Red China Announces Bomb Tests

TOKYO (AP) — Red China tested a hydrogen bomb in the atmosphere and staged its first underground nuclear explosion last month, Peking broadcasts said Saturday.

The hydrogen bomb test last Monday and the underground blast Sept. 23 were detected by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission at the time but the Chinese Communist remained silent about them until now.

A Chinese-language broadcast by Radio Peking and an English-language dispatch of Peking's official Hsinhua news agency said both tests were successful and should come as "great encouragement and support" for Vietnamese and others fighting against "U.S. aggression" and for national independence.

But the Hsinhua dispatch said: "At no time and in no circumstances will China be the first to use nuclear weapons."

A Japanese translation of the original Radio Peking broadcast said "a new type" of hydrogen bomb had been tested.

But Hsinhua's English version made no mention of the weapon's being of a new type. It said: "A new hydrogen bomb explosion was successfully conducted over the western region of the country on Sept. 29, 1969; prior to this, on Sept. 23, 1969, China successfully conducted her first underground nuclear test."

This was taken to mean here that the hydrogen test was not of a new type bomb but rather that the Chinese had tested another H-bomb.

China's first hydrogen bomb was tested June 17, 1969. It was dropped from an airplane. Other Chinese nuclear tests were detected in the West on Dec. 24, 1967 and on last Dec. 28, but Peking has never acknowledged them.

The hydrogen and underground tests were Red China's 9th and 10th nuclear explosions. The first took place Oct. 16, 1964.

The new tests were carried out in China's west, presumably around the Lop Nor test area in Sinkiang Province which borders on the Soviet Union.

Hsinhua did not mention the force of weapons tested nor did it give any indication how the hydrogen bomb was detonated in the atmosphere.

Construction High

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Contractor, publication for the industry, will say Tuesday that Texas construction contract awards in September were the highest for that month in history.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research noted a lower trend in construction in August, but the Texas Contractor's figures are for a month later and were not of comparable items.

The Contractor says September contracts were $161 million — $44 million ahead of the previous best September set in 1956.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The people who gladly give a kind of service that no amount of money could buy have just completed the state meeting in Big Spring Texas Councils of Volunteer Services for mental hospitals and schools. We know from the example of our own volunteers what a tremendous service they perform, and we, as well as all of Texas, are in their debt.

Automobile drivers had the sobering news Friday of an increase in car insurance rates. They had one consolation: It wasn't as bad as first expected. The increase is estimated to be about 10 per cent, although the (approximate average of) $5 more for casualty; $9 more for collision, and $15 more for comprehensive adds up to more than in most cases. There may be several ways to reverse the trend — everyone drive more carefully and have less collisions, injuries and deaths; hope that repair costs and hospitalization will go down; hope juries will return verdicts with a lurking thought that it's the insurance company that pays.

The Midland-Odessa jockeying over location of a four-year college in the Permian Basin was revived. Just as it appeared that the matter was settled on an Odessa site, complications arose on moving oil and other lines, additional land, etc., but an impending bond issue appeared to be the answer. Then oil operators with interests in the tract said they wouldn't vacate. Midland at once HONOR FIGURES IN RECEPTION—Those greeting the several hundred people attending the Governor's Banquet of the Texas Volunteers Services Council at the Big Spring Country Club Friday evening included, of course, Gov. and Mrs. Preston Smith, at right, and Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital and Mrs. Opal Diemer, Midland, president of the Midland auxiliary which hosted the reception preceding the banquet.

Gov. Smith Lauds Volunteer Councils

Gov. Preston Smith heaped praise on the Texas Volunteer Services Councils here Friday evening as an "example of the excellent manner in which private citizens work together with state agencies" in extending a helping hand.

"If there is any one aspiration that I have as governor," he told a banquet crowd of some 300 people at the Big Spring Country Club, "it is that we could contribute significantly to a better quality life for all our citizens."

"People in government have their hands full of quantity. We are constantly on the edge of (if not in the midst of) financial crisis . . . No wonder those in government sometimes think about the best they can do is put out the nearest fire. This leaves us little time to chart tomorrow's course. What we need is conviction in the hearts of enough people that things ought to be better than they are."

SOLONS ATTEND

Several members of the legislature joined with superintendents from 10 state hospitals and schools, as well as scores of volunteers who serve in state mental hospitals and schools for the mentally retarded to launch the annual state meeting here Friday evening. Gov. and Mrs. Smith were honored by the Midland auxiliary of the Big Spring State Hospital chapter with a reception at the Country Club prior to the banquet session. Dr. John Kinross-Wright, director of mental health, and mental retardation in Texas, introduced Gov. Smith as one who always "tries to put himself in the other fellow's place."

A special tribute was paid by Gov. Smith, and by Lloyd W. Jary Jr., San Antonio, president of the state council, to Helen Colburn who will retire in February as state coordinator of volunteer services.

DEDICATION

"Her's is a story of dedication and leadership that has made the Texas volunteer program one of the finest in the nation," said Gov. Smith.

UF At $35,300

The United Fund climbed more than $2,000 Friday, and has now reached a total of $35,322.76. CRMWD employees reported in with fair-share giving, and the VA Hospital, Webb AFB, and the YMCA all turned in contributions.

The United Fund has now achieved more than 30 per cent of its $110,000 goal, with solicitations to continue until the end of the month. Monday a meeting will be held at noon at the Holiday Inn to hear reports from division chairmen.

help has expanded in 16 years since the state began to coordinate it was traced by the governor. In 1953 there were 13,793 hours of volunteer service; this year this figure had reached 610,788 hours. The number of organizations participating rose from 96 to 2,277. Contributions of money and goods, negligible at the outset,

Installation Closes Meet

Installation of officers highlighted the chairman's dinner Saturday evening, which closed out the two-day meeting of the Volunteer Services Council for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools here.

Stuart Fisher, Austin, director for planning and program development, was installing officer. He said it was not enough to describe volunteer activities using statistics but "you gotta have heart. The volunteer program exceeds all superlatives."

Taking over the chairman's post from Lloyd Jary, is R. V. Welch Jr., Lufkin. This past year, he served as vice-chairman in charge of special schools. Taking his place as vice-chairman will be LeRoy Bell, Abilene.

A. E. Weikle, San Antonio, will take Lynn Darden's place as vice-chairman in charge of mental hospitals. Relected to their present posts were Fred Bell, Austin, secretary; Roland Crutcher Jr., San Antonio, treasurer, and Mrs. Ernest Long, San Benito, vice-chairman in charge of tuberculosis hospitals.

Earlier in the evening Mrs. Helen Colburn, state coordinator for volunteer services, was given a gift in appreciation for her 13 years of service. Jary, the outgoing chairman, was presented a gavel from the council at the Wichita Falls State Hospital and a framed snake-hunter license from Big Spring's Jaycees. They also gave him a pair of cuff links made from rattlesnake skin.

Bell announced the awarding of pins and bars to local councils: a pin is awarded for 1-499 hours worked, and a bar can be awarded for anything over 500 hours.

Abilene state school will get 90 pins and nine bars; Amarillo State Center, 36-1; Austin State School, 49-13; Austin State Hospital, 40-15; Community Care Geriatric Service, 36-6; Big Spring State Hospital, 44-30; Denton State School, 45-25; East Texas State Tuberculosis Hospital, 2-4; Harlingen TB Hospital, 23-12; Kerrville State Hospital, 23-12; Lufkin State School, 17-4; McKnight State TB Hospital, 1-6; Rio Grande State Center for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, 32-15; Rusk State Hospital, 7-3; San Antonio State Hospital, 10-5; San Antonio TB Hospital, 34-3; Terrell State Hospital, 41-39; Travis State School, 4-5; Vernon State Center for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, 4-6; and Wichita Falls State Hospital, topped $2,100,000 this year.

The governor alluded to the three sessions of the Legislature, noting that "we had many problems, but they were solved, and, I hope, in a manner pleasing to Texans." He said he was hopeful that the new levies will yield more revenue than anticipated.

Mrs. Smith was presented with a beautiful green peelt of a lamb, provided for the volunteers by the auxiliary to the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association. Jean Wood, San Angelo, the newest of the state's volunteers coordinators, made the presentation.

WELCOMES

Dr. Harold Smith, president of the BSSH volunteers, welcomed visitors as did Mayor Arnold Marshall. Dinner music was provided by violin pupils of Mrs. Leland Croft, Odessa, who was one of the motivating forces in founding a volunteer program for mental hospitals. Donna Lee Cherry, Lubbock violinist, captivated the audience with two selections.

Larry Stanley, accompanied by John Stanley, sang the invocation.

In addition to Dr. Preston Harrison, BSSH superintendent, the heads of other mental hospitals attending were Dr. Bernard Rappaport, Wichita Falls, Dr. Luis Cowley, Terrell, Dr. Luther Ross, Kerrville, Dr. Frankie Williams, Vernon; of special schools, L. W. Cain, Abilene, Dr. John Gladden, Lubbock, Edwin Kilian, Denton, and Dr. Billy Walker, San Angelo.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The AFL-CIO, after barely launching its drive in Congress for a $2-an-hour minimum wage, is thinking about boosting the demand to $2.50 because of steeply rising living costs.

And some labor leaders want a cost-of-living escalator clause tied to the federal minimum wage to automatically increase it when prices rise above a certain level.

"The cost of living is going up so fast, a $2 minimum would be obsolete before we get it," said a spokesman for the labor federation, which is holding its biennial convention here.

The present federal minimum wage is $1.60 and there appears little prospect for any move in Congress to increase it before late next year at the earliest.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long has collected at least $329,151 in oil royalties since 1964 which has been free of federal income taxes because of the 27½ per cent depletion allowance he now is defending in Congress.

This income is the tax-sheltered portion of the $1,196,915 which Louisiana Mineral Board records show Long has received during the past 5½ years for his interests in four state oil and gas leases.

The Senate Finance Committee, headed by Long, currently is considering a House-passed tax bill cutting the depletion allowance to 30 per cent. Under present law, 27½ per cent of gross income from oil, gas and other minerals is exempt from federal income taxes.

While presiding over Finance Committee hearings last week Long agreed with oil industry witnesses who argued that reducing the depletion allowance "would be a breach of faith by Congress."

The Louisiana Democrat, who has been identified with the oil industry since he came to the Senate two decades ago, describes himself as a "very small independent" in a field dominated by giant firms.

"Most of my income is from oil and gas," Long said in an interview.

There is no ban against members of Congress having such financial holdings, and Long said, "I don't regard it as any conflict of interest."

"A long time ago I became convinced that if you have financial interests completely parallel to your state, then you have no problem," he said. "My state produces more oil and gas per acre than any other state in the Union. If I didn't represent the oil and gas industry, I wouldn't represent the state of Louisiana."

The senator said his oil interests have been "an issue in more than one campaign" and added: "I've never withheld from anyone that I've inherited and participated in wells."

Long said he last drilled for oil five years ago and ended up with a dry hole. "It hurt me sufficiently," he said. "I haven't been able to participate since that time."

Records here, however, disclose that since 1964 Long has received the $1.2 million as overriding royalties on four tracts leased by the state. An individual who holds an overriding royalty does not share the costs of finding and pumping oil from the lease.

Applying the 27½ per cent depletion allowance to this $1.2 million yields $329,151 which has been free from the bite of federal income taxes.

Besides these four state leases, Louisiana records indicate the senator has an interest in at least seven private leases.

Royalty payments from private leases are not disclosed in public records.

Long also is listed as one of three trustees on family trusts which, according to records, have collected $961,443 for holdings, in state leases in 5½ years.

The senator's personal overriding interest on the four state leases is listed as .0015625 of the gross income. The figure seems small, but the leases are so lucrative that this percentage earned Long $235,095 in royalties in the last fiscal year alone — more than five times his $42,500 annual salary as a senator.

The tax-free portion of last fiscal year's royalties—$64,651—was in itself greater than his senate salary.

In addition to his overriding interests in the four state leases, records show Long has working interests in three other state leases—meaning he has to share in the expenses of searching for and producing oil from the tracts. These three leases are less lucrative with one grossing him only $3,819 since 1964.

Altogether, the seven state leases grossed Long and others with interests in them $766,474.707 in the last 5½ years. The depletion allowance applied to that figure discloses $210,787.092 was free of federal income taxes.

New Enemy Contacts May Be In The Making

KEY BISCAINE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida White House pointedly declined to deny Saturday a report of secret contacts between Washington and the new leadership in Hanoi.

And President Nixon was described as engaged in very thorough discussions of the Vietnam situation over the weekend here with his special adviser on national security affairs, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

These reactions from presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler left open the possibility that the United States might be making some new approach to the North Vietnamese since the death of Ho Chi Minh.

Ziegler was asked about a Washington dispatch from James McCartney of the Knight newspaper chain that the Nixon administration has made secret contact with the North Vietnamese regime to seek a negotiated settlement of the war and that this was directly related to recent administration efforts to get a moratorium on Vietnam war criticism.

"We have made it our position not to discuss one way or another whether or not there are discussions with the other side outside of the public sessions in Paris," Ziegler said.

He added, "We have always said we will watch very carefully every development in South Vietnam and we are doing that in this case." He repeated this same answer when asked about the meaning of the latest lull in Vietnam fighting.

McCartney's story said the secret contacts were being made to see if the new regime might be more receptive to negotiating a peace settlement than Ho Chi Minh had been.

It also said administration officials were searching for the meaning of the current battle-field lull. One State Department official was quoted as saying "there is no question but that if the lull continues it could be full justification for new withdrawals of U.S. troops."

Ziegler was asked, too, about the accuracy of a comment from Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., that the Nixon administration might announce withdrawal of another 40,000 men by the end of the year.

To this, the press secretary cited the oft-repeated three-point criteria on which he said Nixon will make decisions on any further troop withdrawals.

They are the level of enemy activity, the ability of the South Vietnamese to replace U.S. troops, and the progress of peace talks in Paris.

Ziegler also said Nixon and Kissinger had been "discussing Vietnam very thoroughly here in Key Biscayne." He said the President took similar opportunities during his visits to Camp David in the Catcotin Mountains of Maryland for extensive Vietnam discussions.

Asked if he was hopeful on developments in Vietnam, Ziegler replied simply, "We watch these things very carefully."

Nixon was at his Florida vacation home for a three-day weekend that included sessions with other staff members. He also was relaxing in the sun, swimming and boating.

He was expected to return to Washington Sunday.

FROM $2 TO $2.50 PER HOUR Union Leaders May Raise Minimum Wage Demands

The Nixon administration is opposing any increase now.

Pending resolutions before the AFL-CIO convention call for both the $2 minimum wage, the federation's official figure, and a $2.50 minimum.

There is increasing talk among leaders of adopting the higher figure as official policy of the federation representing 13.6 million workers in 121 unions.

AFL-CIO President George Meany hasn't decided yet which minimum wage figure should be presented to the approximately 1,000 convention delegates.

"George is still talking to people," said a close associate. "He hasn't made up his mind yet."

There are some strategic problems in deciding whether to officially adopt the $2.50 demand as AFL-CIO policy.

For one thing, it might embarrass some of labor's supporters in Congress, the spokesman said.

"We have friends in Congress who just put in the bill for a $2 minimum wage," the spokesman said.

And some union leaders worry about the psychological problem of abandoning a goal not yet achieved. "We haven't got the $2 yet," said one.

But the federation spokesman said the nation's worst inflationary spiral in some 20 years—running at an annual rate of some 6 per cent—will increase pressure for a higher minimum wage when Congress gets around to considering legislation.

Vocational Education Receives A Big Push

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' new drive to stop school dropouts and give every student who cannot attend college training for an occupation got a big push Saturday from the State Board of Education.

The state board allocated $10.4 million provided by the legislature to the 227 public junior colleges for special vocational-technical instruction during this school year.

The board also finally approved a certified list of vocational-technical courses that may be offered in both high schools and public junior colleges. The list, first ever prepared, lists 183 possible courses for high schools and several times that many for post secondary schools.

However, the board also got word that state money for construction of facilities in area vocational schools was far short of the need.

"The last legislature saw fit only to provide us with $2.4 million for these construction funds, when we already had a backlog of about $18 million in approved requests," reported Dr. J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education. "To say that we have considerable pressure from the seven junior college applicants and about 40 high schools is the understatement of the year."

Edgar also pointed out that school districts applied for state money on a 50-50 basis. "But the $15 per square foot building cost at 50 per cent reimbursement is not going to be 50 per cent of the total construction cost when they finally get the money," Edgar said.

The allocations of the $2.4 million for vocational-technical facilities construction will be made later.

The $10.4 million allocated for vocational-technical instruction in junior colleges calls for the state to pay out $5.09 million as 40 per cent of the actual cost, based on a formula that sets specific rates for each course taught. This would be based on last year's enrollment. The remaining $2.3 million would be used as a contingency fund with colleges offering second years courses for the first time giving priority because of their increased enrollments.

Dr. John Guemple, associate commissioner for occupational education and technology, said 65 courses in 24 colleges would be eligible for first consideration on the contingency funds. Legislative appropriations for Texas State Technical Institute at Waco and to state senior colleges were made directly by the legislature to those institutions.

Sample Receipts Show Good Grades In Area

In some areas the cotton harvest is getting started, says B. B. Manly Jr., in charge of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office.

Sample receipts picked up this week, coming mainly from the counties in the San Angelo area. Receipts are beginning to pick up from gin points around Big Spring.

Grades of samples received are not good; however, they are improving daily. They range from below grade up to middling. The better grades are coming from the sandy land areas around Big Spring. Some of the low grades may have been caused from heavy rains soon after fields were killed, but Manly says all you have to do is look at the cotton on the stalk and you can understand the poor grades. Staple is shorter than normal and micronaire readings are good.

The Abilene Classing Office has processed 2,478 samples this season, of which 2,018 were classed this week. Last season 3,262 samples had been processed at this time. The following is a breakdown of grades, staple, and mike so far this season:

GRADES — 31, three per cent; 41, seven per cent; 51, eight per cent; 61, one per cent; 72, three per cent; 42, 38 per cent; 52, 32 per cent; 43, five per cent; 53, one per cent; Below Grades two per cent; and bales were five per cent.

STAPLE — 28, eight per cent;

29, 34 per cent; 30, 42 per cent;

31, 11 per cent; 32, four per cent; and 33, one per cent.

MIKE — 3.0-3.2, two per cent;

3.3-3.4, three per cent; 3.5-4.9,

94 per cent, and 5.0 and higher, one per cent. Pressley or strength readings were good.

The cotton market situation looks optimistic this year.

Approximately 3,000 to 4,000 bales have been ginned so far this year, and about 25 per cent of that has been sold. At this time it appears cotton will sell readily above the government loan prices.

Ordered To Pay Welfare Assistance

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A federal court has ordered the Texas Department of Public Welfare to pay retroactive welfare benefits to all applicants denied assistance because they did not meet the state's now defunct one-year residency requirement.

The action came in the case of Angelina Alvarez vs. Burton P. Hackney, DPW commissioner.

Mrs. Alvarez, of San Antonio, was a client of the Bexar County Legal Aid Association.

She had been denied assistance under the residency requirement, took her case to legal aid and went to court in February 1968.

The three-judge U.S. district court here issued a preliminary injunction in March 1968 that directed DPW to return Mrs. Alvarez to the rolls until the case was concluded. In April 1969, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled state residency requirements where welfare aid was concerned were illegal.

Subsequent to the Supreme Court decision, the federal district court here ruled the Texas residency requirement illegal.

Where mothers with dependent children—Mrs. Alvarez's situation—are concerned, the current order sets March 28, 1968, as the retroactive date for payments.

That was the date of the federal district court's preliminary injunction. At that time, the court ordered DPW to keep a list of all applicants denied assistance because of failure to meet the residency requirement.

The current order makes the preliminary injunction permanent. It was signed by Chief U.S. Dist. Judge Adrain Spears on behalf of himself, Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn of El Paso, and Appeals Judge Irving Goldberg of Dallas.

LETTER

Says GOP Not Back Of Cut

Dear Editor:

In view of the statements made locally that the cut in the oil depletion allowance has been contemplated only since the Republican administration took office, I feel that the position of that administration and the Texas Republican delegation in Congress should be clarified.

President Nixon stated throughout his campaign last year, and no later than last Friday, Sept. 26, he said he is supporting the full 27½ per cent depletion allowance.

The branch of government that has attempted to cut the depletion allowance is the Democratic-controlled Congress. The active push for the cut is being made by the Democratic Policy Committee, headed by Sen. Fred Harris (D-Okla.) (another large oil-producing state), Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Maine), and Sen. Ted Kennedy (D-Mass).

When the proposal came up in the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. George Bush, R-Texas, fought unsuccessfully to keep the depletion allowance out of the tax reform bill. When the bill which would reduce the depletion allowance to 20 per cent came to a vote on the floor of the House, Texas Republican members voted against the bill 100 per cent, but only 46 per cent of the Texas Democrats voted against the bill.

Sen. John Tower (R-Texas) told me on the telephone Friday that he and Rep. Bush have and will continue to fight very actively for the retention of the full 27½ per cent and predicted that the depletion allowance cut by the House will be raised to at least 25 per cent in the Senate.

TECH PROF REPORTS IN NEW BOOK

Farmer's Story Told Consumers

LUBBOCK — The American agricultural industry has a fantastic story to tell its city friends and customers, says Texas Tech University Dean of Agricultural Sciences Gerald W. Thomas.

And he tells a portion of it in a newly published volume designed primarily as a textbook, but slanted, too, toward the consumer who too often blames the farmer and rancher for rising prices of food and fibers.

"Americans are spending less than 17 per cent of their income after taxes for food compared with 31 per cent for France and more than 50 per cent for most of the people of the world," Dr. Thomas said.

Another contributing factor to the bite, Dr. Thomas said, is that most families make their house, car, medical and major appliance payment and other of their income by check, then complain when they have to dig down in their purse to pay cash for groceries.

Dr. Thomas' new volume is "Progress and Change in the Agricultural Industry." He calls it an "overview."

Consumer expenditures for food in the United States have dropped from 40 per cent of disposable income in 1900 to 26 per cent in 1947 and to the 1969 level of 17 per cent.

"Housewives now have a choice of more than 8,000 items on the shelves of our supermarkets — all packaged as quality products unheard of only a few decades ago," he said.

Dr. Thomas refutes another misconception that has clouded the agricultural picture.

"With the trend toward reduction in on-farm population, some people feel that agriculture is becoming less important in the world economy," he said. "Actually, the reverse is true."

The broader and more meaningful concept of the industry, referred to as "agri-business," now includes three segments: suppliers of machinery, fertilizers, seed, and other production resources; producers on farms and ranches and managers of renewable natural resources, and processors and distributors of farm and ranch products.

Workers in these three segments of the agricultural industry constitute more than one-third of our population," Dr. Thomas said.

Rh Disease Vaccine Use Is Being Urged

Although a vaccine to prevent Rh disease, a major cause of birth defects, was licensed in the United States nearly 18 months ago, one-fourth of the women who need it are not receiving it, according to a survey made by The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

An intensive campaign to promote optimal use of the vaccine has been inaugurated among chapters of the voluntary health organization, Dr. Virginia Apgar, vice president for medical affairs of The National Foundation, announced.

"If every woman who needs the vaccine gets it, Rh disease can be eliminated as a public health problem in a generation," Dr. Apgar said. "It can prevent death or permanent damage for tens of thousands of unborn and newborn babies each year."

Until the advent of the vaccine in April, 1968, some 250,000 women annually faced the possibility of having a child with Rh disease. When a woman with Rh negative blood gives birth to a baby with Rh positive blood inherited from the father, she may become sensitized to the baby's blood during delivery. This causes her to produce antibodies which attack the tissues of subsequent Rh positive babies.

But if the Rh negative mother is given the vaccine within 72 hours of delivery of each Rh positive baby, she does not produce antibodies which might damage the next child.

"Since the vaccine is relatively expensive, cost may be a serious obstacle for low and moderate-income families in areas where public medical assistance is inadequate," Dr. Apgar said.

"Another barrier is lack of public awareness of the existence and importance of the preventive for serious birth defects caused by Rh incompatibility."

The National Foundation survey also indicates that not all hospital staffs are fully aware of specific indications or of detailed laboratory procedures required for the use of the relatively new vaccine.

"Since the prevention of birth defects is the primary objective of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, we are actively promoting optimal use of the Rh vaccine," Dr. Apgar said. "Within its means, each chapter, in consultation with local public health departments and medical societies, will help develop programs to meet local needs."

Projects include distribution of public education materials on Rh incompatibility through marriage license bureaus and other points of contact with prospective parents, and sponsorship of professional education on Rh disease prevention for obstetricians, general practitioners, public health nurses and hospital staffs.

March of Dimes chapters, in cooperation with local medical societies, will urge amendment of local health codes to require premarital blood typing and development of procedures for routinely advising Rh "in-compatibles" of the availability of the Rh vaccine.

Where funds are available, March of Dimes chapter grants will be made to supplement public funds or to defray in part the cost of the vaccine for mothers for whom no other funds are provided.

State Fair Opens On Youthful Note

DALLAS (AP) — The venerable State Fair of Texas opened Saturday with a youth look—100,000 young people from rural areas—and action everywhere. The 83rd opening of the fair at the old Texas Centennial grounds was designated Rural Youth Day and the youngsters managed to infiltrate everywhere. Many of the young people left home even earlier than milking time in order to be at the gates at the 7 a.m. opening.

At the free picnic, they ate their way through 8,000 pounds of hot dogs and 22,500 bags of potato chips and drank 160 barrels of grape drink. The fair shot for an opening day total crowd of 250,000. The greatest collection of livestock ever assembled at Fair Park was on hand for the annual judging—for money and prestige. Highlighting the opening was a 61-unit downtown parade with Gov. Preston Smith the honoree. Miss Jan Ellen Green, who is Miss Wool and Mohair of Texas, rode the Ballinger float, for it also was Ballinger Day at the fair. Other beauties were everywhere.

An estimated 125,000 persons watched the parade, always a momentous spectacle for Dallas. The beef cattle show alone has 928 entries in nine breeds. The livestock comes from 13 states. The fair bounced with musical shows, 400 midway rides and concessions, its own mini-parade and crowded exhibitions everywhere.

MINOR MISHAPS

The cold front, causing snow in New Mexico, headed for the state, possibly moderated by the warm air it must push aside if it is to go farther.

Gusty winds blew through much of the state, prompting small craft warnings.

The cold front was due in Central Texas by Sunday morning after completing a trek across New Mexico, where it caused snow warnings in the mountain areas.

Forecasts called for widely scattered showers and thunderstorms to spread across Texas by Sunday. The outlook also called for cooler temperatures in northern and western sections.

General Checking On Viet Share Of Fighting Chore

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived in Saigon Saturday to assess what progress South Vietnamese forces have made in assuming a bigger share of fighting chores.

Wheeler, making his second visit to the war zone in 2½ months, said he was especially interested in the course of the so-called Vietnamization program and planned to "talk to people to find out how things were going."

He is to confer with American military and civilian officials and visit the front as he did on his July 16-20 tour.

With further U.S. troop withdrawals doubtlessly pegged in part to effectiveness of the South Vietnamese armed forces, Wheeler's current visit heightened speculation.

Asked about new American troop withdrawals, Wheeler said: "This is something the President will have to deal with at a later time."

At the Midway conference last June, President Nixon said that the U.S. Command in South Vietnam was preparing to handle a greater share of the fighting and announced the withdrawal of 25,000 GIs. Those troops have all left, and Nixon has ordered a further reduction of 35,000 U.S. troops to be completed by mid-December.

Casualty figures compiled by South Vietnamese military headquarters show that in the first nine months of this year government troops suffered 50 per cent more combat deaths than did American forces—12,728 to 8,280.

According to the South Vietnamese command, battlefield deaths among government troops were twice as high as American combat fatalities—6,448 to 3,032—from June through September.

While virtually all observers agree the over-all initiative has not passed from the Americans to the South Vietnamese, the change in emphasis has been visible.

Many American division commanders are stressing joint operations or are offering support and reaction troops for South Vietnamese army operations.

There have been rumors of directives from Washington to the U.S. Command in South Vietnam ordering less aggressive action by American troops. Though these reports have not been confirmed, a number of brigade and battalion commanders point out that they no longer are taking their units far afield from base camps and are not staying out as long as they had previously.

In a communique Saturday, South Vietnamese headquarters listed four fights Friday in which 60 enemy soldiers were reported killed and a clash Thursday in which 51 North Vietnamese regulars were said to have been slain. Government losses over-all were put at 10 killed and 25 wounded. An American adviser was among the wounded.

At the same time, the U.S. Command reported three ground actions Friday and early Saturday involving American troops. Seven enemy soldiers were killed and 12 were captured at a cost of three Americans slain and 12 wounded, headquarters said.

Wheeler flew to Saigon with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, from Korea where they had attended ceremonies marking the 21st anniversary of South Korean armed forces.

At a news conference at Tan Son Nhut airport, Wheeler was asked about the current war lull, described by the U.S. Command as the lowest level of action this year.

"The only thing I make out of it is the same thing I've made in the past," he said. "The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong activity has always been cyclic, the high points and the low points."

"I think they're in a low point now because of the activities of the American and the allied troops."

Asked if he expected enemy combat activity to pick up, Wheeler replied: "I certainly do."

The U.S. Command expects the enemy to begin its winter-spring offensive campaign about the beginning of November.

Attack Squadron 533, a 300-man Marine bomber unit with more than two years duty in Vietnam, was to head for Japan from Chu Lai, 50 miles south of Da Nang. The 102nd Combat Support Company, an Army Reserve unit from Cleveland, Ohio, with 300 men, was to fly to Standford Field, Louisville, Ky. The

Missing Men Safe In Overturned Boat

SABINE PASS, Tex. (AP) — Coast Guardsmen righted an overturned supply boat Saturday and found two men alive inside. The Coast Guard already had called off its search of the Gulf of Mexico for the pair, missing since early Friday.

The boat was righted in rough seas and despite frustrating rope breaks.

The men, identified as Andrew Rouse and W.C. Wells, sealed themselves in an airtight compartment of the drilling rig supply vessel Lady Verna after it capsized near the Sabine jetty morning about 10 miles from Sabine Pass where Texas and Louisiana join.

She was righted around noon Saturday and the two men were discovered.

Small craft warnings were up in the Gulf of Mexico, and Coast Guardsmen had to wrestle heavy seas to right the craft. The rough water caused lines to snap repeatedly as the rescuers attempted to get the boat into an upright position.

The operation took place in winds gusting to 30 miles per hour.

Rescuers worked from aboard a supply barge.

A private helicopter from a drilling rig volunteered to fly the two men to Galveston, but it was too small to accommodate the pair of stretchers on which the men lay. The Coast Guard helicopter from Houston was finally brought in, and it carried the men to the Galveston Coast Guard Station for transfer to the hospital.

The boat belonged to Blusigarde, Verrette, Callais, Inc., of Golden Meadow, La. It operated out of Morgan City, La.

Maintenance Work On City Auditorium Listed

Maintenance and repair work has continued on the auditorium and amphitheater in the last 6-12 months, according to Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson.

New plumbing fixtures have been installed where needed in the restrooms in the auditorium, a water cooler was put in the lower foyer, new lamps were connected in the dressing rooms, the drain gutters were cleaned, steam pipes in the dressing rooms were insulated, and rusted steam lines were either replaced or cut out of the system for better heat control.

Extensive repairing of walls and stairways has also been accomplished, and many of the walls have been repainted.

Future improvements to be considered include the installing of air-conditioning, putting in new drapes and fire-proof curtains, and recovering and restaining the seats.

At the amphitheater, driveway have been hard surfaced and landscaped, the loading dock has been finished, and dressing rooms and doors have been repaired and repainted.

Future improvements could include building a driveway so the infirm could be deposited directly at the seating area; installing a fence around the seating area to provide crowd control; and increasing acoustical performance by building a shell around the stage.

CAN YOU READ?

"That's a stupid question," you say: "of course I can read." Indeed you can. But have you ever thought about how well you read? Some people read so poorly that, by comparison with people who read well, they are practically illiterate. Have you ever thought about how fast you read? How much faster you could read? How much of what you read do you remember? (Most students don't remember more than half of what they read, even right after they have read it.) Can you decide what is worth trying to remember? Do you read charts and tables in a book? The captions for them? What do you do when you first start to read on an assignment? What do you do when you finish reading the assignment? How many times do you read an assignment? When? Do you read a textbook the same way you read a novel?

OPTIMIZATION can answer all these questions for you. Now that school has started again, it's time to think about the coming fall and spring months. Don't you agree that if your reading was faster, you would be able to accomplish much more. There are so many assignments that require extra reading you just don't have the time to do it.

OPTIMIZATION can help you accomplish tasks you never thought possible. In 8-12 hour sessions it guarantees that you will be able to read at least 1000 words a minute or a book per hour with good comprehension or money back. In the past year, hundreds in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi have taken the course with the average student reading about 2500 words a minute.

TAKING THE OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COURSE could very well be one of the most important things you will ever do.

OTIS CHALK HAS SLOWLY FADED AWAY

Post Office Is Last To Go

By JOHN HILBIG

Otis Chalk, once a thriving boom town in southeastern Howard County, is slowly fading away. The latest evidence of the decline is the scheduled closing of the post office at the end of October, which has been operating for 30 years.

Mrs. Nola F. Story has been postmaster for the last 25 years, taking over from Mrs. D. A. Oglesby, the first postmaster; she will be made postmaster at Forsan after the office at Otis Chalk is closed.

Though the post office started operations in 1939, the community had begun growing 10 years earlier. The discovery of oil on the Otis Chalk ranch (for whom the town was eventually named) by Owen and Sloan, independent operators, signalled the beginning of an oil boom. People flooded into the area seeking work, bringing their families with them; and a community of tents and shacks soon sprang up.

Within two years Chalk had built a church and schoolhouse. Two grocery stores, two gas stations, two boarding houses and a cafe also came into existence. At the height of the boom, between 400-500 people lived in Otis Chalk.

In the beginning mail was brought to Otis Chalk by Star Route from Big Spring and dumped on the counter in one of the grocery stores. Everyone went through the mail and found his own. This method was used until the post office was started.

LAST TO GO — Mrs. Nola F. Story stands by the Otis Chalk Post Office, where she has been postmaster for the last 25 years. The post office is scheduled to close its doors at the end of October, signalling the final end of what was once a boom town of 400-500 people.

Mrs. Minnie Hyman, sister to Chalk, was instrumental in getting the post office established, Mrs. Story said. She circulated a petition and got the needed signatures.

"At first the post office was called either 'Chalktown' or 'Chalkton' she said, 'but about a year later the name was changed to Otis Chalk. Mrs. Hyman also played a key part in that change."

disappeared, and the school had moved to Forsan.

"When I took over as postmaster," Mrs. Story said, "the community was still thriving; there were a lot of people, about 100. It's just that all the businesses except the church and the post office had gone."

But the town had already begun to decline; by 1939 one gas station and one grocery store had ceased to operate. When Mrs. Story took over as postmaster in 1944, only the church and the post office were still open. The last service station and grocery store had postmaster," Mrs. Story said, "it was a full eight-hour job. Now it takes three hours. There's seven families, about 20 people, still living at Otis Chalk. Only one man, Paul Kennedy, was among the original community."

"There used to be 15 children standing at the post office, waiting for the bus to take them to school. Now the bus doesn't even come here any more."

"The main reason for the community's decline has been the closing of the oil camps; they were the heart of the Otis Chalk community. Now only the Mobil camp is left, but it has no residents."

The post office almost had its demise early when lightning struck the building three years ago and demolished the interior.

Mrs. Doris Cole, Chalk's daughter, however, rebuilt the office, enabling it to continue its functions until the present. Now its patrons are to be incorporated into Big Spring's Sterling City Route.

Marker Planned

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Historical Survey Committee was told that plans are under way to secure a permanent home for the Martin County Museum, during a recent meeting. Much work has been done on the museum and plans for the building will be announced soon. L. C. Hazelwood Sr., presented information that will be written on the historical marker that is to be placed on the courthouse lawn, commemorating the organization of the county and the town when it was named Marientfeld.

Answer Filed To Memo In Taxpayer's Tax Suit

Gulford Jones, attorney for the Big Spring Independent School District, has filed an answer to the "Memorandum of Law" filed last week in 118th District Court by attorneys for the Howard County Rural Taxpayers Association.

Dee Jon Davis and Donald R. Curry filed the memorandum "in support of the power of the board of trustees and of the board of equalization to enter into the agreement" and an affidavit by Davis that he thought Jones was representing the board of equalization as well as the board of trustees when he signed an agreement with the taxpayers that the school would lower proposed rural valuation.

In the reply, Jones includes a motion to strike Davis' affidavit because it is "simply his state of mind" and carries no weight, and Jones asks for a summary judgment.

In a reply by Davis filed as an answer to Jones' reply, Davis says conclusions of law will not support the motion for summary judgment previously filed by Jones.

The agreement signed by Jones on behalf of the school trustees and later repudiated by the school board of equalization lowered proposed rural valuations approximately $10 per acre. The rural taxpayers are claiming the agreement constituted a legal contract.

Webb Punchers Win Awards

Joy L. Decker, base supply, and Betty J. Raney, accounting and finance, received certificates of recognition for winning first and second place, respectively, in Webb's portion of the Air Training Command's keypunch operators contest.

The contest, started in 1967, was designed to afford some recognition to operators for their work. Some objectives of the effort were to stimulate pride in their work among keypunch operators, to promote accuracy and efficiency in keypunching, and to emphasize the importance of accuracy at the source in automated data systems.

To win first place in the contest, Mrs. Decker competed against all other keypunch operators at Webb. Later her cards, punched in the contest, were sent to Headquarters Air Training Command, for judging at command level against other keypunch operators throughout the command.

Steal Pictures Of War Victim

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — "Our dearest possession." That's what the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Esch said Friday about the 130 pictures of their son, Frank, who was killed in action in Vietnam in March, 1966. The pictures were stolen from their suburban Detroit home while they were attending church services Thursday night. A stereo set, camera and projector, which had been presents from their son, also were taken.

ABC Club Welcomes Back A Veteran, Mike Modglin

Michael Modglin, 4206 Dixon, was honored as a returning serviceman at the American Business Club's Friday luncheon staged in the Settles Hotel.

Modglin, now employed by Safeway here, entered the Armed Forces in 1966 and recently was discharged after serving a tour of duty in Germany.

He was presented with a plaque by Mayor Arnold Marshall, who told the honoree the service club was acting on behalf of the entire community in welcoming Modglin back to the area.

John Talmadge, assistant principal at the local high school, introduced three students active in the drive to bring the District 3-AAAA Sportsmanship award to Big Spring.

They were Keith Gum, president of the high school band; Ann Talbot, a member of the Student Council and head cheerleader; and Lynn Cauley, president of the Student Council.

Gum spoke of the rewards the school could expect if it is declared the winner of the contest. Miss Talbot described what the school is doing to promote sportsmanship among the students and added that the adults had a big responsibility, too, in the campaign.

Cauley stressed the need to get the community behind the drive, adding:

"School spirit is the best I've ever seen it at Big Spring High School. Our school is on the move."

The sincerity of the speakers seemed to impress the Ambucs who gave the school representation a standing ovation. Deryl Pittman, newly elected president of the ABC Club, spoke briefly of the ABC Regional convention held recently at Lubbock, adding that the meeting would be covered in greater detail at a future luncheon.

Big hats were in evidence at the noon session. Members who had earned that type of headgear through the recruitment of new members were instructed to wear them and all assembled at one table.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

DIET OF THE STARS

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS for the Volunteer Services Council was held Saturday night at Cosden Country Club. From left are Fred Bell, new secretary from Austin; Lloyd Jary, San Antonio, past chairman; Mrs. Ernest Long, San Benito, vice chairman for tuberculosis hospitals; R. V. Welch, Jr., chairman, from Lufkin; and LeRoy Bell, vice chairman in charge of special schools from Abilene. Roland Crutcher Jr., San Antonio, newly installed treasurer, was not available for the picture, and neither was the vice chairman in charge of mental hospitals, A. E. (Sonny) Weikle, San Antonio.

Various Programs For Volunteers Outlined

"Dummy" Johnny and ventriloquist Tad Corbet, a psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital, hosted the Saturday afternoon session of the Volunteer Services Council telling jokes and poking fun at council's dignitaries.

"Tad and Johnny" presented an overview of local volunteer programs in the hospital's auditorium and then went on to talk about the Work Village program. The duo explained that the program is for prior patients of the hospital, and it gives them part-time salaried jobs and housing in cabins at the hospital.

Mrs. Jewel Richter, Colorado City, in red and gray calico from head to toe, explained the Circuit Riders program and said that it was founded by the governor's committee on aging. "There are 81 riders," she said, "and our average age is 70. Several of us get together once a week and come to the hospital to talk and play games with the patients."

Several volunteers joined with Dr. Harry Davis, chief of psychology services at the hospital, to explain the Talking, Painting and Acting program. "Volunteers come in individually during the week and help with whatever they can," Dr. Davis said. "Artists help the patients express themselves on canvas and we even have a psycho-drama aspect. But mostly the volunteers talk with the patients on a friendly and therapeutic basis."

The Prude Ranch story is another program of the local state hospital, and was explained by Robert Von Rosenberg, program director at the hospital, and John Robert Prude, owner of the dude ranch facility near Alpine.

"We get together with Abilene State School and each send 10 adolescents to the ranch for social, personal and work adjustment," said Von Rosenberg. "They stay there about a year and are given jobs to do and an animal to care for. It's another step in rehabilitation." Larry Cheatham, vocational rehabilitation supervisor for the hospital, talked about his new program, We Take the Alcohol Home.

"This just started three months ago," he said, "but results have been overwhelming already." He said he uses local agencies in San Angelo, Odessa, Midland and Abilene as coordinators for the program which uses volunteers to help the families of alcoholics adjust to their problem. The program also concentrates on a follow-up study of the alcoholic.

The Community House program, which uses a converted motel in downtown Big Spring, was explained by Mrs. Betty Condray, director of in-service training. She said that residents of the house are still hospital patients but that living in town is a privilege to be worked for. There are two or three patients to a room and meals are served family style, which is a step back into community life, Mrs. Condray said.

"We conduct programs in re-socialization like a manners class and a telephone class," she said, "but most important, we do it on our own as volunteers. We have no professional staff."

"This proves," she added, "that people on an attendant level can work effectively with patients using professionals merely as consultants." Last on the afternoon's program, but speaking about the first volunteer auxiliary program for the Big Spring State Hospital, was Bob Dickson, executive director of the Midland Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center. Talking about the Midland Volunteers, Dickson noted their activities at the hospital and praised them for holding picnics; Bingo; personal hygiene classes with instructions in makeup, hair styling, and manicuring; delivery of fresh fruit to the units; and promotion of half-way houses.

But Dickson said he thinks one of the most important functions of the volunteer agency is in shaping community attitudes toward the mentally ill.

"We found many doors already open to us when we started the Midland center," he said. "And I'm sure it was a result of the good work of the Midland Volunteers." He suggested that this liaison work, along with personal contact with the patients, is probably the most important aspect of volunteer agencies in the mental health field.

"First," he said, "there is a concern today for people themselves rather than functions." He said that in years past the patient went through an assembly line with one person responsible for his physical health, another for his mental condition, and a third for his living quarters, etc. But now the emphasis is on total care. One person can be totally responsible for a patient, with the aid of professional consultants, he said.

He said that the need for continuity of responsibility is also a basic factor supporting the "reach out" idea, and that care should begin before a person enters a hospital, and continue after he leaves. He talked about front line care and said the patient should be treated in his local environment.

"They must be taught to function in the community and situation that they will face when they get well," he said. Also included under this topic was crisis intervention, a program whereby mental health staff members reach out at the first sign of crisis or conflict. He cited such programs as suicidal counseling and the elimination of waiting lists.

Concern with an entire population was his fourth topic and he said this is an idea borrowed from the public health. Mental health staff members have concern for the mental health of an entire population, not just individual cases, and that with such a concern they are interested in primary prevention and prevention of relapses and setbacks.

His fifth point was growing recognition of the fact that much of the treatment needed in caring for the mentally ill is direct contact of personalities.

Miller said that the Unit System, a geographical approach to "reaching out," was the first step in bringing all five of his points together and that he looks to the volunteers of the mental hospitals to continue the process. He stressed in particular that for any of the programs to work effectively they must be community oriented.

"Local involvement is essential," he said, "the community must consider the program its own."

"Our job," he said in summation, "is to maximize human potential; to help people be as creative, productive, and happy as they can be."

John Gladdin, superintendent of the Lubbock State School, addressed the council concerning "outreach programs" in the area of mental retardation. He spoke in place of Dr. Charles H. Martin, who was detained at the last minute.

"Every outreach program is an arm of the institution," Gladdin said. "Each fulfills a function of that institution over a wide geographical area." He listed five specific programs and termed them "so successful that even though we're not funded for them, we're finding the money to support them."

He cited, first, diagnostic centers throughout the state which take any referral, arrive at some diagnostic conclusions, and plan with the family a suitable program for the retarded person.

"The problem is finding the retarded youngster before a failure syndrome takes hold," Gladdin said. "Many times we don't get a child until he's already in the habit of failing everything he tries. We must find them before that."

Gladdin's second point was the program of half-way houses and he explained that these dormitory arrangements provide an environment for retarded people half way between a totally dependent state of living and complete freedom. He said that half-way houses have increased 10-fold in the last four years.

Day care centers were Gladdin's third point and he said

MENTALLY ILL, RETARDED, TB VICTIMS Volunteers Told Of 'Reach Out'

By TERRY HOPKINS

Saturday morning's general session of the Volunteer Services Council brought more than 100 mental health volunteers together in an array of gimmicks, merriment, reunion sincerity, and colorful displays at the Big Spring State Hospital auditorium.

Representatives from the newest state school in San Angelo wore corsages of miniature lamb pelts dyed red, white and blue; the Big Spring Circuit Riders were dressed in long calico dresses and early American bonnets; and the hostesses from the local state hospital sported gaily printed cotton ponchos with hot pink tassels.

But the gathering was for a serious purpose and volunteers and supervisors alike heard three talks directly related to their main purpose, "reach out" to help the mentally ill, the retarded, and those stricken with tuberculosis.

"The time for sitting back in the office and waiting for the patient to come to you has passed," said Dr. Gary E. Miller, deputy commissioner for mental health from Austin. "Our job in mental health is to 'reach out' and extend ourselves beyond the hospital to preventive methods and follow-up services."

Miller said that aggressive, dynamic and influential programs of reaching out into the community can eliminate a great deal of hospitalization and he outlined five basic reasons why.

"First," he said, "there is a concern today for people themselves rather than functions." He said that in years past the patient went through an assembly line with one person responsible for his physical health, another for his mental condition, and a third for his living quarters, etc. But now the emphasis is on total care. One person can be totally responsible for a patient, with the aid of professional consultants, he said.

He said that the need for continuity of responsibility is also a basic factor supporting the "reach out" idea, and that care should begin before a person enters a hospital, and continue after he leaves. He talked about front line care and said the patient should be treated in his local environment.

"They must be taught to function in the community and situation that they will face when they get well," he said. Also included under this topic was crisis intervention, a program whereby mental health staff members reach out at the first sign of crisis or conflict. He cited such programs as suicidal counseling and the elimination of waiting lists.

Concern with an entire population was his fourth topic and he said this is an idea borrowed from the public health. Mental health staff members have concern for the mental health of an entire population, not just individual cases, and that with such a concern they are interested in primary prevention and prevention of relapses and setbacks.

His fifth point was growing recognition of the fact that much of the treatment needed in caring for the mentally ill is direct contact of personalities.

Miller said that the Unit System, a geographical approach to "reaching out," was the first step in bringing all five of his points together and that he looks to the volunteers of the mental hospitals to continue the process. He stressed in particular that for any of the programs to work effectively they must be community oriented.

"Local involvement is essential," he said, "the community must consider the program its own."

"Our job," he said in summation, "is to maximize human potential; to help people be as creative, productive, and happy as they can be."

John Gladdin, superintendent of the Lubbock State School, addressed the council concerning "outreach programs" in the area of mental retardation. He spoke in place of Dr. Charles H. Martin, who was detained at the last minute.

"Every outreach program is an arm of the institution," Gladdin said. "Each fulfills a function of that institution over a wide geographical area." He listed five specific programs and termed them "so successful that even though we're not funded for them, we're finding the money to support them."

He cited, first, diagnostic centers throughout the state which take any referral, arrive at some diagnostic conclusions, and plan with the family a suitable program for the retarded person.

"The problem is finding the retarded youngster before a failure syndrome takes hold," Gladdin said. "Many times we don't get a child until he's already in the habit of failing everything he tries. We must find them before that."

Gladdin's second point was the program of half-way houses and he explained that these dormitory arrangements provide an environment for retarded people half way between a totally dependent state of living and complete freedom. He said that half-way houses have increased 10-fold in the last four years.

Day care centers were Gladdin's third point and he said their main function is for crisis intervention and for short terms of confinement.

"The fourth program is satellite classes, which are unique to West Texas," he said. "We send a teacher to a community to meet daily with retarded youngsters and teach them what they're capable of learning. The community provides the building and the materials and it becomes an interaction of two agencies."

Gladdin also emphasized the environmental approach and said that it is important to keep children in their own community, where they belong.

The third address, concerning outreach programs in the area of tuberculosis facilities, was given by Dr. Roger Smyth, director of epidemiology, division of tuberculosis control, Texas State Department of Health.

"We can compare the strides made by mental hospitals and schools to those made by tuberculosis institutions and see that they are along the same road," Smyth said. "We are now attempting to find people with the disease and work on preventive methods."

Smyth said the only way to tell if a person does have the tuberculosis germ in his system is by a skin test and that his department is assisting communities in conducting these tests in the first and seventh grades of school.

"If we can diagnose it in the first grade then we stand a good chance of tracing down the source case," he said. "First-graders have not had much exposure."

He said the school program is especially important in light of recent studies which show that 80 per cent of the people who have tuberculosis are infected by the time they are 18 years old.

"Not everyone who has the germ will come down with tuberculosis," he explained. "But if we can find everyone who has the germ, we can prepare them with health education to cope with it."

"Our goal is to eradicate tuberculosis," Smyth said. "We plan to do it through case studies and control programs. We plan to make these programs work through 'reach out' programs over the entire state."

He said that eventually he hopes to use governmental council division lines for geographical areas to be served by outreach programs, but that right now his department is using its own geographical divisions because of the varied concentrations of the disease.

"For instance," he said, "there are a great many more cases reported per year along the Mexican border."

In regard to volunteers performing some of his "out reach" programs, he said the volunteer is most needed to influence the patient's attitude.

"His attitude directly affects his acceptance of his disease and therefore his recovery," Smyth said. "We need more programs to 'reach out' with volunteers, similar to the mental health programs."

Smyth answered a question following his speech about the mobile unit for chest X-rays and said that the unit is all but useless in terms of yield.

"We weren't finding enough cases that way," he said. "So now we only take the mobile unit to highly concentrated areas of infection."

Governor Has Set Dates To Hear About Dispute

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has set dates for meetings with opposing factions in dispute over Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) in Harrison and Panola counties.

The county judges and commissioners of the two East Texas counties have asked the governor to withdraw VISTA from their counties.

The governor apparently considered such a request forced him to stop VISTA operations. He halted VISTA at Del Rio. But later he had second thoughts about whether he is automatically required to halt such programs on request.

The governor says he will meet with the commissioners and judges Wednesday and with the faction which wishes to keep VISTA on Thursday.

The judges and commissioners wrote the governor Aug. 5 asking that the VISTA program be ended. VISTA has been described as the domestic Peace Corps.

The commissioners said in their request that VISTA workers were involved in supporting Negro boycotts of a merchant and had otherwise "fomented racial strife."

Harrison County Judge Jim Ammerman also indicated that VISTA had a part in the student boycott of Wiley College classes in the last school year. The county judge called VISTA an outside agitation.

But the Harrison and Panola Counties Community Action Association's board voted to keep VISTA workers.

Association President Franklin Jones Sr. said the counties have no control over VISTA money.

The county officials said VISTA workers were responsible for an underground newspaper, "Like It Is," but Jerry Vickers of the community action board said VISTA workers only assisted in making the letterhead for the publication.

Perjury, Extortion Charges Name Reputed Mafia Leader

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The FBI Saturday arrested reputed Mafia leader Joseph Bonanno Sr. and Peter Joe Notaro on federal charges involving perjury and extortion.

Bonanno, 64, alleged La Cosa Nostra figure, was arrested at his Tucson home without incident, said John Mull, agent in charge for Arizona. Notaro, 53, is said to be Bonanno's bodyguard.

The same charges were filed against Charles Joseph Battaglia, Jr., 52, currently serving a 10-year prison sentence at Leavenworth Prison, Kan., for interference with interstate commerce.

Bonanno and Notaro were to be arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Raymond Terlizzi.

The three were charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice, commit perjury, commit subordination of perjury, commit extortion, and conspiracy to cause the use of interstate facilities with intent to commit extortion. Bonanno, suffering from a chronic heart ailment, has lived in Tucson in recent years, leaving the operation of his New York Cosa Nostra family to a son, Salvatore, and other lieutenants.

One of a rash of bombings that have plagued Tucson in the past year damaged the patio of Bonanno's home. Two men were arrested for the bombing. At their preliminary hearing, a witness said an FBI agent investigated the Bonanno bombing to start a fight among local members of the Mafia. The FBI later said the agent no longer is employed by the bureau.

Bonanno is free on bail in New York, charged with obstructing justice. He recently asked federal authorities to permit him to move from Tucson to Atherton, Calif., where his wife and a son live.

Bonanno disappeared in October, 1964, a few days before he was to appear before a grand jury probe of organized crime. He surfaced 18 months later, claiming he had been kidnapped. He was charged with obstructing justice.

He was deposited as head of his Cosa Nostra family during his absence.

Calvin O'Shields, 500 Austin, told police a bedspread was missing from his closetline. Vandalism broke radio antennas off two cars at Howard County Junior College.

Raul Salinio reported someone had broken the windshield on his car while it was parked at 605 San Antonio. Mrs. Luther White, Route 2, told police a thief had taken her purse, containing a $15 check, $21 in money orders, and $8 in cash, from her car while it was parked at 1170 N. 2nd Avenue.

The victory bell, belonging to Big Spring High School, was stolen from 2308 Lynn. John Schiebo told police thieves took the radio antenna, valued at $15, from his pickup while it was parked at HJC.

French Expect Assault On Common Market Plan

PARIS (AP) — "It's Waterloo; it's Blucher and Wellington allied again."

This was the reaction Saturday of a senior French official to the Socialist election success in Germany and his assessment of what it would mean for France's European policy.

Most immediately, French policy makers saw a fresh assault by Britain, with energetic German support, to obtain long-delayed membership in the six-nation Common Market.

The feeling in government circles was that a new British-German coalition would be hard for the French to resist.

This is what the official meant when he compared Socialist leader Willy Brandt, probably the next German chancellor, with Prussian Gen. Gebhard Blucher, the man who combined with the Duke of Wellington to defeat Napoleon at Waterloo.

For the view here is that Brandt as chancellor would seek stronger political ties with Britain at the expense of the Paris-Bonn axis former President Charles de Gaulle made the foundation of his Continental policy.

The question for Georges Pompidou, De Gaulle's successor, is no longer how to maintain the veto De Gaulle imposed on Britain's Common Market entry, but how to extract the most favorable conditions for France, government sources say.

Weakened economically and uncertain of itself politically, France would have had no easy time of it even with its traditional German partner, the Christian Democratic party, holding power in Bonn.

With Brandt, things will be that much more difficult.

Anxious watch was being kept during the night hours Saturday and today on gas spewing from a well on the Burkhead Estate, four miles north of Coahoma.

The well, being drilled by Nearburg Co. of Dallas, blew out about 2 a.m. Saturday, according to Howard County sheriff's deputies, and has been blowing gas ever since then. Officials tried to stop the flow with 700 barrels of brine early Saturday afternoon, but to no avail.

A thousand barrels of 13-pound mud was then ordered, but it was not due to reach the scene until Sunday morning. Officials were to try again to stop the flow about 8 a.m.

A four-man crew was drilling at 8,427 feet with fresh water when the well blew out. The operator, warned of the blow-out by the water backing up, was able to lift the pipe off the bottom of the hole and close the blow-out preventer. No one was injured, and the rigging was not damaged.

The highway department had closed off roads leading to the site, and workers kept watch during the night, warning motorists of the danger.

TESCO To Honor Vet Employees At Tuesday Meet

Texas Electric Service Company employees from Big Spring will meet with other employees of the company in this area at 7 p.m., Tuesday, at the Cosden Country Club to honor members of the company's Quarter Century Club.

More than 200 employees and guests from Big Spring, Lamesa and O'Donnell are expected to attend, according to Don Womack, company manager.

Womack will serve as master of ceremonies.

Burl B. Hulsey Jr., company president, will address the employees and their wives or husbands. Entertainment will be provided by the Lamesa Slumtown Symphony.

The meeting is held annually to honor those employees, both active and retired, who have completed 25 years of continuous service with the company and are members of the Quarter Century Club.

Members in this area are: S. F. Baker, R. L. Beale, A. E. Deel, Hugh Duncan, J. W. Garrison, R. D. Hill of Lamesa, Judy Kuykendall, A. C. McClendon, C. L. Merritt, W. A. Shaw, B. G. Shepard, J. W. Skeen, H. M. Smith and E. L. Whitley. Also, D. M. McKinney of Lewisville and T. A. Rogers of Llano.

Residents Mad At Losing Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Austin residents are mad about the proposed shutdown of the last passenger train serving that city.

Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., said Friday.

He said he was receiving many letters from Central Texas residents protesting the petition filed by the Missouri-Pacific Corp., to terminate the Eagle on runs from St. Louis at Texarkana instead of Laredo, Tex.

Nevertheless, Pompidou is prepared to go to the Common Market summit meeting in The Hague next month to insist that France will not consider new members until there is agreement on a new farm policy.

Since Germany makes the biggest contribution to the multibillion dollar Common Market agricultural fund—which keeps French farmers prosperous—sources here expect Brandt will press to tie this to the membership question.

LBJ Jokes, Laughs In Rare Trip From Ranch

AUSTIN (AP) — Former President Lyndon Johnson laughed and joked with old time friends and associates Saturday about his self imposed exile, and the many books written about his regime.

"Lady Bird likes to travel and it is due to her influence we have made this excursion into Austin today," the former president—tanned, smiling and not so trim as he was when he retired 10 months ago—told a special luncheon arranged by University of Texas officials.

"This is only the fourth trip I have made off the ranch this year," Johnson said in good humored exaggeration. "We went to Hye once, and then to Stonewall, and she made me go to church in Johnson City once."

Stonewall is about 2 miles outside his LBJ ranch gates. Hye, a few miles more and Johnson City about 15 miles east of the ranch, which is 65 miles west of Austin.

Johnson spoke at a luncheon given by University of Texas officials to mark the presentation of more than 12,500 bound volumes of surplus U.S. government and congressional documents to the Lyndon Baines Johnson School of Public Affairs Library. The school, under construction as a part of the UT-Austin complex including the LBJ Presidential Library and Archives, will open in the fall of 1970.

W. Pat Jennings, clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives; Rep. J. J. Pickle, Austin, and Raymond Vowell, a UT vice chancellor, were honored for their efforts in obtaining the books for the LBJ school library. The volumes are duplicates of documents on file in the national archives and the congressional library in Washington and have been in storage in the capital basement.

"There is nothing closer to my heart than the LBJ library and the LBJ school," Johnson said. It was one of the first times the former president has made a talk in public, even informally, since leaving Washington last January. He has been seen frequently in the Stonewall-Johnson City area and has been observed in Austin several times and in other Texas cities but has consistently turned down invitations to speak or to be interviewed. The several hundred persons invited to Saturday's luncheon were not told Johnson would be there, just that "you will find the menu interesting."

Two Secret Service men sat inconspicuously in the luncheon crowd at the Westwood Country Club.

The 150 judges approved the statement of principles drafted by the group's Bar-Media Conference Committee Friday as the judges closed a three-day conference.

The statement of principles also said that parties to litigation have the right to have their causes tried fairly by an impartial court and no trial should be influenced by pressure from the press.

The public has a right to be informed but the accused has a right to be judged in an atmosphere free of prejudice, the statement said.

The judges called on the State Bar of Texas and the Texas Press Association, the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the Texas Association of Broadcasters to adopt the statement of principles.

In other action, the group elected Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court as chairman of the judicial section.

Greenhill succeeds Truman E. Roberts, Hamilton district judge, as head of the 275 member groups, which includes most Texas trial and appellate judges.

Elected to the executive committee were: Judge Leon Douglas of the Court of Criminal Appeals, Austin; Civil Appeals Court Judges Claude Williams of Dallas and Charles W. Barrow of San Antonio; District Judges G. P. Hardy, Bay City; Austin McClellan, Colorado City; Looney Lindsay, Gilmer; H. E. Brockmoller, El Paso; and County Court-at-Law Judge Joe Alamia of Edinburg.

Judges Trial Objectives

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Judges of the state bar's judicial section have adopted a statement of principles saying the press has the right and responsibility to report the truth and members of the bar should cooperate with the press.

About one-third of the increase will be in increased water costs; the remaining two-thirds in operational charges, mostly due to salary increases and a merit pay plan for police at mid-year. Virtually all the city sales tax will have to go for city operations, leaving little for capital outlay as planned. But, maybe property taxpayers might prefer this to an ad valorem increase.

A verdict of guilty of murder was returned against Bobby Eugene Chisno, one of three defendants charged with the slaying of A. D. Blount, pet shop operator, here last December. Pioneer Gas To Ask For Higher Rate

AMARILLO — Pioneer Natural Gas Company has announced its intention to file an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas for an adjustment in the city gate rate for gas delivered to its West Texas System.

A new gate rate will have no immediate effect on current gas rates. However, such an increase would establish a new cost of gas at the city gate for any subsequent changes in domestic and commercial rates in cities on the West Texas Distribution System, which includes Big Spring.

The last determination of Pioneer's gate rate was based on operating costs and investment values for the year 1961. Since that time the field cost of gas, labor, materials and supplies, as well as interest rates, have gone up frequently and substantially, Pioneer officials noted.

It is Pioneer's intention to ask the Railroad Commission to establish a city gate rate of 34 cents, plus an allowance for federal surtax, compared to the present rate of 28 cents. The Federal Income Tax 10 per cent surtax charge would currently expire Dec. 31. Pending legislation would cause its continuation and the outcome can be better judged during the pendency of the Railroad Commission proceeding. Continuation of the tax at a 5 per cent rate would add approximately 1/2 cent and continuation of the tax at a 10 per cent rate would add approximately 1 cent.

Pioneer intends to file its application to the Railroad Commission by Oct. 10.

Petrofina Has Two Promotions

DALLAS — Election of Robert C. Low as vice president, supply and transportation, and Kenneth K. Byrd as treasurer for American Petrofina Company of Texas have been announced. In the newly created position, Low's responsibilities will include supply and distribution, traffic, transportation, and products pipeline terminals. Since March, 1967, Low has served as general manager, supply and transportation.

Byrd, formerly manager, Systems and Economic Planning, succeeds Frank L. Durham. Durham continues as a senior vice president and treasurer of the Company's parent, American Petrofina, Inc.

TRAFFIC SLOWED ABOUT 27 MINUTES FOR CHECKS

Hunt For Forbidden Treasure Goes On

force here for Operation Intercept.

Motorists and pedestrians streaming across the bridge from Mexico like an endless army column.

Car hoods and trunks up like butterfly wings. Doors thrown open. Luggage and passengers besides the cars. Inspectors checking under seats, in window frames, underneath fenders, inside luggage and packages of curios.

Pedestrians filing in as if fresh off an assembly line, showing identifications, unwrapping packages, opening purses and luggage for strangers to peer into.

This is Operation Intercept, the hunt for forbidden narcotics from Mexico.

The inspectors are pleasant enough. Some even joke and grin as they work.

The faces in the column are almost devoid of expression, the way recruits' faces get as they stand in line on their first day of military life.

Waiting to cross the bridge from Mexico, the masses of tourists and residents of the area appear resigned to Operation Intercept—the check of all vehicular and pedestrian traffic crossing the Mexican border.

Motorists, some warily eyeing their fuel gauges, simply sit and wait.

At a peak hour, traffic stretches across the full length of the bridge. Total crossing time, including inspection, is about 27 minutes. At one time it was up to six hours.

Up and down the Rio Grande from this border city, another kind of treasure hunt is under way. Customs officials say their agents and border patrolmen keep the river under surveillance with airplanes, horses, jeeps and two-man teams with walkie-talkies.

The river is only knee deep at places, ideal for smugglers floating contraband across to the U.S. side.

Agents here said they arrested three men and confiscated $1 million in marijuana just 48 hours before Intercept began Sept. 21. The arrest was about three miles downstream from the international bridge.

The assistant special agent-in-charge of customs, Walter Padden, said "four or five" seizures have been made at the bridge here since then.

The agents maintain that the crackdown has curbed narcotics traffic from Mexico despite few arrests. Few smugglers would attempt to escape such a thorough search.

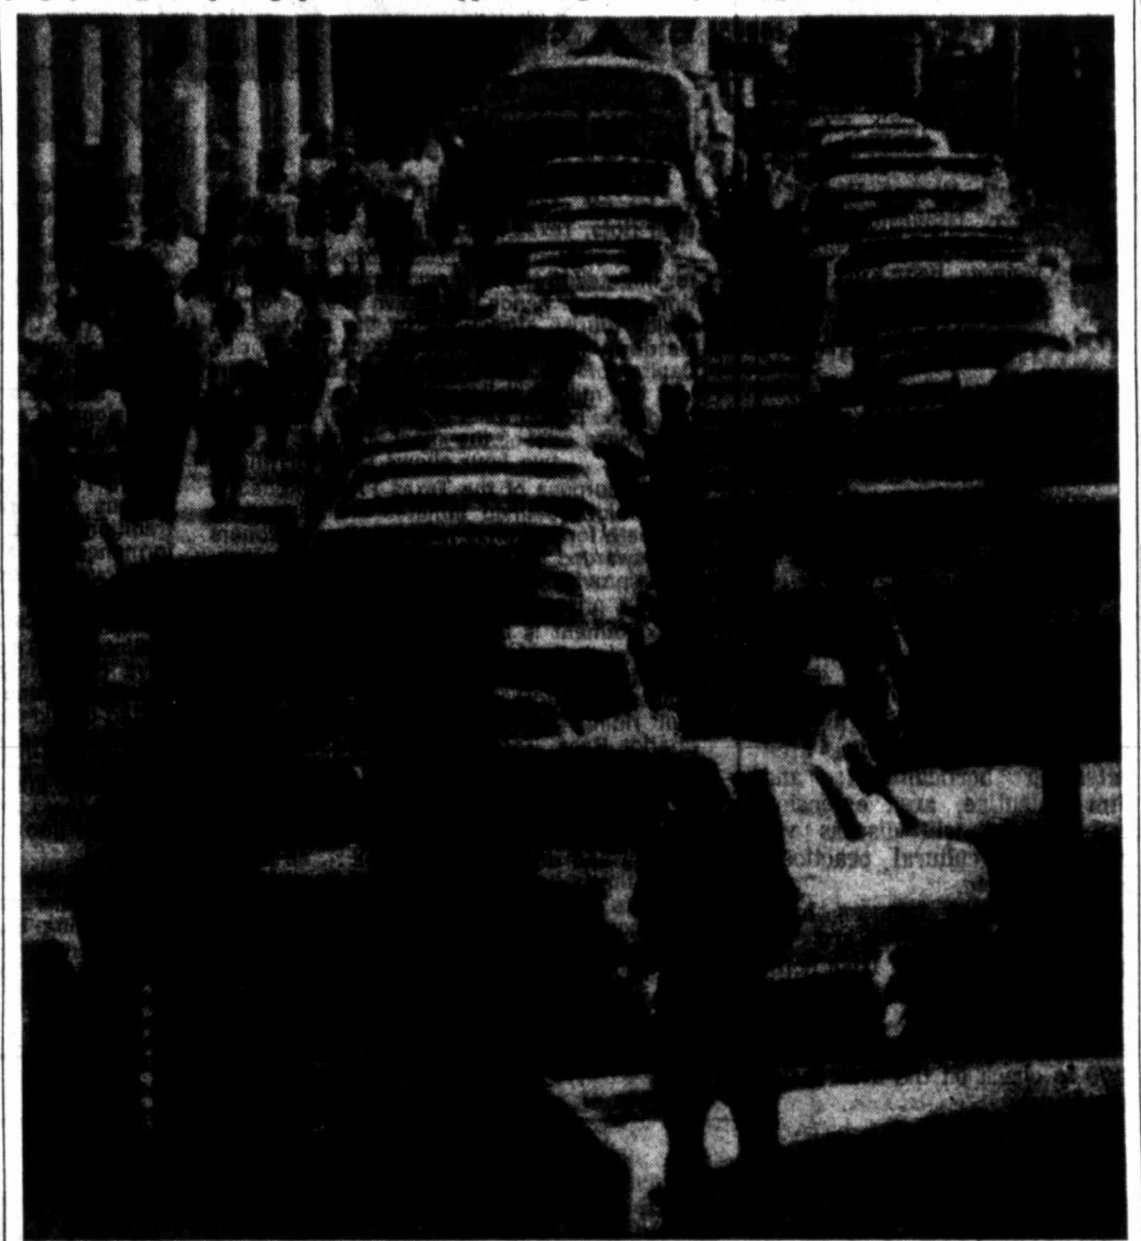

Merchants in Eagle Pass and Laredo and their sister cities across the river repeatedly criticize the plan because, they say, it is hurting the tourist business.

"The United States has the right to do it," said curio shop operator Santiago Riddle of Piedras Negras across from Eagle Pass, "but maybe they should do it another way to keep from hurting business."

"The river is only this high," Riddle said, his hand just below his knee. "They can go across in the nighttime—the professionals."

STREAM OF INTERCEPT TRAFFIC—Traffic piles up nearly the full length of the International Bridge at Laredo as Operation Intercept continues on U.S.-Mexico border. Officials said traffic was much lighter than the first days of the drug crackdown. More pedestrian traffic was reported here and at Eagle Pass.

Mexico's 'Operation Dignity' Praised By Nation's Papers

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican papers Saturday praised "Operation Dignity," a business sponsored move aimed at keeping Mexicans from crossing the U.S. border in answer to "Operation Intercept," a U.S. crackdown on illegal drug traffic from Mexico into the U.S.

Mexicans have criticized Operation Intercept as a useless maneuver that only causes traffic jams and is humiliating to Mexicans. President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz called it a "bureaucratic error."

"Excelsior" said editorially: "If going into the United States means being bothered and humilated, the thing to do then is not to go across."

The newspaper said that "Operation Dignity" is not a retaliatory measure "since we present no obstacles to U.S. citizens coming to Mexico."

At the same time the paper says that as part of Operation Dignity Mexico should push for development of the border areas "Mexicanizing the economic activities of the cities" and pushing the consumption of Mexican-made products now bought in the U.S. cities.

The newspaper "El Universal" said "Operation Dignity preserves the national decorum in spite of the damage done to human and commercial exchange of cities on both sides of the border."

The newspaper recalled that President Nixon said last month at the inauguration of the Amistad Dam that good relations between Mexico and the United States were at their highest level in history.

"We like to think," the paper said "that secondary authorities... are responsible for Operation Intercept."

World's Roughest Rodeo

To let off steam, other state prisons have their riots. Texas has its Prison Rodeo.

What started out in 1932 to be a little fun for inmates of the Huntsville State Prison with time on their hands has grown into one of the major tourist attractions in the state. Each October, Huntsville becomes "The Rodeo Capital of the Underworld". 30,000 visitors jam the million dollar, prisoner-built stadium inside the prison walls each Sunday afternoon to witness one of the most exciting... and roughest... two hour shows seen anywhere.

The purpose of the Texas Prison Rodeo is three-fold: Qualified inmates are allowed to compete for top prize money; other prisoners are rewarded for good behavior; and the proceeds provide non-budgeted funds for a much needed, prison-wide rehabilitation program.

Excitement is acute and grit normally exceeds skill. Contestants stand the spectators... and themselves... on their ears in such events as saddle and bareback bronc riding, bull riding, calf tussling and the famous Chariot Race. Three events provide the biggest thrills: The "Mad Scramble", in which 10 riders bolt from the chutes on 10 bulls at the same time... "Wild Horse Racing", which calls for 50 convicts in teams, determined to subdue and ride 10 wild horses... all at the same time... and "Hard Money", in which 50 convicts on foot try to snatch a Bull Durham sack containing a $50 bill from the horns of a rampaging Brahma Bull. Of course, the inevitable Rodeo Clowns help keep things lively and hilarious.

But, rodeo is only a part of this tremendously popular show. It has become a circus. In addition to prisoner participation, professional rodeo performers exhibit their riding skills. Inmates from the women's branch of the Texas Department of Corrections add their talents (the Goree Girls Band). Other bands, a full pageantry including mounted quadrilles and the famous Texas Range Riders of Longview, trained animal and other variety acts, occasionally a Mexican Bullfight and even Parachute Jumping... all team up to make the two hour show a Texas-size success. Well-known TV and motion picture stars make numerous appearances. Even the Governor is traditionally in attendance at the first performance of the season. Old-fashioned, savory barbecue, dispensed from a number of stands on the grounds by talented prison chefs rounds out the world's roughest rodeo.

Since the Texas Prison Rodeo began there have been only two fatalities... and two escapes. On one of the rare performances permitted outside the walls, two convicts gained their (temporary) freedom by changing from their striped uniforms to smugled-in civies under the grandstand. An officer on duty spotted them and, thinking they were trying to sneak into the rodeo, put them off the grounds!

If you enjoy rodeo, Texas, this is it. But before you take off for this outstanding event in the bustling East Texas city of Huntsville, some 70 miles north of Houston on Interstate 45, write the Texas Prison Rodeo for reservations. It's SRO!

Cong Captain Swaps Sides, Brings Some Men With Him

TAM KY, Vietnam (AP) — It's rare when a Viet Cong captain switches loyalty to the South Vietnamese government and it's much rarer when he gets most of his company to join him. "I was tired of being disillusioned," says a man who did just that.

Known only as Quyen, the leathery combat veteran had led his Viet Cong company in battles against both U.S. Marines and government troops.

Now, he is leading two-thirds of his company in a new campaign to gain control of his home district from the Viet Cong he once served.

Quyen was a captain and commander of the Viet Cong's C9 company one week ago when he decided to call it quits.

The Communist command had made too many promises, he told surprised militiamen when he walked into the district headquarters of Thang Binh, about 30 miles south of Da Nang and surrendered.

The skeptical militiamen were convinced of Quyen's good intentions when he took them out along the coastal flats north of Tam Ky and disarmed 26 guerrilla-planted mines and booby traps.

He also delivered letters that he had written personally to relatives of men who had served in his company.

The next day, several men he had commanded arrived in Thang Binh with their rifles and joined Quyen.

They said that after Quyen defected, two political officers assigned to C9 company had disbanded the unit and ordered the men to turn in their weapons.

In a few days, 27 of the 40 men in Quyen's company had surrendered, bringing with them six rifles and a machine gun.

The Quang Tin Province chief, Col. Hong Dinh Tho, asked Quyen to bring 10 of his best men to Tam Ky. Quyen was given $170 and he and his squad had a tour of the city.

"They had been told that Tam Ky had been destroyed," Tho said. "They were very surprised to see the buildings, the cars, the electricity."

During the shopping trip, Tho bought the 11 ex-guerrillas some clothes and promised to send food to their families still back in the district.

Market Price Changes Hold To Narrow Range

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Stock Exchange dawdled through this past week with price changes holding to a narrow range except for some volatile issues, and trading proceeding at a moderate pace.

Brokers said the market continued to labor under uncertainties about the outlook for the economy and found little inspiration from current economic developments.

The ability of the Dow Jones average to hold above the 800 level sparked a rally Thursday after seven losing sessions, but the steam quickly evaporated Friday, and the market slipped back into the losing column.

The exchange index took a small loss of 6 cents to $26.57 for the week.

The ratio of declines to advances among individual issues was more pronounced, with 618 falling and 395 rising among 1,149 traded. There were 213 new lows for the year and 26 new highs.

Volume declined to 17.36 million shares from 19.24 million the previous week.

Among the 25 most actively traded stocks, 14 advanced, and 11 declined. Syntex, up 4 1/4 at 76 1/2 on 400,100 shares, was the most active.

Six oil issues gained places on the most-active list. Among them, British Petroleum advanced 1 1/2 to 16 1/2. Home Oil declined 2 1/2 to 36 1/2. Austral Oil gained 4 to 26 1/2, and U.S. Natural Resources rose 2 1/2 to 26 1/2.

Telex spurted 7 to 63 1/2 on volume of 241,700. Among other larger gainers were Equity Funding 3 1/2 to 66 1/2, Deltona 4 1/2 to 68 1/2, and Potter Instrument 2 1/2 to 26 1/2.

TOUCHDOWN IRISH—Notre Dame running back Bill Barz makes a one-handed catch of a Joe Theismann pass for a touchdown in the first quarter of Saturday's game in South Bend. Trying to defend is Michigan State's Thomas Kutschinski. The play covered 11 yards.

Longhorns Toy With Navy In Crushing 56-17 Victory

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fourth-ranked Texas toyed with Navy Saturday night, crushing the winless Middles, 56-17, in a tune-up for next week's nationally televised game against Oklahoma at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

The Longhorns' first team hardly worked up a sweat, scoring on a 43-yard run on their first play from scrimmage and leaving the field for good with 10 minutes left in the second quarter.

Former President Lyndon Johnson was among 65,500 spectators who watched the Longhorns roll to their third straight victory this season and 12th triumph in a row. It was the first Texas football game Johnson has attended since he became President in 1963.

Navy, also losers this year to Penn State and Boston College had only 54 yards in total offense in the first half and was in position for a 36-yard field goal by Jack Detweiler only because of two pass interference penalties.

The Longhorns' wishbone offense piled up 324 yards rushing in the first half—touched off when sophomore Jim Bertelsen sped untouched for a score the first time Texas handled the ball.

Texas had good field position because Mike Campbell partially blocked Daniel Weaver's punt, which carried only 25 yards. Two more short kicks by Weaver—one for 22 yards and another for nine—set up two more Longhorn touchdowns.

Weaver later was hurt, and sophomore Tom Moore replaced him.

Ted Koy, a 212-pounder with good speed, scored two touchdowns, ramming from the 3 and the 1, and second-team quarterback Eddie Phillips also tallied twice on runs of 15 and 7 yards.

Starting quarterback James Street, who once again found it unnecessary to pass, skipped in from the six before Coach Darrell Royal pulled his starters with 10:14 remaining in the second period.

Terry Collins, a 5-foot-6 running back, drove over from the two for another Texas score and might have scored again but fumbled at the navy three when he collided with the Middles' David Howe of Houston, Tex.

Texas so completely dominated the game that the third team was sent in midway of the third quarter and second-team kicker Rob Layne started handling the extra points after Texas' 48th point.

Quarterback Stahl Vincent flipped a pitchout to sprinter Dale Bernauer, who skirted right end for a four-yard score. Then, after Rice defensive back Dave Keys recovered a fumble by Stan Murphy on the ensuing kickoff, Vincent scored himself on a five-yard run around the left side.

In the fourth quarter each team fumbled twice and Cal missed a chance to score when the Owls held on the one-yard line. Rice moved the ball out to its own five, then punted.

Curtis then hit Calkins at the Rice 29, Gary Fowler went 10 yards, and two plays later, Curtis hit Calkins with the winning score.

Rice Is Upended By Golden Bears

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — California scored twice in the last 53 seconds, once on a 19-yard touchdown pass and again on a 29-yard interception return, to stun underdog Rice 31-21 in an intersectional football game Saturday.

The Golden Bears had a 17-7 lead in the third period, but Rice struck for two touchdowns to take a 21-17 lead. Cal quarterback Steve Curtis then tossed to tight end Jim Calkins in the end zone.

Surrounded by defenders, Calkins leaped high, made a spectacular catch and fell in scoring territory for the go-ahead points. Seconds later, Rice went to the air and Cal's Paul Marty intercepted and ran it back all the way for the clincher.

Rice, a 19-point underdog,

Tigers Claw Bears, 63-8

BATON ROUGE La. (AP) — Louisiana State's football Tigers crushed Baylor 63-8 here Saturday night with an explosive offense loaded with so many backs you needed a computer to keep track of them.

Second string back Andy Hamilton, a 6-foot-3 175-pound true sophomore, got four Tiger touchdowns—on a 30-yard pass from third string quarterback Butch Duhe and runs of three five and three yards.

The bonecrushing LSU defense was anchored by linebacker George Bevan, tackle Fred Michaelson and sophomore cornerback Tommy Casanova, who intercepted one pass and set up a touchdown with a 31-yard punt return.

LSU's defense gave up one touchdown, after the Tigers were 27 points ahead, but most of the yardage on that Bear drive came against reserves.

The Baylor score came on a 15-yard St. Southall to Jerry Smith pass.

Angelo State Loses, 19-9

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&I, top-ranked NAIA small college club, defeated Angelo State 19-9 Saturday in a non-conference football game before 14,200 fans.

Fullback Mike Williamson put A&I ahead with a five-yard scoring run midway in the second period as the Javelinas took their third consecutive victory of the season.

The Javelinas scored early in the first period when flanker Dwight Harrison took a 14-yard pass from quarterback Karl Douglas. Angelo State tied the score in the same quarter when Roy Baker scored from two yards out when he picked off an A&I fumble and went to the end zone.

A&I put across the clincher on a Douglas to Eldridge Small pass for 28 yards.

Permian Bounces San Angelo, 23-6

ODESSA — Odessa Permian, in a crucial district 3-A football game, routed San Angelo's Bobcats, 23-6 here Saturday night.

Permian scored in the first quarter when Crang Monday ran back a 16-yard interception for a 6-0 lead.

Tony Boxell scored the other Permian first half touchdown on a one-yard run. Kent Hulseley kicked a successful point-after-Hulseley also booted a 33-yard field goal which gave Permian a 16-0 lead.

San Angelo scored in the waning seconds of the second quarter. Neal Skyes threw 35 yards to Sam Hemsley for the touchdown.

Permian's final tally came in the fourth quarter. Charles Billingsley recorded the touchdown on a two-yard run.

RAIDERS LOSE 2ND Cowboys Trip Texas Tech

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State capitalized on a major break early in the fourth quarter to surprise Texas Tech Saturday 17-10 in non-conference football.

A short punt and a 20-yard return by massive tackle John Ward put the winning Cowboys in business at the Tech 22 with the score tied 10-10 about 14 minutes from the end of the game.

Two running plays and a 10-yard penalty gave Oklahoma State a second-and-goal situation at the six.

Quarterback Bob Cutbuth rolled to his right, shook off two Tech defenders and found Bobby Cole all alone at the goal line with a scoring pass. Sophomore Uwe Pruss kicked the extra point and the Cowboys kept on the pressure the rest of the way for their second triumph in three games.

Tech is 1-2 and the loss marked the first time a Texas Tech team coached by J.T. King had dropped a decision to a Big Eight Conference squad. The Raiders were 8-0 under King against the Big Eight.

The visitors jumped in front 10-0 on a first-quarter touchdown and a field goal early in the second period, but led just 10-7 at the half and were tied after three quarters.

The game's leading rusher was Tech sophomore halfback Danny Hardaway, a native of Lawton, Okla., who bulled for 100 yards in 28 carries.

Cutbuth paced the Cowboys with 69 yards in 16 tries. Most of fullback Bub Deerinwater's 66 yards came in the second half as the winners gradually wore down Tech in the 83-degree heat.

Stillwater, okla. add ou-texas, tech db22ko: heat. Texas Tech started with a rush, taking the opening kickoff and crunching 74 yards in 16 plays for the game's first touchdown.

At this point, O-State had yet to register a first down. But the Cowboys came to life midway through the second quarter and drove 71 yards to score with Cutbuth leading the way.

He connected on three straight passes and circled right end for 18 yards to put the home club in business at Texas Tech's 21.

After a five-yard pass and an incomplete, Tech was penalized for pass interference at the two. Cutbuth took it in from there and Pruss kicked the point after.

Oklahoma State received the second half kickoff and ate up five minutes of the third period before Pruss kicked the tying field goal from 24 yards out.

That's the way it stood until Sanders' six-yard punt was gathered in by the 250-pound Ward. Ward thundered to the 22 to set up the winning touchdown.

LUBBOCK — If Big Spring were "playing" Abilene Cooper here Saturday night, it picked the wrong weekend.

Quarterback Pat Kelly of Lubbock gave the Steers vaunted pass defense all it could handle before the Longhorns poured on the coal in the final two and a half minutes to pull out a 29-15 victory.

The Bovines, now 3-1 on the year, meet Cooper in a 3-4 headknocker for first place next Friday night in Abilene.

Big Spring scored twice within a period of eight seconds in round four to put the decision on the top shelf.

Fullback Joe Zubiate stopped in time after going on a wrong count, then twisted his way 29 yards up the middle for the Black Knights' third touchdown.

MORGAN SCORES
Kelly tried a screen pass deep in his own territory the next time Lubbock got the ball. His aim was deflected by an onrushing lineman and the referee, who got too close to the play, and a joyful Randy Morgan plucked the ball out of the air and lumbered six yards for the first touchdown of his career.

Quarterback Gary Hinds booted the PATs after the Steers final two TDs.

Lubbock came back to score on Kelly's pinpoint passing, going 74 yards in seven plays with 51 seconds left. The brilliant Lubbock field general found split end Larry Stockton in the end zone for the score. The play covered 15 yards.

Kelly then took the ball in for the final two points.

Kelly picked Big Spring's defenses apart for 251 yards passing, completing 16 of 29. Benny Marquez broke his spell momentarily with an interception early in the fourth.

STEERS WORK ENDS
The Steers gained an awesome 387 yards on the ground, working the ends admirably.

The Westerners acted as if they were sneering at the pregame odds when they scored in their first series with the ball.

Kelly, threading the needle to four different receivers, spurred the 4-A team 77 yards in 10 plays.

Fullback Danny Cate cut across the middle to take Kelly's pitch at the 10 and waltzed on in for the score with 3:59 remaining in the first period.

Kelly had earlier thrown to Chad Utley for 10 yards, Larry Stockton for 12, and Brad Youngblood for 20.

Big Spring struck back immediately, shaking the redoubtable Rick Peurifoy loose on a pitch, and a sweep around right end that carried 94 yards. Peurifoy's gallop occurred on the first play from scrimmage after Big Spring had been penalized for clipping.

Great blocking downfield by the Steer ends and guards kept Peurifoy free. Rick had used up only 29 seconds on the clock when he broke loose.

Gary Hinds tied the score on a placement kick.

Lee Hilario gave Big Spring another scoring opportunity early in the second quarter when he wrapped around Clifton Hoppes' fumble on the Lubbock 29.

Big Spring drove that distance in eight plays, and Peurifoy did the honors again from three yards out with 1:54 remaining in the second quarter.

Hinds then went to Steve Tidwell in the end zone for the two points.

Peurifoy gained a net of 195 yards in 18 carries. Zubiate did almost as well, picking up 121 in 15 tries.

Score by quarters:
Big Spring 7 8 0 14-29
Lubbock 7 0 0 8-15

Arkansas Tips Stubborn TCU

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Bill Montgomery and split end Chuck Dicus, Arkansas' pass-catch combination from the suburbs of Dallas collaborated on two touchdown passes to spark the third-ranked Razorbacks to a 24-6 victory over aroused Texas Christian University here Saturday.

It was the Southwest Conference opener for both teams and Arkansas' 11th straight victory over TCU, which fought doggedly after last week's 62-0 humiliation at the hands of Ohio State.

Montgomery's passes to Dicus covered 73 yards in the second quarter and 23 yards in the third period.

The Horned Frogs, led by sophomore quarterback Steve Judy, carried the fight to the heavily favored Razorbacks during the first two quarters, but stopped themselves with Marty Whelan's fumbles on three occasions.

Judy completed 20 of 38 passes for 245 yards and netted 56 yards rushing on 12 carries.

Wayne Merritt accounted for TCU's scoring with field goals of 21 and 22 yards, both in the second quarter. It was the first score Arkansas' defense had permitted in 15 quarters.

Tailback Bill Burnett's one-yard touchdown run with slightly more than six minutes remaining in the game put Arkansas safely ahead 24-6.

TCU reached the Arkansas four-yard line in the first period before fullback Whelan fumbled. Minutes later, Whelan fumbled again and Arkansas' Bobby Field recovered at the Razorback 35.

About five minutes deep in the second period, TCU's Jimmy Tidwell returned a punt 25 yards to the Arkansas 35, but on second down Whelan fumbled again and Terry Stewart recovered for Arkansas.

It took Arkansas three plays to score after Merritt's first field goal early in the second period. With the TCU defense drawn in on third and two, Montgomery faked inside and then lofted a pass to Dicus, who was 10 yards behind the nearest TCU defender.

Powerful Bucks Rip Huskies For No.2

SEATTLE (AP) — Rex Kern, 000, a master of fakery, confused the enemy with strikes by land and air Saturday to lead the Ohio State Buckeyes to a 41-14 intercollegiate football victory over the Huskies of Washington before an overflow crowd of 58,000.

Kern scored two touchdowns himself and sent fullback Jim Otis plunging for three more before turning the game over to the reserves in the final quarter. Stubborn at times in the face of the awesome offense mounted by the national champion Buckeyes, Washington still fought back to score touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters.

Bill Urbanik, Ohio State defensive tackle, set up his team's first touchdown when he recovered a fumbled Washington handoff early in the first quarter. Otis plunged for a yard and then turned, faked a handoff to John Brockington, but cradled the ball in his own right arm and circled through right tackle for 64 yards and the touchdown. The Buckeyes then showed they could grind out yardage, too, crunching 57 yards in 11 plays to their second tally. They got the third one early in the second quarter, slashing 52 yards in only six plays.

Washington managed to avoid a first-half shutout with a 54-yard drive of its own, quarterback Gene Willis diving the final yard with just 50 seconds left.

Otis punched a yard to score early in the third quarter and Kern once again rambled over on the fullback fake from the four-yard line to make it 35-7 with a quarter left.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Steers Play To More Fans

With TOMMY HART

Roy Lee Warren, the former all-district halfback for Big Spring who failed to pass entrance exams at the University of Houston, is now a member of the Angelo State College club.

In his first two carries, the nimble ex-Steer gained 18 yards for the Rams.

When Andrews smashed Denver City, 42-7, recently, the one-time Big Spring resident, Tommy Ryan, scored three touchdowns for the winners.

Fans in San Francisco didn't warm up to the Giants even when the team was in the thick of the scrap for the Western division championship in the National League.

A crowd of 41,000 witnessed the final of a recent series with the Los Angeles Dodgers but it was Fan Appreciation Day and five new cars were given away.

In their first two football games this season, the UT-El Paso Miners were unscored on in each last half of play.

UTEP met and beat University of Pacific and the University of New Mexico in the two outings.

Roger Staubach, the Dallas Cowboys' rookie quarterback, played basketball here a couple of times for NMMI against Howard County JC.

Observers were impressed with the confidence he had in his own ability.

Unless they do the accordion act, which isn't likely, the Big Spring Steers could play to 10,000 more people this year than last.

The gate was up an estimated 4,000 in the first three games.

Attendance has been good at home contests, despite the fact that few tickets were sold out-of-town.

Monterey fans bought only 102 adult and 250 student tickets for their appearance here while Ector followers purchased only 36 adult and 46 student pasteboards.

Perhaps the Houston Astros should trade for Orlando Cepeda.

The San Francisco Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Atlanta Braves all won championships the year after they had acquired the Baby Bull.

Coaches of girl athletic teams invariably have tougher jobs keeping talent than do mentors of men's teams.

A case in point is Wanda Ferguson, the HCJC girls' volleyball coach.

Seven letter winners were eligible to return but only three showed up.

Some got married, others transferred and still others quit to go to work.

Charley West, the ex-Big Springer who is in his sophomore season with the Minnesota Vikings is running second string at four positions.

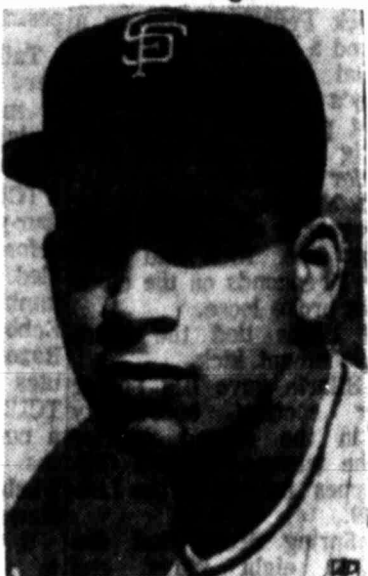

Left cornerback, right cornerback, left safety and as a punt returner.

Jim Montgomery, who didn't have a good year as a senior footballer at Midland High, followed his brother, Ross, to TCU and likely will be a starter this year.

Joe Crousen, the former BSHS coaching aide, directed his team to a 7-3 record last year.

Ford Farris, who spent his early years here but who played his high school ball for Hobart, Okla., accepted a baseball scholarship at Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla., and is punting (45.5 yard average) for the varsity football team.

He starred in both sports in high school.

Trojans Blast Oregon State

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Southern California overcame early Oregon State stubbornness today and powered to a third straight victory of the season, 31-7.

It was the first Pacific-8 Conference game of the season for Southern California and put the Trojans on the road to a possible unprecedented fourth straight Rose Bowl appearance.

A big test comes next week when the Trojans play dark-horse Stanford.

Oregon State took advantage of a first quarter fumble by Southern California to take a 7-0 lead. USC struggled to a 10-7 lead by halftime and then smothered the Beavers in the last half, driving to three touchdowns with a mixture of running by halfback Clarence Davis and passing by quarterback Jim Jones.

Grand Prix Champ Will Be Wealthy

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Eyeing the first $200,000 purse in road racing history, crack Formula One drivers shattered existing lap records Saturday during final time trials for Sunday's 20th running of the Grand Prix of the United States, this country's second most important auto race.

The race, 108 laps for 248 miles over a 2.3-mile course, gets under way at 2 p.m. EDT. A crowd exceeding 100,000 is expected to jam the countryside north of this Finger Lakes village to see the chase.

Austrian Jochen Rindt driving a Lotus-Ford, won the pole position with a record 130.15 miles an hour, almost three miles an hour faster than the old Formula One qualifying mark for the course.

The other front row spot went to New Zealand's Dennis Hulme in a McLaren Ford 130.09 mph while Jackie Stewart of Scotland was third in a Matra Ford at 129.84.

Austin College Scores Triumph

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Wesley Eben hit Byron Boston on scoring drives of seven and 33 yards Saturday to spark Austin College to a 35-20 football victory over Nebraska Wesleyan.

The 72-hole tournament will be concluded Sunday.

Prince De Galles Rewards Backers

NEWMARKET, England (AP) — Prince de Galles won the Cambridgeshire Handicap today and brought fortunes to persons who had tickets on him in the Irish Sweepstake.

Grandew was second in the one mile, one furlong turf test and Kamundu was third.

The winner brought $120,000 fortunes to those holding sweep tickets on him.

The winner, ridden by England's Frank Durr, started at 5-2 odds. Grandew was a 40-1 shot and Kamundu, ridden by British champion jockey Lester Piggott, was 100-8 favorite.

Ma-yella at 100-1, was fourth. There were 26 starters.

Drake Surprises NTSU, 27 To 23

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Underdog Drake, sparked by Duane Miller's 91-yard punt return and Bob Chase's two fourth quarter field goals, surprised North Texas 27-23 in football Saturday.

North Texas quarterback Steve Ramsey set an NCAA record with his 52nd career touchdown pass, but the fired up Drake defenders intercepted six of his tosses.

The final interception by Drake's Mike Carden ended a last minute Eagle drive to pull out the victory.

Ramsey set his NCAA mark with a 34-yard toss to end Barry Moore for the game's opening score, but the extra point kick failed and Miller's long punt return gave Drake a 7-0 lead.

North Texas provided some similar fireworks when Leonard Dunlap picked off Drake quarterback Gary McCoy's pass and ran it back 90 yards for a TD.

Ramsey pitched 40 yards to Leo Taylor and 48 yards to Fred Woods for second quarter touchdowns but quarterback Mike Grejbowski of Drake hit Miller with a 25-yard pass and Scott Sharpe ran three yards for Drake scores and the Bulldogs held a 21-20 halftime edge.

The only scoring in the second half besides Chase's two field goals of 24 yards each was Bernie Barbour's 21-yard three-pointer in the third period that gave the Eagles a short-lived 23-21 advantage.

Rebels' Passes Beat Etex, 38-28

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — The University of Texas at Arlington quarterback Ronnie Faulkner broke two school records Saturday night as he passed the Rebels to a 38-28 victory over East Texas State.

Faulkner completed 23 of 38 passes for 392 yards to break records set by Mike Baylor last year, also against ETSU.

Two of Faulkner's aerials went for touchdowns—the first to Ronnie Lucas from 35 yards with 25 seconds left in the first period and the second to Dick Hill from 14 yards with 6 seconds left in the first half.

The second TD toss drew the Rebels to within four points at 21-17 at the intermission.

The Rebels broke away in the last quarter with two touchdowns as they went into the final period trailing 23-14.

Fullback Mark Griffin got the winning scores with runs of 8 and 4 yards.

Boilermakers Earn One Point Victory

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Mike Phipps followed his fifth touchdown pass of the game Saturday with a flip to end Greg Fenner for a 2-point conversion that gave eighth-ranked Purdue a 36-35 victory over Stanford.

A near-perfect fourth-period performance, in which he passed for 232 yards, gave Phipps a personal victory in a duel with another of college football's best quarterbacks, Jim Plunkett.

Phipps, a six-foot-three senior, accounted for a Purdue record 429 yards passing, and his five touchdown passes set another school record. Plunkett passed for 355 yards and tied his own Stanford record with four touchdowns passes.

Stanford had taken a 35-21 lead in the third period on two Plunkett scoring tosses. Purdue was held on its first offensive series of the final period, but then was unstoppable.

Phipps, who now has 10 touchdown passes for the season, completed his last 12 attempts of the game. He completed three straight to take the Boilermakers 80 yards to a score with 11:34 to play.

The touchdown was a 21-yard pass to fullback John Bullock and Jeff Jones' extra point kick made it 35-28.

Phipps threw two passes to take Purdue 79 yards on its next series. Halfback Randy Cooper took a swing pass down the right sideline for 65 yards and flanker Stan Brown caught a touchdown pass from 14 yards out on the next play, making it 35-34 Stanford with about three minutes to play.

Purdue then went for broke. Phipps rolled to his right, stopped near the sideline and threw back to Fenner, who caught the ball as he went to his knees about two yards into the end zone, surrounded by Indiana defenders.

Short Is On Hand For Ceremonies

STANTON — Two state representatives helped dedicate Stanton's new Martin County Country Club Saturday afternoon.

The two politicians, D. L. Short of Texas and George Blocker of New Mexico, gave short speeches and helped cut the ribbon on the new 3,270-yard, par 35 course.

A barbecue followed and door prizes were given out to individuals. Approximately 225 golfing enthusiasts were present for the dedication.

Also highlighting the opening was a golf exhibition by Chris Blocker, Daryle Hohertz, Paul Briggs and Eldon Hopkins.

Blocker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Blocker of Stanton. He is a touring professional who plays out of Jal, N.M.

Hohertz was the architect who designed the course, which formerly served as a cultivated field. It is located at the south end of Stanton, with a ball field between it and the flood control lake in the center of town, south of the T&P tracks.

Charlie Burnett, formerly golf pro at a Sweetwater course, has been contracted to serve as pro at Martin County.

Sands Tramples Union Juniors

ACKERLY — Sands trampled Union 30-18 in junior high competition Thursday night at Ackerly. It was the first game of the season for Sands.

Ronnie Feaster, right halfback, scored three of Sands' touchdowns on runs of 20, 10 and six yards. Left half Dennis Armstrong ran the ball into the end zone on all three extra point plays. Quarterback Scotty Blake took the ball across from the two-yard line in the fourth quarter for the final Sands score.

Union's D. Landers scored all of his team's points with runs of 30, 16 and 25 yards.

Sands coach James Blake cited ended Brad Ingram, Keith Gandy, Richard Neil and Ed Kennemer, guards Tommy Smith and Bennie Cluck, center David Zant and quarterback Joe Beall for outstanding play of the season.

SW Texas Clips Sul Ross, 30-7

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Johnny Parker snagged touchdown passes of 13 and 55 yards to spark Southwest Texas State to a 30-7 Lone Star Conference football victory over Sul Ross Saturday night.

The Bobcats' victory eclipsed a record-setting passing performance by Sul Ross quarterback Ronnie Bell, who completed 23 of 64 passes, both LSC records.

Southwest Texas now is 1-1-1 and Sul Ross is 1-2.

Northwood Zooms By Ohio Northern

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Northwood Institute, which couldn't win a game last year, registered its third victory of the season Saturday, defeating Ohio Northern 23-7.

Quarterback John Govett passed for two Northwood touchdowns and kicked a 32-yard pass to halfback Larry Lindsey in the second period. In the third quarter Govett hit Larry's brother, Lloyd, the right end, on a 28-yard scoring pass. Larry Lindsey wrapped up the Northwood scoring with a touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the last period.

For Rannels, Noe Luevanos, Tim Brewer, Joey Rios, Kenny Newman and Mark Hedges were outstanding.

Capt. Lawrence Byrd of the Packers broke his arm on the first play of the game and will be lost for the season.

Goliad Longhorns Still Atop League Standings

Goliad's Longhorns remained atop the standings in the Seventh Grade football league here Saturday morning by defeating the Rannels Cowboys in a 6-0 encounter.

In other action, the Goliad Eagles kayaked the Rannels Packers, also by a score of 6-0.

In the Longhorn-Cowboy skirmish, Andy Hurrington scored for Goliad in the second quarter on a 30-yard run around left end.

The Longhorns got close to Rannels' goal on four other occasions but fumbled three times. Wes Bouillion scored the other time but the play was erased because of a clipping penalty.

Rannels failed to get inside Goliad's 20.

On defense, the Longhorn stars were Casey Lovelace, James Coffee, Robert Rasmussen and Billy Whittington.

In the other contest, Gilbert Padilla counted for Goliad's Eagles on a 15-yard end sweep in the fourth period. The drive

Blair's Bunt Beats Twins In Extra Inning Contest

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Blair's squeeze bunt with two out in the 12th inning scored Mark Belanger with Baltimore's winning run and the Orioles nipped Minnesota 4-3 Saturday in the opening game of the American League's East-West playoffs.

The victory gave the Orioles a 1-0 lead in the best-of-5 playoffs which continue Sunday.

Belanger opened the 12th with a single off Harmon Killebrew's glove at third base. Andy Etchebarren sacrificed and then Don Buford bounced to shortstop with Belanger taking third.

Then Blair, hitless in four previous at bats, dumped a bunt along the third base line and Belanger raced home.

The Orioles tied the game in the bottom of the ninth on Boog Powell's 400-foot home run. Then, the Birds almost won it.

Brooks Robinson's third hit of the game knocked out Minnesota starter Jim Perry, with Robinson reaching second when Ted Uhlaender, a ninth-inning defensive replacement, booted the ball.

Mets Win 1st Game In N. L. Playoffs

ATLANTA (AP) — The alert New York Mets struck for five runs in the eighth inning Saturday when the Atlanta defense collapsed around Phil Niekro, handing the Mets a 9-5 victory in the first game of a best-of-5 playoff for the National League pennant.

Orlando Cepeda's wild peg to the plate let the Mets take the lead in the sloppy eighth and Tony Gonzalez's fumble of J.C. Martin's pinch single contributed to the downfall of the Braves who had racked up Tom Seaver, the Mets' 25-game-winning ace for eight hits, including two homers and four doubles in seven innings.

The crowd of 50,122 was enjoying a warm, late afternoon with a 5-4 Atlanta lead going into the eighth, made possible by Hank Aaron's tie-breaking homer in the seventh.

Then Wayne Garrett opened the Met eighth with a double down the left field line, and Cleon Jones followed with a single that tied the score. Art Shamsky's third single had Niekro, the knuckleball artist, on the ropes. Jones preceded to third on a delayed steal, beating the relay of catcher Bob Didier to shortstop Gil Garrido to third baseman Cleo Boyer.

With one out and men on first and third, Ed Kranepool rapped to Cepeda at first but the Atlanta first baseman threw the ball into the dirt at the plate, letting Jones score the tie-breaking run.

Manager Lum Harris' strategy called for an intentional walk to Bud Harrelson that loaded the bases. Manager Gil Hodges then made his move sending up Martin to bat for Seaver, who had been hit hard all day long.

Martin ripped a single to center that Gonzalez bobbled while Boswell, Kranepool and Harrelson scored. Four of the five runs in the bizarre inning were unearned.

Seaver was the winner and Niekro the loser, following the regular-season pattern that saw Seaver beat the Braves three times and Niekro lose to the Mets three times. Seaver wound up the regular season with a 10-game winning streak and has not lost a game since Aug. 5 at Cincinnati.

It was a loosely played game, calculated to inspire a burst of confidence in the Baltimore Orioles and Minnesota Twins who are playing off for the American League flag and the right to meet the National's surviving in the World Series starting next Saturday. The Orioles drew first blood in the AL series, edging

Missouri Surge Tops Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ninth-ranked Missouri scored 24 points in the second quarter, capitalizing twice on turnovers, then came back to score 18 points in the final quarter to crush Michigan 40-17 Saturday.

The 13th-ranked Wolverines dominated the first quarter and took a 3-0 lead on a 41-yard field goal by Tim Killian. But on the first play of the second quarter, Michigan quarterback Don Moorhead fumbled on the Missouri 18 and the Tigers recovered.

That seemed to be the turning point. The Tigers drove to the Michigan 18 where Tom Darden intercepted a Terry McMillan pass. But on Michigan's first play, speedster Glenn Doughty fumbled to give the ball back to Missouri on the Wolverine 16.

Three plays and a penalty later Henry Brown booted a 26-yard field goal. The Tigers carried the play the rest of the quarter, scoring its first touchdown on a two-yard by Ron McBride four plays after Dennis Poppe intercepted a Moorhead pass at the Michigan 28.

McBride also scored on a one-yard plunge with only 13 seconds left in the half. It capped a 68-yard drive which took 10 plays.

Jon Stagers scored the other Missouri TD in the second quarter with a one-yard buck.

The Wolverines rallied for two touchdowns in the third quarter on plunges by Garvie Craw, Missouri's Joe Moore burst off left tackle in the final quarter and raced to a 62-yard touchdown that broke the backs of the Wolverines and made the score 34-17. Earlier Brown had kicked a 24-yard field goal.

The Tigers' final score came on an eight-yard pass from Chuck Roper to Steve Kenmore with two minutes left in the game.

Missouri 40 24 0 16-40 when second baseman Rod Carew dropped pinch hitter Curt Motton's easy pop fly behind first, the Orioles had runners at first and second with none out. Dave Johnson, attempting to bunt, fouled to the catcher and Belanger, who had homered earlier, forced Motton.

Then, with Merv Rettenmund, another pinch hitter, at bat, Robinson and Belanger tried a delayed double steal. Twins' catcher George Mitterwald faked a throw to second and then caught Robinson off third, ending the rally.

Until the ninth, Perry was working on a four-hitter and leading 3-2 on Tony Oliva's two-run homer in the seventh off Mike Cuellar. Oliva connected after Harmon Killebrew had coaxed a one-out walk from Cuellar, the only base on balls the Cuban left-hander allowed in the eight innings he worked.

The Orioles struck first, with Frank Robinson lashing a line-drive home run off the foul pole in left field in the fourth.

Mrs. Cudone Wins

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Philip Cudone of Myrtle Beach, S.C., posted a three-over par 76 to defeat Mrs. Lowell Brown of Tyler, Tex., by eight strokes in an 18-hole playoff for the senior women's amateur golf championship Saturday.

Mrs. Cudone, the defending champion, and Mrs. Brown tied at the end of the 54-hole regulation play with 236 totals at Ridgely Country Club.

Mrs. Cudone grabbed a five stroke lead the front nine with a two-under par 35 in the playoff which helped her become the first senior to win back-to-back titles in this eight year old tourney.

Penn State Clips Wildcats, 17-14

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Second-ranked Penn State withstood furious Kansas State offensive flurries early and late and hung on for a 17-14 victory over the fired-up Wildcats Saturday.

Notre Dame Upsets Spartans, 42-28

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Fiery quarterback Joe Theismann pitched three scoring passes and scooted to a fourth touchdown in leading aroused Notre Dame to a 42-28 victory over arch-rival Michigan State in a free wheeling football game Saturday.

It was the first setback for the 14th-ranked Michigan State after victories over Washington and Southern Methodist.

The Irish last week belted by Purdue out of the nation's top 20 ranking, loosed a devastating, well balanced attack to twice break ties at 7-7 and 14-14. Scrampy Michigan State joined in an all-time scoring high in the ancient Notre-Dame Spartan rivalry.

Previous top combined scores in the 35-game feud was 69 points in a 36-33 Michigan State victory in 1950.

It was a slam-bang battle in which passing surprisingly produced four touchdowns, including a 35-yard scoring shot by Michigan State's Phil Triplett to Gordon Bowdell which trimmed the Nittany Lions' offense. He ran for 123 yards on 19 carries and cracked the scoreless battle by uncorking a 58-yard touchdown run midway through the second period.

The Wildcats, making dramatic strides under Coach Vince Gibson, went down swinging in suffering their first loss after top-sided victories over Baylor and Arizona.

It was Penn State's third straight triumph.

Kansas State, with a strong wind advantage in the first period, stormed to the Lions' 13-yard line the first time it had the ball only to lose it on Russell Harrison's fumble.

Odessa Blanks Midland Lee

MIDLAND — A balanced offense which produced 20 points in the first half, paced the Odessa High Broncos to a 27-0 football victory over Midland Lee here Friday night.

The victory was Odessa's first of the season. Midland Lee remains winless.

The Broncos, behind the passing arm of quarterback Mark Green, earned 139 yards through the air. The running of Green, Randall Ferguson and Wayne Wallace accounted for 276 yards on the ground.

Odessa scored the first time it had the football, marching 65 yards in 11 plays with Ferguson scoring on a two-yard run. The Broncos scored again in the first period on another extended march. Green capped the nine-play, 68-yard advance on a four-yard run.

In the second period, Odessa moved 54 yards in five plays for its third touchdown. Green scored the TD on a 13-yard run. Odessa tallied its final points on its first possession of the second half. Following an interception, the Broncos moved 17 yards in six plays for the TD. Ferguson scored on a two-yard run. The third successful extra point kick gave Odessa its 27th point.

Mentor Checks Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Loyola University baseball Coach Al Gad has announced his resignation to accept an academic position at a university in Adelaide, Australia.

WYNNE went over on a one-yard plunge. Wichita countered with a 24-yard touchdown run by Lee. Then West Texas went ahead for good with 1:37 left in the third game with a touchdown on their fourth time with the ball. Quarterback Clarence Redie hit Robert Jackson on a 49-yard scoring play.

Wichita scored late in the first period but a Ray Kincaid extra point attempt was blocked and West Texas led 7-6.

Benvenuti Keeps His Boxing Title

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Nino Benvenuti of Italy retained his world middleweight boxing championship Saturday night when Fraser Scott, the American challenger from Seattle, was disqualified in the seventh round.

Referee Tony Gillardi of Naples disqualified Scott after 1:40 of the seventh after three official warnings for fighting with his head low.

The end came seconds after both became tangled during a clinch and tumbled to the canvas. There was no count.

Abilene Beats Midland, 28-0

ABILENE — The Abilene Eagles and the Midland Bulldogs played to a scoreless tie in the first half of their gridiron skirmish here Friday night. In the second half, the Eagles scored 28 points and banged the Bulldogs, 28-0.

Leading the Abilene surge was quarterback Greg Stirman, who passed to Don Brown for three of the Eagles four touchdowns. The other Abilene TD was registered by Steve Gipson on a 58-yard run. Danny Edwards kicked two extra points and Stirman connected with Brown for another two-point conversion.

Stirman passed 22 times and completed 11 tosses. His aerials accounted for 86 of Abilene's 215 yards passing.

The Eagles ground attack rushed for an additional 195 yards, with Steve Gipson being the top ground gainer. He netted 62 yards in two carries. Eagle workhorse, Dan Cobb, earned 41 yards in 13 carries.

The top Bulldog runner was Galberson Zachery, who totaled 44 yards in 13 carries. The Midland offense earned only 51 yards rushing. Its passing game was also unproductive netting only 32 yards.

Georgia Beats South Carolina

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A two-yard scoring drive by workhorse fullback Bruce Kemp turned a tight ball game into a parade of touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday as the undefeated Georgia Bulldogs rolled to a 41-16 intersectional football victory over South Carolina.

Kemp's tally — in the first 18 seconds of the final period — broke open a 14-10 contest and the Bulldogs quickly followed it with three other scores.

It was the third straight victory for Georgia and marked the first time this season the seventh ranked Bulldogs had been scored upon.

South Carolina, in that slam bang fourth quarter, did manage to put one touchdown on the boards. But by that time — with only 39 seconds left in the game — it was case of locking the barn door long after all of the horses had escaped.

Art Shamsky's third single had Niekro, the knuckleball artist, on the ropes. Jones preceded to third on a delayed steal, beating the relay of catcher Bob Didier to shortstop Gil Garrido to third baseman Cleo Boyer.

With one out and men on first and third, Ed Kranepool rapped to Cepeda at first but the Atlanta first baseman threw the ball into the dirt at the plate, letting Jones score the tie-breaking run.

Manager Lum Harris' strategy called for an intentional walk to Bud Harrelson that loaded the bases. Manager Gil Hodges then made his move sending up Martin to bat for Seaver, who had been hit hard all day long.

Martin ripped a single to center that Gonzalez bobbled while Boswell, Kranepool and Harrelson scored. Four of the five runs in the bizarre inning were unearned.

Seaver was the winner and Niekro the loser, following the regular-season pattern that saw Seaver beat the Braves three times and Niekro lose to the Mets three times. Seaver wound up the regular season with a 10-game winning streak and has not lost a game since Aug. 5 at Cincinnati.

It was a loosely played game, calculated to inspire a burst of confidence in the Baltimore Orioles and Minnesota Twins who are playing off for the American League flag and the right to meet the National's surviving in the World Series starting next Saturday. The Orioles drew first blood in the AL series, edging

Jayton Defeats Matador, 19-6

JAYTON — After a scoreless first half, Jayton High School erupted for 19 second half touchdowns to defeat Matador, 19-6, in Class B football action here Friday night.

Jayton touchdowns were scored by Martin Garcia on a five-yard run, Harold Judy on a pass from John Charles Davis and Garcia on a two-yard run.

Th Matadors' lone score came in the fourth quarter when Ronnie Welling scampered 75 yards for a TD with five seconds left in the game.

Matches Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Un-defeated Overall, driven by Del Insko, matched a track record for a mile pace set in 1963, in winning the $25,000 Gov. David L. Lawrence Invitational at Liberty Bell Friday night for his 18th in a row.

ROSCOE — Roscoe High School breezed to an easy 48-14 football victory over hapless Hermleigh High here Friday night.

The Plowboys scored 25 points in the first half and held a 48-8 lead until the final play of the game. At that time, Hermleigh's Randy Roemisch returned a Plowboy kickoff for a touchdown.

Hermleigh's other scores also came in the fourth stanza. Quarterback Tommy Venyard scored on a two-yard run and Roemisch ran for a two-point conversion.

Tony DeLoera scored three times for Roscoe. Johnny Santiago tallied twice. Both Roger Weaks and Donald Johnson scored once each.

System For Picking Refs Could Change

Football season doesn't end for coaches in November, even for those whose teams fail to rate the playoffs. They usually spend a good part of December arranging for officials to work their games the following season. If they're lucky, they usually complete that chore before the new year starts — but few of them are that lucky.

Officials are hard to come by, simply because a lot of good men have gone into retirement and not enough new talent is coming on to replace them.

The method for naming game officials could change before next year.

The mentors are weighing a couple of proposals for revolutionizing the system. One idea projected would be for one coach in a district to assign officials for each of the

Chaps, LA Stars Play In Abilene

ABILENE — The Dallas Chaparrals and the Los Angeles Stars will clash Thursday at Taylor County Coliseum in the first professional league basketball game ever played in Abilene.

The teams are members of the American Basketball League and will be near the end of their pre-season exhibition slates when they play here. It also will be the first basketball game in the new coliseum, which will be the home court this season for the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys.

Finishing touches are being put on the coliseum to prepare it for basketball. The Tartan floor was being installed this weekend, and the goals already are on hand. Tickets for the game will be on sale soon.

Both the Chaparrals and the Stars are charter members of the ABA, which is beginning its third year. The Chaparrals this season are looking to a crowd of young rookies and the brilliant play of two veteran forwards to make them a contender in the ABA Western Division. Dallas won 23 of its final 43 games to finish strong last season and was the only team to break even with the league champion, Oakland.

John Beasley, former Texas A&M star, and Cincy Powell, University of Portland great, form one of the most feared forward combinations in the league. Beasley, 6-9, was the most valuable player in the second ABA All-Star game.

Backing up the front line are player-coach Cliff Hagan, former star at Kentucky and with the St. Louis Hawks; 6-7 Bob Bedell, 6-6 Riney Lockmann, and 6-7 rookie A. W. Holt from Jackson State. Also available is Ron Boone, an All-Rookie player last season. He played with Idaho State and appeared in two games here against H-SU.

General manager for the Chaparrals is Max Williams, former all-star at Avoca High School and later at SMU.

The Los Angeles Club is coached by Bill Sharman, former Boston Celtics star and later a coach at San Francisco. The Star's number one draft choice this year was Simmie Hill, who played for West Texas State the past two seasons.

Colorado City Surprises Snyder Bengals, 20-14

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City sprang one of the prize upsets of the District 3-AAA season by defeating Snyder, 20-14, here Friday night.

The loss was the second in league play for Snyder, compared to one win and a tie. Colorado City is 3-1.

The Wolves went to the front early, scoring in the opening period on a one-yard quarterback sneak by Steve West. Cary May added the PAT on a kick.

Snyder fought back when Eddie McLain ran 49 yards but missed the extra point try.

David Garcia, Colorado City halfback, ran eight yards for a touchdown early in the second period. Larry Holder added to the Wolves' advantage when he scored on a pass from West. May again booted the PAT.

Snyder got to rolling in the fourth when halfback Willie Harrison slipped around end for eight yards. QB Lee McNair passed to Harrison for the two extra points.

Colorado City made 139 yards rushing to 130 for Snyder but lagged in passing, 105 to 31.

McLain threw 10 passes for Snyder and completed seven of them. He had another intercepted.

Colorado City 6 7 7 0-20 Snyder 6 0 0 8-14

Rankin Is Beaten By Reagan County

BIG LAKE — The Reagan County Owls roared to a 51-8 homecoming victory over Rankin here Friday night.

Quarterback Joe Barnes and back James Watson led the Owls past Rankin. Barnes rushed for 122 yards and three touchdowns while Watson ground out 124 yards and four TDs. Two of Watson's scores came on Barnes' aeries.

The mighty Reagan County team rolled for 20 first downs and totaled 380 yards offensively. The Owls gained 313 of that total on the ground.

Rankin, meanwhile, tallied eight first downs, 106 yards passing and 27 yards rushing.

Andrews Slugs Hobbs, 35-27

ANDREWS — Quarterback Johnny Horton scored two touchdowns and kicked five extra points to lead Andrews to a 35-27 football victory over Hobbs here Friday night.

The Mustangs scored 14 points in the second and fourth quarters. They put seven more points on the scoreboard in the third period.

Hobbs registered all its points in the second half, scoring 14 points in the third quarter and another 13 in the fourth period.

Raiders Seek 12th In Row This Evening

By The Associated Press

Quarterback Bob Griese of Miami, the American Football League's version of "Run For Your Life," will be on "Mission Impossible" tonight—trying to stop the Oakland Raiders' 11-game winning streak.

Griese, who scrambles like a shocked gazelle, leads the winless Dolphins against the Oakland Raiders in the Orange Bowl in one of two AFL clashes tonight. San Diego hosts Cincinnati in the other.

"I hate to play against him (Griese)," says Raider defensive lineman Carlton Oats. "You have to chase him all night long."

Not only will the Raiders have to contend with the jack rabbit quarterback, they'll also be trying to keep the Mercury down—Eugene "Mercury" Morris, that is. Morris leads the league in kickoff returns with 219 yards in six carries.

In AFL action Sunday, New York plays at Boston in a game transplanted because of the baseball playoffs; Houston hosts Buffalo at the Astrodome and Kansas City plays Denver in the rarified air of Mile High Stadium.

Darryle Lamonica, Oakland's golden-armed quarterback, directs the Raiders, who are eyeing the AFL record of 15 straight victories established by San Diego.

A powerhouse Oakland defense, which yielded only 52 yards rushing to Boston last week, lends balance to the Raiders' fine team—and could keep Griese running for his life all night.

Greg Cook, Cincinnati's talented young quarterback who is injured, likely will not start at San Diego. But the Bengals, who keep coming up with surprises, have another good prospect in Sam Wyche.

Wyche, filling in for Cook in the second half of last week's game with Kansas City, hit on nine-of-14 passes, including an 80-yard touchdown pass.

Unique Meet Set Today

Members of the Big Spring Golf Association stage their final warmup for the upcoming BSGA Championship tournament in a Selective Drive meet at the Municipal course today.

The linksters will team in foursomes for the 18 holes of competition, paying $2 each for the privilege. They will be shooting for merchandise awards.

In such a meet, members of a foursome use the best drive on each hole and play their own balls from that spot. Good weather could bring out a banner field.

The BSGA Championship tournament starts Oct. 16 and extends through Oct. 26.

An association tournament will be determined in that event and will rule for a year.

Players in today's event can pick their own starting times.

Crane Absorbs Loss To Seminole

CRANE — The Crane Golden Cranes dropped a 28-14 football decision to visiting Seminole High School here Friday night.

The Golden Cranes held a wide statistical margin, but lost the vital scoring derby. Crane earned 235 yards rushing and 119 passing while victorious Seminole recorded 190 rushing and attempted no passes.

Crane scores came in the second and fourth periods. Jeff Mitchell and Ronald Holland tallied on 13-yard runs.

Can religion solve all the problems of the world?

Can religion solve any of them?

There are people who say "religion" is as out of touch with the times as the dinosaur. And about as useful.

After all, how has "religion" solved the problems of our cities, the agony of war, our racial strife, the seeming chasm between the young and the old? Indeed, what should we expect "religion" to be able to do in solving the very real problems of our time?

To take just the example of our troubled cities—churches and synagogues have not a fraction of the material resources needed to heal the wounds.

It's as simple as that.

But have they failed, if they point the moral way, provide the moral resolve, and, of course, assist materially to the limit of their resources? "Religion," indeed, cannot fail—nor, for that matter, succeed—because "religion" is merely a word. What gives "religion" meaning and force is you. And everyone who cares enough for God to show God's love in the world. Every day. Everywhere.

For the problems that beset our world are not proof that God has failed Man. But just the opposite.

Wilhelm booted the point.

The Ponies drove to the enemy 20 late in the first half but time ran out on them.

In the fourth, with 3:30 to go, Sands held Imperial and took the ball to Imperial's 15. On the first play thereafter, the Cayuses moved to the eight only to be set back five yards on a penalty.

Sands proceeded to gain 10 yards but 15 yards were stepped off against them for another in.

BUENA VISTA — Sands' Mustangs played exceedingly well but ran into one frustration after another and dropped a 13-6 decision to Imperial here Friday night.

The Ponies outgained Imperial but penalties and fumbles wounded their chances to pull off an upset.

James Blake's Mustangs got on the board first, after Ronnie Oaks had blocked an Imperial punt and Sands had recovered on the enemy 12.

Reggie Hambrick took it in from the one on the third play. The Cayuses failed to convert.

In the second, Sands was bucking a stiff wind and it worked against the Ponies. Larry Wilhelm of Imperial fielded a low punt and returned it to Sands' 12. Wilhelm then scored the second play thereafter from the three to make it 6-6.

Later in the second round, Imperial counted again on a ten-yard pass from QB Freddy Esparza to Wilhelm, after which

Sonora Crushes Winless Ozona

OZONA — Sonora scored its second football triumph of the season here Friday night, blanking the Ozona Lions, 28-0.

The Bronchos scored 15 points in the first quarter, then added up 13 more in the fourth period for their convincing victory.

David Wuest was instrumental in three Broncho touchdowns. He scored on a three-yard run in the first quarter, scored again on a run in the fourth quarter and threw 43 yards to Mike Taylor for the final TD, also in the fourth stanza. Kerry Joy tallied the other Broncho TD in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge.

The Mustangs broke to Imperial's 15 only to fumble the ball and lose possession.

On defense, nose guard Kelly Gaskins made an incredible 19 tackles for Sands. Marcy Robles came up with seven.

Edward Barraza turned his ankle in the first quarter and his substitute, freshman Kerry Lewallen, performed well. The 160-pounder came up with seven tackles. Randy Clemens had six tackles for the winners.

On offense, Oaks stood out, as did Johnny Peugh and soph Tony Gillespie. Peugh gained 52 yards. Young Gillespie picked up 25 yards in six carries.

The Mustangs will be open next week and are booked to return to action against Lubbock Christian High School in Akerly the following Friday.

Marfa Shellacks Wink, 37 To 0

MARFA — The Marfa Shorthorns whitewashed the Wink Wildcats, 37-0, in football action here Friday night.

The victory was Marfa's third against one loss and came in the Shorthorns' homecoming game.

Abilene Cougs Score Victory

ODESSA — Unbeaten and state-ranked Abilene Cooper routed Odessa Ector High School, 35-0, in football action here Friday night.

The Cougars rolled to 17 first downs and recorded a total offense of 384 yards in burying winless Ector.

Roy Lonacre was the first Cougar to cross the goal line. He scored on a two-yard run in the first period. John Villareal kicked his first of five successful extra point boots.

Later in the first period, Cougar quarterback Richard Mildren scored from one yard out.

In the second quarter it was Cougars' Hobby Stevens and Bobby White scoring touchdowns. Stevens tallied on a 26-yard pass from Mildren. White earned his six points on a 30-yard pass from substitute quarterback Leroy Polnick.

The final Cougar touchdown came in the fourth quarter. Kelvin Caesar scored from the two-yard-line with 16 seconds remaining in the game.

Siboney Has Completed 2 Acquisitions

DALLAS — Siboney Corporation has reported that previously announced acquisitions of Columbia Investment Corporation, Southgate Shopping Center, Inc., and Celcon, Inc. were completed during the month of September, 1969.

Columbia Investment Corporation's assets consist principally of all of the outstanding stock of two operating subsidiaries located in Fort Worth: Deep Flex Plastic Molds, Inc. and Miller's Visual Aids, Inc. Deep Flex is engaged in the production of plastic molds and related products for use by schools, home craftsmen, and hobbyists. Miller's is engaged in the sale and rental of audio-visual equipment and films and other educational material.

Southgate Shopping Center, Inc. is the owner of a shopping center occupying 14 acres of leased land in Colorado Springs, Colo. The center is composed of approximately 30 stores and shops.

Celcon, Inc. is a distributor of lighting products and an installer of integrated ceilings and is located in San Jose, Calif. Its activities complement those of another Siboney subsidiary, Cepco, Inc., a manufacturer of lighting fixtures and equipment and plastic materials located in South San Francisco, Calif.

No changes in the management of the acquired companies is anticipated. On the basis of the results for each of the companies acquired, it is expected that the acquisitions will add on an annual basis approximately $2,500,000 in sales and $230,000 in earnings before taxes to Siboney's annual totals.

Siboney now operates through 11 subsidiaries and divisions and is engaged in the manufacture and marketing of computers, educational aids and visual learning systems, lighting products, plastic sheet, gas compressors, and asphalt products in addition to the newly acquired businesses. It also has oil and gas interests and holds exploratory permits in the Canadian Arctic Islands.

Agents To Hear Gifted Guest At Tuesday Meeting

The Big Spring Life Underwriters will have a leading insurance executive, gifted also as an amateur magician, entertainer and speaker, as its featured guest Tuesday.

The regular monthly meeting will be at 12 noon in the Downtown Tea Room, and the speaker will be Howard T. (Red) Garrison, Fort Worth, agency director of National Farm Life Insurance Company.

For 17 years Garrison worked for Texas Pipeline Company before he decided upon a career as an underwriter. After a year in the field, he became agency director for a Fort Worth-based company and held that position 12 years during which time he was named vice president and elevated to the board of directors. He joined National Farm Life and was elevated to his present position in 1968.

He somehow finds time to appear as an entertainer, lay speaker, variety show producer (he produced the South Side Lions Club annual variety show in Fort Worth for 10 years). He is a Sunday school teacher and vice chairman of the official board of Arlington Heights Methodist Church. Bobby Wilson, president, will be in charge of Tuesday's meeting.

Desk And Derrick Club

By JO BRIGHT

As time draws near for the annual observance of "Oil Progress Week," members of the Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club are reviewing their knowledge of the petroleum industry and related fields in which they are employed. An affiliate of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America, the local branch was organized in 1954.

Current officers are Mrs. Doryne Hefner, president; Mrs. John Rains, vice president; Mrs. Eleanor Matheny, treasurer; Mrs. John Damron, recording secretary; and Miss Marguerite Cooper, corresponding secretary. Officers for 1970 will be elected in November.

The 30 members meet the first Monday of each month to hear programs which include guest speakers knowledgeable in various areas of the oil industry. Of particular interest to the club this year will be the promotion of a car care and safety campaign.

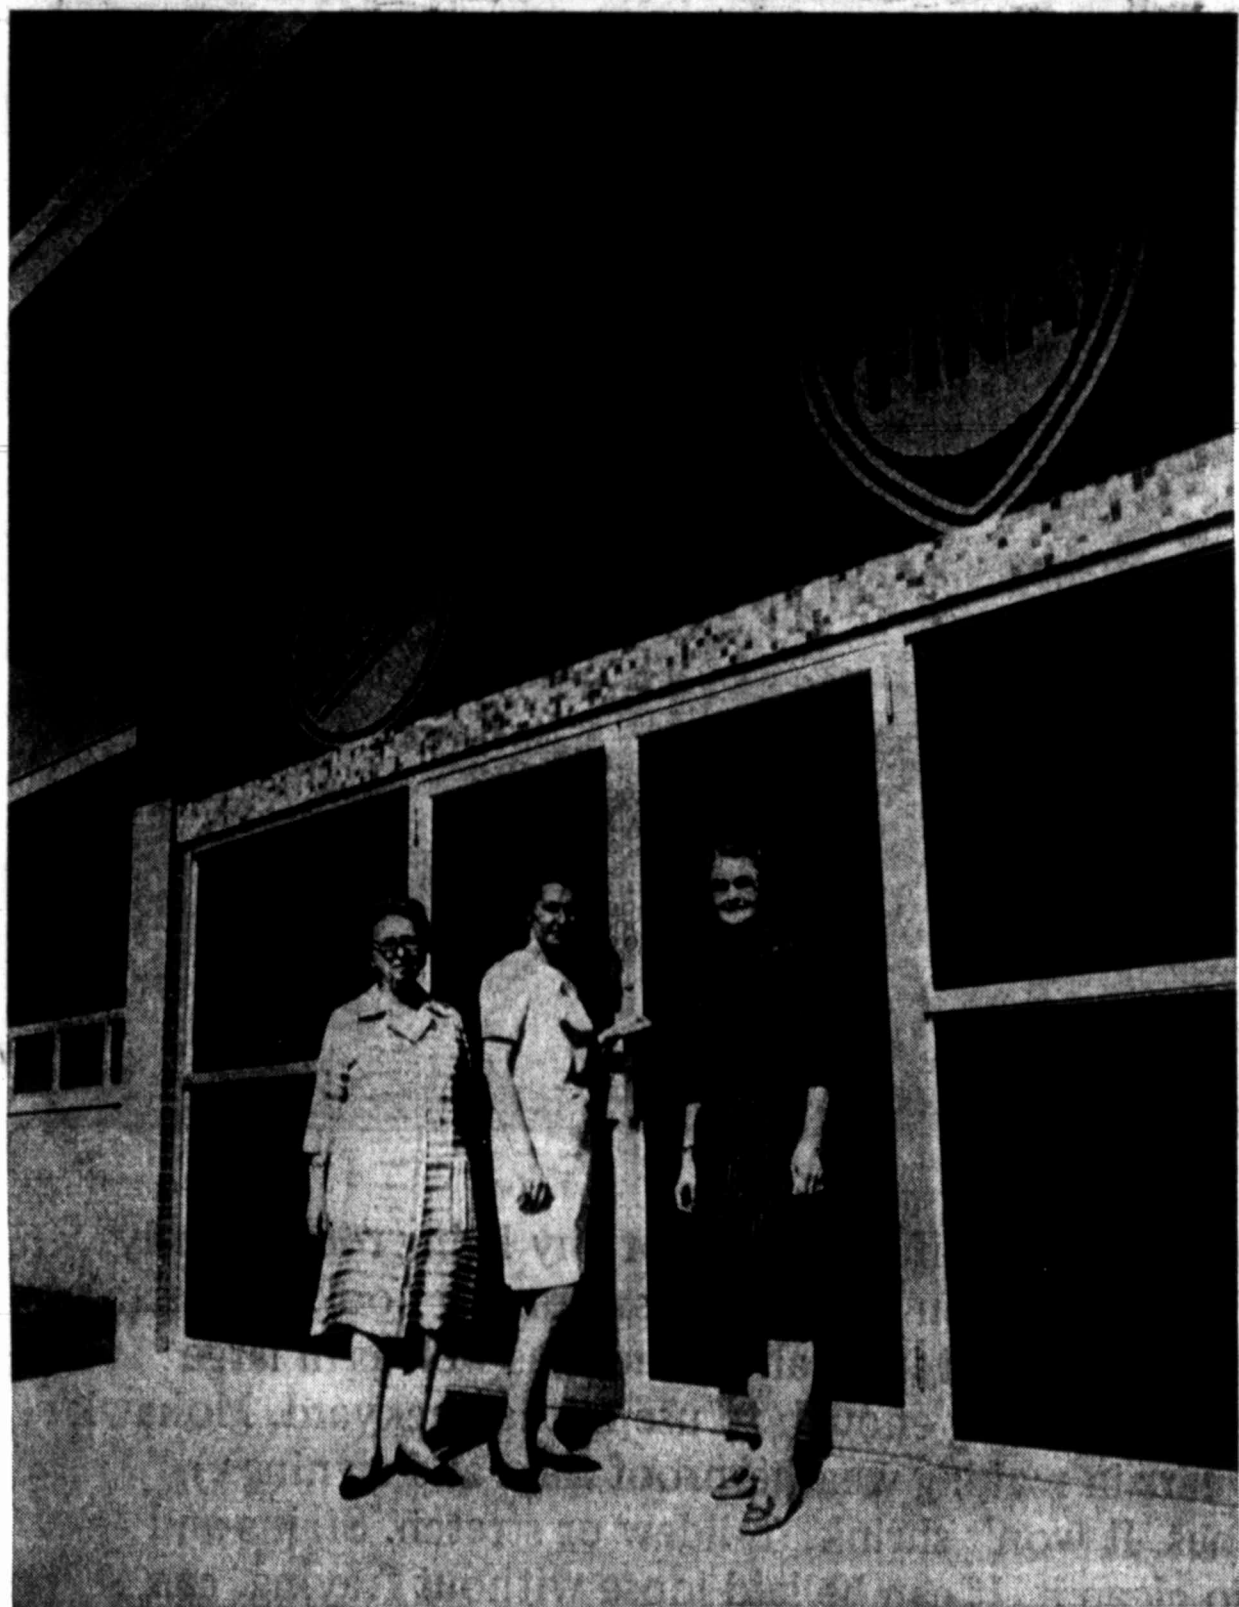

Pictured today are some of the club members who took time out to re-visit the refinery.

IT TAKES MORE than a pretty smile to get past the guard at Cosden Refinery even when he knows you're a long-time employee like these two members of Desk and Derrick. Patent rights must be protected, and part of the company's caution is the issuance of identification cards. Mrs. Eleanor Matheny, right, waits as Mrs. Doryne Hefner produces her card for inspection by Wayne Newton.

A NEW OFFICE building at the refinery, housing chemical and engineering groups as well as other workers, was completed and ready for occupancy last December. As the signs indicate, Cosden is a subsidiary of American Petrofina, Inc. Entering the spacious foyer are Mrs. Alma Gollnick, Mrs. John Rains and Mrs. Mamie Roberts, all members of the Desk and Derrick Club.

THE NEW CRUDE UNIT at the Cosden Oil and Chemical Company Refinery makes a massive metal backdrop for Mrs. Stanley Ballou and Mrs. Paul Sheedy, members of the Desk and Derrick Club, who pause by fire-fighting equipment while taking a mini-tour of the plant. The new unit went "on stream" this year in late February.

THE COMPLICATED world of computer science is something Mrs. Bill Thompson does not pretend to understand as she watches it in operation at Cosden Refinery. This IBM Model 1800 is only a part of the computer system utilized in control of operation on the new crude unit. Although much of the refinery is now "off limits" to visitors, there are still areas in which employees are welcome to familiarize themselves with the operation of their company.

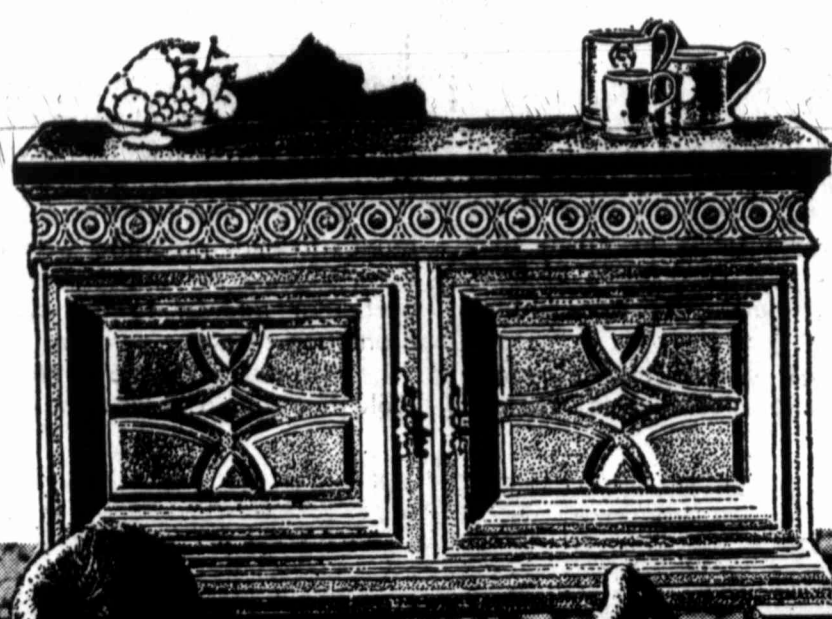

THE POSSIBILITIES of polystyrene are unlimited, and an increasing amount of the refinery's total output is being used to make products such as form this exhibit. Mrs. John R. Damron, wearing a safety "hard hat" made of polystyrene, holds a molded egg carton, and the display contains picture frames, wall accessories, chair backs and parts for automobiles.

Take a good look at this photograph of Mohawk's new carpet invention, 'Hickory Hill'. Beautiful enough for any living room, Early American, contemporary or modern - yet so indestructible it can be used in the backyard, even around the swimming pool! So resistant to staining it is ideal for use in kitchens. And the scale of design is specially created to be used in small kitchens as well as in large living rooms. This is no ordinary 'indoor-outdoor' carpet. It is living room carpet made strong enough to use in the backyard. Mohawk makes it with Acrilan® acrylic fiber pile (the same material people have used for years in making weatherproof flags and awnings.) The color is actually an integral part of each fiber, so the sun cannot fade the tones. It won't shrink, mildew or stretch. Stains and spills simply wipe away. If you want to, you can even hose this amazing carpet to clean it. It can be laid loose without fraying, can be taped down or cemented in place. It doesn't require a separate cushion. The colors are great - ten heathered creations you'll just have to see with your own eyes. Use it all through the house - in places you never dreamed of using carpet. Patio, deck, terrace, pool. Den, family room, game room. Kid's rooms, hallways, stairs. You can trust the quality, just as we can - because it comes straight from the looms of the world's largest carpet manufacturer, Mohawk. 'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's happened! The insurance rates on automobiles which most of us thought were too much anyway have been raised. The fact that the insurance people wanted 11.4 and the governor held them to 9. something, is, I supposed something to be grateful for. But it's a hard bite to chew.

If I could do without transportation to and from wherever I have to go, I would let go the car. The English seem to do well on bicycles and perhaps we can, too . . . or pogo sticks. I think I could make it to town but coming home is something else again. Oh Hopeless Situation!

With food prices going up with each trip to the market it is beginning to appear that we might have to cut one meal a day which to most of us would be helpful . . . it's just that I grew up on three a day and can't seem to kick the habit. But those meatless days we took on during the war years might be one way of combating the high cost of meat . . .

buying cheaper cuts isn't the way. There are no cheap cuts; even hamburger has taken on a pretty lofty price. The soup bones that at one time the butchers threw away or gave to customers for their dogs now sell for as much as a piece of chuck once was.

There must be some answer to the problem. We don't get as much in a package as we once did . . . have you ever gotten a frozen chicken that was full of ice? Or packaged meat where the inside was full of fat but the outside looked lean? Or a can of fruit that had perhaps three halves and the rest juice? I don't know where the fault lies, but it happens.

The man in Big Spring who knows more oldtimers than anyone else more than likely is WILLARD SULLIVAN. If anyone who lived here years ago comes back home they always look up the little pharmacist at the Settles Drug. Just recently MISS MILDRED JONES who graduated from BSHS in 1910, and her brother, EWING, and his wife came out from Dallas for a visit. They are the children of the late MR. and MRS. THEO JONES, early day Big Spring residents. Mr. Jones operated the city water works when it was privately owned by C. L. ALDERMAN.

This is a big day for the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church as they dedicate their new sanctuary and other new facilities. How nice that CHAPLAIN ROBERT DEMING who has meant so much to the church and to this community could be here to assist with the dedicatory services this morning. He leaves this afternoon for his new assignment in Thailand. . . . MRS. H. S. HANSON has her daughter, Mrs. Shulte, who lives in Fort Lyons, Colo., and her grandson, WARREN SHULTE, of Austin here for the dedication weekend. . . . The E. E. FAHRENKAMPS, former members of this church now of Fort Worth, sent their good wishes to the church and said they will be in Tokyo today as a stop on their world tour.

All the flower arrangements for the Volunteer Council dinner and social hour were just beautiful, but the really clever one in the central foyer took the gold ring. Beautifully done in carnations and candles in shades of pink on rosy red, the candles had been thrust through tortillas to keep the tallow from dripping. Further decoration was done by hanging long green peppers at the base of the arrangement. A pretty pepper was included with the flowers in MR. S. PRESTON SMITH'S corsage. . . . Waiting for the evening meal I visited with BESSIE R. BORDEN, A retired bacteriologist, who had worked at the Kerrville VA Hospital at the same time as MRS. F. M. BLACKBIRD who is chief dietitian at the local VA Hospital. . . . Didn't get even a 'Hi' in to DR. FRANKIE WILLIAMS but she was at the dinner from the hospital at Vernon. . . . We still think of her as being at the BSSH where she worked for so many years.

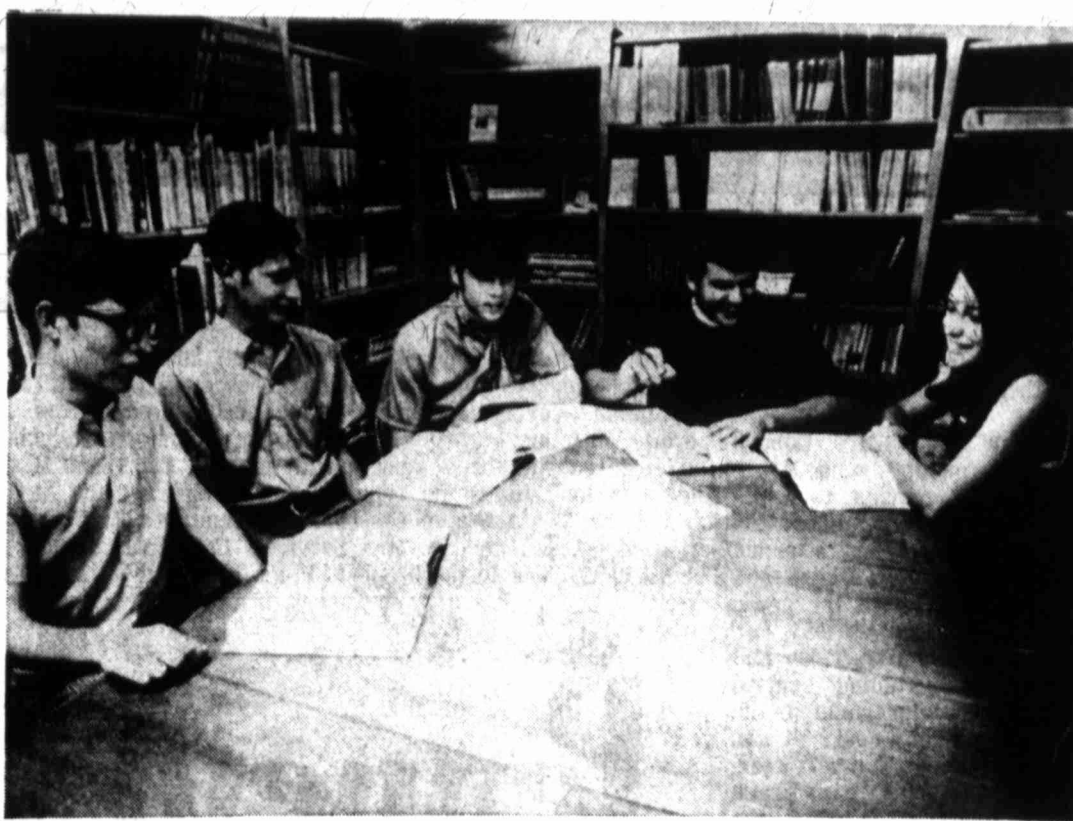

The attractive little Mexican hat ash trays that were plate favors at the Country Club dinner were made by the patients at the BSSH in the Vocational Rehab department. I understand they poured their molds, trimmed them, painted and glazed them as well as running them through the kiln. Pretty pieces of ceramic work that served a good purpose.

MR. and MRS. CLAYTON BETTLE plan a flying trip to Denton for the Tuesday evening recital of their daughter, MRS. CURTIS (KAY) BEARD. Kay is giving her senior piano recital at Texas Women's University.

MRS. BEN FERRELL writes from the Blue Grotto on Capri to say that it is so beautiful that she wouldn't mind spending the rest of her life there. Mrs. Ferrell, a Big Spring resident until the death of her husband several years ago, is touring Europe and has been in England, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland and Austria. The last of the tour will take her to Spain, Monaco, Portugal and France. On Sept. 15 the group had Sorrento, Pompeii and Rome on the agenda. The tour will fly from Paris to New York on Wednesday.

That was a right quick trip to Switzerland, Italy and Greece the JACK LITTLES took. They left Friday, Sept. 26, and were back in the US yesterday. It doesn't take long to go these days, that is if you make the right plane connections.

The O. H. IVIES have spent the past week in Red River, N.M.

SETTING UP TUTORING services to be held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church are Wesley Hufford, Michael Waller, Scott Birdwell, the Rev. Robert S. Knutson of Trinity Lutheran Church and Cindy Birdwell. The classes are free and open to all seventh and eighth grade students who want to attend.

Feel You're Failing? Help Is On The Way

If you are a seventh or eighth grade student, and feel you need help with school work — that help is on the way.

A free tutoring service for such students is being set up now at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, where students will be teaching other students, in a new idea for private tutoring.

The program is being initiated by young people with the Rev. Harlan Birdwell of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and the Rev. Robert S. Knutson of Trinity Lutheran Church serving as advisors. High school students (tenth grade or above) from both churches have volunteered to act as tutors, 21 having signed up to help younger students with subjects that may be giving them trouble. The first classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, and will continue every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during the same hours. According to Rev. Birdwell, the tutoring service will be limited at first to students at C level or below, and to only those in the seventh and eighth grades. Later, it is hoped that classes can be held for high school students.

There will be several classrooms set up, and to start, tutoring will be offered in the four basic courses, math, science, English and Social Studies.

Rev. Knutson stressed that although adults will be present to supervise or advise, they will not give instruction. This will be done strictly by the student teachers.

The project has the full approval of the school counseling department.

Although initiated by the church groups, it is not limited to them, and those interested in helping with the project should contact Rev. Birdwell or Rev. Knutson.

Agent Talks On Low Calorie Foods

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent, spoke on low calorie foods and demonstrated a low calorie dip at Thursday's meeting of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Denver Yates.

Guests introduced were Mrs. L. L. Soles of Colorado City; Mrs. Crawford, and Miss Janet Shettlesworth. The hostess gave the devotion, and roll call was answered by "My favorite material for sewing."

Mrs. Lewis Soles won the attendance prize.

Lakeview Club Makes Flowers

STANTON (SC) — The Lakeview Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Bill McIlvain with Mrs. W. J. Harlow presiding. Three guests were present, Mrs. O. L. Rush, Mrs. Mary Lawrence of Big Spring and Mrs. C. J. Russell of Stanton. Roll call was answered by members with a gift idea. Mrs. Rush gave the program on making burlap flowers and gave ideas on arranging them.

Couple To Marry In Catholic Rites

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Campbell, 2700 Larry, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Laura Ann, to S. Sgt. David Kissel, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Kissel of Louisville, Ky. The couple plans to marry Oct. 11 in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, with the Rev. William Meagher officiating.

Sweetheart Chosen By City Council

Mrs. Monroe Casey was elected Valentine Sweetheart for the Beta Sigma Phi City Council during a meeting held Thursday evening in her home at 1801 Hamilton.

Mrs. Casey, along with Sweethearts from individual chapters, will be presented at the BSP Valentine Ball slated in February.

Mrs. Gerald Wooten, council president, set up committees and their responsibilities for the dance. They are Phi Zeta Omega, band; Alpha Beta Omicron, publicity; Beta Omicron, decorations; Xi Mu, tickets, reservations and place; and Mu Zeta, presentation of Sweethearts. The dance will be held for BSP members and their guests, including representatives from area chapters.

In other business, the president announced that instead of a fund-raising project, each BSP member will donate $1 to the city council treasury. The money will be used to finance events sponsored by the council.

Following chapter reports on rush activities and ways and means projects, refreshments were served to the 14 attending. The next business meeting will be held Nov. 6 in the home of Mrs. Les Caperton, 2704 Carol. A salad supper is scheduled in November with the date to be announced soon by the chairman, Mrs. Owen Wormser.

Noted Author To Talk In Midland Monday

Dr. Haim Ginott, noted child psychologist, and author of the two best sellers, "Between Parent and Child" and "Between Parent and Teenager", will speak in Midland on Monday night, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. in the Lee High School Auditorium. Dr. Ginott is being sponsored by the Midland Symphony Guild as a benefit for the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Choral.

Tickets will be on sale at the door, Mrs. Henry Tillett, ticket chairman, said. They are now available in the Midland and Odessa bookstores, and from members of the Midland Symphony Guild.

Dr. Ginott has appeared on national television, is a regular guest of NBC's "TODAY" show, and writes a monthly column on parents and children in McCall's Magazine.

Dr. Ginott is adjunct professor at New York University, Graduate Department of Psychology, and clinical professor at Adelphi University postdoctoral program in psychotherapy. A graduate of Columbia University, he holds a BS in education and a doctorate, Ed. D., in clinical psychology. He has lectured and led seminars in child guidance in the United States, Europe and Israel, and has published numerous papers on these subjects. His first book, "Group Psychotherapy With Children," is considered a classic in its field.

His book, "Between Parent and Child," has been on the bestseller lists for 60 weeks with over half a million hardcover copies in print. It has been translated into French, German, Spanish and 10 other languages.

Chief Of Volunteer Services Sparks Changes

MRS. HELEN COBURN

By JO BRIGHT

"Let's slip away," said the silver-haired lady, glancing at a gold watch as she gathered up an arm full of papers from the improvised desk. "We can talk quietly, without being disturbed, in my room."

During the short walk we were stopped twice by people who asked her to come such-and-such a place for just a minute. She put them off temporarily, and we entered the room.

"Excuse me just a minute, while I make one quick call, and I'll be right with you," she smiled, already giving the operator a number. Her party was "out of pocket."

As she turned toward me, the phone rang. The call was from Austin. After a few minutes, she said, "Thank you for advising me... yes, yes, I will. Then to me — 'I'm sorry, let me make one more call. Something has come up, but this will just take a minute.'"

Holding the phone, she glanced outside. "There's Jack Smith. He'll need to know this. Dear, would you ask him to come in just a minute? It will just take a second. Oh, and there's R. V. Welch, our incoming chairman. I'd like you to meet him."

Both gentlemen stepped inside, talked a few minutes, nodded and said they would see her at the banquet in a couple of hours. Another woman came in, left some information and said, "I'll be at home for two hours if you need me."

The phone rang again. Another call from Austin.

When finally, she turned apologetically back to me, I was sorry to interrupt the action.

Mrs. Helen Coburn was doing what she does best — tying up the loose ends of a state meeting for the Volunteer Services Council.

The eleventh annual meeting and workshop for the council began Friday, the kick-off event being a banquet at Big Spring Country Club where over 300 persons gathered to hear the guest speaker, Gov. Preston Smith. The real work of the meeting began early Saturday morning as delegates rolled up their sleeves and started a full day of dialogue on volunteer programs in Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Mrs. Coburn, a widow, lives in Austin, but has spent comparatively little time there during the more than 12 years she has held her present position with the state. Her only son, Frank William Coburn, is assistant city attorney at Houston where he and his wife reside with their two children, Lee and Ryan.

Born in Mason, Mrs. Coburn attended public schools in Texas, later moving to Oklahoma where she graduated from high school and attended Southeastern State College.

Gravitating toward the newspaper field, she started her journalism career in Tulsa and Oklahoma City doing general assignments, later going to the editorial and news desks. It was during this time that she married an advertising man, Frank Coburn. Returning to Texas, she continued newspaper work, being assistant news editor of the Beaumont Enterprise in 1952 when she moved to Austin to accept a public information job with the Texas Tuberculosis Association while her son attended the University of Texas. Part of her job was to emphasize the need for improvement in the TB hospitals.

"You couldn't touch one thing without touching another, so I was exposed to other hospitals in the system," she said. "During this time, I did a considerable amount of public information concerning state operated hospitals."

Sidetracked for three years, when she took the same type job for the Texas Water Conservation Department, Mrs. Coburn came back to the hospital system in 1956 when she was named Chief of Volunteer Services, a title that held her responsible for developing volunteer programs in all the resident facilities. In so doing, she helped found two professional associations, the Texas Association of Hospital Staff Directors of Volunteers (which is affiliated with the Texas Hospital Association) and the American Association of Volunteer Services Coordinators, an affiliate of the American Psychiatric Association.

"At that time, state hospitals were still pretty much isolated from the community," explained Mrs. Coburn. "We needed everything. We were short of staff, overcrowded with patients, operating funds were minimal, and volunteers provided the only plus factors for patients."

Since that time, Mrs. Coburn has seen changes take place that have turned the state hospital system into one that might well serve as a pattern for others across the nation.

"More than any single force, the volunteers have breached those walls of isolation," continued Mrs. Coburn. "They have brought the community to the hospital, and have helped make hospitals part of the community they serve."

For Mrs. Coburn, this may be the last state Volunteer Services Council meeting, but if so, she has laid the foundation for those in the future.

Make Area For Work

If you want to use the privacy of the bedroom for a workroom without upsetting its sleep-worthy decor, carve a niche of your own.

A man-made annex, one way to confine hobby or personal materials in a separate place and keep order in the rest of the room, is possible even in rooms of average size with a see-through divider, a screen, or a second level.

Adding a "step-room" is an effective way to define the work or hobby area and, at the same time, put a hands-off notice on your belongings. The step-room may be simply built by raising one corner or end of the room on a plywood platform, which might be either painted or covered with carpet to keep its relation to the rest of the bedroom.

This area may be closed away or left open. Though entirely cut off from the sleeping quarters, spindle panels at either side of the step give the workroom separate status.

La Gallina Bridge Winners Revealed

Three tables were in play at La Gallina duplicate bridge play Friday at the First Federal Community Room. Winners were Mrs. R. G. Sinder and Mrs. Daryle Hohertz, first; and Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Ken Perry, second. Mrs. Hohertz and Mrs. Sinder were new players. The next meeting will be at 10 a.m., Oct. 17, at Big Spring Country Club.

Good Taste Is Fashion

What is fashion? Today, it is the "spirit to understand, to capture, that women have to make their own and adapt to their personality, physically and psychologically," says designer Philippe Heim.

"Too many women make wrong choices because they just copy other women, without thinking. So, they can be seen wearing the wrong fancy stockings, with the wrong hemline, the wrong fabric or colors, the wrong hairdo."

Says Heim, "Their elegance is a failure, because they are unconscious about what is right or not."

100 TO 110 RUNNELS—BIG SPRING, TEXAS

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Home Is 'Big Business', Keep Files On Operation

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
Home Demonstration Agent

Managing the home is big business! But, how well does your home business operate? When the phone rings do you say, "Please hold on while I get a pencil." Do you have to search to find the monthly bills to be paid. Can you put your finger on that new recipe. Or, last year's tax return? Where is the instruction book for the last new home appliance you purchased? How often do you have to hunt for a notice about a school, church, club, or community meeting?

A convenient, comfortable and well organized home business center, or home office will help simplify the business of running your home, farm, ranch, or REVEALS PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. Elmer James Krizek, Warrensville Heights, Ohio, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Donna Lee, to Terry Wayne Davis of Ackerly. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Darlene Davis, Lubbock, and Thomas V. Davis, Prairieville, La. Miss Davis is an elementary school teacher, and her fiancé is in training at the Naval Air Station, Moffett Field, Calif. The couple will be married Nov. 29, after which they will reside in Sunnyvale, Calif.

WILL MARRY — M. Sgt. and Mrs. Hubert W. Kennedy, 4113 Parkway Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie Lee, to Gary Winterhalter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winterhalter, 1748 Purdue. No wedding date has been set.

other business. As well as saving time and energy in handling paper work, it may also help promote better family relations.

Choose a suitable location in your home where you can set aside space for your business center. Many rural families in Howard County have included a home office in their building or remodeling plans. Most of us may need to combine our business center with other activities in the same room. The kitchen or dining room might serve well with the dining table supplying a work surface.

Provide storage space for small equipment and supplies. A divided tray or box may be used to organize pencils, paper clips, scissors, and stationery.

Reference materials such as the telephone directory, desk calendar, address book, dictionary, and catalogs might be stored on a shelf or in a convenient drawer.

Of special importance is to develop a method for organizing important papers, records and documents.

Temporary storage for incoming or unfinished transactions, bills to be paid, and unanswered letters may be stored in a basket, small box, or on a spindle.

A visit to any of several stores in Big Spring will reveal a number of devices that are available for organizing current receipts, correspondence, bank statements, account books, and reference material. Expanding manila envelopes, accordion type, may be alphabetized for easy use. There are a number of small portable files sized to fit manila folders. Cardboard boxes into which manila folders will fit may be used. These might be covered with paper or plastic, if desired. Standard file cabinets with one to four drawers are readily available.

For increased protection against hazards of fire and theft, important records that are kept at home should be stored in an insulated safe or storage device. Small portable metal files with a limited amount of insulation will give some protection from minor home fires. These are available here and are moderately priced. Record protection equipment which has been designed to meet standard tests for fire-endurance, explosion-hazard, and fire-impact resistance is also locally available. Most home-size devices are designed for fire-endurance up to 1700 degrees for one hour. Although these are more expensive they do offer greater protection. The rural home owner, especially, would be wise to consider placing this device in his home. Your safety deposit box at the bank provides greatest protection for important records and papers.

A systematic plan for filing records and papers kept at home is essential. A filing system must be easy to maintain and easy to use. Suggestions for setting up and maintaining a neat and efficient filing system are as follows:

1.) Obtain filing aids — in addition to "holders" for materials to be filed, you will need: index file guides, manila folders, and gummed labels will be convenient.

2.) Plan file divisions — for convenience, files may be divided into main and sub-divisions. The number of divisions needed will depend on the type and quantity of material each family has to file. An outline giving an example of possible file organization is available upon request from the County Extension Office in the basement of the courthouse.

3.) File alphabetically — this makes a filing system easy to use — to find and put back in proper place those things that are used.

While all of us may not need to maintain an extensive file, we do need to develop some means of organizing those things for which we are responsible.

In what condition are your recipes? Do you have a drawer full of recipes clipped from papers and magazines, but haven't gotten around to trying them out? Go through them, disposing of those you know you will probably never use. Then, using a card file, loose leaf notebook, or other device, get the recipes into some usable order.

Care information that appears on the hang tag on clothing and household textiles is there for our use in order to get greater satisfaction from goods our money buys. When you purchase a garment, remove the hangtag and on the tag identify the garment, the person to whom it belongs, and underline any directions for special care. Keep the information in a card file, notebook, or cardboard box near the laundry area. Tags should be filed according to the name of the person in the family to whom the garment belongs. Refer to this when laundering or cleaning your family's clothing and you will receive greater satisfaction from your clothing dollar.

An organized system personalized to fit you and your family should make home management easier and eliminate many problems. It will pay off in many ways, as: easier decision making, reduced personal frustrations, improved family relations, and a more orderly means for taking care of family business.

A LOVELIER YOU Modern Umbrellas Are Work Of Art

By MARY SUE MILLER

In the early 1900's a busy street on a rainy day was a picture of gloom. All umbrellas were black.

It was not that ladies thought the somber effect attractive. Rather, colored umbrellas ran in the rain. All over a person's clothes.

Not until 1918 did umbrellas blossom out in bright shades. All thanks are due a bright young man named Charles Katz, who persevered until even the brightest red proved colorfast in a downpour.

Now his descendants make an umbrella practically a work of art. The Tiffany lampshade of the Gay 90's appears in magnificent stained glass patterns. Fit for gallery exhibition, pop flowers bloom profusely on high-shine covers. Gold nylon threads pattern transparent see-through vinyls with Art Deco patterns.

To top off MAXI raincoats there are MAXIbrellas in deep mushroom shapes. Many brolires sport their own matching Isadora Duncan scarves, free-flowing and four feet long. Dramatic? You bet.

Handles, of course, keep pace. Look for shirred leather, hand-painted ceramics and hand-carved wood, silver and gold filigrees — often crafted by Spanish and Italian artists.

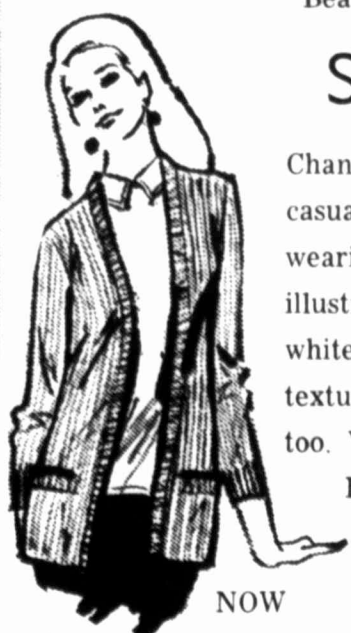

Obviously, umbrellas are a true fashion accessory. Once was, you picked an umbrella to go with your raincoat. Could be you'd now pick a coat to go with a spectacular umbrella?

KNOWS NO AGE
Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in BEAUTY KNOWS NO AGE. Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering make-up, hairstyles and fashions. CLINIQUE brings you the skin cream you've always wanted but thought was impossible to achieve:

Clinique Very Emollient Cream

It took Clinique two and a half years to achieve the impossible. A really rich emollient cream that comes to you totally allergy tested and totally fragrance free. The first one in the world that's as free of irritants as it is effective, so that even dry, sensitive skin comes alive and blooms under its influence.

Like everything from Clinique, Very Emollient Cream is a major beauty advance. Because richness of this kind has never before been achieved hypo-allergenicity. Most hypo-allergenic night creams are weak on lubrication — or they fail to be honestly hypo-allergenic.

This delicate apricot cream changes the picture. Now the woman who needs extra emolliency to fortify her prescribed Basic Clinique can have it. A new velvety softness whenever and wherever she wants it.

So whether you're allergy-prone, or simply want the purest form of lubrication you can put on your face, do come in and try a little Clinique Very Emollient Cream at our Clinique Counter. It's one great new reason why Clinique is the future of beauty — and it's already arrived. 2 ounces 12.50

Clinique is a total system of cosmetic skin care. And the very heart of the system is the Clinique Computer.

Programmed by a group of leading dermatologists,

it asks you eight

Couple Says Vows In Sacred Heart Church

ENGAGED — Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., 400 Washington Blvd., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their niece, Nikki Jane Thomas, to John Douglas Baker, son of Col. and Mrs. John D. Baker of Little Rock, Ark., formerly of Big Spring. The future bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cleo R. Moore and George T. Thomas, both of Big Spring. The wedding is scheduled Nov. 28 in First United Methodist Church.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. Sunday W. Abreo, 1106 S. Nolan, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Hope, to Sgt. Norberto R. Dasilva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel R. Dasilva of Watsonville, Calif. The couple plans to marry Nov. 1 at La Fe Baptist church, with the Rev. Glenn Smith officiating.

Miss Ramona Salazar and Sgt. Jesus Saenz Jr. were united in marriage Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. Thomas Delaney performed the nuptial service before an altar adorned with arrangements of white gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Salazar, 406 NW 10th, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Saenz Sr. of Benavides. The bride was attired in an Empire sheath of candlelight satin overlaid with Japanese organza. The bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves. The dress and long chapel train were enhanced with lace roses and seed pearls and her veil, edged with French lace, fell from a crown of orange blossoms and drifted beyond the train. She carried an oval cluster bouquet of pompons centered with a white orchid and showered with white picot satin.

Miss Maria Salazar, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nan Santiago, Miss Olivia Moron and Miss Frances Billalba. Mrs. Emilio Molina was bridesmatron. Cushion maids were Adeline Billalba and Janie Robles.

The attendants wore moss green A-line Empire dresses with elbow-length sleeves and scooped necklines. They carried white carnation bouquets.

Joe Arista was best man, and groomsmen were Ray Rodriguez, Willie Menchaca and Emilio Molina. Ringbearers were Enrie Hernandez and Soyna Reyna.

The bride, who attended Big Spring High School, was bookkeeper for Franklin Stores Corporation. The bridegroom graduated from Benavides High School and has served a year in Thailand with the Air Force.

RECEPTION — A reception was held in the Sacred Heart Youth Center where the refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of white gladioli in a silver container. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting. The wedding cake was decorated with two white doves.

Mrs. Alfonso Rodriguez registered guests. Others in the house party were Mrs. Henry Salazar, Mrs. Cookie Payne and the couple's parents.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Roman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Lujan and daughters of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Uranga, Alpine; and Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Saenz, Eva Saenz, Elva Saenz, Elma Saenz and Anita Saenz, all of Benavides.

WEDDING TRIP

The bride wore a cerise lace dress with sweetheart neckline and leg-of-mutton sleeves when the couple left for a wedding trip to Reynosa, Mexico.

Sgt. and Mrs. Saenz will be at home in Austin, where he will be stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base.

Bazaar To Be Event At Church

The Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church will sponsor a church bazaar Nov. 8 at the church featuring Christmas decorations, food and homemade gift items. Initial plans for the project were made Thursday evening at a meeting of the CWF. Mrs. Sanny Wall, president, said the bazaar will be open to the public, with proceeds going to the CWF treasury.

A program, "Defense Rests," was given by Mrs. Gene McElroy and Mrs. Sonny Shroyer. The skit concerned two women whose sons were entering the ministry; one mother failing to see the value of service to mankind.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Frank Rice who said adults must be examples for youth. She asked members to ponder what example they were setting for their families.

The next meeting at the church will be Nov. 6.

Mrs. Caton Speaks On Stock Exchange

"The New York Stock Exchange, long reputed to be a place where you pay $200,000 for a seat, and nobody sits, is 175 years old, but the institution of the stock exchange is much older," said Mrs. Ralph Caton, who said, "My husband used to tell the women's groups that an investment is like a garden. If you worry, you ruin it, but if you give it devoted, understanding attention, it will thrive."

Mrs. Caton spoke on a series of articles, "Women In Stocks," by Colleen Moore. She said the exchange is approximately the size of a football field and contains 18 trading posts. Each stock is offered at only one window, and it is open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily.

"Brokers on the floor of the exchange can only sell by open outcry," said Mrs. Caton. "This is in order to avoid shady deals or underhand selling. The lingo of the stock exchange includes words like stocks and bonds, stay here."

Visit Her Mother

Sgt. W. H. Watters and his wife, Maile, are currently visiting with her mother, Mrs. Dorice Taylor, Big Spring. Watters will leave for Vietnam in December, but his wife will words like stocks and bonds, stay here.

Mary Jane Club To Assist Child

Plans were made by the Mary Jane Club of Coahoma to transport a child to the Dora Robert's Rehabilitation Center for treatment at Thursday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Stan Griffin.

Mrs. Dwayne Clawson presided and announced activities for homecoming to be held Nov. 15 at Coahoma High School. A Christmas party was tentatively discussed, and plans were made to assist the Big Spring State Hospital with a party at Christmas.

Mrs. Frank Russell Named TOPS Queen

Mrs. Frank Russell was named September queen at Thursday's meeting of the TOPS Plate Pushers in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mrs. John Sevey won the basket of fruit. During the therapy program, each member told her method of losing weight. The next meeting will be held Thursday in the Flame Room. Anyone interested in joining the group is asked to call Mrs. K. C. Webb, 263-2570, or Mrs. R. V. Washburn, 391-5259.

Credit Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. W. E. Moren was elected president of Big Spring Credit Women-International at Thursday's luncheon meeting in the Hotel Settles. Other officers named were Mrs. C. W. Mahoney, vice president; Mrs. Noel Hull, secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, treasurer.

Directors are Mrs. George Weeks, Mrs. Bill Draper and Mrs. A. G. Eitzen. Installation will be held at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 17, in the Holiday Inn.

Mrs. C. R. Rhoads presented the program, "Progressive Steps On Skip Tracing." She cited the two most important points as thoroughness and patience. A short skit was presented concerning common collection problems.

Mrs. George Weeks presided, and Mrs. Rhoads won the attendance prize.

Recent Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgins Jr. and children have returned to Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base following a visit in the home of Mrs. Oscar L. Johnson, 1002 Stadium.

Carolyn Sue Wasson Weds J. W. Salmon

Miss Carolyn Sue Wasson and John W. Salmon were united in marriage Friday evening in the Wesley United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand performed the ceremony before an altar adorned with twin baskets of white gladioli and greenery. Traditional wedding selections were played throughout the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Sisson, 1805 Grafa, and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Salmon of Snyder.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress of white cotton knit boucle accented with a lace front and collar. The sleeves were long and fitted, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a bridal corsage.

Miss Debbie Sisson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a deep purple Empire designed dress accented with pale blue, and she carried a nosegay of blue carnations.

Jimmy Salmon served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. She is employed as bookkeeper at Zales Jewelers in Lubbock. The bridegroom attended Howard County Junior College and is attending Texas Technological University.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church where the refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with white wedding bells. Crystal appointments completed the setting. The wedding cake was decorated in blue and white.

Miss Judy McCormick presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Miss Elaine Leugoud and Miss Beverly Merrick.

The couple left on a wedding trip, and for traveling, the bride wore her wedding dress with the bridal corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Salmon will be at home at 1924 14th St., Lubbock.

The workshop will be a one-day event. This will be a pilot project, since Miss Bell does most of her training in district workshops. Time for the workshop will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Title of the programs will be "Gerontology and Texas," "The Story of Aging Today," "Who Is Responsible for the Aging Program?" and "Special Activities For Aging." Each home demonstration club is asked to have five or six representatives and two non-members attend the session.

Invitations are being sent to church groups and other service organizations. Miss Bell is widely known in Texas for her knowledge on the problems of aging.

Building Trades Class Provides Practical Skills

By JEAN FANNIN

Reading, writing and arithmetic are no longer the basic fundamentals of getting an education, and most schools are gradually adapting curricula to fit requirements of students who wish to learn more 'practical' skills.

The vocational building trades program at high school is a program in which students learn the basics of different phases of construction.

"We teach electrical skills, plumbing, bricklaying and carpentry," Jerry Woods, instructor of the 23 boys enrolled in the class this semester, said. "And when the boys are through with this program they are qualified to enter an apprenticeship as second or third-year apprentices."

If a pleasing personality and an ability to get along with young people are qualifications for a building trades teacher, Woods is the man for the job.

However, he also has a backlog of construction experience to draw from, since he began working in the field at the age of 12 and got his union card when he was 18.

Now in his second year as teacher in the local program, which was begun five years ago, Woods expresses complete confidence in the program and in his students.

In fact this year the boys will be building a $20,000 home for Woods as a class project. Last month Woods obtained permission from his advisory board for the students to build the house.

"We emphasize safety first," Woods said. All students must make a grade of 100 on two tests on general safety rules and machine safety rules before

"And it's no fun to sit off at the side and watch everyone else," he said. "They soon learn the rules and pass the tests."

"Accuracy comes second, and speed third. Once they can do a safe job and a good job, speed just comes naturally."

"We try to give them a basic knowledge so they are ready

prentices in any trade. They have to serve a five-year apprenticeship in order to become journeymen, however I have one boy who graduated this spring and has been accepted as a third-year apprentice," he said.

Of the six students in the program who graduated this spring, two are working in the building trade, two are in college and two are "visiting Uncle Sam," Woods said.

Projects for this year include two houses — one will be a residence for Woods, his five-year-old daughter Rebecca, and Truett Vines, another teacher at the high school, and the second is an 800-square foot building at the baseball field.

"The original plan was to remodel the existing storage and restroom facilities," Woods said. "However, when we started work on the building there was so much dry-rot, it was senseless to remodel the structure."

The new building will be somewhat larger than the old structure and will be used to store athletic equipment, which will free for other use a building constructed last year for that purpose.

This year the students have already poured sidewalks at the Kentwood Elementary and built tool racks and a bookcase for the high school, he said.

Projects last year included a 20-by-15 foot storage building, a 1,500-square-foot house for the Spanish Methodist mission church, cabinets for the school and several local residents (including School Supt. S. M. Anderson), a number of roofing jobs, and several odd jobs around the recently-remodeled high school.

Parker, Dean In Partnership

Fess Parker, of the "Daniel Boone" series, has gone into partnership with country-western singer Jimmy Dean. The two have just purchased the late Henry J. Kaiser's 18-acre Fleur du Lac estate at Lake Tahoe in Nevada. They plan to make a tourist resort out of the location.

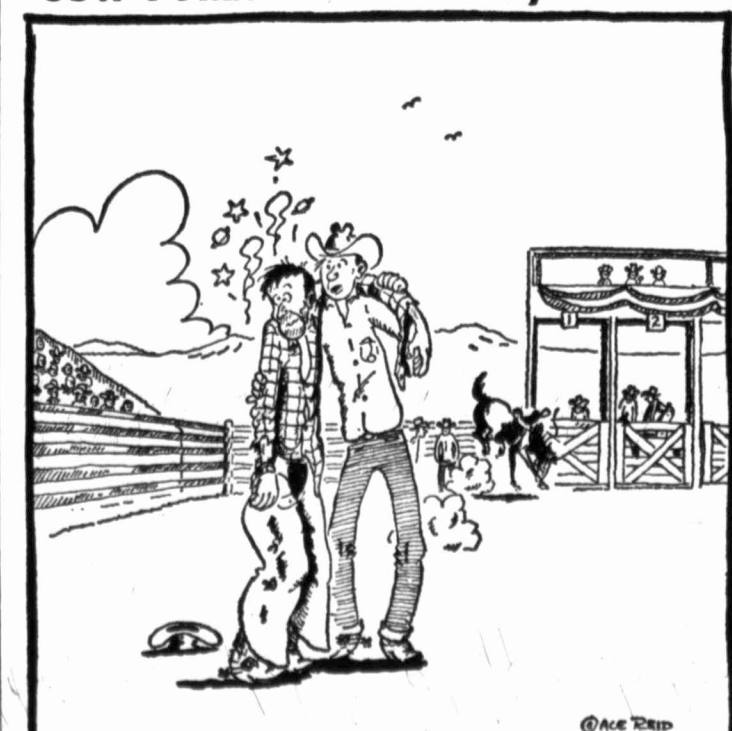

Dean makes his initial appearance this season Oct. 9. He will appear in his recurring role of Josh Clements, a mountain trapper in the forests near Boone'sborough. "Daniel Boone" also co-stars Patricia Blair, Darby Hinton, Dallas McKennon and Rosey Grier.

Same Costume

Elizabeth Bauer, who stars as Teresa in "Lancer," seen every Tuesday, will be wearing a familiar riding skirt and jacket during the Western's second season. It's the same outfit Raquel Welch wore in the motion picture, "Bandolero."

PLANT NEAR MONAHANS

Texas Electric To Build Huge New Generating Unit

FORT WORTH — A new electric power generating unit to cost more than $30,000,000 is to be installed at Texas Electric Service Company's power plant near Monahans, it was announced Saturday by Burl B. Hulsey Jr., company president.

The new unit at the Permian Basin plant, according to Hulsey, will have a net capability in excess of 500,000 kilowatts and will be larger than any unit now operating in the company system.

"Addition of the new unit is part of the company's long-range plans to assure plenty of dependable electric power for the increasing use of electricity and for the growth of the area we serve," Hulsey said.

The company has employed United Engineers and Constructors, Inc. to do the detailed design and prepare construction specifications. A general construction contract will be awarded on the basis of bids which will be invited during the latter part of 1970. Plans are for the contract to be let early in 1971 so construction can begin in the spring of that year.

Completion of the project is scheduled for late 1973.

The new unit will use large quantities of natural gas, up to 130 million cubic feet per day, as fuel for the boiler to produce over 3,800,000 pounds of steam per hour. Cooling water will come from water wells in the Monument Draw area west of Wickett, where the company has underground water rights.

The transmission system also will be strengthened in the West Texas area, Hulsey said, and several new high-voltage lines will be built from the Permian Basin plant to the Odessa-Midland area to strengthen the tie of the additional generating capacity into the company's interconnected transmission system.

Addition of the new unit will

Rain Affects Water Demand

The effect of September rains was felt in the water demands upon the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Rains were heavier and more persistent in Big Spring and Snyder, and that's exactly where municipal consumption dipped.

The cities took 601,666,000 gallons in September, which was 9.16 per cent under September, 1968. Odessa drew 347,040,000 gallons, up 1.46 per cent; Big Spring 198,362,000, down 19.25 per cent; Snyder 56,001,200, down 15.67 per cent. Stanton used only 262,000 gallons from the district, but it was on its wells during the peak demands upon CRMWD.

Paced by SACROC, the major customer, oil companies used 417,493,542 gallons, an increase of 11.92. This made total deliveries of 1,019,159,542 gallons in September or 1.57 per cent more than the same month a year ago. So far this year, the district has delivered 10,039,634,774 gallons, which is a 6.65 per cent increase over the first nine months of 1968. Of the total deliveries, the cities have used 6,430,347,100 gallons, an increase of 5.88 per cent.

Around 78,000,000 gallons of the deliveries to oil companies is in low quality water from the diverted low flow of the Colorado River. The water is pumped from the river in an effort to clear up a pollution problem downstream.

Filming 'Giants' Raises Problems

To film "The Deadly Pawn" episode of "Land of the Giants" series, which airs Sunday, Oct. 12, raised special problems.

The propmen designed and created a full 32-piece chess set and playing board — which might not sound like a tough assignment to the uninitiated. However, the "Land of the Giants" chessmen stand eight feet high, weigh upwards of 100 pounds each and the full set cost in excess of $10,000 to build!

Gary Conway, Kurt Kasznar, Don Matheson, Stefan Amgrin, Don Marshall, Deanna Lund and Heather Young star in the hour-long adventure now in its second season.

Urban Dilemma

LUBBOCK (AP) — Dr. Edward Hanten, director of the Center for Urban Studies at the University of Akron, will discuss problems in city development in a public lecture Tuesday at Texas Tech.

The address is sponsored by the Tech Union's Ideas and Issues Committee. The top will be "The Urban Dilemma and Prospects for the Future."

A Devotion For Today . . .

This do in remembrance of me. (Luke 22:19)
PRAYER: Father of all nations, of all persons, stab us awake as we eat of the bread and drink of the cup. Open our eyes at Thy table to see that we are all alike in our need of forgiveness and for inner strength. This we deeply pray in the name of Jesus. Amen.

Salute To The Volunteers

The Big Spring chapter has this weekend been host for the state meeting of Volunteer Councils in state hospitals and schools.

We consider this a high honor, not only because it is a state meeting and has merited the appearance of the governor and other ranking officials, but also because of the humanity of those who are here represented.

We salute the volunteers first of all for their spirit, for their deep concern for other people in a time of trouble and despair. They have demonstrated the greatest of all virtues — love.

We salute them for the countless hours of time they have given, for the endless effort they have poured out.

We salute them for investment of their own substance and in challenging others to do likewise.

And we also salute the professionals of the state mental health and mental retardation system. In many other instances, the professionals have respectfully kept the laity at arms length. But in treating the mentally ill and helping the mentally retarded, the doctors, the administrators, the nurses and others have embraced the volunteers, made them feel necessary and useful, and made them feel in all things like fellow soldiers together manning the battlements. To bring sick people back to health and dignity.

Reading Your Newspaper

Today begins National Newspaper Week, an event which we feel is worthy calling to your attention.

The newspaper has been and still continues to be the nearest thing to a journal of record about the events of the day, whether they be around the world or at our doorstep. Newspapers are private businesses but are committed to public service.

Newspapers are put together by human beings, therefore they have imperfections in the application of ideals of service, dissemination of news, the promotion of justice, the preservation of freedom, the hope of better tomorrow for the nation and for mankind.

They are beset by pressures from every side, and in common with all business by economic pressures from within. They face the necessity of seeking to stay abreast of events in a rapidly accelerating and often times bewildering tempo, yet be alert to formidable technological changes.

And after all is said and done, newspapers must try to produce an interesting objective and informative report. It would be helpful if subscribers recognize how to get the most out of newspapers. Perhaps these suggestions by I. William Hill, associate editor of the Washington Star, will be of value to readers:

1. Read your newspaper every day. Make newspaper reading a habit, like eating dinner. Don't miss a daily installment in its story of the world.

2. Don't be headline-happy. Headlines give you only what's the menu. You can pick your meal from a menu, but for pleasure or profit, you have to eat it.

3. Don't be page-one happy. Don't read merely the first page. Your news may be inside. There's more news inside than on Page One, for you, it may be better news.

4. Don't be one-subject happy. The one-noters read their sports, crime news or comics for entertainment. Sticking to their chief interests, they're picking up pennies, leaving dollars.

5. Be a fact-seeker. Look to the news columns first for your facts. Then play the game of checking up on the columnists and editorial writers. You may be the better thinker.

6. Read with both eyes. Note qualifying words and attributions. Don't take a charge for a conviction, a rumor for a fact, or a plan for an accomplishment.

7. Don't be a reading coward. It takes a knowledge of both sides to make up your mind easily. Don't be afraid to read opinion at complete variance with your own.

8. Get out of your reading rut. Use your newspaper to give yourself a mental job. Read at least one thing daily that's completely apart from your normal interests.

9. Do your shopping at home. Whether it's food, clothes, or a roof over your head you want, you'll find the best buys in the advertising columns of your newspaper.

10. Relax and enjoy the fun. Your newspaper doesn't forget there's a lighter side to life and neither should you. Try the comics, the crossword puzzle or the word game.

Art Buchwald

The Influence Of Horatio Alger

WASHINGTON — I know no one will believe me, but you're just going to have to take my word for it. I met a college student the other day who said that all he wanted out of life was success and financial security.

He asked me not to use his name because he didn't want to embarrass his parents, so I shall call him Hiram.

"Hiram," I asked him, "why did you decide to take this revolutionary attitude toward society?"

"I DON'T KNOW exactly when it happened. I was like most of the rest of the students. I wanted to tear down the school, the society, the establishment. I was just another conformist, and I never questioned why I was doing all the things that were expected of me.

"Then one day I thought to myself, 'There's got to be more to life than getting hit over the head by the cops.' I looked around me and saw nothing but sheep. Every student was doing his thing because someone else had done his thing, and no one was doing or saying anything new."

Billy Graham

A friend of mine, a good Christian, always looks for the best in people. Don't you think more Christians should do this instead of being so critical?

N.J. Most of us demand a perfection of others that we do not require of ourselves. We have arranged a "double standard," one for others and one for ourselves. This of course is inconsistent.

But criticism is an addiction — sometimes it is a means of directing attention to the faults of others instead of our own. But in the main, it is a habit unbecoming a gentleman, much less a Christian.

The critic hurts himself more than he who is the object of his criticism. Like the sting of the honey bee, it brings pain to its victim but death to the bee. So criticism may hurt the victim; but if persisted in, it brings permanent injury to the critic. No Christian should sit in the "Judgment Seat."

However, the Scripture does teach us to practice spiritual discernment. There is a sense in which we are to judge ourselves and others by the standards set forth in the Word of God.

German Goods Little Less Competitive

NEW YORK (AP) — The West German mark rose in value this past week, making it likely that Americans will have to pay more for goods imported from that country.

Americans, who have been plagued by inflated prices of domestically produced goods, heard Paul W. McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, and other top-level economists say they saw signs that the overheated U.S. economy was cooling.

The outgoing West German government this past week, in the wake of an indecisive national election, set the mark free in foreign exchange markets.

The intention was to allow the mark to seek its own level in relation to the U.S. dollar in unfettered trading. The mark, under IMF agreement, has been pegged at approximately 4 to $1.

West Germany's economic allies have long felt that the mark was undervalued.

FIVE PER CENT INCREASE
The immediate result of the West German government's action was a 5 per cent increase in the mark's value in foreign exchange market dealings.

This, in effect, was an unofficial revaluation of the mark, a move the government had refused to make officially during two world monetary rises in recent years.

Permitting the mark to float freely was intended to stem the flow of foreign capital into West Germany and to head off speculation.

The dollar and the British pound firmed in conjunction with the mark's rise. The United States, Britain and France have hoped for a significant rise in the mark's value. Their reason was that such a development would make German goods less sharply competitive and enhance their prospects of making gains in foreign trade. An upward revaluation of the mark would make Germany's exports more expensive and imports cheaper.

With a new coalition of Social Democrats and Free Democrats taking over the West German Government, expectations were that a formal revaluation of the mark would be ordered.

FORMAL PEG DUE
Klaus-Dieter Arndt, parliamentary undersecretary in the West German Economics Ministry, said the mark definitely would be revalued at the end of its temporary floating period.

McCracken said the government's restrictive monetary and fiscal policies were "beginning to bite." He expressed the opinion that 1970 would be a year of transition, with the economy shifting into a lower gear.

Willis W. Alexander, president of the American Bankers Association, told the organization's convention in Honolulu that he detected signs the economy was starting to cool off. He predicted that within four to six months interest rates, including the record 8 1/2 per cent prime rate, would begin to decline.

Martin R. Gainsburgh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, foresaw a further tapering off in the rate of national economic growth rather than a recession. He said a slowdown to about 6 to 6 1/2 per cent in national output, "coupled with a further rise in the nation's capacity to produce, should bring with it a modest restraining on the rate of price increases."

BUILDING OFF

Henry van B. Cleveland, vice president of First National City Bank of New York, commented: "What seems to lie ahead for the international economy in 1970 is a general slowdown initiated by a slowdown or recession in the United States."

The Commerce Department reported that the rate of construction spending in August slipped 0.5 per cent to an annual rate of $90.9 billion from $91.4 billion in August. The August decline was entirely in private construction while the public sector gained.

New orders for machine tools in August declined by 16 per cent to $107.5 million from $128 million in July, the National Machine Tool Builders Association reported.

Automobile production this past week edged up to an estimated 187,600 passenger cars from 186,732 the previous week but was down from 196,643 a year earlier.

Steel output last week increased 1.6 per cent to 2,730,000 tons from 2,688,000 tons the previous week.

To Your Good Health

Some Of The Aftermaths Of Ulcers

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was hospitalized and after all types of tests the doctor decided that at one time I had had an ulcer which he felt was now healed. The diagnosis was adult pyloric stenosis.

The part I do not understand is why I have most of my discomfort in my chest. All I have to do is eat a little bit of something that is off limits, and my chest and upper back really pain. I have had electrocardiograms, and my heart is all right. Does tension or tension play a role in causing a flareup?—N.N.

You may be one of the millions of people who think the stomach is somewhere down in the abdomen. It isn't. It is at the top of the top of the abdomen, quite close to the breastbone. So "chest" pain is not unusual, and as I pointed out the other day, ulcers in certain locations can radiate pain to the back, too.

In a case like this, I'd suspect that nervous tension may be involved — a twinge from the "ulcer region" and tension makes muscles go into spasm, with aches in chest or back.

Why do I suggest tension? Because there are people who fit a classical "ulcer type." They are inclined to be lean, tense, aggressive perfectionists. Since you apparently had an ulcer, you may well be of the "ulcer type," and that has to be taken into account.

Many times an ulcer heals leaving some scarring, and this scar tissue at times can cause thickening of the pylorus (the pylorus is the circular muscle which acts as a valve at the outlet of the stomach). If the thickening is sufficient to make the opening materially smaller, that is "pyloric stenosis," and it can cause cramping and pain.

In this and in other ways, tensions can cause "nervous stomach," and ulcer-like symptoms, and a little sedation or modest use of tranquilizers often can make a gratifying difference to a patient, just by taking the edge off his tensions.

Other patients, however, may have to be treated much as though they still had an ulcer, even though the ulcer has healed. This may not mean quite as extreme a form of treatment, but along the same general lines.

(Evidently in N.N.'s case, his doctor does not find the pyloric stenosis severe enough to warrant surgery, but in some cases surgery to reduce the obstruction is performed.)

(One other thought: sometimes symptoms such as N.N. describes can come from a hiatal hernia. This can be determined by X-ray.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My children go to my aunt's house and go swimming in her pool. My aunt says you don't have to wait an hour after eating to go swimming unless it's at the beach or in salt water. I say you have to wait whether it is salt water or not. Which is right?—D.C.

The danger, in salt water or fresh, is cramps. There is less danger in a pool in that a person with cramps is less likely to drown; others can see and help him more easily.

But people do drown in pools. So the rule should be kept for pools as well as anywhere else; wait at least an hour before swimming.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them. For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Now That's A Nice Age

Since this was written in advance, and yours truly will be out of the city and in hiding for some time, it seemed a safe week to discuss a rather delicate subject — a woman's age.

This is not a great issue with me, but it seems to be among women.

AT ANY RATE, a magazine catering to feminine interests took a poll of 10 prominent women to get their reactions on telling their age. It is reported that eight of the 10 said they would tell their age, and five of them actually did. There is no assurance that the other three of the eight might not fib a little, and the other two doubtless slammed the door in the pollster's face with a "none of your business."

THERE WAS a time when a woman's age was a private thing, and even when noney people like the poll-tax collector shoved out a form that asked for age, it was permissible to put down "over 21."

The world has gotten a lot more figure-conscious (we're still talking about age figures, not physical measurements).

IN THE FIRST place, the census people are very determined to seek out reliable statistics and refuse to be turned away with a general answer.

More importantly, the Social Security people are demanding proof. The gal who kept herself 34 for about 10 years will find herself in Dutch with the Social Security people on the day she's not only ready, but anxious, to say she's 65. She will have some explaining to do when they tell her that, from her own accounts, she's just 55.

IT'S THAT middle-aged spread (again talking in terms of the spread of age) that gets 'em. Young girls so anxious to grow up frequently will advance their age a year or two, particularly if this helps attract a young man of interest at the time.

And, after a sprightly lady gets into those golden years, she becomes proud to announce that she has bested three-score-and-ten, and is pointing toward the century mark.

BUT THERE'S a place in there — admit it, girls — where 48 to 52 just doesn't sound quite as pleasant as 38 or 42.

Back to those women who were polled: One said, "If she looks good, it's something to be proud of." But that was Barbara Streisand. Another said "no woman has to reveal her age. All the world knows it with but a single look . . . every gesture, every movement . . . tell the whole story." But THAT was Phyllis Diller.

THE CHARMING and witty Rene Carpenter, wife of one of the first astronauts, told the magazine reporter: "I really love my age. I worked a long time to get here, and I've never enjoyed living as much as I do now."

Rene says she's 40, which sounds good or bad, depending upon which side of the mark a gal is on.

The only gentlemanly thing I know to do is to tell 'em all, "Honey, you're neither too young nor too old."

Campus Crisis Coming To A Head

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Universities and colleges across the country are searching for ways to give protesting and alienated students a share in responsibility and authority. The rebellion on the campuses is ominous evidence that the old structure with authority vested in a remote board of trustees and handed down through an almost equally remote administration cannot survive.

THE CONCERN is not merely with a few far-outers. As the polls have shown, a large majority of the moderates are sympathetic with the aims of the activists. The issue is hardly less than what role an entire generation will play in the future. Too permissive, spoiled, lazy, wanting the world handed to them on a platter — the terms of opprobrium from the older generation will not explain away the rejection of so many of the young.

AT HARVARD here on the East Coast and at Stanford University on the West Coast the effort is to bring the young into governing bodies responsible for discipline and administration. Harvard has named a 35-member panel on the governance of the university, made up of faculty, students, alumni and overseers and formed to recommend basic changes in the structure.

Similar experiments are going forward on innumerable campuses. They may be too little and too late. Some critics hold that student participation is no answer, and that putting the young in the authority mix will only result in more trouble compounded by delay and frustration in exercising any discipline at all.

CONSTRUCTIVE changes are occurring. Harvard has initiated an impressive Afro-American Studies Department. As evolved by a committee of faculty and students, the department offers courses in black history from 800 B.C. right down to today's ideological revolution of separatism and the smoldering ghettos.

IT IS EASY enough to sneer, as some Establishment Negroes have done, at the black studies programs being set up in many universities. Some may be on the thin and tenuous side. Where the program has been carefully thought out, as it was here, it should serve to open the hitherto encouraged world of the black to a more realistic view of the white man's world.

None of this, of course, touches the deepest source of student discontent — the Vietnam war and the increasingly hostile criticism of President Nixon for the slow pace with which the war is being phased out. The date of the student strike being organized by the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam and allied forces is less than two weeks away.

ALL SIGNS point to a massive demonstration on campuses across the country. As an orderly protest it must impress even the President, despite his extraordinary press conference statement that he will pay no heed to any student manifestation. Going beyond the bounds of orderly protest in violence and coercion, the demonstration can only inflame the resentment of the great middle mass of the Nixon constituency.

Authority in the universities is as helpless in the face of the bitter divisiveness of the Vietnam war as officialdom appears at every level, not excluding the White House. (Copyright, 1969, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The 'Mood Of America'

WASHINGTON — Many writers are trying to describe the "mood of America" today, but it is difficult to put in words the people's "state of mind" growing out of a variety of problems.

Thus, the protests against the violations of law and order are not always related to demonstrations against the Vietnam war or to racial troubles. The rise, for instance, in crime — including rapes, robberies, assaults and murders — has frightened people so that they fear to leave their homes at night.

RACIAL FRICTION, to be sure, is increasing rather than diminishing, and lots of white people who have been somewhat passive in their attitude are beginning to grow angry. Some observers think that the "civil rights" leaders are hurting the cause of the Negro and that sooner or later the antagonisms between the races will become much more bitter than ever before, especially if white workers are deliberately denied jobs to make way for Negroes.

WITHIN THE last few days police and National Guardsmen were required to prevent further trouble when the Wisconsin legislature convened in special session. Earlier in the week a Roman Catholic priest who is a "civil rights" activist had led 1,000 demonstrators who broke down the doors of the assembly chamber and occupied the room for 10 hours. But the significant words in the news dispatch were: "No arrests were made."

THE PUBLIC wonders whether state and city authorities are afraid of the demonstrators. Certainly any such invasion of a state capitol constitutes an offense which is punishable. The wrath of the members of the Wisconsin legislature was aroused, and there were demands for the punishment of the participants. The feeling throughout the country is that, unless severe measures are taken to deal with demonstrators who produce disorder, the disturbances will rise in number and intensity.

ONE OF THE most flagrant examples of indifference to law are the recent episodes in which "civil rights" leaders, mostly Negroes, have demanded large sums of money in "reparations" from churches. Attempted extortion has been going on in different parts of the country as threats have been made that, unless funds are provided to "correct injustices" suffered by Negroes over the past 300 years, force will be used. If anybody went into a bank and demanded money under threats of violence, there would be no question about the duty of the police to arrest the individual concerned.

THERE IS, to be sure, discontent about the war in Vietnam. Many people do not realize the dangers involved in a humiliating retreat from Vietnam by the United States. The outcries by various members of Congress and by peace organizations are doubtless encouraging the Hanoi government to make no concessions at the Paris peace table.

THERE ARE plenty of grievances on the part of the electorate in every administration. Today the high cost of living, as inflation continues, is affecting households everywhere.

All these subjects may account for the different protest movements and worries as government — federal, state and local — is confronted with cumulative responsibilities to maintain order at home. Meanwhile, the United States strives to thwart those maneuvers of the Communists which could bring on World War III. (Copyright, 1969, Publishers - Hall Syndicate)

Men In Service

Maj. Harvey J. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Stewart of 1014 N. 20th, Lamesa, has received his third through 14th awards of the Air Medal for air action in Vietnam. Maj. Stewart was decorated for his outstanding alrmanship and courage on successful and important missions while assigned at Bien Hoa Air Base. He was presented the medal at Cannon AFB, N.M., where he now serves as a TAC flight training instructor.

A graduate of Prescott (Ariz.) Senior High School, the major received his BS degree in 1954 from Texas Technological College, where he was commissioned through the AFOTC. His wife, Rosemary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mykay, Ralls.

Col. Idus R. Flowers, son of Mrs. C. Flowers, 405 S. Avenue G, Lamesa, has returned to Germany for the first time in 20 years to become chief of maintenance of the 36th Tactical Fighter Wing at Bitburg Air Base.

Col. Flowers was stationed in Germany and flew in the 1949 Berlin Airlift.

Commissioned in 1943 through the aviation cadet program, the colonel has 27 years in military service. He holds an aeronautical rating of command pilot. Prior to assignment at Bitburg, Col. Flowers was executive officer to the deputy chief of staff for materiel, Strategic Air Command, Offutt AFB, Neb. He has 10 years' experience in the field of maintenance.

Col. Flowers is married to the former Mary B. Preston, daughter of Mrs. P. B. Preston, 1213 W. Story, Midland, and they have one daughter and three sons.

Pfc. Stephen Clark McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. McMillan, 3003 Navajo, is in training on the Nike-Hercules Air Defense missile system and has been assigned to C battery of the 3rd battalion, 51st Artillery at Fort Hancock, N.J. A graduate of Big Spring High School, he entered service Dec. 10, 1968, and took his basic training at Fort Bliss. He holds the National Defense, Good Conduct and expert marksman ship citations.

Pvt. Donnie Joe Moseley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown Moseley, 509 Owens, resides at Wheeler, Tex., has been assigned to Korat, Thailand, to the 42nd Signal Bn. He will serve as a mechanic in the unit which is part of the 29th Signal Group (USASTRATCOM).

Under the operational control of Headquarters, U.S. Army Support, Thailand, the 29th Signal Group utilizes a network of the most advanced electronics equipment to provide telephone, radio and data-link communications for U.S. military forces in Thailand and Vietnam. Pvt. Moseley, who graduated from Big Spring High School, entered the Army in October, 1968, and completed his basic training at Ft. Bliss.

Granville (Tip) Miller Jr. has begun his basic training at Fort Bliss. He entered service Sept. 17. Reared in Big Spring, he graduated from Big Spring High School and from Howard County Junior College. He was working at Sid Richardson Carbon Company prior to the time he was called to service. His wife is the former Debbie Black, and they have one son, Ronnie. His parents are, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Miller Sr.

As the Firebee target drone enters the firing range, Ground Intercept Control orders the waiting pilots to "scramble." Screaming into the air, the speeding F-106 Delat Dart jets move in for the search, intercept, and kill of the "invader."

S. Sgt. Aaron J. Weil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Marx, 1695 Edgewood Road, Beaver Falls, Pa., is undergoing three weeks of training with other members of his unit at Tyndall AFB, Fla.

He is a jet engine technician in the Aerospace Defense Command's (ADC) 318th Fighter Interceptor Squadron stationed at McChord AFB, Wash. His wife, Karla, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delton R. Stewart, 1400 Virginia, Big Spring.

Air Force Maj. Lowry G. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, 101 Highland Drive, Lamesa, is on duty at Nakhon Phanom Royal Thai AFB, Thailand. Maj. Martin is an A-1E Skyraider tactical fighter pilot with the 601st Special Operations Squadron, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. He previously served at Reese AFB. The major, a 1951 graduate of Lamesa High School, received his BSME degree in 1967 from Texas Technological College. He was commissioned in 1955 through the aviation cadet program.

JOSEPH L. CURRY

Airman Joseph L. Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy E. Curry, 503 N. 20th, Lamesa, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., for training in communications electronics systems. Airman Curry, a 1965 graduate of Lamesa High School, attended Texas Technological University.

Airman David G. Summers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Summers, Vincent Route, Coahoma, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for training in the supply field. Airman Summers, a 1967 graduate of Borden County schools in Gail, attended Howard County Junior College in Big Spring.

Airman Gonzalo J. Medrano, son of Mrs. Janie H. Medrano, Lamesa, has received his first U.S. Air Force duty assignment after completing basic training at Lackland AFB. He has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command at K. I. Sawyer AFB, Mich., for training and duty in the transportation field. Airman Medrano is a graduate of Lamesa High School.

Air Force S. Sgt. Howard Colvert Jr. is on duty at Udorn Royal Thai AFB, Thailand. A radio equipment technician in a unit of the Air Force Communications Service, he previously served at Little Rock AFB, Ark.

The sergeant's wife, Celia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hanson, Sterling City.

Gunnery Mate Second Class Donnie M. Wiggins, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen M. Wiggins, 1501 Chickasaw, and husband of the former Miss Emma L. White, Sterling City, Route, all of Big Spring, and Gunnery Mate First Class Johnny Hill, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross R. Hill, 806 W. 8th, Big Spring, is serving aboard the USS Long Beach in the Western Pacific. The ship, a nuclear powered missile cruiser, is serving with the U.S. Seventh Fleet. It will serve as an air traffic controller off the coast of Vietnam.

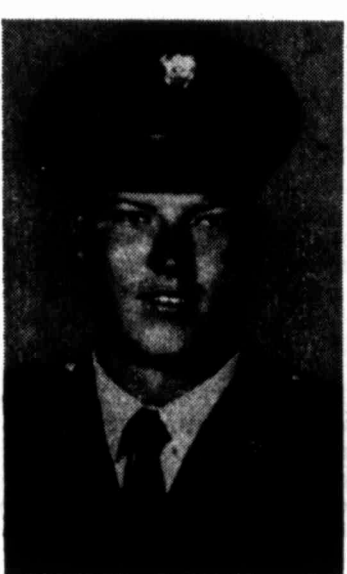

Storekeeper Seaman Apprentice Kemper A. Marple, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Marple, Gail Rd., Big Spring, is serving at the U.S. Naval Support Activity in Da Nang, Vietnam. The Da Nang support activity is the Navy's largest overseas shore command. It provides logistic support to more than 100,000 Free World forces in the I Corps, the five northernmost provinces of Vietnam.

1st Lt. James C. Sinclair is now on temporary duty with the 4133rd Bomb Wing at a forward base in the Western Pacific. A Strategic Air Command pilot, he flies KC-135 Stratotanker missions that daily provide aerial refueling to B-52 Stratofortress bombers and fighter and reconnaissance aircraft conducting the air war over South Vietnam.

His wife, Dona, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlis Yater, 1600 Phillips Road, Big Spring.

DAVID G. SUMMERS

S. SGT. LARRY OAKS

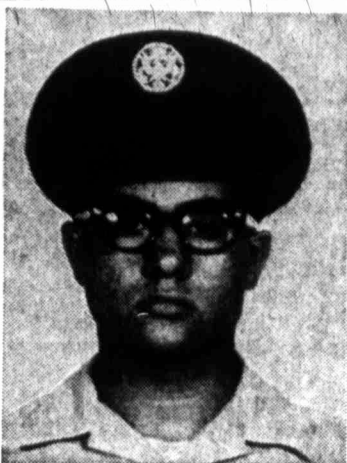

S. Sgt. Robert Larry Oaks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Oaks, Ackerly, has been home on leave after completing six months of training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

He spent 13 weeks at Non-Commissioned Officer school and nine weeks of Ranger training in the mountains of Georgia and the swamps of Florida. On completion of Ranger training, Oaks spent three weeks in Airborne School, making jumps from Air Force C-141 and C-119 jets.

When he reports back to duty, he will be joining the 173rd Airborne Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash., for overseas placement in Vietnam. He entered the service in July, 1968. Sgt. Oaks is a 1967 graduate of Sands High School.

Lt. Col. Ralph L. Brooks, a 1948 graduate of Big Spring High School, has assumed command of the 421st Tactical Fighter Squadron at Da Nang AB, Vietnam.

Col. Brooks served at Eglin AFB, Fla., before his appointment last April at Da Nang, where he is assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. A former member of the official Air Force aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds, Col. Brooks feels well prepared for combat flying. He flew his F-100 Super Sabre in the right wing slot in the famous Thunderbird diamond formation, and performed for thousands of people around the world during his two years with the aerobatic team.

GONZALO J. MEDRANO

LT. COL. RALPH BROOKS

The 18-year service veteran, who was commissioned through the aviation cadet program, has also served tours in Germany and the Republic of Korea.

After graduation from BSHS, Col. Brooks attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and earned a BGE degree in 1963 from the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and an MBA degree in 1966 from George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

His wife, Lynette, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blum, 1714 Yale, Big Spring, and Col. Brooks' parents are Mr. and Mrs. George L. Brooks, now of El Paso and formerly of Big Spring. Col. and Mrs. Brooks have four children, Laura, 13, Greg, 12, Cynthia, 10, and Mike, 8.

Ozona Tilt Set At Homecoming

By LYN HERZOG
A student council meeting was held on Wednesday, Oct. 1. President Roy Kelly called the meeting to order, and announced that Homecoming will be Nov. 7, the date of the Ozona game. Plans for Homecoming Week were discussed, and several committees were appointed. The committee for designating the dress-up days will consist of Cindy Avery, chairman; Susan Vest, Randy Nichols, and Judy Costlow. Rusty Hicks, Sandy Chandler, Ricky Mims, Twila Stallings, and Billy Coggin will serve as the entertainment committee. Those on the refreshment committee are Rusty Hicks, chairman, Marc Briggs, Frank Barnhill, and Billy Coggin. The decoration committee will include Gayle Haggard, chairman; Scotty Fisher, Cindy Wheeler, and Twila Stallings. A special group was appointed to make the rules and regulations for Freshman Day. This committee is made up of the officers, Roy Kelly, Mark Hursh, Sandy Chandler and Gary Posey and also Rusty Hicks, Gayle Haggard, and Peggy Butler.

4-D Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Oct. 5, 1969

DEAR ABBY: I recently learned that our 23-year-old son, now a senior in college, is the father of a child that was given away for adoption last year. Our son did not confide in us, I found this out quite by accident. Our son and this girl did not want to rush into marriage, so they decided to give up the child, but now that she has returned home they became engaged. (They are not aware that I know about the baby.) I might add, she is a very sweet girl and I think the world of her. My husband and I have always looked forward to our first grandchild and I am sick with grief to think that somewhere in this world I have a grandchild, whom I will never know. I haven't been able to bring myself to tell my husband yet. My question: Do I have the right to keep this from him? It is his grandchild, too.

He asks me not to talk to him at mealtime because he is "busy" eating. He doesn't want me to talk to him while he's driving, because he's "busy" driving. And God forbid that I should talk to him while he is reading or watching television! He doesn't want me to talk when we are out in public with friends either. This is very hard on me as I come from a large family and love to talk. I am not dumb. I read a lot and have a lot of interesting things to say. When we are out, he talks to other people, but he says he HAS to talk to THEM — he doesn't have to talk to ME. Oh, he does call me from work every day to find out what was in the mail, and then I get to talk. He says as long as he has to pay for the five minutes he doesn't mind my talking. Please put this in your column as it is one of the things my husband always reads, and it will be one way for me to tell him what I think. Thank you. FRUSTRATED

Runnels Set To Kick-Off United School Fund Drive

By CARRIE WHEELER
Starting tomorrow, Oct. 6 Runnels will start the annual United School Fund Drive. The Student Council will be sponsoring it. Every morning each homeroom will give their money to their student council representatives. There will be two thermometers in the hall that will tell who has given the most money between the seventh grade and the eighth grade classes.

Challenging each other, the pep squad and the band will be seeing who can give the most money. Monday the Student Council had a meeting. They voted on the ones that are supposed to go to Kermit, Oct. 11, for the Student Council Forum. They are Scotty Langford, Billy Nugent, Lisa Pipes, Debra Davis, Frances Gaines and Linda Pittman.

Those that will be on the discussion group are Sonia Downing, Ken Abernathy, Orville Rau, Carrie Wheeler and Curtis Condray, chairman. Tuesday, Oct. 7, the NJHS Yearbook will be handed out. Mark Anderson, vice president; Ellen Colley, secretary; and Cindy Pearce, treasurer have been working on them for the past few weeks. Each member will receive one. Thursday afternoon, a pep rally was held in the boys gym. The head cheerleaders were Leslie Harris, seventh grader, and Lisa Pipes, eighth grader. The captains for seventh grade teams were Albert Alvarez, Monty Davis and Sammy Henry. Captains for the eighth grade B team were Ivan Surisky, Bobby Green and Tony Gonzales. For the A team were Mark Allen, David Lewis and Ken Garden City Election Papers Reveal Class Favorites, Etc.

By BEVERLY HARTLEY
Monday marked the beginning of an important week at Garden City when election papers were passed out. The students at Garden City High School voted Judy Ann Halfmann and Steven Hirt as Mr. and Miss G.C.H.S. Beverly Hartley and Steven Hirt were voted as senior favorites; Cecilia Seidenbruger and Rudy Halfmann as junior favorites; Cathy Batla and Kenneth Chandler as sophomore favorites; and Kathy Schwartz and Jody Schwartz as freshman favorites. The student body also voted Becky Reynolds and Floyd Schwartz as the nearest; Judy Ann Halfmann and Steven Hirt as most athletic; Judy Ann Halfmann and Floyd Schwartz as friendliest; Becky Reynolds as most talented; Diane Harris and Floyd Schwartz won the students' votes as the most likely to succeed; Beverly Hartley and Larry Wheat as most glib; Karen Hoelscher and Earl Jansa as most studious; and Millie Christie and Kenneth Schaefer as most mischievous. The Student Council held a meeting early in the week and discussed the adoption of a standard senior ring. Each class voted on this adoption. The council also brought out that

Rehearsals For 'Messiah' Begin

Rehearsals for the annual performance Dec. 14 of Handel's Messiah by the First United Methodist Church choir begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday. The performance will include several choruses and solos not used in last year's production, and the Tech String Orchestra will accompany the performance. Persons interested in singing in the performance should contact Larry Stanley or the church office or attend the first rehearsal in the choir room at First United Methodist Church.

Militants Want To Run Prison

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Negro prisoners in disciplinary section of San Quentin Prison are on a hunger strike, demanding appointment of a black warden, a black parole board for black prisoners, and more black guards. The 65 prisoners began the strike Wednesday, officials said, Friday.

Pep Squad To Boost School Spirit

By JILL RHYMES

A pep squad is being organized by Miss Nancy White, the speech teacher, to promote school spirit. It will include both seventh and eighth graders. Seventy-two students have signed up, but this number will be cut to 40 students. Members must have good conduct grades and maintain a C grade average. There will be four squad leaders.

Goliad students eligible for the President's Physical Fitness Award are, from the seventh grade, Shawn Cannon, and, from the eighth grade, Susan Young, Sue Duncan, Wynona Watson, Deborah Phillips, and Elaine Vick. To be eligible for this award, girls must have passed the physical fitness tests and be rated in the 85th percentile in the nation.

Homeroom representatives to the Student Council were elected last week. They will have their first meeting Tuesday with Mrs. Phyllis Burchfield, their sponsor. They will elect four officers, a president, a vice president, a secretary-treasurer, and a public relations officer.

Mr. Bernard Rains, social studies teacher, attended a seminar on economic education in Midland Thursday. The seminar was held at the First National Bank.

There were three new students last week. They are John Daniel Madison from Lenora, eighth grade; James C. Ervin from Honolulu, Hawaii, seventh grade; and Rosalyn Roberts from Sumner, Wash., seventh grade.

FLOWER GROVE Fish Initiated To High School

By JACKIE CAVE

Freshman initiation was held last week. The girls had to wear their hair in pigtails all over their heads and wear their clothes wrongside out and backwards. No one could speak unless to a teacher. The boys had to wear dresses on Friday, and they were "invited" to a make up party in the VA shop by the upper class boys. When they returned to the main building, they were hardly recognizable. The freshman class is to be commended for their sportsmanship during these two days.

The sophomore class is taking orders for school jewelry which comes in 14 karat gold or silver rodium finish. Anyone who wishes to see a sample of the jewelry may contact a member of the sophomore class. An order will be sent soon, and another will be mailed later.

The West Texas Forum in Kermit will be attended by 27 members of the BSHS Student Council Saturday, Oct. 11. Fifteen council members from Runnels will journey to Kermit with the BSHS students. The Big Spring High Student Council is president school and will preside over the meeting.

Library Club members will travel to Coahoma Saturday, Oct. 11 for the District Teenage Library Association (TALA) meeting. More than 200 students are expected at this meeting where skits and workshops will be held. A style show will be taking place during the luncheon. The Dixie Land Band from BSHS will provide the music for this meeting.

The Key Club will begin selling activity calendars Monday, Oct. 6. They will be a nine months calendar with all important school events noted. The calendars have pictures of the clubs sweethearts and will sell for 50 cents each.

The victory bell has undergone a paint job and now boasts the traditional school colors of black and gold. The Key Club will hold its first evening banquet on Tuesday, Oct. 7 at Furs Cafeteria.

Scrambler Track Opened For Kids

A "Scrambler" track has been opened on Wasson Road at Thorpe.

"We wanted to operate it for kids 10 years and older," said Bill Pierce, owner and manager, "so they could have something to do. So far, some adults have turned out, too."

He plans to operate the track evenings, but it will be open all day Saturday and from noon until dark on Sundays.

Pierce and his wife, Sylvia, came to Big Spring in July from Oregon, and he is working as a fireman at Webb AFB. They have two children, Russell, 6, and Steven, 4, and live at 2213 Cecilia.

WESTBROOK

NHS Officers Elected

By SANDY ANDERSON

Gary Matlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Matlock, and a senior at Westbrook High School, was installed as president of the school's National Honor Society chapter Thursday, Oct. 2, 1969.

Other officers include Vickie Hogue, vice president; Sandy Anderson, secretary; Judy Chambers, treasurer; Cindy Richardson, historian; and John Ritchey, reporter.

Mr. Carl Kuykendall, business teacher, gave the invocation. Mr. Dawson, superintendent of Westbrook High School, served as chairman for the installation and induction of new members in the candle-lighting ceremony. Clyde Hines led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Gary Matlock presented the purpose and aims of the NHS chapter and Mr. Ware, principal of Westbrook High School, explained the method of selection of the new members.

Scholarship, character, service, and leadership determine the qualities for selection. John Ritchey, senior, served as scholarship speaker; Cindy Richardson, senior, served as character speaker; John Sweatt, senior, served as service speaker; Gary Matlock, senior, served as leadership speaker.

Three new members, all sophomores, were inducted into the Westbrook chapter. They include Clyde Hines, Jean Matlock and Roxann Moore.

Membership certificates were presented by Ware to the new members.

One of the projects according to Preston C. Lightfoot, sponsor, is a framed display of pictures and scholastic ranks of the top five NHS members which are determined each six weeks and based on grades beginning with the ninth grade.

BORDEN COUNTY

King And Queen Picked For Halloween Carnival

Borden schools wish to introduce another new teacher, Mr. Bill Jennings. Majoring in agricultural business, Mr. Jennings graduated in 1963 from Sul Ross College in Alpine. He taught at Fluvanna for a period of five years. Mr. Jennings is teaching junior high science and health.

Mr. Jennings and his wife, Betty, have two boys. Burt is in the third grade and Bill is in the sixth grade. A warm welcome to Mr. Jennings and his family.

The senior class had a class meeting Sept. 29. They chose their king and queen for the Halloween carnival. They are Ted Yaden and Judy Buchanan. Also Mr. Shillingburg came and they selected their graduation announcements.

The student council officers for the coming year are president, Sandra Hancock; vice president, Lisa Dennis; secretary, Bobbie Ludecke; treasurer, Billie Briggs; reporter, Robert Sorrells. Plans for the year were discussed.

The Borden basketball girls team elected their captains for the 69-70 school year. They are Lisa Dennis, Debby Dennis and Cheron Billeck. All three captains are seniors.

The Coyote Band traveled to Lubbock for the parade of bands Sept. 22. Although the band was not entered in competition, new band members gained experience in parade marching. The band would like to thank everyone for their response in the candy sale.

Billie and Bobbie Briggs are off to a good start again this year. This was proven at the South Panhandle Plains Fair, at Lubbock, Sept. 25. At the open horse show Bobbie had the placings of first in the Hunter Pairs class; second in the Equitation class; second in the Pleasure class; and a fifth place won in the Hunter class.

Billie had the placings of first in the Equitation class; second in the Pleasure class; third in the Hunter class; and a fifth place in the Hunter Pairs class.

Connie Ogden rode Kitty Miss to win a fourth place in the barrel race at the fair Saturday, Sept. 27. There were 15 entries in the race Connie entered.

AUSTIN — Bagpipes, with their haunting melody unchanged for centuries, are calling the Scots to Austin for the annual Highland Games, Oct. 18 and 19.
The Highland Games, sponsored by the Scottish Society of Texas, test the skills of modern man against the traditional sports of old Scotland. Events range from sheer muscular prowess to the apparent weightless grace of the Highland dancers. Athletes "toss the caber" a 16-foot-long, 150-pound pole. They "toss the

'Kinetic Art' Exhibit Now In Midland

"Kinetic Art," a contemporary art exhibition of significant importance, is presently showing at the Museum of the Southwest in Midland.

Selected largely from Midland collections, the serigraphs and lithographs included in the show are contemporary examples of geometric abstractionism, known in their various manifestations as hard edge art, op art, cool art or minimal art.

This exhibit, while composed of approximately equal proportions of European and American living artists, has its roots in the European tradition which manifested itself early in such institutions as the Bauhaus. Many of the artists whose work will be exhibited were influenced by or were students of Josef Albers, a Bauhaus professor, who continued the European tradition in the United States.

Other artists, besides Josef Albers, whose works will appear in the show include: Richard Anuszkiewicz, Norman Ives, and Almir Mavignier, all students of Josef Albers; Max Bill, Eduardo Paolozzi, Ernest Trova, and Victor Vasarely. The exhibit will continue through Oct. 26. The museum hours are: Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

WARTIME ROMANCE — An American army major billeted in a magnificent 10th century castle, Bert Lancaster finds romance in the middle of a 20th century war with Astrid Heeren, a Belgian countess who will do anything to preserve her castle and her family.

Designer Hired To Build Castle

Almost everyone at one time or another has imagined himself living in a "dream-castle." Few people get that opportunity and even fewer still get the opportunity to build such a castle themselves.

Martin Ransohoff's production, "Castle Keep," which stars Burt Lancaster beginning Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, revolves about a 10th Century castle in Belgium, in the middle of a 20th Century war. Lancaster commands the oddball American squad assigned to live in the Belgian castle, and who defend it against overwhelming German forces during the Battle of the Bulge.

Co-starring with Lancaster are Patrick O'Neal, Scott Wilson, Tony Bill and Peter Falk as war-tired soldiers in the "dream-castle" and Jean-Pierre Aumont and Astrid Heeren as the Count and his hauntingly beautiful young wife who will do anything to preserve the castle and their family.

They all get to live in the castle of the film. Possibly of greater interest, in this respect, are the men who were given the opportunity to build it. Working with "Castle Keep" producers Martin Ransohoff and John Calley, and director Sydney Pollack were production designer Rino Mondellini, art director Max Douy and artistic consultant Morton Rabinowitz.

Mondellini, who created the giant castle, the nearby village of St. Croix with its surrealistic Red Queen's brothel, and other sets in "Castle Keep," is one of Europe's leading set designers. His record includes work on such films as "Fanny" for Joshua Logan, "The Quiet American" for Joseph Mankiewicz, "Trapeze" for Carol Reed, and others.

Top Comic Stars In Disney Movie

One of the funniest men in show business today is Buddy Hackett, making his first appearance for Walt Disney Productions as the kooky mystic and sculptor in "The Love Bug," in which he stars with Dean Jones, Michele Lee and David Tomlinson.

"The Love Bug" starts Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In.

Hackett has made his mark, a boisterously mirthful one indeed, in every entertainment medium. He starred in the television series, "Stanley," has guested on every leading television show, played every important nightclub, starred on Broadway in the revue, "Lunatics and Lovers" and the hit musical, "I Had A Ball," and appeared in such successful motion pictures as "God's Little Acre," "The Music Man" and "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World." He recently signed a lifetime contract with Las Vegas' famed Sahara Hotel where he performs 12 weeks a year.

Born in Brooklyn, Buddy starred on his high school football team and in his senior class play. With acting always his goal, he made his professional debut on the famed "Borscht Circuit."

The reason he became a comedian? Says Hackett, "I was a poor kid. I wanted attention. I got it by being funny."

It wasn't all acting for Buddy during his younger days. There were also jobs as truck driver, lumber salesman and as an upholsterer. But his show business career finally got into high gear when he landed a role in the road company of "Call Me Mister." He began by playing the comedy lead, then essayed eight different parts before the show closed its tour a year later.

Then he began playing the nightclub circuit and soon was a top attraction with devoted host of fans. Eventually he was booked into Billy Gray's Band Box in Hollywood where he caught the attention of movie scouts and was launched on the screen facet of his career in "Walking My Baby Back Home." Since then there has finned to any one genre of humor. It revolves around virtually every sort available to a comedian: stand-up gags, patter, dialects.

With his career calling him more and more to the West Coast, Buddy moved his wife, Sherry, and their three children to California and now resides in Beverly Hills.

RATINGS LIST BOB HOPE NO. 1

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC jumped into first place with ABC right behind it in the first competitive Nielsen ratings for the season, released Friday. CBS, the traditional leader, came in third.

The ratings period for the 70-city survey was Sept. 22-23, premier week for ABC and CBS. NBC introduced its new shows the week before.

The area included in the ratings survey represents 67 per cent of the viewing public. The full national ratings are due Monday.

The No. 1 show was NBC's Bob Hope Special.

Altogether, NBC placed nine shows in the top 20 and ABC came in with seven. CBS had four.

The top 10 were: 1. Bob Hope Special, 2. ABC Sunday Night Movie "Nevada Smith," 3. Flip Wilson Special and NBC Saturday Night Movie "Shenandoah," tied, 5. CBS Charlie Brown Special, 6. ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," 7. NBC's "Bill Cosby Show" and CBS Friday Night Movie, tied, 9. NBC's "Laugh-In," and 10. ABC's "Movie of the Week."

Scholarship Contest Announced For Artists

Mrs. Walter Varney Magee, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has announced four scholarships totaling $3,000 will be awarded in the 18th annual art talent contest for high school seniors sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Hallmark Cards, Inc.

"Through this contest," said Mrs. Magee, "many deserving young people are given an opportunity to express themselves through the medium of art."

Students will compete for state prizes, in addition to the four Hallmark scholarships. The national scholarships may be used at any approved college, university, or art school selected by the winning students.

Competition is open to all senior students at public or private high schools who will enter college in the fall of 1970. The first prize winner in each state will represent the state in the national judging to be held in Kansas City, Mo., during May 1970.

Contest information may be obtained by writing to Hallmark Cards, Inc., Public Relations Dept., 2501 McGee, Kansas City, Mo. 64111, or to the General Federation of Women's Clubs, 1734 N Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs and Hallmark Cards have co-sponsored the program since 1953. In the past 17 years, scholarships have been awarded to 54 young people from states spanning the nation.

'Overheated Economy' Cooling Off In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Several factors, including a "dramatic decline" in new construction, indicate that Texas "overheated economy" is cooling off, a business analyst reported Saturday.

The state's business index fell 12 per cent from July to August, its lowest point since March, said Dr. John Stockton of the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research.

"The majority of the major indexes of business showed definite weakness in August," Stockton said. "Retail sales in Texas for August are estimated to be unchanged from July, but are one per cent below August sales in 1968. Durable goods stores reported sales 10 per cent below July sales, and 7 per cent below those of August 1968."

Also, Stockton said, a survey indicates that consumers are more cautious about buying, an "attitude which may be expected to reflect in less lavish spending between the present and the Christmas season."

New construction authorized in Texas declined 23 per cent in August, while additions, alterations and repairs showed a slight gain.

Another indication "that the boom may be slackening, at least slightly," is that inventories are increasing, Stockton said.

However, he said, 1970 model automobiles are selling fast and "this industry gives no sign of contributing during the coming year to any decline in the economy of Texas or the nation."

"Finally people are beginning to realize, seemingly in growing numbers," Stockton said, "that the inflation must be curbed even though it probably means a slowing down of business and an increase in unemployment. In short, there are some grounds for optimism that progress is being made in cooling off the overheated economy."

The business indexes for 29 Texas cities, with percentage changes from July to August and from August 1968 to August 1969:

Abilene -10 and 6, Amarillo -5 and 2, Austin -25 and 45, Beaumont -11 and 2, Corpus Christi -13 and 1, Corsicana -19 and -2, Dallas -11 and 23, El Paso -14 and 12, Fort Worth -15 and 8, Galveston -10 and -3, Houston -12 and 12, Laredo -6 and 10, Lubbock no change and 12, Port Arthur -3 and 5, San Angelo -8 and 7, San Antonio -11 and 6, Texarkana -13 and 6, Tyler -7 and 15, Waco 2 and 9 and Wichita Falls -16 and 3.

Mitchell Old Timer Reunion Set Oct. 11

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County's Old Timer Reunion will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., Oct. 11 at Civic House, in Colorado City, according to Mrs. A. L. Geer, chairman of the Mitchell County Historical Survey Committee and general chairman for the morning's program.

Tom Jay Goss II, local writer and historian, will be the speaker. J. A. Sadler Jr., city manager, will act as master of ceremonies.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., with the principal part of the program to begin at 9:45 a.m.

The program will include a sing song led by Frank Prewitt, with Miss Ruth Hightower as accompanist, a modeling of Natchez Pilgrimage costumes by Mrs. Sam Geisenberger, of Natchez, Miss., and a memorial service by the Rev. Elra Phillips, Big Spring.

Others assisting with the program are Sefton Pickens, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Margaret McCorkle, Mrs. Ed Richardson, Rev. Glen Roenfeldt, Dr. John Chinn and others.

Counterfeiting Ring In Angelo?

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Police are still investigating a possible counterfeiting ring here after four bogus $20 bills were found within a four-week period.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

SUNDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You may be depressed or your course of action may be delayed until mid-afternoon. Later you can make such headway toward your aims. Be generous. Be certain.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You will worry about financial affairs this morning. After lunch you can have a delightful time with friends. Participate in the sports or hobby you truly enjoy. Be happy tonight with your loved one.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Figure out how to delight your family, but wait until mid-afternoon. Then take it easy. Your evening at home can be happy and satisfying.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Until lunch time, rid your path of obstacles. Handle correspondence later. Visit people whose interests are the same as yours.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are unable to get out to expensive pleasures in the morning. Concentrate on inexpensive amusements later in the day. Buy a charming gift for your mate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Once you are in fine physical shape, you can do whatever you please. Spend the day with charming people who are also impressed with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show devotion to those who have been loyal to you. Make the plans that will bring desired results. Show that you are clever.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you aren't firm with your good friend this morning, you could be led into an expensive, worthless tangent. Don't try to win your own way until after lunch. This evening can be fine for social activity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Instead of wondering why others are reacting in a puzzling manner, listen to an expert. Then, everything will change to your benefit. Listen to music this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Philosophical studies allure you to the music of the spheres. Correspond to get the results you want. Be clear and brief.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You now know how to live your life in the way that delights your soul. One you like very much can bring you happiness. Plan the new week precisely. A new friend may come within your horizon tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can now rely on that clever associate to go along with your plan. Get things rolling quickly. Be very kind with your mate who is really very loyal to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You now have the opportunity to do something thoughtful for one who has done you many favors. Plan how you are going to be more successful in your activities during the new week. Make notes.

MONDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Some very confusing conditions can be in effect for you today and tonight. Therefore, think over very carefully what you can do to eliminate some of the muddled thinking on your part, the part of others and the part of the spheres. Practice.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be more aware of your obligations and do something constructive about them. Go over written material and figures for errors. Make the right impression on higher-ups.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Keep associates and family separate today or there could be some unfortunate argument. Get busy on fundamental affairs. You have to be more practical. If you want to have the right results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get out of that rut and more interesting situations arise that make life more fascinating, satisfying. Be devoted to kin. Stop being so stolid.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you take time to have some recreation, you can later find it easier to make those plans for mere abundance. Tonight is fine for getting some work done on your hobby. Be clever.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget family worries and go out with good friends for a good time. Give your family an opportunity to express themselves. Be more independent. Improve your appearance by dressing nicely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take a straight path toward your cherished ambitions and gain the good will of outside allies through proper cooperation. Be sure to give assistance to one in need, but make it a matter of mutual assistance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do something to please a good friend who has been of much help to you. Stop fussing about finances. Get out socially and have a delightful time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are not diplomatic with higher-ups, you can run into difficulties, so be wise. They can be demanding but take it in stride. Handle those personal affairs wisely in the afternoon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of feeling offended by others, get busy with good ideas and get ahead faster. You are unable to help one who comes to you for aid until you are in a better position. Say so.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) That big problem that faces you can be solved much better tomorrow. Join with a determined associate today and make progress. Steer clear of one who is after your assets. Sociability is good this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 21) Avoid that late higher-up and work harmoniously with an associate who is congenial. Steer clear of some argument going on between a co-worker and a bigwig. All works out to your advantage.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Forget about trivia and get into some venture that gives you a chance to show your ability. Find a better way of getting along with associates. Stop putting up with their limitations. Lay down the law.
