EUZELIAN CLASS

Mrs. W. M. Harris was hostess in her lovely home where the Euzelian class of the Baptist Sunday School met Monday evening for their annual Christmas party.

In the absence of the class president, Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, who was ill, Mrs. Gladys M. Stokes planned and directed the program. Highlighting the program was the Christmas story "The Silent Night" told by Mrs. H. P. Caveness, accompanied at the piano by Miss Valarie Wells. Miss Robbie Milliken sang the Christmas carols interspersed in the story.

All present sang "Joy To The World" and the program closed with a prayer by Mrs. Levi W. Price.

In the beautifully decorated dining room the table with its Normandy lace cover was centered with a brilliantly lighted tree from which gifts were distributed to each of the following members and guests:

Mmes. Stokes, Harris, Price, Wells, Milliken, Caveness, R. C. Forrester, Fred House, V. A. Betkin, M. C. Thomas, Alice Fortenberry, J. L. Reese, H. C. Harter, E. H. Cunningham, Ovid Luallin, Jewel Connolly, G. C. Shaffer, J. J. Atkinson, J. F. Stuart, J. M. Scott, E. J. Cooper, Claude Harper.

T. B. Burrough, C. T. Oliver, and L. M. Nordyke.

Refreshments of hot punch and cookies was served while the gifts were being admired.

Juvenile Crime Is Shown Increasing

Solution of Problem Local Matter, Says FBI.

WASHINGTON. — Despite the measures that have been taken by the private citizen and law enforcement officer alike, the tide of juvenile delinquency continues to rise on our home front. During the first six months of 1945 the FBI found there was a 6.6 per cent increase in arrests of boys and girls under 21 years of age as compared with the same period of 1944.

Also during the first half of this year, persons too young to vote accounted for 21.4 per cent of all arrests and those under 25 were involved in 35.6 per cent of the cases. Seventeen-year-olds continued to account for more arrests than any other age group.

Alarming increases are reflected in the comparison of fingerprint arrest card statistics compiled by the FBI for the first six months of 1944 and 1945. Arrests of boys under 21 increased 23.8 per cent for offenses against the person (homicide, rape and assault), 11.3 per cent for offenses against property and 12.6 per cent for offenses against decency. Arrests of girls under 21 increased 5.1 per cent for offenses against the person and 9.2 per cent for property offenses.

From the FBI's study of the subject, it is clearly evident that the solution to the problem is a local matter. In many communities, churches, schools and civic groups already have taken up the challenge and instituted wholesome programs designed to attract youths to the ways of good citizenship.

It is the American home, however, which holds the ultimate answer. Parental indifference, greed and selfishness can have but one effect on children. No youth should be denied his heritage of a happy home life and training.

The FBI has found that while war conditions have aggravated our nation's juvenile delinquency problem, it is a trend which began in the last years of peace and has pyramided to engulfing magnitude. Further delay in meeting the challenge will prove costly, for the juvenile delinquents of today will be the hardened criminals of tomorrow.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the most annoying and painful strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, and thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "cramp time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

Sidelights From Washington

(By George Mahon)
I think you will be interested in an appropriation bill on which the sub-committee of which I am a member is now holding extensive hearings. We want to complete the testimony, write the bill, and pass it through the House in January. It is to be the first appropriation bill for the year 1946. This will be a good time to set a postwar standard for economy and reduced government spending, and insofar as I am concerned, whenever possible I shall insist upon definite reductions in expenditures.

The first sentence in the bill will provide the money for the salary of President Truman and money for the running expenses of the White House. Witnesses from the White House have already been heard.

The bill is quite an important one, as it will provide the money for the operation of 23 independent agencies of the government. It will provide for a total expenditure of several billion dollars. By far the largest sum will be for the Veterans Administration.

It is costing 3 1/2 billion dollars to run the Veterans Administration this year. Next year the amount required will be much greater, as we propose to provide the Veterans Administration with every necessary dollar to care for the war veterans of the nation. General Omar Bradley, head of the Veterans Administration, and his staff will appear before us next week or a detailed discussion of pending needs.

As this is being written, we have just finished a long session with Thomas H. MacDonald, who is head of the Public Roads Administration. We will probably provide $300,000,000 for expenditure in co-operation with the states in the road program of the nation. During the war much necessary road repair and new construction was suspended, and we are going to make possible a greatly expanded road construction program. This program will be of direct interest to the people of West Texas and, in fact, the nation.

One disturbing statement made to the committee during the hearing could well be pondered by every American: "The fatalities from traffic accidents in August, 1945, were 27% above those in August, 1944; in September, 1945, fatalities were 43% above those in September, 1944; and fatalities in October, 1945, were 52% above October, 1944. In the prewar period we had as many as 32,000 people killed in traffic accidents in a single year."

It is evident that unless something is done to stop the rising tide of traffic accidents, Americans may have more of their loved ones killed in peace-time traffic each year than were lost during a similar period as a result of the war.

To the People of this Community

Take a tip from your favorite retail merchant. His Christmas counters are stocked for the first time since 1939 with commodities you dreamed about in the darkness of war. And yet he and his employees will go the limit today in telling you for your own good to buy "something else" first.

As a war-wise thrifty American you need not be told that the name of this product is Victory Bond, that it can never be worth less than you pay for it, that it will return $4 for every $3 invested when held to maturity 10 years hence, that it is your personal servant at the same time it is serving your country's current needs, that it will assure you not only a merry Christmas this year but help to make Christmas merry in 10 years to come. Your merchant knows a great product. That's why he is putting every effort to stuff the Christmas stockings of this community with extra Victory Bonds.

The Federal Communications Commission will be included in the bill. Now that hostilities have ceased, activity and development in the field of radio will leap forward at a rapid rate. Now pending before the Commission are 1523 applications for new stations, including television and so-called FM stations. Within a few months it can be expected that new radio stations will go into operation in Texas and elsewhere in the nation.

Among other important agencies included in the bill are the Interstate Commerce Commission, General Accounting Office, Civil Service Commission, Federal Trade Commission, and the Bureau of the Budget.

Hearings on a bill of this nature are very extensive, as is evidenced by the fact that our hearings on this bill last year filled a volume of 324 pages.

The best legislative service which a Member of Congress can render is in committee. That is where the bills are written and where most of the effective legislative work is actually done.

Do You Budget Insurance?

Your earning power should determine the amount of your life insurance. A definite portion of income should go into insurance each year as long as you earn. That is why an occasional check-up is advisable. One-tenth of income will give reasonable protection for loved ones and old age. Less is usually inadequate. Many do much more.

What's Back of My Gas Burners?

This is the second in a series of four advertisements being published in the belief that you would like to know more about the natural gas business, which so vitally affects your daily lives.

CHAPTER II

The Gas Is "Squeezed"

In Chapter I we told you something about drilling a gas well. Now we will see what happens to the gas when it is released from the reservoir in which it was trapped sometime back in geologic history.

A small meter house is built near the well and connected to it with a short pipe line. Then a gathering line is installed and connected, and the well is ready to yield up the wonderful fuel which means so much to us all.

The natural gas comes up through the well casing to the surface of the ground and thence to the meter house where it is measured, so that proper accounting may be made to the owner of the land. Measurement of the gas consists of installing an orifice in the gas line and making calculations from the resulting pressures on each side of the orifice. These pressures are recorded in ink on circular, clock-revolved charts. From the meter house the gas passes into the gathering line which leads it to a field compressor station.

From the well to the field compressor station, the gas travels on its own power—that is, it is forced along by the natural pressure in its underground reservoir. The gas could travel a considerable distance in this manner, but due to the loss in pressure through pipe line friction, the delivery of large quantities of gas would require a pipe line of such large size that the cost would be prohibitive. Therefore the pressure of the gas must be increased, this being the function of the compressor station.

Compressing gas is very much like baling cotton—it merely squeezes it into a smaller space so that more of it may be transported with the same facilities, and in shorter time. Gas compressors are large, precision-built machines of great strength to withstand tremendous pressures. Our compressors are driven by gas engines. The gas enters the compressor cylinder, is compressed by the action of the piston, and is discharged at a much higher pressure.

Some folks have the impression that compressing natural gas consists of pumping air into a gas line. This of course is not correct. If air were introduced into a gas line under pressure, there would be great danger of an explosion of the whole line, due to the air mixing with the gas and forming an explosive mixture.

With Cargo Not Wanted

SYDNEY. — Bougainville dispatches revealed recently that the American Liberty ship James K. Paulding has been sailing since last April with more than $2,000,000 worth of cargo which nobody wants. The Paulding is carrying 6,000 tons of perfectly good bombs, but nobody wants them.

Capt. E. G. Ericson, weary of carting this powder keg around the world, sighed: "We've had the bad luck to run into peace every time we touch port." He made a trip to Europe and then to half a dozen ports in the Pacific.

Ericson said he felt like the master of a "plague ship."

MRS. SHORT GETS SHOWER

Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell was hostess in her home Tuesday evening from six to ten when friends brought a shower of gifts for Mrs. Tom Short, who, as Miss Hattie Server, was formerly District Clerk here.

Mrs. Tunnell received the guests who registered in the bride's book in the hands of Mrs. Lois Daniel Weathers. Mes. Lou Calvery and Irene Gallagher, presided at the refreshment table.

Mrs. Mary Margaret Stewart had charge of the gifts which were on display for all to see.

A musical program was rendered during the calling hours with Miss Frances Marion Haney at the piano and vocal numbers given by Misses Billie Faye Anderson, Joretta Shaw, Savannah Lou Tunnell and Bobbie Louise Cowan.

The Tunnell home was attractive in its decorations bearing out the Christmas motif. About 60 guests called.

Father Killed Fleeing Court With Daughter

MEMPHIS, TENN.—C. D. Winston Griffin, 31, died in a hospital 36 hours after he was felled by a deputy's bullets as he sought to flee Chancery court with a young daughter whose custody he had lost to his divorced wife, Mrs. P. E. Flodin.

Griffin was shot twice by Deputy Sheriff Mark Humes after he grabbed his screaming seven-year-old daughter, Mary Jo, and backed into the courthouse corridor with gun in hand.

Griffin, a former war plant worker, had just heard Chancellor John E. Swepston give his divorced wife custody of Mary Jo and another daughter, five. Police Inspector A. O. Clark said Griffin was shot by Humes after the deputy failed in efforts to kick the gun from Griffin's hands. Humes was absolved of blame.

Come on, Ladies, No Tax

Cut Near, Fur Sellers Say

WASHINGTON.—The fur industry recently advised milady to go ahead and buy that fur coat. Rumors that federal taxes on furs may be cut soon just aren't true, it said.

Treasury officials pointed out that under existing law the present fur tax of 20 per cent will automatically go down to 10 per cent six months after President Truman or congress decides that war is officially over.

The catch is that Mr. Truman has indicated he doesn't intend to issue such a proclamation for a long time.

Industry officials became alarmed after thousands of women canceled orders for coats in expectation of a lower tax.

Culture of His Customers

LISBON FALLS, MAINE.—With no meat to sell, Herman Schultz, a Lisbon Falls butcher, obviously is using his spare time to brush up on his literature.

Proof of his gleanings was disclosed in an ad which ran in the Lisbon Falls Enterprise. Schultz advised his thwarted customers:

"There is no love sincerer than the love of food."—George Bernard Shaw.

"Hungry rooster don't cackle when he fine a worm."—Uncle Remus.

"Inquire not what's in another's pot."—Old Proverb.

Many Draft Rejections Are Due to Mental Ills

WASHINGTON.—More than a third of rejections for military service sprang from mental ill or deficiencies, Draft Chief Hershey told congress. This cause figured in 1,767,000 cases of a total of 4,800,000 men turned down, the general testified before a house interstate subcommittee considering a bill to coordinate study, treatment and prevention of mental disorders.

Color Blindness Is Not Incurable

Doctor Find a Treatment That Gives Good Results.

NEW YORK.—The almost universal belief that color blindness is incurable is challenged by some treatments with vitamins and cobra venom reported by Dr. Knight Dunlap, psychologist, of the University of California, Los Angeles.

The treatments were massive doses of vitamin A and B-1, supplemented by injections of cobra venom developed by Dr. Edward I. Macht of Mount Sinai hospital, Baltimore. The medical work was done by Dr. Robert D. Loken of the University of California. The results appear in the Journal of Comparative Psychology.

Dr. Dunlap proposes that a low protein diet beginning in childhood may be responsible for most cases of color blindness. It also is possible, he says, that diseases of early life may be a cause.

"That children," he writes, "weaned on the diet of cereals and strained vegetables so foolishly recommended a generation ago might become color blind at an early age is probable."

"Since children who do not learn to eat meat at an early age tend to remain vegetarians thereafter, we may well expect color blindness acquired in early childhood to become more serious with the passing years."

"The supposed cases of congenital (hereditary) color blindness undoubtedly are in this category."

Dr. Dunlap adds that a reduction in color blindness can be expected on account of the present regime of feeding infants liver and minced beefsteak.

As a result of the vitamin-cobra venom experiments he says his colleagues have little hope for men nearing middle age but that the prognosis for youths under 21 is more favorable.

Wake Civilians Paid Off After Four Long Years

SEATTLE.—A long delayed payday came for 115 civilian workmen who were captured by the Japs on Wake Island nearly four years ago.

The men, who returned here aboard an army transport, received checks for $1,083 each from the federal government.

In addition to federal payments the men will receive all their back pay from the Pacific Naval Air Bases, by whom they were employed. Some estimate they will get $8,000 or better.
