department Fails to Order

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Dec. 14.—The question of whether Texas and Oklahoma will try to buy private toll bridges spanning the Red River between the two states, or build new free bridges and reroute the highways to them, may be decided at a conference called for Dallas, December 20, between representatives of the legal and highway departments of the states. A bill to accomplish one of these two objectives is to be introduced in the Oklahoma legislature and similar legislation may be recommended to the Texas lawmakers, convening here in January. Profits Are Enormous Recent hearings conducted by the federal war department on the operation of Red River toll bridges developed evidence of what is regarded at least by the Texas attorney general's department, "enormous" profits. The war department promised to rule in November whether the tolls would be reduced as proposed, but the ruling has not been received here yet. Attorney General Claude Pollard, his assistant, R. M. Tilley, State Highway Engineer Gib Gilchrist and Bridge Engineer Wickline, plan to represent Texas at the Dallas conference.

A view of Fort Chastition, Chile, which is in the area devastated by the earthquake that recently shook the South American country. More than 50 have been killed and 100 injured in this city alone, which is one of the scheduled stops of President-elect Herbert Hoover on his tour of South America.

Several Hundred Visit Opening of Mattress Factory

Between 500 and 600 people crowded into the plant of the Direct Mattress company, 1717 Avenue H Friday night for the formal opening of the concern's newly-equipped factory, many from surrounding towns and communities of the South Plains being among those present. W. W. Pool, of Dallas, head of the firm, which operates nine plants in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, with headquarters at Dallas, was here for the opening and expressed decided pleasure at the "rowd" and the business received from the South Plains territory during the past few months, which made possible the recently added addition of building space and equipment. The plant in Lubbock now is as well equipped as the Dallas plant, with a capacity of manufacturing about 65 mattresses per day. The building is 25 by 115 feet, with its machinery representing an investment of approximately $20,000. The factory specializes in re-making old mattresses for individuals and manufacturing a line of mattresses and quilt batts, keeping six trucks busy throughout this territory and employing 14 people.

Dr. Aiken Issues Warning to Meat Peddlers In City

Meat peddlers, who of late have become quite numerous, along with hog-killing weather, should take the precaution to have all meats they sell inspected before offering it for sale, in accordance with the city sanitary ordinances, was the statement of Dr. Y. J. Aiken, city health officer, Friday afternoon. "Many people who have freshly killed meat to sell, do not know that they are violating the law in selling their meat without first having it inspected," Dr. Aiken said. "Before placing the meat on the local market, they should consult the city health department." Dr. Aiken explained that the city's ordinance was not made for the purpose of fining sellers of meat, but to protect the health of the people in Lubbock, by taking the necessary precaution of thorough inspection of all food stuffs, before they are offered to the citizenship for sale.

Pomerene Asks for Trial of Fall Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Atlee Pomerene government special counsel in the oil cases, and U. S. Attorney LEO A. ROVER today asked the district supreme court to set for trial on next January 14 the bribery charge against Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary. Fall is alleged to have received from Edward L. Doherty, oil magnate of Los Angeles, $100,000 to influence Fall in leasing the naval oil reserves at Elk Hills to one of Doherty's companies.

Flowered Chiffon

Flowers may have ceased to bloom in the gardens, but they are glowing indoors on the lovely printed dresses that are so popular. Miss Norma Talmadge, famous screen star, is exquisite in a dinner dress of flowered chiffon in flame and green-poppo design. The tight fitting bodice is plain in the back and shirred down the front, being caught at the neck with a crystal ornament. The skirt is short and softly gathered in front, the back plain with the upper tier of chiffon curving up slightly and forming a wide sash over the hips, ending in a bow in front. Softly draped circular panels fall almost to the floor on either side. With this dress Miss Talmadge wears gold kid slippers and a topaz set consisting of necklace, earrings, bracelet and ring. The necklace consists of a square-cut center topaz with oblong gems on either side, all set in filigree gold in delicate leaf design. The bracelet and ring have one long topaz each, surrounded by pearls. The earrings are pear-shaped topaz.

Olton Baptists To Build Church

(Special To The Avalanche)
OLTON, Dec. 14.—The Baptist of Olton have voted to build a new church. The growth of this organization has been so great that the present building is too small. The new edifice will be of the basement type with the intention of building a modern building above it. The basement floor will be 74 by 48, and eight feet above the ground. It will accommodate eleven class rooms. The construction of steel brick and concrete and will cost about $8,000. Plans have been arranged whereby the financing will be easily accomplished.

TEXAS TECH TOPICS

By Margaret Turner

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT TECH
There will be a tradition established at the symposium tonight when the first program will be given to further the spirit of Christmas on the Tech campus. Differing with the customary evening of a tableau depicting scenes of the Nativity and the singing of carols, the entertainment this year includes a procession of one hundred and thirty girls bearing lamps and singing, an address on the "Spirit of Christmas" by Dr. Paul W. Horn, a pantomime, "The Doctor of Lenses Folk," and mass singing of carols.

MISS WESTBROOK LECTURES
Modern American negro poetry was the subject discussed by Miss Mary Hope Westbrook at the regular meeting of the Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity, Mrs. Mary Doak was hostess to the club at her home 2222.

CONVOCATION IS CALLED
A special convocation is called at 1 o'clock today for all Tech students. The girls are to meet at the gymnasium. Freshman boys in Room 202, and upperclassmen in Room 220. The convocation is called by Dean James M. Gordon, and Dean Mary Doak.

MEETING OF HOUSE MOTHERS
The usual term meeting of Tech house mothers was held in a lecture room of the administration building December 12. There was a good attendance and an interesting discussion conducted by Dean Doak.

STUDENTS RECEIVE CHRISTMAS GREETING
All Tech students are requested to call at the college post office before December 17 in order to receive Christmas cards sent to them by Doctor Horn in the name of the college. They are green with a print of the archway of the administration building and one tower. Greetings of the Yuletide season, and the president's name are printed under the view of the building.

Long Feud Closes Brothers Die In Row Over Girl

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(P)—A long-standing feud between two brothers over a girl friend ended today in murder and suicide.
The brothers, Robert Ricker, 43, and William, 39, made their home with two sisters in White-stone, Long Island, and, according to the story the sisters told the police they had been quarreling thirteen years over a girl whose affections William ac-cused his brother of alienating while he was in France.
Today when William returned home the quarrel resumed and the sisters fearing violence hurried for the police. When they arrived they found Wil-liam unconscious on the floor with two bullet wounds. Robert his brother had threatened his admitted the shooting and said under arrest and both were re-lieved. He collapsed when placed moved to a hospital. There it was found Robert had taken poison. Both died shortly after being admitted.
The girl, whose affections caused the feud, married another man nine years ago.

to be held by the Y. W. C. A. today in the same building in which the sale was conducted last week. The girls are making last minute calls for old clothing to be brought to the building, 1008 Main throughout the day as the sale continues until 6 o'clock.

FREED FROM THE MEDICINE HABIT

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought welcome relief

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in Mrs. Van Horn's letter below. She wrote us, voluntarily, to express her appreciation for the wonderful results ALL-BRAN brought.

"I feel as if I must write you a few lines to let you know what a wonder food your ALL-BRAN is and what it has done for me and many others I have told about it. I have been using it for one year, and I was taking medicine every three or four days. Now I never take any more thanks to ALL-BRAN. I can't praise it too much."

Don't let constipation sap your health and strength. Headaches, dizziness, bloated conditions are only a few of the evils it causes. It is responsible for more than forty serious diseases.

Guard against it—now. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—served with every meal. ALL-BRAN is a ready-to-eat cereal—100% bran. Delicious and healthful with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Keeps on package. Sold by all gro-cers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Bystander learns that war heroes whose names and pictures may be used for advertising this or that commodity are finding their fame is not entirely their own.

Whether there is any law or regulation to prevent a retired regular army officer, say, for example, a general, who had achieved fame in France commanding an army or a corps or a battle division of historic victories, from contracting for the use of his name in advertising matter is at least doubtful.

Letters of protest reached the War Department at intervals. So far as this writer knows, the department authorities have never looked into the legal aspects of the matter.

Gossip has it that in one case the picture of such an officer, and a high ranker at that, appeared in colorful magazine advertising of a particular brand of smokes.

CLEAN POLITICS When Louie Ludlow, representative-elect from the Seventh Indiana, got back to add a few months to his quarter century in the press gallery before he takes office, his press colleague and fellow Hoosier, Mark Thielothly, eight years secretary to Vice President Marshall, greeted him with serious mien.

"Your victory, Louie," he said, "was due, I am sure, to the forthright position you took on the burning issues of the campaign."

"Think so, Mark?" said Louie, certain something was coming, but not what.

"Yes, I read one of your campaign speeches clear through."

Your Health LIFE'S PEAK SOMEWHERE BETWEEN AGES OF 30-50 EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles on "Growing Old Gracefully." Tomorrow: Rejuvenation.

By DR. MORRIS FISHER Editor Journal of the American Medical Association Editor Journal of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In a scientific consideration of the changes that take place in the human body during the aging process, Dr. Alfred S. Warthin finds that the peak in the level plateau of years between 30 and 50.

It is not possible to say in what year the peak is reached, because the processes of life are gradual and there is a complicated interlocking of activities.

The peak is that point at which the vital energies make use of the food taken into the body to run and repair the machine without adding to its substance.

There is usually an increase in weight for both sexes during the period from 35 to 40, which is due to an increase in the storage of fat resulting from the disproportion between the fuel taken in and the fuel consumed.

It is interesting also that at this time the greatest activity is shown by the creative and productive actions of mankind.

In analyzing human advance, Doctor Warthin is convinced that the success of life, the career in business or profession, the fullest mental and spiritual development and happiness are closely related to and dependent on the management of life during the period between 35 and 45 years of age.

After that period has passed, the human being begins to pass through the regressive periods of senescence and old age. Changes take place in the body, beginning gradually and insidiously about 45 years of age and continuing until the ages of 65 and 70.

Everyone knows the chief conditions associated with this period. The teeth begin to decay and demand more dentistry; the eyes fail, so that glasses are required; the hearing begins to lose its acuteness; after 65 the memory weakens, and is extremely poor after 70 in most cases.

After 60 years of age the appetite becomes less and the digestion is not infrequently disturbed. The pulse becomes slower and the blood pressure somewhat higher.

Breathing changes during life from a rate of 20 per minute in the new-born to 18 per minute in maturity and to 16 or lower in the very old.

As one grows old the hair becomes gray and most often with the graying is the development of senile wrinkles in the nose, ears and eyebrows. The skin tends to become less elastic and to wrinkle.

Laughs JUST AS GOOD "Do you keep silkoine?" asked a young wife of a Hiawatha merchant, as the World reports it.

devastated. Millions of civilians, principally women and children, faced starvation. The Belgium Relief enterprise was organized, and Herbert Hoover was chosen as the man best fitted to direct its activities.

This presented him a difficult choice. He was recognized as a great administrative mining engineer. The world was looking to him for number one first.

To accept the directorship of the Belgian relief meant the sacrifice of all that most of us regard as of paramount importance in life, personal material success. Presented with such an alternative most of us would have chosen the personal fortune.

Herbert Hoover chose otherwise, however, to the benefit of the war stricken people of Europe. The indirect results of that choice has been success far greater than he probably ever dared to dream. Today he occupies the greatest position in the world and has received the highest honor it is within the power of the American people to bestow.

Oft times we serve ourselves best when we serve others.

PRESS COMMENT

SUSPICIOUS GOODS Salesmanship methods throughout the United States are very similar. Everywhere the fly-by-night, loquacious peddler is always able to make a sale.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER XLIII "Why," Jerry stammered, "you know... Alister's father... it would get him into trouble..."

His father's friends would see your picture," Jerry pointed out. "And I don't think Alister would like you to use his name," she added, turning back to Mr. Weimer.

He nodded. "I guess you'd better not make the boy see. Sid," he said to his publicist man, "put it across. The determined Sid protested.

"I think the true story is more thrilling than any you could invent," Evelyn stated, and Jerry threw her a grateful glance.

"It's a good thing," she said, "that you're coming through safely by that makes it so compelling." Evelyn went on, "Any man who can pilot an airplane through a storm and then bring it down safely with a crippled engine must be a wonderful pilot. I think he ought to be given proper credit."

Mr. Weimer tapped the end of a gold pencil against his teeth.

The press agent asked, "Why don't you write it up?" He asked, meaning to be sarcastic. "I'd like to help you if you're really willing," Evelyn answered untroubled.

The story got into the front pages of the morning newspapers. Jerry devoured it eagerly and knew that Evelyn had been as good as her word.

"I like that Dan Harvey," Evelyn had said to her publicist man, "with which Evelyn had managed to see that Dan received his just share of praise in spite of the press agent's efforts to try to have Jerry played up."

Jerry did not know how she had accomplished this... she was awfully aware, however, that Evelyn could assert a rare charm when she wished.

Jerry had needed something like this to buoy her spirits. The fact that she couldn't go on in the show that night, not even in the chorus had had a depressing influence upon her... and Dan hadn't communicated with her. She had waited a long time before retiring.

HIGH FLIGHT

1728 by RUTH NEWBY GROVES "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" LOVE FOR TWO

THIS HAS HAPPENED Fate introduces LEONIE RAY, a shop girl to ALESTER CARSTAIRS when he crashes his airplane into the camp she is sharing with her roommate, MYRTLE.

Unable to buy a gown for a party he has invited her to, Jerry slips one from the store where she works but it is ruined as she is discharged when she confesses.

Alester makes advances which Jerry repulses. But when he learns that she has lost her job on his account, he becomes contrite and uses his influence to get her a new one.

Rehearsals are hard, but she is befriended by EVELYN STARR, who is in love with JAEEL THANE. Evelyn gives a party at which Jael takes exception to Jerry's presence.

Angered, he gives the party away and invites LEONIE RAY to take Jerry's place. A short mention of her in the show review and promotion to a special dance number at the end of the week late Jerry. Evelyn wants her to go to Boston with her on the train, but Alester insists on driving her there.

Jerry becomes uneasy when he goes by way of Philadelphia and stops at a notorious place for a dinner party. A girl he says is a friend of his mother.

He also sees a bootlegger TRIGGER NOLAN, there and acts afraid of him. He begins to drink heavily, disregarding Jerry's pleas to hurry home. He finally gets him to start it was very dark and raining so that Jerry knew it would be impossible to get to Boston for the show opening. But Alester suddenly says, "You can fly with Dan."

But Dan says the storms are too heavy for flying. Alester prepares to fly regardless of the warning. But when Dan sees they are determined he takes the wheel and flies into the storm.

Tragedy threatens when a bolt sets fire to a plane wing, but the heavy rain smolders it and he gets the machine down in a field slightly injured. However, Dan and Jerry catch before the evening rehearsal. The press agent wants to play up the story using Alester's name, but Jerry demurs.

"You like her, don't you?" Alester wanted to know. "Indeed I do," Betty declared sincerely. "I could depend upon you to sponsor her and see that my mother knows she's acceptable."

"Why, Alester," Betty laughed, "you're talking as your father might have talked at your age. Don't you know it's the fashion to have a show girl in the family? Jerry won't need a guardian when you introduce her to our jaded young sensation hunters."

That night—Alester proposed to Jerry. It was at a party that Mr. Weinerts gave in his rooftop apartment. He had personally invited Jerry.

There were two orchestras, one at either end of a spacious ballroom. You could dance without stopping if you liked, and Jerry was crying to go just that. Alester had brought his crowd along—two girls and a young man that Jerry had met at the Kraal. She danced with the young man and some friends of Mr. Weinerts because it was her nature to be obliging.

When Alester led her out on the flagged terrace to a corner with a comfortable seat she was glad to have the opportunity to sink down on the linen cushions. She hadn't the slightest inkling of what was coming, not even when Alester put an arm around her waist. Alester always applied this caressing touch if she'd let him.

Tonight Jerry let him, because she was despondent. Dan had remained away from the opening night—a night that was an event to her. He hadn't heard the audience applaud her. He didn't care whether she went over or not.

Jerry was slipping a ring over her finger. Jerry looked down and saw that it was the emerald she had given back to him. "Let's go in and tell them we're engaged," Alester was saying. Jerry was sure, afterward, that she must have looked a bit foolish when she turned her eyes to his face. It was such a commonplace proposal. Not even the star-sprinkled sky over their heads seemed to lend enchantment to the scene; not even the magic city that lay at their feet, not even the Blue Danube, the strains of which were floating out into the thin air.

Alester leaned down swiftly and kissed her. "Lovely," he said under his breath, "lovely girl of mine." Jerry half put up her hands to press him away from her. Then they stopped. The blankness was leaving her now. Her head was tilting with curiously comic thoughts.

It was funny, really. . . she had played and planned, and worked to catch her millionaire. . . and now, now when she had him, she wanted to laugh in his face. . . to laugh at her own self, too, and tell him how preposterous, how utterly unthinkable it was.

mended that a maximum of $75,000, 600 of the projected bond issue proceeds be refunded to counties and road districts which have contributed local money to parts of the state highway system. Whether these refunds would be used to retire outstanding bonds or for new lateral road construction, would be determined by local vote.

All Sections Represented. Practically all sections of the state were represented at the meeting.

Of the committee, T. A. Kincaid of Oona, is president of the Sheep and Goat Raisers; Judge L. Cough of Amarillo is president of the Wheat Growers, and Kleberg is president of the Cattle Raisers. The Egan Bureau Cotton association was represented at the meeting by its manager, Harry Williams, of Dallas.

corporation, also mentioned, would be better. Yet steel is wholly outside Mr. Coolidge's line. He is no captain of industry. Of course, his name would be an asset to the steel corporation, but I doubt if he would enjoy becoming a mere figurehead.

A senate seat strikes me as an ideal ex-presidential niche.

Mr. Coolidge, as a senator from Massachusetts, would occupy a place almost more important than when he dwelt in the executive mansion. He would speak with 10 times the authority of any other senator—by virtue of his former office.

His importance—and his power—would be such that it seems impossible the idea could have failed to occur to him—and, if it did, to have appealed to him.

There will be a Massachusetts senator to elect in 1930. At present the legislature is in session. Senator Gillett will be 80 by the end of his current term. It is unlikely he will care to run again. In the meantime Mr. Coolidge will have had a comfortable year and a half of rest, and it will be surprising if he cannot be elected to the senate from Massachusetts.

To me the thing looks so logical that I can hardly see a chance of escape from it.

five per cent commission due them. This five per cent would amount to $10,582.25.

Points of law occupied the time of lawyers and Judge Clark M. Mullican for all of Thursday morning, and at several times during the course of the trial since the jury was selected Thursday afternoon. Attorneys for the plaintiffs are, Lockhart, Garrard and Brown, and for the defendant, Wilson, Randal and Kilpatrick.

The jury is composed of, Walter Hill, R. S. Johnson, T. E. Morris, T. W. Morris, A. C. McCarty, F. A. Norman, H. H. Murray, F. C. McArthur, R. O. Russ, F. L. Foster, W. T. Gentry, and D. S. Gregory.

Federal Court Has Short Adjournment

The United States District court until Saturday morning, following adjourned at 2:30 Friday afternoon, hearing on a motion to dismiss one case, and hearing several petitions for review in bankruptcy cases on docket, and the quashing of three of five indictments against Kirk F. Albright, of Littlefield, charged with violating the national banking laws.

The two other counts against Albright were continued until the next term of the court.

Case number one, in equity, that of R. C. Dunbar, et al. after hearing a motion for dismissal, Judge James C. Wilson gave no decision but took it under advisement. Petitions for review in bankruptcy were heard, but no decision rendered in the case of James Campbell, which is number one in bankruptcy; the case of J. J. Richards, number two, and of Besant, number three in bankruptcy.

Oil Leases Case

both men and the Sinclair crude oil purchasing company, the Sinclair pipe line company and the Mammoth oil company.

The assistant attorney general volunteered this information while on the committee witness stand for questioning as to his inquiry into the Sinclair contract for Salt Creek oil which was declared void by the department of justice last October. He said the government's petition would be filed soon and already would have been in the court except for the Senate investigation.

Although the Sinclair contract was cancelled immediately after the department of justice ruling that it was invalid, Mr. Donovan said the government would institute the fraud proceedings in an effort to recover all profits collected by the Sinclair interests over the almost six year period in which the contract was in effect.

Mounts To Millions

How large a sum is involved has not been estimated but it is believed the profits will amount into millions of dollars. More than 20,000,000 barrels of oil were taken from the field by the Sinclair interests under the contract.

Statutes Are Studied

Many attorneys and county officials are studying numerous statutes in an effort to discover some means whereby the courthouse site may be given to the government for the postoffice site. With the $335,000 appropriation already passed by the House committee, and evidence that there will be no hitch in the money becoming available for construction of the building, there is only one thing hampering the deal, and that is the title.

If it is found that the courthouse site can not be taken, there is possibility of using the site adjacent to the city hall which the city owns, and another site, a vacant lot south of the courthouse.

TERHUNE IS INJURED

Hit and Run Driver Strikes Noted Writer on Highway

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Dec. 14. (AP)—Albert Payson Terhune, the writer and dog fancier, was injured today when he was struck by an automobile on the state highway a mile from his home. The driver speeded away.

Frustrates Hold-Up

With a wooden doll as his only weapon, 12-year-old Harold Potrusus, of Milwaukee, faced the gun fire of two bandits who had wounded his father and forced the men to flee from the latter's grocery store without any loot. Harold hurled his doll at the stomach of one of the bandits then ducking a shot from the gun of the man he hit as the pair sped from the store.

Modern Carrie Nation Wrecks Bar

Neighbors told Mrs. Maude Wilson of Kansas City that a "soft drink" establishment near her home was selling liquor to her 18-year-old daughter and her husband, W. H. Wilson. Invading the place, Mrs. Wilson wrecked it in the inset and before the bar with a bottle of liquor she seized.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DEC. 16, 1928

General Topic: Paul and His Friends.

Scripture Lesson: Philemon 8-21.

8. Wherefore, though I have all boldness in Christ to enjoin thee that which is befitting.

9. Yet for love's sake I rather beseech, being such a one as Paul the aged, and now a prisoner also of Christ Jesus.

10. I beseech thee for my child, whom I have begotten in my bonds, Onesimus.

11. Who once was unprofitable to thee, but now is profitable to thee and to me.

12. Whom I have sent back to thee in his own person, that is, my very heart.

13. Whom I would fain have kept with me, that in thy behalf I might minister unto me in the bonds of the gospel.

14. But without thy mind I would do nothing; that thy goodness should not be as of necessity, but of free will.

15. For perhaps he was therefore parted from thee for a season, that thou shouldst have him for ever.

16. No longer as a servant, but more than a servant, a brother beloved, specially to me, but how much rather to thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord.

17. If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as myself.

18. But if he hath wronged thee at all, or oweth thee ought, but that to mine account.

19. I Paul write it with mine own hand, I will repay it; that I say not unto thee that thou owest to me even thine own self besides.

20. Yes, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord; refresh my heart in Christ.

21. Having confidence in thine obedience I write unto thee, knowing that thou wilt do even beyond what I say.

utations to the Christians in Rome, named and characterized most affectionately and particularized in a way to show how much each of them meant to the apostle. Twenty two persons are named in ten verses, besides affectionate references to households and relatives. During Paul's twenty years of labor in many lands he had won to Christ many who had afterwards removed to the great city which was the center of gravity of the world, and in view of the journey thither which he was planning he wished to make the most of those points of contact.

Following his commendation of Phoebe, Paul sends greetings to Aquila and his wife Priscilla. These two, driven from Rome in the exile of Jews by Claudius, went to Corinth where Aquila worked as a tent maker and had Paul, who was of the same trade, as his lodger. They went with Paul to Ephesus and entered Christian work there, even instructing more completely in Christianity the eloquent Apollos. From Ephesus they apparently returned to Rome. No other married couple in the Bible appears in such complete, all-around association. We rarely see so rich an instance of true marriage as this union in the heart and aim, in life and work. They had risked their lives to save the apostle's life—when and under what circumstances we do not know.

Epaphroditus, Phil. 2:25-30.

Epaphroditus was probably a native of Philippi in Macedonia, the first city of Europe visited by Paul, and very likely Paul won him to Christ at that time. He was sent by the Philippians with a gift to Paul in his Roman prison, and was the bearer of the wonderful letter which Paul sent back again, the Epistle of Christian joy.

"As far as we know, Epaphroditus is the only one of Paul's friends who personally labored for his support while a prisoner in Rome; more than that, he is the only individual of whom we have any record of having supported Paul at any time during his ministry. And so it may truthfully be said that Epaphroditus was the first man, as far as we have any record, who ever had a personal representative in the foreign field.

Other Friends of Paul. Paul's life was starred with friendships, and more and more thickly as his years went by. Study his relations with them: not only those named in this lesson, but Barnabas his first missionary partner, John, Mark, Silas, Timothy, his dear young helper, Luke his beloved physician, Apollos, Titus "my brother," Tychicus the "faithful minister," Euodia, Syntyche, the hospitable Lydia, Andronicus, Junia, Lucius, Jason, Sosipater, Epanetus, Amplias, Stachys, Aristarchus, Epaphras the "beloved fellow-servant," Onesiphorus, Trophimus, Sosthenes "my brother," Mardonius of Cyprus, and many, many others.

Paul's Slave Friend, Onesimus, Philemon 1-14.

"Philemon was probably the pastor, or bishop, of the church at Colosse in Asia Minor. Though a pastor, he was a slave holder, a circumstance which we must not overlook by modern standards. Christianity took the world as it found it.

MAKES CONFESSION

Husband Admits Slaying of Wife, Officer Says

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 14. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Frank Crayton announced here tonight that Charles S. Taylor, wanted by Memphis police in connection with the death of his wife, whose body was found several days ago in a trunk, was captured here tonight and had made a confession.

LUGANO, Dec. 14. (AP)—Tension in the Baltic appeared today to have been reduced.

Premier Waldemaras of Lithuania, making the first moderate speech since the outbreak of his country's dispute with Poland over Vilna, announced to the council of the League of Nations that he would accept a resolution for examination of the Baltic situation by technical experts of the league. He paid tribute to the role that Foreign Minister Briand of France, as president of the council, played in bringing about international cooperation and conciliation.

and began as it could and where it could to introduce the sublime mystery of the New Manhood. Joseph Parker. In his letter to Philemon Paul greets Apphia, who was doubtless the wife of Philemon, and Archippus, his "fellow-soldier," who would seem to be the son of Philemon, and to have in charge some sacred office (Col. 4:17). He also sends salutations to the church in the house of Philemon, showing that the household was a center of Christian worship. The opening of the letter contains strong expressions of Paul's satisfaction with Philemon and his family, their love and faith being a constant joy to the apostle.

The Letter to Philemon.

The letter of Paul to Philemon is one of the shortest books of the Bible, and yet is one without which the Bible would lack a personal note that we highly prize. It is a gem of letter writing—it tells us more about certain social conditions in the early church than a whole volume might have done—a specimen of consummate wisdom in the treatment of things of this life on higher principles—and it is a fine homily on Christian friendship.

"Paul the Aged"—A Prisoner.

"Being such a one as Paul the aged." "Being such as I am, so worn and old in the service of Jesus Christ." Paul was about sixty, and though a man of sixty is today very often in the prime of activity, it was not so in Paul's time; and the apostle, moreover, had led a most laborious life, had suffered severe sicknesses, and by his many hardships and long imprisonments had been greatly enfeebled. A man is as old as he feels. This condition of the apostle with the causes that lay back of it, constituted a powerful claim upon any loyal Christian who forsook Paul in his last imprisonment (2 Tim. 4:16); and Luke, who was Luke, Paul's beloved physician, writer of the third Gospel and the Acts. Then the Epistle ends appropriately with the benediction.

"If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as myself." Paul takes Philemon up into the most vital relationship of partner, associate in Paul's holy apostleship, comrade in the great work of bringing all men to a knowledge of Christ, a work of which the conversion of Onesimus was a most happy example. "If you would have me as a partner," says Paul, "you must receive Onesimus as a partner, for he is my other self."

Paul's Friends in Rome, vs. 23, 24. In the concluding sentences of this wonderful little letter Paul speaks of his approaching visit to Philemon, for he expects soon to be released from prison, and adds salutations from Christians in Rome whom Philemon knows and who were Paul's friends. These are Epaphras, Paul's "fellow-prisoner"—either one who was then or had been in prison with him, or, more likely, a friend so constantly waiting upon him as to seem to be a prisoner also; Marcus—John Mark, the writer of the second Gospel; Aristarchus, also called "fellow-prisoner" in Col. 4:10; the Thessalonian who went with Paul on his third missionary tour and was seized in the riot in Ephesus; Demas, who forsook Paul in his last imprisonment (2 Tim. 4:16); and Lucias, who was Luke, Paul's beloved physician, writer of the third Gospel and the Acts. Then the Epistle ends appropriately with the benediction.
