Agnew Heckled In Australia

The SDN Column

Occtsionally some unusual utterances by agents of the Federal government appear so incredible that it is startling to realize that we actually have such people in places of responsibility.

One such occasion was a recent statement in Houston by somebody named Samuel C. Jackson, identified by the Associated Press as assistant secretary for metropolitan planning and development in the Department of Housing and Urban Development, more commonly known as "HUD".

Jackson was quoted as saying that all housing in the United States is subsidized because home owners do not have to pay income tax on the interest for mortgage loans and on real property taxes.

It is indeed difficult to believe there is anyone in a place of responsibility in a department of the Federal government who would call this a subsidy.

This is income tax paying season and in case you are confused, your interest payments to someone or some lending institution may be deducted from your gross income, whether it is a mortgage loan or any other type of loan. On the other hand, if you collect interest from any source, it must be added to your taxable income. Interest on mortgage loans is no different from any other type of interest.

Times really have changed. Not many years ago Hawaii was regarded as a territory where casual dress, especially brief costumes, was even more casual than anywhere else. But did you notice during the Hula Bowl festivities the participants in the half-time show were more fully clothed than those in any other bowl game, both college and professional?

A former Snyder resident promptly announced as a candidate for the state legislature from the 63rd District following announcement by Rep. Temple Dixon of Sweetwater that he would not seek re-election. Roy Lee Ford, now a practicing attorney in Big Spring, announced over the weekend that he would be a candidate for the legislative post. He is the son of Mrs. Roy Ford of Snyder and he attended high school here. The 63rd District includes Howard, Mitchell and Nolan Counties.

Fire Hits Offshore Drilling Rig

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Fire broke out on an off-shore oil drilling rig early today, and the Coast Guard said one man was killed and at least four others were injured.

The blaze erupted on the Storm Drilling Co. rig No. 3 about 40 miles northeast of Galveston in the Gulf of Mexico.

A Coast Guard spokesman said 27 of the men who jumped off the rig into the chilly waters below had been picked up by civilian boats.

It was not known at once how many men were working on the rig when the fire was reported at 5:10 a.m.

Coast Guard Lt. (j.g.) Lawrence R. Hagen of Sabine Pass said the fire apparently broke out in an engine room on the elevated platform.

The Coast Guard dispatched cutters and aircraft from Corpus Christi, Houston, Galveston and Sabine Pass.

"The Marine Mud Co., which was working on the rig, got a May Day call," Hagen said.

He said the injured were en route to a Port Arthur hospital.

Coast Guard vessels and aircraft searched the rig area about six miles offshore for other survivors.

The rig, operated by the Atlantic Oil Co., was located in the High Island area about 15 miles from Sabine Pass.

Hagen said radio reports from the scene said the fire was still burning four hours after it was reported.

Von Roeder Elected Chamber President

Max von Roeder today was elected 1970 President of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

He will succeed Shelby Coker, who has served as president of the organization the past year. New officers of the Chamber of Commerce traditionally begin their duties at the annual banquet, which this year is set for the night of Jan. 30.

Other officers elected this morning at a meeting of the new board of directors include Mel Gilbert, first vice president; Gene Best, second vice president, and Jimmy Melton who was re-elected treasurer.

Von Roeder, a farmer and associated with the operation of Von Roeder Seed Farms near the west edge of the city, has been active in community life here for several years. In addition to serving on the Chamber board, he also is a member and currently vice president of the board of trustees of the Snyder Independent School District.

He also has been active in Jaycees work here and has earned several honors and awards, having received the local club's outstanding young farmer award and the distinguished service award. He also served as chairman for the Texas Jaycees Young Farmer Awards banquet which was held here in 1968.

Von Roeder possibly is the first to head the Chamber of Commerce here whose father had earlier held the post. The late Nolan von Roeder, the new president's father, served as president of the Snyder Chamber in 1955.

Von Roeder was elected to the Chamber board a year ago. Others on the board serving the second year of two-year terms are Melton, Jay Rogers, Carl Whitfield, Arel Faver and Tommy Mills. Members elected in balloting in December are Herbert Reed, H. F. Clark, Doug McGlaun, E. W. Schrader, Gilbert and Best. Guy Sullivan was appointed to serve the term of McGlaun who is moving from the city.

By Antiwar Protestors

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — About 100 antiwar demonstrators heckled U.S. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as he laid a wreath today at Australia's war memorial, and protest groups planned a larger demonstration Wednesday.

Five of the hecklers—four young men and a woman—were arrested.

The protesters carried 10 North Vietnamese flags and about 15 signs saying "Agnew is a Dirty Fascist Pig," "Beware of Gift Bearing Greeks," "Were You at My Lai?" and "Moon Rocks and Murder."

As Agnew and his wife emerged from the memorial, they waved to the crowd of 300 to 400, and the crowd responded with an evenly divided mixture of applause and boos.

Later, when Agnew left his hotel for dinner with Prime Minister John Gorton, about two dozen protesters flanked by as many policemen shouted at him and waved North Vietnamese flags.

At the prime minister's, a counter demonstration was under way. Two dozen persons carried signs saying "Crouts of Canberra Welcome You," "Prevent Communist Aggression" and "We Support American Australian Friendship." As Agnew's motorcade pulled up, the small group applauded.

Antiwar protest groups were reported bringing in busloads of demonstrators from Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide to demonstrate Wednesday at Parliaments a Cabinet luncheon there ment House while Agnew at- Prime Minister John Gorton greeted the vice president and his wife today on their arrival from Bali for the next to last stop of their 11-nation Asian tour. They go to New Zealand Thursday.

Agnew told newsmen during the flight from the Indonesian holiday isle that U.S. understanding of Asia is hampered by the fact that some Asian leaders criticize the American presence in the area "for their local domestic political consumption" but seek it in private discussions."

He named no countries.

Reviewing his talks with leaders of Singapore and Indonesia, Agnew said Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore "was very concerned about the effect of our becoming too specific in announcing troop withdrawals either as to level or as to date."

"I simply indicated," he continued, "that we were concerned also" about the danger of a North Vietnamese attack "which while it may not be preemptive or disastrous in a military sense might very well be a public relations coup for the North Vietnamese and possibly trigger a wave of public sentiment in the United States disproportionate to its military value."

Agnew rejected a suggestion that there is deliberate vagueness in the balance between Asian self-help and U.S. maintenance of commitments in the Nixon Doctrine but he said: "You cannot ever get specific about acts you can't even foresee that may occur in the future."

Northwest Has Light Snow

Light snow coated the Northeast from the Great Lakes to New England today and it was clear and cold elsewhere around the nation.

Rochester, N.Y., reported 4 fresh inches of snow to raise its ground cover to 15 inches. A few inches also fell in the mountains from southern Maine to southern New York.

Today In History

Bush To Seek Senate Seat

AUSTIN (AP) — With the blessings of President Nixon, Rep. George Bush, bright young political hope of the Republican party, said today he will challenge Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., again.

IN ACCEPTING BIAFRA'S SURRENDER

Nigeria Promises Amnesty

LAGOS (AP) — Nigeria's chief of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, accepted Biafra's surrender at midnight Monday, promised a general amnesty and called for talks to work out terms.

European and American relief plans to aid an estimated four million hungry Ibos and other tribesmen in the vanquished state awaited approval by the Nigerians. A top Nigerian official said the government has all the food needed, the problem is getting it to the hungry.

Reception centers were being established to care for the millions of refugees expected to pour out of the bush.

Gowon made his announcement in a 10-minute broadcast after the Biafran command capitulated earlier in the day. He asked the Biafran leaders to send delegates to field headquarters to work out terms to end the 2½-year-old civil war.

He pledged that "adequate care will be given to all civilians" and said army units will be accompanied by police "to establish effective federal presence . . . They will take all care . . . and shoot only if they encounter resistance."

Gowon said he accepted in good faith the declaration by Biafran Maj. Gen. Philip Effiong that the vanquished secessionists would make peace in accord with the Organization of African Unity's resolution stipulating a united Nigeria.

Effiong, 45, took over Sunday night after the Biafran Chief of state, Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, left the country on one of the last flights out. A Red Cross worker said Ojukwu flew to Libreville, Gabon.

Ojukwu was expected to arrive today in Lusaka, the capital of Zambia, and the Zambian government said it would grant him asylum. But it added that it preferred that he fly "as soon as possible" to Europe for security reasons. Zambia is one of the four African countries that recognized Biafra.

Despite radio broadcasts and victory editions of newspapers, there was little jubilation in Lagos at the war's end. Clusters of soldiers at the usual roadblocks and sentry points appeared almost indifferent.

"If we had been fighting another country, perhaps it would be different," said one Nigerian. "There is no rejoicing in this."

Federal rehabilitation commission officials ordered hundreds of tons of supplies to points near the front to supplement stocks assembled to feed about 500,000 refugees.

A civilian state government for the area that has been Biafra already exists with headquarters at Enugu.

Hearing Set On "The Pill" Hazards

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid increasing controversy, U.S. Senate hearings are scheduled to begin Wednesday on whether American women are being adequately informed about hazards of The Pill.

The oral contraceptives have been in use for nearly a decade now and in recent months, spurred largely by reports from British scientists, worrisome questions have been getting wide attention.

In previously announcing the hearings on pill safety Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate Monopoly Subcommittee, said: "It appears evident that a substantial number of users are not advised of any of the health hazards or side effects."

Here, in question-and-answer form, is a status report on The Pill:

Q. How many women are taking the pill?

A. It is estimated that 8.5 million American women are on the pill, arid 18.5 million worldwide. About one million American women, of a worldwide total of six million, use the IUD — the intrauterine device, a coil or loop that can prevent pregnancy for reasons that are unclear.

Q. What is the official U.S. government position on the pill?

A. A Food and Drug Administration advisory panel said last September that oral contraceptives appear to meet federal safety requirements because their benefits outweigh their risks. The panel said women who use oral contraceptives are 4.4 times more likely to suffer blood clots than women who do not. British studies reported up to that time found a 7 to 10 times greater clot risk for pill users.

The U.S. panel said it is still unclear whether there is any link between the pill and cancer.

The panel said clotting from the pill resulted in three deaths in every 100,000 women of child-bearing age per year. A comparison often is made to the number of deaths in pregnancy from all causes, not just clotting —25 deaths per 100,000 births. But this comparison assumes that everyone going off the pill would get pregnant and is not valid.

A. Did any of the panel members go beyond those statements?

A. Yes. Dr. Louis M. Hellman of the State University of New York, told a news conference: "I would say the light is still yellow: caution."

Since then, Dr. Hellman has said that while the panel held that benefits of the pill outweighed risks, "That doesn't mean that they're absolutely safe." And he adds: "The FDA report was certainly not a clean bill of health."

Women with a history of blood clotting, he says, would be "silly" to use the pill and women with a history of breast or uterine cancer in their immediate families probably would be "ill-advised" to use it.

But, he continues, the risk of clotting is small and there is no evidence that oral contraceptives cause cancer in humans, although there is a suspicion that they can.

As for fears that the pill might cause cancer, Dr. Hellman noted that it takes about 10 years for a cancer to develop after exposure to some cancer-causing agent. Since the pill has been in wide use only since the mid-1960s, it would take until the mid-70s before information is available.

Snyderites Are On Honor Roll At LCC

LUBBOCK — Two students from Snyder earned scholastic honors for the fall term just ended at Lubbock Christian College.

Loretta Kay Bryce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bryce, 108 Chestnut, is one of eight sophomores on the President's honor roll, and Cheryl Ramage, daugister of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ramage, 3604 Jacksboro, is one of 21 sophomores on the Dean's honor roll.

Republican Leaders Approach Staley

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —Joe Staley Jr. said Monday he has been approached by Republican leaders to become a candidate for Congress from the 13th Congressional District.

That seat is currently held by Rep. Graham Purcell, a Democrat, who announced in a speech Monday that he would seek re-election.

Staley is now minority counsel for the housing subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

Staley, 32, a Dallas lawyer, said he made no commitments but will reach a decision within two weeks.

Staley, a native of Wichita Falls, came to Dallas in 1964 as counsel for the Texas Turnpike Authority.

He said he is a conservative on economics and a "middle-of-the-roader" on civil rights.

He has been a Senate counsel since May 1969.

Two More Texans Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of 30 men killed in action are on the latest casualty list from the war in Vietnam.

Included were two Texans, Army Pfc. Larry A. Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Bradley, Box 67, Verhalen; and Army Pfc. Ricardo L. Serenil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose G. Serenil, 2109 74th St., Galveston.

Man Injured

Billy Giles, about 50, 200 Twenty-fifth Street, sustained back injuries in an accident at the old Eastman Warehouse 15 miles northwest of Snyder at about 10:30 a.m. today. He was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service.

Giles is an employe of Rains Well Service. His condition was described as good.

Youth Hurt When Struck By Auto

Ray Garza, 16, Route 2, sustained injuries when he was struck by a car in the 1200 block of Twenty-sixth Street at 9:50 p.m. Monday. He was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service.

Garza's injuries were not believed to be serious, officers said, although he complained of pains in the leg.

Officers said the youth apparently ran in front of a 1967 Model Chevrolet driven by Doyle Gene Sanders, 1912 Thirtieth Street. The car was not damaged.

Fire Is Put Out

City Firemen extinguished a grass fire on Avenue M at the RS&P Railway Company right-of-way at 3:35 p.m. Monday.

Officer's Examining Trial Delayed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An examining trial was postponed Monday for Barry Lane Gray, 20, an Army warrant officer charged in the rape-stabbing of a young school teacher.

The delay was granted after doctors for the teacher, 23, said that although she had been released from the hospital, she was not up to making a court appearance.

Vandalism Probed By Officers Here

City Police are investigating an incidence of vandalism that occurred last weekend.

Someone threw rocks through six windows at Travis Junior High School. Damage was placed at $33, not counting costs for labor.

Vandals also shattered two windows and a door glass in a building at 1012 Twenty-eighth Street either Saturday night or Sunday morning. Owner of the property is Eugene Davidson.

New Patrolman On Police Force Here

Paul Hurt, 22, of Stephenville, has been hired as a new patrolman with the Snyder Police Department, according to an announcement by Chief of Police Stephen Clark.

Hurt is a 1966 graduate of Killeen High School, and he attended Tarleton State College for three years, majoring in government. He is married to the former Donna Bolon of Colorado City. They are parents of a son, 3-month-old Don Douglas. The family resides at 1910 Coleman.

Hurt presently is undergoing classroom training at the Police Department.

West Texas Has Fog

A little rain mixed with snow threatened to coat the east side of the Panhandle with ice late Monday, but the moisture soon dried up and skies cleared in that area by this morning.

It was mostly cloudy and also dry in other parts of the state, aside from drizzle around Laredo on the Mexican border.

There was fog early in the day at Lubbock, Midland and Big Spring in West Texas.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 17 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to a comfortable 57 at Brownsville on the southern tip of the state.

Forecasts promised another chilly night across the north half of Texas. Chances were seen for a few showers in the south.

Texans To Receive $167 Million More

Residents of Texas will receive an additional $167,000,000 in 1970 as a result of the 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, Wayman E. Register, Dallas Regional Commissioner of Social Security, said. The law recently passed by Congress and signed by the President was effective Jan. 1.

Social Security beneficiaries need not apply for the 15 per cent increase, as each of the 1,208,000 men, women and children in Texas now on the benefit rolls will receive the increase automatically, Register said.

The first regular check in the new amount will arrive the first week in April on the usual day for the delivery of benefit checks. A separate check for the amount of the increase for the months of January and February should reach the beneficiary during the last week in April.

Register estimated that the total Social Security payments to retired or disabled workers and their dependents and for survivors in Texas for 1970 will amount to $1,283,000,000.

Refiguring the benefit amounts for the 25,000,000 now on the rolls in the United States is a tremendous task and it must be done without disrupting the regular monthly payments.

One out of eight Americans is now receiving Social Security checks each month. As of the end of December, these monthly payments totaled 2.2 billion and the monthly total will go up by 345 million as the 15 per cent increase becomes effective.

Man Shot In Station Robbery

HOUSTON (AP) — Police said a young man was shot to death Monday night after a service station robbery.

Papers on the dead man's body identified him as George Clifton Cole, 21, of Houston, officers said.

Police quoted Joseph A. Chaoman, 22, the service station attendant, as saying two men with a pistol and a knife robbed him of $135. He said as they drove away he ran to his car, grabbed a pistol and fired four times at the fleeing auto.

He said one bullet struck a tire; another hit one of the men in the neck and the car spun into a ditch. The other man escaped across a field.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

No matter how many power tools a do-it-yourselfer has in his home workshop, he knows that there are times when only one of the basic hand tools will do the job.

Included among the necessities in such a workshop are such things as hammers, screwdrivers, bit braces and saws. Of these, the ordinary hand saw is perhaps the most abused, getting dull much quicker than it used properly. Entirely aside should because it often is not from the matter of wear and tear on the saw is that of wear and tear on the user. When a saw isn't used as it should be, sawing becomes difficult, requiring extra physical effort and producing a poor result.

For the most common kind of sawing —cross-cutting— the saw should be held at an angle of 45 degrees; that is, 45 degrees between the handle and the table, saw horse or stand on which the wood is being cut. The saw cut is started by drawing the saw backward until a notch is started, then cutting up and down. If the saw leaves the cutting line, twist the handle slightly and draw it back to the line. Saw with an even, rhythmic stroke. In ripping wood, about 60 degrees in the correct angle between the saw and the work.

While holding the saw at the correct angle is a vital ingredient to easy and successful sawing, two other factors are involved: using the proper type of saw and using one that is sharp. Use a cross-cut saw or a rip saw depending on the kind of cut being made. A rip saw generally has less points per inch. Also the teeth are shaped like chisels, whereas those of a cross-cut saw are more like knife points. Once a saw gets dull, it is better to have it sharpened professionally unless you have the knowhow. It may be more economical to buy a new saw.

A coarse saw is better for fast work and green wood. A fine saw is better for smooth accurate cutting and dry seasoned wood.

When cutting to a line, be sure you cut on the wrong side of the line to allow for the width of the cut. The kerf will be wider than the saw, since saw teeth are set, with every other tooth bent to the right and those between to the left. If teeth were not set the saw would bind quickly and often.

For cutting curves, use a compass or keyhole saw. A web or turning saw is for cutting irregularly curved shapes. The same is true of the coping saw, which is particularly good for thin wood. For fine, accurate straight cutting on small pieces of wood, use a back saw, which is a thin cross cut saw with fine teeth, stiffened by a thick back.

Moroccan Gal Diplomat To Help Arab Women

By ALEC COLLETT
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Unknown to the hundreds of delegates who attended the annual General Assembly just concluded, one of its most attractive and best-known diplomats has been making what she calls her "private contribution to the emancipation of women."

For the past 10 years, working in the Assembly's Social and Humanitarian Committee, glamorous 36-year-old Halima Embarek Warzazi of Morocco has championed the cause of women throughout the world.

At home in Rabat Mrs. Warzazi runs a small school called "El Amal," Arabic for "hope." Established six years ago in a poor neighborhood, the tuition free school teaches embroidery to pupils ranging in age from 5-year-olds to married women of 30.

Nine months of the year, Mrs. Warzazi takes time out from her work at the Moroccan foreign ministry to assist the instructor who supervises the two-room school. From September to December, she is away from Morocco attending the annual United Nations assembly session.

Halima Warzazi believes that emancipation of women should be based on education and work. If they cannot acquire an education, then it is even more important that they have useful work to do.

"My school is a private contribution to the emancipation of women," she says. "I see that the girls are trained so that they can sell their work, and try to find them outlets for it."

EMANCIPATOR OF WOMEN — United Nations' delegate Halima Embarek Warzazi of Morocco is making her own private contribution to the emancipation of women.

Mrs. Warzazi is the epitome of the emancipated Arab woman, a strong contrast to many of her fellow women who still wear the veil.

Slim, beautiful, with brown eyes and shoulder-length black hair, she is one of the six-member Cabinet of the Moroccan foreign minister.

Halima joined Morocco's diplomatic service one year after independence in 1957. Almost every year for the past decade she has been a member of her country's delegation to the General Assembly.

A graduate of Cairo University, where she obtained her M.A. degree, the 118-pound diplomat also studied in Casablanca and Madrid. She converses with fellow delegates in Arabic, French, Spanish and English.

Dressed in her exotic Moroccan caftan—an embroidered, full-length native gown of lavish dimensions—Halima is among the most colorful women diplomats at the annual parley.

She is also one of the most popular and sought-after. But she admits to being "exhausted" by the constant round of official receptions and dinner parties.

"I miss my husband and son Bahi, very much," she says. "And after so many years at the U.N., I feel like taking a rest during next year's assembly."

Her husband, a former diplomat, is director of a cork-exporting enterprise.

Sandwich Warm Up

When the children arrive home for lunch, warm them up with hot toasted sandwiches of cooked chopped ham, beef or lamb blended with grated cheese, mayonnaise or gravy. The sandwich is the homemaker's answer for preparing a quick, nourishing meal while utilizing leftover meat.

Knitted ties that the man of the house has discarded make wonderful covers for wooden coat hangers.

When hanging nylons or leotards outdoors to dry, slip a teaspoon into each toe. This prevents the hose from wrapping around the clothesline and getting snagged.

Student Of Nature

BOBCATS BEFORE BREAKFAST. By John W. Kulish, with Aino Kulish.

Among nature books, this is a prime example that shouldn't be missed.

The author is a rare individual with a gift for expression. He tells the story of a life dedicated to the wilderness. He has been a professional woodsman, hunter, trapper, guide and practical student of nature all his like. He communicates admirably his zeal for the outdoor world, and in appraising it he is as sharp as an Indian.

His scene of operations was southern New Hampshire. He learned to make a living off the land — taking venison in season for his table, fishing, trapping mink, beaver and otter for their pelts, hunting bobcats for bounty, training his hounds, slogging endless miles on snowshoes to get his prey, and always studying the ways of the wild creatures.

Many of his vigilant observations of the fur-bearers challenge the academic notions of the professional naturalists.

There is a marvelous tale of his favorite hound, which should be counted among the classic dog stories. He admires the beavers he has watched, but his real love is the river otter.

It is a sad note that his book ends with the observation that the wilderness is being spoiled by the over-hunting of callous city types, interested only in sports trophies.

Kulish is an unusual example of a late frontiersman. He records with articulate wisdom, humor and compassion the secrets of animal life out there in the mountains and valleys.

Many Researchers Engaged In Mood Measurement

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the mental and emotional disposition precedes the act, whether in sports, crime, business or any other human endeavor, literally thousands of individuals are engaged every day in mood measurement.

Most of these researchers have little to do with mental health clinics; their interest in moods is not psychiatric but financial, for it has been found that the human mood can effect the economy more strongly than a presidential act.

It is because of these mood surveys, in fact, that some economic forecasters feel confident economic expansion will slow in the first half of 1970 to a repative crawl when compared with crawl when compared with much of the 1960s.

Among the measurements they use in arriving at this conclusion are these:

—The Index of Consumer Sentiment, maintained by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan, is now near the low point reached just prior to the 1957-1958 recession.

In the fourth quarter of 1969 it dropped to 79.7 from 95.1 in February. The base, or 100, is pegged to February 1966.

Past studies have shown, quite understandably, that when the consumer is in a cautious or depressed mood he doesn't spend his money. A lot of merchants discovered this during Christmas week. A lot may yet learn the bad news.

The ICS shows that it isn't only the possession of money that leads to consumer spending. Equally important is the consumer's attitude toward a wide range of economic, social and personal events.

—The Sales Optimism Index, maintained by Dun and Bradstreet, is especially gloomy. This index measures the per cent of businessmen expecting sales gains, minus those expecting decreases. It's near a seven year low of 49.

For the first three months of this year, the 1,492 executives polled by D&B foresee a distinctly unfavorable business climate. Money will be tight, they fear, and consumer and industrial spending likely will be down.

—The Help Wanted Advertising Index, a production of the National Industrial Conference Board, took a sharp drop in the latest measurement, made in November. It fell five points to 222, based on 1957-1959 equaling 100.

This index is a measurement of how active employers are in seeking workers, and has an accurate record. Although the unemployment rate remains at 3.4 per cent, it could very well begin to rise soon if the HWAI is still a valid measure.

—Purchasing agent polls. These are conducted by the National Association of Purchasing Management, Inc. and they, too, point downward. If industry is slowing its rate of purchase, as the pools show, economic sluggishness will follow.

—Investor Confidence Index, conducted by Sindlinger & Co., is still quite low although tending to point upward in recent weeks. The index, which tends to precede stock price movements by a week or more, now reads about 820.

The ICI relates to the Dow Jones Industrial Average which, if the ICI is accurate, should rise somewhat in the next few weeks, or at least not fall sharply.

The measure is produced from surveys of confidence among those people considered to be active individual stock market investors: male managers of businesses, proprietors and officers.

A Junior Editors Quiz About DANCING

QUESTION: How did dancing originate?

ANSWER: As shown by ancient pictures, man has danced his way down through his long history. We don't know how dancing began, but we do know that it is an expression of the delight people feel in healthy bodily movement. It's of value, too, in stretching and strengthening the muscles. Joy in rhythm — also expressed in music and the arts — is another reason for the origin of dancing. Perhaps dancing began as our artist has suggested, by some stone age family, feeling happy after a fine dinner, jigging back and forth from one foot to the other, clapping their hands and enjoying the rhythm. Later, dancing came to illustrate certain ideas, such as the dance of the Roman warrior celebrating victory in battle. At the bottom we show some different ways of expressing joy through rhythm. First is the exquisite styling of the Siamese, then the lusty action of the Highland fling, then the pure beauty and grace of classical ballet, and finally, dancing of our own time — but you know all about that!

1-13

(Joseph J. DiMaggio of Baltimore, Md., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Columnist Enlightened By Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

A survey found that 78 per cent of American girls and women wear panties during the winter months, 23 per cent more than do in summer. What will science discover next?

At about the age of 35 practically everyone starts suffering a loss of hearing in certain ranges of sound.

Those good old days: In 1530, in England, if you had $50 in cash and wanted to live on a farm, you could stock it with three horses, six oxen, 20 cows, 200 sheep, and still have $2 to apply on the rent, which was about $5 a year. Chickens sold for a cent a piece, eggs a penny a dozen, a big fat goose five cents, wheat five cents a bushel, and the price of beer was legally set at two cents for three gallons.

There are few divorces among people who remarry after 65. Almost all such marriages are successful, a University of Connecticut study found, and listed 75 per cent as "highly successful." One reason: most of the widowers and widows who took second mates had had successful first marriages.

Quotable notables: "We live in a cocktail culture whose unlovely symbol is the ring on the best mahogany."—Elsa Maxwell.

The champagne life, alas, has its perils—including opening the bottle. "The direct impact force of a flying cork, which may strike the eye at a speed of about 45 feet per second, compares with the impact of a mine blast," says Dr. Wilfred D. David, executive director of the Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Executive signs: This one's on the desk of Jules Podell, owner of the Copacabana here: "It takes more than a shoeshine to give a man a polish."

Worth remembering: "Psychiatrists say talking helps solve problems—causes 'em, too."—Arnold Glasow.

Better late than never: Tickets 30 years old will be accepted at Expo 70, the gigantic international exposition on which Japan is spending $2 billion. They are the 12 million tickets sold for the planned 1940 World Fair in Tokyo which was canceled by the outbreak of war.

Nature notes: A baby zebra, a few hours after birth, can run fast enough to keep up with its papa and mama. Driver ants are among the most feared denizens of African jungles; swarming in millions, they can attack and destroy an elephant, leaving nothing but his bones. A near-sighted rattlesnake is a danger to himself; if he accidentally strikes his own body, the venom in his fangs can kill him.

It was Winston Churchill who observed, "A fanatic is a man who can't change his mind and won't change the subject."

Chocolates Anyone?

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A young nurse in the medical section of the police department says she's not bitter over sweets—just certain she'll never order another box of them through the mail.

In attempting to help a cousin promote a project for Campfire Girls, Geraldine Norris said she ordered 250 boxes of chocolates from a company in Chicago.

Instead of the 250 boxes, Miss Norris said, she received 250 cases amounting to three tons of candy with a retail value of $6,000.

Miss Norris, who's also preparing for a Valentine's Day wedding, said efforts to return the cargo to Chicago were to no avail.

She is attempting to locate a group interested in selling the candy.

Children Warned About Wild Minks

BUCKFASTLEIGH, England (AP) — Children in this Devon town have been warned not to hunt for wild mink which are breeding in a local river.

"They might go for a child," said one mink expert.

The wild mink, descendants of animals which escaped from a nearby mink farm, have been blamed for the deaths of chickens, cats and a lamb.

Experts say the mink no longer have any commercial value as their coats have become course through living in the wild.

Bruins Waltz Away With No. 1 Ranking

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the rest of the Top Twenty teams play musical chairs with the numbers game, UCLA continues to waltz away with the No. 1 ranking in college basketball.

Rolling along to their one-note victory samba, the Bruins were voted into the top spot again Monday by the Associated Press' nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Their image has changed. Lew Alcindor, a graceful figure no longer dances near the basket. What's the key to their success?

"We either win by one or 31," says Coach John Wooden, diplomatically leaving unsaid that the Bruins manage to win one way or the other.

But Wooden admits the Bruins' uncanny shooters don't hurt. If they win big or not, "in either case you have to look to our shooting," Wooden said.

Kentucky and South Carolina, the pride of the South, continued to hold onto the second and third spots in the poll. After that, you had to follow the bouncing ball to find out Who's Where.

St. Bohaventure bounced from fifth to fourth; New Mexico State moved up a place to fifth; Jacksonville stepped up a notch to sixth; North Carolina slipped three spots to seventh; Davidson held onto eighth, and Houston and Marquette moved up several places to ninth and 10th, respectively.

Rounding out the Top Twenty were, North Carolina State, Niagara, Columbia, Ohio, Penn and Washington, who were tied for 15th; Illinois, Louisville, Duke and Southern California.

UCLA is 10-0 this year, but two of the victories were very un-Bruin-like, compared to their last three national championship years.

The Uclans beat Princeton 76-75 earlier this season and just got by Oregon State 72-71 Saturday night.

"If we were shooting poorly in those games, it was our opponent's defense," says Wooden. "Generally speaking, you have to credit the defense."

Wooden counts on them to destroy any zone defense. Princeton and Oregon State went to a tough man-to-man and consequently gave the Bruins some trouble.

"They forced some of their shots," admitted Wooden.

The Bruins took 25 of the 31 first place votes and 608 points overall. Kentucky, winners of 11 straight, had the other first place ballots and 566 points over-all. South Carolina, 10-1, rolled up 469 points.

TWO STARS RETURN

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Dartmouth, upset by Princeton in its final football game, can look forward to next season with the thought of having another fine offensive team.

Halfback John Short of Glendale, Ariz., and quarterback Jim Chasey will return as seniors. Short led the Indians in rushing with 707 yards in 116 carries for a 6.1 average.

Chasey, from Los Gatos, Calif., made the All-Ivy team and completed 62 of 111 passes for 892 yards and seven touchdowns. Chasey also rushed for 332 yards and scored five TDs on the ground.

Bengals Clash With Tall Tors Tonight

The moment of truth has arrived for Snyder's Tigers. They host powerful Lamesa in the District 3-AAA opening basketball contest tonight in the Scurry County Coliseum. Tipoff is on tap for 8 o'clock following the "B" team encounter at 6:15 p.m.

Coach O. W. Follis' visiting Tornadoes are 18-1 for the campaign. They are favored to win district and some observers feel they could win the AAA state crown this year. Their latest victim, Andrews, was down 13-0 after about four minutes of play as the Lamesans had good success with a full court press.

Coach Ned Underwood's Bengals are 10-7 for the campaign. The Tigers' strong point is shooting ability, and if the boys are hot tonight, they could make things interesting for the favored visitors. The Bengals have been working out in earnest this week and are geared for an all out effort.

"We hope to have as many if not more fans backing the Tigers than Lamesa will have," declared Underwood. Like all coaches, he knows that spirit and support are two ingredients that can overcome the biggest odds. It may be the biggest thing the Bengals will have going for them.

The simple facts of comparative records, relative physical strength, etc would seem to indicate the visitors will be favored by about 20 points. They have five regulars returning from last season — Floyd and Lloyd Jenkins (6-3 seniors), Cecil Davis (6-0 junior), Jerry Jernigan (6-5 senior) and Brent Minnix (5-10 senior). Four of them hit in double figures in their last outing.

Snyder will start with four seniors and one junior. They include seniors Wesley Bishop (6-1½), Lee McNair (6-0), Ronald Ward (6-1½), and Jim Patrick (6-2½) and junior Bruce Almond (6-2).

Snyder can match the Tornadoes in shooting and in speed. The big edge for the visitors is in height and experience.

Coach Bill Bundy probably will go with his regular alignment that includes junior Ron Morse (6-0), and sophomores Jackie Murray (5-11), David Thompson (6-0), Dubby Preston (6-3) and Kent Horsley (6-6).

SWC Quintets Break Even

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwest Conference basketball teams broke even against outside foes in the only two games on tap Monday night.

Rice displayed a balanced attack in downing Tulane 83-80 at New Orleans but Xavier beat Texas Christian 80-76 at Fort Worth, handing TCU its sixth straight defeat.

Five players scored in double figures for the Rice Owls, who posted their fourth victory against six losses, but top scoring honors went to John Sutter with 23 points. Rice was paced by Gary Keist with 21 and Tom Myer with 19.

Xavier snapped a five-game losing streak as Doug Alt led the scoring Musketeers with 25 points and teammate Jerry Helmers contributed 21. Ricky Hall was top man for the TCU Horned Frogs with 23.

Texas A&M battles Texas tonight in a conference fray at Austin while Southern Methodist is host to Oklahoma City for a non-conference game.

Travis Splits 2 At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Travis Junior High split a couple of basketball tilts here Monday with the 9th graders taking a lopsided 79-33 decision after the 8th grade barely lost, 30-24.

The older Blue Devils took a 16-3 lead in the first period and outscored Colorado City 31-9 and 24-7 in the next two frames respectively to turn the tilt into a rout. Tommy Washington, Jerry Brooks and Gary Brooks tallied 20, 16 and 11 point respectively for Travis while Jackson was high point man for the hosts with 11 points. Scotty Sullivan contributed 10 points to the Travis cause.

The Travis regulars saw action for only about two periods as the reserves handled the remainder of the action.

Travis 8th got off to a good start, taking a 13-7 lead in the first period, but they lost their momentum as the young Wolves narrowed the gap to 18-16 at halftime, then tied it up 22-22 in the third period and went ahead with an 8-2 margin in the closing stanza.

Travis hit 6 of 8 from the free throw line in the first half, but connected on only 2 of 12 in the second half. Also, an inability to get crucial rebounds contributed to their downfall. Travis simply didn't put the ball up enough.

Gilbert Ramirez led the local 8th graders with nine points while Ausie sparked the hosts with 19 points.

Travis will be at Lamesa next Monday.

Debbie Is Top Female Athlete

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A delighted Debbie Meyer heard she topped The Associated Press poll for best Female Athlete of the year at her hotel here today.

She had been competing in the New South Wales Swimming Championship since last Thursday and was due to leave Sydney for Brisbane on Wednesday.

Debbie said the award was a great surprise. "It's great, really great. I know I went very close for some award last year and naturally was disappointed when I missed out.

"I just wasn't thinking about it this year."

Grid Fete Set Saturday

Area sports fans were reminded today that Thursday is the deadline for making reservation to attend the banquet honoring Snyder High School football players. It will be held Saturday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Varsity and junior varsity football players, their dates, managers and cheer leaders will be honored guests. Parents and members of the Booster Club can purchase $2 admission tickets. Others who wish to attend may join the Booster Club at the rate of $5 per person, then purchase an admission ticket. Eugene Glasscock, Booster Club president, is taking applications for membership.

Jack Spikes, former Tiger star and an All-American fullback at TCU, will be the featured speaker. Jack also made All-District here in basketball and he competed in baseball. He played pro football with the old Dallas Texans, and he was voted the outstanding player in the AFLL playoff game in 1961.

Texans Divide 2 With Lamesa

Lamar Junior High settled for a standoff with Lamesa's Green Hornets in the Texan gym yesterday with the local 9th graders taking a 60-38 decision after the 8th grade lost 45-35.

The older Texans outscored Lamesa in each period as four boys hit in double figures. Jim Dyess and Tim Holder shared scoring honors with 15 points apiece while Jim Waters and Fred Liner contributed 12 and 11 points respectively for Lamar. McCurley led Lamesa with 26 points.

Lamar fought Lamesa on even terms during the final three periods of the 8th grade contest, but a 17-7 deficit in the first quarter was just too much to overcome. Max Underwood led Lamar scorers with 15 points while Lamesa received 15 and 10 point productions from White and McCurley.

Stamford is scheduled to play at Lamar next Monday, but since the first program between the two schools was held here there is a possibility the tilts may be held there this time, according to Coach John Gary, who said the site will be confirmed later.

LAMESA 9TH (38) — McCurley 11-4-26; Renner 3-1-7; Hogg 1-0-2; Bedwell 1-1-3; totals 16-6-38.

LAMAR 9TH (60) — Waters 6-0-12; Liner 4-3-11; Dyess 6-3-15; Holder 6-3-15; Hartsfield 0-1-1; Burleson 0-2-2; Ramos 0-3-3; Blalock 0-1-1; totals 22-16-60.

Mart Star Heads Class A All-State

DALLAS (AP) — Clutch-running Earl Costley of Mart's state champion Panthers heads the Class A Texas schoolboy All-State football team as selected by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Costley's brother, Edward, was named to a first team berth at linebacker.

Earl Costley scored 22 touchdowns and averaged 9.7 yards on 148 carries for 1,439 yards.

Joining Costley in the all-star backfield are quarterback Jim Moore of Clarendon, Terry Roach of Paul Pewitt, and Jerry Gray of Honey Grove.

Moore rushed for 1,471 yards on 120 carries. He scored 23 thouchdowns and completed 22 of 48 passes for 726 yards and seven touchdowns.

Roach gained 1,167 yards on 178 carries. He scored 19 touchdowns and caught 10 passes for 191 yards.

The 190-pound Gray gouged out over 3,000 yards his last two years and accounted for 37 touchdowns in that span.

Farwell's Dean Stovall led the ends with 14 touchdown catches. Ronnie Kruse of Granger and Bowie McMillian of White Oak tied for the other spot. Kruse caught 13 touchdown passes and McMillian snared six.

White Oak placed four players in the 22 offensive and defensive first teamers.

Besides McMillian they are guard Chuck Silvertooth, linebacker Jim Goss, and defensive back John Griffin.

Blue, White Win 7th Grade Games

Travis Blue topped Lamar Red 53-48 in overtime and Travis White slashed Lamar Gray 48-18 in two exciting 7th grade basketball tilts here yesterday.

The Blue-Red affray was tied 46-46 at the end of regulation play, but Jurrel Riggins hit two shots from the field and Welton Cobb dunked in one plus a free throw to turn the tide in favor of the Blue. Ronnie Payne scored the Red's two overtime points.

It was a close tilt all the way. The Blue led 11-9 after one period, but fell behind 17-21 at halftime. Blue 16-15 and 13-10 margins in the final two frames of regulation action sent the tilt into overtime.

Cobb tallied 30 points total while Win Bunch pitched in 18 to pace the Red, with his teammate Payne netting 12 points.

Travis White took a commanding 23-2 lead in the first quarter and coasted to victory with Robert Alderete sparking the attack with 11 points. Mark Hinton led the Gray team with six points.

Next Thursday, the Blue meets the Gray and the White takes on the Red in the Travis gym with the program to begin at 4 p.m.

1969 Best Dressed Selections Made

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Here it is. The parade of often-talented, often-beautiful and almost always rich people who have made the international best dressed list.

The list is the result of a poll of some 2,000 people in the fashion and social worlds. Names of those chosen for 1969 were announced Sunday by Eleanor Lambert, publicist and co-ordinater of the poll.

Over the years, the selection has become a little more democratic. A men's category has been added. The ranking system has been eliminated. Blacks have been honored, albeit in "token" proportions. This year Harry Belafonte was selected over men like Mayor John Lindsay of New York and Baron Alexis de Rede, both of whom are more "social" in the Establishment sense.

Five men and one woman were chosen to the Fashion Hall of Fame as "perpetual symbols of excellence in dress." They are film stars Cary Grant and Douglas Fairbanks; Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh; Dean Acheson, former U.S. Secretary of State; Angier Biddle Duke, former ambassador to Spain and Denmark, and Baroness Philippe de Rothschild of France.

The women on the 1969 list not professionally connected with fashion are:

Mme. Ahmed Benhima (wife of the Moroccan ambassador to the United Nations). She likes designer Dior and Gres.

Mrs. William McCormick Blair Jr., Washington, D.C. (wife of the former ambassador who now heads the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts). She wears Givenchy's creations.

—Mrs. Wyatt Cooper (Gloria Vanderbilt) of New York. She is dressed by Adolfo.

—Mrs. Kirk Douglas, Beverly Hills, California (wife of the actor). Molly Parnis fashions suit her.

—Mrs. Ahmet Ertegun, New York (wife of the music publisher). She is another Adolfo fan.

Others in this category include: Mrs. Robert Evens (Ali McGraw, actress); Mrs. Patrick Guinness, Paris and Lausanne, Switzerland; Her Highness Princess Salima, wife of the Aga Khan (former Lady Sarah Crichton-Stuart); Mrs. Graham Mattison, Paris (Brazilian-born wife of the American financier); Mrs. Charlotte Niarchos (former Charlotte Ford); Mrs. William Rayner, New York; Mrs. Charles Revson (wife of the cosmetics manufacturer); Mrs. Robert Sakowitz (former Pamela Zauderer); and Mrs. Harilaos Theodoracopulos (American-born wife of Greek shipping magnate).

Women best dressed in the fashion world are: model and socialite Marisa Berenson, fashion photographer Berry Berenson, Mrs. Robin Butler, Mrs. Oscar de la Renta, Mrs. David Evins, Lady Pamela Harlech, Mrs. Thomas Kempner, Mme. Minouche Le Blan, Eve Orton, Mrs. Renny Saltzman, Mrs. Frank Schiff and fashion model Veruschka (Countess Vera von Lehndorff in private life).

The men in private life who led the way in 1969 are: Gianni Agnelli (head of the Fiat Company of Italy); Adolphus Andrews (San Francisco business man); Harry Belafonte; Gianni Bulgari (Rome jeweler); Michael Butler (producer of "Hair"); James Coburn (film actor); Wyatt Cooper (New York publisher); Frank Gifford (New York sports broadcaster); George Hamilton (film actor); Jean-Claude Killy (Olympic skier); Baron Eric de Rothschild (member of the international banking family) and David Susskind (television personality).

Polish Foundation Adds Scholarship

NEW YORK (AP) — The Kosciuszko Foundation announces an additional scholarship of $1,000 for an American vocal student, age 19 to 25, aiming at a concert and opera areer.

It is the Genia Zielinska Memorial Scholarship, given by the sister of the coloratura soprano who was born in Kansas City of Polish parents.

One of the purposes of the foundation is to encourage young Americans to acquaint themselves with Polish music. Contestants sing arias and one or more songs by Polish composers.

Tax Policy Shift Could Be Blow To Private Schools

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Private school officials say denial of income tax benefits to their donors would be a blow—but not a fatal one—to the hundreds of such institutions mushrooming across the South to avoid integration.

In a random poll by The Associated Press, they conceded they would be hurt financially by a proposal made by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

But most said the bulk of their support came from tuition, not wealthy donors, and none felt their schools would be closed down by such tax action.

Private academies have been flourishing, principally in the South, since the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Finch estimates 400 were formed to escape public school integration.

Under present tax laws, contributions to nonprofit educational institutions are deductible from federal income taxes.

In the case of wealthy donors, this can mean a saving of 30 to 70 cents on every dollar contributed, the comptroller of one private school said.

Thousands of older private schools depend heavily on tax deductible contributions for raising funds.

However, officials of the new schools claim they do not receive heavy contributions. One from Louisiana, said his school was deliberately set up as a profit-making organization because "we figured the federal octopus would stick its nose into this."

The Rev. Melvin Plauche, a Baptist minister and president of the new Evangeline Academy, which just moved into a $100,000 building at Ville Platte, La., said:

"That's why we're a profit-making organization. If you want something, you have to [illegible] paying dearly. We're very leery of anything that will let the gov

The Treasury Department held in August 1967 that private schools, even those designed to maintain segregation, were entitled to exempt status as long as they were not direct instruments of state policy.

Finch says he will recommend that the Treasury Department revise its ruling. He concedes, however, that it would be difficult to penalize schools whose primary purpose is to avoid integration without damaging other private schools as well.

Although none of the officials of the new private schools felt they would be closed down by the shutting off of tax exempt contributions, an official of a long-established private school declared: "They'll be far more crippled by a tax action than they know. Some would have to close down."

Gov. John Bell Williams has said about 100 private schools were being formed in 30 Mississippi school districts.

In Alabama, Max Champion, headmaster of Lowndes Academy in Lowndes County, said of Finch's suggestion: "I don't think he'll get anywhere. Our school was founded four years ago for a quality education for children. And his suggestion might be unconstitutional.

"I would think that if they were to take a step in this direction, it would be reasonable that they'd go to all organizations which are tax deductible and certainly churches," said Graham Lowe, headmaster at Deerfield Academy at Albany, Ga.

"It would make tuitions skyrocket," said Dr. Joe B. Hill, headmaster of Stratford Academy in Macon, founded in 1960.

Hill said donations to his school average $500 to $600 and that such donors would be hard hit if these sums were not tax deductible.

Mansfield Praises President Nixon

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says this election year for his party may be "the time for honey rather than vinegar." As an example, he had a few words of praise for President Nixon.

"He's done a pretty good job, I think, in the first year, all things considered. At least he's got us going the other way in Vietnam with troops coming [illegible] but [illegible] out."

Mansfield said he hopes the Democratic Congress can cooperate with the Republican administration in the session ahead.

"There are ways and ways to operate in an election year," said the canned Montana senator, just back from a vacation at a Florida retreat. "Maybe this is the time for honey rather than vinegar."

Mansfield's comments come, however, as Senate Democrats prepare to battle President Nixon on a matter they see as a possible major issue in the 1970 elections—the question of priorities.

The majority leader said the first action of the new session will deal with the $19.7 billion appropriations bill which Nixon has promised to veto because it contains $1.26 billion more than the administration wants for education and health programs.

Some Democrats, Mansfield said, believe a Nixon veto would be helpful politically to them during the coming campaign, because of the issue involved.

Thirty-five senators, 25 of them Democrats, have terms expiring with the current Congress. Mansfield is one of them.

Meanwhile, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, the Republican national chairman, said Monday the Democrats are dropping Vietnam policy as a 1970 issue because, they know, "an overwhelming number of Americans support President Nixon in his search for peace."

He said the Democrats therefore are turning to the problem of crime and of inflation as campaign items. But Morton claimed those issues for the Republicans.

"To put it bluntly—we got there first," said Morton. "The American public can see that the Nixon administration recognizes both areas as serious problems and is doing everything within its power to combat them."

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic national chairman, has announced plans for a party-sponsored conference early this year, seeking action to deal with crime.

Crime legislation is near the top of the agenda for the new Senate session. Mansfield said bills dealing with organized crime and narcotics control are among the first due for action.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q—I'm a full-time college student and think I will get a tax refund, if I don't have to count a $750 scholarship as income. Is it income?

A — Scholarships are generally not taxable and do not have to be reported for tax purposes. Since there are many different types of scholarships, you will want to check with the organization that gave you the scholarship to see if they have information on its tax status.

Q — Why did IRS drop the short form 1040A?

A — One important reason was to make it easier for taxpayers to claim all the credits, deductions, and exclusions they were entitled to under the tax laws. In recent years more and more taxpayers have found it to their advantage to itemize deductions as their income increased.

The new Form 1040 is one basic page and actually calls for just about the same information that had to be entered on the front and back of the old card form. Over 30 million returns will need just the one-page Form 1040 to be complete, while another 22 million will have to attach only one additional schedule.

Copies of the schedules taxpayers will most likely need were included in the tax package mailed to some 75 million taxpayers.

Q —I got married in December. Can my wife and I file a joint return for 1969?

A — Yes, if you are married on the last day of your tax year, you can file a joint return. Your wife then cannot be claimed as a dependent on the return of another taxpayer.

Q— Does the new tax form make any difference in the way a farmer handles his credit for gas used on the farm?

A — No, the gas tax credit should be claimed as it has in the past by attaching Form 4136. The amount of credit claimed should be entered on line 21 of Form 1040.

Q — What is the surcharge rate for 1969 and how do you figure it?

A — The income tax surcharge is 10 percent for 1969. Tax surcharge tables are included in the tax packages and can be found on page T-1. These tables show the amount of surcharge based on the amount of tax liability and your filing status.

Remember that Schedule T, the tax computation schedule, will be just a worksheet for most taxpayers and need not be sent in with the Form 1040. Only if the taxpayer claims a special credit such as retirement income, investment or foreign tax, or has to pay self-employment tax, should Schedule T be sent in with the return.

Q — I rent out some land to a farmer nearby. Do I include the rents I receive as farm or rental income?

A — Enter the rents you receive from your land on Schedule E, as rental income, and attach it to your Form 1040 when you file.

Unless there is material participation in the business of farming, the rents you receive are not considered farm income.

Q—Are there any tax benefits for those 65 and over? I'll be able to file that way this year.

A — Yes, there are several benefits for those 65 years of age and over. For example, there is an extra $600 exemption for age, and special provisions covering the sale of a personal residence.

These are explained in Publication 554, Tax Benefits for Older Americans. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Nugents Name New Daughter

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Patrick Nugent and his wife Luci, son-in-law and daughter of former President Lyndon Johnson, decided Monday to name their new daughter Nicole Marie.

The infant, second child of the Nugents, was born Monday at an Austin hospital. She is the third grandchild of the former president.

Mr. and Mrs. Nugent also are parents of a son, Patrick Lyndon, who will be 3 on June 21. The former Lynda Johnson, now Mrs. Charles Robb, also has a baby girl.

Oil Import Regulations Opposed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The South Texas Chamber of Commerce, saying it opposes proposed federal regulations that would change present oil import restrictions, has urged a letter writing campaign to halt the move.

A chamber spokesman said present regulations limit foreign oil imports to 12.2 per cent of domestic production. The new system, he said, would replace the quota limitations with a tariff.

C. A. Hutchinson, Jr. of Corpus Christi, chairman of the chamber's oil and gas committee, said the organization is calling on everyone in the area to write President Nixon to protest the planned regulations.

The regulations, he said, "would force the industry to cut exploration and production activities back to approximately 29 per cent of the current levels in South Texas and across the nation."

He said it is true that consumer prices may be lower in the beginning, "but there is no assurance that import prices will remain at a lower level."

In the meantime, he said, domestic production by U.S. companies "cannot compete with the foreign imports if the new regulations are signed into law."

Seminary Denies Extravagance

FORT WORTH (AP)—Trustees of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary deny charges of extravagance in their authorization of a new $125,000 home for the president.

They said the president's home is a vital need in continuing the work of the world's largest evangelical seminary.

Some Baptists, in recent letters to the Baptist Standard, called the $125,000 authorization "sadly absurd," "outrageous" and "ridiculous."

A board official said some 40 letters of opposition have been received, which he dismissed as a small number for a denomination which claims a membership of about 11 millions.

The new home, said Dr. James E. Coggin, pastor of Fort Worth's Travis Avenue Baptist Church, "will serve for more purposes than merely the home of our president."

Dr. Coggin, who was chairman of the seminary trustees when the home was first proposed, said "There will be a major portion which will be used strictly for institutional functions with another section to be used as housing for the president and his family."

He said the current president, Dr. Robert E. Naylor, did not request the new home. Dr. Coggin noted that Dr. Naylor is nearing retirement and would live there only a short time.

Arson Suspected

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A fire at the Indianapolis Fire Department's training school did about $100 damage Sunday.

Firemen suspected arson.

Czechs Have Highest Rate Car Accidents

VIENNA, (AP) — In relation to the number of cars on the roads, Czechoslovakia has the highest traffic accident rate in the world, according to Czech traffic minister Josef Stary.

Stary quoted in the Prague paper Lidova Demokracie, blamed the high accident rate on an antiquated road network and the bad condition of most Czechoslovakian cars.

The minister, who declined to disclose the number of traffic accidents, said that last year nearly one-tenth of all registered cars were involved in accidents which killed more than 2,000 persons. This number of deaths, he said, would be "justified only if Czechoslovakia had a population of 60 million—not the 15 million it has.

Stary said that three times more accidents occurred in Czechoslovakia than in other countries, adding that although every 300th vehicle in the world was operated in Czechoslovakia, every 100th traffic death occurred here.

He said the condition of Czechoslovakia roads made driving a game of chance with human lives.

Lodiva Demokracie—the organ of the Czechoslovak Peoples Party which is tolerated by the Communist regime as having no political importance—elaborated on the minister's statement.

It said that an inspection of 234 vehicles - half of them in private hands, the other half owned by the state - turned up cal faults, and most of the car's only 10 without serious mechaniowners, the paper said, were their autos, as well as the facts that no parts were available, reaware of the poor condition of pair work takes an immensely long time.

In conclusion, the paper said that as long as a thorough service for automobiles was unavailable, authorities could not demand strict enforcement of regulations demanding perfect mechanical conditions for automobiles.

Foreign Cigarettes Taboo For Officials

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean President Chung-Hee Park ordered Monday that government officials found smoking foreign cigarettes be fired.

Park issued the instruction while receiving a briefing on a ban on foreign cigarettes from government officials administering the crackdown.

Separate bedrooms don't ruin marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have never gone to anyone for advice before, but you seem to be the easiest one for me to turn to. About three years ago my husband thought he would get a better night's sleep if he had a room of his own. I was opposed to the idea and said so, but he got his way. [He is very selfish.]

We have a wonderful family, and I really want to try to save our marriage more for their sake than for my own.

Well, our relationship has deteriorated ever since, but it really became obvious on our last anniversary when he took me out for dinner, gave me a corsage, was very agreeable, but when we came home, he went right to his bedroom and I didn't even get a kiss!

That's all the thanks I get for giving him four beautiful children and raising them almost single-handed.

Please, Abby, try to make him see how rejected I feel.

UNHAPPY IN PORTLAND

DEAR UNHAPPY: I doubt that the separate bedrooms was responsible for the deterioration of your marriage. [It probably started long before that.] Without seeming to be unkind, there is something of the "martyr" in your attitude which suggests that you feel your husband "owes" you love because you gave him four beautiful children. No man ever loved a woman because she gave him children. He may feel some "obligation" to her, but that is not love. You should see a counselor and find out what the real barrier between you is.

DEAR ABBY: After having a fight with her mother one night, my 18-year-old niece came to my house all upset and asked if she could come and live with me. As she had nowhere else to go, I consented. It's been six months now, and she's too much for me to handle.

I don't like the looks of some of the company she keeps, and she doesn't always tell things straight. [She doesn't exactly lie, but she doesn't tell the whole truth, either.] She is very cagey. Anyway, this girl is wearing me out.

Her father sends her support money which barely covers her expenses. I have a vacation coming up, but I hesitate to go and leave this girl to entertain her kooky friends in my home.

Should I tell her to get her own apartment?

MUDDLED IN BIRMINGHAM

DEAR MUDDLED: Since the girl is "too much for you to handle," advise her parents, and let them take over.

DEAR ABBY: May I give some advice to the girl who was still "untouched" four days after her marriage:

Pack quickly and walk fast. Twelve years ago I met a nice young man who never got fresh with me, which was a relief, as I was determined to be pure as Mary when I married.

We were wed, and four months later I was STILL "pure as Mary." One night, while under the influence of liquor, he confessed that he had always had a problem with girls. They made him sick!

He said he had seen a doctor who told him that all he needed was more exposure to girls, and he'd get over it.

Well, my husband was able to function quite well as a man when he put his mind to it, but he'd always end up being sick to his stomach. Nevertheless I stuck with him and we had three children.

When I caught him playing around with his barber I knew I was fighting a losing battle, so I quietly took my children and left.

I have never told anyone the real story, and I never will.

I am now married to a real man. Abby, I realize that most gay guys would rather be normal, but please tell any man who prefers men, to quit fighting it, and to leave women alone.

Negro Appointed As Superintendent

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Rev. J. Garfield Owens of Dallas has become the first Negro in Texas to be named superintendent of an all-white Methodist District.

The Rev. Mr. Owens, now Methodist superintendent of the Austin-Victoria District, has been appointed superintendent of the San Antonio District, effective Feb. 1.

The Rev. Jack D. Heacock, San Antonio district superintendent, was appointed superintendent of the Corpus Christi District. He succeeds Dr. Don Redman, who has been named to the Methodist Foundation in Austin.

The Rev. Mr. Owens is a member of the all-black West Texas Annual Conference, which is expected to merge with the five all-white Methodist Annual Conferences in Texas in June. Both of the all-black Methodist Conferences in the state will be a part of the merger. The second is the Gulf Coast Annual Conference of Houston.

Colorado's Abortion Law Attacked By Supporters

By LOUDON KELLY
Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — Nearly three years ago Colorado became the first state to liberalize its law governing legal abortions under approved medical conditions.

Since then more than 1,500 women have had Colorado operations to end pregnancies. But now the law is under attack from some legislators, doctors and other authorities who favored it at the time it became effective April 25, 1967.

"We tried to change a cruel, outmoded, inhuman law," said State Rep. Richard Lamm of Denver, who led the fight for the abortion bill. "And what we got was a cruel, outmoded, inhuman law."

Lamm said 19 of every 20 women who seek a legal abortion in Colorado are refused.

"We force them either to have the baby or to have an illegal abortion," he said.

"It's a tragedy that won't end until we eliminate all laws on abortion and make it a private matter between a woman and her physician."

Nothing could be done before next year at the earliest since the present legislative session deals only with items on the governor's call. Abortion isn't one of them.

Dr. Ben C. Williams of Denver says "doctors were actually better off under the old law." He is associate clinical professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

"All the new law did was put a medical problem into politics," Dr. Williams said, "and make doctors and hospitals so nervous that in 1967 we did fewer abortions on medical grounds than we did before the new law."

Dr. E. N. Akers, director of child health services at the Colorado Health Department, said the law "has not done what we had hoped it would do—it has not cut down the percentage of illegal abortions."

Dr. Akers added that if the law were changed to make a legal abortion a patient-doctor matter entirely, "we wouldn't have the hospital facilities to handle the flood of such operations."

The new law allows a woman to seek an abortion if her mental or physical health is in danger, if she has become pregnant through rape or incest, or if there is a chance the infant might be born deformed. The old law permitted an abortion only if a doctor felt his patient might die otherwise.

The health department said 1,447 legal abortions were reported between the date the law took effect and last Nov. 30, the latest available figures. Of these 314 were women from 37 states other than Colorado.

Heart Transplant Recipient OK

HOUSTON (AP) — Roger K. Burke, 34, this city's newest heart transplant recipient, was reported in satisfactory condition today.

A Methodist Hospital spokesman said the New Castle, Pa. machine operator received 11 quids by mouth Monday.

Burke received his new heart in a three-hour operation last Saturday. The hospital did not reveal the name of the donor nor the surgeons who performed the operation.

Eleven previous heart transplants have been performed at Methodist by a team headed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey. Three Methodist recipients survive.

Twenty-one heart transplants have been performed at nearby St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital by a team headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley. One recipient survives.

Baptist Conference Opens Today

FORT WORTH (AP) — More than 10,000 Baptists were due here today for the Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference.

Speakers included Kenneth Chafin, director of evangelism of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlanta, Ga., and Dale Evans, wife of actor-singer Roy Rogers.

Also scheduled to address the group were C. M. Ward, radio evangelist for "Revival Time," the official broadcast service of the Assemblies of God, and Edward Lindaman, a management planning executive of North American Rockwell's space division.

The executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas spent Monday exploring methods of bringing in more "grass roots" support for the convention's multimillion dollar budget.

Meeting in special session, the committee studied recommendations from Baptist associations across the state.

The committee also approved the appointment of Gil Stricklin of Atlanta, Ga., a former Texas newsman, as associate for personal evangelism for the general convention.

Stricklin, who will move to Dallas, is public relations director for the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

Party Park?

AUBURN, N.Y. ((AP) — One man's interpretation of his rights in People's Park met a court test, after the man used a cocktail table in People's Park arrested for public intoxication.

Edward Hickey, 39, told the local magistrate: "They put a cocktail table in eople's Park so I went to the park and put a bottle of beer on the table."

The magistrate dismissed the charge, ruling that Hickey did not endanger himself or anyone else, and said: "Party-going in People's Park is a little premature because of the newly planted grass."

The park is an area of the city's urban renewal project; and awaits construction of a condominium. A citizens' group set up benches, planted grass, and placed a table in the area, located in the center of Auburn's business district.

The People Behind Your Electric Switch

It takes more than generating plants, substations, transformers and electric lines to provide your good electric service.

It takes people—employees with know-how and experience who take pride in serving you well.

The 2,600 employees of Texas Electric Service Company represent a wide variety of skills. Their abilities and commitment to service are reflected every day in the way you are served.

These are experienced people. Actually, about ten percent of the company's employees are members of the Quarter Century Club signifying 25 years or more of continuous service with the company.

These are the people who are serving you when you turn on lights or an electric appliance . . . the hundreds of people behind your electric switch. They work constantly to maintain a high standard of service—so you can live better electrically.
