Poppy Sale To Honor War Dead Will Be Conducted In This County On Saturday

Poppies to honor America's dead warriors of two World Wars will be worn in Lamesa and Dawson County on Saturday, May 26th, Mrs. J. F. Smith, president of Allen-Houston Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary announced today.

The little red flowers will pay tribute both to those men who have died for their country in the present war and to those who fell 27 years ago in France and Belgium among the swaying poppies. The money that is received for the flowers will be used to aid the afflicted veterans of both wars and their families.

Extensive preparations for the observance of Poppy Day are being made by the Allen-Houston Unit of the Auxiliary here under the leadership of Mrs. J. F. Smith, president, and Mrs. C. A. Baldwin, unit poppy chairman. Everyone in the city will be able to buy the flowers of remembrance from the many volunteer workers from the Auxiliary, and Girl Scouts who will be on the streets all through the day.

The flowers are made of crepe paper on the pattern of the wild poppy of Flanders.

They were ordered from state hospitals where disabled veterans lie them under the direction of the state department of the Auxiliary. Making the poppies has helped these veterans keep their minds and fingers occupied, causing the otherwise tedious months to pass quickly and at the same time furnishing the men with a means of livelihood.

This year it is expected that more Americans than ever before will wish to wear the poppies as a salute to the dead soldiers and their bereaved families, and as a financial aid to the living but disabled soldiers and their needy families.

Serving on the poppy committee are Mesdames C. Baldwin, Sam Richardson, and E. W. Renner. It has further been announced that Mesdames R. L. Price, Alpha Dugger, and Ed DuBose will serve under the chairmanship of Mrs. V. Z. Rogers on the flower committee for the Memorial Day Service.

The idea of the poppy as a memorial flower for the World War dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Flanders. The flowers were the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war. Along the edge of the trenches, beneath the tangled barbed wire, about the ragged shell holes and over the fresh graves, it seemed to be the one immortal thing in that region where death reigned. The soldiers of all nations came to look upon it as the living symbol of the sacrifices of their dead comrades.

Returning soldiers brought the vision of the poppy fields back with them, engraved indelibly in their hearts with the memories of the comrades they had left on the battle-front. Spontaneously the poppy took on a sacred significance. It became the flower of remembrance for the men who had poured out their life's blood around the roots of the little plant.

Memories of the war dead always bring thoughts of those who did not die but came back doomed to years of hardship and suffering, sometime worse than death. In the poppy was found a way to link the honoring of the dead with service for the living. The war patriotic organizations in different countries began to conduct sales of poppies made by disabled veterans, to raise funds for relief work among suffering ex-servicemen and their families. The nationwide sale of memorial poppies was begun by the Legion and Auxiliary in 1921. In 1922 the first poppies made by American veterans were produced in the hospitals of Minnesota, and this work has steadily expanded until poppies are being made in more than fifty hospitals and disabled veterans' workrooms in forty different states.

Silver Star And Cluster Awarded Lt. Tony Ybarra

Lt. Tony Ybarra, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Domingo Ybarra of this city, has recently been awarded the Silver Star and an Oak Leaf Cluster for outstanding service on the battlefield.

The citation accompanying the award of the Silver Star is as follows: For gallantry in action in the vicinity of Alimena, Sicily, 22 July 1943. During a heavy enemy artillery barrage, Lieutenant Ybarra calmly and efficiently moved his battalion's motor pool to a more protected area. Then, despite grave danger of exploding shells, he administered first aid to the wounded. His coolness and initiative inspired his men and reduced the extent of damage to our material.

The citation for the award of the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Silver Star reads as follows: For gallantry in action in the vicinity of Le Mesnil Adee, Normandy, France, 3 August 1944. When a hostile tank opened heavy fire upon his unit's trucking positions, Lieutenant Ybarra voluntarily moved about the area and, at great personal risk, directed movement of vehicles and personnel from the danger zone. Lieutenant Ybarra's exemplary gallantry won the respect of all who witnessed his courage.

Lt. Ybarra has been in service for more than 5 years, and has been overseas since July of 1942. Since serving overseas he has participated in four battles, including the North African campaign, and the battles for Sicily, Normandy, and Germany. He is a member of the Infantry.

Printed below is a letter which Lt. Ybarra wrote to his father, at the time he sent his citation home: May 1, 1945.

Dear Father: Enclosed find my two Silver Star citations, which I have for some time been trying to send home. Hang on to them for me as I have no way of carrying them with me.

I feel great and lucky to have been given a leave at this time. At the present time we are not doing much and have had a chance to clean up some, and also to rest up a bit.

I don't know what we are going to do when this ends. In fact I am not sure whether I want to go home for a few days. Yes, it would be very nice to, but to even think of my having to return after a month at home is hard on me. Also, thirty days won't give me time to see the people I love or to do the things I have planned for some time. This could be arranged if this show would end today. There is only a little left to do, yet, we don't know when its going to end. At any rate most of us will have to go over to fight the Japs. If we don't go from here, we would be sure to be sent from the States. So you see, as much as I want a leave, I still have to remember my

The Army ANSWERS Your Personal War Problems

Your questions on allotments, insurance, legal matters or other matters as they relate to Army personnel and their dependents will be answered in this column or by letter. Write Headquarters, Eighth Service Command, Dallas 2, Texas.

Q. Our son was killed in action in France and buried there. Now that V-E Day has come, wouldn't it be possible to have his body brought back home?

A. The bodies of soldier dead outside the United States will not be brought back until action has ceased in all theaters of war. At that time the War Department will announce a plan for disinterment and the Quartermaster General will communicate with the next of kin of the deceased soldiers to ascertain if they wish to have the bodies returned.

Q. I understand that soldiers on pass or furlough are allowed to work at civilian jobs. Are there any restrictions on the types of work they can do?

A. The War Department policy is to encourage soldiers to use as much of their free time as they wish in essential war industries or agriculture. Employment which renders direct service to the general public, is prohibited (trolley or taxicab drivers, store clerks, salesmen and waiters).

Q. My husband is an officer who has been in combat in Germany. Does the War Department policy for release of enlisted men from the service after V-E Day apply to him?

A. Only in part. Although officers will have adjusted service rating scores just as will enlisted men, this factor will be secondary, because officers have had more training, have heavier responsibilities and have developed special skills and leadership capacity.

Q. Under the G. I. Bill of Rights, does the government loan a veteran money to buy a home, or is the loan made by a bank?

A. The loan is made by a bank. The government guarantees a portion of the loan and pays interest for one year on the portion it guarantees. Necessary papers for application for the government's guarantee are at the banks.

Q. My husband is an Infantry future tasks and I won't know what to do until the last minute. The only thing I can do is sweat this show out. My leave should be within the next 30 days, so you see I won't have much time to prepare for it. There's nothing more to say so I will close now. Give mom my love. You and the kids take care of things. Your son, TONY.

Reserve office now on active duty overseas. When he is released from the service, will he receive five hundred dollars for each year he was on active duty?

A. No. The lump sum payment of five hundred dollars to officers for each year of active service applies only to those holding commissions in the Air Corps Reserve, who are on flying status.

Q. My daughter is a WAC and she is married to soldier. Both are overseas. Her husband has been wounded and believes he will be returned to this country for limited service. Could my daughter request a return to duty here, because of her husband's case?

A. Yes. Theater commanders are authorized to return to duty in the Women's Army Corps who requests the return and presents satisfactory evidence that her husband has been sent back from permanent overseas assignment for such reasons as hospitalization or honorable discharge.

Q. Is it true that soldiers over 42 years of age can be discharged from the Army?

A. Yes. The War Department has announced that an enlisted man 42 years of age or over who applies will be discharged from the Army unless he is undergoing disciplinary action or requires further medical or surgical treatment. This policy does not apply to WACs.

Q. My son wants to go to college under the G. I. Bill of Rights when he is discharged from the Army. Would he have to continue the same course of study he was following before he entered the service?

A. No.

Q. My husband was killed in action overseas. Along with other papers I am sending to the company with which he held civilian life insurance. I will have to include a death certificate. To whom in the Army should I write to obtain one?

A. Write for Form 0670-1 to the Casualty Branch, the Adjutant General's Department, Washington 25, D. C. Be sure to include your husband's full name and serial number and the designation of the organization in which he was serving at the time of his death.

Q. Before I was discharged from the Army, I applied for maternity care for my wife, who is soon to have a child. Will my discharge prevent her from getting this aid?

A. No. If your wife became pregnant while you were in the service and you filed an application for maternity and infant care before you were discharged, the aid will be granted.

Beef Production Payment Plan Announced Here

Charles E. Tarter, administrative officer of the local AAA office, states that the War Food Administration has announced a beef production payment program, which he reports will be handled similar to the dairy production payment program.

According to Tarter, the payment has been announced as fifty cents per cwt., effective on sales beginning May 19, on good and choice cattle.

Requirements of the program are that the cattle must have been owned and fed by the applicant at least 30 days. The beef must be sold to a licensed slaughterer, and must weigh 800 pounds live weight or more. The sale price must at least be the amount listed for minimum stabilization range for good grade cattle.

Tarter states that all cattlemen are advised that they must retain evidence of sales showing the above information to obtain payments on their beef.

Evangelistic Drive For Spanish Closes

The evangelistic campaign for the Spanish Mexican people of this city came to an end Monday, May 21, with the exhibition of the "Pictures of Christ's Life and Crucifixion." The pictures were exhibited by Evangelist Rev. and Mrs. Gail Shultz of Laverne, Oklahoma, at the East Side Baptist Mission.

According to Rev. E. B. Gonzalez, pastor of the East Side Mission, the church building was full for the first time in its history and many were standing outside.

Rev. Gonzalez reports that the services were given in both Spanish and English, as both Spanish and English speaking people were in the congregation. The songs were sung in both languages and all joined together in the campaign.

Life On Okinawa Described By Pfc. G. Goolsby

Editor's Note: The Dawson County Courier received the following letter from Pfc. Grady Goolsby, a member of the Infantry who is now stationed on Okinawa: May 9, 1945 Okinawa

Hello Folks: Just a few lines to say that I am getting along O. K. I thought I had seen a lot of county before I got in the Army but I have seen a 1000 times more over here—and I have seen all I want to.

I am on the island of Okinawa and it is a pretty place. It is also plenty darn rough. I have slept in the rain and mud and eaten G rations for a long time. We go to bed wet and shake all night. We get up in the morning and heat our coffee when we have time.

Sometimes I have water to wash my face and sometimes I don't. Now we get nearly all we need. When we first got here I didn't take a bath for about 20 days. The first one was in cold spring water, but boy it felt good. I really felt my age until I got clean.

Well I don't know much to write about, only I am close to Tokyo. I guess this war will be over some day.

Well I have to close now and cook my supper. It's my time to walk guard tonight and it is a spooky place with the Japs over here, and the war isn't over yet. Love to all. GRADY.

Mrs. Novell Rogers and children and Mrs. Jack Henderson of Seattle, Washington and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobbs of Phoenix, Arizona are visiting here this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gambill.

Miss Glenodean Esmond of Smithville will visit here this week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Esmond.

Ways To Clear Fields Of Johnson Grass Are Given

County Agent T. A. Barfield reports that it will soon be time for farmers to start treating Johnson grass in order to eradicate it, and reports that orders should be placed early for chemicals which they plan to use in ridding their fields of the grass.

"Chlorates are recommended for use where there isn't a chance for stock to feed on the treated grass. Chlorate treated grass is poisonous to livestock," states Barfield.

He continues, "Either calcium or sodium chlorate are recommended for use on Johnson Grass. Mix one pound of chlorate to one gallon of water and spray when Johnson grass is entering the blooming stage. Two to three applications of this spray will be needed to completely eradicate the grass. Several applications should be used because at the first spraying there are a number of shoots which haven't appeared above the ground. The spray should be used early in the morning or late in the evening to obtain best results.

"Use approximately 200 gallons of the solution per acre at the first application, and 150 gallons per acre upon the second application. "The cost of the chemicals should run from approximately 10 to 12 cents per pound.

"Excellent results have been obtained also by spraying Johnson grass with oil sprays. Use 1-2 portion of kerosene to 1-2 portion of burnt lube or distillate for a good oil spray."

According to Rev. E. B. Gonzalez, pastor of the East Side Mission, the church building was full for the first time in its history and many were standing outside.

Rev. Gonzalez reports that the services were given in both Spanish and English, as both Spanish and English speaking people were in the congregation. The songs were sung in both languages and all joined together in the campaign.

FOR WHAT SAITH THE SCRIPTURES? Rom. 4:3

E. L. JONES
TRUTH vs. ERROR

Truth:—He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved but he that believeth not shall be damned. Mark 16:16.
Error:—He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved but he that is not baptized shall be damned.

Truth:—Except a man be born of water and of the spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. John 3:5.
Error:—Except a man be baptized of the water and baptized of the spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God

Truth:—For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. Rom. 10:13.
Error:—Do not call upon the Lord, he will not hear you.

Truth:—For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. Gal. 3:26.
Error:—For ye are all the children of God by baptism in Christ Jesus.

Truth:—Therefore we are buried WITH HIM by baptism. Rom. 6:4.
Error:—We are buried without him, but we get with him after we are buried.

Truth:—Thy sins are forgiven . . . Thy faith hath saved thee. Luke 7:48-50.
Error:—Your sins are not forgiven . . . You must be baptized.

Truth:—The like figure whereunto baptism doth also now save us. 1 Pet. 3:21.
Error:—In reality baptism doth also now save us.

Truth:—Repent ye, and believe the gospel. Mark 1:15; Acts 20:21.
Error:—Believe the gospel, and then repent.

Truth:— . . . earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints. Jude 3.
Error:—Earnestly contend for the faith that was discovered in the first part of the 19th Century.

Latest News From HEALTH UNIT

IN WAR-TIME

Have you been on a train lately? Unless you appreciate the fact that babies and toddlers are very special people with very special requirements, you are in for a lot of trouble if you attempt a train trip with them. Planning should be done well in advance.

You will need to make your train reservations early. Select the first or the middle of the week for traveling. Stay off trains on week ends or holidays. Travel then is like a bargain-counter rush. Travel arrangements of any kind are hard to make nowadays. Railroads are geared to military needs and civilians take what is left over. If you get in a deluxe coach and your child is 2 or 3 years of age, you may be able to get a reservation for him. Otherwise you will have to hold him on your lap. Remember, too, if you have trouble, the Travelers Aid is always willing to help. Its workers can help you locate friends or relatives. They can help you if you lose your tickets or your money. They can get a doctor if you or your baby become ill. They can tell you of good restaurants to eat in or of places where you can rest or feed your baby. If you are a serviceman's wife, the USO can help you, too. Travel light, so far as your own personal belongings are concerned. Lighter that you've ever imagined you could. Unless your baby has completely mastered the art of keeping dry, use disposable diapers. If you can possibly get them, if you cannot get them, then the next best bet is a supply of standard diaper linings.

Food for babies who are not breast-fed presents a difficult problem. The one thing you cannot do is to run the risk of giving your baby contaminated or sour milk. Never attempt to carry the milk warm in a vacuum jug. If you do the bacteria that are present in milk will multiply many times, with the result that when the milk is fed to the baby, it will make him sick.

For baby's protection, it is very important that you do not give him water that has not been boiled. Orange Juice and cod-liver oil usually cannot be carried conveniently. There is no harm in letting your baby go without these during the time when you will be traveling. Unless your baby is on a special diet, don't load yourself down with canned foods under present traveling conditions. Plan to use as little food as you think you can get by with. Remember, that nothing can be heated except by the addition of hot water from your vacuum jug, that no utensils can be washed on the train.

Mothers sometimes attempt to bathe babies on a train in the wash-room basins. Don't do it. It isn't sanitary. It is better to let your baby go unattended during the trip than to run the risk of infection. Keep handy at all times a small emergency diaper kit in a rubber-lined bag, so you can stop anywhere and take care of the baby if necessary.

Use good judgement about accepting offers to help you. They are usually made in good faith and with the best intentions in the world. And you'll certainly need some help if you're traveling with a youngster in these days of over-worked train crews and few redcaps. But don't leave your baby with a stranger in a railroad station, and do hesitate to leave him with a total stranger on the train. He may be frightened when you go away. Don't trust your baby to anyone who has a cold or any other visible illness that the baby might catch.

There are a few things that you might need to know about bus travel also. Buses make 15 minute rest stops every 2 hours and 40 minutes. Any child who occupies a seat is required to have a half-fare ticket even though he is under five. Restaurants in bus depots are overcrowded and you may not be able to get food in the time you have. For a short trip you had better plan on carrying food for yourself and your youngster.

A job this traveling with babies in wartime: Certainly not something to attempt lightly. But if you must travel with your baby, you'll be doing a real war service if you make it as painless as possible for all concerned.

Subscribers Are Asked To Check Expiration Date

Courier readers are asked to watch the expiration dates on their paper in order that they may not miss a single issue of The Dawson County Courier, your home town newspaper.

In other words, if the number following your name on the paper reads 6-45 that means that your subscription will expire on June 1, 1945 and that unless your subscription is renewed your paper will be stopped at that time.

The subscription price of the Courier is $3.00 a year in Dawson, Martin, Gaines, Borden and Lynn Counties, and $2.00 for six months. For a limited time only a 2 year subscription will be offered for $5.00, or you can save one dollar by taking a two year subscription. The subscription price outside this territory is $4.00 a year, except for men in the armed services which remains at $3.00 a year.

THE LORD'S SUPPER

1. IT WAS INSTITUTED BY CHRIST:—

"As they were eating, Jesus took bread and blessed it and broke it and gave it to his disciples, and said, take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, drink ye all of it for this is my blood of the New Testament, which was shed for many for the remission of sins." Matt. 26:26-28.

2. IT IS COMMUNION WITH CHRIST:—

The cup is communion with his blood and the bread is communion with his body. 1 Cor. 10:16.

3. IT IS NOT A FEAST:—

We have houses to eat and drink in. We are not to make a feast of the Supper. 1 Cor. 11:22.

4. IT IS IN REMEMBRANCE OF CHRIST'S DEATH:—

"Take, eat, this is my body which was broken for you." 1 Cor. 11:24.

5. IT SHOWS THE LORD'S DEATH:—

"For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup you do show the Lord's death till he come." 1 Cor. 11:26.

6. IT SHOULD BE OBSERVED IN A WORTHY MANNER:—

"Whoever shall eat this bread in an unworthy manner is guilty of the body. 1 Cor. 11:27.

7. WE MUST EXAMINE OURSELVES AND NOT OTHERS:—

"Let a man examine himself." 1 Cor. 11:28.

Restrictions Are Lifted On Farm Electric Service

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Frank Harris and Howard Moore, board members of the local Lyntegar Electric Cooperative:

Lyntegar Electric Cooperative has received word that the War Production Board has removed all restrictions from the construction of power line extensions requiring less than $25,000 worth of materials. It is no longer necessary to have "animal units" and special types of electrical equipment to qualify for service.

The Cooperative is already making plans to electrify all unserved areas in this territory. If you or your neighbor want electric service, they urge that you sign up at the Cooperative Office in Tahoka or with C. E. Tarter at the Dawson County AAA office immediately as the present supply of materials for rural power line construction is limited and the number of signed consumers will be the major factor in determining which lines are built first. All the lines they are planning to build cannot be built right away. Many applicants will have to wait

Just a little longer, but the Cooperative is starting a program to make electricity available to every rural prospect in their territory.

New lines to be constructed will make electric power available to many farms to help them produce food needed to win the war against Japan and the peace in Europe. In the last 28 months about 250 miles of line has been built by the cooperation to serve approximately 700 members under WBP's wartime regulations authorizing the electrification of farms able to use electrical equipment in livestock, dairy and poultry production.

Farms electrified by the cooperative under these regulations were able to make an important contribution toward the defeat of Germany because they had electric power to help save labor and produce food. The program that is now starting will help finish Japan and win the peace. It will provide jobs for boys coming home from the European war and help the farmers to live better and farm more efficiently.

Pvt. Milton Ray of Camp Gordon, Georgia is visiting here this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ray.

Mrs. H. L. Burnan and daughter Louise left this week for San Diego, California to visit with relatives.

The Corregidor Battle Described By Pvt. Gonzalez

Editor's Note: The following letter was written by Pvt. Jacob R. Gonzalez to his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Gonzalez of this city. Pvt. Gonzalez is a paratrooper, and is stationed on Mindoro, in the Philippines. He entered the service 1 year and 7 months ago, and has been overseas for the past 8 months:

May 12, 1945.
Dear Daddy,
I write you this letter wishing you the best of health. I am well thanks to our Heavenly Father.

Dear Daddy, I am in the battle again. We took a good rest after fighting in the Philippines.

I am sorry that I didn't write you a long letter in regard to the battle of Corregidor, Mindano, Luzon, Manila, etc. giving details about the heroic assaults of Corregidor, etc.

We were informed that in Corregidor the Japanese were about 800 strong, but when we jumped we found more than that, as we counted 5200 dead. We, the men of our Paratrooper Regiment, counted the dead. We overcame the enemy and took their positions which were very strong.

We had a hard time getting the Japanese out of their foxholes. They were like rats in holes.

I want to remind you about the Bible verse you sent me. I saw the fulfillment of those words. "A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but shall not come nigh thee."

I still keep that wonderful Psalm an dhave read it so much that I have learned it all. When I am in the battle again, I can have the sure protection of God.

I know General MacArthur personally. When we took Corregidor he came and congratulated our colonel and our regiment of paratroopers and was also present when we raised our flag and praised us with his valiant words. General MacArthur looks like the pictures we have seen of him, but seems older now.

He embraced our colonel and told him, "You have taken from the Japanese, Corregidor, and they will never take it again."

We took our rest on Mindoro at the edge of a town named San Jose, which is like O'Donnell.

I am sending you some Japanese souvenirs which I took off a Japanese with whom I exchanged bullets. He had the bad luck, and fell dead. He fought like the others to the last minute of his life. They are valiant and fanatic, but the boys of our regiment never fear them and we have learned to fight with cold nerves. Enclosed is a picture of a Japanese soldier which I found in his pocket and the picture of his Japanese girl. The boy that I killed is one of the many that I saw fall by our fire. This soldier fought with me when he came out of his foxhole, and you can thank God that in this body to body fight, he kept me safe without a scratch. Thanks to God. You will find some Japanese money in the Japanese billfold I have sent you. Show it to my friends in Lamesa.

Regards to mother, sister, and brother and to the friends of the church. I am asking for your prayers.

With much love, you son,
Jacob R. Gonzalez.

Mrs. G. W. Harrison spent several days this past week in El Paso visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collier.

Mrs. Pruitt, Blaine Wiggins, Jack Cousins, Jimmy Adams, Rube Kelley and T. J. Middleton.

WAR BOND TO INSURE POST-WAR FAR IMPROVEMENTS

By P. T. Symons, Dean and Director Maryland Extension Service

Probably no class of people can utilize War Bonds to better advantage than those who operate the farms of the nation. By almost superman efforts they have met the challenge of producing food in unprecedented quantities. In so doing, and because of shortage of labor and restrictions on materials, maintenance and improvements of farms and rural homes have had to be postponed. As a result, there is a tremendous potential need and there is the corresponding desire on the part of rural people for the things which will make their homes more comfortable and attractive and their efforts more efficient.

With the increased income from wartime conditions, the funds can be accumulated for the time when the things needed and desired can be obtained. War Bonds afford an ideal form in which to invest the funds for postwar improvements. In that form they help in the war effort. They do not compete and tend to inflate the prices of things which are in short supply at this time. There is every prospect that they will buy more in the postwar period than can be purchased with them now.

Jarvis Ray Russell of Muleshoe spent the week end here visiting with his sister, Mrs. Franklin Dennis.

CIVILIANS AT WAR

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 131st week of the war against Japan to:

1. Enlist your dog for scout duty with Pacific Combat Troops. The Army needs 500 large dogs immediately and 1600 before August. Write the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.
2. Plan to can your surplus early vegetables and fruits. Present high blue point values indicate how necessary home-canned foods will be next winter.
3. Insulate your house now to keep it cool during summer, as well as to save fuel which will continue to be scarce next winter.

FOODS IN PLENTIFUL SUPPLY DURING JUNE LISTED

Carrots, cabbage, potatoes, tomatoes and onions are expected to be in plentiful supply throughout the greater part of the United States during June, the War Food Administration says. Also readily available will be dry-mix soups, dry edible peas, wheat flour and bread, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, oatmeal, and soya flour, grits and flakes. Apple butter, citrus marmalade, jellies, and grape, plum and fig jams continue in good supply. Due to military demands or transportation problems, some temporary local shortages may occur even in these plentiful foods. It is expected that an abundance of Georgia and Carolina peaches will be found in most eastern and mid-western markets after mid-June and that substantial supplies of locally produced fresh vegetables in all of the leading markets

NEW PRICE REGULATIONS ON AUTO REPAIR ANNOUNCED

Specific limits have been set on the hours of labor that automobile repair establishments may charge for in computing prices for 56 common passenger car repair jobs, the Office of Price Administration announced. This action, effective June 14, 1945, is taken to check a practice in some repair shops of charging customers for more hours of labor than were actually required to do the particular repair job. The repair jobs covered range all the way from a minor brake adjustment to the complicated job of installing the crank shaft and bearings. All shops are required to supply sales slips or receipts to customers for any of the 56 listed operations, regardless of whether not requested by the customer. The slip or receipt must describe briefly the service, cite its number in the new regulation, the shop's hourly rate, the number of hours charged for, the prices charged for parts and materials, and the total charge. Automobile repair services not among the 56 listed continue to be priced as formerly under the services regulation.

MORE WAR PRISONERS TO BE USED IN AGRICULTURE

The War Food Administration announced that it has been assured by the War Department that increased numbers of prisoners of war will be available this year for agricultural work. The WFA Office of Labor reported that a peak total of 85,000 war prisoners will be used in contract work in the period through July as agricultural laborers. Last year approximately 65,000 prisoners of war were available. The men will be assigned through the nine service command areas of the Army. The type of farm work they engage in will be determined by the directors of State Extension Services. WFA will request an even larger number of POW's for farm work in the peak of the fall harvesting season.

LARGE INCREASE OF ALARM CLOCKS NOT LIKELY SOON

Limitation Order L-175, issued April 14, 1944, to control production and distribution of spring-driven and electric alarm clocks, has been revoked to permit manufacturers to increase production whenever the large military contracts they now hold are reduced and materials and skilled labor become available, WPA announced. It said, however, that it foresaw no sharp increase in the number of alarm clocks available to civilians in the immediate future.

Petroleum Has Had A Lead Role In Three Wars

It has been said that the art of war since the birth of Christ has been changed and molded to entirely new patterns by only two great influences; namely, gunpowder and petroleum.

J. R. Flanken, for many years distributor of Gulf Oil products, has prepared the following article most of which he states is taken from an article written by Dr. Paul H. Giddens which appeared in the Gulf Orange Disc, a magazine published by the Gulf Oil Corporation. The article which is entitled "Oil, In Three Wars," is printed below:

In World War II—with thousands of planes, tanks, jeeps, trucks, tractors, submarines, motor torpedo boats, and other vessels to be fueled and lubricated—we appreciate the way in which oil has revolutionized the conduct of war and is determining the outcome. In thinking of the importance of petroleum in this war, however, we should not overlook the fact that it played a decisive role in two other crises in our history—Civil War and World War I.

Less familiar to us is the part played by petroleum in our Civil War. Of course, it was not used as a fuel or lubricant for mechanized plants in Texas. Ideas incorporated in this plant have been accumulated by Mr. Ayers for more than a quarter of a century. Mr. Ayers has been asked by many of his friends to patent several of the machines and labor saving devices which he uses. This has not been done and the plant is open for inspection to anyone who would like to make a tour through it.

A junior partner of the firm is Ray C. Ayer's Son, R. E. (Bob) Ayers who is a member of the Naval Air Corps, and who will be active in the operation of the feed and grain business when he returns from service.

The feed manufactured at the Slaton plant is shipped to Lamesa and other feed stores located over the plains.

The firm operates a huge elevator in Slaton which can be used for additional storage space for the grain elevator in Lamesa.

units, but it proved to be of the utmost importance in other respects. At the Battle of Gettysburg, for example, petroleum was used to treat the wounds of the soldiers. Petroleum's special contribution, however, was the fact that it provided the world with cheap, safe, and efficient illuminant and lubricant.

Between the Civil War and 1914 two things occurred to revolutionize the conduct of war—the introduction of petroleum as fuel for warships and the development of the internal combustion engine and its application to vehicles for war purposes. The general adoption of oil instead of coal as fuel for ships immediately increased the fighting capacity of every fleet by at least 50 per cent. After 1900 the United States Navy made rapid strides toward adopting oil as fuel for its warships. After 1912 all battle ships were to burn oil exclusively.

The demand for petroleum to fuel and lubricate ships in World War I and to power trucks, tanks, submarines, and airplanes—new weapons of war which made their appearance for the first time—was enormous. During the Spring of 1917 German U-boats had sunk so many tankers that the British oil reserves became seriously low. France's plight was even more precarious than Britain's. On December 15, 1917 Premier Clemenceau frantically appealed to President Wilson, stating

Petroleum Has—

The defeat of the Central Powers was due, in a large measure, to an inadequate supply of oil. Germany possessed no petroleum deposits of any consequence. The failure to secure adequate petroleum supplies was undoubtedly a prime factor in Germany's defeat.

With the outbreak of World War II in 1939, the character of warfare had been completely changed. It is clearing the day of mechanized war. The internal combustion engine, whose potentialities were only beginning to be understood in 1918, has been perfected and adapted to all kinds of engines of war. Thousands of men are now being used in the fight around the world, and they consume "oceans of oil." Furthermore, petroleum requirements for non-military but essential activities are vast. Never has the fate of so many nations depending upon an adequate supply of petroleum. Germany's oil resources since 1914 have not increased materially, yet her war machine has been far more powerful, and, at the same time, more dependent upon petroleum.

When Hitler came to power in 1933, Germany was producing about one-fourth of its oil requirements. He sought to make the country self-sufficient through the drilling of new wells, economy in consumption, improving the synthetic process, the annexation of Austria and Czechoslovakia, and control of foreign fields.

The Allied military strategy in World War II has been two-fold—the Allies have tried, so far as possible, to keep the Axis countries from capturing those areas where oil is produced in large quantities, and to reduce the Axis oil supply through uninterrupted and systematic bombing of their synthetic oil plants, refineries, and storage depots.

The results of five years of bombing eighty-one major oil targets in Germany has now become apparent. The lack of oil will also be a prime factor in Japan's inevitable defeat.

Do we need any more convincing that we have a job to do? Is additional evidence required to prove that "Oil is Ammunition?"

CARE AND FEEDING OF TURKEY POULTS

County Agent, T. A. Barfield, says that thousands of incubator-hatched turkey poults starve to death amid plenty every season because they have not learned to eat and drink.

Unlike baby chicks, turkey poults do not take to feeding naturally. This is especially true of birds hatched in an incubator. One reason, says Barfield, is that at first they do not like to put their heads between wires or into openings in feeding and water equipment. On that account the grower must get them accustomed to eating and drinking within forty eight hours after being placed in the brooder or they may not learn how. That means starvation.

Among things to do to get the poults started is to use several water containers placed where the birds can reach them easily. Mr. Barfield believes that four to a brooder will do. Another step is to offer extra mash on tin plates or cardboard, and a third is to sprinkle oat-meal or finely chopped tender green feed on the mash and on the water to attract their attention. Still another is to dip the beak of each poult into water and then into the mash when they are placed in the brooder or battery. They learn to eat more quickly when feed is before them every way they turn.

Forced feeding may be used as a last resort, but if this is done the grower should take great care not to allow feed to get into the windpipe.

Still other helps are: To supply plenty of light for the young turkeys to eat and dry by, and put a few already trained older poults from disease-free groups in with the youngsters for a few days.

It will take a little time and care to teach the young poults the habit of eating, but once they start they will feed as readily as chicks from the same type of equipment. Another important thing to remember is to keep water and feed containers clean, and to change the water often.

He can't ask you now!

••• He's an American hero. After fighting bloody battles in the Pacific, he was home on leave two years ago.

••• You may remember seeing his picture. His name is John Basilone, Marine Gunnery Sergeant. He traveled all over America, urging every American to buy more bonds.

••• He said: "You don't know—you can't know—how much it means to the boys out there when they hear the folks back home have just put another War Bond Drive over the top."

••• They gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor and offered him a commission. He didn't want it. "I'm a plain soldier," he said. "I want to stay one."

••• Well, he stayed a plain marine—like Joe and Bill and the fellows down the street. He can't ask you to buy bigger bonds during the Seventh. He was killed a few weeks ago on Iwo, just after he had led his assault team to the edge of an airfield we needed desperately.

••• We can't let him and all our other fighting heroes down. Remember, last year we had two War Loan Drives by this time. The Seventh is our personal call to arms—two drives in one. That's why our quota is large.
